WATER RATES LOWERED IN SANTA ANNA

The City Commission, at a recent meeting, voted to make a change in the water rates, effective at once.

The minimum charge of $1.25 for the first 2000 gallons will remain the same, but instead of charging 50c per 1000 gallons for all water used above the minimum, the rates is changed to 25c per 1000 gallons.

Bank Statements To Be Published Next Week

Statements of the financial condition of the Santa Anna banks will appear in the Santa Anna News next week. Copy was furnished us this week, but so late we did not have time to prepare them for publication.

Congratulate Fire Boys

I wish to congratulate the members of the Santa Anna Volunteer Fire Company for their promptness in responding to a call to come to my home Wednesday, when it was thought my premises would soon be a mass of flames and ruins. I think the Volunteer Fire Company is one of the best organized institutions for the protection of life and property we have in the town and my hat is off to them.—A. N. McLeod.

Ice Cream Supper at Salem

The News has been requested to announce that there will be an ice cream supper at the Salem Methodist church, Friday night, July 10. The public is cordially invited.

Burgess Weaver, wife and son A. G. and Leon Weaver, drove over to Dallas first of the week where Mrs. Weaver and A. G. took the train for Rogers, Arkansas, to visit Mrs. Weaver's mother, Burgess and Leon returning home Tuesday. Those returning state the highways are badly congested with traffic and the temperature too high for one to be comfortable in Dallas.

Harry Beach, tourist printer of the old time type, some 75 or 80 years of age, called at the office of the Santa Anna News this week looking for work. These old-time printers are few in number and scarcely ever call at a modern shop these days hunting work.

Mrs. E. E. Polk attended the State Florist convention in Brownwood this week.

PARKER, BROTHERS INSTALLED NEW DRY CLEANING PLANT

Workmen have just completed installing at Parker Bros. Tailor Shop a Scherer Clarifying System, recognized as one of the best on the market. Before making the purchase Parker Bros. examined several systems and quickly decided they wanted the Scherer. This makes Parker Bros. tailor shop one of the best equipped in Texas. Before the gasoline enters the revolving cleaning machine it is filtered through four tanks. It enters the cleaning apparatus as clear as crystal and leaves laden with dirt and again enters the filtering tanks before it returns to touch the clothes.

On another page will be found Parker Bros. announcement of the installation of the new machine and a picture of the various machines in working order. It is now ready for use and Parker Bros. are anxious for their friends to call and inspect it, and see just how your work is handled, and why they claim when they clean, it's clean.

Dollar Day, Monday, July 20

Monday, July 20th, has been designated Dollar Day for July. Let's make it a real Bargain Day for every merchant in Santa Anna.

Social Entertainment

Mrs. S. W. Childers entertained a number of friends with a social at Walker's Pharmacy last Thursday afternoon in honor of her cousin, Mrs. Earl A. Harris of Dallas. Those present were Mesdames G. W. Faulkner, J. R. Gipson, P. P. Bond, J. M. Childers, Lee Millhollen, Leman Brown, Ford Barries, Earl A. Harris and the hostess. Orange Ice, Cake and Mints were served for refreshments.

Rev. Sidney F. Martin and family, J. Ed Bartlett and family, Misses Mary McCorkle, Ola Polk, Mattie Ella McCreary, Agnes Rothermal, Vesta Evans, Messrs. Hubert Hudler, Clyde Bartlett, and R. W. Douglass are attending the Christoval encampment this week.

Ross Kelley and family left Friday for the San Saba River, where they expect to spend several days, while Mr. Kelley is taking a vacation.

Archie Hunter is taking a vacation, spending most of his orary member of the Sons of Rest.

Mines of Information

Not a great many years ago a wealthy man bought 17,000 acres of land in the Ozark mountains in order to have a quiet place to retire upon leaving the active life of the city. He bought the land cheap and intended to breed fancy cattle as a pastime.

In making a survey of the property, engineer discovered vast deposits of iron ore. Now the property is more valuable than a gold mine, and twelve million dollars was invested in a plant for converting the ore into iron and steel.

Advertising is a vast mine of information that should be consulted by every buyer before making a purchase. Like the Ozark mountain land, it was at first thought to be of no value and supposedly wise business men looked upon advertising as valueless.

But advertising has won its spurs. No successful business enterprise can get on without it and no thrifty person can buy to best advantage without using advertising as a ready reference.

Following the guidance of advertisements is sure to lead to "pay dirt." They are inexhaustible mines that give you news of the latest and best things made, with a word as to what they cost and what they will do.

Rising Star, Incubator is Basis of Following Editorial

That the local poultry industry is coming in for state attention was evidenced the past week when the Galveston Daily News ran the following editorial under the heading of "The Lowly Hen Pays a Dividend."

100 per cent in 18 months! Sounds like somebody has been drinking a Ponzi cocktail, or maybe reading the literature of certain alleged oil men who now, by the way, rest behind the bars somewhat bigger than any dividends they ever paid. But—

In January, 1924, the Rising Star (Texas) Chamber of Commerce, aided by subscriptions, installed a 10,000-egg incubator at a cost of approximately $2,300. A man was employed to operate it, and already the output has made more than 100 per cent in eighteen months. A cash dividend of 15 per cent recently was declared.

Around in that section, says the news story, farmers have found that "100 hens will pay the grocery bill, and most of their other expenses." The which gives Monsieur Boll Weevil a terrific blow where it hurts most.

South Texas farmers are doing as well. They found out long since that it wasn't good business to rely on cotton alone. Turkeys and chickens and eggs consequently form a big commodity outgoing shipments to the North and East, and represent proportionately large incomes for the farmer.

Texas has oil and cotton and a varied industrial complexion, but these alone do not produce all the wealth. The lowly hen does her part.—Rising Star Record.

