SHS boosters offer variety of Super Saturday events

"Super Saturday" an event to show support for all Snyder's athletic teams, will be held this Saturday on the courthouse square.

The event is being sponsored by the Snyder High School All-Sports Booster Club. The event is scheduled from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. and will feature food booths, local live entertainment, contests and an opportunity for the community to meet some of the athletes.

At 1 p.m., the AJRA Rodeo parade begins. The booster club urges merchants to support the parade with sidewalk sales and also to wear SHS school colors of black and gold.

Activities of "Super Saturday" include a dunkin' booth, a "Crush Tulia" trailer and a "Demolish Fort Stockton" car smash.

Jay Johnson, with the Snyder Police Department; Department of Public Safety Trooper Larry Brown plus Snyder coach Roger Goodwin have donated their services for the dunkin' booth.

Boosters are urged to bring their aluminum cans to the "Crush Tulia" trailer. Tulia is Snyder's first grid opponent.

The "Demolish Fort Stockton" car smash will let the public know of the volleyball teams' district opener with the Panthers on Aug. 28.

A booster club bake sale and T-Shirt sale will be held at Family Fitness Center. Club members should bring their bake goods to the Fitness Center between 8:30 and 9 a.m.

New estimate casts doubt...

Tax overhaul shaky

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional efforts to write a sweeping tax-overhaul compromise are threatened by a new estimate that the legislation would add $17 billion to the government's flood of red ink, Sen. Bob Packwood said today.

"I'm just not sure where we go from here," Packwood, the chief Senate negotiator, told reporters today. His remarks came after he and Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., the top House negotiator reached a stalemate Thursday night.

"He and I almost cried last night," Packwood said.

He refused to declare the landmark legislation dead but said that unless a basic agreement on the package is reached before Congress adjourns for a three-week recess, it could be in trouble.

"It is critical we get this out" before the recess "so that special interests won't have three weeks to hit us over the head" with proposals to change the package, he said. "If any part of it gets upset, the whole package is out."

Unless the problems are worked out, Packwood said, "this is a chance that won't come again in 50 years."

Packwood held out hope that problems with the bill could be worked out today. The House and Senate delegations scheduled separate sessions to make a final try at agreement, but there was pessimism about the prospects for progress.

The problem boiled down to this:

—The Joint Committee on Taxation, which provides nonpartisan technical advice on taxes to the House and Senate, produced a new estimate late Thursday that the bill would worsen the deficit by $17 billion over five years. President Reagan and congressional leaders have agreed the bill should bring in the same revenue as present law.

—Packwood said negotiators would have no trouble making up $7 billion of the shortage on the individual tax side. But senators were absolutely adamant against raising corporate taxes an additional $10 billion to bring the bill into balance. They simply refuse to believe the revenue estimates they are getting, Packwood said.

Budget cuts debate starts

AUSTIN (AP) — House members today began debating a spending cut plan that's a keystone of Speaker Gib Lewis' proposal to solve the state cash-flow problem without a tax hike.

Lewis predicted the cuts, totaling some $680 million, would win approval.

On Thursday, the state's largest business association backed Lewis' no-tax stance.

"Let's get the fat out first," Texas Association of Business Chairman George Baur of Houston told a news conference.

Also Thursday, Lewis backed off some from his proposal to take $1.1 billion from two trust funds dedicated to education, and the House Appropriations Committee voted to cut the price of personalized license plates.

The appropriations committee, which sent the $632.2 million budget-cut plan to the floor, Thursday approved a bill that would reduce the price of personalized license plates from $75 a year to $40 a year.

The plates had cost $25 a year until the 1985 Legislature hiked the fee to $75.

SHOOT COMMERCIAL — A video crew from Zoli Communications of California was in Snyder Thursday to film commercials promoting the city which will be shown during the upcoming telecasts of the AJRA National Finals Rodeo now underway at the Scurry County Coliseum. Pictured filming one spot on the square are local personalities Donna Fowler and Mike Dennis (center) along with (from left) cameraman Gene Shouse, sound man Steve Shaw and producer-director Zoli Vajda. Belgium lass learns American lifestyles

By Shirley A. Gorman
SDN News Editor

For the past several weeks Snyder has been fortunate to have several foreign exchange students visiting in the community. One such visitor is Christine Georis of Bastogne, Belgium who has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Chisum.

