Draft Chiefs Give Warning To Older Men

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Draft officials made it doubly plain on Capitol Hill today they want 4Fs drafted for either a uniform or a war job and threw out a hint also that the older men of the nation are not beyond call for duty.

Col. Frances Keesling, jr., legislative officer for Selective Service, told the House Military committee he favors a "work or fight" law for those previously rejected as physically unfit.

Not Young Man's War

At the same time, his superior, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, draft director, worte in an official publication that the war "can no longer be regarded as a young man's war."

There was immediate speculation whether Hershey is forecasting a change in the draft status of the older registrants now deferred. The general said significantly:

"The older registrant who is required for war work and can do it and will not must be made available for whatever military service he can render."

That, said one unquotable draft authority, is just one of the "signs of things to come" in the manpower situation.

New Legislative Steps

Meanwhile, some new legislative steps, aimed at utilizing 4-Fs in the war effort, were being hammered out in Congress to meet James F. Byrnes' manpower requests.

Just what shape they will take will depend on President Roosevelt's message to Congress tomorrow.

Pending receipt of the message, sentiment was swinging toward "work or fight" legislation.

After the House Military committee meeting, Chairman May (D-Ky) said the group would "promptly" consider national service legislation — under which all men and women would be subject to assignment to a place in the war effort — if the President asked for it. The committee has looked upon this with disfavor in the past.

Should the President make no definite recommendations, May added, "we will put in a work or fight bill of our own" to force 4-Fs into war jobs or face induction into non-combat military units.

Byrnes Seeks To Halt Conventions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP) — James F. Byrnes proposed tonight the cancellation of conventions scheduled after Feb. 1 unless they are in the war interest.

The voluntary ban proposed by the war mobilization director, with President Roosevelt's approval, would apply to conventions attended by more than 50 persons.

Burnes said he was so certain his appeal "would receive immediate public support and general cooperation" that he has taken no measures to establish government enforcement procedures.

Non-Travel Also Asked

In addition to urging curtailment of group meetings not necessary to the war effort, Byrnes asked the general public to defer non-essential travel.

He appointed a committee, headed by Director J. M. Johnson of the Office of Defense Transportation, to receive and pass upon applications for meetings to be attended by more than 50 individuals. This agency, on which representatives of the War and Navy board and War Manpower combission will sit, is to decide whether the conventions are "sufficiently in the war interest to warrant the tax on transportation and services."

It is expected, Byrnes said, that the committee will act not only on requests from the public, but also on those from civilian government agencies.

The war mobilizer said he was writing heads of all federal agencies asking them to take steps to reduce travel of government employes "to the minimum consistent with their responsibilities."

Second Menacing Nazi Smash In South Blunted By Fierce Yank Resistance

Montgomery In Charge In North

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Paris, Jan. 5 — Field Marshall Sir Bernard L. Montgomery has been commanding the U. S. First and Ninth armies and all forces north of the German bulge into Belgium for more than two weeks, with Lt.-Gen. Omar N. Bradley commanding forces only on the southern flank, supreme headquarters disclosed today.

The quick change of commands was ordered by General Eisenhower when the Nazi offensive threatened to split the Allies in two.

Rushes Direct To Front

The colorful, confident Montgomery personally took command in the north at midnight Dec. 20, and rushed direct to the front to direct American blows that halted the German plunge toward Liege, and now are hitting southward at the German salient, a field dispatch from AP correspondent Wes Gallagher said.

The British Second and Canadian First armies already were under his direction, so Montgomery new is leading four armies.

Bradley — whose 12th Army group had comprised the American First, Ninth and Third armies—took the southern command, directing the Third Army's assault northward against the German penetration. Bradley's new command also includes one division of the U. S. Seventh Army.

Two Air Groups Also

Two American air groups also come under Montgomery's overall command by the shift. He and Bradley both still are directly responsible to Eisenhower.

At the same time it was disclosed Prime Minister Churchill had returned today to London after conferring with Eisenhower and Montgomery on the continent.

More than four hours after the news of the Churchill visit to supreme headquarters was announced by the French and British governments, SHEAF public relations said it knew nothing about the matter.

While Gallagher said Montgomery took over on Dec. 20-21 dur-

MARSHAL MONTGOMERY

British Second Sent In With U. S. First As Belgian Squeeze Tightens

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Jan. 5—The second big German offensive in three weeks, stabbing 15 miles into northeastern France, bumped into firm resistance by the U. S. Seventh Army today as American and British troops to the north fought savagely to squeeze the Nazis out of their Belgian salient.

Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery—now disclosed as commanding the four Allied armies north of the Belgian bulge—sent his British Second Army into the battle alongside the American First in a concerted drive that had advanced up to 2½ miles against the northern flank of the enemy's original breakthrough.

Third Beaten Back

The Germans fought fiercely against this advance and on their southern flank forced the U. S. Third Army to withdraw one to two miles under the pressure of at least 21 counterattacks in two days. The withdrawal was described as a line-shortening operation to give the Americans a better tactical position.

The new German drive south of the Maginot fortress of Bitche, where the Seventh Army has been pounded back 15 miles in five days, finally was stunted at the point of the Nazis' deepest penetration when Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's doughboys threw out enemy troops who had infiltrated into the highway town of Wingen, 9½ miles south of Bitche and 12 miles north of Saverne.

Wingen Nearly Cleared

By nightfall all Germans except a few snipers had been cleared from Wingen, Associated Press correspondent Robert Wilson said, preventing the Germans from enlarging their salient into the northern Vosges mountains. This success kept open the important Sarreguemins-Hagenau highway — main east-west route to the open plain.

However, the Germans posed a new threat by making a crossing of the Rhine river in battalion strength nine miles north of the French city of Strasbourg.

The Nazis crossed the river in barges and motorboats at Gambsheim and entered Offendorf, fighting American troops in both cities. But the extent of their attack was not immediately known. Prisoners were found to carry rations for only one day and seemed to have little idea why they had been sent across the river, although patrols in much smaller size have been sent over frequently before.

Fear swept through Strasbourg as the struggle raged here and other enemy forces lashed out against the French lines and drove into Neunkirch, 19 miles south of the city.

V-2 Blows On London Step Up

LONDON, Jan. 5. (AP)—The German high command, which tried and failed last summer to knock out London with the V-1 flying bombs, stepped up its V-two rocket barrage today.

The Berlin radio, already busy with accounts of the German winter offensive in the west, announced that volleys of the ten-ton radio- controlled projectiles had been increased in the last 24 hours with all the destructive rockets aimed at the sprawling urban area of Greater London.

No Other Locality

Significantly, for the first time in weeks there was no mention in the German command's daily communique of long-range (V-two) fire against any place but London. Previously both Antwerp and Liege have been regularly-announced targets.

The British ministry of home security, which issued the customary morning communique, stating that "there has been enemy air activity directed against southern England . . . damages and casualties were reported."

Thus neither the German radio nor the British estimated the number of rockets hurled at London.

There was nothing in the damage caused by recent V-two's to indicate that the Germans can control the rocket and its 2,000-pound warhead after it starts its plunge from a height of 40 or more miles.

Rumbling explosions have rocked various widely-separated parts of southern England, with death and damage almost exclusively confined to civilians. Recent explosions have wrecked blocks of flats, urban bungalow developments, a hospital, a library and a church vicarage.

In some cases fire has followed the explosions but fatalities have been comparatively light.

Entire Eastern Front Stirring

LONDON, Saturday, Jan. 6. (AP) —The Germans hurled 300 tanks into the Red Army lines northwest of Budapest yesterday in an attempt to relieve the trapped Nazi garrison in the Hungarian capital, but achieved only small penetrations that were "cut off and annihilated," Moscow announced.

As a gigantic battle of armor, planes and infantry raged northwest of Budapest, the Yugslav allies of the Russians disclosed they were fighting on Austrian soil after crossing the Styrian frontier.

The entire front appeared to be stirring in preparation for great winter operations. Berlin reported new Russian stabs 120 miles below Warsaw which may herald an all-out Soviet drive on that long dormant front.

3,000 Germans Killed

The midnight Soviet communique and the supplement disclosed that more than 3,000 Germans were killed yesterday and almost the same number captured in savage fighting.

Tank attacks were hurled at the Russians in groups of 25 to 30. "Disjointed" groups of tanks and infantry were able to carve out small wedges in the Russian lines, only to be wiped out later.

Moscow said the Nazis brought up their fresh armored forces from divisions transferred recently to the Hungarian front. Among these were the SS (Elite Guard) death's head and Viking tank divisions.

The Russians claimed a toll of "several" tanks and said they silenced 10 artillery mortars.

