The SDN Column

Most of the year has slithered by so rapidly that we wonder where it went, but of course the calendar is just getting its track shoes on. The next six weeks will go by even faster than the rest of the year. It is the same every year. That period from mid-November to New Year's Day passes with breathtaking speed. If you don't believe it, just mark it down that six weeks from tomorrow will be New Year's Day and then before you can put your pen or pencil away, 1976 will be here.

That possibly is one reason that people over the years have gradually put out their Christmas decorations and started their Christmas shopping earlier and earlier. Which reminds us, that Snyder will have to consider revamping or replacing its street decorations in the near future. Those on display now have served well, but most of them have pretty well "had it."

West Texas winds are tough on these things, and usually about four or five years are about as long as you can expect them to last without major overhaul.

There are some, of course, who would do away with such things. They are somewhat costly and they are a bunch of trouble, especially when things go wrong, like a sandstorm. But American cities and towns have traditionally "decorated" themselves for the Christmas season and a lot of people, including us, wonder if we are not abandoning too many of our traditions. Granted, it is difficult to keep pace in a society that becomes ever more complex, and conditions now are a far cry from the days when most of the Christmas shopping was done the day before Christmas and usually late in the afternoon or early evening at that. But it is truly a tradition of this country and there is no doubt about its public support.

A few weeks ago, the Dallas Chamber of Commerce announced that it planned to save money and forego traditional street decorations this Christmas season. The announcement stirred up a hornet's nest all the way from the mayor's office to the city limit lines.

In case you are considering a winter vacation in the warm climates, check up on alphabetical abbreviations before you sign up for any package deal. The Travel and Information Division of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation reports that a New York agency has had good response to advertisments of "V.I.B. Tours." They consist of a 15-day package for about $229 to resorts in Florida and the Caribbean, with plenty of swimming, sightseeing, etc. You see, V.I.B. stands for "Vacation in the Buff."—WACIL McNAIR.

VICTORY CELEBRATION—Celebrating a victory at a coffee session this morning were these Scurry County United Way campaign leaders. The campaign's final report showed contributions and pledges totalling $50,794.89, or 113 per cent of the $45,000 goal. From left are Beverly Ainsworth, co-chairman in the Public Employe Division; Bill Gilliland, general campaign co-chairman; and Ed Micak, United Way vice president.

United Way Is Over The Top!

Scurry County United Way workers savored their first victory celebration in more than 15 years this morning as the 1975 campaign officially ended with unprecedented success.

The campaign, which supports operations of 13 participating agencies, had accounted for $50,794.89, according to tabulations at the final report session. This represents 113 per cent of the $45,000 goal.

Eight of the nine divisions in the campaign exceeded their respective goals, Bill Gilliland, campaign co-chairman said, and the other division was expected to reach its goal momentarily.

The commercial division lacked less than $200 reaching its $7,600 goal when the meeting began, and by the time the meeting was over it was reported that more contributions were on the way in that division.

Workers were praised by Gilliland and Wilma Dillard, who were co-leaders of the drive, and by Lyle Deffebach, United Way president, and Ed Micak, United Way vice president.

Deffebach said the workers and the entire comunity could take pride in the achievement and that United Way leaders now must work to "see that this pride carries over to next year."

It is only the third time in its 21-year history that the Scurry County United Way has reached its goal. The last time a United Way goal was reached here was in 1959.

Plaques and certificates of appreciation were presented to division leaders and workers by Micak, Mrs. Dillard and Gilliland, and the presentations were climaxed by the presentation of a special plaque to Deffebach, who has been actively associated with the United Way since it was organized in 1954 and prior to that worked with many of the agencies it supports. The presentation to Deffebach was made by Bassett Keller.

The reports by divisions were as follows: Advance, $17,088.07 on a goal of $16,000, or 107 per cent; Branch House, $1,825 on a goal of $1,400, or 130 per cent; Commerical, $7,415.30 on a goal of $7,600, or 98 per cent; Educational, $4,472.60 on a goal of $3,700, or 121 per cent; Oil and Industry, $9,765.78 on a goal of $8,000, or 122 per cent; Professionals, $1,901 on a goal of $1,500, or 127 per cent; Public Employes, $1,758.14 on a goal of $1,400, or 126 per cent; Rural, $1,814.50 on a goal of $1,500, or 121 per cent; Utilities, $4,294.50 on a goal of $3,900, or 110 per cent. An extra division, classified as Royalty Owners, accounted for $460.

SPECIAL AWARD—Lyle Deffebach, Scurry County United Way President, left, receives a special plaque at the United Way Campaign victory celebration. The plaque, presented to Deffebach in recognition of his work in the organization since it was founded, was presented by Bassett Keller.

FBI Official Testifies King 'Plots' Unjustified

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top FBI official said today there was no justification for the bureau's extensive campaign to destroy Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as a leader of the civil rights movement.

However, Associate Deputy Director James B. Adams defended the bureau's investigation of possible Communist influences on King and said that the late Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had requested and approved FBI wiretaps on the civil rights leader.

Testifying under oath before the Senate intelligence committee, Adams said a total of 25 schemes were directed at discrediting King for which there was "no statutory basis or justification."

Adams said the motive for the campaign against King "was known to (the late FBI Director J. Edgar) Hoover and one top official," but Adams refused to reveal that motive.

Evidence made public Tuesday revealed that the FBI had wiretapped and bugged King, sent his wife an anonymous letter which King took to be a suggestion he commit suicide shortly before he was to receive the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize, and sought to promote a successor to King as the "national Negro leader."

He identified Kennedy as the attorney general but did not mention the president by name. Kennedy served as attorney general under both Presidents Lyndon B. Johnson and John F. Kennedy.

As described by Adams, Robert Kennedy initially requested the wiretap on King but then turned down the wiretap proposal submitted by the FBI. The bureau made a second proposal which Kennedy approved, according to Adams. "I don't know why he changed his mind," Adams said.

Dolls Needed By Goodfellows

The Snyder Goodfellows need dolls and stuffed animals. That was the appeal this morning from Rev. Henry Hartman, chairman for the Goodfellows this year. He said dolls and stuffed animals may be taken to the Child Day Care Center at Thirty-first Street and Avenue B.

"The R.S.V.P. has agreed to work on the dolls and animals and repair them," Rev. Hartman said.

DEFENSE SPENDING UNSETTLED

Congress Agrees To Close Antiballistic Missile Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House and Senate agree on closing the nation's only antiballistic missile base but congressional conferees still face 215 points of disagreement on defense spending and one big dispute with President Ford over total arms costs.

The $112.6-billion Senate defense bill, passed 87 to 7 Tuesday, is $8.3 billion less than Ford asked. The figure covers appropriations for the 15 months ending Sept. 30, 1976.

The House earlier voted $111.8 billion for the same period.

Ford has insisted repeatedly that his defense budget had little fat to trim. However, the bill's supporters made no mention of any threatened veto.

The Senate rejected, 55 to 38, a last-minute effort by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., to slash another $568 million from the bill.

Eagleton said the military has become such a spend-thrift that the effectiveness of U.S. forces has been reduced. Sophisticated weapons "have given rise to the mistaken notion that automated, push-button wars are feasible ... and they have spawned the erroneous idea that machines, not people, win wars," he said.

Eagleton said the Pentagon is "infatuated with gadgetry" and is depleting scarce resources.

But Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, argued the budget has been cut to the bone and said only the defense posture of the United States protects the world against "the unholy ambitions of some other country."

The Senate bill remained virtually in the same form as approved by the Senate Armed Services Committee. But that panel made more than 200 changes in the House bill.

Several changes were made on the Senate floor, although they would have relatively little effect on the spending totals.

The biggest debate on the Senate floor ended in a 52 to 47 vote directing that the nation's only antiballistic-missile facility (ABM), located at Grand Forks, N.D., be mothballed except for its radar.

TEXAS BEEFS UP PATROLS

Truckers Strike Tonight

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — The head of a recently organized truckers organization said today the group will strike at midnight and warned of violence if produce haulers in South Texas don't park their trucks.

David Coers, president of the produce Haulers of Texas, said there will be picketing and possible roadblocks on highways leading north out of the Valley.

"If they (truckers) don't shut down, I know there's going to be violence," Coers said. His organization says it has 300 members.

