In Love With A Moon Maid

By Glenn Shelton

My wife won't like this, but I've fallen in love. I've fallen head-over-galoshes in love with a little gal with antennae protruding from her head, and if she were not currently en route to the moon with another man I would chuck the spouse and go in orbit with Moon Maid. You don't know Moon Maid? Well, bless your uninformed, cotton-pickin' heart, you ain't livin'. Moon Maid is the little miss in Dick Tracy who came to earth from the moon, fell in love with Junior, and when things got rough here, packed Junior away and zoomed off once again for home. "If this is the way you want it, Moon Maid, it's all right with me," said Junior philosophically. "I only hope the marriage laws on the moon are like the marriage laws on earth."

SHELTON

What is so fetching about Moon Maid is the little projection, or antenna, protruding from her forehead, and which is obviously, judging from the jagged lines emanating therefrom, busy broadcasting or receiving. Not only that, but she is just a slip of a girl, and oh, so feminine in the little pink and blue party dress purchased for her.

★ ★ ★

This newspaper has carried the comic strip "Dick Tracy" for some years now, and though I maintain Chester Gould is a lousy artist, he is amply endowed with imagination, and turns out a strip that can addict you. For instance, "Junior" has been a child for lo these many years. But Chester wanted to inject a bit of out-of-this-world romance in his strip, so presto! Junior is a grown man!

★ ★ ★

That's poetic license that Chester is entitled to take in this comic strip that is so ridiculous that it is fascinating. He is, nevertheless, a real artist. When the love bug clamped its teeth in Junior, with a few wild strokes of his pen, Chester portrayed all the comic, serious, pathetic emotions of a juvenile in love. I laughed loud, but suppressed a tear, as Junior saw Moon Maid in her new dross, and gasped "gee, gosh!" He stood in a daze and that was all he could manage: "gee, gosh!"

★ ★ ★

Now, Junior's en route to the moon with the girl I love, but he's getting a mite worried about things. "I shall learn to cope with your moon conditions and your planet's temperature," he says bravely.

OFF ON A TANGENT — When two hunters met in the woods, one of them asked anxiously: "Seen Bill?" "Yep, he's back in camp." "How about Joe and Pete, and Tom?" "All back in camp." "Well," exclaimed the first hunter, whadda ya know! Then I've shot a deer!"

Mrs. Ledbetter's English class at Archer City, I am told, scooped me on my column on cliches. Her students all wrote papers on the subject of time-worn bromides.

Woman Pilot Ends Pacific Crossing

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A jubilant Columbus, Ohio, housewife ended a Pacific Ocean crossing in her single-engine plane Wednesday and closed in on her goal of being the first woman ever to fly solo around the world.

Jerry Mock, 38, who left Columbus on an eastward course March 19, arrived at Oakland International Airport at 1:05 p.m. after a 2,400-mile flight of 17 hours, 39 minutes from Honolulu. She thus became the first woman ever to fly alone across the Pacific.

"The rest of the way is all downhill," the brunette mother of three exclaimed after her husband, Russell, an advertising executive, raced out to the red and white plane, threw open the door, kissed his wife and gave her two orchids.

She hopes to wind up her globe-circling feat by Friday — achieving a first for her sex which actually began as a jest.

She recalled how, after only 1,000 hours of flying time she remarked to her husband as a joke: "Why don't I fly around the world?" Her husband surprised her by suggesting she take it seriously.

"My toughest job was staying awake," she said after finishing her last overwater hop.

"I just shook myself every now and then."

On her final lap to Columbus, it will be necessary for her to curve south by way of El Paso, Tex. That is so she can pick up the required mileage for an official round-the-world status. She lost some miles when she bypassed Singapore.

JOHNSON SLATES NEWS CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will hold a news conference at 3:30 p.m., CST Thursday in the State Department Auditorium. Members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors will be guests.

The society is holding its annual meeting in Washington.

This will be Johnson's first news conference in the big auditorium where the late President John F. Kennedy regularly met with newsmen.

Presidential Press Secretary George Reedy said the news conference is being made available for live radio and television.

Graham Gets Firm Space Age Keyed

GRAHAM, Tex. (Special) — A new industrial plant keyed to the space age will be established in Graham, officials of Hexcel Products Inc. have announced.

More than six months of effort by the Graham Industrial Association, chamber of commerce, and city and county officials will start paying off Monday when remodeling work begins on two buildings located in the five-acre industrial park in southwest Graham.

The buildings were purchased by the foundation and sold to Hexcel, manufacturers of "honeycomb" type building materials. More than $200,000 is expected to be invested in the plant here — which will specialize in making aluminum honeycomb materials — and about 30 to 40 persons will be employed within a year, it is estimated.

W. S. Powell, president of the firm, said most of the production personnel will be drawn from the Graham area.

The two existing buildings will be remodeled to provide a single building with more than 26,000 square feet of usable space. "We expect to start installing manufacturing equipment in late May," Powell stated, "and should be in operation by July."

Much of this equipment will come from a Hexcel plant at Irving which the company established on a temporary basis a year ago prior to settling at a permanent location. Richard Landrith, formerly head of the Irving operation, has been appointed plant production supervisor. He has been with Hexcel since 1955.

Powell noted: "the search for an ideal site took more than six

Rancher Denied Access To Land

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court denied Wednesday the legal right of a West Texas rancher to have a roadway through the W. T. Waggoner Ranch, and struck down the state law on which he based his case.

The high court reversed a trial court decision that Wilmer Gleghorn is entitled to right-of-way for a road through the Waggoner place, connecting the northern part of his 1,600-acre Baylor County ranch with a highway. Gleghorn's ranch is entirely surrounded by the Waggoner ranch.

The Baylor County district court rendered judgment for Gleghorn on the basis of a Texas law which the supreme court said "purports to grant to anyone who claims the right to use and which is wholly or partially surrounded by land of another person the right to an easement over the surrounding land for ingress and egress to and from the surrounding land."

"In our opinion, (the statute) is unconstitutional and void to the extent that it purports to authorize the taking of private property for a private purpose." Associate Justice Ruel C. Walker wrote for the court.

Assistance Asked In Cancer Crusade

An urgent plea for blockwalkers for the Cancer Crusade Monday night was made Wednesday by Mrs. Stuart Beck and Mrs. Jack Jeffus, co-chairmen of the drive.

Volunteers are especially needed for the Alamo, Carrigan and Austin school districts, they said, and any volunteers should contact Mrs. Beck at 767-0265 or Mrs. Jeffus at 767-3143.

Supermarket Sites Approved

Members of the city planning board Wednesday afternoon approved final plats of two proposed supermarket locations for Safeway Stores Inc., and expansion of a third location.

The new stores will be located at FM 369 and Fairway and on Ninth between Baylor and Denver. The expansion will cover a one-block area, excluding two lots, bounded by Adams, Lee, Sixth and Seventh.

Further details will be released later, representatives of the chain told board members.

Other approvals, subject to minor revisions:

Preliminary replat of lots 33, 34, 35, 95 and 96, Westwood Gardens Addition as presented by D. C. Powell; preliminary plat of Lots 1 and 2, Block 61-A, Highland Addition (southwest corner of York and Grant);

Red China Reinforces Russian Border Area

Peking Bolsters Force In Sector

By ROY ESSOYAN

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China has sent substantial troop reinforcements to Sinkiang and has cleared and fortified a belt 20 miles deep along hundreds of miles of the disputed border with the Soviet Union, White Russian refugees said Wednesday.

The refugees from the remote region of northwest China reported the two feuding giants of world communism are waging a propaganda war across the border and tension runs high.

They gave this picture: Soviet broadcasts boast that some Sinkiang border areas eventually will be incorporated into the Soviet Union. The Chinese denounce Premier Khrushchev, calling him "a good friend of the Americans" and who deceived China by reneging on his promises of Soviet aid.

In their feud over the best road to world Communist domination, Peking and Moscow frequently have lifted the curtain on their private cold war in Sinkiang.

The refugees, who reported they abruptly were allowed to leave Sinkiang recently after a four-year ban, gave what they said was a firsthand account of the struggle in one corner of the vast region. There were 125 White Russians in the party that reached Hong Kong after 12 days on buses and trains.

They came from Ining, 50 miles from the Soviet frontier, where Moslem minorities revolted and were bloodily suppressed on May 29, 1962.

They gave this account of events leading up to the bloodshed in Kuldja:

Soviet consular and military representatives in Kuldja had worked for years on the Moslems, indoctrinating them and urging they go to the Soviet Union. Then in 1960, the Soviet consulate began distributin passports to all Moslems.

A flood of Moslems begar to cross into the Soviet Union. There were rumors in Kuldja that 500,000 to 600,000 crossed. Soviet sources have put the figure somewhat lower while Red China says 50,000.

The alarmed Chinese then decided to clamp down, and that led to the rioting in Kuldja. Rumors reaching the West said the Moslems assembled outside the Soviet consulate and demanded aid for an independence movement.

Altrusa Club Honors Nine Civic Workers

By HAZEL KOHL

More than 150 persons watched nine area residents receive special awards of recognition at the ninth annual Altrusa Recognition Dinner Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Woman's Forum.

Recognition was for their work within the fields of public affairs, information, vocational services and international relations. These are the four fields of service in which members of the Altrusa Club participate.

Mrs. Mary Schneider, chairman of the public affairs committee, presented the recognition certificate to Gaines for his outstanding work with crippled children in Wichita Falls and Texas.

In presenting the award, Mrs. Schneider said "for more than 30 years he has been active in this program and many children are walking because of him."

Gaines also was praised for his work with the church, the Masonic Lodge, the American Red Cross, the Young Men's Christian Association, Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club, Chamber of Commerce, Industrial Development Inc., planning and advisory associations and the Salvation Army.

Nikita Calls Mao A Bungler

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev says Red China now preaches world revolution because Mao Tze-tung and other leaders bungled in trying to solve problems at home.

It was the first time, diplomats said, that Khrushchev had made an open attack on Mao personally.

Peking's policies "have created serious difficulties for the world communist movement and placed it on the verge of a split," he told a Polish-Soviet friendship meeting Wednesday in the Kremlin.

The meeting was an encouraging one for the premier. Wladyslaw Gomulka, the visiting Polish party leader, announced cautious support for the Soviet call for a world Communist showdown meeting on Red China. While backing Moscow, Poland has been reported cool toward a showdown meeting, fearing an irreparable division of world communism.

His voice rising to a shout, Gomulka ridiculed the Chinese for calling the West "a paper tiger." He declared no "imperialist" country is ripe for revolution, as Peking contends, "least of all the United States."

In his address, Khrushchev scoffed at Red Chinese aspirations for leadership of world communism. He said the Chinese would like to "become the leaders and mentors of the revolutionary movement in Asia, Africa and Latin America," but could offer only revolution instead of economic progress.

"They say we are the revisionists," Khrushchev said. "But I ask, what do their people want —war or rice? I think they want rice."

The Soviet premier, who will be 70 Friday, obviously was feeling good. Leaving his prepared text, he seemed to enjoy scoffing at the Chinese, sometimes pretending to quote them in an artificial voice, sometimes jabbing his finger at the applauding audience to emphasize a point.

Khrushchev said that the Chinese leaders "are trying to discredit the struggle of the Socialist countries and their Communist parties to advance their economies and raise the living standards of the people."

But then they got impatient and began experimenting with the "great leap forward" for industry and "peoples communues" for agriculture, Khrushchev said.

U.N. Force Trades Shots With Cypriots

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—U.N. peace-keeping troops came under fire and shot back Wednesday in several sporadic incidents of the warfare between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

The day's disorders were reported to have left five persons wounded. Turkish official sources said four of their followers were hit. A Greek woman was injured in Nicosia.

The Greek-dominated Cyprus government accused Turkish Cypriots of deliberately attacking civilians, police and U.N. soldiers "to frustrate efforts of the peace-keeping force" and give Turkey an excuse for armed intervention to partition the island.

It called on the Ankara government to honor the U.N. Security Council resolution for a solution of the crisis.

The most serious clash came when a Canadian patrol of three armored cars was fired on from a Turkish fortified position in the Kyrenia Mountains north of Nicosia.

Maj. Patrick Tremblay, in charge of the patrol, ordered two of his cars to return the fire.

"They shot in the general direction of the Turkish positions, but at no specific target," he said.

Kiwanis Urged To Have Faith

If our faith is in God first then we have no fears, Dr. Landrum Leavell, pastor of First Baptist Church, told University Kiwanians at Wednesday's luncheon at Wyatt's in Parker Square.

Dr. Leavell said that we are living in an age of fear, including financial fear, the fear of things materialistic, fear of World War III and others. He emphasized that fear, if used excessively, is dangerous.

Under faith, Dr. Leavell named conviction, courage and a spirit of conquest. The latter, he said, is needed in the church and he urged Kiwanians to give their church "the best that you have and the best that you are."

Winston Wallander, program chairman, introduced Dr. Leavell. Guests, introduced by G. A. Reaves, were Joe Pistocco and D. L. Naylor, Downtown Kiwanis; Gordon Plumlee and Linda Thompson, Circle K; Mike Taylor, Rev. Harold Bovo, Bill Green, Jack Sanders and Bill Anderson, Wichita Falls.

The club named Willard May, president delegate to the International convention of Kiwanis this summer. Alternates are Homer Packard and Sammie Kouri. John Williams gave the nomination report as chairman of the committee composed also of Paul Robb and Reaves.

Perry Goolsby, vice president, was in charge of the luncheon. Don Wade led the singing, accompanied by Kathryn Sawyers, pianist. Bob Thompson gave the invocation.

Wichitan Rites Set Saturday

John Ney Thomas, a Wichitan for 26 years, died here Wednesday in a Wichita Falls hospital. He lived at 1508 Twenty-third and was 73.

Funeral services will be 10 a.m. Saturday from the Bible Baptist Church with interment in Riverside Cemetery. Owens & Brumley Funeral Home will direct arrangements.

Thomas was born Aug. 6, 1891 in Weston, Tex. He was a retired employe of Lone Star Gas Co.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. John N. Thomas, of Wichita Falls; two sons, McKenzie Ney Thomas of Los Molinas, Calif., and Raymond Edwin Thomas of Wichita Falls; two daughters, Mrs. Walter Kohl of Reading, Pa., and Mrs. Edward A. Binek of Wichita Falls; two brothers, J. H. Thomas of Seymour, Tex., and C. E. Thomas of Paradise, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Oscar Warren of Denton, Tex.

Jack Hightower To Attend Meet

VERNON, Tex.—Approximately 250 state leaders—lawyers, judges and laymen—will conduct a three-day study of the problems of the Texas judicial system at Austin this weekend.

Among the group of approximately 125 lawyers invited is Jack Hightower, candidate for the senate from the 23rd Texas Senatorial District.

Storm Speech Slated

City Manager Jack Davis will speak at noon Thursday in Lawton to municipal officials from throughout the Southern Oklahoma region on the role of municipal deartments in tornado alerts and disasters. He plans to return to Wichita Falls immediately following the luncheon.

Armed Robbery Charged Two

Charges of armed robbery were filed Wednesday afternoon against Walter Jentsch, 28, of Amarillo, and Chester Carter, 56, of 502 Lamar naming a Monday night raid of a Wichita Falls grocery which netted $400 in cash.

Held in Wichita County Jail under $5,000 bond each, the two were subject to "one of the most thorough investigations I have ever seen," said Dist. Atty. Stanley C. Kirk Wednesday.

"The police officers and detectives of our city force deserve a real pat on the back for the speedy handling of this case," said his assistant, Charles Butts.

Jentsch and Carter were arrested 30 minutes after Mrs. Pat Stewart called police that an armed man had held up her Handy Food Store No. 3 at Fairway and FM 369 at 9:10 p.m. Monday.

The two were stopped at Iowa Park Road and Beverly, and their 1961 Falcon searched for a paper bag filled with bills . . . found inside the left front fender of the automobile.

Police also recovered a .32 caliber Savage automatic identified by Mrs. Stewart as the weapon she said Jentsch held on her when he said, "This is a gun and it's loaded."

Jentsch, a burly blond who lived in Wichita Falls several years before moving to Amarillo, remained silent at police headquarters. His companion is known to county courthouse officials as "the little man who is always in on the criminal trials, watching everything that's going on."

Perhaps his chance to participate has come, one speculated.

Federal Power Commission Under Fire From Congress

By JACK CLELAND
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — About a dozen congressmen from petroleum producing states joined Wednesday in denouncing a Federal Power Commission regulation of the natural gas industry.

They took the House floor in round-robin floor debate that took issue with the FPC on various aspects of agency policies, ranging from area rate regulation to tax benefits.

IPAA earlier this month called for an all-out attack on FPC policy as a prelude to an industry-wide campaign to repeal or at least modify the Natural Gas Act.

The debate reiterated IPAA's changes of unworkable FPC regulation during the past decade following the 1954 Phillips decision of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Jarman assailed the "deplorable" condition in which the industry finds itself as the result of ten years of futile FPC attempts to impose regulation on a utility basis.

End To Confusion

Rep. Garner E. Shriver, R.-Kan., called for an end to "present confusion and frustration" experienced by gas producers as a result of FPC attempts to regulate on an area basis.

"For nearly a decade natural gas producers and their consuming public have been subjected to confusing, expensive and unworkable attempts to regulate prices," Shriver said. "The Federal Power Commission continues to contend that the area-rate plan is unworkable."

He pointed out that while there are 23 area-rate proceedings scheduled for commission consideration, the first case (Permian Basin) is still before the commission after three years and 30,000 pages of testimony.

Rep. Tom Steed, D.-Okla., blasted the FPC for "spending too much time in empire building while dragging its feet in disposing of cases."

"I cannot over-emphasize the importance of prompt congressional action to elimate the choking control of the FPC over the natural gas industry," Steed said.

"If we don't, we are going to see the day when the consuming public will pay through the nose due to the lack of adequate gas reserves to supply their needs."

Tax Policy Hit

On another point, Rep. Clark W. Thompson, D.-Tex., hit the FPC on its tax policy in determining producer rates. A member of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, Thompson said FPC policy was "a flagrant denial of tax benefits for industries under their jurisdiction."

Thompson took exception to FPC attempts to require gas transmission companies to flow through back to their utility customers savings accured from the seven per cent investment credit authorized in the 1962 tax bill.

He said this was not the legislative intent of Congress and to stop the FPC from going ahead on its own, language was specifically written into the recent tax bill to preclude any regulatory agency from requiring flow through.

Thompson said he hoped the recent tax bill has made it clear to federal regulatory agencies that Congress, and not the agencies, sets the tax policies of the nation.

Rep. Bob Dole, R.-Kan., accused the FPC of legislating by interpreting the gas act to suit itself and getting the U.S. Supreme Court to back it up.

Decision Cited

Dole cited the recent high court decision in the Hunt case where the FPC refused to permit the Hunt Oil Co. to collect its contact price under a temporary certificate while waiting action on a permanent certificate application.

"This seems to me to be just another instance where the commission writes a new law and the Supreme Court, for reasons best known by it, upholds the commission in its legislative function," Dole said.

Former Illinois Governor Charged With Tax Evasion

CHICAGO (AP) — In a surprise post-primary election action, a former Republican governor of Illinois was accused Wednesday of a $46,676 personal income tax evasion.

He is William G. Stratton, 50, former boy wonder of Illinois politics who has been living the life of a gentleman farmer and stockman since his defeat in 1960 for a third term as governor.

The Democrat who defeated him, Gov. Otto Kerner, said the federal grand jury action against Stratton would hurt the Republican party at the Illinois polls in November. Kerner was renominated without opposition Tuesday in the Illinois primary.

The grand jury which has been investigating Stratton's accounts since last year voted the indictment April 9 but ordered it suppressed until Wednesday morning. Edward Hanrahan, U.S. district attorney, said the indictment was kept a secret to insure orderly conduct of Tuesday's primary voting.

William A. Barnett, Stratton's attorney, issued the following statement in behalf of the former governor: "My affairs have been under investigation for several years by the Internal Revenue Service. Agents have come to see me many times. I have talked to them completely and fully. I have never denied them access to my records and have always answered their questions honestly and completely.

"There may be some technical differences of opinion between my counsel and the internal revenue agents, but with respect to the charge that is made against me in the indictment, I do not believe I have done anything wrong whatsoever."

Stratton served as governor from 1952, when Adlai E. Stevenson dropped his Democratic campaign for re-election to seek the presidency, until 1960. The indictment covered the last four years of Stratton's tenure but gave no hint of the possible source of more than $93,500 in income it accused him of concealing. His salary as governor was $25,000 a year.

Internal Revenue Service investigators said Stratton paid $23,311.83 in taxes for the years 1957-1960 when he should have paid $69,987.94.

Hanrahan said the IRS inquiry into Stratton's financial affairs followed a normal course and agents had discussed it with him.

months, during which Hexcel executives visited many communities. Graham appealed to all of us because of its fine industrial climate and community facilities."

He went on to praise groups and individuals in the area for assisting in the search. "We particularly thank the Graham Industrial Assn., the Texas Electric Service Co. and Sam Harbison who represents both groups. Mayor Ed Graham and many city officials were most helpful as was the entire Graham Chamber of Commerce."

Hexcel Products Inc. now employs a total of 325 people at five major locations. Sales in 1963 were $7.7 million, an increase of eight per cent over 1962. Indications so far this year are that the company's growth is continuing at an increasing rate.

"We believe the Graham facility will play a major role in our continuing growth," said Powell. "We are pleased with everything we have seen in and around Graham, and particularly with the outstadning help we received in locating a facility. It will be a primary aim for Hexcel to always be a good citizen in this community."

Local workers on the project said visiting Hexcel officials seemed particularly pleased with Graham's recreational facilities, as well as the tax rate and transportation facilities available.

A survey held here to determine the number of potential male workers in the area resulted in 700 questionnaires being answered.

In addition to Harbison, industrial association leaders are E. R. Marchman, vice president, and S. H. Peavey, secretary.

Lecturer Concludes The Story Of David

By JACK COATS

More than 200 persons attended the final session of the 1964 Perkins Lectures at the First Methodist Church here Wednesday night to hear Rev. A. P. Tremlett speak on "David and the Depths."

Rev. Tremlett, vicar of St. Stephen with St. John, Westminster, London, England, kept his listeners spellbound with a stirring message on the devastation to the human mind and soul which results from sin.

His message was a continuation of a description of the life of David from Tuesday night's lecture, in which he spoke on "David and the Heights."

In his final sermon Wednesday night, the vicar spoke of David's "crowning moment of glory," when after the death of Saul and David's assumption of the leadership of Israel, battle after battle was won with David at the head of the "vast armies which defeated the infidels."

"But at the very height of his power and achievements, David fell, and his fall leaves a terrible warning to us . . . after the battle of Gilboa, David chose to remain at home, sending his commander - in - chief into battle at the head of Israel's armies.

Subsequent Acts

". . . . David's subsequent actions of adultary with Bathsheba, plus his arrangements for Bathsheba's husband to be killed in battle . . . is a terrible narrative . . . and a complete example of the utter destruction of a noble character," the speaker continued.

Rev. Tremlett, still quoting from the Holy Bible, described how the wrath of God was incurred, and how the Lord sent the Prophet Nathan to David.

". . . . What has all this to teach us? A great deal about temptation and repentance," the speaker continued.

"Sin is a very serious thing to start experimenting with . . . because if we give in to temptation . . . then, somehow, we are not the masters any longer, but the slaves.

". . . . David's repentance was complete . . . True repentance MUST mean a complete change of heart and a restoring of life . . . . we know that David did repent, and once again he began leading his armies to victory," the vicar concluded.