Georis' visit with the Chisums was arranged through the Lions Club International Youth Exchange Program. She arrived here July 14 and will return to her native country Sunday.

Georis' family consists of her father who is a veterinarian and her mother who is a nurse. She also has two brothers and two sisters.

Even though Georis' father was not a member of the Lions Club in Bastogne, friends of the family were and that is how this trip was arranged she explained. They asked her if she was interested and as soon as she said she was the trip was arranged.

Chisum, a member of the local Lions Club, said he first got involved in the exchange program when he heard Stan Powers of Slaton, Lions Club District Youth Exchange Director, speak to the local chapter. Afterwards the Chisums were shown resumes of the foreign students who had signed up for the exchange program and after they studied them, Chisum said they picked Georis.

"We thought it would be fun and interesting," he explained. "and it has turned out to be even better than we thought it would be."

"It's been a real pleasure to have her. We have been having a good time exchanging ideas about our different countries."

Earlier this summer they spent

AJRA rodeo....

Crown queen tonight

Roping, riding and steer wrestling continue to be top events at the AJRA National Finals Rodeo, but as the annual show moves into the weekend, it may be hard for some to keep their concentration.

The crowning of a new Miss AJRA, awarding of saddles and buckles, a parade, a barbecue, an auction and an exes rodeo - most under the scrutiny of television - will highlight the last few days of the annual rodeo.

Tonight's 8 p.m. performance will be highlighted by the crowning of the new Miss AJRA and the presentation of the six all-around saddles.

Candidates for Miss AJRA are Robin Wardlaw of Del Rio, Jamie Watkins of Odessa, Kody Newman of Stanton, Ralynn Key of Gail, Jamie Watkins of Odessa, Schelli Walls of Stephenville and Leslie Ward of Snyder.

The saddles are awarded to the top girls and boys in each of the three age divisions for their performances during the week.

Saturday's day ends with more presentations but it begins with pagentry. The first AJRA National Finals Rodeo parade begins at 1 p.m. Saturday with announcers Bob Tallman, Bobby Del Vecchio and Pam Minick as grand marshals. The parade will begin its procession at the corner of 30th and College Ave., proceding north on College Ave. to 25th St. At 25th, it will head east to Ave. R, then south to 26th St., east to Ave. 0, south to 30th and back west to College Ave.

Rodeo celebrities, including several former rodeo greats, will sign autographs at Bar-H-Bar and Koda Kountry following the parade.

At 4 p.m., the public is invited to attend a barbecue at the Towle

The feller on Deep Creek says, "If at first you don't succeed, try not to look surprised."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

James Roberts, in the Andrews County News, told about the unemployed petroleum engineer who was desperately seeking work. He accepted the job at a Texas zoo impersonating a kangaroo.

"He hopped about so well that he accidently jumped over the wall surrounding the lions den and attracted the attention of a ferocious looking beast.

"After the kangaroo impersonator's attempt to climb out of the pit was unsuccessful, he ripped off the top of his kangaroo suit and yelled to anyone who would listen: 'Help, help. I'm a man, not a kangaroo.'

"After the yelling continued, the lion edged up to him and growled: 'Shut up, you fool. Do you think you are the only unemployed engineer in this zoo?'"

O. G. Nieman, in the Hereford Brand, told about his neighbor and his wife whose vacation together across the United States became too much.

The man and his wife had driven for hours in silence after a big argument about where to stop for lunch. Both were determined not to budge. The husband finally pointed out a mule in a pasture.

"Relative of yours?" he asked.

"Yes," she replied. "By marriage."

The rest of the trip went without incident.

Walter Buckel, in the Lamesa Press-Reporter, told about a domestic complaint that came to the attention of the district court there.

The woman was complaining to the judge that the husband was careless about his appearance. "He hasn't shown up in two years," she said.

Ask Us

Q.–When the legal drinking age goes from 19 to 21 on Sept. 1, will those of us given the right to drink at 19 have that right taken away, or is there some type of grandfather clause?

A.–Our legal sources indicate that on Sept. 21, you must be 21 years of age to legally drink in Texas.

