Local Attorney Urges More Work For Future; Dr. J. T. Hutchinson Presents Diplomas To Group

GO out into life with a definite purpose and work with all your might to accomplish your aim. That was the principal speaker at commencement exercises, held 229 Lubbock High School graduates Wednesday evening, when diplomas were presented to the largest class in the history of the local school at Texas Tech gymnasium.

When one takes the foothold on the gridiron he has a definite purpose. He plans to make a touchdown," he said. "When one steps up to the bat, he plans to make a score. Likewise, you should go into life with body physically fit and mind alert to that which is before you.

Do not discourage by reverses if every play made a touchdown when he has the foothold, there would be no game. Get up and play the game like a man, and you will ultimately overcome all obstacles.

I want to stress the value of work. That program of work must be systematic with eyes open at all times. Believe in yourself, be convinced that through proper work you can accomplish anything."

Creager Tells Of Party's Plans For Future Work

Republicans Gather For Conference In City Last Night

A program for strengthening the Republican party in Texas, to include organizations in every precinct, was outlined here Wednesday night by R. B. Creager, national committeeman from this state, before about 100 Republicans of the South Plains at a meeting in the Hotel Lubbock.

Mr. Creager was accompanied here by members of the State executive committee, including J. P. Lucey, of Dallas, who was director of Hoover relief organization in Belgium during the World War; Orville Bullington, of Wichita Falls, vice chairman of the State executive committee; Leonard Withington, secretary of the State executive committee.

"We are now making a campaign throughout Texas to solidify the party and build up organizations in every county of the state in preparation for the next election."

"By making Texas a two-party state we will create a better government, because through the competition of the parties will the best officials for our government be brought to the front."

Meetings Proving Popular
From 20 to 25 counties have been represented at each meeting throughout the state on the present tour of the executive committee, Mr. Creager explained. Two hundred and fifty attended a luncheon at Amarillo Wednesday when the executive committee appeared in that city.

The meeting was opened here by Mr. Withington, who urged the Republicans of Texas to take advantage of the recent Hoover victory, emphasizing the importance of planning early for the next objective.

Mr. Lucey said that Mr. Hoover has the utmost confidence in Mr. Creager and admires the Texas leadership.

Identification Of Victims Presents Scene Of Tragedy

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, May 15.—Curious throngs tonight milled about the Cleveland Clinic, scene of an explosion and fire which took the lives of five score people—but they were only curious. The real scene of the tragedy had shifted to the county morgue, a somber two story building facing Lake Erie. There bodies laid out in three and four's awaited identification. Both floors of the structure were utilized for the task.

In the middle of the afternoon long lines formed awaiting admittance and police with difficulty restricted anxious relatives and friends seeking news.

Anxiety Shows Up
Mothers and wives, tear stained faces showing the anxiety through which they were passing, men bravely trying to bear up and children only barely realizing the tragedy milled around awaiting permission to enter.

At length the morgue attendants had done their work, and the lines formed for admittance into the building. Policemen and detectives allowed only those to enter who could assist in the identification of the dead.

Procedure Is Given
In groups of five or six they went in, flanked on either side by policemen. The grim business of identification led the small parties on a circuitous path through the morgue and

Gas Originating From Blast Causes Majority Of Casualties; Many Bodies Are Unidentified

CLEVELAND, O., May 15.—Deadly, suffocating bromine gas, given off by two explosions of x-ray films, and an accompanying fire, killed 100 persons in Cleveland clinic today. The injured list may reach 100.

GAS UNIDENTIFIED

Investigations tonight of the explosion and fire at the Cleveland Clinic hospital today which claimed 100 lives established that many of the deaths were caused by a deadly gas, but its identity was undetermined.

The fumes penetrated to the waiting room on the floor above. The hollow center of the building was filled with gas as the intense heat below sent the fumes swirling upward. Before any one had opportunity to escape a second blast blew out the skylight and filled every corner of the building with the deadly bromine gas.

Occupants had no way of escape but the windows, and few were able to reach them. These were enveloped in the fumes which hung about the building and they collapsed.

The two street entrances were choked, and the stairway leading to the roof were heavy with the fumes. Every piece of fire apparatus available was centered at the clinic and viewpoint of a former Democrat pleaded for the uniting of all Hoover Democrats with the Republican party of Texas.

Plan Is To Drive Wedge Into Texas Democrats

"It is our plan to drive a wedge into the Democratic party of Texas for the obvious purpose of breaking up that organization," said R. B. Creager, of Brownsville. Republican national committeeman from Texas, in an interview here Wednesday night.

