LAMESA WORM HEARING DELAYED

FORD FLIVVER FOUND; BROOKS SEARCH OPENS

PLANE WASHED ASHORE AT SEBASTIAN BUT PILOT NOT FOUND

(By The Associated Press)
SEBASTIAN, Fla., Feb. 27.—The Ford flivver plane which disappeared into the Atlantic ocean Saturday night off Melbourne was washed ashore near here this morning. No trace was found of the body of Harry Brooks, who was piloting the plane when it disappeared.

The plane was badly damaged. One wing had been entirely torn off by the waves, and the fabric of the other wing was stripped. The propeller was broken and the fuselage wrecked.

Brooks Search Opened
Working on the theory that Brooks freed himself or was thrown clear of the cockpit when the plane struck, and attempted to swim ashore, a beach patrol was begun at daybreak. Seaplanes were still working up and down the coast off Sebastian inlet.

Port officials said the plane was washed ashore and was found early this morning by a motorcycle policeman patrolling the beach. Examination of the strap by which Brooks was said to have fastened himself into the plane when he left Titusville Saturday offered no clue as to whether he disappeared himself before the crash. The battered condition of the fuselage made it impossible to determine the plane's fate. It was generally believed, however, that he had time to free himself before the plane fell.

Almost total demolition of the body of the plane obliterated any other indication which might have been of Brooks' actions before or after the crash. While search for Brooks' body went forward with vigor, fishermen familiar with such matters, ventured the opinion that it should be brought in by the tide this afternoon if ever. They said that if the body did not wash ashore by high tide at 3 o'clock this afternoon it probably never would be found.

Scouts Will Erect School Equipment

As a "civic good turn," the boy scouts of the city will gather at the George M. Hunt school this afternoon to erect the playground equipment recently purchased by the Parent-Teacher association. The work is to be divided among the seven troops of the city. Equipment to be installed includes a giant slide, a merry whirl, two slides and a series of exercising rings. Repair work will be made on see-saws, bars and slides already installed on the grounds. The work will be under the supervision of the various scoutmasters and W. P. Knox, scout executive. Mrs. T. A. White is president of the Parent-Teachers association which is paying for the equipment.

Defendant Ill And Trial Here Delayed

Due to the illness of the defendant, the trial of Mrs. Nina Stevens, local woman, charged with the murder of her son's divorced wife, was postponed indefinitely in the 9th district court this morning. A special venire of 75 men, called for the case, was dismissed.

BUT DID HE BURY HIS SPOILS?
More and more thrills pop forth as Wash and Gossy read further into the life of Blackbeard, arch-robber of 300 years ago. But, the question remains—Did he bury his ill-gotten gains—and how? Wash and Gossy's map lead to the burial spot? Tomorrow or later the comic "Wash and Gossy" will answer these questions. Follow it every day.

TWO YEGGS ARRESTED AT WORK

Five Held And Much Loot Recovered As Giant Raid On Mail Train Is Solved

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Police today announced the solution of the $133,000 mail train robbery at Ewing Park Saturday. The arrest of five of the seven bandits and recovery of a large part of the stolen money.

William O'Connor, deputy commissioner of police, after spending most of the night on the case, said he would turn over to the social inspectors for prosecution these men:

Five Are Accused
"Lumpy Charlie" Cleaver, at whose home was found $17,125 and $600 in bonds; William Donovan, whose police say plotted the robbery with Cleaver; William Carmody, Angelo Francisco and Joseph Lamm, the latter proprietor of a poolroom where members of the gang were said to have gathered.

The deputy commissioner said he had detailed confessions from Cleaver and Donovan, together with additional information involving them in two other recent robberies—the Ravenswood National bank holdup in which $80,000 was taken, and the holdup of Joseph Peckle, mortgage broker.

Partially Identified
Peckle partly identified Cleaver, Carmody and Francisco as men who robbed him February 3. Bonds found at Cleaver's home were identified as having been taken from the Peckle bank.

The deputy police commissioner who has been in active charge of the investigation from the moment word was received that the Grand Trunk train carrying payroll money to Harvey, Ill., banks had been held up, did not reveal the exact amount of money recovered.

"It is a great deal more than the $17,125 we found in Cleaver's home," he said, "but the exact sum will not be announced until we have completed our work."

He would not discuss the police report that a raid on the far south side early today, in which three women were arrested, had led to

McAndrews Funeral Is Held Here Today

Funeral services for Mrs. M. V. McAndrews, who died here yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. B. Conley, 1611 Main Street, are to be conducted at the residence this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. Walter P. Jennings, pastor of the First Christian church, is to be in charge. Interment will follow in the Lubbock cemetery under the direction of the Rix funeral directors.

Mrs. McAndrews was born in Lexington, Ky., in 1825. She has been making her home here with Mrs. Conley for some time. She is survived, in addition, by two sons, Roger McAndrews, of New York and William McAndrews, of California.

Pallbearers are: J. D. Quick, W. C. Rylander, F. R. Friend, A. B. Ellis, J. P. Bacon, W. O. Stevens and F. E. Wheelock.

HELMS GUILTY, FILES APPEAL

ACCUSED MAN GIVEN DEATH PENALTY IN CISCO ROBBERY

(By The Associated Press)
EASTLAND, Feb. 27.—Motion for a new trial will be filed by J. Lee Cearley, attorney for Henry Helms, convicted and given the death sentence yesterday by a jury in the ninety-first district court here.

Helms was convicted of robbery by fire of the First National Bank of Cisco on December 23 last in which G. E. Bedford, Cisco police chief and G. W. Carmichael, his assistant, were mortally wounded.

Helms heard the death verdict without emotion. His wife sobbed while her five children gathered around her, some of them young to understand the tragedy, and patted her hands and face.

MEN BELIEVED THOSE WANTED FOR JOB HERE

'KNOB KNOCKERS' ARE JAILED AT LAMESA DURING ROBBERY

(Special To The Journal)
LAMESA, Feb. 27.—Two safe "knob knockers", believed to be the same burglars who last week robbed a Lubbock laundry of almost $800, are being held in the county jail here today as a result of their arrest last night by Dawson county officers.

The men were caught red-handed, while robbing a local dry goods store, the officers reported, and charges of burglary will be filed against them sometime today.

The arrest came shortly after 10:30 o'clock Sunday night, when Sheriff Joe L. Ray, Deputy Sheriff Otis Little and Night Watchman W. R. Chilton entered the Horn-Hanson dry goods store, simultaneously from front and rear, and surprised the pair at work.

According to a statement made here today by Deputy Little, the combination lock and handle of the safe door had been knocked off and about $325 in cash taken from the strong box before the officers rushed in. Between $5,000 and $6,000 worth of merchandise, including silk and men's clothes, had been bailed up and was evidently to have been carried off by the robbers.

Man and Woman Escape
A man and a woman, parked near the store in a Pontiac coupe, who were evidently the "outside" watch, made their escape after officers rushed into the building. As the officers went to the front door of the store the woman in the car screamed for "help," evidently seeking to distract the attention of the officers. Deputy Little said, but the officers went on with their arrests in the store and the couple made a get-away.

According to Sheriff Ray's department, the similarity between the Lubbock laundry robbery, another in Ackerly, near here a month ago and the attempted burglary here is marked and it is believed the men held are responsible for both the other robberies.

Both men refused to talk from their cells this morning. One is about 23 years old and the other is 26 or 27, judging from appearances. Neither would divulge his home. About $150 was loot taken in the Ackerly robbery.

Jacobs To Preach Tech Commencement

Dr. W. S. Jacobs, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Houston, will preach the commencement sermon at Texas Technological college, May 27, it was announced this morning from the office of Dr. Paul W. Horn. The sermon will open the commencement for the school, the address of Harry H. Rogers of San Antonio to be made Monday, May 28.

The annual pageant of the college will be given May 12.

