News Behind The News

THE NATIONAL Whirligig

Written by a group of the best informed newspapermen in Washington and New York. Opinions expressed are those of the writers and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial policy of this newspaper.

WASHINGTON By GEORGE DURNO

Gestures—Many folks—even some New Dealers—have wondered why the President should revive the World Court issue instead of concentrating strictly on his domestic economic "whittling." Caloused old-timers say the answer is simple. Every administration strives to have some great peace gesture to which it may point with pride.

Mr. Harding had his Washington Arms Conference and first trotted out the World Court. This came just after the close of the World War when the people knew they wanted peace even if they didn't want the League of Nations to preserve it.

Mr. Coolidge maintained his customary sphinx-like silence and let the senate ratify the World Court with reservations which were promptly rejected by other world powers. Thereafter he confined himself to putting over the Kellogg-Briand pact to outlaw war as his contribution to international peace.

Mr. Hoover took a whirl at the World Court with the Root-Henck formula as a basis for action. Our foreign neighbors turned a thumb down on portions of it before a final vote. So Mr. Hoover turned to affairs at home, which were getting pretty hot, managing during that period to put over the German debt moratorium as his international gesture.

Gone

There will be talk aplenty before this senate finally votes overwhelmingly to join with the World Court but the opponents lack organization.

Ernest of Idaho and Johnson of California will be two of the outstanding speakers against American entry, but they always were. Yet neither is an organizer who cares to devote the time and energy to lining up a militant minority so closely knit it could wear the majority down and even swing public opinion around.

Back in the days of the League of Nations fight the real spadework for the senate irreconcilables was done by Lodge of Mass., Mead of N. H., Watson of Ind., and Brandegee of Conn. All are now gone.

Convenient

It is interesting to note that Joe Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the senate, and MOTE Koy Pittman of Nevada, chairman of the foreign relations committee, took the lead in pushing the World Court.

It is hard to believe but some folks here are mean enough to say that Senator Robinson is paying another installment on his hoped-for seat on the United States Supreme Court.

By the time there is a vacancy the highest tribunal will be occupying its new home, the magnificent Grecian temple of justice just across the plaza from the capitol. The senate lives modestly in the Methodist building, on the opposite side of the street from the new court building. We watched it rise from a site on which once stood a federal prison for Confederate soldiers. If and when he lands the job the majority leader will be unwearied by his exertions in walking to it.

Personal

Senator Huey Long is scaring the very life out of the radio broadcasting companies.

Emperor Long has passed word around so it would get back to the broadcasting people that he intends to see to it that the radio is in charge of any and all radio legislation which may be put up to the senate interstate commerce commission.

Now Huey is well down toward the bottom of the Democratic membership. Unless he strongarms his way in there is little chance he would be made chairman of a sub-committee dealing with anything so important as radio.

Nevertheless, the microphone boys are seeing visions. They can't help recalling that all European dictators grabbed the radio first thing. Also, the other night Long arbitrarily took half an hour on the air and when he learned his network didn't reach the west coast, made them re-broadcast it. Meanwhile he's acquiring his own personal station down in New Orleans.

Whispers

There's something about Washington that tenses them all sooner or later. Out on the hustling aspirants to congress make plenty of fantastic pledges but when they get here they slip into the conventions.

Take the latest case on record—that of Rep. Joe Lee of Oklahoma. He promised his constituents he would be "the sobriest freshman in the house." Now he reneges and

Nat Shick In Classification Talk At Kiwanis

"There is probably no government agency which has done as much to promote the growth and development of our country than has the postoffice department," declared Nat Shick, postmaster, in a classification talk before the Kiwanis club at the Thursday noon meeting in the Crawford hotel.

"Scarcely any individual, rich or poor, could carry on his daily pursuits without its aid."

He said that as early as 1639 a postmaster was appointed in Boston. The first post road was established in 1672 between Boston and New York and in 1733, the time of the appointment of Benjamin Franklin, as postmaster general, 75 towns were being served with mail over 175 miles of post roads. No envelopes were used but the sheets folded, sealed and addressed. He compared the rates then of from 6c for a single sheet of paper going to over 30 miles up to 25c per sheet for distances greater than 450 miles, with the present rate of a letter to Germany of 5c for the first ounce and 3c per ounce above.

He announced that plans of the postoffice department for 1935 call for an airmail line across the Atlantic to Berlin and that over the new line an airmail letter will be carried from San Francisco to New York to Berlin in 60 hours.

He told the club members that the local postoffice will be designated as "first class" on the first day of July this year. The requirement of a first class office is a volume of business over $40,000 per year. He stated that during the year just passed the local postoffice receipts were $47,572.10.

George Boswell, superintendent of the Coahoma schools was introduced as a new member of the club and was given a welcome by Rev. C. A. Bickley.

Scout Jamboree Set For Friday

Scouts of the Big Spring district will stage the long postponed district jamboree Friday. District Commissioner Clarence Day said Thursday.

Unless the weather is unduly cold or rain sets in, the affair will not again be put off, he ruled.

Scouts will start their steak broiling, one of the contests, as soon as they can get to the scout hut after school Friday. The stew making contest will also be held at this time.

Other contests may be finished under the lights in the city park. Some troops are planning to remain at the jamboree grounds over night.

