Tahoka Plays At Denver City

Tahoka Bulldogs go to Denver City tonight, where they play the Mustangs of Class 4-A at 8:00 p. m. A number of fans, the band and pep squad from Tahoka will attend the game.

Friday night of next week, the Bulldogs will entertain the O'Donnell Eagles on the local field.

Tahoka lost its opening game here last Friday night 28 to 13 to the potent Littlefield Wildcats (see story on first page of Section Two), and will be trying for a come-back tonight.

Coach Wilson Head's Denver City Mustangs are habitually a strong team and "top cream" of Class A football. Two years ago, at Denver City, a great Mustang team ran over Tahoka 52 to 0, although Tahoka recovered and went on to win its district. Last year, Tahoka won 20 to 14.

Denver City lost heavily by graduation, and has only one regular starter back this year. Mike Tinley, a fine back who can go places. However, they have back this year a bunch of experienced reserves who will outweigh the Tahoka team considerably. Starters include two tackles weighing over 200, and the overall starting line-up averages 167 pounds to Tahoka's 149 pound average. There are three seniors, seven juniors, and one sophomore among the starters.

Possible Denver City starters will be Jimmy Faulkenbury and Kenneth Good, ends; Leon Wilson and Vernon Singleton, tackles; Travis Pouk and Derrell Slott, guards; David Hall center, and Mike Tinley, Bo Nicholson, Olen Cardwell and Elvia Weir, backs.

Several Tahoka players are still nursing bruises from the Littlefield game, especially Tackle Jimmy Williams, who received side bruises that may keep him out of very much action.

Coach Bill Haralson and his boys know that they will have to play ball to win this one.

As The News went to press Thursday afternoon, the B team was preparing to meet Seagraves B Thursday night here.

Sweet St. Plans Revival Services

This revival is being sponsored by the Brotherhood of the Church, with the pastor, Rev. Harry Hames, as evangelist.

Bro. Hames announces the following subjects to be preached on: Household Salvation, Come Before Winter, God's Three-Fold Plan, What's Wrong With This, Three Things Faith Gives, My Three Homes, Set Thy House in Order, and What Will Take Place When Jesus Comes.

The pastor and church invite everyone to attend these services.

Marketing Cards Now Available

1954 cotton must be identified by a marketing card to be eligible for sale or loan, according to Dee Green of the Lynn County ACA office.

All marketing cards are prepared and ready for delivery to producers whose farms are in compliance. Marketing cards will be mailed upon request by telephone or mail, or may be picked up at the county office in person.

Records Set At Baptist Church

Two records were broken at the First Baptist Church Sunday, the closing day of the revival, states Rev. Clifford Harris, pastor.

New records were set in Sunday School and Training Union attendance. There were 510 in Sunday School, which broke the previous record of 501 set in 1953. Attendance of 303 in Training Union broke the old record of approximately 250.

Plans are being studied by the church for enlarging the Sunday School organization for another year. A committee has been elected to work with the pastor and Sunday School superintendent to find additional classroom space.

The school will begin studying "One to Eight," a new book by J. N. Barnette, next Wednesday night. The book contains a suggested plan for baptizing one person in 1955 for every eight members in the Southern Baptist Convention, which will be approximately one million.

The goal for 1954 is to enroll "a million more in '54" in Sunday School. A week of special training will be conducted the last week in September.

Student Council Elects Officers

Tahoka High School Student Council met on Sept. 6, and new members were acquainted with their duties for the ensuing year. The officers are: Garland Huddleston, president; Gordon Smith, vice president; Betty Carroll, secretary-treasurer; Ted Pridmore, parliamentarian; and Janet Dube, reporter.

The representatives from each class are as follows: Jerrie LeMond and Don Reed, Seniors; Lena Bengue and Walton Terry, Juniors; Wilman Scott and Lynn Strickland, Sophomores; Ronnie McGrew and Sue Tomlinson, Freshmen; Sue Wheatley and Cecil Hammonds, Eighth Grade.

Many activities were planned and projects were discussed. As one of its activities, the Student Council has the responsibility of decorating the football field before each home game. September 15, has been designated as "Slave Day" at Tahoka High School. At 9:00 a. m. in a high school assembly eighteen student slaves will be sold to the highest bidders. The proceeds will be used to further Student Council work in T. H. S. This year, as in the past, the Student Council is working for a better school and with the student's cooperation its efforts will be recognized.

