SCENE AT 1975 ART FESTIVAL

Large Crowds Expected at Art Festival, July 3-4

The 7th Annual Art Festival sponsored by the Rockport Art Association, Saturday and Sunday, July 3rd and 4th, this year will be a highlight of the Bicentennial.

Nearly 125 artists from all over the state and from out of state will display a wonderful variety of art on the grounds of Ski Basin Park. The hours for the show will be from 12 noon until 9 p.m. Saturday, and from 12 noon until 6 p.m. Sunday.

This year's Bicentennial Festival is expected to draw in excess of previous crowds of 8,000.

The exhibit booths will be arranged in a circular pattern with shaded walkways for the patrons' enjoyment. Food and drinks will be dispensed by the Chamber of Commerce.

Children will not be forgotten in the shuffle; it's their memories that will keep the Bicentennial event alive. Besides fireworks, bar-b-cue and art, the Art Festival also will have a kite flying contest and a regal pet rock beauty pageant for kids of all ages to participate.

The kite contest is on Saturday at 4 p.m. Judging will be done on the highest flying, the longest tail and the most appropriate Bicentennial theme. Try making your kite frame with sticks and string. Cover with paper and paint your own design.

Kites have been used as toys all around the world. They even pre-date the Bible. But they were just as important to old Ben Franklin as they are now to weathermen.

The Pet Rock Beauty Pageant is slated for 4 p.m. Sunday. If your rock can beg, sit up or play dead--it's not enough.

Entries will be judged on poise, personality and grooming. Talent was ruled out--everyone's rock is a talented genius, so swimwear and evening wear has been added to the competition. Bring your entries to the Festival Sunday, noon to 3 p.m.

The schedule of events follows:

Saturday, July 3, noon: Fireworks, 7th Annual Rockport Festival, until 9 p.m., Lion's Club bar-b-cue, until dark.

4 p.m.: Kite flying contest.

Sunday, July 4, noon: Rockport Art Festival, until 6 p.m.

4 p.m.: Pet Rock Beauty Pageant.

9 p.m.: Fireworks display.

There will be no admission charge to the Art Festival.

The Rockport Art Association is grateful for the support of the merchants of our county who have so generously donated tents for the festival.

Art Festival '76 leaders are:

Chairman: Dana Taggart; co-chairman: Estelle Stair; artists chairman: Jackie Shaw; Publi-

'Copter Pilot Speaks to Rotarians

A prediction that Rockport probably will become the center for servicing off-shore oil and gas operations in the southwestern Gulf area was made by Doss Burchfield, helicopter pilot and pilot supervisor in this area for Air Logistics. Burchfield, speaking at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club June 23 at Sandollar Restaurant, said Rockport bids fair to match the importance of Morgan City, La., in the northern Gulf area as a service center.

Burchfield is a veteran of the Viet Nam war where he was shot down six times and was awarded a string of decorations, including six Purple Hearts.

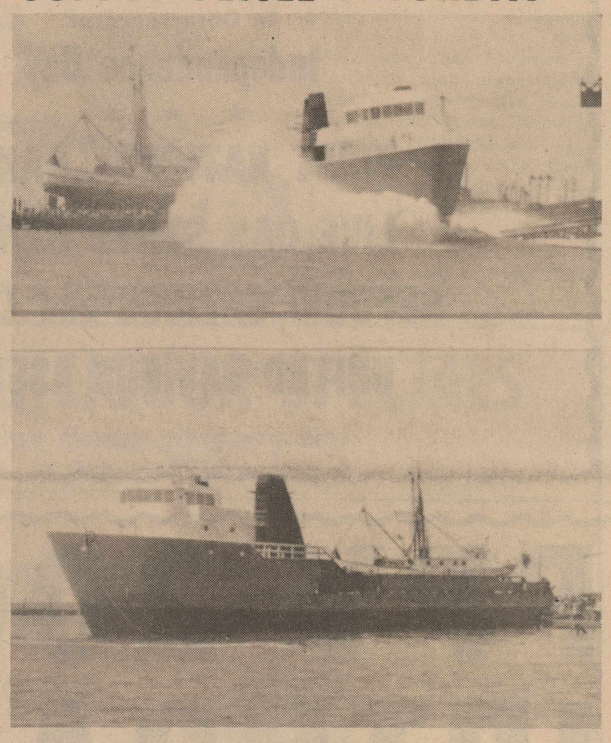

Job of Air Logistics is to ferry men and materials to and from off-shore rigs by boat and by air. The company operates a total of 63 helicopters in the Gulf area from Florida to south Texas. It has 41 more helicopters, all of Bell manufacturers, on order, according to Burchfield who said cost of each machine was approximately $200,000.

Although cost of helicopter transportation to oil companies is $750 an hour, the expense is justified by reducing non-productive time of drilling crews and elimination of lost time due to seasickness commom when surface transportation to off-shore rigs is used, the speaker said.

Drilling crews usually number between 30 and 36 with service employees, such as cooks, stewards and mainte-

RYSCO LAUNCHES 185-FOOT SUPPLY VESSEL SATURDAY

THE 185-FOOT VESSEL is shown in the top photo just as she hits the water after being launched at 12 noon Saturday. The bottom photo shows her after she has settled and turned sideways so that the hundreds of persons who lined the shoreline patiently with comeras ready could get a good picture of her.

On Saturday, June 26, Rockport Yacht & Supply Co., Inc. launched a 185-foot supply vessel being built for International Logistics, Inc. of Houma, Louisiana. This vessel will be put in service off the Gulf Coast.

The vessel, 185' x 38' x 15' is one of the largest vessels ever built by RYSCO and is being classed by the American Bureau of Shipping. This boat is powered by two large General Motors engines and is capable of carrying large quantities of liquids in tanks built below the cargo deck. The back deck, of course, is large enough for large quantities of cargo to be carried to offshore locations.

This is the third vessel of this type to be built at the RYSCO yard in the last 18 months.

Six Burglaries Cleared by Sheriff's Dep't

Two 17-year old youths and 4 juveniles were apprehended over the weekend by Sheriff's deputies, according to Sheriff Bob Hewes.

Hewes reports that Chief Deputy Sheriff E.A. Stautzenberger and Deputy Bob McCormick arrested the six who admitted to six burglaries where small amounts of food, money and alcoholic beverages were taken.

The two 17-year olds will be filed on this week and the four juveniles will be turned over to the Aransas County juvenile authorities.

Sailing Regatta Set for July 3

The second annual "I Can't Believe It's a Regatta" regatta, sponsored by the Rockport Sailing Club, will be held Saturday, July 3, at 1 p.m. in the bay between Key Allegro and the Beach Road.

