State Violent Death Toll Stands At 29

By The Associated Press

Deaths from violence in Texas this New Year's weekend stood at 29 Monday—far below the total reported at the same time during the Christmas weekend.

Traffic accidents accounted for 19 of the deaths this weekend. Three children died in fires, and the others were from miscellaneous causes.

During the same period of the Christmas weekend there were 54 deaths with 33 of them in traffic accidents.

The Associated Press tabulation for both weekends started at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Monday.

The deaths reported to The Associated Press:

Samuel Bruce Jones, 40, of Fort Worth was killed Sunday as he walked along Highway 68 eight miles south of Tyler. Officers sought a hit-and-run driver.

James Loving, 35, San Antonio boat company employee, drowned Sunday in Medina Lake. He and two youths were taking two drums of gasoline to an island when the gasoline caught fire. The three jumped into the lake. The youths saved themselves by clinging to a life preserver.

Rita Mae Bourdeaux, 30, and Delta Jayson, 28, both of Beaumont were killed Sunday night when a Missouri-Pacific passenger train struck a car in which they were riding at a grade crossing 1 1/4 miles west of Beaumont. Both were Negroes.

Jerry Wayne Bryant, 15, of Hempstead was shot and killed Sunday while deer hunting 7 miles south of Rock Island in Colorado County.

Harry L. Grigsby, 35, and Asenion Juan Caranza, 27, both of Corpus Christi, were killed Sunday when their station wagon hit the side of a freight train at a crossing near Fallurrias.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyce L. Anderson of Trinity were killed Sunday when their car rammed into the rear of a truck near Riverside in Waller County.

A 5-year-old boy, identified as David Garza, was fatally injured Saturday when struck by a car at Houston.

Jose Lopez, 64, was killed Sunday when he was struck by a car on U.S. 59 near George West.

Lawrence Bell, 47, of Nederland died Sunday when struck by an automobile on U.S. 69 near Nederland.

Clarence Tipton, 37, was shot to death at Robstown Saturday.

Ricardo Limon Garcia, 48, a citizen of Mexico was stomped to death in the Cameron County jail Saturday night. Another prisoner, Roger Rocky Marchand, 26, a Brownsville shrimp par, was charged with murder.

Howard J. Wiggins of Mineola, a pumper for an oil company, was killed Saturday when the car in which he was riding ran off a road and overturned 12 miles north of Hawkins.

Eugene Chester Emerson, a Montgomery County Negro was shot to death near Conroe Saturday.

Charles Ray Tolbert, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tolbert Sr., of the Speaks community near Hallettsville was killed when the car in which he was riding overturned Saturday.

R. B. Lane, 31, LaMarge, was killed Saturday when his car left a highway near Alto and overturned.

Arturo Chapa, 16, of Orange Grove, was killed when his auto overturned near Orange Grove Saturday.

Oscar Rodriguez, 25, was electrocuted when an iron pipe he was holding touched a high-voltage line as he was working on a well Saturday at his home at La Grulla in Starr County.

Three small children burned to death Saturday in a fast moving fire that destroyed their upstairs apartment in a Negro section of South Dallas. The victims were Douglas Allen, 4, Bernard Allen, 2, and Renee Allen, 7 months, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Allen.

Melecio Longoria of Rio Grande City and Matias Zarate of La Grulla were killed when a car and a pickup truck collided on a fog-shrouded highway Saturday near Rio Grande City.

A. G. Mitchell, 40, was killed Saturday when he was struck by a dragline at the Dickson gun plant near Houston.

Amos Wayne Kirkland, 21, of Fallurrias was killed Saturday in the collision of a car and a truck 13 miles south of Alice.

John Gaston Willis, 32, an employee of the city attorney's office at Austin was killed Saturday in a two-car crash during a heavy fog west of Austin.

Miss Mary E. Freely, 43, a Fort Worth school teacher was fatally injured in a 2-car accident in Fort Worth early Monday. Three other persons were injured.

No automobile accidents had marred the New Year on the Big Spring police calendar through 10 a.m. Monday, but other activities kept police busy.

One stabbing report was investigated but no arrests made or charges filed. Monday morning, Alfredo Guerra, 18, of San Antonio, was taken to Cowper Hospital about 1 a.m. Sunday with two stab wounds. He was found in front of the Blue Moon, 503 NW 4th, and taken to the hospital by three companions but police were unable to get further information. His wounds were not serious.

A lot of BB gun activity was investigated by police over the weekend when broken windows, street lights, and other damage was reported. One car was reported driving up and down a street shooting at vapor lights. Four boys were later questioned when the same car was stopped by police. No arrests were made but several warnings were given for shooting BB guns in the city limits.

Two burglaries were investigated after midnight Saturday. The El Paso Service Station, 221 E. 2nd, was entered when the hasp was broken off the front door. Gray Pitkin, operator, said $5.95 was taken from the cash register and $6.90 from the cigarette machine.

Lewis Drive Inn Restaurant was entered over the weekend and $1 in cash and 20 packages of cigarettes taken. Holes were bored in the back door and the night latch lifted.

Police relieved a man of two shotguns around 2 a.m. Sunday after a call was received from the Lamesa police department. He was reported on route to the State Hospital to get his wife by force.

Says GOP Seeks Extremist Alliance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey has accused Republicans of making an alliance with conservative fringe groups.

"The Republicans are more and more taking their ideas from the reckless radicals of the far right and echoing the efforts of these extremist agitators to breed fear and suspicion in our society," Bailey said Sunday in an annual report to Democratic committee members and state chairmen.

Bailey said "it is a strange alliance of Republicans and the fringe groups of self-appointed patriots who prey upon ignorance and prejudice."

Rusk Confident Over World's 1962 Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk looked into the coming year today and found "room for confidence" about international developments in 1962.

"Certainly there is room for effort and energy," he said.

Rusk specifically pledged the United States will seek responsible contacts with the Soviet Union in efforts to reach some measure of agreement on Berlin and other issues.

REMARKABLE

Speaking in a filmed year-end interview, Rusk said, "If 1962 should prove to be a year without crises, it would be a most remarkable and a most welcome year."

But he said crises can be expected because of the great changes from the emergence of new countries and the pressures from the Communist bloc.

He noted that "no one of the countries which have become independent since 1945 has become of the Sino-Soviet bloc."

Rusk made these comments on major trouble spots.

The Congo—"I would be inclined to be optimistic," that Congolese leaders will agree on a moderate government.

"Laos Laotian leaders have had difficulty agreeing on a neutral would not want to predict what the outlook is in Laos at this time."

MOUNTING PERIL

South Viet Nam—The Communists are mounting an aggression against South Viet Nam from the outside. "We suppose that in these next few months there will be considerable strife as the government attempts to deal with the guerrillas that are active there."

Berlin—"We have at the present time a first-class crisis over West Berlin."

"I think that the free world has taken an important first step toward a peaceful solution. They have made it quite clear that the free world considers that its vital interests are engaged in West Berlin, and that these vital interests will be protected with whatever it takes to protect them."

Jobless Pay Hike Effective

AUSTIN (AP)—A controversial increase of from $3 to $9 a week in the state's unemployment compensation went into effect today.

The payments were changed from a minimum of $7 a week to $10 and the maximum was upped from $28 to $37. Most persons eligible for the benefits are expected to draw some 72 per cent of the maximum.

The increase was approved by the legislature in August.

Some Texas Employment Commission officials have said they fear that the increase will encourage laziness and swell the ranks of those drawing the benefits.

"We've had enough trouble getting people to take jobs when we were paying a maximum of $28 a week," one high TEC official in Dallas remarked. "It will be a lot harder when we start paying $37 a week."

The officials also are afraid that persons will apply for benefits who in the past felt the $28 maximum was too small to worry about.

Nigeria Says Thanks To U.S.

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Nigeria's gratitude to the United States for an offer of $225 million in economic aid was publicly expressed today by Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa.

The money is to be used for Nigeria's next five-year development program. Total cost of the program has not been disclosed but some estimates put it at over a billion dollars.

"The condition under which this grant is being made is that Nigeria should continue to enjoy social justice and freedom for all. There can be no better evidence of justice and confidence in what we are doing than this. Through-out history the more technologically advanced have always lent a helping hand to the less-developed. The proposed aid is to be given without any condition inimical to the interests of our nation," said Abubakar said.

"We are deeply grateful to the American government and people."

First Baby Of 1962 Hasn't Arrived, But On His Way

The first baby of 1962 in Howard County had not arrived by noon today, but indications were that the area's first youngster might put in his appearance before the day is out.

The first baby will get a lot of attention and both parents and child will be in for congratulations and gifts.

Among gifts will be a box of 50 cigars from Piggly Wiggly for the baby's dad. Mom will receive a special kitchen tool set from White's.

Baby will get most of the prizes with eight merchants making offerings.

Blum's Jewelers will have a gift, Anthony's will provide a baby blanket and the J&K Shoe Store will furnish the first pair of shoes for the baby.

A case of baby formula will come from Furr's Super Market and Gandy's will send a quart of milk each day for 30 days.

Firestone Stores are giving a Baby Care Bar which includes a medicine and food chest, a baby weight and height scale and eight nurses with a carrying rack. Penney's will provide a dozen soft gauze diapers. A 9-piece layette set will come from Montgomery Ward.

To qualify for the awards both mother and father must be bona fide residents and citizens of Howard County; the exact date.

Eve Was Quiet Here

It was a quite New Year's eve in Big Spring.

In general, residents welcomed 1962 silently. Police and sheriff's deputies found little to do as there was a minimum of violence.

The inevitable few over indulged in intoxicants and wound up in the hands of the police. As a result, the city jail had 21 occupants when the clock struck midnight and the new year was ushered in.

Over at the county jail, there were 36 inmates in their cells at that hour. In neither bastille was the number on hand unusual.

Ambulance drivers, who had anticipated a hectic night, found to their pleasure there was little doing. Highway patrol officers said that traffic was fairly heavy but, as had been the case during the Christmas weekend, most of the drivers were using caution.

Downtown Big Spring presented a Sabbathlike appearance on Monday. Traffic was extremely light and there were few cars parked at the curbs. Stores from one end of town to the other were closed. A few restaurants were open and were doing only an average coffee business in the early hours.

Barbara Burns Still Critical

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Barbara Burns remained in critical condition today from what sheriff's officers said was her third overdose of barbiturates in a year.

The daughter of the late comedian Bob Burns was hospitalized after she was found unconscious and near death Saturday in a West Hollywood alley.

A series of heart attacks had curtailed Giesler's activities since 1959. Nevertheless he managed to mastermind most of the important cases handled by his office.

Giesler, short and unimposing in appearance, showed up with predictable regularity at the side of celebrities in trouble.

His specialty was crimes of passion—a field which made him Hollywood's most famous and best-paid criminal attorney. Stars embroiled with the law made Giesler their legal watchdog. "Get me Giesler," Giesler's cases were seldom easy ones.

Leaders Are Hunted In Mountains

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Security forces hunted in the Lebanese Mountains today for two fugitive army captains who spearheaded an unsuccessful attempt to overthrow Lebanon's government and put the nation in a northern Arab bloc.

The captains fled after leading 40 bewildered soldiers in an attack on the Defense Ministry Sunday and seizing eight high-ranking officers as hostages, including a cousin of President Faud Chehab.

The plot, organized by members of the rightist Popular Social party, (PPS) led to five deaths, large-scale arrests and a dramatic series of clashes as the hostages won their freedom.

ARRESTED

Three were riding in the automobile of the PPS leader, Abdullah Saade when they were rescued. Saade was stopped at a roadblock and arrested. Scores of PPS members were under arrest.

The coup itself was crushed by the army in a few hours. By late Sunday afternoon it was finished, except for the flight of the captains.

The uprising began a few hours after midnight with moves on two main fronts.

One armed group stormed the Defense Ministry in southeast Beirut. Loyal army officers, alerted in advance by army intelligence, fought them off. Reinforcements arrived, surrounded the building and captured some of the rebels.

KIDNAPPED

Another group had surrounded the homes of prominent military leaders and kidnapped eight of them. With some of their hostages they made their way to Wadi el Karm, a mountain village 30 miles north of Beirut they had turned into their stronghold.

A large force of loyal army tanks, armored cars and truckloads of troops converged on Wadi el Karm. Thus surrounded, the rebels gave up.

By the time most citizens awoke, Beirut was calm. Strong troop contingents and tanks at strategic points in the capital provided the only signs of trouble.

During the day parliamentary deputies, religious leaders and prominent citizens called on President Chehab to show their support for the government.

MOPPING UP

The army reported mopping up operations continued Sunday and said Saade was arrested carrying the equivalent of $50,000 in "foreign money." Large numbers of suspected plotters were picked up.

The Popular Social party has a long history of violence. Its members have been convicted of implicated in two assassinations.

The party tried to seize power in 1958 but its leader was executed. The group's goal is to join Iraq, Syria, Lebanon, Jordan, Palestine and Cyprus under one Arab flag into a so-called Greater Syria, following an old dream of uniting the "Fertile Crescent" across the top of the Arab world.

The party opposes the Arab unity movement led from Cairo by President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and is outlawed through most of the Middle East.

Sworn In

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert F. Wagner was sworn in Sunday night for his third term as mayor of New York City.

U.S. Traffic Toll Runs A Little Below Estimates

By The Associated Press

| Total         | 338 |

The nation's traffic death toll since the start of the long New Year's weekend today appeared running a little below pre-holiday estimates.

The National Safety Council, which estimated 330 persons might die in traffic accidents during the 78-hour holiday period, urged motorists to drive with caution as millions of persons head for home after holiday visits.

Since the start of the holiday period at 6 p.m. local time Friday, the count showed 241 persons killed in traffic accidents. Fires claimed the lives of 56 persons and 41 others died in miscellaneous accidents, an over-all toll of 338.

Council officials said Sunday if the accident rate continued to the end of the holiday period at midnight tonight, the traffic toll would be a record low for a three-day New Year's weekend. The lowest death toll was 269 in the three-day 1949-1950 New Year's period.

The highest number of traffic fatalities for any New Year's three-day weekend was 374 in the 1959-1960 period. The record traffic toll for any three-day holiday was 609 in Christmas 1955.

In the 1960-61 three-day New Year's observance, 338 persons were killed on the highways. In other violent accidents, 66 perished in fires and 78 were killed in miscellaneous mishaps, an over-all total of 482.

An Associated Press survey during a non-holiday period, from 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 8 to midnight Monday, Dec. 11, showed 347 persons killed in traffic accidents, 42 in fires and 57 in miscellaneous accidents, a total of 446.

5-Alarm Fire

NEW YORK (AP)—A five-alarm fire that started in the kitchen of a Chinese restaurant spread Sunday through an entire block of stores in Queens. Three firemen were injured.

Antiques Pouring Into White House

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy has issued a yearend inventory of the antiques arriving for the White House. They range from a looking glass used by George Washington to a sleigh bed.

She said there had been a wide response to her project to decorate the executive mansion with furnishings that were part of the nation's history.

About 100 gifts were acknowledged by her fine arts committee in the second report since the First Lady started the program.

Among the gifts, loans and donations that came from virtually every state, and from Canada and France as well, were pieces that once were the property of historic figures.

A Chippendale looking glass used by the first president in his executive mansion in Philadelphia was loaned to the White House by the Mount Vernon Ladies Association, guardian of Washington's Virginia homestead.

Mrs. Edward J. Foy of Washington provided a pair of brooches and a fender from about 1850 that was the property of President Zachary Taylor.

A 19th century mahogany desk used by Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant in the White House is back in the mansion, donated by Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Gortner of South Wellfleet, Mass.

