CHECKING THE BOARD

Harold Shirey, left, chairman of the Aransas County Republican Party, and Lola Bonner, Aransas County Democratic Party chairman, check out the scoreboard the Rockport Pilot will use to record election results Saturday night, June 7. The board, still "under construction" when this picture was taken is completed and will be ready for election night action when the polls close Saturday at 7 p.m. Pilot staff members will man the office and the telephone from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. Saturday, and the Aransas County residents are asked to call the Pilot, 729-9900, for election results -- or drop by during the evening for refreshments and a look at the board. Polls Open At 7 A.M. For Run-Off Elections

By Pat Blair
Aransas County's six Democratic and one Republican polling station will open at 7 a.m. Saturday, June 7, for voters in the run-off elections.

At stake are the party nominations in seven national, state and county offices, including the commissioners of Aransas County's precincts 1-1A and 3.

Under state law, voters must cast their run-off election ballots with the same party in which they voted in the May 3 primaries. It is a Class A misdemeanor, punishable by fine up to $2,000, jail for up to one year, or both, to vote in a party run-off election if you voted in the other party's primary. Voters are allowed to cross party lines in the November general election.

Polls will remain open until 7 p.m. on election day. Absentee balloting, held in the office of County Clerk Ruby Hart, ended at 5 p.m. Tuesday, June 3.

Voters in the Democratic run-off elections will mark their ballots on six races. As in the May 3 primaries, Democratic voters are asked to fill in completely the box to the right of the candidate of their choice.

Included on the Democratic ballot is the race for U.S. Representative, 14th District, Robert N. (Bob) Barnes versus William N. (Bill) Patman. Voters in all county precincts will cast ballots in this race.

Voters in precincts 1 and 1A will choose a county commissioner from the race between Rachel Garcia and John M. Lee. And in Pct. 3, the choice for county commissioner is between Raymond Owens and Jimmy Woods Jr.

Voters in all precincts will cast ballots on the remaining Democratic races: associate

Pilot Invites Aransas County To Election Party

Aransas County residents are invited to the Rockport Pilot Election Party starting when the polls close at 7 p.m. Saturday, June 7.

The Pilot will maintain complete, up-to-the-minute election results as soon as they become available.

Beverly Wilken will keep tabs on the Democratic election results from the office of Democratic County Chairman Lola Bonner, and Eddie Bradley will report on results in the Republican runoff election.

Pat Blair will be at the Pilot office, 1002 Wharf Street, where the Pilot will have its scoreboard.

The board will show all seven runoff races -- six in the Democratic and one in the Republican party -- at a glance, with precinct-by-precinct as well as county-wide totals for each race.

The board will also show district and statewide totals in the races for State Senate, U.S. Representative, the Supreme Court Associate justice and both posts on the State Court of Criminal Appeals.

Aransas County residents are invited to drop by the Pilot office to check the board and enjoy the refreshments that will be provided.

Or they can call the Pilot office at 729-9900 on election night from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. for available election totals.

The Pilot will have complete election results in the June 11 Midweek edition.

Council To Consider Grant Feasibility

Rockport's city council will consider whether the city wants to apply for recently-available grant funds during a special meeting at City Hall Wednesday afternoon, June 4.

Also on the agenda for the special meeting, set for 5 p.m., is discussion and possible action on the city's summer Water Safety Patrol Program.

The item relating to grant funds was placed on the agenda after city officials learned that money was being made available through the Coastal Energy Impact Program.

The council Wednesday will consider whether it wants to file an application to secure grant funds through this program -- and if so, what type of project the funds should be used for.

If the council decides on a project and authorizes application for grant funds, it will also be asked to designate a person or firm to make the application, a project coordinator and an engineering firm.

City officials emphasize that the item is not on the agenda because of any specific project but because the grant money has become available.

The meeting is to determine if -- and how -- the council wants to take advantage of the opportunity.

Funds through the Coastal Energy Impact Program are federal monies channeled through the state to local governments.

Among items that may be discussed relating to the city's Water Safety Program Wednesday is insurance for city personnel operating the safety patrol boat.

The city council approved an Intergovernmental Agreement May 26 with the Aransas County Medical Services Inc. (ACMSI) that permits joint use of the boat by city and emergency medical service (EMS) personnel.

At that meeting, the council also instructed the city staff to "check out" insurance coverage for city people operating the boat.

Harlan Says Bays Are 'Not Shrimped Out'

By Eddie Bradley

J.C. Harlan, president of the Seafood Producers Association, said that some misinformation was given out at a recent meeting of the Commissioners' Court.

At that meeting, the bays were described as being "shrimped out," and Mr. Harlan said he wanted to set the record straight.

"Our bays are as full (of shrimp) as they can possibly be," he said, adding that the shrimp fishermen's problem was not the lack of shrimp in the bays but rather "the restrictions on the amount of shrimp that can be taken."

Several fishermen had appeared at the meeting to seek financial assistance due to a lack of shrimping revenue. "I am not opposed to the shrimpers getting financial help anywhere they can," Harlan said, "but I am opposed to anyone thinking that the bays are shrimped out."

He stated that the number of boats involved in shrimping was getting out of hand and could cause real problems in the future. One possible solution would be to legally limit the number of shrimp boats that could fish. Harlan said that he has asked for some type of limited entry regulation from Austin.

Concerning a desire for more liberal limits on the amount of shrimp that a fisherman could bring to the dock, he said that inflation had really hit them hard, and although the limits had not changed over the years, the revenue they bring in has diminished in buying power.

In summation, Harlan said that a limit on the number of boats in the shrimping fleet coupled with an increase in the amount of shrimp that could be taken would allow people to "make a decent living" without having to break laws.

Reverend Harris Appointed To San Antonio Church

Reverend Boyd Harris, pastor at the Methodist Church in Rockport has been appointed to the Highland Terrace Methodist Church in southeast San Antonio.

Reverend Harris began his ministry here four years ago, on June 10, 1976, moving to Rockport from the United Methodist Church in Austin, where he was pastor for four years.

"We've really enjoyed serving here," said Reverend Harris. "We've enjoyed the community."

Reverend Harris and his wife, Anabel, have three children: Barbara Portmann, who lives in Richardson with her husband, Christopher; David, who is employed in Austin; and Paul, who is in his junior year at the University of Texas in Austin majoring in Civil Engineering.

Reverend Barrett Renfro of St. Stephens Methodist Church in San Antonio, will be the new pastor at the Methodist Church in Rockport.

WHAT'S BURNING?

That's what members of Rockport's volunteer fire department were trying to find out Friday afternoon, May 30, when they were called to Max's Tackle Shop on Austin Street. The call came a little after 1 p.m. after Maxine Malcolm, working in the shop, smelled smoke, went to the back of the shop and saw smoke coming up through the floor of the building. Maxine told her daughter, Marie Cooper of Ingleside -- who was helping out in the shop at the time -- to call the fire department. "I said, 'Are you kidding?'" recalled Marie, "who didn't smell any smoke at the time. 'Mother said, 'No. Call the fire department.'"

When firemen arrived, they broke up the boards with an ax to get at the smoldering wood below, then applied the hose. Mrs. Malcolm speculated that someone threw a cigarette down behind the store and it was blown under the building. The fire was out shortly before 2 p.m. [Pilot Photo by Pat Blair]

Annual Vines Dress Up Landscape

COLLEGE STATION -- Annual vines are often overlooked as a method of dressing up a landscape, according to Dr. William Welch, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Welch says these cost-conscious plants are easily started from seed and bloom continuously. They can dress up a barren wire fence or add a rustic note to a trellis, wood fence or downspout.

Annual vines do not have the tearing habit often associated with their perennial counterparts. They will not damage brick, mortar or wood, Welch points out.

Vines can decorate bare walls, shade a patio overhang or west window, or soften lines of brick or stone fences.

Welch says vines need not always climb. Equally beautiful when displayed, vines can cascade from hanging baskets or window boxes.

An ideal vine variety recommended by Welch is thunbergia or Black-eyed Susan. Its medium-green foliage is heart-shaped and it boasts cascades of flowers during warm months.

sceptre, fellow teachers showered her with "gifts" ranging from a footstool to a copy of "Playgirl" magazine.

There were also more serious gifts including a service award for her 44 years devoted to the teaching profession -- 27 of them in the Aransas County Independent School District.

The ceremony, marking Mrs. Gilley's retirement from teaching, was followed by a buffet luncheon in the Rockport Elementary School library.

