Panhandle Is Blanketed in White by a General Snow

WHEAT LANDS ARE WATERED FOR SEASON

Pampa Area to Benefit Greatly From New Moisture

HIGH WINDS IN NORTH TEXAS

Vernon Sees Flakes for the First Time This Year

Pampa wheat lands are blanketed in white today under a snow which began before daylight and continued to fall with varying intensity all morning. The moisture, added to the more than half an inch of precipitation Sunday and Monday, will be ample for a considerable period.

(By The Associated Press.)

Childress Gets 4 Inches

Snow blanketed a large portion of the Panhandle and North Texas today bringing more needed moisture to the dry lands.

Pampa awoke to find a white mantle over the ground, and snow still falling heavily. Activities in the oil fields were partly suspended because of the cold.

Between three and four inches of snow had fallen at Childress, following a light rain. The flakes were melting rapidly, but were falling so thickly they covered the warm ground. Slow rains amounting to an inch have fallen in the lower Panhandle within the last 40 days.

The first snow of the season fell in Vernon this morning after a light rain during the night, bringing total precipitation for the week to more than an inch. The mercury stood well above the freezing mark, and the flakes melted so rapidly as they fell.

High Winds Reported

WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Snow and below freezing weather with high north winds in both Oklahoma and the Panhandle Thursday morning indicated that this section would soon be in the grip of another cold wave.

Rainfall here since 5 p. m. Wednesday was .08 of an inch. The minimum temperature was 39 degrees, registered at 8 o'clock Thursday morning.

The Missouri, Kansas, Texas Ry., reported that from one to six inches of snow fell during the night between Abilene and Woodward, Okla.

The Fort Worth and Denver reported snow from Texline to Amarillo, threatening rain and snow from Amarillo to Childress and rain from Childress to Chillicothe. A light rain also fell around Fort Worth.

The Wichita Falls and southern reported rain from Wichita Falls to Graham with cloudy skies threatening rain all along to line.

The Wichita Valley reported misting rain from Wichita Falls to Spur and Abilene with a light snow at Jayton.

At 5 a. m., a north wind was blowing in the Panhandle and the temperature at Texline was 18, Amarillo 23, and Childress 32.

DENVER, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Denver and the Rocky Mountain region was digging itself out today from one of the worst snowstorms of the season.

Three inches of snow fell on Denver from the time the storm began Tuesday until the time it began to abate shortly after darkness Wednesday night. The fall was general throughout the region, Wyoming reporting two inches while northern New Mexico reported a trace with mild temperatures. The storm itself in Central and East central Colorado but with a light snow fall in the west.

THE WEATHER

WEST TEXAS: Tonight and Friday, cloudy, rain in southeast portion; colder tonight in southeast portion.
OKLAHOMA: Tonight and Friday, partly cloudy; colder tonight in southeast portion.

FREIGHT RATES TO BE CHANGED

Southwest Schedule on Meats Is Revised by I. C. C.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(AP)—A new basis of freight rates on fresh meat and packing house products for application in Southwestern territory was ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Meat rates prepared in 1926 for the Southwest were declared to be unreasonable, and the commission ordered existing rates maintained until new schedules are prepared under today's order.

This order lays down a mileage scale for application between points in southern Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Western Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, and New Mexico, and from the Middle West to this territory.

The scale fixes a rate of 15 cents per 100 pounds for fresh meats for distances of five miles, and rises to $1.26 for 1,700 miles, with proportionate charges for intermediate distances.

On packing house products the schedule begins with a charge of 12 cents for distances of five miles and rises to $1.09 1-2 for 1,700 miles.

Various directions for adding arbitrary amounts to the scale in determining rates from northwestern packing centers also were announced. The commission refrained from issuing specific orders for the installation of new rates, but railroads will be expected to proceed promptly to prepare the schedules.

FRANCE WINS ICE EVENT.

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The Olympic winter sports were resumed today after a day's interruption, Belgium defeating France at hockey 3 to 1.

After yesterday's warm spell, the ice was in fairly good condition since there was a relatively hard frost during the early morning hours. As soon as the sun rose, however, the ice again began to thaw.

EXPEDITION IN GREENLAND IS HAVING LUCK

MacMillan Describes How Winter Quarters Is Established

OLD RUINS NOT ESKIMO, BELIEF

Scientists Find Much of Interest in Northern Labrador

The Associated Press has interviewed by radio Commander Donald B. MacMillan, head of the Greenland expedition of the Field museum, Chicago, now wintering at Bowdoin Harbor, Field Bay, Northern Labrador.

By Commander Donald B. MacMillan BOWDOIN HARBOR, Field Bay, Northern Labrador, Feb. 16.—By radio to the Associated Press through Massachusetts Institute of Technology)

The Rawson MacMillan field museum expedition established winter quarters and a permanent scientific station at Bowdoin Harbor, field Bay, northern Labrador for the purpose of studying the meteorology, geology, botany, zoology, and anthropology of this region which is unknown scientifically. Though the winter months are unfavorable for obvious reasons for studying many of the above subjects, yet we have made considerable progress and are daily bringing in results which will be of great interest to scientists at home.

Living With Indians

Our greatest work thus far has been done in anthropology. Dr. Duncan Strong of the Field Museum, Chicago, is now living with the Mascopee Indians, the first scientist to enjoy this privilege.

There is a small but very interesting band living in the interior of northern Labrador between our station and the George river. Little has ever been written concerning their life and this little largely inaccurate. Two families are now in camp here at our station giving us an unusual opportunity for observation.

Our home, a fine large, comfortable building with electric lights, radio and motion pictures is the mecca for all Eskimos. A few days ago we entertained thirty-six over Sunday. Hardly a day passes without the arrival of at least one dog team. From the natives our scientists are learning much about the bird and animal life; much that is contradictory to information given out by our best authorities.

Find Old Ruins

We have found sites of many old Eskimo villages which have never been excavated. Also ruins of the so-called Tunit race. Just who they were no one as yet knows. Possibly this race is confused with the Norsemen who we have every reason to believe visited this coast about 900 years ago. Having studied their houses in Greenland in 1925-26 we have a good knowledge of what we are prepared to find here in Labrador. The ruins thus far are certainly not Eskimo.