President Kennedy may have viewed with interest a Victorian rocker of 1865 vintage. It was described as similar to one President Abraham Lincoln used in his box at Ford's Theater, where he was fatally shot.

The rocker, gift of Constance Duin of Grand Rapids, Mich., has been placed in the Lincoln room of the White House.

Mrs. Kennedy's search for antiques has brought in more than 150 items—chairs, tables, sofas, lamps, beds, rugs, etchings, paintings and objects of art.

Guarded Optimism Greet Birth Of New Year, 1962

By PIERCE LEHMBECK
AP Reporter

The new year dawned in an air of guarded optimism today with the little fellow the world over sharing in a common hope that the leaders can implement their pledges towards lasting peace.

For many, however, the road to that long-sought end appeared about as cloudy as the eyes of millions who celebrated the birth of 1962 with mirth and drink.

For Westerners, the major hope was that Soviet Premier Khrushchev meant it when he pledged that his country would "do everything possible to avoid the threat of war in 1962."

For those behind the Iron Curtain—those who got to read or hear it—President Kennedy's expressed hope for improved Soviet-American relations brought food for thought.

Kennedy ran in the new year at a party in Palm Beach, Fla., where he went to be near the bedside of his ailing father.

Khrushchev greeted 1962 at a traditional new year's reception at the Kremlin where he declared in a toast: "The main achievements during 1961 was that on most of the planet there was no war."

As the new year messages flowed, among heads of state the world over, there were various other statements on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The Soviet trade union paper, Trud, flatly declared: "The world belongs to us." It said "the doomed world of capitalism will be unable to defend itself, even with nuclear weapons, from the immutable course of historical development."

The Soviet Defense Ministry paper, Red Star, forecast new Russian space successes in 1962 but added that questions of war and peace troubled the Soviet people.

As usual, the New Year burst

Old, beat-up year

makes way for the new

upon most of the world in a tumult of blaring auto horns, shouted hurrahs, night club toasts and carefree street gaiety.

More than 700,000 persons—the largest crowd in recent years—greeted 1962 in New York's Times Square.

Many of them poured out of night clubs in the famed tourist area where they had paid $20 to $30 just to get in.

Champagne corks also popped in the capitals of Western Europe, where boys kissed strange girls in laughing street throngs.

The new year's spirit in Britain was chilled by one of that nation's worst onslaughts of snow and ice. It kept thousands from downtown revels and they celebrated at home instead.

London's Trafalgar Square and Piccadilly Circus, which usually pack 100,000 as the old year dies, collected only a few shivering thousand.

Mansfield Sees Heavy JFK Load

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today President Kennedy is going to have to carry a heavy political load in the session of Congress ahead.

Mansfield said in an interview he is preparing for a difficult session in which he expects "the toughest kind of battles" over key administration programs.

"We are going to miss Speaker Sam Rayburn, who did so much to get the administration program moving in the 1961 session," Mansfield said.

"The burden on the President to help get his proposals approved is going to be heavier than ever."

"It will be a difficult session. But I believe we have laid the groundwork in the first year of the President's tenure for successful action on some of his principal measures."

Mansfield expressed confidence the Senate will approve a liberalized international trade program and a measure to provide medical care for the elderly through the Social Security system "if we get the chance to act on them."

He said it would be only a futile gesture for the Senate to consider such measures unless they first are passed by the House.

Mansfield indicated he thinks Kennedy is going to have to pull out all the stops to get House acceptance of his proposals in these controversial fields.

As a part of the White House effort, Mansfield said he looks for Kennedy to consult with Republican, as well as Democratic, leaders about his program.

Just how much Republican support Kennedy will be able to enlist in an election year when 37 Senate seats and all House memberships are at stake remains a big question.

Republicans who class themselves as liberals gave Kennedy some key votes in both houses in 1961.

GOP liberals who are running again could be influenced to some extent by the contentions of House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois that there is a swing toward conservatism.

Dirksen already has made it clear that budget-balancing will be a major GOP objective. He has indicated there may be Republican opposition to continuing foreign aid to India because of that country's grab of Portuguese enclaves.

He has called for a reassessment of U.S. contributions to the United Nations, a position that may spell trouble for Kennedy's plan for the purchase of $100 million in U.N. bonds.

Halleck has assailed the administration's medical care program as "nothing but socialized medicine."

Non-Westerns Pushing For U.N. Positions

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
An AP News Analyst

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Pressure from Asian, African and Communist countries for more top-level jobs in the U.N. secretariat will be reflected in a series of executive shifts expected soon.

In a few weeks, diplomats report, a Czechoslovak Communist will take over from a Chinese Nationalist as chief of a department. Two Africans will become heads of other departments, while a Panamanian shifts to another post and a key American official leaves the U.N. secretariat altogether.

The changes will be acting Secretary-General U. Thant's first major staff reorganization since the Burmese diplomat took office Nov. 3. His predecessor, Dag Hammarskjöld, had been under increasing pressure to make similar shifts.

LIMITED NUMBER

When Thant got his job, he promised to appoint a limited number of principal advisers from among U.N. undersecretaries and consult them on important questions.

This promise was exacted by the Soviet Union in place of the three-man board it wants to head the secretariat. The Russians have warned they may revive it if they are not satisfied with Thant's work.

Last Friday Thant named eight principal advisers. Five were incumbent undersecretaries from the Soviet Union, the United States, Latin America, Asia and Western Europe. To fill the other three advisers he appointed new undersecretaries from Eastern Europe, Africa and the Middle East. He did not disclose their precise duties.

Diplomatic sources say Deputy Foreign Minister Jiri Nosek of Czechoslovakia will succeed Victor Hoo of Nationalist China, soon to retire at age 67, as head of the office of conference services. That office provides U.N. bodies with interpreters, translators, documents, stenographers and everything else needed to hold meetings. Supervising these operations is not regarded as a key policy job.

SECTION HEADS

The informants say that the other two new undersecretaries, Solicitor General Godfrey K. J. Amachree of Nigeria and Ambassador Omar Loufi of the United Arab Republic, also will become heads of departments.

Vacancies will be created soon in the posts of undersecretary for General Assembly and related affairs and U.N. commissioner for technical assistance.

The present commissioner for Technical assistance, Roberto Heurtematte of Panama, is in line to become assistant managing director of the U.N. special fund for underdeveloped countries, a job second to managing director Paul G. Hoffman of the United States but still of undersecretarial rank.

The undersecretary for General Assembly affairs, Andrew W. Cordier of the United States, will leave the United Nations in about two months, after the General Assembly's resumed session beginning Jan. 15. He has reached retirement age of 60 and probably will take a job at some university or private foundation.

Dallas Woman Charges Rape

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP)—A man accused by a Dallas woman of raping her twice was held in jail today pending filing of charges. Both are 28.

The woman gave this account: The man accosted the woman early Sunday in a telephone booth, followed her to her car and got in despite her protests.

He asked her to take him to a night club and when he found there was a cover charge asked her to go to a service station.

There he took the keys from her car, but returned and drove her to a field, where he raped her twice. She said he threatened her with a knife.

The woman, her arm wrenched and clothing torn, reported the attack to police.

Khrushchev, Kennedy Exchange Greetings

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy rang out the "troubled" days of 1961 at a New Year's Eve party. He welcomed the new year in an exchange of greetings with Soviet Premier Khrushchev that expressed hopes for peace in 1962.

The President and Mrs. Kennedy drove next door to the ocean mansion of old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Wrightsman, for a black tie dinner-dance to which all their relatives here were invited.

There, overlooking the sea and surrounded by semi-tropical foliage, the guests danced to the music of Lester Lanin's orchestra.

The President, who has been at work all week preparing his administration's messages to Congress, took Sunday and New Year's Day off.

He planned to attend church services today and to visit his ailing father, Joseph P. Kennedy, in St. Mary's Hospital.

There will probably be another cruise aboard the presidential yacht Honey Fitz, where the President briefly — and unsuccessfully — tried his hand at fishing Sunday.

Kennedy gets back to work Tuesday when Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Pentagon officials fly in to discuss defense matters.

Sunday night, though, the President and his wife, Jacqueline, relaxed in a party atmosphere with close friends.

Oilman Wrightsman and his wife, Jane, have often had the Kennedys as guests.

Among the guests were David Ormsby Gore, the new British ambassador to Washington, and his wife. They are old friends of the Kennedys.

Before turning to an evening of relaxation, the President made public an exchange of New Year's greetings with Soviet leaders in which both sides hoped for peace and better relations in 1962.

Kennedy reminded Khrushchev of their grave responsibility for strengthening the foundation of peace in 1962.

"The year which is ending has been a troubled one," Kennedy said in his message to Khrushchev and Leonid Brezhnev, president of the Supreme Soviet. "It's my earnest hope that the coming year will strengthen the foundation of world peace and will bring an improvement in the relations between our countries on which so much depends. It is our grave responsibility to fulfill that hope."

The Russians, in their greetings noted that peace or war hinges largely on Soviet-American relations. They expressed the hope that in the new year "there will be undertaken efficient steps in the cause of liquidation of centers of military danger."

"On the part of the Soviet Union as before," they said, "there will be no lack of resolution to do everything in its power to ensure durable and lasting peace on our planet."

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the President will leave Palm Beach next Saturday afternoon to fly to Columbus, Ohio, where he is to speak at a fund-raising birthday dinner for Ohio Gov. Michael DiSalle.

Clear Skies Begin Year

By The Associated Press

Clear skies and comfortably cool temperatures greeted the new year in Texas Monday.

Only in Northeast Texas were there patches of clouds.

Early morning temperatures dipped to 20 degrees at Dalhart and Lubbock, and freezing temperatures were recorded as far south as Junction. There were also freezing temperatures across the northern portions of north central and northeast Texas.

The early morning readings were in the 40s in South Central Texas and along the coast with Brownsville recording a 48.

Forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies in parts of Northeast Texas and fair weather in the rest of the state.

Monday's temperatures were expected to be a little cooler than those of Sunday in east and south portions and about the same elsewhere. The Weather Bureau forecast a warming trend to begin in northwest Texas Monday night.

OUR OPINIONS

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher,
Church of Christ, 2800 West Highway 80
P.O. Box 1283.

"Recognizing our own sinfulness and imperfections, let us respect one another's right to differ in opinion and interpretation of Scripture." (The pastor's letter of protest.)

This statement illustrates how grossly misunderstood we are. We are not trying to get people to accept our opinions or private interpretations. We have often put it this way: In matters of faith, unity; in matters of opinion, liberty; in all things, charity.

In matters of faith we are to be united (agreed), for we must "all speak the same thing" (1 Cor. 1:10), and there is "one faith" (Eph. 4:5).

Now, if men would accept as faith only what the Bible clearly teaches, and not add their opinions and private interpretations, we would all be united. What a good resolution for the new year!

Let us serve you in '62. —Adv.

Ski Lift Fall Fatal

PETOSKEY, Mich. (AP) — A carefree winter resort holiday became a nightmare Sunday when a ski lift went out of control, killing one skier and injuring two others.

Norman (Nubs) Sarno, president of Nubs Nob Corp., said 55 persons were riding to the top of the 1,850-foot main slope when the shift of the lift's main drive gear assembly broke, sending the lift into reverse. Riders were plummeted toward the bottom of the slope at 30 miles an hour, Sarno said.

Larry Orr, 32, Grand Rapids, Mich., school teacher, died of injuries in Petoskey's Little Traverse Hospital.

Moral Rearm Center Dedicated

ODAWARA, Japan (AP) — The cornerstone for a moral rearmament center was laid last week in this city 50 miles west of Tokyo. A Burmese Buddhist priest, U Narada, chanted prayers while Mayor Juro Suzuki of Odawara scattered salt to purify the building site. Construction, estimated to cost $1.1 million, is to begin next month and be completed in April. The 1962 World MRA conference is to be held at the center in October.

Emergency Rice Flown To Jap Isle

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese air force C46 transports have dropped 20 bales of rice to the 350 inhabitants of Aogashima Island, 240 miles south of Tokyo. The emergency rice supply airlift was carried out in response to an emergency call that all food stuff on the island would be exhausted soon. The island's monthly food supply depends on sea transport, but rough seas have prevented the ships from calling at the island since October.

Telles Proves U.S. Latins Best Hemisphere Legates

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—The manner in which an emotional, half-angry crowd is handled can often determine whether it is pro or anti Yankee. The new U. S. ambassador to Costa Rica recently averted what could have been an international incident with sympathy—and the use of the Spanish language.

Raymond L. Telles, former mayor of El Paso, and President Kennedy's first "guinea pig" envoy to Latin America, had a crowd of 1,200 "tough" "Ticos" shouting "viva" for the United States after a brief talk.

Diplomats contend this is just more proof that President Kennedy was right in selecting Spanish-speaking, Latin-descended ambassadors for Latin America. Telles was Kennedy's first such choice.

This is what happened: On a recent visit to the Atlantic seaport of Limon, part of Telles' program to meet people at all levels and get to know Costa Rica at first hand, he had just sat down to dinner when shouts echoed from the street. "We want Telles!" was the ominous chant from hundreds of students and adults, army carrying placards reading "We want the refinery in Limon."

A nervous embassy aide reported to Telles that "They seem in a pretty explosive mood" and suggested quick use of a rear exit.

Telles disagreed. Ordering his two embassy officers to stay put, he went to the balcony.

The crowd was tense. Many were carrying the locally popular "torchas" (candles inside colored paper bags). There were scores of placards and posters demanding that the proposed refinery of a U. S. oil company be located in Limon.

The controversy had been raging for several weeks throughout Costa Rica, and Telles, himself of Latin descent, knew how emotionalism could get out of control, especially among students and Communist-infiltrated workers.

Addressing the crowd as "amigos" he went on in flawless Spanish to congratulate them on their civic pride, progressive spirit and the orderliness of the demonstration.

He explained that the refinery was a Costa Rican problem being worked out by President Echandi and the legislature in San Jose. But he offered to help if he could.

The crowd seemed content, but Telles admitted later that his major worry at the time was how to end his impromptu speech in such a way as to send the crowd home happy.

"Viva Costa Rica!" he shouted. The reply was a tremendous "viva" from 1,200 throats. "Viva los Estados Unidos!" he shouted next, and the crowd repeated the "vivas."

As the ambassador waved and started inside, someone in the crowd repeated the cheer for the United States—"Viva los Estados Unidos."

Again there was a tremendous "viva."

And, as one diplomat said later, four months ago when Telles percentage of students were Communists or fellow travelers.

McCarthyism Definition Is Center Of Fuss

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A Wisconsin lawmaker says a new dictionary's definition of McCarthyism "is slanted" and "an example of what disturbs people about the books in our schools."

The definition was defended by a spokesman for the publishers of the new book. He said usage dictates which words should be added and their meaning.

The criticism was expressed in an interview by Republican Assemblyman Russell Olson. He is one of three Republican members of Wisconsin's Lower House seeking an investigation of the state's school books. Olson represents the Twin Lakes area, divided in a controversy over introduction of the 1879 edition of the McGuffey Reader into the elementary school there.

Olson aimed his remarks at the definition in Webster's third new International Dictionary, published by C. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.

The definition notes that the term stems from the activities of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., and continues:

"McCarthyism. A political attitude of mid-twentieth century closely allied to know-nothingism and characterized chiefly by opposition to elements held to be subversive and by the use of tactics involving personal attacks on individuals by means of widely publicized indiscriminate allegations, esp., on the basis of unsubstantiated charges."

Harris Adriance, advertising manager for Merriam, said the definition was based on information from the publishing company's clip files, which show how often and just how the word was used.

