"Some farmers had already been putting irrigation water on their corn, so this rain we got the last few days was very welcome," Warren explained.

Asked about hail damage in the county from Saturday night's hail, he noted that some three to four thousand acres of grain sorghum and corn was damaged, and about 5,000 acres of cotton, much of which will have to be replanted.

The Pioneer Natural Gas rain gauge recorded four-tenths of an inch from Thursday night's sudden thunderstorm, and one-half inch Wednesday night, for a total of nine-tenths or nearly an inch of moisture during the week.

Reports from Lockney and surrounding area showed about half an inch Wednesday night and early Thursday morning, and up to 1.1 inches Thursday night and Friday morning.

In Lockney, J.D. Copeland reported .5" Wednesday night and .8" Thursday night. G.C. Applewhite in the Lone Star community reported .8" Wednesday and .9" Thursday. ACCO Seed farm at Aiken had .6" and .52". R.C. Mitchell in the Pleasant Valley community reported .6" Wednesday and about an inch Thursday night. Muncy Elevator measured .5" and 1.1". As we re-enter the classroom Monday it will be with a tinge of sadness that we have to leave this excellent community and the fine people who live here.

Blood Down Report Shows

Only five pints of blood were collected during the blood drive last Wednesday at the Lighthouse Electric Cooperative building, Corky Guffey, blood drive coordinator, said Friday.

"I feel like there might have been more people give, but the Bloodmobile people packed up and left right after 5 p.m., although we had advertised the hours as 3-6 p.m.," a disappointed Guffey said. He said he did not know why the Bloodmobile crew left that early when they knew that the Floydada hours had been publicized as 3-6 p.m.

"There might have been some people wanting to give after work," Guffey said.

Edwards, White First To MakeAll-State Here

When John H. Edwards visits in Floydada later this month with his brother, Earl, niece, Polly Cardinal, and long-time friends and acquaintances, it will be the 50th year since Edwards and a teammate became Floydada's first all-state football player.

Old timers here, particularly those who may be football buffs, may recall that it was in 1928 that Edwards, weighing 190 and playing center for the Whirlwinds, and the late Dixie White, who played right end, were part of at team that ran up 235 points against only 27 for their opponents in a 11-game season and still lost the district title.

Let's review that year: Coach Ike Jay's gridders were riding high. They opened the season against Plainview and took the Bulldogs 6-0. Then came Lubbock High and they downed the Westerners 14-13 and went on the next week to bury Matador 38-0. The following week they took on Hale Center and embarrassed that luckless squad with an 87-0 [yes, 87-0] defeat. Ralls was next, and they lost 0-27 to Floydada followed by Post whom the Winds downed 14-0 and then Lockney fell 28-0 before the Floydada onslaught.

Then came the final game with Slaton. A special train was made up for Floydada rooters and team members, the municipal band went along, and the Green Peppers, a newly-formed girls spirit group organized by Yell Leader Ollie Belle Collins and sponsored by Miss Avis Austin was ready to lead the large band of Whirlwind rooters on to victory.

But it was not to be.

After what the 1928 Floydada High School Hesper (annual) describes as a desperate battle, the Slaton eleven overcame the Whirlwinds, 14-3, costing them the district title.

While there have been four or five Whirlwind gridders to make all-state fame since Edwards and White first acheived the distinction, according to Preston Watson, former coach and athletic director. Edwards and White

Indians "Old Settlers" Over 700 Years Ago

While Floyd County's "old settler's" have been around for about 75-80 years, there were in actuality "settlers" here about 700 years ago, according to a well known Floydada businessman and amateur archeologist.

On the Montgomery Ranch, owned by I.D. Williams, in the south-central part of Floyd County Apache-type families of Indians camped from possibly the period of 1250 to 1725, Word said, as he described the historic site which he has been collecting artifacts from for about 13 years.

"I had known the site for some time," Word said, but explained that "it was 1965 before I and some others started seriously exploring it."

It was then that he and other members of the South Plains Archeological Society, a loosely knit group of mostly amateur archeologists, with a sprinkling of professionals, got seriously interested in the site.

"We knew about the site, and had seen some of the finds that the "pot hunters' were getting there, so we decided we'd better investigate it before the pot hunters ruined it completely."

Word, after lighting his ever-present pipe, defined pot hunters as those who go to an archeological site, such as that on the Montgomery Ranch and dig strictly for the relics, not being concerned with the science involved.