The graduating class this year is composed of approximately 100 students, Dr. Horn said.

Completion of Testimony Today In Hickman-Hunt Case Seen With Defense Squabbling Over Details

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—Defense counsel and prosecution attorneys in the dual murder trial of William Edward Hickman and Welby Hunt today planned a final effort to impress their respective ideas of a proper verdict on the minds of the jury of six men and six women.

Possibility of the completion of testimony and arguments by counsel today was foreseen.

Testimony of the Hunts, father and son, remained to be completed. The elder Hunt was to take the stand as a character witness for his son, as part of an effort by defense attorney A. Gray Gilmer to show that young Hunt had led a model life except when under the alleged dominance of Hickman.

HERE'S EASTLAND'S FAMOUS FROG

Scientists to the contrary notwithstanding, hundreds of West Texans who saw this horned frog hop out of the cornerstone of the old court house in Eastland, the other day, will testify that the frog lived there, sealed up, for 31 years. Here are County Judge E. S. Brinkland (left) and Bon Hammitt, motorcycle officer, holding the Rip Van Winkle of the south.

DIRIGIBLE IS NEARING GOAL

LOS ANGELES ENROUTE TO PANAMA, 2,200 MILE JOURNEY

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Far past the midway mark, the giant airship Los Angeles glided over southern waters today on an unheralded non-stop training flight from Lakehurst, N. J., to France Field, Panama.

Starting unannounced from her New Jersey station at 6:15 yesterday morning, the big lighter-than-air craft was attempting her long journey since she was flown from Germany as the ZR-3.

Mostly Over Water
The trip, approximately 2,200 miles and mostly over water, should be accomplished, barring motor trouble and bad weather, in about 38 hours provided the ship maintains the better than 30-mile an hour pace she set for herself for the first half. Nassau, British Bahamas, about midway, was passed.

Levelland To Get Gas From Panhandle

The West Texas Gas company will extend its lines to Levelland, Hockley county, according to word received here from officials of the company. The line will run from Amarillo to Hereford and Clovis, thence southeast through Muleshoe, Amherst, Littlefield and south to Levelland.

Application for the Levelland franchise was made during the past week, according to word received from city officials of that city.

VENUE CHANGE GIVEN WOODS

ACCUSED OFFICIAL WILL BE GIVEN TRIAL AT WAXAHACHIE

(By The Associated Press)
CORPUSCANA, Feb. 27.—When the six criminal cases in which J. Woods, suspended county attorney, is the defendant, were called for trial in district court here today, Judge Hawkins Scarborough entered an order calling for a change of venue in the three felony cases, and they were transferred to Waxahachi, Ellis county.

The three misdemeanor cases against Woods will be tried in this county, but Judge Scarborough said he would change benches with another judge during their trial. With whom he will change benches, when the cases will be tried, was not announced.

Defense Says Ready
The defense today announced ready for the trial, and the move of the court seemed to have been unexpected. Motions by the defense, however to quash two of the felony indictments were overruled.

In announcing the change of venue, and another trial judge, Judge Scarborough said he is in no way disqualified, but owing to testimony brought out it appeared there were influential citizens interested in the case, and it would be almost impossible for either the state or defense to get a fair trial, because of wide discussion of the case.

A suit seeking to remove Woods from office was transferred last week to Waxahachie.

Review Denied In Robert Dunn Case

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Robert Dunn, serving life imprisonment upon conviction at Lake Charles, La., of the murder of Sam E. Duhon, a deputy sheriff, was today refused a review by the supreme court. Byron Dunn, who was convicted with him of the crime, and joined with him in seeking a review on the grounds they had been denied a fair trial because of the interference of the Ku Klux Klan was executed the day the petition was filed.

Program Offered In Artists Course

On their twelfth tour of the United States, the Coffey-Miller Players will present "The Rivals" a comedy by Sheridan tonight in the Tech gymnasium as a number of the Tech artist course. The play has seven scenes.

Tomorrow night they will present "Poirier's Son-in-Law," also a comedy.

LEGAL TECHNICALITY ARISES AND NEW DATE SET; SESSION IS PLANNED FOR BIG SPRING

(Special to The Journal)
LAMESA, Feb. 27.—A legal technicality, brought about through the failure of a local newspaper to print an official notice, caused the postponement of the official pink boll worm hearing scheduled here this morning. With all the members of the state commission present, along with state agricultural authorities and approximately 1,000 farmers, date for the official hearing was reset for March 16 and an educational program was substituted for the investigation originally set for today.

LATE BULLETINS

(By Associated Press)

Ouster Is Voted

DALLAS, Feb. 27.—With a resolution endorsing Mrs. Henry Drought of San Antonio as chairman of the committee of arrangements for the biennial passed by an 80 to 3 vote, the state executive committee of the federation of women's clubs today eliminated Mrs. J. U. Fields of Haskell from the chairmanship.

Mrs. W. R. Potter of Bowie, state president of the federation, frequently was forced to call for order. In an address before the executive committee, Mrs. Fields said: "I will not resign, because there is a principle involved."

Schools Closed

KERRVILLE, Tex., Feb. 27.—Kerrville schools were closed today for two weeks because of an epidemic of measles and influenza. Attendance had dropped about 50 per cent since the beginning of the epidemic, the school physician said, declaring that the influenza is in its worst form since the war.

Train Kills Two

SHERBORN, La., Feb. 27.—Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Bennett were killed here today when their automobile was struck by a Southern Pacific freight train at Claiborne crossing. Failure of the driver to see or hear warnings of the train's approach was attributed as the cause of the accident.

Louisiana Poll

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 27.—Ten senators and 26 representatives in the state legislature will be elected tomorrow in the second or run-off primary for candidates who failed of a majority over the opponents in the state Democratic primary of Jan. 17. Minor party officers who did not receive a majority will also be elected.

Grain Trading

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Storage facilities are of equal importance with supply and demand in the control of grain trading, W. R. Scott of the Kansas City board of trade declared at the interstate commerce commission export grain rate hearing here today. Scarcely any grain goes directly from the farmer to the consumer, he said, explaining that as a reason why traffic rates can not be based entirely on distance.

Slaughter Suit

DALLAS, Feb. 27.—Trial of a $250,000 damage suit brought by W. B. Slaughter against United States District Judge James C. Wilson, et al, recessed today without any action by Judge W. Lee Price of Texas. Slaughter's motion to throw the case out of court on the grounds of demurrers. These demurrers contended mainly that a federal judge can not be sued for his judicial acts.

Library At Vernon Destroyed By Fire

VERNON, Tex., Feb. 27.—The Vernon Carnegie library was virtually destroyed by fire early today, with a loss estimated at $25,000. The fire, which started in the furnace room, burned for more than three hours before it could be extinguished.

College Student Commits Suicide

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 27.—Lawrence A. Martin, 19, sophomore in the college of agriculture of the Louisiana State University, shot himself to death here today. His home was at Kingston, DeSoto Parish.

Following morning speeches by W. D. Farris, Ennis, member of the commission, R. E. McDonald, state entomologist, E. C. Nix, Dawson county farm leader, and George B. Terrell, state commissioner of agriculture, a luncheon was served commissioners and other guests by the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce. The commission, with McDonald and Terrell, left here at 12:30 for Big Spring, in Howard county, where another hearing was scheduled to begin at 9 o'clock.

Entire Commission Present
Commissioners present included R. O. Van Roeder, Snyder; W. D. Farris, Ennis; L. C. Enoch, Lubbock, all appointed by Governor Moody; P. S. Pickett of San Antonio, appointed by federal secretary of agriculture, William Jardine, and Mr. Crawley of Lamesa, who fills the place of the fifth member of the commission, how can we keep from the district in which each hearing is held.

Due to lack of building large enough to hold the interested crowd, the meeting was held on the lawn of the court house. Interest in the worm and plans to combat it, is widespread here.