Winters Installs Hatchery

The Winters Enterprise gives an account of a large capacity incubator recently installed in Winters and many other places are installing large Commercial Hatcheries.

We don't know what we would give if we could get our local hatchery in charge of some enthusiastic poultryman, who would get busy with it and make a go of it. To make a success with any business somebody has got to put some effort into it. We believe the local hatchery could be made one of the most profitable investments in town, if it was properly managed. The writer has written letters, made trips, used the telephone and telegraph wires, seeking information regarding commercial hatcheries, and not a failure have we yet found recorded, which goes to prove that if properly managed one will not fail in Santa Anna. Pretty soon it will be time to start the fall campaign and somebody should be busy with arrangements.

Sunday School Class Entertained

Mrs. Frank Brown and Miss Glenda Ford of the Baptist church entertained their Sunday school classes Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Brown. Games were played and a general good time was had. Later refreshments of cake and lemonade were served to the guests by the hostess. There were sixteen present and all hope that Mrs. Brown will entertain them again soon.

Mrs. Forbes and son from near Brownwood came over Monday and took Mrs. D. C. Dennis home with them where it is hoped a change may do her good.

COUNTY DEMONSTRATION DOING GOOD WORK

Miss Brent, County Demonstrator for Coleman County, appeared before the Lions Club at its weekly meeting Tuesday at noon and extended an opportunity to the Lions to give a scholarship to some club member making a satisfactory grade to a short course.

We failed to get an interview with Miss Brent to learn the entire details, but we have several favorable reports on the work she is doing among the rural girls over the county, and the Santa Anna News is glad to commend her work. We are also glad to have an opportunity to assist her in helping prepare the girls of this county for better work in their homes. The scholarship was promised and we are glad to have a part in it.

Lions Change Meeting Place

The Lions Club changed its meeting place from the dining room over the State National Bank to Harrod Hotel, beginning with this week.

Dr. Sealy wired greetings from Rochester, Minn., where he is taking a special course in the Mayo Clinic. A good number was present at the meeting Tuesday. Thanks to the Santa Anna Orchestra for several pieces of good music.

Unsigned Articles

The Santa Anna News receives articles in most every mail offered for publication, and some of them often contain a bit of interesting news, but the contributors fail to sign their names, therefore, we cannot use them. The Santa Anna News tries to be of all the service it can to its readers and advertising customers, and we want to publish all the news of interest we can get, and we really appreciate these bits of news, but under the law we cannot use them. It is not necessary that we publish the names of the contributors, but it is necessary for the contributors to sign the articles submitted, so the publishers will know who they are. Please bear this in mind and not be disappointed if you send us some news for publication and fail to find it in the paper.

Capt. A. J. McDaniel and a number of the Boy Scouts spent the night at the City lake, Tuesday, caught some fish, enjoyed a fry and had a general good time in most every way except?

The Most Modern Equipped Dry Cleaning Plant In Santa Anna

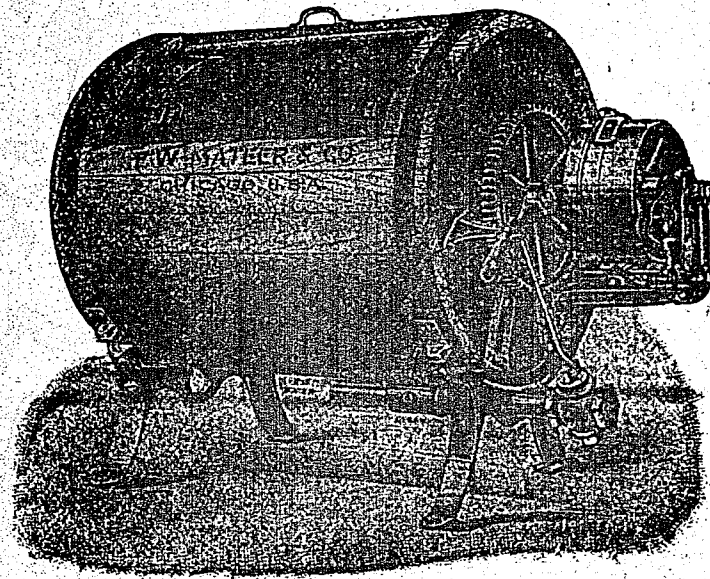

The New Scherer System That is Being Installed

The above cut shows a picture of the new system that has been installed. With the new clarifying system no dirty gasoline comes in contact with your clothes.

After your clothes leave the washer they are entered in this extractor where they are thoroughly extracted and deodorized. In a few minutes your clothes are ready to press.

Your clothes are entered first in this washer where they are thoroughly washed—a continuous flow of gasoline passing through all the time your clothes are in wash. The same gas does not touch our clothes the second time while being cleaned.

Believing that the people of Santa Anna and community are entitled to a better cleaning service we have just installed one of the best plants in this part of the country, and the only one in Santa Anna. This community has long needed a good Dry Cleaning Plant, and trying to keep abreast of the times, we are prepared to take care of your wants.

THIS WEEK WE COMPLETED OUR SCHERER CLARIFYING SYSTEM

When in operation our shop will be as well equipped as any tailor shop in the United States. This sounds like a big assertion, but it's true—ask the fellow who knows. We do not mean to convey the idea that ours is the biggest, but that it is equipped with the same machinery and systems that are used in the larger cities of America. With the new clarifying system no dirty gasoline comes in contact with your clothes. It enters the top of the revolving cleaning machine from four clarifying tanks and the dirt laden gasoline runs out at the bottom. A continual stream of pure filtered gasoline is poured on the clothes at all times.

This will be in operation at Parker Bros. Tailor Shop until better machinery is made, when it's made we will have it.

