Walks From Crash

HOUSTON (AP)-Ira G. Strawn, blood-smeared and with a broken nose, walked two miles through a wooded area Tuesday night to seek assistance after the small plane in which he and another Cisco man were flying crashed near Houston Intercontental Airport.

Strawn, 59, reached an Interstate 45 service station about 90 minutes after the crash and obtained assistance for Robert Turner, 54, who had been unable to leave the crash site because of a broken ankle.

Dockers Strike

NEW YORK (AP)-Dockworkers in Baltimore stayed away from the job today in a general strike aimed at prodding employers who they say are "dilly dallying" in local contract talks.

The general strike, which halted work on all vessels in the second largest port on the East Coast, was the first sign of general walkouts authorized Tuesday night by Thomas W. "Teddy" Gleason, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, AFL-CIO.

The strikes also were authorized for New Orleans and Philadelphia should negotiations on local issues drag to a halt at those ports.

Farm Group Warns

DALLAS (AP)-A national farmer's group has put American consumers on notice-if the farmers don't get what they consider to be a fair price for their production, next year's Thanksgiving tables might look a little barren.

Keith Thomas of a group called American Agriculture announced a two-day rally in Dallas Dec. 1-2 in support of a nation-wide farmers' strike planned for Dec. 14.

"We will not plant next year and we will stop buying anything but essential items," Thomas said. "We are serious about this. We are buying the stuff we are going to need after we go on strike. Our children will keep on eating. Consumers should realize that we are serious about this."

We are into the tax paying season now and many local residents have higher ad valorem tax bills than they did last year. This is due to some revaluations by local taxing agencies, mostly brought about by declining oil values which means that the local taxpayers are gradually being called upon to bear more of the tax burden.

But don't for a minute get the idea that oil taxes aren't still the dominating factor on county and school tax rolls. The direct effect isn't felt much by the city, since there are few oil wells inside the corporate limits. Still, all reap some benefits from the oil industry's taxes, especially Scurry County and the Snyder Independent School District.

For example, the "top 10" in the county reflect this rather vividly.

Figures from the office of County Tax Assessor-Collector Clarence Minton show that Chevron U.S.A. is easily No. 1. Its tax bill in Scurry County this year was $2,275,832.44. This includes all oil properties in the SACROC unit, for which taxes are paid by Chevron because it is the unit operator.

Others in the top 10, in order, are Texaco, $252,057.79; R.E. Smith, $152,575.56; Sun Oil, $54,042.04; American Magnesium, $19,383,85; Amoco, $17,271.29; Monsanto, $16,230.43; W.M. Fuller, $14,657.19; Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., $13,484.17; and Creslen Oil, $12,007.59.

Thus, seven of the top 10 taxpayers are in the oil industry. As oil tax values subside, these will decrease, of course, but oil taxes are expected to be a major factor in local tax resources for many more years.

The rate of decline in oil values in the near future likely will depend on the type of energy policy adopted by Congress. If there is a price increase for domestic oil, the decline may be slower than the present rate. In fact, it could be halted for a year or two.

Meanwhile, the community must be about the business of diversifying industrial development, which is precisely what is taking place now.

Awards Presented At Firemen's Banquet Here

Special awards were presented to two men Tuesday night at the annual fireman's banquet.

Kelley Wright was named Fireman of the Year and N.W. Autry was presented the Fire Chief Emeritus Award . Autry served as Chief of the Snyder Fire Department for 39 years and has been the emeritus chief of the department for the past 20 years.

The banquet was held at East Elementary and was attended by approximately 175 persons.

Odell Cox was the recipient of a 20-year service award. A 15-year service award was presented to Tommy Guynes and five-year service awards went to Kenny Wood and Terry McDowell.

Presenting his annual report of the Snyder Fire Department, Fire Chief Alfred Kohl said the department responded to 165 reported fires inside the city and another 180 reported fires in the county, all within the past year.

Special recognition was also paid to those firefighters with a 100 per cent fire drill attendance. Singled out for recognition in that category were Tommy Early, Bobby Herriage, Leonard Keller, Mike Kozelsky, Lowell Marble, Buddy Whittenburg, Kenneth Wood, Kenny Wood, Kelley Wright, Autry, Terry McDowell, and Tommy Guynes.

Kleasen Death Penalty Reversed

AUSTIN (AP)-The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed and remanded today the death penalty conviction of Robert Elmer Kleasen in the slaying of a Mormon missionary whose body was allegedly cut up on a texidermy band saw.

The court's ruling means Kleasen must be retried or let go. However, the state will have much greater difficulty winning a conviction in a new trial because the appeals court said officers used a defective search warrant to seize evidence from Kleasen's trailer.

Exclusion of that evidence, which included the missionary's wrist watch and car keys, will make it hard to prove a circumstantial evidence case.

Kleasen was charged with killing two missionaries but tried only in the death of one, Mark Fischer, 19, of Milwaukee, Wis. Fischer and his companion, Gary Darley, 20, of Simi Valley, Calif., disappeared after visiting Kleasen's trailer Oct. 28, 1974, in the hills west of Austin.

The appeals court said State District Court Judge Tom Blackwell erred when he held with the prosecution that Kleasen had no standing to complain of the search because the trailer was stolen.

The state failed to present any evidence connecting Kleasen with the theft of the trailer, the appeals court said.

Kleasen possessed the trailer for 10 uninterrupted months and had it sitting up on concrete blocks and hooked up to power lines, the appeals court said.

All Kleasen had to show was a "possessory interest" in the trailer, the court said.

School Adjusts Holiday Slate

Snyder Public School personnel and pupils will not have to return to classes on the New Year's holiday, despite what the original school calendar decreed.

Trustees Tuesday voted unanimously to extend the Christmas holidays through Monday, Jan. 2. Traditionally, the holidays have ended on the day after New Year's, but when the calendar was made up for this year, the fact that Jan. 1 falls on Sunday was overlooked. This means, of course, that Monday, Jan. 2, will be the business holiday for New Year's and the date of many of the major bowl games.

Tuesday's action calls for classes to be resumed on Tuesday, Jan. 3.

The trustees took the action at a special meeting Tuesday at the high school at which time they also accepted the annual audit of school funds. The audit was made by Joe H. Morren, CPA, who reviewed some of the figures at the board meeting. The audit showed a balance of some $642,000 in the local maintenance (operating) funds at the close of the fiscal year which ended Aug. 31. The audit showed that the school operated well within its budget for the past fiscal year. It was noted that delinquent taxes for last year were up by around $13,000. However, tax collections still amounted to 99.80 per cent of the levy.

The board approved an extension of the leave of absence of Micah Mitchell, English teacher at Snyder High School. She had been granted a leave of absence for the first quarter of this school term and subsequently asked that it be extended for the entire school year.

Two Divide Final Prize In Contest

The 1977 Snyder Daily News Football Contest closed out its season with a pair of winners sharing honors.

It was a difficult week for contestants, with the two winners missing seven selections.

Dividing the final week's prize money were Belinda Scott, 2402 40th Street and Don Head, Drawer W, Snyder. They receive $11.25 each, which splits the first and second prize money.

