Houston Messenger Boy Is Victim Of Rushing Waters When Bicycle Plunges In Downtown River

Traffic In Snarl

Most Devastating Blows Of Floods Dealt At Houston; Damage Amounts To Millions Of Dollars

Houston, May 31.—Two persons were known to have drowned tonight in the destructive flood which had been sweeping the city for 24 hours.

A messenger boy who rode his bicycle too near the torrents on a downtown street toppled from the bike and was swept away. A horrified bystander lost his balance and fell into the water. He too was whirled away.

Neither identified. The identity of neither victim was learned.

The body of the youth was believed swept into the flooded basement of a nearby business establishment until the waters subsided.

Meanwhile, the crest of the flood passed and the flood waters tonight were beginning slowly to recede from the business section. Weatherman Lawrence H. Daingerfield predicted late tonight that Buffalo Bayou will be back within its banks by tomorrow night unless additional rains develop.

No estimate of the damage had been made and none will be made until departure of the waters. It is estimated that the damage wrought by the inundation.

Traffic was in a hopeless snarl during the rush evening hours as thousands of automobiles attempted to cross the remaining two bridges across the bayou. Traffic normally passes over more than a dozen bridges jammed the structures.

Secretary Of Navy Shows Unproductive Burden Of Preparedness; Program For Navy Above Billions

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The economically "unproductive" burden placed on the world by the cost of modern warships was declared by Secretary Stimson today to be illustrated by the "authorized and estimated naval program" of $1,170,000,000 for new ships of the American navy.

In a statement commenting on President Hoover's speech on Memorial Day, the state secretary said he had a memorandum from the director of the budget showing the cost of this program recommended by the navy department in case the policy of naval disarmament advocated by the United States is not adopted by the other powers.

"When it is borne in mind that the figures involve the construction program of only one nation (the United States)," Mr. Stimson declared, "and that if it proceeds other nations will be impelled to follow suit, the burden of unproductive expenditures which will be imposed upon the economic world during the next fifteen years can be to a certain extent realized."

Lindy Recognized In Social Register As Anne's Hubby

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP)—The Evening Post says that the name of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh which has been blazoned on the first page of every newspaper on earth, will next month be printed for the first time in the more exclusive pages of the social register.

The entry in the summer edition, it was said, would read: "Miss Morrow, Anne Spencer (Dwight W.) married at Englewood, N. J., May 27, Lindbergh, Colonel Charles A."

This would follow the policy of social register to record the marriage of one already listed. Continuation of listing of the person to whom the social register was married in later editions is in the discretion of the committee which passes upon qualifications.

$1,900,000 Road Bond Election Is Asked In Lynn Co.

Paving Of Designated Highways And Lateral Roads Sought; Petitions Being Circulated In County

(Special To The Avalanche) TAHOKA, May 31.—Petitions are being circulated over Lynn county asking the commissioners' court to order a $1,900,000 road bond election at an early date for the purpose of paving State highway number 84 running through the county from east to west and number 9 Federal highway number 385, running north and south.

The petition asks that $700,000 be spent on these highways, augmented by state and federal funds, and that the remaining $1,200,000 be spent in building lateral roads to serve every section of the county, including a road from here to Wilson and Slaton over a newly proposed highway route. The lateral road, it is asked, should pass through and radiate from Elison, New Home, Grassland, Draw, Newmore and other communities, and designed to protect the trade territory of each town.

Connects With Lubbock. The proposed paving along Highway number 9 would connect up with the north with Lubbock county's proposed paving, and would enable

Lubbock 58th In Nation Building

City Given High Rating By Monthly Survey; Is Eighth In Southwest, And Fifth In Texas

Fifty-eighth among cities of the Nation, eighth in the entire Southwest and fifth in Texas is Lubbock's rating based upon building permits during the month of April, the national monthly building survey prepared by S. W. Straus & Company reveals.

Lubbock is exceeded by only 57 cities out of the 616 leaders of the United States.

The report received by City Secretary W. H. Rodgers shows that Lubbock was exceeded only by Houston, San Antonio, Dallas and Fort Worth during the month. Houston was fifth in the nation, with San Antonio eighth.

Exceeded By Three. Other than the Texas cities, Lubbock is exceeded by only three cities in the entire Southwest—Tulsa, Oklahoma City and Denver.

Lubbock's building for April totaled $935,875, a gain of 170 per cent over the aggregate for April, 1928, when Lubbock ranked seventh in Texas building. Two of the larger permits for April were for a $400,000 Hilton Hotel structure, 14 stories, and a $225,000 five story addition to the six story Lubbock Hotel.

Labor Party Has Near Majority In Commons House

Laborites Organization Is Victorious In General Parliamentary Election; Makes Impressive Show

38 Seats Gained

Although Old Conservative Party Gets 200,000 More By Popular Vote, Labor Party Gains Plurality

(By Associated Press) LONDON, May 31.—The Labor party tonight, with the counting of the votes of the general election all but completed, was just short of a majority in the House of Commons. The most impressive showing of its young life and given it a plurality over the old conservative party of 38 seats although the popular vote for the conservatives was about 200,000 greater.

The 8,292,204 labor votes counted had won 388 seats while 8,506,224 cast for conservative candidates had elected 250. Since there are 618 members of the House, a clear majority would require 309 seats.

The government of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, which had the overwhelming majority of 185 in the dissolved parliament, stood definitely defeated. The liberal party, the second veteran of British politics, was led by David Lloyd George to increased representation which seemed to give it a valuable base of power although it ran a poor third.

The country faces several alternatives. Mr. Baldwin might try to

REPARATIONS HOPE RISES THEN FALLS Germany Fails To Select Plenipotentiary To Negotiate With Belgium On Paper Mark Question

PARIS, May 31.—(AP)—The barometer of the World War reparations conference rose today with agreement on some German conditions but dropped tonight when it was learned that Germany had not, as expected, named a plenipotentiary to negotiate with the Belgians on the redemption of German paper marks imposed on that country during the war.

The experts had disposed of several minor German conditions. Later they consented to lifting the lien on German railways, which under the Dawes plan had served as a guarantee for interest payments on the Dawes loan. They also came to an agreement with the Germans as to a modified form of eventual moratorium for two years on the interest payments of Germany on part of the protected annuities.