Interested In Lubbock

Departing from discussion of party issues, he said: "I have taken an active interest in aiding in the establishment of a federal court in Lubbock, and have done much toward securing an adequate appropriation from Congress for erection of a federal and post office building in this city. I will continue to do all within my power to bring about the construction of that building."

Building Organization

"We are building up a more powerful organization by bringing into the party the Hoover Democrats, 90 per cent of whom say they will support Mr. Hoover four years hence, regardless of who might be in the race.

Thoroughly Established

"The Republican party is now a thoroughly established, reputable organization. Texas is now a two-party state with the Democratic forces rapidly weakening, for there is now no cohesion in that party.

To Continue Work

When asked his opinion as to the probable effect upon the state party of Senator Brookhart's patronage charges, made against Mr. Creager, the national committeeman said, although Senator Brookhart is intensely hostile, there is no evidence he can introduce which would reflect upon leaders of the organization. As I told Senator Brookhart in Washington, we propose to continue in Texas, as we have done in the last 8 years, along the same party methods, those methods being honorable, legal, open to the world, and having proved highly successful."

Do you think congress will direct a committee to conduct an investigation in Dallas of Senator Brookhart's charges?"

"It is immaterial to Republican leaders in Texas; we have nothing to fear," he answered.

officers to travel little frequented roads with summonses. Defense attorneys objected to the venue change, saying the state had used all but four of its peremptory challenges and only two of the 15 defense challenges remained.

Disaster Is Sudden

The rescuers found evidence of the suddenness with which disaster came to those inside the building on every hand. Hats, shoes and purses were scattered about, abandoned in the flight of those able to fight off the fumes long enough to make a frantic attempt to escape.

Surgical Equipment Lay Ready

Emergency provisions were made at the hospitals and as these became overfilled, a residence near the clinic was made into a temporary first-aid station. Cots were set in halls at Mount Sinai hospital, and as fast as the victims succumbed they were removed for the coming rains of last week.

Names Are Posted

Identification was slow. As rapidly as the names of the victims were learned they were posted at the morgue, and police established another bureau of information at Central Station.

Work of Identification Went On Tonight

Police declared it might require several days to complete the roster of those who were killed. Discoloration hampered identification of some, although none of the bodies were disfigured otherwise.

Heavy Fumes Hung About Building

For two hours after the blast rescuers were unable to remain inside for long intervals. The fumes were so strong as to act almost instantly. Pedestrians caught outside the building lay unconscious until dragged to safety when the gas lifted. One woman smashed a third floor window and was preparing to leap as firemen spread a life net. She stood poised the amber gas swirled about her shoulders, and she collapsed, falling inside the building.

Operator Escapes

Stephen Weizer, elevator operator, was in his car in the basement. He shot the car to the fifth floor penthouse and escaped with burns about the face and hands. Two workmen in a coal bin below the film storage room were jarred but not otherwise injured.

Some of Those Given Oxygen Immediately After Their Removal

Death Stalks In Cleveland Clinic As Blast Claims Lives Of 95 Wednesday

every vehicle possible was commandeered to remove the bodies. An hour and a half later all had been taken to nearby hospitals.

The first blast was heard by policeman Henry Thorpe walking two blocks away. He immediately turned in an alarm and ran to the building, at Euclid Avenue and 93rd street.

A block away he was blinded by the gas. The first firemen to arrive turned in a second alarm and police, hospital and county morgue ambulances were concentrated about the building.

Battalion Fire Chief James P. Flynn, with his driver, Louis Hillenbrand, were the first to enter the building. They reached the roof and chopped a hole leading to a stairway, then dropped a ladder to the fourth floor landing. Below they found 16 bodies, one a doctor and another a nurse, strewn along the staircase.

The physician, Dr. J. L. Locke, appeared to be alive and was taken out first. He was revived. Five of the others were taken to the roof and carried down ladders as arriving firemen battered in windows to reach those inside.

Oxygen Is Used. Ambulances and taxicabs were used to take them to hospitals. Dr. George W. Orle, head of the clinic gave orders that all victims be taken to the closest source of oxygen, their only hope of life.

Some were taken to the Cleveland Clinic hospital, adjoining the clinic building. The others were taken to Mount Sinai, Huron Road and Charity hospitals.

Emergency equipment was set up outside the building as the fumes lifted and permitted rescuers to work in safety. Police lines were thrown about the district to regulate traffic and hold in check a crowd of several thousand onlookers.