"Apparently," Word said, "the group that was on the site traded with other Indian tribes to the west. We think they traded buffalo hides, jerky, and other items to the eastern Pueblo Indians for corn, pottery, etc.

"There are historical accounts of their trading. We believe these Indians went to the Santa Fe, Taos, and Pecos, N.M. areas. There is a late Puebloan ruin at Pecos, you know, about 225-50 miles from here."

The well tanned, white-haired Word explained that "we have found remnants of pottery, turquoise ornaments, obsidian (black shiny volcanic rock) and of clay pipes the indians smoked.

"We have found an area we believe was their cooking area, on the north side of the site. It was there so the dominant winds out of the south and southwest would blow away the cooking fire smoke. This is where the heaviest concentration of bone scraps and remnants of fire hearths, would show up. It just indicates a food processing area," he and his archeological associates believe.

Why would the indians choose such a site as that on the Montgomery ranch?

"They probably chose it because it was close to water (the White River ran right by it then, and in fact had water in it as late as 1946-47 before irrigation pulled the water table down), and the hummock they occupied provided an elevated spot where they could survey the canyon. Also, what wood there was around grew on this sort of island they occupied", Word pointed out.

"You have to remember, too, that this wasn't a large group of indians camped here. It was probably what we would term an extended family, or maybe two or three families at the most. Indians travelled in small groups, and except for periodic tribal ceremonial activities, moved about on their own, in small family groups. It wasn't like in the Hollywood movies where you saw scenes of indians camped for two miles across," Word said with a laugh.

In order to gain knowledge from the Montgomery Ranch site that Word and his amateur associates did not have the facilities for seeking, they interested Texas Tech archeological faculty and students in the site.

"Tech has the facilities to interpret the sociological and scientific aspects of the site, what foods the indians ate, etc., and they can reconstruct the environment as it must have been in the period, from life they see around the site.

"Bringing Tech in on it has given a

"I lived across the street west from this church until 1916. It was a large white auditorium with a belfrey at the northwest entrance. There was a galvanized baptistry under the choir loft. Brother G.I. Brittain was the first pastor of the new church."

"Some of the charter members were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. C. Snodgrass, Mr. and Mrs. C. Surginer, Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Huckabay, and Mr. and Mrs. A.D. White. C. Snodgrass was clerk for years. I was church clerk in 1931 while Brother P.D. O'Brien was pastor. Roberta was born in 1932.

The Educational Building was built while Brother Hill was pastor and Brother Doyle was the pastor when the first brick sanctuary was built. Later, when Brother Earl Bowles was pastor the new educational building was erected. The new sanctuary came during Brother Bradley's pastorate.

"The Methodist built their next building on the present site in 1915."

In 1923, Mrs. Garrett met the man she was to marry, Bob Garrett. "I was working at the bank and he worked for the Floyd County Lumber Co. One of the fellows in the bank introduced me to him one day when he was in the bank. We soon started dating and we were married on June 16, 1924. We had a home wedding with just a few guests. My sister, Wanda, furnished the music and we were married by the Baptist pastor, Rev. J. Pat Horton.

"My wedding dress was a tan sheer marquisette trimmed in heavy ivory lace. We spent our honeymoon in Cool Colorado, and had a very happy life together. The Lord blessed us with three wonderful daughters, Frances Ruth Garrett, born April 4, 1925, Robert May, born June 7 1932, and Edith Faye Garrett, born May 15, 1934. I now have four granddaughters, Kitty Lloyd, Penny and Pamela Muncy, and Rosemary Hardin, also one great granddaughter, Kim Dillard, and a great grandson, Shane T. Dillard.

Reflecting back over her life, Mrs. Garrett pointed out that "one of the most interesting experiences of my life was attending the American Bankers Convention at Houston in October, 1927

"In June, 1927, I was asked to give a talk on "The Ideal Banker", at the Panhandle Bankers meeting in Plainview.

"Mr. Wm. A. Philpott, Jr., secretary and editor of the Texas Bankers Association, published my talk in the Bankers magazine. Miss E.L. Meyer, assistant cashier of the Guaranty National Bank, Houston, also had an article in this same issue of the magazine. She announced that the Association of Bank Women would also hold a convention at the same time as the A.B.A. convention, in which the membership would be limited to women who held official positions in their respective banks.