The experts had supposed that they were rid of the question of German marks in Belgium by including the two interested governments to negotiate for a direct settlement. This evening, however, the Belgians reiterated their determination not to sign any agreement unless the mark question is settled at the same time either by the expert or by the governments. The Belgians demand 25,000,000 gold marks annually for 25 years to cover their claim and say they will wait no longer for settlement.

Jose Marin, Mexico Mine Owner, Calls Sheriff's Department After Shooting; Defraud Claimed

(By Associated Press) EL PASO, May 31.—Two of El Paso's most prominent lawyers, H. D. Oppenheimer and Frank Lyons, were shot to death in their office here today and Jose Marin, a Spaniard who had disagreed with the attorneys over legal matters in which they had represented him, walked across the hall to an open office and asked the clerk to call for the sheriff.

Marin was a mine owner in Mexico, and last year obtained the services of Oppenheimer and Lyons to incorporate his company in Chihuahua for the development of the mine.

Later, Marin filed suit against them here for $100,000 claiming he had been defrauded out of his interest set at $100,000. Marin lost his case, but three months later approached the district attorney here seeking criminal action against the lawyers.

Madison Square Garden Conducting "Craziest Show On Earth"; Marathon Craze Being Shown In All Its Phases

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS
NEA Service Writer
NEW YORK, May 31.—It's too bad that Barnum didn't live in this age of the new psychology of showmanship. For if he could stroll into Madison Square Garden today he would discover that weird-looking freaks are not half as attractive nor profitable as normal appearing folks acting like lunatics.
Look at chair-rocking for instance—or you will if you go to the Garden. Rocking has been done for years in an unprofessional way on the porches of summer hotels. But here it has completely outdistanced a dance marathon last year until the Board of Health intervened, again is putting on the "strangest show on earth." This time, in addition to endurance shuffling, he has the champion tag pole perch and the champion rocker. The latter act is the hit of the year. It is Alexander Meyer, who holds the world's record of seven days and nights of rocking—as long as he took to create heaven and earth to capitalize it, and Crandall to sit up over and call it entertainment.
Rock-a-bye, Maybe?
Crandall says that, except for being a little rocky sometimes, rocking meant nothing in his busy life until he received a letter from Meyer saying he held the Russian championship and would like to rock against the leading local talent, if any.
Meyer's Russian laurels might have been stale and wilted, for it was a quarter of a century ago that he indulged in that gay week of rocking and became the pride of his city. But he assured Crandall there were rocks in the old boy's title. Anyhow, he had kept in practice, as he had great faith in rocking as a health measure as well as swell entertainment.
When American being unorganized, it was necessary to draft rockers and train them. So Crandall got in touch with the employment department of the Y. M. C. and announced that he would pay the union rate of one dollar an hour for men to rock against Meyer.
Not Rocky Enough.
Meyer's stiffest competition has come from the Y. M. C. A. men, however, but from the wife of a Bronx janitor and from a big Island man named George Palmer. Palmer has matched time with Meyer, but being much slower he has been completely outdistanced in the number of rocks. Rocking, let it be explained, is done in a rocking chair, but a straight backed kitchen chair. Rocking is done entirely with the body. No one in the world has with the conviction and earnestness of Meyer—nor even his wife, who often rocks with him, and who has rocked off several pounds of avoirdupois.
Mrs. Meyer rocks with a rather legato, and so does Palmer. A band of their bodies makes an angle of possibly 45 degrees. Meyer rocks with a brisk coat, bending until his chest most touches his knees, but with head always forward and upward so that spectators lose none of the serious purpose—written on his face.
An Avocation No Longer.
Meyer is not a rocker by trade. His mornings are spent administering anesthetics at a children's hospital. His contract calls only for afternoon and evening sessions in Madison Square Garden, but his popularity is great. It is expected that the hospital will grant him a week or two of time so that he may rock continuously when the preliminary work can be disposed of and the feet narrowed down to two.
Chair-rocking is the talk of New York. Crandall said, "In the morning hours, it is nothing but hundreds of spectators in the Garden, rocking in groups. It's sort of hypnotic. Sometimes they keep for hours I have received telephone calls from Pittsburgh, Boston, and several other cities, asking me to bring Meyer on tour, saying they have contestants all up to rock against him. So far, no one has lasted more

DALLAS, May 31 (AP)—Readjustment of accounts to meet the recently adopted rule 29 of the New York cotton exchange limiting credit to dealers and calling for early settlements was responsible for the announcement in New York today that the M. H. Thomas Co., of Dallas had suspended business temporarily. Mike H. Thomas, head of the house told the Associated Press today.

Has Credit Contracts

The company Mr. Thomas explained had contracts for credit with clients which it could not cancel and it was decided to notify the New York exchange that it was unable to liquidate its assets and readjust to comply with the new rule by the time set by the exchange.
"Assets of the company which at present are employed in other lines in real estate and other properties," Mr. Thomas said, "will be realigned to meet the new rule and the firm will resume business through the New York exchange when this is done. This is not a failure and the firm has not been expelled from the exchange."
The house of Thomas has been in the cotton business for 43 years and Mr. Thomas has been a prominent figure among Southern Cotton men most of that time.

Lines and Trim Retain Willowly Silhouette

By LUCY CLAIRE
Fashion Expert for Central Press
There is every indication that Paris couturiers are exerting every possible means to lengthen the silhouette. A number of leading houses are giving a new note to the silhouette in the high waistline and considerably longer skirts, even for morning wear. The two outstanding outlines in these collections are the frocks with their belt placed just below the normal waistline, frequently deliberately tightened at the waist, and the princess types, which are beltless, but fit the waist and hips.

On these princess frocks we see many devices to lengthen and slenderize the silhouette. Vertical cuttings, slanting flounces and godets are all employed to effect the long slim outlines with the fullness pooled low on the skirt. Evening frocks retain their ragged or dipping hemlines in practically every model. By way of contrast to the tightly fitted hip, a basque-like or peplum is often employed. Fabric flowers are as much in vogue as ever, but are more frequently taking the form of the rosette than heretofore.

