Noconans Go To Semi-Finals As Basket Ball Kings Of All Northwest Texas

INDIANS SCALP PLAINVIEW BY 27-26 COUNT

Coach Stone's Crew Takes Regional Title Through Hard Fighting

EVANS TOTES PUNCH

Stalwart Guard Dips Ball Through Loop to Sew Up Contest

The Nocona Indians won the regional basket ball championship of districts one, two, three and four at the state tournament at Austin Friday afternoon when they defeated Plainview by a single point, 27 to 26. Whether or not they advance another step in the titular tournament, Coach W. J. Stone's warriors proved by this victory they are the undisputed rulers of a vast basket ball realm including all of Northwest Texas and the Panhandle.

Plainview, champion of districts one and two, and Nocona, champion of districts three and four, met in the second round of the tournament. Nocona having drawn a bye in the first round, the Indians by their victory advanced direct to the semi-finals, which will be held Saturday morning. Pairings for the semi-finals were not announced.

Evans' Shots Win

Associated Press dispatches to The Record News detailed a thrilling story of the Inidans' victory. In the last period, with the score tied at 25-all, Evans, Nocona guard, sunk two free throws to win the contest. In the remaining two minutes of the contest, Walker, Plainview guard, added one point to his team's score with a free toss, but the sensational defense of the Nocona artists made Plainview field goals impossible when only one would have meant victory.

Evans' two points that won the game by a hair-line were the only points he made the entire game, but they came at a time when they meant everything.

Williams Is High

In point of scoring, Plainview produced the high point man. Williams, forward, was high for the game with 12 counters. Cunningham, Nocona center, was next with 10. Zachary, flashy Indian forward, was one behind with nine.

The Nocona-Plainview game was

State Asked to Return Title to Park Site

AUSTIN, March 6. (AP)—The state was asked today in a bill introduced by Senator Small of Wellington to deed over to H. G. Bowe of Swisher county 120 acres of land in the Palo Duro canyon which were given to the state as a site for a state park. The tract of land is known as the Wayside State park.

The bill explained that the state had not made an effort to establish a state park on the land and that the title to the land was clouded. It stated that Bowe held a vendor's lien on the property.

BARBARIANS GAVE MY LADY THE WEDDING RING

THE wedding ring is a relic of barbaric days. It probably is a direct descendant of the custom of securing a wife by purchase. The cave man employed the fight and take method, but a genius discovered buying a wife was easier than fighting. Metal being most valuable in early days, the wedding ring came to be the badge of a married woman. Even today in South Africa a husband removes a couple of his bride's prominent teeth on the wedding day, while in other tribes, women's faces are tattooed after marriage. Every day in the Classified Want-Ad section of this newspaper a list of lost articles is advertised. Rings and other objects of value are recovered through the lost and found classification. Kirkland Sobs Story Of Ill-Fated Romance To Conclude Defense

VALPARAISO, Ind., March 6. (UP)—Young Virgil Kirkland sobbed his story of love for Arlene Draves today and told a jury his version of her death at a Gary "gin party." Attorneys defending him from first degree murder charges then rested their case.

The prosecution brought in rebuttal Dr. George Bicknell of east Chicago, who confirmed previous testimony concerning bruises and other injuries found on Miss Draves' body at two autopsies.

Other physicians will testify tomorrow and the case likely will be given to the jury of farmers on Monday.

Kirkland, a former high school football star, related under the guidance of his attorney, Barret O'Hara, how he had met 18-year-old Arlene, how he fell in love with her and how he first kissed her when she visited him at a hospital where he was being treated for injuries suffered in a football game.

Boy Weeps

Weeping, he told how he had proposed to Arlene, how she had become engaged to him and how they had planned shortly before the tragedy to be married.

Then O'Hara led his client into a recital of the events at the party which led to Miss Draves' death.

"We drank straight alcohol and wine," said Kirkland. Babe (Arlene) and I went to a davenport and embraced each other. We talked of love. Then we went out on the porch to a settee."

Kirkland's eyes filled with tears when O'Hara asked what happened there. After considerable bickering on the part of attorneys, the youth replied and continued with his story:

Girl Dazed

"Arlene was dazed-like. I didn't slap her. I told her I loved her. She said she felt dizzy. And then she fell to the floor. I was dazed. We picked her up."

The youth told how he and four young companions took her for a drive in an automobile and stopped at a hamburger stand for sandwiches.

"We had some more drinks. Babe was in the back of the car. Kind of sleepy," Kirkland continued. "We started to take her home. I shook her and she didn't wake up. I shook her again.

"We drove to Dr. R. O. Wharton's home. We carried Babe in. We couldn't wake her up. We laid her on the davenport. The doctor pronounced her—dead."

Mother Testifies

Kirkland's shoulders shook with his sobs. He told falteringly the rest of the story, how he and the other youths fled and how they were arrested by police Dr. Wharton had called. In cross-examination, however, Kirkland regained his composure and stuck to his story despite efforts of Prosecutor John Underwood to undermine it.

The youth's gray-hair mother testified next concerning his age, whereupon the defense rested and the prosecution called its first rebuttal witness, Dr. Bicknell. He still was insisting bruises and criminal attacks caused her death when Judge Grant Crumpacker adjourned court for the day.

400 School Children Are Saved in Fire; Half Slide in Chute

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 6. (AP)—Their two-story brick school on fire, 400 grade school pupils were led to safety today at Harrah, 20 miles east of here, under the direction of W. C. Jenkins, principal.

Two hundred from the upper floor slid to safety down a fire chute while Jenkins stood at the head and cautioned them to go carefully, one at a time. The others were marched out by teachers.

As the flames rose, whipped by a sharp north wind, many of the shivering children begged permission to return to cloakrooms to get their hats and coats. Several wept when they were held back from the fire zone.

Fort Worth Police Probe Threat Letter

FORT WORTH, March 6. (INS)—Police today were trying to trace the origin of a threat letter received yesterday by D. C. Baird, prominent baking factory owner.

The letter, mailed on March 4, commanded Baird to deposit $1,000 at a designated spot on a lonely highway south of town. It warned that his failure to comply would result in the "blowing up of the whole Baird bunch."

Neither Baird nor police were inclined to take the letter seriously, but police were taking precautions to guard against any possible harm to Baird or his family.

Harding of Fort Worth, were appointed by the Texas state advisory committee today to pass on state loans from the $20,000,000 federal supplemental drouth relief appropriation.

The applications were expected to arrive in increasing numbers from now on, according to O. S. Fisher, extension agronomist in charge of the office.

The office handled 281 applications Thursday, approving 119 for loans, five were rejected outright, nine were sent back for more information on the agricultural blank and 148 were returned to the county committees because the legal papers were improperly filled out. Twenty-nine seed loan checks were mailed out Thursday for a total of $5,367. Other checks were being mailed today.

The court held there is not sufficient evidence against the five to justify their being held.

State G. O. P. Predicts Hoover's Re-Election in 1932 Campaign

DALLAS, March 6. (AP)—State Republican leaders meeting here today endorsed the administration of President Hoover and laid plans for the 1932 campaign.

"Congratulations on accomplishments during the first two years of your administration," a telegram to the president read. "We desire to express our best wishes and our confidence in your able leadership."

R. B. Creager of Brownsville, Republican national committeeman for Texas, said President Hoover would be re-nominated and re-elected. His remark was applauded. Other speakers indicated Mr. Hoover was regarded by state organization leaders as the party's presidential nominee in 1932.

A telegram extending heartiest congratulations to the national committee "in building a militant Republican party" was sent to Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the national committee. Lucas replied the committee was "proud of the loyalty and enthusiasm shown by the Republican leaders of Texas."

Routine ratification of several county committee chairmen, named by State Chairman Eugene Nolte since the last meeting, was the chief formal business done, in line with the call of Mr. Creager for a general tightening of the state organization preparatory to the 1932 campaign. Creager urged renewed activity for a militant Texas Repub-

MRS. BENNETT ACQUITTED IN BRIDGE DEATH

Slaying of Husband Held 'Justifiable' By Kansas Jury

WOMAN HYSTERICAL

Verdict Clears Wife In Quarrel Over Four Spade Bid

KANSAS CITY, March 6. (UP)—Mrs. Myrtle Bennett, 36, shot and killed her husband, John G. Bennett, prosperous perfume salesman, either accidentally or in self defense, a criminal court jury ruled here late today.

The jury, composed of 10 married men and two bachelors, returned a verdict of "justifiable homicide" against Mrs. Bennett after deliberating her guilt for eight hours. The verdict, in accordance with Judge R. S. Latshaw's charge, was tantamount to acquittal.

Mrs. Bennett, who had been on trial for 10 days, gasped with delight as she heard the verdict. She then sobbed and laughed in turn.

The jury received the case at 6:52 o'clock last night after hearing the closing arguments of former United States Senator James A. Reed and James R. Page, prosecutor. The closing arguments provided the highlights of the trial.

Reed Makes Plea

Senator Reed, nationally prominent militant statesman, contended Mrs. Bennett shot her husband accidentally after they had quarreled over his failure to make her four spade bridge bid. He pictured Mrs. Bennett as a loving wife, a devoted mate to Bennett. Page charged Mrs. Bennett shot her husband in a fit of frenzy after he had slapped her.

The courtroom was crowded when the verdict was returned. There was no demonstration, however, Judge Latshaw having warned the crowd against any show of feeling.

Mrs. Bennett became almost incoherent as persons rushed forward to congratulate her. Many women, who had attended every session of the trial, embraced her.

Tells Mother

Mrs. Bennett's first thought was of her 70-year-old mother, Mrs. Alice Adkins, who collapsed while testifying in her daughter's defense. Mrs. Bennett insisted her mother be notified of the verdict as soon as Leslie R. Choate, foreman of the jury, read the acquittal verdict.

Mrs. Bennett later gave out the following statement from the office of her attorney:

"It has been from first to last a frightful ordeal. The loss of my husband, whom I loved, and then to be charged with his murder and subjected to this long trial, has been almost more than I could stand.

"I have no words of criticism for anyone. I only desire to thank the court and jury for their consideration and to say that I shall never forget the many loyal friends who stood by me. Words can never express my thanks for my vindication."

Mrs. Bennett immediately went into seclusion, saying her highly nervous condition necessitated several days' rest.

Last year 800 students attended. The increase this year will be due largely to the increased number of livestock exhibits.

TEXANS HONOR ALAMO HEROES

10,000 Bow Before Historic State Shrine

SAN ANTONIO, March 6. (UP)—San Antonio today "remembered the Alamo."

Ten thousand loyal Texans visited the shrine of the state's thermopylae. Ten thousand true sons stood in the mists with bared heads, bowed at the grave of William B. Travis, who 95 years ago led his 172 Texas soldiers against 4,000 Mexicans to a death more certain than the charge of the light brigade.

Under the auspices of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, the many distinguished visitors here for the city's bicentennial celebration were conducted through the old fort.

"Remember the Alamo," Texas battle cry for 20 years from the fall of the Alamo in 1826 until it became one of the United States in 1846, resounded again within the walls of the 200-year-old fort as the thousands of celebrants crowded to the shrine.

Included in the pilgrimage were leaders of the church, the state and commerce. Several archbishops and bishops of the Roman Catholic

LEGGE'S PLACE ON FARM BOARD GOES TO STONE

Tobacco Member of Group Elevated to Post Of Chairman

TEAGUE PROMOTED

Hoover Expresses Regret At Departure Of First Leader

WASHINGTON, March 6. (US)—The resignation of Alexander H. Legge as chairman of the federal farm board was announced by President Hoover late today.

At the same time the president announced that James C. Stone, the tobacco representative on the board, will become chairman. Stone has been serving in the capacity of vice chairman.

C. C. Teague, representing fruits and vegetables, will succeed Stone as vice chairman.

The president expressed great regret that Legge is leaving the board and said that practically every farm organization in the United States had urged him to remain.

Elevation Is Surprise

Teague's elevation came as a surprise since this California member had announced two weeks ago that he intended to resign in June. Today's action indicates he has reconsidered this.

The changes became effective immediately and Legge left at once for Chicago to resume his position as head of the International Harvester company. He left a statement which is in effect a parting shot at his critics and which said:

"The program of the board has progressed to a point where the organization may be classified as a going concern. I sincerely believe the plan of operation to be sound and the test of time will prove this to the satisfaction of all.

Objectors in Minority

"Those opposing the work of the board are making a lot of noise but really represent a very small percentage of the American public, their opposition being based on two statements that seem rather conflicting—first, that the cooperative principle is all wrong and must fail because it is fundamentally unsound and unworkable, and second, that it is seriously interferring with their privileges as handlers of agricultural commodities.

"If the first contention were correct there would be no need of their being greatly concerned over their position."

He made a plea to the farmers of the country to cooperate more heartily with the board and said he believed the bottom of the eco-

County Drouth Loans Authorized In Bill Awaiting Signature

AUSTIN, March 6. (UP)—A state drouth relief bill which the Texas house of representatives passed today without changing the terms in which it passed the senate, will reach Gov. Ross Sterling's desk Monday for signature or veto. It has passed both houses with enough votes to put it in immediate effect as an emergency measure if signed.