We appreciate your business and are always looking for better means and ways of improving our service. If you are not a patron give us a trial. Call and inspect the new machinery and methods.

Neilan's "Sporting Venus"
Promises Real Novelty

What promises to be a most unusual film is scheduled for the Queen Theatre Monday and Tuesday in "The Sporting Venus." The picture brings together the combination of Marshall Neilan as director, Blanche Sweet, Roland Colman and Lew Cody as featured players, and Gerald Beaumont as the author. The combination of Blanche Sweet playing under the direction of Marshall Neilan was last seen on the screen in "Tess of the D'Urbervilles." Now they come together again in a story of an entirely different type.

"The Sporting Venus" is a story with its locale in England, Scotland and France, and Neilan and his entire company made a trip of some 14,000 miles in order to photograph scenes in their exact locations. "The Sporting Venus" is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production.

Black lies invariably follow the Queen Theatre Monday and

Business is the Way to Success

It has long been known that the biggest incomes and the richest opportunities are to be found in the field of business; that young men and young women often achieve greater success before they are thirty than many men achieve in other callings in a lifetime.

Business is the only calling in which all humanity must depend to a greater extent; the only calling in which every man, woman and child is a "prospect." Business is the only calling which, in America alone, has 110,000,000 "prospects." Every man, woman and child must have food, clothing, a house, and home furnishings. Business serves every need and it serves every whim. There is not another field like it in all the world.

An investigation by the Government shows that a success or a failure in a person's life is made between the ages of 40 and 45. You see the young business person has made, in a way, a success before he or she reaches that age.

Preparing young people to meet the demand of 110,000,000 people. Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas, has grown to be the largest business school in America.

Fifty thousand completed either the Private Secretarial, General Business, General Banking, General Railroad, General Western Union, General Civil Service, General Cotton Classing, or one or more of the many other courses, and are now in business for themselves or holding responsible positions.

The Tyler Commercial College offers you definite results; results which you will feel in a short time. This is true because immediately upon completion of your course, the Employment Department will endeavor to place you in a good position.

"Achieving Success in Business" is the large book that will be sent to you for the asking. This helpful book tells you all about the Tyler Commercial College—how others won success—why men and women enter their school from all over the world—of the opportunities open to you. Just fill in and mail the coupon printed below for the large free book.

LEAFWORM HAS ALREADY APPEARED IN TEXAS

(By R. R. Reppert, Entomologist, Extension Service)

The cotton leafworm has already been reported from several parts of South Texas, and it may be assumed that it is generally distributed in small numbers over practically all counties of the Coast section.

The unusually early appearance of the leafworm this season creates serious menace. Cotton is late, and even with favorable weather conditions the cotton plant must remain free from insect damage for practically the entire growing season to produce a fair yield; whereas in normal years, infestation by the leaf worm is of small importance and sometimes is a direct benefit.

Showers over Texas are almost sure to be followed by severe damage. Already these have occurred over South Texas. What may result over the drought stricken area is problematical. It is rather expected that the leaf worm, whatever the weather conditions, will become generally distributed over Texas and that damage will become severe in some sections. At least, during the latter half of June. Farmers should be on the lookout for its first appearance, and be prepared with materials and otherwise, to apply measures of control.

Glenn Hollywood's Ideal
"Merton of the Movies"

Curious, gossipy Hollywood has decided that Glenn Hunter is the typical "Merton of the Movies." After Harry Leon Wilson's novel of that name had become one of the best sellers, Hollywood wise crackers began to refer to all young screen-aspirants as "Mertons." And then Glenn Hunter came to town to play the title role in the film version of the story which Jas. Cruze, the man who made the "Covered Wagon" and other great picture successes, produced for Paramount. And after the first week's watchful waiting, Hollywood decided that Hunter was the story's ideal. Ed Brady veteran villain of the screen, is his hero. Polo Negri is his heroine. This picture comes to the Queen Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday. You will miss a treat if you miss this picture.

LOCK YOUR CAR

There are organized gangs of auto thieves in the United States. But their thefts are comparatively small.

Ninety per cent of the auto thefts are by joyriders who leave the car after a night of pleasure.

You will have a hard time thwarting the professional, once he determines to make off with your car. Good locks will thwart the amateur.

This is just a reminder that this is the joyriding season.

A newspaper editor has figured out a newspaper has over two million chances to make a mistake on the simple phrase, "to be or not to be." Now won't the dear public be a little less critical?

BY COMMUNITY SPIRIT

What can be accomplished by community spirit? is a question we hear frequently.

Wamego, Kansas, a town of 17,000 answers that question in a monumental achievement.

It was just an ordinary country town for many years. But suddenly a wave of community spirit swept over the place, and as a result it stands out today as one of the unique towns in the entire nation.

This is the job that community spirit did. It created a seventeen acre park, a center of the social life of an entire county. And that park has made Wamego the most attractive town to farmers within driving distance. They drive into the community because of the pleasant and comfortable facilities offered by the park. Incidentally they do their trading there, improve its business life, and make it an even better town as the years go by as a business center—as a market for their produce and a source of the merchandise they need.

This park includes everything imaginable from a swimming pool and camp grounds, to a band stand and entertainment hall. It is crowded throughout most of the summer with people from far and wide. It has been worth more to its community than a reasonably large industry.

And all the work required in transforming seventeen acres of idle land into a beautiful park was done by volunteer labor. The people of the community got together, decided to give a little of their time to the upbuilding of their own home town, and as a result they have a town that is well worth to them every ounce of energy expended.

It is not necessary to go into this further. Just apply this to Santa Anna. Isn't there some job on which our citizens could unite that would make our city one of the most attractive spots in this entire section of the state? All we need is a little more community spirit—the stuff that has made Wamego one of the finest little towns in the entire nation.