Printed fabrics are even stronger than was expected, and in every collection are found large numbers of frocks of printed crepe or chiffon. In the crepes, which are shown in afternoon models, medium sized flowers and leaves are the most popular. Tiny regular spots and fancy spotted designs are favored by some. The grounds are usually dark, black, navy and red being the favored colors. Interesting color combinations are black, white and red; black and chartreuse, and beige, navy and red.

Printed chiffons are taking to larger designs with flowers singly or in bunches predominating. Some of the newer designs are in leaves and butterflies. These chiffons are either in multicolor or in several gradations. They are seen in afternoon frocks, but are more important for evening. A simple evening frock of printed chiffon is shown at the right of the sketch. This is large single flowers in graded shades of rose on a black ground. It is fashioned on princess lines with gathered panels dropped from descending groups of tucks on the skirt, and no attempt at any other trimming. The skirt drops lower at one side with the descent of the tucks.

At the left of the sketch is shown the peplum silhouette developed in shall pink flannel. The frock is the plain chemise type with the basque-like frill and side panel dip featured. The peplum flounce is caught up at the side with two flower rosettes of self material.

How to Achieve Beauty

ACCESSORIES MAKE OR MAR SUCCESS OF ANY COSTUME
(By Madame Rubinstein)

On planning your costume with an eye to smartness, you considered first the importance of line, then material, then color. And low, getting down to the smaller details, you come to accessories. And these, though last, are by no means least.

In fact, accessories today have reached such a height of importance that they can completely make or mar the success of a costume. In the widest sense of the word, you see, accessories may be taken to include hats, shoes, gloves, hose, handbag, scarf and jewelry.

I know a woman who perfectly appreciates the importance of the right accessories, and who never fails to present a smart appearance. She is an American by birth, who has lived in Paris for years. And with the delightful charm and good taste of the English-American type, she combines the unflinching chic of the French in dress.

She is not a woman of great wealth—in fact her income is much smaller than many of her friends would ever believe—yet she is always perfectly costumed in a way that is smart and becoming. She has one rule which she invariably follows in making up a costume, especially at times when she is endeavoring to economize. It is to spend more for her hat, shoes and other smaller accessories than for her dress or suit.

Because she has her clothes made so that they will perfectly fit her tiny figure, she is able to have the most fashionable and becoming style and material for a comparatively low cost. Then she indulges her fancy and depletes her pocket-book in choosing her accessories. "There can be no economy in hats or shoes," says she, and proceeds to prove the truth of this assertion. But actually her expenditure for accessories is not extravagant. For usually the same group may be worn with several costumes. Black hat, shoes and bag; beige hat, shoes and bag; blue hat, shoes and bag, alternate with street costumes of several colors. As do her costume jewels and scarfs of harmonizing shades.

Stockings and gloves she keeps in neutral skin tones, matching each other perfectly, so that they may be worn with almost any ensemble. Her evening wraps she keeps neutral in color, one in black, another in gold, so that they may be worn with any dress. And since she wears all black and all white a great deal in the evening, she is able to vary her costume by means of colorful contrasting accessories.

Germany And Her Creditors Clear All Differences

Reparation Conference Is Hopeful Of Complete Agreement By Saturday; Adjournment In Sight

(By Associated Press) PARIS, May 31.—The experts on reparations today pushed forward negotiations clearing up the last differences between Germany and her creditor nations with the hope that complete agreement might be announced tomorrow and the reparations conference might adjourn within four days.

Inspired by agreement Wednesday night upon a scale of reparations annuities conforming to the compromise arrangement proposed by Owen D. Young the experts had new vigor and new optimism.

The burden of their work today was on two sub-committees, each dealing with phases of the German reparations. One composed of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht and Dr. Ludwig Kaatz, German delegates; Josiah Stamp, Great Britain; Emile Moreau and Commendatore Pirelli, Italy, expected to deal with all questions concerning transfer safeguards, moratorium and kindred subjects.

Finances Studied
A second sub-committee composed of Dr. Karl Melchior, Germany; Emile Francqui, Belgium; and Messrs. Pirelli and Moreau was formed to study the more purely financial questions involved in the German reparations, notably those connected with the last 22 annuities to which the Germans have objected so strongly.

Those two sub-committees worked last night until midnight and it was understood today that they had made considerable progress, particularly with regard to a moratorium on payments to the agent general for reparations from within Germany, the Dawes lien on the German railroads and German participation in the proposed international bank.

Style Modes Are Changing Slowly But Surely

BY HENRI BENDEL
NEA Service Writer
NEW YORK, May 31.—There is news in fashion notes these days.

Most of what is termed "new lines" is the consummation of a gradual change that only courtiers and women who study fashions realize. Usually one line is the outgrowth of another. The all-round long skirted summer party gown is the logical successor of the slight front dip last summer, the rear dip this winter and the side dips this spring.

Right now, however, many changes are crystallized, as is the long skirt movement. Therefore it is such a distinct change from last year that one must note it to be the least style conscious.

Elbow sleeves are new and promise real vogue among young people. The elbow sleeved chiffon gown for afternoon is delightfully quaint and may have popularity also. The front of necklines remains less important on evening things than the rear. But in daytime necklines must make much of an effect—a collar, if not a real one, fingered by lace.

Hats Are Varied; Straws Important.
Hats are as changed and varied as costumes. The hat that uses two or more materials is the new type. But the featherweight felt is likely to be a permanent success so long as it packs and so really becoming in it.

What is happening to waistlines is one of the important factors in new modes. Girdles are creeping in to style again, usually in some type of manipulation of the body of the frock itself. Nervures make an eight inch girdle in a Paris frock of georgette. Shirring is equally good. Sometimes floral patterns in color are applied into the frock to make a decorative waist line effect. There is really a trend towards much lighter waistlines, though some of the frocks may have their belts high in the back only.

Two of my dinner gowns illustrate several new fashion notes. Both show the longer skirt line all around, both introduce a little more fullness into the waist portion of the gown both have unusual waistline treatment.

The Paulin model, a graceful feminine gown in what Paris calls pastel blue, a light blue which borders on green, is of satin black crepe made crepe side out. Shirring is the distinctive feature of this gown and its only ornament. The waist has a tiny bit of basque shirring there is a wide girde of shirring across the back and sides and four circular sections are headed by shirring. All of the edges are hand bound in the satin side of the material.