Gary White, who recently suffered a very severe heart attack, is some improved, Tahoka Hospital attendants state.

County's Budget For 1955 Lower

Lynn county's budget, as approved by the Commissioners Court at its annual budget hearing Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, is $12,494.75 less than last year's budget.

The budget for 1955 is $294,889.50, County Judge W. M. Mathis said.

The budget was submitted by County Judge Mathis and County Clerk Beulah Pridmore.

Most of the reduction will come in the payment of the 1948 road bond issue.

However, valuations will have decreased nearly a half million dollars, the decrease being mostly in rendition of personal and oil properties. The valuation for 1954 was $10,046,312.00, and that for 1955 is $9,694,673.00.

Mr. Mathis said the tax rate remains at 80 cents for county purposes and at 75 cents for the 1946 road bonds sinking fund.

These bonds, issued March 15, 1946, and totaling $850,000.00, have $555,000.00 outstanding, with $295,000 of the principal having been retired.

The $120,000.00 bond issue of March 1, 1948, has $94,000.00 remaining to be paid, with $26,000.00 of them having been retired.

Thus, Lynn county still owes $581,000.00 of the two issues which originally amounted to $670,000.00. Bonds totaling $389,000.00 have already been paid off, the county records show.

Enrollment Still Increasing Here

Enrollment continues to climb in the Tahoka schools, and through Wednesday there were 842 students enrolled, according to Supt Otis Spears.

Eight or ten students are enrolling daily.

However, the local school enrollment is still about 100 short of the record enrollment of 1950-51. By schools, the enrollment follows: Dunbar, 35; South Elementary, 262; North Elementary, 269; Eighth Grade, 69; and High School, 207.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts accompanied their daughter, Miss Margaret, last week-end to Waco, where she was to enter Baylor University again this week. She enters this year as a Senior student and doubtless will graduate next June with honors, for she has always made excellent grades in high school and in college heretofore.

George Short, who underwent major surgery at Tahoka Hospital Thursday of last week, is reported to be improving nicely.

Farmers Start Pulling Cotton

Cotton is opening rapidly over the county, and many have started picking, farmers report.

Dry weather will cut the crop far short from that expected following earlier season rains, and cotton is opening faster than normal because of the heat and drought.

A number of hands have already arrived, and others are coming soon. Farm labor associations have many workers on order.

Tahoka gins had processed 115 bales up to Thursday morning from 1954 crop.

Farmers are paying $1.50 per hundred for pulling and $1.75 for pulling and hauling to the gin.

Most of the cotton coming in is strict middling and middling 7/8ths to 29/32nds, and is bringing from 31 to 33 cents per pound. Cotton seed is bringing $63.00 per ton.

In addition to exhibits of farm field products, livestock, community exhibits, and women's handicraft, there will be a carnival to help furnish entertainment, County Agent Bill Griffin states.

Rocky Mountain Empire Shows will be set up east of the fair exhibit halls, and will be open all day each day of the fair.

Gordon and Joe Stokes communities have entered community exhibits, and other communities are expected to come in for this competition. Albert Curry is in charge of community exhibits.

All exhibits must be in place by 10 a. m. Wednesday, Mr. Griffin said.

Farmers are especially requested to bring in specimens of all field and garden crops. Hubert Edwards is in charge of this department.

B. L. Hatchell and Leonard Crawford are in charge of the swine department, and George Claude Wells is superintendent of the beef cattle division.

In the women's department, exhibits are desired in the following divisions: bread and cakes, textiles, canned fruits and vegetables, relics and antiques, plants and cut flowers. Mrs. Tom Russell is general superintendent and Mrs. K. K. Moore is her assistant.

MISS BERTA HILL OF SEGUIN VISITS HILL FAMILIES HERE

Miss Berta Hill of Seguin, who is employed in the Public Welfare Office there, visited the Senior editor, Frank and Mae Hill, associate editor and advertising solicitor for this newspaper, Jake and Pat Jacobs and children recently.