The racing is for the fun of it and is open to all board boat sailors, with beginners particularly encouraged to participate. Last year's agenda included such events as a Capsize Race in which each boat was required to capsize on one leg of the course, and a LeMans Start Race in which all the boats were rafted together and the sailors had to swim to their boats and rig them before they could begin racing. Similar events are planned for this year's festivities. Ribbons will be awarded to the winners of all events.

Anyone interested in racing should be registered with the Race Committee no later than noon on Saturday, July 3. Races will begin at 1 p.m. Committee headquarters will be in a tent located at #11 Edgewater (over Key Allegro bridge, south on Bayshore, right on Curlew, right on Bahama, left on Edgewater) and the Rockport Sailing Club hopes that all interested participants and spectators will join in the fun.

Blood Pressure Service Free

The Aransas County Heart Association plans for a free blood pressure service to all who apply on July 3 and 4 at the Art Festival grounds.

A registered nurse will be in charge at all times.

The association will try to provide this service every few months in the area without charge and conducted in easily accessible locations.

Mrs. Connie Garcia, association president, stressed the need for more volunteers.

Mitchell Named To Head1976-77 United Fund

John P. Mitchell, Jr. was elected president of Aransas County United Fund and Joe Hugenberg was named campaign chairman for the Fund's 1976-77 campaign at a meeting of the board of directors at Corky's Restaurant June 24.

David H. Crooks was elected vice president, R.D. Mosier, Jr., vice president and treasurer and Loyce Landrum, secretary. Members of the board of directors elected in addition to officers and the drive chairman were Betty French, Virginia Shivers, James H. Sorenson, Jr., Mildred McDonald, Robert Konvicka, Dr. J.M. Shellenbergar, Lola L. Bonner, Jack McDavid, L.E. Casterline, Ruby Hart, Rev. Walter Clark, Curtiss Goodman, Rev. Charles Fake, Bill Ratliff, Mary Burke, Bill Janecek, and Walter S. Falk, Jr., retiring president.

Falk reported $13,075 was raised during the 1975-75 United Fund campaign, a record total. Goal for the fund drive was $12,595. This year's campaign will start in October to coincide with the Corpus Christi campaign, Falk said.

It was announced that Ashland Chemical Co. has matched the payroll deductions of its Aransas County employees with a company contribution.

Twelve welfare, charitable and character-building agencies share in proceeds of the annual United Fund campaign.

Hospital Volunteers Want Stabilization Clinic Here

Progress reports on a program designed to provide emergency medical service for Aransas County were made at a meeting of the board of directors of Aransas County Hospital Volunteers, Inc., at First National Bank, June 23.

It was the consensus of the meeting that while procuring a modern ambulance equipped with the newest in life sustaining equipment and manned by trained medical technicians was of primary importance, it also would be essential to establish a stabilization clinic. There the condition and needs of a patient could be evaluated by a qualified physician prior to possible transportation to a hospital.

It is believed sufficient money is on hand or has been pledged to handle both projects but the problem of operating funds has not yet been resolved. However, it is anticipated that help with this aspect of the project may be available from Aransas County and the city of Rockport.

A representative of the hospital group was scheduled to appear before the county commissioners court this week to describe the need. Also, it was reported that Rockport city council plans to appoint a committee this week to work with hospital association representatives.

Recently Directors Dr. Jerry Shaw, and Conwell Smith and James H. Sorenson, Hospital Volunteers president, met with the president and chief of medical staff at Corpus Christi Medical Center to describe the local emergency medical project and seek cooperation of the hospital. It was reported that a specific response from the Corpus Christi group is expected

Confiscated Shrimp Sold For $15,000

Austin--Game wardens along the Texas coast went to work early this year enforcing a closed Gulf shrimping season. And, as of the second week in June, Parks and Wildlife Department wardens have apprehended 26 commercial shrimpers in violation of the closed Gulf season and accounted for some $3,000 in fines.

P&DW law enforcement official William Walker said the department anticipates more violations this year because of the longer closure. Rapid and early growth of brown shrimp this year prompted the P&DW to close the season May 15 through July 15. Gulf shrimping usually is shut down from June 1 through July 15.

Two department patrol boats, the 65-foot Captain Sprott and the 52-foot Captain Gentry, have been used in most of the cases.

Walker said modifications to the Shrimp Conservation Act this year require the entire cargo be confiscated and sold by the department if the shrimper is found to be in violation of the closed season.

Value of the shrimp sold thus far has been put at some $15,000 with another case pending which involves $8,500 in shrimp.

soon. At time of the meeting concern was expressed as to the hospital's capacity for handling an increase in emergency patients. Dr. Jim Wideman, a member of the local volunteers board and chief of the emergency room at Memorial Center, reported at last week's meeting that the hospital emergency room was anticipating a patient load of approximately 70,000 patients a year. However, it was pointed out that local emergency patients would be taken to other hospitals also. This situation was cited as one of the pressing reasons for a local stabilization clinic which would screen emergency patients before sending them to overcrowded hospitals.

Approval of Aransas County Hospital Volunteers, Inc., by Internal Revenue Service as a tax-exempt organization was reported, making contributions to it tax-exempt.

At last week's meeting L.E. Casterline was elected a member of the board of directors to fill a vacancy. He has been active in the project for some time. Also John P. Mitchell, Jr., was appointed to the Ambulance Committee and the Stabilization Clinic Committee. Dr. Wideman was appointed chairman of the Clinic committee. Dr. Wideman asked members of his committee to submit lists of specific suggestions with reference to establishing a clinic prior to the next meeting of the committee.

Dr. Shaw was appointed cochairman with Smith of the Ambulance Committee.

Directors present at the meeting included Betty M. King, Bertie W. Cone, Clyda M. Milks, Carl C. Krueger, Dr. Wideman, Dr. Shaw, Casterline and Sorenson, who presided. Also present were Peggy Bloch, secretary, Frances H. Liggett, treasurer, and Mitchell.

A recent addition to the staff at First National Bank is Sharon K. James who is serving as lobby teller.

She was born in Baton Rouge, La., where she attended high school. Mrs. James is the wife of Gary L. James, manager of the Rockport H.E.B. store. Before moving to Rockport, Mrs. James was employed at Corpus Christi Savings and Loan and with the H.E.B. company.

She says sewing and bicycle riding was her hobbies.

nance people boosting the total to about 50. The crews work seven days and are off seven days. Most of them live in Louisiana or Mississippi and return home between shifts.