A proclamation, declaring Bertha Gilley Day, was issued Thursday, May 29, by Rockport Elementary Principal W.J. Ratliff.

Ratliff said Mrs. Gilley "will be missed by everyone at Rockport Elementary, but we know she will enjoy her retirement and we wish her good health and happiness."

He went on to thank Mrs. Gilley "for her unselfish dedicated years of service."

Meredith Teague and Bobby Jackson sang two songs they had composed for the occasion, including "I Believe In Teaching", a parody of "I Believe In Music."

Jane Rossman read her description of a teacher and concluded that the "complete composite description of a dedicated teacher is 'Bertha'."

Mrs. Gilley told the teachers of Rockport Elementary that she had "enjoyed being with you."

Her retirement was effective the end of this school year. Classes let out in Aransas County schools on Thursday, but Friday was a work day for teachers.

Governor Urges Vacation In Texas

AUSTIN--The Texas Tourist Development Agency has launched a public information print and broadcast campaign designed to counter rising fuel costs by encouraging Texans to vacation in their own state this year.

Using the theme, "Take more of a vacation and less of a trip," the campaign features popular Luckenbach personality Guich Kooch, formerly of the ABC television series "Carter County."

Kooch reminds Texans of the wealth of activities and scenic attractions available "right in your own backyard . . . most of 'em on a tank of gas or less."

Gov. Bill Clements, in a letter introducing the campaign to Texas editors, notes that a successful vacation-in-Texas effort could help conserve fuel and also add a healthy boost to the state's economy.

Tourists are an important source of revenue in Texas. The state ranks fourth nationally in terms of travel revenue, behind California, Florida and New York.

Travel is now a $7 billion a year industry in Texas, employing 250,000 people and paying $1.8 billion in wages. State and local governments now collect some $274 million in taxes off travel expenditures.

Heart Association Donates Books

The Aransas County Division of the American Heart Association has presented two complementary copies of the new Heartbook to the Aransas County Library.

Heartbook, a cardiovascular reference book written in non-technical language, is promoted as a guide to the prevention and treatment of cardiovascular disease.

"It's basically an easy-to-read encyclopedia about the heart and how to protect it," Roy W. Olbrich, local AHA president, explained.

He stated that the 370-page illustrated book, written by 32 cardiovascular experts, is the most comprehensive book of its kind and the only one authorized by the AHA.

"We hope the public will take full advantage of the information presented in Heartbook," Olbrich added,

"because public knowledge is our strongest weapon against heart attack, stroke and other forms of cardiovascular disease."

In accepting the book, Eunice Hamon, librarian stated, that "more requests are being made for this type of information, and these books will be used to the fullest."

LIBRARY GETS "HEARTBOOKS"

Powerful Ideas

You don't have to break your back getting ready for that backyard garden.

Tilling the soil can be a breeze, if you use modern power equipment and till according to safety suggestions from the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute:

1. Before using the machine, read the owner's manual. Know how controls and attachments work.
2. Before you till, remove obstacles—stones, tree trunks, large roots.
3. Wear boots or heavy shoes with soles that grip. A slip or fall could be dangerous.
4. Leave guards or shields on your machine.
5. Make sure the engine's off before unclogging blades, making repairs or refueling.
6. Never walk away and leave the engine running, not even to remove an obstacle from its path.
7. Let the motor cool at least 10 minutes before refueling.

Basketball Camp Starts June 15 At A&M

COLLEGE STATION — The Texas A&M Athletic Department will sponsor its second annual girls' basketball camp this summer from June 15-20.

Cherri Rapp, women's head coach at A&M, and Jane Rosenkrans, the new assistant coach at UCLA, will head this year's staff which will include pro basketball star Heidi Nestor of the Milwaukee Does of the WBL.

"It is a week of lots of basketball," said Rapp. "The girls will receive a great deal of individual instruction and they will have a chance to learn basic fundamentals necessary to become an outstanding basketball player."

The camp is open to all girls 10 years of age or above at a cost of $150 per camper. Team rates will also be available.

For more information about the camp call the Texas A&M Athletic Department at (713) 845-1051, or write Texas A&M Girls Basketball Camp, Athletic Department, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

Weather Plagues Fishermen

AUSTIN—Bad weather this spring has plagued offshore fishermen along the Texas Gulf Coast, but indications are that fishing is picking up when weather permits.

Biologist Larry McEachron of Rockport said fishing for Spanish mackerel has been outstanding recently near the end of the Port Aransas jetties, with many parties reporting fast action on the small fish.

The larger king mackerel and ling also are making an appearance, and offshore catches should increase as the weather moderates, McEachron said.

SUMMER RUNNERS

The summer track program was off and running Monday morning at the high school track, as boys and girls of all ages turned out to take part. Here Edward Lancaster, left, and Christine Connolly enjoy a leisurely pace on the cinders.

Hermann Sons Camp Opens June 1

SAN ANTONIO -- More than 1,800 boys and girls from Hermann Sons lodges across Texas—including the Rockport area—are expected to attend the fraternal benefit society's youth summer camp this season in the Hill Country near Comfort.

Located in the southeast corner of Kerr County on the Guadalupe River, the camp opened Sunday, June 1, with six weekly sessions for girls, followed with five sessions for boys July 13 to August 16.

Registrations this spring are running well ahead of previous years, Louis B. Engelke of San Antonio, grand president of the Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas, said.

More than 1,600 junior members were registered by mid-May, with many more applications for registration forms still in the hands of parents.

Since the first season in 1954, the camp has seen 32,749 junior members participate. The camp can be free on a merit point basis for junior Hermann Sons who earn sufficient credits by attending junior chapter meetings or by successfully recommending new members to the fraternal order.

The maximum fee those members who earn no points for a one-week session is $25, well below fees paid at comparable Hill Country camps.

All junior members attending camp must be 9 years of age and less than 14 years of age before the opening day of the 1980 season.

Camp director is Harlan Smith of San Antonio, a retired Air Force officer and graduate of Southwest Texas State University, San Marcos, with a major in physical education.

The camp features masonry-constructed dormitories, dining hall and kitchen and includes facilities for horseback riding, swimming, archery, tennis, softball, soccer, trampolines and arts and crafts.

Classes in tumbling also are scheduled and the arts and crafts program has been expanded for "rainy day" activities.

Refuges To Have Deer Hunts

Controlled firearms deer hunts are being held again this year on Laguna Atascosa and Aransas National Wildlife Refuges.

Interested hunters may apply to participate in the drawing for a permit at only one area and for one specific hunt date.

The hunt dates for Aransas National Wildlife Refuge are scheduled for October 3-4, 5-6, 7-8, 9-10, 11-12.

Laguna Atascosa National Wildlife Refuge hunt dates are December 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16.

There will be 200 permits issued for each of Aransas's two-day hunts and 25 permits issued for each of the five hunts at Laguna Atascosa.

Special bag limits have been established at both refuges. Aransas NWR will allow a limit of two deer—the first deer must be antlerless or a spike. A spike is defined as a deer with at least one unforked antler. Feral hogs may also be taken. There is no limit on how many hogs each hunter may take.

Laguna Atascosa NWR is limiting its legal game to deer only. Each hunter may take two deer; however the buck harvest will be determined each day and a limited number of buck permits will be issued.

Interested parties may receive an application for the hunt drawings and instructions for the firearms deer hunt by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: HUNTS, P.O. Box 818, McAllen, Texas 78501.

In addition to the "permit only" gun hunts, both Laguna and Aransas plan archery seasons.

No permit is required for these hunts which will be held at Aransas on September 18 through September 22 and September 25 through September 29, and on Laguna from October 16 through October 26, 1980. Both archery hunts permit either sex deer to be taken.

Shrimp Worth Money

AUSTIN—Shrimpers in the Port Isabel area should continue to be on the alert for tagged shrimp which can be worth reward money.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, in cooperation with other agencies, has tagged 13,000 shrimp with bright green streamer tags. In all, about 300,000 shrimp are expected to be tagged off the coasts of Texas, Louisiana and Mexico during 1980 in an effort to study movements, growth and mortality of the species.

Fishermen harvesting tagged shrimp should return them along with the exact date and location of capture to National Marine Fisheries Service port agents, TP&WD biologists or Texas A&M University marine extension agents.

Some of the tagged shrimp carry values of $50 to $500 upon return, according to biologist Terry J. Cody of Rockport.