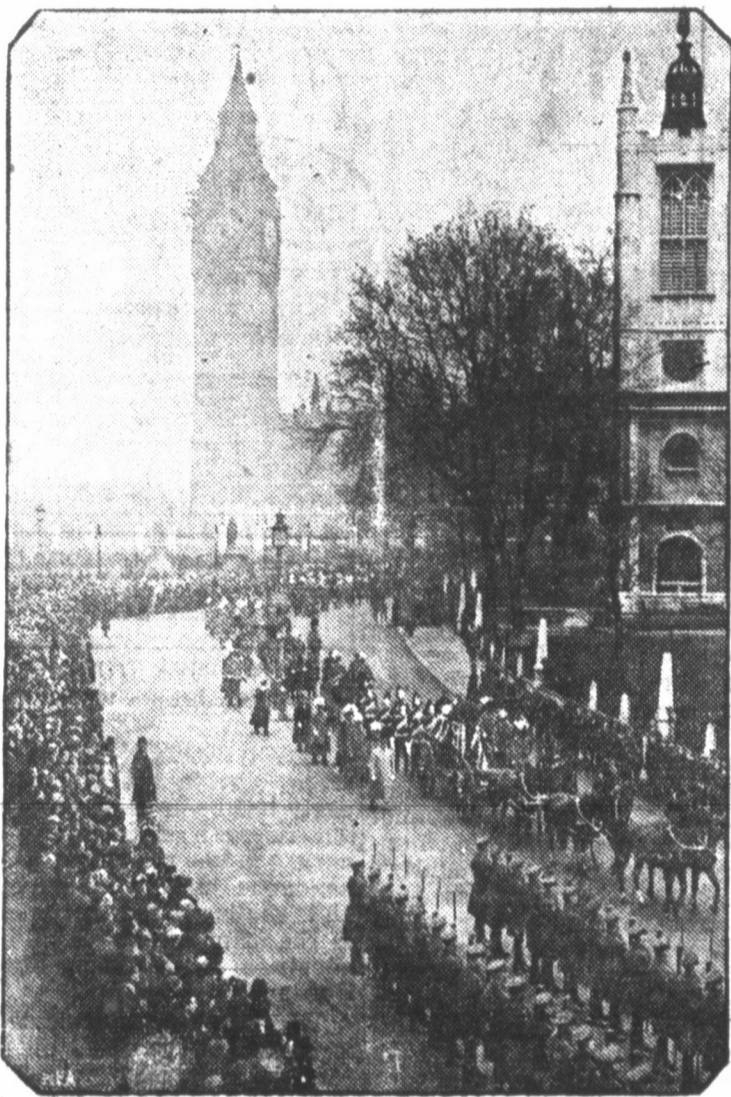

Further work will be done when navigation opens in June when we are planning to cruise north along the Labrador coast and on to Baffin Land to continue our work begun there in 1921 and 1922, when we wintered in Fox channel and explored the western coast of Baffin land, and also continue work started, on the east coast of Baffin Land in 1926-27.

Natives Are Amazed

Our motor car, the first to be seen on this coast, left yesterday on a 100-mile trip to carry our small power boat over the sea ice to the outer islands where it is our present plan to hunt walrus in March.

The snowmobile is a sensation wherever it goes. Eskimos and Indians gather around it in wonder and examine every part of it. During the last 19 years we have brought to the Eskimos of Greenland and Labrador the electric light, the telephone, the motion picture, the radio, the airplane, the motorboat and now the motor car. Night after night they listen to broadcasts from New York, Boston, Chicago and dozens of other places. Two years ago we supplied radio sets in the homes of the Moravian missionaries here at Nain and Hopedale. Now they listen in nightly to broadcasts from their homes in Germany and England. You can imagine how much they appreciate what the Americans have done for them.

England's Tribute to a Great Soldier

Pictured here is the cortege which followed the body of Earl Haig, World War hero, to Westminster Abbey in London for Britain's official tribute to the great commander. The caisson on which the flag-draped casket reposes is the same one which was used for the burial of England's Unknown soldier. Among the pall bearers seen walking behind the caisson are Marshal Poch, Admiral Earl Jellicoe, Viscount Byng, Marshal Petain, and Admiral Earl Beatty. Just behind the caisson is Earl Haig's riderless horse. In the background is Parliament Tower.

MAGNOLIA SLASHES OIL AGAIN BUT PANHANDLE NOT AFFECTED

DALLAS, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Reductions of from 13 to 30 cents in crude oil prices in Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma were announced effective today by the Magnolia company.

Oil of a specific gravity under 30 will bring 75 cents a barrel instead of $1.05; that of 30 to 30.9 gravity, 90 cents instead of $1.16, and 31 to 31.6 gravity, $1.05 instead of $1.18. No change in the price for crude of higher specific gravity than 32 was made.

Pampa officials of the Magnolia Petroleum company stated to the News that the new price schedule will not affect Panhandle oil, in their opinion.

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 16.—(AP)—A staff correspondent of the State-Times informed that newspaper today that the Gulf Production company's McElroy well No. 4 started flowing at 5 o'clock this morning and at ten o'clock was producing from ten to twelve thousand barrels.

Directed Verdict Asked in Trial of Gov. Jackson

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The State rested its case against Gov. Jackson at 9:11 o'clock today.

Defense attorneys then presented a motion asking Judge Charles M. McCabe to direct a verdict of not guilty on the ground that the prosecution had failed to produce sufficient evidence to prove the governor guilty. He is charged with conspiracy to commit a felony in an attempt to bribe.

Texas Poultry Is Superior; Marketing Called Very Faulty

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Texas poultry products are superior to any in the country and all that is necessary for Texas producers to obtain premium prices in organization and cooperation in marketing, Dr. L. D. Legear of St. Louis, nationally known poultry authority, declared today in a lecture at the Southwest national egg laying contest.

APPEARS THAT HEADS SMASHED FROM BEHIND

Bodies Stumbled Upon in Wood at Foster, Illinois

COVERED UP WITH AUTOMOBILE ROBE

Crimes Committed by Officers' Prisoners, It Is Believed

DANVILLE, Ill., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Bodies of the two missing deputies of LaFayette, Ind., were found today in a wood at Foster, a little village between Danville and Covington. They were lying face upward, with arms carefully straightened at their sides. How they came to their deaths had not been determined, due to the fact the coroner and sheriff directed the discoverer to permit no one to touch or see the bodies until they arrived. Names of the deputies who disappeared while taking two convicts to prison were John P. Grove and Wallace McClure.

They disappeared Feb. 7. The discovery terminated more than a week of intense search of the territory between LaFayette, Ind., and Chicago by hundreds of state and city police. The two convicts, John Burns and Samuel Baxter, believed by police to have been responsible for the disappearance of the officers, are still at large.

The automobile in which the deputies had started out from LaFayette with the prisoners was found shortly after their disappearance on a deserted street at Decatur, Ill. The only indication that a conflict might have taken place was a hole in the windshield of the car, which police said was caused by a bullet.

Bodies of the two officers were discovered on the farm of Charles Abdill, near here. Abdill, in company with two other men stumbled across the bodies, covered with a heavy automobile robe. They were fully dressed. First reports from the scene were that the backs of the heads of the deputies had been crushed.

Designated Roads Will Be Logged

FORT WORTH, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Work will begin immediately on logging and marking all designated highways of the state, according to advice to Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, from Highway Commissioner W. R. Ely.

Congratulations to the commission for its work in logging and marking the highways were sent to Ely by Wade immediately upon receipt of the letter.

"It is especially important that Texas highways be properly marked and logs of all routes available in view of the fact that three national conventions meet here this year," he said. "A large number of the delegates will come to the state by automobile and will be benefited by easily distinguished highways. The project is entirely worthwhile, however, merely from the standpoint of tourists and Texans traveling from one part of the state to another."