To the professional politician, patronage is a customary manner of behavior; it is often the bread and the butter of political existence itself. It may be used in many ways; it can be the club, or the carrot; it can assure the safety of support by its rewards; and it can keep or acquire support by the threat of its removal. It can be used to place friends and relatives in well-paying positions of great personal power, and it can provide payment of the reward expected for past and future services. Portions are also often passed to others for their more personal use of removals and appointments.

In 1961, Mr. Kennedy has proved to be a political expert of rare judgment in his use of patronage appointments; time will tell if the rumors for 1962 will prove the same.

1961: A matter of record:

1. Robert Kennedy, younger brother, Attorney General.
No previous judicial experience
2. J. Sargent Shriver, brother-in-law, Peace Corps Commander.
No previous experience.
3. Adlai Stevenson, Ambassador to the U. N.
No previous personal experience fighting Communism.
4. Bill Daniel, brother of Price Daniel, Governor of Guam.
No previous experience.
5. Orville Freeman, Secretary of Agriculture.
No obvious experience reducing surpluses.
6. Soapy Williams, Secretary of State for African Affairs.
No previous experience.

1962? ? ? Rumors of things to come:

7. Arthur Goldberg — Next Justice of The Supreme Court.
8. Price Daniel — A Major Federal Appointment.
9. Dr. Robert Weaver — (Mr. Blakeley's Friend) Newest Cabinet Member.
10. Of course this is just a dream or fairy tale, but Mr. Kennedy has neglected Howard County in 1961. Will it happen in 1962? Certainly not. But in a dream, anything can happen.

Many Things Stir Memories Of Rayburn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Memories of Speaker Sam Rayburn are stirred by many things around the Capitol.

A basement corridor, for instance, was piled the other day with crates of filing cabinets filled with documents from his 48 years in Congress. The address across each told the story: "Sam Rayburn Library, Bonham, Tex."

The office for the 4th Congressional District of Texas is still open and doing business. Rayburn's staff remains, awaiting the election of his successor.

Still there but planning to retire is Rayburn's long time secretary, Miss Alla Clary. She came from Prosper, Tex., in 1918 to work for the War Department. In 1919 she went to work for Rayburn. She plans to continue the travels which have taken her around the world. She will keep her home in nearby Falls Church, Va.

D. B. Hardeman, former Texas legislator and a member of the Rayburn staff, plans to seclude himself for three or four months to complete his biography of Rayburn, who died of cancer in November. Hardeman has been gathering material for the book for years.

Mrs. Calvin Kimbrough, 15 years on Rayburn's secretarial staff, hopes to stay on with his successor. She and her husband, an official Capitol guide, are from Sherman.

Plans of three other Texans on the Rayburn staff are uncertain. They are John Holton, a lawyer and top aide in the speaker's office; Bob Odle, who came a few months ago from McKinney; and Bernice Fazer, from Leonard and Bonham.

Among others long and closely associated with Rayburn and whose presence reminds one of the old Texan is the tall, distinguished looking, gray-haired man who was his chauffeur. George Donovan has been chauffeur for the speaker since Rep. William Bankhead of Alabama held that office. He chauffeured Republican Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts during his tenure as the presiding officer of the House. He probably will serve the speaker who succeeds Rayburn.

Tiny Fish May Bring An End To Mosquitoes

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—The mosquito fish, found by the billions in the waters of Texas and the south, may eventually rid Texas' coastal cities of mosquitoes, says Dr. C. A. Keller, veterinarian of the Corpus Christi Health Department.

How best to use these tiny fish, which go by the scientific name of Gambusia affinis, in this task is the purpose of an experiment being conducted by Keller and Albert Heine, director of the Corpus Christi Museum.

Woman's Long Vigil At Oil Rig Near End

SPRING, Tex. (AP)—For 45 years the woman has kept watch over an ancient oil rig in the piney woods of Montgomery County.

In the legend-haunted woods it is whispered that she guards a treasure with her pistol—an untapped well rich with oil.

But Mrs. Mayo Simon Smith, 73, says this is not true. She is simply guarding the memory of her first love. He died in an explosion at the well in 1916—a month before they were to be wed.

But now she may give up her long vigil. The Smithsonian Institute wants the 50-year-old rig, one of the last of its kind.

"I kind of like the idea," she said recently. "It would be safe in a museum, and I'm getting' old and lame and foolish."

Mrs. Smith was "a pretty slip of a girl," teaching in the piney woods when she lost her heart to Lloyd Smith in 1913.

Lloyd and his father, Lovell (Dad) Smith, lived on a 1,200-acre timber tract near the Tama settlement north of Spring.

"They were drillin' a water well for the sawmill and struck what they figured was oil," she recalled. "Dad went crazy 'bout oil. Forgot all about lumber!"

He organized the Wilburton Oil Co. and started drilling over the water well in 1916 with a Parker steam-powered rotary rig.

Lloyd was firing the boilers one day when they blew up, toppling the wooden derrick.

"He died the next mornin'," Mrs. Smith said. "He died holdin' my hand. We had planned to get married the next month."

Lloyd was buried in Illinois, where he lived as a boy. The rig was left as it was. Mayo couldn't stand for anyone to use it.

She buried herself in teaching and caring for Dad Smith.

The years went by, and the old rig began to attract the curious. "Dad told me not to kill anybody," Mayo said. "But he said I could shoot to scare 'em off and that's what I've done."

A visitor returned the fire once and nicked her in the leg. Eventually, she married Dad Smith after his wife—who refused to come to Texas—died. Dad Smith's children filed suit to have him declared mentally incompetent because he refused to lease his land for oil drilling.

"When they dragged us into court we just ran off and got married," she said. "That knocked 'em back."

A Conroe jury declared Dad Smith of unsound mind, and he died in 1953.

His property was divided among the children, but Mrs. Smith got to stay beside the rig. She lives in an unpainted clapboard house now, a few yards from the old rig.

"When they take it away, I'll be trying to get myself under ground," she said. "I'm tired."

fish. Unless it can be adapted to breed in salt water, it will be impossible to raise the vast numbers necessary to clean mosquitoes from the bays, lagoons and estuaries along the coasts.

"So far, we haven't been able to breed them in salt water," Keller said, "but if we can accomplish that, the problem is solved."

The Gambusia is a fresh water

fish. Unless it can be adapted to breed in salt water, it will be impossible to raise the vast numbers necessary to clean mosquitoes from the bays, lagoons and estuaries along the coasts.

"So far, we haven't been able to breed them in salt water," Keller said, "but if we can accomplish that, the problem is solved."

Heine and Keller are starting the fish in fresh water, then moving them to tanks in which the salinity is progressively greater, hoping to develop a strain that will reproduce in salt water.

Heine said similar biological mosquito control, using Gambusia, has been carried on for years throughout the world.

He said that laboratory tests have proved that one Gambusia may consume as many as 225 mosquito larvae in an hour, but this is unusual.

Another ate 165 larvae in 12 hours; two half-grown fish devoured 5,041 larvae in 78 days, or about 34 a day apiece.

A single pair of Gambusia, if all their offspring lived, can produce approximately 128,000 babies in a year's time. Figuring that each of these will eat 100 larvae a day, a total of 2,783,148,000 mosquitoes would be destroyed in 12 months.

Keller said that in 1920, the Red Cross appealed to the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries for planting of Gambusia to be sent to Italy and Spain. The shipment to Italy failed, but the Spanish thrived. Later plantings sent from Spain to Italy multiplied enormously. Keller said some waters in which they were introduced became so heavily populated by them that cattle refused to drink.

In these countries and elsewhere the tiny fish were introduced to control malaria borne by the insects. In one swampy province south of Rome, from 1924 to 1930, the malaria index of the rural population dropped from 98 per hundred to 10, largely because Gambusia had eaten most of the mosquitoes, Keller said.

Simmon's Products Are Available At White's

From coast to coast—all over the nation "The House of Simmons" has facilities for making and distributing fine sleep products. San Francisco has a Simmons Company plant. So does Atlanta and seven other major cities across the country. Between these cities and to the north and south are scattered 60 Simmons warehouses to make these products economical to move.

Big Spring has its own Simmons outlet—White's furniture department, 204 Scurry.

Troy Ray, department manager, believes Simmons sleep products are the best you can buy. "Furthermore," says Ray, "I believe that home-makers should buy the best they can afford when choosing a divan, sofa or mattress. These things are important to posture, rest and comfort so more thought should go into this purchase than any made for a home."

The most famous name in the Simmons line of mattresses is probably "Beautyrest," which is nationally known. The "Beautyrest" carries a 10-year guarantee, has 837 coils and is nationally advertised at $79.50. Other Simmons mattresses are priced as low as $29.50 and for the ultimate there is one that carries a $329 price tag.

For the general public there is a Simmons mattress to fit every height; mattresses being manufactured in "queen size," "king size," and "giant size."

In addition to mattresses, Simmons manufactures, and White's have in stock, the famous Hide-A-Bed sofa, the Sofa Bed and the Studio Divan, all leaders in their field.

Since its introduction, the Hide-A-Bed has met great popularity and continues to grow in demand. The Hide-A-Bed has a comfortable seat like living room sofas, plus super-comfort cushions that make it a great asset to anyone's home. There is a wide choice of sizes, seven in all, and if not in stock at White's, can be ordered for prompt delivery. The Hide-A-Bed is easy to open, has a "Beautyrest" mattress and a lifetime steel frame. There are over 200 fabrics to choose from, which gives the homemaker the opportunity to match other pieces of furniture.

The Simmons Sofa Bed line is diversified, styling ranging from ultra modern to early American and with a price range that is applicable to any family's budget. Most of the Sofa Beds feature the "Beautyrest" or "DeepSleep" over a no-sag base, thus giving the ultimate in a comfortable "spare" bed.

Another fine part of the Simmons line is the Studio Divan, which is manufactured in both single and double sleepers. This is a new idea in convenience and comfort for an extra bed for your den or extra bedroom. White's invites anyone to compare Simmons quality and beauty with other lines before making a decision.

Although it would be practically impossible to carry the complete line of Simmons' products in a floor stock, White's has a good choice in these items and invites you to make a personal visit to their store at 204 Scurry and inspect this best in comfort.

Work Wins Acceptance

Experience in doing all types of electrical wiring is the key to the wide acceptance of work performed by Kitching Electric, 902 Gregg.

Homeowners and contractors know that experience is a necessity when electric wiring is being installed and consequently Kitching Electric Company satisfies a big demand in Big Spring and rural areas. Owners of Kitching Electric are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Haston and more than 20 years of experience qualifies Haston as a master electrician.

Kitching Electric is available for any kind of electrical job, ranging from installing one wall socket to wiring a huge office building. The know-how is there and qualified personnel are available for any type of electrical work.

There is always plenty of parking space at the Gregg Street store and on display are innumerable electrical devices that can make your home more convenient. The Hastons invite their friends in Big Spring to drop by and become acquainted with the facilities they have to offer.

Any problems that you may have in connection with electrical wiring, installation of appliances, etc., can be solved with a phone call to AM 4-5103. A Kitching representative will gladly give cost estimates, time of completion, etc., and take full responsibility for a good job of wiring, installation, or whatever electrical work you need done.

Expert Service

Montgomery-Ward not only services what they sell, they service what other stores sell, too. Furthermore, much of this repair of appliances or mechanical equipment can be done in your home quickly and skillfully. What can't be repaired there, will be picked up at your request. For even faster service on small radios, portable TVs, irons, etc., customers can bring them to the repair department while shopping downtown. Modern appliances represent a major investment and will last longer, giving better service if they are checked regularly. At Ward's, TV and radio tubes are checked free and replaced from a complete stock, all guaranteed a full year. From left to right are Joe Whitley, Larry Boggs and Leon Cain. Mr. Cain has done this work for 26 years.

Byron's Provides Worldwide Service

A world-wide moving service is provided by Byron's Storage and Transfer Company, 106 E. 1st, in Big Spring. Byron's handles many incoming shipments and also packs and arranges for overseas shipping of household goods.

The ease and facility with which Byron's packages a household for overseas moving was acquired from long experience in this field. It's the popular door-to-door method of moving, whereby a huge overseas box, which holds from 1,200 to 1,500 pounds, is packed and completely sealed at the home. After sealing, the box is not opened again until its arrival at England, Germany, Japan, or wherever consigned.

A trained crew of experienced movers takes over when called and after the crates are moved to Byron's, a United Van Line is filled and within a relatively brief period of time, a complete household is overseas and awaiting arrival of the owners. Extreme care is used to insure that china, ware, lamps, radio and TV sets and other fragile objects arrive safely.

Byron Neel, owner of Byron's Storage and Transfer, has been active in this type of business all his adult life, having been associated with his father, who was the pioneer in Big Spring of this type of business.

In addition to handling incoming and outgoing overseas shipments, Byron's features local and short distance moving. He has a fleet of trucks that include all types necessary for any sort of move.

Another feature to be found at Byron's is storage facilities. A safe, fireproof bonded warehouse is a must when it comes to storing valuable possessions and this is to be found at Byron's. Ample space is available to avoid jamming and crowding your possessions and a visit to Byron's is conducive to calling them next time you have a storage problem. Individual family bins are used, precluding any possibility of a mixup on stored items.

A call or visit to Byron's will prove beneficial if you are planning on moving, whether it be to the next block, or to Timbuctu. Give Byron's a ring at AM 4-4351 and let them take all the worries out of a move that you have to make.

Cuban Refugees Take New Year In Sober Manner

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban refugees observed New Year's—the third anniversary of Fidel Castro's takeover—in subdued manner, contrasting sharply with a whooping celebration planned in Havana.

Instead of dancing in what they hope will be the year of liberation, many exiles talked seriously about the apparently increasing anti-Castro guerrilla warfare inside Cuba—and about the Jan. 22 American foreign ministers meeting on Cuba in Punta del Este, Uruguay.

Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, president of the Cuban Revolutionary Council, spent New Year's Eve in bed with a cold contracted after telling the Inter-American Peace Commission in Washington about Cuban conditions. His report was in preparation for the foreign ministers meeting, where possible sanctions against Cuba will be discussed.

While talk of increased guerrilla activity in Cuba abounds, the Revolutionary Council, principal anti-Castro organization, apparently is holding in abeyance any decisive action pending outcome of the Uruguay meeting.

Maj. Evelio Duque, head of the "Escambray Front Cuban Anti-Communist Army," spent New Year's Eve in Miami in a huddle with about a dozen Cubans of fighting age.

Fatal Accident

Smoke pours from the wreckage of an auto which collided with another near Cordell, Okla., killing eight persons soon after the start of the holiday weekend. Seven of the victims, including all five members of the Randolph Valdez family of Elk City, were riding in this car which burst into flames after the crash. The crash was the worst on record in the state.

Indonesians Sure Of Victory But Question Is, How Long?

By PETER ARNETT
An AP News Analyst

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The question of an Indonesian invasion of isolated West New Guinea is not one of victory or defeat—it is how long it will take.

Experienced Western military observers in Jakarta believe there is no doubt an Indonesian attack would succeed in routing weak Dutch military positions in New Guinea, an island jungle fastness claimed by Indonesia from its former colonial rulers.

But Indonesia would have less trouble doing it at the end of 1962 than at the beginning of the year. The Indonesian military favors postponing D-day until then.

To lay legal further groundwork for this claim, Sukarno today ordered the disputed area included in a new province to be named West Irian—the Indonesian name for West New Guinea. He said the new province will have a Papuan governor. The inhabitants of the area are Papuans.

Sukarno also ordered a theater command established to handle an invasion. Beyond this, there was no indication of how Sukarno planned to realize his proclamation of a "West Irian Province." Western countries, including the United States, have been urging Indonesia to negotiate with the Netherlands.

