

Bank bids let, insurance okayed, maps nixed

The September session of the Snyder City Council produced a long agenda of business for council members, 11 unanimous votes and one split council ballot.

The council voted 3-2 to overturn city staff plans to seek bids on a computerized graphics mapping system — a new system which was to be shared with personnel with the Scurry County Appraisal District.

Discussion concerning the measure was minimal at the Tuesday night session. Councilman Don Osborn made the motion to seek the bids, receiving a second from Councilman Don Gressett.

Mayor Rod Waller called for the council ballot and received three votes "against" the plan from Councilmen Ed Thrift, Truett Bryan and Mickey Nunley.

The only council member not present Tuesday was Gale McPherson.

The monthly meeting lasted almost three hours with councilmen facing a range of other decisions.

The first was related to the end of the city's fiscal year, which begins a new 12-month period Oct. 1.

Councilmen were asked to consider new bank depository bids for city funds. Their final decision was to stay with the current depository — Snyder National Bank — for another year's time.

The main variable in the three bids from each city bank was the amount of interest the city might expect to gain from both certificates of deposit (under and over $100,000) and checking accounts (Super NOW and money market).

For the largest interest earning accounts, certificates of deposit equaling more than $100,000, Snyder National offered a set interest amount of 12 percent for CDs left over 180 days.

Another lengthy discussion from council members Tuesday was related to bids for a new city employee health insurance plan. Four bids were received with the council eventually opting to go with local agent Joe Williamson representing Republic National.

This bid was similar to one submitted by the current insurance carrier, Blue Cross and Blue Shield. The local representation plus a history of "slow pay" for claims with Blue Cross were cited as reasons for the change.

Under the newly accepted plan, employee coverage will cost the city $43 per month. To add a dependent, the employee will have to pay $82 monthly.

The Blue Cross bid for both items was $41 and $79 respectively.

In other city-related business, council members voted to:

—Adopt on a second a final reading both the 1983-84 City Budget and tax rate. Both had previously been reviewed and approved on first reading. The budget will equal some $4.4 million with a tax rate of slightly more than 27 cents per $100 valuation.

—Authorized the annexation into the city two city lots located adjacent to 48th St. in southwest Snyder, an annexation requested by local Rick Conner.

—Approved on first reading an ordinance which adopts an "updated service credit" clause proposed through the Texas Municipal Retirement System. The motion in effect will give city staffers who have served with cities other than Snyder credit for this time regarding funds paid toward retirement benefits in the statewide system.

—Authorized a minor subdivision plat for the senior See COUNCIL, page 11

In Brief

Witnesses erred honestly

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Many of the 18 prosecution witnesses made conflicting statements in their testimony against five Duval County residents accused of buying votes, an assistant U.S. attorney acknowledges.

But their mistakes were not because they were bitter political opponents wanting revenge, as defense attorneys alleged, but because they were poor and uneducated, prosecutor Jack Wolfe said in his closing arguments Tuesday before the case went to a jury.

"If we were trying to cook this up, don't you think we would have done a better job? Don't you think the stories would be the same every time?" Wolfe asked.

French peacekeepers killed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Shelling killed three French peacekeepers and wounded four in west Beirut today, informed sources said. French jets scrambled from the aircraft carrier Foch to search out the source of fire in the Druse-controlled central mountains.

A car bomb also killed six people, wounded 27 and collapsed a four-story building near a mosque about a mile south of the French compound, police said. The victims were not immediately identified and there was no claim of responsibility.

The French troops were hit in west Beirut's Kaskas neighborhood near the racetrack. French authorities said one soldier was killed and two were wounded.

Court upholds restrictions

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The right of judges to restrict news reporters from interviewing jurors after a trial has been affirmed by a federal appeals court.

An order from U.S. District Judge William Sessions forbidding reporters from asking jurors how other jurors voted in convicting three people in the 1979 murder of federal judge John H. Wood Jr. of San Antonio was upheld Tuesday by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Sessions, chief judge of the Texas federal court's western district, first banned reporters from contacting jurors at all after the trial, but that order was struck down by the 5th Circuit on appeal from the El Paso Times and The Associated Press.

Sessions then prohibited reporters from asking jurors for interviews repeatedly, if at first they refused to talk, and from asking those who consented to interviews about the votes of other jurors.

Local

School windows broken out

Snyder police cleared a weekend incident of criminal mischief with the arrest of two juveniles, one 13 years old and the other 11, Tuesday morning.

Local officers on routine patrol had discovered a number of windows and a door broken out of the North Elementary School late Monday night. The two suspects in the case were arrested at the school Tuesday morning and released to their parents after a restitution agreement had been reached.

Total damage to the school building, including 11 broken windows and a broken door, was estimated at $400. Nothing else was reported damaged or missing from the building.

Late registration continues

Late registration will continue at Western Texas College through Sept. 16 which is the deadline for registering, changing schedules or adding classes. The fall registration figure is nearing the 1200 mark.

City opposes dump site here

The Snyder City Council Tuesday became the second governmental entity here to publicly go on record as opposing the location of a low level nuclear waste dump site "in Scurry or adjacent counties."

The formal protest approved Tuesday by the council followed wording in a similar resolution passed Aug. 22 by the Scurry County Commissioners Court.

Officials with the state agency charged with finding a location for the dumping area have indicated Scurry and four other neighboring counties are still being considered as possible sites.

These four include Borden, Garza, Howard and Mitchell Counties — part of a larger North Central Texas area which now stands as one of two proposed areas. Other involved counties in this general vicinity are Knox, Baylor, Throckmorton and Haskell.

The other area is in the Valley Region of Texas and includes Maverick, Zavala, Frio, LaSalle, Dimmit and Webb Counties.

State officials have said such a site would comprise a total of 300 acres. A final decision concerning it is expected by the end of this month from the Texas Low Level Waste Disposal Authority based in Austin.

Countywide history book workshop set

A countywide workshop to help local residents write their family histories for the "Footprints Across Scurry County" publication is planned here Saturday.

A large crowd is hoped for at the event, to be conducted from 1 until 5 p.m. in Room A located at the north side of the Scurry County Coliseum.

To assist with the workshop, a list of "items to consider" for inclusion in these stories is included on page 11 of this issue of the SDN.

Residents of all the county's rural communities as well as Snyder are urged to attend Saturday's planning session.

The event is planned as the deadline for submitting these histories draws near. Book volunteers remind that Sept. 16 — a Friday — is the absolute cutoff date.

Since the family history portion of the book must follow a printing schedule set by the book publisher, there is no chance the deadline will be extended, workers say.

Locals may submit a family history of 500 words or less plus one family picture at no charge. In addition, having the family history included in the book in no way obligates the writer to purchase the book.

Shot down Korean plane...

Moscow admits its jets

MOSCOW (AP) — After balking for five days, the Soviet Union has acknowledged its warplanes attacked a South Korean jetliner, but it blames the United States for the loss of 269 lives.

The statement, claiming the Soviet pilots did not know the Korean Air Lines Boeing 747 was a civilian plane, was issued Tuesday shortly after tapes of their radio conversations about the aircraft were played at a United Nations Security Council meeting.

• The Soviet statement, which repeated charges that the plane was on a U.S. spying mission, was carried by the Soviet news agency Tass and broadcast on the Moscow nightly television news.

The United States reacted sharply to the statement, saying the Soviet Union "continues to lie to the world" and demanded a full accounting of the tragedy.

U.S. Undersecretary of State Lawrence Eagleburger said in Washington that the admission "comes only after the truth was known everywhere." He complained that Moscow still has not apologized or accepted responsibility for the tragedy.

The Soviet statement said the regularly scheduled KAL Flight 007 from New York to Seoul, South Korea, was "stopped" in compliance with Soviet law, but did not elaborate on the fate of the aircraft. It indicated the Soviet air force would act similarly in any future cases.

Previously, Moscow ignored or rejected U.S. contentions that Soviet fighter jets fired a heat-seeking missile to bring down the plane over the Sea of Japan last Thursday.

The Soviets maintained that the airliner was on a spying mission over the Kamchatka peninsula and Sakhalin island, both sites of anti-aircraft bases. The government argued the plane sought to pinpoint the bases and study their reaction so the United States could destroy them in case of war.

19 indictments conclude September grand jury

Eighteen individuals were ordered to stand trial on felony charges after the September session of the Scurry County Grand Jury returned 19 indictments Tuesday afternoon.

Two of the defendants, Gary Mark Rhodes of Rt. 3, Snyder and Martha Evans Poindeexter of 2802 Ave. E, remain in Scurry County Jail in lieu of bonds set at $10,000 each.