FOUR TITANICS

Most of us can still remember the Titanic tragedy. We recall distinctly the shock which the news of that terrible disaster at sea caused throughout the world. Careless navigation, a crash with an iceberg, and 1,600 people went to death in the icy waters of the North Atlantic.

An international commission conducted an investigation. The newspapers and magazines were filled with stories about the disaster for months, and ship builders exercised greater care after that in ship construction than ever before.

But terrible as this disaster was, appalling as the sinking of the Lusitania proved to be, they are comparatively insignificant when compared to the loss of life in a single year by drowning. Last year over 6,000 people lost their lives in all parts of the United States by accidental drowning. Think of it, a disaster almost four times as terrible as the sinking of that old mistress of the sea, and yet scarcely a word of alarm or admonition is uttered.

People who cannot swim venture into deep water, good swimmers take unnecessary chances, and the fool who rocks the boat persists year after year without realizing for a moment the terrible price demanded for his carelessness.

The Way to Save

B. C. Forbes says, "When I was younger I used to do most of my saving by doing without things. In later years I have done most of my saving by doing things. Now I go after things. Instead of doing with less, I have applied myself to doing more. Most of my saving for years has been done through increasing my income, through taking greater pains to equip myself to do better work and to keep myself in mettle to more work."

Here is a little piece of advice on saving taken from Herbert N. Casson's Efficiency Magazine that contains a timely thought for the business men:

Many firms fail because it doesn't know the right way to save.

It thinks that saving means doing without.

This policy of doing without leads in the end to doing without an income.

The right way to save is:

1. To make the best use of what you have.

2. To increase the percentage of result.

3. To buy what you need to increase this percentage.

Real saving involves a big job. It requires energy, courage and the nerve to spend money for the purpose of getting more money.

Cause Favorable Comment

If a town is ever to make progress beyond the "hick stage," there are a few essential improvements that must be made.

The town may grow in population and become quite a burg in its own estimation, but it will invite very little attention from the outside world if it does not take a step forward in making such modern improvements as are now evident in every small city of importance in the United States. Some of the things a modern little city should, and must have if it is to ever grow and prosper, is a sewerage system, adequate fire protection, ample street lighting, well kept streets with as much paving as is practicable, a modern hotel, city parks and amusements, a live wire newspaper, and a large auditorium, to care for public gatherings and entertainments. Santa Anna has some of these things, but not all. A town is just as big as it tries to be. It quits growing when it quits trying.

The Modern Chamber of Commerce Secretary

The modern secretary of the chamber of commerce in the small cities of the Southwest has become the right-hand man of the county agent in the development of the agricultural resources of the country. The up-to-date, wide-awake secretary has his visions of a larger and better city with a steady increase in the number of industries with their hundreds of well paid workmen, but he does not spend his time in dreaming of tall stacks belching forth smoke to pollute the atmosphere. The old-time factory promoter does not find him a willing listener to his fairy tales, nor does he urge his chamber members to invest in projects that do not have the marks of substantiality. He is no longer trying to build from the top down, but is laying a foundation for future betterment of the city by helping build prosperity into the surrounding territory. He is thinking more in terms of the "cow, sow and the hen" on every farm in his territory than he is of industries with uncertain futures.

The secretary of a chamber of commerce does not necessarily have to be versed in all branches of agriculture, but he should have a general knowledge of rural problems and the heart and the will to co-operate with rural people in all their undertakings. The secretary who succeeds in interesting the business men in his city in rural development has accomplished something worth doing. Fortunately, business men have learned that there can be no real substantial prosperity in the city unless the rural districts are prosperous. This accounts for chamber of commerce activities in the development of the agricultural resources of the country. Thus far business men have gone more than half way in their effort to meet farmers on even terms. Many farmers have been somewhat shy and suspicious of the new order of things, but as we make progress more farmers will learn that back of this new interest there is a sincere desire to be of real service—Farm and Ranch.

Yakima Canutt in "White Thunder" at Queen Theatre

Yakima Canutt is the world's champion rider and the holder of several other cowboy titles won in open competition at Cheyenne, Pendleton and such rodeos. But you need not take anybody's word for this. If you don't believe the statement, or the records, go to the Queen Theatre and you will see for yourself that it is true. This picture will be shown Saturday, July 13. Kingsley Benedict is responsible for the present story, and he has given it an originality not common in westerns, as well as an air of mystery. The management of the Queen Theatre wants to request its patrons who have seen the picture not to tell the story to their friends, for the mystery element is such that it might spoil part of the pleasure of future audiences to know the plot.

The Santa Anna News has a good rain booked to visit this section the latter part of this week, but we have no way of assuring our readers it will come.

"THE STORE THAT MAKES THE PRICES"

WAGES OF SIN, $100

"The wages of sin is death." Yes, but that concerns the other world, only, and the far side of the Golden Shore is a long way off to the prospective crook. What he will make by his evil-doing in the present concerns him most.

A New York judge, sitting on the criminal bench, put this matter squarely before a number of young fellows, prisoners of his court, who are just starting on a criminal career. They are all out on suspended sentences and are required to report to him once a week.

A dozen of them were in the court room recently, while the judge was sentencing Aaron Hirsch, who had pleaded guilty to larceny in the second degree. The man is an habitual criminal and the judge thought his case might have an educative effect on the budding rascals.

"You have spent nearly seven years in prison," said the judge. "Now, I want you to tell these young men just how much money you have made from your thefts."

"I don't think I have profited more than $100 in all that I ever stole, your honor."

Such advice was worth ten thousand tracts. It will be even more deterrent than sentences by the judge.