Air Logistics pilots live at Sea Gun Resort and pick up and discharge their passengers at nearby Aransas County Airport. In all its Gulf operations the company handles approximately 200,000 personnel movements a month, according to Burchfield. He said Rockport has an unusual combination of facilities and conveniences needed to facilitate servicing off-shore exploration and drilling operations, including an unusually good airport, adequate highway system, quick access channels to the Gulf, plenty of dock space and adequate services and supply facilities. He estimated that present revenue to this area as a result off-shore services at approximately $50,000 a month and destined to grow appreciably in the near future.

Burchfield said Air Logistics frequently has used its equipment and men for humanitarian rescue operations as a public service to the communities in which they operate. In life threatening situations no charge is made for rescue operations, and the service often has proved to be a valuable supplement to Coast Guard rescue efforts, he added.

BOND SALES REACH $27,719

Fred A. Bracht, Sr., County Chairman for the Savings Bond Program in Aransas County, reported sales of Series E and H United Savings Bonds in the amount of $4,390.00 for April 1976. Sales for the first four months of the year totaled $27,719 which represents 23% of their assigned dollar goal.

LULAC PLANS JULY 4TH EVENT IN ARANSAS PASS

Preparations are now under way for the second annual Fourth of July celebration sponsored by the League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) Council No. 630 of Aransas Pass.

Last years Fourth of July celebration by the group attracted hundreds of persons from Aransas Pass and the surrounding area.

Softball, barbecue, street dancing, a flea market, and a tamale eating contest are all planned for the event.

The three day event will be kicked off by the start of a softball tourney. A large number of area teams are expected to register for this event which draws a large number of persons to the city.

The tourney will begin at 7 p.m. on July 2nd. It will be held at Roosevelt Stadium.

The tourney will continue all day Saturday, July 3, until 6 p.m. and will resume Sunday morning.

The activities planned for Saturday begin at 10 a.m. with a flea market at Newbury Park. The flea market will last until 5 p.m.

Barbecue and refreshments will be available at Roosevelt Stadium all day long. At 6 p.m. at the city hall parking lot one of the highlights of the event will take place.

Two men have already entered the tamale - eating contest that will begin at 6 p.m. Tony Bonilla, well-known Corpus Christi attorney, and Aransas Pass' tamale eater, mayor J.M. Attaway have already entered the contest.

Many people will remember that Attaway is the 1975 Taft Boll Weevil Festival champion tamale eater. Last December he ate 44 tamales in 15 minutes to win the title. In the contest here he will have a half hour to eat those tamales.

Following the tamale-eating contest a street dance will be held, also at the city hall parking lot. Music will be provided by "La Movida". At 9 p.m. the LULAC queen will be crowned.

Sunday, July 4th, the softball tourney will resume at 10 a.m. There will again be barbecue available as well as other foods and refreshments at booths.

Safe Boating Over the Fourth Means Freedom from Accidents

The July 4 three-day weekend is sure to increase the traffic on Texas roads--and on our waterways. With boat owners numbering almost half a million, Texas Safety Association, in recognition of Safe Boating Week, July 4-10, reminds boaters to keep an eye out for each other.

Each year between 400 and 500 Texans die in drowning accidents, mainly during holiday periods. To assure that your holiday is free from injury, keep in mind these boating safety tips:

--Check to see that your boat and trailer are in tip-top shape before leaving home.

--Always have sufficient life preservers accessible to everyone on board.

--Carry filled fire extinguishers--and use caution when filling fuel tanks.

--Remember that the rules for safe driving apply on the water, too. Hot rodding and drinking while boating are taboo!

Water safety rules also apply to fishermen, swimmers and water skiers who will be enjoying the water along with boaters. Waterskiers, in particular, should remember to confine their skiing to areas where there is no swimming or skin diving; to wear approved life jackets; and, to exercise caution. Excessive speed and sudden contact with obstacles in unfamiliar channels can end the holiday in grief.

Texas Safety Association joins with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary in asking Texans to observe Safe Boating Week, July 4-10--and to continue the spirit of safe boating the whole year 'round.

A.A.R.P. HEARS ABOUT UNDERWATER DRILLING

The main speaker for the A.A.R.P. meeting last Wednesday was Judd Schulz of the Amoco Oil Company who told us and showed slides on the importance of obtaining oil beneath the surface of the waters surrounding our country. They are quite sure there is an abundance of oil that is drillable off all coasts of the U.S. and which should greatly help in the energy situation. It was very interesting and informative.

After the program a fine covered dish luncheon was served, with Mrs. Pat Works and her committee in charge.

The next meeting will be July 14th and it will be a Bi-Centennial program put on by V.F.W. Post. We will sing "Happy Birthday America" (song is in the Maturity Magazine). The hall will be appropriately decorated with flags and the red, white, and blue and everyone is asked to remember this date and try to attend this meeting.

MR. CLIFF

Pictured above is Clifford Zeisler, known to the Little League Board and the majority of Little League ball players as Mr. Cliff. Sheriff Bob Hewes, president of the Aransas County Little League said that Mr. Cliff has been a valuable asset not only to the board members but to all of the Little Leaguers as well during this ball season. The officers of the Little League wish to thank Mr. Cliff personally for his untiring efforts, says Hewes.

A.A.R.P. CARD PARTY

Hostesses for the card party at the Recreation Building on June 24th were Ellen Vernon and Lorene King. There was a nice room full of card players and everyone had a good time. The refreshment table was loaded with goodies: cookies, punch, lemonade, coffee and good old ice water. A beautiful bouquet of arthuriums was in the center and these were given by Mrs. Velma Ramsey and were used as prizes along with the small gifts for the winners.

The canasta prize was won by Dorothy Leslie and the runner-up in canasta was Mazie Dunn.

In ladies bridge: Dottie West was winner and Joann West took second.

In men's bridge: Mike Nolan was victor and Stan Heath was second.

The bingo prize was won by Doris Lamberton.

Mrs. Pat Works asks that everyone wear red, white, and blue next week as it is to be our special party for the Bicentennial and will be a big day. So see what you can find in your closets in these colors and let's celebrate.

The painting of the beautiful bowl of flowers given by Macyrea Caradine was on display and Joann West sold tickets for the American Cancer Society, Art For Cancer Fund. This painting will be given away on July 4th, donation of $1.00.

So, mark your calendars for July 1st, and come out and celebrate with us next week, playing will start at 1:30 P.M. Visitors are most cordially welcome.

Dean Holford, Port Lavaca businessman who is Republican candidate for the U. S. House of Representatives seat described plans for his campaign and outlined his platform at a coffee reception given June 24 at Palm Harbor.