"I hope we don't see any violence, but we've got a lot of hot folks down here," Coers said. He said that truckers from Pennsylvania, Missouri and Arkansas are in the area to support the strike.

The Produce Haulers of Texas is seeking a 25 per cent rate increase. Valley shippers say they cannot afford the increase.

The Department of Public Safety put additional patrols on two U.S. highways.

Coers said the truckers will use pickets and roadblocks to stop the produce trucks.

But a spokesman for another group, the Produce Haulers of America, said he did not believe many truckers would join the strike.

Millard Holden said, "A lot of truckers said they're going to roll even if they have to roll over somebody."

Willis Deines of the Harlingen-based Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers Association said a truck strike would be "pretty damaging" to Valley growers.

Deines said about 90 per cent of the Valley's produce is shipped to northern markets in trucks and about 100 per cent of the Valley's multi-million dollar citrus crop is shipped in trucks.

Mike Parkhurst, editor of Overdrive Magazine, circulated a letter to truckers Tuesday warning them "to stay the hell out of the McAllen-Pharr area." Parkhurst was expected in the Valley late Tuesday to organize the efforts of the striking truckers.

Another contest begins today, and the list of games may be found in sponsors' advertisements on the football contest page of this issue of The Snyder Daily News.

Rotan Man Hurt In Mishap

A Rotan man sustained multiple leg injuries this morning at 12:30 a.m. in a one-car mishap 10 miles east of Snyder on the Camp Springs Road.

Jesus Lopez, 20, was taken from the scene to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Galyean Ambulance service, and treated and transferred to a Lubbock Hospital.

Highway Patrolmen said that Lopez, operating a 1969 Ford, struck a bridge railing at about 12:30 a.m. and was not found until about 3 a.m.

In addition to the multiple leg injuries, highway patrolmen said he was also suffering from shock. His 1969 Ford was demolished in the mishap.

Later this morning, at 8:15 a.m., Highway Patrolmen investigated a one-vehicle mishap involving a 1974 White Truck-Tractor which occurred 3.4 miles south of Snyder on U.S. 84.

Patrolmen said that the truck apparently went out of control on the rain slick highway and jackknifed, causing heavy damage to the truck. The driver, Earn R. Roberts of Marshall, Mo., escaped uninjured.

Yesterday at 4:40 p.m. the highway patrol investigated a minor two-vehicle mishap at the intersection of Avenue E and Thirty-seventh Street.

Involved was a 1973 Ford driven by Eustolia Miranda of Rotan, and a 1975 Ford operated by Billy Randell Potter of 3206 Fortieth Snyder. Highway patrolmen said that both vehicles were travelling east and one was attempting to turn onto Avenue E when the mishap occurred.

There were no injuries in the mishap.

Ford Doesn't Budge On NYC

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford refused again today to offer New York City any hope of federal bailout aid and instead urged the city and New York state to continue to work toward fiscal responsibility.

"I am convinced that if New York continues to move toward fiscal responsibility, all parties concerned can look forward to a satisfactory resolution despite the current obstacles," Ford said in a five-paragraph statement released by his press secretary, Ron Nessen.

If the city and state continue to make progress, Ford said, "I will review the situation early next week to see if any legislation is appropriate at the federal level."

Nessen said the President did not have any specific legislation in mind, but the statement said the bailout bill now before the House of Representatives to provide a loan guarantee of about $3 billion dollars "is irrelevant" and "I would veto it."

Many New Yorkers have held out some hope that Ford would ease his stand on federal aid to their fiscally troubled city.

Ford's statement was promised Tuesday after the President met with his economic advisors and with Republican members of the New York congressional delegation.

Ford in the past has insisted he will oppose any federal "bailout" of New York City and that the city and state should take tough steps to solve their local problem.

One person who is predicting a new Ford policy, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said after meeting Tuesday night with Ford that the President seems close to some kind of aid for the city but that "there's been no change in position" on Ford's opposition to pending aid legislation.

A conflicting view came from Rep. Peter Peyser, R-N.Y., who also met with Ford. He said Ford's statement today would not contain any new proposals dealing with the crisis and added that the President seems to be waiting for the New York legislature to act toward solving the crisis.

Meanwhile, one nonadministration source close to the issue said Tuesday evening Ford was described as leaning toward a $2.3-billion loan guarantee for three years if the New York legislature accepts Gov. Hugh Carey's package for fiscal reform and more taxes.

Cool Front Comes In With Rain

Rain showers ushered a brisk norther into the Snyder area this morning, and colder weather was in prospect for tonight.

Winds shifted to the northwest when the front arrived shortly before 8 a.m. and within an hour thermometer readings here had dropped from the low sixties into the forties.

The cold front was expected to push deep into the state during the day, with clouds expected to break off behind the front. The temperature in Snyder reached 75 degrees Tuesday as gusty winds whipped in from the south. Today's maximum was expected to be considerably lower and the mercury appeared likely to dip below the freezing mark tonight.

Briefly heavy rains soaked parts of the Texas Plains. Showers also spread through a broad section embracing Mineral Wells, Temple and Lampasas. Other showers fell on the coastal plains near Houston.

Except for clear weather in extreme South Texas skies were overcast throughout the state and expected to stay that way. Dropping temperatures and more rain were forecast in all sections.

Temperatures in early morning dipped to 31 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle, behind the cold front, while far to the south it was still a warm 70 at Galveston on the coast.

Top marks Tuesday afternoon hit the nation's high of 85 at Cotulla and McAllen in South Texas.

TWO KILLED, 20 INJURED

Hunt Suspects In London Blast

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard launched a dragnet today for three men and a "pretty girl with long blonde hair" suspected of bombing a London restaurant with an "anarchist type" device that spewed ball bearings, nuts and bolts, killing two persons and injuring 20.

The bomb exploded Tuesday night among 70 persons in Walton's in Chelsea, one of the most expensive restaurants in the capital, killing a jeweler and the wife of a real estate developer.

Scotland Yard said it had statements from more than one witness describing the four terrorists running away and driving off, seconds after the bomb crashed through a window, landed on a table and blew up. The car they drove was a blue, British-made Singer, which went out of production about five years ago.

One witness said he had to jump aside to avoid being run down by the car. He said "the front passenger was a pretty girl with long, blonde hair. They all looked fairly grim."

Bomb squad officers described the bomb as "an anarchist type, with a spluttering fuse of the kind used to light fireworks." One witness said the bomb lay for a moment on a table "fizzing and sparkling, then there was an almighty boom and everything went black."

It was the 14th terrorist bombing in the London area in three months and raised the toll to eight dead and nearly 200 injured. The bombings are blamed on the Irish Republican Army, which has been fighting a guerrilla war to oust Britain from Northern Ireland.

The most recent attacks have all been aimed at the homes and haunts of London's rich and famous. Two other restaurants in Mayfair were among previous targets.

The man killed Tuesday night was identified as Theodore Williams, 46, managing director of a firm in the London diamond center of Hatton Garden. The dead woman was named as Audrey Edgson, also 46.

The Evening News said Mrs. Edgson and her husband, Gerald, were celebrating his 48th birthday in Walton's because the restaurant they had chosen last week — Scott's in Mayfair — was wrecked by a bomb.

Eagle, Merit Awards Highlight Scout Meet

Chris Chamblee, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Chamblee, 3111 Avenue X, was promoted to Eagle Scout rank at a Court of Honor held here last night in connection with the Lone Buffalo District's annual leadership banquet.

The court of honor was conducted by Major Bill Vestal, an Eagle Scout himself, who was introduced by Burt Runnels, cubbing chairman and master of ceremonies. The Eagle Scout badge was pinned on Chris by his mother. His father also was present for the ceremony.

The annual District Award of Merit was presented to Toni Turk, explorer chairman, who was praised for his work with the Explorer Posts.

Featured speaker for the evening was Leroy Bell of Abilene, Area IV President, South Central Region, B.S.A. He praised local scout leaders for volunteering their time and efforts.

"Scouting is people accomplishing and achieving things that are important in life," Bell declared.

He said it is rewarding work because those who work with Boy Scouts have an opportunity to watch young people grow. Also, it is an opportunity to learn, he pointed out.

"Scouting gives a better respect for yourself, others and the world we live in and the God who created us," Bell said.