There are a limited few who have a warped morality. They are thieves, firebugs, confidence men, murderers, because of malformation of their brain. Science is trying to find out just what this kink is, and when it does it will operate to change it. In fact, it has done so already, but not with the best success. But it is working away at the problem.

The average criminal is a criminal because he wants money and is too lazy to work. To preach to him is the height of folly. His conscience is immune from attack. But to touch his pocket is to get at his soul. Such a one is willing to pay the prison price for one crime if he thinks he can make big money by his next. But to show him that seven years of crime netted only $100 is to turn his steps to more lucrative honest work.

The confession of this man, Hirsch is a common one. Most criminals die poor; the biggest ones, like the great counterfeiters, who could have amassed wealth legitimately, live hunted, trembling lives and die paupers, after all this hounding. Their experiences would cause thought and probably reform, but they are not put straight at incipient criminals, as Hirsch's admission was.

What's Doing in West Texas (Furnished by W. T. C. of C. Midland)—The Midland Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with local pastors here have organized a United Charity Association. This was done to protect the citizens of Midland against itinerant beggars who infest the Bankhead Highway.

Sweetwater—Over 60,000 acres of cotton have been planted in Nolan county this year which makes an increase of ten percent over last year. Indications point to the largest cotton crop in the history of this county.

Brownwood—The first auto races ever held in Brownwood were recently when the Fair Park was formally opened by the Brown County Fair Association. Over 5,000 persons witnessed these races.

Slaton—A petition has been presented to the City Commission asking for bonds in the amount of $125,000 for street paving in the business section of this city.

Amarillo—At an executive meeting of the Texas Wheat Growers Association, plans were submitted for the organization to have a Finance Corporation. This corporation is to have a capital of $10,000 which is to be used by the members of the Association.

Lubbock—Announcement has been made by Garnett Reeves of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce that preliminary work has been started on the catalogue of the 1925 Panhandle and South Plains Fair. The premium list is much larger than ever before. Plainview—A campaign has been launched here to raise $150,000 for the building program of the Wayland Baptist College. The Board of Trustees voted to do this in order to meet the challenge of Mrs. Jack Heflin who proposes to give this College $50,000 after the completion of their building program.

Hereford—At a business meeting of the local Chamber of Commerce, T. D. Moss was unanimously elected secretary for the current year.

Colorado—Bonds have just been voted here in the amount of $38,000 for the purpose of constructing a new municipal building.

Plainview—At the request of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Texas Railroad Commission will hold a hearing in this city on the application for the construction of three roads in the Panhandle. The date set for this hearing is July 20.

Ballinger—The building committee of the Runnels County Fair Association have begun work on several new buildings, including a grandstand, stock sheds, etc., for the County Fair this fall. The dates are October 13-14-15-16.

Crowell—Foard County will be represented at the State Fair of Texas this fall with a large agricultural exhibit. County Agent Fred Rennels is now gathering products to make up this exhibit.

San Angelo—S. C. Shultz of Paint Rock has just sold 60 steers to a Kansas City buyer for more than $100 per head. He received a total sum of $6,040.77 for the steers.

Littlefield—At a recent meeting of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce the following officers were elected for the fiscal year: President, E. A. Bills; Vice President, G. M. Shaw; Treasurer, J. M. Pope. The secretary will be selected by the Board of Directors.

Rising Star—The Texas Company has just purchased a 100 acre lease from the W. M. Armistead between the Pete Hoffman well and Kilgore No. 1. Amarillo—Plans are already under way for the Eighth Annual Convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce which is to be held in this city next year.

In a Bad Fix

Persons who profess to enjoy having their senses dulled by imbibing strong drink and who now are cut off from their source of supply through the Volstead act, may think that they are having a hard time in life; but their lot is not sad at all as compared with that of the personal physician of King Alfonso of Spain.

This doctor, Geronimo Megias of Madrid, has arrived at the Rockefeller institute in New York to allow the foundation experts to examine his condition. He is absolutely immune to anaesthetics and owing to the structure of his thyroid glands cannot become intoxicated. He sleeps only three hours a night and the purpose of his visit is to discover some treatment which will increase his hours of sleep and permit him to share in the joys of wine.

We venture there is no toper in the country that would change places with the royal doctor. There he is, in a land where wine flows freely, has 21 hours out of every 24 that he must spend awake and no matter how dull and dreary the day may grow he can't get any kick out of strong drink! Truly, this Spanish doctor is in a bad fix.—Temple Daily Telegram.

Home Demonstration Clubs Bring Higher Civilization

There is no way in which we can fully estimate the value of demonstration work. It is like sowing seeds of kindness and of thrift that produce in kind and spread throughout neighborhood, community, and county.

In Collin County, Texas, the woman's home demonstration club cooperating with the home agent, Mrs. Viola McGee, has accomplished remarkable results in food preservation and other projects involving community cooperation and community building.

Mrs. McGee has been very successful in impressing club members with the value of home demonstration work and in creating community consciousness and pride. This, in turn, has led to a desire for cooperation and to the keeping of accurate records. Mrs. McGee was able to carry her work to such a successful conclusion largely thru her ability to choose effective local leaders.

At the county fair, twenty-seven home demonstration clubs had booths, each club exhibiting containers of meats, vegetables, fruits, and other products. A total of 400,836 containers was recorded for the clubs of the one county. This alone seems a very big piece of work for one home agent to do. But this was only one project.

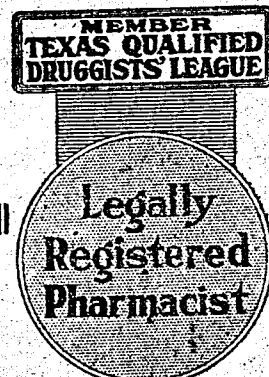

Another project resulted in the erection of fifteen new community houses, each costing, on average, $2,583.78. These houses were built and paid for by club members and then were supplied with equipment costing $3,149.85. The Bloomdale Club of Collin county had a community Christmas tree and sent the state orphans' home 100 jars of fruit as a Christmas present.