A Blue Frock with a Vivacious Note
The other gown I mentioned is also blue, a blue taffeta, flowered in old rose and yellow roses. It has a new and interesting low peplum in the front, which fashions a tiny fish train in the back. The belt is high in the back and dips to buckle with a handsome rose-quartz ornament. Its neckline is square both front and back with the latter much lower. This frock is typically a frock for youth, with restrained vivacity in its lines.

Off-white straw and navy blue felt go fifty-fifty in making the brim and half the crown of this hat. The top is silk.

The materials go into a street hat that is now in several ways. Eggshell balltulle, navy blue felt and blue and eggshell crepe de chine fashion it. The brim that dips on both sides and the sides of the crown are half straw half felt. The top of the crown is made of crepe de chine with the blue and the off-white joining in points. It is extremely chic and a hat that is equally good with a suit or a little afternoon ensemble.

St. Louis Cards Take Lead In National League Chase

Stanford Dominates Qualifying Trials Of Intercollegiate Meet

ON THE UPGRADE
T. Alvin Gardner, owner of the Wichita Falls and Abilene clubs, is highly optimistic over the future of the West Texas League. He has predicted an eight-club circuit for the next season. After his success with the Abilene club as a farm for the Wichita Spudders, Gardner is said to have convinced other Texas League officials of the benefits that can be reaped by using West Texas League cities as farm clubs. Gardner is San Antonio's farm and Ballinger is a combination farm, operated under cover by Wichita Falls and San Antonio.

Midland is said to have a working agreement with Dallas. This leaves only San Angelo and Big Spring independent. Commissioner Gene Lowrie of San Angelo is credited with saying that the team there would likely remain independent, since the city is large enough to produce a Class D club without outside help.

News from Brownwood that both Sweetwater and Brownwood were considering entrance into the West Texas League was received favorably by President Snodgrass, but the league's chief executive said that the prospective members would have to stand by until the second half. The first half of the race will close on June 29. The disbandment of the Lone Star League is being held in the cold and it is thought that two strong ball clubs could be made up from these players.

The fact that several Texas League teams lost their farms when the Lone Star League disbanded also caused Brownwood and Sweetwater officials to consider entrance into the West Texas League. The "farm" policy has made possible the existence of Class D baseball and should undoubtedly be encouraged. Lubbock would likely be in the West Texas League today if the club had been affiliated with a Texas League organization.

A NEW REGIME
S. S. Lard and Ted W. Robinson, prominent Fort Worth business men, completed negotiations Thursday between games at La Grava Field, Fort Worth, for the purchase of the Panther baseball club, ending the career of one of the oldest fields in minor league baseball. W. K. Stripling, who was associated with La Grava in the club from the time he and others purchased the franchise during the fall of 1916 at the suggestion of Walter Morris, then president of the league, La Grava's business manager, as well as stockholder of the club. His death last winter left Stripling in sole control. Since that time his duties have been too heavy, he explained Thursday.

Jake Atz, the veteran pilot who has directed the Panther campaign through many victorious campaigns, will remain at the helm of the club, the new owners announced following the purchase.

A NEW WRINKLE
Over at Sweetwater the other night the first night ever held in Texas was fired over the top of the Sweetwater Gun club. The shot was held under the illumination of a newly installed 10,000 candle-power battery of flood lights. These targets, which were lighted to a daylight brilliance, according to reports from the Nolan county capital. So brilliant were the artificial lights, that the Sweetwater gunners turned in as high scores as are usually made in a daylight match.

The Sweetwater club is the only trapshooting organization in Texas having equipment for night shooting. Figures show that there are only 10 clubs in the entire country with similar equipment.

American Stars Continue March To French Title
PARIS, May 31. (AP)—Three American tennis stars joined in a determined effort today to shake the myth of European supremacy in the quarter-final round of the French championships. Two clean cut victories were chalked up for the United States while the third invader seemed well on his way to triumph.

Big Bill Tilden and Helen Wills America's first ranking stars, went into the semi-finals by defeating a pair of Europe's leaders Baron Humbert De Morpurgo of Italy and Helene La Faurie of France. The tide of the third match seemed to be turning strongly toward a victory for Frank Hunter over Jean Borotra, when darkness put an end to the day's play.

Tilden brought off a brilliant rally to down the Italian 9-11, 6-1, 6-2, 6-6.

Miss Wills defeated Mme. La Faurie, 6-4, 6-1.

Hunter captured the first and third sets of his battle with Jean Borotra of France to hold the lead by scores of 8-6, 8-10, 6-4, when play was halted.

Predict Stronger Fort Worth Club
FORT WORTH, May 31. (AP)—A more powerful Panther team looms as a result of the sale of the Fort Worth baseball club to Sam S. Lard and Ted Robinson. Shortly after the transfer of 84 per cent of the club stock was made by Will K. Stripling yesterday, the new owners declared they intended to give Fort Worth a pennant contender.

Jake Atz' block of stock went along with Will Stripling's, W. C. Stripling and Mrs. Paul A. La Grava, but that does not mean the beloved veteran manager is to be lost. Positive announcement of that came from all quarters.

Lard and Robinson see president and vice-president, respectively, of the Mistletoe Creamery here.

Pyle's Pilgrims Now In Arizona
DUNCAN, Ariz., May 31. (AP)—Paul Simpson, Burlington, N. C., college youth, made a remarkable comeback today when he captured the sixty-second lap of C. C. Pyle's bunton derby, running the 38 miles from Lordsburg, N. M., to Duncan, in 4:57:30.

Simpson, fifth in elapsed time two days ago, was stricken by stomach trouble and finished last for the trip.

Giusto Umek of Italy was second today in 5:10:40 and for the second successive day Pete Garuzzi of England, leader in elapsed time, and Johnny Salo of Passaic, N. J., his closest rival, tied. They were third in 5:12:10.

Garuzzi retains his lead of 21 minutes 10 seconds.

Champion Shot Putter At 17

Elwyn Dees

TOPEKA, Kas., May 31.—Practice obtained while chasing cows on his father's farm enabled a 17-year-old high school sophomore to break all existing records for the 12-pound shot in a recent meet.