The vote is also large enough to pass it over a veto, if the governor should not approve.

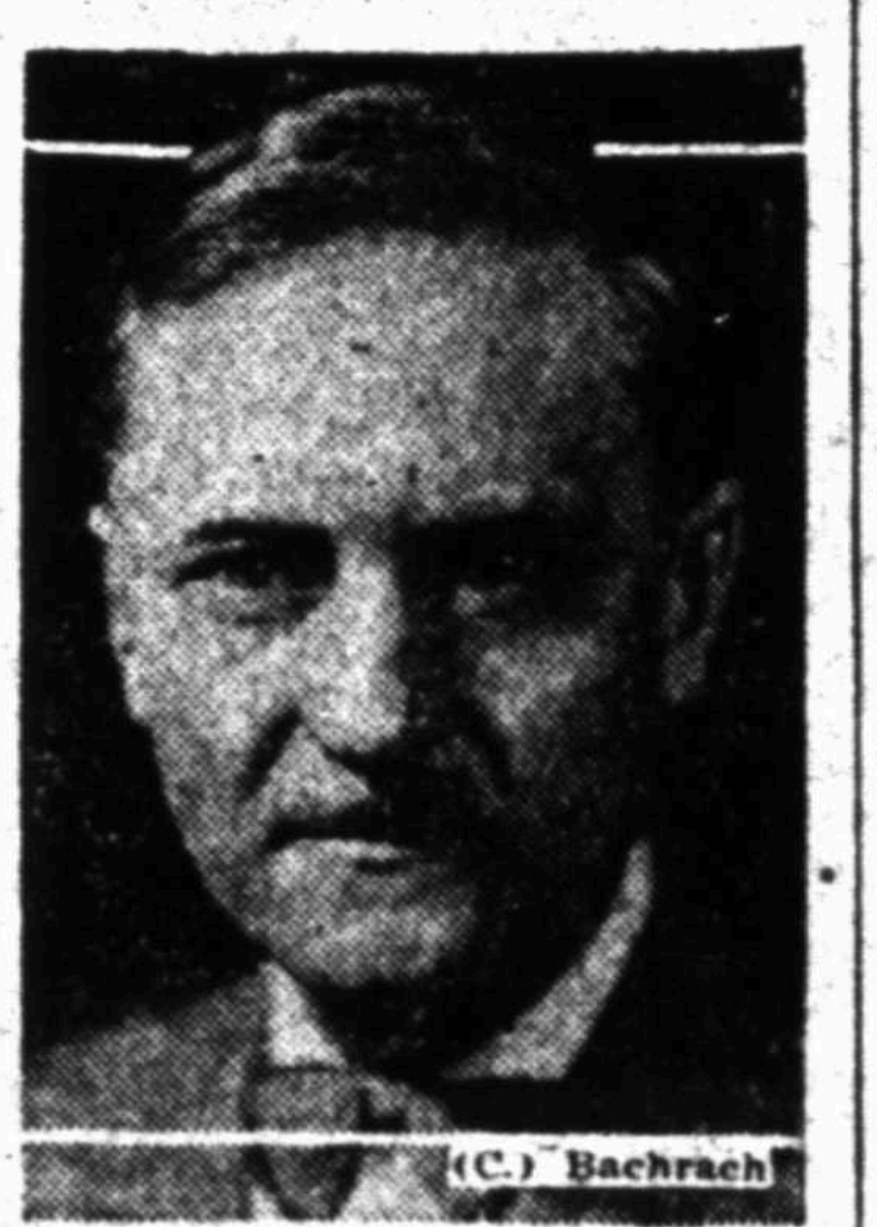
Constitutionality of the bill was the only barrier it had to overcome. Representative Joseph Greathouse of Fort Worth who had raised the question of its constitutionality in the house, withdrew the question today.

The bill permits counties to loan up to $50,000 each from county funds to needy farmers for purchase of feed and seed. The loans are to be repaid by Dec. 31.

Another relief measure is threatened with a split between the house and senate. The senate adjourned without having decided to accept or reject changes made by the house in a bill to let school trustees issue interest-bearing warrants to pay teachers salaries where school funds have become exhausted. Senators asserted house amendments make the bill worthless.

Representative T. H. McGregor offered a resolution for a constitutional amendment doing away with district and civil appeals courts and creating a nine man supreme court to sit in three divisions.

Succeeds Legge



(C.) Bachrach

James C. Stone of Kentucky, tobacco representative of the federal farm board, was appointed Friday by President Hoover to succeed Alexander Legge as chairman of the relief board. Mr. Hoover announced the appointment after he had accepted Mr. Legge's resignation.

SEUBERT GIVES REASON OF CUT

Stanolind Head Explains To Gov. Murray

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 6. (AP)—Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma, one of the leaders in the uphill fight to restore the oil industry's prosperity, was told late today by E. G. Seubert, president of Standard Oil of Indiana, that economic conditions were to blame for the recent drastic price cuts for crude oil.

Seubert answered a request from Murray that the Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing company, which initiated the approximate 40-cent per barrel reductions restore its former prices. Stanolind is a Standard Oil of Indiana subsidiary.

The oil men blamed domestic overproduction, increased drilling, willingness of producers to accept lower prices and the action of his competitors in taking advantage of the situation. He said Standard could not meet competition at the old $1.07 per barrel average scale and that "nothing short of fair and united action by all producers in the big producing states will change the present situation."

Murray, advocate of united action by states, said the Seubert telegram bore out his position on the domestic oil situation. Earlier in the day he had indicated his belief

HEAVY DAMAGE FEARED OVER WICHITA AREA

Wheat and Oats Believed Safe, but Early Garden Crops Suffer

30 AT MIDNIGHT

Warmer Weather Predicted For West Texas Saturday

A government weather forecast issued through the Associated Press at 9:30 o'clock Friday night predicted fair and warmer weather for Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma for Saturday.

Fruit and early gardens throughout the Wichita Falls territory were endangered Friday night as temperatures continued to fall with the onsweep of the second severe March norther. Budding trees that escaped the wet freeze Sunday were without protection from the freezing winds Friday and it was feared that at least 50 per cent of the crop was wiped out.

Mercury Dives

After climbing up from a minimum of 33 degrees for the 24 hour period ending at 5 o'clock Friday, the mercury here started on the decline again, dropping from 36 degrees at 5 o'clock to 30 degrees, two below freezing, at midnight.

G. C. McGown, county farm agent, said Friday night that a severe freeze would nip early gardens and deal a death blow to around 50 per cent of the fruit crop. Wheat and oats were believed safe except from an exceptionally hard freeze, he declared. Early gardens will be nipped back, he predicted, but sturdy plants, including peas, will probably survive.

A few flakes of snow late in the afternoon Friday, together with overcast skies, gave a faint hope that rain, snow or sleet might interpose to bring another wet freeze and thus lessen the damage.

Flurries of Snow

Conditions similar to those prevailing here swept the entire territory. Snow flurries struck at Childress and Dalhart and were reported by Katy dispatchers throughout northern Oklahoma. Strong north winds sent the temperature plunging downward at Wellington and over Northwest Texas.

Denver dispatchers reported light snows between Stamford and Spur during the afternoon with the mercury everywhere dropping below the freezing point.

SKIES CLEARING AT AMARILLO

(By The Associated Press)

Gripped by a blizzard which during the day brought a sudden onrush of rain, snow, sleet and biting winds, Texas Friday night had the prospect of even lower temperatures and more rain or snow in the northern portion. Excepting in the southern portion of the state, fear was felt that many early blooming fruit orchards would be damaged.

At nightfall, skies had cleared at Amarillo and snow was melting. The minimum temperature of the day there had been 18, the thermometer rising to 25. Fair and warmer weather for Saturday was forecast. Snow flurries at Abilene gave strength to a forecast of sub-freezing temperatures before morning. Colorado, Texas, and Mitchell that the oil states will be forced to take their own sort of action to combat the flood of foreign oil.

The Standard president expressed hope the conference of oil states called by Murray for next Monday at Texarkana, Texas, would mark the tour toward improved conditions. The Texarkana conference follows one at Fort Worth last week-end at which Murray suggested that the states bar importers of foreign oil and when efforts were made to secure a uniform conservation program.

Several producing states are expected at Texarkana. Although Governor Murray said late today that he had been advised that Gov. Arthur Seligman of New Mexico would not send a representative and that it was doubtful if suggested oil relief legislation could be pushed through in Texas, where the legislature is nearing adjournment.

Meanwhile the new low price scale for crude oil held full sway in the mid-continent area despite the statement of the Oklahoma Corporation commission yesterday that it would postpone an increase in the allowable flow from the Oklahoma field with the understanding that the Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing company, which initiated the widespread reductions would report former prices.

Most operators in the Oklahoma City field started work on plans to move more oil from the great pool. Sinclair interests, proponents of the increased production, were seeking more crude and promising immediate connections. Magnolia and other companies were reported preparing to increase runs at the new low price. Refiners here were heartened.

Action of Ohio Oil in reducing prices in central western fields led to the belief the low scale would be country-wide.

Many local oil men thought the $1.07 average here was too much in the face of cheap high gravity oil from East Texas and New Mexico and the condition of the refined market.

IMPORTERS' DEPLY AWAITED IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, March 6. (AP)—Administration officials tonight awaited word from oil importers upon which they hoped to base plans for solving some of the urgent problems confronting the petroleum world.

Secretary Wilbur, as chairman of the oil conservation board, said he expected several days would be required by the importing companies to work out a definite program of curtailing imports.

He said it would require considerable study of marketing zones, the price in various areas, and existing contracts binding the various companies to formulate the plan.

The Gulf company, the Standard of New Jersey and most of the other leading importers have notified the government they were willing to assist as much as possible in carrying out the proposals advanced by President Hoover and now being negotiated by Secretary Lamont.

SIX STATES TO SEND DELEGATES

TEXARKANA, Ark., March 6. (AP)—Definite acceptances from six states had been received today as arrangements were being completed for the national oil relief conference called by Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma to be held here Monday. Two refusals had been received and another state had not been heard from.

The governors of Ohio and New Mexico notified the chamber of commerce here they would not be represented and no word had been received from Wyoming.

In addition to R. R. Penn, Texas representative, and Cicero Murray, Oklahoma representative, T. H. Barton of Eldorado will represent Arkansas; William H. Cooley, California; Alfred M. Landon, Kansas, and W. Scott Heywood, Louisiana.

lican party and attributed Republican successes nationally to a "tight, well-perfected political organization." Later, the headquarters committee met in executive session to discuss details of organization.

Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, state vice chairman, told the delegates President Hoover was stronger with the people today than at any time since his election. Reporting on his activities in Washington recently in behalf of relief for the oil industry, he said the president favored oil legislation sought by Texas oil men.

Parker Lucas, attorney of Dallas, took issue with certain remarks of Mr. Bullington in reference to the state organization's support of the president's veto of the veterans bonus measure. Lucas said ex-service men, as a bloc, would be supreme in politics within the next decade and that the organization should strengthen itself with them.

Dissension at the meeting in Washington of the national Democratic executive committee was regarded by Republican leaders as strengthening their cause in 1932. Mr. Creager said Republicanism would have little serious opposition "as long as Smith and Raskob remain in control of the Democratic party."

A TREASURE BOX

Here's a little tin box which is in reality a treasure box for it holds twelve little tablets of pure aspirin accepted by doctors and public alike as indispensible in many illnesses. And the name "St. Joseph's" on that little box is not only your guarantee of purity and conformity to all government standards but your economical price protection. It means that you can buy one dozen tablets of St. Joseph's Pure Aspirin for 10c. The fact that more than nine million boxes of St. Joseph's Pure Aspirin were sold in a single year proves that thousands of people everywhere have learned that it is safe, sensible and economical to put down a dime and ask by name for a box of "St. Joseph's Pure Aspirin." The name St. Joseph's is a guarantee of absolute purity. The 10c price is an assurance of sensible economy.

Freeze May Cut Fruit Harvest county fruit crops were believed endangered by freezing weather.

Crest of the blizzard struck Fort Worth and Dallas late in the day, thunder showers turning to sleet at intervals.

Shippers were warned to protect for temperatures ranging from 18 to 28 degrees in the north portion of the state within a 300-mile radius of Dallas for the next 24 to 36 hours, and for a temperature of 32 degrees or slightly lower Saturday in the west and east sections of the state.

Slow rains extended across East Texas to Texarkana and the cold was encroaching there also.

Light snowfall at Pampa ceased at noon and at 8 p. m. the temperature was 23 degrees, with a strong north wind blowing. Farther south in West Texas, Lubbock had a high temperature of 29 for the day and a minimum of 26, while at San Angelo the high was 42 and the low 36 degrees. Freezing weather was forecast for Friday night.

The mercury dropped to 36 at Fort Worth during the day but climbed four degrees in late afternoon. A 12-mile northwest wind was blowing and .24 of inch of rain had fallen.

Central Texas Chilled

The temperature dropped to 36 at nightfall at Temple and freezing weather Friday night was expected. Fruit trees which already had blossomed were expected to be severely damaged. The change came sudden, as spring-like weather had prevailed there Thursday.