"At that time Texas had only two members in the Association, Miss Meyers, and Miss Margaret L. Kelly, assistant vice president of the National Bank of Denison."

"The women officials of the Association of Bank Women read my article in the magazine and I received a letter from them offering me a membership, which I accepted. In this way I became a member of the National Association of Bank Women. This enabled me to attend all of the social functions of both Associations and the National convention in Houston.

The Women's Advertising Club of Houston acted as hostess to the Association and many social affairs were attended, as well as all the activities of the ABA. Several bankers, from the Panhandle area, including T.S. Stevenson, president of the Floyd County Bank, and his wife and I enjoyed this most interesting and entertaining convention. It was a rare treat to meet the women officials, most of them connected with banks in New York City, very brilliant, yet as down to earth and communicable as my next door neighbor".

Asked if she had any advice for the young people of today, Mrs. Garrett said: "to young people I would say the years of youth are the golden days of opportunity to prepare for greatness or to squander their possibilities. How they value TIME is so important. It passes quickly, and they will be young only once.

"I would say make the "Man of Galilee" your pattern. Resolve to be courageous and determine to grow. The Heavenly Father wills it so, and you resolve to climb the steps. The way may be rough and strewn with thorns, but God is for you and with you. A great life, beautiful life, and a useful life can be yours.

IF the battle of the Alamo had taken place five years later, in 1841 instead of 1836, Davy Crockett might have lived to become president, Jim Bowie could have opened up a fashionable sporting goods store in Natchez, Mississippi, and Colonel William Travers might have lent his name to the capital of Texas. Good old American ingenuity, combined with the invention of the collapsible metal tube in 1841, might have preceded by 137 years an idea that is sweeping Europe and the rest of the world--food in collapsible metal tubes.

Ted Klein, Executive Secretary for the Metal Tube Packaging Council of North America, feels that Texas may be the first place where food in tubes might catch on. "Texans have long been known for their independence and their rugged, pioneering spirit," Klein said. "They might be the first to see the unique qualities food in tubes has to offer the American consumer." The Council will be filling jam in tubes at the 38th Annual Food Expo, sponsored by the Institute of Food Technologists and held this year in Dallas from June 4 to June 7. Klein estimates that about 8,000 tubes will be filled and distributed during the three-day show. "We picked jam because it's one of America's favorite foods. Each American consumes an average of about four pounds of jam, jellies or preserves per year. Everyone who is interested in a quick, easy-to-prepare snack would like jam and many other foods in tubes."

Homemade Coolers Beat the Heat And Other Beverages . . . Cold!

If you feel you're competing with the local fountains for teenagers' time and attention, offer them your kitchen facilities, free! In addition to the budget appeal, they can enjoy concoctions those at the soda shop haven't even thought of.

For example, Mocha Fizz, Lemon-Chocolate Frost and Apricot Delight are all appealing besides being quick and easy to fix. Topped with ice cream, they're a nutritious and natural snack with protein, calcium and vitamin D deliciously present in a cool, thirst-quenching treat.

Another bonus of the home soda fountain can come in the form of homemade cookies. Prepare the dough, shape in rolls and wrap for refrigerator storage. The butter flavor won't change. When the doorbell rings, count heads, slice the cookies and pop in the oven. They'll be ready by the time the coolers are mixed and poured and you can disappear.

Provide ice cream scoops with ice cream and sherbet so teenagers can make professional looking milk coolers at home. Sugar cookies are a bonus.

Middle-Age Search For Identity

COLLEGE STATION -- Search for identity reaches its peak during the middle years of life, says a family life education specialist.

Preparation for this period of growth will determine the grace and fulfillment enjoyed or the disorientation and misery suffered in later years, Dorthy Taylor adds.

Miss Taylor is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

For some, the 35 to 55 age group is the prime of life--for others, it's over the hill, she continues.

Satisfactions that middle aged adults enjoy are:

--children are maturing and preparing for their own adulthood and careers,

--business and personal careers peak,

--more expendable money is available to the family,

Dissatisfactions with middle age seem to be:

--decline in physical appearance or beauty.

--loss of physical zest,

--less urgent secual drive,

--appearance of chronic illness,

--more time and no selected leisure activities or interests,

--or, deciding a lifelong career is not satisfying and starting a new, different career.

For couples, the empty-nest may provide an opportunity for a renewed relationship, the specialist suggests.