Prices decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices dropped 0.4 percent last month as fresh declines in gasoline prices more than offset slightly higher food costs. For the first seven months of 1986, wholesale prices fell at an annual rate of 6.2 percent.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I have a 40-year-old brother (I'll call him Ned) who is a convicted rapist. After serving a prison sentence on that charge, he was released, and then he sexually molested his 11-year-old stepdaughter. He is now in jail on that charge, but he'll be out soon.

My mother insists to this day that Ned is innocent — and in both cases it was the girl's fault!

I have a 6-year-old daughter, and I don't want Ned anywhere near my house, or my daughter. I would rather have her think she has no uncle. This is causing me no end of problems.

I'm afraid to let my mother babysit for my daughter for fear Ned will come over. To complicate matters, I offered to rent my upstairs to my aunt (my mother's sister), and when she found out I didn't want Ned around, she hit the roof. She said I have no right to limit her visitors. I feel if Ned is in her apartment, he's in my house. I fear him because I don't trust him.

I would rather not break ties totally with my mother and her family, but I feel like I'm being backed into a corner.

Please give me some objective advice.

PENNSYLVANIA PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: Your reasons for not wanting your brother near your home or your daughter are valid, and you have an obligation to do whatever is necessary to protect your daughter. Hold firm and don't give an inch!

DEAR ABBY: In the fall, my mother-in-law is moving into a small apartment directly behind our home. We will share a common yard and gardens. The woman is very nice, and even though elderly, is very self-sufficient. The problem: our privacy.

My husband and I have been married for only a year and a half. I know his mother won't be pestering us all the time, but I'm trying to find a nice way to tell her we need our privacy, should the need arise.

My husband and I both realize that we must extend certain "courtesies" from the very beginning, but how do we inform his relatives that just because they come to visit his mother doesn't necessarily mean that our doors are always open to them? His mother loves to talk, and I don't relish being "cornered" in the yard for hours listening to her go on and on about things I have no interest in.

Would it be advisable to lay down some ground rules for my mother-in-law and her family right from the start?

STARTING TO WORRY

DEAR STARTING: Yes, but do it with a minimum of militancy and a maximum of diplomacy. As my sainted mother used to say: You can catch more flies with honey than vinegar.

DEAR ABBY: I'm in my late 60s and profoundly deaf, but that is not my worst problem. I have a severe case of tinnitus, which is a chronic ringing sensation in my ears. My case is unbelievable. The sounds might be compared to a bad LSD trip without the psychedelic visions. They last sometimes as long as four days.

You, like most people, will probably think I'm a nut case. I hear music or singing, or both. The same compositions over and over. My last attack was a duet with a mezzo and a bass baritone. (Incidentally, the bass baritone was wonderful!)

Now, you probably think I am a nut for sure.

Would you be good enough to consult one of your authorities to verify the fact that I am not crazy? I believe that would be an otorhinolaryngologist. The very small town in which I live does not have such a specialist.

Hoping you can help me ...

HEARING THINGS
IN YORK, S.C.

DEAR HEARING: The American Tinnitus Association, P.O. Box 5, Portland, Ore. 97207, will refer you to the specialist nearest you. It will be well worth the trip. Please enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Governor White gets help from Connally, financiers

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White, trying to persuade the Legislature to endorse his temporary sales tax increase, is getting some high-powered help.

Joining White at his weekly news conference Thursday were former Gov. John Connally, Ben Love, chairman of Texas Commerce Bancshares, and Walter Mischer Sr., a Houston developer and chairman of Allied Bancshares.

All three said they supported White's call for a temporary sales tax increase to help solve the state budget deficit.

"I think the people of Texas are prepared for it. They understand the crisis that we face," Connally said.

House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, has voiced strong opposition to any tax increase now. He is the only one of the top three state officials to oppose higher taxes, saying he prefers to balance the books with spending cuts rather than tax hikes advocated by White and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Connally said raising taxes to help eliminate the projected $3.5 billion state budget deficit is the responsible course.

"We do need to cut expenses everywhere we can. But it's clear to me that's not going to be sufficient. We are going to have to have a tax program. I think the sooner we face up to it, the better," Connally said.

Connally, who was a Democrat when governor and in 1980 sought the Republican presidential nomination, said he doesn't believe backing a tax increase this election year is political suicide for White or legislators.

"I think they (voters) will reward responsibility with returning to office those who show responsibility and concern for the real future of this state," he said.