The best Sukarno's armed forces could probably do today would be to establish a beachhead on one of the large Dutch-administered islands to the west of the territory and move slowly to the administrative capital of Hollandia and the military headquarters at Biak.

More than a dozen long-range Soviet-built TU16 jet bombers are already on hand and could make occasional bombing runs on Dutch positions from Ambon, in East Indonesia, or even from Java.

Indonesia also has Soviet-built MIG fighter squadrons. Sukarno has 40,000 battle-hardened troops in the North Celebes to spearhead an invasion. There are another 200,000 experienced soldiers in Java, Sumatra and East Indonesia on West New Guinea's borders.

One of the big imponderables is Indonesian sea power. There is little doubt that it equals or is superior to Dutch sea power at present in the area, but Indonesia still does not have suitable facilities near West New Guinea to make full use of its navy.

An arms agreement with the Soviet Union, signed in Moscow early in 1961, is bearing fruit. Indonesia expects more than two dozen TU16 bombers later this year, plus additions to its MIG fighter squadrons. Hercules transports supplied by the United States are being put to greater use training paratroops.

Bratcher Is GOP Chairman

LAMESA (SC)—Vernon (Hap) Bratcher, native Dawson County resident, has been appointed Republican County chairman. It has been announced here by Bill Klattenhoff of Slaton, district GOP committeeman.

Bratcher will serve until the May 5, 1962, primary election. He replaces Gene Dean, who resigned the position on Dec. 15, 1961, because of professional reasons.

The appointee served three years in the Army and was assigned to the India-Burma-China theatre of operation. Upon his return to Lamesa he engaged in farming and has a real estate loan agency.

An active civic worker, he is chairman of the board of the First Christian Church, past director of the Dawson County Fair and Livestock Association, state director of the Texas Real Estate Association and has served on many agricultural committees in the county.

A Damp Start

By The Associated Press
A mixture of rain and snow dampened the arrival of the new year today in broad areas in the eastern half of the nation, including parts of the southland.

THE DISTORTED PICTURE

Most of us have a distorted picture of our children's physical fitness. We know that today's youngsters are taller and heavier than yesterday's. But what about their strength, endurance, flexibility and stamina?

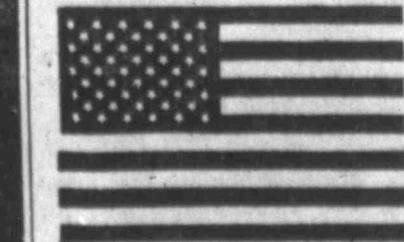

The fact is that our youngsters' physical fitness has slipped—slipped alarmingly. Now's the time to call a halt to the sedentary way of life that's sapping their vitality.

What can you do about it? At your next PTA meeting, you can urge your child's school to adopt a vigorous program for physical development.

Such a program of vigorous, daily exercise has been put into effect in many schools—providing youngsters the opportunity to develop their bodies—and to keep them fit.

Find out whether your child's school has an adequate program. And, if not, why not?

S. Viet Nam Tide May Turn

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
An AP News Analyst

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—

There's a strong feeling here that the "wind in the sails" is in favor of the United States in this key Southeast Asian nation.

Despite continuing Communist infiltration of many rural sections, most U.S. officials are confident the tide soon will begin to turn against the Communist rebels.

Infiltration is reaching critical proportions in some provinces, especially in the extreme south and in the central highlands. Roads are being cut, schools closed and villages dominated by the Red Viet Cong.

Despite continuing setbacks, there is a feeling that with the new program of U.S. military, economic and advisory aid to this war-torn republic time is running against the rebels.

It is clear that the United States has committed itself to the support of South Viet Nam as completely as it has to any of its Western allies.

U.S. military support will be greatly increased, but no actual combat troops will be sent unless a military emergency develops.

U.S. economic aid is expected to improve fighting strength indirectly, by making it possible to improve the living conditions and salaries of Viet Nam's regular soldiers, civil guards and self defense force. Pay in all three groups has been low with reports some self defense units have not received any salary for three months.

Infiltration of South Viet Nam through its borders with neighboring Laos and Cambodia is not likely to be ended quickly. The 900-mile frontier Viet Nam shares with Cambodia and Laos would be virtually impossible to seal by physical means.

The government does not expect war against the Viet Cong to be won overnight. Responsible officials compare the campaign against the Communists here with the long struggle in Malaya where the Communist rebels no longer threaten to bring down the government.

5 Children Die In Alabama Fire

CHILDERSBURG, Ala. (AP)—

Fire destroyed a two-family dwelling Sunday night and five children died in the blaze.

The mother of the children, Frances Hardy, told Coroner Clinton Perkins she had put the children to bed, built a fire in a wood-burning stove and walked two blocks to a store for cigarettes. Her husband was out of town. The house was in flames when she returned. The other family in the house escaped unharmed, the coroner said. He listed the dead as Dorothy Ann Smith, 7; Mary E. Smith, 5; James Arthur Foster, 4; Ellington Parker, 3; and Max C. Hardy, 17 months. Negroes.

Jaycees Pick 5 Outstanding Men

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce chose five men today whom they called the "Five Outstanding Young Texans for 1961."

The group said the five were picked for initiative and demonstration of success in the free enterprise system. They will be honored at a Jan. 13 banquet in Odessa.

The award winners, announced by Chamber President Lewis Timberlake, are:

E. R. Gregg Jr., 35, president and director of the Texas Bank and Trust Co. in Jacksonville. He was cited as responsible for developing clientele among young businessmen in the area and as a member of a host of civic organizations.

Jarrell Franklin McCracken, 34, of Waco, who organized World Records, Inc., world's largest producer of religious records. He is an ordained minister and a member of various civic groups.

Robert Lee Smith Jr., 34, associate professor of industrial engineering at Texas A&M. He developed a mathematical technique for computing the radiation pattern made by radium treatment needles, and directed computer work in hurricane and traffic flow predictions.

Thomas Raymond Thornton, 33, Bell County judge. He was 23 when elected district attorney in 1953—the youngest DA in Texas. As judge, he instituted improvements in county government, including redistricting, road building, employee benefits and others.

Craig Woodson, 28, publisher of Brownwood Bulletin. He instituted an editorial campaign for successful passage of the first major bond issue in 29 years. He also led bond victory for a new auditorium, a cleanup campaign and retention of the town's only hotel.

Wearing a light wool sweater to ward off the chill wind, President Kennedy leaves St. Mary's Hospital after visiting his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who is making marked progress from a paralytic stroke, according to reports issued by physicians.

Government Spending To Give Business Lift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government spending, a key factor in the economic recovery of 1961, will give business another big lift in the coming year.

Federal purchases of goods and services are expected to total at least $62 billion, up sharply from a 1961 level of $56.9 billion. That would be the biggest year-to-year advance since the 1953 military buildup associated with the Korean War.

There is a fair chance that the spending boom will carry even farther. Some experts here think the level of purchases may go as high as $63 billion.

The greatest upward thrust will come during the first half of the year, as the spending pattern develops as forecast. The rate of increase should begin to taper off by summer because of Kennedy administration efforts to produce a balanced budget. Even so, federal outlays will increase throughout 1962.

Federal purchases of goods and services directly reflect the government's contribution to the gross national product—the GNP—the most comprehensive economic indicator. The GNP measures total output of goods and services.

Mrs. Claywell's Funeral Pends

Body of Mrs. Mayme Claywell, 79, who died here early Sunday has been sent to El Paso for funeral services. River Funeral Home was in charge of local arrangements.

Mrs. Claywell's home was in El Paso. She died in a local hospital after a long illness. She was a long time member of the Methodist Church.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. C. Lytle, El Paso; one sister, Mrs. Dottie Berry, Antlers, Okla.; and one brother, Harry Rhine, Warsaw, Calif.

Tessier Rites Are Scheduled

Funeral for George D. Tessier, 67, Abilene, will be at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in Porter - Lowmyer Funeral Home in San Antonio. Burial will be in the Masonic section of the Mission Cemetery in San Antonio. River Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements at Big Spring, where Mr. Tessier died in a local hospital on Saturday.

Mr. Tessier, a resident of Albuquerque, N.M., for 30 years prior to his relatively recent removal to Abilene, was born in Yeakum on Sept. 17, 1894.

He was a veteran of World War I, a member of the Masonic bodies and the Shrine at Albuquerque, and a member of the Episcopal Church.

Survivors include his widow, Margaret, of Abilene; four sisters, Mrs. Tim Riley, Palestine, Mrs. John Carpenter, Globe, Ariz., Mrs. Mamie Lettich, Honolulu, Hawaii, and Mrs. Arthur Collier, Chihuahua, Mexico.

Convict Held For Check On Story Of Loot Parole

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — A Mississippi convict was held incommunicado today as FBI agents checked his story he was given leave from prison, an expensive car and a loaded weapon to recover robbery loot of $50,000.

Kimble Berry, 24, of Greenville, Miss., told his story to Lynn police after coming to Massachusetts to stay with a brother.

He said he was promised a pardon if he would get the loot from a Keiser, Ark. bank safe deposit box. But he said when he went to the bank, with a power of attorney to open the box, he was frightened away when he saw two men apparently armed, in front of the building.

An official of the bank reported that there are no safe deposit boxes in the bank, the only one in the town.

Berry said he was called to the Parchman, Miss., prison office where the proposition was outlined in the presence of a man who identified himself as a Mississippi state official.

Lynn police impounded the car and papers Berry brought to Lynn. They said they were impressed by his story, and that the FBI was investigating it. The FBI offices in Boston and Washington refused comment.

In Greenville, Prison Supt. Fred Jones called Berry's story a lie, though he confirmed that Berry had been a fellow prisoner of Aubrey Betts, who is serving a 59-year sentence for the $500,000 robbery of a Hattiesburg, Miss., construction firm last May 8.

Jones said Berry was released from the prison on a routine 10-day Christmas leave. He said Berry was overdue, and that a bench warrant had been issued for him.

Jones said Betts apparently wanted to get the loot back so he could seek a reduction in his sentence.

Cotton Advanced On Year's Market

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Cotton prices advanced on the futures market during 1961, but trading was negligible on the New Orleans exchange.

The agriculture act has practically placed the marketing of cotton in the hands of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, leaving little to be traded on the futures markets.

The government's agricultural program, the New Orleans Cotton Exchange said in its annual report, "benefited no segment of the industry, and succeeded only in creating havoc in a normally even-tempered market place."

"The producers didn't support it, the merchants deplored it, the mills were forced to curtail their consumption, the exchanges became, and continue to be, empty shells."

However, the trade looked for some improvement in the next year with the end of the so-called A and B marketing program, the report said.

The report said the price of cotton on the farm has been made "so artificially high that the government support price has become the ceiling as well as the floor, for cotton."

It said American cotton is currently priced out of the world's markets.

Pricewise, the December futures contract, the only one traded in throughout the year, ranged from a low of 33.57 cents a pound, to a high of 35.57 cents, a trading range of only $9.70 a bale.

The Department of Agriculture's crop reporting board estimated the 1961 crop at 14,538,000 bales compared with last year's crop of 14,272,000 bales.

The department expects exports for the year to reach 5½ million bales compared with 7,183,041 for 1960. Domestic consumption for the 1961-62 cotton year was estimated at 8,800,000 bales compared with 8,913,313 last year. The carryover stocks next July 31 is expected to total 7,600,000 bales compared with 7,163,522 last year.

In the spot cotton department prices are approximately $17 a bale above those quoted last year, but sales of the actual stuff are nearly 2½ million bales smaller than a year ago.

Humble No. 19 M. M. Edwards pumped 70 barrels of 30.3 gravity oil, with 20 per cent water, on initial potential in the Snyder field. The gas-oil ratio was 285:1 and the well was fraced with 10,000 gallons. It bottomed at 2,728 feet, elevation is 2,211 feet, pay zone is at 2,613 feet, 2½ inch casing is at 2,715 feet and perforations are between 2,613-71 feet. Location is 398 feet from the south and 1,569 feet from the east lines of section 32-30-15, T&P survey, on a 467-acre lease 11 miles southeast of Coahoma.

Schlake Brothers Drilling Co. No. 20-X E. W. Douthett is a duster at 1,302 feet in the Howard-Glasscock field. It is C NE SW NW, section 11-29-15, T&P survey, 22 miles southeast of Big Spring.

C. D. Turner, Big Spring, No. 3 TXL is an old well scheduled to be worked over in the Snyder field. It will be drilled to 2,800 feet. Location is C SE NW NW, section 41-29-15, T&P survey, on a 160-acre lease seven miles southeast of Coahoma.

Dawson

Conoco No. 2 J. M. Womack, spotting C SW SW section 40-34-40, T&P survey, flowed 182 barrels of 40 gravity oil through a 16-64 inch choke on initial potential in the Ackerly (Dean) field. The gas-oil ratio was 274:1 and the tubing pressure was 150 pounds. Elevation is 2,853 feet, total depth is 8,725 feet, the hole was drilled out at 8,705 feet, pay was topped at 8,504 feet and 4½ inch casing set at 8,724 feet is perforated between 8,565-644 feet. The well is four miles northwest of Ackerly.

Santiago Oil and Gas Co. No. 1-A Bowlin was completed for 188.23 barrels of oil on initial potential in the Ackerly (Dean) field. Flow was through ¾ 16-64 inch choke, gravity was 39.5 degrees, the gas-oil ratio was 439:1, tubing pressure was 100 pounds and casing pressure was 200 pounds. The well was acidized with 1,500 gallons and fraced with 67,000 gallons. From an elevation of 2,815 feet the operator drilled to 9,510 feet. A 5½ inch string was set at 8,890 feet and perforated between 8,895-542 feet for a pay

Martin

Texaco No. 3-A Mabey Foundation, NCT-1, in the Mabey field was completed at the rate of 8.27 barrels of oil pumping on initial potential. Gravity of the oil was 31.4 degrees and the well was acidized with 3,500 gallons. Elevation is 2,889 feet, total depth is 4,662 feet, pay was topped at 4,656 feet, 4½ inch casing is at 4,667 feet and perforations are between 4,656-62 feet. It is C SE NW, section 11-39, G&MMB&A survey.

Mexico Contributed Big Part Of Year's Odd News

By JACK RUTLEDGE
MEXICO CITY (AP) — An airplane ran over and killed a man; a burro shot its owner; a canal caught fire; a man with no arms beat a bully to death—well, that's part of the Mexican scene.

Maybe Mexico didn't make many page one headlines in 1961, but some odd incidents occurred which got into the news. Examples:

A burglar broke into a store, selling burglar alarms, almost went crazy when deafened and blinded by sirens, bells and flashing lights. Police said he was in a state of shock when arrested.

A hot murder suspect—sought for killing his wife—was caught in an icebox. Trying to elude police, he hid in a fish freezing refrigerator.

A heavily-loaded freight train jumped the tracks near Monterrey—then jumped back on and kept rolling. Officials called it a once-in-a-million incident.

The courts made news by ruling that just because a man has a girl friend, his wife doesn't have cause or grounds for divorce, and stealing electricity is not a major crime.

A three-eyed baby was born to a farmer's wife in isolated Yago. The third eye was in the cheek.

A Catholic bishop of Tehuantepec said cannibalism was still being practiced in some remote areas. A few months later this was verified by reports that a killer had eaten the liver and heart of his victim in the belief that gave him freedom from arrest. Local police held the same superstition and would not jail him. Outside cops had to come in.