He listed five points of self-renewal for volunteer workers: Creating new ideas to make the program more interesting, understand oneself or self-evaluation, the courage to overcome failure, developing a capacity for love, and motivation.

Jimmie Joe Key was inducted as the new District Chairman for 1976. He will replace George Stewart who has served for the past two years. Stewart received a plaque of appreciation from Don Butler, local scout executive.

Burt Runnels, the cubbing chairman, introduced the district leaders and praised them for their contributions to the scouting program. Included were Toni Turk, explorer chairman; Erwin Pavlik, O.A. advisor; Dina Ellis, Cub training chairman; Robert Adams, advancement chairman; Claude Woolsey, training chairman from Colorado City; and, Bill Overhulser, chairman at large.

Franco Survives Another Night

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Generalissimo Frsancisco Franco survived another night, but medical sources reported today that he is showing marked new signs of heart failure.

One source close to Franco's doctors said irregularities in the 82-year-old dictator's heartbeat "are now almost uninterrupted."

The sources also reported that peritonitis — infection in the abdominal cavity — was increasing. Franco has had three major abdominal operations to check the recurrent hemorrhaging there.

The doctors, meanwhile, reported that Franco's condition was unchanged. The first brief announcement on the 34th day of his illness said he had a quiet night.

Ellis Rites At Fluvanna

Word has been received here of the death of Truman Ellis, 65, of Abilene. He died Tuesday night in Hendrick Memorial in Abilene. He was a long time resident of Fluvanna.

Funeral service is set for 2:30 p.m. Thursday at the Church of Christ in Fluvanna. Burial will also be in Fluvanna.

He is survived by his wife, Era, of Abilene; a daughter, Mrs. Marcine Andrew of Sidney; a brother, Buel Ellis of Clyde and a granddaughter, Mrs. Kay Ward of Sidney.

Theft Cases Are Reported

City Police are investigating two separate thefts.

David Hencke reported to police that a calculator valued at $65 was taken from his Western Company, 1974 Ford car while it was parked at his residence at 1908 Coleman sometime between 12 a.m. and 9 a.m. Sunday.

It was also reported yesterday that several items had been taken from the Buccaneer Stamp Store within the past few days. Taken were an electric shaver, a woman's wrist watch, and a mens wrist watch.

Water Association In Session Here

Some 60 members and guests of the Permian Basin Water Utilities Association, which consists of Snyder and the surrounding West Texas area, were on hand last night at the East Elementary cafeteria for the organization's monthly meeting.

Jerry McWilliams, Snyder City Councilman, welcomed the visitors to Snyder. Robert Helm of Coahoma expressed on behalf of the organization appreciation for Snyder hosting the meeting.

The association elected the following new officers for the coming year: Robert Helm, of Coahoma, president; Jim Powell, of Lubbock, president-elect; Harold Jones, of Brownfield, vice president; D.W. Overman, of Big Spring, secretary; and Gene Smith of Big Spring, assistant secretary.

The organization voted to give Overman $100 in appreciation for his past work as secretary.

The highlight of the evening was a brief talk and slide presentation presented by Overman. He explained that all over his city the people of Big Spring have redone the fire hydrants. The hydrants now represent people and animals. Uncle Sam, a policeman, Raggedy Ann, and Snoopy are some of the examples.

"In front of a Baptist Church in Big Spring, one has even been redone to represent a Catholic monk," stated Overman.

"The hydrants first are reserved, then the city primes the hydrants," pointed out Overman, "then those who have reserved the hydrants can remodel them with any of five different colors of paints, distributed by the city."

These fire hydrants have been redone by city employes, high school students, elementary students, and even special education children.

Overman in addition to his slides also presented different photos and drawings of the work in Big Spring.

A dinner of turkey and dressing and all the trimmings preceded the meeting.

The next meeting was set for Dec. 9 in Big Spring.

For a while the price of oil was rising faster than inflation. And while it has stabilized it seems destined to be high from now on. This means higher fuel costs to the people who generate our power and inevitably higher costs to us. But the Midwest Electric Cooperative reaffirms its promise to provide power at its lowest possible price. It's a promise we've kept for more than 30 years.

Advice For Job Seekers

NEW YORK (AP) — There are techniques for getting a job, as well as techniques in doing a job well.

First, if you're preparing for a job interview, says Helen Cris, president of a placement agency here, Cris Associates Inc., you need to concentrate on the techniques for getting a job. She has prepared a checklist of these.

The person interviewing you for a job will already have your written resume when you arrive for the interview. In addition, says Mrs. Cris, you should be set to answer queries on personal skills and training, details of companies you've worked for, the reasons for previous job termination. There may also be such off-beat questions as what publications and books you read and where do you see yourself in five years.

When you arrive for the interview, be as calm, confident and assured as possible. Be properly dressed for a business situation, be prepared to present your history in an orderly and organized manner and — above all — be affable and gracious about answering the same questions several times.

Don't leave unexplained gaps in your resume or fill it with irrelevant details.

Don't talk too much during the interview. Don't use cliches and don't repeat yourself.

Also don't ask about working hours, job benefits, etc., until a second interview. And don't explain, if the decision seems favorable, that you will have to discuss it with your spouse.

If you have problems talking about yourself in an interview, as you're getting organized for the interview, think of yourself in the third person. Then, you can revert to the first person during the interview.

Are you aware that it takes approximately ten pounds of milk to make one pound of Cheddar cheese? Cheese has, ounce for ounce, the same protein quality as meat, fish or poultry. It also has the many other nutrients of milk, i.e., calcium, phosphorus, riboflavin and vitamin A.

Simplicity Is Key To Novel

THE LAST VALLEY. By A.B. Guthrie Jr. Houghton Mifflin. 293 Pages. $8.95.

There's something about this novel that evokes memories of Norman Rockwell and the Saturday Evening Post — the old one, not the new one.

Words such as respect, neighbors, truth and patriotism come to mind as this book is read. But then, it's a book about people of the era when those were bywords, not rare words.

Obviously, the author has captured the flavor of that era. And he has done it with a touch that hints of John Steinbeck. The story setting is a small town in a western state and it's pre and postwar development. The main character is the editor of the town's weekly newspaper.

Ben Tate becomes editor by purchasing the newspaper after his war stint. He is not from the town and enters the scene as an outsider. But his editorship puts his presence and imprint firmly on the town and its citizens, one of whom he marries.

There's a lot more to the plot, but it is this simple framework and the simplicity of its development that make "The Last Valley" a book that can be enjoyed.

It might have been better, and perhaps even of literary impact, had Guthrie chosen to go into more detail and depth in his development of the story and characters.

One of the old cliches is: "When in doubt — lead trumps". We want to amend it to: "When not in doubt — lead trumps."

West should not be in doubt today. He has four small trumps that are only useful for one thing. Every time he leads one he makes declarer use two high trumps.

Suppose, West opens a diamond. South might well fall short of 10 tricks, but he can collect them if he knows how. He takes dummy's ace of diamonds and promptly ruffs a diamond. Then he leads his king of clubs.

West takes his aoe and decides to lead a trump, but it is too late. South wins in dummy, ruffs another diamond, cashes his queen of clubs and ace of hearts and ruffs a club. Now he ruffs another diamond with his last trump and has eight tricks in. Let's count them. One trump in dummy, three diamond ruffs, one club ruff, the aces of hearts and diamonds and the queen of clubs. He still has two good trumps in dummy to give him the 10 he needs.

If West opens a trump he is sure to get the lead again to be able to lead a second trump. This will cut South down to a maximum of nine tricks which aren't enough.

Ask the Jacobys

An Iowa reader wants to know who invented the 4-3-2-1 count.

It was invented in 1915 by Bryant McCampbell of St. Louis, who suggested to Milton Work that he use it for notrump bidding. Work did and it became known as the Work count. Charles Goren made it so popular in contract that it is now universal.

Dusters Defeat Texas Tech 83-40

LUBBOCK—The WTC Dusters won their third consecutive game by destroying Texas Tech 83-40 here last night.

The game was never in doubt as the Dusters' full-court zone press came up with 21 steals and caused numerous turnovers. The Dusters converted the steals into easy baskets and used their speed and rebound power to initiate a blistering post break attack.