The new track sensation is Elwyn Dees, who, as a competitor in the annual high school meet held at Emporia Teachers' College, tossed the round ball 88 feet 1 3/8 inches.

Dees' heave bettered the recognized record of John Kuck, a fellow Kansan, whose best effort was 86 feet 8 3/4 inches.

Bill Hargis, Kansas coach, measured the distance and weighed the shot and says he will make efforts to have Dees' mark recognized as official.

Dees, who weighs 210 pounds, says he perfected his form by home practice. He has owned a shot every since he was in the sixth grade and he takes it with him every time he goes after the cows and while doing other chores on his father's farm.

Compston Gives Lesson To Hagen

British Golf Star Steals Part Of Glory Won By 'The Haig' In Taking British Open
MOOR PARK, England, May 31. (AP)—Archie Compston, Great Britain's best match play golfer, took a bit of the shine from Walter Hagen's 1929 triumph in the British Open championship by drubbing him, eight up and seven to play, in a 36-hole match here today. It was the first of two contests between the two star professionals, the second to be run off at Birmingham, tomorrow.

The open champion took an 18 to 17 reverse at Compston's hands last year, but that match was at 72 holes. If this had gone another 36 holes probably he might have been as soundly trounced. He lost six holes in a row from the 24th thru the 29th.

Hardware Nine Breaks Losing Streak By Defeating Carpenter-Painters, 7 To 4 In Ragged Baseball Contest

Hinson Is Effective In Pinches And Turns Back Tradesmen For Second Hardware Victory
Red Terry's Hardware Dealers broke into the win column for the second time this season Friday afternoon, defeating the Carpenter-Painters, 7 to 4, in a ragged baseball exhibition, and giving the sore-ripped pilot occasion for engaging in a hilarious round of rejoicing.

It was the second victory in five starts for the Hardware outfit and gave the cohorts of Terry and Harris their first pep from the cellar. The Carpenter-Painters' loss put the two teams in a deadlock for the dingy dungeon.

A big third inning and six costly errors by the opposition enabled the Hardware crew to come out with the large end of the count. Hinson, a right-hander, came in for his share of the glory, keeping the 8 hits collectible by the Tradesmen well scattered and sending 9 batsmen back to the water bucket via the strikeout route.

Waller Given Poor Support
Waller for the losers in a well pitched game for the trophy but was afforded miserable support. Four successive bingles in the third proved his undoing.

The Carpenter-Painters took the lead in the first inning when T. Bettis came through with a two-base walk to score L. Bettis and Allen. Hardware Dealers counted twice in the second frame on one hit following a brace of errors.

Hensley, Luenberger, Galley and Terry hit in succession in the 3rd to produce three markers for the Hardware nine. Galley's triple was the longest hit of the day.

Lefty Bettis' single in the sixth with two men aboard, gave the losers their last two markers. Jones had reached first on Hallmark's error and Waller on a single, his second of the day. The two runs registered in the sixth by the Hardware outfit were produced without. Three errors and a base on balls turned the trick.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT He that giveth unto the poor shall not lack: but he that hideth his eyes shall have many a curse.

TOO MUCH LIBERALISM LIBERALISM of the pulpit was given bold relief last Sunday at El Paso when the Rev. J. E. Congdon, in addressing El Paso High school graduates, said, "I do not find fault with a boy for profanity because nowadays that has come to mean a truer form of expression."

SO WE CAN KILL SAFELY The submarine S-4, which carried forty men to death when it was rammed and sunk off Provincetown, Mass., a year and a half ago, is going to go to the bottom of the sea.

As for United States Judge W. I. Orsburn of northern Alabama, President Monte M. Lemann of the Louisiana Bar Association, and Judge Kenneth R. Mackintosh of the Washington state supreme court— "Who are they?" was the query on all sides on Capitol Hill—where senators and representatives make it their business to keep posted concerning public men and officeholders—as soon as the anti-crime commission's personnel was proclaimed from the White House.

It will be a big disadvantage to the commission to have to begin by introducing itself, for the most part, to the capital's general criticism.

Another criticism is that it was not announced promptly enough—that President Hoover waited too long after his inauguration before making his selections—thereby letting popular interest come out—an interest which it may be hard to revive, especially with a commission mainly of nonentities, nationally speaking.

Not that there is any mystery as to the delay. The unanimous verdict is that the president had had work finding the appointees he wanted, who would accept appointment. Nevertheless, the commission hung fire.

Finally, the investigators already are being advertised as a preponderantly dry body. Curiously enough, the dries express fears that it is too much so.

It is chances to make a moist report, it will be all the more telling because of the members' supposed dryness. If dry, it is apt to be the dry's worry.

True, the wet and dry question will figure only as one detail of the investigation, according to President Hoover, but the capital's impression is that it will be a mighty significant one.

Ancient man was firmly convinced that the saliva was a magical fluid. His conviction was based on the fact that he had not the slightest conception of the origin of the saliva, its chemical composition or its purpose.

Many of these ancient beliefs have persisted to modern times, so that the Bengalese witch doctors cure neuralgia and headache by chanting certain formulas and expectorating on the forehead of the person concerned.

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

NEW LAW ENFORCEMENT COMMISSION MUST FIRST ACQUIRE REPUTATION IN OPINION OF WASHINGTON WRITER

By CHARLES P. STEWART Staff Writer for Central Press

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The first task which confronts President Hoover's law enforcement commission is "get reputation."

The commission may earn public recognition pretty speedily had it been able to announce its members' names all are in "Who's Who." They all are prominent but, with one or two exceptions, not popularly so.

Obviously, each name on the list ought to have "registered" with the whole country the minute the president announced it—in order to give the commission its maximum of immediate respect and authority.

That cannot be quite the same as if recognition had been instant, instructive—as recognition of Charles Evans Hughes' name would be.

Mr. Hoover realized it. It is not his fault that Charles Evans Hughes is not the commission's chairman.

That evidently was the great trouble. Mr. Hoover plainly was able to think of several individuals he would have preferred to any of the commissioners whom he finally appointed—but these first-choice candidates were unavailable.