Nix, who owns or controls 10,000 acres of cotton land, asserted in the informal discussion that the law on the pink boll worm is not now applicable to condition in West Texas, where the worm has appeared by reason of Mexico's failure to co-operate with the United States.

Mexico Attitude Rapports

"With Mexico standing by inertly while the pink boll worm multiplies along the Rio Grande to be picked up by west winds and dropped on our fields, how can we keep from being re-infested year after year?" he asked. "If the south and west winds of Mexico have brought us this pest, do you suppose those winds are going to quit blowing when they reach the territory proper?"

TEXAS JUROR FOUND GUILTY

THREE DAYS IN JAIL AND $100 FINE IS IMPOSED ON ELAM

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, Feb. 26.—Elam, 50, today was sentenced to three days in jail and assessed a $100 fine for his alleged attempts to "fix" one of the veniremen summoned for the recent trial of John Lawrence, a former mayor of Mesquite, Tex., for the slaying of Jack Kimbrell, Mesquite farmer.

Judge Grover Adams, after a hearing today, adjudged Elam in contempt of his court, and assessed the maximum penalty. "I respect your age, Mr. Elam, but not your conduct," Judge Adams said in pronouncing sentence.

T. L. Lawler, one of the veniremen for the Lawrence trial, testified that as he was waiting to be summoned, Elam approached him and offered him $100 if he would get on the jury and "hang it or bring in a suspended sentence verdict."

Lawrence later was sentenced to 30 years for the slaying of Kimbrell.

Boy Scouts Offer Exhibits In City

Each of the seven scout troops of the city will have exhibits in the downtown windows during the near future in the stimulation of interest in the coming membership campaign of the council, it was learned from the offices of scout headquarters this morning.

Active work on the campaign will start soon, it was stated. The publicity committee composed of Spencer Wells, chairman and Carmel O. Reeves and Charles W. Ratliff, had a short meeting this morning in outlining their work in the campaign.

The Flapper? Just A Milk-Fed Kid

This shows a group of flappers in Alex Cuneo's store enjoying what Alex declares is the favorite drink of the younger generation—milk.

By NEA Service

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—How about the modern flapper and her boy friend, the chick—are they as bad as a lot of people think or are they pretty good kids?

A lot of answers have been made to that question in magazines, pulps, and elsewhere, and most of them aren't very complimentary to present-day youth.

But now Alex Cuneo who runs a little corner confectionery store here, rises to defend the flapper and the chick—especially the flapper.

Alex knows his subject, too. His store caters to the trade of more than six thousand students of a large university, and 90 per cent of his customers are youngsters of high school or college age. And in his eight years of business experience with the flapper and the chick, he says he has found their favorite drink to be—milk.

"It's no wonder a certain class of reformers get the raspberry from the young folks," says Alex. "In all the years I've done business here I've never seen a hip flask or any behavior that wasn't all right. The kids are full of pep, carfare and happy, but they're not wicked or immoral."

The flapper and the chick may like cocktails, but Alex doubts it. The good old-fashioned cream soda, the malted-milk and sugar drinks are their customary staples, he says.

Furthermore, he has figures to prove it.

In the average month he disposes of about 300 pounds of malted milk, more than 5000 gallons of ice cream, from 1200 to 1500 gallons of pasteurized milk and more than 600 gallons of fruit juices.

"They're just a bunch of milk-fed kids," he insists.

If you visit Alex's store you'll be inclined to agree with him. Every afternoon the flapper and the chick come trooping in. They hasten to the little tables at the counter and order up milk shakes and sodas, laughing and chatting as they drink.

"They're all right," Alex repeats. "I know 'em. Hip flasks? Huh! They'd rather have a good chocolate double malted any day."

BOSTON HOST TO MRS. LINDBERGH AT N.E.A. SESSION

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—This city today played host to Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, Detroit high school teacher, and mother of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

She arrived here yesterday in the coldest weather of the year after an airplane trip from Detroit to be a guest of the National Educational association during its convention.

Accompanying her was Miss Maud Dawson, fellow teacher at the Cass Technical high school. They arrived in a trim motor United States army airplane, piloted by Lieut. Albert F. Hegenberger of Hawaiian flight fame, and Lieut. Harry Johnson.

They made the trip from Seattle in a little more than seven hours and were received here by an enthusiastic crowd.

They were highly cheered by the city but Mrs. Lindbergh was more concerned at the fate of Harry Brooks, pilot of the Ford monoplane which dropped into the sea off the Florida coast Saturday. Brooks was Mrs. Lindbergh's pilot when she flew to Mexico City to spend the Christmas holidays with her famous son.

The women were met by an official delegation headed by Mayor Nichols and representatives of the National Education association and officers of the first corps area.

Squads of soldiers broke cameras and roughly handled spectators in attempts to clear the landing field.

Quarterly Meeting Of Prayer Union To Be In March

FRANCHISES VOTED, OFFICERS NAMED FOR WEST TEXAS LEAGUE

STEVENSON IS NAMED HEAD OF NEW PROPOSAL

LUBBOCK IS INCLUDED IN PLANS BUT NO MOVE MADE HERE

(By Associated Press)
SAN ANGELO, Feb. 27.—The West Texas baseball league, with eight franchises, today was preparing to plan a 1928 campaign, following its organization Sunday at Sweetwater, with J. McAllister Stevenson of Abilene as its head, succeeding Earl "Red" Snapp, who had served as temporary president.

Franchises As Voted
The franchises voted are San Angelo, Abilene, Midland, Sweetwater, Coleman, Brownwood, Odessa and Lubbock. Three of the cities—Brownwood, Odessa and Coleman—were not represented, although Brownwood had announced its intention of being ready to start in the league as a farm club of the San Antonio club of the Texas League. Sweetwater, Odessa and Coleman were given until March 7 to notify President Stevenson whether they will accept the franchises. All other towns have accepted.

Leon Shields of Coleman was made vice-president, and "Blondy" Cross, sports editor of the San Angelo Standard and Times, was named statistician and secretary. Another meeting is to be called by President Stevenson on March 11.

Season Opens April 25
According to preliminary plans, the playing season is to open April 25 and continue through August 19, each team playing a 120-game schedule. A salary limit of $2,400, exclusive of managers, also was adopted at the Sunday meeting.

No more than 14 men are to be allowed on the roster of any club, to be made up of one class A man, not more than four Class B, C, or D players, and nine rookies. A suspended player must be out of the game at least seven days, and a player cannot be resigned within 15 days.

The San Angelo nine is to be managed by "Red" Snapp, Midland Ray Falk, Abilene, Leslie Tullos, Brownwood, Bob Couchman. Lubbock has yet to name its manager.

Enthusiasts Here Considering Move

While there has been no definite step towards Lubbock's entrance into the West Texas baseball league, which was organized yesterday at Sweetwater, and included Lubbock as one of the eight franchises of the organization, several prominent business men and baseball fans are seriously considering the organization of a city team. However, nothing certain can be announced until later in the week.

Dispatches from San Angelo stated that Lubbock was represented in the meeting yesterday. It was not learned here who the representative was. However, Earl Snapp, temporary chairman of the organization, telephoned S. D. Hunter, local enthusiast, that Lubbock was being considered as one of eight teams in the West Texas League and would be listed in the organization.

Older League Cited
"Lubbock during the baseball seasons of 1922 and 1923 supported organized baseball with nearly half the population there is here now," Mr. Hunter says, "and there is no reason why this city would not support a first class baseball organization," he added. "In my opinion an organized team in a good fast West Texas league would be one of the best advertising mediums the city could wish for."

Definite plans as to the entrance of Lubbock into the league will be made during the week. It is likely that the local fans will have the opportunity to voice their approval in the matter before final decision on the matter is made.