Inside flaming Budapest the Russians smashed into the capital's race track, which the Germans had been using as a landing field for supply planes, and beat off fierce Nazi counterattacks, killing 300 of the enemy and destroying four tanks. The Red Army seized another 233 blocks in the city to boost their total to more than 1,530.

As an indication of the desperate situation faced by the Nazis, the Russians quoted prisoners as saying the Nazi command has threatened to shoot "the whole family" of any soldier who surrenders.

Destroyer Reid Is Lost In Philippines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (AP) — The Destroyer Reid has been lost to enemy action in the Philippine area, the Navy announced today.

No announcement was made as to extent of casualties, but all next of kin have been notified.

The ship had a normal complement of 24 officers and 178 enlisted men.

Commander S. A. McCormock, 34, of Iron River, Mich., her skipper, was reported wounded.

The Reid was the 12th naval vessel lost in the current Philippine campaign, the 244th vessel of all types lost since beginning of the war.

She was the 51st destroyer lost during the war.

New Secret U. S. Artillery Shatters Nazi Counterblow

BEFFE SECTOR, Belgium, Jan. 5 (AP)—A new secret American artillery weapon, used on a large scale on the Western front for the first time, shattered Nazi counterattacks today trying to halt the U. S. First Army drive southward in the Belgium bulge.

As a result the snow in this area was blanketed with Nazi dead.

German resistance to the American offensive south into the bulge, however, stiffened today with heavy fighting reported around Odeigne, seven miles east. Sleet and snow cut tank operations to a minimum, but American forces knocked out 12 tanks in the last 24 hours around Beffe, while an additional 41 German tanks were destroyed on other sections of the front.

Sleet and freezing temperatures, on top of heavy snowfall yesterday, were coupled with fog this morning. As a result the visibility was minus zero. Men were slipping and falling on the icy crust.

Tanks and tank destroyers slid around the roads looking like steel elephants doing hula dances. If they got down to the bottom of a hill the chances were better than ten to one they could not get back up.

Field Marshal von Rundstedt reacted violently to the American effort digging into his salient east and west of Beffe—a rubble heap that was once a town. He pushed in four counterattacks in four hours. The new American artillery invention cut the attackers to ribbons.

Details of this new secret weapon were held up for reasons of security, but it was something the U. S. Navy had developed and which was found to be of great use against ground troops.

Soviet Jolts Allies With Polish Move

LONDON, Jan. 5. (AP) — Soviet Russia brought to a head one of the thorniest problems facing the impending "Big Three" parley today by extending formal recognition to the Polish provisional government of Lublin and making a clean break with the exiled Polish regime in London, which is supported by the United States and Great Britain.

The Soviet move emphasized with finality the inability of Russia, the United States and Britain to agree on the Polish question and brought a definite split in Big Three unity.

Informed In Advance

The United States and Britain had been informed officially of Russia's intention in advance of today's announcement.

Both Britain and America followed the Russian statement with a reiteration of their announcements four days ago that they still were standing by the London Polish government.

Caught between this terrific diplomatic crossfire, the London Poles officially expressed "regret from the point of view of United Nations unity," but said they were not surprised at the development.

Offensive Expected

Diplomatic and military observers here believed that the Russians, having made their decision, were ready now to launch their long-expected offensive in Poland.

The Soviets severed relations with the London Polish government in April 1943, in a dispute over the finding of the graves of thousands of Polish officers in the forests near Smolensk. Russia accused the Germans of having killed the officers, but the London Poles, asked the International Red Cross to investigate a counter claim by the Nazis that the Russians had committed the atrocity.

Foreign Affairs Get New Urgency Note

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—Soviet recognition of the Lublin government of Poland today provided a new note of urgency for foreign affairs pronouncements which President Roosevelt will make in his message to Congress tomorrow.

Bringing the Soviet Union into undisguised opposition to Britain and American attitudes on the Polish government, the Moscow action posed for Mr. Roosevelt possibly his most difficult subject of discussion.

Variety of Topics

The chief executive told a news conference that his message, which he will send to a joint House-Senate session early tomorrow afternoon, will cover a variety of foreign and domestic topics. The main discussion on domestic affairs, he indicated, will revolve around war and industry needs for manpower.

Tomorrow night, Mr. Roosevelt announced, he will broadcast a summary of the 8,000-word message. The broadcast will be carried by all networks from 9 to 9:30 central war time.

Foreign portions of the speech, it was learned, will not define exactly America's foreign policy on many current European political problems because the President intends to keep his hands free for bargaining with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin.

Date And Place

Mr. Roosevelt was asked today whether the date and place for the next Big Three meeting had been set. He answered yes and no, explaining amid laughter that he didn't want to give a hint as to whether it would be in the northern or southern hemisphere.

He said he had not the slightest idea whether other Allied leaders —such as Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek and General Charles de Gaulle—might attend. The meeting will come some time after Mr. Roosevelt's fourth term inauguration Jan. 20.

Complicated Situation

The situation is complicated for the President by the fact that Britain's course in Greece was not

Many Dutch Forced Into German Plants

EINDHOVEN, Holland, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Eindhoven Dagblad said today that more than 100,000 Netherlanders in the occupied part of Holland had been rounded up and forced to work in German war production plants in the past two months.

The newspaper said its information came from a Dutch engineer who escaped.

In Rotterdam a few days ago 30 men who resisted the roundup were shot and their bodies left in the streets, he reported.

As a result of the strike of Dutch railway workers, trains run only at night and are operated by German soldiers.

Island Taken 12 Miles Off

Move Gains Control Of Sibuyan Sea For Direct Contact With South Tip

By JAMES HUTCHESON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Saturday, Jan. 6—The unopposed American landing on Marinduque island Wednesday (Philippine time) in a new liberation step toward Luzon, principal Philippine island, was announced today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Marinluque, approximately 20 to 25 miles in size, is only 12 miles from the Tayabas peninsula on Luzon. The communique said the seizure gave the Americans "control of the Sibuyan sea and established direct contact with the southern Luzon coast."

On Southwest Coast

The landing was at Buenavista on the southwest coast, approximately 20 miles east of Mindoro island, invaded by the Yanks December 15, and 100 miles southeast of Manila.

A headquarters spokesman said the interior of the island is virtually impassable, but a highway runs 15 miles north and south along the beach shelf on the west coast.

Marinduque is the seventh island of the Philippines on which American forces have landed in the two and a half months' campaign to liberate the archipelago. It is the third within long range gun distance of Luzon. The nearest point on Mindoro and Samar are less than 15 miles from southern Luzon.

Other Islands Taken

Other islands which previously felt the tread of American soldiers are Leyte, Panaon, Dinagat and Homonhon.

The day of the landing also saw American planes hitting hard at Japanese airdromes throughout the Phillipines and other Southwest Pacific islands. Mitchells and Liberators heavily bombed Clark Field's airdromes in daylight Thursday, destroying 30 parked planes. A single Nipponese plane over Clark Field was the first enemy attempt at interception since Jan. 1.

A force of Liberators and P-40 fighter planes hit Limbones island in Manila bay in daylight the previous day.

Air and naval units supported the Marinduque landing, the communique said.

It also was Wednesday that planes of a carrier task force, part of the U. S. Third Fleet, opened their two-day attacks on Formosa and Okinawa island. Okinawa is in the Ryukyu chain which

Silence Covers Carrier Actions

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Jan. 5—The Navy today reported the 27th and 28th straight daily air attacks on Iwo Jima, Japanese airbase island 750 miles south of Tokyo, but was silent on activities of the U. S. Carrier force which hit Formosa and Okinawa Tuesday and Wednesday.

While Adm. Chester W. Nimbitz' communique ignored the daring naval air strike so close to Japan, Tokyo radio broadcast a Domei news agency report of indications that the task force, part of the U. S. Third Fleet, was cruising Friday (U. S. time) in waters northeast of Formosa.

Liberators Out In Force

Army Liberators of the Strategic Air force bombed the airstrip and installations on Iwo Jima in the Volcano islands Tuesday and Wednesday (U. S. time), Nimitz said. Lightning fighters accompanied the heavies Tuesday, but Wednesday the Liberators made it alone and encountered moderate antiaircraft fire and only one enemy interceptor plane.

The communique also reported a Liberator attack on Marcus island, 695 miles east of Iwo Jima, Tuesday. Fourth Marine Aircraft wing planes hit the power plant and other installations on Babelthuap in the Ialaus while other Marine aircraft strafed Sonsorol and Merir islands to the southwest.

Absence of information in the communique concerning the carrier task force which pummeled Formosa and Okinawa, the latter in the Ryukyus, indicated the Third Fleet might be withdrawing from the area under radio silence. The Navy has not announced details of the raids.