Inside the building firemen found many lying in the spot where the blast struck them. Rooms set aside for clinical examinations were occupied by patients and physicians. Some sat in chairs of the waiting room, overcome as the first cloud of gas swept up from the basement. Others in the front of the building were stretched along the sals.

The rescuers found evidence of the suddenness with which disaster came to those inside the building on every hand. Hats, shoes and purses were scattered about, abandoned in the flight of those able to fight off the fumes long enough to make a frantic attempt to escape.

Surgical equipment lay ready for use in the examining rooms. In the x-ray developing room a roll of film was stretched to dry. A wheel chair with the blanket thrown aside blocked a balcony overlooking the waiting room. A stenographer's half-finished letter was found in an office.

Emergency provisions were made at the hospitals and as these became overfilled, a residence near the clinic was made into a temporary first-aid station. Cots were set in halls at Mount Sinai hospital, and as fast as the victims succumbed they were removed for the coming rains of last week.

Names Are Posted

Identification was slow. As rapidly as the names of the victims were learned they were posted at the morgue, and police established another bureau of information at Central Station.

The work of identification went on tonight. Police declared it might require several days to complete the roster of those who were killed. Discoloration hampered identification of some, although none of the bodies were disfigured otherwise.

Heavy fumes hung about the building

For two hours after the blast rescuers were unable to remain inside for long intervals. The fumes were so strong as to act almost instantly. Pedestrians caught outside the building lay unconscious until dragged to safety when the gas lifted. One woman smashed a third floor window and was preparing to leap as firemen spread a life net. She stood poised the amber gas swirled about her shoulders, and she collapsed, falling inside the building.

Some at unbroken windows pounded weakly against glass and then dropped from sight as they choked. Most of the victims lay slumped in their seats, stifled and fighting to the last for air.

Operator escapes

Stephen Weizer, elevator operator, was in his car in the basement. He shot the car to the fifth floor penthouse and escaped with burns about the face and hands. Two workmen in a coal bin below the film storage room were jarred but not otherwise injured.

Some of those given oxygen immediately after their removal

were expected to live. For others where the noxious poison had destroyed the membranes of the lungs, there was only one despair.

Coroner A. J. Pearce

prepared plans for an inquest as fire department officials attempted to learn the origin of the fire.

COLEMAN, May 15 (AP)—Paul

Roquemore, one of the victims of the Cleveland hospital disaster today, was born and reared in Coleman. He was a graduate of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, and had gone to Cleveland to continue a study of x-rays.

Army's Big Aerial Sham Battle Over Ohio Will Show What Next War Will Be Like; 200 Planes To Fly Over Cities On 'Bombing Raids' And Combat Others In Sky

A scene much like the above will thrill the spectators when Cincinnati is "attacked" from the skies and 200 army planes battle overhead on the afternoon of May 18. At the right, is a plan being refueled in midair, like the one that will fly from Ohio to New York, "bomb" the city and return without alighting. Below are the weapons that will be used by the ground troops: 1—Hand grenade, 2—Trench mortar, 3—Rifle and bayonet, 4—Rifle grenade, 5—Battle tank, 6—37 millimeter gun, 7—Automatic rifle, 8—Browning machine gun.

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer. WASHINGTON, May 15. — The United States army's conception of what the next war will be like is to be demonstrated by a huge aerial sham battle in the next two weeks over Ohio and contiguous states. Working in conjunction with ground troops, about 200 army fighting planes will go through the most advanced maneuvers of the kind ever undertaken. If the results are successful, the air corps will have gone a long way toward establishing itself as an independent fighting arm and it will be shown that great fleets of planes can be commanded entirely from the air by radio instead of being forced to function individually or under ground direction. The war maneuvers run from May 15 to May 26 and plans provide a theoretical state of war between two theoretical states, Blue and Red. Blue will be to the west and Red to the east of a north-south line beginning two miles west of Toledo and running through Bowling Green, Findlay, Kenton, London combat radio will be continually used by all air and ground units. Observers aloft will report the battle's progress to commanders below, and both ground commanders and commanders in the air will broadcast orders. Such a demonstration of radio's great capabilities in aircraft has not been achieved before because of the many difficulties which have had to be gradually solved—such as roaring engines, weight factors, ignition noises and vibration.

One of the main stunts in connection with the maneuvers will be the non-stop, re-fueled flight of a heavy bomber from Dayton to New York City and return, a distance of 1544 miles. It will be re-fueled twice, going and coming, over Middletown, Pa.