Urgent Request on Big Election

"I want every person who has a friend, relative or knows of someone who is eligible to vote in the county house election on March 9, next, but who is away from Pampa at this time to immediately call Chamber of Commerce, Phone 367, and give his or her name and address, so that the proper voting blanks may be mailed to them.

It is imperative that you do this at once, since one can cast an absentee ballot only between the dates of February 18th, and 27th, inclusive. Will you do this?

IVY E. DUNCAN, Chairman of Election Committee.

SPARTAN DRILLING TEST

The Spartan Oil company, drilling its first test in the South Pampa field, has made a location to drill in the northeast corner of the west half of the northeast quarter of section 85, block B-2, on the Hopkins lease.

Asquith Services Announced—New Earl Is Descendant of Jack Horner

SUTTON COURTNEY, England, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Great Britain today continued to pay tribute to the Earl of Oxford and Asquith as the body of the statesman who guided the British empire through the critical first two years of the war lay in the parish church here.

A simple service for the family of the former premier will be held there Saturday morning. In accordance with the wish expressed by Lord Oxford some time ago, his family announced that he would be buried privately and not in Westminster Abbey. A memorial service will be held at the Abbey however, next Tuesday noon.

GLASTONBURY, England, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The new Earl of Oxford and Asquith, aged 11, is a descendant of his mother's side of little Jack Horner who sat in a corner eating pie. The corner is Mellis Manor which the monks of Glastonbury were forced to abandon during the Reformation.

The accepted explanation of the nursery rhyme is that Jack Horner was steward of the Abbot of Glastonbury and that he by subterfuge gained possession of the deeds of Mellis Manor. The deeds were sent to Henry VIII and concealed for safety in a pie. Jack Horner was the bearer and en route he lifted the crust and extracted this "plum."

Mellis Manor is still owned by Horner's direct descendants. Katherine Frances Horner, daughter of Sir John Horner, married Raymond Asquith in 1897. He was killed in action during the war.

EGG MARKETING

The Panhandle will watch with interest the working of the Plains Producers association. Formed this week at Plainview, it is an association of poultry raisers who will attempt to get better prices for their eggs. At the outset, the organization has 16,000 hens producing to supply the manager with his commodity. The ultimate goal is 200,000 working hens.

Aside from the natural results of cooperation, the marketing phase should bring about better conditions. To obtain the better price, it is necessary to compete with supplies from other states. There must be a steady and ample supply of fresh, uniform eggs. Quality and quantity can be offered only by organized efforts.

Sapiro helped California egg producers organize, and as a result those graded California eggs, flowing as a market commodity into all parts of the country, made the Western farmers prosperous and menaced individual producers in many sections.

If the Plains Producers organization can maintain its supply and hold up its graded quality over a good test period, it should demonstrate the power of organized marketing. And in so doing it will have done the Panhandle a great service.

Little Miss Muffet Sat on a Tuffet

ONLY REGRETS—Associated Press dispatches carry the news that the only word the attorney-general has for the Texans who dislike to see our gas stores exhausted for the benefit of other states is an opinion that we can't do anything about it, plus regrets.

Here is where the federal authority, without sectional pride or responsibility, hampers control of a community's resources. Natural gas may be transported to any other state with more freedom than to some point within the state.

The question arises as to whether the federal government could be made to take any hand for the benefit of the community in which the natural resource originates. This is doubtful, and the huge gas lines are monuments to the assurance that the supply will be limited only by its own magnitude.

The vital issue, however, is in the fact that a locality may have its supply for home consumption endangered. There should be a federal restriction in relation to exhaustion of supply. The possibility of obtaining such a restriction is rather remote, however, because restraint of trade is involved, and the product is paid for just as the products of the soil are claimed for commerce.

Federal reserves were possible; but not state reserves of oil and gas? If state supplies were laid out, they would be subject to state supervision. State reserves would have given people of a district, through their representatives, a share of authority over their own resources. Such is illogical, but it is locally desirable. The outcome was inevitable, but withal unfortunate.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The harmony bloc in the Democratic party has been gradually gaining strength since the whole party woke up with a bad headache in November, 1924, and realized the seriousness of the after effects of its orgy of strife in Madison Square Garden.

The harmony bloc is likely to dominate the Houston convention. It may even show such strength as to make the hell-raising bloc in the party look sick and silly. Or, as some bitter-end members of the hell-raising bloc insist, the worst internal struggle of the party's history may lie ahead.

Senator Pat Harrison, the great orator from Mississippi who made such a swell-elegant keynote speech to the 1924 convention only to see his good work go for naught as Smith and McAdoo attacked each other, outlined this harmony bloc program by request of this writer. It may be summed up by the question: If the Republicans can bury their numerous factional differences at convention time for the "spoils of office," why can't the Democrats use their heads and do as much for the good of both the party and the nation?

"If the Democrats will just profit by the mistakes they made in 1924," said Senator Pat, "and will eliminate those matters about which there is always a difference of opinion which divides parties; if they will agree on the principles and policies upon which the party was founded and to which it has always adhered, we will be in a most advantageous position to go before the country in the coming campaign.

"The Democrats must exercise enough common sense to refuse to accept those controversial differences which the Republican party always shuns but is ever alert and smart enough to hand to us. Then we can present a united front. "If we can't do that, we might as well break up the two big parties and form them along new lines. But the Democratic party has too great a mission to allow itself to be swerved from its course through minor differences. It is the only interest through and by which the rank and file of the American people—and that includes the laboring man, the farmer, the clerk and the honest business man—can get a square deal. The Republican party, with its special treatment for special interests, its favoritism to certain classes and its subsidies and protective tariffs make the road for the average man and woman rough and almost impossible to travel."

"Corruption in office and stacking of the federal commissions with persons to carry out the dictates of dishonest big business is now synonymous with Republicanism. These abuses are the barnacles now infesting this government and become more apparent the longer that party stays in control.

"It is against these abuses, iniquities and injustices that the principles of Democracy have always been opposed, and it is those principles of honesty and decency to which Democrats can subscribe and unite upon. In the coming fight, Democracy should dedicate itself to removing these conditions, steering clear of other questions upon which all Democrats cannot agree and which inevitably lead to disruption."

If two can live as cheaply as one, why does the income tax law penalize the bachelor?

TWINKLES

A lot of folks wish all of the water would boil out of Teapot Dome, but to Us Democrats the affair will be tolerable until after the national election.

These blizzards hit us first, but downstate folks will be shivering while we bask in the sunshine that follows.

In a few more years it won't be necessary to sneer at your snobbish neighbors when your air flivver passes them up after an accident.

Sandino is as smart as Villa, but the Republicans don't seem to need any Pershings at this writing.

Five Players of Champion Yanks Are Still Holding Out

March 4th Is the Last Day to Report at Camp

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Some five members of the world champion Yankees were reported today to be holding out.

Walter Hoyt, Urban Shocker, Tony Lazzeri, Earle Combs, and Mike Galle were named in the reports.

March 4 is the final day for the players to report for training at St. Petersburg.

Cochran Is Out on His Last Trip as Billiard Professional

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Welker Cochran, former holder of the World's 18.2 billiard championship, said today that he was on his last tour as a billiard pro. He is now playing a 4,000-point series here with Jake Schaefer, who won the title from him last fall.

