Women Asked To Knit Sweaters For Red Cross

The Red Cross of Pampa has yarn on hand for 150 sweaters to be knitted for shipment to Great Britain where the American Red Cross is passing out garments daily at the scenes of aerial bombings. Mrs. Fred Roberts, chairman of production of the local Red Cross chapter, has announced.

Word comes from Dover Cliff of the practical help that warm clothes from America were to the population holding out there, not alone against the enemy plane raids but the long range enemy guns fired from across the English Channel.

Bowen McCoy of the American Red Cross, visiting concentration centers, encountered Queen Elizabeth of England who was checking on the needs of homeless families from Gibraltar and she sent her warm thanks through him to the Red Cross for the multitude of comforts then being distributed to the homeless in that neighborhood.

David K. E. Bruce, Red Cross delegate recently returned to the United States said, "In every section of the capital thousands of people have had to abandon forever the homes in which they have lived from generation to generation. The accumulations of a lifetime disappear in the space of seconds. Sometimes during night raids numbers of persons are left as naked as they were born."

Thus a great need, as passed on to the American Red Cross is for clothing to clad hundreds of thousands of the homeless. Huge quantities of garments have been purchased in the United States or made by chapter volunteers or purchased in Great Britain with American funds. Most of these supplies are in use today in Great Britain. Other similar shipments are going forward every week, Mrs. Roberts pointed out.

The Pampa women who are now knitting are doing a wonderful piece of work," Mrs. Roberts continued. "Mrs. Elma Phelps is knitting her fourth sweater and giving much of her spare time teaching knitting to the girls of the Junior Red Cross. Mrs. Andy Smith of LeFors has taken yarn for 14 sweaters and is interesting the women of her community in the work. Many others are now on their second and third sweaters. It is hoped that all women in Pampa who can knit will respond to this call for help."

Instructions come with the yarn and the sweaters are easy to make. Call at Red Cross headquarters in the library in the city hall for your yarn immediately.

The Salvation Army hall, Catholic Youth Association will meet at 8 o'clock in the parochial school hall.

Central Yaght club of Central Church of Christ will meet at 8 o'clock in the church.

Local Women's class of First Christian church will have a meeting.

63 Of 250 Senior Grid Stars Choose Coaching Line

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP)—College football's graduating seniors are about to turn their talents loose on an assortment of professions and businesses the likes of which you'd never guess.

The Associated Press annual survey of just what football players went to college for revealed today, for instance, that the gridiron boys are planning to try their luck at a long line of things all the way from animal husbandry to undertaking.

Four or five really candid fellows replied only that they're "going to go out and get jobs."

Meanwhile, the fellow with the white whiskers—Uncle Sam to you—sant a-slickering, because he's holding the strings. The majority of the 250 football playing seniors in the survey are eligible for immediate futures with the army and navy, in addition to the seniors from West Point and Annapolis.

Some 63 choose the coaching line, among them such top-flight performers as George Franck, Minnesota's line mauler; Paul Severin, North Dakota's fine end; Bill Jennings, of Oklahoma.

There's Carl Benson at Southern California. He may decide to coach, but he is a licensed plumber at Laguna Beach, Calif., and may go in with his father there.

Terrific Tommy Harmon, Michigan's one-man tank corps, announced his intention of getting into radio announcing. Now it comes out, he might even give the movies a whirl.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP)—Scoop parade: Billy Herman, Arlie Vaughn, and Eddie Miller are being tagged as the next big short to figure in deals in Atlanta. . . . What is the big hold-back in the serving up of the second and bigger half of G-man Atherton's report on the Pacific conference house clearing?

... Dick Harlow (who saw the Vols in the bowl) has served warning on Boston College it will be up against the toughest team it ever faced in Tennessee. . . . Incidentally, opening Broadway prices make Tennessee $19 over the Eagles, and Stanford $19 over Nebraska.

Atlanta special: Hark, hark, the dogs do bark. As misery and pain fill the town. For a baseball meet is tough on feet. From hours of standing around; So let us toast, with brimming cups, Atlanta's "week of aching pups."

Sucker for socials. Boston papers are asking fans not to sign up Charlie O'Rourke for December social events. If they have the good of the Eagles at heart. (Confidentially, he's a sucker for 'em). . . . Pitcher Dizzy Trout of the Tigers expects to wear contact glasses next season. . . . If Judge Landis doesn't announce he intends to step out of the picture, in tonight's speech, Clark Griffith is expected to lead a move to renew his contract for another five years. . . . Only 300 combinations—a $10 pass—heard that get you into all the events of the mid-winter sports program—are left for Sugar Bowl fans.

All-America dept. Well, Mr. Ken Gilland of Charlotte, N. C., sends in another of those screwy all-America's—ends: Lather of Colgate, and Lake of Florida; tackles: Locke of Yale and Shipp of Navy; Mudd of Mississippi, and Mixture of Duke; Center: Flinnes of Texas; Quarterback: Colt of Kentucky; Halfbacks: Orange of California, and Gunn of Army; Fullback: Salt of Utah. . . . (P. S.—Season of these teams closes after Saturday's games.)

Chatter Chatter. Andre Lenglet, the French heavyweight, who fought here some years back, lost part of a foot in the war. . . . Christy Walsh, who made a reputation on Broadway first as manager of Babe Ruth, then as sports director of the World's Fair, will quit the big town and go into business in Los Angeles. . . . Good link to Ben Wahrman who has succeeded John Oliver as sports editor of the Richmond (Va.) Newsleader.

No fewer than four former Chattanooga managers stopped over on their way to the Atlanta baseball meeting to see their old boss, Joe Engel. (Such popularity must be deserved, eh, Joe?) . . . C. C. "Crip" Hall, Arkansas secretary of state, recently made his 21st Arkansas U. homecoming rally.

Today's guest star. Elliott Chase, Lake Charles (La.) American Press: "Don't think the north has any monopoly on this week-end football recklessness. . . . Down here the bookies offer such a varied assortment of these football 'pool' cards, you can select one to harmonize with the shirt you like."

Observation ward. One of the applicants for Doc Prothro's job with the Phillies was a Dartmouth college student who asserted he'd take the job for experience only.

State and federal gasoline taxes are by far the heaviest of these special highway taxes, amounting to $35.10 a second, or $2106 a minute. Miscellaneous other motor vehicle taxes, tolls, and fees add another $137 a minute.

The football season in Pampa isn't nearly over. Now that the Harvesters, Grizzlies, Reapers, Peewees, and Grade school teams have put away their uniforms, the Pampa negro school football team is ready to go, and it will play its first home game of the season Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Harvester field, with the Amarillo High school team providing the opposition. Admission will be 10 cents for students and 25 cents for adults.