These are but a small part of the accomplishments of this good home demonstration agent working with cooperating people. They are the accomplishments of the spirit of citizenship. With such a leader, with such willing, and loyal cooperation, these Collin county achievements can be duplicated in all other Southern counties.—The Progressive Farmer.

Editors Visit East Texas

Over 200 editors
 from all parts of the state were guests of Tyler and East Texas from June 18 to
 20. Many of them
 were from the various parts of the state
 otherwise designated
 than as "East Texas." Some of them saw East Texas for the first time and these changed their preconceived ideas of that part of the state. The West Texan who has never been in what he calls the "poor, piney woods, sandy-land" part of the state is inclined to have a feeling of derision for any one who would choose that section rather than the great open prairies of the West. The West Texan can't for his life understand why a sensible being would settle down on a few acres of sandy hillside with the great West inviting him there.
 The East Texan, on the other hand,
 can't see why one would risk drought and starvation "out West," when he can be sure of a comfortable living on a small East Texas farm.

Visitors Learn the Facts

It is good for people to know each other and for all Texans to know all of the state in which they live, for knowing it all well they come to like it all and to praise it all. The great objection the westerner has had to East Texas is being overcome rapidly.
 The man out west, above almost everything else, wants a road he can travel over at any time. He likes to annihilate distance whenever he pleases, and thinks nothing of hitching up his fly-ver for a few hundred miles' ride. Most of the editors went to Tyler in their cars, and they learned that good roads are being built all over East Texas.
 So that objection is being removed.
 In a few years every village and almost every farm in East Texas will be connected with the rest of the world
 by a fine road system.

Intensive Farming Pays

Another thing the westerner saw was that in farming it is not so much
 the number of acres tilled that counts,
 but how well the crops are cultivated.
 The small farms over Tyler way that are thoroughly farmed, that have crop rotation, and that are properly fertilized, are making their owners fortunes and filling the banks with money. It was in Anderson County, near Palestine, that a farmer demonstrated last year that a small cotton patch well tilled produces more lint and makes a greater profit than a larger field not so well cultivated. This is just as true of every other crop as of cotton. Texas will have to get down to a better system of farming than is generally practiced and will have to farm in a way to build up the soil, while getting the greatest crop returns from it.

Produces Great Variety

The East Texas soil will produce many kinds of crops. Around Tyler, and especially at Jacksonville, the tomato yield this year was almost unbelievable, and the small farmers mostly were getting the money for it.
 The crop was paid for at the shipping station and not consigned to some far-away, uncertain market. The peach market is just opening, and the luscious melons are coming in. Blackberries of improved varieties are growing on the native heath of the wild berries. Potatoes thrive in the sandy soil. Turkeys and chickens are seen on most farms, and Jersey cows have taken the place of the scrubs. The razor-back hog has been crowded out by the Berkshire, the Poland China and other improved breeds. All these things seem not to have interfered greatly with the raising of cotton and corn. In short the East Texas farmer has been forced into diversification and has had prosperity thrust upon him. As yet the West Texas farmer is depending too much on his large acreage of cotton or wheat and cane.

The Danger of Bountiful Crops

There is a certain amount of danger in any kind of unusual crop prosperity like the tomato crop at Jacksonville this year, and that is in over-production to the neglect of every thing else. The tomato one-crop farmer is as likely to strike a snag as the cotton one-crop planter. His crop may be a total failure any year, and again
 the money made one year may tempt too many to plant tomatoes the next year and the market may drop below production cost. That is true of almost every thing the farmer grows and it is one of the hazards of farming.
 For that reason he should have more than one kind of crop. Poultry, raising and dairying when close enough to a good market appear to be two fixed exceptions to the rule. The people seldom get too many chickens and eggs or too much milk and butter, and most farmers can depend on raising enough feed of a kind to feed chickens
 and cows.

Homes Are Unattractive

One of the most striking things about East Texas country life is the unattractiveness and the inconveniences of the country homes. Most of them are unpainted box houses that show little care on the part of their owners. They indicate either poverty on the part of their occupants or an inexcusable indifference. Architects, builders and paint dealers have almost an unexplored field in the country districts of East Texas.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 13:13-52.
 GOLDEN TEXT—"Behold, I have given him for a witness to the people,
 a leader and commander to the people."—Isa. 55:4.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Telling Strangers
 About Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Barnabas and Paul
 in Antioch, Pisidia.
 INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC—Early Victories of Foreign Missions.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC—Paul's Preaching and Its Effects.

1. In the Synagogue at Antioch in Pisidia (vv. 13-18).
 From Paphos Paul and Barnabas with their companion Mark, went northward to Perga. Here Mark, for some reason, perhaps because of hardships, went back. He was ready to go again when they started on their second journey, but Paul would not give his consent (Acts 15:38-39). Before Paul's death he testified in Mark's favor for he had found him profitably unto him for the ministry (II Tim.
 4:11). From Perga they went to Antioch in Pisidia, and here they entered the synagogue on the Sabbath
 day. From this we see that though Paul was sent to the Gentiles, he did not depart from the order of beginning with the Jews.

2. Paul's First Recorded Sermon
 (vv. 17-41).

This sermon is worthy of careful study. In its analysis we find four parts:

1. Historical (vv. 17-23).
 In this section we see how Paul,
 in a conciliatory way, led them gradually through a series of changes in which God had dealt graciously with them, finally giving them Jesus, His Son.