At the end of his present campaign next month, Cochran said, he expects to join a New York stock exchange firm and retire from billiard competition.

Wrestling Postponed When Kopecky Fails to Arrive in Time

Pampa wrestling fans were disappointed last night when the Kopecky-Hayes rough and tumble battle was called off owing to the non-arrival of the Bohemian. Kopecky arrived here about 10 o'clock after being stuck in the mud between here and Borger four times.

He was accompanied by Elmer Guthrie, whom the fans think is big enough to get Joe out of the mud, but others think it was the promoter's weight that got them into the ditch. Cyclone Hays was here and all set to meet Kopecky in a blood and thunder match, but says he will be ready for their next encounter here or anywhere else.

The card for next Wednesday night has not yet been announced. Hayes, chafing under the delay, today ridiculed the idea that Kopecky could not get here in time for the match.

"I have heard that old stuff before; I don't believe it," said the Californian. "A lot of them get stuck when they find out they are going to wrestle me. I am promised a match here next Monday, and I will show this Kopecky that I can wrestle rough too."

TWO AIRPLANE DEATHS

Tri-State Fair to Give Boxing Card Featuring Granite

(Special to the News.) AMARILLO, Feb. 16.—On a card of boxing which will bring together the pick of the lightweight boxers of the Southwest, the Tri-State Fair association on February 20 is inaugurating a program of sport events as benefits for that institution, which proving popular, will mean that sport followers of the Panhandle may in the near future get to see the best that the mat and the ring afford to the nation.

This spring carnival of sports is being staged for the benefit of the Panhandle as a whole, and upon its support and that of the city of Amarillo, depends whether even greater shows than that of February 20 can be staged.

As one example of what is in store for the future, it is now planned to bring the winner of the Lewis-Stecher wrestling match at St. Louis to Amarillo at a later date. The winner of this match will be the recognized heavyweight champion.

On the boxing card of February 20, the fair has arranged two main bouts with preliminaries to make a total of 30 rounds. The main bouts will go ten rounds. For this occasion there has been selected Wildcat Monte, lightweight champion of the Southwest to meet Eddie Murdock. Bobby Vincent was selected to meet Monte, but Murdock has since defeated Vincent and only the best are being selected.

The other main even will find Kid Granite, the Oklahoma "Rock Man," meeting Bud Chambers of Wichita, Kansas. Chambers is heralded as the best lightweight in the middle west, and once fought Ace Hudkins to a draw and beat Evers Hammer.

The exhibition will be staged at the city auditorium, a six and four-round event of fast lighter boys filling out this tip-top card.

Ace Hudkins Is Favorite as Fight With Baker Nears

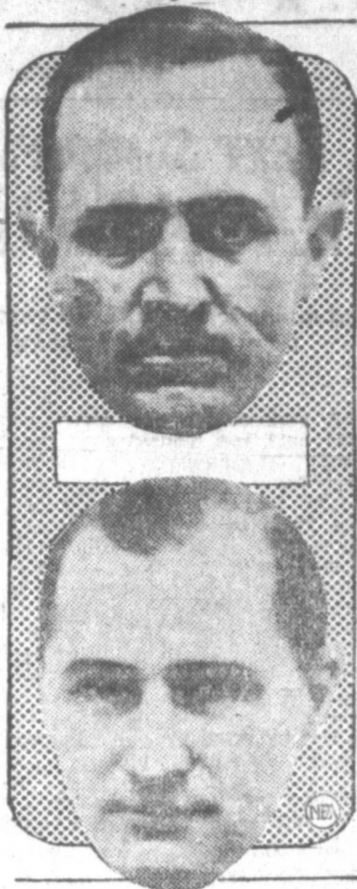

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Belief that Ace Hudkins would trounce Sammy Baker in the rubber match of the "grudge" series here, tomorrow night was strengthened today with the Nebraska Wildcat becoming a 2 to 1 favorite in many quarters. Earlier in the week Hudkins ruled an 8 to 5 choice.

The ten-round tilt will decide the challenger for the welterweight crown now defended by Joe Dundee, of Baltimore.

Land Rushes on South Plains to Be Dinner Topic

CANYON, Feb. 16.—More than 150 tickets have been reserved for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society dinner and indications are that the business meeting and dinner will draw representatives from a wider territory than ever before in the history of the organization Friday evening.

There are no great number of people in the Panhandle at the present time who know that there were land rushes on the South Plains. J. A. Rickard of O'Donnell, has made a study of these land rushes and will read a paper telling of them.

R. A. Burgess of Childress has written a history of Crosby county. A chapter from it will compose his paper.

Harley True Burton, president of Clarendon Junior college, will read a paper on some of the little known features of the history of the famous J. A. Ranch.

T. D. Hobart of Pampa, president of the organization, will preside at the business meeting, where the policies for the coming year will be determined.

In order to save time and make the occasion more enjoyable, the service at the annual dinner which is to be held at Cousins Hall will be informal. Judge Jas. D. Hamlin of Farwell will be toastmaster for the occasion.

Former Employee of Hospital Gets Two Years in the Pen

ABILENE, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Jim Downing, 24-year-old former employee of the state hospital for epileptics here, must serve two years in the penitentiary for the murder of Joe Marze, 54-year-old patient, a jury decided late Wednesday. An autopsy showed that Marze died from abdominal injuries which the state contended resulted from a beating administered by Downing.

of the ward dining room into a side room but denied he beat the patient. Another patient testified that he saw Downing knock Marze down and jump up and down on his body and kick him as he lay there.

Rotarians Will Help to Obtain Pampa Library

A committee, composed of the Rev. James Todd, Jr., W. C. Upton, and G. C. Walters was appointed, to confer with the members of the University club with regard to the proposed library here, at the regular meeting of the Rotary club at its luncheon at the Schneider hotel yesterday.

Plans were also discussed for the holding of the Rotary Ann meeting to be held at the Schneider hotel the night of February 29.

Lynn Boyd proposed a campaign to boost the "On to Lubbock" trip to the district Rotary convention in April. It is expected that a large delegation from the local club will attend the meeting.

Lampton Woodward of Hico, Texas, was a visiting Rotarian at the meeting. The guests included L. C. McMurry and Gilbert E. Shuman of Pampa.

Players Club to Present Comedy; Miss Reed Directs

The Players club under the able direction of Miss VeLora Reed will present "The Whole Town's Talking" at the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. Every member of the cast has had previous experience. Then entertainment promises three hours of good laughter. The proceeds will be used to help finance the school annual. Come early and get a good seat.

Valentine's Day Observed in Chapel

The first four grades of the Central campus met in chapel at 8:45 Tuesday morning, and after singing two songs from memory and repeating the Lord's prayer, they were entertained with the story of St. Valentine by Supt. Campbell who also gave them a weird story out of his own experiences.