Rhodes was arrested by Scurry County sheriff's deputies on the evening of Aug. 5, following an early afternoon armed robbery of Stinson's Drug on the north side of the square. Rhodes was indicted for one count of robbery in connection with the episode.

Poindeexter was originally arrested by city police on the night of Aug. 8 in connection with the stabbing of a local man at an east side motel. The jury named her in a single indictment for aggravated assault in connection with the incident.

Donald Eugene Jeffery of 808 31st St. was named in two burglary indictments handed down Tuesday.

He is being held in the county jail in lieu of $5,000 bonds set in each of two cases of burglary. Jeffery was indicted for the Sept. 1 burglary of the SHS field house and the burglary of an east Snyder residence the same evening.

The grand jury also indicted six other men on burglary charges stemming from incidents reported here in August.

Thomas Patrick Boley of 605 24th St. is free on a $7,500 bond after being indicted for burglary with intent to commit theft. He is charged with the Aug. 27 burglary of a storage room at the old Strayhorn Motel.

One other man, Steven Ray Harris, was also indicted for the same offense and his bond set at $7,500. Court officials say he has not been arrested yet.

Scott Slankard of 2301 Ave. I was indicted for the Aug. 31 burglary of another Snyder residence. He was arrested by city police Sept. 1 and is currently free after posting a $5,000 bond.

Delores Allen, who listed a Lamesa Highway address, is being held in the county jail in lieu of $1,500 bond on charges of burglary of a habitation. She was indicted by the jury for a residential burglary reported here Aug. 10.

Joaquin Alarcon of 606 24th St. and Michael Allen Peck of 609 24th St. are both free after posting bonds of $1,500 each on charges of burglary of a habitation.

Both men were indicted by the grand jury in connection with a July 30 burglary incident.

Bonds for both Billy Wayne Priester and Carla Renee Sheets were set at $5,000 each after the jury returned indictments for possession of a controlled substance against them.

Both Priester and Sheets were arrested by city police at their 2212 26th St. residence on the night of Aug. 8 and charged with illegal possession of amphetamines. Sheets and Priester are both currently free after posting bond.

Debra Gayle Blaylock, address unknown, was indicted by the jury on charges of forgery by passing. She is accused of passing a forged check drawn on the McCoy Cattle Co. of Midland on July 30.

Bond for Blaylock was set at $5,000 but she had not been arrested as of Wednesday morning.

Also indicted by the jury but not arrested as of Wednesday morning was an individual charged with one count of hindering a secured creditor involving a loan from a local bank. The release of the suspect's See SUSPECTS, page 11

Mutual deterrence...

Theory applies economically

WASHINGTON (AP) — The theory of mutual deterrence, usually applied in a military context, holds that each super-power forgoes attack because no matter what damage it could inflict, the other side could strike back.

In a different way, the same theory applies economically. And that is one reason for the measured, relatively mild sanctions President Reagan imposed against the Soviet Union for downing Korean Air Line Flight 007.

There wasn't much he could do in economic reprisal that would not have hurt the United States in the process of punishing the Soviet Union.

The dilemma is not a new one. But it is particularly difficult for a conservative president who has warned Moscow that aggression will bring a strong U.S. reaction.

Reagan called the jetliner attack an instance of Soviet aggression, but his reaction did not include the kind of economic sanctions that had been invoked in earlier crises.

He extended current U.S. restrictions on Soviet commercial aviation, and asked other nations to join in acting against Moscow on that front. He suspended some diplomatic and transportation exchanges. And he urged Congress to toughen U.S. military deterrent strength.

But he did not block other avenues of trade or negotiation with Moscow, notably the new, five-year grain sales agreement. The deterrent to that is that cancellation of the $10 billion agreement probably would do more economic damage to the United States than to the Soviets.

AP news analysis

Reagan made that argument himself as a candidate, opposing the partial grain embargo then-President Carter imposed in retaliation for the Soviet military move into Afghanistan.

The 15-month embargo, which extended into the Reagan presidency, affected about $2 billion worth of grain sales. Reagan said that put an unfair burden on American farmers, and did little harm to the Soviet Union since grain was for sale elsewhere. The embargo also cost the government money, to make up for farm losses under grain price support programs.

Reagan lifted the embargo on April 24, 1981, three months after he took office. In doing so, he said there was no weakening of U.S. determination to resist Soviet aggression. "We will react strongly to acts of aggression wherever they take place," he said. "There will never be a weakening of this resolve."

Negotiations on new grain sales began as soon as the embargo was lifted. Reagan imposed another set of sanctions against Moscow on Dec. 29, 1981, because of the martial law crackdown in Poland. Chief among them was a ban on the sale of U.S. equipment for construction of a natural gas pipeline from Siberia to Western Europe. That drew protests from U.S. allies involved in the project, and the pipeline went ahead anyhow.

The pipeline sanctions also produced political problems at home—in lost jobs because of lost business in a deepening recession.

The American firm hit hardest was Caterpillar Tractor Co., of Peoria, Ill., in the district of House Republican Leader Robert H. Michel, already wracked by severe unemployment. Michel barely won re-election in 1982 after a campaign in which the lost pipeline business was a major issue.

Reagan lifted those sanctions Nov. 13, 1982, saying he did so because a new allied agreement on East-West trade would restrain commerce in items that would contribute to Soviet military or strategic interests.

Sanctions are supposed to be punishment that will change the behavior of the offender. Neither the grain embargo nor the pipeline sanctions achieved that goal, and both had adverse economic effects on the United States.

In the case of the downed airliner, the administration concluded that there were no sanctions available that would change Soviet ways.

Former mayor pro-tem convicted, is given life

EASTLAND, Texas (AP) — Cisco's former mayor pro-tem has been convicted of the murder of his wife last spring and sentenced to life in prison.

The state district court jury that began hearing the case Aug. 22 deliberated only 45 minutes Tuesday before returning a guilty verdict against Loyd Lundstrom, 60, in the shooting death of his 27-year-old wife, Doris.

The jury then needed only 50 minutes to assess Lundstrom the maximum sentence it could give. Jurors said their first vote each time was unanimous.

The body of Lundstrom's wife was found March 5 in the motel the couple operated in Cisco, 45 miles east of Abilene on Interstate 20. Lundstrom disappeared after his 27-year-old wife's death, but surrendered to authorities March 16 at the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport.

Lundstrom wiped his eyes with a handkerchief when the verdict was announced. He was remanded to the custody of the Eastland County Sheriff's Department pending his transfer to state prison.

During the punishment phase of the trial, defense attorney Bill Hart had asked jurors to place Lundstrom on probation, saying, "This man has suffered; he does not need to suffer any more." Hart said he would appeal the verdict.

"Justice prevailed," said District Attorney Emory Walton, who sought the life sentence. "I'm happy with the way the trial turned out."

The state rested its case against Lundstrom on Friday, and defense attorney Bill Hart closed his case Tuesday without calling any witnesses.

Hart maintained that Lundstrom was out of town when the murder occurred. The defense attorney acknowledged that Lundstrom had pointed a shotgun at his wife to scare her after she demanded a divorce, but argued that the former city councilman didn't fire it.

Rather than killing Mrs. Lundstrom, Lundstrom merely caused her to faint, Hart said.

"You bet she was scared," he said, "as any wife would be who told her husband she'd committed adultery and her husband points a gun at them."

In his closing argument, Walton called Lundstrom possessive, domineering and jealous.

"He treated his wife exactly as he treated his children," Walton said. "They didn't do anything except what they were told to do."

"Someone in this community needs to say something for Doris and the five little children he left motherless," Walton said.

Not menstruating yet

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My stepdaughter is 16 years old and has never menstruated. When I mention this she seems very frightened of going to a doctor. She is about 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighs about 110 pounds. Should we be concerned or just be patient awhile longer?

DEAR READER — Your stepdaughter may be perfectly normal. The usual age for the onset of menstrual periods is between 10 and 16 years. But some girls do not have their first period until they are 19 or even 20 years old.

Your description of her height and weight bothers me. She is a bit slim for her height. We know that women who are very lean are prone to not menstruating. We see this in women athletes. We also see it in women or young girls who have anorexia nervosa and don't eat. You might be able to make some judgment on this by your knowledge of her physical appearance. Does she have a reasonable amount of fat under her skin as a normal girl of her age would?

You need to help her overcome her fear of seeing a doctor. Perhaps you can go with her if that would help build her confidence.

I would like for her to see a physician because she is old enough to start having periods and because of the tall, thin physical characteristics you describe. If she needs some hormone help it would be good to find this out early. Tests will be required to know. But be prepared to hear that she may just have to wait longer.