(1) God chose and exalted the people (v. 17).
 (2) He delivered them from Egyptian bondage, and led them through the terrible wilderness (vv. 17-18).
 (3) He destroyed the Canaanitish nations, giving their lands to the Israelites (v. 19).
 (4) He gave them judges as their deliverers when distressed by surrounding nations (v. 20).
 (5) After they had selfishly chosen a king, He rejected the dynasty of Saul, and chose David, a man after
 His own heart (vv. 21-22).
 (6) Finally it was God who from David's seed raised up unto Israel a Savior, Jesus. This demanded proof, which is given in the next section.

2. Apologetical (vv. 24-37).
 That this Jesus is the seed of David and therefore the promised Messiah, he proves by three lines of argument:

(1) The testimony of John the Baptist (vv. 24-25).
 John disclaimed all power as their deliverer, and pointed to Jesus as such.
 (2) The prophecies of Scripture were fulfilled in their rejection and crucifixion of Jesus (vv. 26-29).
 (3) By His resurrection from the dead (vv. 30-37).

Having proved Jesus to be the seed of David, he proceeds to follow the doctrinal teachings growing out of such proof.

3. Doctrinal (vv. 38-39).
 The great doctrine derived from this proof is justification by faith, the very marrow of the gospel.

(1) The ground of justification is by Jesus. He took our place as a sinner that we might have His place as sons (II Cor. 5:21).
 (2) Who are justified? Those who believe in Him.
 (3) From what is one justified? All sins. The one who believes in Jesus is freely forgiven. His sins are all blotted out. This is the missionary message for all times. May we strive to get our pupils to believe on Him.

(4) Practical (vv. 40-41).
 The application of this sermon was a warning lest the judgment spoken of by Habakkuk should fall upon them.

III. The Effect of the Sermon (vv.
 42-52).
 1. Many of the Jews and proselytes asked to hear these words again (vv.
 42-49).
 Almost the whole city came to hear
 the Word of God the next Sabbath.
 This great crowd incited the jealousy
 of the Jews.

2. Open Opposition (vv. 50-52).
 This jealousy could not long be restrained. It broke out in open opposition. The persecution became so violent that Paul and Barnabas were expelled from the city. This persecution was answered by Paul's rejection of the Jews and his turning to the Gentiles.

3. The disciples were filled with joy and the Holy Ghost (v. 52).

Jean Paul Richter Said:
 "The life of Christ concerns Him, who being the holiest among the mighty, and the mightiest among the holy, lifted with His pierced hands empires off their hinges, and turned the stream of centuries out of its channel, and still governs the ages."

NEWS FROM LIVEOAK

We are very proud indeed, to state that our newly organized Sunday School is having a very good attendance; and too, we feel that if it thrives as it has up to date it will mean very much toward the up-building of our community in the future.

Miss Grace McMinn has just returned from a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Eaf Day of Liberty community.

Little Miss Gladys Wallace
 spent Saturday night and Sunday at the home of her Grandmother, Mrs. Martin of this community.

Quite a crowd enjoyed the singing at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
 A. R. Irby Sunday night.

D. D. Burris of this community and his uncle, W. P. Burris of Santa Anna have just returned from a visit with relatives in Gonzales county. While there, they attended a great home-coming day for relatives of the Burris family. Something over 300 people were present for the dinner on the ground.

Several families enjoyed the day on Home Creek the Fourth.

Among those who attended the celebration in Coleman last week were: Mr. and Mrs. Virgil
 C. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Force
 Tillery, B. W. McClure and family, Messrs Artie Irby, Otto Irby, Doc Armour, Legan Burris and Misses Monta Irby and Lorena
 Burris.

Miss LaVerne Tillery will leave this week for Williamson county where she will spend several days with relatives.

The two children of Mr. and Mrs. John Harper spent a few days last week in the home of W. R. McMinn.

W. P. Fletcher and family spent Sunday afternoon in the D. L. Wallace home.

Miss Monta Irby attended the singing at Watts Creek Sunday afternoon.

Virgil Newman and wife and

B. H. McClure and wife enjoyed the all day singing at Trickham Sunday.

Several from this community
 are attending the revival meeting in Santa Anna and are well pleased with the successful sermons.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. McClure
 attended church at Trickham
 Sunday night.

We hope Mr. and Mrs. Wallace will not be too disappointed at the results of the party which they gave Friday night, to give another one. We were all too jubilant over the nice shower to think of a party.

Fields are changing their color
 to green since the recent showers. Vegetation is showing up nicely this week and cotton looks somewhat different.

CHEER UP

Yes, we are now and have for a long time been in the throes of an unyielding drouth; but what of it—have not other people all down through the ages faced drouth, famine, pestilence and war a thousand times more severe? By contrast our lot is a paradise, so let's gird up and take on new hope, banish despair and count ourselves fortunate; unflagging faith and perseverance coupled with a determination to make the most of the situation, if seasoned with optimism, will finally solve our problems. There is nothing absolutely nothing wrong with our locality—we are only temporarily ly out of joint but if we shall have the hardihood to face and outlive this unusual climatic condition there is a crown of success and better days awaiting us. The Enterprise believes with all its heart that good things are ahead for us and there can be no doubt as to the ultimate outcome.—Pecos Enterprise.

Some Timely Advice For Preachers and Teachers

Dr. H. C. Morrison who has become more than a voice to Glasgow or to Scotland but a voice to the religious world, has this appeal to preachers and teachers of our day.