SUMMER TENNIS LEAGUE UNDERWAY

Approximately 45 tennis players with varying degrees of skill have signed up for 10-week session with Summer Lesson Leagues at Rockport Racquet Club with John Gutzke, the club's teaching professional, in charge.

The summer league follows a similar spring program which recently was completed with a tournament for all participants. Eighteen women players are participating in beginner, intermediate and advanced leagues which meet Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

Tuesday and Thursday afternoons 20 junior players are participating in young beginners, beginners and intermediate leagues. An after-work group of men and women players meets Tuesday and Thursday evenings. A Saturday morning lesson league will be started if there is sufficient interest, according to Gutzke. Because the leagues got underway only last week, it is still possible for more players to join, he said.

The plan for all leagues is one hour of lessons on Tuesday followed by two hours of practice or competitive play. League lessons on Thursdays are devoted to three hours of practice and play under Gutzke's supervision.

Know the Weather

Where does the weather come from?

In the United States the layer of gas, which is our weather, generally moves west to east. On the west coast masses of moist Pacific air comes from the southwest and northwest, and are warm and cool, respectively.

The clear, dry air of the non-coastal states in the Midwest generally comes from the southwest, over Mexico, and likewise, the clear, cold, dry air that invades the eastern half of the country moves down from Canada.

In addition, moist air masses from the Atlantic move into the east from both the southeast and northeast, being warm and cool, respectively. When these masses of air meet, they often create an occluded front and unpredictable, but often rainy conditions.

Generally speaking if you are east of a strong air mass, it will move over you and bring the weather prevailing under it, to the west. Fronts move at varying speeds, usually up to about 30 miles an hour. So, the weather you have tomorrow may be five hundred miles away today, in a westerly direction.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

200 YEARS AGO

ON JULY 4, 1976

We Declared Ourselves Independent and Sovereign With These Words:

. . . We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness.

Happy 200th Birthday

From

GLASS, SORENSON & McDAVID, Insurance

c16

On July 4, 1776, the bell of freedom rang out across this nation, calling men and women to the cause of liberty and justice for all. Today, we are the proud custodians of that Liberty Bell, as well as guardians of that noble cause. For the founding fathers have bequeathed a precious heritage of democracy to us, to be passed in turn to succeeding generations. Let's keep freedom ringing, America!

"You can get up now, it's our serve!"

DPS Says 42 Will be Killed During Holiday

Austin -- The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety said indications are that some 42 persons will be killed in Texas traffic accidents during the Fourth of July weekend, and called upon Texas drivers to "prove our estimate is too high."

Colonel Wilson E. Speir said his department expects "unusually heavy traffic" throughout the state, especially around recreational areas and where Bicentennial celebrations are scheduled.

He said the estimate covers a 78-hour period which starts at 6 p.m. Friday and continues until midnight Monday, July 5th.

During a comparable period last year, the department estimated that 54 persons would be killed during the holiday period. At the conclusion of the July 4th holiday last year, statewide statistics indicated 44 lives lost and rose to 49 with late reports.

In a concerned effort to keep deaths down, the DPS and local law enforcement agencies will be cooperating in an all-out effort to make the streets and highways as safe as possible. All available DPS troopers will be on duty, Speir indicated, and they will be especially watchful for drinking drivers, speeders and persons driving in a reckless manner.

In addition, the DPS will be working with the news media in a special public education program termed "Operation Motorcide".

Shower Honors Susan Keller

Miss Susan Keller, bride-elect of Mike Rouquette, was honored with a miscellaneous shower at the First Baptist Church on June 15.

Co-hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Jack Davis, Mrs. Lee Billings, Mrs. Wanda Sparks, Mrs. Brady Foster, Mrs. Bodie Lankford and Mrs. Fred Highlyn of Sinton.

The bride-elect's theme of spring flowers was carried out in the table decorations.

Miss Keller was assisted by Cindy Harrison and Rhonda Collins in opening her gifts.

Approximately forty guests attended.

Americans should not forget that their freedoms will last only as long as their vigilance.

Lee-Walters Wed

Miss Carol Walters became the bride of Richard Reagan Lee, Friday, 7:30 P.M. in the First Baptist Church with Rev. Charles Fake performing the double ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with a golden arch framed by an array of candelabra and floral opulence.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Walters, 951 Pine St. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Reagan Lee, Rockport. The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a traditional dress hand clipped chantilly lace with a high neckline collar of white lace with a tiered bouffant skirt enhanced with pearls and terminating in a chapel train. Her floor length lace edged veil of illusion was held with a juliet camelot of the same lace. She carried an oriental snowdrift pom-pom rendezvous with baby's breath and dainty white rose buds.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Darrell Walters, Goliad, Texas, sister-in-law; bridesmaids were Miss Julie Mercer, Miss Nancy Goodin, Rockport; Suzie Kolle, McAllen and Doretha Mitchell, Corpus Christi, all friends of the bride. Cassie Kubiak was flower girl and Steve Walters, cousin of the bride was ring bearer. The flower girl wore a long white dress with colorful flowers with a white organza pinafore and carried a parasol matching dress with bouquets attached. The bridesmaids wore dresses of assorted spring colors and carried colorful lacy parasols of matching colors with oriental snowdrift pom-pom bouquets attached.

Lewis Reagan Lee served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Cokie Lee, Lenny Lee brothers of the groom, Kirk Pittman and Mark Hoffman. Ushers were Robert Wheelis and Jimmy Jordan. The groomsmen, ushers and ring bearer wore white Newport tuxedos with white full ruffled shirts and rose bouttoinere with baby's breath.

The traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Norman McLead. Mrs. Eddie Bradley sang "The Wedding Song" and the "Hawaiian Wedding Song." Rev. Fake sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother wore a floor length gown of peach polyester and wore a white orchid corsage with white trim. The groom's mother wore a floor length green dress with chiffon angel wing sleeves and lace sleeveless jacket and wore a white orchid corsage trimmed with green.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church. White satin attached to two heart shaped cakes on each side with a fountain of blue water cascading beneath the cake centered the table with flower arrangements of some floral opulents. The groom's table was laid with an ivory handmade lace table cover and held the groom's German chocolate cake.

Members of the houseparty were Misses Lee Knuckles, Tammy Burris, Barbara Burg, Mrs. Lenny Lee and Steve Swetlick.

The bride wore a pant suit of peach polyester with brown accessories. Her corsage was white rose buds with baby's breath and oriental pom-poms.

After a wedding trip to Kerrville the couple will be at home in Ingleside.