Couples in middle age might try the following guideposts to renew their secure, old marriage rather than going middle-age crazy trying to recoup their lost youth:

(1) Achieve a new intimacy. Openly declare and share love and devotion for your spouse.

(2) Learn to enjoy the other person's interests. Sharing roles or responsibilities of a spouse provides more time for togetherness.

(3) Seek deeper relationships with friends and family outside the normal "favorites." New friends teach new interests, as well as extending the acquaintance of their close friends.

(4) Help others. Develop or broaden avenues of others to fulfill the emptiness of too much leisure.

Save energy by thawing foods before cooking--when practical

Consumers applying for credit are judged by the "three C's of credit"-- character, capacity and capital, says a family resource management specialist.

Character represents the borrowers willingness to repay. Capacity is the financial ability to repay, Dr. Carolyn McKinney with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, expains.

Capital reflects the overall financial strength to repay as represented by the resources or collateral available to secure the loan, she adds.

According to the U.S. Department of Labor, the basic education provided in the Job Corps covers reading, mathematics, social studies, and preparation for the General Education Development (GED) high school equivalency examination.

Ann D. Allen Suggests...

When you're a warm weather shopper, do pick up your dairy foods such as milk, cottage cheese, yogurt and ice cream last. That means they won't sit in the shopping cart getting warm while you do the other shopping. Most supermarkets are planned so dairy foods are in the last aisle before checking out so you can take advantage of the store's layout.

It's also smart to do your other errands first, shopping last so foods don't have any more time than necessary to get warm.

For really hot days, why not carry insulated bags or foam chests so dairy foods and other perishables can go home in cool style?

Picnic time? Milk is a great beverage with picnic foods but only if it's ice cold. You can accomplish this best by freezing some milk into cubes, then combining with fluid milk for the trip to the picnic grounds. It takes one pint of milk to fill the average ice cube tray.

If you're taking ice cream or cheese to the picnic, place in a foam chest that holds a cake of ice, ice cubes, or dry ice. It should keep the ice cream cold and the cheese will not oil off.

Having milk for dinner? Pour it into glasses rather than serving in a pitcher that holds more than is needed. It's colder that way, and you won't be tempted to pour milk from a pitcher back into a carton or bottle.

As It Looks From Here

Omar Burleson, M.C.
17TH District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- THE FOREIGN POLICY OF THE CARTER ADMINISTRATION is seemingly one of making enemies of our friends by trying to make friends of our enemies.

IN LATIN AMERICA, OUR TREATMENT OF CERTAIN NATIONS, which in the past and present proved our strongest allies, is either being criticized or ignored at the same time we are giving away the Panama Canal. Although the effort to "normalize' our relations with Cuba has been the mode in the last year, that idea is somewhat cooling off because of Castro's venture in revolution in Africa.

BOTH CUBA AND PANAMA ARE IN THE MARXIST CAMP AND antagonistic to the United States, but our policy has been to favor them. Chili, Argentina, Brazil, and Nicaragua are anti-communist and pro-American in their posture. They have been targets of heavy criticism from our Country.

NICARAGUA COMES AS THE MOST RECENT AND CLEAR EXAMPLE. Trujillo of Panama and Castro of Cuba are not elected by Nicaragua is held up as a violator of human rights under a President who was elected by the people. In the case of Rhodesia, we and the British agreed to support the proposition of majority rule worked out between Prime Minister Ian Smith and two prominent black leaders to hold open elections on a one-man-one-vote procedure.

THIS IS THE SAME DEMAND MADE BY THE GUERILLA TRIBAL leaders in Angola and Mozambique, but who turned down the offer, and continue to head the band of marauders across the Rhodesian border. Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe were invited back to Rhodesia to cooperate under the new agreement but have refused to do so. Now it seems that they are highly regarded by the State Department and our United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young.

THESE GUERILLA FIGHTERS AGAINST RHODESIA AND THEIR FOLLOWERS have been invited to return to Rhodesia and take part in the elections. They have been promised total amnesty with no reprisals but, the offer has been turned down. The transition government with Prime Minister Smith as Chairman, Bishop Abel Muzorewa, Jeremiah Chirau and Reverend Sithole, joined in the invitation to the dissidents to return. The invitation was refused. All the things they have been saying they wanted and have been fighting for have now been settled, yet, they want no part in forming a new government.