Every girl on the traveling squad logged considerable playing time and the Dusters had well balanced scoring led by Becky Cranford who hit on all six of her field goal attempts, and three of four from the line for 15 points. Annie Tillman turned in her finest game of the season as she hit six of nine from the floor and two of three from the line for 14 points. Marilyn Payton contributed 11 points, six rebounds, and six assists.

Theresa Beal, Tillman, and Barbara Denman also had six rebounds apeice.

Western Texas led 38-16 at the half.

"Our teamwork both offensively and defensively were much improved. Our quickness made the taller Tech team look worse than they actually were. Temi Baker, Rosemary Scott, Tillman, Dale Mitchel, and Beal were very effective on the press."

"I hope we can continue to execute this well all year. Tech employed a full court press but caused only two turnovers as our guards did an excellent job of advancing the ball," commented Coach Sid Simpson.

The Dusters are now 3-0 on the year, and their next action will be Monday night when they entertain McMurry.

Landry Praises Bradley But Says He Hits Late

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — The subject got around to Bill Bradley like it always does when the Dallas Cowboys are preparing to meet the Philadelphia Eagles.

Bradley, a former star at the University of Texas, plays with fanatical fervor at defensive safety when the two National Football League teams play and more than once has been flagged for a personal foul or two.

"Bradley is a good football player and wants to win badly," said Cowboy Coach Tom Landry Tuesday. "He hits late some...but he is a player I respect because he is a guy who wants to win."

"He may hit late only against us because he's from Texas and he likes to beat us. He doesn't want to hear any Cowboy talk when he comes home (Palestine, Tex.)".

The Eagle safety is one of the more respected members of a much-maligned Philadelphia defense.

It's ironic that Bradley recently beat out Landry, a former defensive back for the New York Giants, when the All-Time Texas Professional Football team was voted upon by the fans of the state.

Only a few boos greeted Bradley when he was introduced at halftime of the Nov. 10 Kansas City-Dallas game.

Bradley said he doesn't play any harder against the Cowboys than he does any other team.

"Nobody down there gets to see me play except against the Cowboys," said Bradley.

Landry said there always appears to be "bad blood" between the two teams mostly because the Eagles are so "frustrated."

"Philadelphia is just trying to be competitive and it's strictly because we have been on top," said Landry. "I'd be frustrated myself. It's kind of like our old Cleveland series where they use to beat us all the time."

Philadelphia hasn't won in Dallas since 1965 and the Cowboys own an 18-12 edge in the series.

Landry said it was ridiculous for his team to be made an eight-point favorite although Dallas is 6-3 compared to the Eagles' 2-7 ledger.

Dallas beat the Eagles 13-10 on a Toni Fritsch field goal at the gun the last time the teams met in Philadelphia.

"It's a tossup," said Landry. "You can look at our last nine games and come to that conclusion. They've all been close except one."

Morgan Is Most Valuable In NL

OAKLAND (AP) — Joe Morgan says he always was his team's smallest player from Little League to the major leagues. But he won the National League Most Valuable Player award by being a "complete player."

"I think of myself as a complete player, and I've tried to combine everything into my game — hitting, fielding, stealing bases and scoring," the Cincinnati Reds' 5-foot-7 second baseman said during an interview at his home here.

"I got the MVP award because the club was having a great year and I was having a good year along with it."

As the Big Red Machine ground out pennant and World Series victories this season, Morgan hit .327, fourth in the league, and reached base safely about half the times he came to bat. His 132 walks led the league, his 67 stolen bases on 77 attempts were second, his 107 runs were fourth. He drove in 97 runs, smashed 17 home runs and 27 doubles. He capped the season with the winning hit off Boston in the seventh game of the World Series.

After being selected MVP Tuesday, Morgan said: "The thing I'm most surprised about was the margin of victory. It was the largest margin in the history of the award. That's quite an honor."

Morgan got 321½ points in the balloting, followed by Philadelphia Phillies outfielder Greg Luzinski with 154 and the Pittsburgh Pirates' Dave Parker with 120.

"The only thing that separates me from other guys with great credentials is that I do more things," he said. "Luzinski didn't run bases and steal like Joe Morgan. But on the other hand, I didn't hit home runs like he did."

Morgan's baseball career started in lower middle-class East Oakland, at the foot of the hills where he, his wife and two children now live in a fashionable home with a swimming pool.

"I was always the smallest guy on all the teams I played for, starting with Little League. But I always was the best hitter on the team, always hit more home runs and things like that," he recalls. "Size was never a hinderance to me; it just was in other people's minds. A lot of scouts used to tell me, 'You're a great little ballplayer. I wish I could sign you.'"

"That never really bothered me. I always figured they were the ones who were losing, not me."

After a year at Oakland City College, Morgan was signed in 1963 by Houston for a $3,000 bonus.

Eleven years later, Morgan reacted with subdued joy at receiving baseball's highest award.

"I look at it as a team victory," he said. "Without them, the thing would not have been possible. When there was that last out in the Series, I was so happy I was frightened. I don't think any award could take the place of that."

WTC To Entertain McMurry

The Western Texas College Westerner basketball squad will entertain the McMurry JV Thursday night here at the Scurry County Coliseum.

The hosts are undefeated in two starts this season, their most recent victory being a 118-30 thrashing of Texas State Technical Institute of Waco last Saturday night.

Coach Mike Mitchell stated that he really didn't know much about the visitors. "They played Howard College and lost 107-80, then played Cisco but I don't know how they came out in that contest," declared Mitchell.

"They do have a couple of big 6-9 boys, and Howard had success pressing against McMurry and causing a lot of turnovers."

Mitchell named probable starters as Stanley Covington, 6-0 sophomore from Washington, D.C. and Lawrence Butler, 6-3 freshman from Glasgow, Mo., at guard; and Tyrone Clopton, 6-6 sophomore from Washington, D.C., Darryl Smith, 6-8 freshman from College Park, Ga., and Larry Orton, 6-8 freshman from Portsmouth, Va., at forward.

TALENTED TAILBACK—Bill McCleskey, 194-pound senior tailback, will be in the lineup for the Slaton Tigers when they take on the Anson Tigers at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Snyder's Tiger Stadium in a Bi-District Class AA schoolboy football playoff game. McCleskey is the team's leading rusher with 1,397 yards in 10 games for a 5.1 yard average. He has scored 18 touchdowns.

Tickets On Sale For AA Playoff

Tickets for the Class AA Bi-District high school football playoff game to be held in Tiger Stadium here Friday night are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office. They cost $2.50 each for adults and $1 each for students. They also will be available at the gate.

Kickoff is on tap for 7:30 p.m. Friday. The game pits Slaton's Tigers against Anson's Tigers. Slaton, sporting a 6-4 season record and a 5-1 district mark, tied Post and Denver City for the 5-AA crown, then won a drawing to represent the district in the playoffs. Anson is 8-1-1 for the season and won the 6-AA title outright with a 4-1-1 mark.

Coach of Slaton is Ed Cook while Dick Rogers is coach of Anson. Both coaches said defense is their team's strongpoint. Anson operates from a Houston Veer attack and has good balance, throwing the ball as often as they pass. Slaton uses a Slot I attack and depends primarily on a running game. Each team has an outstanding back—Bill McCleskey, 194-pound senior tailback for Slaton, and Tony Watts, 185-pound senior quarterback, for Anson.

Slaton has victories over Dimmitt, Post, Roosevelt, Tahoka, Cooper and Frenship but has lost to Colorado City, Littlefield, Abernathy and Denver City. Anson has beaten Haskell, Rotan, Albany, Clyde, Hamlin, Stamford, Colorado City and Ballinger but lost to Coahoma and was tied by Winters. Slaton has scored 186 points compared with 95 for the opposition while Anson has tallied 247 points and yielded 97.

Defensively, both teams use the Oklahoma "Five,"—the same alignment used by the Snyder Tigers. Colorado City is the only common opponent. Anson beat the Wolves 12-0 while Slaton lost to the same team, 14-13, in the first game of the season.

The game rates as a tossup, and both coaches are predicting a close, hard-fought battle.

Hermleigh Boys Win

Hermleigh took a 17-4 lead in the initial period and easily coasted to victory.

Cathy Hess led the Hermleigh girls with 16 points while Becky Fletcher contributed 12 rebounds.