The four-way news conference followed a meeting of about 75 business and political leaders at the mansion. White described the session as non-partisan.

But politics came up during his discussion with reporters.

Connally said he isn't endorsing White, who is seeking re-election against former Gov. Bill Clements, the only Republican to hold the office this century.

Seated next to White, Connally said Clements is a long-time friend.

Clements insists that White's tax increase plan is wrong, and he has repeatedly criticized White as a tax-and-spend liberal.

Your Birthday

Aug. 16, 1986

You can be enormously successful in the year ahead if you involve yourself in the type of work you truly love. Ventures that start out rather modest can turn into something big.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A well-intentioned friend may offer you a helping hand today. It's best to politely decline if he or she is the type who always gums things up. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The aspects indicate that it may be wise today to avoid business risks. Also, don't advise others in fiscal matters unless you're ready to share the cost of failure.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't make waves on the home front today, because it won't take much to tip the scales from harmony to hostility. Any small infraction could do it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your temper might have a hair-trigger today. Be careful you don't lose it with someone who doesn't deserve your wrath.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Keep a tighter reign than usual today on situations that affect your material resources. Indifference or carelessness could lead to an avoidable loss.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you insist too much on having your own way today, you might encounter someone as resolute as yourself. This could create an impasse.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Favors you do for others today must be done out of the goodness of your heart. If you are being kind out of purely material motives, it's apt to backfire.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A poorly informed friend may try to encourage you today to take a gamble on something that neither of you knows much about. Don't let the blind lead the blind.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Ambition is a laudable trait, provided that in your quest for success you don't rub others the wrong way. Avoid abrasive tactics that could brand you as being too pushy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you deviate from your master plan today, you are likely to drift off on unproductive tangents. It could cause you to start many things but finish few.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In order for a joint venture to succeed today, both parties involved must perform effectively. As insurance, it would be wise to check one another's work.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There is a possibility that you and your mate might pull in divergent directions today in a matter that is equally important to both of you. Put your heads together.

Talk to doctor about medication

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Once my blood pressure returns with medication to normal, would it be safe to stop taking blood-pressure pills?

DEAR READER — As a general rule, no. It is because of the medicine that the blood pressure becomes normal. Therefore, stopping the pills would permit the blood pressure to rise to pre-treatment levels.

Nevertheless, some cases of hypertension seem to be only temporary. For example, obese patients might have a form of hypertension that will fall to normal when they lose weight.

Patients on anti-hypertensive drugs should have their blood pressures checked regularly. If the pressure falls, the physician often might be inclined to make a reduction in medicine. Occasionally, under medical supervision, patients might be able to stop treatment altogether. However, this is a decision best made by the doctor during a close medical follow-up.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My 5-year-old daughter has had repeated colds since birth. Her height and weight are below normal, but progressing. Her pediatrician just keeps pumping her full of medicine, the latest being Dimetapp. Should she see a specialist? Could allergies be causing this?

DEAR READER — Indeed, they could. Food allergies, in particular, can cause repeated symptoms resembling colds. Ask your pediatrician to consider referring your daughter to an allergist, preferably one who is familiar with food sensitivities.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I live alone and love orange juice. Each day I scoop out a tablespoon of frozen concentrate to mix up, then I replace the top of the container. My sister says this is dangerous and could lead to contamination. Am I doing the wrong thing?

DEAR READER — As long as the concentrate is frozen when you scoop it out, and when you replace the container in the freezer, I do not believe there is any harm in what you're doing.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I eat hot, chewy peppers, tabasco or grated red peppers with most of my meals. I am of Italian descent, and this is a tradition. Now I've heard that these foods can cause stomach problems and cancer. My grandfather died at 89 and never had any problem. What's the story?

DEAR READER — Highly spiced food certainly can cause stomach upset in the form of indigestion and heartburn. You apparently are immune to these symptoms. I am not aware that stomach cancer is a consequence of the products you eat, providing your diet is balanced.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My doctor says the Prednisone I take is the cause of my swollen abdomen. Once I stop the drug, will my abdomen return to normal size?

DEAR READER — That would depend on the reason you are taking Prednisone, a form of cortisone. Prednisone is known to cause fluid retention in patients who take it. However, I doubt that the drug is the sole cause of your abdominal swelling.

