SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI)—A truck loaded with an estimated 47,000 pounds of dynamite was blown up by sniper fire today on interstate 44 west of Springfield, police said.

Only fragments of the truck and bits of the bodies of the truck's two drivers were found after the blast, which was heard as far as 20 miles away and shattered plate glass windows in Springfield, eight miles distant.

The truck was operated by Tri-State Trucking, Inc., the target of a teamsters strike which began Sept. 15. The FBI entered the case some time ago after several trucks owned by the concern, which specializes in the hauling of explosives and nuclear materials, were fired upon.

The driver of a Tri-State truck traveling ahead of the vehicle which exploded reported seeing a muzzle flash as he passed a highway interchange. Moments later the blast occurred, blowing a crater 25 to 35 feet deep in the highway and causing extensive damage to two filling stations and a candy shop located at the interchange. Approximately two hours earlier gunfire had hit the radiator of another truck operated by Tri-State, the Green County sheriff's office said.

Officers issued a pickup order for three men believed to have occupied a car found abandoned at the point from which the sniper apparently fired. At least one of the three was believed severely injured. A rifle was found in a nearby field and authorities theorized it was the sniper's weapon, blown there by the blast.

Man Gassed On Work Project

Clinton Henry of 220 Houston St. was overcome by gas while working on a project 10 miles south of the city this morning. Brought to Highland General Hospital via ambulance, the man's employer, V.E. Wagner of Wagner Well Service Inc., said he thinks the gas victim will be "O.K." Wagner said the man had regained consciousness shortly after reaching the hospital.

A newcomer to the company, Henry is believed to have stayed too long on the job while running tubing, according to Wagner.

Pornography Legislation Eased

Commission Finds No Linking With Crime

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commission on Obscenity and Pornography recommended today the repeal of all laws prohibiting the distribution of explicit sexual materials to consenting adults.

In a long-awaited, already controversial report, the commission said it found no evidence that such matter played a significant role in causing crime, deviancy or severe emotional disturbances among youths or adults.

"There is no warrant for continued governmental interference with the full freedom of adults to read, obtain or view whatever such material they wish," the commission said.

The Nixon administration disavowed the commission's findings in advance, based on portions that leaked. Three members of the commission—two clergymen and attorney Charles H. Keating Jr., President Nixon's sole appointee—filed a strong dissenting report in which they called the recommendations a "magna carta for the pornographer." The commission recommended, however, that states adopt laws to prohibit commercial distribution or display to young people of certain kinds of sexually-oriented materials.

It said that there was not sufficient research yet on the effect such materials has on youth, but said, "a large majority of Americans believe that children should not be exposed to certain sexual materials."

The commission called for a "massive sex education effort" among all segments of American society—adults as well as children.

Its main finding—and the most controversial—dealt with the effect of pornography upon society as a whole.

The commission majority declared: "Executive empirical investigation, both by the commission and by others, provides no evidence that exposure to or use of explicit sexual materials play a significant role in the causation of social or individual harms such as crime, delinquency, sexual or nonsexual deviancy or severe emotional disturbances."

"This is not to say that exposure to explicit sexual materials has no effect upon human behavior. A prominent effect of exposure to sexual materials is that persons tend to talk more about sex as a result of seeing such materials. In addition, many persons become temporarily sexually aroused upon viewing explicit sexual materials and the frequency of their sexual activity may, in consequence, increase for short period. Such behavior, however, is the type of sexual activity already established as usual activity for the particular individual."

The chairman of the commission, which expires today, is William L. Lockhart, dean of the law school of the University of Minnesota. He and all other 17 members were chosen after Congress created the commission in 1967.

Keating, a Cincinnati lawyer, was appointed to the group by Nixon after the President named former U.S. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (no relation), an original commission member, as ambassador to India last year.

Charles Keating recently filed suit to hold up publication of the final report so that he could file a long dissent. He gave up the suit after a compromise was reached and he was permitted to put in a lengthy rejoinder.

Keating and the Revs. Morton A. Hill of New York and W. C. Link of Hermitage, Tenn., said the final report represented preconceived notions of the chairman, Lockhart, and that the recommendation to wipe out laws banning distribution of sex-related matter was "shocking and anarchistic."

Oil And Gas Museum Gets 'Green Light'

The green light was given today to Chamber of Commerce plans for an Oil and Gas Museum in Pampa's Recreation Park.

At a meeting of the chamber's Oil and Gas Committee, headed by C.D. Zlomke, a decision was reached to go ahead with the project.

A committee of five was named to assist Zlomke in drawing up a master plan to support a public appeal for financing the project. Members of the committee are B.R. Nunn, J.L. Romines, A.C. Todd, Pete Blanda and Doil Douthitt. Their first meeting was set for 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 8, at the chamber office.

Zlomke said many offers already have been received for donations of oldtime oilfield equipment.

It was also announced that $1,000 or $2,000 would be needed for an immediate start of the museum. Additional financing as more exhibits are added would be needed in the future, Zlomke said.

THROUGH WALLS

Thousands Mourn Loss Of Leader

CAIRO (UPI)—From the dusty Nile river towns to the sidewalk cafes of Cairo, Egypt kept vigil today over its beloved leader, Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Tens of thousands of his followers thronged the walls surrounding the Kubbeh Palace where his body lay in state. Many had been there since he died Monday of a massive heart attack at the age of 52.

Hundreds of thousands more, perhaps millions, were pouring into the capital by all means of transportation and on foot to pay their last respects to a man whose death has caused a public outpouring of grief of a magnitude seldom seen for a political leader.

The jammed capital Thursday will be the scene of a mile-long funeral cortege, but according to the Moslem law there will be no public exhibition of Nasser's body in state. Egyptian officials were permitted to view the bier Tuesday.

Executive Session Plans Postp For School Board

A called executive session of Pampa School trustees for Thursday was postponed today and is not yet re-scheduled, according to Supt. Dr. James F. Malone.

"We had planned to have a talk session to discuss physical facility changes and other matters at Pampa High School with the principal, Cameron Marsh, but because of time conflicts, the session is postponed," Dr. Malone said. "It was not to be an action meeting, just one to discuss operational questions."

MAFIA ALLEGEDLY INVOLVED

Shootout In Lubbock Under DA Scrutiny

By MIKE WESTER LUBBOCK (UPI)—District Attorney Blair Cherry Jr. said today charges may be filed "against one or more people" in connection with the shootout in a plush, four bedroom home in which two persons, one a reputed Mafia figure, were killed.

The victims were identified Tuesday as Jerry Michael Meshell, 29, of Lufkin and George Albert McGann, 34, of Big Spring.

"We pretty much know who did the shooting now but we need more investigating before charges are filed," Cherry said. "We should have the results from the autopsy today and with other information turned up from the continued investigation we think we'll be ready to file charges against one or more people."

United Press International was told today McGann was ordered killed in a contract from Houston because he allegedly edly was doublecrossing the Mafia in bookmaking operations. The source told UPI McGann's killing was contracted by the "Dixie Mafia," with headquarters in Dallas. The usually reliable source said Meshell had a contract on McGann but McGann shot him first early Tuesday and then a third person finished the job.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Frank McGowen told UPI McGann was on probation from Judge Sarah T. Hughes federal court in Dallas on charges of theft of interstate shipment involving $75,000 worth of television sets.

Preliminary reports revealed McGann was shot with both a .38 and a .45 caliber weapon while Meshell was shot twice with a .38.

Preliminary reports revealed McGann was shot with both a .38 and a .45 caliber weapon while Meshell was shot twice with a .38.

Three persons were at the house when deputies arrived. They were identified as Ronnie B. Weeden, 30, the owner of the home; Marshall Perry of Lubbock; and a woman, Frances Golden of Houston.

McGann, authorities revealed had a criminal record dating back to 1959 in Big Spring, Dallas and Garland. Police also connected him with Kirksey McCord Nix, allegedly associated with gangster operations from El Paso to the tip of Florida. Nix is wanted in connection with a botched-up attempted contract killing of Pensacola, Fla., county solicitor Carl H. Harper, Nix, the son of the chief justice of the Oklahoma Court of Criminal Appeals, is also wanted for questioning about murders in Covington, La., Selmer, Tenn., and Quitman, Tex.

McGann operated the Holiday Motors used car lot in Big Spring.

Meshell had a driver's license listing his home address as Lufkin when his body was found. But Lufkin officials said he is not listed in either the telephone book or the city directory.

Lubbock County Sheriff C. H. "Doc" Blanchard said deputies arrived at the scene moments after the call informing them of the shooting was placed. But

CONTINUE CEASE FIRE

Nixon Makes Plea For Peace Talks

NAPLES (UPI) — President Nixon has called on the new leaders of Egypt to continue the cease-fire with Israel and agree to resume peace talks. Today, he turned his attention to what the United States can do to bring stability to the troubled area.

Nixon called meetings for today with North Atlantic Treaty Organization commanders and with the U.S. ambassadors to Italy, Turkey, Cyprus, Tunisia, Malta, Libya, Greece, Morocco, Algeria, Israel, Lebanon, Egypt and NATO.

Aides said Nixon would discuss long-range strategy for achieving stability in the area, especially in view of the death of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Following the conferences today, Nixon was to go to Yugoslavia for meetings with President Tito.

No Comment Nixon Tuesday was presented with the names of five possible successors to Nasser. He refused to comment on the Egyptian political situation, but speaking of the peace talks, he told reporters:

"We trust that they (the new Egyptian leaders) will continue, and we believe that the new government, whatever it is, will see that its interests will be served by continuing the cease-fire, and we trust, then going on to talks."

The President, on a five-nation tour, also held out the possibility for improved U.S.-Arab relations.

"We want good relations with all the countries in this area," he said. "We would like to have good relations with the United Arab Republic."