The onset of menstruation, regularity and characteristics, is discussed in Female Reproduction Function, The Health Letter 17-2, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have psoriasis on my back. I have it on my belly. I don't have it on my arms or legs but a few months ago I got it on my scalp. It itches terribly. What I want to know is about my face. Is there any cream I can put on at night? I wouldn't want to have it on my face.

DEAR READER — Psoriasis is a peculiar disease. It is associated with an overproduction of the surface skin cells. Those that adhere to the skin as dead cells form the grayish scale on the surface. If you scrape these off you see reddened areas or a few bleeding points underneath.

Although itching can occur from the scales, the truth is psoriasis is not dangerous. It can be associated with arthritis and some say it causes an arthritis that resembles rheumatoid arthritis. But its main damage is cosmetic and how the person responds to that. Obviously no one wants to have such lesions on his skin.

I hope you will see a dermatologist and let him help you manage your problem. Treating psoriasis is complex and sometimes difficult. It depends a lot on how severe or extensive it is. Some mild cases can be managed by sunlight. Exposure to sunlight seems to clear the lesions. Others are treated with ultraviolet light therapy. This can be in conjunction with coal tar or other surface applications that enhance the effects of ultraviolet light.

Corticosteroids are used but they are effective only during use and the condition promptly returns when you stop using them. There are other medications and procedures that also may be used, depending upon the case.

SHARON, Pa. (AP) — Larry "Shoes" Joltin has the busiest shoe store in the United States, an indication of his rank as the nation's top shoe salesman. "The reason I sell so many shoes is I can't wait on three or four people at one time and make them happy. That's the whole trick, waiting on several people at once," said Joltin, 40, a transplanted Brooklynite who sells men's shoes in western Pennsylvania.

Court sets hearing on dam

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court agreed today to review a state order to build the Stacy Dam and reservoir in West Texas.

Oral arguments were set for Oct. 26 on whether the project would impair existing water rights and whether it would hurt the public welfare.

The proposed dam would be built by the Colorado River Municipal Water District 24 miles southeast of Ballinger and would impound 554,340 acre-feet of water.

The district would be allowed to divert and use 113,000 acre-feet of water a year. An acre-foot is 325,851 gallons.

The Texas Water Commission in 1979 granted the permit to build the dam on the Upper Colorado River.

It was to have been completed in 1984, but the Lower Colorado River Authority and other downstream users held up the project with court appeals, arguing that the project would deplete their own water resources.

A state district judge in Austin upheld the commission's action, and the 3rd Court of Appeals on June 30, 1982, affirmed the lower court ruling.

Instruction in quilting and quilt making will be offered in a continuing education course scheduled to begin Sept. 13 at Western Texas College.

Classes will meet from 6:30-9:30 p.m. on Tuesdays through Oct. 28 with Lila Guinn as instructor. Fees will be $25 per person and students will need to furnish their own supplies.

Mrs. Guinn learned quilting from her grandmother, her mother and other family members. She will show students how to use the popular lap frames as well as more traditional techniques, and will have some sample patterns available for students to use.

sales, number of return customers, training, cooperation and things like setting up displays. Joltin peddled $425,000 worth of shoes last year, and he's currently about $20,000 ahead of that pace.

Joltin, who is paid a salary without a sales commission, manages his feat in a city of 20,000 residents in depressed Mercer County, where the jobless rate is 19.3 percent.

"Most of it is hustle and knowing the stock. You have to know the inventory like the back of your hand," said Joltin.

The LCRA and Garwood and Lakeside irrigation companies appealed to the Supreme Court. The companies use water for irrigation in Colorado and Wharton counties.

The Stacy project would serve a 17-county area, including the cities of Big Spring, San Angelo, Midland, Odessa, Stanton and Snyder.

Animal incidents increasing

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — Its geysers, mountains, rivers and thousands of wild animals attract 2.5 million tourists annually. But the rules for Yellowstone National Park say look from a distance, and never, ever touch the animals that populate the park.

More and more tourists aren't following the rules, and confrontations between man and beast are a growing worry for Yellowstone officials.

In July, a French tourist was gored by a bison bull when he tried to have his picture taken with the shaggy creature. Alain Jean-Jacques Dumont suffered a ruptured stomach, damaged spleen and colon and four broken ribs. He died Sept. 2 in a Salt Lake City hospital.

It was the first fatality at the park involving a bison in 11 years and only the second since the park opened in 1872, authorities at Yellowstone said.

"It is a matter of some concern that park visitors are simply not sufficiently aware that wild animals are ... not the docile little creatures depicted in cartoons, television shows and movies," said Duncan Morrow, a park service official.

The most frequent cause of death in the nation's 334-unit national park system which attracts 245 million people annually is automobile accidents, followed by drownings and falls. But anytime humans and animals come in close proximity, there can be problems.

"If Uncle Fred and Aunt

Martha were to put their grandson up on a cow on somebody's farm, they run the risk of injury," said Mike Baugher, a public information officer for the National Park Service's Denver office.

Of the three bison incidents in Yellowstone this year, the first involved a German tourist who got too close and was knocked down. Two days later the same animal gored a visitor from Colorado.

"There is a great tendency of people not to realize that it is the human who is the visitor in the animal's natural habitat, rather than the reverse," Morrow said.

A change in policy in the late 1960s that closed dumps in Yellowstone cut the number of incidents involving bears and humans by 90 percent.

For years before that bears caused injuries and some fatalities in national parks, especially in Yellowstone where they begged at car windows and scavenged campgrounds for morsels. From the 1930s, four or five dozen incidents were reported each year, according to the Park Service.

But in the 1970s as the bears moved into more remote areas, tourists' attentions turned toward buffalo, elk and moose, all of which are "wild, unpredictable and potentially dangerous," according to a special brochure given to passengers in each entering vehicle.

Joan Anzelmo, a Yellowstone spokeswoman, said statistics for bear incidents over the last five years have remained virtually static at the park — at one to two minor injuries per year. Although statistics are not kept for everything, she said other types of incidents have followed the same pattern.

But she did predict more problems in the future, as more and more visitors crowd into wilderness areas made smaller and smaller by encroachment of neighboring developments.

"As visitation increases and as it becomes rarer and rarer for people to see animals in a wild situation, the greater the potential," she said.

Still, there are bear incidents. On June 25, 23-year-old William May of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., was camping in the Gallatin National Forest, just outside of Yellowstone, when a bear dragged him from his sleeping bag and mauled him to death. The bear was trapped and destroyed.

A female grizzly bear, caught rummaging through garbage outside the Yellowstone Park limits this summer, was captured for research and will be put to death because there is nothing else to do with her, Montana wildlife Director James Flynn said last month.

Officials said the bear had no history of violent behavior but authorities worry that as a mother with two cubs, the bear could eventually attack an unwary tourist.

19 suspects indicted here name is being held pending his arrest. The loan amount was said to be some $7,500.

Indictments for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle were returned against two suspects.

Michael Wayne Wier of 1909 KSNY Dr. was indicted for the Aug. 13 theft of a Ford truck owned by Troy Botts. He is free after posting a $1,500 bond in connection with the case.

Manuel Hernandez, Jr., thought to be from Plainview, was indicted by the jury for the Aug. 14 theft of a 1977 Ford owned by Arcelia Collazo. Hernandez was arrested in Plainview in possession of another stolen vehicle on the night of Aug. 14 and then returned to Post for prosecution on another count of the same offense.

Hernandez' bond has been set at $2,000 for the offense in Scurry County but he has not yet been returned to Snyder for formal charges.

One man and one woman were indicted by the jury on charges of theft in an amount greater than $200 and less than $10,000 in separate incidents involving charged filed by the Rent-N-Own Store in Snyder.

Lisa McCollum had bond set at $2,500, charges involving a stereo she acquired through the store, and Michael Leroy Downs was indicted for the acquisition of a television set from the same store. Downs bond was also set at $2,500.

One indictment for felony criminal mischief was returned by the jury.

It named Kenneth Freeman of Scurry County as defendant in the case and his bond was set at $2,000. Freeman is charged with hooking up an illegal tap to a Midwest Electric Coop service line on or about Aug. 12.

—Denied a request from Robert Montis, who asked the city to abandon a portion of its right-of-way granted on property owned by him which comprises an extension of both 36th St. and an accompanying alley.

—Authorized yield signs to be placed at the intersection of Kerrville and 41st St. The signs will be erected for motorists driving along 41st.

12 indictments for DWI noted

Eleven individuals were named in 12 indictments for felony DWI returned by the Scurry County Grand Jury Tuesday.