While here she told some interesting facts about a recent trip she made to Washington, New York, Boston, and Quebec, Canada, and many intervening points. The trip was given to her by virtue of her having been elected president of a woman's service club, which paid most of the traveling expenses of the trip. Exceedingly interesting were the historic places in Virginia, which she visited, Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, being one of the most remarkable. Jefferson himself not only designed the architectural plan for the building but invented scores of gadgets to add to the convenience of the home. She thinks that if he had given his whole time to the profession of inventing useful contrivances, he might have outshined Edison as an inventor. But it would require the writing of a book to tell about the historic spots in the Old Dominion, which became known as the Mother of Presidents. She also visited the home of President James Monroe.

In Arlington Cemetery, I believe it was, she met her brother E. I. Hill Jr. and his wife Frances who live over at Mount Rainier, Md. He has been working in the Government Printing Office in Washington for nearly 24 years.

She thought it would be a problem to drive a car through New York City but found it to be one of the simplest and easiest places to keep on the right track and find one's way about of any section of the country that she passes through.

In Canada, she found that most of the roads as yet are poorly developed, but considerable road mileage of the finest type is under construction now.

Of course we can not give here scarcely a hint of the pleasures of the trip. Three Texas women accompanied her.—E. I. The Elder.

Supervisors of the Lynn County Conservation District met in their regular meeting Friday to discuss some of the agricultural problems of the district. Several matters of business were brought up and encouraging progress reports were made. The board also approved plans on the following operators: L. M. Brieger, Rt. 2, Wilson; W. E. Dubree, Rt. 2, Tahoka; and H. W. Edwards, Jr. Rt. 2, Post.

Among the main problems discussed were the winter legume and cover crop plantings. Since much of the cotton in this district is likely to be stripped or harvested mechanically, there is almost no protection left for the land. The land should have protection not only from the wind but also from the rains, which will run off of bare soil and carry many tons of topsoil with it. Our rainfall is so scarce that we should want to hold all the moisture where it falls by cutting down runoff and evaporation losses by wind and sun. A good winter legume as vetch or winter peas will protect the soil and also add nitrogen and organic matter to the land for better growth the following season.

Another idea discussed was that of stubble conservation. Around this district is planted to grain two hundred thousand acres of sorghums this year and there is an excellent opportunity to utilize this stubble as cover. There are several implements used to stir the stubble and leave the crop residue on top of the ground where it will do the most good. Large sweeps on middlebush beams can be used as a sub surface tillage implement. There are other tool carriers such as the Graham Hoeme plow, etc. that will do equally good jobs. In this way the soil will be open to receive the moisture and the stubble will keep a heavy rain from sealing the ground and allowing water to run off or stand on top of the ground until it is evaporated. If we recall how our soil was made, that is, by organic matter being deposited on top of the ground and decaying to add layers of topsoil, then we can readily understand that our stubble can add more soil properties from the top of the ground.

The Board of Supervisors expressed their hopefulness that farmers in the Lynn County Soil Conservation District will all work toward the same objective of holding rainfall in the land.

MRS. MERLIN GENE SPARKS

Miss Dorothy Ann Durham Is Married To Lt. Merlin Gene Sparks In Ceremony Here

Wearing a wedding gown of traditional ivory satin, Miss Dorothy Ann Durham of Tahoka became the bride of Lt. Merlin Gene Sparks of Commerce Sunday afternoon. The ceremony took place in the First Baptist Church of Tahoka, with Reverend Clifford Harris, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. K. R. Durham of Tahoka. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sparks of Commerce.

Marriage vows were exchanged before an altar banked with a profusion of palms and yellow chrysanthemums. White cathedral tapers lighted the sanctuary. Mrs. W. P. Hutchison of Tahoka, aunt of the bride and organist, played "Through the Years" and "Nocturne in E flat" before the ceremony. Mrs. Harold Green of Tahoka sang "This Golden Day of Promise" and "I Love Thee." At the close of the marriage service, Mrs. Green sang "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go."

The bride descended the aisle with her father, who gave her in marriage. Her gown was an original model of ivory Duchess satin with fitted princess lines. Designed with stand-up Mandarin collar elaborately embroidered with crystal beads and seed pearls, the dress has new dropped shoulder line. The long sleeves tapered to points over the hands, and the wristline was held by loops and buttons also on top of the hands. A long row of tiny buttons also extended down center back terminating with long-torso waistline. From this, stemmed a magnificent skirt made with high fitted princess-lined midriff at front and a good way to do that is to cover up the soil with either a growing cover crop or a good crop residue such as sorghum stubble.

and shirred fullness at back which swept into a full-length train.