Radio Tokyo said 900 carrier planes, aided by 40 China-based Superfortresses, hit the islands for 14 hours—500 on the first day and 400 on the second—and that 22 were shot down.

Okinawa is within 300 miles of the Japanese main islands while Formosa is only 90 miles off the China coast, eventual goal of American forces.

Negro Soldier Hangs For Girl's Slaying

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 5. (AP)—A negro soldier from Peoria, Ill., Sylvester Davis, was hanged today in a hangar at Randolph field for fatally beating Miss Peggy Lou Arnold, 20-year-old white girl, on a San Angelo street last May 27.

Miss Arnold was accosted while waiting for a bus at 10 p. m. She was knocked into the gutter and stamped repeatedly in the face. Her assailant was frightened away while dragging her toward a dark side street. She died of multiple head injuries on June 1, and Davis was convicted June 9 by court martial at San Angelo, where he was stationed at an army air field. The negro said it was the "meanness in me."

The slain girl's mother and sister, both of San Angelo, were among the fifty persons who watched a colonel—his back to the witnesses—spring the trap at 12:38 a. m. Davis was pronounced dead at 12:55.

Pacific Spanned By Mighty Fleet

ABOARD ADMIRAL McCAIN'S FAST CARRIER FORCE FLAGSHIP OFF FORMOSA, Jan. 3.—(East Longitude Time)—The United States fleet spanned the Pacific today (Tuesday, U. S. Time), sending carrier planes for the first time over the China coast while hundreds of other Navy planes attacked Formosa and Japan's Okinawa island to the north.

Ninety-seven enemy planes were shot down or wiped out on the ground and seventeen ships, including a 10,000-ton transport, were sunk. A destroyer, four destroyer escorts and 35 freighters were damaged.

It was the first time in more than three years of war that the American fleet actually reached the mainland of Asia. It drove straight through Japanese waters.

First Marine Operation

The attack on Formosa, in which Navy planes were accompanied by dozens of Marines flying Corsair fighters, also marked the first time Marines ever operated in combat from carriers.

The Corsair fighter, which also had its carrier combat initiation at the same time, is faster than even the Navy Hellcat fighters, and returning pilots said it gave a good account of itself.

Vice Adm. John S. McCain sent his fliers in a wide fanshaped sweep over Formosa, huge Japanese supply base for the Philippines, and northward over Okinawa, within 275 nautical miles of the Japanese home island of Kyushu.

The strikes on Formosa and Okinawa were the second within three months.

4-Fs, Farm Deferred Men Rush To Get Into War Jobs

A RECORD number of Lubbock 4-Fs, farm deferred men and non-essential workers are seeking war jobs or information on the Merchant Marine since the government's work-or-fight order issued recently, M. W. Waldron, manager of the Lubbock U. S. Employment service, said.

"We have been swamped by applicants since War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes' threat to draft 4-F's for war jobs and his order to screen young farm workers, 18-to-25, for possible military service," he said.

Last fall when it was generally believed the war was practically over, many workers quit their essential jobs and returned home for peacetime employment, he pointed out. Now, they are rushing about to get back into war work.

Many of the men have expressed a desire to get into the Merchant Marine rather than be drafted. Others are looking for jobs which are classified as essential.

The sudden rush to war jobs is not only the case in Lubbock, but employment agencies all over the country have reported a heavy stream of job applicants.

Waldron pointed out that as many men as possible are being placed in essential work here at home and in the Panhandle area where workers are particularly needed in ammunition plants, petroleum companies and synthetic rubber plants.

DEAR:—

Everyone is getting back to a daily routine following the holidays. Classes resumed at Lubbock Public schools following dismissal Dec. 20 and Texas Tech college classes began at 8 a. m. Thursday, closing the holiday season which began Dec. 21.

At an annual firemen's dinner held Sunday night in Central station, it was announced fire losses in the city during 1944 were slightly over $44,000, as compared with 1943's losses of $103,523. George W. Dupree was master of ceremonies.

Three victims of a near-electrocution which occurred Tuesday afternoon in Seagraves are improving daily. They are: George Eubank, Tom Hunt, farmer of the Loop community and Weaver H. Baucum, farmer whose home is west of Seagraves.

The mishap took place atop a substation of the Southwestern Public Service company in Seagraves when Eubank mounted a cupola above the building's main roof while taking measurements and his body absorbed 24,000 volts. When Hunt and Baucum attempted to rescue Eubank the current arced into them. Baucum suffered paralysis from the waist down.

Ed D. Allen, county clerk for 12 years, resigned Monday and Louie F. Moore, his chief deputy, was appointed by county commissioners court to replace him. Allen resigned on advice of his physician and pointed out to reporters his health is such that to continue in office would only tend to jeopardize his chances for a speedy recovery. He is to continue to make his home in Lubbock.

Mrs. Floe Swenson has succeeded Mr. Moore as chief deputy.

Tom, Bob and Joe Cobb, operators of several department stores in West Texas, have bought all stock of the Myrick Investment company and thereby have become owners of the local downtown six-story structure bearing that name. Tom Cobb said that eventually the Myrick building will become he principal business office of his stores.

Consideration was announced as "over $200,000."

Building permits for the construction of ten new one-story frame residences, to be located in the 2300-block of Thirty-first and Thirty-second streets, were issued Thursday to Parkview Homes corporation with Tom Jenkins listed as contractor.

First New Year baby born in Lubbock was the son of Lt. and Mrs. G. B. Adkisson of Lubbock and Abernathy. His mother is the former Marie Hall. The father, wounded in action in the European theater in September, is now in a hospital in England.

Col. Thomas L. Gilbert, former commanding officer of Lubbock Army Air field, has been brought back to this country for hospitalization following an attack of arthritis. Now in the ATC, Col. Gilbert recently has been based in the Marshall islands in the Pacific. He had been hospitalized in Hawaii but since he did not respond to treatment was brought to San Francisco.

Earl Camp has replaced Dr. E. L. Reed, Texas Tech professor of botany since 1926, who resigned because of ill health. The Reeds have moved to Detroit, Mich., and she is employed as one of the dieticians at Grace hospital there.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon for Tech Sgt. Jess J. Ausburn, 28, who was killed Jan. 1 in an airplane accident at Smoky Hill Army Air field, Salina, Kan.

Lt. Dudley K. Brummett, who has been reported missing in action since Nov. 6, is a prisoner of the German government, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. C. Brummett of Dickens, have been informed. He is crew chief of a B-26 crew and stationed at Dodge City, Kas.

Lt. (j. g.) Roy A. Bechtol, has been awarded the DFD posthumously for action against the Japanese forces in the Marianas and Bonin islands last June.

Jimmie Wilson, manager of Whiteside laundry, has been elected president of the American Business club. J. Ray Dickey is retiring president.

That's all now. Good bye and good luck.

Altrusa Members Hold Business Meet

At a meeting of Altrusa club Thursday night in the home of Dr. Pauline Miller, two candidates were initiated, hobbies were discussed and Miss Mabel Erwin talked on "The United States' Domestic Economy." Miss Effie Puryear was assistant hostess.

Miss Morrine George and Mrs. Fay Westmoreland were received as members in a service directed by Miss Esther Sorensen.

Mrs. Grace Morris was program leader.

In discussing our domestic economy, Miss Erwin said according to Big Business and reports of Little Business, an annual income of from one hundred twenty to one hundred forty billion dollars is needed in the U. S. to ward off another depression. There must be a reduction of taxes for bigger business concerns, because the basis of life is free enterprise, she added.

Mrs. Allie M. Dyer, discussing "Who's Who in Altrusa," told of Christine LaMond who designed tires for bombers manufactured for Firestone Rubber company.

Mrs. Lesta Boles was a guest. Other members attending were Mesdames Gladys Holden, Leo Baker, Jessie Byers, Bernice Carnahan, Ethel Keenum, Misses Opal Wood and Clara Pratt.

Dinner Honors Choir Members

A dinner honored members of the choir at St. Elizabeth's Catholic church at the Hilton hotel Thursday night. Placecards were caricatures of the choir members drawn by Lt. J. E. Donahue.

Postoffice Sets All-Time Record

A new all-time record was established in Lubbock post office in 1944 postal receipts, according to figures released Friday by Postmaster Amos H. Howard.

Receipts for 1944 soared to a total of $443,269.03, an increase of 15.4 per cent over 1943 when receipts totaled $374,764.07.

Howard pointed out that it is difficult to explain this increase. "Of course it is partly due to increase in postage rates, increased amount of overseas mailing and to the fact that business in general is good and people are using the mails more than usual," he said.

New Gains Expected

He added that he expects the local office to go past the half-million mark in postal receipts in 1945.