The bride is a graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School and is employed by Dr. J.M. Shellenbergar. The groom also attended Rockport-Fulton High School and is employed by Teledyne Corp.

The Walters family have been in Rockport 4½ years and the Lees have lived here approximately 10 years.

ENDANGERED SPECIES LAWS ARE TOUGH

Austin--A farmer who shot an ocelot eating his $15 goat faces charges that could amount to a $200 fine.

The ocelot, a member of the feline family, is an endangered species and protected by both federal and state laws.

"The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service are required by law to prosecute anyone in violation of the Endangered Species Act," said George C. Adams with the environmental branch of the P&WD.

In the case of the ocelot, the federal government is doing the investigation and prosecution.

Texas law states that it shall be unlawful for any person to take, possess, transport, export, process, sell or offer for sale, or ship any endangered species of fish and wildlife within this state, and no person shall possess, transport, export, process, sell or offer for sale goods made from any endangered species not born and raised in captivity.

The endangered species list for Texas is:

MAMMALS--Blue whale, finback whale, right whale, sperm whale, black-footed ferret, jaguar, margay, ocelot, red wolf, West Indian manatee and bighorn sheep.

BIRDS--Brown pelican, Mexican duck, southern bald eagle, American peregine falcon, Artic peregrine falcon, Attwater's greater prairie chicken, whooping crane, Eskimo curlew, ivory-billed woodpecker, red-cockaded woodpecker and Bachman's warbler.

REPTILES--Atlantic ridley turtle, hawksbill turtle, leatherback turtle and American alligator.

AMPHIBIANS--Cascade Cavern salamander, San marcos salamander, Fern Bank salamander, Texas blind salamander and Houston toad.

FISH--Big Bend gambusia, Clear Creek gambusia, Pecos gambusia, Amistad gambusia, San Marcos gambusia, Comanche Springs pupfish, Leon Springs pupfish and fountain darter.

No person may take, possess, or transport endangered species for any purpose, unless they have a valid permit from the P&WD and the federal government.

The penalty for violating any portion of the Texas Endangered Species Act is a fine of not less then $100 nor more than $200 for the first offense; a fine not less than $200 nor more than $500, confinement in the county jail for not less than 30 days nor more than 90 days for the second offense; or a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $2,00 and confinement in the county jail for not less than six months nor more than one year or subsequent offenses.

Accent ON HEALTH
Texas Department of Health Resources
Fratis L. Duff M.D., Director

A new strain of influenza virus appeared in February at Fort Dix, New Jersey. This new identified virus has antigenic properties (or antibody producing characteristics) similar to a flu virus that occurs in swine. This small outbreak in New Jersey was the first instance of the swine-like influenza virus being transmitted from man to man.

Because of the implications of this new flu outbreak, health officials in Texas are now gearing up for the largest mass immunization campaign in the state's history. Part of a nationwide effort to protect the American people from an expected epidemic of New Jersey A flu (sometimes called "Swine flu") the Texas campaign will attempt to provide the protective vaccine to at least 10 million Texans.

The goal is to immunize the population in a three-month period running from September through November of 1976. The nation has never attempted an immunization program of such scope and intensity. It will require a major effort by both the public and private sectors of health care.

Essentially, the plan relies on the Federal government for its purchasing power to obtain the quantities of vaccine necessary, and for technical leadership and coordination through the national Center for Disease Control. State health agencies will be called on to translate the plans into action, using their manpower and experience in conducting systematic immunization programs. The private health care sector has joined in to offer its support and its extensive medical and other health related resources. The Texas Medical Association unanimously passed a resolution supporting the mass flu immunization campaign at their recent state meeting.

The strategy is to tailor the approach to the opportunity and the need--using mass immunization techniques where appropriate, but also using delivery points already in place, such as physicians' offices, health department clinics, and community health centers. The use of volunteers and volunteer organizations will also be a very important part of the campaign.

Actually, the first stages of the mass immunization campaign will begin about mid-July. A special vaccine for older people and people with chronic illness will be made available at that time. A "bivalent" vaccine providing protection from both the New Jersey A influenza virus (Swine Flu) and the recent Victoria A strain of last year will be available to this target population considered to be a risk. The immunization of the general population against the New Jersey A virus will begin about the first of September.

One can imagine the complexity of trying to immunize almost the entire population of the nation in such a short period of time. Fortunately, public health authorities and private medicine in Texas have had a recent experience in mass immunization. Since the passage of the mandatory "school immunization law" in 1972, several million Texas school children have been immunized against certain diseases. It was accomplished by the Texas Department of Health Resources' public health regions, by local health departments across the state, and by physicians in private practice.

The mass flu immunization campaign will, of course, be a voluntary participation campaign. But state health officials emphasize that to prevent an epidemic, it is necessary that practically all of the people be vaccinated.

The swine influenza virus has been implicated in the 1918 epidemic of influenza that killed 20 million people all over the world, with over 500 thousand deaths in the United States. The 1918 "pandemic" (or worldwide epidemic) was unique because of its high mortality and the fact that so many of the fatalities occurred among apparently healthy young men and women. By comparison, the Asian flu of 1957--the most severe influenza pandemic since--caused an estimated 70,000 deaths, primarily among the elderly or individuals with chronic illness.

Influenza is a respiratory disease caused by a virus. There are two main types of influenza virus--A and B. Each type includes various strains. Type A epidemics are generally more frequent and severe.

From time to time, new virus strains develop. When this happens, and if the strains are quite different from previous ones, they may cause epidemics because people have not had any previous exposure to them. Consequently, the population has not built up any specific immunity against them.

Once every 10 years or so the change is more dramatic, and this is when we have extensive outbreaks such as the pandemic of Asian flu of 1957 and the Hong Kong flu of 1968.

When a new virus appears, it's normally followed by an epidemic. Public health officials want to keep history from repeating itself in the form of another flu that could take thousands of lives.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS FOR FALL COLOR

College Station--Now is as good a time as any to start preparing for your fall flower garden. And, because chrysanthemums are colorful and long lasting, they make a good choice.

Everett Janne, a horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says rooted cuttings of chrysanthemums that are planted in June will have a shorter growing season and will produce compact plants that do not need much staking.

"Plant chrysanthemums in a sunny area in fertile soil," recommends Janne. "It's a good idea to apply a complete fertilizer at the rate of two to three pounds per 100 square feet of soil. Work the fertilizer into the top six inches of soil and water thoroughly after applying."

Planting on an elevated site lessens the danger of frost, and a mulch of sawdust, bark, woodchips or peat moss around the plants helps conserve moisture and cuts down on weeds.