Nixon's visit to Yugoslavia took on added urgency after the death of Nasser. Tito was also close to several other Arab leaders.

Commissioners To Take Another Look At Bids

Gray County Commissioners will meet at 10 a.m. Thursday to pay monthly bills and reconsider bids on the county annex destroyed by a tornado April 18.

At a special meeting of the commissioners' court on Sept. 24, bids from construction companies were opened but were found to be higher than anticipated.

Merriman and Barber, consulting engineers for the county, have been conferring with low bidders, Wiley Hicks Jr. Construction Co. and with E.T. Taylor Construction Co., both of Amarillo and a report is expected to be presented to commissioners Thursday morning.

Also submitting bids on the proposed construction of a new annex were Frank Shaw of Pampa, Claude Mathis and Gail Binkley, both of Amarillo.

Local Woman Reports Harassment

Threatening telephone calls and letters have become a part of life for a local beauty shop employee, according to reports filed with police.

The woman told officials she has been receiving threats both over the telephone and in letters.

She said she gets the telephone calls both at home and on the job. The letters, she said, are left on the seat of her car parked at the beauty shop where she works.

The party who is doing the phoning and writing is a woman, according to the complainant, and apparently is well acquainted with her personal life both as to work, where she goes and what she does in her spare time.

The voice has also, the report states, told of an impending accident at several different times.

Stolen Van Recovered In Oklahoma

Boldly proclaiming its owner by large signs on either side, an auto stolen here has been found in Turpin, Okla.

Oklahoma authorities said they located the van, property of a Pampa discount house, 15 miles south of the Oklahoma town Tuesday night.

The vehicle was taken from its parking place in front of a company employee's residence here sometime Monday night.

Owners said the truck had large ads on both sides identifying it as company property.

Both Oklahoma authorities and the Federal Bureau of Investigation are investigating.

Buddy Epperson of Epperson-Suzuki World, local motorcycle dealer, has won a two-week, all-expense paid trip to Japan according to an announcement received from U.S. Suzuki Motor Corp. of Los Angeles.

The trip entitles Epperson and his wife, Joyce, to visit all the points of interest in Japan flying a Boeing 747 Jetliner from Los Angeles to the Orient.

Epperson was one of two dealers in the Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri to earn the trip through top sales in the Zone-4-B District.

Park, Wildlife Commissioner Takes Potshots At State Agency

AUSTIN (UPI) — Ho-hum. Another routine session of the Parks and Wildlife Commission. Let's see what's on the agenda for today. Oh, yes. They are going to set the dates and bag limits for the quail season. Ho-hum.

But this was not to be another "ho-hum" bag-setting session of the commission. At least not if commission chairman Pearce Johnson had anything to do with it.

And Johnson didn't waste any time getting his complaints off his chest. He opened Tuesday's meeting with a 30-minute diatribe aimed at employees of the state agency and the way they run their business. Johnson said the agency is loaded with deadwood and he accused employees of ignoring the governing board.

Johnson said the agency has a number of employees in high places "who have nothing to do—who have no definite assignment but to spend their time negating efforts of this commission."

He accused the agency's game wardens of being the only law enforcement group in the state which "tries to keep its existence a secret."

"I was in one West Texas town recently for three days and could find no trace of the game management officer (game warden) there," Johnson said.

The chairman said he has received similar complaints from legislators.

He then made public several other complaints:

—The agency's staff prepared and presented its new two-year budget to the Legislative Budget Board without consulting the commission. Another commissioner, Harry Jersig of San Antonio, said the commission went over the budget and even succeeded in cutting it from $28 million to $19 million.

—The staff approved the purchase of title to the Maco Stewart Ranch property on Galveston Island for $1 million without knowing how many acres the transaction involved. The original agreement was rescinded and the property was later purchased for $50,000.

—Contracts to spend $1.5 million to construct a water exchange pass on Padre Island near Corpus Christi were let without consulting the commission.

—The FBI asked her to submit to a search. After being cleared, she boarded the plane. But officials at Port Columbus airport said Miss Longo by then was angry and mentioned that for all the trouble she had gone through, she should hijack the plane.

Again the lady was whisked off the jet and detained by the FBI. After talking with her, the authorities allowed her to continue her trip.

Cost Of Sports Going Up, Up

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas sportsmen may have to pay more next year for hunting and fishing licenses.

J. R. Singleton, head of the Parks and Wildlife Department, said Tuesday his staff may recommend an increase in the fees to offset higher operations costs.

The director of the Sportsman's Clubs of Texas, Cecil Reed, said his group would not object to a higher fee next year so long as the extra money is not used to build a water pass for a land development project at Corpus Christi.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The metal stays in a brassiere worn by Karen Longo of Chicago caused her nothing but trouble.

Miss Longo was boarding an airplane bound for Chicago here Tuesday when a metal detection meter used primarily to detect firearms hidden on passengers sounded off.

The FBI asked her to submit to a search. After being cleared, she boarded the plane. But officials at Port Columbus airport said Miss Longo by then was angry and mentioned that for all the trouble she had gone through, she should hijack the plane.

Again the lady was whisked off the jet and detained by the FBI. After talking with her, the authorities allowed her to continue her trip.

Quail Season Opens Nov. 14

AUSTIN (UPI) — It will be open season on quail in most of Texas Nov. 14. Limits will be 12 per day, with 15 per day in one section.

The Parks and Wildlife Commission Tuesday established hunting dates and bag limits for quail in the state for the 1970-71 season.

The season will open Nov. 1 in the South Central District, where quails' eggs are due to hatch earlier.

Seven Panhandle counties will not have open season on quail until Dec. 1. They are Briscoe, Childress, Cottle, Hall, Harde-man, Motley and Wheeler counties.

The season ends in Texas Jan. 31, 1971, except in the Possum Kingdom and Permian Basin districts, where it goes on until Feb. 15.

Bag limits were set at 12 per day with 36 in possession, except in the Permian Basin where the limit is 15, with 45 in possession.

Your United Fund In Action

Are Pampa children really hungry? This question was fairly asked when the Milk Fund recently ran short of cash and deserves an answer, which is both yes, and no.

No, we do not have children raiding garbage cans; no, we do not have Biafran-like children with toothpick limbs and swollen bellies; no, death by starvation is unheard of here.

Yes, sickness, accident, unemployment, and other misfortunes occur here as elsewhere; yes, we have families which totter on the brink of disaster; yes, we have families which completely run out of funds for everything, including rent money, clothing, utilities and groceries.

Pampa High School Students Score High On NMH Tests

Letters of Commendation honoring them for their high performance on the 1970 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST) have been awarded to three students at Pampa High School, Principal Cameron Marsh has announced.

standing in this nationwide program deserves public recognition. Their high performance on the NMQST gives promise of continued success in college.

"Pampa citizens have not wanted their neighbors to be hungry. Moreover, they have not been content with merely providing a grocery order or a week's rent. Our community's over-all Helping Hand Program is for the rehabilitation of distressed people. Since the Milk Fund is a vital link in our over-all program, I appeal to everyone to give generous support through the United Fund," stated J. Kirk Duncan, PMF president.

Those named Commended students are James J. Burnham, Anne Dingsus, and Joe D. Nensiel.

"The Commended students should be encouraged to pursue their education since their intellectual talent represents an important and much needed natural resource. Both these students and our nation will benefit from their continuing educational development."

The Commended students' names are reported to certain scholarship-granting agencies and to the colleges they named when they took the NMQST in February, 1970. The reports include home addresses, test scores, and anticipated college major and career intentions of the Commended students.

They are among 35,000 students in the U.S. who scored in the upper 2 percent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1971. The Commended students rank just below the 14,750 Semifinalists announced in September by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC).

Edward C. Smith, president of NMSC, said: "Although Commended students advance no further in the Merit Scholarship competition, their NMSC encourages these students to make every effort to continue their education.

Fairer Sex Takes First And Second Places In Grid Quiz

Helen Hoover, 2323 Duncan, was the master predictor in last week's Football Guessing Contest sponsored by the Pampa Daily News and 17 Pampa business firms.

Olive Abernathy, Pampa, and B.A. Darnell, was awarded third place on the basis of their picks being closest to the actual score of the Pampa-Perryton game.

Meador Takes Honors At Toastmasters

Marston Meador was named best speaker at the Pampa Toastmasters' dinner meeting Monday night in Furr's Cafeteria.

He spoke on the topic "You Need Death Insurance... Not Life Insurance."

Other speakers were Ron Harris on the topic "Retail Crime With A Smile... Or May I Help You?"; Wayne Hampton on "Ice Breaker On Wayne Hampton."

Ralph Ford was Table Topic chairman with Best Topic given by Bill Watson.

Scotty Wilmoth was toastmaster with Dave Osborn and Jim Casey named best evaluators.

Auditorium Plans To Be Unfolded

Detailed plans for Pampa's proposed civic auditorium were expected to be unfolded at a meeting of the M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium committee, city and chamber of commerce officials at a 3 o'clock meeting this afternoon in City Hall.

A new contest was published in Tuesdays Pampa Daily News. Circle the teams you think will win and get your entry in before 5 p.m. this Friday. Be sure to put your name and address on the entry in the space provided in the center of the contest page.

Herbert Frasher of the Frasher, Goyette and Rapier architectural firm, Lubbock, was scheduled to address the group session.

A meeting of the City Commission is expected to be called Thursday, Oct. 8 to set a date for a $600,000 bond election for funds to be added to the $400,000 immediate cash gift from the Brown Foundation.

Bonds would be paid off with Foundation income over a 15 City officials have indicated the bond election probably will be called by Saturday, Oct. 24.

UAW Union Starts Payouts Of $14 Million Weekly To Strikers

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers union has begun paying $14 million a week in strike benefits. Salaries of its staff were cut for the second time since the start of a strike against General Motors Corp. more than two weeks ago.