Receipts for the month of December, 1944, totaled $50,126.91 as compared with a total of $46,720.49 for the same month in 1943. This was an increase of 6.8 per cent. The fourth-quarter total in 1944 was $140,129.66, an increase of 16.6 per cent over the 1943 total of $116,839.29.

Receipts for the first three quarters of 1944 and 1943 were respectively as follows: First, $96,652.44, $86,886.40; second, $101,028.62, $82,625.01; third, $105,458.31, $88,413.37.

Receipts by months for 1944 and 1943 were as follows:

	1944	1943
January	$ 33,196.96	$ 27,916.96
February	29,635.50	27,772.78

Discharged 'K-9' War Vet Brings Worry To Owner

A four-legged war veteran named Duke came back home yesterday morning after a 24-hour jaunt that caused a great deal of worry to his owners. He lives at the A. I. Glassman residence, 2806 Twenty-seventh.

Duke is a 4½-year-old collie, government-registered serial number 5H50, who has a standard Army discharge attesting to nine months of service at Camp Robinson, Neb., in the Army K-9 corps. An official citation names him.

He was shipped in a government crate designed specifically for K-9 corps dogs; was trained so rigorously that when the War department eventually decided the war could be won by men without calling in all the choice dogs an official notification informed Glassman that if he wanted the collie back it would be necessary to "untrain" the animal for civilian use—that Duke was "very vicious." It was suggested that, for a limited time, care should be exercised in "feeding and caring for him."

But Duke, true to collie tradition, readily adapted himself, and never gave a moment's trouble, until he strayed early Wednesday. He kept close watch over 2½-year-old Bobby Skibell, son of Mrs. Albert Skibell who lives at the Glassman residence while her husband is overseas, and was a neighborhood pet.

So, he was generally welcomed in the Glassman section when he "walked in" this morning. There were indications he had been "tied up."

The first victim of Fascist aggression, Ethiopia, became the first to be liberated.

DEAR:—

Everyone is getting back to a daily routine following the holidays. Classes resumed at Lubbock Public schools following dismissal Dec. 20 and Texas Tech college classes began at 8 a. m. Thursday, closing the holiday season which began Dec. 21.

At an annual firemen's dinner held Sunday night in Central station, it was announced fire losses in the city during 1944 were slightly over $44,000, as compared with 1943's losses of $103,523. George W. Dupree was master of ceremonies.

Three victims of a near-electrocution which occurred Tuesday afternoon in Seagraves are improving daily. They are: George Eubank, Tom Hunt, farmer of the Loop community and Weaver H. Baucum, farmer whose home is west of Seagraves.

The mishap took place atop a substation of the Southwestern Public Service company in Seagraves when Eubank mounted a cupola above the building's main roof while taking measurements and his body absorbed 24,000 volts. When Hunt and Baucum attempted to rescue Eubank the current arced into them. Baucum suffered paralysis from the waist down.

Ed D. Allen, county clerk for 12 years, resigned Monday and Louie F. Moore, his chief deputy, was appointed by county commissioners court to replace him. Allen resigned on advice of his physician and pointed out to reporters his health is such that to continue in office would only tend to jeopardize his chances for a speedy recovery. He is to continue to make his home in Lubbock.

Mrs. Floe Swenson has succeeded Mr. Moore as chief deputy.

Tom, Bob and Joe Cobb, operators of several department stores in West Texas, have bought all stock of the Myrick Investment company and thereby have become owners of the local downtown six-story structure bearing that name. Tom Cobb said that eventually the Myrick building will become he principal business office of his stores.

Consideration was announced as "over $200,000."

Building permits for the construction of ten new one-story frame residences, to be located in the 2300-block of Thirty-first and Thirty-second streets, were issued Thursday to Parkview Homes corporation with Tom Jenkins listed as contractor.

First New Year baby born in Lubbock was the son of Lt. and Mrs. G. B. Adkisson of Lubbock and Abernathy. His mother is the former Marie Hall. The father, wounded in action in the European theater in September, is now in a hospital in England.

Col. Thomas L. Gilbert, former commanding officer of Lubbock Army Air field, has been brought back to this country for hospitalization following an attack of arthritis. Now in the ATC, Col. Gilbert recently has been based in the Marshall islands in the Pacific. He had been hospitalized in Hawaii but since he did not respond to treatment was brought to San Francisco.

Earl Camp has replaced Dr. E. L. Reed, Texas Tech professor of botany since 1926, who resigned because of ill health. The Reeds have moved to Detroit, Mich., and she is employed as one of the dieticians at Grace hospital there.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon for Tech Sgt. Jess J. Ausburn, 28, who was killed Jan. 1 in an airplane accident at Smoky Hill Army Air field, Salina, Kan.

Lt. Dudley K. Brummett, who has been reported missing in action since Nov. 6, is a prisoner of the German government, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. C. Brummett of Dickens, have been informed. He is crew chief of a B-26 crew and stationed at Dodge City, Kas.

Lt. (j. g.) Roy A. Bechtol, has been awarded the DFD posthumously for action against the Japanese forces in the Marianas and Bonin islands last June.

Jimmie Wilson, manager of Whiteside laundry, has been elected president of the American Business club. J. Ray Dickey is retiring president.

That's all now. Good bye and good luck.

Postoffice Sets All-Time Record

A new all-time record was established in Lubbock post office in 1944 postal receipts, according to figures released Friday by Postmaster Amos H. Howard.

Receipts for 1944 soared to a total of $443,269.03, an increase of 15.4 per cent over 1943 when receipts totaled $374,764.07.

Howard pointed out that it is difficult to explain this increase. "Of course it is partly due to increase in postage rates, increased amount of overseas mailing and to the fact that business in general is good and people are using the mails more than usual," he said.

New Gains Expected

He added that he expects the local office to go past the half-million mark in postal receipts in 1945.

Receipts for the month of December, 1944, totaled $50,126.91 as compared with a total of $46,720.49 for the same month in 1943. This was an increase of 6.8 per cent. The fourth-quarter total in 1944 was $140,129.66, an increase of 16.6 per cent over the 1943 total of $116,839.29.

Receipts for the first three quarters of 1944 and 1943 were respectively as follows: First, $96,652.44, $86,886.40; second, $101,028.62, $82,625.01; third, $105,458.31, $88,413.37.

Receipts by months for 1944 and 1943 were as follows:

	1944	1943
January	$ 32,196.86	$ 27,916.96
February	39,835.30	27,772.70
March	33,619.98	31,196.66
April	34,466.03	27,552.46
May	32,669.89	27,638.55
June	33,892.70	27,434.00
July	35,548.69	29,374.78
August	36,350.55	29,904.14
September	33,559.67	29,134.45
October	49,875.27	37,573.98
November	40,127.48	32,544.82
December	50,126.91	46,720.49
Total	$443,269.03	$374,764.07

Discharged 'K-9' War Vet Brings Worry To Owner

A four-legged war veteran named Duke came back home yesterday morning after a 24-hour jaunt that caused a great deal of worry to his owners. He lives at the A. I. Glassman residence, 2806 Twenty-seventh.

Duke is a 4½-year-old collie, government-registered serial number 5H50, who has a standard Army discharge attesting to nine months of service at Camp Robinson, Neb., in the Army K-9 corps. An official citation names him.

He was shipped in a government crate designed specifically for K-9 corps dogs; was trained so rigorously that when the War department eventually decided the war could be won by men without calling in all the choice dogs an official notification informed Glassman that if he wanted the collie back it would be necessary to "untrain" the animal for civilian use—that Duke was "very vicious." It was suggested that, for a limited time, care should be exercised in "feeding and caring for him."

But Duke, true to collie tradition, readily adapted himself, and never gave a moment's trouble, until he strayed early Wednesday. He kept close watch over 2½-year-old Bobby Skibell, son of Mrs. Albert Skibell who lives at the Glassman residence while her husband is overseas, and was a neighborhood pet.

So, he was generally welcomed in the Glassman section when he "walked in" this morning. There were indications he had been "tied up."

The first victim of Fascist aggression, Ethiopia, became the first to be liberated.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands: One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

A Memo To The Japanese

JAP radio propagandists seemed to derive considerable satisfaction in announcing the other day that half of the Nipponese silk reeling industry is now engaged in war production, and that "young girls who used to toil to make it possible for American stenographers and matrons to flatter their legs with sheer silk hosiery are now fabricating and riveting aircraft."

In rebuttal, we Americans might well remind the Sons of er, ah, Heaven that they need airplanes much worse that American women need Jap silk for stockings; that long after the rubble of what is now Japan is cleaned up following the United Nations victory in the Pacific, American women still will be doing all right without Jap silk—will be wearing synthetic silks more beautiful and longer-lasting than the oirginal product ever was.