Plan to "Bomb" New York City. Arriving a New York City about 8 p. m., May 21, the bomber will drop two parachute flares near the foot of the Battery, representing the dropping of 100-pound bombs. The ship will fly over New York for about 15 minutes and then head back for Dayton, due there before dawn.

The principle of refueling heavy aircraft was demonstrated last January with the Air Corps endurance plane Question Mark and the forthcoming demonstration is meant to show how refueling can extend the cruising range of military planes on bombing operations. The refueling method is simple—a hose is lowered from another plane and fuel transferred into reserve tanks through a special funnel.

The main show really begins the night of May 14, when army planes from over the country, with a personnel of about 200 officers and 225 mechanics and enlisted men, will concentrate at Norton and Wilbur Wright fields. There will be two distinct phases of the maneuvers, May 15 to 21 and May 21 to 26. During the first phase the opposing air units will operate against each other for the purpose of locating and destroying airbases and of crippling enemy ground mobilizations and industrial centers.

Thus air raids are likely to befall such Blue cities as Dayton, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Springfield, Fort Wayne and Lima and such Red cities as Columbus, Wheeling, Cleveland, Akron and possibly Pittsburgh and Youngstown.

Ground operations take the most important place in the second phase. On May 26 an imitation "enemy airbase" will be actually bombed and riddled with machine gun fire at Wilbur Wright field.

The latest developments in aerial photography will also be tried out during both day and night maneuvering.

Maj.-Gen. Dennis E. Nolan of the Fifth Corps Area will direct the Blue forces. The Red forces will be commanded by Colonel William H. Waldron of the Tenth Infantry.

Gangland Writes Answer To Valentine Day Massacre And Three Men Lie Dead

CHICAGO, May 15.—Gangland has written savagely with lead the answer to the St. Valentine's day execution here of seven racketeers by rival beef runners.

As foretold in a Central Press dispatch last February the epilogue to the massacre was punctuated by bullets, three of which wrote period forever to the careers of John Scallise, Albert Anselmi and Joseph Guinno, henchmen of the notorious "Scarface Al" Capone.

And the guns of gangland, those in the know say, have not yet ceased to roar in retribution. There are three more men at large who took part in the butchery of henchmen of Moran, overlord of the wet spots on Chicago's north side.

Capone's Pet
Scallise was one of Capone's pet gunmen. Anselmi was Scallise's man Friday. Guinno was a gunman imported from New York. They are dead, but there is still another page to write—the lines about those three unknowns who crouch in hiding somewhere in "Little Hell" or the shadowy "Valley."

The latest victims of Chicago's beef war were found in a ditch near Hammond, Ind. Guinno and Scallise, riddled with bullets, lay slumped in the seat of an automobile Anselmi's body was sprawled 25 feet away.

Gangland is afraid of the process recently put into effect here of "fingerprinting bullets," by which new wrinkles in the science of criminology experts are able to determine the guns from which bullets are fired.

So the corpus delicti were taken for a last ride into Indiana. Killed in Chicago
The killings, however, occurred in Chicago. At least that is the theory of the authorities. From the position of the bullet wounds, police reconstruct the murders in much this fashion:

"All three of the men," said Coroner Herman N. Bundesen, "must have been sitting around a table when their assassin surprised them. Scallise threw up his left arm to cover his face and a bullet tore off his little finger and crashed in on his eye."

Meanwhile, the other murders—there must have been three or four—landed on Guinno and Anselmi disabling them with bullets in the bodies. When the victims fell to the floor, their assassins stood over them and fired a fusillade of shots into their backs.

"Revolvers and pistols and not machine guns were used in the triple killing. Assured the three were dead, the murderers dumped their bodies into a stolen automobile and sped to a lonely prairie near Hammond."

Chicago newspapermen recognized Scallise and Anselmi Guinno was identified by a label sewn into his coat.

News Spread Through "Valley"
The "Valley" heard the news before police officials sent out a jolt but large order to search the backlands with fine-toothed comb. Moran and his followers, the order read, were to be taken in custody instantly. Some of those who were sought were "Dutch" Emmerling, Frankie Frost, noted as a rifle expert; Ted Newberry, Icewagon; Connors and Willie Webb—hard cases all. None, however, was apprehended.

It remained for gangland to get Scallise and Anselmi after the law enforcement officials had let them slip through their fingers. Four years ago both men engaged in a desperate gun fight with police, which resulted in the death of two policemen and the death of the notorious Mike Genna, a chieftain of the Sicilian alkies. The pair were acquitted of the charge after they had been tried three different times.