Striking workers in American and Canadian plants will receive weekly checks of $30 to $40 from now until the strike is settled—or until the union's $120 million strike fund is depleted—whichever comes first.

Negotiations were to resume at 9 a.m. today, with the emphasis on settling local issues. Top GM and UAW leaders have spent the last few sessions on the telephone guiding local bargainers in the field. Only eight of 155 local bargaining units have reached agreements in the U.S. and there have been no settlements in seven struck Canadian plants.

Policeman No Pigeon Fancier

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The police department has disciplined an officer who blasted more than two dozen pigeons in Jackson Square with a pellet gun after some of them dirtied his uniform.

He admitted it was a childish thing to do," said Maj. James Arnold, who headed an investigation into the affair.

Arnold said Tuesday the officer was suspended during the investigation but now has been reinstated.

Young Girl 108th Diphtheria Case

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — A 9-year-old girl has become the city's 108th confirmed diphtheria case of the year.

In addition, 10 suspected cases were under hospital observation today and 29 other cases have been diagnosed by doctors as diphtheria but have not yet been conclusively confirmed by lab tests.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) The new edition of the Encyclopedia of Associations lists the names of about 15,000 national organizations, which you may think is quite a lot. And you are right. This is, however, by no means all of the national associations that exist in this country. Just offhand I can think of a half dozen or so important groups that were omitted.

There is, for example, no mention of the National Association for the Preservation of Lawyers (NAPL). Yet this is one of the most active and influential organizations in America.

It is NAPL's function to screen various documents (insurance policies, warranties, etc.) and make certain they are couched in terms with a high degree of obfuscation.

Self Perpetuation
 The idea is that any person with normal sensitivity will become so exasperated upon trying to read one of these documents that he will refuse to torment himself further and will turn it over to a lawyer. Thus does the legal profession perpetuate itself.

Another eminent organization curiously left out of the encyclopedia is the National Association of Highway Sign Composers, Painters and Arrangers (NAHSCPA).

Through a monthly newsletter, and at seminars at its annual convention, NAHSCPA keeps its membership apprised of the latest methods of achieving ambiguity in highway signs, particularly along the interstate systems and other expressways.

NAHSCPA also conducts research on arranging signs so that motorists will see them too late.

Obvious Group
 Perhaps the encyclopedia has an excuse for overlooking NAHSCPA, but how could it possibly have missed such an obvious group as the National Association of Pothole Engineers (NAPE)?

NAPE is one of the oldest scientific societies in the western hemisphere, dating back to wagon trail days when potholes were merely crude dirt cavities in the road.

Had it not been for NAPE's progressive leadership, it is quite likely that the science of pothole engineering would have become obsolete with the advent of asphalt, concrete and other hard surface highways.

Equally mystifying is how the encyclopedia came to ignore the National Association of Parcel Post Pommelers, the National Association of Airline Baggage Bangers and the National Association of Off-Duty Taxi Drivers.

Luxury abounds in 1971 Chevrolet Caprice Coupe

The 1971 regular Chevrolets are the most luxurious the division has ever built. There is greater glass area for improved visibility. Glass and body contours are more rounded. Flush lift-up door handles add to body smoothness. The Caprice gets added distinction with a special large grid grille, deep ribbed wheel covers and standard rear fender skirts. Wheelbase of regular Chevrolet is extended 2.5 inches for added riding comfort and increased rear leg room. The body has a new flow-through ventilation system and greater strength double-panel roof construction. The new chassis and suspension system give improved ride and handling. A power disc/drum brake system is standard. New Chevrolets go on sale Tuesday, September 29.

Dusty Village To Be Deluged With Mighty Waters From Dam

By J. PAUL WYATT
VILLA PADILLA, Mexico (UPI)—This dusty village that has fought to stay alive for 221 years is condemned to death next spring, a victim of progress. Its residents are desperately praying for a reprieve.

Villa Padilla will be destroyed by the waters of the $72-million Las Adjuntas Dam, which will sweep through this poor farm area 150 miles south of Brownsville, Tex.

Before the dam's scheduled completion in May, the village's 13,581 inhabitants will be moved to a new town, named "Nuevo Villa Padilla," 10 miles northwest. Their dead will be reburied nearby.

Villa Padilla looks as though it were dying. Houses are poorly maintained. Garbage is uncollected. The 18 stores in the town lack customers. But nobody wants to leave.

Was Born Here
 "My family settled here in the last century. I was born here. I want to die here too," said Lorenzo Palacio de Villarreal, 65, the town's only barber.

Earlier this month, Gov. Manuel A. Ravize and other top state officials came to Villa Padilla for a final farewell to the village.

Standing on the steps of the city hall, Ravize told a hushed crowd:

"This is the last year that you men, women and children who live in this village will feel the warmth of your homes, the affectionate smile of a neighbor, the plaza of your recreation, the church of your prayers."

"Materially, all this will be lost from sight. But engraved in your conscience will be the fact that you were born here, that you formed your dreams and illusions here, that you felt joy and sadness here."

An old man standing alone under a tree cried silently when the governor had finished.

Strike Walkout Tallies 2 Billion

DETROIT (UPI) — Striking General Motors employees received their first strike benefit checks from the United Auto Workers Tuesday in the 2-week walkout that already has cost about $2 billion.

At the same time, bargainers on both sides of the negotiating table at the General Motors building stepped up efforts to settle local plant disputes—a necessary prelude to agreement on a new, three-year national contract.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock, after a day's absence from formal negotiations, pledged to attend main table bargaining sessions from now until the end of the strike.

About 396,431 workers, including strikers and those laid off in related industries, have been idled by the walkout, which has cost the economies of the United States and Canada an estimated $1 billion a week.

Duplicate Bridge Clubs Tell Winners

Monday night in the Coronado Inn eight tables played a Mitchell movement. North and South winners were Lola Roach and Janet Warner, first; Dee Patterson and Marguerite Philpott, second; Lois Maguire and Lillian Jordan, third.

East and West winners were Adda Crow and Edith Dockery, first; Jessie Mayo and Mary McKnight, second; Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Dobkins, third.

Thursday morning, five tables played a Howell movement at 10 a.m. in the Coronado Inn. Winners were Lillian Murphy and Betty Garren, first; Ethel Clay and Grace Watson, second; Lillian Jordan and Grace Anisman, third; Norma Torbet and Mrs. B. Chapman, fourth.

Friday afternoon, eight tables played a Mitchell movement in the Pampa Country Club. Winners were North and South — Velma Grantham and Hazel Nation, first; Grace Watson and Verdalee Cooper, second; tied for third and fourth — Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Duengel and Mr. and Mrs. George Philpott.

East and West — Virginia Price and Myrtle Prigmore, first; Barbara Zigler and Ethel Clay, second; Maxine Dorman and Betty Garren, third.

Saturday night six tables played a Mitchell movement in the Coronado Inn at 7:30 p.m. Winners were Lillian Murphy and Lillian Jordan, first; Jess O'Brien and Vella Hamilton, third; Betty Garren and Verdalee Cooper, second; Norma Anisman and Fred Richmond, fourth; Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Williams, fifth.

Two local Charity Benefit tournaments will be held in Pampa Thursday morning, Oct. 8 at 10 a.m. in the Coronado Inn, and Friday afternoon, Oct. 9, in the Pampa Country Club at 1 p.m. All bridge players are invited to attend and play in both tournaments.

Mainly About Groom

MRS. GEORGE BRITTON, News' Correspondent

Mrs. Clara Danner is in Lubbock with her daughter, Mrs. Rusty Pippin and son, Vince, while Mr. Pippin is recovering from serious injuries received in a one-car accident, Sept. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Dal Howerton left Saturday for Memphis, Tenn., where Dal has been assigned with the U.S. Navy. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Danna Howerton, and Mrs. Ernest Adcox. The group visited Mrs. Adcox's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Turnage in Memphis.

John L. Witt attended a board meeting of the Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine in Fort Worth last weekend and visited his son, Dr. and Mrs. Dan Witt and children.

Hal Howerton left Friday for San Diego, to resume Navy duty after spending two weeks furlough here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Danna Howerton.

Marvin Talley, math teacher in the Groom School system for 13 years, has resigned due to the condition of his health. Mr. and Mrs. Talley are planning to move to Norman, Okla.

The annual meeting of Groom Wheat Growers, Inc. was held Saturday evening and 11 members and visitors attended. An election of directors was held to fill two vacancies of the five-man board. Van E. Steed and Raphael J. Britton were re-elected.

Take a slice and pass it on.

Meet the extra-mileage watermelon. More people will get a taste of this one than any other watermelon ever. Because this one is in a newspaper ad. And newspapers are printed. And print gets delivered, read, re-read, clipped-out, pinned up, passed around. True, you may not be selling watermelons. But your product does have taste and color, and style and beauty, doesn't it? Print can show these up to their full advantage. And, because print is so portable, people will see what you show, and read what you say, over and over again. Getting more out of it each time. Print is advertising with the juice left in. Try some and pass it on. Don't you read before you buy!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You frequently recommend psychiatric help, but you never say how to get a person to see a psychiatrist, and that's our problem.

A member of our family needs psychiatric help, (our family physician told us so) but if we just mention the word "psychiatrist," she tears the place apart, saying she isn't "crazy." Do you think we could prevail upon a psychiatrist to come to the house and pretend to be just a "friend" — or a regular doctor? That way he could observe the patient, and maybe win her confidence, and then later on treat her? If she knew he was a psychiatrist, she wouldn't even stay in the same room with him.

She likes and trusts the family physician, but he says he can't do any more for her, she needs a psychiatrist. She refuses to go. Any suggestions?

fended because they had received gifts which were obviously "used," and they accused the giver of trying to save money.