If and when Jap silk returns to the American market, it probably will be in the form of reparations partially covering Jap destruction in the Philippines and elsewhere. And the planes the Jap workers now are glueing together in lieu of work at the silk industry long will have been shot out of the sky.

An Ally's View Of GI Joe

AMERICANS at home are continually astounded by the heroic efficiency of their fighting sons. They are particularly appreciative of the one who is bearing so much of the brunt of the fighting on the Western Front—the infantryman.

Many appraisals of him are now appearing in print, all of them laudatory. One of the most striking was written by Stanley Baron, a correspondent of the London News Chronicle, who has been attached to the American First Army. In an article entitled, "What Do I Think of the Americans?" he says:

"Out of the line they will go to the utmost length to convince you that they really are civilians under the khaki and that they only want to be civilians. Then you arrive at the front line and you get the other half of the picture, the soldier half, the half which fights and which, if need be, dies grimly, desperately, earnestly, with bravery as utterly complete and selfless as any man can show anywhere. Then you realize the two halves are not incompatible, but in a way symbolic of all the American soldier believes that he stands for."

Here is a picture of a man whose craving is for home and peace and whose war for them has won world acclaim. Folks at home can only be chastened and lifted to greater effort by the wonder of it.

A Study In Statistics

THE American people spent $97,000,000,000 in 1944, according to a Department of Commerce estimate, which is 6 per cent more than they spent in 1943, and 50 per cent more than they spent in 1939, the last year in which the war in Europe had no effect on American income. This is money spent for civilian goods and services.

The figures are not, of course, a true reflection of quantity. The cost of many items increased in an amount equal to the increased spending. But it is significant that spending for food was up $2,000,000,000 over 1943, although, according to the department's estimate, the average cost was down a little. The implication is that there is in normal times a great undeveloped food market potential.

This spending power might have had disastrous effects if there had been no controls. Some of these effects can be noted in the price increases of certain scarce luxury items over which there is no control except a 20 per cent federal tax.

The people have not only spent more, but they have saved more. They have met their War bond quotas and they have increased their direct and indirect savings and reduced their debts.

But against these superficial evidences of prosperity, the prudent citizens will not fail to note that on the day the Department of Commerce made this report the Terasury department reported that the total national debt was $230,935,671,000, compared to $169,951,960,000 a year ago and $40,439,532,000 in 1939.

Thus Americans may realize that they have a long and hard row to hoe before the nation gets back again upon bedrock prosperity.

Overheard: "My wife won't speak to me when she's mad at me. What do you advise?" "Divorce her, and introduce her to me."

A jitterbugger who danced out of a third-story window was injured only slightly. He landed on his head.

An editor writes, "Aw, cheer up—the war can't last always." May we remind the editor that neither can we.

"WHAT'S his wife like?"

The question Mrs. Leonard Beckley asked her husband was the question Everywife asks Everyhusband when he asks her to let another man's wife into her home for the first time. She asks it in self-defense, knowing that she will be on trial.

Sue Beckley liked Walt Hilyard best of all her husband's friends. And so did her husband. Both were with the Staton Steel Products Company, which had turned to the making of machine guns and howitzers for the duration. Walt had managed one of the branches in the west and had dropped in for dinner or overnight whenever he came to town.

Now he had been called to the home office and was moving to Staton to live, bringing his wife and daughter with him. The daughter didn't matter much; the wife was a challenge. But Leonard Beckley's answer to his wife's question was a plea of ignorance:

"I haven't seen Margaret Hilyard since I was best man at their wedding in— My God, it can't be 20 years ago!"

"It had better be. You said their daughter is 19."

"Good Lord, how tempus fidgets! I can see Margaret now as a bride. She was a beauty, shiny-eyed, always laughing, very sweet, very loving, very intelligent, very—"

"If she was all those 'veries' why didn't you marry her yourself?"

"I knew that heaven was saving the angel of all time for me." He bent and pressed a kiss of mock-reverence on her head, and was rewarded with a wail:

"Keep out of my hair! I spent all afternoon at Pauline's, getting it done for this marvelous Margaret that Walt took away from you. Tell me more about her. And for the Lord's sake get into your dinner clothes or they'll find you with one shoe off and one shoe on. I'm nearly dressed."

SHE was already undressed, and stood the exposure well, for Sue had pretty decently won the battle with the years by depending on posture, exercise and starvation instead of rubber and steel to hold her together. As Len whipped out of his coat and waistcoat he was saying:

"The years may have made a lot of changes in Margaret—damn you!" That was not for his wife but for his coat and waistcoat as they missed the chair he flung them at. "Marriage usually molts the wings of young angels." He bent down, picked up the coat and waistcoat, tossed them at the bed, and missed again. "Stay there, damn you! But you haven't lost a pinfeather." This last was for his wife. He started to dance out of his trousers, caught one foot in them and hopped sidewise, lurching omniously toward Sue's dressing table. He recovered himself in time; but, while he was so close, popped a kiss on her bare shoulder and gazed over it into the mirror at her ripe reflected beauty.

"Gosh, but you look like your son's younger sister!"

He sent his nether garments flying through the air for her to pick up, and paused at the bathroom door to prophesy:

"I'll bet that tonight, as always, when Walt and his wife have gone, you'll say, 'How on earth did such a nice man get himself hooked by such terrible woman?' "

The sound of the shower drowned her reply. She went to the bathroom and repeated it at the top of her lungs: "I suppose I will. But I'll bet she'll be saying the same thing about me on their way home."

He came out into the big towel she handed him and answered as he scrubbed his wet flesh pink: "No. I'll bet she'll be saying, 'How on earth did such a wonderful woman as Sue Beckley ever let herself get hooked by such a dub as that husband of hers?' "

"When it comes to the blarney, my boy, you're certainly there."

As he smeared lather on his face he spluttered: "Shall I cut it out?"

"For heaven's sake, no! Let's save facts for other people—your Mrs. Hilyard, for instance."

"She's not mine, thank heaven!" He talked past his swishing razor: "I hope to God she's a good wife to Walt. He's such a right guy."

Sue had encased herself in a coat of varnish called a dinner gown before he was out in the room again and getting into the fresh things she had spread out for him. He talked right on: "It doesn't often happen that two good men friends have wives that can stand each other. But it would be nice of you could get along with Mrs. Walt." His face vanished in his undershirt and dawned out of it. "His daughter adores him. Jennifer's her name. He showed me her picture. It was crawled all over with girlish worship. He still carries a picture of his wife, too; but it's one she had taken just after they were married. He showed it to me once when it fell out of his wallet. She had written on it: 'To my beloved from his faithful wife'."

HE mused on that: "Faithful wife! Humph! There are so many ways for a wife to be unfaithful. I remember Walt saying once that his daughter was uncannily like what his wife used to be. They way he said 'used to be' gave me a funny feeling that Margaret ain't what she used to was. I hope I'm wrong." He began to dance into his black trousers. "Yet I notice that Walt was never in any great hurry to get back to his home station. He's no chaser. He doesn't run after other women. A lot of men do who really love their wives—they're just polygamous. But Walt is either monogamous or—indifferent or— Maybe he's true to what his wife once was. Maybe she is and maybe she isn't."

"Isn't what?"

"True to what she once was." He was buttoning himself in now. "Lots of wives are that way. Whether they're unfaithful to their husbands or not, they're unfaithful to themselves—and that's worse than—"

"Lord, there's the doorbell and you not dressed! I've got to go down and meet that woman all by myself. Hurry!"

"Wait!"

She was gone, and he could never make his bo wtie behave. He started to follow her with the knot crumpled and askew. As he moved cautiously down the steps he saw Walt standing by the Margaret he remembered — still slim, shiny-eyed, sweet, laughing, and so loving that her hand clung to Walt's arm. And Walt was gazing down into her uplooking eyes with the same smile of rapture, devotion and pride he had worn at the altar.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

COMING home from Washington the other day, I met a very interesting woman who told me about her work at Walter Reed hospital where she was teaching arts and crafts to disabled soldiers who had been sent there from overseas.

This woman—she must have been in her fifties—was one of the most beautiful creatures I had ever met. Snow-white hair, rosy cheeks, without a bit of make-up, practical, broad-nailed hands and the clearest blue eyes I had ever seen.

But it wasn't that which made her beautiful. It was the character that fairly emanated from her. You could just feel that here was a good woman, a sympathetic woman, an understanding woman, a woman who loved not just a man, but mankind in general.

So it didn't surprise me at all when she told me how she enjoyed her work, how much those crippled and maimed boys meant to her and how she felt just like a mother to all of them.