Marriage Of Coahoma Couple Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Adams of Coahoma, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Stella Mae to J. B. Wheat, also of Coahoma, on Jan. 14, 1934, in Oklahoma. The young couple kept their marriage a secret, and announced it on their first wedding anniversary. Both are well known in Big Spring. They will reside in Coahoma.

Death Caused By External Violence

Autopsy Operator Says At Hauptmann Trial Death Was Instantaneous

FLEMINGTON, N. J. (AP)—The kidnaped Lindbergh baby died of a fractured skull, an autopsy operator testified Thursday in the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the kidnaping and murder.

"There is no question as to cause of death," Dr. Charles H. Mitchell, Mercer county physician, said.

"The child died of a fractured skull," adding the fracture gave every indication it was caused by external violence. He said the fracture occurred on a living child and "I would say death occurred instantaneously or within a very few minutes after the fracture."

The physician's report, in which he dissolved rumors the baby had been shot, followed a recital by William Allen, negro laborer, and others, of gruesome details in finding the baby's body in a thicket May 12, 1932.

Several employees of J. F. Morgan Company told of preparation of the Lindbergh ransom money.

FLEMINGTON (AP)—John J. Lyons, New York City filling station attendant, who caused his arrest, Thursday identified Bruno Richard Hauptmann as the passer of ten dollars of the Lindbergh ransom bill for purchase of gas on the last September 19.

Dr. Williams To Deliver Second Address Tonight

Dr. J. Howard Williams, secretary of the General Baptist Convention, will deliver the second of a series of addresses today 8:30 p. m. from the First Baptist church.

Dr. Williams, considered one of the most capable men in the denomination, inaugurated his series of sermons on the subject of "Life" Wednesday evening.

He revealed the fact that Christianity does not circumscribe and dwarf life but unfolds it. Man, created in the image of God, should seek earnestly to emulate God, he said.

1935 Cotton Quota Set At 10,500,000 Bales By Wallace

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The 1935 cotton production was fixed Thursday by Secretary Wallace at 10,500,000 bales of 500 pounds each.

This was the figure set under provisions of the Bankhead cotton production control act. Seven hundred thousand bales—sold in 1934 were added to this year's figures.

The quota represents an increase of approximately 1,224,000 bales over last year.

The John I. Moore, et al No. 1 McDowell, Glascock county ordinance test, now shut down at 8,501 feet, will be deepened.

Originally contracted for a depth of 7,500 feet, it was later drilled an additional 1,000 feet. Around the 8,420 foot level there was a trace of rainbow oil.

There is no indication as to how much deeper the test will go. Deepening is due to start immediately.

Jack Ellis No. 2-B Turner, section 19, block 32, T-2-5, T&P survey, is preparing to spud.

Permission to drill has been granted for the Hershback Pet. Corp. of Big Spring for its No. 5 Davis-Hershback B, 330 feet from the north and west lines of a lease on a 160 acre tract in section 2, block 30, T-1-N, J&P survey.

Time hangs heavy on Charles Corley's hands when he carries the watch he recently acquired in a trade.

The time piece is easily twice as large as the ordinary railroad watch, has a heavy glass crystal, decorative gold hands, lavish enamel face with figures for 24 hours, and a sturdy Swiss movement with "15 rubis". The chain by which it is carried resembles a small log chain.

Corley obtained the watch from an aged man who said he dug it from a grave 30 years ago while prospecting in Arizona. No local jeweler could estimate the age of the time piece.

Futile Break For Freedom Ends In Death

Leader Of Prison Break Slain—Desperado Furnishes Four Guns

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Police guns roared in a round-up Thursday of the desperado blamed for smuggling guns to four convicts who made a futile break for freedom that cost the life of their leader, Rudolph Straight, 35.

Clyde Stevens, paroled convict, who, surviving convicts said furnished the pistols used in the prison break Wednesday, was captured Thursday by police on Sherman Island, about fifty miles from here.

Officers announced three others were captured with him, two being wounded in the hand.

Physicians reported Warden James B. Holohan had a good chance to recover from the convicts' merciless slugging.

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Five convicts staged a spectacular escape from San Quentin Prison Wednesday, slugged and probably fatally injured Warden James B. Holohan and were captured less than two hours later when one of them was slain by a posse.

Another convict was shot and wounded and Frank Sykes of the Prison Board of Terms and Paroles was reported wounded.

Warden Holohan was bludgeoned over the head by one of the convicts after the desperado had invaded his home a short distance from the main prison wall.

Dr. L. L. Stanley said he suffered a fractured skull and severe cuts on his head.

The convicts put up a desperate last stand at Valley Ford about 54 miles from the prison.

An automobile load of posse members surprised the fleeing men, who apparently were trying to reach the ocean beach.

SAN QUENTIN PENITENTIARY, Calif. (UP)—Prisoners in the state penitentiary broke in upon a luncheon of the State Board of Terms and Paroles Wednesday afternoon, beat the prison warden severely, kidnaped three members of the board, the secretary and two prison guards and fled.

The convicts, five in number, with the three members of the board still held as hostages, were reported roaring through Hickman Valley in a state automobile, with posse hot in pursuit.

Head for Coast
Hicks Valley is about six miles west of Petaluma, on a road leading toward the coast.

Members of the Board of Terms and Paroles who were kidnaped were: Frank C. Skyes, San Francisco, president.

Joseph Stephens, Sacramento. Warren Atherton, Stockton. Mark Noon, secretary of the board.