All eleven of the defendants were free after posting bonds of $1,500 in connection with each case.

Those charged with the felony-level offense included:

—Haskell Monroe Franks of 3214 Ave. U, two counts.

—Romie Lee Sharp of 1807 17th St.

—John Garza Jasso of 1509 College Ave.

—David Mark Merritt of 2707 1/2 Ave. U.

—Joe Ernest Luera of 108 Birch St.

—Ben Garcia of 24th St.

—Walter Lynn Stubbs of the Tropicano Motel.

—James Edward Neblett of Hermleigh.

—Elisella Usevio Delao of Rt. 1, Snyder.

—Eugene C. Williams of Seminole.

—Loye Carrillo Alvarado of 607 32nd St.

ITEMS TO CONSIDER IN WRITING YOUR FAMILY STORY

I. When and why your family came to the county.

1. How old were you?
2. Include all generations important to your story.
3. Where they learned of the County. Where located in County.
4. Related events and circumstances.
5. Your childhood, health, accidents, playmates, trips, brothers and sisters, unusual happenings, visitors, relatives you remember, finances that influenced your lifestyle.
6. School days: Schools attended, teachers, special activities, achievements, humorous situations, who or what influenced you?

II. Activities:

1. Vacations
2. Jobs: What did you or your parents do for a living? What business and neighbor problems affected you?
3. Sports
4. Tasks at home
5. Fun and funny situations
6. Transportation
7. Courtship and Marriage: Where you met, proposal, wedding, parties, honeymoon, meeting your in-laws.
8. Married life: Settling down, your new home, housekeeping, joys and sorrows.
9. Vocation: Training, promotions, achievements, etc.

III. Avocations:

1. What did you do for recreation?
2. Civic and Political activities.
3. Church: Activities, Influence
4. Hobbies
5. Travels
6. Family landmarks and historical sites.

IV. Remembrance of unique family experiences.

1. Special celebrations
2. Holidays: Christmas, birthdays, etc.
3. Ancestors: Impressions of those you knew and others you heard about.
4. Hardships
5. Remembered impressions of the land and people
6. Problems: Water? Dirt? Animals?
7. Humorous incidents. Frightening experiences.
8. Recollections that are unique to your family.

V. Writing tips:

1. If you tell what is interesting and meaningful to you, it will be more than adequate.
2. You will not be graded. This is not a test.
3. Any story that does not embarrass or hurt someone is acceptable.
4. If your story is not included, the history of the County will not be complete.
5. Do it now.

In Brief

Inmates are clearing parks

HOUSTON (AP) — Thirty Texas prison inmates, armed with saws, pitchforks and axes, will be working in two Houston parks through Saturday to clear them of broken limbs and debris left by Hurricane Alicia.

Watched by four guards, the inmates worked from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday in Hermann Park, Warden Howard Mitchell said.

Many of the prisoners are first-time offenders who volunteered to help clean up debris left by the Aug. 18 storm that killed 21 people and left damage estimated at more than $1 billion.

"These are young first-offenders between the ages of 19 and 26 and all of them are trustees assigned to do work outside the perimeter" of the Texas Department of Corrections' Central Unit in Sugar Land, where they are serving their sentences, Mitchell said.

Alicia damaged beach area

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — About 300 beach house owners on Galveston's west end are in limbo after Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox told them that his office has not yet determined how many of their homes have wound up on state property due to erosion caused by Hurricane Alicia.

Mattox, who came to Galveston Tuesday with a team of experts to do his own survey of the storm's damage, told the owners not to rebuild the homes until his office determines which structures are in violation of the Texas Open Beaches Act.

Alicia, which blew ashore August 18, eroded beaches as much as 75 feet to 100 feet on this island.

Many people could lose their beachfront lots and homes because they now are on the seaside of the natural vegetation line on the beaches, which is against state law.

Scavenger cells may help

HOUSTON (AP) — A natural cell found in the human body can be triggered to control the spread of cancer in patients with malignant tumors, the new chairman of the cell biology department at the M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute says.

Dr. Isaiah J. Fidler, who formerly was director of the Cancer Metastasis and Treatment Laboratory at the National Cancer Institute in Frederick, Md., said specially processed macrophages cells may be "turned on" and caused to seek out and kill cancer cells at loose in the body.

Fidler and a 21-member research group hope to start clinical evaluation of activated macrophages therapy here next spring.

Macrophages, said Fidler, are "the body's scavengers. . . When the body is invaded by bacteria, viruses and fungi, the macrophages can muster to mop up those infections."

Town turned into war zone

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Marijuana-hunting lawmen have turned a tiny mountain town into a "war zone" where mothers looking for their children are stopped at gunpoint by suspicious officers, say residents complaining about the agents' tactics.

But state and federal agents trying to halt northern California's multi-billion dollar pot trade say their methods are both legal and professional. They say marijuana growers are using sophisticated defenses, sometimes booby-trapping their plantations with grenades, bear traps, dynamite and laser alarms.

"We are going to win and they are going to stop growing it," said Bill Ruzzamenti, a chief planner for Operation CAMP — Campaign Against Marijuana Planting — which authorities say will be carried on in other states if it succeeds in California.

Astronaut is head of NSC

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Richard H. Truly, a Navy captain whose first command was at the helm of space shuttle Challenger during a six-day mission that ended Monday, is leaving the astronaut corps to take charge of the newly-organized Naval Space Command.

In a joint announcement Tuesday, the Navy and NASA said Truly, a 45-year-old former test pilot who spent almost 18 years as an astronaut and made two space flights, will take over the Naval Space Command on Oct. 1 when the organization formally starts operations in Dahlgren, Va. He will become the first astronaut to return to naval service in the 25-year history of NASA.

But wash windows...

Talking computer does everything

CYPRESS, Calif. (AP) — Sidney, a computerized butler in a box, can turn off the lights, turn on the pinball machine and say good-night. Sidney doesn't talk back — but once when told "Lamp on," Sidney switched off the air conditioner.

Sidney is the brainchild of Gus Searcy, a part-time magician with expertise in electronic gadgetry, and Franz Kavan, a German-born software wizard.

They call Sidney, which responds to voice commands by performing a variety of household tasks, the first workable "thinking" machine for home use, part of a system they call "AIR," Artificial Intelligence Recognizer.

Kavan has programmed Sidney to recognize 256 separate commands for household chores — though he doesn't do windows.

On voice command from Searcy, Sidney turns on the fan, air conditioner, radio, lamp or pinball machine in the living room. When Searcy bids goodnight, Sidney replies, then shuts down all the electricity in the house.

"Sidney," Searcy says firmly to the machine.

"Yes, master," Sidney answers in a friendly voice.

"TV on," Searcy says. "OK, master," replies Sidney.

Sidney looks like a small stereo speaker, and though it's hooked into a home computer now, Kavan said it will eventually work as a separate unit available for as little as $300.

"Our biggest fear is that some big companies will steal this idea from us," Searcy said in an interview Friday.

Other companies sell devices which respond to voice commands and can be plugged into a computer to perform various tasks. But Searcy and Kavan say their talking, listening, thinking Sidney surpasses those.

Searcy, 31, started thinking about Sidney 10 years ago while watching the movie "Demon Seed," about a malicious, talking computer that attacks its human masters.

This year Searcy finished devising the electronic hardware for $1,000, but he lacked the computer software that would put Sidney to work around the house. By chance, he met Kavan, 28, a free-lance programmer. Six months later the two Orange County men came up with their first working model.

Searcy's first conversation with Sidney went like this: "I said 'Lamp on,' and it turned off the air conditioner and I knew we were in business."

At least it responded, he said.

Some computer experts question the desirability of a voice-activated computer. But Scott Instruments of Denton, Texas, manufactures voice-activated machines for use by paraplegics or the elderly. Company president Charles Kee believes

"by the end of the decade you'll be turning on your air conditioner, your radio, your TV, with your voice."

Searcy and Kavan hope to sell Sidney — or its computer program — to larger companies for marketing. "The commercial applications are staggering," Searcy said, predicting Sidney could be on the market by next Christmas.

Virgin image disappears

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Leonard Garcia says he's not a non-believer.

"We just want some peace and quiet," he said Tuesday before turning on floodlights that made a purported image of the Virgin Mary disappear from an outside wall of a house where crowds have gathered for almost a week.

"What we fear the most is the aftermath," said Garcia, son of Angie Gutierrez, on whose house the image had appeared.

The splinter bid can be used after a one-over-one start. It works beautifully provided that partners don't get confused.