He introduced a new valentine that would open its mouth and eyes and move about. This valentine was Dr. Tiedmann Hicks. She gave a beautiful story of the pearl fairy, which was beautifully rendered; and ended up with applying the moral of the story in the taking care of the children's mouths of pearl. They seemed very much interested throughout the story and promised to brush the pearls up and down thus keeping them beautiful and white. This is Mrs. Hicks second lecture on health to the student body.

NEXT SUMMER'S VACATION

IS SUBJECT OF WINNING PAPER IN HIGH SCHOOL ESSAY CONTEST

A preliminary local essay contest was held last Thursday at the high school. The students drew their subjects from one hundred topics furnished by the state department at Austin. Then they were given two hours to write an essay on the subject drawn. Susie Belle Smalling, a senior, won first place; Lewis Fogleman, a junior, won second place; Dee Blythe, a junior, won third place. These three students are making daily preparation for the final local contest, which will be held two weeks before the county meet.

The following essay, written by Miss Smalling, won first place.

HOW I INTEND TO SPEND NEXT SUMMER'S VACATION

How slowly the school year drags by! But there is no wonder and you too will understand when I have briefly summarized the wonderful trip which I have planned to take with my parents through the glorious Southwest. I have heard and read so much about this beautiful and enchanting country that I can wait no longer to see it.

First, we will visit the Carlsbad Cave in New Mexico which rivals to a great extent the noted Mammoth Cave of Kentucky. This huge underground cavern is visited every year by thousands of people, all of whom return to their homes overflowing with awe.

Then on into Arizona—the land of sunshine! Going a round about way we will next reach the wondrous expanse called the Grand Canyon. How inspiring and uplifting that curious formation of nature is to all who behold! I know I shall not want to leave such a scene, but in order to see the many things which I am anticipating we will not be able to spend more than three or four days there.

The Hopi Indian Snake Dance will be our next destination. The little village of Walpi is located on the top of a huge mesa. The small houses are built on top of one another. Many times a house is four or five stories high but very seldom exceeds that. There are no indoor stairs, but the upper stories are reached by ladders on evening in the high school auditorium. The following program was rendered:

Roll call, answered by a proverb. Debate—Affirmative, Oak Alee Roberts and Gladys Carter; negative, Era Johnson and Lottie Schaefer.

Material about the Argentina was read by Harvey Anderson. A special Spanish dance—Cinita Spurlock.

the outside. Red chill peppers adorn the dull brown of the adobe and can be seen from some distance away. Just at sundown the Indian dancers come out of their kiva (a durout in which they hold their meetings), carrying every type of snake which can be found in the Southwest. These the dancers wrap around their necks, waists and arms, and even go so far as to put them in their mouths. All this I have read of. It must be rather disgusting and sickening, and yet what a strange feeling one must have to actually behold such a sight.

A little further south we will encounter the petrified forest. This formation must be very interesting. I can't imagine how a tree trunk could be turned into a rock, but the sun, wind, and hail have greater powers than many people think.

On leaving here, we will go west for perhaps a hundred miles (I measured it on the map) until we reach a small up-to-date town which holds an Indian ceremonial every year in August. Hundreds and hundreds of Indians attend this affair, and people from all over the world make special attempts to be present. This is a treat to everyone. The various tribes give their various dances—their War dances, their Harvest dances, their Deer dances, their Buffalo dances, etc. All these are given very religiously and the spectators are not supposed to laugh. At night, by the light of bon-fires these are given with the dancers dressed in their actual costumes.

Fancy sleeping out on the ground at night with tall, towering pine trees soaring high above you, with stars looking down at you through the green of the trees.

Forensic Club to Have Debate on Blondes, Brunettes

The Forensic club met Tuesday night, February 14, and discussed a private business.

Later the following program was planned for the next meeting:

Reading.....Joan Wells Talk.....Mildred Fahy Reading.....Lawrence Fogleman Debate.....Thelma Qualls, Joan Leath; Negative, Nora Murray Marjorie Jewel.

Resolved, that if all girls were brunettes would there be any gentlemen?

The meeting for next Tuesday is very important and every member is urged to attend. Any visitors are invited.

Juniors, let's show a little more pep and put our most popular boy and girl over the top. Vote for Archie and Melba.

PREVENTIVE MEASURES.

If proper preventive measures were adopted in the homes, during the pre-school period, while susceptibility to both scarlet fever and diphtheria is greatest, morbidity and mortality due to these diseases could be lessened to the irreducible minimum. We would not then have occasion to concern ourselves with precautionary measures in the scholastic period—all children would be immune before starting to school.

But such is not the case. On the contrary we are confronted with a third of our pupils, in the primary grades at least, susceptible to both scarlet fever and diphtheria. What a pile of tinder waiting for a match.

LIVING FOR THE FUTURE.

The people of Pampa are living in the present but looking toward the future. Recent happenings and events lead us to know this truth. This is as it should be. For our past may be ever so glorious, but it is the past. We must consider today and tomorrow rather than yesterday except as those by-gone days instruct us for the work and duties before us.

Our fathers never camped for long on the battlefields where they had won their victories; they made every new achievement only a campfire for the night. This is the reason why Americans have accomplished more in a short time than any other peoples of history.

Important questions are now confronting us. And we must answer these questions or we are unworthy of our father's deeds. For what our fathers spoke and wrote they made good with laws on statute books and with rifles and bayonets on the field of battle.

Today and tomorrow, and not yesterday, the whole people and not special interests—this is the true formula of Americanism. Not the commercial viewpoint only but the moral viewpoint also; for we are building civilization as well as developing resources. We are making citizenship as well as money.

And after all, the highest human purpose is the development of the brain and through which the mind and soul of man functions.

The problems which we now face affect our national, state, county and community life here at home and our larger sphere of influence out in the whole world over.

The resources of this community are almost boundless, both in mineral wealth and the latent agricultural resources. Only can we imagine our mineral wealth. And under intensive cultivation, our soil would easily and bountifully support a population ten or more times as large as it is at present. For these western plains have proved their capacity to become the granaries of the nations of the earth.

So let us be up and doing; ready for any tasks, matters not how hard. Let's prove ourselves worthy of our noble ancestors. Not to leave things as well but better than we found them, ever remembering that nothing really worth while is really lost.

I close by repeating Longfellow's "The Arrow and the Song": I shot an arrow into the air, It fell to earth I knew not where; For who has eyes—the sight, Can follow an arrow in its flight?

I breathed a song into the air, It fell to earth I knew not where; For who has sight so keen and strong, That it can follow the flight of a song?

Long, long afterward in an oak, I found the arrow still unbroken; And the song from beginning to end, I found again in the heart of a friend.

Central Ward News

The little folks in the first four grades are having a lovely time this month. We have been studying Lincoln and Valentine and making pretty things for our rooms.

On St. Valentine's day we went into the auditorium for our Chapel exercise. Supt. Campbell made a very interesting and instructive talk on the life of St. Valentine and explained why we still celebrate his natal day.

Dr. Tiedmann Hicks gave another wonderful health lecture. This is the second lecture Mrs. Hicks has given us and we all enjoy them so very much. These lectures are always given in the fairy form and they are extremely interesting and instructive.