The kidnaped guards were: Harry Jones, lieutenant of the guard. Frank Dusey.

James B. Holohan, famous warden of the penitentiary, a peace officer in California for many years and hero of numerous thrilling episodes, was beaten and left behind in the prison yard, according to prison officials. Late Wednesday afternoon they reported him at his home, his condition perhaps serious.

Surprise Warden.
The escape came without warning. The board had been in session during the morning considering the usual long list of applications for paroles and the determination of indeterminate sentences.

At noon, as is customary, the members retired to the residence of Warden Holohan. It sets inside the prison grounds, back of the entry court, on a slight knoll, some distance removed from the warden's office and the main prison offices.

The group toyed with soup and salad, discussing official business with now and then a jest and occasionally a word of state politics. There was a call at the door for Warden Holohan. The warden answered it—a personal message for him.

Asks Senate And House To Take Swift Action On Matter

WASHINGTON (AP)—A broad social program intended to secure America's 126,000,000 people against "hazards and vicissitudes of life" was laid before congress Thursday by President Roosevelt.

Asking swift action by the senate and house he recommended four specific types of legislation:

Unemployment compensation; old age benefits; including compulsory and voluntary annuities; federal aid to dependent children through grants to states for support of existing mother's pension systems and for services for protection and care of homeless, neglected, dependent, and crippled children; additional federal aid to state and local public health agencies and strengthening of the federal public health service.

The message was accompanied by a 40,000 word report of the president's committee on economic security detailing ways and means of accomplishing the recommendations.

A bill by Senator Wagner, New York, to effectuate the presidential recommendations, creates old-age pensions fund in the treasury to be supplied by a compulsory tax on payrolls, half paid by employer and half by employee.

The tax starts at one per cent January 1, 1937 and reaches 5 per cent January 1, 1957.

Eligible employees are those 65 years old no longer gainfully employed for whom taxes have been paid at least 200 weeks over a five year period beginning before they are 60.

Scenic Park Inspected By U.S. Official

Dr. H. C. Bumpass, Here Thursday To Inspect Local Project

Dr. Herman C. Bumpass, assistant to Conrad L. Wirth, who is in turn assistant to National Park Service Director Robert Fechner, inspected the Scenic Mountain park here Thursday.

The mountain, now a state park, is being developed through national park service. Dr. Bumpass was in company with Inspector Fiedelke.

While here Dr. Bumpass viewed the museum and studied the art collection of the late H. W. Caylor.

Citizens here are attempting to get an adequate building constructed on the park site to house the museum.

Chamber of Commerce directors were summoned to meet 6 p. m. Thursday in the chamber offices. Principal business to come before the board likely is the hearing of recommendations from a committee named to suggest a new manager to succeed C. T. It is announced that President Roosevelt has consented to the use of his birthday as the occasion for another nationwide series of birthday balls for the raising of funds for use in combating and treating infantile paralysis. Last year parties were held in hundreds of cities throughout the country on the president's birthday and more than a million dollars was raised and turned over to the Warm Springs, Ga., Foundation for the conquest of the dread disease.

One of the balls was held here in Big Spring, with excellent response, a generous contribution to the fund and a general good time for all who attended.
This year the plan is for a division of funds raised into two functions, 70 per cent for distribution to various localities over the country for direct treatment of infantile paralysis; 30 per cent for research work into the causes and means of combating the disease.
This plan is different from that of

RELIEF FIGURES REVEAL DIRE SITUATION

One useful thing the depression-born relief problem is doing for us is acting as a microscope through which we can get a new look at some of the phases of American life which we never bothered to examine very carefully before.
We talk about unemployment, about the need to get people back to work, about the "American standard of living" which must be preserved; and all the while, tucked away in the relief statistics, are figures which give us a dismaying new view of the way a large percentage of our people have to live.

These statistics were studied by C. Hartley Grattan in a recent issue of Scribner's Magazine.
Mr. Grattan takes his figures from the FERA lists, which show that in September, 1934, some 18-300,000 persons were receiving relief. Slightly less than two-thirds of these people were city folk; the rest were from the farms or the small towns.

Then, by analyzing the figures, he makes a further discovery—that most of the people on relief are precisely those people who, when employed, receive incomes so low that they cannot build up a nest egg for hard times.
For instance: Unskilled and semi-skilled urban laborers make up only 41 per cent of our general population; but they compose 63 per cent of our urban relief group.
Skilled workers, composing 17 per cent of our population, make up 19 per cent of the relief group.

On the other hand, proprietary, professional, and clerical workers, composing about 41 per cent of the urban population, contribute only 18 per cent of the relief group.
It is the same way with rural workers. The share-croppers, the tenant farmers, the men who have been struggling with marginal or sub-marginal land, never prosperous even in good times—these are the men who make up the bulk of the relief group in the rural regions.

In city and country alike, these people are the ones who never, even in boom times, touch our famous "American standard of living." They live in those homes at which our sum clearance plans are aimed.

They never get adequate medical attention, diet, or clothing; they never can build up bank accounts big enough to carry them very long when trouble comes.

Studying the relief figures makes us realize, as we did not realize before, how many of these there are.
Year after year we have to carry this load of poverty. It hard-times it makes the relief list almost unendurably expensive; in good times it limits our markets and gives us all the social problems which are born of poverty.

CAN U. S. BE TAXED?