Winter garden farmers of South Texas and the lower Rio Grande were taking all possible precautions to protect crops. The weather forecast at Corpus Christi predicted rain, turning to sleet Saturday night, and an expected temperature of 40 or lower Saturday and Sunday. The high temperature Friday at Corpus Christi was 70, the minimum 64. No rain had fallen. Crops were slightly damaged by frost earlier in the week but during the last several days, radishes were reported damaged by unseasonable heat. Gardeners declared a cold rain was needed by the radish crop.

Humidity was oppressive Friday in the Rio Grande valley, the temperature reaching 87 degrees. A drop to 40 degrees early Saturday was forecast, accompanied by showers which were expected to prevent frost damage to orchards. The cold wave was predicted to last three days in South Texas.

POTATOES NIPPED IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 6. (AP)—Blustery winds carrying subfreezing temperatures and snow that in the early hours today swept into the Oklahoma Panhandle penetrated eastward later virtually across the state.

In the Muskogee-Okmulgee region where earlier in the day potatoes were reported sprouting, the mercury fell sharply toward the freezing point with indications it would be reached before morning. Rains, checked temporarily, appeared likely to change to snow. The hard driven snow that fell most of the day in the vicinity of Guymon, in the Panhandle slowed to intermittent flurries later, but temperatures remained near 19 and 20. To the south, Ardmore reported increasing cold. It rained there all day.

Federal Forecaster J. P. Slaughter at Oklahoma City, predicted 16 to 24 degree weather for Oklahoma City and vicinity.

Snow, driven by a strong north wind, was falling tonight at Shawnee. The skies were heavily overcast, and the temperature had dropped to the freezing point at dusk.

At Blackwell, there were flurries of snow and the temperature was near freezing, while the wind had decreased.

LONDON, March 6. (US)—Charlie Chaplin wasn't in trouble with the police today, even if he was in their hands.

The comedian sat on the judge's bench in the central criminal court of Old Bailey, and observed the administration of justice.

A distinguished group of judges, barristers and court officials entertained Chaplin at luncheon.

WICHITAN INJURED

E. F. La Monte, 502 Cowan street, received a deep cut over his eye late Friday night when struck by a tool as he was repairing his automobile on a highway near the city, according to information given by attendants at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital, where he was taken following the accident.

BOOM IN BEDS

With the advent of renewed cold weather in Wichita Falls a decided increase in requests for beds was received by the police department Friday night. The usual number of transients given a place to stay by the police department averages 10 per night.

Knock That Cold In A Jiffy

Relief Now Almost Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drinks lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

church visited the old fort which was first constructed by Franciscian Friars in 1722 as the mission San Antonio de la Valerio. It was transformed into a military stronghold in 1793. Maj. Gen. James Fetchet, chief of the army air corps, was in the crowd today.

Representatives of the king of Spain and others from the Mexican government were also among the throng which braved the dampness of the day to pay tribute at the Alamo.

A bugle sounded at the grave of Lieut. Col William Travis sharply at 3 o'clock and 10,000 heads were uncovered to the rains as a volley of musketry was fired in honor of the commander who died that honor of Texas might remain untarnished by ignomious surrender.

A Franciscian father, a member of the order which 95 years ago conducted the funeral ceremony of the young colonel, was in charge of the memorial service at the graveside. A simple service with a last volley of shots and taps.

The service at the grave was sponsored by the Texas Historical Landmark association which has charge of the graves and through whose efforts it has been recently beautified with new markers and a profusion of flowers.

Stone to Head U. S. Farm Board

nomic depression has been reached and that from now on a general improvement will be shown.

Returning to Job

It has been known for weeks that Legge wished to resign after congress adjourned and return to his former $100,000 a year job as head of the International Harvester company. His salary as chairman of the board has been $10,000.

Although Legge and the board have been severely criticized by members of congress, the chairman has always enjoyed the complete confidence of President Hoover and has been allowed at all times to run the affairs of the board as he saw fit.

Congressmen have frequently made capital of the fact that the board has bought more than 100,000,000 bushels of wheat at prices considerably above the present market price. Legge has always answered with the assertion that American farmers are now getting much more for their wheat than the world price level, which he considers an achievement for the board.

Reduction Campaign

The biggest campaign Legge has conducted since taking office is one for a 20 per cent reduction in wheat acreage and a large reduction in cotton acreage. He has never missed an opportunity to warn the raisers of these products that they will face much lower prices and disaster unless they make drastic cuts in production.

Even this week he said 5-cent cotton and 25-cent wheat wheat may be the penalty if the farmers insist on raising crops as large as that of last year.

Retirement of some of the other members of the board is expected soon. Samuel McKelvie, representing wheat, and William F. Shilling, representing dairy products, have let it be known they will retire when their terms expire on June 15. Carl Williams, representing cotton, has been ill for months and may leave the board on account of his health.

Daughter Born To Empress of Japan

TOKIO, March 7. (Saturday, 12:30 p. m.) (UP)—A girl was born to the empress at the imperial maternity villa today.

The girl is the fourth to be born to the empress and leaves the empire without a male heir apparent. For weeks the nation had been praying the child would be a boy.

The empress Nagako, consort of Emperor Hirohito, was taken to the maternity home at 9:50 a. m. Elaborate ceremonies had been conducted for weeks past in anticipation of the arrival of the child, and in hope it would be a boy.

Friberg Advises Veterans How They Can Speed Work of Granting Loans

Veterans in a hurry for their compensation loans from the government were advised to serve their own purposes by refraining from swamping the Dallas headquarters with letters in a statement from J. F. Friberg, American Legion adjutant, Friday night.

Mr. Friberg said the Dallas office has enlarged its force and is working day and night shifts to handle the 9,000 applications already received and the thousands of others pouring in. Every letter asking the status of an individual application and the date for payment slows up the work while clerks search through stacks of papers to find the application, the adjutant explained.

He declared the office is handling papers and mailing checks as quickly as possible and the veterans only delays his check and the checks of comrades by unnecessary questions.

Meanwhile a big batch of loans are expected to arrive in Wichita Falls Saturday. Only a few responses to the 700 applications handled through the Legion here have been received, but Mr. Friberg believes the payments will begin coming in fast Saturday. Approximately $250,000 is expected to flow into the city from loans applied for through the Legion alone, excluding those handled by the banks and the postmaster.

Five people are at work in the post here to meet the emergency and through the applications, 200 new members have been enrolled in the Pat Carrigan post, already the largest in the state.

SHELL MAY BUILD REFINERY AT DALLAS

DALLAS, March 6. (AP)—The Shell Petroleum company is considering construction of a large refinery at Dallas and may lay a pipe line from its leases in East Texas to Dallas, entering this territory with its own retail outlets, according to information received here today.

The Shell company at present has only one refinery in Texas, a 22,000-barrel plant at Houston, and the Dallas refinery was expected to be of about the same size.

Location for the first Shell company in the East Texas field has been made about 1000 feet north of the Farrell-Moncrief-Arkansas Fuel Oil No. 1 Lathrop. The company owns several thousand acres of leases in the Lathrop area of Gregg county and also in Rusk county.

The company was reported as having leases on more than a dozen filling station sites in Dallas, preparatory to entering the retail business here through its own stations

STERLING NAMES FOE OF ESTES

AUSTIN, March 6. (AP)—Governor Sterling late today wired Carl Estes Tyler newspaper editor and a colonel on his staff, that Estes' complaint against Robert R. Penn, Texas representative on the oil states advisory committee, was "more of a personal matter between you and Mr. Penn."

Estes, who had had several differences with Penn, today asked the governor to remove the Dallas independent oil operator from the committee.

"I am sorry you take the position you have regarding the appointment of Mr. Penn to represent the governor of Texas in conference with representatives of other states," Mr. Sterling said. "It seems that your complaint is more of a personal matter between you and Mr. Penn."

Penn is chairman of the Texas central proration committee.

HAMMOND CREW SEEKS CORE TEST

LONGVIEW, Texas, March 6. (AP)—Despite a heavy downpour of rain and increasingly cold weather, drilling crews on the Mamie Hammond-Hamby No. 1 well near here redoubled their efforts tonight to obtain another core from the closely watched wildcat.

Quest for the Woodbine sand, believed to be approximately 10 feet lower than the depth announced yesterday, 3542 feet, has been claiming the interest of the East Texas oil fraternity since the outcome of the test will largely determine the boundary lines of the field westward of the Lathrop and Foster-Fisher areas.

KANSAS PLEADS FOR EAST TEXAS CONTROL

AUSTIN, March 6. (AP)—Governor Sterling today wired Governor Woodring of Kansas that a hearing would be held on proration of the new East Texas oil fields.

C. V. Terrell, chairman of the railroad commission, said the date had not been set but he thought the commission early next week would fix a date.

Governor Sterling's wire was in response to one from Governor Woodring in which the Kansas chief executive had said he did not feel like asking the Stanolind company to rescind its price cut until something had been done about East Texas.

The Texas governor told Governor Woodring "we feel East Texas should be controlled and have been working hard to bring about proration in that field." "I hope you will ask the Standard to rescind its price reduction order," Governor Sterling said.

"I feel the first move in the stabilization program has to come from Texas," Governor Woodring had wired. "With from 40,000 to 50,000 barrels of oil going on the market from East Texas at considerably below the market price I do not feel it is fair to ask the Standard of Indiana or any other company to maintain a higher level. I will be glad to join with the other governors in any effort that can possibly be made to restore the crude oil market to its former price when, and if you stabilize the industry in your state."

TEXACO MAY BUILD $1,000,000 PIPE LINE

DALLAS, March 6. (AP)—The Texas company is considering construction of a $1,000,000 pipe line to the East Texas field preparatory to entering that field as a purchaser, it was learned here today. The line would extend from the Lathrop area north of Longview to Nacogdoches, where it would connect with the line to the Port Neches and Port Arthur refineries. Gathering lines from the Bateman and Deep Rock areas also would be laid.

Aged Woman Found Dead in Hotel Room

WACO, Texas, March 6. (AP)—An unidentified woman, apparently 60 or 65 years of age, was found shot to death in a hotel tonight.

The body was found when a porter was sent to the room after telephone calls from the clerk had brought no response. She had registered late Wednesday and was last seen when a porter escorted her to the room. She had no baggage.

She held a .32 calibre pistol in her right hand. The bullet had pierced her head.

A note was found in her purse addressed "to the city."

It read: "As I am down and out with no money and friends, no kin, and no home, I ask the city to please bury me. Do not let anyone touch my body. Bury me just as I am. I am ready for the box. Put me in as cheap a box as you have, no expense. Thanking the city for the expense and trouble, I thank you again."

The note was not signed.

The woman registered as Mrs. A. M. Long of Denver, Colorado.

A closed Bible lay under her arm.

Charlotte, N. C., in 1930 had 34 homicides, equivalent to 41.4 per 100,000 population, as compared to Chicago's rate of 14.5 per 100,000.

GRANT SOLVES WATER PUZZLE

35 Attend Rally at Barwise School

Marked deference to the Texas Electric Service company in direction of the water department, extravagance in city expenditures, and deliberate efforts to force an enormous bond issue upon the people of the city were charged to the city administration in a talk by R. O. Grant, formerly chief clerk in the water department at the Barwise school Friday night. A total of 35 persons attended.

A Prophet

"Because the same plan had been advised by R. O. Grant, a few months previously," the speaker declared, "the recommendations of Dean T. U. Taylor relative to our water system were promptly torn up and rejected. They called for the building of a filtration plant at Lake Wichita, to avoid the necessity of pumping water up hill to the present plant site, and then up hill again to the town. Dean Taylor's plan would have had the water coming down hill to the place it is needed, and would have eliminated this open ditch which they say contaminates our supply.

"Now let me tell you one big reason why they don't want that water plant moved: if they move it, the Texas Electric Service company no longer can have all its big engines cooled by passage of the water which you are to drink. That's what they have been doing for years, absolutely without cost. The city water department furnishes from their reservoir the water to cool all the electric company's engines. They tell you this water that flows through the ditch is impure, contaminated, by that exposure. But they apparently think it is purified by running through all those greasy engines which are making the electric current you pay for."

Making of a contract to furnish "free water" to the electric company, and of another to buy current from the same company for "about three times what any other city pays for it" was charged to Walter D. Cline, formerly mayor of the city, and now a supporter of the proposed bond issue.

All that is necessary to provide this city a permanent and ample supply of soft water, Mr. Grant declared, is the closing of gates in the irrigation canals so that Lake Kemp water may not enter Lake Wichita. Water from the larger lake has flowed into Lake Wichita almost constantly since 1923, he continued, either "by determination to keep the city water supply hard, or by determined indifference toward the matter of keeping it soft."

"Your city water superintendent, Dr. A. H. Douglass, has said recently that hard water costs this city $685,000 annually. If I were in his place, I should be ashamed so to indict myself publicly by my own words. In the time which has elapsed under the condition as he describes it, his mistakes have cost the people $4,500,000."