But the overlord of gangland are not made of the same stuff as justice. An "eye for an eye" is the motto of gangland and retaliation is its religion. There are three bodies in as many Chicago morgues to vouch for the truth of that. Gangland acting as its own inquisitorial body and executioner rolled in one takes the shortest course always. Legal red tape and the process of trial is meant for those who live within the law. But gangland, master of its own destinies, follows a more primal code—the law of the jungle. Only the fittest survive. And the price of living is eternal watchfulness or a sixtieth second quicker draw and pull on the trigger finger in this mad war on an alkly front where dollars and silk shirts are the goal and expensive funerals in $10,000 caskets the lot of those who spin the dice and play to win or lose.

Poland threatens to pass laws to reduce the high royalties demanded by Galician landowners which are holding back development of oil fields in that district.

(By Associated Press) DENVER, Colo., May 15.—Arrested here three days ago on suspicion of driving a stolen car, Richard Burrows, 19-year-old foster son of a prominent Chicago livestock broker, confessed last night to the murder of Jack Martin of Mesa, Ariz., on April 26.

Auto-Barbers Win Opening Game In Twilight League

Hardware Outfit Held To Two Hits In First Contest

Red Moore hurled Chisum's Aggregation To 7-1 Win; Santa Fe Nine To Make Appearance Today

Auto-Barbers and Hardware Dealers of the Lubbock City League opened the season Wednesday afternoon with a five-inning contest which the former won in a walk, 7 to 1.

Red Moore held the Hardware outfit to two hits, while his mates were scoring seven runs on as many hits and five errors, by the opposition. Hopper, who started the fray for the losers, gave way to Devaney in the fifth, after being touched for five hits.

Dude Lassiter scored the first run of the season when he crossed the plate on Hill's passed ball in the third inning. Del Morgan counted the other tally the winners made in this frame on Halmark's error.

Score 3 In Fourth.

The Auto-Barbers counted five runs in the fourth on two hits and 2 errors. Burnett led the way with a single through the box, advanced to second when Moore flew out to center and went to third on Rigney's single. He scored on a double steal. Rigney reaching second. Lassiter was given a life on Coker's miscue. E. Carr whiffed and Marshall reached first on Halmark's error. Lassiter and Marshall scored when Morgan hit one to deep center for three bases. Morgan completed the circuit on a wild throw to third. Hodges ended the rally when he flew out to Rainwater.

The Hardware Dealers scored the only run in the fourth, after two pitched balls and Hensley struck out. Rainwater was issued a free pass to first and Hill grounded out to Rigney. Halmark slashed a single to left, scoring Bailey. Halmark was caught off first by Moore for the third out.