An interesting little problem seems to have arisen in Colorado, where the federal government has taken over ownership and operation of the Moffat railroad to protect some $10,500,000 in loans.
The Colorado state tax commission has announced that it will tax Uncle Sam for this property precisely as it taxed the private owners in former days. If Uncle Sam declines to pay, lawsuits will be filed to test the statutes which provide tax exemption for government property.
The growth of government ownership and operation of various agencies is bound to make this problem acute before long. If Uncle Sam is going to run electric plants, railroads, and the like, can the state tax him?
If not, how are they going to replace the income formerly derived from taxation of those agencies when they were privately owned and operated?

spread with an ecru lace cloth. A beautiful rainbow made a semi-candles in silver holders. Around the centerpiece were the beautif-fully wrapped gifts. These were put aside to be opened after dinner.

When the delicious meal was over, the honoree opened her gifts, then joined in a series of games and dancing until the refreshment hour, when she sliced the cake.

RADFORD SCORES FIRST VICTORY IN CITY LEAGUE

CCC Defeated By Snappy Grocers

By HANK HART

Coming from behind after the CCC quintet had held them scoreless in the first quarter, the favored Radford Grocers put on enough steam to eke out a 26-25 victory Wednesday and mark up their first victory in the Muni League.

In the first few minutes of play, the edrp flashed a brilliant brand of ball that had the Wholesalers completely dazed, but their big center tired in the final two periods and the Grocers were able to pierce the Forster's defense.

The combination of Greer and Young at forwards and Finch at the pivot position clicked well enough to score 19 points during the first half, twelve of which were marked up in the first quarter.

Brown took high points honors for the victors with 13 points, followed by Neel who tallied 10, while Young was the big show for the lads of the CCC, scoring 13 points to the Brown for the evening high.

The Radfordmen were handicapped because of the loss of F. D. Rogers, flashy forward, who has performed steadily for the Grocers all season.

It seems likely now that Barackman and Vellia here next Tuesday. Promoters expect to make satisfactory arrangements. That should be a real match.

Herman Fuhrer, the local referee and sport fan, introduced to the crowd the one and only Matty Matsuda, Matsuda, a middleweight, is champion of Tokyo, Japan. Matty was just a spectator last night, but he's one of the double-tough variety. He's clever, scientific, and fast as a streak.

Well, it's changing the subject slightly, but the big Obie faked around with us, too. Yes, Obie was through coaching. No more of it for him. He had all he wanted. The word got around to all of the unemployed coaches. We say ALL because judging from the number of applications filed there couldn't have been many left out. Or maybe we have underestimated the number of unemployed mentors.

At any rate a lot of the boys resent what little of their hard earned money they had left and resented a lot of effort applying. Personally, we're glad to see Obie with his hat in the ring again, but he shouldn't have said he was quitting unless he knew definitely that he was. Board members, we understand, fought to get him back. They had to do a little juggling to do it. They dubbed Obie Business Manager of Athletics. In other words Obie will be responsible for all of the equipment, etc. Bristow has meant a great deal to athletics in this section. He's spent more money on his athletes than he's earned coaching. Let's hope they haven't begged him back just to get what he will spend.

We understand that a definite decision will be made within the next sixty days about building a new or fixing up the old stadium. The present seating arrangements can be taxed to capacity, and then the gate receipts will just barely pay expenses. If Big Spring ever expects to make any money out of football, satisfactory seating accommodations must be provided.

Blondy Cross, in commenting on Bristow's reelection here, paints a rosy picture for the Bobcats: "The Big Spring team found the San Angelo high school Bobcats no push-over last fall. In fact, Big Spring was fortunate to win. Big Spring appears destined to find the Concho eleven still harder to handle this year. Prospects for a winner out there on the cemetery gridiron are far better than they were at this time last year."

Bristow wants you to know that he's really not as ugly as that picture in the paper Wednesday made him look.

No Big Pivot, So Creighton Quint Goes 'Old Style'

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Coach A. A. Schabinger has reversed the usual method of things with his Creighton university basketball team this year and the new has given way to the old in the offensive tactics of the Bluejays.

Schabinger is going back to the days of a dozen years ago. The reason for the change is that for the first time in that many years the Bluejays, almost perennial winners of the old North Central conference championships, will lack a giant center.

The job of filling the shoes of William Schmidt, six foot, eight inch all-Missouri Valley conference center, is the biggest one Schabinger faced as he prepared for the 20-game schedule facing the Bluejays.

With George Busch, sophomore, as pivot man, Schabinger expects to deviate from his practices of the past dozen years of playing a man in the "hole" at the free throw line.

Schabinger has a capable crew of veterans to fill other positions on the team, including Emil "Box" En-gretson, whose six feet two inches will top the rest of the squad and Jack Lomax, forwards; and Captain Mike O'Leary and Ed Brick, guards.

Creighton plays six inter-sectional contests.

Yeh, But Who Pitched? FARGO, N. D. (AP)—One player scored all the points in a 2 to 0 overtime basketball game here.

John Porter playing a forward position, put his team in the lead with a field goal in the first half, and in the ensuing excitement of the second half, scored the tying basket for his opponents.

Three overtime periods failed to break the deadlock.

FAME—ONE WAY OR ANOTHER

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A member of the Notre Dame faculty and two others closely associated with the university have race horses named for them.

Jack Robinson, center on the Irish football eleven last season, owns a string of 16 horses quartered at the new Santa Anita park near Los Angeles.