Little Hope Seen For Rail Mergers

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP).—Wall Street has about given up hope of any major railroad merger being effected until after congress has passed the enabling legislation, the prospect for which is considered rather remote at this session. Rejection by the interstate commerce commission of the original "Nickel Plate" and Southwestern merger plans, followed by the complaint Saturday of the Katy and St. Louis Southwestern roads, has convinced many bankers and railroad men that the I. C. C. will hold up the proposed realignment of trunk line system until congress acts. Rejected merger plans of the Van Sweringen and Southwestern roads are pending.

Local Man Goes Eastland Frog One Better JAMES E. RIDDLE HAS EXPERIENCE WITH TOAD He Found Live Reptile In Rock Bound Hole

The story of the Eastland frog—"Rip Van Horned Toad"—who is said to have lived through more than a 30-year period in the corner-stone of the Eastland county courthouse, is not impossible and not at all improbable according to James E. Riddle, 1620 15th street.

And, furthermore, Mr. Riddle goes the Eastland story "one better" and offers to swear to the statement before a notary public. Mr. Riddle, according to his own statement, saw a live frog taken from a cavity of solid rock in which it had evidently become a prisoner as the earth's surface changed, and believes the Eastland story to be absolutely true.

Mr. Riddle's statement to The Journal follows:

"To the honorable gentlemen who gave the horned toad a 31-year sleep, also to all the scientists of the known world, and to all the reading millions of other folks: "It is with a keen interest I write this article, (but let me say first I do not write for the sake of argument) for in my 61 years of life I have long since learned better. But truth and facts is my aim, and will more than establish the real facts of the 31-year sleep of our friend the horned fly catcher."

"Now it has been many years ago, if I remember right I was 16 or 17 years old, and no man or set of men can dispute a visible fact: my father, William L. Riddle, was a stone cutter and mason. He went in partnership with a man named Nelson Losier, of near Lakeville, Holmes county, Ohio."

"Now they built bridges, and bank barn walls, also cellar walls and complete foundations for houses. In Holmes, as in Knox county, there is plenty of sand rock, which we, in those days, split or quarried out in blocks with special steel picks and wedges, hauled by team and wagon to the building, where we cut them and built them in the walls."

"Well it was in splitting open the old sand rock that we at one place found a live toad, just the common Ohio fly catcher, (as no horned variety is found down there.) I will say as near as I can remember it was near 3 inches long. This toad was in a cavity a foot across, just a soft damp cavity. But there was solid rock all around, in some places 10 feet thick. The thinnest was some 6 feet. This toad was alive and breathed like other toads but it did not take such long breaths. As it was in the heat of summer we set it out on a flat level piece of fresh dirt and it just sat there, blinking its eyes. It must have been afraid to move in its new freedom. Well, we went away in the evening, and in the morning, when we came back, that toad had burrowed into that soft, fresh dirt. So we just left it there. We knew nothing of kodaks in those days."

"We also found a white worm, of the grub variety, about one and one-half inches long, but with a mouth something like a snail's. This worm was in a cavity similar to the toad's cavity except that it was very much smaller, probably 3 inches. This find was also in Holmes county, Ohio. "This worm did not live but a short time exposed to the sun. Now in this same neighborhood is a historical relic. A part of a perfect fly was exposed in the face of a solid block of sand rock. As the rock split open one part separated from the other like a moulder's pattern. My father cut this stone and built it into the cellar wall of the farm home they were working on. It has been so long that I have forgot the name of the man that owned the farm, but it is not far from the farm owned at that time by my father's partner, Nelson Losier. Thousands of people have seen that relic in the years that have gone by."

"I am, I assure you, your most sincere friend, and I am sure you will follow George Herman out on the links. "On a jaunt around the golf course, Ruth went 18 holes in 93 which cost him $10 in a handicap match. "Golf has no lure for Gehrig."

COTTON BUREAU WINS IN LEGAL TILT IN WICHITA

The marketing agreement of the Texas Farm Cotton association, together with several legal features of the cooperative marketing laws, were again upheld last week by the district court of Red River county, in an important case in which judgment to the amount of $44,325 was rendered in favor of the association, according to N. H. Payne, field service representative of the organization in this county.

Mr. Payne stated that he had just received word to the effect that the case of Lennox & Lennox vs. Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, which had been in court since 1922, had just been decided in favor of the association. The defendants were further ordered to turn over 1,864 bales of cotton of the 1925 crop which they were prevented from selling by reason of a previous injunction. The case has been to the Texas Supreme Court on several occasions. Mr. Payne said, and has attracted state-wide attention for several years.

"In October, 1922, Lennox & Lennox filed suit against the association to cancel their membership and for damages for mis-handling their 1921 cotton," he said. "The association filed its cross action asking for enforcement of the contract, for injunction restraining further breach thereof, as well as for liquidated damages for the years 1922, 1923 and 1924."

Sheriff Withdraws Resignation Today

ARDMORE, Okla., Feb. 27 (AP).—Sheriff Ewing C. London today filed with the Carter county commissioners a withdrawal of the resignation he presented last week in the face of a threatened ouster proceeding. He announced his intention of fighting the case in the courts.

The commissioners already had appointed Frank N. Smith, former sheriff of Love county, to succeed London when his resignation was to become effective, March 5. No comment was forthcoming today from the commissioners as to what action they would take.

Protest Filed In Auto Insurance Cut

AUSTIN, Feb. 28 (AP).—The state insurance commission's January order cutting automobile insurance rates about 20 per cent was attacked as "confiscatory" Monday at a new hearing by the commission. The rates ordered are "inadequate," H. P. Stelmagen, New York representative of 33 casualty companies, declared. The protest was taken under advisement.

COBB TO PLAY WITH A'S IF AT ALL, MACK SAYS

VET ASKS TWO DAYS TO STUDY SITUATION IN FAMILY CIRCLE

(By The Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—It looks to Connie Mack as if Ty Cobb will play with the Athletics. President Thomas Shibe and Manager Mack had an hour's telephone conference from Fort Myers, Fla., with Cobb at his home in Augusta, Ga., yesterday. At the conclusion of the talk, Manager Mack said that if Cobb played at all this year he felt almost certain it would be with the Athletics.

Just before the talk ended Cobb asked for two days to think it over and get his family's opinion. Sammy Hale, holdout third baseman, has surrendered and is on his way from Texas by automobile. At the Phillies' camp at Winter Haven, Manager Shotton said he would be ready for regular practice games by the end of the week. Most of the infielders and outfielders are due Tuesday and Wednesday.

Ruth To Begin His Training At Golf

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP).—Babe Ruth will start training for the baseball grind on the golf links.

Between receptions to the Yankees at St. Petersburg yesterday, the Babe made known he would devote ten days to golf before working out on the diamond. He said he wanted to limber up his legs.

Ruth and Lou Gehrig were hemmed in most of the day by a flock of admirers and photographers who even followed George Herman out on the links. "On a jaunt around the golf course, Ruth went 18 holes in 93 which cost him $10 in a handicap match. "Golf has no lure for Gehrig."

Pitcher Holdouts Troubling Bosses

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP).—Major league baseball clubs of New York were still troubled by pitcher holdouts today.

Vic Aldridge, traded to the Giants in return for Burt Hooten, remains absent from the McGraw training camp at Hot Springs, Ark. Waite Hoyt is still at odds over his salary arrangement with the Yankees and has not put in appearance at St. Petersburg, Fla. The Robins continue to dicker with Dazzy Vance, the strikeout king, who wants a two year contract at $20,000 per annum. McGraw served notice on Aldridge yesterday that he would do no more coaxing to get him into the fold. The Giants' manager said he offered Aldridge $1,000 more than he received from the Pirates.

Cubs In Action As Sox Entrain Today

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (AP).—While the Cubs at Catalina Island, Calif., were assembled at full strength for intensive training, the Chicago White Sox today were just completing arrangements for the first southern movement of their baseball talent.