The history of the local water department since 1920 was reviewed again by Mr. Grant. He stressed the statement that $600,000 worth of material improvements were made in the system during the first few years of municipal ownership out of profits of the department, and that 75 or 80 men were employed constantly for that purpose. The speaker denied that elements of hardness in the water of Lake Wichita were due to drainage from oil wells or irrigated lands. He admitted that a canal is needed to detour Lake Kemp waters around Lake Wichita, and declared that such a ditch could be built for not more than $25,000—or "the equivalent of 60 days' profit on the water department."

Long-Time Plot Bared

Mr. Grant advocated the construction of mains running north and south from 14-inch lines now running to Grant street on Avenue E and Avenue L. Ample supplies of water for those sections of the city would be guaranteed by such additions to the present system, he said.

The city administration, and those of recent years, were attacked vehemently by Mr. Grant for "deliberate refusal to follow the Dean Taylor plan, or to use local labor and water department profits to build all the improvements which have become necessary." Construction of a larger main to the refineries on the north side of the river, he said, "could be accomplished within a short time many years ago, and would have given the city a profit of $40,000 annually on "its biggest customer."

Refusal to lay the larger line to the refinery district, to lay additional laterals in the western portions of the city, and to compel the irrigated district to close its gates, were due to a "determination to force this bond issue of $1,000,000 upon the tax-paying public of Wichita Falls," according to Mr. Grant's statements.

J. T. Cabe was the second speaker of the evening, and opened his talk by declaring that he considers the present Wichita Falls water supply one of the best in the entire state of Texas, both in quantity and quality.

"But," continued the speaker, "with the prospect of a bond election, and a short time before the city election, somehow our water suddenly became strangely discolored and impure. We are now supposed to admit, I presume, that we need a better supply."

Why Mr. Sartin!

"But for the fact that just a few men in this city are being benefitted and profited by this bond issue, there would be no bond issue before us," the speaker declared. "This is a time when the citizenship of Wichita Falls is burdened to death already. I am safe in saying that not more than one-half the home owners in the city have paid their taxes in full. It costs me more now to live in my own home than it would to rent it. I bought this home four years ago from Judge Sartin over here, and now he wouldn't pay me $5,000 for it."

Attacking the present city government, Mr. Cabe said that in his opinion "we are paying the city manager just about $8,000 too much a year."

G. A. Rowland was appointed as chairman in the Barwise district for opposing the bond issue, and for supporting the candidacy of Fred Cone, P. B. Cox and W. B. Corlett for aldermanic positions in the coming city election. Others named on the committee are F. J. Legear, Fred Nattz, Mesdames Tom Marcum, Lon Sullen, E. L. Gaines, and Fred Nattz. W. E. George, general chairman of the anti-bond campaign, announced a rally to be held at the Memorial auditorium on March 12.

RASKOB'S PLAN RAISES STORM

Democratic Leaders Head Criticism on Chairman

WASHINGTON, March 6. (AP)—A barrage of criticism issued today from stalwart Democrats against the proposal of Chairman Raskob of the national committee that the party adopt a platform calling for state control of liquor.

The proposal, made yesterday at a meeting of the committee, stirred up instant opposition. The attack was carried on today in a series of bristling statements.

Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, contended prohibition was not a "party question" and asserted "it would be fatal for either party to attempt to make it one."

At the same time, Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, co-author of the prohibition amendment, appealed for all Democrats, wet and dry, to unite in a movement to defeat Raskob's suggestion.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader in the senate and 1928 vice presidential candidate, contended "there is great danger that in bringing forward now the subject of prohibition even more important issues may be neglected and submerged."

His colleague, Senator Caraway, charged that Raskob was "lined up" on economic issues "with the extreme stand-pat portion of the Republican party" and that the national chairman's discussion of those issues at yesterday's stormy meeting showed he was "utterly out of sympathy with the aims and aspirations of the Democratic party."

The economic views of Raskob also were criticised by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, who said he thought it would be impossible for the party to accept them "particularly on trusts and monopolies."

"I also disagree with his views on the power problem," he added.

Senator Smith of South Carolina insisted the party should avoid "these controversial things and unite on the issues that are patent to all—the economic distress of the country in every department of life."

Agreement with Raskob's prohibition suggestion was voiced by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts. He contended, however, it was contrary to custom for the national committee to discuss issues.

Sheppard described Raskob's "home rule plan" as "wet" and urged the Democratic party to devote itself to "the overthrow of rapacity, monopoly and greed."

Railroad Head Ends Life With Pistol Shot

PHILADELPHIA, March 6. (UP)—Nicholas C. Brooks, 50, an executive of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, shot himself to death in his room in a downtown hotel here, police reported today. His body was found in the bathroom last night, a bullet from a pistol which he still held in his hand when found had penetrated his brain.

Brooks left a note reading in part:

"God forgive me for doing this, I am sick mentally and physically."

FREDERICK, Okla., March 6.—Roy L. Moss, service officer for John S. Kerr post, American Legion, has made out the applications for more than 100 veterans who are taking advantage of the recent measure which permits them to get 50 per cent of their compensation insurance. He will receive a check for $790.50.

200 BRECKENRIDGE VETERANS APPLY

Special to The Record News.

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, March 6.—Approximately 200 ex-soldiers of the world war now living in Stephens county have already made applications for loans under the plan passed by congress over President Hoover's veto last week, officers of the local American Legion said.

One hundred or more applications are expected to be made by Stephens county veterans yet, the legion officers predict.

It is estimated that there are 500 soldiers in this county who are eligible to borrow money on the 50 per cent adjusted compensation certificate loan plan. Many of the veterans will not ask for their loans since they are not in need of the money. Legion officials have also asked that those soldiers not in dire need of the loans not to make applications at this time.

The 200 who have already made applications for their loans will probably acquire approximately $80,000, it is estimated. Each veteran is borrowing on an average of $400, some a little more and others are entitled to less.

Any officer of the Breckenridge Legion post is prepared and willing to help the veterans fill out applications for their loans.

WHITE OF MANY COLORS

We usually think of newly laundered sheets and linens as pure white. But the truth is that most of the time they are not white at all. Sometimes they are gray, sometimes they are yellow, and sometimes they are even blue. It all depends on the soap.

White things will emerge from washing absolutely white if they are washed with White King Granulated. White King is pure. No "filler" or foreign matter—nothing but the finest vegetable and nut oils, good enough to eat! White King needs no bleaching or bluing help.

It's economical too! Because White King Granulated is condensed, a little of it goes a long way. One teaspoonful in a wash basin, one cupful in the washing machine—plenty, even in hard or lukewarm water. Safe and swift for blankets, dishes, delicate colored fabrics. Your grocer has it.

Tillman Officials Scheduled To Attend Tuesday Tax Meeting

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., March 6.—A meeting is to be held at the courtroom at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday, March 10, when plans will be devised for lowering taxes in Tillman county the present year. C. I. Kent, J. G. Eberle and Edwin Brown, extensive property owners, who have called the meeting, state everyone with whom they have discussed the subject is in hearty accord.

Most of the taxes are assessed to take care of the schools, municipal and county government and it is the desire of those sponsoring the meeting to have as many of the officials of the units present as possible. The three county commissioners will be in attendance and Ed Cason has promised to tell what procedure must be taken to reduce the taxes.

POSSE NABS BANDIT GANG

Quartet Cornered After Wounding Officers

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 6. (UP)—Two men and two women who shot and wounded three officers and a civilian in a cross state flight after a Jacksonville holdup, surrendered to a posse of 200 deputized citizens in a swamp near Bagdad, Fla., today.

One of the men, and a woman, were found wounded. They gave their names as Prince Hays, Bert Oglesby, Mabel Herts and Fay Harris.

The quartet had been traced from Jacksonville, where they wounded a citizen and a policeman after a holdup. Abandoning their own car for an ice truck, they shot Deputies Gellie Malleri and G. Bock near Chipley, Fla., when the officers sought to stop them.

They were traced to the swamp last night after a vain effort to get medical aid for their wounds here.

California Cities Seek National Conventions

WASHINGTON, March 6. (AP)—San Francisco and Los Angeles have made overtures for the Republican and Democratic national conventions in 1932.

Although the convention cities will be selected by the national committees almost a year hence, it is understood San Francisco is strongly favored for the Republican meeting. Isidore B. Dockweiler of Los Angeles, national committeeman, has proposed his home town for the Democratic convention.

In view of the strength gained in Ohio and Illinois in the November elections, Cleveland and Chicago are likely prospects for the Democratic convention.

Girl Graft Victims Freed in New York

NEW YORK, March 6. (AP)—Forty-eight girls, found by the Seabury inquiry into magistrates courts to have been illegally committed to Bedford reformatory on vice charges, must be freed without undergoing retrial.

The appellate division of the supreme court so ruled today in reversing Supreme Court Justice Townley.

Referee Samuel Seabury's contention that the girls should be forthwith released followed revelation that many of them had been committed on charges trumped up by policemen seeking graft.

HARD WATER PLUS MELO MAKES SOFT WATER

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Washes woolens and blankets!

When you wash with hard water there's a dirty ring around the edge of the basin, but that's not suds. It's scum. The hard water is doing that. It's mixing with the soap to form a dirty curdle. Can't wash woolens and blankets in that water.

Soften the water with Melo. Then add soap. The water is now a very fine cleansing agent and the soap is much more effective. Melo did that. Get a can today at your grocer's.

SUICIDE? MURDER? MIRACLE?

Paralyzed—burning with love, but helpless. What could this husband do to save his adoring wife from her battle with Nature's forces?

An aura of sweet womanhood—Olga, my young wife. Her rapt devotion—my growing business—my very life—they all seemed blasted with that horrible accident.

"John," the doctors said, "you'll never walk again." I didn't tell Olga. I couldn't shatter that glow of hope in her eyes—hope that blazed with desire—the day she met Del Raignon.

Raignon—unscrupulous matinee idol—he knew! Helpless, I watched him play on her loving, innocent nature—biding his time till Olga no longer could resist him. How I suffered—prayed for her—raged with jealousy—and dropped to the dregs of despair.

That night—my revolver. "Goodbye, angel-heart," I whispered and—THEN! Out on the lawn—I saw Raignon take her—my wife—in his arms. "I can't let her live in that disgrace," I cried. Slowly I raised my revolver—carefully I took aim—and...

What did John do? In that awful climax, did he kill Olga to save her from disgrace with Raignon? Or did he murder that cad—an act which would blacken him forever in the eyes of his wife—of society—of God?

What almighty miracle could have come to solve this pitiful tangle of helpless human destinies? You must read for yourself BECAUSE I LOVED MY WIFE—the true, heart-rending story of a man who wheeled his way through hell in an invalid's chair—and what he finally found at the very brink of oblivion.

Murdering a Witness
She Knew Too Much
The Red Albany March
The World Passes

By EMILE GAUVREAU

The person who strangled Vivian Gordon, volunteer vice witness, must have considered murder preferable to exposure. Or he may have acted simply as a pawn to carry out commands of those in high place who had reason to fear Miss Gordon's testimony, which promised to be damaging.

Miss Gordon, actress and night club habitue, had no enviable record herself. Twice arrested, on extortion and disorderly conduct charges, an inmate of Bedford reformatory, living not infrequently under an alias, she was one of the framed girls that came to the attention of the Seabury inquiry. She was the kind of informant who could reveal much. And she wanted to. But dead girls, like dead men, tell no tales.

We need no Jeremiah or Isaiah to castigate and warn us today. The hereafter has ceased to have terrors for many of us. What we need is fearless and truthful exposure, and a sufficient residue of incorruptible authority to punish offenders, no matter who they are. But how many men are grounded in truth and fearlessness today?

General Coxey, whose army of hoboes started a march on Washington in an historical demonstration some decades ago established a precedent which has its parallel in the hunger march of 200 Communists who are en route by train, on foot and by motor trucks to Albany. Coxey's heart would have warmed to the roar of motors, the gay placards and banners, the stop-over at Camp "Don't Worry," owned by the Communists, and the efficiency with which the modern unemployed left-wingers exploit their distress and dissatisfaction.

The New York World, a great newspaper, is issued for the last time. A career of distinguished service of nearly half a century in the presentation of news and features has come to an end. There is in this eclipse of a vision that had become a reality something profoundly sad. It is the passing away of an era, the death of an ideal. The death of a human being, however notable, could hardly stir one more.

Let us hope that, in the words of Roy W. Howard, chairman of the board of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, the World has not really passed on, but will be reborn through its amalgamation with the Telegram. Let us hope that the fair play and progressive spirit which have characterized the Telegram since it became a Scripps-Howard organ will operate twice as effectively and courageously, now that it also bears the honored name of The World.

At the trial of Mr. Capone in Chicago, witnesses contradict one another so often that Judge Wilkerson is "sure someone is lying." The police testify that at the time Capone was supposed to be too ill to come to court he was seen at the races, touring about, attending to the pleasures of his Miami Beach estate. Doctors and nurses, on the other hand, with an oath on the Bible, declare the king of racketeers was critically sick.

The trial is the least interesting part of the event. It's the audience and their curiosity. Never did so many persons attempt to witness a hearing. It reminds one of the popularity of Jack Sheppard, notorious thief of England, who was hanged finally before 200,000 spectators, most of whom idolized him and enjoyed watching his last moments at the end of a rope.