Her two-tiered fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was caught to an open framework of pearls fashioned into a Juliet cap. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids tied with satin streamers entwined with stephanotis.

Mrs. Fort McMeans attended her sister as matron of honor, and Miss Mary Louise Fenton was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Jane Rogers of Charleston, S. C., Patty Holcombe of Pecos, Nancy Raborn of San Antonio and Mrs. Joe Liles of Waco. They wore identical dresses of antique silk taffeta in a soft shade of aqua. Brief boleros topped the strapless bodices from which fell bouffant full-length skirts. Accenting a wedding ring design, the bride's attendants carried circlets of yellow pom-pom mums and yellow satin.

Mr. Sparks served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Jimmy Perkins of Mt. Pleasant, Bill Payne of Rule, Jerry Cranford of Commerce, and Paxton Hutchison and Kenneth Durham, Jr., cousin and brother of the bride, of Tahoka. The bridegroom and his attendants were attired in white dinner jackets and dark trousers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, Laid with a cutwork cloth, the table was centered with the bride's bouquet and flanked by candelabra holding four lighted tapers. At either end of the table, the three-tiered wedding cake and punch bowl were placed.

Those in the house party were Miss Margaret Hutchison of Oklahoma City, aunt of the bride; Mrs. S. E. Simpson of Commerce, cousin of the groom, and Misses Jamie May Hutchison of Corona, Calif., cousin of the bride; Jane Taylor of Seymour, Kathy Johnston of Waco, and Joynelle Hamilton of Tahoka.

For a wedding trip the bride wore a suit of green wool trimmed with white angora. Her accessories were brown lizard, blegg hat and an orchid corsage. The couple will live in San Antonio for the present.

Lt. Sparks is a 1953 graduate of Baylor University, majoring in Business Administration. He was a member of Alpha Phi Omega, men's service fraternity. He received his commission in the Air Force last June. Mrs. Sparks had two years at Baylor University and was a member of Delta Alpha Pi, social club.

Guests attended the wedding from Corona, California, Oklahoma City, Shreveport, La., Kilgore, Commerce, and Pampa.

Friends In Tahoka Harve Smith Treats

Harve Smith of the New Lynn community delighted a number of his Tahoka friends Monday by presenting each of the fortunate ones with a giant watermelon grown this year on his farm in that community. The one which he presented to the senior editor must have weighed at least 50 or 60 pounds. It must be good too, for it sure does go "punk". Among other old men who got one were W. M. Harris, scarcely old enough to qualify, and Old Happy Smith, almost too old. We will not undertake to name the others, for we might leave some deserving melon fiends out. Big-hearted men like Harve Smith are fine fellows to have hanging around. He must have a fine irrigation well out there to have raised such specimens.

President A. M. Bray of the Tahoka Rotary Club asserts that Rotary International is spending some $350,000.00 annually, offering scholarships through Rotary Clubs the world over for advanced study without their own country. He added that 115 students will be selected for Rotary Foundation Fellowships from the 89 Countries of the world in which Rotary is now organized for the academic year of 1955-56. These fellowship students' expenses are fully paid, and the only obligation imposed is that they act as unofficial ambassadors in the country which they are taking advanced studies for the way of life of their native land. And, in return, when their study is finished and they return to their own country they are expected to likewise act as unofficial ambassadors in selling the way of life in the country in which they have been an advanced student. Rotary International feels that this is a material and very effective way of promoting good will and international understandings amongst the peoples of the world.

Miss Jones, after graduating from the University of Texas, taught school in Midland, Texas for one year before undertaking her year of study in Manchester, England, and her travels over the Continent of Europe. She will return to her home town this fall and teach English in the Sweetwater High School.

President Bray also announces that the 183rd District of Rotary International is eligible to select a Foundation Fellowship student again this year, and would like to have applications from qualified and outstanding graduates of Universities of requisite standing residing in this territory.

NEW HOME FISHERMEN TAKE GIRL TO SCHOOL

Mr. and Mrs. John Armontrout and Miss Delores Edwards of New Home and Donald John Caudle of Lake Whitney left Tuesday morning for a few days fishing at Lake Whitney and to visit their kin there and in Waco.

They were accompanied by Miss Sue Cowan, who last week enrolled in Baylor University but on Saturday became ill with an abscessed tooth and after seeing a dentist in Waco was advised to return to Dr. Durham for further treatment. After removal of the tooth, she was ready to return to Baylor. She is very enthused over the school.