The little folks in these four grades had a Valentine box in each room at the close of the day. The spirit of love and good cheer prevailed throughout the day and each child went home feeling that life is sweet and beautiful. It is, indeed, a wonderful thing for parents and teachers to be able to create this feeling in the little ones.

We are glad to welcome so many new pupils into our school. Monday and Tuesday of this week Mrs. Lester enrolled eight in the first and second grades and Mrs. Daniels enrolled eight in the third and fourth grades.

We little folks were very glad to get the snow and ice. We are hoping that this will not be the last snow for this season.

Our school building is so very comfortable that the coldest weather never bothers us after we once get to school.

D. W. Jones Tells of Relief at 84. Disturbed Sleep is Nature's Danger Signal.

D. W. Jones, 515 N. Main St., Pratt, Kans., says in his own home paper, the Pratt Union: "Have spent hundreds of dollars trying to get relief. Was told I had a growth of the bladder and that it would require an operation. I had to get up 6 or 7 times each night. I must give credit for the relief from my distress to Keller's Lithiated Buchu. Will tell or write my full experience to anyone."

Lithiated Buchu acts on the bladder as an opium salts do on the bowels. Drives out foreign deposits and lessens excessive acidity. This relieves the irritation that causes "Getting up nights." The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio or locally at Fatheree Drug Co.

Lamar School Notes

The Arithmetic classes of the Fifth Grades have solved a problem about how many revolutions a wheel of certain circumference will make in a certain distance. They were divided into groups and given a bicycle. Each group measured the circumference of the wheel, then measured off a plot of ground and rolled the bicycle over that ground, taking care to notice where the wheel began and stopped. The number of revolutions were computed by the pupils, who divided the circumference into the distance traveled. Besides being very real, the problem was interesting to all.

TO REPEAT PLAY

"The Whole Town's Talking" will be shown at White Deer on February 17, Friday night. The high school orchestra will furnish the music and everyone that falls to see the play here in Pampa do not forget to come to White Deer at the high school and see this comical play. This play is put on by the Players club and the money is being raised to help the annual.

CHILDREN EXAMINED

Mrs. Downs is on the job as school nurse, and has examined and reported the defects of all the children. The patrons can help greatly by getting your boy and your girl to your family physician at once for correction. This expenditure on part of the Red Cross, Associated Charities, and the school board will be useless unless the patrons act on the advice of the nurse.

Ladies Aid Society Meets Wednesday With Mrs. James Todd, Jr.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Christian church met Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. James Todd. The devotional exercises were opened by a Scripture reading by Mrs. Hutchins. Prayer was led by Mrs. C. S. Rice. At the close of the devotional period, business was planned and discussed for the year's work.

The American Indian Is Subject of Study at Ladies Auxiliary

The Presbyterian Ladies Auxiliary met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Tom Clayton with Mrs. E. W. McJunkin and Mrs. C. L. Mullen as joint hostesses.

Mrs. W. Sweatman presided over the business session, and Mrs. Jim White was in charge of the mission study lesson, the subject of which was "The American Indian." Special topics were given by Mrs. Dave Pope, Mrs. J. M. McDonald, Mrs. T. W. Sweatman, Mrs. Tom Clayton, Mrs. P. C. Ledrick, Mrs. J. E. Corson and Mrs. Joe Smith.

Later a social hour was enjoyed and delicious refreshments were served the following: Mrs. Dave Pope, Mrs. Tom Clayton, Mrs. L. L. Masters, Mrs. T. W. Sweatman, Mrs. W. E. Voss, Mrs. W. P. Clausing, Mrs. J. H. Lutz, Mrs. Kathie Vincent, Mrs. J. E. Corson, Mrs. T. D. Hobart, Mrs. P. C. Ledrick, Mrs. B. E. Finley, Mrs. C. H. Todd, Mrs. Frank Hudgel, Mrs. J. M. McDonald, Mrs. Joe Smith, Mrs. Jim White, Mrs. L. B. Nickles, Mrs. Fred Fendricks, and the Rev. W. L. Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughey Entertain With Bridge Wednesday Afternoon

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Hughey entertained Wednesday evening with bridge. Decorations of Valentine suggestions added to the merriment of the scene, and the bridge games were enjoyed until a late hour. A delicious plate luncheon was served the following guests:

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sugg, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Walstad, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Upton, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. The next meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. Sawyer, with Mrs. R. J. Kizer as hostess.

Methodist Society Meets With Study of Current Magazines

The Methodist Missionary Society met Wednesday afternoon on with Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar in Mission Study lesson with 30 present.

The president, Mrs. W. Purviance, was unable to be present due to illness and her presence was greatly missed. It is hoped that she can attend the next meeting.

The first number on the program was a unique dialogue given by Mrs. R. C. Campbell, and Mrs. I. B. Hughey, which was entitled "Starved Brains."

Mrs. G. C. Walstad read an interesting paper on "My Experience with Books" after which the superintendent, Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar gave a brief resume of the chapters previously studied and led up to the lesson of the afternoon. At this time "The Four Best Sellers" of the magazine stands were introduced and impersonated as follows: "True Story," Mrs. Tom Brabham; "American," Mrs. Siler Faulkner; "Photoplay," Mrs. James Burgess; "Saturday Evening Post," Mrs. Fred Carey.

In their discussions the women brought out reasons why these magazines were the best sellers, and also showed wherein some legitimately held this place while others did not. Statistical reports from news stands of the city prove that "True Story" magazine led in copies sold last month. Speakers said this is appalling when we think of the numerous magazines with wholesome contents that our young people are over looking.

Why not place something more uplifting on the library tables?

After a short business session, the meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Tom Brabham.

Next Wednesday afternoon the society meets with Mrs. Hunkapillar and a most enjoyable program has been planned in connection with a George Washington party. All members of the church are urged to come and join these meetings.

All Poll Taxes Mailed by Deputy

Deputy Ray Wilson reports having finished the copying of the poll tax receipts for this year and the mailing of the receipts.

Pampa, or precinct 2, had 3,390 poll tax paid, while the other precincts total are as follows: McLean, 770; Al-anreed, 200; LeFors, 101; Knorp, 135; Farrington, 40; Hopkins, 28 and Laketon, 80 making a total of 4,744 poll taxes paid in the county, or practically twice the amount paid last year.

If the receipts are not received within three days by those who paid the tax, notify Deputy Ray Wilson at LeFors immediately as the books will be closed the latter part of next week.

Postmaster W. A. Crawford is holding several receipts for persons who have not called for them.

MONEY IN OLD CLOTHES

The salesman saw his shabby clothes, and eyed him head to toe. So rough a looking man, thought he could not be good to know. And since he sold expensive cars, to which only rich men buy, To sell the ragged looking man he did not even try.

The stranger walked among the cars and looked the models over. The youthful salesman passed him by a dozen times or more; Not once he paused to talk to him he scorned the proffered smile. And looking about for richer men who might be more worth while.

The manager came out at last and saw the ragged man. His hand went out in welcome as he shouted: "Hello, Dan!"

"Hello, Bill!" said the ragged man. "My daughter wants a car. And I've been nosing around to see how good they are!