The reported hog population of Louisiana is only one-third the amount of pork residents of the state are expected to consume in 1931.

Light Beyond the Stars

THE real poets and artists of this modern world sometimes seem to be the scientists.

Dr. Frederick H. Sears is assistant director of Mount Wilson observatory, in California, and hardly rates as a visionary. But it is just such men as he who dream strange dreams and see bright visions these days, and draw stupendous pictures out of the gulf beyond the stars.

The other day Dr. Sears discovered a cosmic sunset—a tremendous, wildly spectacular affair somewhere beyond the great star Alpha Cygni, several hundred trillion miles away. In that remote region, millions of leagues in extent, some 150 stars are creating a gigantic sunset—throwing bright beams of light through a strange dust cloud, wasting millions of miles of brilliant colors on empty space so profoundly distant that we cannot measure it except in figures that our minds cannot grasp.

There is mystery in it, too, and a hint of undiscovered worlds, just as there is in all good sunsets. For the dying light of these sinking stars is illumined by the edge of one of the most mysterious of all wonders of the heavens; the great "North American" nebula, a dark shape that for some incomprehensible reason bears the shape of the North American continent. Beyond this floating continent the stars go down; and a telescope on a California mountain picks up the glow of a sunset that happened hundreds of years ago.

Now all of this is just a routine pronouncement from a sedate scientist; but it also happens to be the stuff of which poetry, and all high art, is made. For what is it, after all, but the detection in the outer void of a wild and compelling bit of beauty such as Blake might have conjured up? What is it but a piercing of the veil that divides the seen from the unseen, just as poets and all artists have striven to do for many centuries?

Rudyard Kipling, looking ahead to the time when earth's last picture is painted, predicted:

And those that were good shall be happy; they shall sit in a golden chair;
They shall splash at a 10-league canvas with brushes of comet's hair.

And here, beyond the mysterious North American nebula, it is happening; a prodigious sunset, with the light from hundreds of stars turning a cosmic dust cloud into gold and crimson and amber . . . splashing at a 10-league canvas with brushes of comet's hair . . . material for dreams and visions.

There is no getting around it. It is the scientist who is the poet today.

Loyalty and Courage

LOYALTY is rather a scarce commodity. But now and then there is an example of it that makes the rest of the doubtful world look around for someone in whom to trust again. Ellen Warner, 21, thought that Victor Laurie was taking her to the movies in New York, the other night. The man paused along the way to work an impromptu robbery. The rope, up which he had climbed, broke and he tumbled to the ground in a crumbled, broken heap.

Ellen Warner didn't run away. She went for help and then she stayed with the man until he died. She knew that she would be included in the case, and she had one shop-lifting charge against her name. But an inner sense of loyalty made her do the courageous thing in an unpleasant situation. It doesn't make any difference where the game is being played. There is something rather fine about those who stay to the end and are unafraid.

Rechristening the Submarines

FOR 20 years submarines in the United States navy have been identified by numbers and letters which were to most of us meaningless and unintelligible. Now the navy has decided to rechristen them with deep sea titles such as Bonita, Bass, Barracuda.

The wonder of it is that this happy idea had not been thought of years before. Submarines had no more personality than a telephone number or automobile license plate. And yet there was no valid reason why they could not have been as properly addressed as the battleships.

If a submarine instead of the Maine had been blown up in Santiago harbor, it is unlikely an expression like "Remember the V-6706" would long have survived in American history. Figures are so easy to forget!

The Squelch Swelegant

The best Dorothy Parker anecdote heard in ages is supposed to have taken place during an apartment party recently.

Dorothy was pointed out to a smart aleck, who had heard that she was a conceited woman who was always crushing people. The aleck decided to humiliate Dorothy before she embarrassed him. He gave her a terrific and merciless "ride" before the guests, insulting her with none too subtle cracks, all of which she ignored beautifully.

Later in the evening remorse gripped the insulter. "She cannot be the things I've heard about her," he said to himself. So he apologized to Dorothy.

"Oh, that's al lright," she cooed. "Just promise me that when you get home—you'll toss your mother a bone!"

Take it from Walker Buckley out in California Rudy Vallee is known as the "Croon Prince of America."

On Broadway, Anyway

"I saw that piece you wrote about Lillian Leitzel," writes a mourner, "and I was interested in the comment that many people go to circuses and other dare-devil performances not so much to be thrilled by the tricks and stunts, but they go with the anticipation of seeing somebody miss. That's putting it a little rough, isn't it? Do you honestly believe people pay money to see entertainers miss?"

Why do you think opening nights are so crowded?

O, Mr. Wilstach!!

Suggested for the simile dictionary: Bugs Baer's: They flocked to him like sopranos to a microphone. . . . Walt Streightiff's: The news spread like a runner in a silk stocking. . . And Ethel Watson's: The corners of his mouth drag like an old woman's petticoat.

Gag

Allan Cross, of Healy and Cross, offers this new one. It appears that certain Park Ave. antique dealers migrate downtown to the Ghetto to shop in little antique stores where they buy rare antiques which they sell uptown at fancy prices.

One Park Ave. man was inspecting an East Side shop last week and observed a cat lapping up milk from a platter, a real antique, worth thousands of dollars. He mused: "Hmm, this Heeb doesn't know the value of that platter. I'll angle it from him." He offered $10 for the cat. The East Sider said: "But that's an alley cat."

"Never mind, I like him," said the man and he bought it. "You know," he added, "I'd like to buy that plate from which the cat was drinking. I'll give you $10 for the plate, too."

"I wouldn't part with that plate for $100," said the Joosh man.

"You wouldn't? Why not? I'm offering you money for it purely out of sentiment because the cat is probably accustomed to it."

"Well," sheepishly replied the dialectician, "to tell you the truth, that platter has sold 142 cats for me already."

Hehebeh

Solly Violinsky, now on the West Coast, received a letter from his theatrical club in New York, which is dunning its membership for back dues, according to Benny Holzman. The letter read: "You owe $187 in back dues. Please remit."

Violinsky telegraphed: "Send the other $13 and I'll owe you $200 even."

Newspaper Man Stuff

Lee Ross, of one of the tabloids in New York, wrote a "true" story for that page in his rag the other day which brought him $25.

The theme dealt with a newspaper man who lost his job because he reported late for work one morning.

The very day that his story appeared Mr. Ross was discharged because he overslept and reported tardy.

Uncommon Sense

While leaving the Madison Square garden fights Friday night with Mayor Walker we noticed that his bodyguard of uniformed men made no attempt to push, shove or make the crowd step out of his honor's way. Mr. Walker merely walked out to the street with the mob, with the coppers marking time before and behind him.

The crowd retarded his progress, of course, but it didn't matter. After the car sped down the street we said to the mayor: "That's the first time I ever saw you make an exit. Any other official probably would take his job seriously and have the police push and punch the crowd away."

"I never let them push or punch them," said Walker. "They might be Democrats!"

Between Hands

One of those wild poker games was being played by several locals the other night. In the game were George S. Kaufman, the "Once in a Lifetime" collaborator; Sam Goldwyn, the movie impresario, and others. It was a card game in which the dealer named the card that was "wild"—having the choice to make the deuce, the five, the ten, the king, etc., the "wild" pasteboard.

When Goldwyn dealt, he dialected: "I make tree's wild!"

"Only God," reminded Kaufman, "can make a tree!"

THE LOVELY LIAR : BY ROB EDEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Poppy Prior is in love for the first time, with a writer, Kevin Wallace, whom she met through Celia Nixson when she was accused of stealing the heiress' bracelet. Poppy found it on the train coming from Ashland but she went to a reform school rather than admit the truth. If they had gone to her home town to investigate her mother and sister and everyone in Ashland would have learned that she was still Poppy Prior when she had told them she was going to New York to marry Ted Allison, a press agent for a theatrical company. Even Ted Allison didn't know she was posing as his wife. She was too proud to tell him that she had taken his flippant proposal seriously and had come to New York to marry him. Kevin Wallace and Jane Rochester were Poppy's only confidants. Kevin took her to Jane after she ran away from the reform school and Jane got her a job in a department store as fashion model. She lived with Jane and saw Kevin often and would have been happy except that her mind was not at ease about her mother. Lying ill at home Mrs. Prior kept asking to see Poppy's husband. Finally the doctor wrote that her recovery depended upon seeing "Ted" and knowing that Poppy was happy. So Kevin offered to pose as the mythical husband for a day. During the trip Kevin realized his love for Poppy and asked her if she were in love. Her honest answer gave Kevin the idea that she was in love with somebody else. Because of the misunderstanding he told Poppy that they should not see each other again, a statement which led Poppy to believe that he was in love with Celia Nixson. Jane is away on a vacation and Poppy has no one to advise her. When her sister writes that she is to be married soon and will honeymoon in New York, Poppy makes up her mind to leave the city. She answers an ad for a companion nurse on a trip to California. Mrs. Evans hires her despite her inexperience because the girl seems willing and all she needs is someone to entertain her spoiled daughter. Before leaving Poppy makes up her mind to write her sister the truth about everything. That she was not married—that the "Ted" she had brought home was not even the Ted Allison she had meant to elope with.

Now Go on With the Story
CHAPTER XLVI

The letter to Grace was the hardest thing Poppy ever wrote, but she went at the task resolutely. It was after 2 o'clock in the morning when it was finished and in its envelope, ready to be mailed in the morning on her way to Mrs. Evans' home. Addressed to Roy Manners at his office, the enclosure was for Grace. Poppy knew she couldn't risk sending it home, for then her mother might read it. And her mother couldn't know yet. Not until she was stronger.

Poppy left it to Grace to determine when her mother was well enough to hear the truth about her youngest daughter. In the meantime, Grace could tell Mrs. Prior anything she chose. That Poppy and Ted were going away, that they couldn't attend the wedding.

The explanation on paper had seemed so cold, so futile. As if Poppy hadn't suffered at all. When she had, when she still was suffering. That was the trouble with trying to write. If she could tell Grace, she could make her see what she had gone through. But she couldn't tell her, she had to write.

She had gone to dinner with Ted Allison who was in town for the week-end. Ted had borrowed a car and they had driven up to the inn on the Boston Post road where she and Kevin had eaten. Poppy was disappointed in the place, this second time. She remembered it so well, and yet it was different. The logs in the fire hadn't glowed as they had when she was with Kevin, and that table where they had sat was occupied tonight by a pudgy, middle-aged couple.

It was because Kevin hadn't been there, of course. Ted couldn't take his place, ever. But she had suggested it, hoping to recapture some of the joy she had felt before. And she was succeeding in doing nothing but torture herself the more.

She wondered again as she sat with Ted how she could have thought she loved him. How she could have considered eloping with him.

The girl with the black hair sitting in the corner had looked familiar.

Her face haunted Poppy for awhile, for she couldn't place it. Someone who had come into the store perhaps. The girl wore no hat and her dark hair was trained in little waves over her head. Glossy black. Her eyebrows black, too, and her eyelashes. She was young and with a boy little older than herself. Rather smartly dressed. A few freckles over her nose.

Once Poppy saw the girl's eyes on her. Large green eyes, that she knew and yet couldn't place. As soon as the girl saw Poppy looking at her, she turned away.

A New Ginger

Then Poppy knew. It was Ginger Brown! She was up in a moment and sitting down at the table beside the girl.

"Ginger!" she whispered, then looked in alarm at the girl's companion.

"He knows. I thought you didn't know me!" Ginger laughed.

"I didn't. The hair, your eyebrows and lashes—"

"Dyed them myself. Awful job, but I was wiser this time."

"Then you got away all right?"

How different Ginger was in her good looking clothes, with her hair arranged neatly! She only knew the girl in the hideous apron she wore at the Minnie Bascum home, the red hair uncombed, the sullen, discontented look in her eyes. This was a new Ginger.

"I'm going to be married," Ginger said excitedly. "To Tom. He helped me out of the home. Then we're going away, abroad some place. I'm glad you didn't recognize me at first. I would have been terribly disappointed if you had. You're out! I heard about it. Too bad you had to go through—all that." Then they left, and Poppy went back to Ted.

Seeing Ginger brought back the home again. The unhappiness of it, the misery. How changed Ginger was, out of it! The sullen look gone. How pretty, too. She hadn't been pretty in the slovenly apron.

"Who was that?" Ted had asked.

"A friend of mine." That was all that Poppy said about Ginger, but she thought about her continually on the way home. Well, she was a friend of hers, wasn't she? Funny the friends you made, and where you made them. Celia was a friend, now, too. Celia and Ginger.

At 11, Poppy had left Ted, pleading that she was tired, for she really was. At 11:30 she had started the letter to Grace, and at 2 in the morning it was finished, and she was ready to start her new life. The last night she would spend in the apartment. The last night in New York. Tomorrow she would be on the road, with Kevin left behind her.

Everything was neatly packed when she was ready for bed, and her clothes laid out for morning. She had even straightened the apartment, and written a short note for Jane telling her where she was.

And she hadn't called Kevin to tell him good-by. It had been a fight not to call him with the telephone standing so near, and her thoughts on him almost every minute. But she hadn't.