Next week the Pampa team, from Carver school, is scheduled to play Wellington, a team they defeated 12 to 0 in Wellington on Thanksgiving Day.

Tomorrow's game will be sponsored by the Baker school. Principal Aaron Meek hopes that everyone will pay instead of some climbing over the fence. There will be no guards around the field so Principal Meek is placing kids and adults on their honor.

The Carver Wildcats are not big, the starting lineup averaging only 146½ pounds per man. The Patton Dragons will average about 160 pounds. But the Wildcats aren't worried. Wellington outweighed them nearly 30 pounds per man, and the starting Pampa eleven played the entire game without relief.

"We hope to give fans a real ball game," Principal J. W. Turner of Carver school said today. "Coach Tom Dever and I have been working with the boys for nearly three months and they know plenty of football. I believe we can beat Amarillo."

In John White, 150-pound full-back, the Wildcats have an outstanding passer and punter. Lemuel Dukes, 140, has been doing some great punting and blocking. George Holt, 140, quarterback, and LeRoy Buntin, 140, have been the scat ball toters.

Ends will be Aubrey Washington, 185, and Elgin Berry, 136; tackles, Captain Tol Eklund, 161, and Eben Bonner, 163; guards, Nathan Rogers, 141, and Calvin Hazy, 125; center, Cornelius Pyles, 159.

Officials for the game will be Terrell Davis, referee; Jack Davis, umpire; Dick Livingston, head linesman. All are coaches and teachers at Junior High school.

MacPhail is putting his cash on the line chiefly for young talent. With exception of Veteran Outfielder Joe Medwick, acquired from the Cardinals for $50,000, his deals have gambled on the future—$100,000 for the Phillies' pitcher, Kirby Higbe and yesterday's Mickey Owen buy.

The minors held up the second day of their convention, but the majors still held baseball's attention with lineup juggling.

To the Cincinnati Reds' swap of Shortstop Billy Myers to the Chicago Cubs for Outfielder Jim Gleason, Shortstop Bobby Mattick and an undesignated player was added word of two other negotiations.

The Boston Red Sox were reported unofficially near agreement of a straight trade which would send Veteran Outfielder Roger Cramer to the Chicago White Sox in return for Outfielder Mike Kreevich.

Cramer, who joined Boston in 1936 after a five-year hitch with the Athletics, batted .302 last season while Kreevich, playing his sixth year for Chicago, wound up with .266. In 1939 Cramer batted .311 and Kreevich .278.

Manager Bill McKeehn of Cincinnati was believed dickerer for another shortstop to understudy Eddie Joost, since Mattick has been an erratic infielder.

Four college football records went by the books this season. The Texas-Aggle game at Austin, 45,000, was the largest throng in Southwest history. The Texas-Rice game at Houston drew 28,000, largest in Houston history. The Texas-Oklahoma game drew a record of 35,000 for that classic and the S. M. U.-Aurora game, 27,000, was a new Methodist mark.

Shamrock To Be Scene Of Bi-District Game Friday

Special To The NEWS

SHAMROCK, Dec. 5.—Shamrock will be the center of attention for Panhandle football fans Friday when the fighting Irish meet the Paducah Dragons on Denver field at 2:30.

The Dragons are rated as one of the strongest class A teams of the state and feature a tricky passing attack and a continual running threat. The pass attack of the Dragons is built around quarter-back Hubert Sandlin, 155-pound passer deluxe, with Elmer Biddy and James Lee, two big ends who weigh 180 each and are tall, snaging almost anything they can touch. Their running attack features 150-pound "Rolling" Rudolph Mobley, who has scored more points than any other back in the state for the 1940 season. Thru nine games, with the best class A teams of the Panhandle, "Rolling" Rudolph has scored at least one long distance touchdown in each game and has made two or more in several games.

Coaches Ab Pruitt and Burns McKinney have built up one of the best offenses to be found in class A football in the state and while this Dragons team has piled up 214 points it has allowed opponents only 18 points.

The fighting little Irish team has had to overcome weight differences and play against odds in its last three conference games. Coaches Forrest Kline and Scott McCall have built their team as a unit and have no particular stars. Most of their gains have been made on the ground and blocking is their strongest point. The scrappy little Irish team has displayed a good defense to date, but has scored few points, winning their games by small margins. In ten games their season score is 108 points to their opponents' 88.

Boy Scouts of Troop 80 put up posters in downtown Pampa windows this week for the Gray County Tuberculosis association's annual Christmas seal sale. Claude Gallman is scoutmaster of the troop, who worked in cooperation with the TB association in this service.

An order of sale covering lot 31 of the J. D. White sub-division, section 39, block 3, I. & G. N. survey, consisting of five acres, was executed Tuesday. The price is not known as papers in the case had not been filed today. Action was based on the case of Merriek & Boyd vs. Jessie White and G. M. Walizer. Plaintiff was reported the purchaser, according to a county officer.

Sabotage Charged At Plane Factory

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP)—Dies committee sources predicted today that federal indictments would result from evidence turned over to the justice department that a group of German sympathizers were engaged in sabotaging a British plane order in a California factory.

Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) said in a radio speech last Monday night that an experimental plane had crashed at the factory, with evidence of sabotage. He declared there had been other evidence of saboteurs at the plant.

Dies did not name the company.

Britons Hail Finance Pact With Turkey

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Britons today described a new financial agreement with Turkey, second step in Britain's recently intensified diplomatic activity, as a wedge against German efforts to draw the guardians of the Dardanelles into the economic orbit of the Axis.

The Financial Times said the agreement, signed yesterday, was an "especially bitter blow to Hitler because there is reason to believe the Germans were about to put forward tempting proposals to the Turks."

Diplomatic circles viewed the treaty as an important commercial and a vigorous political stroke as well and declared it to be a "direct challenge to economic domination in the Balkans," by Germany as represented by yesterday's signing of a 10-year Rumanian-German trade and economic pact.

(Informed circles in Bucharest predicted that increased railroad, highway and pipeline construction to speed up the delivery of oil to Germany would result from the pact.)

Details of the British-Turkish agreement, which followed closely a commercial accord between Spain and Britain, were not made public but it was understood generally that the United Kingdom Commercial corporation set up last April would play a big part in arranging sales and purchases.

At the same time, experts expected purchases under the agreement would run into millions of pounds sterling, with Turkey sending British mainly agricultural products in exchange for woolens, cotton, locomotives, wagons and munitions.