Pitchers, catchers and a few youngsters will entrain tomorrow for the White Sox camp at Shreveport, La., where they will be joined March 6 by the full strength of the club. There is not a holdout on the roster, Manager Ray Schalk said.

The Cub outfielders and infielders reached owner Wrigley's "Magic Isle" yesterday. Batterymen of the Cubs have been working out there nearly a fortnight, and most of the pitchers have expressed eagerness to get a chance at the heavy hitters, including the team's widely-acquired Hansen (Kiki) Cuyler.

Two Holdouts From Red Sox Sign Up

BOSTON, Feb. 27 (AP).—Pitcher Charley Ruffing and infielder Red Hollings have been erased from the Red Sox holdout list at the Bradenton, Fla., spring training camp. They have sent word they will report Wednesday.

Other arrivals augmented the Braves squad at St. Petersburg, Fla., and brought the playing roster up to 32. Dick Burrus, first baseman-outfielder, said he had recovered from the injury that kept him out of the game the last two months of the 1927 season.

Mayfield Club To Be Organized Here

Organization of a voters' club, to support the candidacy of United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield, will be formed in Lubbock county in the near future, Elmer Adams, local insurance man, stated today.

According to Mr. Adams, who is acting as Senator Mayfield's temporary manager in Lubbock county until a permanent manager can be selected, 50 citizens of Lubbock and a number from various parts of the county, have already signified their intentions of joining the organization. The organization meeting will be called in a few days, when plans for the Mayfield's re-election platform will be fully discussed.

CARLTON TAKES GOLF HONORS IN TEXAS TOURNEY

(By The Associated Press)
HOUSTON, Feb. 27.—Ossie Carlton of Houston again was acclaimed here Monday as one of the state's greatest golfers after his return to form in the Houston Country club invitation tournament finals Sunday.

He defeated Jack Speer, also of Houston, but the battle was such that two overtime holes were required for the finish for the first time in the 14 years of the tournament. Carlton's card of 157 compared with Speer's 159. The card of each was 150 at the 36th hole.

Lowell Meets Ace Hudkins In Scrap

BOSTON, Feb. 27 (AP).—Al Mello of Lowell, New England's outstanding welterweight, will get his second chance at Ace Hudkins, Nebraska wild cat, here tonight. Mello and Hudkins went over the 10 round route in New York city last summer and the Lowell boy had the Ace on the canvas, although he failed to keep him there and lost the decision.

Hudkins comes here fresh from his sensational victory over Sergeant Sammy Baker of Mitchell Field, Long Island, and in his workout has shown that the Baker fight took away none of his scrappiness. He is a 10 to 8 favorite. The bout will be ten rounds.

German To Compete In Gotham's Meet

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP).—The foreign relations committee of the Amateur Athletic Union has granted a permit to Dr. Otto Peitzer, German middle distance running star, to compete in the Knights of Columbus track and field meet at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night. Peitzer is expected to face Lloyd Hahn and Ray Conger in the mile at this meet.

HEAVIES HOLD STAGE CENTER IN BIG FIGHTS

UZZUDUN-GODFREY GO TUESDAY HAS LITTLE EFFECT ON MATTER

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP).—Heavyweights come back into the fight spotlight this week.

The elimination process will be taken up in two widely separated sectors. The outstanding non union members of the heavyweight clan, George Godfrey and Paolino Uzzudun, fight tomorrow night at Los Angeles. Two days later an official elimination in Madison Square Garden will bring together Tom Heeney and Jack Delaney.

Best Has Little Bearing
The non union bout on the Pacific coast may be the more interesting of the two but it will have no bearing on the official program unless Paolino eliminates the "black menace." Only a decisive victory for Paolino can upset the prospect that Gene Tunney's June opponent, if any, is to come from a survivor of the Delaney-Heeney or Sharkey-Risiko fights.

Godfrey, however, cannot hope to crowd into the championship picture, no matter what he does to Paolino or any other contender. His manager has said some disparaging things about Tunney and the other organization heavyweights. As a result, Godfrey's quest of a title match is likely to be just as fruitless as was that of Harry Wills.

It has been anything but a satisfactory winter for the heavyweights so far. Business has suffered from too much elimination, including the elimination of Jack Dempsey. But if the elimination of the old Manassa Mauler is no more lasting than that of some of the other contenders, there is little reason to doubt the possibility of a third Dempsey-Tunney fight.

Knockout Seen In Uzzudun-Godfrey Go

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27 (AP).—A knockout is expected in the Paolino-George Godfrey bout here tomorrow night. Both the heavyweights—the Spaniard and the negro—show records bristling with knockouts and one or the other is likely to produce a sleep wallop before the scheduled 10-round fray goes the limit, experts predict.

Negro's Triumphs
The year 1927 was a procession of triumphs for Godfrey. He knocked out 13 opponents, among them Jimmy Maloney, in one round; Monte Munn in four and Jack Roper twice, the first time in nine rounds and the second in six.

Paolino made his American debut last year, and won nine of his starts, lost two and drew in the other. His record for 1927 is far better, from the standpoint of formidable opposition, than Godfrey's.

Knute Hansen he decided in ten rounds; Harry Wills was knocked out in four; with Tom Heeney he fought twice, the first time taking a decision and the second encounter resulting in a draw; he lost to Jack Delaney on a foul in seven rounds and lost to Johnny Risko in ten rounds.

Esque's Body Attack
For his fight tomorrow night Paolino has been sharpening up his slashing body attack, hoping to conquer the massive Godfrey with jarring lefts and rights to the midsection. He declared himself to be in the pink of condition and ready for anything Godfrey can offer.

Godfrey was pronounced by his handlers as being in excellent condition. He was reported today as weighing 235 pounds, about 40 pounds heavier than Paolino.

Gambling House In Juarez Reopened

EL PASO, Feb. 27 (AP).—The Tirolli, Juarez's large gambling hall, reopened yesterday after a period of about eight months with no open gambling in the Mexican city. Tourists and other Americans crowded the place as soon as the news spread to this side of the Rio Grande.

The Juarez Chamber of Commerce has opposed the opening of the Tirolli on the grounds that it takes large sums of money which would otherwise be spent in the saloons. The emigration department at Juarez has threatened to close the international bridge at 5 o'clock in the afternoon if the Tirolli opened.

Both the chamber of commerce and immigration officers were overruled by the granting of the permit by federal officers at Mexico City.

NEW ORLEANS TRADING
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27 (AP)—The cotton market was easy in early trading today in response to lower Liverpool cables than the day before and prices declined to levels 15 to 17 points under the previous close.
First trades showed losses of 12 to 14 points under the previous close.

Prices weakened again later in the morning on realizing induced by prospects for good weather in the belt and the sharp break in Egyptian futures. May moved off to 18.25 and October 17.82, to 20 points net down.
Near noon the market was somewhat steadier due probably to a private report showing increase in acreage of cotton and prices had rallied 5 to 7 points from the low.

Stocks And Money

WALL STREET TRADING
NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—The stock market which has marked trading for the past few weeks was again evident at the opening of the stock market today. Railroads continued to reflect accumulation by long term week under leadership of Wabash. Mack truck opened at a new low around 34 and Radio was down a point at the outset.

Considerable liquidation developed in the first half hour. The advance in railroad shares was particularly halted. Wabash retreating from an early high of 66 to 65, and Norfolk and Western, Chesapeake and Ohio, Reading, Canadian Pacific and Southern losing a point or so. Pittsburgh and West Virginia and Western Maryland, however, continued to show strength. A few specialties had sharp gains in the early hour. Midland Steel Products preferred jumping 4 points. National Tea 5 1/2 and Montana Power 2 3/4. Chicago Pneumatic Tool, which sold as low as 125 last week before it jumped 6 points on Friday, rose 3 points more to 135. There was a long list of losses however, running from 1 to 5 points, including Greene-Cannana Copper, A. M. Byers, International Nickel, Wright Agricultural, Allied Chemical and 15 S. Steel. Steel, International Nickel, Green-Cannana Copper, Radio, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe and Commercial Solvents U. S. Steel moved above 139 again. Total sales 1,850,000 shares.