Al Smith! Henry Ford! Their names were suggested. Possibly Mr. Hoover never seriously considered them, but, at any rate, they were mentioned as possibilities.

Certainly no one would have said, "Who in heck is Al Smith?" or "Henry Ford? I never heard of him."

Justice Harlan F. Stone would hardly have been in the same publicity class with Hughes, Smith or Ford. Still—a member of the United States supreme bench—not many folk would have had to look him up in a reference book to identify him. But Justice Stone also was unavailable.

And what a slump!—from ex-Secretary Hughes, ex-Governor Smith, Henry Ford, or even Justice Stone, to George W. Wickersham, as the commission's chairman.

An excellent man!—unquestionably one of America's brightest legal lights. To those of his profession, the idea that he is not widely known probably will seem ridiculous.

Next to ex-Secretary Baker, Judge W. S. Kenyon of the Eighth United States Court of Appeals, likely is freshest in the public memory—but scarcely on a national scale. Washington recalls him, as an Iowa senator. Of course, his home state is acquainted with him; the bar likewise.

Frank J. Loesch's fame is confined to Chicago; Miss Ada L. Comstock to educational circles. Politicians know Henry W. Anderson of Richmond, and maybe a few others remember that he was talked of as a possibility for a Hoover cabinet post—but assuredly not many.

For the average citizen recall that United States Judge Paul J. McCormick of southern California rendered certain important decisions in cases growing out of the last few years' oil scandals? If not, his reputation is purely local.

As for United States Judge W. I. Orsburn of northern Alabama, President Monte M. Lemann of the Louisiana Bar Association, and Judge Kenneth R. Mackintosh of the Washington state supreme court— "Who are they?" was the query on all sides on Capitol Hill—where senators and representatives make it their business to keep posted concerning public men and officeholders—as soon as the anti-crime commission's personnel was proclaimed from the White House.

It will be a big disadvantage to the commission to have to begin by introducing itself, for the most part, to the capital's general criticism.

More European Wire Entanglements!

RICH GIRL POOR GIRL by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED MILDRED LAWRENCE met STEPHEN ARNHEIM when he rescued her for fun from a thief. Their friendship grew until PAMELA JUDSON, daughter of Mildred's employer, tries to lure him away from her. HUCK CONNOR becomes infatuated with Pamela and she plays both men. Her brother, HAROLD, is in love with Mildred who tries to keep him from gambling with Huck's crew. When Stephen continues seeing Mildred, Pamela has her discharged and also turns Stephen against her by saying she is trying to marry Harold for his money. Later at Mildred, Stephen permits Pamela to maneuver him into an engagement when she tells him that it is the only way she can break with Huck. Huck commands Harold to prevent Pamela's marriage under four conditions: exposure of a forged check, Harold says he can't force Pamela as Huck plans to dispose of Stephen. He has one of his gang frame him for stealing a firm car, and the detective arrests him after finding a roll of bills, a gun, and the auto keys which have been planted in his room. Stephen critic Harold to his cell and tells his story, asking him to bring Pamela to see him. But she is busy trying to cover up the news of her engagement to a man who has been arrested and refuses to go near the jail. He spends two gloomy days despairing of help when Mildred comes to see him, and promises aid. She begs Harold to expose Huck and help her free Stephen, after he confesses Huck has threatened both of them. But he evades telling her the truth and she works on alone. Finally, she gets a threat over the phone to "lay off" and realizes it is the voice of a gangster. Mildred phones Harold to sky over our heads. And if there should be a lion when we come down you won't let it eat me will you? She was clinging to him, laughing and sobbing. Stephen's head wag in a whirl. "Oh, Pam, Pam," was all he could say in a dazed, helpless sort of way. "Honey boy," she cooed. "Honey boy, I wish I could stay here with you until dad comes but I can't. I've got to go. I've had the tooth-ache for days but I was too low to care and if I don't go to the dentist now I'll have to give up the time tomorrow and I want to be with you every minute." Stephen held her tight. "I'll do some shopping too," she said happily. "I'll get some things though I think they're awfully ugly, don't you? But one can't wear anything else in Africa—it wouldn't be safe with those Kaffirs or whatever they're called, would it?" "Kaffirs," Stephen mumbled, scarce knowing what he said. "No, let me go," Pamela begged. "Oh I hate to go, Steve. I hate to leave you in this horrible place but it will be just a little minute longer. I'll try to be back at the hotel when you get there." It did not occur to Stephen to wonder how she could visit her dentist and shop all in "just a little minute." Her descent upon him had been too sudden and overwhelming to allow him to reason. It was not until several minutes after she had left him that he realized he was experiencing an unusual reaction. He wished he had asked her something about her remark that her father was going to get him out of jail. He felt completely in the dark trying to make sense of Pamela's running talk: Freedom! Marriage! Africa! "Good Lord!" Pamela was troubled with none of the doubts that assailed Stephen. Her imaginary toothache was not even so much as an imaginary one as she made her way to the manager's private office in the jewelry shop where she was accustomed to look over the best of the stock about once a month. "Good afternoon Mr. Blaine," she greeted the manager brightly and then remembered to be more sedate. "The truth was Pamela had felt the shock of Harold's death tremendously but her mercenary nature would not permit her long to remain plunged in either grief or joy. With the eradication of the signs of her grief had come absorbing interest in the prospect of being Stephen's sweetheart again. And now with an early wedding ahead of her the prospect was even more alluring. Her father had promised to take her on a trip abroad soon, but she didn't care for the new Mrs. Judson. They hadn't been friends before the marriage—they were rather less now. A journey in her stepmother's company had not appealed greatly to Pamela. "May I offer you my heartfelt sympathy, Miss Judson?" Mr. Blaine was saying to her. "Oh, Pamela said, and reached for her handkerchief with which she dabbed carefully but prettily at her eyes. "Mr. Blaine held a chair for her. "I hate to come here at this time, Mr. Blaine," she said softly and wistfully. "But I expect to sail shortly for Africa and father wants me to select my wedding present now. Mr. Blaine offered his congratulations as readily as he had his condolences. "It is to be a quiet wedding. Pamela explained when he asked her about the things she wanted. "No attendants, of course so I shan't have to buy any gifts. But you might just bring out the bracelet to match that necklace you were indeed feel it deeply if jewels could assuage her grief but consideration for Mr. Judson held back the car-casm. "But you won't leave Stephen in jail," she protested. "No, no, I shall send my attorney." "Send a policeman with him, please. I'm afraid there will be trouble." Mr. Judson appeared to think over her suggestion. "Perhaps you're right," he said. "It might be a good idea to have him come to the hotel, too. Then if Connor makes a move—" "You mean you will use him as a decoy?" Mildred broke in nervously. "He'll be well guarded," Mr. Judson assured her. "But you'll tell him why you want him at the hotel? You won't let him run any risks?" "Naturally my dear. Now don't you worry. And if your employer complains of your being away from the office this afternoon refer him to me for an explanation. I'll tell him how much obliged I'll be to him if he'll fire you."