"Under the new arrangement," the Times declared, "Turkey will be free to develop her economy in cooperation with the British Empire. On our side we now effectively challenge the great German share of the Turkish market."

Truett Addresses

Masonic Lodge

WACO, Dec. 5 (AP)—Election of officers featured the closing program here today of the Grand Lodge of Texas, A. F. and A. M.

The largest opening crowd in history of the lodge was present last night as members moved from their temple to hear Dr. George Truett of Dallas, who told the lodge the standard of physical power, the belief that might makes right, cannot survive.

Earlier, Grand Master Leo Hart had reported an increase in net membership of 2,173 in Texas.

Three thousand Masons had registered by 5 p. m. yesterday.

Two Brazilians Killed In Crash Of American-Made Ship

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 5 (AP)—Four persons, including two Brazilian army aviators, were killed when one of six planes being ferried from California fell out of formation and crashed in flames in a thatched hut in the tiny village of Santiago De La Pena.

The planes, en route to Brazil for use in training the Brazilian air corps, had just taken off from Tuxpan airport yesterday, when the crash occurred.

Lieut. Enrique Alencaster and Sergeant Enrique Erkens, the crew, burned to death, and a woman and small boy in the dwelling also perished in the flames. Another woman and two children were burned gravely.

Fairchild today produces 14 training planes and three commercial planes weekly, as compared to two commercial planes weekly a year ago.

Mrs. May Bishop Says Hoyt's Has Restored Health

want to thank Hoyt's Compound for the relief I have received from it. I have been in a nervous, run-down condition for the past four years, suffering from indigestion, gas, bloating, nervous headaches after meals, and aches and pains in my neck, back, and arms. I was also very constipated.

"I read about Hoyt's Compound in the paper, and I tried it. It gave me wonderful results. The pains, headaches, gas, belching and bloating are gone, and my bowels are regular. I hope others may find the same relief, for Hoyt's has been a blessing."

Hoyt's Compound is recommended and sold by the Cretney Drug Store, and by all other druggists in this area.

Don't Belittle Constitution

The attacks on our constitutional form of government in recent years have been many and varied. A great many of them have been based on the argument that the constitution, at least as interpreted, tends to work against the interests of the people. The inevitable result of these arguments has been to lead the nation away from a government of laws, and toward a government of men.

But the constitution still stands as a bulwark between the individual and his government—as a protection for the minority against the possible abuses of the majority. A particularly important example of this has just occurred in the state of Oregon.

Some two years ago the voters of Oregon, inflamed by the racketeering tactics of a few union leaders, which resulted in their imprisonment for long terms, passed a law which, among other things, stringently restricted the right of labor to picket. Labor lawyers at once went to the courts. And finally, the Supreme Court of the State, with but one Justice dissenting, held the law null and void, on the grounds that it violated the constitutional provision concerning the exercise of free speech.

The Court held that even the people of a sovereign state cannot pass a law which is in any way a contravention of the Constitution which governs us all—that the minority has rights which a majority, no matter how great, can never take away. That decision is based on the very spirit of all that our kind of government stands for. It illustrates the oppression that would be the fate of minorities if the Constitution were weakened or destroyed. And finally, it illustrates how the Courts, working under a government of laws, not a government of men, protect the "common man" when his cause is just.

The Constitution stands for liberty for all, justice for all, inviolable rights for all. It guarantees a way of life which has been crushed in most of the world.

Time To Work

This is the time for labor, no less than capital, to show its patriotism.

There can be no further excuse for unjustified strikes, which could be prevented by honest arbitration, for labor racketeering of any kind, or for wage and hour demands which go beyond all reason, and which show defense production.

If labor has any just grievances, conciliation can cure them. Public opinion, that mightiest of corrective forces, will always support the exploited, and see that the exploiter is controlled. And, by the same token, public opinion will, and rightly, give short shrift to those who seek to promote industrial warfare.

Behind The News

By BRUCE CATTON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Henry Wallace's trip to Mexico as FDR's personal envoy at the inauguration of President-elect Manuel Avila Camacho was more than simply an elaborate good-will gesture toward Mexico.

It foreshadowed a new role for Wallace himself—that of the New Deal's chief good-will emissary for Latin-American generally.

If the cards fall as they are now shuffled, the South Americans may see about as much of Wallace this winter as will the U. S. Senate, over which as vice president he is due to preside. Contemplated is a sort of roving commission which would have the new vice president concerning himself much more with the Latin-American problem than with the Senate's deliberations.

This role would fit Wallace for three reasons.

First, he's an expert on the farm angle of the trade problem between the U. S. and South America—and the farm angle is a huge part of it. Second, no New Dealer is more convinced than Wallace that it is vital for this country to cement good relations, both trade and cultural, with the southern continent. Third, he speaks Spanish.

Wallace isn't hopeful that America's old export markets in Europe will ever be substantially regained. He foresees a post-war world in which—no matter who wins—Uncle Sam is likely to find himself trading again: one or more big combines. The big chance to meet these combines on something like an even footing is, as he sees it, wrapped up in the Latin-American market.

Wallace could devote a lot of time to this job because no one ever misses a vice president no matter where he goes. Also, the title would mean something in South America. So you can look for him to do considerable traveling.

SPOT FOR LEAHY

It appears now that the New Deal has at last found a spot for retired Admiral William D. Leahy, former head of the U. S. Navy. Leahy has been governor of Puerto Rico for about a year and hasn't been at all happy, the job being no bed of roses for anyone. Currently he is reported to have told friends on the island that he'd be returning to Washington in a couple of months or so to take a government job "more in keeping with his past experience."

One guess (but only a guess) is that he may replace Frank Knox as secretary of the navy.

GROCERS CO-OPERATE

Most remarkable thing about the Department of Agriculture's food stamp plan, in some ways, is the manner in which the retail grocers of the country have policed themselves to make the thing work.

Biggest potential trouble spot in the whole set-up has always been the chance that the individual grocer wouldn't obey the rules. If he'd let the relief clients spend their blue stamps for other things than the officially designated surplus commodities the entire thing would have flopped.

Right now about 100,000 grocers are participating

Common Ground

By S. C. ROBERTS

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we possess the share of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

COMPARING ROOSEVELT WITH ROBESPIERRE

Few people realize the great similarity between President Roosevelt and Maximilien Robespierre, French revolutionist, who was so largely responsible for many people being killed by the guillotine during the French Revolution.

Robespierre was very sympathetic. It was reported that he resigned his judgeship at Arras to which he was appointed in 1782 because he could not sentence a man to death. Yet, later, the things he advocated resulted in hundreds of people being guillotined, and in suffering untold misery and poverty.