He wouldn't care anyway. He might be—glad.

Sunday morning she arose at 7 and left the apartment tidy and neat, with the note for Jane on the table in full view. In the lobby she turned in her key to the day phone girl and went out of the door thinking that this was the last time she would do it.

A mail box at the corner. Lugging the suitcase, she stopped and looked at the letter which was addressed to Roy, but which was for Grace. Grace wouldn't get it until Monday morning. That was time enough. For by Monday morning she would be far away. She shut her eyes after she opened the slot. And when she opened them again her hands were empty. The letter was gone—down in the box. She had heard the sound as it fell against other letters. It was over. Monday Grace would know what she should have known from the first.

A taxi rounded the corner and Poppy hailed it and gave the driver Mrs. Evans' address. In the car, Grace was closer than ever, even when the letter had gone. Grace, so surprised that Poppy should send a letter for her to Roy. Grace reading it. Grace shocked. Grace would be shocked.

The Trip Begins

It was as if her sister were sitting beside her, reading the words she had written. And Poppy helpless, unable to explain as she would have liked to explain. Dumb, wordless, inarticulate.

When the car arrived at Mrs. Evans' house, she left it hurriedly as if Grace were still there, reading, the white paper in her hands, her eyes glued to the shaky letters.

"The House on Wheels" was standing at the curb. Poppy hadn't imagined it would be so large. Indeed, in all its gleaming gray coat, it seemed like a Pullman coach, windows dotting the sides, and a small platform behind, covered by a leather canopy.

"You're Miss Prior?" The chauffeur was standing at her side. Poppy said she was. "Mrs. Evans said for you to put your things right in, before you go into the house. I'll show you your cupboard." So she stepped into the car, although she didn't want to call it a car. It was really a house. The platform connected with a small room, which was the lounge, three crowded easy chairs, a table, which could be converted into a desk. Prim damask curtains on the windows. A soft gray rug on the floor. This in turn led into a bedroom, with one real bed and two bunks, one on top of the other. The chauffeur pointed to the upper one. That was hers. Miss Mildred was to have the lower and Mrs. Evans the bed. Back of this was the bathroom with a shower, a kitchen, a tiny hole, but adequately furnished, Poppy saw. The roof of the kitchen was low, and above it entered from the driver's seat was a bunk for the chauffeur, whom she knew now was called Miles.

All very compact, and extremely comfortable. The lounge even boasted a small bookcase which was filled with books.

Poppy put her suitcase obediently in the infinitesimal closet which was to be hers. Hung her few dresses on their hooks, and peered into the bigger wardrobe, which Mrs. Evans and Mildred shared.

When she went into the house, there were things to do for Mrs. Evans. Toys for Mildred to put into place in the car. A doll Mildred insisted on bringing, regardless of the fact that it had no arms, and its nose was broken. Some games, and a big woolly bear.

At 9 Mrs. Evans called from her boudoir: "We're ready, Miss Prior!" She liked to get started on time. She had set 9 o'clock, and 9 o'clock it was.

Poppy came down quickly, her arms loaded with forgotten relics Mildred wanted. Then before she knew it, she was in the car, and Miles had started it and Mrs. Evans was waving to the servants who were standing on the curb. Mildred was waving, too, excitedly, screaming in her high shrill voice. And Poppy waved, although she didn't know why.

The car moved slowly away, easy riding, with its giant springs, and shock absorbers. One of the servants had told Poppy it had cost $30,000 all equipped. And the same servant had told her that Mildred was a little devil, and that Mrs. Evans could be very nice, and very nasty, too. All in all the servant, who was the second maid, was glad she hadn't decided to make the trip. She had been tempted at first, when she had been asked as all the servants were. All had refused, except Miles, who enjoyed driving and who wouldn't have much to do with Mildred or Mrs. Evans anyway.

Poppy could think of nothing but leaving, and Kevin and the letter she had written to Grace.

Q.—When is beloved pronounced as two syllables, and when has it three sylabbles?—M. A. B.

A.—There is a rule to the effect that when an adjective which ends in "ed" is used as a substantive, as in the case of "Oh my beloved," the syllable "ed" is pronounced separately.

Q.—What would be done with a person who went blind while serving a prison sentence?—F. G.

A.—A person who becomes blind while serving a prison sentence is cared for in the same manner as prior to his loss of sight, except of course in the management of stairway marching, reading, etc. In large up-to-date prisons vocational education is provided if available; if not available, he is usually sent, after completing his sentence, to an institution for the blind, there to be taught how to read and write, and learn some trade at which to earn his living.

Q.—How can two grades of finished paper be joined together to give the effect of one paper's being coated by the other?—E. B.

A.—Two ticknesses of paper may be joined together (laminated) without difficulty by simply pasting together with a starch or destrin paste and allowing to dry under sufficient pressure to prevent curling.

Q.—How can squirrels be caught alive without injury to them?—E. C. S.

A.—Squirrels can be trapped alive by using cage traps baited with nuts.

Q.—What is the greatest number of horses that has run in one race?—C. G.

A.—In the grand national steeplechase at Liverpool, England, in 1929, the greatest number ran. There were 66 competitors.

Q.—In playing bridge should one complete the cut, or merely cut the cards and let the dealer finish the cut?—R. P. E.

A.—The laws of auction bridge and of contract bridge define the cut in the same way. Law 12 (2) dealer, immediately before the deal places the pack before his right hand opponent, who lifts off the top portion and places it beside the bottom portion toward dealer, who then places the bottom portion on top.

Q.—How many soldiers in our army died of flu during the world war?—W. W.

A.—It is estimated that the deaths from influenza numbered 17,000.

Q.—Upon what did people sleep in England before the introduction of beds?—Z. F.

A.—In the time of the Normans, chests and benches were used for beds. The bedding was kept inside.

Q.—By what process can handwriting greatly faded by age be made legible?—H. P. D.

A.—When writing on old manuscripts has become faded and illegible it can frequently be restored by the following method: Lay the paper as flat as possible and dampen it evenly with clean cold water. Brush over the writing with a flat camel's hair brush dipped in a solution of sulphide of ammonia, then the writing will immediately appear plain and readable. The effect on parchment is usually of a lasting nature but fresh applications are necessary on ordinary writing paper.

Q.—What caused the French revolution?—G. McG.

A.—The French revolution was mainly the result of the oppression of the French people, who rose in revolt against the extravagance and tyranny of the kings and nobles. In addition they had no adequate representation in the legislature. The taxes were heavy and in 1777 there were as many as 1,250,000 beggars in France. Alarmed by the increasing signs of unrest in the country, the king and some of the nobles began to gather the army near Paris. This so enraged the people of Paris that they stormed the Bastille on July 14, 1789. This is regarded as the beginning of the revolution.

Q.—What proportion of the highways of the United States is surfaced?—E. H.

A.—Approximately 627,000 miles, or more than one-fifth of the 3,000,000 miles of highways in the United States are surfaced in varying degrees. The types of road surfaces are concrete, good brick, fair brick, fair bituminous, macadam, good gravel, fair gravel, asphalt and earth.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Massage Instrument

Question—L. R. writes: "Recently I saw a small instrument that is used to stimulate the circulation by massaging it over the body. Wherever it is rubbed over the body it makes the skin very red. Would you approve of such a method?"

Answer — Such massage instruments are helpful in the hands of a skilled technician, but seldom of much value to the layman, as he does not know how or where to use the instrument to accomplish systemic results. Where it seems necessary to stimulate the circulation to the skin of any part, such as the face, vibration accompanied by massage and hot and cold applications are helpful in bringing about a better circulation through the skin and face muscles.

Currants

Question—Mrs. K. asks: "May currants be used in place of raisins in your menus?"

Answer — Yes, especially the sweeter varieties.

Acid in System

Question — Mrs. P. H. W. asks: "What causes a numb, scorched-like feeling on my tongue, my gums and the top of my mouth? If it is acid in the system, kindly tell me if oranges and lemons are counteracters of acid. Also, does acid in the system affect one's eyes so that it makes one feel as though she were going around in circles?"

Answer—The condition often called "an acid system" is really due to a reduction of the blood's alkalinity. The use of citrus fruit will help to correct this condition, principally through stimulating the flow of more bile, which is an alkali. This may also get rid of the dizziness, especially if it is caused by biliousness.

ATHENS GETS SWEET REVENGE BY PLASTERING DENTON, 29-11

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

W. C. Rushing of Electra propounds the following question:

"If the Texas league uses the new ball and the Southern association the old, which The Sporting News says it will, what will happen in the Dixie series? Will each club use the ball they have used during the season when playing at home?"

We presume they will. Doubtless this problem will be settled in the same manner other differences between the two leagues have been handled; namely, by sticking to home customs while at home, and adopting oneself to the other fellow's customs while in his lot. The new ball probably will be used in games on Texas league soil, and the old in the Southern association lot.

And if there is such a great difference between the new and old pellets, it may work a hardship on the pitchers, who will have to manipulate a different baseball when they leave their home ground.

Whether there is such a great difference between them is now a topic of furious discussion in the training camps. According to Dixon Stewart, United Press baseball writer, the training camp tests have shed no light on the matter at all. The players themselves are divided in their opinions, Stewart says, some contending that the effect of the new ball will be negligible and others believing that pitchers will have a decided advantage.

Stewart continues: "In the American league, where the only change in the ball is the raising of the stitches, batters declare the ball is as lively as the jackrabbit of 1930. Pitchers say the raised stitches provide a better grip and will improve curve ball hurling, but that the change will not prove a cure-all for pitching difficulties.

"'It will be like it always was,' said Herb Pennock, Yankee star. 'The good pitchers will get by and the others will not. Personally I find little change. The ball acts like it always did.'

"The National league went a step further than its rival in attempting to curb hitting and the ball now in use at its training camps has a heavier cover than has been used in the past. The heavier cover is expected to make the ball less lively and many of the hitters ruefully declare it has done so, although training camp news, such as the report of Lefty O'Doul hitting 12 successive drives over the fence in a batting drill, indicate the ball still has plenty of pep.

"Apparently the raised stitches are the important feature of the new ball, except for its psychological effect. The pitchers are pondering the effect of those raised stitches and wondering how closely the umpires are going to watch baseballs this season.

"Before freak deliveries were barred some of the pitchers were able to do a lot of things to the stitching. Even after freak pitching became illegal, Dave Danforth kept the American league in a turmoil because he could raise the stitches with his thumbnails and make the ball do everything but talk. Batters suspected every ball Danforth pitched and the suspicion that he was 'doctoring' the ball kept the batters' minds so occupied they failed to concentrate on hitting the ball. Danforth took every advantage just to get opposing teams 'up in the air'."

Ready to Go

Carl Williams will roll into town today, or Sunday, or early Monday morning. We don't know definitely when, but he's due to be on the job Monday with his pitchers and catchers.

When they take to the lot for the first time, it won't be the rough field of last spring, for the club has it in perfect shape right now. Last spring they were still working on the infield, and sodding the outfield while the players trained, and this worked a hardship. For one thing the work stirred up a lot of dust, which not only annoyed the players but got in the railbirds' eyes.

If the weather gets colder, the boys might not do very much the first few days of next week, but if they get the breaks in the weather come on down, railbirds, for the opening show!

Church Tourney Gets Under Way

More than 75 basket ball players representing teams all over this area flocked to the Floral Heights Presbyterian church gymnasium Friday afternoon to open the church's first annual invitational tournament. Play in the first round got under way at 4 o'clock, before an audience of approximately 200 fans, and indications pointed to a banner crowd at today's games.

In the first game, the Basketeers defeated the Little Rovers, 25 to 13. Both are local teams. Brandeberry led the attack of the winners with 12 points, while Stevens set the losers' pace with six.

The First Presbyterian trounced the Ray Community Presbyterians, 40-14, in the second game, Allen leading the winners with 16 points.

Christians Beat Hosts

The final game of the afternoon proved the most thrilling. The First Christians bowling over the Floral Heights Presbyterians in a closely contested battle, 15 to 13. Reeves was high point man for the winners and Robertson for the losers, each with five to his credit.

In the first game Friday night, Munday defeated the Travelers, local quintet, 43 to 5. The Holliday Baptist then trounced the Olney Pals, 37 to 26. As in the afternoon, the final game Friday night was the most exciting, Goree plastering Grandfield, Okla., 28 to 20. N. Moore led Goree's attack with an even dozen points, while Stedman led for Grandfield with half that number.

Olney Cubs to Play

The first round will be continued Saturday morning, with the feature attraction the appearance of the Olney High school team in a bout with the Seymour Roadsters, local five. This game will start at 11 o'clock. As an added attraction the last encounter of the day. The tournament opened Friday morning, and continued with additional second round games Friday night.

NATIONAL CHAMPS DEFEAT DENTON

AUSTIN, March 6. (AP)—Athens gained sweet revenge by beating Denton tonight, 29-11, in the second round of the state high school basket ball tournament. It was Denton which knocked Jimmy Kitts' Hornets out of the state title last year. Athens, however, later won the national school boy championship.