Grain Market

CHICAGO TRADING
CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (AP)—Big receipts of corn today brought about an early downturn of corn values and led also to lower prices for wheat. Continued unfavorable wheat crop reports from the central west had only a transient influence on the wheat market.
Opening unchanged to 1-2 and 3 cent lower. Corn subsequently underwent a general sag. Wheat started 3-8c off to 3-8c up, and 1/2 cent lower. Oats 1/2 cent lower. Provisions tended to advance.
Wheat closed 3-4 to 17-8c net higher, corn 1-5-8 to 21-8c up, oats showing 3-8c to 7-8c advance, and provisions 17 to 27 cents gain.

U. S. DIRIGIBLE

at 1:05 this morning, 18 hours and 50 minutes after she left Lakehurst. On this basis it was estimated she should reach France Field around 6 o'clock tonight.

At 6:40 a. m. today the Los Angeles, flagship of Cuba, the navy department was informed by radio from the craft.
First Long Voyage
The flight is the first attempt of non-stop voyage of a craft of this kind to the canal zone, although two years ago the 654-foot German-built dirigible flew to Puerto Rico. The non-military craft is in charge of Lieut. Commander Charles E. Merendell, of Clegg, Texas, and has a full crew aboard. The trip is being made over water to demonstrate the ship's fitness for the equivalent to a transatlantic voyage.

PANAMA, Feb. 27 (AP)—All preparations were completed today for the reception of the dirigible Los Angeles at France Field, Canal Zone, at the end of her 2,000-mile flight from Lakehurst, New Jersey.

Weather conditions were described as "good" by naval officials and it was added that the dirigible would have trade wind, with her across the Caribbean, a very desirable factor for speeding up the trip.

Three hundred soldiers were instructed in the work of aiding the Los Angeles to anchor at France Field.

WORM HEARING

posed to be solved? Don't the members of this commission know that those winds are carrying the pest further east, always increasing the extent of this infestation?

Such Thing as Backfire
There is such a thing as backfire, Nix continued. "How do we know that we are not in as much danger from infestation from the east as from the west? I hope this commission will not act hastily."

A greater menace to West Texas than the pink boll worm, he said, is the cotton hopper, which he declared, emigrated to this section from east Texas. "If this commission will let the hopper have his freedom, he will soon consume the worm, for the hopper eats first, Nix declared.

Portion Of County In Non-Cotton Zone
Although in no way affected by the present spread of the pink boll worm, Lubbock county was partially included in the non-cotton zone which was proposed at the pink boll worm conference in Sweetwater Saturday, members of the local delegation reported today following their return from the conference.

In a map of the non-cotton zone, shown at the conference, the lower half of this county was included in the zone.

Farmers Offer Support
The delegates, a number of them, stated that the reaction of the farmers for the establishment of a non-cotton zone was strongly in opposition to the movement. The infestation became of a serious nature.

Lubbock's part in the conference was mostly in attendance at the session, there are no worms in the section, the delegates did not take a hand in the various resolutions.

Increased Funds Urged By Coolidge

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—President Coolidge today asked congress to increase from $100,000 to $150,000 the amount to be made available immediately for combating new outbreaks of the pink boll worm in Texas.

Methodists Open Study Course Here

With more than 80 persons enrolled the Sunday school training course of the First Methodist church was under way yesterday and will continue throughout the week.

About 25 out-of-town people were present, coming from Floydada, Wilson, Abernathy and Idalou.

Six courses comprise the training and classes are to be held in the church at 7:30 each night this week.

The faculty consists of Dr. Paul W. Horn, A. W. Evans, Mrs. Buhl, Wheeler of Abilene, Rev. J. W. Chisholm of Brownfield, Rev. E. E. White and O. H. Cline.

Officials said today that those wishing to take the course could enroll tonight and still get credit for their work.

Youth Critically Hurt In Accident

Roy White, 21, of the Liberty community, lies in a local sanitarium in a semi-conscious state as the result of injuries received yesterday about five o'clock when his car overturned between Canyon and Lubbock.

Officials said today that those suffering from concussion of the brain and an operation was made this morning in an effort to relieve his suffering. He is considered seriously hurt; physicians said.

The young man had just passed a car when the accident happened. It was assumed that soft dirt caused the car to overturn.

ed inadequate for blowing open the mail car door and safe. The cache was found last night by members of the bomb squad.

Escape was made in a car driven by the police, charged by Cline.

The division of the loot took place shortly after the robbery, according to information the police got in the Saturday night and Sunday questioning of 25 men and women under arrest. There were seven shares of $17,000 each. The extra $14,000, the Cline and Cleaver confession were understood to have explained was set aside as a legal fund.

Tap Cleaver Telephone
The quick work of the police in solving the crime was attributed partly to the crime prevention bureau, a secret department of police working under cover and seeking to learn of impending crimes. A tip that Cleaver had been heard to say he was planning a "big job" led to the tapping of telephone wires leading to his residence.

It was later constantly listening to 40 conversations over the Cleaver line that police got the names of several persons who the talk indicated were "in" on the "big job."

The wire tappers learned that a robbery was to take place after the train reached Harvey. In anticipation of it there were Chicago detective squads concentrated in the suburb.

A change in plans police said, was made after the machine of the plot was at the Cleaver home. Thus while the actual robbery caught officers unprepared, the information obtained by the crime prevention bureau before its commission, gave them leads which made solution prompt.

Hampton Steele, 88 Is Dead In Marlin

MEXIA, Feb. 27 (AP)—Captain Hampton Steele, 88, eldest son of the late Alfonso Steele, last survivor of the battle of San Jacinto, died last night at Marlin.

He is survived by his third wife, several children and more than 100 grandchildren living in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Daughters Live Here
Mrs. Little Cresser and Miss Ethel Steele, daughters of Hampton Steele, reside in Lubbock and went to his bedside several days ago when they received word that he was ill. They were accompanied by another of Mr. Steele's daughters and her husband, of Plainview.

Mr. Steele has visited his daughters here upon several occasions and was known to a number of Lubbock people.

SHAVER PLEASED WITH PROSPECTS FOR DEMO MEET

(By The Associated Press)
HOUSTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—L. Shaver, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who is here inspecting Houston's facilities for taking care of the Democratic national convention in June, thinks that the selection of Houston as the "convention city" will be a change to the political leaders and they'll enjoy it.

Mr. Shaver said he was pleased with reports of pre-convention progress here but was to be more fully informed of what had been done in conferences with Jesse H. Jones, treasurer of the national committee, and with Mayor Oscar P. Holcombe.

Turning to politics, he saw a united Democratic party this year, and an excellent chance to elect a Democrat for president. Party harmony, he thought, got a good start at the Jackson Day dinner in Washington and if it can be maintained, the party should do very well before the voters' out.

Mr. Shaver doubted that Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover will be nominated by the Republicans at Kansas City, because he said the "real leaders" are not supporting him.

ARGUMENTS ON MEXICO LABOR BILL RESUMED

IMMIGRATION MEASURE OF BOX TAKEN UP BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Resuming hearings on the Box bill to place Mexican immigrants on a quota basis, the house immigration committee today heard arguments opposed to and in favor of the legislation.

The committee was advised by Lewis Pierson, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce that that organization was opposed to restriction of Mexicans but Pierson made no reference to its attitude of immigration from other western hemisphere countries which would be affected by the proposal.

Grower Favors Move
F. R. Burnham, a California cotton grower, however, wrote the committee that he favored Mexican restriction and declared that if the bill was passed he expected to employ white labor under better conditions and secure better results.

Another California cotton grower, C. B. Moore, of Calexico, stated his opposition to the restrictive proposal by inviting the committee to visit the fields of southern California during June and July to see if it were possible for white laborers to work in the fields at that time.