Janne advises applying a sidedressing of ammonium sulfate fertilizer six weeks after planting at the rate of one-half pound of fertilizer per 50 feet of row. After applying the fertilizer, water well. Another sidedressing may be applied in mid-August.

"For compact plants and a lot of flowers, pinch one inch off the end of each new shoot when the shoots are three inches long," says the Texas A&M University System's horticulturist. "This will make the side buds grow, causing plants to spread out and produce more blooms. Plants may need to be pinched three times, but no pinching should be done after July."

If you want large flowers with long stems, remove all side buds from the plants in late August. This will allow the food to go straight to the end of the stem, causing large flowers, Janne explains. Of course, taller plants will need to be staked.

How to Fight A Kitchen Range Fire

College Station -- Most kitchen range fires occur when cooking oil, fat on meat or clothing touches a hot element or burner.

The Food and Drug Administration's Bureau of Product Safety estimates that about 100,000 burn accidents from kitchen ranges occur each year.

Mrs. Lillian Chenoweth, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, offers some practical guidelines for dealing with a fire in the kitchen.

"If a fat fire should start in the cookware on the range's surface units--or in a fondue pot or electric skillet--immediately cover the pan and turn off the source of heat.

"Use a fire extinguisher if the fire should spread. Or baking soda may be thrown on the fire if an extinguisher isn't available.

"Never try to carry flaming cookware outside or to the sink, and do not throw water on a grease fire. Water only causes grease fires to spread," she cautioned.

If a fire starts in the oven or broiler, close the door, turn off the source of heat and keep the door closed. With limited air, the fire should go out within minutes, the specialist said.

"You can minimize the risk of a broiler fire by using slotted, solid racks which allow good grease drainage but shield the fat from the heat source. Do not use a broiler pan with an open, wire rack unless it is deep enough to add water beforehand to cool the fat," she explained.

"Some simple precautions can reduce chances of a range fire," she pointed out.

--Cookware used on the surface units of a range should be large enough so that none of the electrical element is exposed.

--A gas flame should be adjusted so that it does not run up the sides of the cookware.

--Never wear long, loose sleeves when cooking.

--Only use cookware that is both large and deep enough to hold the meat and any fats and juices that will accumulate during cooking.

Seat Belts Save Lives

College Station--Will you be among the 25 per cent of U.S. drivers who will have a traffic accident this year?

"It has been estimated that one out of every four drivers in the U.S. will have a traffic accident in 1976," says Dr. Gary Nelson, an agricultural safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Furthermore, highway accidents are the leading cause of death for Americans under age 25."

However, drivers can do some things to decrease their chances of being injured in a traffic accident.

"First and foremost, wear a seat belt," advises Nelson. "Experts estimate that 10,000 to 15,000 lives a year would be saved if everyone used seat belts while driving. Drivers who don't wear seat belts are greatly increasing the odds that they will be seriously injured or killed in a severe car accident by being thrown against the dashboard or windshield or out of the car.

"When a person is thrown out of a car, the chance of injury is much greater and the car may roll over on the person."

Nelson points out that some people seem to feel that a seat belt will trap them if their car catches on fire or becomes submerged in water. However, there's more chance that a person not wearing a seat belt will be knocked unconscious in an accident and will thus be unable to escape at all. Also, seat belt releases have a reputation for being reliable and easy to use.

"Good vehicle maintenance is another thing drivers can do to prevent accidents," points out the Texas A&M University System engineer.

"Don't put off making repairs. Make sure all vehicle parts are in good working condition and have your can tuned-up at least once a year."

The engineer also puts the blame of some traffic accidents on errors in the design of vehicles and highway systems. "More standardized equipment, such as the location of various switches, and safer design of highways would cut down on traffic accidents."

GRANDEST SAFE JULY 4th BICENTENNIAL FOOD

College Station--"It (July 4th) should be celebrated with parades, games, bells and fireworks this time forward."

This quote from John Adams, second president of the U.S., sets the tone for this year's special Bicentennial celebrations. Picnics, backyard parties, buffets--meals that will be easy to serve a crowd of family and friends--will be popular ways of serving food.

"These are quick, fun ways to entertain but offer a challenge to keep them safe from food poison caused by bacteria," advises Frances Reasonover, a food and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Sal, staph and perfringens can be the culprits in food poisoning, and consumers should be award of each one," she added.

Salmonella, often called Sal for short, can cause infection. It is hard to control because it spreads simply and easily. Or the infection may result from personal contact with an infected person or carrier of the infection, Miss Reasonover explained.

"The best way to prevent infection from salmonella is to prepare foods in a sanitary manner to keep the bacteria out of the food--cooking at temperatures high enough to kill the bacteria and storing food at a cold enough temperature to keep bacteria from growing.

"Salmonella multiplies at temperatures between 44-115 degrees F. It is destroyed by heating food at 140 degrees F and holding it at that temperature for 10 minutes or at higher temperatures for a shorter time."

She noted that refrigeration at 45 degrees F. keeps salmonella from growing, but the bacteria remain alive in the refrigerator or freezer. It remains alive even on dried foods, she said.

Staph, which is the short name for staphylococcus aureus bacteria, grows in food, produces a toxin that causes food poison and is very resistant to heat. It grows well in temperatures between 44-115 degrees F., the specialist said.

"Staph does not grow in food at hot temperatures above 140 degrees F. and cold temperatures below 40 degrees F. The only way the toxin is destroyed is by boiling for several hours or heating the food in a pressure cooker at 240 degrees F. for 30 minutes.

"Transmission of staph is effected through food handlers who carry the bacteria and by eating food containing the toxin," she explained.

Perfringens poisoning is caused by a toxin produced by Clostridium perfringens bacteria. To control the poisoning, meats that are to be eaten later should be cooled rapidly and refrigerated promptly at a temperature of 40 degrees F. or below, the specialist said.

"Perfringens poisoning is transmitted by eating foods contaminated with large numbers of the bacteria."

She suggested some precautions consumers can take to make the holiday celebration a safe one.

--Use strict methods of cleanliness of person and surroundings to prevent contamination of food and spreading foodborne illness in the home.

--Make sure all dishes, utensils, kitchen equipment and work surfaces are clean.

--Take simple precautions in storing, preparing, cooking and preserving all food.

'Do Ahead' Foods

Sandwiches, baked beans and frozen fruit salads can be made one-three weeks ahead and stored in the freezer.