North's four-club call is a good example. Unless South is wide awake, he is likely to be confused and think that North is showing something like six-six in the minors. Note that three clubs would have shown a very good hand with clubs, though not necessarily any unbalanced monster.

South doesn't have much of a hand, but he now knows that his four little clubs represent just one loser. He should be willing to show his ace of hearts by bidding four hearts. The queen of diamonds is also a valuable card. He assumes that North probably has a five-card diamond suit.

North has only 15 high-card points, but if South can afford to make some sort of slam try, North should check on aces (and he does).

Here we come to another point of bidding interest. Some players feel that South has already shown his heart ace and hence should respond five clubs. We don't agree with this. We think Blackwood asks for aces, and South should show the one he actually holds. So South bids five diamonds and North bids the spade slam.

There is nothing to the play as long as nothing is ruffed and the diamonds don't break 5-0. The defense takes the first trick and South the rest.

secretary; Mrs. Joe L. League; Mrs. J. A. Hood; Mrs. John Boren, fair chairman; and Mrs. Forrest Fox, president. Not pictured is Jo Ann Nunley, publicity. (Photo by Jo Ann Nunley)

At Scurry County Fair...

Snyder Garden Club to coordinate flower show

"Gifts from the Garden" is the theme for the flower show in this year's Scurry County Fair to be held Sept. 22-24.

The Snyder Garden Club will head up the show. They encourage gardeners to plan now to enter their plants or flowers in one or more of the many divisions to be judged by several out of town qualified judges using rules in the 1977 Flower Show Handbook, the Revised Edition of Workshop Notes for Flower Shows and Handbook Supplement I for Flower Shows.

The rules to enter are in the Fair Book available in many local stores or by calling the chairman of the event, Mrs. John Boren at 573-3630.

Others on the committee are Mrs. Forrest Fox, president; Mrs. Joe L. League, schedule; Mrs. J. A. Hood, staging and properties; Mrs. Tommy Davis, hospitality; Mrs. S. L. Terry, judges; Mrs. Boren, awards; Mrs. Homer F. Ray, horticulture classification and placement; Mrs. Delbert Downing, horticulture entries; and Mrs. W. B. McSpadden, horticulture clerk.

In the artistic division chairmen are Mrs. Charles Jones, classification and placement; Mrs. Gene Best, entries; and Mrs. Roy Baze, clerk.

Others are Mrs. Mickie Nunley, publicity; Mrs. Marshall Wilson, education and conservation; and Mrs. Jim Ritchey, junior entries.

Garden club members will participate in the Martha Ann Woman's Club garage sale Sept. 10 at Towle Park Barn.

AP Newsfeatures

How large is your home? If it's a single-family, detached house and was built last year, it's about 1,520 square feet, down from almost 1,900 square feet in 1978. And its probable cost of $70,000 was more than five times what it would have been just five years ago.

If current trends continue, says M. Leanne Lachman, president of Real Estate Research Corp., American homes will shrink even more in the years ahead. By 1990, she believes, taking into consideration both houses and condominiums, 1,200 square feet will have to suffice.

Architect Herman York, on the other hand, thinks the overall sizes of houses in the next seven years will stay pretty much as they are. "But," he adds, "there will be some changes in the way the space is distributed. Bedrooms may be smaller, but bathrooms will stay about the same, while living areas will get a bit larger. There will be more of what already is taking place — the flowing into each other of living rooms and dining rooms to make one big room."

Architects and builders are offering a variety of designs today to make houses seem larger than they are. Sloping ceilings make rooms with little floor space seem larger. Skylights, windows above eye level and light-colored walls accentuate this effect. "We take rooms that historically have been shut off as caverns, the kitchen and breakfast rooms, and try to open them up," says Barry Berkus of Santa Barbara, Calif., whose company designs living spaces as small as 650 square feet.

Sir Lawrie Barratt, who has brought down-sized concepts over from Britain, is offering one-bedroom condominiums with a mere 494 square feet in the San Francisco Bay area. In the Philadelphia suburb of Treddyffrin Township, builder Arthur Stein has marketed 1,100 square-foot townhouses which have accounted for more than half the sales in a project where other houses are considerably larger.

Appliance manufacturers are also adapting. Combination appliances are more common, with one manufacturer offering a 4-cubic-foot refrigerator, microwave oven and two-burner cooktop all in one unit.

The trend away from bigness may continue even if conditions change and homes become more affordable, says Ms. Lachman.

Most American households, she thinks, don't need that much space. "The baby boom generation," she says, "has not followed its parents' example of marrying young, buying a home in the suburbs and starting a family. The declining birth rate means fewer people per household and, in turn, a reduced demand for household space."

Many areas of the country, seeing the move toward smaller houses, are adopting new zoning restrictions that require a minimum square footage. It's usually somewhere in the neighborhood of 1,000 square feet, although the more affluent places, which often have two-acre land minimums, will sometimes specify that the habitable area inside the house must be at least 2,000 square feet.

One of the problems is that builders make less money on smaller houses and therefore are more reluctant to build them. Many, however, have come to the conclusion it's a lot better to build and sell numerous smaller houses than build and don't sell a lesser number of larger homes.

Town officials generally are in favor, but not always openly, of bigger houses. They upgrade neighborhoods and, more important, bring in more tax money than smaller homes.

(Do-it-yourselfers will find much valuable data in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," which can be obtained by sending $1.50 to this newspaper at Box 5, Teaneck, NJ 07666.)

NOTICE TO BIDDERS OF SCURRY COUNTY'S INTENTION TO RECEIVE BIDS TO PURCHASE UNDERGROUND IR-

Exhibit focuses on civilization

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) - A "magic" shirt belonging to the son of 15th-century ruler Mehmet the Conqueror and a 4,000-year-old recipe for sexual potency are among the relics of Anatolian civilization currently on display here.

The collection is part of the European Council's 18th biennial exhibition. Organizers say it spans 100,000 years of more than a dozen Anatolian cultures. On display is one of the first coins ever minted, from the boom trading towns of seventh-century B.C. Lydia.

Rare china, brocades, stone tablets and metalwork were collected from museums throughout Europe for the exhibit, which is open through Oct. 30.

Istanbul's St. Irene's Church, one of the first cathedrals in Christendom, houses much of the collection, offering viewers artifacts from the Stone Age to the end of the Byzantine era.

The nearby Topkapi palace spans the more modern periods with treasures from the Seljuk and Ottoman empires.

Five other Istanbul museums have opened offshoot shows on the same theme, each showing a different aspect of Anatolian life. The 12,000 artifacts on exhibition represent such civilizations as the Hittites, Urartians, Lycians, Greeks, Romans, Byzantines, Seljuks and Ottoman Turks.

It took a mystic sage two years to make the magic shirt of Jem Sultan, son of Mehmet the Conqueror, who is considered the founder of the Ottoman Empire. The garment was covered with secret symbols to protect him from harm.

The sexual potency formula is carved in the wedgy cuneiform script of the Hittites. It was found in central Turkey among scores of clay tablets belonging to one of the greatest kingdoms of the ancient Near East.

Early eastern musical instruments are shown in an old Sufic convent in nearby Galata, where whirling dervishes once danced to the sound of reed flutes.

One of the most popular shows is in the Ibrahim Pasha Palace, which houses a unique collection of Turkish and Islamic art and some of the oldest rugs in the world. Also, traditional Turkish houses have been reconstructed alongside the round felt tents of Anatolian nomads.

RIGATION PIPE FOR TOWLE PARK, SNYDER, TEXAS.

Notice is hereby given that the Commissioners Court of Scurry County, Texas, will convene at 11:00 a.m., Monday, September 12, 1983, at the Scurry County Courthouse, to receive and open all bids for Scurry County to buy underground irrigation pipe for Towle Park, Snyder, Texas, of the following minimum specifications: Forty-two thousand (42,000) feet of 3/4" inside diameter flexible porous pipe suitable for continuous underground irrigation of grassy areas. The pipe is to be delivered F.O.B. to Towle Park, Snyder, Texas.

Dear Abby

Boss Runs From Playing With Woman He's Paying

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1983 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Sexual harassment has recently become a hot topic. This probably sounds unusual, but I am a sexually harassed male. I am 31, single and recently inherited a good business from my father. With this business I inherited an excellent office manager. She does a remarkable job, but she is aggressively pursuing me — if you know what I mean. She always manages to rub up against and touch me in a very familiar way. She's done just about everything but pin me down physically. She is 11 years older than I am, and I know she means business.

I wouldn't dream of firing her because she's indispensable to my business. What should I do?