Pillow Presented

Rev. Tremlett presented Dr. Howard Hollowell, pastor of First Methodist Church, a gift from his own parish.

"As you know, my church is in the very shadow of Westminster Abbey, where many state occasions are observed, and where coronations are held.

"I would like to present to you this pillow, which is made from material used to drape the royal box in Westminster Abbey during the coronation of Queen Elizabeth.

"The pillow is decorated with the Rose of England, and symbols of Scotland and other nations of Great Britain," the vicar said. "The members of my parish want you to have it."

Leading the prayer Wednesday night was the Rev. William R. Russell, vicar of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church here.

Dr. Hollowell thanked Mrs. J. J. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prothro and "the many others who helped to make the Perkins Lectures possible each year."

He also announced that Dr. Harold Roberts, also of Great Britain, will be the guest lecturer next year, March 21-24.

SEATO Members Agree On South Viet Nam

MANILA (AP)—Seven of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization's eight members agreed Wednesday the alliance must be ready to act in South Viet Nam if necessary to keep that nation from falling to the Communists. France, the eighth member, abstained.

The representatives of President Charles de Gaulle's government said they considered the issuance of such a declaration unwise. The split was the deepest in the treaty group since it was formed in 1954.

Far East policy differences between France and the other SEATO nations highlighted the organization's 10th anniversary meeting that ended here after three days of talks.

Advocate Neutralization

France, which recently recognized Communist China, has proposed neutralization of Southeast Asia. That proposal came under sharp attack in the SEATO Council of Ministers.

Despite the French abstention the U.S. delegation headed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk was said to be satisfied with results of the Manila meeting. One informant said the Americans felt the inclusion of the question of South Viet Nam in the final communique demonstrated SEATO is a live, vital organization.

South Viet Nam is not a member of SEATO but is one of the states that come under the organization's protective umbrella. Laos and Cambodia are others which could call for SEATO help. For the first time, a South Vietnamese delegation was invited to the SEATO meeting as observer.

Variety Of Issues

The ministers of the SEATO countries — Australia, Britain, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, Thailand, United States and the Philippines—covered a variety of issues in secret talks that were described as frank and hard-hitting.

South Viet Nam, where 16,000 U.S. military men are backing up the fight against Communist guerrillas, dominated the conference. The communique said the Council of Ministers expressed "grave concern" about continuing Communist aggression in that country.

The ministers, in their general observations, took note of the Moscow - Peking split, but said "world domination remains the aim of communism and thus vigilance must not be relaxed."

Coalition Jeopardized

The communique said Communist violations of the 1962 Geneva agreement jeopardize the coalition government in Laos.

The ministers also ranged over the Malaysia dispute, India-Pakistan quarrels and other topics.

Rusk will depart for Taipei on Thursday. He will go on to Saigon on Friday for a firsthand look at the Vietnamese situation on orders of President Johnson.

Primary Victory Seen As Mixed Blessing For Barry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's Illinois primary victory bore all the earmarks of a mixed blessing for him.

The Arizona senator, the front-runner in the scramble for GOP presidential nominating delegates, got 64 per cent of presidential preference votes and picked up most of 48 convention delegates in Tuesday's primary. This boosted his first-ballot total to around 150. And he seems assured of support from 10 more Illinois delegates to be chosen later.

But the primary also saw the nomination of Charles H. Percy 44, a political protege of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, as the Republican candidate for governor.

His opponent, State Treasurer William Scott, an all-out Goldwater backer, had called Percy a liberal.

Percy's nomination could mean that Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the Senate's Republican leader, will head the Illinois delegation. Neither Percy nor Dirksen is classed generally as an enthusiastic supporter of Goldwater.

This conceivably could make the Illinois delegation, one of the largest backing the Arizona senator, subject to raiding tactics if a convention stalemate develops.

Percy, who will be influential within the delegation as a potential governor, is expected to give attention to any suggestions Eisenhower may make about the party nominee. And the word has spread widely that the former president doesn't want Goldwater.

Among the disappointing aspects for Goldwater of the Illinois results was that he fell 11 points behind the 74 per cent of the vote the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio polled in 1952. The 26 per cent of the GOP preference primary vote rolled up by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, whose name was on the ballot, generally was interpreted as representing anti-Goldwater sentiment in a state where the Republican party has been labeled as conservative.

Israel Independence Celebration Slated

Special services commemorating Israel's 16th Independence Anniversary will be held at 8 p.m. Friday at the Congregation House of Jacob, 3414 Kemp.

Melvin Rubin, who recently visited the State of Israel, will speak on "The Problems of Israel."

The service will be conducted by Rabbi Morris Goodman.

FIRE CALLS

Nine emergency calls were reported to the Wichita Falls Fire Department Wednesday.

The calls included two grass fires, two runs to wash gasoline from the street, two automobile fires, a grease fire, a closed duct on a heating unit and a gas clothes dryer which would not turn off.

INDICTED FOR TAX EVASION—Former Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois was indicted in Chicago Wednesday or federal income tax evasion from 1958 through 1961.

organization since 1951 and is chairman of the organization.

Mrs. Sara J. Landry, chairman of the information committee, presented recognition certificates to Mrs. Knight and Dr. Wilson for their service to the community.

Mrs. Knight was recognized for her efforts in establishing the North Texas Mental Health Center in Wichita Falls. She is married and has three children.

Through her efforts the clinic was first established in 1961 and she is a past president of the board of directors, serving the organization for two years.

Mrs. Knight also was commended for her work in guiding the Junior Service League to adopting the project of financial assistance.

Dr. Wilson, known as "Uncle Doctor" to hundreds of former Coyote football players, was recognized for his work with the team members since coming to Wichita Falls in 1919.

During his work with the team, Dr. Wilson has missed only two home games, one because of illness and the other because his plane was grounded in Oklahoma City. He also has an 80 per cent attendance record for out-of-town games.

Youth Worker

In addition to his general work with the football team, Dr. and Mrs. Wilson have helped many youngsters finish their high school education and have assisted some in going on to college.

He was presented the Youth Service Award of 1963 by the Downtown Kiwanis Club during Boy Scout Week.

Mrs. Nell Haws, chairman of the vocational services committee of the club, presented recognition certificates to B. Frank Hayes and Mrs. Rex. Lehman.

Hayes was honored for his years of service as Santa Claus and also for his work in helping the less fortunate in the city and area.

Mrs. Haws, who called Hayes "a one man social agency" cited his work with the Indians on reservations in Arizona and New Mexico as well as his help to the less fortunate here.

For 32 years he has played Santa Claus during Christmas for many children through service agencies, churches and other organizations.

His other activities include helping the elderly and making scholarships possible for deserving high school graduates, who might not otherwise be able to attend college.

4-H Worker

Mrs. Lehman of Iowa Park was recognized for her work with 4-H Clubs both as a participant and as a leader. For more than two decades she has worked with 4-H Clubs and other youth organizations.

She was recognized Wednesday night "for influencing young people to make the most of each opportunity afforded them."

Mrs. Lehman was one of three Texans named to receive the 4-H Alumni Recognition Awards in 1963 at College Station.

Mrs. Ethel Frady, chairman of the international relations committee, presented recognition certificates to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pitzer for their volunteer assistance to foreign students at Sheppard Air Force Base.

The couple has a group of students in their home nearly every week to acquaint them with American living and also sponsor excursions.

For their untiring work in helping world relations, the Pitzers can boast friends from all over the world. Mrs. Pitzer once helped a young man pick out a wedding dress for his bride-to-be in Ethopia.

'Voice Of SAFB'

Called "the voice of SAFB," he is on 24-hour duty to help city residents better understand base procedures and arrange tours.

A special award was given to Mrs. James N. Foster, mother of Marine Lt. James R. Foster, who was killed in March 1963 when he refused to bail out of his disabled jet fighter plane rather than risk having it crash into a residential area at Pecan Grove, Scotland Neck, N.C.

The award was presented to Mrs. Foster on behalf of her son by Mrs. Joella Terrill Butler, who said "your son is one of our city's most outstanding citizens."

Mrs. Butler, to whom the dinner was dedicated, received a gold brick, which will be presented to the Freedom's Foundation in her name by the Wichita Falls Altrusa Club.

Mrs. Butler is a past governor of District 9, second vice president of Altrusa International Inc., and has served the Altrusa movement for 30 years.

Special guests at the dinner were families of the honorees, service club leaders and United Fund agency leaders, Mayor and Mrs. Winston Wallander, Col. and Mrs. Dalene Bailey, Helen Hooker, Louise Brown, Mrs. Shem P. Cunningham and Mrs. S. M. Gose.

Mrs. Coralee Hester, president - elect, also was introduced. Mrs. Mattie Belle Newberry served as mistress of ceremonies.

FOR SERVICES RENDERED — John Barnard Jr., right, was given a plaque by the members of the Northwest Texas Field and Stream Association in recognition of his service for the past year as president. Field, Stream Group Holds Annual Meet, Game Feed

That's about the only way to describe the main portion of the program as presented by "Mr. Sound Effects," Wes Harrison, who admits his novelty act defies description.

Before the finale, the 1,500 to 2,000 in attendance at the big feed had dined on the best of wild game and fish and had been entertained by a style show a la Kirkland's.

Then Harrison filled his lungs, stepped in front of the speaker's stand and began his act. He took everyone on a ride via train and jet, left them stranded on the latter in the middle of some ocean as the punch line to a joke and in general kept them rocking in their seats. His sounds, produced by mouth and hand, were so real that it seemed the building shook every now and then.

The act followed a sumptuous meal of venison, fish, quail and assorted other delicacies served the crowd by members of the group's board.

New officers of the organization, who officially assumed their duties Wednesday night, include Barnard; Joe Tom White and Charles Sloan Jr., vice presidents; James Dowell, executive secretary; Richard Adams, parliamentarian; Ed Luig, sergeant-at-arms; and Mrs. Venera Emery, office secretary-treasurer.

Membership dues in the sportsmen's group help support a sportsman - landowner cooperative program, a rifle and trap range, publication of a club paper, restocking of three kid fishing ponds, two fishing contests, a kid fishing rodeo, an annual shrimp feed, fishing trips for underprivileged children, rifle and trap shoots for Boy Scouts, an annual chili supper, a safety and sportsmanship program for area youth and representation concerning game and fish laws.

EMERGENCY REPORTS

Traffic Calls

Six traffic accidents, in which one person received minor injuries, were reported to the Wichita Falls Police Department Wednesday.

At Eleventh and Broad, an accident involving vehicles driven by Herbert Scott Gray of 2405 Berkley and Ross Eldridge Fox of 1818½ Collins injured 69-year-old Gray.

Other accidents were:

WANTS CLAY IN ARMY—Washington—Rep. William Bray, R-Ind., says he thinks "the Selective Service made a mistake in rejecting" Heavyweight Champion Cassius Clay. "I'm not sure what the devil you could do with him but I think the Army could have found a place for him," said Bray. The congressman predicted the House will soon open an investigation of the draft law and call Clay as a witness. (AP Wirephoto)

City Prisoners Clear New Park

Twenty city prisoners are being used by the parks and recreation department to clear the underbrush from a new park being developed off the Red River Expressway near the Iowa Park Road.

Jim Thornton of the department said the prisoners are allowed to volunteer for the job. For each day's labor they get two days marked off their assessed jail time.

The land for the park, along the Wichita River, was recently given to the city and work is moving ahead in getting it cleared and ready for use.

Absentee Voting Continues Slowly

Absentee balloting for the May 2 Democratic primary began Monday and by Wednesday afternoon 22 ballots had been counted by County Clerk Dora Davis. One hundred voters have requested ballots by mail, she said.

Electra voters may register for absentee voting in the public library, and Burkburnett voters may register in the chamber of commerce office.

Musicians From MU Entertain Optimists

Highlighted by the appearance of Charlyn Balabanis, Broyles Hall and Jeffrey Seward, Wednesday business of the Downtown Optimist Club included announcements of forthcoming events.

The Optimists will hold a regional oratorical contest Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Barwise High School Gymnasium. A trip to an oil rig near Nocona is planned for the club's foster squadron; three busloads of squadron members have already signed up. Wednesday the squadron will introduce its candidate for queen in the Miss Missile contest at Sheppard Air Force Base.

LaGrande Henderson introduced Mrs. John Seward and her son Jeffrey, who gave a rehearsal presentation of his speech for the regional contest. Woody Allen introduced the program's participants, Charlyn and Broyles.

They climaxed the program with songs marking the changing seasons sung by Charlyn, the soprano who is well-known in local musical circles and at Midwestern University where she teaches voice.

Accompanied at the piano by Broyles Hall, organist and choir director of Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, she scored with the club membership singing Gershwin's "Summertime" and "June Is Bustin' Out All Over" from Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel."

Besides accompanying the soprano, Hall also had a solo spot on the program, performing the popular "Alley Cat" on the piano.

Guests were Mrs. Seward and her son, Jeff; Charlyn and Broyles, Tim Eyssen of the Sunrise Optimist Club, M.Sgts. James E. Rosen and Ray E. Evelhoch.

C-C Week Plans To Be Completed

Abandoned Young County Well Said Re-Completed

By FRANK O. HALL
Record News Oil Editor

Bill Lisle Drilling Co. Inc., Olney, has re-entered and reworked a previously abandoned Young County wildcat to complete it as a North Texas conglomerate oil discovery 10 miles east of Graham.

It is the No. 1 L. W. Fields which flowed 114.45 barrels of 36 gravity crude during 12-hour test from 39 perforations at 4276-82 feet.

Flow was through 16-64-inch choke with casing and tubing pressures of 480 pounds. Gas-oil ratio was 500-1. Pay was fractured.

The 2 7-8-inch production string was run to 4388 feet.

The venture was originally drilled by Rankin & Karper as the No. A-2 Field and plugged in May, 1955, at 4413 feet.

H. R. Britton, Fort Worth, staked No. 1 Annie Wright, as a 4350-foot Young County wildcat seven miles southeast of Graham. Drillsite is 1000 feet from east and 1050 from south lines of R. Hotchkiss survey A-147.

DEEP WILDCAT IN GRAYSON PLUGGED

Standard Oil Co. of Texas has abandoned at 14,308 feet the No. 1 Harry Hudgins-2 Gas Unit, Grayson County wildcat 1½ miles southeast of Pottsboro, John J. Moss survey A-860.

EXPLORATORY TEST SOUTH OF VERNON

Eleven miles south of Vernon, George W. Graham spotted No. B-1 W. T. Waggoner Estate as a 2700-foot Wilbarger County exploratory test. Location is 1800 feet from east and 2380 from north lines of section 36, block 2, H&TC survey.

D. D. Houtchens, Electra, completed No. F-5 Waggoner Estate in the Wilbarger County Regular Field, four miles southwest of Electra, section 16, block 13, H&TC survey.

During 24-hour test the well pumped 21 barrels of 40 gravity oil from 20 perforations at 995-1005 feet. The 4½-inch casing was cemented at 1028 feet after hole was bottomed at 1061 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 300-1.

OILER COMPLETED IN EANES FIELD

J. R. Caswell and C. R. Boatwright of Dallas have completed the No. 1 Leonard Hickman in Montague County's Eanes (Viola Lime) Field.

Twenty-four hour flow through 32-64-inch choke from two perforations per foot at 6671-87 feet was 144.4 barrels of 41 gravity oil with packer on casing and 80 pounds pressure on tubing. Gas-oil ratio was 1120-1. Pay was acidized with 4000 gallons.

JACK COUNTY WELL FINALED ON PUMP

Shell Oil Co. reported a daily pumping potential of 64.31 barrels of 41.4 gravity crude, plus 11 per cent water, for No. 212 Yates Water Flood Unit in the Rusmag Field of Jack County.

Hole was bottomed at 4554 feet and plugged back to 4542 feet for completion.

LBJ Cigarets Never Lighted

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, a nonsmoker for nearly nine years, occasionally surprises people by dangling an unlit cigaret from his mouth.

Johnson's most recent public appearance with a cigaret, at the annual dinner of the White House Press Photographers Association earlier this month, sparked a rumor that he was smoking again.

George Reedy, White House press secretary, said Wednesday that Johnson has not smoked a single cigaret since his 1955 heart attack. But Reedy said the President occasionally picks up a cigaret and chews on it, without ever touching a match to it.

At the photographers dinner, Johnson found a complimentary packet of cigarets at his place and, while watching a program of entertainment, idly opened it and stuck one in his mouth.

Because the lights were dimmed during the entertainment, many people in the hall thought the President was smoking.

Ralph Santos, past president of the association, was seated next to Johnson and offered him a light. The President declined.

Johnson apparently is most likely to chew on a cigaret when he is required to sit and not talk. In a sense, it may be a fidgeting gesture.

"I gave up cigaret smoking because the doctor recommended that I do so," said Johnson in a television interview last month. "And I have missed it every day, but I haven't gone back to it, and I'm glad that I haven't."

Throckmorton Test Re-Entry Planned

ABILENE, Tex. — Ausanka Oil Operations of Wichita Falls filed application to re-enter to 4968 feet, total depth, an abandoned wildcat two miles north of Throckmorton in Throckmorton County.

It is No. 1 Hill Allen, 330 feet from the south and 1800 feet from the east lines of the north one-half of section 288, BBB&C survey. Site is on a 230-acre lease.

The project was originally drilled and plugged in April, 1949, by Fred W. Manning Inc.

Both are on the Joe B. Matthews lease in section 46, CIR survey.

No. B-14 Matthews had a daily potential of 16.71 barrels of 39 gravity oil, plus 5 per cent water. It is pumping from open hole at 709-710 feet.

Daily potential for No. B-15 Matthews was 19.29 barrels of 39 gravity oil. It is pumping from open hole at 689 - 690 feet.

LOWER HOPE LIME OILER POTENTIALED

JONES—Dugger & Herring et al of Abilene completed a lower Hope lime discovery 16 miles southwest of Anson. It is No. 5 W. H. Cook, J. Winters survey 138.

No. 5 Cook, to be prorated in the Jones County Regular Field, had a daily potential of 46.72 barrels of 40.5 gravity oil, plus 50 per cent water.

It is pumping from eight perforations at 2524-28 feet. The 5½-inch casing was set at 2642 feet and the hole bottomed at 2900 feet.

AIDS PERUVIANS—Brian D. Beun, U. S. State Department representative of the Alliance for Progress from Peru, holds a small Peruvian girl as he goes about his job of aiding the Peruvian people on behalf of the alliance. He has spent three years in Peru. Beun will speak to members of the Pan American Student Forum of Wichita Falls High School and the International Club of Midwestern University at 8 p.m. Thursday in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church.

'Alliance For Progress' Representative To Speak

Members of the Pan American Student Forum at Wichita Falls High School and the International Club of Midwestern University will hear of the work of the Alliance For Progress in Peru when Brian D. Beun, U.S. State Department representative and alliance worker in Peru, speaks in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Beun, in discussing the work of the alliance, will outline the newly-organized "Partners for Progress." The basic philosophy of the program is the direct participation of the people of the various Latin American countries.

The Alliance for Progress is not an adoption program, but a partnership program that has as its base direct assistance to help people help themselves. It is a direct alliance between a United States group and a Latin American group to work toward the establishment of a lasting neighborhood relationship outside official channels.

Beun, who received B.S. and M.S. degrees from the University of Arizona, entered the Foreign Service in 1961 and was sent to Peru where he worked until his return to the U.S. in 1964.

His visit will highlight Pan American Week in Wichita Falls.

Ben Ludy Heads Fain Group

Ludy, vice president of the group last year, replaces Keith Nelson, outgoing president of the city's oldest active community improvement association.

Al Flack Jr. was re-elected treasurer of the organization and Mrs. Layton Downing was re-elected secretary. The annual treasurer's report showed the organization to be "in the black."

The majority of the association's work during the past year centered around safety and efforts to obtain traffic signals, stop signs and relocation of school crosswalks.

Chamizal Bill Sent To LBJ For Signature

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to carry out a U.S.-Mexican agreement to end an old border dispute at El Paso, Tex., was sent to President Johnson Wednesday.

The House passed, 347 to 5, a bill already approved by the Senate. It authorizes a $44.9 million appropriation for rechanneling the Rio Grande, compensation of landowners and relocation of public and private facilities incident to the boundary rectification.

The dispute, settled by approval last year of the convention on the Chamizal, has been a drag on U.S.-Mexican relations since 1864. In that year, a flood changed the course of the Rio Grande, the boundary river, southward and transferred about 600 acres of a tract known as the Chamizal to the U.S. river bank.

Mexico continued to claim it. The United States in 1911 refused to accept an arbitration award in favor of Mexico.

The settlement finally reached last year calls for an exchange of land, with Mexico gaining acreage on balance, compensation to private owners for property transferred to Mexico, relocation of facilities as needed, and construction of a new, concrete-protected channel for the river.

Rep. Armistead Selden Jr., D-Ala., chairman of the Latin American Affairs Subcommittee, urged approval of the implementing legislation.

He said the dispute "should have been settled decades ago, in justice to Mexico," and final action now would cement bonds with a country that shares this nation's "ideals and aspirations of democracy and independence."

Conceding some of the provisions for compensation are unusual, Selden said residents of the area being ceded to Mexico are entitled to special consideration because during the long dispute they were led to believe their property never would be endangered.

Rep. Ed Foreman, R-Tex., whose district includes El Paso, told the House the question is not whether the transfer should be made, since that was settled by approval of the convention, "but whether we will reimburse the people involved."

Wilbarger's Northside School May Go Independent

VERNON, Tex. (Special) — Members of the board of education at Northside School have voted to ask the County Commissioners Court and County School Board to take necessary action to convert Northside to independent school district effective Sept. 1, 1964, Supt. Carl Craighead reported Tuesday.

Craighead said that the board failed to take any action on integration of the Northside Schools.

Board consideration of both issues followed an April 4 school election in which Northside district residents voted 111 to 14 for change from a common to an independent school district and 67 to 51 for integration. The integration vote was advisory in nature.

Craighead reported that one school patron appeared before the board to present his views on the integration question.

The superintendent said that it is necessary for the County School Board to appoint a new board of education for Northside as it changes to independent status, but he noted that it is customary to appoint the existing board.

Northside trustees Monday night also asked for permission to continue use of the county tax office, with the standard one per cent charge for assessment and one per cent for collection to be paid the county office for this service.

The district has a total valuation of almost $3 million and tax structure will remain virtually the same, with no change in tax rates, Craighead said.

The Superintendent also announced that all teachers' contracts have been renewed and an additional teacher has been hired.

Teachers and their assignments include Mrs. R. C. Harris, first grade; Mrs. Inez Scott, second; Mrs. Inez Turkett, third; Mrs. Bob Jacobs (the new teacher), fourth; Mrs. Bette Wood, fifth; Blaine Whaley, principal and science; Dan Sloan, coach and math; Bobby Wright, agriculture; Kenneth Holan, history and foreign language; Mrs. Nona Wilson, business education; Mrs. Charlene Alexander, language arts, Mrs. Dorothy McAlister, homemaking.

Craighead's contract was renewed in January. He has served seven years with the school system, five as superintendent.

C-C Tourist Program Eyed

Approval was granted Wednesday afternoon for a Tourist Courtesy School, sponsored by the tourist development action group of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, to be held June 24-25.

The school will have sessions on both days from 8 to 11 a.m. and 7 to 10 p.m.

Classes will be limited to 100 participants with 50 persons in each session.

It was recommended Wednesday that key personnel attend the sessions and be responsible for instruction of other employes.