Whenever I have occasion to give a gift to a cherished friend, I first try to find something among my possessions that I have owned and loved (a small piece of jewelry, a rare old book, a piece of antique silver or china). I am not trying to save money; I merely want to give something of "mine" which I hope will be considered more precious than a newly purchased item.

Many of the recipients have told me they were deeply touched by such a gift. And I sincerely hope that no one thought me "cheap" or shabby.

YOUR HIGGANUM CORRESPONDENT

DEAR CORRESPONDENT: — I agree. A cherished item from one's own personal collection of treasures makes a far more precious gift than a newly purchased item. But there are those materialistic dolls around who regard an antique as a white elephant — whose giver is trying to get off for "peanuts."

DEAR ABBY: A widower wrote in to say that he had arranged for a little pleasure with a female companion at a local hotel and was very much surprised when the daughter of a friend knocked on his door. I would like to ask the gentleman, "Whose daughter did you expect?"

Send $1 for this pattern to: Young Originals, Newspaper Enterprise Association, P.O. Box 438A, Midtown Station, New York, N.Y. 10018. Print name, address, with zip code, pattern number and size. Add 25 cents for first-class handling.

Teachers' Sorority Names Committee

The Alpha Iota Conclave of Kappa Kappa Iota, national teacher's sorority, met recently in the home of Mrs. Dennis Wyatt to honor their new members, Mes. Jay Boettner, Claude Givhan, Bill Hite, David Robertson, R.V. Powell, and James Thompson.

Mrs. Frank Anderson gave a short history of the Kappa Kappa Iota stating that this sorority was organized in Oklahoma in 1921 under the name of the Blue Blue Violet. Later the name was changed to Kappa Kappa Iota and Conclaves were organized in different states. The first in Texas was organized in Lubbock in 1949. Alpha Iota was established in Pampa in 1969 with Mrs. W.R. Altmiller serving as the first president.

During the business session, Mrs. Billy Davis, president, appointed Mes. Bill Hite, Ernest Hawkins, and John Rosenberg to the budget committee; Jack Williams, Dennis Wyatt, Don Hufstедler, and Melvin Cardwell, telephone committee; Mrs. Albert Drinovsky, scrapbook committee; and Mrs. R.V. Powell, song leader.

After new officers explained their duties Mrs. Joe Duncan, vice-president, distributed yearbooks. Refreshments were served by Mes. Hawkins, Hufstедler, and Wyatt.

Red Cross Plans Baby Care Class

The American Red Cross will hold a Mother and Baby Care Class beginning Oct. 6 in the Red Cross office with Mrs. Travis Winegeart and Mrs. Forrest Hills as teachers.

Mrs. Winegeart will work with the mothers who are expecting their first babies during the first two lessons and Mrs. Hills will finish the class. Both expectant fathers and mothers may take this course. Grandmothers are invited to attend also. There is no charge for the course which offers instruction in pre-natal care and baby care for its first six months of life. Mrs. Libby Shotwell, Red Cross executive secretary said.

Twentieth Century Club Sets Date For Style Show

Twentieth Century Club is sponsoring a Seated Tea and Style Show at 2:30 p.m. Saturday Oct. 3 at Pampa Country Club, with Mrs. Jack O. Miller narrating the event.

Fashions will be shown in new fall styles for every occasion — pant sets, dresses, costumes, after five and formals with appropriate jewelry and accessories.

Models will be Mes. John Lee Bell, Gene Barber, Jim Campbell, Kirk Duncan, Doug Mills, Jr., Wiley Reynolds, Joe Rosenbaum, G.M. Martin, Raymond Harrah, David E. McGahey, Fred Neslage and Dick Stowers. Sharon Ellis will be junior model.

Tickets may be acquired from any Twentieth Century member or at the door. Proceeds will be used for the club's Scholarship Fund presented each year to a Pampa High School senior.

Chairmen for the club's first style show to raise scholarship money are Mrs. Victor Jamieson, general chairman; Mrs. Thomas Greenwood, budget committee chairman, with Mrs. David McGahey and Miss Elsie Cunningham, assisting as budget committee members.

Sorority Slates Annual Banquet For Installation

The Pampa City Panhellenic will hold its annual banquet and installation of officers at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 6 in the Crown and Shield Room at the Coronado Inn.

Speaker for the evening will be Mrs. Darrell Liston of Dallas, a member of Sigma Kappa sorority. As the Area Panhellenic Collegiate Advisor, part of her responsibility is to contact all schools in Texas having National Panhellenic Conference groups on campus.

New officers to be installed are Mrs. Fred Neslage, president; Mrs. Jack White, vice-president; Mrs. Jim Cunningham, secretary; and Mrs. G.M. Martin, treasurer. These women represent Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Gamma Delta, Chi Omega and Delta Delta Delta sororities.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. George McCarroll at 665-4079 on or before Friday, or by calling any Panhellenic Council delegate.

Presidential election returns were first broadcast Nov. 2, 1920, when station KDKA, Pittsburgh Pa., broadcast the results of the Harding-Cox election.

The Autumn Sports

To some people, the first sign of autumn is a falling leaf; to others, it's a boy with a football. In either case, the now-chilly air calls for a sportsmanlike approach to keeping young athletes warm. The player vote goes to comfortable, free-and-easy sportswear such as the zip-front sweatshirt of Creslan acrylic fiber. These snugly-hooded knit jackets take that first sprint from scrimmage—and all that follow—in stride; a turn in the automatic washer removes all evidence of the most rough-and-tumble session.

POLLY'S POINTERS Bleach Spots On Jeans Are Youths' 'In' Thing

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY— I would like to comment on M.R.'s question about what to do with her son's jeans that had bleach spilled on them. You said your grandchildren liked to wear jeans that had a washed-out, bleached look even if they were brand new. The latest fad is to wear jeans that have big white spots and streaks on them. How do they get that effect? Some of the kids are going far-out and using small paintbrushes to paint flowers and even words with bleach. Have you seen the wild ones with white footprints all over them? Of course, this is just a fad but I hate to see a new pair of jeans go to waste. I would like to know what to do about the white square marks made by wallets rubbing the back pockets.

Since paraffin on the top of jelly should be thick in order to prevent mold it is not easy to remove without crumbling and breaking. I used the pointed end of the opener to dig around the inside of the circle of paraffin and inserted the pointed end under the edge of the jelly glass, inserted it out in one piece. Rinse off the paraffin so it can be kept in a closed container and reused. Yours for fun in families

From Congress
BOB PRICE NEW ORLEANS, LA.

President Nixon appeared generally optimistic about the future of the United States during a two and one-half hour breakfast meeting I had the pleasure of attending shortly before he left on his European trip.

Mr. Nixon, his foreign affairs advisor Henry Kissinger, and Herbert Stein of the Council of Economic Advisors, gave members of the 90th Club a briefing on a wide range of topics.

I discussed my recent talks with the North Vietnamese in Paris with the President and Mr. Kissinger. They both urged me to follow-up on my efforts to get permission from the Communists to visit American POW's being held in North Vietnam.

In the foreign policy area, the President expressed confidence in the success of the Vietnamization program and noted that the South Vietnamese are gaining more confidence in their ability to defend themselves.

Mr. Kissinger explained that the President is taking the current trip to Europe mainly to rebuild U.S. relationships with the people of that continent. He and the President both stated that the trip was necessitated by the fact that many nations have lost faith in the United States because this country had no definite foreign policy during the 1960's.

The Nixon foreign policy for the 1970's will not be aimed at playing policeman to the world but at providing material rather than American men to countries who request our assistance. We will no longer have a commitment and withdrawal policy.

On the subject of the economy, Mr. Stein noted that the rise in the cost of living during August was the lowest since September, 1967. He also noted that housing starts are the highest since 1954, which is another good economic indicator.

The economist pointed out that the overheating of the economy caused by the $60 billion deficit in the last decade, $25 billion of which was in the last Johnson budget, has made it extremely difficult to "wind-down" the overheated economy.

The present Nixon budget calls for 41 percent spending on domestic problems and 37 percent on defense spending. This is the first time in many years that domestic spending has been greater than defense spending.

The President has been able to reduce defense spending without reducing our military capabilities. This reordering of priorities has resulted in the transition of approximately one million people from the defense industry to non-defense employment.

However, 96 percent of all people normally employed in this country still have jobs.

EXPECTING TROUBLE? Motorists driving into Darrel Moreland's Oklahoma service station might think he's a big, big game hunter or maybe expecting oversized desperadoes. Giant rifle, however, is really a display and conversation piece.

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Millions of Americans are too lazy to do their civic duty.

The whole concept of Democratic government rests on the assumption that voters will keep a beady-eyed watch on the people elected to represent them in public office.

That means every citizen has a personal responsibility to know who his representatives are and to keep track of what they're doing.

Evidence is at hand, however, that a great many citizens either do not recognize this responsibility, or don't take it seriously enough to make even a token pass at discharging it.

In a recent Gallup poll, a cross-section of American adults were asked:

"Do you happen to know the name of the present representative in Congress from your district?"

Incredibly, nearly half of the respondents answered no.

They didn't even know the name of their congressman—the man who supposedly represents them in setting taxes, declaring wars, appropriating funds, and passing laws!

Then the cross-section of citizens were asked: "Do you know how he (your congressman) voted on any major bills this year?"

Citizens uninformed... Eight out of ten confessed they hadn't the slightest idea how their congressman had voted on a single piece of legislation.

These questions dealt with the best known and most publicized of all legislative bodies—the U.S. Congress. Imagine what the percentages would have been if Gallup had inquired about the identity and voting records of state legislators or city councilmen.

For years, reporters who cover Washington have been wondering why the voters keep in Congress those men who have demonstrated a vast ineptitude for public affairs, or a marvelous insensitivity to ethical standards.