Recently he announced naming one of the yearlings Lady Edyth in honor of Mrs. Edmer Layden, wife of the football coach; another Trainer, for Eugene "Scrapiron" Young, Notre Dame trainer and another Professor Paul for Prof. Paul Fenlon of the English department.

Mrs. R. Homer McNew has postponed the meeting of the Pioneer Bridge club from Wednesday until Saturday of this week.

Dr. John B. Thomas Heads Midland Lions

MIDLAND—James S. Noland, president of the Lions club has gone to Tulsa. He has resigned from the club and it is with regret that club accepted his resignation. Dr. John B. Thomas first vice president has officiated in Noland's absence most acceptably.

At the luncheon Wednesday the club prevailed upon Dr. Thomas to continue in office until the next election, at which time new officers will be selected. This suggestion was unanimously adopted by the club.

It was considered unwise to make up a roster of officers at this time as it is between seasons and new names are likely to be submitted at the annual election. The Lions club is in a splendidly healthy condition and it was deemed poor policy to interfere with its work before a new set of officials came into office.

avers he finds a fellow can get further in congress on gumshoes. "The Man" Bibo, of Mississippi, promised to "raise more hell than Huey Long, according to campaign reports, but so far he is singing a by-low tune.

It's the same old story. Jeff Davis of Ark. (not to be confused with the President of the Confederacy), vowed as he would "walk down the aisle of the senate and take the oath in my stocking feet." Came the day and he wore well-shined brogans—even rode in an auto, much to the surprise of his constituents.

Joe Bailey of Texas swore he would never wear a dress suit. Yet he did. And "Socksless Jerry" Simpson of Kansas tidily wore socks. "Howdy" Martin of Texas never made good on picking his teeth with a Bowie knife. But what voters getters the promises were, each in its time and place!

Notes—Regular departments are being severely trimmed by appropriation committees. The tariff commission has lost its excuse for being. Contractors are waiting for their chance to claim damages in case the emergency laws are declared void.

NEW YORK

By JAMES McMULLIN

Lobby

Somebody tried to give the Securities and Exchange commission a runaround. The budget bureau bit a large slice out of the amount it asked for 1935 operations—and then the house appropriations committee tried to slice off enough more to make the actual funds available about 45% of the original request.

That slash would have hampered Chairman Joe Kennedy's plans no end. He wants to set up branches around the country to check abuses in unlisted securities—but he couldn't do it on the chicken-feed allotment proposed. It's understood he called on FDR for aid in cutting the cut in half.

You may wonder why congress apparently wanted to trip up one of its pet offerings. Insiders say there were two reasons. Many legislators are reported suspicious of Kennedy as an ex-acting trader. Then he's been showing too much initiative to suit them and some old-timers were inclined to clip his wings by way of proving who's boss.

The other reason is the inconspicuous but effective lobbying done by dealers in unlisted securities. The over-the-counter boys are scattered all around the country instead of being concentrated in large cities and have made it a point to cultivate congressmen. They are on a much friendlier footing with Capitol Hill than Wall Street would ever hope to be and they don't want their business interfered with.

Beware

New York experts insist the over-the-counter markets need regulation far more than the organized exchanges. Dealers in this field do not act as agents for their customers. They merely buy and sell securities for their own account and their profit is not made on commissions but by purchasing cheap and selling high. A customer who wants to buy or sell a stock or bond which is really inactive has no possible way of knowing whether he's getting a square shake on the price. Each transaction is a loss trade and the shrewdest trader makes the most money.

Here's a sample of how the system sometimes works. A New Yorker wanted to sell a mortgage certificate. The first dealer he took it to offered him $15. The second bid only $12. That was discouraging—but he kept trying and finally sold it to a third for $42. Bear in mind that the latter wouldn't have bought it if he hadn't expected to resell at a still higher price.

Under present conditions both the buyer and the seller of unlisted securities must beware. The problem is first to get the numerous types out of the business and second to establish some sort of uniformity in the practices of legitimate dealers.

Solution

Contractors who expect to bid on work relief projects want this wage business clarified. The unions are likely to put up a stiff fight against allowing their unemployed members to accept jobs at less than the union scale of pay. This could gum things up considerably in spots where trained labor is scarce.

Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck (left) of Hunterdon county, N. J., is shown with George K. Large, of the Hauptmann prosecuting staff, as they compared enlarged specimens of the handwriting of Bruno Hauptmann with that of the kidnap notes received by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. Several experts at the trial contended Hauptmann wrote all 14 kidnap notes. (Associated Press Photo)

HAUPTMANN FATE SEEN HINGING ON HANDWRITING

The fate of Bruno Richard Hauptmann is seen by close observers of his trial at Flemington, N. J., for the murder of the Lindbergh baby as likely to rest with battery of experts summoned by both the prosecution and the defense to pass on the handwriting in the ransom notes received by J. F. "Jef" Gordon and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. Above are five of the notes received during the early stages of the trial, as follows: (1) The note found at crib (2) notification to Col. Lindbergh of $70,000 ransom figure (3) to Condon telling him to act as go-between (4) to Col. Lindbergh specifying dimensions of ransom money box and (5) the note delivered by John Perrone. The Lindbergh home at Hopewell is shown in the background. (Associated Press Photos)

LOADING SAAR BALLOTS IN TRUCK

This Associated Press picture, rushed from Saarbruecken to London by plane and transmitted to New York by radio, shows a Saar ballot box being hoisted into a truck to be taken to Warburg house, where a counting of votes cast in the Saar plebiscite revealed an overwhelming decision to return the disputed area to Germany.

and every small community participating in the programs is planning musical entertainment. Proceeds from the parties will be divided, 70 cents of every dollar to be used by the community raising the money for rehabilitating local infantile paralysis victims, and the remaining 30 per cent to be turned over to the National Committee for Infantile Paralysis Research.