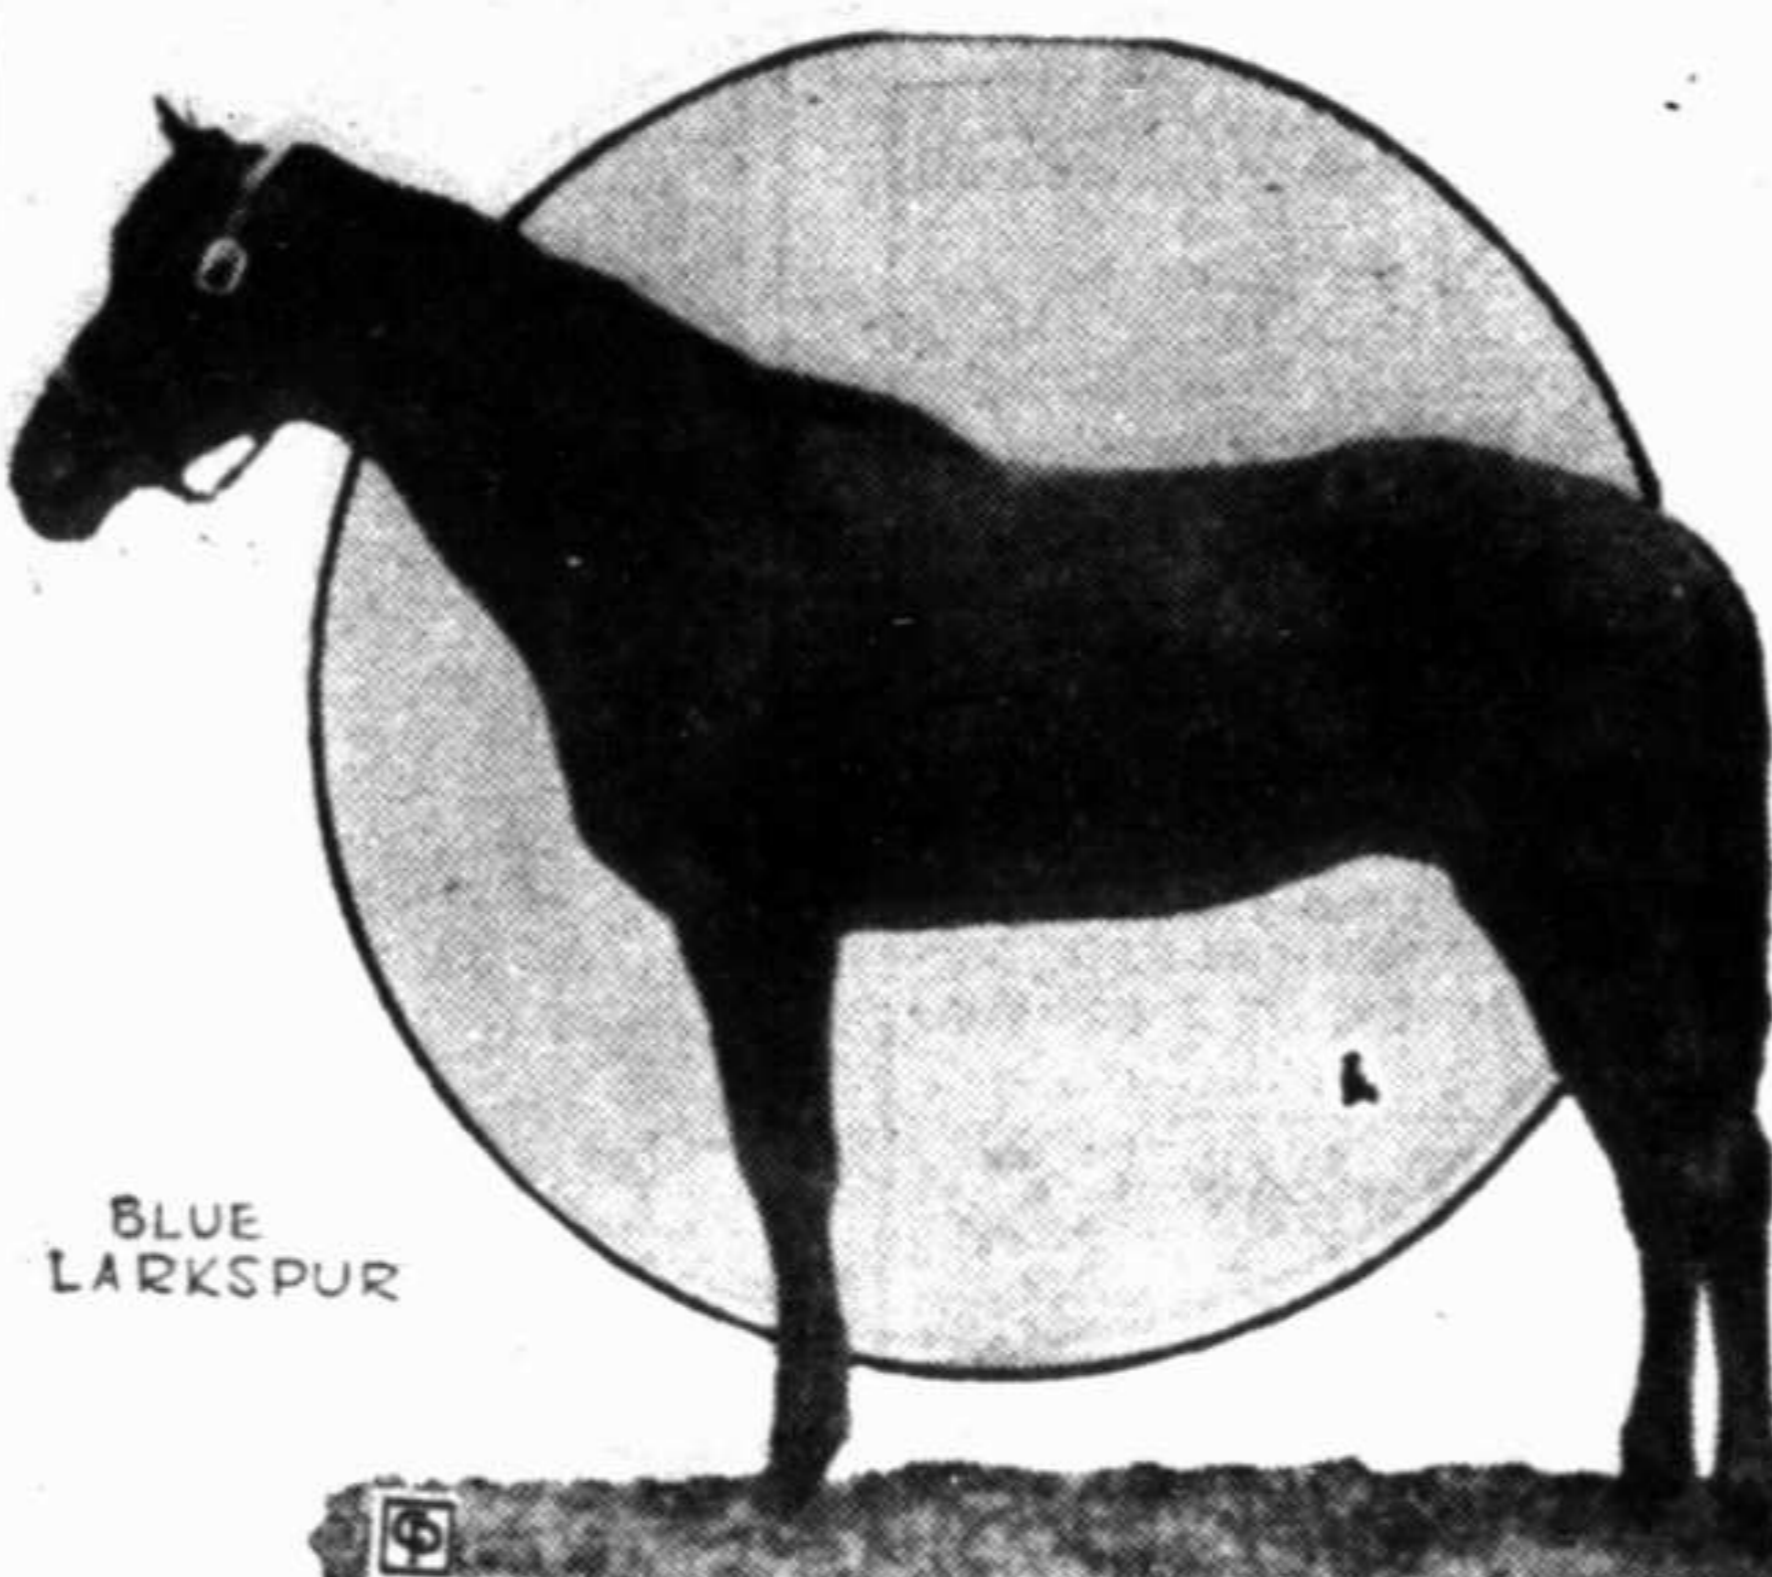

The Santa Fe nine will make its first appearance today against the Hardware aggregation.

Revolt? Not In Tia Juana; Mexican Border Town Was Untouched By Warfare, Retains Tourist Trade Safely

NEA Service
TIA JUANA, Mexico, May 15.—The rest of Mexico is just emerging from a revolution, but Tia Juana doesn't know a thing about it. Tia Juana has been attending solely to business. Its business, of course, is quenching the thirsts of numerous American citizens—and it doesn't allow a little thing like a revolution to interfere with it.

Not once has the even tenor of Tia Juana's way been disturbed by the uproar that began last winter when a group of Mexican generals raised the banner of revolt. The only difference it made to Tia Juana was that the garrison of 400 or 500 federal troopers, ordinarily stationed here, was reduced to a mere handful as detachments were sent east to join Calles' forces.

With that exception, the revolution might as well have been in Argentina for all Tia Juana knew or cared about it.

Sundays, holidays and week days alike the endless flow of American motor cars has continued to disport through the streets of this border town. Throngs of curious and thirsty tourists on Tia Juana's roaring main street.

Here are two scenes in Tia Juana, where a little thing like a revolution is not allowed to interfere with the great business of quenching the thirst of U. S. tourists. Above is the famous Tia Juana race track; below, a glimpse of the saloons that line Main street.

Abolish Sororities Hollins To Do Away With Social Level

ROANOKE, Va., May 15 (AP)—Members of the Phi Kappa Phi sorority are angry based on social standing and popularity rather than character and ability. Hollins college is to abandon all sororities.