A man walked into a police station to report he had been robbed, and had pretty good evidence—he was stark naked. And a bicycle thief who didn't know how to ride a bicycle swerved into a canal, almost drowned. He was glad to be nabbed by rescuing cops.

Singers' Mother Perishes In Fire

Two men fought a duel with an ax and a pistol—and the man with the ax won.

The Cuban airlines office was stink-bombed so many times strong protests were filed—by a dozen other companies. Their nearby offices began to smell so badly business fell off.

Employees in a laundry struck for higher wages, more vacations, and greater fringe benefits. The owner threw up his hands and gave them the place.

The Mexican customs office seized so many automobiles it ran out of parking space.

An Indian farmer was kicked to death by his burro. Neighbors later used the same burro to carry him to his grave.

Antonio Nava Mendoza, a member of the airport ground crew, was run over and killed by a commercial plane being pulled by a tractor to a hangar.

Silviano Lopez Morales was milking a cow, loaded shotgun by his side. His donkey accidentally kicked the gun, caused it to fire and kill its owner.

The Grand Canal, a sewage canal with its water covered with escaping oil from nearby refineries, caught fire, flames spurting 60 feet high.

A double amputee got into a fight with a town bully, killed him. Police didn't explain how he beat him to death, but said he did.

Agriculture Was Improved As U.S. Pushed Programs

By OVID MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's agriculture saw its economic situation improved somewhat in 1961 as the federal government embarked anew on stronger farm-aid programs.

Net income of farm operators was expected by the Agriculture Department to total around one billion dollars more than the $11.7 billion earned in 1960.

Much of this increase reflected policies and programs of the Kennedy administration which sought to reverse those of the Eisenhower administration reducing the federal role in agriculture.

The new programs included higher farm product price supports and a plan under which feed grain producers were paid slightly more than three-quarters of a billion dollars to reduce production of corn and sorghum grains, crops available in oversupply.

The 1961 farm income continued considerably below levels of the late 1940s and early 1950s, and far below the amount the Kennedy administration considered necessary to provide farmers a fair share of the national income. By comparison, farm operators earned a record $17.8 billion in 1948 and $13.5 billion as late as 1958.

Improved economic conditions were not general throughout agriculture. In several sections the situation deteriorated because of lower prices for such products as poultry and eggs, beef cattle, potatoes and some lesser crops. Too, the northern Great Plains suffered from a severe summer drought.

Where the Eisenhower administration had taken the stand that farm markets and production unhindered by government controls and regulation offered an eventual solution to farm income problems, the new administration took a position that it was essential that government embark upon a farm commodity supply control program.

The Kennedy administration did not get from Congress all the power and authority it needed to carry out its policies. As a consequence, both it and agriculture face a number of problems that may prevent any further upturn in farm earnings in 1962.

To make its policies work effectively, the administration would need power to control production of most crops and livestock products so that supplies could be brought into balance with commercial market needs and supplies donated under welfare and foreign aid programs.

The new year is expected to see the administration press Congress for additional authority to carry out its policies. This would be done in a political atmosphere because most lawmakers will be looking ahead to the November congressional elections.

As has been the case for a number of years, agriculture—represented by its private organizations—appears to be divided sharply over what government should do. The influential American Farm Bureau Federation continued to fight for less government in agriculture, but the National Farmers' Union and the National Grange largely backed the policies of the Kennedy regime. This division is expected to continue in 1962.

Total farm production in 1961 was about the same as the record high set in 1960. Crop volume was down under influence of crop control programs, but production of livestock and livestock prices was up. Next year's operations are expected to match this year's, unless, of course, adverse weather conditions should interfere.

Farm product prices in 1961 averaged about one per cent above those of 1960, largely because of higher government supports. Nevertheless, the farm price level remained considerably below the goal of federal farm programs.

Behavior Of Grain Mart Demonstrated

CHICAGO (AP) — The rampant behavior of a grain futures market once it breaks out of government price restrictions was demonstrated this year in soybean trading.

That commodity provided virtually all the excitement on the Chicago Board of Trade, as it posted one of its broadest rises—and falls—in many years. Speculation reached a record peak as stories of $1,000 profit or more in a single day had broad circulation.

That was during the bullish days. Although not so much publicity was given to losses in the equally steep decline, it is reasonable to conclude they were as numerous.

There was the one known instance in which a construction worker placed a rather large buy order with his broker in the morning and when the market closed that day he had hit it right. He pocketed $1,250 profit and left with the vow to quit while he was ahead. Maybe he did.

Then there was the case of an inexperienced speculator who telephoned friends repeatedly to inquire frantically what he should do. He said he had put all his savings into a soybean purchase just when the market hit its peak. At the time of his last call he had lost 50 cents a bushel and still had not sold. By then he was out $2,500. The price declined another 20 cents a bushel before leveling off.

The rumup of about $1 a bushel and runback was spread over a period of about six months, ending in July.

Meanwhile, the grains, still guided largely by government price supports and surplus stocks, held relatively steady although wheat had a prolonged slow sinking spell through late winter and spring. It recovered most of the setback.

The 1961 feed grain program under which Congress authorized broadened benefit payments for acreage curtailment also passed into the hands of the Department of Agriculture a more liberal policy for sales of government-owned surpluses. The department frankly declared it would not permit any sharp price advance in corn. At year-end, that policy still was in effect.

Insurgents Hit Portuguese Post

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — A group of civilians attacked an army barracks in Beja, Alentejo Province, today, the Army Ministry announced. Lt. Col. Jaime Felipe da Fonseca, undersecretary for the army, was fatally wounded and the rebel leader critically wounded.

The army said the situation is under control and that many arrests have been made.

The assault at Beja, called by some a Communist stronghold, took place at dawn, the army said, and fighting continued for some time.

The insurgent leader was identified as Capt. Varela Gomes, an opposition candidate for Parliament in the November election. He was reported near death in Beja hospital.

Young Texan Carries On Salvation Army Tradition

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A young Texas woman, virtually born into the Salvation Army, is carrying on the family tradition in Mexico.

The former Mary Atkins of Laredo, Tex., daughter of Brig and Mrs. Milton Atkins who have been with the Salvation Army 35 years, is now Mrs. Bernard DeFranco, and one of five Americans with the army in Mexico.

She graduated from the Laredo High School and was married there. Her parents are still in that border city. One son, David, 8, was born in Laredo, and the DeFrancos spend their annual vacations there.

Three other children—Catherine, 6, Mary Jean, 5, and John, 4, were born in Mexico, where the DeFrancos have lived for eight years.

It is a hard life, that of dedicated Salvation Army officers who work on "grants" (not salaries), and whose daily contacts are mainly with the poor.

But Mrs. DeFranco loves it as she does Mexico. So do the children, who attend the Pan American School.

There is little time for recreation, but once a week the DeFrancos for a few hours visit a park where the children play.

They live in crowded quarters of a wing of the Salvation Army center in a poor section of the city. In the center is a training school, where both teach, and a refuge or dormitory for men—usually alcoholics or dope addicts who find the Army their last hope.

Bernard DeFranco, of Asbury Park, N.J., is a captain. His wife is also an officer.

She and DeFranco met in New Jersey where she was working

Kennedy Views World Situation As Foremost

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy faces a new year of domestic problems with a cautious approach to civil rights and a hope for bipartisan support of his trade program.

While Kennedy uses his first year of experience to deal with Congress on such priority measures as medical care, aid to education, farm income, postal rate increases and tariff cuts, associates report he views coping with the international situation as his paramount task.

He is said to believe the Western Allies would have risked combat with the Communists had they attempted to tear down the Berlin wall when it was built last August.

NO PROGRESS

Men who have talked with him lately say he detects no significant progress in easing East-West tensions. But they also say he speaks of encouraging signs for eventual success of a "grand design," as he phrases it, for a world where nations can be free and internally strong enough to maintain their independence.

They add that despite disappointing conduct on the part of some neutrals — India's conquest of Portuguese Goa, for example — he believes that to give a cold shoulder to these nations would make them open targets for the Communists.

Authoritative sources say the chief executive, while conferring with administration officials at his beachfront vacation estate, predicts success for his medical care program with startling confidence.

CARE FOR AGED

This is the plan, not pressed last year against opposition, to finance care for the aged through the Social Security System.

He also forecasts approval of some increase in postal rates, without which his pledge of a balanced budget would be knocked out of kilter. Congress is traditionally reluctant to raise the cost of mailing letters and parcels.

He hopes Congress will accept his school-aid proposals, yet to be made public but certain to emphasize college as well as public school assistance, his associates say. Defeat of his school program, snaggled in a web of religious controversy and conservative hostility, was the biggest disappointment of his first year in office.

In connection with civil rights, Kennedy cites progress as reported by his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. Then, it is understood, he stresses "proper speed" in advancing measures helpful to Negroes. He commends Southern communities which have begun to desegregate schools and leaves the impression he does not wish to undermine further progress by overplaying his hand.

HASN'T DELIVERED

Kennedy has yet to issue the strong nondiscrimination order for federally aided housing that he promised as a candidate. He is said to be well aware of his campaign statements but not ready to act until he thinks the time is right. He contends this delay has nothing to do with the 1962 elections.

Neither will he link it in timing with his proposal for a new Cabinet-level department of urban affairs, likely to be headed by Housing Administrator Robert Weaver, a Negro.

The new department was one of his major pre-election recommendations in the domestic field. He reportedly hopes to get it through as a piece of legislation rather than the less arduous route of government reorganization, which would put it into effect barring a veto by congress.

NO PLACE

The chief executive is described as feeling there is no place for high voltage attacks on the political opposition in a year already charged with international hazards.

He expresses no complaint about Republican assaults on his foreign policy, suggesting such figures as the Republican national chairman, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, are not foreign policy spokesmen. He is said to regard former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's comments as constructive.

He plainly craves GOP support for broad authority to negotiate reciprocal tariff cuts, particularly with the European Common Market.

Eisenhower and former Secretary of State Christian Herter have backed this program in principle.

SURVEYS HELP

In all, he relies on the surveys showing that his popularity has increased since the 1960 presidential election and his year of experience to help him succeed in a divided Congress—and without the expert assistance of the late House speaker, Sam Rayburn.

He plans tax overhaul proposals, but no general tax reduction. With an administration he labels "progressive," he is said to be preparing a big new program for agriculture and measures to expand business in general, already stimulated by the defense buildup.

Of the international situation, informants say Kennedy feels the the Communists have not, he feels, materially expanded their domain in Latin America, the Middle East or Asia.

The danger to peace has not diminished. Threats earlier in the year to Laos and the Congo have lessened but the hazards continue.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson's forthcoming talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko will neither make nor break the opportunity to negotiate a peaceful Berlin settlement. But he considers the talks an important effort to improve a very grave situation. Associates say he believes the West cannot abandon its probe for a peaceful solution lest Soviet Premier Khrushchev proclaim he made proposals and the West failed to respond.

NO BASIS

There is no visible basis for hope the Soviets are ready to accept international inspection and controls to enforce a nuclear test ban treaty or a general disarmament agreement.

U.S. support of the Cuban refugees' attempt to overthrow Fidel Castro was a bad mistake based on miscalculations. But he is said to feel government policy is probably better organized as a result of the experience. He believes that Castro, now an avowed Communist, has lost stature among the Latin American masses.

DEAR ABBY

Takes Two
To Tango

DEAR ABBY, I am so starved for a kind word and a little affection that I don't dare let a salesman in the house any more. I have been married to a machine for 18 years. He has no feeling for me whatsoever. I am treated like a housekeeper. No one would believe it, because to outsiders we look like the ideal couple. He is a hard worker, and I know he doesn't have anyone else because he comes right home after work and sits here watching television and reading the paper. I almost wish he would hit me or something just to let me know he is around. Are there other women in the world with this problem? If there are, I wish they would let me know how they have kept from going crazy.

NEGLECTED: According to my mail there are many women who share your problem. They don't go crazy—they become neurotic instead. Many marriages dry up and die for lack of nourishment, and that is what's happened to yours. Revive some of that come-hither charm you used 18 years ago to hook him. He's probably just as hungry for "a kind word and a little affection" as you are.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle an argument? Do you drink or smoke? Have you ever? If not, why not?

MEMPHIS TEEN-AGER: DEAR TEEN-AGER: I neither smoke nor drink—and never have. I refrained at first to please my parents. I never took up the habits later because I have a teen-aged son and a teen-aged daughter, and I know that example is not only the best teacher, it is the ONLY teacher.

DEAR ABBY: I don't agree with you at all when you say it's WRONG for a wife to help herself to money from her husband's pants pockets while he sleeps. If that's the only way she can get it, I say more power to her. It's as much hers as it is his.

"DONE IT FOR YEARS" DEAR "DONE IT": If a man doesn't give his wife enough money to run the house and feed the family, he's a dirty so and so. And if his wife wants to clobber him with a frying pan while he's awake it's all right with me. But to fleece him while he sleeps is just plain WRONG.

LOOKING EM' OVER

By TOMMY HART

Titles of books which could have been written by the people associated with them — but unfortunately weren't:

"THEY HANGED MY SAINTLY BILLY" — by Sonny Liston, after he had been picked up in Philadelphia for playing policeman.

"THE LARK SHALL SING" — by Tom McNeely, following his fight with Floyd Patterson.

"BLUE RUIN" — by Ingemar Johansson, in the wake of his second fight with Patterson. Also "I Took It Lying Down."

"THE QUEEN BEE" — by Wilma Rudolph, who again was the nation's premier woman athlete.

"THEY RAN FOR THEIR LIVES" — by the entire Cincinnati Red baseball team, after their head-to-head bashing with the New York Yankees in the World Series.

"MAN WITH THE GOLDEN ARM" — by Warren Spahn, who in 1961 posted his 300th pitching victory.

"MAD MOON" — by Wally Moon, who started out like a home affair for the Los Angeles Dodgers and then had trouble finding the fences with his home-run bat.

"WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR" — by Minnie Minoso, after being traded for the umpteenth time in the big leagues.

"VIEW FROM POMPEY'S HEAD" — by Albert Westphal, who caught his ill-fated fight with Sonny Liston.

"A MOST CONTAGIOUS GAME" — by both major professional football leagues, about their experiences of signing college athletes far in advance of the agreed time.

"YOUNG MEN SEE VISIONS" — by the Dallas Cowboy NFL football team, who were very much in contention after four league games and then couldn't beat anyone.

"GLASS SLIPPERS ALWAYS PINCH" — by golfer Tommy Bolt.

"THE LAST HURRAH" — by Ted Williams, after calling it a day.

"DUEL WITH A WITCH DOCTOR" — by boxer Cleveland Williams, who has called off some fights because he insists he gets messages from outer space.

"RALLY ROUND THE FLAG" — by Paul Hornung, Green Bay back, after being called back in to the Army.

"AUTUMN THUNDER" — by coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State, following the decision of his school not to take the Rose Bowl bid.

"ROUGH ROAD HOME" — by the U. S. Davis Cup team, which couldn't get by Italy in a preliminary round of the playoffs.

"YANKEE FROM OLYMPUS" — by Roger Maris, after slugging his 61st home run.

"PARADISE LOST" — by Danny Murtaugh, whose Pittsburgh Pirates finished sixth in the National League, after winning the World Series championship the previous year.

"MY HOME ON THE RANGE" — by Sammy Baugh, after New York Titan owner Harry Wismer had, in effect, fired him as his head coach.

"AGAINST THE WIND" — by Willie Mays, who claims the breeze in his home park, San Francisco, harness his home run power.

"OUT ON A LIMB" — by coach Joe Kuharich of Notre Dame, who defied all opponents to beat the Irish and then limped in with a 5-5 record.