The past week's contest concluded the weekly series which began in September.

Storm Toll May Reach 20,000

MACHILIPATNAM, India (AP) - Bloated and sun-blackened bodies floated today in water covering hundreds of square miles of fertile farmland in southeast India devasted by a cyclone and tidal waves that officials say killed at least 10,000 persons.

The Times of India in New Delhi said the death toll could reach 20,000, but the final count may never be known.

Officials said as many as 100 villages in the coastal state of Andhra Pradesh were washed away by the towering waves generated by the storm and tens of thousands of persons were homeless.

The rice crop, which was in mid-harvest when the storm struck, was visible under a sea of water.

An Indian air force helicopter flying over a small, marshy strip of land surrounded by a shallow sea dropped two sacks filled with cooked rice and vegetables. The six men who rushed to retrieve the food apparently were the only survivors of what once was a farming village severals miles inland.

This is part of the delta near where the Krishna River reaches the Bay of Bengal, the area hardest hit by the storm that struck Saturday and battered the coast for two days.

The stench of rotting corpses and a pall of smoke from funeral pyres blanketed parts of the 250-mile stretch of coastal land.

"Overnight, villages have been turned into burial grounds," said the state education minister, Khrishna Rac, after a tour.

He reported roads blocked by masses of uprooted trees and debris in which bodies of cattle and humans were tangled.

Bodies that could not be identified immediately were being burned on huge funeral pyres in an attempt to prevent the outbreak of disease. A reporter for the Samachar news agency said he saw thousands of corpses and carcasses in the worst-hit district of Divi Taluk.

"In some villages, the living were struggling for survival and have no time to attend to the dead," he reported. "They are so shocked they have ceased to cry."

The toll in Divi Taluk was estimated at 8,000 dead and the damage at $230 million. The state government estimated a total of at least 1.5 million acres of crops were destroyed, including banana and rice plantations, and floods covered more than 200 square miles of land.

Strong Earthquake Rocks Argentina

BUENOS AIR, Argentina (AP)-A strong earthquake rocked western Argentina early today, killing at least 50 persons and demolishing numerous buildings, the government said.

The quake, which also injured hundreds of persons, many seriously, struck hardest near San Juan, a wine growing and agricultural city of 500,000 located 800 miles northwest of Buenos Aires near the Chilean border.

The tremors were felt in Buenos Aires as well as across the borders in Chile, Brazil and Peru. No serious damage or casualties were reported in the other countries.

The official news agency Telam said 80 per cent of the dwellings in rural communities on the outskirts of San Juan were demolished when the quake hit at 6:28 a.m. 4:28 EST. Most of the dwellings were of adobe or flimsy materials.

The heaviest damage and most casulties occurred in Caucete, a rural town of 30,000 located 18 miles northwest of San Juan, Telam said.

The government ordered emergency flights of medical supplies into the affected province. Planes were diverted to smaller fields in the area because the quake cracked the San Juan airport runway.

In Cordoba, the country's industrial center 465 miles northwest of the capital, two downtown buildings were evacuated after cracks appeared in the walls.

The National Meteorological Institute in Buenos Aires said measuring needles on its seismological instruments "jumped off the paper" because of the intensity of the quake.

Sadat And US Envoy Talking

CAIRO (AP) - American Ambassador Hermann Eilts met with President Anwar Sadat at the Egyptian leader's Nile-side home today in an apparent resumption of U.S.-mediated indirect negotiations between Israel and Egypt.

The Cairo government, meanwhile, was cracking down on Palestinians here in retaliation for their bitter "war" against Sadat for making last weekend's historic visit to Israel.

A Palestinian spokesman said three top Palestinian officials were arrested Tuesday night and would be expelled from the country. It appeared likely the government would close the Palestine Liberation Organization's office in Cairo.

Eilts and Sadat met after it was officially announced that a direct communications link with Israel, set up for the Sadat trip, had been discontinued.

Officials declined to say whether Eilts or Sadat had requested today's meeting and gave no details of the discussion.

But diplomatic sources expressed the view that Sadat's initiative in going to Israel had placed the Carter administration "on the spot to produce the concessions from Israel" in order to resume Middle East peace talks in Geneva before the end of the year.

Foreign Ministry sources said direct negotiations between Egypt and Israel would resume as well, but they could not say where or when.

Egypt's acting foreign minister, Butros Ghali, reaffirmed today that there were no plans at the moment for Osraeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin to visit Egypt.

more family doctors

Remember the old-time family doctor who made house calls on Sunday afternoons and knew the neighborhood dogs and cats by name? He's making a comeback.

After years of turning out surgeons, internists, eye doctors, skin doctors, baby doctors and other specialists, medical schools are training general practitioners again. Only now they're called family physicians. They too are considered specialists. They take a three-year residency in family practice. And they're required to pass a test every six years to make sure they're keeping up with modern techniques.

The American Academy of Family Physicians reports that 11,000 family doctors have been certified under the new program. More than 5,000 family doctors are in training. Four out of 10 new medical students are choosing to major in family medicine, compared with only two out of 10 during the 1950s and 1960s.

To be sure, we'll never return to the 1930s, when 75 percent of the doctors in this country were general practitioners. Nor will we ever have one family doctor for every 1000 Americans, as we did in 1932.

But the new emphasis on family practice may be the best thing that's happened to American medicine since the National Health Service Corps was formed and the government began sending young doctors into medically neglected communities five years ago.

It's all very well to see the expert when we want an X-ray analyzed. Or an appendix removed. Or a psychiatric examination.

What most of us really want, though, is a family doctor who knows our problems, puts up with our idiosyncrasies and offers us help when we need it and a kind word when we don't.

the 'househusband'

The report at first glance is quite startling: a 71 percent increase in the last nine years in the number of "househusbands" - married men not working outside the home or seeking work.

The actual number, while impressive, is still a small fraction of the total work force. According to Business Week magazine, 2.2 million married men are not wage earners. And "more married students, other young husbands and middle-aged men," it says, "are staying home and letting their wives earn the paycheck."

We are hardly in the middle of a sociological revolution, however. Not yet, anyway. About half the 2.2 million men, for example, are disabled and collecting Social Security or other disability benefits. Others, especially blacks, have "retired" not out of choice but because they lost a job they once had and haven't been able to find another.

The true revolution is the continuing growth in working wives.

More than half of all married women - 52.4 percent as of 1976 - have joined or replaced their husbands in the 9-to-5 grind. Some wives are doing it for sheer fulfillment, no doubt, but most are working just to help bring home that expensive bacon.

One statistic we'd like to see is how many of these 2.2 million househusbands really deserve the name. That is, how many are washing the clothes, scrubbing the floors, cooking the dinners and all the rest, and how many are still able to con the little woman into doing that.

"Okay to stack 'em over there?"

home bargains

NEW YORK (AP)-It looked perfectly logical at first glance, this defense by the nation's home mortgage lenders against complaints that rising new home prices were excluding many Americans from home-ownership.

New homes usually aren't meant for first-time buyers, explained economists of the U.S. League of Savings Associations, which make most of the home mortgage loans throughout the country.