Mildred smiled wanly. She knew that Mr. Judson was not joking but the position that had meant so much to her before would mean only heartaches now. "Goody," she said and shook hands with him. He watched her go hurrying toward the nearest subway entrance, and there was something about the set of her young shoulders that touched at his heart.

While Mildred hurried back to her office Pamela was on her way to the jeweler's. She was in high spirits, except when the memory of her recent bereavement intruded itself upon her pleasant reflections of her visit with Stephen. She had burst in upon him without warning. In the rather dim lights of his cell she could not see the quick ebbing of his color.

With a bound she was in his arms, pulling his head down, showering kisses upon him, crying out how she'd abused her poor dear "Steve."

To Stephen she was like the sun bursting out from heavy clouds. No wonder. She had spent the best part of two hours after Mildred had left her in her rooms at the hotel in making herself beautiful with the avowed intention of overwhelming him. Her maid was at the moment having hysterics in the servants' quarters while a dozen costumes, brought out and discarded, still lay scattered about Pamela's dressing room.

Stephen's arms tightened about her while his hunger for her satisfied itself with her nearness. He was emotionally crazed. The power of self-hypnotism he had induced by endless hours of longing for her swayed him uncontrolled. She was here! She was his! She had come to him! These were all his thoughts. There was no place in his mind then for the memory of his true valuation of her character.

"It hurt my pride so to think of anyone I loved being in jail," she told him. "I didn't see how selfish it was of me, Stephen darling, but I couldn't come to you. I couldn't stand this horrible place; I knew I couldn't. But today I realized in a flash that I couldn't live any longer without you—and here I am. Oh, we won't ever part again, will we?" "My father is going to get you out of here. Then will be married quietly and go away for a long while. Perhaps to Africa. I think it would be lovely to fly across the veldts. Don't you? I mean the high veldts with nothing but the blue

By HORTENSE... NEA Service... NEW YORK, May 31, 1929. "Strange Plagiarism" comes from California poetess, this Pulitzer prize winner of last season's triumph of her novel "Pallas-Athena" which was sent to the Theatre Guild for production.

Eugene O'Neal's "Strange Interlude," Pulitzer Prize Play, Is Defendant In Plagiarism Suit

By HORTENSE SAUNDERS NEA Service Writer.

NEW YORK, May 31.—"Strange Interlude," which holds the record on Broadway, introduces a new "Strange Plagiarism"...

Just a paltry $1750,000—that's what Miss Georges Lewys, left, is asking for the alleged plagiarism of her privately published novel, "The Temple of Pallas-Athenae," she says the plot was used by Eugene O'Neal in his "Strange Interlude," Pulitzer prize-winning play of last year.

I HAVE NEVER SEEN IT'S EQUAL, RUSSELL SAYS

"I Feel Like A Different Person Since Taking Orgatone," Says Amarillo Man

"For several months before I found out about this Orgatone I simply wasn't worth a nickel so far as my health was concerned," said W. H. Russell, a well known employee of the Louis H. Smith tire shop, who lives at 1303 A. Wash. St., Amarillo, on the other day.

"I was in a general run-down condition," he continued, "had no appetite and in a few months time had went down in weight from one hundred and fifty pounds to one hundred and thirty-five. I nearly always had a nauseated feeling after eating and my liver was sluggish. I did not rest well at nights and would wake up in the mornings with that tired dull sluggish feeling and would just have to pull myself out of bed. In fact, I just felt all worn out and good for nothing most of the time.

"I am just on my third bottle of Orgatone and I never thought of doing me so much good in so short a time. I can eat anything I want and that sick, nauseated feeling has disappeared. My food seems to digest and I am gaining in weight and strength right along. My stomach is beginning to feel like a new one, my nerves are in better shape than they have been some time and I can do my work without feeling all tired and worn out like I did. I am feeling like a different person already and I never saw the equal of Orgatone, and I am glad to tell others about the medicine that is doing so much for me."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bowen's Drug Store under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.

Ten Thousand Acres Are Inundated

MADISONVILLE, May 31. (P)—From eight to ten thousand acres of farm land was inundated in Houston county today by the break-remaining passable. Boy Scouts directed traffic down town as all available officers guarded danger points in the flooded area.

HOUSTON, May 31. (P)—Texas flood waters roared onward tonight, spreading destruction near the Gulf and dealing their most devastating blows in Houston.

In this city Buffalo bayou and its tributaries already had caused damage amounting to millions of dollars but the crest had been reached tonight and weather forecast was that a recession soon would begin.

While dirty, swirling water covered almost every bridge in the city, surrounded hundreds of homes and mud many feet deep in business buildings, Houston experienced a scarcity of drinking water. The central pumping plant was rendered useless by the raging Buffalo bayou.

The six water substations still were functioning, although under a heavy strain, and business houses with private wells had volunteered to turn water into the city mains. A serious fire menace existed due to low water pressure.

No drownings had been reported but about a dozen persons were rescued in narrow escapes. Several houses were swept down stream.

The Neches river rose rapidly in Orange county and was flowing to dry over the old Spanish Trail between Orange and Beaumont.

The Colorado river was seven miles wide at Columbus, State prison farms in Fort Bend and Brazoria counties, especially those in the deep Brazos bottoms, were menaced, and at least one transferred all its prisoners to safety some 10 miles away.