Final approval was also granted to the "Tourist of the Week" program, where a tourist will be stopped by the Wichita Falls police each week and be given the full treatment of a free dinner, a night's lodging, free tickets to the movie, free tickets to Funland and a free breakfast the following morning.

Clayton Kramer presented bids pertaining to the color brochures to be used by the group. About 25,000 copies will be printed to be used by the tourist development action group and the conventions activities action group.

Now you can get an 18-foot, two-ton Chrysler for less money than one of those jazzed-up compacts with a big car name on it.

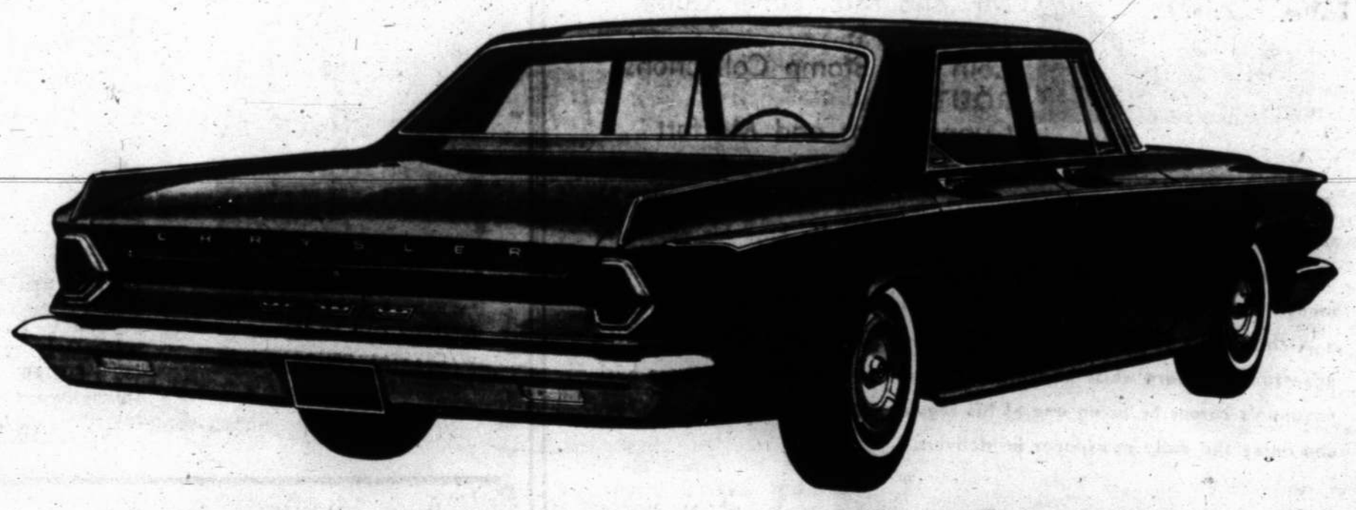

Let's face it. You can't make a big automobile out of a compact (even when it has a big car name on it) no matter how many extra-cost options you add.

You'll get the room you want. Weight to handle the road. Power for the tight spots. And the luxury you get only in a big car.

You'll get more value, too—things that cost you extra on a smaller car. Like a 361-cubic-inch V-8 that runs on regular gas. Foam-cushioned front seats. Padded dash. Sill-to-sill carpets.

So why settle for less than a Chrysler—now that price is no longer a factor?

Stamford Chamber Banquet Set Tuesday

FRED POOL

STAMFORD, Tex. (Special)—Fred Pool, executive vice president and general manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, will be principal speaker for the annual meeting of the Stamford Chamber of Commerce April 21.

The annual banquet meeting will be in the National Guard Armory at 7:30 p.m.

A crowd of about 300 persons is expected to attend the meeting, and hear annual reports concerning the chamber and its activities.

New officers for the year will also be named at that time.

Pool is a native Texan. He is known throughout the state and has appeared as featured speaker at chamber of commerce, luncheon clubs and professional organization meetings on more than 200 occasions during the past several years.

Before joining the staff of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, he managed chambers of commerce at La Porte, Georgetown and Alice, Texas. He has also served on the board of directors and as secretary - treasurer of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers association and as editor of its monthly news bulletin.

Although he has never practiced law, Pool has a bachelor of laws degree.

Pool has been honored by the Houston Post in a special article as a "Titled Texan." He has served on the governor's special water development committee, as a member of the advisory committee to the chairman of the Texas Industrial Commission and as a member of the board of directors of the Texas Safety Association.

Tickets at $2.50 are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office in City Hall, in addition to the following Stamford Business establishments: Huston Hardware, Western Auto, Eastland's.

Norris Russell, Stamford insurance man, will be master of ceremonies and will introduce the speaker. Entertainment will be provided by a choral group from Stamford High School under direction of W. E. Mayes, director of music.

HOW'S YOUR NOSE FOR NEWS?

A big news story broke recently in each of the spots marked on the map below. As a reader or student, check your memory and your knowledge by identifying the news events. The clues given in the box below will help.

What occurred where? Study the map and match the numbers with the events listed in the box at right. Score yourself 10 points for each correct answer.

A score of 50—you're fairly hep. A score of 70—you're pretty sharp. A score of 90 or more—congratulations to a real news hawk!

Nocona School Taxes Increase

NOCONA, Tex. (Special) — Taxes are going up, that is if you live in the Nocona School District.

The Nocona school board members voted to increase the assessed values of the school district at 10 per cent.

An across - the - board hike of 10 per cent in valuations will be on the 1964 roll of all tax payers.

This will mean that property will be assessed 70 per cent of its 1946 value.

This is the second year that taxes have been increased as the voters last year voted to raise taxes. The rate last year was $1.90 per $100 valuation.

The board gave as its reasons for increasing taxes the decline in valuation of property and the increase in cost of operating the school.

Burkburnett Club Hears Program, Lists Projects

Fine Arts, Education and Health were the subjects of the program for the Burkburnett Study Club when members met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Harold Preston.

Mrs. F. T. Felty, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Velma Williams of the Wichita County Cancer Society, who showed films on cancer, and Dr. J. A. Davey who spoke on the subject and directed a question and answer session following.

Mrs. George McClarty, club president, and Mrs. Harold Van Loh, publicity chairman, gave accounts of the sidewalk art show by Texas artists held in Tyler last week in coordination with the Azalea Trail Festival. Mrs. W. T. Zimmerman spoke briefly on the services offered by public libraries in Wichita County.

Announcements included a Pioneer Tea to be given by the club in the Burkburnett Town Hall April 27, 2:30 p.m. and the installation dinner to be held Tuesday, May 12, 7 p.m. in the Wichita Falls Country Club.

Mrs. H. C. Preston Jr. was elected delegate to the Texas Federaton of Women's Clubs convention to be held in Houston May 4-6.

Mrs. Jack Smith, projects committee chairmen, said that among the 1964-65 projects will be the following: Contributions to Latin-American scholarship fund and providing a scholarship for a Midwestern University student; participation in civic and community affairs by supporting the bloodmobile, sponsoring the Teenettes, donating to the cemetery beautification and entering the community improvement program sponsored by the Sears Foundation.

Other projects will include continued support of the TFWC and Santa Rosa district; contributions to the Fowler Home and Wichita Falls State Hospital, and active campaigning for traffic safety.

The club has purchased twelve Civic Music Association tickets for use by Burkburnett High School A Cappella and Junior High Choir members.

Co-hostess with Mrs. Preston was Mrs. E. D. Potter.

Tom Barfield Will Speak To Magazine Club

HASKELL, Tex. (Special) — Tom Barfield will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Magazine Club Friday afternoon in the club building. He will discuss the social history of the nation. Director of the program will be Mrs. Robert Wheatley.

New officers will be elected at the meeting with Mrs. J. U. Fields, president, conducting the business session.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dorothy Jane Cook of Winnetka, Ill., president of the American Bridge Teachers Assn. has contributed an extremely interesting hand to the organization's Quarterly.

It is decidedly not an elementary hand since it involves duck plays in two suits in order to play as safely as possible for a normal game contract. The first duck turns out to be necessary, the second was an unnecessary precaution.

If South is an optimist, he will win the first club and start after diamonds. If they break, he will make 10 or 11 tricks depending on how he handles the spades and clubs after cashing his red cards. Unfortunately for those ideas, East will win the third diamond and return a club to his partner, whereupon West will set the hand with four club tricks.

Therefore, South should duck the jack of clubs at trick one. He will win the club continuation. When East gets in with his good diamond, he won't have a club to lead. South will make four diamonds, three hearts, one spade and one club.

Have you seen where the second duck play comes in:

It should be made at trick three. South should lead the nine of diamonds from his hand and let it ride after West plays the eight. This play would have been necessary if the East and West diamond holdings had been reversed. This time it made no difference at all.

Henrietta Woman Named Homemaker Of Region 5

COLLEGE STATION (Special) —Mrs. Wayne Roe of Route 2, Henrietta, has been chosen as the 1964 champion conservation homemaker in Region 5.

Wife of a Clay County rancher, Mrs. Roe and her husband raise quality commercial Hereford cattle. They operate 720 acres of their own land and manage 2,330 acres for her mother.

Staunch believers in the conservation of time and energy as well as soil and water, the Roes have carried out many ranch and home improvements and planned others.

Family spending records are as important as business records this homemaker believes. "We know exactly how much money to allot for spending on the home, land, buildings, pasture improvements, and better livestock each year," she explains.

Quality materials are chosen when Mrs. Roe shops for clothing for the family. The better quality fabrics and garments are the best buys, she says. She purchases materials and makes skirts, blouses and casual clothes for her family.

Mrs. Roe uses Extension's Food for Fitness Guide in planning daily menus. She plans her shopping trips carefully, and takes advantage of seasonal foods not usually grown in the family garden.

The family has been planning to build a new home for a number of months, and the blueprints are now ready. The proposed new home has been planned for comfort and convenience.

Conservation measures applied on the ranch include deferred grazing, brush control, pond construction, fish pond improvement, range seeding; cover crop, fertilizing, contour farming and terracing. The brush control program began about 11 years ago with aerial spraying. This has been followed by proper maintenance practices.

Native grasslands have been deferred during the growing season for the past four years. Summer forage crops provide grazing for livestock. Roe grows Austrian winter peas and turns them under in the spring.

Three earthen ponds have been cleaned and expanded in recent months. This additional space will provide an adequate amount of water for stock. The Roes also have planted 100 mulberry and osage orange seedlings to be used in windbreaks around the home and nearby fields.

The Roes plan to sprig some Bermuda grasses this season, after first treating the soil to bring it back into normal production. The land, formerly saturated with salt water and waste oil, has been leveled and will be treated with cotton gin trash or agricultural gypsum.

Mr. and Mrs. Roe are active in community affairs. She is a member of the Young Homemakers Club of Midway, and both of them belong to the Big Loop Riding Club, Clay County Pioneer and Rodeo Association, Clay County Farm Bureau and Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association. They are members of the Upper West Fork Soil Conservation District.

Winners in the Region 5 "Save the Soil and Save Texas" awards program will be honored at a dinner in Waco, May 8, sponsored by the Fort Worth Press and other groups.

Mrs. Lonella Roesch, county home demonstration agent at Henrietta, has assisted Mrs. Roe in planning her conservation practices.

WSCS Completes Study Of Asia

The final lesson of the study of "The Christian Mission in Southern Asia" was held by the Grant Street Methodist WSCS Tuesday morning. Mrs. Ruth Welchel led the devotion period and Mrs. Buena Coleman told a story of a third generation Christian family in India.

Mrs. Elray Hardy led the study of Pakistan and Mrs. Eugene Edmondson spoke on Ceylon. Mrs. E. W. McLaughlin, who has led the six sessions, summarized the program.

A brief program planning meeting was held following the program. Announcement was made concerning the WSCS district meeting to be at the First Methodist Church Friday.

Circle meetings Tuesday will be as follows: Dorcas Circle, Mrs. Irene Hightower; Rebekah Circle with Mrs. M. A. Stevens and Ruth Circle with Mrs. Roy Hodges.

Slim Slowly, Stay Slender

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Two pounds a week is as much as anyone on a reducing diet should lose. It's a good — and safe — average weight loss to aim for.

Anything less probably means that you aren't trying hard enough to set your pound - shedding on a steady course. Either your daily intake of calories is still too high for the amount of energy you expend—or you are cheating. You may also be dieting in spurts, going off your diet at the slightest provocation, particularly over weekends.

Anything more may be downright dangerous, physically. Crash dieting can lead into dehydration, which eventually upsets the delicate chemical harmony in the body. Medical evidence supports the suspicion that metabolic disturbances can damage the heart and kidneys.

Spreading a 20 - pound loss over a 10 - week period—and is that so long, really?—is not only less hazardous than a drastic starvation plan but it's more permanent, too. When the pounds are taken off slowly (just the same way as they are put on), they tend to stay off.

The longer dieting period gives you a chance, also, to work on your figure, toning up and tightening the muscles, reshaping contours that are out of proportion.

Hasty reducing may show results only on the scales . . . and in the places where it is least needed and most unattractive, such as the face and neck. The women end up looking as if they had been sick (as sometimes they are, indeed!), some resembling refugees from a concentration camp.

Health comes first. It mustn't be sacrificed for appearance, when just a little more time, care and patience can enhance both.

NO ONE CAN BE CHARMING WITHOUT PEP AND VITALITY! The 20 - page, illustrated booklet, "Personality Plus Through Diet" gives you teenagers easy ways to become more healthy, more alive! Just send 25 cents and your name and address to "Secrets of Charm," care of the Wichita Falls Record News.

Ann Landers Says

Widow Should Ignore Debt Made By Gambling Husband

Dear Ann Landers: My sister's husband was a salesman. Artie knew all kinds of people.

A few days ago Artie dropped dead of a heart attack. The funeral was yesterday. After the funeral several people came by the house to be with my sister and sit around the way they do when a friend passes away.

Two men whom my sister had never seen before took her aside and told her that they had loaned Artie money. One man said he had borrowed $400 when he had gotten over his head in a crap game. The other fellow said he still had $300 coming from the second Liston-Patterson fight.

My sister was bewildered. She knew very little about her husband's gambling and betting practices. She had never seen these men before and they had nothing in writing. At the moment she's plenty short of cash, but she says if Artie owed the money she wants to pay it. What is your advice—TRYING TO HELP

Dear Trying: The timing of these birds is interesting.

Since they have nothing in writing—and she never saw them before—I'd advise her to ignore the pressure.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 15-year-old daughter complains that we never let her use her own judgement or make her own decisions. She put on a great big sell, pointing out that she must learn from experience how to handle money and be independent.

We agreed to give her $400 on her 15th birthday which was exactly 60 days ago. She was to buy her own clothes, lunches, do whatever she wanted with the money, and six months later she was to get another $400.

Last night she asked for the second $400 now because she doesn't have a dime to her name. I wasn't surprised because I saw the foolish things she did during the first week of the "Plan For Independence." She paid $10 for a set of mink eyelashes and $49.50 for a pair of gold satin lounging pajamas.

Should we give her another chance? She says she has learned her lesson and that this next $400 will last six months for sure. Yes or no?—UNDECIDED

Dear Un: If you give this 15-year-old numbskull another $400 you are out of your minds for sure.

What do you mean, another chance? To do what—assist the economy? Make out a budget of her normal expenses and give her exactly that—one week at a time and not a dime more.

Dear Ann Landers: Our teacher was called out of the room by the principal last Thursday. She put me in charge because I am the class president.

Two of my best friends began to throw erasers and chalk. One eraser hit a girl in the face and knocked off her glasses. The glasses didn't break but the girl is a nervous type and she began to cry. The teacher walked in right in the middle of everything. She asked me for the names of the kids who were out of line. I had to give her the names of my best friends.

They lost their privileges for one week and now they're sore at me. They called me a rat and a fink and a lousy stool pigeon.

I feel awful. Did I do right or wrong?—JERRY

Dear Jerry: You did right. It was your responsibility to maintain order. If your friends would not co-operate they deserved to be reported. Moreover, your own honor and integrity were on the line. Real friends can't expect you to use influence to cover up for them when they are out of order. Make no apologies—ever.

The meeting will be hosted by Mmes. Roy Everett, Gerald McCoy and Ed Hester in the Community Room of the Haskell National Bank.

Topics and speakers for the program include "Are You Building A Heart Attack?", Mrs. David Middleton; "Are You A Work Addict?", Mrs. Wayne Wainscott, and "Are You Aware of the Facts of Breast Cancer?" by Mrs. Howard Perry Jr.

Opti-Mrs. Group Elects Officers

Mrs. Bill Jones will serve as president of Sunrise Opti-Mrs. with other officers elected Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Bryan Wagner, 4415 Randel.

Other officers are Mmes. Jimmy Tate, vice president, Glen Atkins, secretary and Alton Carter, treasurer. They will be installed at the next meeting, 6:30 p.m. May 8, in Wyatts.

Fourteen members and one guest were present.

MISS CAROLYN POLK

Polk-Morrison Vows Planned

FREDERICK, Okla. (Special) —Miss Carolyn Polk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Polk, will be married to Jerry Morrison on April 25. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Haile of Lawton.

The Rev. Mart Hardin, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will officiate. Miss Janice Atkison will be maid of honor and James Sutton will serve as best man.

Miss Polk attended Frederick High School where she was a member of the Future Homemakers of America. Morrison attended schools in Waurika and Lawton. He is self - employed at the C&M Automotive in Lawton where the couple will make their home.

Phylia Club Has Hawaiian Luau

IOWA PARK, Tex. (Special)—In keeping with the Polynesian theme, members of the Phylia Study Club came to a meeting Monday evening in the home of Mrs. O. N. Newman wearing mumuus. They were presented with leis and ushered into the party suite decorated with palm trees, fishermen's nets, sea shells and an abundance of flowers. Favors were sea shell ash trays, and guests were seated on the floor at a low table featuring tropical leaves and fruits for refreshments at the Hawaiian luau.

Mrs. Richard Carver introduced the program on Texas State Parks. Mrs. E. F. Soell, speaker, distributed pamphlets describing park facilities in the state.

During the business session proposed programs for 1964-65 were presented for approval by members.

Lutheran Women Contribute Food

Contributions of food for tornado victims and a check for the Good Shepherd Lutheran Home of the West were made at Tuesday night's meeting of the Mary-Martha Society of St. Paul Lutheran Church at St. Paul Lutheran School.

Mmes. Richard Byrd, H. E. Gustafson and E. W. Babcock gave the topic, "The Holy Spirit Makes Christians Good Citizens," before the business session.

Mrs. W. A. Drachenberg, president, said the last meeting of the year will be a dinner.

Betrothed Couple Make Own Plans

By AMY VANDERBILT

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: My sister is getting married in May. She will be financing the bride's share of the wedding which is to be in the church sanctuary. Our parents are living but are elderly and unable to give any financial assistance.

"She will wear a white silk suit, navy shoes and carry a Bible with a flower marker. Our younger sister will be her only attendant. The groom will have his father as his only attendant. Everything is to be simple as they are trying to keep the cost to a minimum. They will have a trip to Florida after the ceremony.

"There will be an announcement made in the church inviting the members to the wedding (not to the reception which will be held in the church, too). She has not decided how to work this out. We have a large family. The bride has been told by her employer that there are many friends and acquaintances of his whom she has met several times who will expect invitations. She just cannot afford engraved invitations.

"Would it be permissible for her to use informal notes and write the invitations in long hand? These invitations would be to the ceremony and reception.

"How much decoration is appropriate in the church for such a small, simple wedding?—Mrs. L. T., Nashville, Tenn."

If your sister's employer wants to make her wedding a place to entertain his friends, he should be giving the wedding. The bride and groom are the ones who decide, with their parents, who the wedding guests are going to be. These guests should be their friends and their parents' friends, not people they have "met several times who expect invitations." It is actually bad taste to invite people to your wedding whom you barely know. It seems a bid for gifts.

Simple green decorations are very attractive for a wedding like this—rented palms or ferns in the chancel, climbing vines or ivy for pew posts and perhaps for the altar.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Use Piggy Bank For Razors

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY — When there are a couple of men around the house who shave, it is difficult to keep used razor blades out of reach of small children. I put an unbreakable piggy bank in the bathroom (just a cheap, small one) and the men slip their blades into it. The bank does not look bad and its saves a lot of cut fingers.—N. L. T.

DEAR POLLY — My ideas are for Mrs. A. C. G. who wanted new things for her Cub Scouts to make. Take an empty pop bottle, spray the outside with silver or gold paint, apply a colorful decal or two and put a water sprinker cork over the bottle opening. This makes an attractive but inexpensive sprinkler for mother to use when she dampens her laundry.

An empty soup can can make a nice desk holder for pencils. Cover it with pretty, leftover wallpaper. — MRS. R. M. C.

DEAR POLLY — Women who doubt their own carpentry skill can use an old comb to hold small nails in position instead of getting their fingers in the way of the hammer.—MRS. R. D.

DEAR POLLY — If space in the guest room is limited, use a folding television snack table for a luggage caddy. Guests really appreciate this convenience and it is far easier to clean the room. Lifting bags around from chair to bed is no fun. — MRS. J. M.

GIRLS — This is a wonderful suggestion if the bags are not too heavy. My folding tray tables would not take too much weight but would be fine for an overnight or small bag.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I keep my shelf paper from curling by putting transparent plastic tape along the edges. This makes a neater job, does not show and is easy to pull off.

After taking a bath or shower, I lay a towel in the bottom of the tub. After drying myself, I step back into the tub on the towel and powder to my heart's content. Sure saves getting powder all over the bathroom. Polly, I may never win a Polly Dollar but I get my money's worth out of the Pointers.—MRS. T.

Rare Jalropha Podagrica Are Costly But Fun To Grow

By KATHERINE B. WALKER

I love browsing through house plant catalogs, and seldom fail to come across something I want that I've never had. About four years ago I found Jatropha podagrica listed, and since I had had such fun growing a close relative, J. multifida, I ordered one from No. 4 on our Source Sheet, even though it was a comparatively expensive plant.

In its juvenile stage, J. podagrica has a single sturdy stem with a curious swollen effect through the upper portion. My plant, now six inches high, has a base only an inch and a half in circumference but swells to well over three inches around partway up the stem. The peltate leaves, attached to the leaf stem like a nasturtium's, are huge compared to the size of the plant, and on mature specimens may be nearly a foot across. They are dark green, leathery, lobed as the plant gets older, and they occur only at the top of the plant.

Although this plant is a succulent, it is one of the types that likes an evenly moist, rather rich loamy soil. It prefers a warm, partially sunny spot, and should be given a winter rest. This means that the temperature should be reduced slightly and watering should be less heavy. I hate to admit it, but so far I have forgotten this rest business every year until the plant's yellowing leaves remind me. The first year only the bare stalk was left before it dawned on me that the plant was signalling desperately for a rest, needing a cool, bright place and its soil allowed to dry slightly between waterings. Once rested for a few weeks, this jatropha takes up where it left off, once again producing its crown of attractive foliage.

In due time, but probably not until I can remember to start the plant into dormancy, I expect flowers. I have never seen them "in the flesh" but I know they are small, bright red, and are borne in clusters on long red stalks. Even without blossoms, this is a fine pot plant, and if you have been looking for a truly unusual succulent, this is one you should get.

Questions and Answers

Q. My Christmas cactus always was beautiful at the right time but this year it didn't start to bloom until almost March. What could cause this?

A. You may have started its rest too late in the fall. You may also have changed its location during mid or late fall, which could have thrown it off its schedule by changing the amount of light it received.