"MAY THIS HOUSE BE SAFE FROM TIGERS" — by six teams in the American League, who didn't fare so well with Detroit.

"ANOTHER TIME ANOTHER PLACE" — by the Baylor football team.

"CALL ME LUCKY" — by Mickey Mantle, who failed in his home run duel with Roger Maris but who wound up with the second biggest salary in NY Yankee history.

"VIEW FROM THE HILL" — by any teammate of Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, all of whom are getting a free ride.

"A SOLO IN TOM-TOMS" — by golfer Jack Nicklaus, who dominated amateur golf and then announced he was turning pro.

Run Was Also Wet

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Track Buffs who read about Dyrrol Burleson's shockingly slow 4:22 mile Sunday may suspect he's on his way out as America's top miller.

What a casual reader may have missed is that the Oregon University senior splashed through a driving rainstorm that turned a lightning fast Sugar Bowl Track and Field Meet cinder oval into ankle-deep mud.

College Teams Begin Their Conference Play This Week

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

College basketball is in the midst of a two-day breather after that furious spurge of holiday tournament activity, but the boys will start in again Tuesday night for a virtual non-stop run down to the final whistle in the last postseason classic.

This is the week most of the conference races begin in earnest, the week the pressure starts on such defending league champions as Ohio State, Cincinnati, Kansas State, Mississippi State, Southern California, Texas Tech and Princeton.

Ohio State's mighty Buckeyes, unbeaten in 10 games so far this season and top-ranked nationally, open their Big Ten schedule Saturday at Northwestern.

Second-ranked Cincinnati (10-1) faces St. Louis Thursday and Tulsa Saturday in the Missouri Valley Conference. Fifth-ranked Kansas State (10-1) has its first Big Eight game Saturday at Colorado.

Mississippi State (9-0) opens defense of its Southeastern title against Auburn Saturday. Southern California, 9-2 and ranked fourth, has a weekend series against California in the Big Five. Texas Tech (6-1) begins its Southwest Conference competition against Texas Wednesday night and goes against Texas A&M Saturday. Princeton (3-5) plays a tough one against Butler tonight before its first "v" League action Saturday at Penn.

Ohio State, Cincinnati, Villanova, Mississippi State, Kansas State, and Bowling Green reaped the major glory in the holiday tournaments.

The Buckeyes, spearheaded by Jerry Lucas, swept past Washington and UCLA and then beat Southern Cal 76-66 for the title in the Los Angeles Classic, a high-powered affair with a field that included four of the country's top 10 teams. Seventh-ranked West Virginia was beaten twice at Los Angeles and ninth-ranked Purdue was trimmed by USC in the opening round.

Cincinnati won the Holiday Festival crown in New York, swamping Wisconsin in the final 101-71 after earlier victories over St. John's (N.Y.) and LaSalle. Villanova (11-0) pushed its way into the national rankings with a title in the Quaker City tourney. The Wildcats downed Niagara, dealt third-ranked Duquesne its first setback, then clouted Iowa 69-56 for the championship.

Kansas State took the Big Eight tournament, squeezing by Iowa State 69-67 after easier decisions over Nebraska and Missouri. Mississippi State remained in the all-winning class, downing Maryland 64-42 and Louisiana State 73-51 in the Sugar Bowl.

Bowling Green pulled off a series of surprises in the All-College, knocking off Seattle and Wichita and then edging Houston 47-45 in the title game.

Other tournament finals included: Oregon State 74, Oregon 57 in the Far West; Santa Clara 48, St. Mary's 42 in the West Coast Conference; Arkansas 72, Georgia Tech 42 in the Poinsettia; Yale 78, Tennessee 69 at Evansville, Ind.; Detroit 77, St. Bonaventure 70 in the Motor City; Drake 66, Cornell 65 in the Queen City and Georgetown 67, VMI 59 in the Richmond Invitational.

Hawks Prep For All-State Meet

Fresh from their fifth victory in 10 tries for the title of their own tournament, the Howard County Junior College Jayhawks prepare for the all-states tournament in Lawton, Okla., this weekend.

This is one of the elite tournaments of junior college teams and is restricted to the top prospects in the region. Now boasting an 11-1 record, the Hawks fit nicely into that category.

The drawing will pit them against the Mobley, Mo., squad. The Hawks were extended only once during their 10th annual tournament, and that was in the first half of the finals against Decatur. Led by Bill (Bones) Murren, the Decaturers melted away a healthy HCCJC lead to a mere two points at the half. However, Decatur couldn't pull off its specialty—a last half rally. Instead, the Hawks pulled steadily away and by the end of the third quarter it was apparent what the outcome would be.

The charges of D. E. (Buddy) Travis showed improvement in the tournament, although lapsing into some ragged spells. Their rebounding continued to be a strong factor along with the aggressiveness of Ernest Turner and the under-the-goal work of Walker Carter. Passing still gave them trouble, although this was where much of the improvement had been made. If they can whet and hold an edge on this to forge a weapon to go with their tough defense, the Hawks could make it interesting at Lawton.

Steers To Host Midland Lee In District Opener

The Big Spring Steers begin the district wars here Tuesday against Midland Lee.

Sporting a surprising 12-2 record, the Steers will face one of the toughest tests of the season when they begin playing for keeps in the conference. Lee has something like a 4-9 record, but in all candor, the Lee schedule has been substantially tougher than that of the Steers.

This is not to take away anything from the Big Spring lads, for they have started almost from scratch and have surprised even their most avid boosters. With only Dick Ebling back from last year's starters, the club has shown exceptional improvement, especially when it is considered that frequently Coach Delnor Poss has three sophomores in there.

Lamesa nudged the Steers by a fair respectable margin, and Andrews arched a desperation toss with four seconds remaining last Friday to nose the Steers by two points. However, Dick Ebling was held out to give a turned ankle time to mend, and with him in, the Steers likely could have won it.

The first game will pit the B teams against each other at 6:15 p.m., and the first conference game will be at 8 p.m. Midland has one 6-6 lad and another 6-5 boy, but with their brand of hustle, the Steers are given a chance to win.

SW Conference Slates 8 Games

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference championship race opens this week with Arkansas and Texas Tech boasting the top records of a successful inter-sectional campaign but at least three other teams expected to project a free-for-all for the title.

Four of the favorites will be hammering at each other in first conference games—Texas Tech hosting Texas and Arkansas playing Texas A&M at Fayetteville, both games Wednesday night.

Arkansas wound up the non-conference campaign with an 8-1 record, winning eight in a row and climaxing it with the championship of the Poinsettia Bowl Classic at Greenville, S. C.

Texas Tech and Texas swept holiday double-headers at Lubbock, Tech beating William and Mary 91-70 and Mississippi 93-70 to make its season record 6-1 and Texas walloping Mississippi 88-61 and William and Mary 84-71. Texas is 7-2.

The league's record for the year against outside opposition is 33-28, the best the conference ever compiled in inter-sectional basketball.

There are eight conference games on the schedule for the week with the four teams, idle Wednesday hitting the maples, Thursday when Baylor and Rice tangle at Waco and Southern Methodist meets Texas Christian at Fort Worth.

Saturday night there's a full slate with Texas A&M and Texas Tech playing at College Station, Arkansas and Texas at Austin, Baylor and Southern Methodist at Dallas and Rice and Texas Christian at Houston.

Jerry Carlton of Arkansas and Jan Loudermilk of Southern Methodist are in a hot fight for the scoring lead with only one point separating them at this time. Carlton has 164, and Loudermilk 163.

Moslem Beauty Contest Is Flop

BAGHDAD (AP) — Iraq's first beauty contest turned out a flop. No contestants ever turned up. As a special attraction for New Year's Eve, the Auberge Night Club scheduled a contest to pick Miss Baghdad of 1962. Since the sight of girls in bathing suits could well cause an uproar in this ultra-conservative Moslem city, announcement was made that contestants could parade in evening dresses. Even so, not a single entry signed up in two weeks.

CHICAGO (AP) — A North Side synagogue was bombed Sunday and the wife of a rabbi at a nearby synagogue told police a telephone caller threatened all synagogues on the city's north side.

Channel Crash Spills Gasoline

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A steamship sideswiped a docked gasoline barge in the Houston Ship Channel Sunday night and port officials closed the channel for a time because of escaping gasoline.

Brother, It's Cold Outside

Up in Fairbanks, Alaska, where the sun doesn't shine much this time of year, an electric sign shows parka-clad shoppers in a mid-day icy fog that it's 57 degrees below zero. Temperatures have been this way for a couple of weeks, with the mercury even dipping to 62 below one day. Even old timers admit the current cold snap is a bit chilly, even for Fairbanks.

Deaths End Marital Tiff

DE SOTO, Mo. (AP) — Two couples, each parents of three children, reached a bloody climax to marital discord Saturday night.

Officers said one mother was slain by her husband, who then wounded himself in an attempt at suicide.

The other mother killed herself. Dead are Juanita Smith, 33, of Fletcher, Mo., a grade school teacher, and Esther Patton, 37, of Richwood, Mo.

Deputy Sheriff Henry Graf said Mrs. Smith had been having an affair with Mrs. Patton's estranged husband, Ralph, 40, for about two years.

Mrs. Patton, seeking reconciliation, met with her husband and Mrs. Smith, in a De Soto motel Saturday, but he rejected her, the deputy said.

Mrs. Patton took Mrs. Smith to Fletcher, then returned to De Soto and shot herself while sitting in her car.

Meanwhile at Fletcher, Clarence Smith, 35, who knew about his wife's association with Patton, confronted her when she entered their home, Graf said. They quarreled, and he killed her with a 12-gauge shotgun. Smith then turned the gun on himself but inflicted only a flesh wound.

Smith, an odd jobs man, was held for investigation. Patton, a railroad worker, was booked as a material witness and released.

Boot-Clad Sailor Faces Murder Count In Stomping

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A shrimp boat crewman who wears cowboy boots—faced a murder charge Monday for stomping a Mexican National to death in the county jail.

Roger Rocky Marchand, 26, of Fall River, Mass., was charged with murder after Ricardo Limon Garcia, 48, a citizen of Mexico who has been living in Brownsville, died Saturday night.

Cameron County officers said the two men were jailed on charges of drunkenness. A short time later they heard a commotion in a cell and found the 5-foot-2 Garcia dead on the floor.

Justice of the Peace D. J. Lerma said Garcia had been stomped and his neck broken. Officers quoted Marchand, a large, husky man, as saying Garcia had uttered indecent names and that he stomped him with his cowboy boots.

Sheriff Boynton Fleming said Marchand and Garcia had been picked up separately and did not know each other. He said a third man in the cell would be held as a material witness.

Marchand was held in lieu of $10,000 bond after being arraigned on the murder charge.

Marchand was a crew member of a shrimp boat out of Brownsville.

The case is expected to be called at the next regular session of the county grand jury starting Jan. 3.

Benny Reynolds New Cowboy King

DALLAS (AP)—Benny Reynolds, a shy 25-year-old competitor from Melrose, Mont., who has been on the rodeo circuit only four years, is the new world's all-around cowboy.

Reynolds and individual champions of saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, bareback bronc riding, calf roping and bull riding, were crowned Sunday night at the wind-up of the National Finals Rodeo.

Only one of the events, bull riding, went to the eighth and final go-round, before the championship was decided. Ronnie Rossen, Broadus, Mont., won the championship although he was in Baylor Hospital after an injury in the seventh go-round at Sunday's matinee.

He was thrown onto the horns of his bull. The angry bull also tossed into the air one of the arena clowns whose job is to distract the bulls and thus protect thrown riders. The clown was not hurt.

The world championships are scored on points for the total money won during the rodeo season, including the National Finals.

Going into Sunday night's competition, Bob Wegner, Ponca City, Okla., and Freckles Brown, Lawton, Okla., were close enough to overtake Rossen, but both were thrown.

Reynolds won the all-around cowboy championship in the seventh go-round when all competitors were eliminated. He has never won any of the event titles, but piled up enough points in saddle bronc, steer wrestling, bull riding and bareback bronc riding to capture the top title.

Jim Bynum, Forrester, Tex., won the world's title in steer wrestling; Eddy Akridge, Midland, Tex., bareback bronc; Dean Oliver, Boise, Idaho, calf roping for the second straight year; and Winston Bruce, Calgary, Alta., Canada, saddle bronc riding.

A Devotional for Today

I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me. (Galatians 2:20.)

PRAYER: O Lord, we thank Thee for the knowledge, inspiration, and strength that are constantly ours through Thy Son Jesus Christ. Help us to live Christ throughout the year ahead. In the name of Him who ever goes before us. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Higher Steel Prices?

Negotiations for a new contract between steel makers and steel workers will open early this year with no indication that workers will forego a wage increase in spite of President Kennedy's call for "restraint."

Steel management has exercised sufficient restraint to avoid a price increase under the 1959 contract and so far has made no general move to increase prices as a result of automatic wage increases which became effective Oct. 1. As management approaches the bargaining table its position is somewhat weak, however. If a wage increase is the price that the industry must pay for another three-year contract, then a price increase will almost certainly follow.

As matters now stand the steel industry is not in a good position to cut prices in order to forestall new wage demands, probably the only move that would marshal public opinion solidly behind the industry. In 1956 and again in 1959 many economists and industrialists urged the steel industry to cut prices in advance of bargaining sessions. The price cuts recommended ranged from $7 to $11 a ton. The effect, it was argued, would have been to force the steel workers union to abandon new wage demands or face an outraged public opinion.

If the steel industry had taken the offensive in 1956 or 1959 with a price cut it might be in a stronger position today. But the industry not only lost this position, but it has absorbed wage increases estimated in excess of $7.50 a ton with nothing to show for it.

Mexico's Unique Experiment

President Lopez Mateos has made a move unique in Mexico's revolutionary history, and perhaps in the history of Western republics. He has named all seven of Mexico's living ex-presidents to positions in his administration—posts more symbolic than powerful—and, significantly, all seven accepted.

Those ex-presidents—Rogelio Gonzalez Garza, Pascual Ortiz Rubio, Abelardo L. Rodriguez, Emilio Portes Gil, Lazaro Cardenas, Miguel Aleman, and Adolfo Ruiz Cortines—reflect the spectrum of Mexican politics from right to left. That all accepted nominal positions in the Lopez Mateos administration indicates that the sharp schism that has developed in Mexican politics, since the unsettling impact of Castroism, may be resolved peacefully under the Queretaro Constitution of 1917 and within the dominant government party, the Partido Revolucionario Institucional (PRI).

This gesture of Lopez Mateos and the response to it constitute an impressive demonstration of national unity.

What Lopez Mateos appears to have gained, therefore, is opportunity to push Mexico's economic and social development under lessened immediate political strain. But should he push too far to either right or left, the showy truce could fall apart.

The central problem he must attack is the widening disparity of living conditions between Mexico's rich and poor, the need for better distribution of the fruits of Mexican industrialization, and that is always a potentially explosively political issue. The best contribution that Mexico's seven living ex-presidents could make would be to stay out of Lopez Mateos' hair while he tackles that massive problem, which, hopefully, may be the intent of their national unity rally.

Nehru's Action Like Those Of Hitler

WASHINGTON—Prime Minister Nehru is puzzled—he still professes not to understand why Premier Khrushchev applauds him for his grab Goa while the United States and Great Britain denounce what he did. Yet he tells a press conference in New Delhi:

"Nothing in the 14 years of independence has excited and thrilled the people of India as the liberation of Goa. There is no doubt in my mind of the full justification for use of force against Portugal."

BUT THE INDIAN leader admits that he doesn't like the fact that most of the Afro-Asian nations "rejoice" while many Western nations are critical of the Indian conquest of Goa. He added: "I don't like this division of opinion between white and black."