Robespierre was a member of an Arras literary and musical society known as the Rosati. The Encyclopedia Britannica says, "The sympathetic quality of his voice won for him a justly deserved reputation in this society, applause not justified by his merits."

Certainly the quality of Roosevelt's voice gives his statements influence far beyond their merits and intrinsic value.

So Robespierre and Roosevelt were alike in their sympathies and the nature of their voices.

Work and Tax Ideas

Here is what Robespierre, advocated, which is practically the same thing that Roosevelt is advocating. I quote from writings of Robespierre: "Society is under the obligation to provide subsistence for all its members, either in providing work or in assuring the means of existence to those who are no longer able to work."

"Necessary relief for indigence is a debt which the rich owe to the poor. At apertains to the law to determine the manner in which this debt shall be paid."

"The citizens whose income is no larger than necessary for their subsistence are excused from contributing to public expenditures. The others should support it progressively, according to the extent of their fortunes."

Now these social and political beliefs are exactly what Roosevelt and the New Deal are advocating. Roosevelt says that the government must furnish work for those not able to secure work. Also they must furnish subsistence for those not able to work. He also contends it is up to the government to determine how this obligation to those not able to find work and those not able to work shall be paid.

Robespierre and Roosevelt also advocate exactly the same kind of a taxing system—a progressive tax system.

It is a law of nature that certain acts produce invariably the same result. These principles advocated by Robespierre produced the French Revolution. It is difficult for any rational person to believe that the present policies of Roosevelt will not produce the same result. We might not use guillotines. It might be airplanes and bombs. But it will be, no matter what the method, untold poverty, misery, suffering and death. "People invariably reap what they sow. And when people come to believe that the government can collectively be a great robber and, instead of attempting to assist each person in getting what he produces the government uses its power to prevent certain groups from getting what they produce, the result invariably is chaos."

TAXING GROWTH

Any progressive tax on what is called "excess profit" is simply a tax on growth. It results in the retarding of the accumulation of capital that makes higher wages possible. It is a form of tax that is infinitely worse than a direct tax on consumption. Because, when there are direct taxes on consumption, then the voters understand that they are paying the government cost and they insist on economy.

But when the tax is placed on what is called "excess profit," the management of this newly created wealth is taken out of the hands of those who know best how to raise real wages and as a result the workers pay infinitely more taxes, directly and indirectly, than they would pay by paying a direct tax on consumption. They pay it indirectly by lower wages and higher prices than they would pay if there were no taxes on growth or what is erroneously called "excess profit."

WHAT IS LIFE?

One of the most vivid and descriptive sentences I have read for many a day is one made by William Graham Sumner in an address made thirty-five years ago under the heading of the Scientific Attitude of Mind before the Sigma Xi society at Yale University.

This sentence was made in discussing the scientific methods of investigating truth.

The sentence was: "It is the pursuit of truth which gives us life and it is to that pursuit that our loyalty is due."

The more one thinks over this statement, the more one realizes that the real life worth striving for is the pursuit of truth.

The Nation's Press

FOSTER COMES INTO HIS OWN
(Norristown, Pa., Times-Herald)

New York university has announced the election of Stephen Collins Foster to its celebrated campus Hall of Fame. The university does not honor Foster so much, as it honors itself.

Much lesser men have been chosen in past times. Foster is the first musician to be selected and the one most deserving.

He calls to mind the famous words of Andrew Fletcher of Saltoun, who flourished in the latter part of the 17th century.