Luncheon meats, sliced roast beef, roast pork, baked ham, chicken, turkey, diced beef, tuna, salmon, sliced cheese, cheese spreads, hardboiled egg yolks and peanut butter make good sandwich fillings to prepare ahead. Simply add sliced or chopped olives and pickles to "dress up" any of these. Sandwich fillings may be frozen separately if desired.

But all sandwich fillings do not freeze well. Jelly, mayonnaise and salad dressings used as spreads soak into the bread. Hardboiled egg whites develop off-flavors and change texture. Do not freeze lettuce, celery, tomatoes or carrots. These may be added after sandwiches are taken from the freezer.

Wrap sandwiches in double-thickness or heavy waxed paper for one week of storage, or if they are to be frozen as long as three weeks, wrap in moisture-proof vapor resistant material such as plastic bags or aluminum foil.

Sandwiches will thaw in about three hours at room temperature. If they are to be taken on a picnic, store them in an ice chest until time for the picnic.

For baked beans, prepare them by a standard recipe. Cool quickly. Package in moisture-vapor proof containers. Store in a freezer. The beans may be stored up to six months. .

To prepare for serving at a backyard barbecue, partially thaw at room temperature in package. Heat to serving temperature in casserole or double boiler.

Freezing destroys the crispness, flavor and color of raw vegetable salads, so few of them are suitable for freezing.

Frozen fruit salads are good to prepare ahead. Suitable bases for these salads are combinations of cream cheese or cottage cheese, whipped cream and mayonnaise. Adding gelatin improves the mayonnaise and whipped cream mixtures but isn't needed when cream cheese or cottage cheese is used.

Nuts are likely to discolor and become bitter in salads. Most any recipe that is satisfactory for salads frozen in the ice cube tray of the refrigerator will be fine when frozen and stored in the home freezer. Freeze in suitable containers or wrap in moisture-vapor proof material. To serve, remove and cut in serving pieces. Some of the frozen mixtures may be served as desserts as well as salads. Store up to six weeks.

Pointers for Preparing and Cooking

--Serve food soon after cooking or refrigerate quickly.

--Refrigerate hot foods if they do not raise the temperature of the refrigerator above 45 degrees F.

--Speed the cooling of large quantities of food by refrigerating in shallow pans.

--Keep hot foods hot above 140 degrees F.

--Keep cold foods cold below 40 degrees F.

--Food may not be safe to eat if held more than three-four hours at temperatures between 60-120 degrees F. This is the zone where bacteria grow rapidly. This time includes preparation, storage and serving time.

--Thoroughly clean all dishes, utensils and work surfaces with soap and water after each use.

--Bacteria can be destroyed by rinsing utensils and work surfaces with chlorine bleach in proportions recommended on the container. Cutting boards, meat grinders, blenders and can openers particularly need this protection.

--Wipe up spills with paper towels or other disposable materials.

--Cracked or soiled eggs may contain harmful bacteria. Use only in foods that are thoroughly cooked such as baked goods or foods cooked for a long time on the top of the range.

--Thaw frozen raw meat or unstuffed poultry in the refrigerator or in watertight wrap in cold water.

--Stuff fresh or thawed meat, poultry or fish just before roasting. Put in loosely to allow heat to penetrate quickly.

--Make sure stuffing reaches 165 degrees F. during roasting period.

--Do not partially cook meat or poultry one day and complete the cooking the next day.

FOOD MARKETING ALERT

USDA
Agricultural Marketing Service

As of mid-June, the supply situation in July is expected to look like this . . .

RED MEATS

Beef . . . continued plentiful supplies during July. Production expected to average 8-10% above a year earlier and about 10% above July 1973-75 average. Increased fed beef output will more than offset declines in non-fed beef production.

Pork . . . light. Production will be seasonally reduced, but up 10-12% from unusually low level of a year earlier. This rate of output would be about the same as the 1973-75 average.

POULTRY & EGGS

Broiler-fryers . . . plentiful. Record July marketings will be about 12% more than the previous year and 14% above the July 1973-75 average.

Turkey . . . adequate. New crop marketings in July about 11% more than a year ago and 9% above the July 1973-75 average. Cold storage holdings July 1 will be down about 20% from year-earlier and 25% under the 3-year average. The combined new crop marketings and cold storage holdings will mean turkey supplies 6% less than year-earlier.

Eggs . . . adequate. July 1976 output slightly above last year's level but below the most recent 3-year average for July.

MILK & DAIRY PRODUCTS

Milk & dairy products . . . adequate. Milk production in July should be well above its previous yearly and 3-year average levels, but past its seasonal peak. American cheese production in April was at a record high for the month, but butter and nonfat dry milk production levels were 7% and 14% lower than the 3-year average. Commercial stocks of dairy products have been rebuilding since early this year, but are still below their previous 3-year average.

FRUITS, VEGETABLES, NUTS

Fresh non-citrus fruits . . . plentiful. Fresh peaches . . . this season's U.S. production—except for California clingstones, used mainly for canning—is forecast at 8% above last season and 13% above the 3-season average. Plums are forecast for California 3% above last year and 7% above the 3-year average. The record California nectarine crop is expected to be 13% higher than last year and 20% higher than the latest 3-season average. Bartlett pears are forecast at 4% above last year and 5% over the 3-season average. Apricots will top last year's crop by 6% and the 3-season average by 28%. Total sweet cherry production in the Western States is expected to be 13% above last season and 10% higher than the 1973-75 average.

Fresh lemons and limes . . . plentiful. As of June 1, the quantity of lemons remaining for harvest is 14% above the year-earlier level. It is estimated that the 1976-77 lime production will be 2% above last season and 21% above the average.

Raisins . . . plentiful, with 1975 production about 18% larger than the heavy, year-earlier crop. Dried prunes . . . plentiful. The 1976 prune production is forecast 7% larger than last year and 13% more than in 1974.

Processed vegetables . . . plentiful. Among the principal frozen vegetables, April 30 stocks exceeded last year's figures by: sweet corn, 27%; green peas, 24%; and lima beans, 20%. Inventories of each were also above the 3-year average. Frozen potatoes . . . adequate, although 13% less than a year earlier. Supplies of canned snap beans, sweet corn, green peas, tomatoes, and tomato juice are all well above the 1973-75 average.

Fresh potatoes . . . adequate. Assuming average yields, summer crop production will total 8% more than last year and about equal the 3-year average. Fresh onions . . . plentiful. With average yields, production of summer (nonstorage) onions will be 15% more than in 1975 and 3% above 3-year average. Watermelons . . . plentiful and at their summer peak.

Peanuts . . . plentiful. Commercial stocks on April 30 were 5% higher than a year earlier. The 1975 crop was 5% larger than the previous record. Almonds, pecans, walnuts . . . plentiful from large 1975 crops.