The defending titilists did not score a field goal in the first half and were trailing, 13-2, at the end of that period. So close was the national champions' guarding that neither of the Denton forwards made a point during the game. Dittrich had registered 16 points against Sidney Lanier of San Antonio this morning.

Tompkins High Scorer

Freddie Tompkins was the sparkplug of the victors' attack and he also was high scorer with three field goals and four free throws. When he wasn't shooting the baskets himself, he was feeding the ball to a teammate in scoring position.

Carter, center and Smotherman, guard, looked good for Denton. The guarding of the whole Athens array was so tight that the Denton cagers seldom got a shot. They made only four field goals while the Kittsmen were ringing up 12.

Tompkins, on whom Kitts is relying to led his boys to another title, was relieved for a time in the second half, but he came back long enough to make a sensational shot as the period ended.

Strengthened as Favorites

Through their easy victory tonight, the Hornets strengthened their position as the favorites.

Bardwell Beats Yancey

Bardwell ran away from Yancey in the second game tonight. The Ellis county boys defeated their Medina county rivals 44 to 19.

Woods, Bardwell forward, made one more point than the Yancey team. He found the hoop from all angles, scoring nine field goals and two free throws.

Bardwell, which had trouble with Mathis this morning, held a 16 to 5 lead over Yancey at the end of the first quarter.

Austin Is Defeated

The San Jacinto High school Golden Bears of Houston swept aside the Austin High school Maroons 36-25 as they continued their march toward the finals and a virtual cinch to tangle with the Athens High Hornets tomorrow night for the 1931 Texas high school title.

Tynes, rangy center who in addition to accounting for 12 points, engineered much of the Golden Bear activities afloor, and flashy little forward, C. Harris, who hit the hoops for 15 points, were outstanding in the Bear attack.

The Maroons stuck to their guns longer tonight than was expected. The Bears, in the opening period, found the Austin guards sticking like leaches, and were leading 12-9 at the close of the first quarter. Midway they had run their scoring to 20 while the Maroons trailed by seven points.

Tynes and Harris accounted for 16 of the Bears' 20 points during the first half. Taylor and Eckstrom of the Maroons tied for the high scoring honors of their team with eight points each.

Denton Wins Opener

The tournament opened Friday morning with Denton, although lacking the polish of its 1930 play, sweeping aside Sidney Lanier of Houston, 35 to 25. The Athens Hornets drew a bye in the first round. In the second game of the morning, Bardwell defeated Mathis, 26 to 21. Yancey, in the third game, vanquished Big Spring, 31 to 25.

The second round opened in the afternoon with San Jacinto High of Houston eliminating Gober High school, 35 to 19. In the second game Austin downed Locker, 26 to 20. Nocona High school defeated Plainview in the final afternoon game by the close margin of 27 to 26.

Scores Are Close

Scores were comparatively close in the opening rounds. Not until afternoon, in fact until San Jacinto High school of Houston, one of the tournament favorites, swung into action was there anything like a run away. Prior to this game Denton's 10 point win over Sidney Lanier had been the widest margin of victory.

The individual scoring honors of the day went to Dittrich of Denton who shot seven field goals, and two free throws for a total of 16.

Savoldi Reinstated But Told to 'Go Easy'

LOS ANGELES, March 6. (AP)—"Jumping" Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame football star, was back in good standing in California wrestling circles today but with a warning.

"You have had two matches and put two men in the hospital," the Rev. Leslie Kelley, San Francisco member of the state athletic commission told him. "You might kill a man if you continue your rough football tactics."

Coach Albert Acker of the Cubs announced he would play with his team. The Cubs were district champions for two years, but were eliminated this year by Eliasville.

The first game Saturday morning will start at 9 o'clock, with the contestants being Byers and the local First Methodists. The second will find Allendale pitted against Clara. The Olney game will follow.

The second round will start at 1 p. m. The semi-finals will be held later in the day, and the finals Saturday night.

Training Camp Chatter

He's Too Good

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 6. (AP)—Earl Webb, slugging ace of the Boston Red Sox outfield squad, is in such excellent shape he is worrying Owner Bob Quinn. Although he has been in camp only a few days, he can stand more work than most of the players who have been training here since Feb. 21.

Young Brownies Win

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 6. (AP)—Bill Killefer's young Browns trounced a rival Brownie team here today, 6 to 2, in the second five-inning exhibition game arranged during the training season.

The youngsters were reinforced, however, by Goose Goslin and Pitcher Blaeholder.

Cards Leave for Miami

BRADENTON, Fla., March 6. (AP)—Manager Gabby Street and 25 of his Cardinals left here today in a bus for Miami where they play their first spring exhibition game tomorrow with the Athletics.

Buffs Meet Chisox Today

HOUSTON, March 6. (AP)—Donnie Bush's Chicago White Sox, will tangle with Joe Schultz's Houston Buffs here tomorrow afternoon and Sunday. One of the expected features of the series is the twirling of Ted Lyons, knuckleball expert and a former Baylor university ace.

Take to Warehouse

CORSICANA, Texas, March 6. (AP)—Bad weather today kept the Dallas Steers off the training field but a workout was held in a large warehouse. The players will leave tomorrow for Dallas, where they meet the New York Giants in two exhibition games. Pitcher Wehde, secured from the Chicago White Sox, reported today.

Texan Smites 'Em

TAMPA, Fla., March 6. (AP)—Young Gene Moore from Texas and old Nick Cullop from Minneapolis, newcomers to the Cincinnati Reds, sent the ball on long rides during today's batting practice and bolstered Manager Dan Howley's hopes that after all he might have some hitters in what is not too promising an allotment of outfield material.

Goldman at Short

NEW ORLEANS, March 6. (AP)—Jahah Goldman was being counted on by Manager Roger Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland Indians today as a hitter and the man to guard the station that lies half way between second and third bases.

Goldman has demonstrated at daily workouts he is to be shortstop this year or know the reason why. He has taken a new war club—a club that carries heft at the far end, and is being permitted to swing it in his old style—from the hips.

To Let Hurlers Hit

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 6. (AP)—Detroit Tiger pitchers will pinch bat for themselves this year, with the customary exceptions to prove the rule, Manager Stanley R. Harris has announced.

"I'm convinced," he said, "that in the majority of cases, the lifting of a pitcher for a pinch hitter has disastrous results. You know what a pitcher who is working for you can do, but you have no idea what the relief pitcher is going to do. When we are one or two runs behind, I'm going to let the pitcher bat for himself. The average pitcher is just as likely to wallop the ball as the average pinch hitter."

Pirates Play Today

PASO ROBLES, Calif., March 6. (AP)—The first intra-club baseball game at the Pittsburgh Pirate rehearsal grounds is set for tomorrow, and the camp games likely will determine the fate of several ambitious rookies trying for big league berths.

Yans Beat A's

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 6. (AP)—The Athletic yannigans beat the regulars, 6 to 4, today in the first game the champions have played this season. The regulars used second string men in place of Cochrane, Simmons and Bishop. Half a dozen recruit pitchers were given workouts, none of the A's first five hurlers taking part in the game.

Mallon Stars

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 6. (AP)—Manager Shotten sprang a surprise today by putting the regular Phillies and yannigans through a five-inning game, the regulars winning, 8 to 3. It was the first time in three years that Shotton has put on a scrub game. Mallon, new second baseman, played a flashy game, handling 11 chances without a bobble.

Bush Forms Lineup

SAN ANTONIO, March 6. (AP)—Manager Donie Bush has decided on the battle front that will oppose the Houston club of the Texas league tomorrow.

Bill Cissell will be lead-off man, followed by two rookies, Ray Radcliff and Mel Simons. Smead Jolley will be in the cleanup spot, followed by Red Eickrodt, Luke Appling, Willie Kamm and Frank Grube. Vic Frasier will be the starting pitcher, with Jimmy Moore to finish.

PECK'S BOYS SWAT LUSTILY

Cleveland Indians Show Up Better This Year

By GAYLE TALBOT JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, March 6.—An exceptionally young club with some lusty hitting, fair pitching and a fine team spirit are the Cleveland Indians of 1921. Roger Peckinpaugh, their pilot for the fourth season, has an idea his hearties will assert themselves in the coming campaign and push the Athletics and Senators all the way.

"But for one bad spell when my kids got the fidgets and dropped 20 out of 23, we would have finished no worse than second last year," Peck declared. "They won't do that this time. They're a year older and a year steadier. Furthermore, Willis Hudlin isn't due to have another poor season."

Worried Over First

Only at first base, where Eddie Morgan held sway last year, do the Indians threaten to lose strength. Convinced that Morgan is sincere in his determination to quit the game, Peckinpaugh has turned the job over to Lew Fonseca, a great one two seasons back but out most of 1930 with an injured arm. Much of the Cleveland hope lies in Fonseca's ability to fill the yawning gap left by Morgan.

Johnny Hodapp, who baned over 200 hits last year at second; Jonah Goldman at short and Johnny Burnett at third round out Peck's tentative infield.

Barring the possibility that Joe Vosmic, a youngster who hit .397 in the Three Eye league last year, will break in as a regular, the Tribe outfield is "set." Earl Averill and Dick Porter, both batting stars of the first rank, are fixtures in center and right, respectively. They, assisted by Hodapp, will give the team its big punch. Charles Jamieson, Bib Falk and Bob Seeds, off Vosmic veteran competition for the left field post. Peckinpaugh intimated he would carry all six.

Ferrell Heads Hurlers

Wes Ferrell, the first tosser to win more than 20 games in each of his first two years in the majors since Grover Cleveland Alexander's heyday, heads a mound corps with rare possibilities.

Supporting Ferrell and Hudlin are five experienced curvers; Clint Brown, credited with 10 wins last year; Mel Harder, who turned in 11 decisions; Milburn Shoffner, Walter Miller, and Pete Jablonowski, relief specialist. Shoffner and Miller are southpaws.

Rookie backstops need not apply to the Indians. With the veteran Luke Sewell for heavy duty and Glenn Myatt as first assistant, Peck is well satisfied with that department.

Reagan Squares Count With Zundy

Ability to sink free shots gave Reagan a 19 to 13 victory over their rivals, Zundelowitz Junior High, Friday night on the Zundy court in the second game of the city junior high championship series. Zundy captured the opening contest Thursday night 22 to 18.

Fletcher sank a gratis shot to give the Reaganites first blood soon after the initial whistle had sounded. J. L. Creecy followed with a bucket from the sidelines to give the Redbirds a fast start. After a hectic quarter the Red and White team was still holding a three point lead at the whistle. The count at the half stood 10 to 5 for the Redbirds.

The winners forged ahead in the third period, snaring six points to four for their oponents. The last quarter found both teams battling hard, Reagan using the stalling game to good advantage in the late stages of the game. The game was rough, two regulars from each team going off via the personal foul route.

All of the members of the winning team worked together perfectly to score the victory. The scoring was evenly divided among the four offensive men, but Fletcher and Woodward were high scorers with a half dozen points each. Randolph led the charge that failed with nine points. The Zundyites missed nine out of 11 chances from the free throw line, while the winners toed the line for seven points out of 12 attempts.

The third game of the series will be played in the Zundy gym Monday night at 7 o'clock. Coach Roy Golden of the Zundy team and Coach Beck of the Redbirds are optimistic and another thrilling, hard fought, game is expected to be awaiting the fans.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 6. (AP)—The easier tone which developed in cotton late yesterday remained in evidence today, with prices easing off under realizing or liquidation and some scattered selling which appeared to be influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables and uncertainty as to the prospective acreage. May contracts sold off to 11.21 in the late trading and closed at that figure, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 16 to 17 points.

The opening was steady 6 to 8 points lower in response to the lower Liverpool cables with prices soon showing net declines of about 8 to 10 points under liquidation combined with some southern and local selling for a further reaction. The lowest prices of the day were reached in later trading wth March selling at 10.97 and October at 10.73.

Futures closed barely steady, 16 to 17 points lower. Spot quiet. Middling 11.05.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 6. (AP)—Trading was rather quiet again in the cotton market today and the price trend was moderately downward during the greater part of the session. Much lower cables than due and a bearish acreage report by a private authority were responsible for the decline during the morning which carried prices down 8 to 9 points below the previous close.

Secretary Hester's weekly statistics issued around noon were considered rather favorable, particularly mill takings, and prices rallied 3 to 4 points from the lows and most of this gain was maintained during the early afternoon. The private report on acreage referred to, made the reduction only 8.5 per cent. Late, the market became active on selling induced by weakness in the New York stock market and prices made new lows 12 points under the early highs and closed virtually at the bottom, being called barely steady, the general market showing net losses for the day of 16 to 17 points.

Selling Pressure Defeats Bulls In Fight to Hold Advances

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 6. (US)—Persistent pressure today overcame all efforts of the bull contingent to extend the advance of the previous day in the stock market.

Continued aggressive exploitation of the public utility shares found only temporary response from the remainder of the list, although in the first hour or two the market reflected sizeable short covering which permitted additional gains.

It was very obvious that the utilities were being employed to stimulate the list but the selling which continued in the industrials confirmed the suspicions of the previous days of the week that substantial liquidation had been in progress.

Attempts by the bulls to stem the wave of selling resulted in several bitter contests in individual stocks but the pressure of selling was too great and prices closed virtually at the lowest levels of the day.