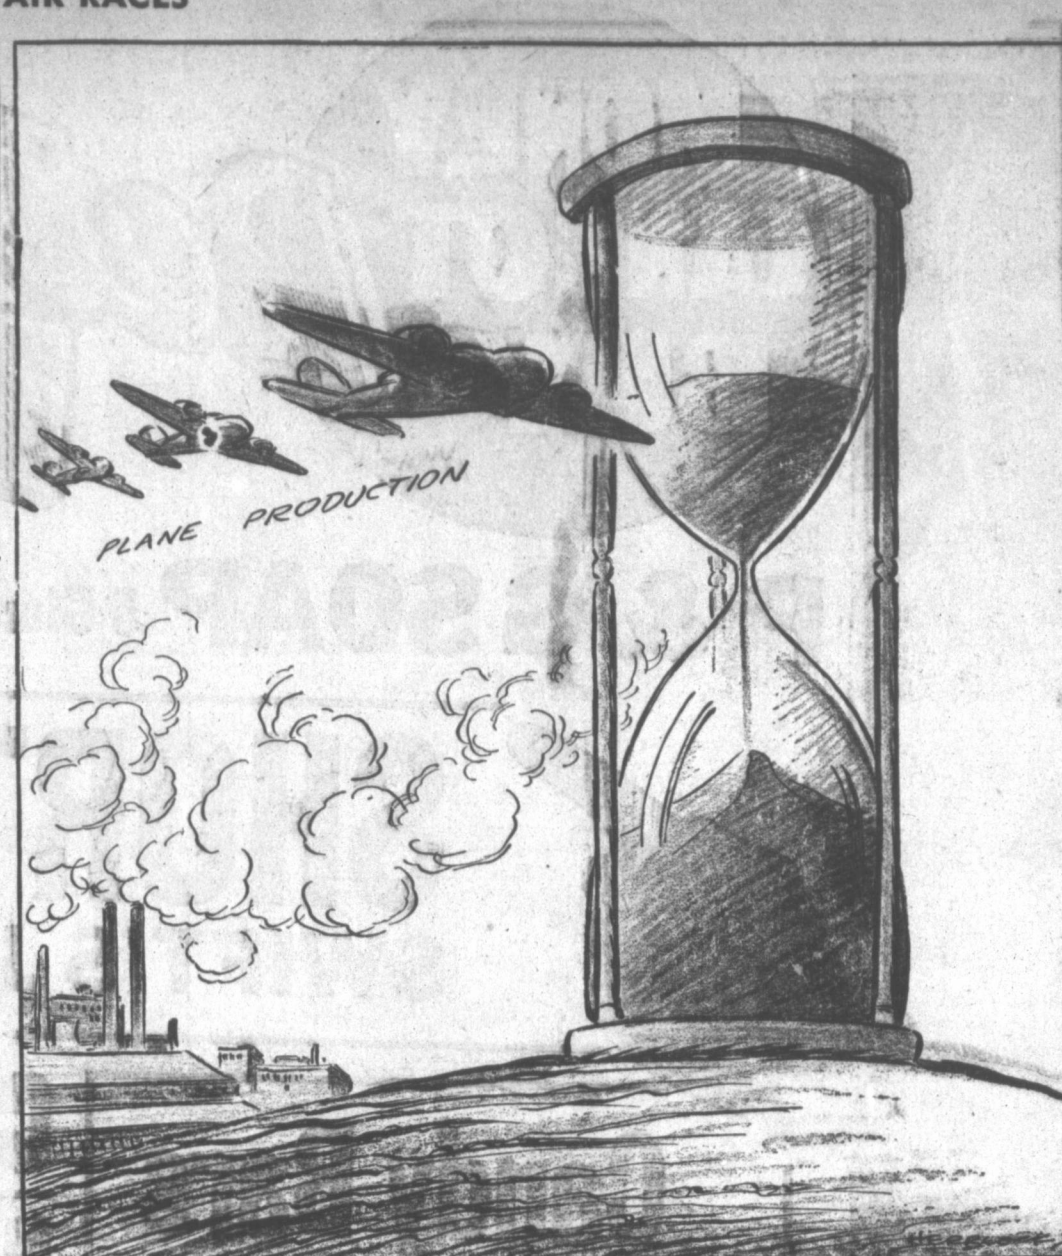

"Give me the making of the songs of a nation and I care not who makes its laws."

Many laws have been written in the United States, but it is doubtful whether the authors of any of them will ever reach the immortality that is Foster's. A whole nation sang his songs just before the Civil War. A whole nation is still singing them, even in this age of jazz and swing. His compositions have attained the one guarantee of lasting life—they have become genuine folk songs.

And the wonder is that it was Foster who wrote them. Not that he did not have musical genius. In fact, like most musical and literary geniuses, he started young, his first song being published when

AIR RACES

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 5.—For a young woman with a reputation for evasiveness, Paulette Goddard has been doing a lot of straight talking lately. Reporters who have been questioning her for years finally got so muddled by her amiable but variable replies they didn't know whether they were writing about Cinderella, Miss Charlie Chaplin, or the Queen of the Pinks.

It seemed nothing could divert Miss Goddard's attention from fiction to biography—until along came some attorneys brandishing court orders against a suit brought by her estranged father for an allowance of $150 a week.

Privately she helped straighten out a $150,000 damage action involving a magazine's misstatement of her paternity—an error, incidentally, which resulted from two interviews with the imaginative actress. And publicly, she has sent into superior court here, a few bitter details of her early life as an actress. However, her answer to the demand by Joseph R. Levee, reveals she had to go to work at 14 as a model to support her mother, and that she became a Ziegfeld showgirl at the age of 16.

These particulars are scanty and still leave many hazy chapters in the story of Marion Levee's 29 years. However, her answer to the demand by Joseph R. Levee, reveals she had to go to work at 14 as a model to support her mother, and that she became a Ziegfeld showgirl at the age of 16.

MARRIED BY CATALINA MAYOR?

Hollywood hasn't resented Paulette's little fabrications, for not since Clara Bow has any screen glamorist displayed such an amazing fancy. She seems never to have told her story twice in the same way, but she has always been utterly charming, and everybody likes Paulette.

And anyway, it wasn't Miss Goddard who started all this. For a long while she held a strained silence and began to talk only when David Selznick's publicists insisted she make some statement about her "if any marriage. That was when she was appearing in 'The Young in Heart'."

So she declared she and Chaplin had been married by the mayor of Catalina Island. There never has been a mayor, or even a justice of the Peace at Catalina. Subsequently the actress has confessed that the ceremony took place at Shanghai, Canton, and Singapore.

Three Long Island towns have been named as her birthplace. Joseph Levee seems to have been the second husband of Alta (or Alice) Goddard, Marion who became Paulette, was born June 2, 1911, according to movie directories. Some interviewers have written she grew to adolescence on the luxurious estate of her uncle; others have heard her parents separated early and the girl and her mother spent all their time traveling. Paulette being educated at numerous private schools and convents.

Her statement at court says she had to quit high school at 14 to do modeling, and that she has supported Mrs. Levee since. Most of her biographers have understood that at 14 she met Florenz Ziegfeld at her uncle's home, that the famed showman offered her a chance in "Rio Rita," and that her mother agreed after much persuasion and on the condition that she would continue her studies with a tutor.

Actually, although she may have started with Ziegfeld at 15, she was 17 when he staged "Rio Rita." There are people in Hollywood who declare she was out here trying to crash the studios in 1927 and '28. She certainly came here after her Reno divorce from Edwin (sometimes called Edward) James, wealthy Asheville,

After Paulette had been tested several times for the role of Scarlett O'Hara in GWTW, she is generally believed to have antagonized the producer by giving some premature hints that she was set for the part.

The actress acknowledges she spoiled her chances, but declares she did by introducing Vivien Leigh to David Selznick during a party at the Chaplin home. The producer himself always has said he first met and considered Miss Leigh when he brought her to the studio.

And so go the contradictions. The last time Miss Goddard talked to a writer, the interview was interrupted by the arrival of a family friend. She mentioned that she had just told her story, and the friend suggested maybe she shouldn't have said so much. "Oh, that's all right," Miss Goddard reassured him. "Not a word of it's true."

A Chaplin-Goddard separation was reported several weeks ago, and it has been since then that each has acknowledged they actually were married. The actress left the Chaplin home and is living in the beach house of her agent, who incidentally is Myron Selznick. He won't let her talk to anyone these days.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

It's hardly necessary any more to inveigh against out-of-town shopping because most of you buy everything in Pampa, but occasionally you run across people, usually those in the larger income class who have made all their money here, but who still think that if you buy out of town it makes them just a little better than their neighbors (silly idea, ain't it?) . . . One is reminded of the Pampa woman who recently traveled 400 miles to buy a fur coat, that she could have bought here. . . . Most Pampa athletes have made good on college teams, and now Moose Hartman has really done himself proud by being selected all-Southwest conference tackle.

Moose played on the Harvester football team in 1935. Stokes Green, another former Harvester, also played on the Rice team this year. Stokes was on the second team and played about a quarter each game. J. R. Green who played for Rice for four years, is getting a master's degree in California. . . . Pampa is proud of Moose. His record at Rice reflects favorably upon his training here. There may have been others, but right now this one can't remember any other football player from this district being placed on the all-Southwest team.

Roy Bourland finds that just about everybody likes pecans. He bought up a couple of tons of them the other day and some days he fills his pockets full and everybody he sees he gives them a few pecans.

Between 10,000,000 and 20,000,000 meteors strike the earth's atmosphere daily.