And it didn't surprise me, either, when she told me how those boys at Walter Reed were pretty well fed up on glamor girls coming in to see them, holding their hands and turning on the heat.

"These boys want more than sex appeal," said the lady on the train to me. "They are hungry for sympathy and understanding. These boys aren't in any night-club mood. When you have an arm or a leg shot off, when you have lost an eye or part of your skull, you want your mother and not a gorgeous bundle of rouge and lipstick and powder and blood-red finger nails.

"It's funny perhaps, but it's true, how those fellows in the hospital are much more interested in us older women than in the young ones. They tell us all about their home life and the things they want to do when they get well again, and about their sisters and brothers and about that one girl who may not be as pretty or as chichi as that glamor girl over there, but who, some day, they hope will be their Mrs."

SOMEHOW my mind went from that lovely woman I was talking to to a New York youngster who had told me very proudly that she was now a Grey Lady at Halloran hospital, another of those places where you can see what war is really like, if you are so inclined.

"And what do you do, over there?"

"Oh, we hold hands with those poor boys and we talk to them about the theatre and the night clubs and we tell them the latest jokes, and try to make them forget their troubles. It's lots of fun for them—and for me, too."

Now, for Pete's sake, don't get me wrong. There are hundreds of Grey Ladies who are doing wonderful work. But I have seen too many people in this war who think they are doing their share by doing a little puttering here and there, by wearing a becoming uniform and by "having lots of fun."

As I am writing this I am looking out over the hills that are covered with snow. The sun is shining and the glory of winter is all around me.

But I am thinking of a soldier who was also on that train. He was wearing dark glasses and, as the train arrived in New York, his wife led him slowly to the platform and down the aisle.

That boy was blind—blinded by flying shrapnel over in France.

He'll never see the snow again, nor the sun, nor the trees, nor the flowers nor any of the beauty of this world.

"It's lot of fun for them—and for me, too" said the little Grey Lady to me.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

SENATORIAL sleuths soon will inaugurate investigations of our reverses on the military and diplomatic fronts. Congressional mailbags bulge with questions and complaints from constitutents, while members home for the holidays heard direct from their disillusioned neighbors.

The investigators will quiz our three top commanders on every angle of Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's break through. They will ask Chief of Staff Marshall how, in view of the fact that Allied troops in France are said to outnumber the Germans by two to one, the supposedly weakened foe could achieve such a stunning triumph. Most important, they will want to know his estimate of how much longer the war will last because of our setback.

Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of Army Air Forces, will be questioned on the failure of his fliers to note and report on the tremendous concentration of Nazi armor, planes and men opposite our First, Third and Ninth Armies. Indeed, there are signs that the good-natured "Happy," together with our Military Intelligence officers, may have an unpleasant time on the stand.

Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of Naval Operations, will also undergo a sharp examination. Members want to discover whether he agreed fully with the Roosevelt-Nimitz-MacArthur strategy of attacking Leyte and Mindoro before liquidation of Hitler was assured. They have been told that the need for supplying our Pacific forces prevented him from transporting sufficient munitions to "Ike" Eisenhower.

EISENHOWER: No major military shakeups will result from the crisis on the western front, in the opinion of key members of our Army High Command. For one thing, it is probable that the Wehrmacht may have been halted and thrown back by the time the Congress buckles down to work.

The overseas situation almost parallels the condition at Kasserine Pass in North Africa when Rommel's surprise attack sent our green troops reeling to the rear. Our field commanders had disposed the forces under him in the most effective way possible. General Eisenhower inspected the dispositions and approved them only a few days before the "Desert Fox" broke loose.

Similarly, he okayed our setup in the Rhineland sector a short time before the von Rundstedt offensive. He may have given his sanction on the basis of faulty information, for which other officers may have to answer. One thing is certain: General Marshall will back his front-line commanders to the limit.

COTTON: Foreign nations, especially the British, have already protested our program of subsidizing cotton for export at a price four cents below the artificially supported domestic level of approximately 21 cents. Trade rivals fear that we may apply the same system to other crops—wheat and corn, in particular—and they warn that this policy may result in resumption of fierce commercial competition in the postwar years.

Dean Acheson, assistant Secretary of State, recently conveyed this information at a private session of members of Congress and leading representatives of the industry. He offered no solution, although he hinted that it might be wiser if Washington gave domestic producers an outright subsidy payment in place of the present method of making loans on this commodity or buying it through the Commodity Credit corporation.

Under the present arrangement the grower gets around 21 cents through federal aid of one sort or another. The exporter ships it abroad for about seventeen cents, and collects the four-cent differential from Uncle Sam. Our surplus of cotton is extremely large.

Brazil is our only competitor at the moment, with Canada the principal market. The South American country, however, has not seen fit to lodge formal complaints with the State department. England has. She fears that when India and Egypt return to the production and shipment of cotton at the close of the conflict our export subsidy will deprive them of foreign markets.

LEADERSHIP: Senate Republicans may stage the long postponed fight for selection of a bona fide leader of the upper chamber. Final settlement of this ticklish question was deferred early this year for valid political reasons, but now it may come to a showdown.

When Minority Leader Charles L. McNary of Oregon died, no other member had a preferential claim to his job. Sen. Wallace White, jr., of Maine acted as floor boss during McNary's illness, but his duties were only routine. The GOP-ers did not relish an intra-party scrap in a presidential year, especially as it might have precipitated a head-on collision between isolationists and interventionists.

Now there is a demand for the formation of a more closely knit, two-fisted organization.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

AFTER consultations with top Army and Navy men, New York corporation executives are convinced that the military will take nothing for granted from now on, but will prepare for all possible Axis moves until the day Hirohito is licked.

We cannot be sure that von Rundstedt will not strike again in a different sector. Increased enemy patrol activities are reported north of Aachen.

More significant, Montgomery's scouts send back word that the Nazis have reduced the flooded areas in the Roer basin by controlling the dams, and have thrown two new bridges across the river. This looks as if the German marshal is sopping up the wet country to give his heavy armor a firm dry field from which to plunge at the junction of the British Second and the American Ninth Army and press on to Antwerp.

The Germans may also be secretly concentrating in Rotterdam for a drive over the shortest route to Antwerp. The Dutch city is large enough to conceal movements of troops and tanks.

Fresh dispositions must be made by Eisenhower to meet all threats. This will require additional supplies. Hints from the Pacific that Japanese air power is growing and that more of its naval craft survived Halsey's attack than we had estimated also means extra equipment to deal with that situation.

CIVILIANS: Having paid in humiliation and blood for premature optimism and for napping, military authorities are swinging far in the opposite direction. In answer to the charge that they may now be getting too tough, they have a stock reply:

The only price of excessive planning is complaint from soft elements in the population, and possible surpluses for a future Congressional committee to fuss about. The penalties of an unwarranted let-up may be the prolongation of the war and the avoidable deaths of thousands of soldiers and sailors.

Donald Nelson, a merchandising expert, was inclined to listen to the arguments of businessmen. But J. A. Krug came to the WPB chairmanship from the Navy where he acquired the service viewpoint in estimating the proper ratio between military and home front requirements.

Former Congressman Maury Maverick, in charge of the Smaller War Plants division, returned from a tour of the battlefields with less positive opinions about the necessity for spot reconversions. Harvard's William Y. Elliott, head of the Office of Civilian Requirements, is now overseas to find out for himself whether or not SHEAF exaggerates its needs.

State's "Cash Basis" Not Exactly What It Seems!

By GORDON SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN —Texas has announced it is again on a cash basis and has adopted a constitutional amendment to keep it permanently on a pay as you go basis, but this is only true to a limited extent.

It is true to the extent that the State's General Revenue fund, from which a large part of current expenses are paid, has been put back in black figures after many years "in the red," yet that does not mean that the state owes nothing.

State Auditor C. H. Cavness directed his staff to inquire into the bonded indebtedness of the state and found that on Aug. 31, 1944, it owed outstanding bonds that total $4,102,200. The date selected for the recapitulation was the day on which the state's last fiscal year was ended.

Above this $4,102,200, there are of course the individual bonded debts of counties, school districts, road districts, improvement districts and of cities and towns for which the state as a whole is not liable.

Confusin', Not Amusin'

To the ordinary citizen who knows whether he is broke or not by finding out if his bank account is overdrawn or his credit refused, the intricicies of public bonds is, to say the least, confusing.

It is confusing to discover that "municipal" bonds are not necessarily the bonds of a city. The term seems to be used generally for all bonds backed by the state or any of the various subdivisions of state public government.

IT IS confusing, too, to find that one branch of government holds the bonds of another. All of the $4,102,200 of strictly state debt is owned by some of the separate "permanent funds" of the state and its institutions.