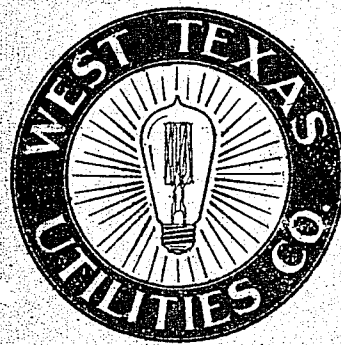

"This generation of rollicking, dancing, card-playing, Christ rejecting, theatre-going, God forgetting sinners, need to hear some honest preaching, preaching that deals with sin and the punishment that sin will eventually bring. It does not need to be abused, but it does need faithful, earnest, fearless preaching on God and his attributes, His creation of the world and His rights in it. His creation of man, his love for him, and his right to rule over him and guide him, ought to be faithfully urged upon this generation. There is a great need for preachers and teachers who have no desire for ecclesiastical office for applause of men, for the wealth of the world, for ease of the body, for an escape from the reproach of the cross but whose universe is filled with the presence of the infinitely holy God, who walks in awe of him and worship him in the beauty of holiness." On and on like a torrent the great preacher continues to pour out his soul and plead for men "who will insist that Jesus Christ is able to save from all sin, that his kingdom is spiritual and that the Holy Ghost should dwell in his people." It is a refreshing word from one who ranks as a prince among the preachers of our day.—Ex.

WOULD IT PAY?

The Santa Anna News believes this summer would be an opportune time for the business men of Santa Anna to put on a get-acquainted-good-will trade trip over the Santa Anna trade territory. Our farmer friends would really enjoy having the business men of Santa Anna drive out and mix with them in their home communities, and we believe a trip or two in the country would mean a great deal to Santa Anna.

This proposition has been agitated for some time by a few of our citizens and it seems to meet with favor. The Retail Merchants Association in connection with the Lions' Club could work this proposition up and make a success of it if they will get busy on the job. Let us hear from you.

BEAUTY'S VALUE

What's beauty worth? Is it something to be divorced from every day life—a thing to be worshipped by long-haired men so called artistic women? Or is it something to be thought about in connection with boosting a city, in getting new industries, and building up the commercial importance of the community?

Mr. H. R. Ennis, of Kansas City, in his address before the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at Detroit, stressed the practical value to the property owners of a city in beautifying the community.

The residential districts of our cities, and towns are the most beautiful in the world, he pointed out, but our business districts are downright ugly. And this is why.

We erect beautiful new buildings alongside dilapidated old structures with dirty windows, floors littered with trash, and a general unwholesome atmosphere. We see unattractive billboards scarcely hiding more unattractive vacant lots filled with rubbish.

Clean up these places and you profit, is his advice. If you are trying to rent a vacant business location, above all clean it up, finish the interior and exterior, and put it in such shape that it will make a good impression on a prospective tenant.

If your property adjoins an unattractive lot, the value of your building is automatically reduced by the poor appearance of its immediate neighborhood. So exercise all the influence you can to have the old eyesore removed.

What a fine appearance Santa Anna would present, what an excellent impression it would make on every visitor if every old building were well cleaned, kept in repair, and properly decorated. But it is no more than the cheapest kind of good advertising.

When you give other people a piece of your mind, you are short some mind and those on whom you bestow the gift seldom appreciate it.

What One Barber, Five Hens And A Rooster Have Done

(By Max Bently)

Pink Payne was a Stephenville barber for 17 years, and he was a first-class barber and might have continued barbering for the rest of his life if he had not bought five hens and a rooster and started producing eggs for home use. Nine years ago, while still barbering, he started a foundation flock of 10 White Leghorns. He entered the chicken business in earnest only 5 years ago. His original flock has grown in that length of time to 3,600 laying hens and his investment has risen from $20 to $15,000. Now Payne is owner of the well-known Erath Egg Farm on the outskirts of Stephenville. His incubator house, laying houses and brooder houses cover eight acres of sandy soil—ideal poultry land. He farms for his flock keeping them supplied with green stuff. His incubator capacity is 15,000 eggs with one-third reserved for custom hatching, and he always runs at capacity. His own eggs from bred stock show 92 to 98 per cent fertility and average 85 per cent hatch of the fertile eggs—a truly remarkable record. He has his own developed strain from original English White Leghorn stock. He is selling 2,500 baby chicks weekly at from 25 cents to $1 each. At this time there are 3,600 birds on the farm ranging from baby chick age to old hens in their last year. Orders for everything he has to sell are always booked far beyond his capacity.

Your News Items Wanted

Those who have never had the experience of publishing a newspaper do not know how much those who have appreciate news items, personals, etc. The News is anxious to carry all the news. If you are reporter for an organization, you fail to do your duty toward all the citizens of the town if you do not make reports to the newspaper of the town. If you are a minister of the town and fail to make your reports through all mediums of news distribution, you are neglecting some of your own people. If your relatives or friends make you a visit or if you go to see someone in another community, you are not fair if you fail to let your friends have the opportunity of reading an account of the visit. It is a pleasure to us to be "bothered" with a telephone call telling us of these things. Won't you bother us more often?

"Where the North Begins" Filmed in Wild North California Region

Ruthless love pirates, men who follow the guide of their primal impulses, far from control of law and order—these are the types that play out their drama in "Where the North Begins," the picture announced as the feature attraction at the Queen Theatre, for Friday, July 17. The setting is in the snowy northern wastes, and specifically in a Hudson Bay trading post, where Shad Gallows, the factor, lords it with an iron fist. He has cast his eyes on young Felice McTavish, regardless of the fact that her heart is already given to Gabriel Dupre, a French Canadian trapper. This brings out the high points of the action. Shad Gallows hires a band of ruffians to become outlaws and to do away with Gabriel, who is wounded and saved from the intrigue only by the unexpected arrival on the scene of a wild dog, who has strayed while a puppy and been brought up with the wild wolves. "Where the North Begins" was filmed in the wild Feather River country, in Plumas County, California, wild area given over to the pines and snows.