Q. Are any house plants so poisonous that a person can't stay in the room with them without feeling ill? My aunt won't stay overnight with us because of a heart-shaped leaf vine I have.

A. I can't think of any that could cause illness unless the person ate some part of it, or at least came into close contact with it. Perhaps your aunt really has some other reason for not staying with you but thinks that blaming it on the plant is kinder. My advice is: don't argue about it — but don't throw the plant out, either.

For Katherine B. Walker's booklet, AFRICAN VIOLETS, write to her in care of the Wichita Falls Record News, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling costs.

The free Indoor Gardening Source Sheet has been revised and simplified. Most plants mentioned in Indoor Gardening can be bought from a local dealer, but if he cannot supply them, the Source Sheet lists where they may be obtained. For your copy of the new Indoor Gardening Source Sheet, write to Katherine B. Walker, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Walker is always happy to hear from readers, and whenever possible she answers their questions on house plants in her column, but she regrets that because of the vast volume of mail received she cannot reply to individual letters.

New Officers Are Elected By Barwise P-TA

Mrs. H. L. Arrington was elected president of the Barwise P-TA at the Tuesday night meeting in the school auditorium. To serve with Mrs. Arrington are Mmes. George L. LeBeau, Robert Jolliff and A. D. January, first, second and third vice presidents; J. E. Biggs Jr., secretary; and R. A. Thomason, treasurer.

A life P-TA membership was presented Robert M. Cowden, assistant principal and teacher for 20 years, seven of which have been at Barwise.

Participating in opening exercises were Mr. Stan Norris, R. A. Thomason and Mrs. Gaylor B. Culbertson whose devotional was on the theme "All the flowers of all the tomorrows are in the seeds of today."

Mrs. Arrington announced the executive board's selection of Mmes. J. M. Stokes, J. P. Jenkins and the president as an auditing committee.

The District P-TA Conference was announced for April 24 in the First Presbyterian Church. A life membership dinner will be April 23, 7 p.m., at Hirschi High School.

Bill Turnbow and Misses Joan Griffiths and Lola Graves conducted a gym show entitled "The Family: Wholesome and Happy?"

Mrs. Hillner Is Sorority Unit's New President

Mrs. E. H. Hillner was elected president of Eta Nu chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha at the meeting held Tuesday evening with Mrs. Fred Toland.

Elected to serve with Mrs. Hillner were Mmes. Robert Zavala, vice president; Bobbie Mills, corresponding secretary; Tom Sims, recording secretary, and Howard Russell, treasurer.

Mrs. Joe Chandler announced plans for a spring style show to be held May 12 in the Lone Star Gas Company's auditorium. An invitation was extended to Iowa Park, Burkburnett and Eta Lambda chapter of Wichita Falls.

Luncheon Planned By Tau Phi Lambda

A Mothers Day luncheon May 3 at the River Oaks and the Woodmen Circle district meeting in Vernon April 21 were discussed by Omicron Omega chapter of Tau Phi Lambda of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle at a meeting Tuesday night at the YWCA.

Mrs. Bill Neely said all members would be welcome at the meeting. Mrs. Tom Kito said the state rally will be June 28 and 29 in Houston.

The club contributed a box of accessories to the Wichita Falls State Hospital and held an inspection.

The 1964 inspection was held after the meeting. Mrs. Bill Lambert won the door prize.

Wichitan Promoted

First Lt. Ralph E. Amos, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Amos of 4800 Pasadena, was recently promoted while stationed at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C. Amos was graduated from Wichita Falls High School and attended Midwestern University, where he was in the Army ROTC program.

Couple Will Note 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Barron of Irving, formerly of Wichita Falls, will be honored with open house Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. in the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Barron in Irving. Friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

The couple was married April 15, 1914, in Brownwood and moved to Wichita Falls where they lived until 22 years ago when they moved to Dallas where he was employed by Otis Engineering Corp. He retired last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Barron also have a daughter, Mrs. Albert Jouglard of Irving, and five grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Planning to attend from Wichita Falls are these friends and relatives: Messrs. and Mmes. B. F. Belknap, L. M. Bolling, D. C. Barron, Ronnie Barron, Bruner York and Don Barron; Ronnie E. Bolling and Mrs. Dola Soles and children.

Knox City Man Gets Masonic Pin

KNOX CITY, Tex. (Special)—Dr. T. S. Edwards received his 50-year Masonic pin in ceremonies conducted in his hospital room April 14. He has been a member of Orient Lodge No. 905 Since April 14, 1914, when he completed work as a master Mason. Dempsey Emerson, worshipful master presented the pin.

Dr. Edwards is convalescing from a heart condition. Others present were J. C. McGee, lodge secretary and L. W. Graham and C. C. Hoge.

JIM LANGDON—A WINNER!

Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon is a 49-year-old native Texan with a winning record in public office. When John Connally appointed him to the Railroad Commission, the Governor said:

"I have for several weeks been attempting to find a man I consider to have outstanding ability, integrity and honor... I am happy we have found that man — Judge Jim C. Langdon."

Jim Langdon has fully lived up to Governor Connally's expectations. He has conducted his office in the spirit of Governor Jim Hogg, who had the Commission set up in 1891 to look after the public interest in railroad and freight rates. It now regulates also truck and bus rates and the production of oil and gas. Judge Langdon will continue to keep transportation rates in line and see to it that our oil reserves are protected against waste and greed. This will help keep down Texas gasoline prices, already among the lowest in the nation.

Jim Langdon was elected District Judge twice and re-elected Chief Justice of the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals.

ON THE OTHER HAND—

Jim Langdon's Opponent Is a 10-Time Loser!

Jesse Owens, 69-year-old attorney, is still running for office after 38 years and TEN DEFEATS. He has lost the following races:

1932—Defeated for District Attorney by Ed Gossett.
1946—Defeated for Court of Criminal Appeals by Tom L. Beauchamp.
1952—Defeated for Court of Criminal Appeals by K. K. Woodley.
1956—Defeated for Court of Criminal Appeals by W. A. Morrison.
1958—Defeated for District Judge by Tom Davis.

A Winner All the Way—

Jim C. Langdon

for Railroad Commissioner

(Pol. Adv.—Paid for by Jim Langdon Campaign Committee, Charles C. Langdon, Chairman)

When it came to our station wagon, we thought we'd be big about it.

No long nose. No big behind.

But don't let that sweet, innocent-looking little shape fool you.

The VW may be 4 feet shorter, but it holds a lot more than the biggest station wagons around.

(The biggest conventional wagon you can buy holds 90 cubic feet. Big deal. The VW holds 170.)

We knew big things were coming for the VW, so we made it easy to get big things in and out.

Those side doors, as you can see, are double: the opening is 4 feet wide.

And the back door is exactly as wide. (Our back door won't fit in the back door of other wagons.)

There's also a nice big hole in the roof to let fresh air in and tall packages out.

Business Leadership

Speaking of modern myths, as Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas did the other day in the field of foreign policy, there is one on the domestic front that needs to be re-examined.

It concerns government and business. Far too often the connecting word is "versus" — government vs. business — or the other way around.

One businessman recently called for some serious rethinking about the myth that government and business are necessarily rivals or opponents, or that they are and of right ought to be separate and independent.

In the opinion of Daniel Peterkin Jr., president of Morton Salt Co., business must assume leadership in solving some of the nation's pressing economic problems, both at home (unemployment) and abroad (the wining and keeping of markets).

"There will be no major break-through in business growth and earnings," he said, "until these problems are solved." Unless they are, he asserted "we shall have to be content with saving a few pennies from costs now and then, improving existing products and jostling each other about in existing markets."

The initiative for establishing a new partnership with government must come from businessmen, he said. But it cannot as long as a major part of their energies is dissipated in haggling and bickering with government and worrying about defending the philosophy that profits are good for people.

Reduction of unemployment is not a government but a business problem, Peterkin maintains. Believing that the only answer to unemployment is more employment, he suggests a network of business councils around the country to work with both federal and local agencies to create new jobs, lend money for new businesses, assist placement services and exchange information about job opportunities.

Business leadership efforts cannot be independent of government efforts. For its part, business must recognize that government is a participant in the economy, not just an umpire.

"Markets," he said, "are too challenging and world competition too vigorous to allow U.S. business and U.S. government to hold each other at arm's length."

As for figures in government, they must realize that it is not always expedient in the long run to attack and publicly castigate business, either in particular or general.

President Calvin Coolidge once said, in one of his longest sentences, "The business of America is business." A motto for our own time might be, "The business of business is America."

Reds Urge Big Push

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—For the first time in his 10-year rule, Red boss Ho Chi Minh has invoked Article 67 of the North Viet Nam Constitution to call an emergency meeting of the 327 most influential men of that Communist nation.

It has now been learned that the compelling purpose for these March 27-28 sessions was to fight the war apathy in North Viet Nam.

Dispatches reaching the U.S. government here indicate there's strong friction within the leadership of North Viet Nam. Influential Red leaders are asking why the war in the south is being continued. Some claim it is a waste of time.

Though the "hard line" men are believed firmly in the saddle, the apathy of major sections of the Red leadership has spread downward through the Communist officialdom.

These meetings were held to counter that trend.

Red boss Ho told these delegates bluntly that their sense of responsibility was not very high. He attacked their "bureaucratism, waste and corruption." He told them to settle down and work to win the war and put their hearts into it.

Dispatches reaching United States disclose these men are now spreading the word through North Viet Nam's leadership that the war isn't going as well as expected, that it's going to last a long time, that the Americans have the initiative, that the Viet Cong in the south must continue to fight with an inadequate supply of weapons.

Managers are being warned that South Viet Nam agents have infiltrated industry and are carrying on sabotage. They are being given instructions on how to ferret out these saboteurs, how to make them expose themselves.

The managers are being ordered to tighten up on their security procedures and are being told their laxness in enforcing these procedures is what has made this sabotage possible.

All this doesn't mean that North Viet Nam is getting ready to abandon the war.

The aim of this drive rather is to get the middle leadership of the country to buckle down for a long hard pull.

U.S. experts believe these North Vietnamese leaders have the means and the will to continue the war on its present scale, or a shade higher, indefinitely.

But as one U.S. official puts it: "They're not nine feet tall. They have their troubles, too.

One trouble the officials apparently can't control is the continued poor rice output. Harassed supervisors have pushed the production of corn to meet the crisis. But the average North Vietnamese thinks this is food for pigs. He's not starving, but he's not happy. So he's not working very hard.

Hussein's Charmed Life

By WASHINGTON STAFF

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — King Hussein I, the 29-year-old ruler of Jordan, visiting the United States through April 23, likes to take chances. He's a first-rate pilot who has flown everything from helicopters to jet fighters and a former race car driver who once drove the 55 miles from Amman to Jerusalem in less than 40 minutes.

In 11 years as king of Jordan, Hussein has survived nine attempts on his life.

Despite the hazards of Middle East politics, he believes in living close to his subjects. In the first year of his reign, he gave security guards fits by sneaking from the palace at night to wander the streets of Amman by himself, disguised as an Arab taxi driver.

King Hussein believes in informality whenever possible, remembers with fondness the shouted greetings of "Howdy, king!" and "What d'yah say, king!" from American crowds during earlier visits to this country in 1959 and 1960.

Hussein likes to tell one about the son of his flying instructor, RAF Wing-Commander Jock Dalgeish. Dalgeish had carefully coached son Bruce to greet Hussein with a waist bow and the words, "How do you do, Your Majesty."

When the pair met, though, Bruce forgot his lines. After a tortured moment of anguish, the boy's face brightened. Walking up to Hussein, he thrust out his hand and said: "Hullo, king."

Craig Truax, Pennsylvania Republican chairman, was concerned when word leaked out of a secret meeting of "big corporation" public relations men on a possible build-up of Gov. William Scranton's presidential prospects.

Mulling over the old one to the effect there are really no secrets in politics, Truax commented:

"They say the only way to keep a secret is to have a meeting of a committee of three with two members absent."

Since a jet airbase was built near Plattsburg, N.Y., Sen. Ken Keating, R-N.Y., has received many letters from area residents complaining of sonic booms. Last week, a Plattsburg woman offered Keating this solution:

"I don't understand what all the fuss over noise abatement is about. If planes keep crashing into the sound barrier, why don't they just take the sound barrier down?"

Memorial To Courage

Friends of the late Willie "Wild Bill" Owens are condidering the most appropriate way to memorialize permanently the courage which was his greatest characteristic.

Whatever tributes are made in his name, we think it would be appropriate to have a permanent marker or plaque near the spot where he worked so many years. Such a marker could recall in the future the excellence of the life of this man who would not be downed by adversity and handicap.

Such a permanent record would preserve for those who come after him the inspiration of his life. Such inspiration would be of value to others who on our busy streets face challenging problems.

MacArthur Ignored Advice Of Pentagon

By DREW PEARSON
And JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The confidential files of the Pentagon, hitherto not declassified, tell a quite different story from the two bitter interviews given by Gen. Douglas MacArthur regarding the reasons for the stalemate in the Korean War.

They show that MacArthur refused to believe the Chinese would enter the Korean War, even though his own intelligence reported that during four months in the summer of 1950 the Chinese had built up their troops in Manchuria from 116,000 to 850,000.

MacArthur in the interviews, published posthumously last week, denied that he had told President Truman the Chinese would not intervene. But the cable he sent Washington, when the Pentagon asked him about the increased build-up of Chinese strength, is in black and white. It reads: "This growth of strength in Manchuria is not an immediate index of warlike intentions."

The Joint Chiefs of Staff however flashed back this warning to MacArthur by telecom message, No. TT-3848, dated October 4, 1950: "The potential exists for Chinese communist forces to openly intervene in the Korean War if UN forces cross the 38th Parallel."

MacArthur ignored the warning, pushed on to the Yalu.

MacArthur's Confusing Cables

Captured Chinese documents have now fixed October 25 as the date of the first major Chinese movement into Korea. By November 3, the Chinese had brought the Eighth Army's offensive to a standstill.

Yet on November 4, MacArthur advised the Joint Chiefs in message No. C-68285 against making "Hasty conclusions which might be premature." He still doubted that the Chinese would throw their "full potential military forces" into the Korean War.

Despite this, on November 5, MacArthur ordered the Air Force to bomb the 12 bridges spanning the Yalu, "To destroy every means of communication and every installation, factory, city and village" on the Korean side.

"Combat crews are to be flown to exhaustion if necessary," he directed.

The Joint Chiefs couldn't understand this. On Nov. 4 MacArthur had cautioned against making "Hasty conclusions" about a Chinese invasion; yet on the next day he sent a frantic telegram demanding a massive air attack to prevent invasion. So they asked MacArthur to hold off his planes until he explained why the action was so suddenly necessary.

Next day, Nov. 6, MacArthur fired back an impassioned warning: "Men and materiel in large force are pouring across all bridges over the Yalu from Manchuria. This movement not only jeopardizes but threatens the ultimate destruction of the forces under my command.

The only way to stop this reinforcement of the enemy is the destruction of these bridges . . . Every hour that this is postponed will be paid for dearly in American blood."

Annoyed, the Joint Chiefs replied the same day: "The situation depicted in your (November 6) message is considerably changed from that reported in last sentence of your previous (November 4) message, which was our last report from you. We agree that the destruction of the Yalu Bridges would contribute materially to the security of the forces under your command unless this action resulted in increased Chinese communist effort and even Soviet contribution . . . However, in view of first sentence your message, you are authorized to go ahead with your planned bombing in Korea."

Frozen River

At a secret policy meeting three days later, Intelligence Chief Gen. Bedell Smith commented dryly that the river would be frozen over soon and the Chinese wouldn't need the bridges anyhow. (As it turned out, the bridges were never destroyed.)

Meanwhile, MacArthur had divided his ground forces into two commands, the Eighth Army under Lt. Gen. Walton Walker and the Tenth Corps under Maj. Gen. E. M. Almond. The two commanders were not on speaking terms, so were obliged to communicate with one another through MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters.

Apprehensive, the Joint Chiefs questioned MacArthur about this split. He replied haughtily that nothing would be gained by combining the two armies.

"Both forces are completely outnumbered," he declared in message No. C-50332, dated December 3. "Their juncture would, therefore, not only produce added strength but actually jeopardize the free flow of movement that arises from two separate logistical lines."

But the Chinese drove a wedge between the two commands, forcing retreats, until MacArthur's messages became panicky. General J. Lawton Collins, sent to investigate, found MacArthur in a serious emotional state, his proud spirit all but crushed.

Collins reported back to the Joint Chiefs that MacArthur kept demanding to receive orders either to retreat or to "Stand and Die." Indeed, the distraught supreme commander drew up plans on December 7 for evacuating Korea completely. The plans were okayed by the Joint Chiefs two days later.

But meanwhile, Collins reported that General Matt Ridgway, the field commander, thought the retreating Americans should not stand and die, but stand and fight.

Because of MacArthur's emotional state, the Joint Chiefs accepted Ridgway's recommendation and ordered him to carry it out. MacArthur's evacuation plans were scrapped, and responsibility for the Korean operation was quietly turned over to General Ridgway.

Back in Tokyo, MacArthur brooded, became bitter and finally was relieved of his duties entirely. He was obviously still brooding when he gave the two interviews, now published, which blamed failure in Korea on the British, and President Truman.

Another column on the real story of Korea will follow soon.

Allen-Scott Report

Alaskan Aid Criticized

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
And PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — A highly explosive political earthquake that could have stinging election repercussions is rumbling ominously under that Alaska Reconstruction Commission created by President Johnson to aid the disaster-shattered state.

Top Alaska officials and business leaders are irately charging the commission with pussyfooting and penny-pinching; with evincing more concern about technicalities and formalities than the restoration of the state's devastated cities, homes and economy.

Particular target of these angry backstage complaints is Senator Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., commission chariman.

It is being indignantly pointed out that the veteran New Mexican politico has little or no direct knowledge of Alaskan conditions and needs, and is displaying a tight fisted and legalistic attitude in coping with them.

The one-time agriculture secretary in the Truman cabinet aroused a resentful outburst at a meeting last week when he suggested that hard-hit Alaskans go into bankruptcy. Anderson characterized this as a "normal process" and cited examples, notably the long bankruptcy of the now-prospering Missouri-Pacific Railroad.

The proposal drew caustic retort from Elmer Rasmuson, Anchorage banker, whose home was destroyed.

"Surely, you aren't serious," exclaimed Rasmuson. "Such bankruptcy would break every bank in Alaska. What kind of a solution is that? What we need is a helping hand, and not legal gimmicks and stratagems. What's a man going to do who has lost him home, his business or his plant? How is he going to get started again by going into bankruptcy?"

Anderson got a similar bitter response when he advised a Kodiak canner to borrow money to put his badly daamged plant into operation.

"Where would I obtain such a loan?" demanded Peter Deveau, mayor of Kodiak and manager of the cannery, the only one remaining there. "We were already in debt from expanding and modernizing our plant before the disaster wrecked us. Where and how would we get additional credit on top of this debt, unless we are helped by the government.

"But if the government will lend us $200,000, the cannery can be put into shape in time for the fishing season, and that will mean employment for at least 300 people now out of work. That would be a tremendous boon to Kodiak and Alaska's economy in general."

Dead silence followed Deveau's request.

This threatening political storm is bluntly summarized in a blistering letter Senator Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, has sent Sanator Anderson.

If the U.S. can spend billions aiding foreign countries not stricken by disaster, he told Anderson, why shouldn't a U.S. state in dire need get the same kind of treatment.

In fact, Gruening suggested, it might be a good idea to use some of the unspent foreign aid funds (estimated by him at $10 billion) for this purpose.

To dramatize this point, he stressed the tremendous losses suffered by Alaska's rehabilitate and develop their fishing industries.

"One of Alaska's greatest losses was to its canneries and fishing fleet," pointed out Gruening. "This is a major industry and vital to Alaska's total economy. Without its reconstruction there will be high economic losses and high unemployment. We've been more than generous in developing the fishing resources and industries of a multitude of countries."

"Nationalist China, $848,000 — its first grant in 1955 closely paralleled Mayor Deveau's request in amount, namely $204,000; Indonesia, headed by that charming Sukarno, who has just said: 'To hell with your aid,' $907,198; Cambodia, which like wise has told us to get the hell out, $159,000; Viet Nam, where we have recently, on Secretary McNamara's return, stepped up our military aid — already over $1 billion, by $50 million — nearly $2 million in fishery aid ($1908,000 to be exact).

"India, $1,128,620; Pakistan, $1,355,670 (apparently when two nations are at swords' point we've got to help them both, as further illustrated by warring Ethiopia and Somalia, both of which get fishery grants from us); also, Korea, to the tune of $5,351,000 to date; Laos, Liberia, Turkey, Tunisia, Ghana, Ivory Coast, Nigeria, Iceland, Spain, Yugoslavia, Chile, El Salvador, Peru and British Guiana.

"None of these countries has suffered damage to their fisheries as has Alaska. To me, the contrast is shocking; indeed, nauseating."

The letter makes very clear to Anderson that Alaskans are "extremely unhappy" about his attidue and apparent "niggling" plans.

On World Affairs

General Impatient

By EDGAR ANSEL MOWRER

WASHINGTON — What chiefly hurt General MacArthur was his inability to suffer fools gladly. He tended to class all who disagreed with him as fools. Unfortunately, he was as disdainful of the need for preserving a clear record of those military and political views which he was not allowed to realize as he was of President Truman, General Marshall, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Prime Minister Attlee of Britain and other minor characters.

Leaving behind his arguments over the Korean war and the Soviet danger orally to two newspaper correspondents and a Congressman, Bryan Dorn seems a poor way to secure maximum consideration for views. Some think these off - the - cuff remarks by the general were never made to be published.

Douglas MacArthur was an outstanding man in several fields. Most military experts, including Marshal Montgomery, have paid tribute to his generalship in the Pacific. After one original slip which allowed the Japanese to destroy his airplanes on the ground, he pushed ahead to a victory over Japan with relatively small means.

In Korea the inchon landing was a stroke of genius. True, he was then defeated by infiltrating Chinese who had accomplished what MacArthur had considered impossible. But Washington and London were preventing him from waging that war as he thought best, namely, with all out air - power. His military fame seems sure.

Yet in my judgment, what made him conspicuous among American military leaders in World War II was his understanding that war is a political act, not a sporting event. MacArthur understood international politics in a way Eisenhower and Marshall never did.

De Gaulle's Importance

This struck me when I first listened to him in Manila in October, 1941. He not only predicted that the Japs would at some point attack American forces but showed a remarkable understanding of the situation in Europe, I am happy to add, the importance of General Charles de Gaulle, something which F.D.R., Secretary Hull and Secretary Acheson could neither admit or ever pardon in that remarkable Frenchman.

MacArthur knew that a victorious Soviet Union could become a grave danger for the West. He also realized that a communist China could at some point become even more disturbing than a communist Russia.

Finally, he had grasped the wisdom of Machiavelli: in dealing with a powerful beaten enemy, one must make the peace either so harsh that he can never fight again or so generous that he can be reconciled to it. Truman did this in Germany after the Soviet blockade of Berlin. But he continued to the end to underestimate Asia.

That Japan is today an ally of the United States and not a troublesome neutral is due almost exclusively to MacArthur's remarkable political work as boss of the beaten Japanese. How many conquerors have attracted not merely the respect but the sincere admiration of the conquered? That is what MacArthur accomplished.