It is fortunate that Bernard DeVoto wrote a long and exceedingly readable introduction for the book of Mark Twain scraps now being published under the precisely descriptive title of "Mark Twain in Exile," because certainly it would do the memory of Mark Twain no service to allow the current generation to believe the book represents him at his best. The opposite is true.

Mr. DeVoto explains that he was engaged to make a book out of what was left when Albert Bigelow Paine finished his two volume compilation, the so-called Autobiography. Paine used, Mr. DeVoto explains, not only the manuscript, and the new book uses about half of the remainder. But Mr. DeVoto also explains that he was engaged to make the book by the publisher and by the Mark Twain Estate, and to adapt it for the general market, not for the scholars who might want to puddle around in unpublished Mark Twain.

Most important, he explains why so much of the material reads like Mark Twain, but does not sound like him.

This is because, he says, it was mostly written after Mark had, late in life, failed. He then found it necessary to earn money fast, and he had a long period in which nothing he wrote came off. He wrote like mad—the equivalent of many books. He was desperately struggling against enormous odds, chief of which was his fear that his talent had at last disappeared. He had always been opinionated; now he was often worse, which is to say dogmatic. Because of these and other circumstances, Mr. DeVoto threw out much of the material available.

What is left is chiefly an exhibit of Mark Twain's prejudices. He hated Theodore Roosevelt, and what he says of the former President is only humorous in its style—it really is poisonous and often vulgar. He also disliked Mrs. Thomas Bailey Aldrich, and although most of what he had written about the Aldriches is omitted, the residue is downright wicked. He is so hard on Andrew Carnegie that he almost makes his reader feel sorry for the man, which is hardly credible, Carnegie being what he was, but a fact just the same. He tells (among dozens of pieces on dozens of subjects) his version of the Grant Memoir tangle. It's all blistering.

Altogether, the new material displays once again Mark Twain's extraordinary facility of style, his marvelous gift for irony and the bitterness of an old and tired man. But a great man.

Wallace Pulls Leg Muscle In Tennis

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 5 (AP)—Vice-President-elect Henry A. Wallace today was suffering from a pulled muscle in his right leg, injured yesterday while he was playing Fronton tennis with government officials.

Despite his rigorous schedule of official ceremonies in connection with President Avila Camacho's inauguration, the special envoy of President Roosevelt has found time to play major morning games of Fronton, a very fast Mexican sport similar to squash.

Tank Wagon Price Of Gasoline Raised

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 5 (AP)—The Continental and Sinclair Oil companies announced today an increase of one cent a gallon in the tank wagon price of gasoline and other major commodities. They were expected to follow suit during the day.

Continental headquarters here said the order was received from the head offices at Ponca City, Okla.

The new schedule for prices "at the pump" was 12½ cents for the lower grade gasoline, 10 cents for the regular and 18 for the highest grade.

The Texas company and Skelly Oil company offices here were reported standing by and awaiting word from their central offices at Dallas and Tulsa respectively.

Private Swallows Large Wrist Watch

EL PASO, Dec. 5 (AP)—It took an operation to recover a U. S. army private's large wrist watch.

The Fort Bliss soldier was picked up in Mexico by Juarez authorities. He thought they might take his watch so he put it in his mouth.

An office began lecturing him in Spanish. The private, not understanding, feared they wanted the watch. So he swallowed. The officers, seeing something was wrong, started him home.

An operation was performed at an El Paso hospital.

Archbishop Claims Camacho's Support

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 5. (AP)—Archbishop Luis Martinez of the Catholic church in Mexico today said President Avila Camacho was

"the only president of Mexico in many years who declared publicly and categorically that he is a Catholic."

The archbishop expressed optimism over the future of Mexico and "confidence that the Virgin of Guadalupe (patron saint of Mexico) will make her people great and happy."

The newspaper Novedades, whose editor, Rene Capistran Garza, is a close friend of the archbishop, published the interview under an eight-column streamer.

Archbishop Martinez said he was confident that "liberty of conscience and peace in the church" which had great progress under President Cardenas would "not only continue but increase under the new administration." He urged Catholics as "good citizens" to cooperate with the government.

Half Of Germany's Mined Coal Supply Reported Cut Off

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The air ministry said today it understood that British raids on communications in the Ruhr valley had cut off half of Germany's mined coal supply, forcing French factories which the Germans want to use for the making of war materials to lie idle for lack of fuel.

The Ruhr region is highly important for its mines and vast industrial establishments. The ministry, in speaking of the results of the continuous night attacks of the RAF, merely said "it has been reported," but quoted no authority for the reports.

In the wake of this statement, the ministry declared the RAF last night started explosions and fires in Mannheim and Ludwigshafen, on the upper Rhine.

"Other targets included a blast furnace plant at Essen and the port of Dunkerque," the ministry said.

In daylight operations yesterday airdromes in northern France were bombed, it declared.

The ministry's new service credited the RAF with "severely" damaging some of Berlin's great railway terminal stations, and described railways and oil plants as two of the weakest units in the German military and industrial organization.

Berlin, it continued, "is not being attacked merely because it is the capital of Germany, but because it is, among other things, a very important railway center."

The service stated that hits had been made on Leuna, where one of Germany's largest synthetic plants is situated, and that oil reserves in many other areas had been destroyed.

At Stettin, north of Berlin, it declared, cisterns of aviation gas-line blazed for three days, and while Germany admitted two had been destroyed "it is now known that many were burned."

California Battles Worst Flu Epidemic

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5. (AP)—In the midst of a mid-winter heat wave, sunny California battled today its worst influenza epidemic since 1928. Although widespread, the disease is apparently of a mild form.

Health officials said 55,000 persons have been stricken in Los Angeles alone, which has had 132 influenza and pneumonia deaths in the last two months. During the same period a year ago, deaths from the same causes totaled 78, the Bureau of Vital Statistics reports.

During the first 15 days of operation of the new Pennsylvania turnpike, about 150,000 motor vehicles carrying about 500,000 passengers traveled the new road.

Borgan Shows Travel Films To Rotarians

Motion pictures, in color, of a trip to the Golden Gate exposition, San Francisco, and Colorado and Utah, were shown to Pampa Rotarians at their regular weekly luncheon at noon Wednesday by Bob Lindsey, Borgan, visiting Rotarian.

Emmett Ellis was in charge of the program, which opened with R. G. Hughes and Walter E. Rogers both talking in unison, as a gag, when the program director was called for.

Attendance at the luncheon was 46, including City Attorney Robert F. Gordon and Alvin Bell of Pampa, and five visiting Rotarians, the Rev. J. N. Hunt and Lindsey of Borgan, Otto Hart of Oklahoma City, John E. Hill of Amarillo, and the Rev. W. A. Fite of Canadian.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday are the worst days for scot-fogs over the cities of England.