A terrific rainstorm headed down the Brazos late today. It was reported here. The towns of Lynchburg, Gaston and Clodine near here were lakes. The residents either were moving about in boats or had gone to higher ground.

Flood waters surrounded Clodine, Gaston and Katy from Clodine upstream the bayou is ten miles wide and wider in places. Considerable livestock was drowned between Houston and Katy and farmers in the west part of Harris county were being cut out today.

That service had been suspended for two days at Katy and the townspeople were out of many necessities. A train load of supplies was expected soon.

Makes Inspection H. L. Shaw, city engineer, made an inspection trip by airplane this afternoon. He spoke of "pitiful destruction" in the upper Buffalo bayou and Brazos river sections.

Bray's bayou was flooding the country southwest of Houston. Several persons were marooned at the Colorado country city where he ordered removed from the basement of the city hall as the flood waters approached.

Only four bridges over Buffalo bayou remained open to traffic tonight. About half Houston is located on the side of the bayou opposite the principal business section.

Mayor Walter E. Monteth instructed the fire commissioner to place extra supplies of chemicals in all fire stations as an added precaution against fires.

Ferry Is Halted The ferry at Lynchburg was halted and the boat was in danger of being washed away. More than $250,000 damage was said to have been done to the stock of Sears Roebuck company's new $1,000,000 plant here. The Houston Chronicle lost $100,000 worth of papers when the Houston Terminal Warehouse was flooded.

Practically all trains were running behind schedule, detouring, or not running at all. The Galveston highway was the only through road leading from the city said to be safe for travel.

The highway to Beaumont had been passable but the approaches to the San Jacinto river bridge near here were washed out.

The Colorado river reached flood stage in the town of Wharton. The business section is only two blocks from the river and Orange more than a foot deep in places. That highway was closed to all traffic tonight and residents along the road, rescued from the flooded homes, are living in an improvised refuge camp at the South Texas State Fair grounds.

Both approaches to the San Jacinto river bridge were washed out and the road to Houston was closed. The Missouri Pacific tracks were under water in the Trinity river bottoms, causing trains on this road to be routed over the Southern Pacific tracks to Houston.

Trinity River Out Of Banks

COLD SPRINGS, May 31. (P)—The Trinity and San Jacinto rivers both were out of their banks and the lowlands were flooded today. It was estimated that 10,000 acres of growing crops, mostly cotton, were under water in San Jacinto county. Both rivers rose during the day.

LABOR PARTY fight it out with the present government, less the members who fell by the wayside in the voting. A coalition between other conservatives and liberals or labor and liberals might be formed, or, and it looms large, a deadlock may force a new general election next autumn.

Result Is Surprise The electorate, with about 5,000,000 women voters added, has caused a surprise by dismissing the Baldwin government which had held power for nearly five years and creating the possibility of the second labor government the country has known.

It, as seems likely, the king invites Ramsay MacDonald to form a government, he will be able to accept the task with much greater confidence than he did in 1924 when with only 190 members he formed a minority government against a conservative opposition of 258 and depending on the existence on the whims of 184 liberals.

It was expected that Mr. Baldwin would call a cabinet council next week to consider the situation. Rumors were current in political circles tonight that he favors holding a meeting of parliament on June 25 and during the liberals to vote him out of office.

Women candidates in this election won more seats than they ever had held before but, although women voters outnumbered the men only 13 of the sex were elected while 42 were defeated.

tion transacted little business and most of its attention to speeches on subjects of community and international service. The election committee announced that M. E. Egan, Newsom of Durham, N. C., had defeated Raymond Knoepfel of New York for the presidency, and the vote was made unanimous on the motion of Mr. Knoepfel.

Three vice-presidents were elected at the last meeting of the old board of directors this afternoon as follows: Dr. Otto Boehler, Vienna, first vice-president; Edouard Williams, Brussels, second vice-president; Charles W. Ackley, Vienna, N. J., third vice-president. The board also created the seventy-third Rotary district composed of Germany and Austria with Dr. Wilhelm Cuno, Hamburg, former Chancellor of Germany, as district governor.

Charles W. Ackley, secretary, will hold over until the newly called directors meet in Chicago, July 3. The new board will name a secretary and a public relations man, and will decide the 1931 convention city.

A resolution giving a man 10 years in the organization the privilege of retaining his membership after retiring from business was passed by the general convention without comment.

The election committee also announced the names of five directors from the old board who were elected yesterday's election and the board of directors announced appointment of three directors from countries which do not have permanent seats on the board.

Those elected were: Dave Clark, Charlotte, N. C.; Ronald Mitchell, S. D.; Dan O'Hern, Oklahoma City; Clyde Huldizer, Des Moines, Ia.; and Charles W. Ackley, Inland, N. J. Dr. Otto Boehler of Vienna, Dr. Edouard Williams of Brussels and Florestan Aguilar of Madrid were named on the non-permanent seats.

With the adjournment of the convention Dallas became a cross roads for tourists as most of the delegates are planning pleasure trips. Most of those from New England and the north are making western and southern tours. Airports reported that they were doing the largest business they have known.

Governors of the various Rotary districts and all other officers and officers-elect will remain here for a week, conferring on problems of international service. Members of the board of directors also will meet next week and probably will select a meeting place for the 1931 convention. King Alfonso of Spain is understood to have invited the convention to meet in San Sebastian, Biscaya, northern Spain. Other foreign cities from which invitations may come Memphis, Tenn., has waged an active campaign.

Secretary Stimson refused to comment, and said he had not yet received "any authentic information" about the English balloting.

The question of recognition of the Russian Soviet government by England, advocated by the labor party, was considered by American officials to have potentially an important effect on the foreign relations policies of the United States. In the event this recognition is granted, it is believed that a good deal of pressure might be brought to bear on the United States to grant similar relations to the Soviet government.

"If the results should be such that MacDonald should become premier," Senator Borah said in a statement, "it would mean much in my opinion in the cause of disarmament."

Senator Norris republican, Nebraska declared the election result was "a forceful demonstration of the domination of progressive ideas."

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana said "the people of England have struck a blow not only at ignorant reactionism in their own country but the blow will be felt in all parts of the world."

On the house side Representative Laguardia republican, New York, said the labor party victory should be a warning to the republican party in this country to reform.