No particular news could explain the heavy selling. Actually, some of the external developments were extremely favorable, including the Indian-British settlement and the heavy oversubscription of the government and New York City bond flotations. Volume approached close to four million shares.

Initial evidence of a decidedly weakened structure in the market was furnished by a drastic collapse in some of the highly speculative, volatile issues.

Mullins manufacturing, a specialty issue which had enjoyed a most spectacular run-up for a week, broke almost 10 points after having attributed a public following which seemingly was not desired by the original buyers of the stock.

Auburn closed 17 points lower on the day, as selling, which was indicated here confirmed the statement that the pool in this stock, for the first time in weeks, was unable to control the trading. Another very influential factor in Auburn's weakness was the exclusive disclosure here that the authorities had become interested in its wild advance of over 150 points in a few months. Such investigation probably will reveal little of an untoward nature, but the market was already weakened by the absence of concentrated support.

With their recent favorites breaking sharply, the bulls had to fall back for consolidation from the utilities.

United Corporation was again churned over in enormous volume, almost 300,000 shares, but at the close it was down over a point. The six most active stocks of the day, indicative of the market's greatest interest, were United, Radio, Warner Bros., American Foreign Power, Vanadium, and International Telephone.

Decided weakness in Warner Brs., carried the stock down about 40 per cent from the level at which the enormous trading then taking place in the stock was described here as liquidation. There was talk of another suit involving the company, but confirmation was lacking.

Columbia Graphophone held within a fraction of its previous close, reflecting continued activity of British interests recently become heavily interested in the stock. Relative stability of Vanadium was a matter of considerable comment, but it is recognized this issue's fluctuations represent entirely speculative activity on both bull and bear side. No group was exempt from the pressure.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, March 6. (AP)—Rather large offerings on the cash grain market today found a fair demand. Estimated receipts included: Wheat 22 cars; corn 12; oats 2; sorghums 3.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis car loads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Wheat—No. 1 hard of any protein 77½@80c.

Corn—No. 2 mixed 69½@70½c; No. 2 white 73½@74½c; No. 2 yellow 72@73c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per hundred pounds $1.20@1.22; No. 2 kaffir $1.18@1.20; cane seed bulk country run red top per 100 pounds according to type, origin, germination and clean-out $2.40@2.60.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 6. (AP)—Improved prospects for domestic winter crops led to increased selling today by houses with connections southwest, and dragged down both wheat and corn. Bearish weather conditions on wheat were the opposite on corn, but in the face of wheat setbacks, corn failed to maintain independent strength. Smallness of export clearances of North American wheat and big primary receipts in this country and Canada tended to stimulate selling.

Wheat closed irregular at ⅛ cents decline to ¼c advance, corn ⅜c off to ⅛c up, oats a shade to ⅛c higher, and provisions showing 10@20 cents gain.

Corn at one time advanced well above yesterday's close, but in the last hour sagged with wheat. Oats were upheld by enlarged shipping demand and by extreme scantiness of receipts.

Provisions displayed a strong advancing tendency, in line with hog market gains.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, July 63@63⅛c, 64c; Sept. 63c, 64c. Corn, May 64c, 64⅜@65c; July 66⅛@⅜c, 67⅛@⅜c; Sept. 66⅛c, 67⅛c.

Condition of Fall Victim Grows Worse

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., March 6.—The condition of Dr. F. G. Priestley, veteran Frederick physician, who fell down a flight of stairs at 214½ West Grand avenue, about 5:30 a. m. Monday, badly injuring his head, has grown worse and he has since regained consciousness only at intervals. The accident happened as Priestley was returning from the Curtis cafe, where he had eaten breakfast. It is believed by A. D. Harris, who lives on the same floor where Priestley has his rooms, that Priestley slipped on the sleet and snow as he ascended the stairs and that he fell from the first landing to the entrance where a pool of blood was found. Mrs. Harris heard some noise on the landing and upon investigation she found Priestley lying unconscious.

STRAND: "Dance, Fools, Dance," with Joan Crawford. Short subjects and sound news.

MAJESTIC: John Gilbert in "Gentleman's Fate." Cartoon, comedy and sound news.

STATE: "Her Man" with Helen Twelvetrees, Phillips Holmes and Ricardo Cortez. Oswald the Rabbit cartoon, comedy, serial and sound news.

GEM: Bob Steele in "The Sunrise Trail." Serial and comedy.

Never was there such a delightful surprise as "Dance, Fools, Dance!" mainly because the advance information wasn't very promising. There were huge posters showing Joan Crawford in silver step-ins and her usual frown, and it was all reminiscent of "Our Dancing Daughters" and "Our Modern Maidens."

And all the time, it wasn't that kind of a picture at all. Instead, there is a cleverly adapted story that combines the famous St. Valentine's day massacre of Chicago and the subsequent killing of Jake Lingle.

Cliff Edwards steals the show, in spite of getting killed in the middle of it. There is no doubt but that it would have been improved by starring somebody like Claudette Colbert instead of Joan Crawford. Joan does fine until she remembers she is acting and then she goes all to pieces, rolling her eyes upward and pulling that frown across her classical forehead. And how she does overwork the profile!

Miss Crawford was only recently chosen as second most popular among female movie stars, however, according to the Liberty movie critic, and since Miss Colbert didn't even get a look-in on the contest, she didn't get a look-in on the picture.

But in spite of Joan, it's an unusually good picture. The newspaper scenes are true to life and the plot is exciting enough that nobody will get up and leave even when Joan dances.

MUSIC SOOTHES JUNIOR C.-C.

Dallas Man Gives Unusual Program Here

Music and its application in life was portrayed to members of the Junior chamber of commerce at the semi-monthly luncheon at the Kemp hotel Friday by George R. Angell of Dallas, in a presentation of "A Little Journey Through Life With Music." Assisted by Miss Lorene Tucker, pianist, and Cleo Grantham, violinist, both of the KGKO studio, the entertainer held his audience spell-bound for more than a half hour, plumbing the depths of emotions to bring his listeners to the point of tears, then to transport them to peaks of laughter. The program, it was said, was possibly the most successful and pleasing yet to be presented to members of the Junior chamber.

Musical accompaniments to the presentation included practically every type of selections, including classical, semi-classical, popular, religious, patriotic, collegiate and sectional numbers. Music is a reflection of the soul of its composers, Mr. Angell said.

"There is music which fits every emotion known to humanity," he said. "Yet music must fit the occasion to be properly appreciated. It puts us in the proper mood for what is occurring or what is to occur. In music there are only 12 tones; yet all music is interpreted with those tones. The limited number causes us to believe that music must contain something else—the soul of its composer."

Musical numbers applicable to the growth of a person were played as Mr. Angell traced the life of an imaginary young man from birth to the grave.

Business transacted consisted of the approval of the membership to an amendment to bylaws providing a 16-member board of directors, each of whom are to serve two years instead of three, with eight members retiring and the same number being elected each year, and that officers and directors of the state and national organizations and the immediate past president be named as ex officio members of the board to serve in advisory capacities.

Another feature of entertainment consisted of a two-round boxing match between Felton Adams, 9, and Russell Gray, 11.

It was announced that the first 1931 good will tour of the Junior chamber will be made March 28.

Baruch Proposes War Price Control

WASHINGTON, March 6. (AP)—Government control of prices in war time was proposed to the war policies commission today by Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the war industries board during the world war, as a substitute for the universal draft.

Testifying before the commission which has been set up by congress to find a method of equalizing the burdens of war, the man who was in charge of mobilizing American industry during the last war said his plan would eliminate war profiteering, cut the cost of war 50 per cent or more, and mobilize supplies almost as quickly as men.

He opposed the draft of labor on the grounds it would constitute slavery and the draft of capital because it would be impossible "since money would go into hiding."

Senate's Conference Committee Appointed

AUSTIN, March 6. (AP)—Lieut. Gov. Edgar Witt today appointed Senators Beck of Dekalb, Moore of Greenville, Neal of Carthage, Thomason of Nacogdoches and Martin of Hillsboro as members of the senate free conference committee to confer with the house committee on an emergency appropriations bill on which the two houses differ.

Appropriations asked in the bill are to cover departmental, eleemosynary and educational emergencies. The house and senate bills differed approximately a half million dollars.

Little Theater to Give 'Dr. Jekyll And Mr. Hyde' in Midnight Matinee

Edward Hyde, fiendish counterpart of the respected Dr. Jekyll, will be abroad in Wichita Falls at midnight Saturday.

Giving the fearsome tale of dual personalities within the same man an authentic time setting, the Little Theater will open its showing of the famous play just before the turning of midnight. As the murderous Hyde stole forth into a sleeping city to satisfy the cravings of his wicked mania, the dramatized reproduction of that weird tale will be introduced by the Little Theater to local devotees of mystery at the same hour.

Three weeks of constant rehearsal has been given to the Stephenson play by a cast which begins with W. D. Bent of Burkburnett. Mr. Bent, vividly remembered for exceptional characterization of Whip Fogarty in "Kick In," given last October, has absorbed the characters of Jekyll and Hyde for the coming performance. Prominent roles also will be carried by Miss Charlene Kinder, well known locally for her musicianship, and Allen T. Rowan. Miss Kinder will portray the role of Alice, the genteel Jekyll's fiancee, while Rowan takes the part of Utterson, the doctor's best friend.

Sets prepared for use in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" will be particularly effective in providing background for the play's action. A variety of scenes demanded by the piece has been prepared under the direction of J. C. Strauss Jr., stage manager for the organization.

Saturday night's performance will begin at 11 o'clock. Little Theater tickets will be honored as at other regular performances.

Veteran Two-Gun Man Gets First Injury in Freak Wedding Stampede

SPOKANE, March 6. (AP)—"Two Guns" Hart, picturesque chief of Indian reservation police, who dragged more than 20 fighting murderers to justice without receiving a scratch, went to see a "walkathon wedding" last night and his leg was broken by the mob struggling to see the show.

"This is the toughest break I've had in 15 years," Hart said in a hospital today. "I have chased Indian killers and white outlaws through forests and reservations and have dragged 'tough eggs' from saloons—unharmed—and now a wedding lays me out."

Police said a fight started by three drunken men caused Hart's discomfiture. There was a young riot as customers flocked to see E. D. Angus and Gladys Stone marry on the contest floor. Police interfered. One man attacked an officer. Hart sprang to the rescue. Fists flew, some one tripped him, and the two-gun man sprawled with a cracked limb.

Last year Hart, who swings a gun in either hand, and dresses the part of a wild west fiction hero, brought in three Indian killers, tracking one of them for days through heavy timber, although the Indian, Charles Cherrapkin, was fully armed.

"Two Guns" covers a "beat" of more than 200 square miles, and has supervision over more than 800 Indians on the Kootenai, Coeur d'Alene and Kalispell reservations. Three Indian policemen are under him.

The Southwest Shippers' Advisory board holds four seasonal meetings annually, the cotton meeting to follow the June grain meeting.

CRASH BRINGS $14,450 SUIT

Electric Company Named In Damage Claim

Damages totaling $14,450 are sought in two suits filed by M. S. and E. L. Shuman in the 89th district court here Friday against the Texas Electeric Service company, the action being based upon injuries alleged to have been received last Nov. 27 in an automobile collision at the corner of Eighth and Brook.

According to the plaintiffs' petitions, the automobile in which they were riding was struck by one driven by an employe of the defendant company, and was badly wrecked and burned. Items for which compensation is asked include those for clothing destroyed in the accident, hospital bills, medical treatment and impaired earning capacity. M. S. Shuman asks $5,700 and E. L. Shuman's suit is for $8,750.

The accident on which the suits are based was that which resulted in the serious injury of the two plaintiffs and James W. Lyle, district engineer for the Texas Electric Service company. All three men were in a serious condition at the hospital for several days following the crash. The Shuman brothers were pinned for some time beneath their burning car. Mr. Lyle suffered a broken arm, wrenched back and internal injuries.

Mr. Lyle, a member of the Wichita Falls safety council, answers all fire alarms for the electric company, and supervises the work of cutting all electric current running into and near burning buildings. He was aswering such a call when the accident occurred.

Surgeon Asks Sex Education

Subject Urged as Part Of School Course

LONDON, March 6. (US)—A plea for the frank teaching of sex in schools has been made by the famous surgeon, Sir William Arbuthnot-Lane, and in doing so he greatly shocked many professional school teachers. Sir William said:

"By gradual teaching, children should be familiarized with the body, to learn that it is a thing of beauty, to be kept beautiful and healthy.

"They should be given instructions in anatomy and physiology, and I would have statues about the corridors of every school.

"In this way the children would see for themselves the beauty of the human form. It would appear quite natural to them as it should, and would not excite curiosity as it must if shrouded in secrecy.

"Parents for some reason are less inclined to tutor their children in these matters. The average parent is more or less stupid and incapable of transmitting information to his own children.

"Having taught the child to keep the body healthy and in a state of perfection, children would slowly realize how and why there is a difference between the sexes. They would gain an understanding of the wonderful beauty of nature, not a vulgar misunderstanding which must inevitably be the result of secrecy."