But the Indian prime minister shouldn't be surprised. He may go on wondering about world reaction, but he doesn't explain why he himself "rejoices" that his policy has had the warm approval of Nikita Khrushchev. For the Indian leader telegraphed the Soviet premier as follows:

"THE GOVERNMENT of India is glad to note that the Soviet government has understood the motives and ideas determining our actions and is deeply moved by its sympathy and support."

The Soviet premier is the leading exponent of the doctrine that might makes right and has been telling the world that agreements about Allied rights in Berlin are obsolete even though signed only a decade and a half ago. It is precisely this doctrine—that history can be changed at will and past understandings can be arbitrarily erased—which is basic in Communist philosophy.

INDEED, THE same attitude was characteristic of the Nazi era in Europe as Adolf Hitler cried out that the Sudetenland was German and that Austria was German and that both areas must therefore be included in the Nazi empire.

It seems strange to be equating a mild-mannered man like Nehru with the fanatical Hitler, but the reasoning each offered in defense of the conquest of neighboring territory happens to be almost identical. The Indian government argues its right to annex what is next door. This misguided doctrine has brought on many a conflict in world history. The idea that a powerful government may annex neighboring territory by force of arms

IT SEEMS tragic that with all the machinery of mediation being utilized from time to time—as, for instance, in the Congo by the U.N.—no means was found by other nations to save India from the stigma of aggression, and particularly to save Prime Minister Nehru from the doubtful distinction now being accorded him as the immoral "man of the year."

Healthy Economy For 1962

By NATE POLOWETZKY

AP General Business Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. economy, its health restored, moves into 1962 in a buoyant and confident mood—certain of good things ahead.

What's in store?

Increased consumer and government spending—the twin props of the economy—a modest increase in corporate profits, and more jobs and less unemployment.

WHILE THERE were some predictions of new records for all segments of the economy, the general feeling was there would be no runaway boom.

There is a way the possibility of a revival of creeping inflation could throw a spanner in the works or that a steel strike in midyear could turn things sour.

That's the way the experts see it for the first half of the year, at least, with a possible contraction setting in thereafter.

A sign of this optimism was the plan of the giant auto industry to build more cars in the first quarter of 1962 than in any single 1961 quarter.

ADVANCE schedules call for 1,887,000 assemblies in January through March—compared to the 1961 quarterly high of 1,837,000 in the three months ending in December.

If these schedules stand, they will produce a record output total for the first six months of a model year of 3,724,000. The record now is 3,692,000 in 1955-56 with a 1954-55 second best of 3,516,000.

That means the automakers are convinced the average American is going to spend more in 1962 than he did in 1961.

LEADING industrialists who gathered here in December for the annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers generally agreed there would be a continuation through 1962 of the business upswing that began in the spring of 1961—provided a steel strike didn't pop up.

The gross national product (the total value of all goods and services) may be running at an annual rate of $380 billion by the end of 1962, compared to the annual rate of $340 billion in the last three months of 1961.

Federal purchases of goods and services are expected to total at least $62 billion, a sharp increase from a 1961 level of $56.9 billion. And some experts think the level of purchases may go as high as $63 billion.

THE DARK spot on the economy throughout 1961—and a continuing one for 1962—was joblessness.

Continuing automation and demands for higher skills hit the older worker and the younger job-seeker with little education or unneeded, or non-existent skills.

For many observers, the biggest challenge for 1962 was an expanding economy that would be able to create enough new jobs.

To Watch The Fallout

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—The North Carolina Civil Defense office received a letter from a man seeking information on how to build a fallout shelter.

"Should I put a periscope on top of it?" he inquired.

To Your Good Health

Cured Cancer Should Be Checked For Five Years

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Over a year ago I had a single nodule about the size of a pea removed from my vocal cord. Under it, the tissue was cancerous so I had cobalt treatments.

"Now what? I admit I am not hoarse any more, but I still have throat discomfort—it just doesn't feel right sometimes."

"Of course, my thoughts are on it a lot, and maybe that is what makes me notice every little thing."

"I go for checkups, but the doctor only says, 'Come again in two months.'"

"The suspense is driving me crazy. I don't experience any difficulty in swallowing, but at night I occasionally wake up and feel as if something is stuck in my throat."

"My husband says I'm just thinking of it too much. Is he right? Mrs. D.A.?"

"Yes, I guess he's right. But that isn't much of an answer to you, is it? So let me tell you some other things."

First of all, I'm sure you recognize that nothing would please doctors better than to be able to tell a patient such as you, "Yes, you had cancer, but it's cured now. Forget about it."

After all, patients aren't just numbers to us. They are people. People we know and like. And... respect!

We'd like to say that any cancer case is "cured," but if we happened to be wrong, we would be guilty of several things. Perhaps the least consequence might be the loss of respect, or confidence of the patient.

Perhaps the greatest consequence would be to let the patient become over-confident, too soon—and risk letting a curable case become an incurable one because we didn't speak words of caution and watchfulness.

By long and heart-rending experience, we have learned that grave risk attaches to letting ourselves feel too safe too soon.

Indeed, we don't talk of "cure," because there isn't any way to be positive. We do, however, place the greatest reliance on what we call "five-year survival."

For practical purposes, a shorter time usually tells the story. The five-year period is a safe figure.

The patient whose cancer remains cured after five years, or 25, is a patient whose cancer was, naturally, completely cured at the beginning. But we didn't have—and don't have—any way to be sure that, so on.

Since, Mrs. D.A., yours was a single small nodule, and it was found soon, and treated with cobalt (or proper X-ray equipment, if available, does the same thing) you have every reason to feel optimistic. The scar from removing the nodule, and the effect of the X-ray or cobalt, can impart some faint roughness or sensitivity. And your nerves do the rest.

If some microscopic bad tissue remains, checking will detect it. Be alert, be careful, but be of good cheer.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that harmful chemicals are absorbed by eating food from plastic dishes?"—D.H.

No, sir!

NOTE TO MRS. A.S.: Soreness in the breast region before the period is not unusual. Nor is a change in cycle time unusual at your age (42). Irregularity, however, would be cause for more concern.

Fat! My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

How About Advice For Parents?

Here lately, those female journalists who used to make with the sage advice for the lovelorn have been branching out. With witty and stream-lined replies, they've been trying to solve problems for the entire family and that's a good thing for those of us who are not concerned with bleeding hearts and silent loves, but with every day challenges.

"MY LITTLE BOY sits near another little boy in school who is forever crying. Now my son can't do the same thing because he can't read upside down. What should I have him do? Blow the whistle on the cribber or change seats?"

"My husband ended the practice of dropping by the tavern on his way home from work because beer makes him put on weight. Now he plops himself in front of the TV set after supper and munches on chocolates. He's beginning to look like a hippo. What should I do?"

YOU KNOW the kind. Very good reading, because it's most comforting to know that other people have posers, too. I'm tempted to dash off a few notes to Miss Lonelyheart and see what she can do about filling me in, now that her window has been thrown open to the whole family.

"DEAR MISS LONELYHEART," I could write, "I have a couple of daughters, one age five and the other two. The other night I had to resort to corporal punishment to get the older one to brush her teeth. A lecture on the fact that she might be a toothless 15-year-old some day didn't help. After the lecture and the spanking, I went into the routine about the fact that the licking probably hurt me more than it did her. "I don't want to have to whip you every time you are supposed to wash your teeth. You don't want me to? do you?" I never got to finish the talk although, if I do say so, I was going pretty good. The No. One daughter stopped the oratory by popping her fingers into her ears and beating a hasty retreat. The No. Two daughter, who thinks it mandatory that she do everything her sister does, injected her fingers into her ears and took a similar dodge. I ask you, what recourse does a parent have?"

OR MY LETTER to Miss Lonelyheart could go something like this:

"My daughters have been looking forward to the first snow of winter all year. They want to build a snowman. Nothing strange about that, you say? My problem is they want to build it in the house. Preferably on the dining room table. They insist it would look better than the bowl of artificial fruit now there. Maybe it won't snow."

The Secession Of Katanga

WASHINGTON—Katanga, like Massachusetts, the Hudson Bay area, the Commonwealth of India and dozens of other political entities that turned out pretty well, was established and defended by a business corporation—the Union Miniere du Haut-Katanga Mine Syndicate.

YOU WOULD EXPECT Communists and Lunatic Leftists to be against business enterprise, but it's hard to see why the heirs to great fortunes, like the Kennedys, Harrimans and Rockefellers, or the beneficiaries of large foundations, like Secretary of State Rusk, or former corporation attorneys for huge foreign cartels, like Under Secretary of State Ball, would not see many virtues in a republican form of government which is closely tied to business. The Katangan government produces payrolls, profits and tax revenues, along with more than half of the free world's uranium and almost three-fourths of the entire world's cobalt.

IT TAKES wealth, as the U.S.A. well knows, to achieve the things we want friendly countries to have. Military security is one—and the Katangese have been able to pay for men and arms and to fight the 103-country U.N. force to a standstill. Luckily, as it seems, the President, out of his growing wisdom and experience, had a flash of historical insight in time to stop the onslaught and give Katanga a breathing spell.

PUBLIC HEALTH and public education, which are essential to stable government, can come from the same mines that deliver the valuable minerals. Commerce thrives where government is strong and stable enough to protect it. Businessmen themselves thrive on the honesty of their trade and respectability of their homes. There are a host of reasons and a mountain of quotations and citations that could be marshaled to remind Americans that free enterprise and opinionated individualism are good things for any country—and why are such reminders necessary? How is it that we find our government officially supporting the Congo's attempt at a compulsory share-the-wealth unification with a province that demonstrably wants to do it alone?

KATANGA is not only pro-Western, but it is also pro-white. This third characteristic has given our liberals a terrible turn. It's been a long while since the White House, the Supreme Court and the majority leaders of Congress have seemed to be in this category. Our intellectuals don't know what to make of the unconventional thought that white folks aren't so bad and that they do deserve their own corner of the earth.

One of the dread possibilities held up as a consequence of Katanga survival is that Katanga, Rhodesia and South Africa might establish a stronghold on the African continent for the cultural and intellectual values of Western civilization. The argument is, in short, that we had better sacrifice Katanga, a Negro nation friendly to whites, rather than have Katanga survive and seek her natural allies.

Nobody so far has pointed out that Katanga's most natural and helpful ally would be the American Negro. In the U.S.A., despite too many disorders, the white and Negro races get along remarkably well. Nowhere else on earth has the dominant race, the whites, shed their own blood in profusion upon the battlefields, to the end that a minority race go free. Nowhere else on earth are more brains, money and good will at work to make it easier for the two very uncongenial races to occupy the same country in peace. At first, things went too slowly, and then they went too fast. But racial relations in the U.S.A., strained as they are by nature and made many times worse by agitators, are the best model that emerging Africans can find anywhere.

KATANGA, like the colonies of '76 and the Confederacy of 1861, has attempted a secession from the central government, although the term has to be stretched very thin to cover the Congo, the U.S.A. in Lincoln's time and Great Britain in the splendid reign of George III. But neither in 1776 nor 1861 was the moral principle of secession proved or disproved. In both instances, the showdown was a trial by battle. Yet the best constitutional lawyer today will say that the Southern Confederacy probably had the law on its side in declaring the right to secede, and Katanga is probably in the same position.

It is only the One Worlders who are demanding one Congo—and that's no recommendation whatever.

The Gallup Poll

Rockefeller Divorce Action Short-Lived

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 30—News of his impending divorce had a sharp, but apparently short-lived impact on the thinking of Republican voters about Gov. Nelson Rockefeller as their Presidential nominee in 1964.

After former Vice President Nixon bowed out of contention next time around, Governor Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater were widely regarded as the leading contenders for the Republican nomination in 1964.

BEFORE THE REPORT that the Rockefeller's had separated and would seek a divorce, a Gallup Poll found that the New York Governor held a clear lead over the Arizona Senator as the choice of their party's rank-and-file to head the ticket next time.

Immediately after the divorce news, however, Rockefeller's stock dropped sharply while Goldwater pulled up even with him, and an increase was noted in the percentage of GOP voters who were undecided between the two men.

Now—in a just-completed poll of Republicans across the nation—Rockefeller has regained most but not all of the ground he had lost.

GOLDWATER, on the other hand, has held on to much of the support he gained.

Deuces Wild

CLEVELAND (AP)—A swearing-in ceremony recently had Capt. Emil Calmeine, an Air Force recruiting officer, seeing double—twice.

Calmeine swore in twins Alan and Elliot Schultz, and William and Robert Starni—also twins—at the same time. Both sets of twins are from Akron.

The captain was the right man for the job, though. He's also a twin.

Rockefeller's recent gains appear to have come largely from GOP voters who were undecided immediately after the divorce news.

This is the question with which Gallup Poll reporters sought the thinking of rank-and-file Republicans about Rockefeller and Goldwater as possible 1964 nominees: "Suppose the choice for President in the Republican convention in 1964 narrows down to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York State. Which ONE would you prefer to have the Republican convention select?"

THIS HAS BEEN the trend of GOP preferences since before the divorce news:

|       | Prefer: | Gold-  | Un-     |
|-------|---------|--------|---------|
|       | Rocke-  | water  | dec.    |
| Oct.  | 51 pct  | 33 pct | 16 pct. |
| Nov.  | 40      | 40     | 20      |
| TODAY | 49      | 37     | 14      |

Before Nixon decided to seek the California governorship in 1962, and withdrew his name from Presidential consideration, he was the leading choice of GOP voters in the event of a choice between Nixon, Rockefeller and Goldwater.

In mid-summer, Nixon was preferred by 60 per cent of Republicans, Rockefeller by 18 per cent, and Goldwater by 17 per cent.

ALTHOUGH A MAJORITY of GOP voters took Nixon at his word and did not believe he would be the Republican candidate in 1964, the evidence is that his party's rank-and-file would still like the man who almost defeated President Kennedy in 1960 to try again next time.

When Republicans in the most recent survey were asked about their choice in the event of a three-way "showdown" at convention time, these were the preferences:

|                    |        |
|--------------------|--------|
| Prefer Nixon       | 53 pct |
| Prefer Rockefeller | 23 pct |
| Prefer Goldwater   | 18 pct |
| Undecided          | 6 pct  |

Original Baby-Sitters Disappear From Scene

By J. P. F. MILES
Written For The Associated Press
LONDON (AP) — The old-time Nannie is fast disappearing from the British scene.

Making a vain effort to replace her are armies of educators, sociologists and psychologists.

Together, some people say, they do not possess the wisdom and ability of Nannie.

Who was Nannie — the woman about the house whose primary duty was to look after the children?

She had little training and could lay claim to no diploma. Her formal education often was limited to the elementary school. Her informal education probably consisted of helping to bring up a large number of brothers and sisters.

NANNIE DICTATORIAL

With such a background, it is not surprising that Nannie's outlook was narrow, her tongue sharp and her appearance severe. As for her character, that was as large as her devotion to the family with whom she lived and which, usually, she ruled with the inflexibility of an absolute dictator.

Her position in the household was unique. She was part of the staff and yet she was above it. A sort of high priestess, she exercised from the precincts of the nursery or ironing room a benevolent despotism.

She knew everything that went on that might in any way affect the family. Outspoken when necessary, she could, when occasion required, be as discreet as a diplomat.

Secure in her peculiar authority, she acted as the final arbiter on family and household problems.

The friend and counselor of every member of the household, she was also recognized as the Official Recollector. Her memory was long.

Sometimes it could be chastening and embarrassing, when she reminded some apparently successful adult who had "been through her hands" of a childhood incident he had been only too glad to forget.