She came back to Tahoka with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Inman of Muleshoe, who last week had taken Sue and their daughter, Pat, to Baylor and were visiting a few days in Brownwood with Mrs. Inman's sister, Mrs. Bean and family.

John did some fishing while there, but we failed to get a report on the big one that got away.

James Hardy - Eubanks, wife and baby, were here Friday visiting his mother, Mrs. Helen Honeycutt. They were en route from Amarillo, where he has been working this summer, back to Austin, where he is a senior law student in the University of Texas.

Bulldogs Lose To Littlefield, Score 28-13

Tahoka Bulldogs put up a gallant fight last Friday night in their opening game here with the Littlefield Wildcats, but were outscored by the visitors 28 to 13.

This was Littlefield's second game, Tahoka's first. Six fumbles by Tahoka, losing the ball on three as against only one fumble by the Wildcats, and the sharp passing game of the visitors spelled the difference.

The Bulldogs attack sputtered in the first half because of first game jitters, but in the second half the home boys came back to outplay Littlefield except on about two plays. Littlefield ran up seven first downs to Tahoka's three in the first half, but the Bulldogs made eight first to Littlefield's two in the second half.

Coaches Bill Haralson and Dean Wright are attempting this week to correct errors made by the team, and the boys are due to look better against Denver City tonight.

Except for the fumbles, caused by jitters and by trying to master the difficult split-T formation, and an ineffective pass defense at times, the Bulldogs played pretty fair ball, as the statistics will show.

Tahoka kicked off, and "Rabbit" Vaughn, Littlefield halfback, ran the ball back to Tahoka's 45, but the local boys held them for downs on the 29. Tahoka was offside on the first play, and although quarterback Gordon Smith made 13 yards on a run the Bulldogs fumbled twice, and Fullback I. V. J. Melton punted. The Wildcats made a first end running to Tahoka's 47. Left end Keith Davis took a 21 yard pass to Tahoka's 26, and on the next play took another for 26 yards and Littlefield's first TD. Vaughn converted on his first of four place-kick attempts for the extra point.

Smith ran the kick-off from the 15 to the 23, and corroborated with Tommy Franklin, Milton, and Jerry Williams in rolling up three successive first downs to carry the ball to Littlefield's 43, where Tahoka fumbled and Littlefield recovered. Two running plays, a 10-yard pass to Klieh, and a 16-yard screen pass to Vaughn, a pitch-out, another running play, and a 22-yard pass to Davis was good for Littlefield's second touchdown.

Tahoka's attack again fizzled, and the Wildcats were threatening again as the half ended.

The Bulldogs came to life in the second half, and twice seemed to be marching goalward but twice they lost the ball on fumbles. They held the visitors twice, but the third time, the Wildcats started another passing attack, mixed with one run for 14 yards, and then Vaughn took a screen pass and scampered 32 yards to paydirt behind nearly perfect blocking. This came early in the fourth quarter.

After a punt exchange, Tahoka went for its first score, with Franklin, Williams, Smith and Melton toting the ball. Smith going the last seven for Tahoka's first score. Melton's placement missed.

Littlefield's End Davis brought the kickoff to Tahoka's 43, and on the next play Vaughn broke off right tackle and twisted 43 yards to score again.

Too late, Tahoka got another attack underway. Smith made 13 yards two, Bell took a jump pass for 12, Williams a pass for 17, and two plays later another 20 yard pass for the Last TD in the fading moments of the game. Melton's kick was good after the visitors had been penalized one yard on the first try.

The above Tahoka backs looked good at times, along with Halfback Pridmore. In the line, Stanley Stone, Jimmy Williams, and Duane McMillan played good games, and Garland Huddleston played his center position well. Others in the line included Guy Witt, Don Reed, Ware High, Ronnie Brooks, and at end, L. W. Castleberry and Carlton Bell, and possibly others.

The passing of Littlefield quarterback Bob Orr and the ball handling of Dan Howard, and line play of Bobby Murdock and Wayne Wicker were outstanding for the visitors.

A live play-by-play broadcast of the game was presented by KVOW, Littlefield, to fans in that town.

At halftime, the Littlefield and Tahoka bands presented a colorful and entertaining program on the field. This was the first appearance of Tahoka's band under the new director, Myron Gilstrap, and patrons present seemed well pleased with their performance.