Checkmate Soviet

It was his political sense that caused him to propose, according to Congressman Dorn, a political plan to checkmate the Soviet Union. This was to threaten to rearm beaten Germany and Japan to the teeth unless Russia accepted the self - determination of East Europe. Here, rather than in the details of his plan to reunite Korea, lies a demonstration of MacArthur's uniqueness among American generals. For, believe me, in the late forties that plan, backed by an American monopoly of atomic weapons, would have worked, and without war.

Presumably it had no chances of acceptance. Washington still nourished the Roosevelt dream of reconciliation and cooperation with the Kremlin. MacArthur became insubordinate and defied not only the President but his superiors, the Joint Chiefs. He had to go.

But the fact that neither Truman nor Eisenhower ever revealed to the American people just what were MacArthur's plans seems to indicate how much they feared their revelation.

And instead of calmly dictating to some tried friend a sober memorandum to be published after his death, MacArthur let himself go colloquially to newsmen and confided his great plan confidentially to a Congressman. In so doing he lost his chance to compel his erstwhile opponents to defend themselves against his charges.

Britain Levies New Taxes To Curb Inflation Threat

By GODFREY ANDERSON

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Conservative government, only six months before facing the voters, slapped new taxes on liquor, tobacco and betting Tuesday in a budget designed to head off the threat of a runaway business room.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling, introducing his second budget in the packed House of Commons, warned that the balance of payments position—imports over exports—probably would worsen before the year is out.

"But," he added, "provided this is temporary, this should give rise neither to alarm nor dismay."

The increased duties on liquor and tobacco are the equivalent of 10 per cent. Maudling said they would help meet additional spending and curb inflation.

They mean an additional nearly five cents on 20 cigarets costing 56 cents or more; about three cents on the cheaper brands.

An Englishman's beer will cost him a penny more each pint. Three cents more will go on each bottle of light wine, seven cents on heavier wines. Whisky, brandy, gin, vodka and other spirits will all cost 12 cents more a bottle, pushing the price to well over $5.60.

As the chancellor announced the liquor tax, he paused to pull a whiskey flask from his hip pocket and drank some from a tumbler. Cheers and applause from both sides of the House went up, but one Laborite called out: "It will be 2 shillings, six pence a bottle more now."

Chancellers of the exchequer frequently take a fortifier along with them for their annual budget ordeal in Commons. Most take a mixture of rum and milk to soothe their voices, but aides said Maulding, 47, used straight whisky.

There were few other unpopular measures in Maudling's careful budget. He didn't touch the standard rate of personal income tax.

He said the time is not ripe for a general tax on betting, which is a multimillion-dollar business in Britain. But he did put a tax on fixed-odds betting in the popular football pools.

Next year's estimated outlay was $20,686,400,000 as compared with $19,401,200,000 last year. Biggest absolute increase in expenditure was $450,800,000 for defense, representing nearly 9 per cent.

Total government spending proposed for the financial year that began April 6 last would reach $23,550,800,000.

Maudling said he did not think it was necessary to increase taxation by more than $280 million. This was half what most of the nation's economists had predicted he would find.

Sir Winston Churchill, Britain's most famous living prime minister, watched his last budget from his usual seat. Now in his 90th year, he retires from Parliament this fall.

The chancellor had hardly sat down, when opposition Labor party leader Harold Wilson bounded to his feet to attack what he called this "tired and Tory" budget.

"Compared with last year," he taunted Maudling, "there seemed to be a rather long long period of padding in oratorical terms, a marked inflationary tendency—far too many words chasing far too few ideas."

Greer Wildlife Group Elects

MANGUM, Okla. (Special) — Wade Tyler Jr. has been re-elected president of the Greer County Wildlife Club at a meeting held Monday.

Other officers of the club are Ray Hogan, vice president; Harold Anderson, secretary; E. E. Powell, Lee Carpenter, Hulen Griffis and Benny Jackson, directors.

Tyler announced that anyone interested in obtaining a quail feeder should contact him.

Greer County Hunt Slated

MANGUM, Okla. (Special) — The spring meeting and camp of the Western Oklahoma Wolf Hunter's Assn. will be held Friday, April 17-19, at the Charlie Hood ranch 5 miles west of Willow in Greer County.

Approximately 2,000 hounds will be on the ground, with owners from several states to take part in the bench show to be held Friday. Entries for the show will start Friday at 4 a.m. with the show in progress at 8 a.m.

Hill Wells of Memphis is the bench show judge and ring master is Ben Dial of Albuquerque, N.M. At the conclusion of the judges' decision of the show, a bench show directors' meeting will be held.

At 6:30 Friday evening hounds will have a practice run, but no prizes will be given, and they will not be judged on the scratch run. Horseback riders will follow, through Saturday.

Hounds will be fed by five commercial feed companies. Awards will include trophies, ribbons and dog food.

A western band will entertain the crowds, who will camp on the ground, live in tents, trailers and truck beds.

Officers of the association are Rufus Prather, Delhi, president; Son Hunter, Lake View, Tex., vice president; Alvin Berry, Granite, secretary; and Alvin Robinson, Altus, assistant secretary.

New Rule Lions Club Is Chartered

Directors are Malcolm Hertenberger, O. G. Lewis, J. D. Kupatt, and W. G. Bishop.

About 140 persons attended. A. R. (Pete) Eaton was master of ceremonies.

The organization is about a month old, and has 36 members.

Houston Twirler Wins Sweepstakes

ARCHER CITY, Tex. (Special) —Diane Farrar of Houston was named grand champion and given the sweepstakes trophy in the first annual NBTA sanctioned twirling contest at the Archer City school gymnasium Saturday.

In the contest sponsored by the Band Boosters Club, Jerry Thornton of Fort Worth was high point champion.

Griff O'Neil of Arlington was contest chairman. Judges were Mrs. Pat White of Dallas and BeDon Cudney, Odessa.

Mrs. J. P. Horany is president of the Band Boosters Club and Larry Colvin is director of the Archer City bands.

Scouts Of 13-County Area Will Meet For Camporee

QUANAH, Tex. (Special) — Several hundred Boy Scouts from some 13 counties in North Texas will be here this weekend for the third annual Camporee sponsored by the Northwest Texas Boy Scout Council.

The three-day affair will be staged on the west side of Lake Pauline.

Rufus Karr will serve as camp arrangement chairman, with Lowell Slaton as chairman of the committee to recruit judges for the events. Rev. R. B. Fitzgerald will be in charge of Sunday morning church services.

The arrangements for the Saturday night campfire program will be directed by Vance Favor.

Field events will be from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday from 9 a.m. until noon. Protestant services will be held at 8 a.m. Sunday with St. Mary's Catholic Church here arranging transportation for Scouts wishing to attend Mass.

Highlight of the camporee will be the large campfire program Saturday night at 8 o'clock near the lake front. Parents of the boys and others interested in scouting will be invited to attend and witness scout Indian dances and pageantry.

Also on the program will be wildlife lore by a game warden, and local Indian lore about Quanah Parker and the Medicine Mounds. Scout songs will be directed by Mayor Sam Breedlove of Quanah.

Overall camporee chairman will be Ed Oglesby of Wichita Falls, council camping activities chairman.

Eagle Award Goes To Scout At Altus AFB

ALTUS, Okla. (Special)—Lonnie King II received the highest award in scouting, the Eagle Award, in a joint court of honor ceremony for Altus Air Force Base Boy Scout Troop 278 and Explorer Post 222 this week.

The Eagle award was presented by Lt. Col. Hugh E. Cronk, Altus AFB executive scouting officer, and was awarded in the presence of his parents, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Lonnie King.

Lonnie, member of the Order of the Arrow since he was tapped and passed his ordeal at Camp George Thomas, in July, 1962, joined scouting in England and became a Boy Scout when his parents were stationed in Salt Lake City, Utah. He has earned 35 merit badges, 15 more than required for the Eagle award honor. The extra badges will entitle him to palm awards for each six months.

Jeffery King and Gary Border became star scouts.

Keith Sleight was awarded merit badges for citizenship in home and wood working while Dennis Holmes received a badge for mechanical drawing.

Charles Nelson's badges were presented for wood working, public speaking and mechanical drawing while Gary Border and Mike Kyes each received a badge for personal fitness.

James and John Barkwill received a wood working merit badge and Steve Hooper received one for wood working as well as mechanical drawing.

Regional High School Band Competition Set At Vernon

VERNON, Tex. (Special) — Some 45 high school and junior high bands will come here Friday and Saturday for the annual Region 14 University of Texas Interscholastic League band competition.

The event, expected to draw some 1,200 parents and students Friday and 1,500 on Saturday, will be followed the next day by the national U.S. Highway 287 convention, for which Sen. John Tower will be main speaker.

It is said that the sight-reading and concert playing competition, normally staged at Midwestern University at Wichita Falls, will utilize the facilities of Wilbarger Memorial Auditorium and the high school music hall.

Dr. Joe Haddon of Midwestern University is co-ordinator. Jack Wilbanks of Bowie is band chairman of the region.

Judges will be J. W. King of Hale Center, Bill Dean of Odessa Permian and James Matthews of the University of Houston.

Iowa Park Senior Is Winner In Talent Search Contest

IOWA PARK, Tex. (Special)—Jerald Dykstra, Iowa Park senior, has been informed that he was named state winner in the science talent search sponsored by Westinghouse. The selection was based on the aptitude test he took, his project report and personal data record.

Jerald, son of Rev. and Mrs. Harold Dykstra, won first place in state in UIL Class AA science division in 1963.

It's Decision Night For NBA Western Crown

Charles Likes New Course

HOUSTON (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, with a good two-year Houston record behind him, was a strong favorite Wednesday over defending champion Bob Charles as 108 pros and 10 amateurs prepared for Thursday's opening round in the Houston Golf Classic.

Charles, the New Zealand lefthander, set a Classic record 269 while making his first Houston appearance a year ago, but rates behind Nicklaus.

Nicklaus has played here only twice but finished in a second-place tie in 1962 at 278 and took fourth last year with a 273.

The 7,223-yard, par 35-36—71 Sharpstown Country Club course is the tourney's new home after an 11-year stay at the shorter Memorial Municipal Park.

Charles said the Sharpstown greens were in excellent condition and the course should not be as tough as the tree-lined Memorial course.

"I was off the fairways a few times but the rough doesn't penalize you a great deal," Charles said. "And when you do go off line you don't have a bunch of trees blocking your line to the green as was the case at Memorial."

Old No. 70 Not Sure Of Playing Future

NEW YORK (AP)—Sam Huff, old No. 70 of the New York Giants, still has not made up his mind about playing football for the Washington Redskins.

"This is the biggest decision of my life," the 29-year-old linebacker said Wednesday, a week after being involved in the major National Football League trade. "There are a lot of problems. In the long run my future is in the business world.

"I am not going to be like all the others who say they are quitting and then start getting itchy about July 1 and retracting everything. I want to think it out first and be sure I am making the right decision."

"It was the first time I had met him," said Huff. "He seems to be a nice gentleman. He told me why he wants me. We had a long football talk but money was not discussed. I'll probably get together with him again next week."

Huff said he had received a number of letters and telephone calls since the deal was announced that sent him to Washington for defensive end Andy Stynchula and halfback Dick James.

"So many people have told me they are sorry to see me go," said Huff. "It makes you feel good. I have no animosity about the trade. That is the type of business football is. It hurts when it comes. You never really expect it to happen to you."

Huff is debating whether to give up football for a full-time career in business or play a few more years. He works for a textile firm.

Best Horses Are Kentucky Grown; Win More Money

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — When it comes to major thoroughbred stakes races, it's Kentuckians 2-to-1.

The Thoroughbred Breeders of Kentucky, which keeps track of such things, said Wednesday 17 of the 33 major stake races in the United States last month were won by horses foaled in Kentucky.

Races valued at $10,000 or more are classed as major races.

California had the next most winners with six and Virginia three. Florida and Argentina were represented in two winners' circles each and one winner each came from Kansas, Washington and Canada.

Kentucky-bred horses won 49 of 88 stake races in the first three months of the year, while California was next with 16, the group said.

Winner Will Face Boston Saturday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Deadlocked three games to three, the San Francisco Warriors and St. Louis Hawks battle Thursday night at the Cow Palace to decide which plays impatient Boston for the National Basketball Association title.

The Warriors have found the Cow Palace to their liking the past two times they've played there and romped 120-85 and 121-97 over the Hawks.

St. Louis returned home and whacked the Warriors 123-94 to again even the playoffs and the season's record between the two clubs. In the regular campaign, each team won six games from the other.

The Hawks presented a diversified attack with Richie Guerin, Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan providing outside shooting that the taller and more muscular Warriors have lacked.

Wilt Chamberlain scored 50 in his last Cow Palace outing. As goes the Big Dipper, so go the Warriors. He was checked Sunday by Hawk defenders and St. Louis roared into a big lead it held throughout.

St. Louis Coach Harry Gallatin has used the strategy of double and triple teaming Chamberlain and hoping the other Warriors don't hit from the outside.

Originally, the final Western playoff game was scheduled Tuesday night but the Cow Palace was promised to the San Francisco Seals that evening for their Western Hockey League playoff game against Los Angeles.

Rather than go into the University of San Francisco gym with its capacity of only slightly more than 5,000, the Warriors rescheduled the game for Thursday night at the Cow Palace where they drew 10,628 for playoff game No. 5.

Boston won its best-of-seven Eastern set from Cincinnati in five games and has had to wait nine days to resume action. The Celtics, fuming at the delay have practiced daily.

Winner of Thursday night's St. Louis-San Francisco fray will play at Boston on Saturday and Monday nights.

Sports Shorts

LONDON (AP) — Liverpool, closing in on the English soccer title, bought right winger John Connelly from the Burnley team Wednesday for $112,000. Liverpool needs only one tie in its remaining four games to clinch the English championship.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ricky Palmieri of Providence, R.I., has replaced Candy Parilla to fight Johnny Bizzarro, American junior lightweight champion, for the title here Friday night.

Parilla hurt his leg training for the 10-round preliminary to the Joey Giardello-Rocky Rivero non-title middleweight fight.

LONDON (AP) — Donald Campbell left London Wednesday for Australia where he will make another bid for the world land speed record.

Campbell had to abandon his attempt last year because of floods in an area which had previously had little or no rain for nearly a century.

Campbell plans to make his attempt next month on the barren Lake Eyre salt flats, far out in the outback of Southern Australia. He will begin practice runs in two weeks.

RIDGEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Jacob Vander Meer, 79, father of baseball pitcher John Vander Meer of double no-hit fame, died here Tuesday. He was 79.

His son pitched consecutive no hit games as a member of the Cincinnati Reds in 1938, the only pitcher in major league history to turn in two in a row. John is retired now and lives in Tampa, Fla.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Braulio Baeza, scheduled to ride Paul Mellon's Quadrangle in the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct Saturday, is under a court order to ride for no owner but Fred W. Hooper.

Hooper obtained an injunction against the Panamanian jockey, charging that he had ducked out of a contract to ride April 4 at Lexington, Ky.

Attorney B. W. Turner, representing Hooper, said the injunction will stand until a final hearing, which has not yet been scheduled by Circuit Judge Ray Pearson.

OMAHA (AP) — Edward E. (Blue) Howell, University of Nebraska football star of the 1920s, died Wednesday of a heart attack. He was 59.

Howell was a fullback for Nebraska, then after graduation in 1928 was coach at Pittsburg, Kan. State for nine years. He later was an assistant coach at Louisiana State and Yale.

Since World War II, Howell had been in the insurance business

BOSTON (AP)—Dates were announced Wednesday for the National Basketball Association playoff finals between the defending champion Boston Celtics and the eventual winner of the Western Division finals between St. Louis and San Francisco.

If San Francisco wins the Western title, the best-of-seven series for the NBA crown would open in Boston Saturday night, with the second game here Monday. There would be games in San Francisco April 22 and 24. If necessary, other games would be in Boston April 26 and May 1 and in San Francisco April 28.

If St. Louis wins in the West, the first two games would be in Boston Saturday and Monday and the next two in St. Louis April 24 and 26. Other games, as necessary, would be April 28 and May 4 in Boston and May 1 in St. Louis.

Atlanta Begins Work On Baseball Stadium

ATLANTA (AP) — Construction started Wednesday on an $18 million stadium which is expected to bring major league baseball to Atlanta in 1965.

Gov. Carl Sanders Jr. joined local officials in a ground breaking ceremony at an urban renewal site south of the capitol.

Earlier officials said that a major league team has agreed to a long-term lease of the 50,000-seat stadium, but the team can not be identified until the end of this season.

An Old Story: Huskies Win Again

Raiders, Pack Slate Spring Training Dates

The Wichita Falls Coyotes and the S. H. Rider High School Raiders have slated dates for their spring football drills, coaches Hunter Kirkpatrick of Wichita Falls High School and Joe Bob Tyler of Rider announced.

Rider will open football drills Saturday on its practice field and the Coyotes will wait until Monday to begin work at Coyote Stadium and practice field.

Both high schools are now members in District 4-AAAA. For Rider, it is the first spring drills. Classes B, A, AA, and AAA are not allowed spring work under University Interscholastic Rules.

Under the same rules both schools are allowed 21 calendar days of work and of those 21, coaches Kirkpatrick and Tyler will probably only be able to drill on about 17 or 18 days.

Kirkpatrick said he expected about 43 players to partcipiate in the drills and a like number is expected at Rider.

Both Wichita Falls High School and Rider High School will hold intra - squad games toward the end of spring training.

The official dates will be announced by coaches at a later date.

Royal Sez 'Horns Will Be Average

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) —University of Texas football coach Darrell Royal said Wednesday he can't see "Texas doing any better than an average ball team" on the gridiron this fall.

"I was extremely disappointed in spring practice," he said in Wichita Falls en route to a family reunion in Tipton, Okla. "It was not up to par."

Royal said the gaps that were left in the Longhorns' interior line by graduation will be hard to fill.

Asked about the Texas' success in recruiting, Royal said "recruiting was fine but we were far from dominating recruiting."

The Texas coach, when asked about reports that the university had given more athletic scholarships than they would be able to utilize in football, said "We filled our quota."

Coyotes Netters Take Win Over NTU Frosh

The Wichita Falls Coyotes tennis team downed North Texas freshmen three matches to two here Wednesday afternoon.

Paul Snodgrass, NTU, def. Dick Ewing, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4; Murphy Yates, WF, def. Bruce Gaines, 6-3, 6-4; Jerry Steed, WF, def. Harmon Caldwell, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3; Pat Aston-Yates, WF, def. Snodgrass-Gaines, 6-0, 7-5; Caldwell-Halton, NTU, def. Ray Byrd-Steed, 6-4, 6-2.

Beat Burk 8-5 To Open Season On Happy Note

By TED LEACH

Hirschi's winning tradition carried over into baseball here Wednesday afternoon and the Huskies mauled class AAA Burkburnett, 8-5, in their season opener.

It was the first baseball game in history for the school, which won a football title in its first season of competition and shared a co - championship in basketball.

The Huskies rapped the Bulldogs and ace lefthander Johnny Koller in solid fashion, collecting 12 hits, an even half of them for extra bases. They tagged Koller early and late, scoring four runs in the first and four in the fifth and sixth stanzas to wrap it up. Burk never led.

Billy Tanner toiled on the mound for four innings before yielding a pair of runs in the fifth to break up a shutout. He was tagged for another in the sixth and had runners at second and third with only one out when relief hurler Kenny Reynolds got the call from the bullpen. He got the sides out on an infield fly and a strikeout, was tagged for two runs in the seventh but still finished well ahead.

It didn't take Hirschi long to take command of the contest. Leadoff batter David Wagner doubled to center and scored on a triple by David Brasier before an out was registered. With two away, David Barker singled home run No. 2. Danny Daughtery walked and Tanner tripled. The rally might not have ended there but Tanner tried for the plate and was cut down on a perfect relay throw.

Burkburnett got two unearned runs in the fifth on a pair of errors, two passed balls, a wild pitch and a stolen base, but the Huskies picked up three in the home half of the stanza to actually ice down the victory.

Chuck Berry got the Huskies rolling in the fifth with a double and after two were out scored on a two - bagger by Fred Berry. A triple by Pete Padron and a single by David Barker wrapped it up at 7-2, although Burk scored once in the sixth and two in the last stanza.

With one out Phil Day singled in the sixth and Wally Robinson drew a walk. Pinch hitter Richard Hammer singled and Reynolds was called from the bullpen. He snuffed out the fire at this stage, but a walk, a double by Jerry Bingham and singles by Montgomery and Day in the seventh produced two Bulldog runs before Mike Musick was retired at first, ending the contest.

Hirschi's last run was in the sixth. Reynolds singled with two out and Wagner and Brasier delivered base blows behind him to account for run No. 8. It was more than enough.

The Huskies were paced at the plate by Wagner, Brasier, Fred Berry, and David Barker — all with two hits. Bingham and Day paced the losers, who are 1-1 for the season after a 4-0 victory over Lawton, Okla., in their season opener Tuesday.

Skowron Sparks Senators Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill Skowron's first home run in a Washington uniform touched off a six-run second inning Wednesday night and led the Senators to a 6-4 victory over the Los Angeles Angeles.

After Skowron's homer over the fence in right, the opposite field for him, Barry Latman loaded the bases on two hit batsmen and a walk. John Kennedy flied to short left, but Bennie Daniels beat out a high hopper, scoring one run.

Horton Proposes Bill To Clarify Pro Sports Antitrust Exemptions

WASHINGTON (AP)— A bill to spell out antitrust exemptions for professional team sports was introduced Wednesday by Rep. Frank Horton, R-N.Y., former president of the Rochester Red Wings of the International Baseball League.

The measure would affect such practices as player drafts, reserve clauses and territorial franchises.

Horton introduced the bill in response to Supreme Court decisions which he said urged Congress to clarify the relationship of professional team sports with the antitrust laws.

In subsequent decisions, the court affirmed a 1922 ruling that baseball was exempt from antitrust action, Horton said.

But he said the court has ruled that other organized sports, including football, baseball and hockey must abide by antitrust restrictions.

His bill is almost identical to one which passed the House in 1958 but died in the Senate.

In urging approval of the measure, Horton said competition—not monopoly—is the best assurance of high profits for both team owners and players.

"Sports are unique in this capacity," he added. "Here the owner of one team does not wish to destroy the financial stability and the competitive capability of opposing teams. If professional sports are to continue to flourish for the public's enjoyment, they must be allowed to insure that competition is preserved."

Pirates Rally For 5-4 Win

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Bill Virdon drove in the tying run in the ninth inning, then walked with the bases loaded in the 12th inning, forcing in the winning run as the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Chicago Cubs 5-4 Wednesday night.

Don Elston had cone on to pitch for the Cubs in the 12th and immediately was touched for a single by Bob Bailey. Bailey moved to second on a sacrifice and took third on a wild pitch.

Elston then issued two intentional walks, filling the bases. He got Dick Schofield to pop up but then issued a walk to Virdon that ended it.

The Pirates had tied the game in the last of the ninth, striking for three runs and overcoming a 4-1 Chicago lead built on Ernie Banks' three-run homer in the seventh.

Longhorn Tracksters Become Double Leader

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Texas became a double leader in the relays and Randy Matson, the Texas A&M freshman, established a tremendous mark in the shot put—63 feet 4½ inches—in the newest developments of track and field in Texas.

The top marks compiled by the Abilene Christian College Information service showed James McLatchie of Lamar Tech, Ray Hilburn of Texas Western and Bill Miller of McMurry to be individual double winners and Texas and Southern Methodist to lead two relays each.

Texas did the two-mile relay in 7:25.3 an dthe distance medley in 9:47.0 to take over the lead in those two events.