Tiger Girls Fall At Hamlin 107-41

HAMLIN—The host Piped Piper girls thrashed the Snyder High School girls varsity basketball team, 107-41, here last night after the Snyder JV fell, 59-29.

Only one Snyder girl was in double figures for the varsity. Cathy Minton pitched in 29 points. E. Hooper sparked the Hamlin attack with 58 points while Starlit Covington contributed 21 and Tracy Gregory added 15.

The Snyder girls hit only 14 of 49 for 29 per cent from the field. They also made only 13 of 27 free throws. Patti Ayers led in rebounds with seven, and Cathy Minton grabbed six. The team as a whole claimed 34 rebounds.

Debbie Newman sparked the JV attack with 15 points. She was the only girl in double figures. For Hamlin, Doris White, Stacy Bell and Jamie Crowley put in 25, 18 and 11 points, respectively.

The varsity girls fell behind 32-8 in the first period and trailed all the way. The JV girls were outscored in every period.

They hit 14 of 25 from the field for less than 50 per cent and 3 of 6 at the line. Debbie Newman led in rebounds with six while Brenda Owens, Christi Sellars and Jill Hodges each claimed five. The JV girls collected a total of 32 rebounds.

"They had some outstanding shooters," declared Tiger coach Geral Greene. The varsity and JV travel to Levelland Friday for matches beginning at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m.

WHAT'S HE BEEN DRINKING?

Scribe Picks Michigan, OU, Pitt, Tech, TCU

NEW YORK (AP) — We've done such a lousy job forecasting the college football scores this year that we're going to let some coaches preview a couple of this week's big games.

First, Michigan at Ohio State:

"I think it's a dead even game, 0-0," says Minnesota's Cal Stoll. "Quarterback could be the difference. Ohio State's Cornelius Greene is just super. But the thing is that Ohio State has so many ways they can beat you. The first thing you have to do is stop the buffalo (246-pound fullback Pete Johnson). If you do that, Greene can kill you."

And he didn't even mention Archie Griffin.

What would it take to beat Ohio State, Cal?

"A hell of a defensive effort. And I really don't know who can stop them. They are a great football team, more solid than when we played them last year."

"I think it'd going to be one heck of a game," says Illinois' Bob Blackman. "If they played each other 10 times, I'd say Ohio State would win five, Michigan four and the other one would probably be a toss-up."

The pick ... Michigan 17-14.

Next, Nebraska at Oklahoma:

Iowa State's Tarle Bruce says both teams have good offenses but Nebraska's "is more devastating. Nebraska controls the scrimmage line well enough so they can do anything they want offensively."

The pick ... Oklahoma 27-17.

Last week's score was 52 right, 14 wrong, two ties for a .788 percentage. For the season, it's 485-191-14—.717.

Penn State at Pitt: Has Pitt's program caught up with Penn State? "We'll find out Saturday," says Coach Johnny Majors. "I think we can play with 'em." So do we ... Pitt 26-21.

Kansas State at Colorado: K-State hasn't scored a touchdown in five games ... Colorado 24-7.

California at Stanford: Winner of a wild game must wait for UCLA-Southern Cal to decide the Rose Bowl ... California 38-28.

Cincinnati at Miami, O.: Upset Special of the Week ... Cincinnati 16-13.

Missouri at Kansas: Winner meets Pitt in the Sun Bowl ... Missouri 27-20.

Texas Tech at Arkansas: Razorbacks' backfield battered and bruised. Second Upset Special ... Texas Tech 21-14.

Harvard at Yale: Crimson's offense vs. Elis' defense ... Harvard 21-20.

Rice at Texas Christian: Nation's longest losing streak comes to an end. Third Upset Special ... TCU 24-20.

Jet Coach Is Fired

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Jets fired head Coach Charley Winner today, replacing him with Ken Shipp, the club's offensive coordinator, who will run the National Football League team for the final five weeks of the current season, The Associated Press learned.

Irish Rally Behind Devine

CHICAGO (AP) — The Notre Dame football team has rallied behind Coach Dan Devine and knocked down reports that they refused to go to the Cotton Bowl because they were dissatisfied with their coach.

"It's a lie," said Devine Tuesday when reached in South Bend to comment on a story in the Washington Star which quoted an unnamed source that the players were "fed up with Devine. They don't have any respect for him as a coach. They just don't want to play football for him any more this year."

At least a half dozen players, including team captains Ed Bauer and Jim Stock, immediately backed up their coach with outspoken safety John Dubenetzky calling it "a wrong story."

Devine said a week ago Monday he told his squad there would be no meeting or talk of any bowl game.

"But by Thursday it became apparent that the Cotton Bowl wanted some kind of indication as to how the players felt," said Devine. "We had a meeting and a vote was taken."

Devine said Athletic Director Moose Krause presided at the meeting and the votes were sealed and sent to Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, head of the Notre Dame athletic board. The results of that vote were not revealed. Notre Dame then suffered its third loss of the season at Pittsburgh.

"Even after we lost, there still appeared to be interest by the Cotton Bowl," Devine said. "I don't know how big but enough so that another vote was taken. As far as I'm concerned, I considered it a great compliment to the coaching staff, the team and myself that the Cotton Bowl people thought I could make a bowl representative out of our club even after losing to Pittsburgh."

The team took another vote Sunday and Bauer and Stock told Devine there was enough disagreement at that meeting that Notre Dame should not accept a bowl bid.

Meanwhile, Field Scovell, selection committee chairman for the Cotton Bowl, said Notre Dame was not invited to play in the New Year's Day game "before or after the Pittsburgh game. We made no proposition to Notre Dame. We told them they were one of four teams we were considering."

Devine said that after he heard about the story "Players voluntarily came into my office in a steady stream saying the column is not correct. Ninety-nine per cent of my players are behind me."

Distinctively Elegant Living

HOME DESIGN LIBRARY
by Larry Farnsworth

The perfect lines and styling of this design's imposing exterior are fully equalled by its elegantly luxurious interior.

Note the dramatic sweep of the foyer and those gracefully curved steps leading down on two sides to the sunken living room and family room. Between them the uniquely designed multiple fireplace forms an exciting focal point.

The beautiful covered rear patio just outside the hallway's sliding glass doors and window wall is dramatically visible from the foyer too and accessible as well through glass doors in the family room.

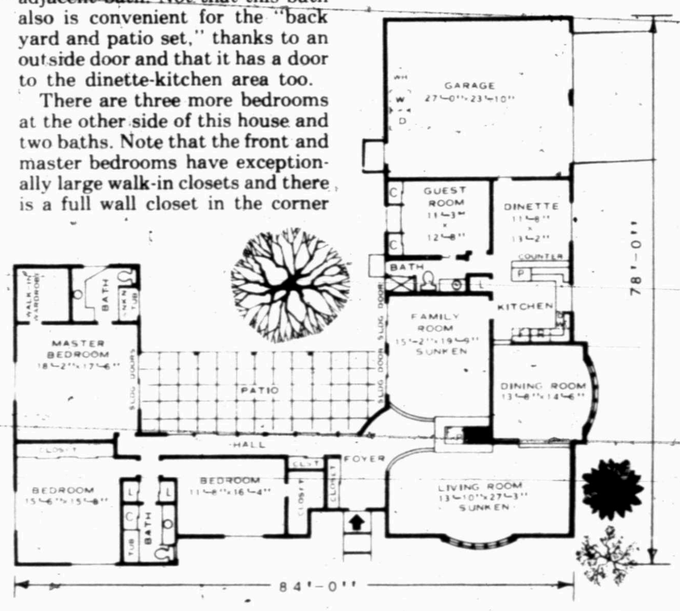

Note the living room's pleasant share of that wrap around fireplace hearth and its big, beautiful bow window. There is another lovely bow in the formal dining room too.

The kitchen with its large U-shaped work area has plenty of counter and cabinet space and is divided from the dinette by a counter for informal dining. Note too that the dinette connects handily with the garage at the back of this wing and see all the storage and work space that garage provides.

A guest room or maid's room with two closets and a built-in vanity has its own door to an adjacent bath. Not that this bath also is convenient for the "back yard and patio set," thanks to an outside door and that it has a door to the dinette-kitchen area too.

There are three more bedrooms at the other side of this house and two baths. Note that the front and master bedrooms have exceptionally large walk-in closets and there is a full wall closet in the corner room. The huge master bedroom has sliding glass doors to the patio and a large, luxurious bath with a sunken tub. Note the closet in the main bath and the extra hall closets too.