"Most new homes are built for the second-or third-time buyers," they said.

An "overwhelming" 65 per cent of all new homes are bought by families "who are using the accumulated equity and appreciated value of their present homes to purchase new housing," they explained.

So what do we offer the first-time buyer who hasn't had the chance to build up much of a down payment? We offer him the used or existing home. It's "a great opportunity," they said.

More than 80 per cent of all homes sold last year were existing homes, they said. It's true. The National Association of Realtors recorded 3,002,000 such sales, a record. The number will be even higher this year.

Those existing homes are a great buy, said the U.S. League economists. The median price of a newly built home last year was $44,200, but an existing home sold for 13.6 per cent less at $38,100.

Watch those figures: Didn't we hear earlier that the people who sold the existing homes benefited not only from accumulated equity but from "appreciated value?" In other words, existing prices seem to be rising too.

How true. That median figure of $38,100 is a good one for certain purposes, but it does after all include some homes that are in very poor condition and ready to be phased out rather than lived in.

This doesn't mean there aren't bargains in existing homes. Many young couples have found, renovated, and upgraded such houses and now have accommodations superior to those who live in brand new houses.

But existing home prices aren't standing still. That $38,100 median figure has already been bumped up to about $44,000, or just about the price of last year's brand new home.

Quite understandable too. Don't forget, it's just that kind of appreciation, the U.S. League economists point out, that provides first-time owners with the equity to apply to a brand new house.

In 1976, the year in which the median price of an existing home was $38,100, more than 39 per cent of all existing home sales were at minimum prices of $50,000.

That percentage is much higher this year, as it has been every year this decade. In September, 1973 about 13.5 per cent of existing home sales were for $50,000 or more; in September 1975 the percentage was 23.1; last year, 29.1.

Existing home prices clearly are soaring, especially in the quality home category. But, yes, there are bargains. Nearly 14 per cent of existing sales this year were for $25,000 or less.

The question to be asked about the low-priced homes, however, is how many of them represent genuine bargains and how many are accommodations barely fit for habitation and not likely to appreciate?

Americans' attraction to jeans has grown into jeans-mania. Every family at one time or another has invested in these "fashions" which are available to all sizes and accepted at most occasions.

Until the last few years they were considered a fad during teenage era or purchased for the purpose of durable work clothes. Seems nothing can replace them.

Each generation feels it's their responsibility to change the norm. About the time the jeans look ready for the rag bag is the time they become very attached to the garments. The favorite ones are usually faded, worn with holes, covered with patches (only if it's in necessary sports), and the bottoms, either with the hem let out or frayed from being worn long enough the drag the ground, are a teenagers delight. Topped with a T-shirt they feel comfortable and ready to go anywhere.

The jeans fad has caught on. It has become a popular fabric made into pants suits vests, jumpers, pants, shorts, skirts and many more.

Blue jeans fad has spread to foreign countries, including Soviet Union. From an article I read recently, it was interesting to compare the acceptance and cost of the popular jeans.

In the Soviet Union, there chief artist of All-Union House of Fashion made clear that jeans are not proper for ever Socialist occasion.

He noted that jeans that are clean and pressed, worn with a jacket and sweater are acceptable clothing for going to a theater. Slightly worn jeans are understandable, but if they're worn down to holes and patches and are shiney or protruding in places they are considered in bad taste and not acceptable.

American-made jeans with well-known labels are much sought after by Soviet youths. A pair of American jeans can go for as much as $66 on the black market, or $132 for jeans and matching jacket.

The jeans craze will probably be around as long as we are and have few changes and be enjoyed by many.

SAN. FRANCISCO-(NEA)-Motorists elsewhere may be turning increasingly to smaller, fuel-saving cars, but Richard Nixon apparently still prefers big, heavy gas-guzzlers.

Nixon currently leases for staff use-at a cost of $512 per month-both a 1976 Oldsmobile Custom Cruiser station wagon and a 1977 Oldsmobile 98 Regency four-door sedan equipped with virtually every available optional accessory.

Nixon himself remains eligible for around-the-clock Secret Service protection, and among its benefits are free chauffeur service in government-owned heavy sedans and limousines.

Nixon's chief aide, former Marine Corps Lt. Col John V. Brennan, says the big, heavy staff cars were leased because they befit the VIP status of the Nixon visitors they ferry to and from Casa Pacifica, the ex-president's estate in San Clemente, Calif.

But another factor may also explain why Nixon is paying more annually for the loan of two cars than most people pay to buy one outright-the taxpayers are picking up the entire bill.

In fact, public funds were used during the recently concluded fiscal year to buy more than $2,290 worth of gasoline for the pair of autos, $72 in car washes and assorted maintenance expenses.

For travel around his estate, Nixon has used public funds to buy two electric carts similar to those used on golf courses. A cart purchased earlier this year cost $2,800 while one bought in late 1976 cost $2,385. The earlier purchase is bedecked with optional equipment like seven yards of fringe for the canvas roof, new carpeting, custom striping and a monogram.

A storage building for the carts cost $430, and the vehicles' batteries must be replaced at regular intervals, at a cost of more than $250 for a set of six. Again, the purchases were made with public funds on the grounds that the carts are "required for interbuilding transportation for Mr. Nixon and his staff."

That information comes from previously unexamined documents, maintained in the files of the General Service Administration (GSA) regional office here, detailing Nixon's expenditures under the Former Presidents Act.

Although perhaps a bit extravagant, Nixon's post-White House expenditures would generally raise few eyebrows. There have, however, been a few slip-ups.

Three months ago, for instance, Brennan submitted a bill for a $95-a-night hotel room at Beverly Hills' posh L'Ermitage. GSA auditors promptly returned it on the grounds that the price far exceeded the authorized rate for government travel, and Brennan now is embarrassed by the episode.

There's also $30 for the rental of a tuxedo, which Brennan recalls was required attire at a dinner where he represented Nixon, and $962 for a Nikormat 35mm camera, accessory lenses and a strobe light.

Those close to Nixon have repeatedly complained about Congress' determination to hold his expense account well below that enjoyed by other former presidents. But an inspection of the records shows that he and his staff certainly aren't impoverished.

Health Care Plan Blasted

SEATTLE (AP)-Compulsory national health insurance is not the best and least costly way to provide medical care, says Dr. William Mangold of Texas.

Mangold, appearing in a debate before a University of Washington medical group, refuted statements made by Lyle Mercer, executive secretary of the Washington Coalition for a National Health Program.

"Our country cannot afford not to have a comprehensive health care program," Mercer, who also is a member of the board of Group Health Cooperative in Seattle, said Sunday.

Mercer said the Kennedy-Corman Health Security Act before Congress is the best prospect for satisfactory national health insurance.

Mangold replied that such compulsory insurance would dramatically alter the health care system, providing that medical costs be paid directly by the federal government.

Mangold suggested an alternative a measure supported by the American Medical Association, which he said would maintain the existing relationships between doctors and hospitals, patients and private health insurance companies.

The AMA alternative would provide federal subsidies to the unemployed and self-employed, and require that employers provide coverage.

Delegation Attends Rally In Houston

A delegation of 39 women from Scurry, Howard, Borden and Glasscock counties attended the Pro-Family, Pro-Life rally held Saturday afternoon in Houston. The trip was sponsored by the Snyder Eagle Forum Chapter. Donations from interested individuals provided the chartered bus. The rally was designed as a peaceful expression of differences with the International Women's Year conference. An estimated 17,000 Pro-Family supporters who oppose abortion, legal status for homosexuals, and the Equal Rights Amendment packed the Houston Astro Arena. Financial support for the rally came from across the nation.

Some of the most outspoken critics of the Equal Rights Amendment and the International Women's Year conference were on the rally program. Dr. Mildred Jefferson, national president of the Right to Life organization, told the overflow crowd, "The silent majority is no longer silent. It is grumbling and that grumbling will be heard to the outer most corners of this country." Phyllis Schlafly of Illinois, president of the Stop ERA movement and the Eagle Forum Organization, called the ERA an attack on the family. She opened her comments by thanking her husband "for letting me be here. I love to say that because it irritatites the women's libbers more than anything else I say."

State Rep. Clay Smothers of Dallas who introduced a bill to rescind the Texas ratification of the ERA, gave one of the more emotional speeches of the afternoon. He told the enthusiastic audience that he had had enough of "Bella, Bella" (Abzug).

Nellie Gray, president of March of Life, expressed her disappointment that we had to have such a rally as this in America. "How did this happen, she asked, "that we have a mentality in America that is anti-life, anti-family and Anti-God?"

Rep. Robert K. Dornan of California, the only U.S. congressman present, expressed his anger at seeing two former first ladies and the current first lady "all sitting properly with their hands in their laps and dressed according to White House protocol, approving of sexual perversion and murder of unborn children." He urged all present to tell Mr. Carter that his wife attended the wrong rally.

Following the addresses, the Pro-Family coalition passed four resolutions calling for:

1. A human-life amendment to protect all persons from the time of conception.
2. Child development programs to be controlled by the private sector, giving parents freedom of choice over the physical and philosophical environment of their children.
3. Opposition to the ratification of the ERA.
4. Opposition to homosexuality or prostitution being taught, glorified, or otherwise promoted as acceptable through the laws of society, through the adoption of children, or within institutions such as school.

Resolutions signed by 300,000 individuals were stacked in front of a back drop that read "From U.S. to President and Congress." These resolutions will be flown to Washington and presented to President Carter and the Congress.

No Place For Burro

SILVER CITY, N.M. (AP)-The local animal humane society takes in only dogs and cats, so Detective Ron Hall has taken home a burro police found wandering through the downtown area earlier this week.

Officers are trying to locate the owner of the animal, described as "very well cared for and very gentle," by Police Chief Thomas Ryan.

"It has to belong to somebody," he said.

Altrurian Club Has Annual Love Feast

The Altrurian Club gathered at Martha Ann Woman's Club Friday for their annual Love Feast. The tables were covered with net cloths appliqued with all of the Thanksgiving symbols. Mrs. A.C. Preuitt gave the invocation.

Thanksgiving having always been a time of reminiscing for the club, Ruby Anderson told her life story. The highlights was the four years that she spent in Venezuela with her husband who was with an oil company.

Soon after they arrived in Venezuela in 1934, the dictator, Gomez died and the country went into as revolution, with each citizen taking things into his own hands. Machetes and guns were the law of the land. Those who worked for the company tried to protect the Americans except for those officials they disliked," however the latter were given an opportunity to leave the country, and five of them had a narrow escape, with slashing machetes close behind as they boarded a ship.

Mrs. Anderson remembers that all of the ladies spent one night in an oil tanker and later they were sent across a lake to the company guest houses in Maracaibo. The company employees and families were fed at the mess hall set up for 300 bachelor workers, as it was not safe to go to the commissary.

The main rioting lasted about ten days, and the families were resettled but still had to be very cautious.

Mrs. Anderson states that this experience gave her a greater sympathy for those who live in war torn countries.

Gifts were brought to the meeting for Big Spring State Hospital. two guests, Mrs. David Robertson and Miss Maggie Boone and 23 members attended along with the following hostesses: Mrs. Roland Irving, Mrs. Travis Rhoades, Mrs. A.C. Preuitt, Mrs. Henry George, Mrs. R.L. Gray, Mrs. Virginia Whitson and Mrs. Beth Ownby.

Today's hand was sent to us by a Pennsylvania reader as an example of how to overbid and get away with it.

His explanation of the seven-heart bid is that he just felt like bidding a grand slam and that the grand slam bid would have been a good one if North held exactly the right cards.

In any event South found himself flying blind in a fog at 40 thousand feet with one motor conked out as he surveyed dummy.

He said to himself, "At least we didn't redouble."

Then he went up with dummy's ace of clubs and decided not to try the heart finesse. It looked as if East held the king of hearts for his double.

We might not have come to that conclusion and we might have ruffed a diamond to get to our hand to lose to the singleton king of hearts, but not our hero.

He plunked down the ace of hearts at trick two and picked up that singleton. After that nice start it was a simple matter to pick up the last trump, play East for the queen of spades and discard dummy's two small culbs on the long spades.

Ask the Jacobys

A New York reader wants to know if it is better to over bid or to underbid.

We have a preference for slight underbidding. The one thing to do is to be consistent. Don't underbid one hand and overbid the next.

More Road Signs Needed To Vineland

VINELAND, N.J. (AP)-Maybe what New Jersey needs is more road signs to Vineland.

The Civil Defense recently declared Vineland as the state's second capital in case of nuclear war. But when two of Gov. Brendan Byrne's aides came from Trenton to look over the little town they got lost.

Mayor Patrick Fiorillie said Thursday that town officials told the aides they've been trying for years to get more road signs. The aides said that the governor would see that the signs are installed.

"It would be ridiculous if Vineland became the capital and there were no signs about how to get here," Fiorilli grumbled.

NE Parents Club Meets

The Northeast Elementary Parents Club held its regular meeting recently. Grace LeMonds, coordinator of the Gifted and Talented Children's Program in the Snyder schools presented the program. Dr. Tom Scannicchio, assistant superintendent of curriculum, assisted.

Mrs. LeMonds presented a filmstrip that showed parents children who were gifted or talented in various areas. She then mentioned some of the areas that will be given attention in this program. Both speakers emphasized that the program is not limited only to the academically gifted child. Other areas, including art, music, and leadership, will be included.

Dr. Scannicchio discussed the mechanics of the program. He pointed out that this year is being used to prepare teachers for the program. Children will be involved in next year's program.

Injury Plagued, Pride-Popped Tech Prepares For Televised Battle Against No. 6 Arkansas

LUBBOCK (AP) - Arkansas hopes to gain at least a share of the Southwest Conference title with a victory over the Texas Tech Red Raiders Thanksgiving Day, only the Red Raiders may not be in a giving mood.

While sixth-ranked Arkansas was crushing Southern Methodist 47-7 to earn a spot in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2, Texas Tech was nailing down a Tangerine Bowl bid with a humiliating 45-7 loss to Houston.

"It's the worst whipping I've had since I was seven years old and tried to hide a can of spinach at the dinner table," said Tech Coach Steve Sloan of the Houston disaster.

Arkansas can finish the SWC race with a 7-1 record, tying Texas and Texas A&M if the Aggies upset Texas Saturday then defeat Houston Dec. 3.

Tech will field a crippled team in the nationally televised match.

"We've got so many people hurt it's hard to pencil a starting lineup, particularly in our offensive line," said Sloan. "We don't know exactly who is going to play there."

If things weren't bad enough, senior quarterback Rodney Allison, who had just recovered from a small broken bone in his leg, suffered a broken nose against Houston.

Allison works with a limp at best anyway.

"I think our team has enough character to bounce back off the Houston loss and the fact we have so many injuries," said Sloan.

But he added, "It's going to be tough. Arkansas may be as good as Texas. They look very similar. They have speed and exceptional athletic ability. They don't have Earl Campbell but they've got Ben Cowins."

A crowd of some 40,000 fans was expected in Jones Stadium for the battle of bowl-bound teams.

Arkansas will play the winner of Friday's Big Eight joust between Oklahoma and Nebraska while Tech will meet Florida State at Orlando, Fla., Dec. 23.

The Razorbacks are 9-1 for the year while Tech is 7-3 and 4-3 in SWC play.

Nissenson Picks 2 To Upset

By Herschel Nissenson

NEW YORK (AP)-This is the week that will settle the final lineup for the Cotton, Bluebonnet, Orange, Liberty, Rose and Fiesta bowls.

Texas at Texas A&M: These bitter rivals have played six common opponents. Texas has the edge five times and the sixth is only a one-point difference in A&M's favor. Texas is the nation's only unbeaten team so leave it to the good old Aggies to foul that up. Upset Special of the week...Texas A&M 24-17.

Nebraska at Oklahoma: The Cornhuskers have a different offense and, according to Oklahoma's Barry Switzer, I.M. Hipp "gives them a dimension they haven't had since Johnny Rodgers-a back who can score from anywhere on the field." Overall team speed will decide this one..Oklahoma 35-21.

Penn State at Pitt: The way things have been going lately in Western Pennsylvania, all the traditional rivalries may pale in comparison to this one before too long. Besides, the Panthers think Joe Paterno cost them a shot at the Orange Bowl...Pitt 30-24.

UCLA vs. Southern California: A victory sends UCLA to the Rose Bowl. USC hasn't done much right lately, losing four of its last six games, which means the Trojans probably will loosen things up for their crosstown enemies...Southern Cal 24-14.

Arizona at Arizona State: A funny thing happened to the Sun Devils on their trek to the Fiesta Bowl-they got bumped off by Colorado State in the snow when a victory would have clinched the WAC berth. When was the last time it snowed in Tempe?...Arizona State 38-17.

Army vs. Navy at Philadelphia: The Wolves say Army Coach Homer Smith's job is riding on this one despite the Cadets' first winning season in five years. Smith has brought Army back to respectability, but the Middies seem to have his number...Navy 24-17.

Arkansas at Texas Tech: We've picked Texas A&M to deal the Cotton Bowl a staggering blow by knocking off Texas. Why shouldn't the Orange Bowl suffer, too? Second Upset Special...Texas Tech 21-20

The tournament, which pits the Westerners against SW Oklahoma Jr. College Thursday at 11 a.m., is in conjunction with the annual Wool Bowl football contest here Thanksgiving Day.

"We'll open up the turkey on the floor," joked WTC Coach Nolan Richardson, whose Westerners are 5-1 for the season.

And in a more serious vein,, "We're going over there to do our best and play the way we know how."

Richardson, a first-year coach from El Paso, has replaced Mike Mitchell as coach of the men's team at WTC.

Winner of the WTC-SWOJC contest will meet the Odessa-Navajo Community College victor at 9 p.m. Friday. The losers of both teams will meet at 1 p.m.

Boy's Varsity Wins 4th Straight; Tigers Remain In Undefeated Slot

BIG SPRING - Snyder High School Tigers, under direction of Coach Jack Stephenson, racked up their fourth consecutive victory of the season - including three wins against 4A schools - as they whipped the Steers 49-42 last night.

Big Spring paced the action in the first half, leading at the end of the two periods, 10-9 and 24-20. The Steer's Mike Bergeron went 4 for 4 on free throws, 6 for 6 during the evening, to make the difference.

Randy Courtney fired the Tiger attack with 15 points, while teammates Richard Crayton and Tony Cobb tossed in a dozen each. Heading up the Steer charge was Mark Poss with 11 points, followed by Bergeron's 10.

FAMILY DINNER - Their annual Thanksgiving dinner, held at Union Community Center, exemplifies the value Snyder Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes place on the family. They are observing "Family Week" now.

Families Ranked High By Jaycees

The Jaycees organization, which this week is making a special event of "Family Week" here, is family orientated.

The wives of Jaycees are encouraged to join their local Jaycee-ette club to work with their husbands.

Jaycees have a softball team. It has a large following of fans, since the games and practice sessions have always encouraged family participation. Such activities bring families closer together and is most helpful in achieving better communication and understanding. The Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes regard the family as the single most important unit in society and are encouraging others to help celebrate "Family Week" by taking time to do something special involving the entire family.

Although the clubs are separate, they work together on many of their projects. It was pointed out that working together in meaningful activities, brings the family closer together.

The Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes plan several annual family activities. Each year at this time, all the members and their families have an annual Thanksgiving Dinner. This year it is slated for Tuesday night at 6:30 p.m. at the Union Community Center. Of course, it wouldn't be Christmas without the Family Christmas Party, complete with Santa and gifts for all the children. Every 4th of July, the clubs have a Family Picnic in the park. Everyone brings a favorite food to contribute to the picnic feast; and while the children play, the adults have a relaxed visitation period.

Guilty Verdict Returned In Theft Case

James Darwynne Brewer, 40, was found guilty of theft Tuesday afternoon in 132nd District Court.

The jury deliberated about 2½ hours before returning the verdict and deliberated about 20 minutes more before assessing Brewer a two-year prison term.

Brewer was charged with theft of services in an incident that was reported to have occurred last June when he failed to pay a 13-day lodging bill he incurred while staying at the TraveLodge Motel.

Theft of services is a third degree felony, with a punishment ranging from two to 10 years in the state penitentiary.

Jurors serving in the Brewer case were O.B. Darden, Bessie De Loach, Jerry Nell Davis, Debra Kay Hester, Earl L. Edwards, Carla Sue Hicks, Patsy Burney, Mrs. James Nelson, Mildred Y. Clark, Dewey Grinslade, H.M. Lomax, and Mrs. Frank Pinkerton.

Following the conclusion of the Brewer case, the trial of Dwayne O'Neal Wyatt began.

Wyatt, 25, is charged with rape. He is alleged to have enter a North Snyder residence Sept. 20 and raped a 20-year-old woman.

Two Mishaps Are Reported

Two minor traffic accidents were investigated Tuesday by city police.

The first mishap occurred at the intersection of 25th St. and Ave. X and involved a 1972 Ford driven by Buell Davidson of Abilene and a 1973 Ford pickup driven by John Douglas Koon. The mishap was reported at 8:08 a.m.

The second collision involved a city-owned 1968 Ford driven by animal warden Lloyd Merritt and a 1976 Ford driven by Rebecca Nance Black. The mishap took place in the 2700 block of Ave. G and was reported at 11:24 a.m.

Following Heavy Snow

Portland At Standstill

By The Associated Press

A storm that paralyzed parts of the Pacific Northwest with the heaviest November snowfall in two decades headed east today toward the upper Mississippi Valley.

Wyoming, battered by a storm that caused at least one death and stranded scores of travelers, braced for more heavy snow, and snow flurries stretched from the plains to Wisconsin.

Portland, Ore., which normally gets only eight inches of snow in an entire winter, was buried beneath seven inches in 13 hours Tuesday. It melted under an afternoon rain after bringing the area of 1 million people to a virtual standstill in the morning.

The city was spared further winter woes when freezing temperatures and more rain and snow failed to materialize as forecast early Wednesday.

The Portland snowfall equalled the November record, set on Nov. 16-17, 1955. Walla Walla in southeastern Washington recorded eight inches, its heaviest snowfall in five years.

A number of Oregon residents used cross-country skis to get to work. One was Loren Kramer, executive assistant to Gov. Bob Straub in Salem. "I thought it was great," he said of the 30-minute skiing trek over his normal 15-minute, three-mile bicycle ride to the office.

Portland International Airport kept one runway open, but ground travelers had the worst of it. Taxi drivers reported taking three hours to make the usual half-hour drive.

Across the Columbia River in Vancouver, Wash., the transit system shut down and officials canceled raising the city's Christmas tree.

Motorists were required to have chains on their tires to cross the Interstate 5 bridge between Washington and Oregon. Stalled vehicles backed up six miles.

Bartlett Wins

DALLAS (AP)-Businessman Steve Bartlett defeated real estate developer Peter Baldwin for an at-large seat on the Dallas City Council Tuesday in a light voter turnout.

Bartlett, 30, garnered 13,942 votes to Baldwin's 10,605 ballots in final but unofficial returns.

Baldwin, 47, spent about $150,000 in his effort to win the seat vacated by Adlene Harrison when she resigned earlier this year to accept a federal government appointment. Bartlett spent between $25,000 and $30,000 for his victory.

The voter turnout represented about 6.8 percent of the city's 380,000 registered voters.

Education In China Not Just Schooling

AUSTIN (AP) - First graders putting together shipping cartons and physicians sweeping leaves in the hospital yard were among Texas Education Commissioner M.L. Brockette's observations during a recent China visit.

"Education to them is not just schooling," Brockette said Tuesday.

He reported at a news conference on his Oct. 26-Nov. 15 trip to Peking, Nanking, Yangchou, Shanghai and Canton.

Brockette and 10 other delegates concentrated on China's rural and mid-schools - junior and senior high. Other delegations had already observed early childhood education and higher education.

Part of the Chinese educational goal, he was told, is to get children "to love their country and to make their educational achievement count for its welfare and to love their party and what it is doing for them."

The length of the school day for Chinese children is about the same as in the United States, Brockette said, from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. They are off on Wednesday afternoons, however, but attend classes for half a day on Saturday.

"They are very heavy on physical education," Brockette said. He mentioned that he had seen Chinese children doing daily eye exercises "to relieve tension in the muscles around the eyes."

"We observed," Brockette added, "that not too many people were wearing glasses in China."

The Chinese are putting "a great deal of stress on science and technology," he said, and "are pushing for literacy. This is where they feel they have made major gains in recent years."

English is taught as a second language, he said.

"There are strong links between the schools and the productive organs of society," Brockette said, noting the presence of manufacturing plants on college campuses.

Miss Groves Is Honored At Morton

Patti Shawn Groves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Groves of Morton, formerly of Snyder, was crowned Miss Cochran County in ceremonies Saturday evening in the County Auditorium at Morton.

Miss Groves, 17, is a senior in Morton High School and is a member of the National Honor Society. She plans to attend Angelo State University upon graduation from high school. Along with her title, she received a $200 scholarship.

She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.E. McMillan of Hermleigh and the Rev. and Mrs. Elton Wyatt of Lubbock. Rev. Wyatt is a former pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church in Snyder. She also is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stuard and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy McMillan of Snyder.

Two Charged In Burglary Of Grocery

The two suspects arrested Saturday night in connection with the burglary of the G&G Grocery Store were charged yesterday in the district attorney's office.

Named in the burglary charges are Fernando G. Lopez, 18, and Randy Joseph Muise, also 18. The men are alleged to have broken into the North Snyder convenience store and are reported to have taken numerous canned goods. They were arrested by police while reportedly walking from the store.

A third suspect in the incident a 16-year-juvenile who had earlier escaped from police custody, was apprehended and questioned Tuesday. Officers reported his case has been turned over to juvenile authorities.

In a separate complaint, Wesley Jewel Floyd was charged yesterday with the felony offense of driving while intoxicated.

He was arrested Nov. 19 by police.

Turkeys Stupid, Nervous But Oh So Good

WASHINGTON (AP) - The turkey you will sit down to tomorrow was a stupid, nervous bird. So stupid it probably had to be taught how to eat in the first place and so nervous that opening a cage door likely sent it up the wall.

Here's some more turkey lore on this day before Thanksgiving.:

-Benjamin Franklin thought the turkey, not the eagle, should have been our national bird.

You have to give the fowl credit for trying to live up to the honor: when a wild turkey is provoked, structures around its throat called caruncles swell to varying hues of red, white and blue.

-Turkeys were named after Turkey, correct.

The bird's exotic plumage caused folks to think it must have come from a far-away land, like Turkey or India. England opted for the former: other lands went with India.

Today, the gobbler is called indyk in Poland, gallo d'India in Italy, coq d'India or dindon in France and indeiskii petukh in Russia.

-Turkeys are stupid.

Newly hatched gobblers have to be taught to eat. Turkeys don't know enough to get out of the rain; they often catch pneumonia because they can't find the poultry-house door.

Female turkeys stand upright while laying, and if eggs survive the average 10-inch drop, the males sometimes try to break them.

-The Pilgrims weren't too astonished at the bird; in fact they brought some over on the boat in 1620. Spaniards had imported tame Mexican turkeys to Europe in 1519 and they reached England in 1524. The Pilgrims made it sort of a round trip.

-Turkeys are nervous.

Someone opening a cage door can throw them into a tizzy. A paper fluttering in the wind can stampede them into a frantic pileup in the corner of their pen. Producers of large flocks sometimes have to resort to tranquilizers to keep the birds under control.

Wild turkeys, however, stand a chance to escape the dining table. Hunters find it tough to cope with their keen vision, acute hearing and turn of speed. In one Wisconsin turkey season, 1,100 hunters managed to bag a bare total of 18 birds.

According to an Indian saying, "Any brave can kill a deer; it takes a chief to kill a turkey."

-Turkeys in American geography include Turkey, Texas; Turkey River, Iowa, and Turkey Flat, Ariz.

In slang, a turkey is a failure, a flop. To talk turkey is to get down to brass tacks. A 50-cent piece was once called a turkey, from the eagle on the coin. In the 1880s, the word meant pretentious speech or writing.

Over Middle East

Carter's Appearance Is Deceiving

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter may have seemed just an interested onlooker during the Egyptian-Israeli dialogue in Jerusalem, but appearances in this case were deceiving, according to Israel's ambassador to Washington.

As the envoy, Simcha Dinitz, emerged from the White House on the eve of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's arrival in Israel, a reporter asked, "Are the Americans pretty well cut out of all this?" Dinitz responded:

"The fact that I have been in the White House three times in the last two days doesn't indicate that the Americans are cut out of it."

Indeed, Carter was in telephone contact with both Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin prior to their meeting. He is known to have urged Sadat to be of good cheer in the face of widespread Arab opposition to the precedent-shattering event. And he suggested to Begin that Sadat should not be sent home empty-handed.

White House spokesman Rex Granum says it is too early to assess whether Sadat took something home to Cairo.

For Carter, who has made the reconvening of a Geneva peace conference on the Middle East a priority goal, a successful Jerusalem summit was essential to show that the Egyptians and Israelis could sit down and talk.

As an exercise in symbolism, the weekend events could hardly have been more pleasing to the U.S. president, who has said he was moved by their emotional impact. Whether they prove to be the prelude to more substantive negotiations remains to be seen.

But whatever happens in the days and weeks just ahead, Carter can take considerable satisfaction in the mere fact that Sadat and Begin met and embarked on a personal dialogue.

Although the administration's Middle East policy has been under heavy fire at home, and not only from Jews, there seems little doubt that Sadat never would have launched his dramatic initiative had it not been for Carter's year-long efforts to prod all parties toward Geneva and, equally important, to encourage such Arab moderates as the Egyptian leader.

Carter certainly will not attempt to claim credit for the Begin-Sadat exchanges. In fact, however, they gave at least momentary fresh impetus to his peace-seeking efforts and could serve to quiet domestic discontent over his Middle East interventions.

If the president gains ground on this score, it will coincide with other foreign policy advances overshadowed by the jockeying in the Middle East.

Last week, for example, the Shah of Iran ended his state visit here by announcing that Carter had persuaded him to work actively to hold the line in 1978 on per-barrel prices dictated by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

A matter of balance

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB – I have had an equilibrium problem for the past 10 years. I get it about four or five times a year. It frightens me. I've been to two ear specialists, and they tell me it is caused by my internal ear. One said it has something to do with going through the menopause.

What I would like to know is, will this ever leave me? I have medication which I carry with me in case I should get this dizziness, and the medicine does help me a lot.

I have heard from others who had it at one time, and now they don't have this problem any more. I would be the happiest person if this equilibrium problem would leave me. I'm 64 years old.

DEAR READER – If it was caused by the menopause, you are certainly having a long menopause. Clearly, that is not the case.

Dizziness and vertigo are different things. Some people are dizzy because of poor circulation to the brain, or problems related to simple fainting. Others have "true vertigo," meaning that when they have an attack they have an illusion of motion. They feel like they are moving or the environment around them is moving when that is not the case.

True vertigo is often associated with an abnormality of the balance canals of the internal ear. If there are associated findings, it may be from disease of the arteries to that area, but in younger people without other findings, it is often related to the ear or the nerve between the ear and the brain.

The cause of the vertigo is important. The inner ear may be sensitive to motion and motion may cause a violent reaction – simple motion sickness. This problem is well-known to many people. It is self-limited with a complete recovery.

Other people have an irritation of the small balance canals in the inner ear secondary to an illness such as a complication to the flu. This is called toxic labyrinthitis. It may last to some degree for several months, but it too gradually disappears. That is why some of your acquaintances have had "the same thing" and it has finally disappeared.

Still others have a symptom complex we call Meniere's disease that is associated with an accumulation of fluid in the inner ear canals. Anything that increases the body's retention of fluid may make it worse. That may be what the doctor meant who said your condition was related to the menopause. In those cases, the attacks may decrease and sometimes disappear entirely, but usually only after the ear is deaf. Meniere's disease by definition includes a low buzzing in the ear, hearing loss and intermittent attacks of vertigo. It is a complex problem and often difficult to treat.

You are fortunate that the medicine you take does control your symptoms. Not everyone has such good success. To give you a better understanding of the many different things that can cause such problems, I am sending you The Health Letter number 9-10, Dizziness and Vertigo. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 326, San Antonio, TX 78292.

Kissinger To Be Consultant

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger will be a consultant for a new think-tank operation called the Center for the Study of the American Experience.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Dean Frederick Williams of the University of Southern California.

Kissinger had talked previously with John Hubbard, president of USC, about becoming director of the center, which is part of the Annenberg School of Communications.

Williams said Kissinger was unable to accept the job because of other commitments.

Instead, the Nobel Peace Prize winner will help the university find a director.

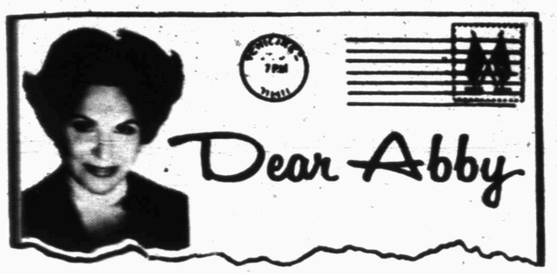
Refunding Issue Is On CRMWD Board Agenda

Resolutions and execution of documents leading to a $37,000,000 refunding issue will be on the agenda of the Colorado River Municipal Water District when directors meet 2 p.m. Dec. 1 at headquarters in Big Spring.

The refunding is being undertaken to provide greater latitude in the expansion program connected with the district's application for a new reservoir near the Stacy-Leaday communities on the Concho-Coleman County line. Because the refunding issue will in effect put money in escrow for some $34,000,000 outstanding revenue bonds, the district will be freed from terms of the original indenture and will have more flexibility in operation and borrowing ability. The district is expected to retain its excellent bond rating. Already Standard and Poore have given an A rating to the refunding issue, and raised the rating on outstanding bonds, which will be backed by escrow money, to triple A. Monday, Moody's announced an A rating for both bonds.

The net total of borrowed funds will be around the $37,000,000 mark because the district is funding a $4,650,000 reserve account, plus putting up money out of present reserves, to pay off Series 1966 bonds as they become callable on schedule between now and 1981. The First Southwest Corporation is acting as fiscal agent of the district, and Eastman, Dillon, Union Securities is handling the bond sales.

Directors also will consider at the meeting a request from Texas Electric Service Company for adjustment of its Ward County plant water contract, also consider the Sun Oil Company water sales contract, as well as hear the report of General Manager O.H. Ivie on the Stacy project.



Her Quiet Guy Might Just Be Shy

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a man who is very intelligent, articulate and informed. The problem is, he hardly opens his mouth when we're in the company of others (especially strangers).