"Permanent" funds are accumulation which are invested, usually in bonds, and from which only the current income can be spent.

Probably the greatest holder of public bonds is the permanent school fund. It holds $2,872,000 of the $4,102,200 state bonds and also many times that amount in bonds of school districts. In fact, a school district may not sell its bonds on the general market without first offering the bonds to the State Board of Education and getting a release of the board's right to buy the bonds as an investment of the permanent school fund.

How News Travels

How news travels was illustrated when State Sen. George Moffett received a Christmas card from a World War I buddy. This buddy lives at Stockton, Calif. With the Christmas card was a note asking: "How did the election come out? Hope you won." Enclosed, too, was a clipping from a Stockton newspaper which reproduced an item from Editor and Publisher, national newspaper trade paper, announcing Moffett's candidacy for Congress.

His candidacy got into Editor and Publisher because a printer had changed the story from "Tow headed George Moffett" to "Tow Headed George Muffett." A Stockton editor read it, reprinted it with credit, and Moffett's buddy saw the item.

The flaxen-haired senator sent Buddy Julius Gaedtkes the sad news that he lost the race.

JUDGE C. S. SLATTON of the State Supreme Court commission is considered an eminent jurist, but when it comes to raising turkeys, his attractive blond wife steals the picture.

Take it from Senate Secretary Bob Barker that Mrs. Slatton knows the secrets of raising "Baby Beef" turkeys. He told her he wanted a "large" bird for Christmas.

Mrs. Slatton took him at his word and when Barker received his turkey it weighed 45 pounds dressed. The bird was 17 months old.

But Mrs. Slatton says her "largest" turkey was the one they raised for Atty. Gen. Grover Sellers. That turkey weighed 32 pounds when he was dressed at the age of five months. Think what he would have been in another 12 months at that rate, she says.

Just before Christmas, Mrs. Slatton sold more than 200 turkeys, the buyers crying for more.

One For The Twerps

For the benefit of college students home for the holidays, the Nacogdoches paper revealed the story of a certain country girl who went away to college:

She wrote home to her father: "Thursday we autoed out to the country club where we golfed until dark, then picnicked and later motored to the beach, where we weekended."

Her father worte back: "Yesterday we buggied to town and footballed all afternoon. Today we musled out to the corn field and geehawed until sundown. Then he suppered and pieped for a spell. After that, we staircased up to the bedroom and bedsteaded until the clock fived."

PROFITS CUT GAINS

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Assorted rails and industrials continued on the strong side of today's stock market but six straight average advances to 7-year peaks inspired large-scale profit cashing which pushed numerous leaders to lower levels.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .2 of a cent at 58.9, first recession since Dec. 27. It was another of the broadest markets of the past year, 983 issues registering. Of these, 415 were down, 340 up and 227 unchanged. Transfers of 1,788,330 shares compared with 1,626,740 Thursday.

N. Y. Central was the day's fastest sprinter and ended up ⅝. Norfolk and Western jumped 7½ points to 234½ in odd-lot deals. Among gainers of 1 to 2 were Allied Chemical and Boeing.

Modest plus signs were retained by American Telephone, Standard Oil (NJ), Armour, Wilson and Co. and Du Pont.

Down fractions to 2 points were Westinghouse, Santa Fe, Great Northern, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda, American Can, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, Texas Co., Eastman Kodak and U. S. Gypsum.

Soviet And Poles

entirely dissemilar in that many officials here think the British were seeking to impose a government on the Greek people. In less degree the same issue was involved in American criticism of British intervention in the formation of an Italian government.

Diplomatic authorities say the question with Mr. Roosevelt now is what to do about it.

Britain openly and Russia privately have taken the position, according to insiders here, that if the United States wants to obtain adherence to principles of self-determination, popular control of government, or other measures and wants them applied in ways different from those which the European Allies consider practical at the moment, then the United States will have to back its words with action.

This raises the issue of the extent to which the United States is willing to participate in world affairs, beyond winning the war, unless and until it becomes a member of the proposed world security organization. Among administration leaders, it has also raised the question whether the United States Senate will readily accept a world organization if the world it is to secure has been botched up by power politics.

Gen. Montgomery

ing the most critical stage, Gen. George C. Marshall in Washington said the famed British leader assumed charge on the second night of the German offensive, which was launched Dec. 16.

Still Self-Contained

By this change, there still would be coordinated self-contained armies in the north and south if the Germans had won a complete breakthrough, it was explained.

Some Ninth Army divisions helped oppose the German push at the start. Some British forces were thrown in as long as a week ago.

It was the first time since the burst out of Normandy, when Bradley assumed equal status with Montgomery as an Army group commander, that the British field marshal, who won a brilliant reputation in Libya, has had any sizeable American forces under his direction.

Two In South Unchanged

Lt.-Gen. Jacob L. Devers' Sixth Army group farther south, which includes the American Seventh and French First armies, remained unchanged in this tactical shuffle.

The high tide of Nazi reconquest began to recede the day after Montgomery took charge on the north. He mapped out the counter-blows.

Churchill, Eisenhower, and General de Gaulle conferred at supreme headquarters last Wednesday, in a session which presumably determined greater participation by the French Army on the Western front.

Churchill and Eisenhower were said to have assured de Gaulle that the French would be helped to form a large army. No details were disclosed officially by London or supreme headquarters.

Death Toll Mounts In Bus Collision

CORSICANA, Jan. 5 (AP)—Kennon Campbell, 44, Austin, driver of the bus in collision with a truck near Corsicana yesterday, died late today in a hospital here, bringing to five the number fatally injured in the accident.

Another crash victim, Mrs. Cleo Irene Wilson, 34, of Pittsburgh, Kas., remained in a critical condition.

Eleven others, injured less seriously, were expected to be released from hospitals today.

GEN. COLEMAN DIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (AP) — Maj. Gen. Frederick W. Coleman, 66, USA retired, governor of the soldiers' home here since 1936, died today. A native of Baltimore, he was chief of finance of the Army from 1932 until his retirement from active service in 1936.

Nassau, capital of the Bahama islands, has 20,000 inhabitants.

Texas Woman Found Slain In California

CHINO, Calif., Jan. 5 (AP)—The body of 23-year-old Mrs. Eleanor Schmid of Abilene, Tex., wife of Capt. Carl Schmid, who is with the Army in Belgium, was found today in a bedroom at the home of Dr. F. M. Brennan, Chino veterinarian. She had been shot through the head.

Coroner R. E. White, who did not immediately return a formal verdict, said Dr. Richard W. Winters of Fort Worth, Tex., told him he flew with Mrs. Schmid from Texas to Chino, Dec. 31, for a visit with Dr. Brennan, their friend of college days.

White said Dr. Winters told him he and Dr. Brennan returned early this morning from a visit to nearby Fontana and shortly afterward heard a shot in the bedroom. They said they rushed in to find Mrs. Schmid seated in a chair, a bullet hole in her temple, White stated.

The coroner said Mrs. Schmid has two small children who are being cared for by her mother in Abilene.

Western Front

out on the highways west of Strasbourg, fearful that the Germans again were about to overrun Alsace, and French flags came down inside the city, a civil affairs officer said.

This second upsetting offensive in less than a month came as supreme headquarters announced that Gen. Eisenhower had reshuffled his command, placing Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery over all four armies north of the Belgian bulge, grouping the U. S. First and Ninth armies with his British Second and Canadian First.

A terse supreme headquarters announced said that the German push in the Maginot line area of Bitche had developed into a full-blown offensive, had carried nearly 15 miles into France and was put 12 miles from the vital Saverne gap supplying two Allied armies along the Rhine.

(German broadcasts said veterans who stormed the Maginot line in 1940 had broken through the old French fortifications again on a 25-mile front to a depth of 20 miles but Paris radio said the U. S. Seventh Army had rallied and recaptured the initiative.)

A front dispatch described heavy fighting raging from Lemberg, four miles southwest of Bitche, nine miles eastward to Philippsbour.

Hits Critical Point

Once more Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt had struck at a critical point, for should he capture and hold Saverne gap the U. S. Seventh Army and French units with it would be caught between these forces and German troops firmly entrenched around Colmar in southern Alsace.

In slow and stubborn battling, the U. S. First Army and British Second Army — the latter disclosed for the first time today to be in action — widened the front of their assault north of the Belgian bulge today to 21 miles in gains of more than a mile.

The Third Army on the south, all that is left under Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's post-shuffle command from the 12th Army group of the First, Third and Ninth armies, ground out a one-mile gain west of Bastogne after beating off at least 18 counterattacks in 24 hours up to early today.

A one to two-mile withdarwal on a three-mile sector from the area of Michamps, four miles northeast of Bastogne, southward to near Wardin was made, however, by the Third Army's armor in what was described as an orderly line-shortening operation.

The combined drives of the three armies had whittled the Belgian bulge to about half its original size.

It is now possible to disclose that the British fought alongside the Americans more than a week ago in smashing the northwestern tip of the German wedge west of Rochefort.

These forces were not large, but they helped to drive the spearheads back from 10 to 12 miles in two ways.

The concerted push of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army from the south still was stopped by the fury of German counter-attacks along the sector of the 12-mile west waist of the Belgian bulge, but a one-mile gain was scored near Hubermant, six miles west of Bastogne.

New Draft Hints

Military committee, took the view however that the administration already has ample authority to draft 4-Fs.

"The only reason these men are 4-Fs is because the Army or Navy rejected them," he told reporters.

At the same time, War Production board Chairman J. A. Krug backed Byrnes' request for work-or-fight legislation for 4-Fs, and Rep. O'Toole (D-NY) advocated the induction of 4-F athletes, actors and musicians to serve as traveling entertainment units for fighting men.

Whiteway Lights In City 'Blacked Out'

Lubbock had the semblance of a blacked-out city Friday night with all whiteway lights in the city out.

City light plant officials said a "ground" on the main circuit caused the trouble.

At 11:30 o'clock, approximately two and a half hours after the lights went out, linemen still sought to locate the difficulty.

Pacific Landing

stretches southwest of Japan, and the island with Formosa make direct stepping stones for Nipponese aircraft flying from home bases to the Philippines.

The seizure of Marinduque came one day after MacArthur's announcement that American troops had made additional landings without opposition on the east and west coast of Mindoro island. These buttressed the mid-December original invasion on the southwest coast of Mindoro, when the Yanks seized a Japanese airfield in the vicinity of the town of San Jose.

Japanese planes continued their persistent night attacks on American installaions on Mindoro island, doing some damage but losing four aircraft to Yank night fighter planes and anti-aircraft fire.

Jap Airfields Pounded

American airmen maintained their pounding of Japanese airfields in the central and southern Philippines, bombers and fighters striking dromes on Negroes, Panay and Mindanao islands.

Allied medium bombers and fighter-bombers dropped 30 tons of bombs on Nipponese personnel and supply areas on Halmahera, Ambon, Boeroe and Ceram islands in the Moluccas, while other aircraft harassed Japanese encampments in the Tanimbar islands and in the Wewak sector, New Guinea.

Enemy airdromes and troop concentrations near Kavieng, New Ireland island in the Bismarck archipelago were hammered with 34 tons of explosives which set off explosions and fires.

Hanover And Berlin Pounded By Heavies

LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Hanover and Berlin were raided twice each tonight by British bombers as the RAF carried the Allied air attack against Germany around the clock after more than 1,500 U. S. heavy bombers and fighters had pounded a score of road and rail junctions behind the front during the day.

Hanover, industrial city of 500,000 population which was the night's main target, was smashed first by a force of about 750 Halifax heavy bombers and later by another smaller formation of Lancasters.

Both raids on Berlin, which was hit for the second consecutive night, were by Mosquitos dropping two-ton blockbusters.

Red Raiders Take Opener Over Hardin-Simmons Five

A pair of Monument, New Mexico, lads, Don Grove and Jiggs Jackson teamed up Friday night at the Texas Tech gym, and paced the Texas Tech Red Raiders to a 63 to 34 victory over the Hardin-Simmons Cowbays in the opening game of the tow game series. The same two teams will play again tonight at 8 o'clock at the Tech gym.

The Cowboys kept within striking distance until midway in the first period, but at that point, Grove began to hit the short ones, and Jackson flipped them in from afar, and the Red Raiders moved out to a 35 to 12 lead at the half.

The Red Raiders added a little more leeway to the score early in the third period, then Coach Polk Robison began clearing the bench, and used every man on the squad.

Grove hit the meshes nine times from the floor and once from the foul line for 19 points. Jackson dropped in eight from the floor, and added three from the foul line to match his fellow townsman.

Scoring honors for the Cowboys was also a divided honor with Sorrell and Wright each getting five field goals and three free pitches for 13 points to pace the Abilene five by a comfortable margin.

Abernathy, Wayland Cagers Break Even

ABERNATHY, Jan. 5. (Special).—The Wayland college Jackrabbits and the Abernathy Antelopes shared cage victories here tonight, the co-eds winning the opener 23-20, and the schoolboys downing the collegians in the finale, 38 to 28.

The opening girls game was a closely fought battle all the way, with the score tied many times during the game. The college girls held a 13-10 lead at the half. Jackson of the college club captured scoring honors with 16 points, while Edna Fay Ledford paced the Abernathy girls with nine points.

In the boys game, Wayland took a 10-7 lead in the first quarter, but the schoolboys moved back into the lead in the second period to reach the halfway mark leading 19-16. The schoolboys pulled away in the last half.

Bert Roberts of Wayland and Lewis Lutrick of Abernathy tied for scoring honors with 10 points each, closely pressed by Lester Brown of Abernathy with eight.

Westerners Nip Lamesa, 42-29

Coach Dixie White's Lubbock Westerners came from behind in the last half Thursday night at the Westerners gym to win a 42 to 29 thriller over the Lamesa Golden Tornados in the feature game of a triple-header.

The Westerner B team added to the glory of the night, nosing out the Lamesa B team in a closely fought 14-11 battle. In the curtain raiser of the three-way card, the Cowboy Reds nosed out a 14-10 victory over the Cowboy Blue team in a junnior high school battle.

Nixman, forward with the Lamesa club, was one of the outstanding boys on the floor, and copped the scoring honors for the night as he poured 16 points through the hoop to keep the Tornados in the ball game until the fading minutes.

R. W. Moyers made "the difference" in the Westerner ball club, and paced his mates to the victory with 12 points, as well as serving as the spark plug.

Crowding him for the scoring honors were Verdell Turner and George Brewer, each turning in 10 points as the three accounted for 32 points, and enough for the victory.

Lamesa bounded away to a 9-5 lead by the end of the first quarter, and staved off the Westerners in a second period uprising to lead 18-16 at the half. But the Whitemen roared into a 30-21 lead during the third period, and won going away.

In the B game, the Westerners took the lead, and kept it all the way, but the Lamesa B team made a great rally in the second quarter to almost overhaul the Westerners.

Crawford set the scoring pace for the game, getting four field goals for eight points. Morris and Hoover tied for honors with Lamesa with four points each.

In the curtain raiser, the Reds staved off a last half Blue rally to win. Marlin Smith and Royce Ellison paced the winners with five points each while Gene Ussery paced the Blues with four points.

SPAAF Defeats Sheppard, 53-46

South Plains Army Air Field's Winged Commandos turned on the heat in a sizzling rally in the fading minutes for a convincing 53 to 46 victory over Sheppard Field's skyscraping cagers at the SPAAF recreation hall last night as an overflow crowd howled its approval.

The Commandos, deadlocked with the visiting Wichita Falls giants 19 to 19 at halftime, fell behind seven points about midway the thrilling last half but finally found their range and started bombarding the basket with a volley of shots that found their mark and smothered the tiring visitors' efforts.

With about five mnutes to go the Commandos tied up the tussle at 41 to 41 and from then on steadily pulled ahead, having things much their own way in the last two minutes of play.

Lesson "Pete" McCloud, SPAAF's all-American ace, was high point man for the night with 18 points, edging out Sheppard Field's Guard Bussard who had 17 and SPAAF's Doug Wakeland who played a nice game in adding up 16 points.

Fouls cost the visitors heavily with SPAAF counting on 15 of 20 free tosses.

Tonight, the Sheppard Field aggregation moves across town to meet Lubbock Army Air Field's powerful club. The game will get under way at 8 o'clock.

The Tahoka teams gained some measure of consolation in winning the B game, 23 to 14, and the girls game, 9 to 6, but were unable to outscore the powerful Eagles.

O'Donnell took a 13 to 6 lead in a low scoring first half, and the Bulldogs came back in the second period to hit three quick field goals, and the battle was on.

Brownlow, high scoring ace of the Eagles, poured 17 points through the meshes for scoring honors, while Nolan Jones paced the Bulldogs with eight.

Nancy Wyatt accounted for six points to lead the Tahoka girls to victory, while Wells copped scoring honors for Tahoka in the boys B game, getting ten points.

Levelland also won the B game as Royce Peterson poured in 12 points to lead the Lobo cubs to a 21 to 7 victory. One field goal for the Lobo B team was "donated" when little Starkey, Muleshoe forward sank a long shot from near midcourt, but through the wrong basket.