The answer stands out clearly from Gallup's figures. The average citizen doesn't know enough to vote intelligently because he doesn't care enough to find out what's being done by his man in Washington.

Information available... The information isn't all that hard to come by. It is available to anyone who will spend a few minutes a day reading the news pages of his daily paper.

If your newspaper reports a legislative action, and doesn't tell you how the representatives from your area voted, call up the editor and ask. He can find out in a jiffy from UPI or some other news agency—and he'll be delighted to know that you cared enough to ask.

It has been said that people get the kind of government they deserve.

X-oters who won't take the little bit of trouble involved in keeping themselves reasonably well informed about their elected representatives have no right to complain about taxes, inflation, foreign policy, pollution or anything else. They deserve a lot worse government than they're actually getting.

HIJACKER TO GO ON TRIAL

ROME (UPI)—Raffaele Minichiello, 20, of Seattle, Wash., the U.S. Marine who hijacked a jetliner from California to Rome, Nov. 1, will go on trial Nov. 5 on a variety of charges not including air piracy, court sources said Tuesday.

Minichiello could get as much as 30 years in prison if convicted on all the charges, including kidnapping, illegal possession of arms and violence.

Italy had no law on hijacking when he seized a Trans World Airlines jet and forced it to fly to Rome last fall.

Fate Of Law To Amend Direct Presidential Election Dim

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The fate of a proposed constitutional amendment for the direct election of presidents hinged on another key vote to end a southern-led fight against the measure.

A similar vote two weeks ago failed when the Senate refused to cut off debate and allow a vote on the issue, and chances for success in today's 1 p.m. EDT vote were dimmed by a large number of absentees.

Southerners and some Republicans from smaller states have been fighting the proposal since Sept. 8. While not a filibuster in the classic sense, the effort had the same effect—no vote on the proposal.

Under the present system, each state is allotted electoral votes equal to its representation in Congress. If no candidate gets a majority of the electoral vote, the election is decided in the House of Representatives, with each state having one vote.

The proposed amendment, already adopted 339 to 70 by the House, would abolish electoral voting. The candidate receiving the most popular votes nationwide would be the winner, if he gets at least 40 per cent of the total vote. If no candidate got that percentage, a runoff election between the top two would decide the winner.

California Fires Subside

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Hot desert winds which had been propelling a mammoth, football-shaped brush fire 30 miles long subsided early Tuesday, prompting fire officials to predict containment was in sight.

The dying of the winds, which have caused havoc with scores of other fires in Southern California since Friday, and an increase in humidity slowed the flames of the largest brush fire in California history to a snail's pace. Predictions of scattered showers for Tuesday added to officials' optimism control over the flames could come by today.

The 200,000-acre fire, which started Saturday, forced 50,000 persons to flee their homes in small communities in San Diego county. The massive blaze erupted in the Cleveland National Forest when a falling tree severed a power line. At least 250 buildings were destroyed. Four other brush fires in the same area consumed up to about 15,000 acres. In the San Gabriel mountains to the north, a helicopter being used by the U.S. Forest Service to fight another blaze, crashed late Monday killing the five persons aboard. It brought the death toll for a series of Southern California brush fires since Friday to eight.

In Los Angeles County, diminishing winds enabled firemen to go on the offensive for the first time against a 30,000-acre blaze in the coastal area of Malibu. Of the 10 major fires which swept through the foothills and canyons of Los Angeles county during the week, most were either contained or controlled.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, who declared ravaged areas in San Diego, Ventura and Los Angeles counties disaster areas, said from 8,000 to 10,000 men were on the lines in the state and that damage was estimated at $165 million. Fifty-six major fires have erupted since Friday.

Five Charged With Assaulting Three U of T Football Players

AUSTIN (UPI)—Police have charged five persons with assaulting three University of Texas football players outside an all night restaurant. Four of those charged are still at large.

Two juveniles, in addition to five charged, are also being sought in connection with the beating and stabbing which sidelined for two weeks a member of the nation's second ranked football team and less severely injured two others.

All three of the football players were members of Texas' second string.

Samuel Morris Anderson, 17, of Austin, was charged Monday with aggravated assault and released on $300 bond. Anderson was the only suspect apprehended in connection with the beating and stabbing.

Police charged three other youths with aggravated assault with a knife and added their names to an earlier pickup order issued for a 21-year-old Austin man. The three included a 22-year-old and a 17-year-old from Austin and a 22-year-old man believed to be from near Round Rock.

Police also want to pick up two 16-year-old juveniles for questioning in the case.

Sam McBrierty, 20, a sophomore defensive end from Ennis, was severely beaten by his attackers. Doctors had to use

"several hundred" stitches to sew up the cuts he received. Police said McBrierty "could have been killed" if he hadn't managed to escape by jumping on a passing car.

The other players injured were Ronnie Tyler, 20, a sophomore offensive tackle from Jefferson, and Syd Keaster, 21, a senior offensive guard from Hallsville. Doctors used 27 stitches to sew up Tyler's cuts. Keaster was less seriously injured.

Texas coach Darrell Royal said the three went to an all night restaurant Sunday morning after the Longhorns returned from their 35-13 victory over Texas Tech in Lubbock.

"There was an argument and our boys said they didn't want any trouble," Royal said. "They tried to leave—I guess it was 2 or 2:30 a.m.—and they were ganged outside."

Royal said McBrierty and Tyler "will be out for some time."

Austin police Sgt. Harold Moe said Anderson, the only suspect apprehended, swung at Tyler with a tire tool but missed.

Police accounts show Tyler and Keaster managed to get back inside the restaurant. But McBrierty's path was blocked and he was chased into an alley where he was beaten and

David Mitchell Wins New Military Jury For Trial

FT. HOOD (UPI)—S. Sgt. David Mitchell, charged with attempting to murder 30 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai, has apparently won a new military jury for his trial.

But he has failed to have charges against him dismissed. Mitchell's attorneys will call today two officers of the military justice section of the judge advocate general's office in Washington to testify to show "command influence" of high ranking military authorities coerced Ft. Hood officials to bring charges against the 30-year-old St. Francisville, La., soldier.

Col. George R. Robinson, judge in the case, recommended Monday the 13-officer jury panel appointed to hear the charges against Mitchell be dismissed and a new panel be appointed in its place. The judge said there was "some question about the methods used to select the panel in this case." But he said the selection "was not with any evil design on the part of anyone."

Ossie Brown, chief defense counsel for Mitchell, argued the original panel was hand picked by the staff judge advocate and lieutenants were systematically excluded.

Robinson recommended all ranks of officers be included in the new panel and also suggested officers be sought who were outside the United States in late 1969 and early 1970 when the My Lai publicity was most extensive.

The judge turned down four other defense motions, leaving two pending motions undecided and four others yet to be argued at the pretrial hearing.

The hearing, which began

Sept. 15 and was in recess all last week, is expected to continue through this week. The trial will begin "within a few days" after the pretrial hearings end, military officials said.

Robinson turned down a defense contention Monday the military law under which Mitchell is charged is too vague and therefore unconstitutional. He also rejected a defense motion the court be sent to Vietnam to inspect the scene of the massacre and several top government officials be subpoenaed to testify at the hearing. The judge also denied the defense move to allow Mitchell's attorneys to subpoena witnesses without first revealing to the government what they expected the witnesses to say.

Mitchell's wife, who has been present through most of the hearings, broke into tears Monday as Mitchell's former company commander at Ft. Hood said he preferred charges against Mitchell so the soldier could either "be vindicated or found guilty." Bryan Livingston, now a civilian living in Killeen, described Mitchell as a "real fine NCO" and said he assigned Mitchell to a job normally held by a lieutenant before the charges against Mitchell were filed.

Another civilian, Los Angeles probation officer Bill Wolf, testified Monday he was the officer appointed to investigate allegations against Mitchell. Wolf said he recommended no charges be filed against Mitchell but his recommendation was later overruled by his battalion commander and the staff judge advocate of the 1st Armored division.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Actor-folk singer Burl Ives has filed suit for divorce against his wife of 25 years, Helen Peck Ives, claiming irreconcilable differences.

Ives, 61, said in the suit filed Monday they were married in Chicago in 1945 but have lived apart since 1956. They have one son, Alexander, 21. Mrs. Ives, 54, is a writer in New York City.

House Probes Use Of Drugs To Overcome Learning Disabilities

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House investigators open a campaign today to determine how deeply the government is involved in controversial programs where grammar school children have been treated with drugs to overcome learning disabilities.

Rep. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J., chairman of a four-month "privacy inquiry," scheduled public hearings beginning today on the use of amphetamines for elementary school children.

Amphetamines, called "speed" by drug abusers because they pack such a kick, are used medically to treat hyperactive children and to some extent for weight reduction.

Gallagher has expressed deep concern over possible implications of the school drug programs, specifically their impact on the credibility of the national fight against narcotics abuse "and the potential for inducing conformity, rather than creativity, in the classroom."

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

AUSTIN, Tex.—A fight is brewing over the proposed constitutional amendment to set the maximum limits on tax assessments of farm, ranch and timber land.

Amendment (no. 3) on the November 3 ballot would authorize the Legislature to provide a uniform method of assessment for lands, based on their capability to support livestock raising or farm and forest crop production.

A 15-member special committee headed by State Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville has completed the last of 11 hearings over the state on this measure. Its tentative report summarizing testimony favoring the amendment will be presented before November 3. Committee's recommendations to the Legislature will be delayed until next year.

"Agriculturists are saying they can no longer operate if taxes continue to increase as they have in recent years," Connally told newsmen. "When land on one side of a barbed wire fence is assessed at $1,000 an acre, and the same land on the other side of the fence at $150 an acre, somebody is going to cry."