THE MAJORITY RULE IS ASSURED, OF COURSE, SINCE THESE THREE in Rhodesia's transition government represent at least 85 percent of the black voters of the country.

THIS, HOWEVER, IS NOT WHAT THE GUERILLAS in neighboring countries just outside Rhodesia will agree to. Since they are supported by Russia, it is obvious that what they want is a government of their own making which means to establish a Marxist dictatorship under their command.

IT IS INCONCEIVABLE THAT WE SHOULD TAKE THE SIDE OF these revolutionaries instead of being consistent in carrying out what was originally recommended and to which we gave our support along with the British.

AS WEAK AS WE ARE IN OUR INFLUENCE IN AFRICA AND THE Middle East, it seems we choose to shop around in poor speculation for highly doubtful friends while criticizing those who have proved to be our friends.

Stockman To Aid Screwworm Program

Kingsville, Tex., The president of Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association today called on Texas livestock owners to do all in their power to aid the Screwworm Eradication Program.

"If we don't," warms John Armstrong, "there are indications Texas ranchers will be battling a severe screwworm population in the Lone Star State within a few weeks.

"Screwworms have been detected in widely separated parts of the state, outside th sterile fly release area," says Armstrong. Indirect evidence shows that many unknown cases exist in the areas in between. "The nine known are probably only the tip of the iceberg," warns the head of Texas' oldest and best known livestock producer's association.

In late April, screwworms were found in a wound in a horse in Hudspeth county, about 50 miles east of El Paso. In early May screwworms were taken from the navel of a calf near Marfa, in Presidion county.

The third week of May brought lab identification of screwworms from two widely separated cattle in Coleman County; another in Stonewall county, one in Mitchell county, two in Liveoak county, and one in Hidalgo county. None were first generation cases. This proves screwworms exist in unknown numbers over at least a third of Texas.

Each unknown and untreated case, says Armstrong, can lead to 100 or more within just three weeks, a generation for the screwworm fly. The only practical protection we have, explains a south Texas rancher, is to cooperate with the Screwworm Eradication Program in every possible way.

This means to see our animals as often as possible, treat all wounds, detect all infestations and send samples of worms found in every infested wound to the lab for identification.

With the limited facilities at its disposal the Screwworm Eradication Program has to know where wild screwworms flies exist if it is to do an effective job. Lab identification of worm samples is the only scientifically proven way to do this.

Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC) and USDA livestock inspectors are finding many disturbing facts as they investigate the known screwworm cases. These investigations are made in order to determine the best way to stamp out known screwworm populations.

Thousands of livestock have been shipped into Texas from the severely screwworm infested areas of Arizona and California. Some are coming to Texas for slaughter, some for shows, some for breeding purposes and some for further feeding before slaughter.

Armstrong says inspectors are learning there have been cases that were not reported (no samples sent to the lab). "Some people with known screwworm cases in their livestock are continuing to castrate with reckless disregard, without taking precautions against screwworm infestation.

"If apathy on the part of livestock owners continue--man-made wounds, non-treatment of existing wounds, non-reporting of cases--we're in for a bad time," says the Kleberg county rancher.

"Sterile flies cannot win the battle alone, especially if they aren't put on the battleground."

Feedlot Cattle Down In Floyd Last Year

According to Sam Thomas, manager of agriculture development for Southwestern Public Service Company, 4,373,850 fat cattle were produced in the SPS service area for 1977. This production, revealed in a recent survey conducted by SPS, is the third highest in the history of the industry.

The survey which has been conducted since 1963 is quoted throughout the United States as the most authoritive source as to production of fat cattle in the southern great plains area.

"During the 1977 period, the feedlot capacity came to 2,734,740 head and is barely 10,000 head under the peak year of 1974 when 2,742,250 capacity was in use. This dropped to a low of 2.6 million in 1976 and present indications are that the 1978 year will see a new peak in feedlot capacity use," stated Thomas.

The survey also revealed that the 1978 feedyards doing custom feeding was one less than the preceeding year but that this represented the consolidation of reporting yards. The total number of yards surveyed continued to fall with a reduction of six from last year. This too, reflects a consolidation but is the eleventh vear it has occured. There were 274 yards counted in 1967 as compared to 153 in 1978.

"The total impact of the feedyard industry on the business community reached 8 billion dollars in 1977," Thomas stated, "and the farm sale value exceeded 2 billion dollars.