Moore said that development of the Imperial Valley has all been accomplished with the aid of Mexican labor and added that practically all of the 13,000 Mexicans who came into the valley for the harvest returned to Mexico. He quoted figures from a statement made by the chief of the department of statistics in Mexico City made for the secretary of industry of Mexico in which the statement was made that while American official figures only show 2,562 Mexicans returning to Mexico during the latter half of 1926 the Mexican official figures show over 34,000 Mexicans as having registered in Mexico on their return during that period.

Garner Opposes Plan
Meanwhile, led by Representative Garner, Texas, witnesses from that state, California and Arizona appeared in opposition to the legislation before the senate immigration committee which considered the Box bill simultaneously.

Garner told the committee that the proposed legislation would retard agricultural development and stock raising.

"This legislation would be disastrous to farmers and livestock men for probably a decade if the Mexican seasonal labor is excluded," he said. "Insofar as the social aspect of the question is concerned, the present situation is not detrimental in my district. As to economic present laws have not demoralized labor conditions."

Garner declared that Mexico would be benefited if the quota restriction is applied to citizens of that country and left open to the remainder of the Latin-American countries.

Say Farming Penalized
Fred H. Busby, of Long Beach, Calif., farmer and stock raiser declared that passage of the bill would stop one half of the farming west of the Missouri river.

Before the house committee Representative Box, Democrat, Texas, brought a story from a recent Los Angeles newspaper which estimated that there were 61,000 unemployed persons in Los Angeles and described the situation there as the worst in years.

"It is economically unsound," he declared, "to bring Mexicans into this country when we have thousands of our own people out of work."

Railroad Tunnel Near Denver Opens

DENVER, Feb. 27 (AP)—A shorter transcontinental rail route was a step nearer completion today with inauguration of the first regular train service through the Moffat tunnel west of here.

The tunnel was formally opened yesterday when four sections of a special train operated by the Denver and Salt Lake railroad carried 2,500 persons from the east to the west portal following a ceremony in which Colorado and Utah officials participated.

A concrete road in Colorado contains gold ore valued at $3,000 per mile.

Movies? No!

REV. R. LOWELL WILSON

KOKOMO, Ind., Feb. 27.—What to many men would have represented the chance of a life-time for fame and wealth—an offer to enter the movies at $26,000 a year—was turned aside by the pastor of a Kokomo church.

The man who rejected the remarkable offer was Rev. R. Lowell Wilson, cousin and double of President Woodrow Wilson.

"I am going to make you the happiest man in the world," a representative of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Hollywood film producers, told Rev. Wilson, outlining to him his plan for Rev. Wilson to portray the character of the wartime president in a World War picture.

But Rev. Wilson "didn't think he would."

He'd rather stay in Kokomo, ministering to the 335 souls in his congregation than flash to fame in the movies with "a few hours' work."

"I feel that the Lord called me to preach the gospel," was his response. "I do not feel that I could take this up with a clear conscience."

That was all.

Parks Baby Buried In Lubbock Today

Funeral services for Clara Frances, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Parks of this city, who died yesterday afternoon, are being held this afternoon at 2:30 at the residence of the child's grandmother, Mrs. Anna F. Parks, 1624 Broadway.

Rev. E. E. White, pastor of the First Methodist church is in charge. Burial follows in the Lubbock cemetery with Rix in charge of the arrangements.

The child died of a short illness.

THE JAZZ SINGER

Novelized by Arline De Haas
Taken from the scenario "The Jazz Singer" Starring Al Jolson.
Copyright, 1927, By Warner Bros., Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Cantor Rabinowitz has trained his son, Jakie, to sing the Hebrew songs of the synagogue. On the Eve of the Day of Atonement he finds Jakie singing ragtime in a "beer garden." He whips the child and Jakie runs away. Ten years elapse. Jakie, now Jack Robin, a jazz singer, down on his luck, meets Mary Dale, a dancer, who obtains a part for him in her vaudeville act. Mary returns to New York to star in a musical comedy. She wires Jack, offering him a part in the show. He returns home first, but the Cantor hears him playing jazz and orders him out.

"Our Jakie is gone, Yodel," Mrs. Rabinowitz sank down into a chair. "Did you hear how he sang?" the Cantor muttered. "The same like I taught him in the synagogue—the same he used to sing to God—now he sings jazz." He stretched his hand forth on the table and picked up the prayer shawl dully. "A fine birthday present I got. Bought with dirty money made from the theatre. Burn it! Burn it!" He thrust the shawl from him with loathing.

"Yodel, you're breaking my heart—and it's today your birthday. And I tried to be so happy."

"Happy! Happy! With a son like that!"

"Sure! Ain't I'm trying to smile?" Mrs. Rabinowitz made a pitiful attempt, but her voice broke. "Ain't it you are mine man—my Cantor?"

"Sara, you are a good wife, and you were a good mother—but you got."

The Cantor buried his face in his arms on the table.

CHAPTER XI

Uptown in the Fulton Theatre the drab reality of a rehearsal was in progress. Four and twenty chorus girls backgrounded by nothing more inspiring than faded scenery leaning disinterestedly against dusty brick walls and gowned in nothing more provocative than blouses and tunics, basked in the sun and regulation rehearsal rompers gyrated through their routine steps with lackadaisical precision. An upright piano to one side of the stage, before which was seated a musician, ground out a less time over and over, and over again until it lost heart and settled down into a monotonous jangling.

Out of the dim blackness of the auditorium rose rumblings of conversation which meant the authors, the lyricist, the producer, the director, and the stars were each standing up for what he considered his rights. Stage hands in shirt sleeves lounged against the proscenium arch. Tiny flickers of lighted cigarettes rose and fell. Stage signs, smoke mingled with the odors of scrub women and soapy water. An old doorman with feet propped up on a bit of painted rock pulled dispiritedly on an unlighted pipe. "No smoking" signs hung disgruntled behind the rope lines of curtains and drops.

In and out, round and about, back and forth, across the stage the four and twenty girls moved, making vague attempts at shaking a last-telling hip. But their only success seemed to be in losing a tantalizing ballet master.

"For the love of Pete! Stop! Stop!" The girls halted stupidly. The music rambled on. Jim Sparks, careless, sleeves uprolled, hair disheveled, on end, leaped up from the orchestra pit over the footlights and onto the stage. "Shut the damned music off," he yelled. The pianist swung round on his stool and nonchalantly lighted a cigarette.

"Say, where th' hell do you think you are! At a funeral! My God! You'd make the best set of mourners I ever saw. A bunch of corpses! Put some pep in it. Shake yourself! Look here! Watch this!"

The chorus girls lounged to an indifferent attention while Sparks, humming the tune, twirled and pirouetted before them. He wriggled his hips; he fluttered his hands; he agitated his shoulders.

"Now, look!" he demanded. "Where it goes da-da-da-da-da, move your right hip. Give it a quick jerk. Come on, try it again. Yeh, from the beginning." And he turned to the pianist. "And come on you!" he included all the members of the chorus in a sweeping gesture. "Get some life into it—and don't be afraid of bursting anything. Let's go!"

As the music started Sparks backed away and the girls once more took up the steps, but now with an added vigor and interest. He turned to nod with approval at the three persons who had recently appeared in the wings and stood watching the group on the stage.

"This ought to be a good number, Harry," Mary Dale, in practice rompers and ballet slippers, turned to the tall, rather heavy man beside her.

"Well, Sparks'll get it out of those girls if it's to be got," Harry Lee, the producer of "April Follies," chewed ruminantly on his cigar. "Say, you put that cheek through today, didn't you, Randy?" He turned to the immaculately dressed, slightly youthful man beside him.

"Yes, I've attended to all that. You can draw on it at any time now," Randolph Dillings, whose money was helping to make the show possible, assented. "But, good Lord, Harry, can't you speed up that chorus a bit? They don't look as though they were ever going to be ready for a production."