HIDING IN THE OFFICE

DEAR HIDING: C'mon. Don't tell me you either have to give in to this woman or risk losing her and having your business fall apart.

Tell her that a wise tailor never dances where he cuts the cloth, or you don't choose to fish off the company dock, or anything else that translates into "No."

And if she leaves, she leaves. Nobody is indispensable.

DEAR ABBY: I just read your column about "Should a lady call a man?"

After I was divorced, I was invited to a Parents Without Partners dance. Toward the end of the evening, I met a very attractive gentleman, and as I was about to leave, he hurriedly wrote down his phone number and asked me to call him. I was quite surprised. At first I didn't want to call him, but I changed my mind and a few days later I called. I didn't tell him I wanted to see him — instead I made up some excuse. I think I asked if P.W.P. had any plans for the Fourth of July. He said he didn't know, but we could make some.

Well, we started dating on the Fourth, and a month later we were married. In two days we will celebrate our 10th anniversary. So, sometimes it pays for a lady to call a gentleman.

SADIE, MARRIED LADY IN ARKANSAS

DEAR SADIE: Congratulations. Although Parents Without Partners is a good place to meet prospective mates, its prime purpose is to introduce single parents who care about their children to others of the same mind.

DEAR ABBY: The vasectomized husband of "Loves Children," who refused to adopt because he was afraid of "bad genes," is using that as a copout.

We have three children. The first two were adopted, and the third is our natural child — an "unexpected surprise" after 17 years of marriage!

Our two adopted children are grown now and caused us very few problems.

The child of our flesh and blood is a high school dropout, has been busted twice for drugs, has had three automobile accidents, been fired from two jobs, and quit three because two were "too dirty" and the other one was on Sunday.

Now he lies in bed until 2 p.m. and watches TV all night. I am going to kick him out as soon as he is 19.

ALL FOR ADOPTION IN VIRGINIA

DEAR ALL: And I'm all for telling it like it is. Thanks for an honest letter.

Every teen-ager should know the truth about drugs, sex and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Vets discount use of home remedies

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — Is garlic effective in combating fleas and ticks on dogs?

Will diatomaceous earth eliminate intestinal worms and do away with the need for over-the-counter preparations or those prescribed by a veterinarian?

The answer to both questions is an unequivocal maybe.

At one time, all medications were gleaned from the plant world.

Penicillin, for instance, had its beginning in mold. Digitalis — used in controlling certain heart ailments — originally came from the foxglove flower.

And garlic was once used almost universally to reduce high blood pressure.

But with the growth of the multi-billion dollar industry that manufacturers synthetic drugs, the use of "home remedies" is now widely discounted by doctors and veterinarians alike.

"I'm aware of garlic being used to control fleas and ticks," said a spokesman for the San Diego Zoo. "But it's an outdated concept of veterinary medicine and is not used here."

Dr. Eric Miller of the St. Louis Zoo concurs.

"There is no proof that garlic is effective on fleas and ticks. I know of no zoos that use such home remedies."

A Midland veterinarian, who did not wish to be named, also doubts the effectiveness of what he refers to as "folk remedies."

"It's an interesting subject," he said. "But it's superstitious witchcraft medicine."

He and other veterinarians, however, say most over-the-counter flea and tick products — including collars — display a limited effectiveness.

They also admit that to their knowledge no formal studies have been conducted on the issue of "veterinary folk medicine."

But advocates of home remedies think they know why no such studies have been done.

"It's probably economics," said Dr. Joel Wallach. "It would be pretty hard for pharmaceutical companies to get a patent on garlic."

Wallach is a former newspaper columnist and a former veterinarian with the St. Louis Zoo. He's now a naturopathic physician who operates three clinics in Portland, Ore., and has recently published a 1,200-page book on animal care called "Diseases of Exotic Pets."

"It deals somewhat with home remedies," he said. "Yes, there's a certain amount of validity to them. All kinds of plants have remedial effects. They do work. And they lack the potential toxicity of commercial chemicals."

"But with garlic, there were problems with its consistency because of different growing conditions. Also, there's the smell an inconvenience. We're a convenience-oriented society."

Wallach said he had not heard of diatomaceous earth being used for worms and suggested that anyone wanting to try garlic for repelling fleas and ticks "should play with it."

"There are no known harmful effects. The amount to use depends on how bad you want the animal to smell."

Randy Davis takes class

HOUSTON—Randy N. Davis, EMT-A at Codell Memorial Hospital, was among approximately 400 health care professionals to recently complete the three-day Flight Emergency Symposium sponsored by Hermann Hospital and the University of Texas Medical School at Houston (UTMSH).

The symposium, which attracted registered nurses, physicians, emergency medical technicians and licensed vocational nurses from throughout the country, is held annually in Houston in conjunction with the anniversary of Hermann Hospital's Life Flight program, a medical air transport service.

The 54 individual seminars offered over the three-day period addressed such topics as multiple trauma, respiratory failure, types of burns and individual treatment, acute pediatrics, neonatal emergencies, acute OB/GYN emergencies, child abuse and Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS), overdoses, disaster management and air transport safety.

James H. "Red" Duke, Jr., M.D., professor of surgery at UTMSH, and medical director of Life Flight at Hermann Hospital opened the symposium with "Trauma and Critical Care—A Human Issue."

Special speaker at the symposium was George S. Sheldon, M.D., chief of Trauma and Hyperalimentation at San Francisco General Hospital. Dr. Sheldon spoke on "Systems and Education in Emergency Medical Care."

Upon completion of the second session July 23, participants were notified by Texas Tech Academic Affairs Vice President John R. Darling that they had been given pre-acceptance status to the university, pending completion of required high school units and the filling of appropriate application materials.

"We hope Texas Tech will play an important role in your goal of continued growth and development," Darling said.

Diatomaceous earth is a crumbly, talcum-like silica substance that's derived from the shells of single-celled organisms called diatoms.

Its uses range from thermal insulation to filter material in swimming pool filters. It can be purchased from swimming pool equipment outlets for about $10 per 50 pounds.

One Midland woman, who asked not to be identified, said she had been using diatomaceous earth for years and claims it's been 100 percent effective in keeping her dog free of worms.

"I sprinkle about a teaspoon on their food every day," she said. "It appears to dissolve, but it's not soluble in water. It works by clogging the digestive tract of worms. The digestive tract of dogs is much larger, so it doesn't hurt them."

"I started using it in 1967 on the advice of a veterinarian. My dogs are checked periodically and have shown any signs of worms," she said.

"Diatomaceous earth won't work on heartworms, though — only on intestinal worms."

On the advice of a Midland woman who shows dogs, she began using garlic about six weeks ago and says its 80 percent effective on ticks and 90 percent effective on fleas.

"I'm using four garlic capsules a day on each of my dogs because we have a bad flea and tick problem where we live. But most people could probably use one or two a day and be all right."

"I roll them up in small pieces of hamburger or moist dog food."

"I realize there's a lot of controversy about home remedies. But it doesn't hurt to try them. They're cheap and won't harm animals the way some chemicals do."

Gulf State Utilities proposes selling place

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — If Gulf States Utilities has its way, customers in Southeast Texas may become part owners of one of its power plants.

The utility won $112 million about five months ago in the settlement of an almost 10-year lawsuit in which it claimed it was being overcharged by United Gas Pipe Line Co., a major supplier of gas for its Louisiana generating units.

The Texas Public Utility Commission ruled the utility must return the money to its customers.

In order to return the money, Gulf States has offered to let its customers share ownership in the coal-fired Big Cajun 2, Unit 3 plant now under construction near Baton Rouge, La., company spokesman Tom Clark told the Port Arthur News in an article published Tuesday.

Because no investors would have to be sought to pay for the cost of the part of the plant the customers would jointly own, the utility could pass on a savings to customers, company spokesmen said.

"Over the life of the power plant, GSU customers will not only get the full $112 million, but will also realize benefits several times greater than their original investment," said GSU Division Vice President Ronald M. McKenzie in a letter to area city officials.

If the company's plan is given the go-ahead, Gulf States customers in Texas should get almost $42 million of the $112 million, he said. If all that were invested in the plant, as under the plan, rates would be about $9.6 million less during the first year than if investors owned the entire plant.

"That translates into a 23 percent pay back to the customers during the first year," McKenzie said.

The PUC will vote later on a repayment plan.

At United Nations...

Soviet Pilot tapes are played

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Animated and at times argumentative, the Soviet pilot who shot down a Korean airliner with 269 people aboard exclaimed in Russian before the attack, "Christmas trees and sticks!"

U.S. officials translated the expression as "Fiddlesticks!"