I desperately wish he would speak up so others would know how bright he is, but he just sits there as though he has nothing to contribute to the conversation. It's so frustrating and embarrassing that I want to scream.

When the two of us are alone, his dialogue is brilliant, but in company, he clams up. I'm sure some people think he's shallow, and others probably think he's stuck-up, but he's not.

What is wrong with him, Abby? How can I get him to enter into the conversation when we're in a group?

UPTIGHT

DEAR UP: Your friend could be shy. (Many intelligent, well-read people are.) Or perhaps he's too well-mannered to interrupt others who enjoy dominating the conversation.

You can help draw him into future conversations by asking him some direct questions. Try it.

DEAR ABBY: How can I get it across to my hairdresser that I wish she would keep quiet when she is working on me? I have changed beauty operators four times in the last year because all these girls do is talk, talk, talk.

I am not interested in their private affairs, and I have no desire to talk about mine. My husband says it's the same way in his barber shop. The barbers talk the men's ears off, too. People who work in offices and stores can't be jabbering to their customers or clients about everything under the sun. They have to keep their minds on their work.

I would appreciate total silence so much while I'm getting my hair done that I would gladly pay a double tip for it. How can this be accomplished?

NO GOSSIP

DEAR NO: Offer your hairdresser a double tip to button her lip, and the only words you are likely to hear before a long silence will be, "You just made a deal, lady."

DEAR ABBY: I am an middle-aged woman who hasn't been to my gynecologist for six years. With all this talk about cancer, I know I should go, but I've been putting it off because I'm afraid I might have VD. I had a few symptoms six years ago, but they went away. I've noticed my eyesight is not as good as it was, and my memory seems faulty. I read somewhere that VD symptoms usually disappear but the disease continues to do its damage.

I don't want to go to my regular doctor in case I have it. I've considered going to a strange doctor and using a phony name, but I hate to go through all those examinations and give him a whole medical history when I know I'll never see him again.

I just want to find out if I have VD so I can either take care of it or forget it.

I've never been intimate with anyone except my husband, but there is a good chance that he had it and I got it from him. What should I do?

CONCERNED IN ST. PAUL

DEAR CONCERNED: Call your Planned Parenthood Clinic and make an appointment for a gynecological examination. It will include blood tests and urinalysis. No phony name is necessary. All their records are strictly confidential.

ASTRO-GRAPH
Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday
Nov. 24, 1977

A great amount of emphasis this coming year will be devoted to situations that could enhance your stability and security. You may have to work harder, but the sturdier foundations will be worth it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today a flexible, but indolent, friend may shift her burdens to you because she doesn't want to be satisfied with them. Having trouble selecting a career? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents to each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An acquaintance who knows you on a purely social basis may try to borrow you for a favor today. Be wary of promises made in return.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Those who are wined and dined at your place today will appreciate the occasion even more if it is as informal as possible.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Just because distance separates you from someone you love, doesn't mean that this person isn't worth a card or a call today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) As a person who likes to operate free from restraints, you understand the folly of possessiveness. Yet today, you may try to limit the freedom of one you're fond of.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Make it a point today not to be equally charming and gracious to all. A violation will offend one who loves you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Beware of romantic involvements today that are definite no-no's. It might cause complications that will really rock the boat.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Socially, today your behavior will be closely eyed by someone who is less than an ally. She's hoping you'll bomb. Outsmart her.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You may feel a strong inner need today to be the center of attention. You could do something rather silly just to achieve this.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's commendable to praise another, provided the reasons are sincere. To flatter someone for less noble purposes will backfire today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is not the day to try to fit yourself into the picture with someone you know who has a good thing going. Wait till you're asked.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Try to be a leader today. Letting another make the decisions is no guarantee the choices will be right.

Winners Named In Read-A-Thon

The tabulations have now been completed in a Read-A-Thon sponsored by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

A total of 1,008 books were read by local youngster in the program and $829.16 was raised for the society, reported Esther Turner, executive director of the South Plains Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

David King and Leeann Pierce, students at North and Stanfield Elementaries, respectively, tied for first place honors. Each student read 25 books. Angela Pilgrim, a student at West Elementary, brought in the greatest amount of money of any individual. She raised $57.60.

"The MS Society would like to thank each student who participated in the Read-A-Thon and every sponsor who pledged to the readers," said Ms. Turner.

"The help and cooperation of the school principals and teachers is extremely appreciated," she added. "The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) sponsored the event and helped with the work project. We also appreciate their help," said Ms. Turner.

"It is encouraging," she said, "to see a town get involved in a project like this."

Sixty per cent of the monies raised in the project stay within the chapter to help purchase medical appliances and the remaining 40 per cent of the revenues go to the national Multiple Sclerosis headquarters.

Suicide Ruled In Jail Death

WAXAHACHIE (AP)-A suicide ruling has been returned in the death of a 21-year-old inmate of the Ellis County jail.

Sheriff Barney Boyd said the body of Don Washington of Midlothian was found hanging from a rope made from strips of a blanket Monday morning.

Washington was a former jail trusty who escaped and was recaptured last week, Barney said.

The sheriff said the suicide ruling had been returned by the Dallas County medical examiner.

Karen Blaker Ph.D.

Mixed blessing

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

DEAR DR. BLAKER: I can't get over how upset my parents are about my recent announcement to marry — in their words — outside of my religion. I know they are deeply Jewish, but they have known since my college days that I don't share all their beliefs. I celebrate the religious holidays with them — and maybe that confuses them — but religion is not a big part of my life, and I want to keep it that way. It seems as though religion is all we talk about now. Is this the way it has to be?

DEAR READER: Have you asked your parents whether there is something other than the inter-religious aspect of your marriage which concerns them? It does seem strange that after having accepted your shift away from your faith in college, they would be so upset now, although they may have always hoped you would return to the fold when you started a family.

If, in fact, their chief concern is your marriage to a non-Jew, you probably have only begun to hear about religion. It is ironic that the very act of marrying outside your religion — made possible in part by your distance from religion — has put religion squarely back in the forefront of your life.

For example, you mentioned that you have been celebrating religious holidays with your parents. For you this may be merely a bridge between the past and the present — a kind of 'station identification.' But your parents may have viewed those times together as evidence that you had never actually defected from the faith. After your marriage, however, these celebrations — whether you go alone, take you non-Jewish wife, or stay away completely — will become, for your parents, a rough measurement, perhaps even a bitter reminder, of how things really are.

And when children enter the picture, your parents can worsen the situation by pressuring you about their grandchildren's religious education.

Have you and your future wife discussed the obstacles that lie ahead? Unfortunately (but true) the feelings of romantic love can often interfere with realistic discussions. In any event, you may be more motivated to face the issue when you hear this frightening statistic: one out of two intermarriages end in divorce.

I hope that cold fact does frighten you into finding out more about the realities of your future together. Try to find a couple who has encountered (and survived) the barriers you will face. It will help you understand more about the pain — and perhaps the unexpected fulfillment — of a successful intermarriage.

Write to Dr. Blaker in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Volume of mail prohibits personal replies, but questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns.