Cannon On Planes To Pierce Nazi Armor

LONDON, Dec. 5. (AP)—The British public, was encouraged by the disclosure that Royal Air Force fighter planes had been equipped secretly with cannon in an effort to meet the challenge of the German air force more adequately. The cannons are designed to pierce the heavier armor with which the Germans have been equipping their craft, and military men expressed belief the new equipment would prove highly effective.

A parachute 52 feet in diameter recently brought a plane safely to earth from a height of 500 feet. This feat was performed in an air show meet.

SERIAL STORY

DUDE COLLEGE

BY OREN ARNOLD

COPYRIGHT, 1940,
NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: From the cliff dwelling, Lona and Wes watch the plane. The girl meets a stranger, who appears suddenly. Then, after a brief conversation, Lona and the man disappear, apparently into the canyon wall.

SECRET OF RAINBOW CANYON

CHAPTER XVI

COLONEL McDAVID, a brusque but friendly enough man of almost 60 years, was explaining things to Andre Girardeau. He had accepted Thomas Bailey's announcement that Andre was soon to be in the family both personally and financially.

"Terrific waste and inefficiency has been the concern of us all in studying bombing planes, Mr. Girardeau," the colonel was saying. "Now take this ship itself—it is as fine a craft as ever entered the skies, an extremely powerful motor, maneuverability that is a dream to any pilot, long range fuel supply, all the best of modern invention in both aviation and military fields. Notice the gun mountings, even the new type armor, light but effective. Only thing lacking is a dependable method of aiming and dropping explosives. And that, sir, is precisely what we have now developed!"

"Excellent!" Andre nodded. "Step into the ship with me, please," the colonel invited. When they were inside the big army plane Colonel McDavid pointed at once to the bombing controls. "See this? See this odd-looking device?"

"Yes." "All right. Now here is the eye piece, here the manual controls. In a matter of seconds, Mr. Girardeau, a trained man can have the exact range on any target—battle-ship, building, anything—and release his bomb with complete ease and accuracy. Almost automatically the correction is made for ship speed and wind. It is little short of phenomenal!"

Andre looked impressed. "Priceless!" "We expect to give it every rigid test here in New Mexico where air currents are more variable and visibility different from the coastal zones. We will use smaller targets, greater heights. Any detail learned will be of infinite value in training our forces."

"I understand that the operator himself needs to know the exact construction of the sight. Is that correct?"

"It is. Notice that the device is in a sealed metal housing, largely. Its secret can be kept from the man who uses it."

"What of subversive activity, Colonel?" Spies?

"Oh, bosh! Our Intelligence Department is not asleep. But, of course, every precaution is taken. For instance, we have two bomb sights with us here, and six men. We six will never let these planes out of our sight while these tests are under way. That's why Mr. Bailey built hangars so near his residence for us. We even sleep in the planes."

"I see," Andre nodded. "Wise precaution." He wondered just how much more comment he could make. He wanted to ask a great many more questions, and to study the way the bomb sight was attached to the ship. But he decided not to press his good luck too hard for the time being.

THERE in the Rainbow Canyon cliff dwelling, Ronnie Bailey started off with a sense of mounting excitement. She bit her lower lip, turned slowly to look wide-eyed at the young professor beside her. She looked like a little girl on a high adventure of childhood.

"Gee-e-e, Wes!" she breathed. "It's mysterious. They have long reappeared so they must have concealed themselves behind a boulder."

"Wes, I don't believe it is simply a boy friend. They wouldn't pick a spot like this far away to meet, would they?" "She is a Mexican girl. Perhaps she is a Mexican. Perhaps one who is not an American citizen and is unable to gain legal entry into the country, but has just slipped up this canyon to meet her."

"No," said Ronnie. "Why not? I think it's a good guess." "It shows what you know about girls, I think. Rather, what you don't know. Wes, your binoculars are very strong. I could see that man's face and everything in detail, and I am certain love isn't the answer. For one thing, he was much older than Lona."

"That's so." "And a more—well, rougher type. No, there's something afoot, Wes. All I can say is that Lona picks strange places and times to meet her men." Wes nodded. He could agree to that, for he had seen Andre Girardeau leave Lona's apartment. Now here was Lona meeting yet another man under mysterious circumstances.

"Part of my faculty responsibility is to help guard the, uh, general welfare of the students," Wesley was saying, as if to himself, "but I confess that I don't know what course to—"

Ronnie interrupted. "They're coming out! There they are! . . . She's going back toward her horse . . . And the man is going off down the canyon, Wes!"

THEY waited and watched for 10 minutes or so, alternating with the glasses.

"Wes, the man is dragging something; a brush, or limb of a tree." Wes inspected the man closely. "It's too shadowy there now to see well, but I think I understand that. He's dragging a brush behind him to erase his tracks. A strong wind nearly always comes up this canyon; it would conceal the brush marks. Any chance traveler would never suspect a thing."

"Where is Lona now?"

"On her horse again, riding back toward home."

Ronnie, still bright interest and excitement, suddenly grasped her companion's arm. "Wesley, let's go down there!"

"Where they—were?"

"Yes! I'm dying to see if anything's there!"

"Come on!"

Adventure spirit engulfed them. They waited until a long ground rise concealed Lona from possible view of the cliff dwelling, then slid down the ladders and the steep slope to the canyon floor again. In a moment more they were on their horses.

THEY rode as quietly as they could even though there was no apparent need for silence, and presently came to the place where Lona had disappeared. They dismounted too, nursing a sense of danger, real or otherwise.

"Gee-e-e, Wes, I'm all tingly, but—come on!"

They passed the rock enclosure they had seen from afar, and neared the boulders where Lona and the strange man had disappeared. No evidence of mankind was visible anywhere, no slight track or other sign that these two could see. But when Wes and Ronnie had crept past rocks higher than their heads, Wes—in the lead—abruptly stopped. Ronnie already was holding his big hand, like a scared little girl.

"What is it?" she whispered.

"The dark crevice there—see? It's a cave!"

He squeezed her hand, sensing her alarm. Plainly she understood that their danger was genuine.

35 Billions Will Be Required For Defense Program

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (P)—An expenditure of $35,000,000,000 during the next five years would be required, it was estimated today, to carry out the national preparedness program as now formulated.

This sum is double the amount of appropriations and authorizations made thus far by congress for military defense.

The $35,000,000,000 estimate, the first from official sources projecting defense plans that far into the future, was made by a committee of agriculture department economists in a report entitled "The Impact of the War and the Defense Program on Agriculture."