U.S. Ambassador Jeane J. Kirkpatrick played tapes of comments by four Soviet pilots in their entirety for the first time Tuesday at a meeting of the Security Council. All the pilots were in the area of Korean Air Lines Flight 007 before it was shot down in or near Soviet airspace last Thursday, she said.

"It is perfectly clear the pilots were not satisfied, at a couple of points, with the communications they were receiving" from Soviet ground control, Mrs. Kirkpatrick said.

But she added there was no indication that any of the pilots disagreed with the mission to destroy the jumbo jet, which was on a regularly scheduled flight from New York to Seoul.

The American delegate said the United States and other countries wanted to ensure that such a tragedy did not happen again.

She said it was possible that a resolution to that effect could be presented to the Security Council without resulting in a Soviet veto. Moscow would undoubtedly disapprove of any measure proposing sanctions against it.

Nine minutes before the missile is fired, one pilot tells the attack plane that ground control "is inquiring: Do you see the target or not?"

"I see it," comes the emphatic response. "The A.N.O. (air navigational lights) are burning. The (strobe) light is flashing."

Three minutes later, the pilot is apparently dismayed again over a query from ground control.

"Fiddlesticks! I'm going. That is, my Z.G. (indicator) is lit (missile warhead are already locked on)," he says, according to the U.S. translation.

A few minutes later, he reports he no longer has his missile aimed at the airliner and is speeding up to pass it. "I am going around it," the pilot says. "I'm already moving in front of the target. I have increased speed."

But the airliner slows down, he reports. And then, responding to an unknown communication from ground control, the Soviet pilot again exclaims angrily: "It should have been earlier. How can I chase it? I'm already ahead of the target."

He then says he is dropping back behind the target. "Now I will try a rocket," he says, and soon reports he can see the target again.

Three minutes later, that pilot says: "The target is destroyed."

The tapes, which cover a 51-minute period, also indicated that pilots reported three times that the aircraft's navigation lights were on. However, the Soviet ambassador continued to claim that the Korean aircraft was flying without lights.

There was no indication on the tapes that the pilots ever questioned or tried to describe what type of aircraft they were trailing.

The U.N. Security Council called in 1950 on all 59 U.N. members for help to end the Korean conflict.

Torrid National League...

Pirates need good game - and find it

by The Associated Press
When it gets to pennant time, the Pittsburgh Pirates usually rely on their veterans.
For now, though, rookies and reserves continue to keep the Pirates near the top of the National League East.

Rookie Lee Tunnell threw a three-hitter, extending his string of shutout innings to 28, and reserve Jim Morrison homered as Pittsburgh beat the St. Louis Cardinals 5-0 Tuesday night.

The Pirates are one percentage point behind first-place Montreal in the jumbled division scramble. Philadelphia is in third, one-half game behind, and the fourth-place Cardinals are just 1½ games back.

"We needed a good ballgame," said Tunnell, whose team had lost three in a row, including a doubleheader sweep by the Cardinals the previous night. "I'm just happy I did what I was supposed to do."

Ken Oberkfell was the only St. Louis batter who figured out Tunnell, 8-5. Oberkfell singled three times for the only hits off the right-hander.
In other NL games, Montreland bounced Chicago 8-2, Philadelphia beat New York 2-0, San Diego downed Los Angeles 8-3, Cincinnati routed San Francisco 11-1 and Houston at Atlanta was rained out.

Tunnell's 110-pitch effort resulted in his second shutout of the season. It was his third complete game.

Morrison got a rare start in place of Pittsburgh's regular third baseman, Bill Madlock, who suffered a torn tendon in his left calf Monday night. Morrison responded with his fifth home run in the fourth inning off John Stuper, 9-10, and an RBI groundout in the sixth.

Expos 8, Cubs 2
Manny Trillo went 4-for-4, including a home run and two doubles, and drove in four runs to pace host Montreal.

Trillo's RBI double triggered a three-run first inning. He drilled his second homer of the season in the second inning, and Andre Dawson followed with his 29th home run.

Dawson's blast, off Dick Ruthven, 11-11, gave him 100 runs batted in this season.

Charlie Lea, 14-8, won his seventh straight game, tying a team record for consecutive victories by a starter set by David Palmer. Lea allowed four hits in six innings. Scott Sanderson finished up for his first save, which was the second of his career.

Tigers are working to solve problems before loop play

Team captain Tricia Gregory explained the difficulty.

"We had a few problems. We'd get fired up but (then if) we get around four points down we stay down. We can't find a way back up. We're going to be working on that today and tomorrow and try to overcome it," she said.

Gregory was speaking of Snyder's 15-8, 15-12 loss to Midland Lee here Tuesday night, a loss which puts the team at 4-4 heading into Thursday's District 2-4A opener with Fort Stockton. Serving for points in Tuesday's first game were Cari Walker 3, Gregory and Mona Green 2 each, and Susam Brim 1. Serving in the second game were Gregory 5, Green 4, Brim 2 and Walker 1.

Following the match, Snyder's girls ran the lines on the court - something that apparently drew the disapproval of the fans.

"We hadn't been doing too well on our serves and when we don't do well we have to run horses," said Gregory, referring to a pattern the girls run on the court. "Coach (Leslie) O'Pry had told us that if we won the second game, she'd scratch the horses. We didn't, so we had to run after the game. Some of the fans were upset, but we knew why we were running and we deserved every lick," she said.

It was Snyder's second straight loss of the season, but it won't count for the future.

"They way we feel, is what we've played is gone now," said Gregory Wednesday morning. "What matters now is the next game, Fort Stockton. We're trying to get mentally prepared for them, and we've got some ways to do that. One thing we're doing is to remind each other to think about the game one minute out of each hour."

Snyder JV also lost, going three matches with Lee. The underclassmen fell 15-9, 14-16 and 15-9. Serving for points were Allison Adams 6, Kima McLarty 4 and Leslie Ward and Hope Hernandez 2 each. In the second game it was McLarty with 9, Ward with 3 and Cintia Gonzales with 2. In the third, Gonzales and Hernandez had 3 each, Adams 2 and McLarty 1.

Snyder hosts a three-match affair Thursday. The freshmen will play Levelland at 5:30 while the junior varsity and varsity will vie against Fort Stockton at 6:30 and 7:30 respectively. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

U.S. Open at a glance

NEW YORK (AP) - Second-seeded Ivan Lendl continued his relentless march through the United States Open Tennis Championships with another straight-set victory, eliminating No. 12 Johan Kriek 6-2, 6-4, 6-1.

Jimmy Arias, seeded ninth, also advanced to the quarterfinals, coming back to defeat Joakim Nystrom of Sweden 3-6, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0, 6-0, while No. 4 Yannick Noah of France ended the dreams of 16-year-old amateur Aaron Krickstein, 6-3, 7-6 (7-2), 6-3, and Mats Wilander beat Andres Gomez of Ecuador, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

In women's play, Martina Navratilova breezed past West Germany's Sylvia Hanika, the seventh seed, 6-0, 6-3 to set up a dramatic rematch in the semifinals with No. 5 Pam Shriver, who ousted third-seeded Andrea Jaeger in straight sets, 7-6 (7-2), 6-3.

NFC East race an 'open battle'

DALLAS (AP) - Monday night's wild shootout with the Washington Redskins gave Dallas Coach Tom Landry cause to reflect on a NFC East race that he says "looks like a wide open battle."

The Cowboys came from 20 points down to defeat the Super Bowl Champion Redskins 31-30 in the National Football League opener for both teams.

"I don't think anybody in the East will be a doormat this year," he said. "Any team can win at anytime. The records in the East may not be as good this year."

Landry said, "It's almost too early to say who will dominate the east but if you don't streak (win a number of games in a row) you won't win the division."

Landry was suffering from a heavy cold Tuesday after one of Dallas' most stirring comebacks.

"I'm not in good shape," Landry admitted.

But helping Landry's spirits was the pride his team displayed after trailing 23-3 at halftime.

"I was surprised we won because we had so far to come," said Landry.

"It's one of the great things in football or sport when you achieve something that looks impossible. What we accomplished took a lot of pride."

"When you are getting kicked around, you've got to show some character."

Landry said the victory ranked at the top of Cowboy comebacks.

"This is the most points I've seen us overcome (in a half) and come back to win," Landry said.

The Cowboys were so disgusted at halftime that quarterback Danny White slammed his helmet down on the floor.

"I didn't want to say anything so I just threw my helmet," White said.

Running back Tony Dorsett said Landry appealed to the team's pride.

"Right before we left the lockerroom (at halftime) for the field he (Landry) told us: 'This is going to show what you are all made of,'" Dorsett said.