The survey also showed that the packing plant annual slaughter capacity jumped from 4,990,680 to 5.4 million head and the number of plants increased from 17 to 20.

Thomas also stated that 589,000 of this capacity is not in use but that this industry has made another estimated 8 billion dollar contribution to area business.

"The future of the feedlot industry appears to be the brightest of any period in its history, and this may not be good. Too many people believe this and with great majority acting together adverse reactions can occur. The price being paid for feeder cattle is a case in point," emphasized Thomas.

Eventually the customer must be considered as to what he will do and we could have poor profits along with good prices if the customer refuses to go along with all this enthusiam, Thomas said.

This survey has made a major contribution to the development and growth of the industry and has been especially valuable in the vertical integration that has occured in the SPS service area, concluded Thomas.

The Floyd Philosopher

Tries To Demonstrate That The County Needs More "Villlage Mentality"

Dear editor:

According to an article I read the other day, Washington politicians, when they get up in the morning, first glance at the headlines on the front page of their paper -- I guess to see if any new war has broken out or if any of their friends have been caught red-handed -- and then turn to a gossip column on an inside page.

An official said this marks a return to "the village mentally." I don't believe it.

I got to thinking about what "village mentality" means, not what big city people intend it to mean. I used to think I'd discovered a point when I claimed it takes just as much ability to run a bank or any other business in a small town as it does to run their counterparts in a big city, but I had it backwards.

I should have said it takes as much ability to run a big city outfit as it does a small town business. This occurred to me when I read about the head of a big helicopter company claiming he didn't know his company was spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to bribe foreign governments to buy his machines. If he'd had average village mentality he's have caught on that something was funny.,

And here's another example of the lack of village mentality. According to another news story, two professors at Yale University have designed a course to teach teachers how to teach children how to watch television. They want to make sure the kids can distinguish between programs and commercials and between fantasy and reality, so, I guess, they won't try to walk straight up the side of a building like Spider Man.

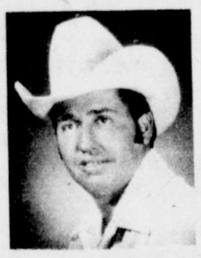

Try as hard as I can, I can't think of a comment to make about this. I don't believe there's a single kid in Floydada who'd have to go to Yale to learn how to watch television. We've got too much village mentality around here for that.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Johnny Baxter, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Baxter and great-grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Lyles of Floydada this week signed a basketball scholarship letter with Henderson County Junior Colege at Athens, Texas.

The 6'4" guard has played his high school basketball at Pearce High School in Richardson. He was starter on the Varsity Squad both his junior and senior years.

His junior year Johnny averaged 12 points and 8 rebounds and was named to the All-District team. As a senior he was co-captain of the team and had an average of 18 points a game, 10 rebounds, and lead the team in assists. He hit 51% from the field and 80% from the free throw line. Johnny earned All-Tournament awards at the Pearce-Berkner tournament and the Highland Park tournament. He made the 1st team All-District and was named by the coaches in District 13-AAAA as the district's Most Valuable Player. He was also named to the Dallas Morning News All-Metro Squad of the Greater Dallas Area.

ITS a shame we cannot reach by radio, Station KROY, Sacramento, Calif., and hear them honor "our town".. The station decided recently to start saluting small towns once each month and since they have a native Floydadian as news director, the town of Floydada has been picked. Barry Fyffe, Floydada High School graduate and son of Mrs. Cecile Fyffe of Floydada, will read the home town newspaper (Hesperian of course) over the air sometime during the hours of 6 and 10 p.m. this month. Barry also grew up in Floydada so I'm sure some of the names and stories he mentions over the air will be familiar to him.

Abernathy Topples Floydada Tri-Countians; A's To Vie

By Doug Simpson

If Coach C.O. Woody had his "druthers," he would have called Wednesday night's meeting of Floydada and Abernathy's tri-county league ball clubs in the fourth inning.

You see, for three and a half innings, the surprising Floydada team had dominated the highly-touted visitors, out-pitching them, and out-hitting them for a 4-2 edge at the diamond here Wednesday night.

But what the hosts hadn't counted on was an unstoppable 200-pounds plus of firepower by the name of Gilbert Cuevas.