"Send up the red one over there, she likes to cut a dash." And reaching in his wallet he drew out the price in cash. "My women wear the style for me. You know my ways are quaint. By gosh," said he, "I think that boy has fallen in a faint."

They brought the youthful salesman to, and sent him home to rest. "Don't ever judge a man," said they "by how he may be dressed. You lost a good cash customer, but write this lesson down: 'Not all the worthwhile people strut in broadcloth round the town.'" —Edgar A. Guest.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

THE STORY THUS FAR

Because Skeel's finger prints were found in the "Canary" apartment, Markham believes Skeel was Margaret Odell's murderer. But Vance thinks Skeel had been hiding in a clothes closet, his presence unsuspected, while the murderer did his work. He is led to this belief because of a jewel case that had been opened with a steel chisel after having been pried with a poker; and because he holds that the crime was the work of a man with superior intellect. Markham ridicules the theory and Vance, investigating on his own, traces a picture found in the Odell apartment to Alys La Fosse.

CHAPTER XXVII

As we walked across town Vance explained.

"That first morning, when we were inspecting the Canary's rooms, I was convinced that the murder would never be solved by the usual elephantine police methods.

"It was a subtle and well-planned crime despite its obvious appearance. No routine investigation would suffice. Intimate information was needed. Therefore, when I saw this photograph of the xanthous Alys half hidden under the litter of papers on the escritoire, I reflected: 'Ah! A girl friend of the departed Margaret's. She may know just the things that are needed.' So, when the sergeant's broad back was turned, I put the picture in my pocket.

"There was no other photograph about the place, and this one bore the usual sentimental inscription. Ever thine, and signed 'Alys.' I concluded, therefore, that Alys had played Anactoria to the Canary's Sappho. Of course I erased the inscription before presenting the picture to the penetrating sly at Browne's. . . . And here we are at the Belafield, hopin' for a bit of enlightenment."

The Belafield was a small, expensive apartment-hotel in the East Thirties, which, to judge from the guests to be seen in the Americanized Queen Anne lobby, catered to the well-off sporting set.

Vance sent his card up to Miss La Fosse, and received the message that she would see him in a few minutes. The few minutes, however, developed into three-quarters of an hour, and it was nearly noon when a splendid bell-boy came to escort us to the lady's apartment.

Nature had endowed Miss La Fosse with many of its arts, and those that nature had omitted, Miss La Fosse herself had supplied. She was slender and blonde. Her large blue eyes were heavily lashed, but though she looked at one with a wide-eyed stare she was unable to disguise their sophistication. Her toilet had been made with elaborate care and as I looked at her, I could not help thinking what an excellent model she would have been for Cheret's pastel posters.

"So you are Mr. Vance," she cooed. "I've often seen your name in Town Topics."

Vance gave a shudder. "And this is Mr. Van Dine," he said sweetly, "—a mere attorney, who, thus far, has been denied the pages of that fashionable weekly."

"Won't you sit down?" (I am sure Miss La Fosse had spoken the line in a play she made of the invitation in impressive ceremonial.) "I really don't know why I should have received you. But I suppose you called on business. Perhaps you wish me to appear at a society bazaar, or something of the kind. But I'm so busy, Mr. Vance. You simply can't imagine how occupied I am with my work. . . . I just love my work," she added, with an ecstatic sigh.

"And I'm sure there are many thousands of others who love it, too," returned Vance, in his best drawing-room manner. "But unfortunately I have no bazaar to be graced by your charming presence. I have come on a much more serious matter. . . . you were a very close friend of Miss Margaret Odell's."

The mention of the Canary's name brought Miss La Fosse suddenly to her feet. Her ingratiating air of affected elegance had quickly disappeared. Her eyes flashed, and their lids drooped harshly. A sneer distorted the lines of her cupid's-bow mouth, and she tossed her head angrily.

"Say listen! Who do you think you are? I don't know nothing, and I got nothing to say. So run along—you and your lawyer."

But Vance made no move to obey. He took out his cigaret-case and carefully selected a Regie.

"Do you mind if I smoke?—And won't you have one? I import them direct from my agent in Constantinople. They're exquisitely blended."

The girl snorted, and gave him a look of cold disdain. The doll-baby had become a virago.

"Get yourself outa my apartment, or I'll call the house detective." She turned to the telephone on the wall at her side.

Vance waited until she had lifted the receiver.

"If you do that, Miss La Fosse, I'll order you taken to the district attorney's office for questioning," he told her indifferently, lighting his cigaret and leaning back in his chair.

Slowly she replaced the receiver and turned.

"What's your game, anyway? . . . Suppose I did know Margy—then what? And where do you fit into the picture?"

"Alas! I don't fit in at all." Vance smiled pleasantly. "But, for that matter, nobody seems to fit in. The truth is they're about to arrest a poor blighter for killing your friend, who wasn't in the tableau, either. I happen to be a friend of the district attorney's, and I know exactly what's being done. The police are scouting round in a perfect frenzy of activity, and it's hard to say what trail they'll strike next. "I thought, don't y' know, I might save you a lot of unpleasantness by a friendly little chat. . . . Of course," he added, "if you prefer to have me give your name to the police, I'll do so, and let them hold the audition in their own inimitable but cruel fashion. I might say, however, that, as yet, they are blissfully unaware of your relationship with Miss Odell, and that, if you are reasonable, I see no reason why they should be informed of it."

The girl had stood, one hand on the telephone, studying Vance intently. He had spoken carelessly and with a genial inflection; and she at length resumed her seat.

"Now, won't you have one of my cigarets?" he asked, in a tone of gracious reconciliation.

Mechanically she accepted his offer, keeping her eyes on him all the time, as if attempting to determine how far he was to be trusted.

"Who are they thinking of arresting?" She asked the question with scarcely a movement of her features.

"A Johnny named Skeel—Silly idea, isn't it?"

"Him!" Her tone was one of mingled contempt and disgust. "That cheap crook? He hasn't got nerve enough to strangle a cat."

"Precisely. But that's no reason for sending him to the electric chair, what?"

Vance leaned forward and smiled engagingly. "Miss La Fosse, if you will talk to me for five minutes and forget I'm a stranger, I'll give you my word of honor not to let the police or the district attorney know anything about you. I'm not connected with the authorities, but somehow I dislike the idea of seeing the wrong man punished. And I'll promise to forget the source of any information you will be kind enough to give me. If you will trust me, it will be infinitely easier for you in the end."

The girl made no answer for several minutes. She was, I could see, trying to estimate Vance; and evidently she decided that, in any case, she had nothing to lose—now that her friendship with the Canary had been discovered—by talking to this man who had promised her immunity from further annoyance.

"I guess you're all right," she said with a reservation of dubiety; "but I don't know why I should think so." She paused. "But, look here: I was told to keep out of this. And if I don't keep out of it, I'm apt to be back hoofing it in the chorus again. And that's no life for a sweet young thing like me with extravagant tastes—believe me, my friend!"