100,000 Musicians Play For Parties

NEW YORK—An army of more than 100,000 musicians today prepares to lead the nation in a war on infantile paralysis.

Joseph M. Weber, president of the American Federation of Musicians, declared here today that 100,000 of them will lead the attack in more than 5,000 communities on the night of Jan. 30th, when Americans from coast to coast attend the Birthday Ball for the President. Proceeds from the celebrations will go toward fighting poliomyelitis, technical name for the disease.

"We are glad, indeed," Mr. Weber stated, "that living music will play so large a part in the great and worthy celebration of the President's birthday. With more than 5,000 balls in progress throughout the country, it may be estimated that 100,000 musicians will be engaged in providing dance melodies."

How large a role musicians will play in the Birthday Ball parties was indicated in word from Chicago today that twenty orchestras will play at the Grand Ball in the city's International Amphitheatre on the night of the 30th. For the Chicago ball the Chicago Musicians Union has also donated a 100 piece dance band. Another twenty or more will be kept busy at birthday gatherings in New York, according to Col. Henry L. Doherty, national chairman of the Birthday Ball for the President. Other orchestras will be employed by the dozens in great population centers.

Russian

Insiders have it that the growing internal opposition to Stalin is coming from the extreme left.

Loyal Marxists claim that the Soviet boss has compromised communist principles and that the present set-up is merely a mild form of applied socialism. They want the straight stuff—not a blend.

It's further reported that Stalin is trying to link these leftist rebels with counter-revolutionaries in the minds of his followers. No such tie exists—but he can't afford to have it get around that he's false to the ideals of Marx and Lenin.

Ruckus

Anti-New Dealers seize with joy on FDR's hint that he's responsible for Ickes' move to drive Robert Moses out of his Triborough Bridge job. They feel that at last they've found the weak spot in his political armor. Moses isn't personally popular in New York but he's become a sort of symbol of administrative efficiency. Liberals admire him for it as well as conservatives.

Moses and his publicity advisers are not at all averse to a showdown. You'll hear a lot about the thousands of people who will be deprived of jobs because of a political feud.

Mayor LaGuardia has been criticized for not defending his subordinate more staunchly. His friends point out that he's in a ticklish spot. He wants lots more federal money for city projects—and one way not to get it is to cry defiance at Washington. But the ruckus cuts too deep to be healed by a show of defiance.

TIPS on Contract

SUCCESSFUL PSYCHICS

Opening bids on worthless hands have good results at times when partner proves to have strength and recognizes the opening psychic. Opening bids on worthless suits with great strength in the rest of the hand are liable to wind up in successful game contracts, especially when the opening leader has a tenace in the bid suit and fears to open it.

Here is a hand played by Sherman Stearns in the American Bridge League's winter tournament in New York.

Bridge hand diagram showing cards in West, North, East, and South hands. West: AK64, AKQJ, AKJ5. North: J85, 103, K1064, AQ6. East: 107, 542, Q9532. South: Q932, 9876, 10873.

North passed. Stearns, seeking to prevent the adversaries from getting to their proper destination, if they had one, bid one diamond South passed. Jean Matheys, sitting West, suspected from his position...

in his hand to take two diamond tricks and make four no trump. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Thomas of New York dangled the home folks from Nashville as follows:

WEST S-Q J 8 H-Q J D-A Q 9 7 2 C-J 7 5

EAST S-O 7 6 4 H-8 4 D-K 10 8 6 C-A 9 2

Mr. Thomas, South, hid a diamond, hoping for a slam contract if a ruff fit should be found with her husband in another suit. West had a nice pass to await developments, which might have been pleasant to him. Instead, however, he hid one no trump. North and East passed. South offered two spades. West passed and North elected by saying three diamonds.

East passed and Mrs. Thomas hid three no trump, the contract. A diamond opening would set the contract quickly, but West assumed South had some diamonds to the king-king. The jack of clubs was opened. East went up with the ace and returned a club.

The hearts broke for Mrs. Thomas and by the time she finished playing them West and East failed to discard right and she made six no trump, the ten of spades taking the last trick.

Cossack Director Speaks Language Of Russia Only

SERGE JAROFF, Conductor

Because of the great demands that his work as leader of the Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus makes upon him, and because his social obligations might be many, Serge Jaroff, that he would never learn to speak any language save his native Russian. And there lies a tale—and a near catastrophe.

Once, during an intermission at a concert in Riga, an agitator jumped on the stage and began a long speech in his native tongue. He called the attention of his audience to the fact that the Don Cossacks were Russians, and as members of that nation, part of the people who had oppressed the citizens of Riga for so many years.

One musician in Big Spring has already heard the Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus sing. This is C. A. Bulot, director of the Community Chorus.

Mr. Bulot heard the men during his residence in Chicago. He said that the singing was marvelous and that he greatly enjoyed the program. He expressed it as his opinion that it would be an evening that all lovers of music in Big Spring would be glad to attend, and he hoped the crowd would do the singers justice.