Cuevas relieved the Abernathy starter on the mound in the fourth inning and went on to limit Floydada sluggers to 2 additional runs, as well as contributing hitting power at the plate, as his team staged a come-from-behind 10-6 victory.

The loss leaves the Floydada club with a 2-2 season mark, and improved Abernathy's report card to 3-1.

Woody's troops will host New Deal on Tuesday night, a team that upset the same Abernathy club in an earlier league battle.

Cuevas was credited with the win on the mound for Abernathy. Larry Westbrook suffered the loss for Floydada, and Tracy Womack also saw action on the mound in relief.

Womack also delivered a 2-run home run blast in the first inning to contribute at the plate. Others contributing at the plate and in the field, included Mark Beedy, Monty Lyons, Pete Castillo, Jimmy Jones, Terry Westbrook Andra Ledbetter, and Joey Luna.

In other local baseball action, the A's ball club hosted a highly-regarded Lubbock Wheelers ball club (weather permitting) and results were unavailable at presstime.

The A's, 8-5 on the year, currently will travel to Dimmitt to meet with the Cardinals of the Farmer's League on Sunday.

Edwards went on to Baylor University and played for the Bears, becoming co-captain. He helped pay his way through the Baptist school working in the West End fire station, his niece, Polly (Mrs. Fred) Cardinal said.

"And you know, when John graduated, he was one of only 70 college graduates the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. hired that year for their company." Mrs. Cardinal noted that Edwards remained his entire working career with Goodyear, retiring a few years ago.

His parents were Mr. and Mrs. John C. Edwards of Floydada.

So if you see big John Edwards sometime this month around town, you might want to ask him about that famous Slaton game!

Baptist VBS Starts Monday

Vacation Bible School is set for June 5-9 at First Baptist Church of Floydada and, according to David T. Seay, minister of education, it is "in the bag" this year. The bag is a lunch sack which has been made necessary by a new time schedule that the school will follow for the first time.

The school will begin at 10 a.m. and conclude at 1 p.m. each day. As a result all of the children and workers are being asked to bring a sack lunch each day.

"We feel that this schedule will make it possible for more children to come to Vacation Bible School," Seay said. "Now that the public schools are out, many of the children like to sleep late. With this new schedule, they can do that and still make it to V.B.S. on time," he noted.

To make it more interesting, the children are being asked to decorate their lunch sacks, and each day first, second and third place prizes will be awarded in each department for the best-decorated sacks. Every child will be provided a new lunch sack each day to decorate for the following day.

Any Floydada child between age 3 and grade 5 is invited to attend. Commencement exercises will be June 11 at 7 p.m. in the church's main auditorium.

A QUARTET of Floydada fishermen test their luck at Lake Mackenzie which rose 4.2 feet after weekend rains in the Tule Creek watershed. The water level was still rising Tuesday, according to John McCammon, acting manager. Rainfall at the lake measured 3.9 inches. Water temperature is 76 degrees. An increase in visitors was noted over the weekend. (Photo by Nell Mays)

Tulia Herald

Lake Rises After Heavy Rainfall

The water level at Lake Mackenzie rose to 87 feet as a result of heavy rains to the west and north of the lake Saturday. This put approximately 636 acre feet of new water into the lake (12 new surface acres), and almost covered the boat ramp. The present angle of the boat ramp is too flat, and it is becoming increasingly difficult to launch the larger boats. Most of the concrete on the boat ramp is now under water.

According to Acting Lake Manager John McCammon, engineers are surveying the lake to determine the best location for a new boat ramp.

Do you have a five-year-old who knows that scary things lurk about in dark halls or closets? THE GORILLA IN THE HALL by Alice Schertle is the story of a boy named Jack and the gorilla that had been hiding in a dark hallway next to the grandfather clock. Perhaps he had escaped from the zoo or from Jack's imagination. At any rate, Jack knew he had been there as long as he could remember. Finally Jack confronts the gorilla. What happens next makes a warm and humorous story that will appeal to everyone who has ever overcome a fear of the unknown. Paul Galdone's lively illustrations add to the fun of this delightful children's book about a universal problem.

Governor Wallace is again in the news with his decision to retire from public office. This bit of news reminded us of the book C'NELIA by his ex-wife Cornelia Wallace. It is a readable self portrait of Cornelia and the days following the assassination attempt which crippled the colorful governor of Alabama. The book includes a number of family photographs and accounts of her childhood in the Alabama Governor's Mansion.