Snappers Have Tags

AUSTIN—If you're going fishing for red snappers off Port Aransas, keep an eye out for tagged fish.

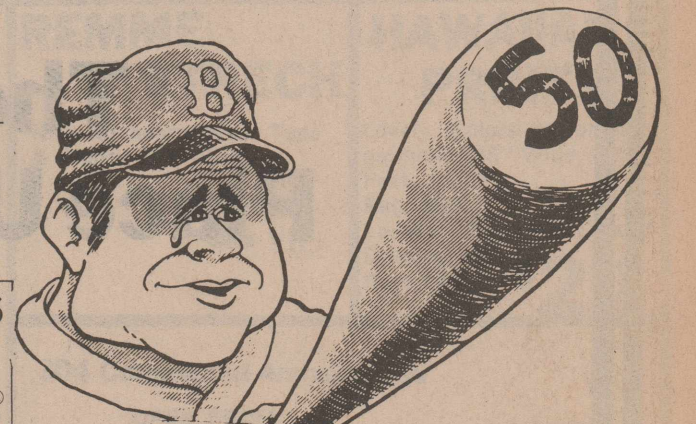

The yellow plastic streamer tags attached to the fishes' abdomens are worth rewards ranging from $1 to $25 upon return to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, P.O. Box 1707, Rockport, Texas 78382. When returning a tag, the angler should include his name and address, the species, length and weight of the fish, date and where caught, the tag number and whether caught by a sport or commercial fisherman.

This data will be used to calculate fishing mortality, movement and growth rates of the snappers. So far, 21 tags have been returned, leaving about 240 tagged fish at large, according to Ed Hegen of Rockport, finfish program leader.

Vermillion Will Spend Summer At Disneyland

Mike Vermillion is all set to leave this weekend for Anaheim, California where he will spend his summer as part of Disneyland's All American College Marching Band.

There are twenty members in the band and Mike went through an audition process that included over 500 college students. Only four horn players were picked for the band, and Mike was one of them.

He just finished his sophomore year at Texas Tech University, and has been on the dean's list all four semesters there. His over all Grade Point Average is 3.85 and he had a perfect 4.0 the last semester.

Mike is a member of the "Goin' Band From Raiderland," which has about 300 members. In the spring, he plays in the touring concert band.

He is the secretary for the Texas Tech Zeta Sigma chapter of the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia professional music fraternity.

In January he auditioned for the Disneyland Band; a month later he was called and informed that he had made it. The company will furnish him an apartment as well as transportation to and from the park.

They are also paying his dues to join a professional musicians union.

He will be playing a marching french horn in the band. It will probably be furnished by the University of Southern California, since the director for that school is also directing the Disneyland Band.

Mike says he is looking forward to this summer and hopes it will help him make some decisions on the direction his music career should follow.

Sales Tax Reporting Easier With New Forms, Says Bullock

Local merchants — like others throughout Texas — will have an easier time making their sales tax returns, says State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Bullock has unveiled a new streamlined sales tax return — the best and shortest in the nation, he says — that will reduce paperwork and bookkeeping chores for most Texas businesses.

Bullock said the short form sales tax return is about the size of a postcard and will be into use this month.

"The best and shortest in the nation, bar none," he said of the new return, "and it won't take a fancy-pants Dallas lawyer to fill it out."

Bullock said 85 percent of all Texas sales tax permit holders will be able to use the short form.

"Now more than a quarter-million taxpayers can fill out their taxes on a pre-printed 9-by-4 inch card in probably less time than it takes to make out a grocery list."

The new short form requires less information from taxpayers than the current sales tax return, and state, city and metropolitan transit authority tax rates are combined in one computation.

The new form will also shorten processing time within the Comptroller's office.

Bullock said the design of the form is the result of a concentrated effort by his department to adopt reform measures that assist taxpayers by "making paying taxes as uncomplicated as humanly possible."

"Cumbersome forms at the Comptroller's office are going the way of gas-guzzling cars — into the junk heap."

Federal officials say government-required paperwork at state and local levels nationwide costs between $5 to $9 billion to prepare each year, the state comptroller said.

"And, they didn't count the frustration level of those who have to do this paperwork and bookkeeping," he added.

"Our new return is just short of being revolutionary. It's a current application of some old advice: Keep it short and keep it simple," he said.

Monthly taxpayers will begin using the new form in June to report their May taxes and quarterly taxpayers will use the new form starting in July to report April, May and June sales.

DON'T LET YOUR COUNTRY DOWN GET OUT AND VOTE THIS ELECTION

Candidate Review Saturday, June 7, Run-offs

Barnes, Patman Vie For 14th Congressional Seat

Robert N. (Bob) Barnes

As a fiscal conservative I will support new tax policies that will encourage large new investments in modern and innovative plants and business. Tax policies that will encourage savings and capital formation—our current rate of saving is now the lowest as a percent of disposable income in many years. Reduce government regulation that now increases prices to the consumer. Cut government spending in most non-defense categories and balance the federal budget every year.

I will support continued exploration for domestic oil and gas prospects, including offshore and federal lands. Conservation—not doing without but using energy more efficiently.

My second priority is vigorous development of new energy sources, especially fluid fuels. If electrical demand continues to rise, a balanced mix of coal-fired and adequately safeguarded nuclear powered power generation facilities.

William N. (Bill) Patman

Through 19 years in the Texas Senate I've fought and won legislative battles now moving to the national scene.

Unlike candidates whose experience is in the local, administrative field, my working experience in government — balancing budgets and fighting the high cost of living — has been in a state legislative body comparable to Congress.

Twice before, Aransas County has elected me to represent you. I'm proud of our fruitful association — in locally important projects such as saving old Copano Bay causeway for recreational purposes, as well as in efforts more vital to the public interest.

I want to work with you again — to balance the federal budget, as I have helped balance the budget in Austin; to solve the problems of our senior citizens and bring down interest rates; to promote the great Gulf fishing industry and to protect priceless natural resources, whether they be energy resources like oil and gas or Rockport's beautiful beaches.

Two major domestic problems are inflation and energy. The rate of inflation continues to climb now at approximately 13 percent. Congress has done little in regards to the energy problems and solution.

In considering alternative energy sources, emphasis should be on the use of alcohol processed from farm products. The use of such energy will reduce the amount of OPEC petroleum products now utilized. Any reduction of OPEC purchases will reduce our balance of payments and aid in balancing the budget.

I strongly support a balanced budget, except in the event of war or national emergencies. Deficit spending must be controlled.

Lee, Garcia Seek 1-1A Commissioner's Post

John M. Lee

To the Citizens of Precinct 1 and 1A:
Your county government is important.

Vote for a county government based on logic and common sense.

I am 31 years of age. I was raised in the precinct and I've been in construction since I was 18.

I realize the unsolved problems of the area, and I want to fight to solve these problems. If I, John M. Lee, am elected county commissioner, Pct. 1-1A, and then receive a phone call from anyone in this precinct, I will come personally and discuss your problem with you.

Your support is most appreciated.

Subject to action of the Democratic primary.

Rachel Garcia

If elected I will be a full-time commissioner. I believe a commissioner should be available to the people at all times.

The road, drainage and law enforcement problems are very important, and I will work hard to try to improve the system for maintaining county roads and improvements for the drainage problems, and better communications between the commissioners' court and the sheriff's department.

If I, Rachel Garcia, am elected, I will see that every dime of our county budget will be put to its best use. It is not how much is spent, but how it is spent.

I will be working closely with you, the people of Aransas County and Precinct 1-1A — and together we can improve the precinct problems and make this, our county, a better, safe community.

I ask for your vote and support on Saturday, June 7. Thank you.

You Count! Don't Forget To Vote

Owens, Woods Run For Pct. 3 Commissioner

Raymond Owens

I moved here in 1947 after serving in all of World War II. I am married to Audrey Casterline Owens who is a native of Rockport.

Before the war I had finished high school in Aransas Pass and after returning, I attended the University of Houston.

We have two children, Raymond F. and Rennie Lee, who attended the Rockport-Fulton schools. After finishing high school they both obtained college degrees.

During these years I have built, operated and sold two businesses.

I have been County Commissioner for almost 16 years and am presently involved only in the business of Aransas County. This is a fortunate situation which gives me all of my time to devote to roads, drainage and other business of Aransas County.