GRAINS & LEGUMES

Rice . . . plentiful because of record 1975 production and reduced exports. A large carryover is estimated for end of current marketing year. The 1976 production is expected to exceed use.

Wheat . . . plentiful. Carryover stocks at the end of June are estimated 70% higher than the previous year. Early estimates of the 1976 production at 1,900-2,050 million bushels are second only to the record 1975 production.

Corn . . . plentiful. Early estimates indicate a 1976 harvest that could break last year's record.

Dry beans . . . plentiful as a result of reduced export. Farmers intend to plant 3% fewer acres this year. Dry peas . . . plentiful because of large carryover stocks and reduced export demands. Farmers will plant 20% fewer acres this year.

Terminology used: PLENTIFUL — More than enough for requirements. ADEQUATE — Enough to meet needs. LIGHT — Less than adequate; not enough for normal needs.

TRYOUTS ANNOUNCED

Kingsville -- Tryouts for majorettes of the Texas A&I University Marching Band and auditions for the Silk, flag corps, will be held in July, according to Dr. Norman Sunderman, recently named marching band director.

The majorette tryouts will be at 4 p.m. Friday, July 9, with students meeting in room 221 of the A&I music building. .

The flag corps auditions will be held at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, July 24, meeeting in room 106 of the music building.

Previous experience is not required, and the auditions are open to all A&I students, Sunderman said.

TEXAS JOB TALK

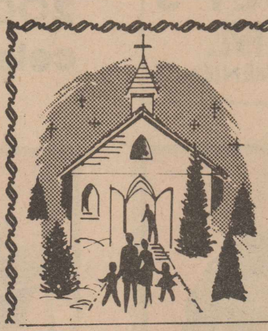

The state jobless picture remains relatively stable, according to Texas Employment Commission Chairman Harold K. Dudley who said that preliminary estimates show an unemployment rate of 5.3 per cent for May.

"We have anticipated for some time that the unemployment rate would decline slowly if at all when it neared the 5 per cent mark," Dudley said. "Only a hyperheated economy would be likely to drive it much lower. I don't expect it to reach, in the near future, the 3 or 4 per cent level of prerecession days."

Revised figures showed Texas' unemployment rate for April as 5.3 per cent, the same as the May estimate. (An earlier forecast for April was 4.8 per cent, but a change in methods of computation by the Bureau of Labor Statistics placed the official state rate at 5.3 per cent.)

Preliminary estimates, subject to later revision, show 288,600 Texans unemployed in May, with a state work force numbering 5,106,000, Dudley said. Employment was up in retail trade and in the service industries, particularly in hotels, motels, and amusement parks, with a decline occuring in school-connected employment and in transportation services.

"Texas continues to fare better than the nation as a whole," Dudley noted. "The national unadjusted jobless rate for May is 6.7 per cent, a full 1.4 per cent above the Texas rate."

OUTDOORS 'n things

by L. D. NUCKLES

Since I moved to the coast in 1962 I have become a real enthusiastic fish eater. I will admit though, that before I really became addicted to salt-water fish there was a lot I had to learn about the different species and how to care for them after I caught them.

Of course, I've always liked to fish. When I was 12 years old I saved my money for weeks to accumulate five dollars to buy my first casting reel -- Pfleuger Akron which I still have.

I really didn't care too much about eating fish though, until I moved to Rockport and discovered kingfish, or king Mackerel as it is correctly named.

People argue about the relative merits for flounder, redfish and red snapper, but I'll still take kingfish -- If I caught the fish myself and took care of it correctly. Fried, broiled, baked, barbecued or smoked kingfish is still the best, but the way it is cared for can make the difference.

When I gaff a kingfish I reach overboard and cut off his tail. This lets the blood just pour out and, for one thing, means a lot less blood to scatter around inside your boat. After the bleeding has just about stopped I bring him aboard, cut off his head, clean him and put the carcass on ice. It takes up a lot less room in your fish box and the flesh doesn't develop a "strong" taste from all that blood. When you fillet the fish there is a red streak down each side that must be removed. This is a strong, liver-like substance that will impart a terrible taste to the rest of the flesh if not removed.

As you know, kingfish are classed as summer fish on the Texas coast and from about the first of October until early the next summer they are just not available. Because of this, I had to learn to freeze them if I wanted to have this excellent eating all winter. Here is the way to do that.

Save milk cartons that have been thoroughly washed. Fillet the fish and cut them into cooking size pieces. Then pack the fillets into the milk cartons and cover them with water to which a little salt has been added. Never fill the carton too full of fish because you must be sure that it is completely covered with water. Tap the sides of the carton after adding the water to be sure there are no bubbles of air trapped among the pieces of fish. Then the cartons are ready for the quick-freeze section of the freezer. Believe me, six months or even a year later you will think the fish is freshly caught.

This method works just as well for shrimp, chicken, doves, or froglegs as it does for fish. The secret is that the water seals out the air -- completely.

One more tip you might appreciate. After you've cleaned fish, squeeze about an inch of toothpaste into your wet palm. Using the tooth paste as soap, wash your hands thoroughly. They'll come out smelling like a rose -- all fishy odor will be gone.

LONG RANGE COUNTYWIDE PLAN CONSIDERED

Aransas County, City of Rockport, School Board, Navigation District and Conservation and Reclamation District are considering sharing the costs for preparation of a long range, countywide comprehensive plan for orderly growth and development.

If the plan is prepared it will cover the physical development of urban and non-urban portions of the county for the next 20 to 25 years.

Robert Grossman, Corpus Christi representative of Harland Bartholomew and Associates, St. Louis, planning and engineering firm, made the proposal for the comprehensive plans at a joint meeting of representatives of the five organizations.

He said the total cost would be $33,000 and that the job would take at least 18 months. It was pointed out that if the area decided to go ahead with the planning project, it was virtually certain that a federal grant of $22,000 could be obtained to reduce the local cost to $11,000.

FIRST NATIONAL INCREASES CAPITAL

In a far-reaching reorganization of its financial structure, First National Bank of Rockport increased its capitalization from $25,000 to $150,000 and established a surplus of the same amount, according to announcement by James H. Sorenson, Jr., executive vice president and cashier.

"We considered this three months ago," Sorenson said, "but it has taken some time to work out the details. At a meeting of the stockholders on June 21, 1956, the necessary papers were drawn and forwarded to Washington for approval of the Comproller of Currency."

On June 26, bank officials received a telegram from the comptroller approving the increase in capitalization, which went into effect on June 27.