The audience rose and cheered. Jaroff, in the wings, thought the speech one of adulation—the applause for his chorus. So he came onto the stage and bowed repeatedly as the agitator pointed an accusing finger in his direction.

Pandemonium broke loose when the little Cossack unknowingly admitted the error of his people's way.

The police only arrived in time to prevent a riot.

The Russian Cossacks will appear in Big Spring, thirty-three strong, at the Municipal Auditorium Monday evening, January 21, under auspices of the Ray E. Fuller Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Tickets went on sale Thursday at Anderson Music company on East Third street.

A.C.C. Expecting Record Enrollment

Ahliene Christian College expects the second semester's enrollment which begins January 25 to add to the already record number of students for the first half, according to a report from the office of President Jas. F. Cox.

A grand total of 1,034 students were enrolled in the college and all departed the first semester; with 722 on the campus and 312 taking extension and correspondence courses. There were 594 college students and 128 in the academy and elementary departments.

In the last three years Ahliene Christian College has increased its enrollment 67 per cent and this fall the number was 14 per cent above the fall of 1933. These facts and direct communication from students expecting to enroll supports President Cox's prediction of a record spring enrollment to begin next week.

There were 244 communities in 12 states represented in the student body of the college this fall.

Most Cities Show Rises In Drunken Driving Arrests

The intoxicated driver and the tipsy pedestrian are both playing definite roles in the upward trend of highway accidents throughout the country. As reported in a previous article of this series, in from 7 to 10 per cent of all driver and pedestrian accidents alcohol is a factor, according to the National Safety Council. These figures, based on police and state reports are undoubtedly low, the Council says, because of difficulties encountered in actually determining whether the suspect is under the influence of liquor. The actual figure is unknown at the present time.

It is known, however, that drinking driver and drinking pedestrian accidents have increased greatly throughout the country during the past year. A study of special reports from 27 cities and towns, recently made by the Council, bears out this conclusion.

Reports, with the exception of two, cover a ten-month period, comparing the 1934 report with that of 1933.

City Reports Vary

The cities selected vary greatly in size, are widely separated, and their experience probably furnishes a fairly satisfactory index of the drunken driving accident increase throughout the country as a whole.

The conclusions are based primarily on the heavy increases in "drinking driver" arrests; that 14 arrests in which the driver "had been drinking" or was obviously drunk. Such arrests have increased in nearly all of the cities, with greatly varying percentages. In 1934, 40 to 50 per cent are not infrequent and in some cases they are much higher. In Cleveland and Chicago, for example, the "drinking driver" arrests have mounted several hundred per cent, which may indicate greater vigilance by the police as well as an increase in drunkenness.

In Boston the drinking pedestrian is considered a greater problem than the drinking driver, with a ratio of victims at the time of reporting of two to one. In that city there has also been a heavy suspension of drivers' licenses in traffic cases involving liquor.

Pedestrians Drink, Too

In Pittsburgh drinking drivers were involved in 45 per cent of the 1934 auto accidents, as against 1 per cent in 1933. In pedestrian accidents 6.5 per cent involved liquor in 1934 as against 25 in 1933.

Detroit, in a report covering the first nine months of last year and a similar period of 1934, shows a 90 per cent increase in traffic accidents involving drinking motorists. This compares with a 75 per cent increase in all types of motor vehicle injury accidents.

Cleveland, which chalked up a big increase in drinking driver arrests also had to deal with a heavy increase in drunken pedestrian cases. Chicago's record for the ten months period, shows that drinking driver arrests increased from 188 for the first ten months of 1933 to 611 during the same period of 1934. Drunken pedestrian arrests showed a big increase too, from 188 for the first ten months of 1933 to 427 for the same period of 1934. Fatal accidents due to drunken driving increased proportionately.

Drunken driving arrests in Elizabeth, N. J. increased 45 per cent for the ten months period. Increases noted in other cities were Newark, N. J., 40 per cent; Milwaukee, 25 per cent; Syracuse, 32 per cent; Duluth, 80 per cent; Springfield, Mass., 39 per cent; Buffalo, 53 per cent; Schenectady, 11 per cent; Erie, Pa., 95 per cent; Rochester, N. Y., 100 per cent; Berkeley, Calif., and Richmond, Va., also reported increases.

DIZZY, DAFFY

The Dean brothers, Dizzy and Daffy, celebs of the diamond and heroes of the 1934 world series, are the newest recruits to the screen, appearing in a Vitaphone Comedy "Dizzy and Daffy", based on the humorous tribulations of a rookie, in a road show program whose feature unit is the fabulous "Chu Chin Chow", which the Ritz theatre presents on Sunday and Monday.

It is said that the famous twirlers display the same assurance facing the sound cameras that they did facing the Detroit hitters last fall, turning in performances which would do credit to seasoned movie players. But this is not surprising. If there is any one thing Dizzy and Daffy lack that thing is not self confidence.

Diz and Daff claim to be the only pitching Deans. What will Jack have to say about that? Jack has signed with the Browns, in the American League, while Dizzy and Daff are twirling for the Cardinals in the National loop.

The Political Anvil

John T. Smith, tax expert, former Austin member of the legislature, won an unprecedented victory when his $770,000,000 bond assumption plan was officially adopted by the senate tax committee within three months after it was first disclosed.