Jaworski Addresses Conference

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Watergate's most incredible aspect was the blatant flouting of the truth by some high officials, says Leon Jaworski, the Special Watergate Prosecutor who presided at the fall of the Nixon Administration.

Jaworski told some 2,000 state, regional and local officials at the 10th Annual Governor's Conference on Intergovernmental Relations and Regional Planning Tuesday that honesty is the key to credible government.

"There is no way that either a nation or a state or a community ... can blossom and flourish into greatness unless it has foundations of truth and integrity," he said.

The silver-haired Houston lawyer said criticism by some officials of the news media for its part in Watergate was strange.

"Watergate was about to be covered up for good when members of the news media, along with a determined judge, would not permit it," he said.

He added, "The simple truth remains that if there is untainted conduct of officeholders and the following of legal and ethical policies by citizens engaged in private enterprise, there is little to fear as a result of news media reporting for somehow the truth always has a way of surfacing.

Watergate took place because "the teaching of right and wrong had been forgotten and little evils were permitted to grow into great evils, small sins to escalate into big sins," Jaworski said.

LOST IN RECESSION

Many Families Came To Rely On Second Income

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Many American families fell into unexpected financial difficulty over the past two years because they came to rely upon a second income, often provided by a working wife, that was lost in the recession.

At one point the second income might have been used for luxuries, such as a vacation or home improvements, while the husband's income paid for the essentials of life.

As times got tougher, the second income became a necessity. More and more it went to support an established lifestyle. It financed needs rather than something extra.

The American Bankers Association found this practice high on the list of financial problems that plague many families today.

Other common difficulties, the ABA found, result from delays in seeking relief from creditors; assuming new loans to meet payments on existing ones; anticipating earnings that don't materialize; divorce, and the absence of emergency funds.

The following difficulties, and their causes, complete the list:

—UNWILLINGNESS TO CHANGE LIFE-STYLES. Some families are unwilling to lower their standard of living to compensate for lost income. Believing their setback to be temporary, they decide to ride it out.

In fact, for many families the belief that material conditions get better each year is the essential element in their interpretation of the American dream.

"These people come to financial counselors bewildered," said one respondent to an ABA survey of members and financial counselors.

The solutions are the obvious ones: more income or fewer expenditures.

—OVERESTIMATING RETIREMENT INCOME. Most retired Americans live on far less income than when they were working. For them, growing old means growing poor.

"Thirty-four per cent of all retired people live entirely on Social Security checks — they have no other income — and the average Social Security check for a retired couple today is just over $300 a month," the ABA says.

Even those who receive company pension income find their funds have diminished in value through inflation.

"Remember, if you need $1,000 a month to live today, in 10 years — if today's inflation continues — you'll need $2,000," the ABA observes.

—INDIFFERENCE TO BUDGETING. "Inflation clobbers these people because they have no way of measuring the true impact it has on their lives," the bankers say. "Because they don't keep records, such people don't realize that something that cost $1.10 years ago now costs $1.70.

—CARELESS ATTITUDE TOWARD MONEY AND CREDIT. Until a few years ago, it seems safe to say, most people in the years since World War II believed money and opportunity were on the upswing. As a consequence, many families believed in spending now, worrying later.

Stanfill Gets 'Warm Reception'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Dennis Stanfill, who heads the company which made the movie "The Towering Inferno," got a warm reception here when a fire broke out on the 22nd floor of the Hilton Palcio Del Rio hotel Tuesday.

Stanfill and other executives of Twentieth Century Fox were meeting on the top floor of the hotel with about 75 local civic leaders when a smoky fire engulfed curtains in a nearby ballroom.

"Towering Inferno" jokes spread quickly after firemen contained the flames. It happened so quickly that some in the room found out about the fire after it was extinguished.

Stanfill and executives of United Television Inc., a branch of Twentieth Century Fox, were talking with community leaders after buying control of KMOL-TV on Nov. 6.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Have you ever tangled with a creditor's computer over a possible billing error? If so, you may have received computer "dunning" letters long after you notified the creditor of the error.

But our Attorney General's Consumer Protection lawyers point out that since October 28 new amendments to the federal Fair Credit Billing Act have been in effect to help both consumers and merchants when there is a billing dispute.

According to these provisions, if a consumer disagrees with his bill he must notify the creditor as soon as possible, or at least within 60 days after the bill was mailed. Then, in the next 30 days the creditor must either correct the error or acknowledge the complaint.

The next phase of the process is that within 90 days after receiving notification of a billing dispute, the creditor must either correct the error or explain why he feels the bill is accurate.

The consumer doesn't have to pay the part of the bill in question during this period, but must pay the remainder of the bill. And the creditor cannot pressure for payment of the disputed amount, nor can he report an unpaid debt to credit reporting agencies. In addition, the creditor is required to notify customers twice a year of these procedures for resolving billing disputes.

And consumers and merchants now also have some protection when there are problems involving merchandise that was bought from the merchant but charged to a major credit card issuer, such as a national bank card.

In the past, when a consumer bought merchandise and charged it to a credit card company, but later found it defective, he might have had a problem if the local merchant refused to repair or replace the item. That's because the credit card company wasn't required by law to be accountable to the buyer for any problems with the merchandise.

Now, however, the credit card company is responsible for settling disputes when the buyer and the merchant cannot solve their differences. This means that a consumer can withhold payment to the credit card company for the amount of the item in dispute, if the following conditions are met:

+The item must have cost more than $50.

+The item must have been bought in the consumer's home state or, if not, within 100 miles of his mailing address. This limitation protects the local merchant who would have difficulty resolving the problem across long distances. Nationwide chain stores, though, are not exempt under this provision. They are covered no matter where the buyer lives.

+Most important, the buyer must first have made an honest effort to settle the problem with the merchant who sold the merchandise. In many cases, the dispute is due to a minor misunderstanding, which can be resolved quickly.

In other cases, the consumer may want to register a complaint with our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division or the county or district attorney, if he feels false, deceptive, or misleading trade practices were used in the transaction.

Reagan, Ford Forces Busy

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (XP) — In scattered states that soon will be political battlegrounds, Ronald Reagan's campaign forces are at work, making telephone calls, searching Republican rosters for volunteers, preparing for a test of strength with President Ford.

The Ford political apparatus is gearing up, too, after a start viewed as too slow by some of the President's allies.

So as Reagan declares his GOP presidential candidacy, both sides are hard at the political spadework that will be crucial this coming winter when the primary elections begin.

In New Hampshire, more than 7,000 telephone calls are being made each week, seeking Republican voters and volunteers for Reagan in the first of the primaries, little more than three months away.

Reagan's Florida campaign chairman forecasts a landslide victory over Ford in the March 9 primary there. A Reagan campaign lieutenant in Illinois predicts primary showings that will force Ford to quit the campaign.

All of this has happened while the former California governor was insisting he had not made up his mind whether or not to run for the Republican nomination. He stuck to that for nearly five months after giving his blessing to a Washington-based campaign committee.

Now that phase of the Reagan campaign is over, and he is announcing Thursday that he is, indeed, going to contest Ford for the GOP nomination.

Reagan's rites of candidacy begin in Washington Thursday morning, and take him to Miami, Manchester, N.H., Charlotte, N.C., Chicago and Los Angeles, on an inaugural campaign tour that ends Friday night.

The Miami to Manchester route, with selected stops in between, will be familiar to Reagan by mid-winter. Those states, plus North Carolina and Illinois, are crucial to him.

He has to win, or come very close to it, along that early primary election route if he is to build the momentum it will take to convince establishment-minded Republicans they should drop an appointed, incumbent President in favor of a conservative challenger.

Ford campaign managers contend they can afford to lose in early primaries and still beat Reagan. One of them, Stuart Spencer, said defeats in the New Hampshire and Florida contests would not undo the Ford campaign.

Campaign strategists size up the primary picture this way: the race is close in Florida and New Hampshire; Massachusetts is tilting toward Ford. North Carolina and Illinois primaries are too far away for most analysts to predict.

Mamie Visits Abilene, Kansas

ABILENE, Kan. (AP) — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who visits her late husband's home town at least once a year, this year made a brief and unannounced visit to the chapel where the former president is buried.