An earlier amendment (1966) which had the same general purpose is "unworkable," say proponents of Amendment No. 3. Present provisions apply only to individual land owners, exclude timberlands and owners who earn less than half their income from their farm property.

Texas State Teachers Association is opposing the new amendment on grounds that it "could virtually destroy the tax base of many school districts" and open the door to favors for other groups.

Connally maintains the proposal would not result in major revenue loss statewide and that the Legislature would have to appropriate supplemental funds to districts suffering income decline.

REFUNDS ORDERED—Texas Insurance Board has directed insurance firms to refund premiums collected from local governments for unnecessary property damage coverage.

Legislature last year made official agencies liable for death or injuries caused by employees in negligent use of vehicles and other motor-driven equipment. Thereafter, they began buying insurance policies to protect them.

Board order, referred to statements by Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas that 86 school districts and 16 counties had to pay nearly $60,000 in premiums for property damage insurance they did not need in order to get needed liability policies. Requirement by companies, Board said, is a violation of insurance rating laws. Governmental units must make a specific request for refunds.

CITY SALES TAXES UP—Local option sales taxes in 420 cities brought municipal governments more than $35 million for the second quarter of this year.

That is an increase from $30.9 million the first quarter.

Tax is calculated and refunded to cities by Comptroller Robert S. Calvert on a quarterly basis.

Biggest yield was to Houston, which received $7.2 million for the second quarter. Dallas received $5.6 million, San Antonio $2.2 million, Fort Worth $1.9 million, Austin $1 million, El Paso $1 million, Corpus Christi $737,565, Lubbock $663,752, Amarillo $558,294 and Beaumont $55,293.

MEXICANS BUY TEXAS STOCK—Mexico groups have purchased about $112,000 worth of cattle and 200 head of sheep and goats from Texas ranchers for developing better breeding stock.

John C. White, Texas Agriculture Commissioner, said two other groups from across the border will soon complete negotiations for buying 480 hogs and 80 Hostein cows, valued at about $70,000. Agriculture Department publishes a state livestock directory in English and Spanish to aid in locating types of stock sought by buyers.

Witness Says Manson Boasted Of Hollywood Cult Killings

LOS ANGELES (UPPA)—The same month the Sharon Tate killings occurred, Charles Manson threatened a cowboy at the Spahn ranch and boasted, "Don't you know I'm the one who is doing all these killings?" a state witness testified Monday.

Juan Flynn, a 6-foot ranch hand, testified the incident took place several days after Manson drove off with six other members of his "family" on what the prosecution contends was the night of the killings of Leno LaBianca and his wife, Actress Sharon Tate and four other persons were slain the night before.

Flynn said he was sitting in the kitchen at the ranch, headquarters for the Manson family," in August, 1969, when Manson entered and ordered three girls to leave.

"He grabbed me by the hair and put a knife to my throat and said, 'You son of a bitch, don't you know I'm the one who is doing all these killings?'"

Flynn said he did not believe Manson and went on eating his supper.

He said Manson put the knife down on the table and said: "Okay, you kill me."

"I told him I didn't want to kill him or do him any harm and he said that if I felt that way I should go down to the waterfall and make love to his girls," Flynn said.

"I told him that if I wanted to contract a case of syphilis or gonorrhea, he would be the first person I would come to see."

Manson and three female codefendants are on trial for the slayings.

As the trial entered its 15th week, Charles "Tex" Watson appeared in another courtroom for arraignment as a fifth defendant in the case.

Watson, who fought extradition from Texas for 10 months, stood mute before Superior Court Judge George Dell and would not even utter his name. The state expects Watson to plead insanity when he finally comes to trial.

Senator's Hurler Has 27 Saves While Compiling 2-14 Record

By United Press International
 Darold Knowles can help others but he can't help himself.
 Knowles, one of the top relievers in the American League last season, suffered his 14th defeat in 16 decisions in the second game of a tuxbill Tuesday night as the Baltimore Orioles swept a doubleheader from the Washington Senators by identical 3-2 margins.

 The 29-year old southpaw has the misfortune of experiencing a weird season in which he has one of the worst won-lost percentages in the league but at the same time he has compiled 27 saves.

 In other American league games, Boston edged New York, 5-4, Kansas City out-slugged Minnesota, 14-13, Cleveland downed Detroit 5-2, Oakland defeated Milwaukee 4-3 and California downed Chicago 9-2.

In the National League, Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 7-2, Atlanta nipped Cincinnati 2-1, New York tripped Chicago 3-1, Montreal bombed Philadelphia 10-3, Houston downed San Francisco 3-1 and Los Angeles topped San Diego 8-1.
 Frank Robinson got Baltimore's winning hit in the second game and it came off reliever Horatio Pina after Curt Motton led off the 11th inning with a walk off Knowles, Pinch-hitter Andy Etchebarren singled Motton to second base before Robinson delivered his game-winning hit.

In the opener, Mark Belanger's sacrifice fly with the bases-loaded in the 10th inning scored Bob Brich with the winning run. The sweep gave the Orioles nine straight wins.
 Carl Yastrzemski's third hit of the game capped a three-run Boston rally and earned the Red Sox a come-from-behind victory over the Yankees.
 Yastrzemski's game-winning single hiked his average three points to .329 in his bid for the American League batting crown.
 Steve Hargan won his 10th game in 11 decisions since returning from the minors as he pitched a seven-hitter for Cleveland. Mickey Lolich suffered his 19th defeat of the season for Detroit.
 Winning pitcher Ted Abernathy singled home Bobby Floyd in the top of the 12th inning to give Kansas City a hard-earned win that ended a four-hour five-minute marathon against Minnesota.
 The Oakland Athletics equalled their highest victory record under owner Charles Finley with their 88th win as rookie Jim Driscoll slammed his first major league home run to beat Milwaukee.

Rumors Fly Regarding A's Coach, Finley-No Decision

OAKLAND (UPI)—Manager John McNamara of the Oakland A's is like the eye of a hurricane these days.

After watching his Oakland A's edge Milwaukee 4-3 Tuesday night, he calmly fielded questions about a swirl of reports he won't be around next year.

McNamara said he had a contract through Dec. 31 and wasn't worried about 1971 yet. But he added that he was sure he would be in baseball next year.
 He was asked about a rumor that he would coach under Billy Martin at Detroit next year, but said that he hadn't heard about that one.

The Oakland Tribune reported

ed Tuesday in a story by sports writer Ron Bergman that McNamara "has had it" and "will not manage the Oakland Athletics next year."

It was the latest in a long line of such reports which again sent newsmen to contacting owner Charles O. Finley in his Chicago insurance company office. Finley again said "no decision has been made."

If and when McNamara gets his walking papers, it is likely to lower morale on the A's team.

Jim Hunter, who hurled his 18th win Wednesday night, spent more time praising McNamara after the game than in discussing his win, which made him the winningest Athletic pitcher in 15 years. Hunter called McNamara the best manager he had ever played for.

Reggie Jackson, Oakland slugger in 1969 who stumbled in 1970, also praised the soft-spoken pilot but added that "nothing that happens on this team would surprise me."

There's A Lot To Be Blue When Deacon's Unhappy

By MILTON RICHMAN
 UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—When Deacon Jones is unhappy he creates an enormously sad spectacle.
 That's because of his size—6 feet 5 inches and 260 pounds. When Deacon Jones is unhappy there is so much of him that simply doesn't have a good time.
 Last Sunday was one of those days.
 The Rams had just gotten through bowling over the Buffalo Bills, 19-0, in Buffalo pretty much the way everybody had said they would and this was their eighth straight win counting the pre-season game but here was their big all-pro defensive end terribly unhappy.
 He already had changed to his street clothes but that didn't matter. He literally lit up the dressing room with his beige bell-bottoms and multi-colored mod shirt but that didn't make him feel much better either.

Schoendienst May Set Record

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Red Schoendienst will set a record with the St. Louis Cardinals if he completes the 1971 contract he signed Tuesday.
 By serving as the Cardinal manager for the coming year, Schoendienst will hold the record for the longest time as manager of a major league team, breaking the record set by Branch Rickey, who served from the start of the 1919 season through June 1, 1925—a period of six years, one month and 19 days.
 General manager Bing Devine also announced that coaches George Kissel and Vern Benson have signed for next year and that the contracts of pitching coach Billy Muffett and hitting coach Dick Sisker are not being renewed. Replacements for the two have not been selected.
 Schoendienst, 47, has guided the Cardinals to two National League pennants and one world championship during his six years as manager.
 Under Schoendienst, the Cardinals finished seventh in the National League in 1965, shot in 1966, first in 1967 and 1968 and fourth in the East Division in 1969. They defeated the Boston Red Sox in the 1967 world series.

Lindsey Takes First In Handball Action

Tommy Lindsey, 1611 Christine, took first place honors in the finals of the Pampa Youth and Community Center's first handball tournament held last Monday at the Center.
 Paul Hartin, 1818 Christine, was runner-up and William Cornman, 2721 Comanche placed third.
 Other finalists were George Smith, Malcolm Douglas, Rev. Dan Cameron, David Holt and David Campbell.
 The tournament was held as a finals to the ladder tournament held throughout the year.
 The top eight players were placed in a double elimination bracket to determine the champion.
 In semi-final action, Hartin defeated Lindsey two games to one.
 Lindsey then fought his way out of the loser's bracket to gain another shot at Hartin.
 In the first round of the finals, Lindsey beat Hartin 21-17 and 21-2 to win that round 2-0.
 Lindsey then survived a two hour and fifteen minute duel to eliminate Hartin 18-21, 21-15, and 21-18 in the championship round.