The report was prepared for the agriculture department's program board for use in drafting future farm-aid programs.

It estimated calendar year expenditures for defense purposes for the next five years as follows: 1941, $7,500,000,000; 1942, 8,000,000,000; 1943, $7,800,000,000; 1944, $6,000,000,000; and 1945, $5,000,000,000.

The report said that the effect of the defense expenditures upon industrial activity and prices depend to a considerable extent upon how the program is financed.

"The financing program, as it is developing, seems likely to permit a speedy development of the defense program in the next two years, with the result that in those two years the program will make a large contribution to national purchasing power."

Wages Of Texas Workers Vary

AUSTIN, Dec. 5 (P)—Workers in Texas labor from an average of 63.16 to 44.72 hours weekly for which they receive average wages from as high as $46.11 down to $7.44 a week.

These figures and others appeared in the biennial report of the Texas Bureau of Labor Statistics released yesterday by Commissioner Joe Kunchik who said the average employee worked 49 1/2 hours a week for $18.67.

The report showed men employees in the state worked an average of 51.28 hours weekly and women 47.47 for which they receive an average of $23.97 and $12.54, respectively. The figures compared with the 40-hour, 40 cents an hour minimum of federal law covering interstate commerce work.

Among high averages weekly wages were those of $46.11 paid of office workers in textile mills. The lowest average weekly wage listed was that of men peacan shellers who received $7.44. The highest average hours per week listed was 63.16 for garage and service station employees while the lowest was 44.72 for hardware and fixtures establishments workers.

Eight Killed, Eight Injured In Air Crash

CHICAGO, Dec. 5. (AP)—The death early today of two men brought to eight the number of persons killed in the crash of a United Air Lines plane near the Chicago municipal airport.

Eight others were injured. From the lips of survivors and an examination of the wreckage, investigators sought an explanation for the accident which occurred when the 21-passenger mainliner, inbound from the east, plunged nose first into a vacant lot a scant 200 yards from the airport about 6 p. m. last night.

Witnesses said that the big craft apparently lost flying speed when coming in for a landing and dropped from a height of about 150 feet. The plane grazed a three-story apartment building, broke an electric power line, smashed the gable of a bungalow, and demolished a frame garage before coming to a stop.

Flames shot out from the smashed nose of the plane as it struck the ground. City firemen extinguished the blaze which was confined to the pilots' compartment. The pilot, co-pilot and four passengers were dragged from the wreckage dead or dying. Of the survivors only one was reported in a critical condition.

J. H. Herlihy, vice president in charge of operations for the line, scouted the theory that ice formation on its wings might have caused the crash. He said that pilots are required to radio reports of icing and that none had been made by the plane crew.

Lyle Owens; Daniel Edward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. McMahon; Douglas Hermon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Luedtke; Merle Janell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wilson; Emma Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. McCall.

The list of injured: Stewardess Florence M. Little, 23, Chicago; Owen M. Frederick, 52, Olmstead, Ohio; George Haig, 45, Dayton, O.; Paul Ryan, 40, Cleveland; Rollison G. Woodbury, 41, New York City; Theodore F. Paulsen, 40, Wilmette, Ill.; Leo Wolins, 37, Chicago; Richard R. Pettit, 26, Bostonia, Calif.

The flight began at New York and stops were made at Philadelphia, Akron, O., and Cleveland. Dissatisfied with the performance of one motor, Capt. Scott was given another plane at Cleveland to which crew and passengers were transferred.

A light snow was falling when the plane reached Chicago. Weather reports put the ceiling at 1,200 feet and visibility at one mile. Planes had been landing in routine fashion.

The airliner circled the airport for 28 minutes awaiting landing orders from the traffic control tower. It headed in from the southeast after getting clearance orders and co-pilot Young radioed that the ground could be seen.

Richard Rocas, an employee at the airport, said the plane was making a "perfectly normal" approach to the field when suddenly the motors roared as if the pilot tried to attain height.

"The plane's nose dipped down and it turned slightly to the left," he said. "Then it hit the ground and broke into flames."

Said the mayor: "With the sense of fulfilling official duty as mayor and with wholehearted commendation as a private citizen, I hereby endorse the purchase of bangle pins as a method of raising funds for the great national fight against tuberculosis."

"The approach of the holiday season once again has brought to the citizens of Gray county the simple, direct appeal of that campaign. Each tiny pin is a contribution toward a cause of the utmost worthiness. To protect homes—all our homes—from the tragedies caused by the ravages of tuberculosis is the unwavering objective of the annual bangle pin campaign. We pride ourselves that ours is a community of homes. Shall we not join, then, in this unqualifiedly deserving cause?"

Told She Needs "Good Strapping"

Comely model Arabella ("Bunny") Harley "needs a good strapping," she was told by New York magistrate William Ringel. He was irate because she haled ex-husband to court on assault charge, then withdrew accusation. Later failed to appear to answer cop's charge of disorderly conduct, and in general had things a-dither. She's pictured after Judge gave her ten days in workhouse, suspended pending good behavior.

Empire Can't Fail, Says Lady Astor

LONDON, Dec. 5. (AP)—In a fighting speech to the Eagle squadron of volunteers in the Royal Air Force, American-born Lady Astor declared today that the "British empire, backed by the United States, cannot fail."

She predicted that the same 30 American volunteers now training for active service alongside British fliers would be followed by "thousands of others."

"America should know that this is really the greatest hour of trial in the history of the English speaking people," said Lady Astor, a native of Baltimore, Md., her eyes flashing. "They may not know it, but it's their turn next."

Physicians Willing To Treat Victims Of Syphilis Cheaply

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 5. (AP)—A poll of 1750 physicians in 216 Texas counties has disclosed that 95 per cent were willing to treat syphilitic persons in low income brackets at $1 and $1.50 a treatment. R. F. Voyer, director of the David Graham Hall Foundation here, said yesterday.

Voyer said the doctors were polled in connection with willingness of the government to furnish free drugs for use in cases of venereally-diseased individuals in low salaried groups, or with indigents.

Tokyo's Policy 'With Regard To China' Unchanged

MOSCOW, Dec. 5. (AP)—Soviet Russia has advised Tokyo that her "policy with regard to China" remains unchanged by Japanese recognition of Wang Ching-Wei's Nanking regime as the Chinese "national government," Tass, official news agency, reported today.

(Russia generally is regarded as an important source of supply for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies.)

Moscow's attitude was made clear, Tass said, in a statement handed to the Japanese foreign office yesterday by Russian Ambassador Constantin Smetanin.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief