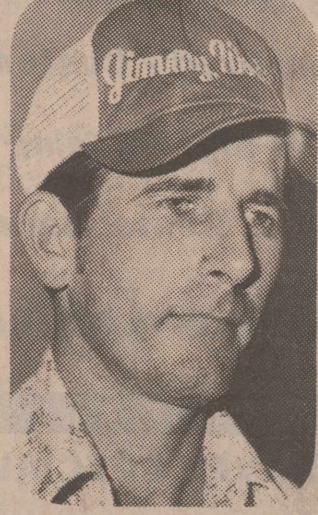

County commissioners have already authorized a funded study being made with a government grant and matching funds from Aransas County as requested by the county conservation district.

We realize this is the next priority after a public approved water supply.

Drainage systems larger than roadside ditches can only be funded and operated by a legally-formed drainage district, formed by the legal voters of Aransas County and county commissioners have reached their limit, especially during tropical depressions.

If you want increased drainage, be prepared to fund it. I and other commissioners are willing to follow your wishes in all public matters. Please express your opinions to your nearest representative.

Jimmy Woods Jr.

I was born in Lake Charles, Louisiana, in 1944 and moved to Corpus Christi with my parents when I was one year old, attending public schools there. Am married to Ann Harris Woods. Being a young businessman in this County for almost a decade, I am associated with my father at the Jimmy Woods Produce Market on Hwy. 35 North.

Drainage being a serious problem in Precinct 3, a definite plan needs to be established and this plan carried forth to solve this Drainage problem.

I believe that each Precinct should operate within a balanced budget, but this budget should be changed from year to year to fit existing needs.

The reason for my seeking the office of County Commissioner of Precinct 3, is my feeling that now is the time for a new outlook, new ideas and to have a young business man "WHO WILL WORK FOR YOU".

Brown, Stuart In State Senate Race

James E. (Buster) Brown

James E. "Buster" Brown, age 39, is an Attorney from Lake Jackson, where he resides with his wife, Jill, and three children, Jeb, 11; Jay, 9; and Jennifer, 6.

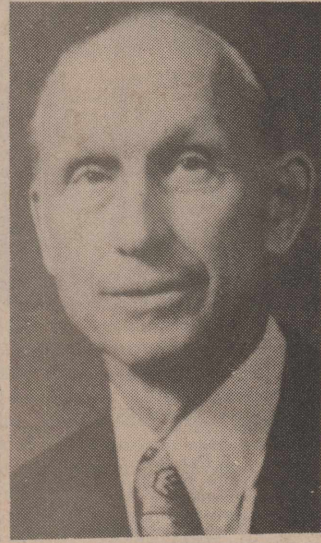

Mr. Brown attended Texas A and I University in Kingsville and the University of Texas in Austin, and served as Assistant District Attorney in Brazoria County from 1968 to 1971. He now has a private law practice.

He favors greater efficiency and reduction in size of state agencies with resulting savings going to citizens in tax relief.

Mr. Brown is opposed to any tax increase, and favors placing a limit on the amount of tax increase the Legislature can pass. He also opposes personal and corporate income tax for Texans.

Mr. Brown favors the use of electronic surveillance and mandatory sentences for habitual crimes of violence.

He also favors limited terms for elected officials to prevent excessive power and corruption that generally accompany excessive power.

Ed Stuart

I filed by petition for State Senator in District 17 as a candidate in the Republican Primary.

District 17 includes all of Aransas, Brazoria, Calhoun, Galveston and Matagorda Counties, and a portion of the Clear Lake area in Harris County. The petitions for my filing were signed by 527 voters throughout the District, enabling me to be the only candidate in both party primaries to file in that manner.

I served as Mayor of Friendswood from 1970-72 and as a councilman from 1967-1970. At present I am vice president of the Galveston County Mainland United Fund and served as general campaign chairman for 1979.

I joined Arthur Andersen & Co., a public accounting firm in Houston, and passed the State of Texas examinations for Certified Public Accountant in 1949.

I entered the home building and construction field in 1958 and have been active in that occupation in the Friendswood area. I believe competition in business and commerce has brought benefits to the consumer and that the competition generated in a two-party system will bring the same amount of benefits to each individual citizen.

I intend to concentrate on major problems of drainage and flood control, highway transportation and crime control—items which are basically under state and local jurisdiction.

WHY MAKE A CHANGE?

We Have An Excellent Precinct 3 Commissioner

Raymond OWENS

is the man for Precinct 3

When Commissioner Court meets he is there to look out for the interest of Precinct 3 as well as all of Aransas County.

Raymond Owens strives to spend the Precinct 3 budget on a need priority basis and as Conservatively as possible.

Fortunately he is 100% available to Precinct 3 and it's duties. With the growth in our area, our budget and services we provide have increased. We need a man with experience to get the full value from every tax dollar. We cannot afford to have our County funds mismanaged.

Raymond Owens has served us well for the past 16 yrs. He is a man who makes his own decisions and is not controlled by any person or group. This is the kind of man we need in our County government.

OWENS-CORNING OPENS DRIVE TO PROTECT CONSUMERS AGAINST 'UNPROFESSIONAL' INSULATION INSTALLERS

Since the 1973-74 energy crunch, consumer insulation demand has increased sharply—and with it the number of opportunists out for a "fast buck."

Homeowners, consequently, have had to approach insulation installers with a degree of caution. Hire the wrong one and you could end up not only with unsatisfactory installation, but also with poor quality insulation.

Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation, a leading manufacturer of residential insulation, has launched a "Certified Independent Insulation Contractor" program, which helps assure consumers of hiring insulation contractors who meet rigid standards of fair business practice, and who have been trained in the latest methods of installing insulation.

Contractual Agreement
The program is a legal agreement between Owens-Corning and the contractor.

The contractor must, among other things, attend annual insulation training and business conferences; implement in-house training for installers; keep strict financial records and comply with the Better Business Bureau's published standards of performance.

"Only those contractors who have met the requirements of the program will be certified," says

Richard Griner, manager of Owens-Corning's Residential Construction Marketing Division.

"We don't take this program lightly and we don't expect contractors to, either."

Why The Need?

The need for such a program, Mr. Griner explains, arises from more than just the influx of insulation contractors since the '73-'74 energy crunch. Over the years new methods of applying insulation have been developed—and old ones refined—but some contractors have not kept abreast of the developments.

The result has occasionally been imperfect workmanship and annoyed homeowners.

"Insulation is only as good as the way it is installed," Mr. Griner points out, "so manufacturers are interested in promoting proper application."

The certification program does just that—and more.

For example, certified contractors have to be fully insured—something homeowners too often forget to ask about, although it's too important to forget.

Additionally, contractors must permit periodic inspections of their facilities to ensure compliance with the program.

Easily Identified

Homeowners will be able to identify certified contractors easily by this fall.

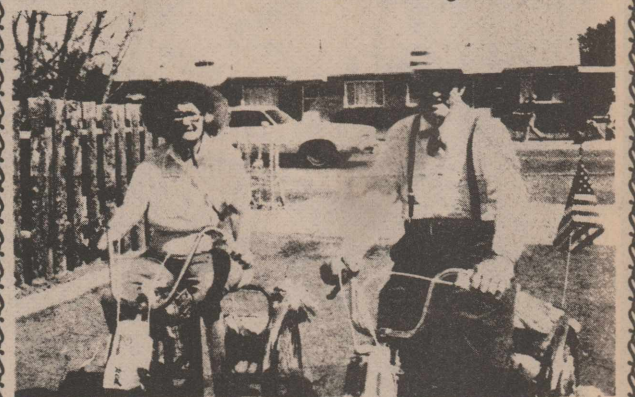

"The program's logo, the shape of a star, will accompany a list of certified contractors in each issue of the Yellow Pages under 'Insulation,'" Mr. Griner explains.

"The objective of the Certified Independent Insulation Contractor Program," he adds, "is, quite simply, to encourage proper training and sound business practices among contractors and, in so doing, counteract the damaging example of the few who haven't always acted in the public interest.

"To accomplish this, the program has to be demanding. Only the best, most reputable contractors will qualify. We believe this will not only help protect the public, but also the contractor who has been acting responsibly."

INTS FOR HOMEOWNERS

Answers to homeowners' questions are given by J.B. Featherston, M.A.I., President of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers, the nation's oldest appraisal organization, and the only one affiliated with the National Association of Realtors.

Question: Will higher interest rates for mortgages tend to slow down rising home prices—or bring home prices down from their current level?

Answer:

The present slowdown in the upward spiral of home prices is a delay. In periods of increasing prices, the value of homes inevitably rises along with other commodities. As interest rates come down, or as people get used to them, activity will resume. A home is still an excellent investment.

Senator Bill Patman presents a flag flown over the Texas Capitol to a group of visiting friends. Patman's efforts helped expand the hot meal capability of their local Senior Citizens' Activity Center from 250 to 1,000 per day.

Senator Bill Patman's Special Concern for Senior Citizens Goes Way Back . . .

During 19 years of legislative service in the Texas Senate, BILL PATMAN has done many things to help:

- ★ BILL PATMAN voted in 1977 to increase the inheritance tax exemption. He also supported improvements in nursing homes.
- ★ BILL PATMAN, in 1973, helped pass the State Constitutional Amendment to provide property tax relief for senior citizens.
- ★ BILL PATMAN passed legislation in 1972 to protect 20,000 elderly, needy Texans threatened with losing their Medicaid.

* INFLATION-FIGHTING FOOD IDEAS *

Serve Rice With Sausage And Beans Tampico

Mexican foods, flavors and table settings have become popular in the United States. You need not travel to enjoy the specialties as well as the flavors so typical of our southern neighbors.

Traditional Mexican foods like beans and rice — both staples that go well with meat, vegetables, or fruit (a typical ingredient in warmer regions) could be a part of any dish on your menu.

Sausage and Golden Delicious apples add zest to chili-flavored beans in this recipe for Sausage and Beans Tampico.

Fluffy white rice is the perfect accompaniment. Both rice and beans, because they are so economical, are important foods to keep in mind these days to help stretch strained food budgets.

SUSAGE AND BEANS TAMPICO

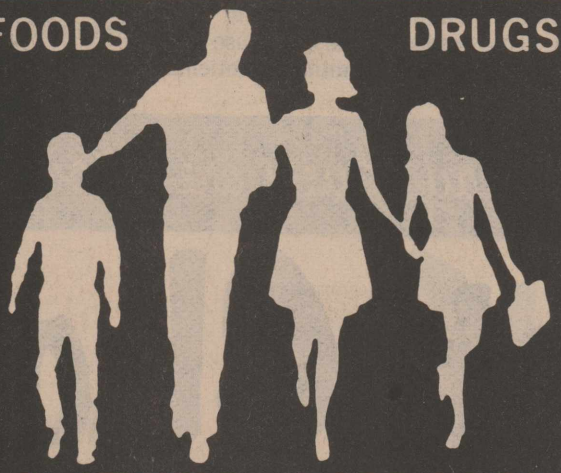

- 1 package (12 oz.) smoked pork sausage links, cut in 1-inch pieces
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon oil (optional)
- 3-1/3 cups drained, cooked or canned pinto or kidney beans
- 1 cup tomato juice
- 1 teaspoon each salt and chili powder

- 1/4 teaspoon each garlic powder and pepper
- 2 cups peeled, cored, and thickly sliced Golden Delicious apples
- 3 cups hot cooked rice
- 1/2 cup sour cream

Cook sausage and onions in oil about 5 minutes; stir often. Add beans, tomato juice, and seasonings. Simmer, uncovered, 10 minutes. Stir in apples and continue cooking 10 minutes longer, or until most of the liquid has evaporated. Serve over beds of fluffy rice and top with dollops of sour cream. Serve with scallions and yellow chilies, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

How aware are you of your own nutrition? Do you eat to live or live to eat? Do you have any real knowledge about the foods that go into your body or don't you care, as long as you're not hungry? American food consumers have been the target of nutritional quackery for so many years that the misconceptions often are better known than the facts. One reason for the prevalence of public gullibility is that factual nutrition education is not provided sufficiently in the school system. Kids may get their own knowledge of food and what it does for them, from television commercials, aimed at selling products. Taking care of one's body properly to promote the ultimate levels of energy and wellbeing should be as much a part of a young child's education as learning to read and write. Why have we permitted such folly? We need strong, health-minded, well-informed Americans. It is important that they understand basic nutrition facts, and not fadism. To help clarify some current misinformation, the following may help you improve your nutrition:

Fiction:
1. "Natural" vitamins are superior to "synthetic vitamins," so you must pay more for them.
Fact:
A vitamin is always exactly the same in chemical structure and properties, or it would not be that vitamin. The best sources of are foods, not pills, because you receive additional nutrients from foods that are not in pills.

Fiction:
2. Protein is a good supplement to add to your diet. Carbohydrates are bad, and should be avoided. Just eat a lot of protein and you will be strong.
Fact:
False. You DO NOT need extra protein supplements. Simply eat meat, fish, fowl, eggs and dairy products. EXCESSIVE protein can be dangerous, especially to kidneys. You need some carbohydrates daily especially from fruits, vegetables and cereal grains, or you can suffer severe potassium losses.

Fiction:

3. Huge quantities of vitamin C will keep you from catching colds. You need rose hips for vitamin C.

Fact:

False. About 20 per cent of the population seem to get some cold symptom relief from some extra vitamin C.

Some people had developed kidney stones from excessive amounts, and diabetic urine tests may be distorted. "Rose hips" for vitamin C are unnecessary and expensive. Use citrus fruits instead.

Fiction:

4. Fasting cleanses your system and is good for everyone.

Fact: Fasting doesn't "cleanse" anything. It is an outmoded, meaningless term. Some people like to fast and if the water intake is sufficient, it can be done for a limited time. Others suffer severe headache, dizziness, drop in blood sugar, cold perspiration and other unpleasant side effects, and should never fast.

Fiction:

5. Taking excessive vitamins beyond Recommended Daily Allowances (RDA), gives you more energy and pep.

Fact: If you get all the RDA, you certainly don't need excessive amounts of any vitamins or minerals. Only minute amounts are required for specific functions — and overdoses can do great harm, especially vitamins A and D, which can be lethal.

Spend your money on powerhouse foods such as whole grain cereals, milk and milk products, vegetables and fruits, meat, fish and fowl — and you won't need expensive additions.

JUNE IS DAIRY MONTH H.E.B. SALUTES THE DAIRY FARMERS OF TEXAS.

Dairy foods come in so many different forms, you can hardly recognize the similarities. Yet, high nutrition is common in all. Some of the more commonly known dairy products are: whole cheese, dips, yogurt, cottage cheese, cream cheese, sour cream, butter, ice cream and of course, milk.

MILK

Milk is an excellent source of calcium that helps form bones and teeth and helps keep them strong. The protein in milk builds and repairs body tissues, supplies energy. Milk is rich in riboflavin, a B vitamin that helps keep skin healthy and vision clear. Milk is moderately low in calories. One cup (8 fluid oz.) of fresh whole milk contains about 160 calories. A cup of skim milk contains about 90 calories.

AVOIDING SHORTAGES

Brown University economics professor George H. Borts puts it this way: "You could create a shortage of steak by having a law that said steak was worth 50 cents a pound. People wouldn't raise cattle...." His recommendation, for improving the U.S. energy situation, says Mobil Oil, is "to leave the oil market alone, get rid of government price controls, get rid of the allocation system of the Department of Energy (and), let the oil industry do its work...."

HOW INTERNAL PARASITES OF CATS AND DOGS ARE DIAGNOSED
Your veterinarian can determine if your pet has worms by examining a bowel movement sample under a high powered microscope. This is called a fecal analysis. The eggs and larvae are passed almost continuously, and can be identified under magnification.

Each parasite has a different, distinct size and shape of its eggs. A veterinarian has been trained to distinguish one from another.

If a pet has parasites, it is important that the proper medicine be given for only the parasite the pet has. There are different kinds of worm medicine for each type of parasite. Some are injectables, some are tablets, some liquid and some are powders. It is important that the most efficient medicine be given, and given according to the pet's weight.

Tapeworms are more difficult to diagnose microscopically because most of them retain their eggs in clusters inside each of their many segments, and do not pass individual eggs continuously. The segments can usually be seen grossly in the stool or around the rectum.

Some parasites such as heartworms and hemobartonella are identified by a blood analysis. Confirmation of toxoplasmosis is accomplished by demonstration of specific antibodies or by isolation studies.

Two wormings 10 to 14 days apart are usual, although with some parasites it may be necessary to worm more than twice.

It is important for the client to realize that preventive measures against reinfection must be taken. The following measures to take against reinfection are:

1. Sanitation: For parasites that cause infection from contact with bowel movements (hookworms and ascarids), it is essential to clean litter pans of cats daily, and to pick up dog feces daily from the yard.
2. Control fleas and lice.
3. Raw fish should never be allowed.

4. Good nutrition. Undernourished animals will fall victim to every parasite they are exposed to.

5. All kittens and puppies should be routinely tested for parasites when acquired or when weaned. Adult cats and dogs should receive a fecal analysis and booster vaccinations once a year.

If you have any questions concerning the health and care of your pet, send them to the Rockport Pilot, 1002 Wharf Street. Dr. Lutz will answer them in the weekend edition of the Pilot.

JAYCEES ENERGY CONSERVATION EFFORTS ATTRACT NATIONAL RECOGNITION

The home energy awareness audit is a natural expansion of the U.S. Jaycees energy program, which has involved over 2,000 local chapters in the past two years and received the endorsement of the Department of Energy and governors from coast to coast. In the past seven months, Jaycees have distributed over 300,000 pieces of energy-related program material, while attracting the attention of President Carter, Secretary of the Department of Energy Duncan, and key members of Congress.

Jacquelyn Drue Richardson of Rockport was among 128 students named to the spring semester Dean's List of Corpus Christi State University (CCSU).

Ms. Richardson is a secondary education major in the University's College of Education, and has attended North Texas State University and Richland College.

The Dean's List consists of undergraduate students enrolled for 12 semester hours or more who maintain an overall grade point average of at least 3.65 (maximum grade point average is 4).

Angela Nadine Shephard of Rockport was among students named to the Nicholls State University President's Honor List for Spring, 1980.

Ms. Shephard is an education major at the university located in Thibodaux, Louisiana.

To be named to the President's Honor List, a student must be enrolled full-time and must maintain an overall 3.5 grade point average.

Congressional seat?

If dollars were votes he'd be in Washington right now.
$313,000.00

That's how much Bill Patman has personally loaned his campaign. . . funds used in an attempt to smear the integrity of one of the most honest men to ever seek the 14th Congressional seat, Judge Bob Barnes.

A $313,000.00 loan? Where are Bill Patman's contributors? Who will pay off this loan after the election? But a third of a million dollars is a drop in the family bucket to Bill Patman. In a late, half-hearted response to Judge Barnes' full financial disclosure we know Patman is worth a lot of money, certainly more than the $2.8 million he estimated.

And he's been spending it freely.

Just as freely as he's been spending our tax dollars for the last 20 years.

It's time we elect a man who knows it's time we spent less—not more. Judge Bob Barnes.

NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE

In the continuing national health insurance debate, an important fact is often overlooked: America already has an experienced, effective and economical health insurance system. One hundred and eighty million people are protected by some form of private health insurance. By integrating this system into a national health insurance program, the country might realize important savings and efficiencies. This article outlines some thoughts on the subject from Aetna Life and Casualty, one of America's largest private health insurance companies.

Everyone should be protected from ruinous health-care expenses. The private health insurance system already protects 90 percent of all Americans under age 65. Using it as the foundation of a national health insurance plan would lead to protection for virtually everyone from catastrophic costs. And, importantly, it could be implemented quickly, at reasonable cost, eliminating the need for a new and expensive federal bureaucracy.

In extending health protection on a national scale, a combined government-private effort would set a reasonable, single, out-of-pocket limit on the amount a covered person would have to pay for health care. Above the limit, all covered health-care bills would be paid in full. And, because most people are already covered by private health insurance, they would spend little or no money from their own pockets—even for serious illnesses involving thousands of dollars in care.

As an important part of the program, strong tax incentives would encourage employers to provide catastrophic coverage for their employees. Employers would also extend group health insurance benefits to terminated employees and their dependents and to dependent children up to age 26.

While the private insurance companies—through employer-sponsored programs and individual health insurance policies—would cover self-supporting Americans and their families not now protected, the government would extend catastrophic health-care coverage to the poor, long-term unemployed and aged through improved Medicare and Medicaid programs.

Thus, the government would concentrate its resources on these groups, while private insurance companies would concentrate on protecting the majority of Americans who can afford to pay.

Persons presently unable to obtain protection through the private sector may also not qualify for government health-care insurance. These "high medical risks" would be covered under the plan Aetna supports by establishing insurance "pools," administered by private insurance companies. This would ensure that anyone who could afford to purchase coverage would be able to do so at a reasonable price, regardless of his or her health.

This program would fill critical gaps in the nation's present insurance coverage and assure all Americans access to adequate catastrophic health protection. Further, it would be quickly implemented without the need of additional costly bureaucracy because it is an extension of private insurance programs that have been in operation for many years.

Making Family Life More Fun

Few things can make photography more fun than getting the whole family into the pictures...not only in front of the lens but also behind it.

Usually, when a family goes on vacation, one member takes most of the pictures and the rest either sit on the sidelines or pose and look pretty. Getting the whole family involved from snap to finish is much better.

One suggestion: pick a particular scene...a mountaintop, a palm tree swaying in the breeze, a picturesque country lane. Have each member of the family shoot the scene from his own angle, using his own imagination, injecting his own creative concepts. The different angles will make for lively conversation long after the vacation's over.

Another: Keep a snap-by-snap diary of your camera trip. Make special note of the type of film used, the exposure and prevalent conditions at the time the picture was taken.

Most important: take along a camera that the whole family can use with ease—a "go-anywhere" camera small enough to fit in a backpack or jacket pocket—one that's comfortable in any environment, on a snow-covered mountain, in, on or under water. One camera that fits virtually all the needs of a family on photographic safari has been introduced by Minolta. It's the Weathermatic A, a water-tight, 110 pocket camera with special housing and seals that protect it from water, dirt, sand or snow.

The world's first pocket camera which floats, it features ease of operation, plus drop-in cartridge loading, adjustable exposure and focus settings and built-in electronic flash. The Weathermatic A has the right combination of features for all outdoor enthusiasts and captures the kind of pictures that were never before possible with a pocket camera.

When the whole family uses the same camera, individual technique and talent add variety to the trip, and that's what makes photography fun. The pictures you take home will make for lively family fun long after the trip is over.

Bill Patman's Long-Term Record VS.

Bob Barnes' Short-Term Politics

Corpus Christi candidate Bob Barnes and his special interest backers are trying to "city slick" rural voters. Desperate to cut into Bill Patman's strong rural support, they're waging an all-negative smear campaign, hoping to distract voters from Bill Patman's good work for the people, during six terms in the Texas Senate.

Let's look at Bill Patman's fine record:

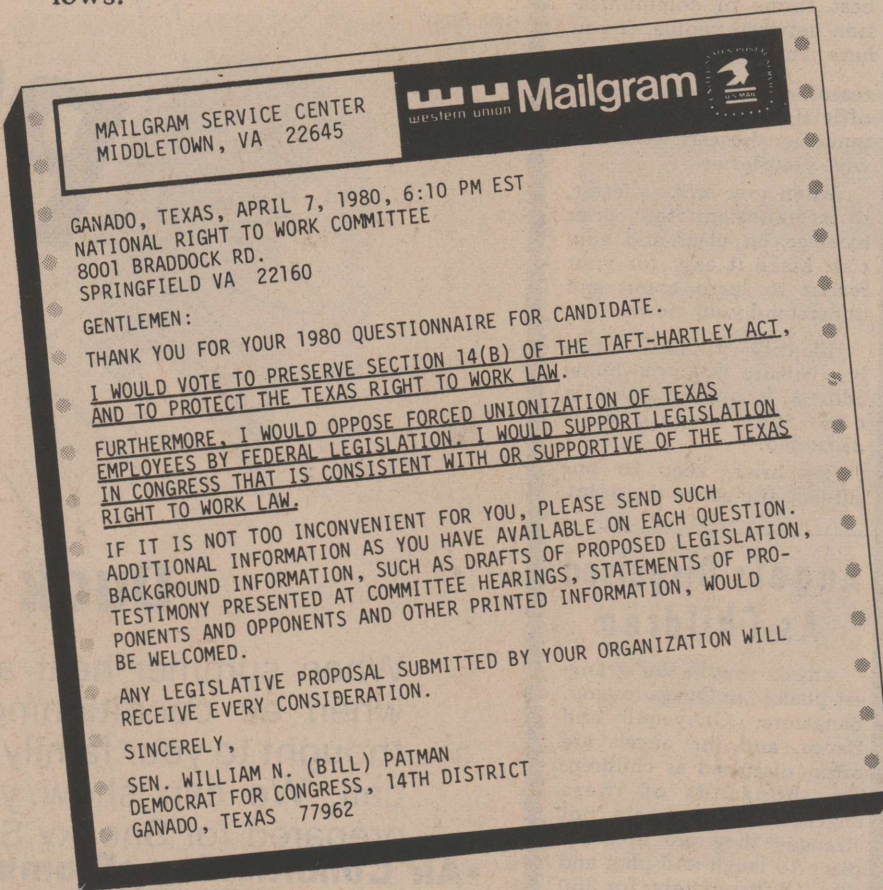

- ★ BILL PATMAN's bill created the Texas Veterinary Diagnostic Lab at A&M; it has diagnosed 66,573 cases of cattle disease since 1971.
- ★ BILL PATMAN's initiative kept in our State Constitution a protection to keep 155,000 family farms from being unfairly taxed.
- ★ BILL PATMAN passed a Government Economy bill that has stopped millions in government waste.
- ★ BILL PATMAN sped through a bill to help 20,000 elderly, needy Texans threatened with losing their Medicaid.
- ★ BILL PATMAN led the way to a program that has protected 1.2 million pre-school children from polio and diphtheria.
- ★ BILL PATMAN's efforts have given 13,000 students a chance to do upper level work at U. of H.-Victoria campus.
- ★ BILL PATMAN's fights have defeated more than a dozen bills that would have hiked up your interest rates.
- ★ BILL PATMAN's alertness and personal actions have specifically saved $14,650,000 in tax money during the last two years.

And BILL PATMAN has stood up for the people of his district on lots of other issues, too. For example . . .

BILL PATMAN has SUPPORTED the Texas RIGHT-TO-WORK law throughout two decades in the Senate. (Votes were recorded in '74 and '77.)

And to clear up some confusion deliberately planted by Patman's opponent . . .

When Patman got a long, complicated questionnaire from the National Right-To-Work Committee during the busy weeks of this campaign, he wired a response as follows:

Patman asked that the committee print his full response in its report.

To date, Patman has not received any of the specific information he requested, nor has he ever received a copy of the committee's report.

BILL PATMAN has always stood up to be counted AGAINST ABORTION. The South Texas Catholic on Friday, April 25, page 6, reports Senate votes on key abortion issues in the 1979 legislative session. Bill Patman voted 100% "right."

BILL PATMAN has consistently fought AGAINST FORCED BUSING. He has voted three times in the Texas Senate for Constitutional amendments to prohibit busing (twice in 1972 and again in 1974).

And to clear up some further misinformation coming from suspicious quarters . . .

BILL PATMAN has been a member of the National Rifle Association for 40 years, a Life Member for 15, and strongly OPPOSES GUN CONTROL.

BILL PATMAN doesn't believe in campaigns that deliberately misrepresent the other man's views and record. If a candidate can't tell you the positive things that he's done, then he hasn't done very much.

Vote for the candidate with a positive, proven record to offer the people . . .

OUR ENERGY DEPENDENCE

By William H. Dempsey

The next time you see one of those long coal trains winding its way through the countryside, reflect on this fact:

Each car in that train could be carrying the equivalent of 300 barrels of oil—at a transportation price of less than $2 per mile.

Dempsey

Railroads are the major haulers of coal in this country, loading some 65 percent of all the bituminous and lignite coal mined. No other transportation mode can offer the combination of efficiency, flexibility and economy for the high-volume movement of coal.

That is important — because our national energy policy calls for a switch to coal to reduce our dependence on foreign oil. Last year, the railroads moved more than 400 million tons of coal. Since one ton of coal is equal to about three barrels of oil, that is the equivalent of about 1.2 billion barrels. There is a lot more coal in the ground in this country. In fact, there is enough for hundreds of years—even at expanded levels of use.

The national energy policy dovetails neatly with the national transportation policy—which seeks to help the railroad industry achieve greater financial health.

With increased coal traffic, railroads can generate greater earnings, which will help them make needed improvements to plant and equipment which, in turn, can improve service so that still more traffic can be won—all at no cost to the taxpayer.

The symmetry of this scenario is upset by two unwelcome facts: Coal production is not expanding as rapidly as hoped and conversion to coal by utilities and other companies is not being carried out as readily as hoped.

The reasons for this are many—environmental problems, costs of conversion, domestic prices for oil that continue below the world price, an abundance of natural gas, among others.

Utilities and some manufacturers have claimed that they have scrapped conversion plans because of high rail coal rates. Some have stated that, because of the rail rates, coal imported from other nations is cheaper than domestic coal. Already, there have been attempts to legislate an arbitrary "cap" on rail coal rates—in the name of the energy policy.

The fact is rail rates for coal are, on the average, lower than rates for other rail-carried commodities—about 1.88 cents per ton-mile versus an average for all commodities of about 2.5 cents per ton-mile. Also, while coal prices have soared, rail rates—as a percentage of the delivered price—have dropped from almost 40 percent in 1967 to less than 25 percent in 1978. In constant 1959 dollars, the average railroad coal rate has actually dropped almost 7 percent over the last 20 years—even though coal prices have risen—still in constant dollars—almost 109 percent. Many railroad rates in the West seem high because of the long hauls involved, but the average rate per ton-mile in this region is only 1.13 cents. (A haul of 1,000 miles at this rate would be about $11 per ton delivered.)

As for foreign coal, I cannot really say whether it is truly cheaper than domestic coal—for whatever reason—or not. But I would suggest that protection for American coal producers, if it is needed, should not be "taken out of the hide" of the railroads.

This brings me to my final point, which is that there is no rational justification for penalizing one private company for the benefit of another. It is ludicrous to justify such an action on the grounds that it will "encourage" the use of coal by already-profitable companies.

If such "encouragement" is needed in the public interest, then the public should provide it.

It is widely recognized that the public has a vital interest in a strong railroad system. Such short-run benefits that might be gained from depressing rail coal rates would surely be outweighed by the long-run certainty that such an action would cripple the industry—to the disadvantage of all who depend on its service.

Mr. Dempsey is President and Chief Executive Officer of the Association of American Railroads.

BILL PATMAN SAYS:

Barnes' Failure To Resign Violates Texas Constitution, Creates An Ethics Problem

State Senator and congressional candidate Bill Patman of Ganado said his opponent, County Judge Bob Barnes of Corpus Christi, is "a walking, talking example of government waste. Nueces County taxpayers are paying Barnes $3,259 a month, while he spends his time campaigning for Congress," Patman said.

Patman has voluntarily returned his salary as state senator since entering the congressional race.

Barnes' action violates the Texas Constitution, which requires a county judge to resign if he seeks higher office with more than one year left in his term.

However, a decision in January of this year by an El Paso federal court overruled that safeguard. The matter is now being appealed by the State of Texas.

Patman called the lower court's decision "clearly wrong," and predicted higher courts will reverse it.

"It strikes," he said, "at the very heart of the integrity of county government in this state."

"Aside from Barnes' drawing $3,259 a month that he's not earning, you have the problem of a county official with almost three years left in his term seeking higher office while keeping the one he has. You've got the coercion he can bring to bear on people who deal with the county, who depend upon the county to assess fair taxes. And you've got the pressure he can put on county employees who fear they'll have their salaries or departmental budgets cut, or that they won't get their cost-of-living increases if they don't support him. It's unfair, and it's a dangerous precedent that, if allowed to stand, will go a long way toward destroying good government in this state."

"And what happens," Patman asked, "when a higher court reverses the lower court and sustains the Texas Constitution? What happens to the decisions Barnes has made as county judge during the time he served illegally? What about the mess it will make for the county that's paying his salary?"

Patman said Barnes' "selfish and destructive action" is "being subsidized not just by the taxpayers of Nueces County, but by all of us, because of the revenue-sharing funds that supplement his bloated salary, a salary that 'inflation-fighter' Barnes has managed to 'inflate' by 133% since he took office—from $16,800 a year in 1971 to $39,108 now."

"Even if what Barnes is doing were legal under our Texas Constitution, it would still be unethical," Patman said. "Although he has temporarily found an avenue (the lower court decision) for getting away with something, we need people in public office who don't seek every opportunity to skirt the law and take advantage of every loophole. We have got to have people who take the proper moral stance, the long-term view of what's best for the government of the state and of the country. And Bob Barnes clearly does not."

HINTS ON MAKING YOUR VOICE HEARD

Good government is the right—and the responsibility—of every American. It is our duty to help select our elected officials and, once they are in office, to make them aware of our views on important issues.

If you care about America, you should care enough to write your public officials. It's one of the most meaningful ways you can participate in our democratic system. As one of our leading American companies, the Budd Company, points out, it's one of the most important ways for you to share your ideas about taxes, inflation, automotive-related legislation, the crime rate, social security, energy, environmental protection, and other areas of concern.

To make communication between you and your representatives easier, the Budd Company has prepared a Voter Information Guide—a convenient directory of the names and addresses of our elected officials in Washington, D.C., and tips on making your voice heard. The writing and free distribution of the guide is one of the ways The Budd Company is fulfilling its responsibility to America.

Letters are one of the best forms of communication between people. If you have an important enough reason to write a public official, reflect that importance in the care you take with your letter.

When you write a letter, it is important that your message be clear and concise. Make it easy for your reader to learn about and understand your views.

Identify yourself clearly—be sure that your home address is on the letter in case the envelope is discarded.

Be brief, keep to one subject and get to the point.

Angels Disguised As Children

Angels sing in the strangest places...in Ouagadougou, Bangalore, Guayaquil and Dacca, and the angels are often disguised as children. To thousands of these angels, the places are not strange—they are home, a place to laugh and play and sing. Unfortunately, for 350 million of the world's children, home can also mean hunger, malnutrition, disease and loneliness.

For some of these angels, love has changed their cries of hunger to songs of confidence. You can bring a new song to a hungry child by becoming a child sponsor. Sponsorship can mean a new life of health and happiness for a child.

For a free booklet on how you can help the angels sing... "Building Bridges of Love"... write World Vision International, Box O, Pasadena, Ca. 91109.

Be factual, and avoid using arguments you can't substantiate with facts.

Personalize your message and explain how it affects you or your business. Explain something about the background of your concern and give essential background information.

Use proper references, including a specific legislative bill number and the subject to which it pertains.

Telephone ahead to your congressman or a top staff member, sketching your problem and informing him or her that a letter with details will follow. And follow up with a letter of thanks for any services or information from the congressman's office.

"The Voter Information Guide," which was prepared as a public service by The Budd Company, contains a state-by-state listing of U.S. senators and representatives; the president, vice-president and cabinet members are also listed with their mailing addresses in Washington, D.C. MAUSOLEUM BURIAL IS SCRIPTURAL, HISTORICAL

Our Lord was laid in a rock-hewn crypt, and early Christians followed this custom. Wealthy people used this type of burial almost entirely for many centuries and most of our national heroes are buried in stone tombs or mausoleums.

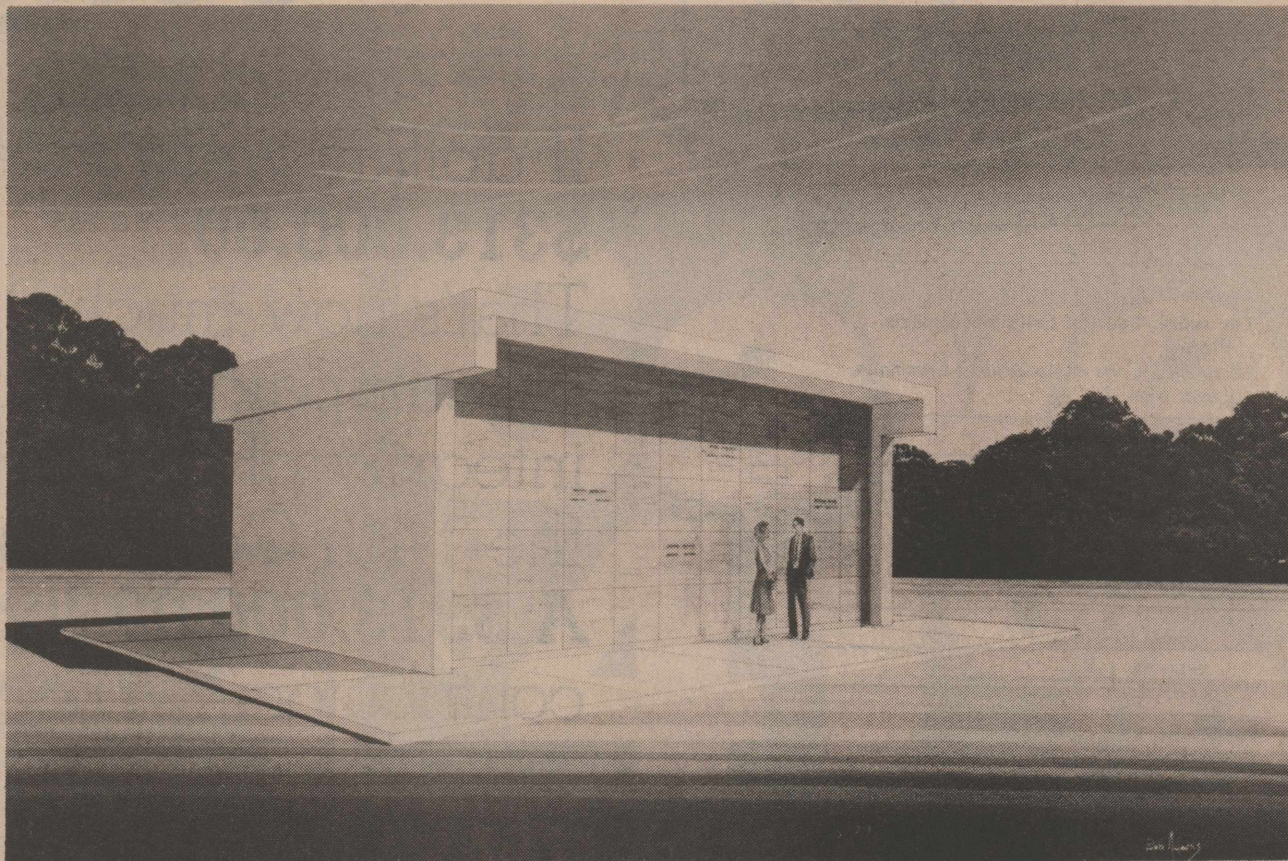

Today many people are becoming aware of the advantages of mausoleum interment. To meet their needs, new community sized mausoleums, large enough to meet the needs of many families, are being constructed.

Aransas Community Mausoleum now makes the dignity of above ground burial available at a cost comparable to the most modest underground burial.

The Legal Way

Warranty, guaranty and surety each possess a fixed and known meaning in law but are not fixed in meaning among the general public.

Q. A material supplier in Utah guaranteed his roof coating for five years. The man who applied it guaranteed it for seven years. The material has failed in two to three ways in less than five years. Now everyone concerned or should be passing the buck. What does the law say about this?

A. Utah (Title 70A) in 1965 adopted the Uniform Commercial Code which provides, in the transaction you describe, an express warranty, and not a guaranty, by a seller to the buyer which relates to goods and becomes a part of the bargain. There is no need to create an express warranty.

The law (U.S. Code Sec. 2-711) says you have right of action for breach of warranty. It may be an action for damages either in the U.S. District Court or the state court depending on which court has jurisdiction.

On the other hand, guaranty, the law (99 ALR 1468) says is a collateral agreement for the performance of another's undertaking, a promise to answer for the payment of a debt, or the performance of an obligation if the person liable in first instance fails to perform, in your case, to pay damages resulting from the roof product not lasting five years.

Surety and guaranty have only one thing in common - they are both bound for another's non-performance with this difference: surety is usually bound with the person he covers by the same instrument executed at the same time and on the same consideration. A guarantee is a separate agreement. Otherwise, they are alike in binding the non-performance of another.

Q. A farmhand has worked for us for 23 years. He lives alone in a small shack on our farm in Montana rent free. He says he has no kin. We hired him after he left a nearby county home. He's now 38 years old. My husband says he's about saved every penny he's ever earned after food and clothes were paid for.

He banks where we do. My husband asked the bank to question him about a will. His answer was a big "No need." If he dies without a will, the banks says, if he has no kin, his savings will go to the state of Montana. Really?

A. Montana Code (Sec. 91-502-509) provides: Whenever title to property falls for want of heirs or kin, property reverts to the state of Montana. Any legitimate claimants to recover escheated property must bring an action in a district court of Lewis and Clark County within two years after Montana

Department of Revenue's receipt of money or lose his right to it.