Matson's big throw in the shot came last week in a triangular meet at Abilene. He is almost three feet better than Danny Roberts of Texas A&M, who leads the varsity performers.

McLatchie leads the mile with 4:09.5 and the two-mile with 8:58.2. Miller tops the broad jumpers with 25 feet 6 inches and the triple jump with 47 feet 8 inches.

Hilburn leads the 330-yard hurdles with 37.2 and the 440-yard hurdles with 51.9. Steve Sansom of Texas and Bobby May of Rice are tied for the best time in the high hurdles, each with 14.3.

R. L. Lasater of East Texas State is the 100-yard dash leader with 9.4 and Mike Spratt of Houston tops the 220-yard dashmen around a curve with 21.2. Spratt also has run 100 meters in 10.5. No other Texas track man has been in this race.

Ollan Cassell, former Houston star, tops the quarter-milers with 46.6 and George Hunt of Texas Southern leads the half-milers with 1:51.9.

Curtis Crum and John Hartfield of Texas Southern lead the high jumpers with 6 feet 8 inches and Billy Pemelton of Abilene Christian tops the pole vaulters with 15 feet 7½ inches.

Ed Red of Rice leads the javelin throwers with 241 feet 2½ inches and Jim Lancaster of Baylor is ahead in the discus throw with 181 feet 1½ inches.

Southern Methodist leads the 440-yard relay with 40.8 and the 880-yard relay with 1:24.8 while Texas Southern tops the mile relay with 3:10.0.

TROPHY FOR TOURNAMENT—Mrs. Harry Campsey presents a trophy to Rider's tennis captains for the upcoming tennis meet this weekend. Rider Tennis Meet Unfolds This Weekend

The third annual S. H. Rider Tennis Tourney unfolds Friday with Wichita Falls High School rated as the top seeded team in the tourney.

The Coyotes, twice winner of the Rider Tourney, will send an entire team to the tournament which is geared this season almost entirely for regional winners.

Daisy Sligar, Rider tennis coach, said a top entry field was expected but most of the schools were sending only district winners who had qualified for regional play.

Rider's biggest threat in the tourney is Angie Lee and Pat Turnbo in class A girls' doubles and Kathy Blanton in B girl's singles. Pat Maloy and Gary Childs of Rider won at Abilene recently and are expected to be one of the teams to beat in Boy's B doubles.

Mrs. Sligar said that the entries from the Coyotes and Lawton were the top seeded teams.

The Coyotes swept District 4-AAAA last weekend and will send an entire team to the Rider Tourney to take a definite advantage if by numbers only.

500 List Grows To Fifty-Seven

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The entry list for the Memorial Day 500-mile race increased to 57 Wednesday as the midnight deadline for entries approached.

The five new entries were expected to be increased by mailed forms postmarked before the deadline. All five entrants already were represented by other cars for time trials the two weekends before the May 30 race.

The new entries, all submitted without drivers being named, came from the Lotus-Ford team, Gilbert Morcroft of Pittsburgh, George Walther Jr. of Dayton, Ohio, D. V. S. Inc. of Indianapolis and Dan Levine Federal Automotive Associates in Detroit.

BUS'ling Around
with OKLAHOMA TRANSPORTATION COMPANY

Here's a true story about something that happened in Texas which shows the matter-of-factness of the younger set, or maybe what the lack of a commercial in a movie will do.

A movie theater was showing a rerun of the old Bob Hope-Bing Crosby classic, "The Road to Utopia." The movie is a great one, containing the usual scene-stealing, clowning and lousing up of each other's scenes that characterized the Hope-Crosby series. But it must be all lost on the current generation. At one point in the film, Crosby is doing a romantic moonlight scene with Dorothy Lamour when Hope thrusts his head into view and hisses, "Now is the time to get your popcorn, kids."

The line was supposed to get a big laugh. Instead, 600 children got up and filed out into the lobby to the popcorn machine!

The last time we took a trip on an OTC bus we overheard this conversation—

"Why does a man hate his mother-in-law?"

"He doesn't hate her, he's simply burned up because of the way she got into the family."

• • •

Have you got a package or a lot of packages that have to get some place on time—that is you have a strictly schedule to keep. The best way to get your shipments from one place to another—and at exactly the time they supposed to get there, is to send them by OTC. Oklahoma Transportation Company package express is the best way to send.

• • •

It's safer, costs less, and there's no fuss or muss... So take that next trip on an air conditioned BUS

• • •

Here's the one for this month:

A contestant flushed with his success on a quiz show, said to another contestant: "I'll give you $64 for every question of yours I fail to answer if you will give me $48 for every question of mine that stumps you." These terms were agreed upon, and the first man asked his first question. Then, when each had asked three questions, they settled their score and found that they had both come out even. Can you tell how they managed this?

After you've figured out the answer send it to this paper. First one in wins $1 from OTC.

• • •

Have you made your plans with your favorite club, social group, or just a bunch of your special friends to go to the New York World's Fair yet? You better hurry. Oklahoma Transportation is planning tours to the Fair in June, July and August. What could be more fun than these trips of from 13 to 16 days in the most exciting city in the world — with the World's Fair thrown in as an all important extra? The tours will cost from $249 to $289 and up. This nominal ticket price includes transportation, sightseeing and lodging. It also includes an air conditioned, comfortable OTC bus with your own private driver. And the price includes applicable taxes and baggage handling fees.

Where else could you get such a wonderful vacation trip for such an economical price? So why not call up the gang and then call your OTC agent and make arrangements for a tour you'll never forget.

Red Wings Relaxing Before Third Game

DETROIT (AP) — Coach Sid Abel of the Detroit Red Wings lost $18 at the races Monday, but he figures the loss put him in real good position in the tussle with the Toronto Maple Leafs for the Stanley Cup.

The teams, even at a game apiece in the best-of-seven series, will meet in the third game Thursday.

The side trip which Abel and his wings took to the Fort Erie race track Monday was part of his strategy of relaxing the team for the National Hockey League's playoff finale.

Detroit had no practice session Sunday or Monday in advance of the Tuesday night game at Toronto which the Wings won 4-3 in overtime.

Coach Punch Imlach's Toronto club, on the other hand, had practice sessions every day. In fact, after Tuesday's loss, the Leafs held a noon workout at Maple Leaf Garden Wednesday before taking a train to Detroit for game No. 4.

Imlach's players say they have no quarrel with his strategy of practice every day. "After all, this is the third Stanley Cup final in a row for us and that sort of prove Punch's strategy is good," said one of the Leafs.

Detroit, which outskated and outshot the Leafs Tuesday night, is not so convinced of the soundness of the Imlach strategy. But the Wings hope he does not change it—at least until the Stanley Cup series of 1964 is finished.

"That Punch Imlach is nuts," said Red Wing defenseman Bill Gadsby. "Those old guys like George Armstrong, Red Kelly and Allan Stanley can't take it—this business of working out every day. It's killing them."

"I went into Tuesday's overtime feeling good and I looked at guys like Stanley and knew they were bushed," Gadsby added. "We had been sitting around for two days resting and we had it. Yessir, you know something, we are going to take that Toronto club."

Rodgers Plans To Defend Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Phil Rodgers, the pudgy former University of Houston golf star, plans to defend the Texas Open championship he captured last year with a sizzling 16-under-par 268.

Also back for the April 23-26 tournament will be last year's runnerup, Johnny Pott.

So far the Open, which is $10,000 richer this year, has attracted only four of the top 20 money winners from the 1963 list. They are Mason Rudolph, Bobby Nichols, Tommy Aaron and Gardner Dickinson Jr.

The deadline for entering is Friday afternoon.

Tournament officials earlier this year announced they had increased the prize purse from $30,000 to $40,000 in hopes of attracting more big name golfers.

However, Arnold Palmer, a three-time Texas Open champion, ruled out any intention of playing here after he scored a decisive victory at the Masters Tournament in Augusta, Ga., last Sunday.

Officials said Wednesday they also had not received commitments from the two other members of the big three, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player.

Player was sidelined this week because of minor surgery and participation will probably hinge on his recovery.

Others who have entered are Juan (Chi-Chi) Rodriguez, Kel Nagel, Doug Ford, Chandler Harper, Jackie Burke Jr. and Jimmy Demaret.

Duke Sale Angers LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers are somewhat less than delighted with the New York Mets' sale of Duke Snider to San Francisco.

When the Dodgers parted with the veteran outfielder for $40,000 last year they figured they were doing the last-place Mets a favor.

Buzzy Bavasi, general manager of the Dodgers, said Wednesday that the Mets "called me three or four times. They cried that they needed Snider for a gate attraction. They also said the deal would help the league and help their club.

"So what happens? They turn around and sell the guy to the Giants without even the courtesy of a phone call to me, asking if we want to buy him back."

Would the Dodger have bought him?

"Before letting him go to the Giants? Yes."

Bavasi added:

"Truthfully, I don't feel that Snider's going to the Giants will change the complexion of the race, but I'm a little burned up in principle."

Wrestling

Bolo, Clancy Try For Title Tonight

Legals mayhem unfolds at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at the 4-H Arena, Hampstead Lane, as the Southwestern Tag Team Wrestling Championship goes up for grabs once again as champions, Karol Krauser and Stanislow Pulaski of Poland, defend against Irish Mike Clancy and Great Bolo.

This ordered return bout, under National Wrestling Alliance rules, will be two of three falls with a 90 minute time limit.

Last week, Krauser and Pulaski had actually won over Bolo and Clancy but were disqualified by referee Tommy Peterson.

A championship cannot be lost by disqualification, but the champion's $750 trophy disappeared from their dressing room only to later reappear in the hands of Bolo and Clancy as they motored out of town.

This upset the two bearded champions and they have vowed revenge.

Pulaski will meet Bolo in the one fall, 15 minute curtain raiser as both are tag team captains and Pulaski warned matchmaker Bob Clay and the sponsor, American Legion Post 169, to have a replacement ready for Bolo as he would be unable to appear in the title match.

Bolo's only comment to this was a loud outburst of laughter.

This bout also promises plenty of action.

Tickets for the Thursday wrestling program are on sale at the cigar booth of the Kemp Hotel or may be obtained at the arena from 6:15 p.m. until the championship battle.

Princeton Coach Dies

DURHAM, N.H. (AP) — A. Barr Snively, long-time coach and former Princeton football star, died of a heart attack Wednesday. He was 65.

Snively was LaCrosse coach and football line coach at the University of New Hampshire here since 1953 and had been hockey coach the past two years.

Snively, a lineman at Princeton and team captain in 1923, was on the football staffs at Brown, Williams, Clarkson and Maine before coming to New Hampshire.

Joe Wilson Thrills Speedrome Fans

Three Ashlock brothers, Larry, Jackie and Darrell, accounted for 40 of the 100 points Saturday at Red River Speedrome on Farm Road 369, but it was Joe Wilson, who posted only six points, that provided the thrill of the week in stock car racing.

Wilson won the 20-lap oval track feature and made the last four laps after his left front wheel had been knocked off. Noisy grandstands alternately cheered and held their breaths while he gunned his speedster around the track with sparks streaking from the hub, and no car gained on him during the final four laps. As he crossed the finish line, the checkered flag was a signal for a resounding cheer for his feet.

Larry Ashlock tucked away the big figure-eight feature, followed by his brother, Jackie. While Darrell Ashlock did not appear in the top 10 drivers this week, he posted six points as he made points as he placed in the third heat, the second semi-final and then oval track feature. Larry posted 18 points for the week and Jackie posted 16 points.

Harold Bennett, who posted eight points this week, held his lead with 22 points to be the high point man, while Burl Pacem picked up 12 points to be second with 21 points.

Others in the top 10 were in the following order: Joe Wilson 19; Larry Ashlock 19; Jackie Ashlock 16; Cletus Sosebee 15; Cletus Sosebee 14; Orville McWhorter 12; G. T. Quick, 9 and Bill Bennett 9.

The Saturday night races at Red River Speedrome begin warm-ups at 7:15 with all cars checked in by 7:30 p.m. and races beginning promptly at 8 p.m. More than 35 fast stock cars are scheduled for the Saturday night races with more than 100 laps of racing in eight events.

Averages Edge Record Highs While Some Fall

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market averages edged to record highs Wednesday while once again more stocks fell than rose on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was fairly active.

The cigaret stocks continued to rise, aided by statements at annual shareholders' meetings which underlined the recovery in cigaret sales following the sharp drop-off after the Government health report.

Profits were taken once again in some of the big gainers among the airlines. One analyst commented that the group "had gone too far, too fast."

Rails softened late in the day in disappointment that President Johnson seemed to have no definite progress to report in the negotiations aimed at averting a nationwide rail strike April 25.

The market also was subject to some last-minute selling due to the income tax deadline.

The Wall Street backdrop, however, included news that industrial production had set a record in March for the sixth straight month and that the employment picture had improved. Corporate news included an array of increased dividends and profits.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .5 to 305.2, making a record for the second straight day. Industrials rose 1.5 to a record, rails slipped .7 and utilities gained .3.

AUSTIN POULTRY

AUSTIN (AP)—Poultry: South Texas steady. East Texas slightly stronger, supplies ample, good demand. Slaughter 384,000. 13.25-14.60.

Heavy Selling Lowers Grain

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavy selling drove May wheat sharply lower at times in futures transactions on the Board of Trade.

In the early afternoon, the delivery was down about five cents a bushel with profit cashing showing no sign of a letup. The new crop months worked slightly higher on scattered speculative buying.

The Exchange authorized trading in strictly new crop wheat, effective now, because of the revised grading standards which the Department of Agriculture is imposing June 1. However, trade in those contracts was light.

Wheat was ¼ to 5¼ cents a bushel lower at the close. May $2.02¾-03; soybeans unchanged to ½ lower, May $2.58-58⅛; corn ¼ to ⅝ higher, May $1.23¼-⅜; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, May 64

4—PLANS AND BIDS

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals, addressed to Mr. L. Jack Davis, City Manager of the City of Wichita Falls, Texas, for the construction of the "WIDENING AND PAVING OF MAURINE STREET FROM NORTH BEVERLY DRIVE TO RED RIVER EXPRESSWAY SERVICE ROAD INCLUDING THE NECESSARY DRAINAGE FACILITIES" in accordance with the plans and specifications prepared by the Engineering Division of the Public Works Department, will be received at the office of the City Clerk in the Municipal Auditorium until 2:00 P.M., Monday, April 27, 1964, and then publicly opened and read aloud.

Plans and specifications may be secured at the office of the City Engineer, Room 206, Municipal Auditorium, Wichita Falls, Texas.

A deposit of Five Dollars ($5.00) is required for each set of plans and specifications which amount will be refunded upon return of said documents by the firm to whom issued in good condition not later than thirty (30) days from the date of receipt of bids.

A cashier's check or an acceptable bid bond payable to the City of Wichita Falls, Texas, in an amount of not less than five (5) per cent of the largest possible total for the bid submitted, must accompany the bid.

A performance bond and payment bond, each for one hundred (100) per cent of the contract price will be required from the successful bidder. An approved maintenance bond in an amount of not less than twenty (20) per cent of the contract price and covering a period of two years will be required.

Not less than the prevailing wage rate as established by the City of Wichita Falls, Texas, as set forth in the contract documents, must be paid on this project.

A current certified financial statement must be filed with the Public Works Director at least one week prior to the hour for opening bids. This statement must be prepared by an independent Certified Public Accountant or Independent Public Accountant holding a valid permit issued by an appropriate State Licensing Agency.

Proposals submitted by any prospective bidder who has not fulfilled the above requirements may be returned unopened.

Prospective bidders whose qualifications are not deemed to be such as to warrant further consideration may be so advised before the date of the bid opening and any proposal submitted by them may be returned unopened.

In case of ambiguity or lack of clearness in stating prices in the Proposal, the City reserves the right to adopt the most advantageous construction thereof to the City or to reject the proposal.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids and waive any or all informalities. No bid may be withdrawn until the expiration of forty-five (45) days from the date bids are opened.

Aggie Muster Set In Haskell

HASKELL, Tex. (Special) — Former students of Texas A&M who live in Haskell, Jones, Stonewall, Kent, and Knox counties will gather at Rice Springs Corral on the rodeo grounds here next Tuesday at 7 p.m. to carry on a tradition that is 61 years old. They will attend the sixty-first Aggie Muster.

The 1964 five - county muster in Haskell will be one of more than 500 similar ceremonies held all over the world when Texas A&M former students pay homage to their fellow classmates who have passed on, and humble tribute to the Texans who won the freedom of the state at the Battle of San Jacinto near Houston some 128 years ago.

J. C. Yearly Jr. of Haskell, area soil conservation supervisor, who is chairman of Aggie Muster here, urges all A&M former students to attend next Tuesday's Muster program. Others to appear on the program are Wallace Cox Jr., and R. C. Couch Jr., of Haskell, and Joe B. Cloud, of Rule. Haskell also is the home of one of the best known Aggies of them all, Jarrin' John Kimbrough, also expected to be on hand.

The San Jacinto Day Muster is one of the longest continuing traditions to be found in American colleges and universities, and thousands of A&M men participate in the program of tribute each year.

REPORTS 'NO SETTLEMENT YET'—Washington—President Johnson announced Wednesday that "there is no settlement yet" in the railroad labor dispute which he is trying to help solve to avoid a nationwide strike. Left to right: Assistant Secretary of Labor James Reynolds; Secretary of Labor, W. Willard Wirtz; Johnson; Francis J. O'Neill, mediation board chairman; and special mediators George Taylor of Philadelphia and Theodore Kheel of New York. (AP Wirephoto)

The American Automobile Association was founded in 1902.

BLOODMOBILE DUE CHILLICOTHE VISIT

Chillicothe will host the Red River Regional Bloodmobile for the third time Thursday in the Lions Club Building from noon to 6 p.m.

On both of the previous visits the Bloodmobile has collected 35 pints of blood each time and Chillicothe leaders in the program are hoping for 50 pints during the Thursday visit.

Recruitment for the visit is being handled by the Bluebonnet Club and churches and other civic organizations. Mrs. Tommie Duffie is in charge of recruitment and S. M. Anderson is the blood program chairman.

Friday the Bloodmobile will be in Henrietta between noon and 6 p.m. where the collection center will be in the First Methodist Church.

By HAZEL KOHL

J. E. Friberg, a former Wichitan now residing in Alaska, following the March 27 earthquake wrote a family letter to relatives, a copy of which arrived in Wichita Falls Thursday.

He related that he was standing by the side of his car when the first tremor struck and thought nothing of it since the state has occasional tremors and most persons pay little attention to them.

"However, in just a matter of about a minute it became so intense that the attendants and other people including myself at the station were thrown to the pavement and when we tried to get up were thrown again. While I was lying on the pavement I could see the roof of the service station cave in and could see the Westward Hotel, which is about 10 stories, swaying back and forth. I could also see the five story J. C. Penney Building swaying back and forth and then it began to crumble.

Car Swinging

"My car swung from side to side where each side touched the pavement. This lasted about four to five minutes according to reports, but it seemed endless because I couldn't remain on my feet and neither could anyone else at the station. You could hear noises which apparently were buildings toppling. It was snowing at the time but not heavily and this added to the eerie appearance of everything. When it finally stopped I just left the car and started walking in a sort of daze I guess and walked several blocks before I realized where I was. That sounds crazy I know but that's the way it happened. When I finally got oriented and headed back towards the station I could begin to see the damage. On Fourth Avenue for three solid blocks all the buildings and stores on the north side of the street had vanished from sight.

"To the west some tall apartment buildings were crumbling and setting at crazy angles. The downtown tennis courts had vanished from sight and great crevices and fissures were everywhere. Fortunately most of the people in the downtown offices get off at 5 p.m.

"I walked over to our building which is a relatively new stone and aluminum two-story building. It was split right down the center lengthwise. I could see my office window on the second floor with the venetian blind hanging out the window. I could see the stone scattered all over the sidewalks and into the street but I could not get either the front or back doors of our building open. The plate glass window on the first floor . . . were shattered and I looked inside to see plaster and plumbing and heating fixtures hanging in various places and all of the office equipment — filing cabinets, typewriters, etc. — thrown through the inner partitions dividing private offices. I was afraid to go inside. I finally retrieved my car and after a while the police and volunteer Civil Defense people were directing traffic to streets which were passable. It took quite a while to get home."

The next portion of the letter related to damage in Friberg's home and the general conditions following the 'quake.

"Along Turnagin-by-the-Sea, which is a swanky residential section on the bluffs overlooking Cook Inlet some 150 homes disappeared into crevices and chasms. Some of these homes were in the $100,000 price class.

". . . I glanced in the windows at the food shop which is a large one story building on a corner about two blocks from our office. You have never seen such a mess. Everything was piled up on the floors but the people or most of them had gotten out when the first tremors started and only a few I think were injured. Several women in parked cars at the curb in front of the J.C. Penney Store had large slabs of concrete toppled on them and the cars were pancaked with the women inside. Some of the cars had signal lights flashing on and off under the concrete slabs and it was a horrible sight. On Fifth Avenue where some of the better shops are located the store fronts had disappeared and clothes etc., some of them on dummy models were lying in the street. And it kept snowing all the time. . . . Now you can't get within several blocks of the downtown area as it is patrolled by the armed sentries from Ft. Richardson and is under martial law as is the Turnagin area.

"The tidal wave did not affect the Anchorage area to any great extent as it did other parts of Alaska. . . . The airport is also a total loss . . . As yet we have no newspapers since there is no power, gas or anything in the main part of the city. . . . Everyone is taking typhoid shots and they have been serving hot meals from field kitchens which were set up by the army and defense people."

Communities Name Officers For 1964

Presidents of the organized communities participating in the 1964 Bridwell Soil Builders Awards program were announced and will serve during the year's activities.

Each participating community elects its own set of officers and this year there are 11 organizations taking part in the competition; four in Wichita County, two in Archer County and Clay County entries total five.

Wichita County — Sam Spencer, Friberg — Cooper; Claude Adams, Clara-Fairview; George Streit, Punkin Center; and F. S. Clements, Wichita Valley Farm.

This year the program was enlarged to allow farmers not belonging to an organized community the right to participate in the competition. Entry cards for the program may be obtained from any professional agriculture worker or by writing to the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, Box 1860, Wichita Falls, Tex.

J. S. Bridwell and the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce co-sponsores the program each year.

Indonesia To Receive Nine Russian Ships

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)— The Indonesian navy will receive nine warships Thursday from the Soviet Union at the naval base in Surabaya, East Java, the official Antara news agency reported Tuesday.

More Storm Travel Tales Are Reported

News travels fast and the news of the killer tornado in Wichita Falls April 3 went fast and far as reports continue to filter into Times Square concerning inquiries from all over the United States and the world.

In previous editions of the newspaper it has been established that the story and pictures were carried in Rome, Italy and England as well as most points in the United States.

Well, two more foreign countries were added to the list, when Manning Stires called in to say he had inquiries from relatives in Puerto Rico and Canada.

Luckily the Stires family escaped injury or damage in the twister, which took the lives of seven and demolished nearly 300 homes in the city.