THE RECOVERY OF THE BAG OF MONEY WHICH THE FAKE BILL GERRICK STOLE FROM GUNN AND TATE AND THEN LEFT IN A TANKAB PRIOR TO HIS CAPTURE BY THE REAL BILL GERRICK BROUGHT A FITTING CLIMAX TO THE IMPOSITOR'S ATTEMPTED SWINDLE.

WELL, GENTLEMEN, THE POLICE JUST INFORMED ME THAT MY IMPERSONATOR IS A NOTED CROOK KNOWN AS "THE FLASH" AND IS DUE FOR A LONG TERM BEHIND THE BARS. BUT WHAT GETS ME IS—HOW DID THIS FAKE BILL HAPPEN TO TURN UP HERE IN THE FIRST PLACE?

WELL, TO MAKE A LONG STORY SHORT, I MET HIM COMING UP ON THE BOAT FROM SOUTH AMERICA—I TOLD HIM OF MY PLANS TO LIVE WITH YOU—THAT SEEMED TO INTEREST HIM—UPON ARRIVING AT NEW ORLEANS, WE SPENT THE NIGHT TOGETHER AT A HOTEL—

WHEN I AWOKE THE NEXT MORNING, I FOUND MYSELF AT SEA ON A TRAMP STEAMER BOUND FOR A TRIP AROUND THE HORN—RECALLING OUR FORMER CONVERSATION, IT SEEMED EVIDENT THAT HE HAD "SHAUGHAIED" ME FOR SOME CROOKED REASON AND I WAS POSITIVE WHERE I WOULD FIND HIM—

WELL, MR. GERRICK, YOU SURE CAME ON THE SCENE IN TIME. TO SAVE US FROM GOING ON THE ROCKS. I'LL SAY! HE TURNED THE TABLES SO THAT THE FAKE BILL WILL GO ON THE ROCKS INSTEAD OF WITH A SLEDGE HAMMER.

Lee O. Browne, Democratic Leader, Killed in Illinois

OTTAWA, Ill., Feb. 16.—(P)—Lee O'Neil Browne, lawyer, legislator and one of Illinois' Democracy's most forceful figures, drowned yesterday in the swift waters of Fox river flowing past his estate.

Power and Light Systems Growing Rapidly in City

The Southwestern Public Service company reports an interesting increase in the number of meters installed during the month of January, and the work now being done in the city. Forty-three new meters were installed during the month and the demand continues to increase.

Tonight the sixteen new White Way lights on Ballard street in front of the Adams hotel and other buildings on that street will be lighted for the first time. The work has been delayed owing to shortage of cable. This connection will complete the present White Way contract between the city and the Southwestern Public Service company, with the exception of the eight lights in the third block of South Cuyler street.

As soon as deeds can be drawn up, the third block on South Cuyler street will be widened to make it 72 feet from curb to curb or the same width as the rest of the street. Two weeks after the widening of the street the additional White Way lights will be installed in the block.

The company at the present time is installing a line to the Bell oil and Gas company's loading rack east of here. The new rack will accommodate twenty oil cars.

Commencing next week a high line crew will arrive here to commence re-amping the entire high line from Pampa to Amarillo, putting in lightning arrestors preparatory to the summer storms.

To further add to the service, a power salesman will commence his duties here within the next month. He will devote most of his time in the oil fields conferring with oil representatives and arranging for more power.

Nurse Urges Steps to Prevent Spread of Diseases Here

"Care should be taken to prevent the spread of communicable diseases at this time when sickness is prevalent throughout the city," Mrs. M. P. Downs, Red Cross nurse, states.

"It would be advisable if people would not visit the sick until the cause of the illness is known, as many have been exposed to disease in this way.

"I would also advise those who have not been vaccinated during the past year to do so at once as some cases of smallpox have been reported by local physicians," Mrs. Downs further stated.

Several grades at the Baker school, the pupils of which had not previously been examined are having this done now and reports will be sent the parents of those who are found to be suffering from any illness, as soon as possible. Any parents who wish to consult Mrs. Downs may phone 555 and leave a message for her.

If the parents of pupils who were examined before Christmas wish a report, they may notify Mrs. Downs and she will send it.

Mrs. Downs, whose activities are being sponsored by the Red Cross, Associated Charities, city commission and schools, wishes to express her appreciation for the way local organizations, doctors, dentists, and individuals are assisting in her important work. She says the program is going forward rapidly and many things already being accomplished.

Ashamed of Her Violin—Old Strad

DARLINGTON, Wis., Feb. 16.—(P)—Marian McQuaid, 15-year-old school girl, liked to play the violin, but she was ashamed to be seen in public with the old fiddle belonging to her father.

She had about decided to get a new one when her teacher looking it over yesterday saw an age-browned paper inside the instrument the words: "Stradivarius, Cremona Anno 1721."

An expert will be consulted to see if the viola is a genuine Stradivarius. It has been in the girl's family 50 years.

MRS. COOLIDGE IMPROVES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(P)—Mrs. Coolidge, who is ill, was said today at the White House to have spent a good night.

Joe M. Smith Has Entered Race for County Treasurer

Joe M. Smith, local business man, today announced his intention to become a candidate for county treasurer. Mr. Smith issued the following statement in regard to his candidacy.

"Having been reliably informed that the present incumbent, Miss Miriam Wilson, does not expect to be a candidate for re-election this year to the office of treasurer of Gray County, I have decided to enter the race for that office, subject to the action of the Democratic primary in July.

"While I have resided in Gray County more than ten years, I have never before asked for a public office. However, I feel that my experience in other lines of business will enable me to handle the office, together with the funds of the county, in an efficient and businesslike manner.

"During my residence in Pampa, the first nine years of which were spent in the newspaper business, I have served a total of five years on the city council, and slightly less than two years on the board of education of the Pampa, Independent School district. While these offices pay nothing in a monetary way, yet they afford one of satisfaction of feeling he has had a part in the upbuilding of the community, besides permitting one to gain a broader knowledge of public affairs, and a more sympathetic understanding of the desires and wishes of his constituents.

"If elected to the office of county treasurer of Gray county, I feel no hesitancy in pledging my best efforts to keep accurate and proper records of the office, and abide by the laws pertaining to same.

"Prompt, efficient, and courteous service is the basis upon which I solicit the vote of every Democrat in Gray county, and assure all that your support will be appreciated."

J. J. Denebeim of Kansas City is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gordon at the New Schneider hotel.

CONOCO plus ETHYL

an unbeatable combination

WINTER Conoco Ethyl Gasoline is a combination of two products of unsurpassed merit. Conoco, the Triple Test Gasoline and Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound, the magic fluid developed in the research laboratories of General Motors. These two—working together—produce a motor fuel which challenges competition on every count.

Whatever you want from a motor fuel, you get from Winter Conoco Ethyl—a quick start, a real pickup in cold weather traffic, smooth running, extra power to lighten engine strain and no knocks.

And yet this unmatched fuel costs on the average but a few cents a week more than ordinary gasoline and not a penny more than some of its inferior imitations. There is no mystery about Winter Conoco Ethyl. It is a scientific product called by its right name.

Get it at the familiar Conoco Sign.