Kelley Field stadium was almost filled to capacity for the game.

The game statistics:

Tahoka	Littlefield
11 First Downs	9

Cain Speaker At Rotary Meeting

One of the best talks heard in many weeks by local Rotarians was that given by one of the local club's own members, Alton Cain, at the club meeting Thursday noon.

Using the topic, "The Economic Situation in a Democracy," Alton traced the development of our economic system through the history of our nation, and passed on some observations of present trends. He had put a lot of study and preparation into preparing the talk, and it was a very interesting and enlightening one.

Dr. K. R. Durham and O. C. Elliott are program chairmen for the month of September.

Wynne Collier gave the official welcome talk to O. E. Eubanks, classification cotton farmer, a new member of the club.

Junior Rotarians for the month

Letters From News Readers—

(The News welcomes letters from its readers on any current subject, not libelous, of course. All communications must be of reasonable length and must be signed. On request, the signature will not be printed.)

Letter to the Editor
Mr. E. I. Hill,
Tahoka, Texas:

I'm not the historian that you are. I have lived long enough to absorb a few things. You had much to say about the Parr regime.

You well remember the Jim Ferguson official record, and your beloved Coke's political record.

Refresh your memory a little. Do you remember Archie Parr? He was in the state senate for a long, long time. He was the Duke of the Duval area for a long, long time. Archie Parr carried the Duval area almost solid for Jim Ferguson. Of course there wasn't any corruption down there then.

During this time your friend Coke was in the House at the time, and was elected Speaker of the House twice, something no one had ever done up to this time.

Then Archie faded away and then Sir George took over. Then your friend Coke became Lieutenant Governor. Then Governor. Then during his last term George wanted an appointment for a friend in the Duval area. Coke said "NO." Then the lid flew off, you know the results. Lyndon Johnson carried the Duval area almost solid.

Up to that good hour you had never heard a howl or anyone call for an investigation. You were a publisher at that time. Did you ever raise your voice against it? But now you are ready to speak out, Corruption! Corruption! Every one-eyed Negro knew it was going on and had been for years. Enough for that.

ODDS AND ENDS

(BY E. I. THE ELDER)

This columnist is publishing a publican propaganda, claiming that the Republicans had elected Allan Shivers as the basis for a plea for Democratic votes for a Republican candidate for Congress up in the Panhandle. It is doubtless true that Shivers did get some Republican votes but I do not think that is any disgrace or should be made the basis for political trades. Let that Republican candidate in the Panhandle run for Congress on his own merits.

You drag Jim Ferguson into the discussion as an example of corruption, I suppose, declare that the original Duke of the Duval area, Archie Parr, carried that area almost solid for Jim Ferguson, and then add, sarcastically, "Of course there wasn't any corruption down there then." You go on to say that I was a publisher at that time and ask if I ever raised my voice against the corruption until recently. Now, I dislike to use so much of this column in discussing myself, but as the discussion will involve not so much a defense of my own course as it will set forth quite a bit of history that has been made in the past fifty-odd years, I will gladly accommodate you, Mr. Walker, in all good humor.

As for Jim Ferguson, I am sure that I knew him better than any other person in Lynn county ever knew him. I first met him when he was still a very young man studying law in the office of George W. Tyler, one of the most prominent lawyers in Belton, and when I was just a youth out of school preparing to study law. I was a few years later when I came to know him intimately. After I had studied law one year in the University of Texas and had studied another year or two longer while teaching a country school, an old school-mate of mine Tom Whiteley who was studying law also, and I went down to Belton to spend a month in preparation to stand the law examination. We engaged board at a boarding house, and when supper time came we found Jim Ferguson and his wife sitting just across the table and fronting us. Before marriage his wife was Miriam

In the third place, I did not publish and do not intend to publish it for another reason. So far as I know, Mr. Porter is a nice gentleman, but if I were to undertake to publish all the political letters that nice gentlemen write for daily and weekly news papers, I could fill this paper full of such stuff every week, and have little or no room left for anything else. Besides, that letter was pure Republic News?

I think Jack Porter is more competent, being a Republican, than you are to give the Why's and Whereby's.

Yours most respectfully,
J. B. Walker
P. S. I'm writing this for your letter column.
Lubbock, 2421, 21st, September 3, 1954.