Namath Thrown For Loss As Restaurateur

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York Jet quarterback Joe Namath, who signed for a $400,000 bonus in his rookie year, has resigned as chairman of the board of the Broadway Joe's, Inc., restaurant chain.
 A spokesman for the company, based in Miami, said the chain showed a loss of more than $370,000 on sales of $240,000 in the last fiscal year.
 A spokesman said Michael H. Bite Jr., a director, also resigned from the firm. His and Namath's shares were transferred to another director, William K. Cash.
 The company said it was trying to arrange mortgage financing for the eleven units in the chain because of its unfavorable cash position.
 Jet officials held conferences with Namath earlier this year when he failed to report for the first two weeks of training.

Don't Get Him Angry

Now nobody in his right mind ever gets Deacon Jones unnecessarily angry. What for? You go tell him he doesn't look like the same Deacon Jones anymore and it's much better that you don't hang around to get his personal reaction.
 "Anybody who says 'The Deacon' has slipped should put on a football uniform and get in front of him," says the Rams' 31-year-old MVP of only two seasons back, the man many still call the secretary of defense although some turned that title over to Minnesota's Carl Eller last year.
 "A lotta people don't take into consideration the other guys are getting paid to block me, too," Jones says in his own behalf.
 "When they block you with two and three guys all the time you can't always get to the quarterback. I know a lot is expected of me. That means there's extra pressure on me but I don't mind. I feel I can answer the call."

Atessis Earns SWC Defensive Honors

By United Press International
 In the midst of Texas' merciless second half axing of Texas Tech the other night, defensive end Bill Atessis took the occasion to say hello to Tech quarterback Charles Napper. Up close.

Four times in the Raider-Longhorn game Atessis caused Napper to strike up an eye-level acquaintanceship with the Jones Stadium astroturf, a performance that made him United Press International's Southwest Conference defensive player of the week.
 "When Atessis decides to rush the passer," coach Darrell Royal says, "he has the tools to do it. He has played inspired football our last two games. I just couldn't be happier with his performance."

It is easy to say Atessis is huge, strong and quick on his feet, but no one can really appreciate his skill until they line up against him. And Atessis was at his best last Saturday.
 "I'd have to say I was really up for this game," he said, "I kept thinking about two years ago (when Tech defeated Texas in Lubbock). I had some very distasteful thoughts."
 "I didn't really know how many times I got to the quarterback, but you have got to try to get him every time. That's the kind of attitude you have got to have."

Royal admitted he was "somewhat stern" with his players during the half, since they had blown a 14-0 lead and had only a one-point margin after two quarters.
 "Coach Royal did get kind of upset," Atessis said. "I don't actually blame him. We did lose our composure some, and I was disappointed at that because we have a senior team. It was the first time we have panicked so early in the season, and I don't think it will happen again."
 As Atessis walked to the dressing room after the first half he was not concerned about losing, but he recognized

Dolphins Had A Slippery Quarterback

HOUSTON (UPI)—Slip, devil that Bob Griese.
 It was not the fault of pass rush, says Houston Oilers coach Wally Lemm, that the team's quarterback niftily hit receivers for a 20-10 win at the Oilers last weekend. It's that Griese ran circles around the defensive line in a couple of new maneuvers.
 "Oh, yes, then there are fumbles and the mental error and when you put it all together it spells defeat, the coach said.
 And Lemm says, next week we play the Cincinnati Bengals. We've got to stop this kind of play if we want to beat them in so many words, that coach Lemm's analysis of the future and past.
 The Oilers are now tied with Paul Brown's Cincinnati Bengals and the Cleveland Browns with 1-1 records in the American Football Conference's central division. The Oilers play the Bengals this weekend.
 "When you play a Paul Brown team, you are playing a team that doesn't make many mistakes," Lemm said. "We made 26 mental errors against Miami—and we didn't make many in the first pre-season game. We fumbled three times and lost all of them and that's more than we fumbled through the first six games."
 Lemm said Wednesday and the coaching staff studied films of the Dolphins' noticed right off that Griese was a drop back passer. What happens Sunday, Dolphins coach Don Shula has Griese throwing from the rollout.

People Are Pushed

A little background on the two aggressive labor unions who are fighting for the "spoils" of organizing farm labor in America, will help put the long, bitter battle into better perspective.

James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters, is spending his days in jail for committing felonies by interfering with the administration of justice in federal courts. Yet he continues to head the giant International Brotherhood of Teamsters. He selected the present assistant president, and now seeks reelection even though behind the bars.

A sad comment — union members faced with the prospect of re-electing their president a man who thumbed his nose at the laws of his country.

On the other hand, Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers won their "place in the sun" through a country-side boycott by the AFL-CIO unions, plus the infiltration of a religion into the political arena of denying the right of workers to choose whether they want to join a union. To be "for" the proposition of a closed shop automatically denies the right of workers to refuse to join, and the boycott denied the right of housewives throughout the U.S. to buy California grapes.

Both unions push people around. The farmers are caught in the middle. So are the housewives and grocers. All because organized labor carries a big stick in electing public officials. It uses its tax-free funds for political purposes, supporting candidates who agree to support union bosses.

Farmers and merchants are refused tax-free money to oppose union-sponsored candidates. In this sense, your tax money is helping to finance union political activities.

Hoffa in jail, housewives of America denied the right to choose the grapes they want, workers denied the right to join or not to join a union, tax discrimination in favor of organized labor. No wonder the long, bitter battle promises to continue through the years.

One Way To Get Votes

Congress, as the legislator, you will recall, was supposed to be one of the "checks and balances" set up to protect us from tyrannical government. With that in mind, observe:

Inflation fueled by bloated federal budgets has inflicted great harm on the U.S. economy, yet Congress seems oblivious to the threat.

On the very day that front-page headlines told of a $2.9 billion federal budget deficit for the fiscal year that ended June 30, three other items underlined what has become an old, familiar story on Capitol Hill.

The Senate gave final approval to a $4.4 billion appropriation for schools for the present fiscal year — $453 million over the President's recommendation.

Additionally, a Senate-House conference committee agreed on an appropriation for urban renewal, water, and sewage treatment plants and veterans medical benefits, $700 million in excess of the amount the President asked.

Finally, the Senate nearly approved an $18 billion appropriation for housing and assorted other federal programs — $541 million more than the President sought.

Rebuking the Democrat-controlled Congress, Senate GOP leader Hugh Scott said, "July money is being used to buy November votes."

True, but incomplete. The bills to pay for those votes will burden tax payers next July and for years to come.

Rhodesian Crime Down

Somewhere in the world the crime rate is going down instead of up. The August issue of Rhodesian Commentary, published in Salisbury, Rhodesia, carried this bright bit of news, stating: "The incidence of serious crime in Rhodesia has shown a pronounced downward trend in recent years."

According to the article, the decrease of some 15,000 reported cases of crime over the 1968 figure of 208,000 "is attributed to the fact that the police were able to concentrate on preventive measures in the absence of terrorist incursions into the country during the year."

Motoring offenses showed the greatest proportionate increase, and they exceeded the total fatalities in all other criminal acts with which the police dealt.

The story commented on the eruption of the unrest and organized violence on the world scene, marked by defiance of authority, concluding, "That this country has remained free of these trends in high testimony of the calibre of our citizens."

Countries imposing sanctions on Rhodesia, claimed by them to be "a threat to world peace," might compare their own crime rates with Rhodesia's.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: — Is the philosophy that makes it possible for some people to accept and believe in slavery the same philosophy that makes it possible for people to believe in and accept city planning and zoning?

ANSWER: We would say that it is the same philosophy behind both. What makes it possible for people to believe in slavery is a belief that the end justifies the means and a belief that the individual is of no worth or little worth as compared with the group. When people accept the idea that every individual is sovereign over his own life and the products of his life, they cannot accept slavery. When all individuals respect the rights of all other individuals, slavery cannot exist. Slavery presupposes the individual has no rights — or that only some individuals have rights.

Those who believe in government planning and zoning laws obviously believe that the end justifies the means for they are willing to use the force of the state to achieve what they think is the good and proper use of someone else's property through the planning and zoning laws. If the owner of the property and if others in the community do not agree and do not want what the planning and zoning authorities decree, their rights are ignored. Their voices may be heard in hearings, but their rights are ignored. This is lack of respect for the rights of some individuals and places some individuals as of less value than others. It is exactly the same philosophy that permits slavery to exist.

SPENDING AND EDUCATION

One of the great myths which the statisticians in our country have propagated for many years is that all problems can be solved by more education and that all educational problems can be solved by more money. Most of the good citizens of our country are now realizing that this is nothing more than a myth, and a dangerous, destructive myth at that.

They are becoming aware that the public school system has largely failed to teach children the fundamental skills they need and to transmit our cultural heritage. These failures have occurred in spite of the increasingly huge sums of money which we have invested in education.

So-called educational "experts" continue to demand more money to pursue the same discredited policies. Yet concerned parents can take comfort in the fact that one genuine expert shares their view and has presented statistics to support it.

Roger Freeman was until recently a special assistant to the President and is an acknowledged authority on education and welfare. In a June speech to the Washington State Research Council in Seattle, he pointed out that educational spending and educational achievement do not coincide.

Using statistics from "The New York City School Fact Book" of 1969, Mr. Freeman showed that the reading and arithmetic proficiency for students in the New York City schools which received the most tax money were five to seven months behind that of students in the schools which received the least money. It is time to take a very hard look at our public school system and stop spending so much tax money for such inadequate diminishing returns.

With Some Reservation

By INJUN WOODY

Well, greediness for high wages has knifed the goose again. About 1300 employees are going to roll their ribbons when the Royal Typewriter division of Litton Industries moves from Hartford to England.

The layoffs from the production force will be completed by July 1971. In a letter to the employees the president of the company stated, "Royal's need to compete more effectively against lower cost foreign-made machines makes this shift essential."