Dr. Don Wilson, deputy director of the Eisenhower Center, said the 79-year-old Mrs. Eisenhower spent about two hours Monday at the center. "She brought along a few personal and family gifts for the museum," Wilson said. She stayed Sunday night at nearby Ft. Riley and returned there from Abilene.

Bunker Returning To Panama For Canal Talks

By GEORGE GEDDA
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker is returning to Panama for another round of Canal Zone treaty talks with the Pentagon represented for the first time in the 11-year history of the negotiations.

Bunker went back to Panama for a resumption of the talks today.

In a move to give the Defense Department a direct role in the negotiations, Bunker last week agreed to appointment of a former colleague, retired Army Lt. Gen. Wellborn Dolvin, to the U.S. negotiating team.

The Pentagon has been a hotbed of opposition to the treaty negotiations — fearing, according to U.S. officials, that the State Department has been too eager to satisfy Panamanian demands for eventual control over the operation and defense of the canal.

Serious reservations have been expressed privately by such officials as the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. George Brown, assistant secretary of defense Robert Ellsworth and former Secretary of the Army Howard Callaway, now President Ford's campaign manager.

Personality conflicts also are reported to have contributed to the appointment of Dolvin, who served in South Vietnam when Bunker was the U.S. ambassador there. Bunker has been the chief U.S. negotiator for a new Canal Zone treaty for the past two years.

Until now, his lone deputy has been career diplomat S. Morey Bell, described by one U.S. official as a "total anathema" to the Pentagon.

The official said Bell was "too secretive" to suit the Pentagon. The Pentagon's interest in the negotiations stems from the 14 U.S. military bases in the Canal Zone, manned by about 10,000 U.S. servicemen.

As American officials see it, a draft treaty will have a better chance of Senate ratification if a military man like Dolvin is around to testify in its behalf.

For most of this year, the Pentagon and the State Department have been bickering about what the United States should be willing to give up in the negotiations — with defense officials lobbying hard to retain indefinitely the right to defend the canal. The Panamanians have said this demand is unacceptable.

Other aspects of the negotiations have gone more smoothly. The United States now has full control over police, administration of justice and all other services in the zone and has agreed to transfer authority over them to Panama within three years after a new treaty is signed.

At present, 38 senators are on record against surrender of U.S. rights in the Canal Zone, five more than necessary to defeat ratification.

Some senators are apprehensive about the leftward drift of Panamanian politics, a concern likely to be reinforced if Panama's leader, Gen. Omar Torrigos, carries out plans to visit Cuba in January.

Only a handful of Latin American heads of government have visited Cuba since Prime Minister Fidel Castro assumed power almost 17 years ago.

Suggests Adjustable Car Windshields

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The National Automobile Assn. says one group of automotive engineers, while brainstorming for an idea to improve a driver's vision, has come up with an interesting solution. Make the car's windshield adjustable, in much the same way binoculars are adjustable.

Driving at a low speed on a curving road, the driver could adjust the windshield to focus on objects near him and to the right and left. His field of vision would then be short and wide.

However, driving on a long, straight highway, he would adjust the windshield to focus on objects far ahead and his field of vision would be appropriately long and narrow.

Lo-Vaca Reports Profits

HOUSTON (AP) — Net earnings of $2 million the first nine months of this year have been reported by Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. The figure compares with a loss of $3.5 million over the same 1974 period.

The report attributed the profits to revenues from gas processing plants, saying Lo-Vaca's gas sales activities continue to be unprofitable.

The report, sent to security holders of the parent firm, Coastal States Gas Corp., Tuesday had a footnote which placed Lo-Vaca's revenues for the nine-month period at $596 million. This compares with $243 million a year earlier.

An interim rate increase was granted to Lo-Vaca by the Texas Railroad Commission in 1973 but the commission has not as yet ruled on a permanent rate formula.

The report, signed by Oscar S. Wyatt Jr., Coastal States board chairman, and Harry L. Blomquist Jr., president, said that "because of its inadequate rate structure, Lo-Vaca's gas sales activities continue to be unprofitable."

"While the loss from gas sales was more offset by earnings from gas processing plants, Lo-Vaca's overall return on investment remains unsatisfactory," the report said.

The two executives said Lo-Vaca has experienced no curtailments in services to its customers since February and no substantial curtailments in more than a year.

"Currently, gas available for delivery by Lo-Vaca exceeds its customers' demands," they said.

Lo-Vaca customers have filed suits seeking more than $100 million while alleging breach of gas supply contracts and seeking recovery of overcharges based on the interim rate.

A footnote to the nine-months report repeated earlier statements that Coastal States is confident the customer claims will ultimately be rejected by the courts.

Houston Has Dog Problems

CHICAGO (AP) — Two Houston veterinarians say dog and cat wastes literally cover the Houston streets and could cause a health problem.

Drs. Primo V. Arambulo III and James H. Steele said in a paper delivered Tuesday at the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association that there are an estimated 178 billion hookworn eggs deposited daily by infected dogs in Houston alone.

"The grounds and lawns of Houston are literally covered with a veneer of dog feces and urine," they said. They made no analysis of whether the problems are as severe in other cities.

Arambulo, from the institute of public health at the University of the Philippines, Manila, is undertaking studies at the University of Texas school of public health. Steele is a professor there.

They calculated from their sampling that 138.6 million pounds of feces and 32.3 million gallons of urine are deposited each year by the 500,000 dogs living in Houston.

They said there is one dog for every three humans in Houston, with a density of 993 per square mile in the city.

"These insulting and staggering quantities of liquid and solid effluents are literally dumped into the heart of the city where there are no facilities for their confined disposal and denaturation," they said.

They added that young children frequently play nearby.

The veterinarians said the wastes also create obnoxious odors and provide places for rats and flies to breed.

They said the intestinal parasite eggs, including roundworm and tapeworm, may live for weeks or months — long after the wastes themselves have been absorbed in the ground.

They said the parasites, when they infect humans, can attack the liver, eyes, lungs, skin, intestines and other organs, and cause serious illness, such as blood poisoning.

The first smallpox vaccination was performed in 1796 when Edward Jenner, an English doctor, scratched fluid from cowpox blisters in a boy's arm.

Student Designed Scenery For WTC Drama Production

"The Glass Menagerie" by Tennessee Williams will open tonight for a four-night run in the Fine Arts Theatre at Western Texas College. The performance is to begin at 8 o'clock each night through Saturday.

Brian Nobles, a freshman drama major from Lubbock, was given the task of scenery design and technical director for the show as a part of his intensive training program while at WTC. Charles Holland, director, worked with Nobles about two weeks before the play was cast, then placed Nobles in charge of the design, drawing, building and execution of the scenery.

"The execution of the transition between the dream world inside the Wingfield apartment and the cold, realistic detail of the alley outside the apartment is professionally handled and I am proud to present this student's work," Holland said. Nobles made his debut at WTC in "The Matchmaker," playing the role of Cornelius Hackel. "Matchmaker" was WTC's entry in the American College Theatre Festival and the first production of the 1975-76 season.

The accompanying photographs show the setting for "The Glass Menagerie." Holland promises this to be the finest college production he has done since coming to WTC.

Tickets are on sale at both banks downtown, at Snyder Drug on College Avenue and at the Fine Arts Division and the WTC bookstore. Tickets will be available at the door until 7:50 p.m.

REDWOOD CITY, Calif (AP) — Patricia Hearst has taken up knitting while in jail here, the county sheriff says.

"She's been making some shawls, things like that," says sheriff John McDonald. "She's been doing a lot of knitting. It's that new easy type of knitting with large yarn."

Boy In School Fight Dies

HOUSTON (AP) — Randy Harvey, 16, died Tuesday of head injuries after a respirator had kept him alive for 11 days.

The youngster was put on the respirator, or artificial breathing machine, at St. Luke's Hospital Nov. 7, shortly after he lapsed into a coma following a school scuffle in which police said he was struck on the head with an aluminum baseball bat.

A brief hospital statement listed the cause of death as "severe head injuries." An autopsy was ordered.

Theodore Steel, 16, has been held by juvenile authorities since Nov. 7 on a delinquency complaint filed by the Harris County district attorney and the Houston Police Department.