(Ed. This letter calls for a response, which you will find in the ODDS and ENDS Column in this paper this week.)

Wallace, daughter of the elderly Mr. Jo Wallace, who lived near Belton. Jim himself was the son of a Methodist preacher but made no professions of being a Christian himself. Miriam had a sister named Johnnie Wallace who ate at the same table with us, but while we were still boarding there she married a young Doctor named McElhannon, a quick-witted man of whom our own Dr. Prohl reminds me often.

Jim Ferguson at that time was City Attorney of Belton and was a law partner of John D. Robinson, the district attorney. In those days, when an applicant appeared before the District Judge making application to be admitted to the bar, the District Judge appointed a committee of lawyers to give him an oral examination and make a recommendation to the Court respecting his application.

Tom Whiteley and I stood the examination on the same day, July 2, 1900. The committee appointed to conduct the examination consisted of Judge Cochran of Temple, one of the best lawyers in Texas, former District Attorney W. T. Shannon, and James E. Ferguson, Judge M. Furman was the District, who admitted us to the Bar.

On Sunday morning a day or two later, Ferguson invited me to go with him for a drive in a buggy drawn by two high-stepping horses out a few miles into the country. On that trip, Ferguson proposed to take me into his law office and to allow me a designation percent of the fees taken in. I declined on the ground that Tom Whiteley and I had already agreed to open up a law office as partners and that I was going to stay by my agreement with him. I rarely ever tell this for fear that people would think I was boasting. Whiteley and I did open up a law office in Temple, and eight years later, after having served two terms as county attorney of Bell county, I moved west, locating at the new and thriving town of Roscoe which was hoping to get the Santa Fe Railway, but didn't.

During the eight years that I continued to live in Bell county after being admitted to the bar and the six years I had lived at Roscoe when Ferguson announced as a candidate for Governor, I had watched his career as a lawyer, banker, citizen, and politician and did not like it. Furthermore, he announced as a strong Anti-Prohibitionist and at once became the candidate of the liquor forces of Texas, and I did not like that. I had long been an active "dry" advocate, had served as secretary of the dry forces in one election in Bell county, had been elected to two terms as county attorney of that county largely by the "drys" and had fought the boot-leggers, "blind tigers," and fake order houses against a combination of three able lawyers employed for a given period of months by the law-breakers, brewers, and wholesale liquor houses operating out of other cities, and had thus learned that a man takes his life in his hands when he goes up against such a corrupt and crooked gang as the liquor forces, local and nation-wide. I am casting no reflection on the lawyers; it's the crooks they represent.

Just to show you that these are not idle or exaggerated statements, I will go further. In efforts to break up the unlawful traffic, I often went with a deputy sheriff, Jim Blair, whose son just then reaching maturity later became a long-time justice of the court-of-civil appeals in Austin--I refer to Judge Mallory Blair--to make raids on the unlawful joints.

Thoroughly convinced that a house in Temple was being used for the sale of liquor, Jim Blair and I on one occasion, procured a search warrant from a justice of the peace and he and I made our way to the suspected building. We had raided it once or twice before and found no liquor. This time we searched under the floor, as far as we could do so, through a hole in the floor behind the bar, but still found no liquor. There were barrels and junk in the dark corners of the ground floor room and we searched through them thoroughly, but still found nothing. We went upstairs and searched thoroughly through similar junk up there, but still found nothing. We came back down stairs and while Blair was making some further searches near the front, I walked back to the rear of a boxed-up stairway, which had been thus boxed up when the building was constructed years before. Peering into every crack and crevice for every possible clue, I detected a hair-like line across the plank and on a little closer inspection discovered in the dark setting that it was a door with a keyhole but no knob. I called out, "Here, Jim Here it is." Jim came hastily back, took his knife-blade and inserted it into the keyhole and to our surprise he easily unlocked the door. Back in that under stair space, was a bar some twenty feet long and a red-headed bar-tender behind it.

By that time, quite a crowd of scowling, menacing "pimps," and beer-guzzlers, base hoodlums, muttering vile oaths had gathered in the room and were inching their way closer and closer to the doorway door. Blair, handed me his big six-shooter and said, "Hill, you keep those fellows back from this door while I roll these barrels of beer out." I stood there with the cocked pistol in my hand and kept them back. But I was afraid that they might make a sudden rush upon me at anytime; and if they had, I might not be here today. Jim brought out the beer and some whiskey too, and then the crowd began to melt away.