"They're all right. Don't worry about them. Sparks'll have that bunch hitting on all eight opening night, stepping high, wide and handsome. Sparks always trains them this way. I know. I've watched him work before," Lee said.

"Well, I don't want to interfere with your business," Dillings hastily protested. "You know best."

The three watched in silence the chorus work for a while. After a few moments Dillings turned his back so that Mary could not hear his words and spoke to Lee.

"Look here, Harry, what about that new comedian? Do you think that's going to work out all right?" he whispered.

Lee shrugged his shoulders. "I don't know. I'm taking a chance on him—we can always let him go if he doesn't look good, you know. And sometimes these finds are damned profitable. We've still got Carter up our sleeve, and he's good for carrying any amount of comedy—though it wouldn't be a bad idea at all to have some new stuff. Carter's getting a little worn out. He doesn't know it himself, and his name drops at the box office—but he shook his head—it's new ideas we need."

"I suppose you're right. Well, I think I'll be running along," Dillings turned to Mary.

"Oh, why go so soon, Randy? I'm going into my scene in just a minute if you want to stay and watch that," Mary smiled.

"I'd like to, but if I'm going to back shows I have to attend to my own business," Dillings laughed. "Shall I call for you about five?"

"What time will rehearsal be over, Harry?" Mary asked Lee.

"Oh, around five, I suppose. I'm not going to keep anyone much longer than that. We've got enough time, and you've all been at it since 11 this morning."

"All right, then, Randy. I'll be ready at five. If you see Dad by any chance, tell him I'll be home later."

"Right-ho!" Dillings tucked his hat under his arm, picked up his stick and departed by way of the stage entrance.

"Look here, Mary," Lee began nervously to consult his watch as soon as Dillings had disappeared. "It's about time that discovery of yours showed up. Do you know where he is?"

"Oh, he'll be along all right. He just got in this afternoon, according to his wire, and I suppose he's gone to a hotel to change. I shouldn't worry."

"I know, but—well—I didn't want to do much talking in front of Randy for fear of getting him all upset, but are you sure that this chap can sing as well as Hal Bolton?"

"Look here, Harry, he's better than Bolton—a thousand times better. You won't be sorry you took my advice. I'll wager you on that. And he's got a lot better stuff than Bolton has, and he knows how to put it over better than Bolton. If you don't like him, you can always get Bolton back."

OIL STRUGGLE DOMINATES AMERICA'S RELATIONS WITH EUROPEAN POWERS

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth in a series of articles on "How Long Will Our Oil Last?"

By RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—A significant war for the world's oil resources is waged by British and American interests, has been in progress for years.

It has been one of the most important factors in the world's international relations since the World War in Europe.

This oil struggle, extremely fascinating to the student permitted to penetrate beneath surface appearances, seems likely to become of vital significance to America's future prosperity, if not to her very security.

A Few Facts About It

Its ramifications are infinite and it is best to attempt to summarize forthwith some of the most important facts concerning it:

1. Oil today is the greatest potential tangible cause of war between great nations.

2. American oil men, led by the Standard interests, and British oil men, led by the Royal Dutch Shell and Anglo-Persian companies—the latter owned largely by the British government—are vigorously backed up at every turn by the American State Department and the British Foreign Office.

3. It is virtually certain that some time in the not too distant future we will be forced to buy more oil from foreign sources than foreign nations now buy from us.

The best "scientific guess" is that we have five billion barrels of oil available for production and the rest of the world has fifty billions.

4. We produce more than 70 per cent of the world's oil production and apparently are exhausting our reserves while the rest of the world sits tight and keeps its oil underground. Western hemisphere production is 85 per cent of the total.

5. It has been estimated on both sides of the Atlantic that British interests control 75 per cent of the world's potential supply. If this estimate is too high, it would appear that it is certainly not too high when applied to British, Dutch and French interests, which generally work together.

While we allow foreign-controlled corporations to exploit oil fields in this country, restrictions are set up against our oil men in the colonies and spheres of influence of Britain, France, Japan and the Netherlands. Our nationals are shut out by such restrictions from about half the oil in sight and there has been a mad catch-as-catch-can scramble for the rest.

National Policies

It is easy to gather from these facts the basis for charges by anti-imperialists in the past that our policy is to become a vital significance to America's future prosperity, if not to her very security.

Couple Can't Find Room In Hotel And Wedding Arranged

(By Associated Press)
LAREDO, Feb. 27.—The person who is not willing to assist cupid may exist, but he is not a hotel clerk with rooms to keep filled and the public to keep satisfied. E. A. Gathright, clerk in a Laredo hotel, maintained, Gathright was called on to solve the problem of two young persons and a hotel room during the Washington's birthday celebration crush here and rose to the occasion.

A young man who had taken a room some days before asked for a room for a young woman who wanted to see the fiesta but was told no single rooms would be rented.

"What shall I do?" asked the distracted young man, who had no desire to sleep in the park. Gathright reflected.

"You like this young lady very much, don't you?"

"Certainly."

"Then why don't you get married?"

They did, after Gathright had routed out a jeweler and a deputy county clerk and furnished witnesses.

Helen Wise Specializes In Gifts For The Bedridden—Tells How She Began

Helen Wise—psyches the sick

BY JULIA BLANCHARD
NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Helen Wise is the sick folk's friend. She has started a gift shop for the ill—an innovation in Gotham.

"The idea was born when I was laid up years ago," Miss Wise explained. "My friends flooded my room with flowers I couldn't smell and delicacies I couldn't eat."

"Later, when I lived at the Henry Street Settlement, nurses often remarked what little imagination people used in choosing gifts for the bed-ridden."

"The head of the settlement, talked for years about a shop that would cater to the sick. Last year her friend, Mrs. Clarence Mack told me she would back such an enterprise. And so here we are."

Full of duties
It is a beautiful little shop, as delicately pretty itself as any gift one could send a sick friend. Its dainty shelves and cubboards are crammed full of unusual groups of gifts, for men, women and children of all ages and ailments.

"What's the matter with your friend?" is the first question Miss Wise asks her patrons. For she has specialized in the psychology of sickness and knows that a very ill person should have no stimulating red near by, that mechanical toys annoy a child with fever and that a patient with stomach trouble should be sent nothing that suggests food.

There are beautiful lacquer trays for convalescent men that have attached cigarette lighters, ash trays, playing cards and note paper. Other lap trays, like wit them a cheery china sandwich plate and tea cup. A reading rack in gay red, a wooden box with cigars and candy, crossword puzzles and unusual funny books are available for the man with a broken arm.

For the little girl with a sniffly cold, alluring packages done up in animal paper, contain soap bubble pipes, modelling sets, crayons, story books, each on its own vivid little lightweight lap tray, an daisy in the shape of dolls to hang on the foot of the bed and smile while they hold toilet articles, toys, etc.

Toys for Boys
For the bed-ridden little boy there are lightweight toys such as

WAYLAND SHOWS BIG GROWTH AND GOOD PROSPECTS

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 27.—Wayland Baptist college is now experiencing a marked growth and the prospects for the coming year are extremely promising. Thirty new students have enrolled during the present term. The spring term opens March fifth and a few new students have already enrolled for this term. The catalogues are just off the press announcing the summer session which opens June 4th. The summer term features educational subjects for teachers. W. B. C. will offer this year the same subjects that State schools offer and certificates can be renewed through work here the same as at any senior college. Plans are being made to care for a large enrollment this summer.

Our Service Organization May Help You

Are you entirely satisfied with the electric service you are getting? Are you getting the kind of service that you want? Are you making as complete a use of this "business getter" as you might?

These are questions which are of interest to our Commercial Service—a personnel that studies how you may get the most from your electric current at the least possible cost.

The advice and assistance of our commercial representatives are yours just for the asking!