Authorities said at the time the complaint was filed Steel would be arraigned on a charge of voluntary manslaughter, if Harvey died.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Sara McIntosh said Steel will appear at a hearing next Monday in juvenile court where a judge will determine whether he is to be tried as an adult.

Dr. Lamb

More details on hypoglycemia

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I read in your column about emotional effects of hypoglycemia (low blood sugar), and I have this problem. I have found that a lot of young teenagers around our schools have mild symptoms of it. Of course, they have been diagnosed by a doctor. Your article was very interesting, but I would like to have some more detailed information, any that you may have dealing with hypoglycemia.

DEAR READER—While hypoglycemia can cause a number of symptoms, you must keep in mind that these same symptoms can be caused from a number of other things. Too much coffee and colas, for example, can cause a state of anxiety, not dissimilar from the nervousness, sweating, tremulousness that a person may have from low blood sugar or whenever adrenaline is released in excess amount.

To get more information send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 3-9, Low Blood Sugar: Hypoglycemia. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have been told by several that I eat too slowly and that's why I'm underweight. My weight is 115 pounds, height 5 feet 8 inches, and I'm 69 years old.

In my younger days my weight was always around 150 pounds. I've always been in good health.

Could over-mastication of food cause loss of weight? My sleep has never been too good and now add to this I work a graveyard shift (security guard).

I have always watched my diet and avoid coffee, tea, soft drinks and liquor. Wonder if I'm beyond the building up stage. My wife is always giving me heck for being so thin.

DEAR READER—A lot of people would like to have your problem. Although there are exceptions, if you look around you will notice that a high percentage of people who live to old age are thin, not fat.

As you get older there is a tendency to lose muscle mass. To avoid this one needs to maintain a well-rounded exercise program for life. As long as the heart and circulation are in good shape you can rebuild muscle mass, even if you are older. It is the amount of weight that a muscle lifts that determines its strength. I would guess you have very little activity that requires loading your muscles very much. You are just like everyone else, if you don't use, you lose it, whether you are 69 or 24.

No, eating slowly will not cause you to lose weight you don't need. There was an old fad of reducing by chewing your food slowly. The only way it affected a person's weight was to cause them to eat less. If you eat slowly your body has a chance to respond to food, and you may feel satisfied before you stuff yourself.

Your weight is a direct balance between how many calories you take in and how many your body uses. Lack of sleep might increase your use of calories a little bit but not enough to make much difference in your weight, if you are actually in the bed resting.

Be grateful that you are thin because it probably means you are in better health than most of your overweight freinds of your age. Don't let anyone talk you into eating a lot to gain unneeded fat that can be harmful to you.

SNYDER IS A TOUGH TOWN

(That's where the Tigers Hang Out)

Neighbors Lose Sleep While Single Swings

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I live in a beautiful apartment complex. Recently, the apartment directly above us was rented to a young bachelor. This guy brings his girl friends home to spend the night with him. Since his bedroom is directly above ours, we are sometimes jolted wide awake at 2 or 3 a.m. by the sounds of their amorous activities.

We are in our late 20s and are not prudes, but we're tired of being awakened, losing sleep and feeling as though the ceiling will come down on us at any moment.

I say my husband should have a man-to-man talk with the guy. He says the guy probably doesn't care who hears him. We'll go to the manager of the complex only as a last resort. We love our apartment and don't want to move, but we'd like some uninterrupted sleep.

How should we handle this?

TWO SLEEPY PEOPLE

DEAR SLEEPY: Even if your neighbor doesn't care who hears him, he has no right to disturb you. Make a tape recording of the bedroom bedlam and have your husband present it to him as evidence. And if that doesn't work, play it for the manager. Sweet dreams.

DEAR ABBY: Do you believe in kissing on the first date?

It seems to me that any guy who takes out a girl and spends his hard-earned money to show her a good time should be entitled to a goodnight kiss.

DISGUSTED WITH WOMEN

DEAR DISGUSTED: A kiss should not be expected in return for an evening's entertainment or anything else. It's strictly a voluntary show of real affection. And if two people feel like kissing on the first date—I say, why not?

DEAR ABBY: I love to cook and entertain, but it irritates me no end when after going to a lot of trouble to prepare a lovely company meal, a guest just picks at the food or says, "Sorry, I can't eat that," or, "No dessert for me, please."

Don't you think calorie-counters should show a little consideration for the hostess, enjoy whatever is served and diet at home?

ANNOYED HOSTESS

DEAR ANNOYED: No! Pressing food on calorie counters is as inexcusable as pressing alcohol on an alcoholic. Many people refuse dinner invitations to avoid the possibility of being forced to eat things they shouldn't just to please the hostess.

Staying at home leads to loneliness and depression, which in turn causes many people to eat out of self-pity.

So here's a plea to well-meaning hostesses: Consider calorie counters when you entertain. Have plenty of fresh fruit and vegetables, and DON'T ever point out that someone is eating very little, should you notice it.

DEAR ABBY: I am presently dating a divorced woman who has a small child. When we go out, am I expected to pay the babysitter?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: If she "expects" you to pay the sitter, she's presumptuous. But if you can afford it, it would be generous to offer.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

SENATORS BACK THEIR BILL

Labor Reaping Dividends Of Political Donations

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unofficial tally shows organized labor gave $1.4 million in 1974 political donations to many Senators whose votes have now helped virtually assure passage of a bill sought by construction unions.

The bill is up for amendments and a possible final vote today after backers marshalled two more than the 60 votes needed Tuesday to cut off a week-long filibuster against the controversial measure.

The bill would allow a striking construction union to picket an entire building site, even though the union is striking only one subcontractor. If trades unions working for other subcontractors honored such picket lines, a lone striking union could close down an entire building site. Such "common sites" picketing has been outlawed for 25 years as an illegal secondary boycott.

The controversial measure attracted lobbying from opponents who also contributed money to congressmen and senators who opposed the bill.

The measure passed the House in July. President Ford has indicated he will sign it under certain conditions.

Computer printouts from the citizen lobby Common Cause gave this picture:

—Of the 62 senators who voted to end the filibuster against the bill, 26 got union money totaling $1,403,504 during the 1974 election season.

—Of the 37 who voted against ending the filibuster, five got labor donations totalling $44,350, about 3 per cent of the donations given to those who voted in opposition to the measure.

Almost without exception, the 31 senators who received labor money last year were among the one-third of the Senate that was up for election in 1974. The other two-thirds normally would not receive political contributions until they faced an election.

Common Cause says its computerized list is being checked for accuracy and may contain some errors, but is believed by lobby officials to be substantially accurate. It covers all donations listed by nationally registered political committees for the period Sept. 1, 1973, to Dec. 31, 1974.

An AP sampling of union donations during 1975, based on original reports by 18 AFL-CIO political committees, shows the lopsided pattern of giving is continuing into the 1976 election race.

The tally for 1975 shows $118,623 to 20 senators who voted for ending the filibuster while about one-tenth of that total, or $11,950, went to five senators who voted against ending the filibuster.

In the House, the AP's tally shows the 18 AFL-CIO political committees in the sample gave $93,495 this year to 78 House members who voted for the bill. It passed the House on July 25.

Clayton Promoting Pipeline

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Alaskan crude oil could be brought directly to Texas for refining, Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton said Tuesday.

"We could benefit by having 400,000 barrels of oil a day flowing to Midland, Tex., by as early as 1978," Clayton told a news conference.

Clayton urged Texas congressmen to promote a proposal by El Paso Natural Gas Co. filed with the Federal Power Commission which would allow the company to use idle natural gas lines across Arizona and New Mexico to transport Alaskan crude oil from California to Texas. He said it would require construction of about 200 miles of pipeline in California.

After reaching Midland, Clayton said, the Alaskan crude would be channeled to various refinery centers, much of it to the Beaumont-Port Arthur and Houston areas.

He said he understood El Paso Natural Gas, in cooperation with Standard Oil of Ohio, has twin natural gas pipelines now from California to Texas. In the near future they expect to need only one for transport of natural gas.

Clayton also said he urged Congressmen to oppose a proposed amendment to the Outer Continental Sheld Lands Act, already passed in the Senate and now in the House.

"Higher cost and substantial delays would be the byproducts," he said. "Most distasteful would be changes made in bidding procedures; government exploration instead of by competitive operators; separation of exploration and development and increased state involvement in planning."