That was just one experience, Mr. Walker. Jim Blair and I made several similar raids. A deputy sheriff named Brooks and I made two or three raids together, and on many a Saturday afternoon I entered the door way of some "club" house in Belton where crowds of beer guzzlers or whiskey drinkers had gathered to receive their goods. All I did or tried to do in those places was to begin writing down the names of men I recognized in order to have them summoned into a court of inquiry or into the next grand jury for questioning. Some of the managers of those places were real criminals and they hated me as if I were a rattlesnake in their midst, for usually when I entered one of those places the crowds would begin to slink out. There are numbers of men still in Bell county and a few out on these plains, who, I believe would substantially corroborate these statements today.

A lot of people thought I was very foolish to go into them, and possibly I was, but any officer or prosecutor must take chances in dealing with murderous gangs.

It may be that experiences like these made me feel so keenly when members of the Parr gang tried to murder my first wife's nephew by hiding in ambush and firing upon him during the trial of one of them for murder in a case which had been transferred from the duchy of the Duke of Duval to Belton for trial in 1949.

Do you think I could condone criminality and corruption like that, Mr. Walker.

And so, when Jim Ferguson announced for Governor on a dripping wet platform in 1914, immediately I was against him. I guess Archie Parr was for him every time he ran, which was a number of times. But I never voted for him in my life. I did vote for Mrs. Ferguson once, when she and Felix D. Robertson were pitted against each other in a runoff race for governor. Long before that race was made Felix D. Robertson visited me once in my law office in Roscoe. I do not remember that we even mentioned politics, just engaged in ordinary conversation, but when he announced later as a candidate for governor, I remember the character of conversation in which he had indulged, and I said in my heart, "I do not think that man is fit to be governor of Texas."

So, I never did vote for Jim Ferguson and I never did vote for Felix D. Robertson.

Talk about my shunning to fight corruption! You ought to get up against the real thing some time, J. B., as I have been. There will be a lot more of this, J. B. I am just now getting started. For I am against that bunch of crooks down in Duval Are you? If so why don't you quit condoning them and give brave John Ben Shepard an encouraging pat of the back as he continues to fight them, whatever you may think about Shivers. Mr. Hamilton bought the 320 acre farm from John Stander in 1929, and managed to weather the depression years to pay it off. At the time, he was living on the Louis Trautwein farm four miles west of Wilson, where he farmed 20 years before moving to his present home place.

On moving to his own place, he remodeled the house and made it a modern farm home about ten years ago. This is a dry land farm, but he has another 80 acres nearby on which he has two small wells.

Mr. Hamilton evidently is a practical farmer. He contours his rows and tries to carry out all other good farming practices with in his means. Right now he has 18 head of roan Durham cows. Formerly, he had a bunch of dairy cattle, but had to give them up because of the work involved.

New Billing System Is Adopted By Southwestern Associated Telephone

Telephone subscribers in Tahoka are receiving a different new type telephone bill this month. R. E. Saunders, district manager of General Telephone Company of the Southwest, announced today.

The new bill marks the beginning of subscriber telephone billing by mechanical equipment. Tahoka is one of the five exchanges selected as the first in the Southwest to be converted to this billing procedure. Other Texas cities first to receive the new bill are Sulphur Springs, Bishop, Boerne, and Perryton, Saunders said.

Additional exchanges will be added each succeeding month until all 242 exchanges of the Company are being billed in new manner. The program will be spread out over an 8 to 10 month period.

In describing the new bills, Saunders said they are about the weight of a postcard, compared with the paper bills in the past. They are 7 and three-fourth inches long by three and one-fourth inches high and are not folded in the envelopes as were the former bills. General's new insignia appears on the new bills, which are printed in green.

Saunders added that the new bills, like the old ones, have a stub. This stub must be returned with the payment, he continued, and must not be bent or mutilated by the subscriber since a mutilated stub cannot be returned through the machine for re-counting purposes. He stressed that the more stubs that are returned with the bill payments, the more efficient and economical will be the operation of the Company.

The beginning of subscriber billing by mechanical accounting equipment was described by Saunders as "another milestone of progress by General Telephone Company. This new billing method is a major undertaking and is the result of many months of study and discussion. New procedures had to be developed. By