HER PARTY WAS A SMASHING HIT—Riverhead, N.Y.—Fernanda Wanamaker Wetherill, great-great-granddaughter of the department store founder, John Wanamaker, arrives at court in Riverhead, Long Island, to tell her story about her coming out party last Aug. 31-Sept. 1 which ended in the wrecking of a rented 30-room ocean-front mansion. Others in cast of the courtroom show at which the defendants were finally narrowed down to four young socialite men, were Donald Leas, right, Fernanda's stepfather, who testified he provided 384 bottles of champagne and whiskey for the 400-500 guests, and Eaton Brooks, 21, left. Brooks, according to Fernanda, swung from a mantelpiece onto a chandelier in the mansion and brought it down with a crash. (AP Wirephoto)

Emerald Mining Hampered By Bandits In Colombia

By JOSEPH NOVITSKI

Others squat in corridors outside guarded offices in buildings near the coffee houses. They wear black felt hats and poncholike "ruanas," the uniform of the Andean mountainmen.

It is more than five centuries since the Chibcha Indians began exporting the "green fire" of Colombian emeralds to their Inca and Aztec neighbors.

Foremost Producer

Colombia is the world's foremost producer of the green stones. The government is supposed to control all exports. Since 1946 it has owned all but one of the mountain mines, channeling sales through the nation's central bank.

Thefts at the mines and highway holdups during delivery dampen government enthusiasm. Emerald mining operations, said the Bank of the Republic in a report, are "very uncertain of economic success."

Willis F. Bronkie, an American mining engineer who has administered Colombia's only privately owned mine for five years, was shot in the back two years ago. He survived to bring the Chivor mine almost clear of a receivership dating to 1951.

632-Carat Stone

Chivor produced the "Patricia" emerald, a 632-carat beauty now at the American Museum of Natural History in New York. The mine also gave up a 13-carat stone which sold for $10,000 per carat in the United States.

"It had to be someone with a grudge about the mine," says Bronkie of the shooting. "I don't have any other enemies."

Chivor is only 100 miles from Bogota over the central spine of the Andes but is more than eight hours away by car and horseback. It was the first mine to be worked by the Chibchas.

Spanish Conquistadores took over emerald production after they arrived in the 16th century, and discovered other mines in the area. In 1675 King Charles II of Spain closed Chivor because of inhumane treatment of Indian slaves at the mine. Legend has it that the Indians were locked in tunnels and fed only when they delivered the goods to guards at the barred entrance.

Lost For Two Centuries

Chivor remained lost to the world for more than two centuries. A Colombian mining engineer stumbled on it in 1896 after months of searching on muleback. His sole clue was an aged manuscript.

Mining has changed little since the days of the Chibchas, and operating costs are low.

When he has a big shipment at Chivor, Bronie hires a helicopter for the flight to Bogota over natural and human obstacles. At other times a husky taxi driver races the shipment over the winding mountain roads.

Warned Of Holdup

"Recently," says Bronkie, "we heard that someone was planning to hold up one of our shipments on the road. We have our enemies, but we also have our friends.

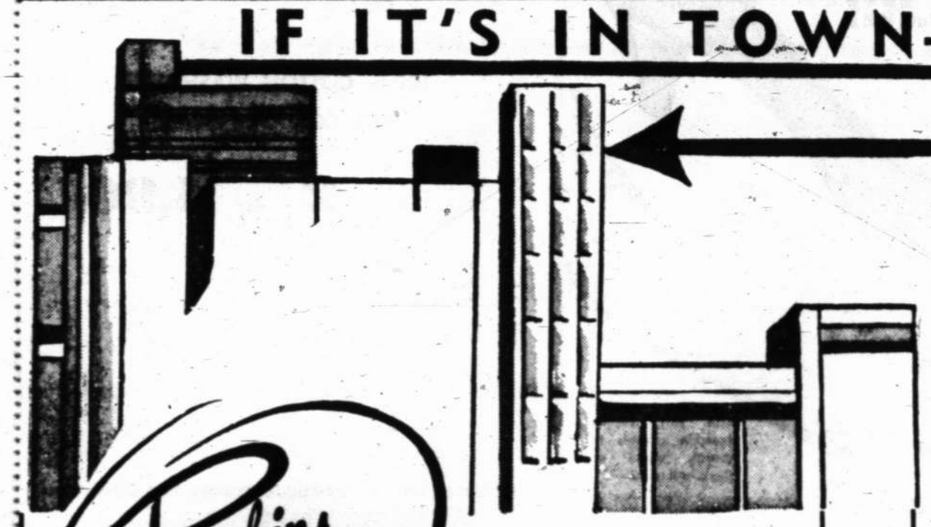

"We let it be known that we would leave the mine at 4 in the morning. Then we rolled into the sack at 10:30 — and rolled right out the other side. We got away that night and passed the ambush two hours before the bandits arrived. They showed up too, and waited around for a while."

"Some of those miners can pass their hands over a tabletop covered with emeralds once and come away with the best three or four stones," says Dick Dancey, of Champaign, Ill., Chivor's resident mining engineer.

Bronkie is philosophical about his theft losses.

"I'd rather buy back my stones at a price that still leaves me a profit," he says.

Temples to Be Saved From Nile Floodwaters

Initial work has begun on the massive engineering project to rescue the 3,200-year old Abu Simbel temples from the rising waters of the Nile caused by the construction of the New Aswan High Dam in Egypt, near the Sudan border. Were it not for contributions from 40 nations, including the United States, the great monuments of the Pharoah Rameses II would have been lost.

The project—which consists of actually moving the temples to another location—will cost an estimated $36 million. Engineers plan to dismantle the two temples and statuary and move each numbered piece 200 feet to a storage area atop the sandstone hill from which the temples were carved. Once all the sections have been removed, the process of reassembling will be undertaken.

Principles Of Taxation

By MORTIMER J. ADLER

The restricted income of the American people is 36 per cent. The wage earner has only 64 per cent to spend as he chooses. What have the thinkers of past eras had to say about the purposes and forms of taxation that may help us today?

Richard L. Spahr
390 South Main Street
Lewistown, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Spahr:

April is the cruelest month for many of us, not because it breeds lilacs out of the dead land, as a poet has said, but because it is the time when we have to pay our income taxes. Most of us detest paying taxes anyway, whatever their form may be, and sometimes we even deny their necessity in a stable and free system of government. This necessity was affirmed elegantly and cogently by Alexander Hamilton in 1787, when he was arguing for the adoption of the Constitution.

"Money," he wrote, "is, with property, considered as the vital principle of the body politic, as that which sustains its life and motion, and enables it to perform its most essential functions. A complete power, therefore to procure a regular and adequate supply of it, as far as the resources of the community will permit, may be regarded as an indispensable ingredient in every constitution. From a deficiency in this particular, one of two evils must ensue, either the people must be subjected to continual plunder, as a substitute for a more eligible mode of supplying the public wants, or the government must sink into a fatal atrophy, and, in a short course of time, perish."

Most of us, on reflection would probably agree that money is a vital need of government, and that taxes are the surest and safest way to get it. However, there is much dispute among us as to which expenditures are necessary and proper, and as to which modes of taxation are fairest.

Men who have considered this problem in the past have affirmed various principles that should guide us in levying taxes. One of these is the principle of consent — "No taxation without representation." Not only is taxation without representation tyranny, but it tends to be more onerous than taxes levied on those who are able to make their response felt at the polls. John Stuart Mill went even further and proposed that the legislators be chosen only from persons who themselves pay the taxes that they impose. Any other system, he said, "amounts to allowing them to put their hands into other people's pockets for any purpose which they think fit to call a public one."

Mill also argued that everyone should be taxed in such a way that he is well aware of the fact that he is being taxed, and how much. Hence, he frowned on the indirect taxes that are included in the prices of articles of consumption — the so-called "hidden" taxes. When a person pays taxes in this manner, he is hit but he does not feel it at the moment, and hence he is not as inclined to question the amount of government expenditures or the fairness of tax systems as when he is taxed directly — as in the income tax.

Hamilton, on the contrary, argued that indirect taxes, such as excise taxes and import duties, are the most convenient means of collecting taxes for the government, and are also proportionate to the taxpayer's ability to pay, since the poor buy far less than the rich. He also contended that such taxes have a built - in counter-agent to excess, since if taxes are too high, people will buy less, revenue will be reduced, and the government will have to lower the taxes to bring in more revenue.

Most economists, however, from Adam Smith to the present day, have disagreed on this point with our first Secretary of the Treasury. Taxes on articles of consumption, they have pointed out, bear most heavily on the poorer classes, for whom it is no easy solution to give up part of the necessities of life when taxes are too high. Hence, the consensus has been, on the grounds of humanity, justice, and the good of the national economy, that a graduated income tax — which rises in rate with the level of income and of the ability to pay — is the most just and economically feasible form of taxation.

Erasmus, a famous 15th-century thinker, put the applicable principle here quite humanly. "A good prince," he said, "will tax as lightly as possible those commodities which are used by the poorest members of society; e.g., grain, bread, beer, wine, clothing, and all other staples without which human life could not exist."

Spotlight On Dallas

By JOHN BARKHAM

The citizens of Dallas are properly distressed at the damage done to their city's reputation by the assassination. They believe it to be as fine a city today as it was before that shattering event.

The reputation of any city rests, of course, not on the opinion of its own citizens, but on that of others. In this sense the reputation of Dallas has been gravely hurt by the events on and after November 22, 1963. The act of assassination automatically gave it a place comparable with that of, say, Sarajevo, in that it was the scene of an event which changed the course of history. This was purely geographical happenstance. However, what happened in Dallas later—the fantastic murder, trial and condemnation, all on national television — gave Dallas its present unique and unenviable reputation in the eyes of the world.

This startling new book will strongly reinforce that view. The work of a former Nieman-Marcus executive (and Yale graduage) who has lived in Dallas for the past 17 years, it casts a harsh and revealing light on a city which, more than most American cities, blends progressivism with reaction, inspiring among many of its people "a mixture of love and pain."

In Warren Leslie's book the pain predominates. It is a "thin" book in several respects, and shows signs of having been hastily written. The author's wide-ranging indictment of Dallas is based on several grounds, the chief of which may be summarized thus:

1) it is a city founded and fascinated by wealth, and fearful of anything which may threaten that wealth;

2) it is a "controlled" city run by a small, self - appointed, self-perpetuating body responsible to no electorate;

3) it is a city dominated by "absolutist" thinking, which admits no radical dissent;

4) it is a city more prone to violence than most.

In substantiation of his last point Mr. Leslie cites the fact that in 1959, while Texas was recording more murders than any other state in the Union, the city of Dallas was recording more murders than all of England with its 45 million people.

All this would have sounded like a fairy tale before last November. Till then Dallas represented for most Americans a small but affluent metropolis, strongly civic - minded, and run in a model manner. The facts, says Mr. Leslie, are quite different, in proof whereof he cites a report prepared after the assassination by Dr. Robert E. Stoltz, chairman of the Department of Psychology at Southern Methodist University. According to Dr. Stoltz, there are elements in Dallas which "encourage irresponsibility in civic affairs," while "violence as a means of settling disputes is condoned." Moreover, he adds, "goodness is defined in physical terms, such as the size and number of churches." The city leadership is stratified, and the citizens as a whole feel frustrated in seeking to "escape blame."

What makes Dallas so much of a paradox is the fact that while all this was going on it was setting an example to the entire South in its acceptance of integration. Overt religious bias of any kind is virtually non - existent. No organized crime has been permitted to flourish in the city (the many killings were the work of amateurs). No scandal involving graft or corruption has ever touched the Dallas Police force — but neither has any police force in the country demonstrated so spectacular a desire for publicity.

What this points to is a corporate dichotomy which is sui generis among American cities. To the eye Dallas is a model city, populated — we now learn—by a high proportion of citizens with black - and - white opinions and simple solutions for complex problems. The national exposure of that situation is not calculated to ease the city's hurt. If, however, it can prod the citizens of Dallas into bringing their private attitudes into line with the progressive public policies it will have served a useful purpose.

Vernon Cancer Fund Drive Begins

VERNON, Tex. (Special) — Volunteer workers have begun the canvass of downtown businesses in the first phase of the annual Cancer Fund Drive.

W. H. Streit, chairman of the downtown drive, said the first part of the drive will be completed by Monday.

The house-to house campaign will be held Monday night, April 20.

Old Armor Used

CATTERICK, England (AP) — Five tank officers started training recently with new equipment—17th century armor and pikes. In all, thirty officers are booked for the tactical innovation at Marston Moor.

THREE INJURED IN CRASH — Dallas — John Wesley Kinlaw, 41, was in a Dallas hospital in critical condition after his car, foreground, crashed into a vehicle driven by an Irving, Tex., woman on Stemmons Freeway. Police said Kinlaw was traveling south on the north bound lane. In serious condition are Mrs. Ann Whipp, 28, of Irving and Charlotte Brenda Rascoe, 20. (AP Wirephoto)

PROPOSED TRANSPORT — New York — This is a model of Boeing's proposed supersonic jet transport with its variable-swept wings extended nearly straight out in landing or take-off position. The wings would tuck along the side of the fuselage in supersonic flight. Model was unveiled in Seattle as Boeing's entry in competition with Lockheed and North American Aviation for the Federal Aviation Agency contract to build this nation's entry in the international supersonic transport race. Boeing says that the variable-sweep wing would allow slower landings and shorter take-off than present subsonic jets. (AP Wirephoto)

Teepee Assembly Line Operating

Honest Injun.

The Omaha Indians have established an assembly line factory to make the teepees. The idea is to provide additional employment and augment a tribal farm with community industrial expansion.

The Omahas also want to keep alive old tribal crafts, even if it requires some of the white man's industrial know-how.

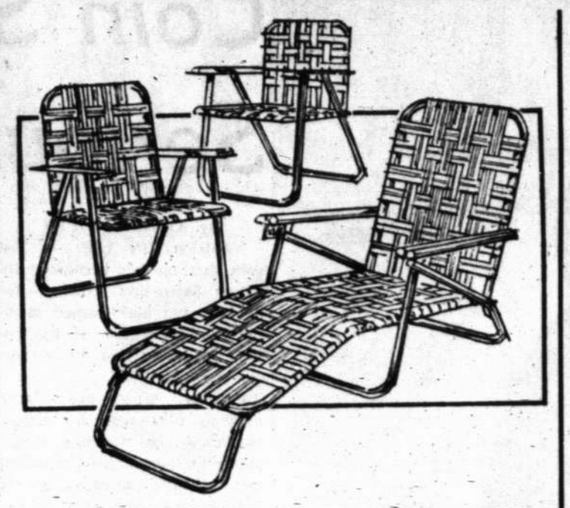

The five- and six-foot diameter teepees will be sold to summer pow-wow visitors and hopefully through retail outlets in cities.

By ADREN COOPER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The coin shortage has become a serious, day-to-day problem for bankers and businessmen in almost every section of the nation, an Associated Press survey shows.

Persons who use large amounts of change are almost unanimous in attaching major blame to speculators and collectors although increased use of vending machines also is frequently mentioned.

The survey indicates that the coin shortage has caused no major upheavals in business and the customer at the counter apparently has hardly noticed it. But rationing is common when merchants or collectors go to a bank for large quantities of hard money.

Some bankers are appealing to the public to bring in their piggy banks; others say calling attention to the shortage only leads to more hoarding. In a few cases, banks and businessmen are paying extra to get coins.

Special Arrangements

Most say the shortage has become acute in the past few months. Some say it has been a problem for several years. Honolulu and several cities in the Southeast say they have no problem.

Almost all those interviewed mention the coin craze — the urge to stash away coins of recent vintage in hope that they will be worth a great deal as collector's items some day, or that the price of silver will take a terrific jump and increase their intrinsic value.

The coin speculators have a teletypewriter set up to transmit the latest prices. A weekly coin newspaper in the Midwest has increased from two to 100-plus pages in about 10 years.

Large Investors

Daniel Paine, a Columbus, Ohio coin dealer, says that in some instances large investors have cornered the market in certain recent-date coins. One Chicago group recently invested $5 million in a one-date penny, he reports.

At one cent apiece that would be 500 million pennies — approximately matching the total of all denominations minted in 1950.

Coin production had increased to 3.6 billion pieces in fiscal 1962. The total will be about 4.1 billion in the year which ends June 30, and this will rise to 4.9 billion next year if Congress approves money for additional equipment and no silver dollars are minted.

The Securities and Exchange Commission already has cracked down on a firm which sold "certificates of interest and participation" in its coin business. The SEC said these amounted to shares of stock and should have been registered. The company agreed. Several other similar situations are being investigated.

Hoarding Coins

Some government officials and collectors believe some banks and businesses are holding coins to make sure they have enough to operate.

"I don't think there is a shortage," said a Kansas City collector. "You haven't had anybody refuse to give you change, have you?

The numismatists who seek rare coins as a hobby have relatively little impact on the total supply compared to the speculators who buy by the bag or roll. The number of collectors of all types has been estimated at 8 million to 12 million.

The increased use of vending machines, parking meters and other coin devices has aggravated the shortage, although the vending machine companies insist their machines are not to blame. There is some natural growth in demand because of an increasing population and an expanding economy.

Uneven Distribution

Uneven distribution may make the shortage appear worse than it actually is. Pennies are scarce in one area while quarters and dimes are in tight supply in another.

Banks in Sacramento, Calif., and Rapid City, S.D., even report that they have supplies of the coveted Kennedy half-dollars on hand. In contrast, another banker says he was offered $5,000 for the bank's entire supply of 4,000 Kennedy half-dollars.

There are some long-range factors which may ease the coin shortage. A proposed new mint at Philadelphia could pump an additional 6 billion coins a year into the supply but it would take three years to put it into production after Congress appropriates the money.

Credit cards and charge accounts reduce the need for coins. And sales taxes may have reached the saturation point, from a coin standpoint.

A serious recession would reduce the demand and might bring a lot of coins out of hiding.

The shortage generally is just an inconvenience so far, but an executive of a New York grocery chain says it has hurt business. Some store managers reportedly give extra trading stamps to persons who bring in coins.

A Detroit bank—and a few others—is losing money since it offers to pay $2 for $1.95 in coins.

Silver dollars are more popular than the paper kind in many Western states and you can still get them in change in that area. However, banks and stores won't sell in quantity to collectors.

Many persons apparently believe they can make money by stashing away silver coins and waiting until the price of silver goes up. The silver dollar contains $1 worth of silver but other modern coins—with the exception of a nickel minted in the 1940s—have a metal content below their face value.

No Interest

The silver price would have to take a terrific jump to make this type of hoarding worthwhile. Since coins in a closet draw no interest.

OUTVAMPING A VAMP?—Madcap Carol Burnett's back in New York for her first Broadway show since 1959 and, wouldn't you know it, she's happily upstaging Tina Louise, a member of her supporting cast. The musical is called "Fade Out" and was written by Betty Comden, Adolph Green and Jule Styne.

COMELY CUB—WAC Pvt. Peggy Dupkoski proudly holds new recruit to the National Zoological Park in Washington, D.C., the only white tiger cub in the Western hemisphere. Zoo officials hope the cub, born in January, will be the first of a long white line of youngsters born to Mohini, a white, blue-eyed tiger.

Test For Penicillin Sensitivity Sought

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP)— A shot of life-saving penicillin sometimes suddenly throws a person into shock or death.

But who might the unknown few be? Progress toward a safe and reliable test to predict the sensitive people who might face the danger has been reported to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

The reason for this is that people do not become sensitive to penicillin itself. They become sensitive to something that penicillin changes into in the body and which may cause the dangerous reaction.

The research was described by Drs. Bernard B. Levine of New York University School of Medicine, New York City; Charles W. Parker of Washington University, St. Louis; and Edward E. Carr Jr., of the University of Michigan.

Penicillin produces a kind of allergic reaction in about 1 to 2 per cent of patients, they said. It can be an immediate shock reaction, with some deaths occurring, or a delayed reaction days or weeks later bringing on high fever and arthritic pains.

Antibodies cause the reaction. Antibodies ordinarily are protective soldiers against germs or any foreign material.

The studies have found that the antibodies are formed not against penicillin but against proteins with which the penicillin, or part of it, combines.

Most people seem to have penicillin antibodies, since the drug has been used so widely and because penicillin is found in some foods. But only a few get allergic reactions.

The physicians said that people likely to get the immediate dangerous reaction will have a kind of antibody that can be detected by skin tests.

World's Fair Visitors Due Glimpses Into Many Lands

In addition to presentations by about half of the states, there will be some 60 foreign pavilions and exhibitions, all housed in structures and settings of their own countries, and many with restaurants featuring native dishes.

Besides cultural and commercial displays, these glimpses into other lands will include native music, dancing and drama. In a great many, native craftsmen can be seen at work and almost all will offer their own distinctive wares in gift shops.

Major Exhibits

Major foreign pavilions and exhibits will include those of Africa, Argentina, Austria, Belgium; the Caribbean, Central America, Republic of China, Denmark, Republic of Guinea, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Ireland, Israel, Japan, Jordan, South Korea, Lebanon, Malaysia, Mexico, Morocco, Pakistan, the Philippines, Polynesia, Sierra Leone, Spain, Sudan, Sweden, Switzerland, Thailand, United Arab Republic, the Vatican and Venezuela.

Still others will be represented in shared pavilions.

Sure to be one of the top attractions at the fair will be the Vatican pavilion, where Michelangelo's famous statue, The Pieta, will be displayed. Also shown will be a reproduction of the tomb of St. Peter and many other outstanding religious art works.

Spain will exhibit priceless paintings by Goya, El Greco, Velazquez and Zubaran, in addition to works of contemporary artists such as Picasso and Miro.

Dead Sea Scrolls

Among treasures to be shown are the Dead Sea Scrolls, by Jordan; a collection of jade and precious jewelry, much of it thousands of years old, by the Republic of China, and treasures from the Valley of the Nile, by the United Arab Republic.

The foreign exhibits will be free.

Exhibits of the various states will show their products, natural resources, recreational features and industry. Many will also have restaurants featuring dishes popular in their regions.

Some will have entertainment including free shows provided by artists or groups from the individual states.

One of the outstanding free attractions will be the Illinois pavilion. There an animated figure of Abraham Lincoln, created by the Walt Disney organization, will talk, sit, stand, gesture, smile, chuckle and turn sad.

Carnival Spirit

The carnival spirit of the Mardi Gras will be evident on the three-acre Louisiana site, where a portion of the Vieux Carree section of New Orleans is recreated, complete with the atmosphere of Bourbon Street and Dixieland jazz.

Maryland will feature a historical presentation of the Battle of Fort McHenry and the composing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Missouri will display Charles A. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," plus space capsules of today and tomorrow.

New York State's theme will be the "Country Fair of Tomorrow" and its pavilion will be topped by a 226-foot observation platform for which there will be a $1 charge for adults, 25 cents for children.

A combined exhibit by New England states will offer performances by the Boston Pops Orchestra, country store, fish hatchery and periodic "town meetings."

Texas Pavilions

Texas will have several pavilions showing the state's development through different eras of history, plus a "frontier palace," recapturing the atmosphere of the 1800s. It will also have the largest entertainment facility at the fair, a 2,500-seat music hall and restaurant featuring "Bright Lights of Broadway."

Alaska will house its exhibits in a modern "igloo," and Wisconsin is displaying the world's largest piece of cheese.

There will be plenty to see outdoors — colorful fountains, dramatic architecture, fireworks displays and parades.

28 Miles Of Walkways

There will be 28 miles of walkways linking the pavilions.

As for clothing, those coming between the April 22 opening and mid-May should bring medium weight attire and light topcoats as well as lighter attire.

The buildings will be heated during the cooler weather generally prevalent in April and May and will be air-conditioned in the warmer months.

There will be ample rest rooms, drinking water fountains and benches. Many pavilions have provided indoor and outdoor rest areas and a few will have special children's playgrounds.