Acting on a voluntary petition from the seventy members of the seven national sororities which have chapters at the college, President Matty L. Cooke has announced no bids will be tendered after this year. The present sorority membership may continue cooperative life but at the end of two years the system will have been entirely eliminated.

Major league scouts are said to be interested in Fred Stington, University of Alabama sophomore outfielder.

AT LAST... a blended two-base motor oil

SOME motor oils are made from paraffine base oil, others from naphthene. Each has good qualities not shared by the other.

The perfect oil for the modern motor is an exact blend of oil made from the best paraffine and the best naphthene bases. This ultimate oil we have produced in grades suitable for any motor in any climate.

Do you like your motor? If you have that regard bordering on affection for your motor, drive to the nearest Gulf Dealer and get this Gulf Supreme Motor Oil. It lubricates perfectly, resists high temperatures, minimizes knocking, seals piston rings and does the utmost that oil can do to give you a smooth-running, quiet motor.

Modern motors demand it. The high compression, the speed and power of the modern motor demand a two-base oil with the maximum stamina, the sealing qualities, the resistance to heat and wear that is only obtainable by combining the qualities of paraffine and naphthene base oils.

We urge you to test Gulf Supreme Motor Oil in your car and judge for yourself the improved performance and economy of this two-base oil.

Bulls Corralled By Soaring Rates On Money Again

Market Turns Dull With Issues Making But Little Progress; Losses Were In Majority During Day

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
 Associated Press Financial Writer
 NEW YORK, May 15. (AP)—Once the bulls were corralled by rising call money rates today. Although advance operations were checked as money rose to 10 per cent, yesterday's 15 per cent rate checked this afternoon was sufficient to check operations and induce heavy profit taking. The money flurry, however, failed to precipitate real liquidation. The market turned dull, with the turnover totalling but 3,351 shares. Utilities and specialties made rapid progress during the morning, but their gains were substantially reduced at the close, and Associated Press price indices indicated that losses were in the majority.

Call loans renewed at 10 per cent to rise successively to 12 and then 15. Time money was firm at 9 per cent for the shorter maturities. Commercial paper and little was being at this center at less than 10 per cent.

Market Is Barely Steady In Gotham

NEW YORK, May 15. (AP)—Rallies from an early decline in cotton were followed by renewed weakness under realizing or reselling by recent buyers who appeared disappointed over failure of bullish features to bring in more general demand. July contracts after selling up from 18.42 to 18.78 closed at 18.56 compared with yesterday's close at 18.54. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 2 to 15 points.

Gentlemen:

I have your letter asking whether I have found that dust collects on the top of the general Electric Refrigerator which you installed here in our Cooking School a year ago.

The thin vertical fins and the circular coils seem to collect very little dust. Even on the top of the little rounded dome the amount of dust which settles is negligible. About once a week the maid runs a dust-cloth over this surface—and that is as often as is necessary. A brush easily removes any dust from the coil.

I can truthfully say that in my experience I have never come across a refrigerator which is as sanitary as the General Electric. I suppose the fact that all the machinery is in one hermetically sealed casing accounts for that. There is no oil anywhere to catch dust, no crevices where it can linger, no fan to suck it into the mechanism.

That people do not seem to realize that there is a constant current of warm air, caused by the compression of the refrigerant inside the casing, rising from this top unit. This warm air current is powerful enough to keep a small pin-wheel revolving and, like the air from a radiator, it drives the dust away from the unit and prevents it from settling.

I am glad to tell you of my personal experience with the General Electric Refrigerator, particularly because I, too, was once afraid that this top unit, however perfect it might be from a design standpoint, might prove to be somewhat unsanitary. My fears, however, were not warranted. The General Electric engineers have demonstrated that they knew more than I did about building a very fine refrigerator and thoroughly sanitary one as well.

Sincerely yours,
 (Signed)
 ALICE BRADLEY

The General Electric Refrigerator has been such a pleasure to the whole family through the winter and spring months, I don't know what we could say to express our appreciation after the hot summer.

Mr. Sherrod:

There are several good points we should like to emphasize. First: It is as nearly noiseless as a piece of machinery could be. Second: It is easy to keep clean and sanitary. Third: We enjoy the frozen desserts that can be prepared in it. But most of all the temperature is so low and so even that food actually does keep perfectly as you advertise.

Sincerely,
 Mrs. C. J. Wagner.