It took nine years for the state to put into law the plan for state assumption of the $100,000,000 county and district highway bonds. The biggest feature of Smith's plan is that the high-interest city, county, school and other district bonds issued for public improvements, may be bought within the state assumption plan only when the bondholders agree to have the interest reduced to three per cent.

Tax reduction under the plan will run as high as 77 cents per $100 valuation—equivalent to the entire state tax levy at its constitutional limit.

The senate tax survey committee announced it will formulate a constitutional amendment to permit state assumption of these outstanding bond issues and will propose to levy a temporary sales tax, not exceeding two per cent on final sales, to replace present ad valorem taxes only in discharge of the bonds.

A 2-3 per cent sales tax would pay off the three-quarters of a billion dollars of bonds in five years. The two per cent levy would discharge all the bonds over a period of around seven to eight years.

The proposal has two main provisions:

1. When the bonds are paid off, the tax ceases.
2. When the state assumes payment, it also assumes control to prevent any further issues by the local authorities, except by permission of the state—which would mean no more local issues, and public developments financed only out of current revenues or by the state.

The plan is to avert bankruptcy of local districts and agencies, but Mr. Smith has pointed out, would represent average justice as between counties or cities or districts. It would be a fairer spread, he believes, than the assumption of road bonds was; and also a fairer distribution of the burden than now exists as between different groups within one county.

Instead of the long fight, over years, before getting such a far-reaching policy officially sponsored, Smith's plan was accepted by the first legislative group to consider it and adopted for official sponsorship in this session of the legislature.

Capitalist's Suit Sent To Cleaners; Five $100 Bills Found In Pockets

HOUSTON, (UP)—E. F. Woodward, Houston capitalist, sent a suit to the cleaners. It was thrown in the back of the delivery truck and taken to the cleaners plant.

There A. J. Jones, whose job is to search clothing sent in for articles left in pockets, felt something. It was five $100 bills.

Walter Talley, plant owner, took the money to Mr. Woodward's office. Mr. Woodward, a secretary said, hadn't even missed the money.

Irish? Indeed!

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP)—Maybe the Irish—the Notre Dame Irish—can see, if they're the least bit superstitious, an encouraging sign for next autumn's football campaign in the election of Tackle Joe Sullivan to the captaincy of the Ramblers eleven.

Irish captain Notre Dame has had for five seasons, but at the other end of that five-period was Tom Conley. And Tom captained Knute Rockne's last team, the unbeaten 1930 outfit.

Sullivan starred for St. John's prep of Brooklyn in football and track.

His election broke up a lengthening string of ends as field leaders of the Ramblers, Paul Host, Hugh Devore and Dominic Vairo, all flankers, captained the teams of '32, '33 and '34, respectively. Conley was an end, too, which meant Notre Dame had four ends as captains in the five seasons of 1930-

U.S. War Debt Is 50 Billion

Total Does Not Include 12 Billion In Debts Owed This Country

WASHINGTON (UP)—Cost of the World War to the United States was officially set at about $50,000,000,000 Wednesday. The estimate was disclosed in the detailed annual report of the treasury. In it, Secretary Morgenthau figured the cost of the war as follows: Estimated cost to June 30, 1921, $27,729,000,000. Interest on war debt, $9,557,000,000. Veterans' administration, $6,391,000,000. Settlement of war claims, $58,000,000.

This does not include something like $12,000,000,000 in war debts owed the United States by foreign nations.

Texas U. Students Are Opposed To War

AUSTIN, (UP)—Students of the University of Texas, 12th largest in the nation, are opposed to war if a poll of student leaders is to be taken as an indication.

Outstanding students in fraternal religious, political, literary and other groups were represented in the peace poll. Eighteen per cent would not bear arms for their country in any war. Eighty-eight per cent favored government control of the munitions industry. Eighty-two per cent favored entrance of the United States in the League of Nations.

Response was unanimous that a national navy and air force second to none should not insure the country against another great war.

Typical expressions follow: Jesse Villarejo of San Antonio: "If complete isolation is impossible, why hark at the League of Nations? Getting in might do good; keeping out won't help much."

Cecil Burney of Bishop, concerning a large air force: "No one ever heard of a weakling causing trouble in a game played by bullies."

Alvin Scaff of Dallas, on enlistment in the army: "I would defend my family, but I would not put up a defense by joining an organized army."

John Duke, student assemblyman from Dallas, on joining a war of invasion: "It would be against my beliefs, but if the drums began to roll and the flags to fly, I would in all probability be in the line somewhere."

W. E. McIntosh of Austin: "I would wait for the draft and not volunteer. I do not want to be a hero."

Others of the 7,000 students will be questioned this week and the results included in a nationwide peace poll.

Wanted! Song For Texas Centennial

DALLAS, (Sp.)—The Texas Centennial hopes soon to soothe the civic breast of the state with the dulcet strains of sweet music. At any rate Walter D. Cline, newly appointed managing director of the central exposition at Dallas and chairman of the executive committee of the Texas Centennial Commission, is looking for an official Centennial song. He invites all composers of music, professional and amateur, to submit their offerings. The prize will be official indorsement.

Many songs are already in the commissioner's hands—ballads, marches, symphonies and dance tunes. Poetry and lyrics flow into the Centennial offices in each mail and they want more of them. They want the best available according to the official spokesmen. And they want complete orchestrations, too, so that the band can start playing from scratch. They