The Cowboys must travel to St. Louis for another road game Sunday and Landry said it wasn't fair.

"The NFL should avoid that (road games) after you play on Monday night," Landry said. "We're just fortunate in that we don't have to travel too far."

Landry said of St. Louis: "The Cardinals are a hustling team. I've always had respect for them. They are after you all the time."

Landry is concerned because the Cowboys lost last year after a Monday night game when they had to travel.

"It's always tough to bounce back," he said.

Western opens golfing season this Thursday

Western Texas College golf team opens the 1983-84 season Thursday as six-time defending champion of the New Mexico Junior College Intercollegiate Tournament.

The 36-hole tournament has been shortened this year from 54 holes. It will be held Thursday and Friday in Hobbs, N.M.

Western has won the tournament six out of 10 years, including the last three years in a row. In 1982-83, Western won first

WTC teams lose returning starters

Gaither won't be back...

Coach Joe Cushing knew he was going to have a young team in 1983-84, but the recent loss of Stacey Gaither leaves only two returning sophomores.

Gaither, pegged as the starting point guard for the Dusters this year, announced she was leaving the team to get married to ex-Westerner Petey Petri, who is attending The University of Texas on a golf scholarship.

That leaves only 5-7 wing Mary Nell Clayton from Roby and 6-0 post Karen Kuykendall of Lubbock returning from the defending WJCAC championship team.

"Well, she looked real good the first three days of practice," joked Cushing when asked about the loss of the talented, 5-7 guard from Lubbock. "Really, it may be a good thing for us. We have a girl from Nazareth that has excellent potential. Before, we were going to bring her around more slowly. Now it will require that she jump in there sooner."

Rhonda Hoelting, from Nazareth, will probably be called on to fill Gaither's shoes, while Clayton and Lyndy French will be ready, too. The loss of Gaither could hurt less because Cushing said his Dusters will go to a two-guard front this season.

"Mentally we'll miss Stacey and her leadership. I don't think it will hurt us otherwise. She was a great kid but at the same time we've got an awful lot of good athletes that can play the position. It's just a question of experience," said the coach. "Stacy was very good at helping other people to learn. Mary Nell seems to have picked up that responsibility now without my even asking her. That's the mark of a good athlete," he noted, adding, that the 16 girls out for the team are working hard.

"Overall they came in out of shape and a lot of them were rusty but on the whole I'm very, very pleased. This is one of the most dedicated groups I've had. They have a great attitude, are hard working and work well together, yet on the floor they are very aggressive. I'm really looking forward to working with them this season."

...Jones doesn't return

With six returning players, Coach Barry Davis' Westerners had to be considered improved this season, if only from experience. With four and a half, well...

Eddie Jones, 6-7 player from Oak Park, Mich., who Davis was counting on as a strong rebounder, has elected not to return to Western Texas College this season. Jones' absence hurts more because Davis said he turned down several prospects during the recruiting season that might now fill the gap, and because he'll also be without Darrell Joiner for a while at least. Joiner, 6-5 from Abilene, is still recovering from knee surgery.

"We've got the guys working hard. I think we'll be quicker and I think we got the ball handling we needed, but I don't know if we've got the board strength," said Davis. "I turned down several kids because being a sophomore and having a full scholarship, I thought Eddie would be back for us. It makes it worse right now because Darrell hasn't been able to work out yet, either."

Jones was listed at 6-7, 200, and Davis added, "There's no way you can compensate for that. It will make us smaller as a team. You don't miss a kid you never had, but you miss someone that had experience like Eddie. We'll recover and later it won't matter, but right now it changes things."

The other five sophomores, including Joiner, 6-6 Fred Johnson, 6-3 Richie Fells, 6-5 Larry Banks and 6-8 Robert Mitchell, did return.

"The sophomores returned in pretty good shape. They've all improved since last March. I saw Darrell this summer, too, and he had improved until he had to have surgery," said the coach.

The group is joined by 10 freshmen and two sophomore transfers, some of which are walkons. Davis doesn't believe he'll wind up with 17 on the team, but right now he is happy for the numbers.

Transfers are 6-7 Melroy Butler from Buffalo, N.Y. and 6-6½ Eugene Lewis from Tulsa.

The freshmen are 6-1½ Floyd Singleton of Detroit, 6-0 Anthony Smith of Dallas, 5-10 Billy Chambers of Bryan, 6-2 Victor Spencer of Lamesa, 6-2 Jeff Gibson of Dallas, 6-3 Lorand White of San Angelo, 6-7 Dwayne Lister of Dallas, 6-5 Kevin Matthews of El Paso, 6-4 Ronny Johnson of Dallas, and 6-5 Timmy Bryant of Jayton.

Bass Club to meet Thursday

Snyder Bass Club will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Snyder National Bank community room.

"We hope to have a film on big mouth bass and a discussion on moss bed fishing," a spokesman said.

The next club tournament will be held Sept. 17 and 18 on White River Lake.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

Landry said, "It's almost too early to say who will dominate the east but if you don't streak (win a number of games in a row) you won't win the division."

Landry was suffering from a heavy cold Tuesday after one of Dallas' most stirring comebacks.

"I'm not in good shape," Landry admitted.

But helping Landry's spirits was the pride his team displayed after trailing 23-3 at halftime.

"I was surprised we won because we had so far to come," said Landry.

"It's one of the great things in football or sport when you achieve something that looks impossible. What we accomplished took a lot of pride."

"When you are getting kicked around, you've got to show some character."

Landry said the victory ranked at the top of Cowboy comebacks.

"This is the most points I've seen us overcome (in a half) and come back to win," Landry said.

The Cowboys were so disgusted at halftime that quarterback Danny White slammed his helmet down on the floor.

"I didn't want to say anything so I just threw my helmet," White said.

Running back Tony Dorsett said Landry appealed to the team's pride.

"Right before we left the lockerroom (at halftime) for the field he (Landry) told us: 'This is going to show what you are all made of,'" Dorsett said.

Western Texas College golf team opens the 1983-84 season Thursday as six-time defending champion of the New Mexico Junior College Intercollegiate Tournament.

The 36-hole tournament has been shortened this year from 54 holes. It will be held Thursday and Friday in Hobbs, N.M.

Western has won the tournament six out of 10 years, including the last three years in a row. In 1982-83, Western won first and second places.

The Westerners will again field two teams in the tournament this year, said Coach Dave Foster. Making up the two teams will be sophomores Mark Ingebrigtsen of Fort Worth, Eric McGraw of Abilene and Mike Standly of Abilene and freshmen Clark Dennis of Fort Worth, Jam Batjer of Abilene, Clay Everheart of Lamesa, Mark Bailey of Haskell, Jack Fallin of Granbury, Joe Don Davis of Borger and Barry Bayett of Austin.

McGraw and Ingebrigtsen are the only returning players from a team which finished third in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference, second in the Regional Tournament and 14th in the NJCAA National Tournament.

McGraw shot a one-over 217 in the NMJC Intercollegiate last year to finish fourth. Ingebrigtsen shot a 220 for sixth.

PORCELAIN ENAMEL COOKWARE

Only
99¢ PLUS TAX
PER COOKWARE STAMP

Now you can add a bright cheery note to your kitchen with Crowned Touch...the fine porcelain enamel cookware that looks as great as it cooks.

Crowned Touch is a beautiful alternative to the typical drab aluminum and stainless cookware tolerated in many kitchens today. The colorful Harvest Blossom pattern or elegant Blue Garland pattern can brighten the mood of any kitchen. And each is attractive enough to come straight from the range or oven and sit proudly on your finest dining table.

Crowned Touch ranks among the highest quality cookware lines produced in the world today.

It is manufactured in Spain by skilled craftsmen. The body is constructed of high conductivity carbon steel, coated with 2 layers of fine porcelain enamel and kiln fired 3 times at temperatures in excess of 1500° Fahrenheit. Its many unique features include copper finish bottoms; shock absorbing stainless steel rims; and color coordinated, compression fitted anatomic handles specially designed to conform to the contours of a woman's hand.

Now, for a limited time only, you can acquire a full set of this beautiful European cookware at savings of over 40% on our convenient stamp plan.

it's somebody's dinner!

Safeway has long had a reputation for fine meats. We top this with our famous trim policy. The excess fat is trimmed just right to keep that luscious, juicy rib-eye, T-Bone or sirloin... luscious and juicy all the way to your table. And it helps the price, too, because you don't pay for something you can't eat.

At Safeway, it isn't just meat... it's somebody's dinner.

We're working harder to save you more!