The real reason is that workers in England do the same job at lower wages and without the impossible fringe benefits demanded today.

Meanwhile there are some signs that union bosses are finally getting the message and are at least making waves that they might care whether a firm stays in business or not.

This hint came from Duane Greathouse, director of American Motors division of United Auto Workers. He says: "Any settlement must be in an area where the company can meet it and stay in business."

Amn't that big-hearted of them? It has been a mystery to me for some time why the big auto manufacturers don't just pack up and ship their equipment to Canada. It's just across the river and it would pay off in getting rid of all those haggling, striking, unreasonable union demagogues once and for all . . .

Puerto Rico Pulling Self Toward Economic Success

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — To succeed economically in the long run, Puerto Rico is going to have to make itself into a kind of miniature Japan.

Despite occasional skeptical reports, the prospect of achieving the goal is good.

Lacking raw materials like Japan, Puerto Rico's hope has to be to become a "factory base" like that thriving country. This means importing the raw stuff, processing it and shipping it off, mostly to the United States, at competitive prices.

My last report many months ago indicated the effort was getting off the ground. Big-scale manufacturers in the metalworking and petro-chemical fields were beginning to come in. A fresh check shows that the promise is holding.

More petro-chemical plants are either under way or soon to come. On the development roster also is a synthetic rubber plant, a steel-fabricating plant, an aluminum works and a factory for production of prefabricated wood houses.

Part of the good news is the intent of the manufacturers to disperse their plants widely throughout the island. Though San Juan has a heavy population concentration, the commonwealth's more than 2.5 million people generally are well spread across the tiny rectangle 125 miles wide and 35 miles north to south.

In fiscal 1969-70, the island's economic growth was 10.5 per cent, maintaining roughly the same pace as in recent years. This in itself is a victory, since there was great fear that as tax concessions ran out for companies lured to Puerto Rico by this device, many would pack up and go.

Some, mostly in the fly-by-night textiles field, have done just that. Some shoe factories future is shaky, but Governor Luis Ferre is hopeful they can be held.

The real test for the island's economy is yet to come. Puerto Rico will not be pronounced truly viable economically until its unemployment rate can be 10.5 per cent level. Today's rate is an improvement over the commonly much higher rate which once prevailed but is not acceptable.

One of the island's handicaps is that most of its output must be shipped in United States vessels at American "coastwise" rates higher than those set by international shippers. Ferre's island political opponents charge him with failing to action this difficult dimma.

In a recent interview, he told me he intends to set up an ad hoc committee to review the problem. Ferre would like to deal with it jointly with Hawaii and Alaska, the two off-mainland U.S. states which face the same shipping rate handicap.

Ferre does not want to disturb the island's good relations with the Seafarers' union, especially since union officials have assured him that in any conceivable maritime strike Puerto Rico's vital ocean commerce would be kept moving.

On the political front, Ferre declines to be troubled by the assertions of his political rivals, the Popular Democrats that he is "polarizing" sentiment on the island by pressing for a proposal that would give Puerto Rico's voters the presidential vote.

The ad hoc committee to consider the issue will not meet until after the 1970 elections, since some members are in Congress and will be busy running for re-election. If the group approves the plan, Puerto Ricans then will vote on it in a plebiscite. Thereafter, Congress would have to take up the matter as a U.S. Constitution amendment. If adopted and endorsed by the requisite 38 states, the Puerto Rican presidential vote probably would take effect in the 1976 balloting.

The Popular Democrats say Ferre's move conflicts with the island's special "commonwealth status" and by moving Puerto Rico closer to the statehood it has long espoused has heightened sentiment for total independence.

Ferre's response is that supporters of independence have long represented about 12 per cent of the Puerto Rican electorate and that his rivals' "secret polls" putting such backing at that level contain no surprise. Though independence never has mustered more than 3 per cent support in a general island election, Ferre argues that another 9 per cent or so have concealed their true sentiment for the time by voting for the Popular Democrats.

Celler's Whitewash of Douglas Withdrawn

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The special House Judiciary subcommittee's long dawdling investigation of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas is in the throes of another strange interlude.

At a secret meeting the committee's staff submitted a report that was a complete whitewash of the ultra-liberal and militantly dovish jurist.

The document, prepared at the behest of Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of both the subcommittee and the full Judiciary Committee, was to be approved by the former and then issued as its official findings.

Celler is a long-time warm partisan of Douglas. As previously disclosed in this column, Celler was against probing the jurist's financial and other extrajudicial operations and ties. But when 116 Republican and Democratic congressmen endorsed a resolution by Rep. Louis Wymann R-N.H. for an investigation by an independent committee, Celler abruptly shifted course.

With the handwriting on the wall, the octogenarian hurriedly resorted to a diversionary maneuver and announced the appointment of a special judiciary subcommittee to do the job — with him and his handpicked staff in charge.

Celler's scheme to ram through, at the secret meeting, a staff-written report whitewashing Douglas was blocked by Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich.

Hutchinson was the only Republican present. Only three of the five sub-committeemen were on hand. The other two were Celler and Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., who is closely allied to Celler. Rep. William McCullough, R-Ohio, and Byron Rogers, D-Fla., were absent — he former due to illness, the latter to a closely contested primary in which he was narrowly defeated.

Hutchinson vigorously assailed the Celler-inspired staff report on two grounds:

The findings merely echoed the views and arguments of Douglas' attorney, former Federal Judge Simon Rifkind, N.Y., that a judge can be impeached only on charges directly relating to his judicial activities. In two long memorandums to the committee, Rifkind contended the accusations against Douglas had no connection with his official duties and therefore were irrelevant as a basis for impeachment proceedings. Rifkind's thesis was hotly disputed in two detailed briefs submitted by Republican House Leader Gerald Ford, Mich. He cited numerous precedents upholding his position.

It was not the function of Celler's handpicked staff to prepare findings. That was the sole responsibility of the subcommittee. The staff's job was to uncover facts and to search out information. Hutchinson insisted the secret report be extensively revised and rewritten.

Celler, faced with the threat of a row that was certain to become known, backed down. He agreed to Hutchinson's demand that the staff report be stripped of its pro-Douglas conclusions and otherwise modified.

WHAT'S NEXT? — How soon that will be done and to what extent remains to be seen. Chairman Celler set no date for another meeting. He rarely does. His usual practice is to telephone committeemen that he is convening a session in a few hours.

All of the meetings are secret. Not only are newsmen not informed of them, but they are held in closely guarded privacy. Tight secrecy has surrounded every step of this investigation. As revealed by this column, another report submitted by Celler's staff several months ago was not only withheld from the press but was labeled "confidential." When it was finally given to newsmen, that designation had been removed and the document modified.

Actually, the subcommittee authority has expired. Legally, it is no longer existent. Its last extension of authority ran out Aug. 20. That 60-day extension was granted by Chairman Celler of the Judiciary Committee to Chairman Celler of the investigating subcommittee when the original 60-day time limit expired June 20.

The inside word is that Celler will continue to stall until Congress recesses around the middle of October for the final phase of the Nov. 3 election. Then, when Congress resumes later that month, it will be a lame-duck body — and anything can happen in a lame-duck session. Celler can be depended on to do everything in his considerable power to use that situation to put over a whitewash of his long-time ultra-liberal idol, Justice William O. Douglas.

SENSING THE NEWS

Thin Blue Line In Cities

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN
HARTFORD, Conn. — When the four Kent State students died earlier this year, there were untold thousands of mourners. But who mourns for the slain policemen in America's big cities? No lament is heard from the liberal news media in the Northeast. No armbands are worn as a symbol of loss. Yet there are mounting casualties in police ranks around the country as Black Panthers and other extremists wage terrorist war against the men in blue.

The seriousness of the attacks against policemen, guardians of law and order in American towns and cities, has been accurately stated by Mayor Ann Uccello of Hartford, Conn. In a recent public statement she declared that "we are dangerously close to guerrilla warfare in our cities." She proposed that Congress make it a federal crime to attack or kill a policeman.

Mayor Uccello, who is the Republican nominee to Congress in the First Connecticut District, warned that terrorists attacks on policemen across the country will lead to anarchy. "We saw it," she said, "in the form of sniper fire upon police, right here in Hartford this summer, in Chicago where four policemen have been slain from ambush since mid-June, in Omaha where one policeman was killed and seven wounded in a bomb explosion, in Minneapolis where a policeman was killed in his squad car and, most recently, in Philadelphia where a police officer was brutally shot five times sitting at his desk and where three other policemen were wounded during the same weekend."

Whether it is necessary to shift from state to Federal prosecution in cases involving attacks on police, can be debated by legal experts: But good citizens aren't likely to question the need for new, stiff authority of the community as symbolized by the badge and uniform of policeman.

Homegrown terrorists in our cities know what they are doing when they attack the police. It is violence but not violence without an objective. The aim of urban terrorists is to hit at both the symbol and reality of public order and authority — the agencies of law enforcement. Verbal assaults on policemen as "pigs" were the prelude to the assaults with pistols, snipers' rifles and fire-bombs.

Employing every means, psychological as well as physical, the terrorists hope to destroy the citizenry's confidence in an orderly society and its guardians. The terrorists want to create fear in the minds of the public. A terrified population, the bloody-minded extremists believe, will be one that they can control and dominate. If the public observes the police retreating before the forces of disorder, it may adopt a no-win attitude toward Panthiers and other extremists.

Parallel to the ambushes and sniper attacks on policemen are radical campaigns to disarm the police and to lessen their effectiveness in every way.

For example, political pressure is mounted in some communities to deny police the weapons they need to protect themselves and the general public. Recently, policemen in Atlanta, Ga., asked for chemical Mace, shotguns and other protective devices necessary for their job in an era of anti-police violence. Their request was denied.