Lost Children

Lost children will be taken to the RCA exhibition where they'll be put on closed circuit color television which goes to some 300 receivers around the fairgrounds. There mom and pop can see them and learn where to retrieve them.

For lost articles, two lost-and-found offices will operate at opposite ends of the fair, one at the security force's building in the northern section, and the other at the boathouse in the southern area.

MR. SOLO—Actor Robert Vaughn, tapped for a new television series, "Napoleon Solo," to debut on NBC-TV this fall, poses with some handy props—girls, gun and champagne. Vaughn plays an international crime buster, in the James Bond style.

THE BIRD WATCH—The people don't know the birds are there and the birds don't know the people are there, but everybody knows it's time for lunch. This restaurant with a resident scavenger service is built over the bay waters of Sausalito, Calif. Clearly, no food goes to waste around here. Alfred Hitchcock once did a movie about California birds, but his creatures were more interested in people than scraps of food.

SPACE AGE "COVERED WAGON"—Covering on this barge approaching Cape Kennedy, Fla., recalls the canvas hoods of the pioneers' Conestoga wagons. In this vehicle for pioneers of the space age, however, is the S-1 first-stage booster for the Saturn, mightiest of Uncle Sam's rockets.

AMONG MOST WANTED—Washington — Joseph Francis Bryan Jr. was added today to the FBI's list of 10 most wanted fugitives. He is charged with the kidnaping of a 10-year-old Mount Pleasant, S.C., boy on Feb. 27, 1964. The youth's body was found in Florida. (AP Wirephoto).

BUG-EYED BEATLE — The Beatles have really made it. The mop-topped quartet was chosen for immortality as figures in Madame Tussaud's famed wax museum in London. Beatle George Harrison tries on the glass eyes his dummy will have. Maybe the group will be placed next to Beethoven, a bushy-haired swinger of another century.

Red Cross Reports On Tornado Aid

Aid amounting to $12,084 has been given to 96 families affected by the April 3 tornado according to Red Cross officials.

Of the number of families who had applied for aid through Tuesday, 44 cases have been closed.

A breakdown of the figures shows that $3,205 had been spent for mass care; $5,732 for food, clothing and maintenance; $3,131 for household goods; and $17 for medical and nursing care.

Friday is the deadline for applying for help.

Death Investigated

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet judiciary is investigating the death from an overdose of sleeping pills of a student from Kenya, a spokesman of the Kenyan Embassy said today. The embassy said he apparently committed suicide.

GIANT COOLING UNIT — Harold G. Johnson, left, rests his hand on the 24-volt starter-generator that is a sure-fire starter for this self-contained 23,500 BTU Thermo-King mobile refrigeration unit that will keep a 24-foot refrigerator van at 10 degrees below zero. Looking on is Jim Will of Dallas, a service representative for 12 years for Thermo-King; and E. K. Bond, vice president of T.H.E.M., which held a successful open house Wednesday at the new plant of T.H.E.M. Service Industries on Hilltop Avenue just off Loop 165 (the Truck Route).

T.H.E.M Holds Open House

By MARSHALL MOORE

Scores of friends, customers and contractors from top mechanics in multiple service lines to brass from Air Force bases visited the new installation of T.H.E.M. Service Industries on Hilltop drive just off Loop 165 (the Truck Route).

An open house, topped with a buffet luncheon, was given to honor visitors at the shops here where specialized services are available for a wide variety of lines from Thermo-King mobile refrigeration units for trucks to Thermo - King air conditioning units for trucks and automobiles, to liquid oxygen for stratopheric flights and hydraulic services for specialized equipment.

The firm's name T.H.E.M. stands for "temperature, hydraulics, electrical, mechanical" services and the new air conditioned shops include a large parts department and special shops for electrical service, loxtronics (liquid oxygen and electronics) and pneudraulics (pneumatics and hydraulics) and covering such specialized fields as repair of missile launching equipment and devices and specialized equipment for large bombers of the Strategic Air Command.

"While we do not handle any of the missile equipment, we do handle maintenance and repair of the launch equipment," says Harold G. Johnson, president of the corporation.

E. K. Bond, vice president, and E. L. Bond, secretary, were joined by several key officials of the nationwide service organization in escorting visitors through the new installation. They have been in the new building with a huge service drive to accommodate any customer for about 2 months and previously were off the old Petrolia Road for three years.

A highlight of the display was a self-contained mobile refrigeration unit that would keep a huge refrigerator van at 10 degrees below zero inside while it was more than 100 degrees above outside. Jim Will, of Dallas, service representative for a five-state area for Thermo - King, spent the day explaining the unit that had a 24-volt starter-generator and a defroster feature that has been in use more than a dozen years with all Thermo-King units.

State Patrolman Wins Promotion

Highway patrolman Thomas W. Brown of Bowie has been appointed to the rank of sergeant, Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, announced Wednesday.

Brown, who will fill the vacancy left by the death of Sgt. O. C. Wheeler, veteran of 23 years with the department, joined the Highway Patrol in December, 1948. He served seven years and 18 months in Hearne before moving to Bowie where he has been stationed for six years.

The new sergeant was born in Whitewright in Fannin County Feb. 25, 1926. He attended school there, graduating in 1943. Brown joined the Navy after graduation and served from 1944 to 1946 with amphibious landing forces. After discharge from military service he returned to Whitewright and worked in the laundry business until joining the Department of Public Safety.

He is a member of the Baptist Church, active in the Bowie Junior Chamber of Commerce, and has attended several departmental schools. Brown is married to the former Nadine Voelkle and they have two children, James Robert, 17, and Dorothy Ann, 16.

DAWC Agencies Are Featured

A report on the 1964 Bridwell Soil Builders Awards program and discussions concerning the represented agencies were featured items of the April District Agriculture Workers Council breakfast Wednesday morning at Underwood's cafeteria in Southfloor Center.

The monthly meeting started at 7:30 a.m. and Feeders Supply Co., represented by Roger Kerr, hosted the group.

Elvy Sargent, president of the DAWC, served as master of ceremonies and called on Wymore Downing for a progress report on the Bridwell Soil Awards program. It was pointed out that community leaders in Clay, Archer and Wichita Counties should judge their winter legumes as soon as possible. Attention was called t the fact that farmers in the individual classified group are not responding and entering competition as was expected.

"If any farmer in the tri-county area desires more information concerning the program he can contact any of the professional agriculture workers," stated Sargent.

Perry Woods, program chairman, called on the following individuals representing the various agencies in the agriculture workers group to explain the duties: Ben Fulton, soil conservation service; Bill Collier, county agents; Charles McGilvary, Farmers Home Administration; Wallace Dove, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and Wade Bailey, vocational agriculture instructors.

HAZELLE OWEN

Sertoma To Hear Librarian

Speaker for the Wichita Falls Sertoma Club at its Thursday luncheon in Villa Motel will be a well - known Wichita Falls educator and public school librarian, Mrs. Hazelle Owen.

Mrs. Owen's talk, in observance of National Library Week, will be on the subject, "Reading Is the Key." She will discuss books in elementary school libraries and the library's role in public education.

The Wichitan has had numerous honors paid her for outstanding achievements, among them selection as one of 10 former students of Central State College in Edmond, Okla., to be honored at homecoming in 1962.

Mrs. Owen has a bachelor's degree from that college and since then she has done graduate work at the University of Texas in Austin, North Texas State University and Texas Woman's University.

She has been associated with the Wichita Falls schools since 1955.

Knox County Teachers Elect

KNOX CITY, Tex. (Special)— Willis Apple, Munday, has been chosen president of the Knox County Unit of the Texas State Teachers Association for next year.

Other new officers picked are Leon Burkham, Knox City, first vice president; Kenneth Roberts, Benjamin, second vice president; and Mrs. Bob Winchester, Munday, secretary-treasurer.

Air Force Award To Henrietta Man

WURTSMITH AFB, Mich. — T. Sgt. Herman L. Symons, son of E. J. Symons, Henrietta, Tex., developed a B-52 generator diode tester which earned him $100 in the military improvement suggestion program here.

Sgt. Symons' tester, which may be used without removal of the generator from the aircraft, cost $50 and is expected to save this Strategic Air Command installation approximate $34,000 annually.

Sgt. Symons, a graduate of Henrietta High School, is an aircraft electrical technician with the 379th Field Maintenance Squadron. He is married to the former Nancy Ann Tate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Tate of 105 N. Graham, Henrietta.

MU To Show Russian Film

Director of the movie, considered one of the most important films in the history of silent movies, was Sergei M. Eisenstein. It is regarded by many as his greatest work.

LIBRARY GIFT — Officials of the Wichita County Cancer Society visited the campus of Midwestern University Tuesday to present books and other material on cancer to Dr. Travis White, MU president. The books and material will be placed in the university's new library and will be kept up to date by members of the society. The material will be used by students and faculty members for research purposes. Seen here are, from left, Dr. White; Dr. D. L. Ligon, MU vice president; Dodd Wiley, county society president; and Dr. Charles M. Parker, director of the city-county health unit. The annual county cancer crusade door-to-door campaign is scheduled Monday from 6 to 8 p.m. Dr. Jerry Hathorn is 1964 crusade chairman.

AUTOGRAPH PARTY SET HERE FOR MU AUTHOR

Dr. John Nathan Cravens, head of the history department of Midwestern University, was first recipient of the Clara Driscoll Scholarship award established by the Daughters of the Republic of Texas for research work in Texas history.

Upon completion of his research on John Harper Starr, physician, secretary of the treasury of the Republic of Texas, one of the planners of the city of Austin and assistant postmaster general of the Confederacy, two granddaughters of Dr. Starr were so pleased with the amount of information garnered through his research and with the manner in which Dr. Cravens treated the life history of their grandfather that they financed publication of the book.

Dr. Cravens then gave the books to the Daughters of the Republic of Texas as a means of supplementing funds for the Clara Driscoll Scholarship Award —so it is with pleasure that the Rebecca Jane Fisher Chapter of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas offers for sale a limited number of copies.

An autograph party will be held at Lovelace Book Store, 911 Indiana, from 3 to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

Concerning this book, Dr. E. C. Barker of the University of Texas has this to say: "James Harper Starr was a highly intelligent man, versatile, thoughtful, well informed and useful. His many letters and documents show a kindly man of equable temperament and a gentle, quiet sense of humor, which enabled him to take personal annoyances with resignation and philosophy . . . This portrait of a man is drawn with clarity and detail."

Emergency Groups To Meet Thursday

A special meeting of emergency groups, communications, weather, aviation, law enforcement, utilities and allied organizations will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the first aid room on the fourth floor of the county courthouse.

Kenneth Warren, county civil defense director, and County Judge Calvin Ashley announced the meeting.

The meeting is to set up a special committee to study the entire rescue operations of the recent tornado and to formulate plans to further facilitate and assist existing departments and coordinate potential groups into a disaster operating plan.

The committee to be appointed at this meeting will make a study of present facilities, determine what can be done to help or improve the effectiveness of all levels of rescue operations in times of emergency.

DOOR CRUMPLED BY IGNITING ROCKET—Cape Kennedy, Fla.—A large metal door lies crumpled like a fallen venetian blind after a rocket engine inexplicably ignited Tuesday in this assembly and checkout building. Eleven engineers and technicians were burned, three critically. Rocket, third stage of a Delta space booster, was being joined with an Orbiting Solar Observatory for tests when it suddenly fired, spraying blazing solid fuel throughout the 30x100 foot building. There was no explosion and door apparently collapsed from expanding gases produced by the igniting rocket. Door is about 25x12 feet. (AP Wirephoto)

PLANE FLIPPED — Alexandria, Minn. — This light single-engine airplane was flipped against a hangar about as easily as if it had been a child's model plane by gale-force winds which lashed the Alexandria, Minn., area Monday night. The plane, owned by Robert Benisch, an Alexandria area farmer, was overturned at the Alexandria airport by winds which gusted over 80 miles per hour at times during the height of spring snowstorm which swept across Minnesota. Two other planes at airport also were broken from their moorings. (AP Wirephoto)

Lions Elect Club Directors

Directors elected are Ira D. Brown, Walter Colemen, Jim Deen, Dr. O. L. Parry, Harvey Owens, Layton Downing, Don Estes and Dr. C. E. Hayley.

Also selected at this meeting were the delegates for the district convention, which is to be held in Wichita Falls May 8 and 9. Delegates selected were Col. Dalene Bailey, Max Brannan, H. F. Hines, Joe Haddon, Lloyd Neeley, Irvin Vogel, Jim King, Homer Doke, Wayne Mullins, Bill Baugh Jr., Charles Rippy, Kent Toler, Elmer Townsend and Bud Laughfrey.

A report was given by past president and international counsellor D. L. Ligon of the visitation made Monday night at Rule, where District Governor Charles Davis presented a charter to the new Lions Club of Rule. This club is the 53rd for the district and adds 38 members to the over 700,000 members in the international organization.

Four Boy Scouts, members of troop 11, Thomas Finley, John Underwood, Johnie Gill and Ronnie Finley were guests of the club and sold tickets to the Scoutarama that is to be held May 8 and 9.

LONG-LEAP RECORD—How this Angora goat, which hails from Asia, reached the Indian Valley country of California is the mystery. No one has claimed the animal, and he's fast making friends with other stock on the farm.

Academy Test Results Given

Results of the Iowa Tests of Educational Development, administered to the high school pupils of the Academy of Mary Immaculate March 18, have been received by the school.

The ITED consists of nine separate tests which concentrate on broad intellectual skills and understanding, designed to measure educational growth. One of its unique features is a school average percentile norm reported for each test, based upon a distribution of the average scores of schools all over the country.

These percentiles help answer the question, "How is a particular school doing in relation to other schools throughout the nation?"

The faculty reports that the ninth through 12th grade composite school norm percentiles, which provide an overall picture of general educational development, are all in the upper quartile, ranging as high as the 99th percentile.

Notable progress has been made in the following areas: quantitative thinking (mathematics), with freshmen, sophomore, junior, and senior class averages ranging from the 78th to the 99th percentile when placed on a nationwide distribution of school averages; general vocabulary, with percentiles ranging from 85 to 99; and use of sources, with percentiles from 80 to 98.

Test results of individual students are used to assist the pupils in increasing their own educational growth and in relating their abilities to the college and career choices open to them.

The scores of individual students, as well as the school norm percentiles, are of great assistance to the school's administration in helping discover class and school needs in certain areas.

Test results help the faculty adapt instruction in order to increase growth in the areas which are most in need of attention and to continue development in areas in which the pupils already have high standards of achievement.

The academy's administration will use ITED Test results to help discover ways of improving the school's educational program.

C-C Groups Study Parking

Downtown and off-street parking was discussed at a meeting of the downtown redevelopment and the tourist development action groups in the chamber of commerce offices Wednesday morning.

A report by Bill Thacker on letters sent to other Texas and Oklahoma cities regarding parking problems showed these cities also had parking difficulties, but answers to the problems had not yet been found.

Dr. W. J. Thomas, professor of business administration and education at Midwestern University, spoke to the meeting about a survey made in 1961 pertaining to shopping habits. Dr. Thomas told the group the survey included not only the downtown area but the shopping centers in existence at the time.

After a brief discussion on the results of the survey, the group ask Dr. Thomas for copies of the survey to study for their needs.

Another survey made by the City of Wichita Falls in 1962 was compared with the Midwestern survey and copies of this were to be given the committee for further study.

No action was taken at the Wednesday meeting in regard to downtown parking, with the thought that the assemblying of information was the biggest problem facing the group.

Chamber member Wayne Smith told the action group the idea of using "dollies" for downtown shoppers was at a stalemate as he could find no one with the dollies that the city could lease for a short period of time to test the "shuttle-type" transportation plan. Further study will be given the suggestion of using the "dollies" to move at a three-mile-per-hour speed through the downtown area to provide a lift from one block to another. Under this plan, shoppers could simply hop on the slow-moving vehicle and hop off again at their destination without having to look for parking places or walking blocks loaded with parcels.

Smith told the group a program of colored slides along with a script would be presented at the next meeting, showing the results of remodeling done earlier in various cities.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The City Council was stunned Monday night when told a spinster left Ann Arbor about $1 million to keep its trees in good shape.

Mayor Cecil Creal said Elizabeth Russell Dean had stipulated that the money was to go for "perpetual care and maintenance, replacement and planting of trees on city-owned property."

1. Long Island Expressway.
2. Van Wyck Expressway.
3. Long Island Railroad station.
4. Grand Central Parkway.
5. Lake amusement area of fair.
6. Industrial exhibits.
7. International countries exhibits.
8. Federal and state exhibition areas.
9. One of the four huge parking areas.
10. 12-story high U.S. Steel Unisphere.
11. 15,000 seat open-air arena.
12. Shea stadium, new home of the New York Mets baseball team.

Says School Pupil Must Salute Flag

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)— The State Education Department says a public school pupil must salute the American flag in class unless he refuses to do so for religious reasons.

Charles Brind, counsel for the department, said in a letter made public today that a Long Island school board may require recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance.

It was reported on March 31 that the pupils had not saluted the flag in class for more than a month.

The 20 pupils at Wheatley claimed required recitation of the pledge violated the First Admendment, which guarantees freedom of religion, speech, press and the right to petition.

In a similar case in Scarsdale, a Westchester County suburb of New York City, pupils protested that the pledge was unconstitutional.

13 Million Voters

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The National Electoral Commission predicts that 13 million citizens will register for the July presidential election. This is a new record. Officials said the increase is based on a jump in population, woman suffrage and a growing interest in civic affairs.

SWEEP INTO SPRING—Judy Lewis, taking a cue from her mother, Loretta Young, wooshes through a door in a floor-length, chiffon gown done in a brilliant red and pink floral pattern. Designer Philip Hulitar completes the costume with a long, flowing stole to match. It was shown in New York.

NEW OLD FLAG—Visitors to the State Office Building in Baltimore are struck by an unusual sight as they walk into the lobby. For there on the lobby floor ladies from patriotic, church and veteran societies are putting in the million stitches it takes to sew an authentic reproduction of The Star-Spangled Banner of 1814. The 200-pound, 1,260-square-foot flag is being made to commemorate the 150th anniversary of both the flag and Francis Scott Key's poem that later became our national anthem. It will be hung in the Maryland pavilion at the New York World's Fair, so that all Americans will have a chance to see the largest American flag ever to be flown in battle.

Wichitans Study Museum Operation

Operations of two Fort Worth museums were thoroughly explored Tuesday by a group of Wichitans interested in promoting establishment of such a facility here.

Two bus loads of Wichita Falls men and women who are members of a steering committee and an advisory committee — both instigated by the Junior Service League in an effort to work for the building of a museum here —took the trip Tuesday.

Visited were the Children's Museum and the Art Center. Some of the group stayed over to tour the Western Art Museum.

At the Children's Museum, which is currently being expanded to encompass 87,000 square feet, it was learned that some 200,000 persons a year tour the building or use its facilities.

Classrooms

There are 20 classrooms where courses in a wide variety of subjects are conducted for age groups ranging from three years old upwards. In addition to the usual museum type furnishings, this facility has a section housing live animals. It also has an auditorium.

The budget of the Children's Museum is about $150,000 annually. One third of this is paid by the City of Fort Worth, one third by the United Fund and the remaining third is financed by the museum's self - sustaining operations.

A concentrated drive to promote the building of a museum in Wichita Falls was started by the JSL earlier this year. Committees are investigating the various aspects such as acquiring land, employing a curator and staff and securing furnishings for a museum.

Tour Members

Those who traveled to Fort Worth Tuesday were Mrs. Royce Riddle, Mrs. Phil Bolin, Mrs. Don Barnhart, Mrs. Stayton Bonner, Mrs. W. T. Sanders Jr., Mrs. Ben Cunningham, Mrs. Tom Medders Jr., and Mrs. Frank Jones.

British Airmen To Visit SAFB

Air Vice Marshal John Kevitt Rotherham of the British Royal Air Force will arrive at Sheppard Technical Training Center Thursday morning for a one-day visit and tour of the center.

He will be greeted with an honors ceremony conducted by the honor flight and band and will be met by Maj. Gen. Robert M. Stillman, commander of the center.

Air Vice Marshal Rotherham, commander No. 24 Group, technical training command of the Royal Air Force, is stopping at Sheppard as part of his visit to this country under the auspices of the military aid distinguished visitors orientation program. The purpose of the tour is to receive a general orientation in United States Air Force operations, organization and training.

The air vice marshal has among his decorations the Companion of the Order of Bath and Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

He is to be accompanied by four other members of the Royal Air Force.

They are Group Capt. Charles Victor G. Usher, director of technical training No. 1, Royal Air Force, Air Ministry in London; Group Capt. Sinclair M. Davidson, senior training officer, Royal Air Force, Locking Base, Somerset; Wing Cmdr. Maurice Ernest Claxton, project officer for TSR 2 (aircraft) who is attached to British Aircraft Corporation Ltd., in Weybridge, Surrey; and Squadron Leader John West, air training officer, RAF, Newton Base, Nottingham.

A briefing on the center mission, organization and facilities will be presented by Gen. Stillman. The visiting dignitaries will then tour the department of comptroller training to see the computer; department of civil engineering to view the Sage, Atlas and Titan Air Handling trainers; the department of missile and space training to see the educational television and laser demonstrations. Col. Charles W. Johnstone, commander of 3750th Technical School, will give a briefing on training management room.

Throughout the day the distinguished visitors will see the student airmen upgraded dormitory area, Biloxi - type classroom buildings, airmen support area, airmen dormitories, golf course, youth center, Chapel No. 3, Airmen's Club, the tornado damaged area, new hospital area, technical school ramp, outdoor communications and electrician training areas.

The day's tour will be concluded with a briefing on the 494th Bombardment Wing, Strategic Air Command, and a visit to the facilities.

While in the United States these RAF officers will visit Keesler AFB, Miss., Randolph AFB, Texas, Amarillo AFB, Texas, Nellis AFB, Nevada, Lowry AFB, Colo., Chanute AFB, Ill., and Andrews AFB, Md.

Methodist Men Hear Baptist

Grant Street Methodist Men Tuesday night heard Rev. Gordon Highfill, pastor of Highland Heights Baptist Church, whose topic was "Put On the Whole Armor of The Lord."

Opening prayer was given by Rev. Foy Thomas, a former pastor of the church. A. H. Newsom was song leader.

John Haney, club president, introduced T. A. Flannery, program chairman, who in turn introduced the speaker. Rev. John McLean gave the invocation.

SIGN OF SPRING—Either the circus or the crocus—it's a sign of spring. New York's Madison Square Garden has welcomed the 94th edition of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus and Miss Chrys, billed as a "Hairial Hairlifter," is one of the scariest acts.

PRECIOUS CARGO—Holly Hanley, of Minneapolis, Minn., hands a carton of two units of extremely rare blood to Helen L. Lynn, a Red Cross volunteer. The I-negative blood is so rare that there are only 10 known possessors of it in the United States. The blood made its journey from Wind sor, N.D., to Washington, D.C., in a refrigerated carton.

NEW BOWLING DUDS?—Well, if the girls must have skiing, tennis, golf and field hockey outfits, they certainly should have bowling uniforms, too. Teddy Tinling of London, sporting an ensemble called "the Brooklyn Side," makes it difficult for male bowlers in neighboring alleys to concentrate on their games. But maybe that's the idea.

NEW MEDAL—The Lyndon B. Johnson Medal has been added to the presidential series of medals available for purchase from the Bureau of the Mint. At left is the front of the medal containing a likeness of the President carved by Gilroy Roberts, chief sculptor of the mint. At right is the back with an adaption of the presidential seal. The medal costs $3, including postage.