SHE ARBITRATES FASHION

Although often austere and dowdy in her own dress, she was nevertheless the arbiter of fashion, not only for her charges, but for the whole household. Woe betide anyone who dressed unsuitably or who failed her exacting inspection.

She had her favorites, but this was by no means an unmixed blessing. Those she liked best rarely found that they were favored. In fact, they might well be treated with a severity the rest were spared.

When it came to deciding on careers, her advice was invariably sought and, salting her advice with some caustic comment, she would hit the nail squarely on the head.

"So Master Tommy would like to be a banker, would he?"

A sniff of disdain.

"I can't think of anything less suitable. As he has never been able to save his pocket-money, he's not likely to be able to take care of other people's money."

After that, all thought of banking for Tommy was dismissed.

GIVES MATRIMONIAL ADVICE

Long before the marriage bureau came into being Nannie, with her peculiar, but extremely accurate sources of information, gave all the matrimonial advice needed.

She knew with unerring instinct just which young man would suit which young lady, and she was quite unscrupulous in ensuring that they became husband and wife.

Grandiflora And Floribunda

At left is Jantzen Girl, a tall graceful grandiflora rose in scarlet. Buds are full and rounded with blooms boasting waved petals in an unusual manner. Ivory Triumph, a floribunda, is especially suited for borders and massed plantings. Yellow buds open into blossoms of ivory shade, well-formed and fragrant.

Wide Range Of Colors Included In New Roses

Golden Slippers, a new rose of brightest orange, leads a distinguished parade of Peterson & Dering rose introductions for the 1961-1962 season. Golden Slippers was the only floribunda to win the All-American Award for 1962.

White Prince, a new hybrid tea, enters the select group of rare roses whose blossoms are truly white. The buds are long and slender, opening into pure white flowers of more than fifty petals, very large and pleasingly fragrant. Blossoms are borne abundantly on long single stems in exhibition style, excellent for cutting and arrangements. White Prince stands tall and upright, garbed in heavy-textured foliage having a medium glossy leaf surface which forms an attractive background for the big, white, high-centered blossoms.

Ebb Tide, another new hybrid tea, is a lovely pastel rose with long, peach-colored buds slightly flared at the tip. As the buds open, the petals tend to ruffle and roll outward for a distinctive bloom of light yellow flushed with pink. These fragrant flowers are large and appear on exceptionally long strong stems, well suited to cutting and arrangements. The bush is strong, upright and rugged, complemented by hard, glossy foliage, most attractive as a garden plant.

Jantzen Girl, one of the new grandifloras, is a tall, graceful rose, spectacular in appearance and performance as befits its famous name. The buds are full and rounded, opening into scarlet blossoms with crisp, clean petals waved in an unusual fashion for a most attractive flower. Tall, fast growing and fittingly dressed in an abundance of bright red blooms, Jantzen Girl is a source of long-lasting cut flowers throughout the season.

Ivory Triumph, a new floribunda with cupped single blossoms, is a promising rose for borders and massed plantings. Large clusters of small pointed yellow buds appear in true floribunda profusion, bursting into masses of ivory blossoms, beautifully formed and lightly fragrant. They spring open again and again from the compact, upright bush, contrasting brightly with the dark green glossy foliage.

The Roast Goes Round And Round

Modern small electric rotisseries that broil meat and poultry as these foods revolve on a spit have come to have a really welcome place in many kitchens.

These appliances have several advantages. They do a beautiful job of cooking meat and poultry so these foods are crisp and brown on the outside, juicy and tender within. They're easy to use and to clean. They're versatile—they can do lots more beside spit cooking. And they're portable; you can use them in any room and you can easily switch their positions in a small kitchen.

The following directions may be of help when you rotisserie-broil a roast of beef. Although this recipe calls for garlic you may, of course, omit that seasoning if you like.

SPIT-COOKED BEEF
Use a rolled beef roast about 4 inches in diameter and weighing from 3 to 5 pounds. Remove roast from refrigerator 1 to 2 hours before cooking.

Rub meat with cut clove of garlic, salt, pepper and flour. Rub skewer spit with cut garlic.

Slip one clamp onto skewer; then put roast on spit so that the meat will be centered when the spit is placed in the electric rotisserie.

Put second clamp onto spit; tighten thumb screws. Preheat broiler 5 minutes with temperature set at medium.

Pour 1/2 cup water into drip tray and place in bottom of broiler. Place spit with roast on it in rotisserie. Turn heat to high.

Turn on motor and close spatter shield. Roast until meat is cooked to desired doneness, allowing about 1 hour for the rarest stage.

The 4 - inch diameter of the rolled roast, rather than the number of pounds it weighs, determines the cooking time.

Rogers Attend Father's Funeral

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Roger, 1300 Blackmon, have returned from San Angelo, where they attended funeral services for her father, William J. Thomas, 86. Mr. Thomas passed away Friday at noon in a local hospital.

Others attending the rites, held Saturday afternoon, were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Scott and children, Mr. and Mrs. Don Brashears and son; Billy, Tommy, Jimmy, Mary and Becky Roger.

In addition to Mrs. Roger, Mr. Thomas is survived by his widow of Big Spring and a son, William J. Thomas Jr. of Slaton.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Teen-Age Actress Likes Natural Look

By LYDIA-LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Ann Margaret's excellent performance in "State Fair" won her a term contract with 20th Century-Fox, but no one could call her an overnight success for she began singing and dancing professionally at three.

"Every girl dreams of coming to Hollywood," she confessed, "but I was afraid they might want to make me over. I think naturalness is the most valuable trait a girl can have. I fought them at the studio about having my front teeth capped. So they're crooked. That's the way my teeth have grown," I told them. But everyone in Hollywood seems to feel strongly about even teeth, so I had them filed down and capped with perfectly straight ones. At first I found it difficult to say a soft "S," but now I don't know that I have them on, and they don't give me any trouble, but that's the only thing they changed about me.

"I believe a girl should do everything she can to give herself confidence in her appearance, and if she is self-conscious about her teeth, I would advise that she go to a dentist. It is certainly quicker, surer and cheaper to have caps than to have your teeth straightened."

We were lunching at the studio, and when a piece of lemon meringue pie was carried by, Ann called to the waitress, "I'll have that for dessert."

"I don't have a sweet tooth, but lemon pie is my weakness," she explained. "I have mother to thank because she taught me good eating habits. I was not allowed soft drinks, candy bars or cake. We had cookies and a jar of hard candy, but our meals were balanced and I never had a teen-age skin problem. I think diet has much more to do with having a clear skin than most people realize."

The publicity girl with us was enthusiastic about Ann-Margret's skin.

"How do you cleanse it?" I asked.

"My favorite way is soap and water. But the soap is a very special formula that is non-drying and helpful in keeping a good skin. The most important thing is to learn how to get your skin clean and how to keep it that way," Ann concluded.

Cape-Stole

A beautiful cape-stole is easily crocheted in hairpin-lace. It's an asset to your wardrobe for it looks lovely over any dress. Pattern No. 1145 is made in the 15-inch and 18-inch length — whichever you desire. Pattern contains complete instructions.

Natural Charm

Ever since George Burns discovered Ann-Margret, her career has been zooming. This attractive teen-ager believes that naturalness is a girl's greatest charm. She is currently appearing in 20th Century-Fox's "State Fair."

U.S. To Give Out Fallout Data Books

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government begins mass distribution Tuesday of its long-delayed booklet on the deadly dust of radioactive fallout and how to survive it.

Some 25 million copies will be left in home mailboxes or shipped to civil defense offices.

In pictures and simple sentences the 48-page booklet tells of death by blast and fire that would come to millions in the target areas of a thermonuclear assault. It offers positive hope of survival for millions more, describes the government's plan for community shelter spaces and tells how to build and stock home shelters costing $150 or less.

"The experience would be terrible beyond imagination and description but there is much that can be done to assure that it would not mean end of the life of our nation," the booklet says.

The Defense Department, as author and publisher, expected criticism and quickly got some. Nuclear physicist Ralph E. Lapp said the booklet was a "fairly innocuous effort" telling nothing new and having limited value.

The basement shelters recommended, Dr. Lapp said, could become death traps for families within a few miles of a nuclear blast.

In anticipation of such comment, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara wrote in a brief preface that judgments on the civil defense program may differ.

"The factual information in this booklet has been verified by independent scientific authorities, and represents the best consensus of the scientific community that we can establish," McNamara said.

The pocket-size book is titled "Fallout Protection—What to Know and Do About Nuclear Attack." It was produced, after months of redrafting and internal controversy, at a cost of $825,000. That's about three cents a copy. The booklet discounted the chances of nuclear disaster. It said government policies make such an attack "highly unlikely, and to keep it unlikely is their most important aim."

The appraisal of blast and fallout effects is in terms of a five-megaton weapon, smaller than some thermonuclear devices pos-

The book offers no hope for most persons within 10 miles if such a blast is delivered at ground level. Within a two-mile

Texas Economy Has Good Signs For The Coming Year

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' economy was better than expected in 1961 and the outlook is bright for 1962, a University of Texas agency says.

That was the report written by Dr. Francis May, statistician for the Bureau of Business Research.

"As 1961 ends, it is apparent that it was a better year than we thought it was going to be," May said. "A general improvement in the state's economy was only temporarily interrupted by Hurricane Carla. There is every reason to believe that 1962 will be another good year."

May had a warning:

"The state has serious problems that remain with us. One of these is the status of the state's vital oil industry and the effect of domestic and foreign competition on it. The welfare of 9,617,000 Texas citizens is dependent in no small degree on successful solution of this problem."

May said the state and national economies were near the bottom of the mild recession early in 1961, a setback that began in May of 1960.

"Recovery has been more vigorous than expected," the report said.

Bureau statistics show the level of Texas business rose to an all-time high in August, dropped sharply in September but rose again in October. The first three quarters of this year were 5 per cent above 1960.

"If the comparison by months is made for the first 10 months of the two years, every month of 1961 except February was above the corresponding month of 1960," May said.

Electric power consumption declined one per cent in November, sales of ordinary life insurance rose 5 per cent, total retail sales were up 2 per cent and urban construction permits were up 5 per cent.

Insured unemployment in Texas rose from 2.4 per cent in October to 2.7 per cent in November. The 2.7 per cent compared with the national average of 4 per cent insured unemployment, 5 per cent in Louisiana, 4.2 in New Mexico and 4.4 in Oklahoma.

May said that Texas had a good business year despite tighter proration on the oil industry, one of the state's largest employers and one of its high wage industries. Even with a continuation of 8-day allowances for November, crude oil production rose one per cent over October and 2 per cent over November, 1960. The increase was due to allowances granted new wells and variations in producing rates of old wells, May said.

May noted the 171 producing days in 1961, which had 12 to 13-day production months, had declined to only 101 producing days in 1961, with 8 to 10-day production months.

"This has caused declining employment in oil and gas production from a peak of more than 125,000 jobs to the current level of 112,500," May said. "This is a reduction of more than 12,500 jobs. The current average weekly wage paid oil and gas field production workers is $112.75. At this average wage, the loss is equivalent to the elimination of a weekly payroll of $1,409,250 or an annual wage bill of $73,281,000.

"It is small wonder that the state's economy has begun to experience a declining growth rate at a time when new job opportunities are needed to take care of a growing labor force."

Oil Industry Faces Sharp Competitive Battle In 1962

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—The oil industry moves into 1962 with a sharp competitive battle taking shape. The trend toward compact cars has prompted new sales philosophies by several major marketers. The results included a flurry of isolated price wars. The result may be major adjustments in the price structure for gasoline. Oil industry leaders called 1961 operations disappointing. Most forecasts for 1962 breathed cautious optimism. Two points dominated the November meeting of the American Petroleum Institute: 1. Increases in demand for petroleum products the next several years will be comparatively small. 2. Increased emphasis must be placed on research designed to find new uses for petroleum.

The disappointing 1961 domestic trends included: Total demand was only up 1 per cent. The most optimistic forecasts for 1962 go no higher than 3 per cent. Total demand rose from 6 to 12 per cent annually in early postwar years. Domestic crude production in 1961 approached the 1957 all-time high of 7,170,000 barrels a day but was 30,000 barrels below forecasts. Idle capacity exceeded 3 million barrels a day. Little improvement is indicated for 1962. Early December reports indicated the total number of wells drilled in 1961 was a bit behind 1960 when 46,751 new wells gave the industry its lowest total since 1952. Wildcat tests were 7 per cent below 1960, which had a 12 per cent decline.

Integration Got Student Support On State Campuses

By The Associated Press
Integration drew support from student bodies of many of Texas' private and public colleges in 1961.

At SMU in Dallas, 21 student senators delayed their Christmas holidays to approve an integration resolution with only one dissenting vote.

A week earlier, 1,400 of Rice University's 1,900 students voted on a similar resolution and approved it by a 2-1 margin.

Reed Martin, 21, president of the Rice student government, said he planned to send a letter to all the other schools in the Southwest Conference asking student governments to call similar elections.

NOT A FAD

"This movement is not a fad," said Marvin Olan of Bryan, president of the University of Texas student body. "Too much thought and work goes into it."

"If it was a fad it wouldn't last. This movement will last long after present leaders are gone from the school."

Dr. John Silber, a professor of philosophy at Texas, said:

"Students are essentially idealistic and they feel free to do something about what they consider a moral dilemma."

The movement got its first big shove at Texas in 1957 when Barbara Smith of Pittsburg, Tex., was forced out of her lead role in a student opera.

The Smith girl was one of the first Negroes admitted to the university.

UNFAIR

Students marched, demonstrated and called the school's administration unfair. The opera played to a half-empty house.

The university was the first state school in Texas to integrate.

This year the student assembly voted 5,200 to 3,200 to integrate varsity athletics. They also asked for dormitory integration.

In all cases, the school administration has taken no action on the student votes on integration resolutions. The elections are only opinion polls.

White students have gone to jail because they joined Negroes in integration demonstrations.

Students in Austin formed an organization called the Students for Direct Action. In Houston, students joined the Progressive Youth Association.

MUST LISTEN

"The students are not yet bothered with the practical implications of integration as are boards of trustees and regents," Silber said. "If this ground swell of student opinion keeps up long enough, the administrations must surely listen and act."

The student efforts reach into almost every college in Texas. Dr. Allen Johnson, dean of students at the University of Houston, said:

"There are too many working kids on the campus who go to school and work too. They don't have the chance to join organizations. But they don't feel any different from the students at Rice."

Houston is faced with a transition from a private school to a state school. Student leaders say they have refrained from pro-integration action for that reason.

George Fix, a senior from Dallas, said Texas A&M students are trying to get a referendum on integration.

QUIET ACCEPTANCE

Texas Tech quietly accepted 20 Negroes among an enrollment of 10,200 last July. The school paper urged the administration to take such action with student approval.

The Baylor University's Baptist

Student Union unanimously passed a resolution Dec. 14 in favor of integrating the school. Baylor students said some other Baptist colleges — Hardin-Simmons, the University of Corpus Christi and Wayland College — are integrated.

The TCU student government created a human relations commission to study, discuss and see what action may be taken on integration.

"Integration is inevitable," said Danny Megarity, 21, of Waco, president of TCU's student government.

About 125 Negroes attend Lamar Tech in Beaumont. "The students accepted it well," David Bost, dean of student life, said. "The only protests came from some people in Beaumont."

Francis Miller, dean of Howard

Payne College, said the students there are in the talking stage now.

"We'll probably get a little steam from them soon," he said at Brownwood. "If a poll was taken they'd be for integration and we'll probably integrate soon."