Dr. Gott's new Health Report on lung disease explains the causes and management of chronic lung problems. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to ask for Dr. Gott's Health Report, LIVING WITH CHRONIC LUNG DISEASE.

Houston dentist pleading guilty to police charge

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — A Houston oral surgeon who pleaded guilty to charges he tried to hire an undercover FBI agent from New Jersey to rape and murder his ex-wife will be denied bail pending sentencing.

U.S. District Judge John F. Gerry denied the request of S. Frederick Pullman on Thursday after the 45-year-old dentist entered the guilty plea to a single count of violating the federal murder-for-hire statue.

He faces a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $250,000 fine when sentenced Oct. 24.

Authorities said Pullman had offered to pay the agent $20,000 to carry out the slaying and make it look drug-related.

Gerry called the sentence "an incredibly little penalty for this crime."

Had the murder been carried out, Pullman would have faced life in prison. If someone had been hurt, the dentist would have faced a 20-year sentence.

Pullman and his ex-wife, Barbara Faller of New York, were divorced in 1981, and prosecutors said the murder scheme stemmed from disputes over child custody and alimony.

The defendant had arranged with sources in Houston for the murder, prosecutors said. He was put in contact with the undercover agent and made several telephone calls to the Bellmawr, N.J., FBI office to arrange the slaying, prosecutors said.

Pullman and the agent met July 3 at Newark International Airport in Newark, where the agent accepted a $2,000 down payment for the job.

Prosecutors said they believed Pullman requested the meeting in Newark because it is near New York, where Ms. Faller lives with the couple's two children.

Pullman told the agent he didn't want his children to see the remains, but didn't stipulate how the murder should be carried out, prosecutors said.

He was arrested without incident July 16 in Houston, the day after an indictment was unsealed in Newark.

In arguing for bail, attorney Timothy Telge of Houston said his client would not be likely to flee or be a threat to Ms. Faller.

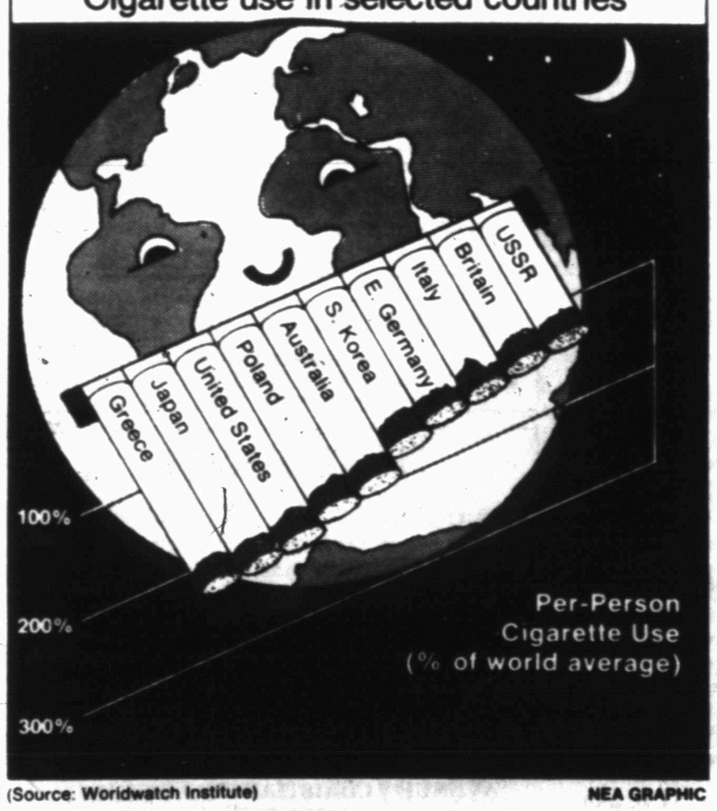

"There are some business affairs he'd like to clear up," Telge said. "He has been an outstanding member of society. Dr. Pullman has no access to organized crime persons."

Gerry denied the request, saying, "I don't think he's going to flee, but surely the conduct to which he has now admitted would certainly pose a risk to his former wife, if no one else."

Pullman's current wife, Susan, showed little emotion as she sat in the back of the courtroom with the couple's toddler, Rory. Mrs. Pullman declined to comment on the proceedings.

To turn into jail...

Sheriff wants to buy school

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Nueces County Sheriff James T. Hickey has so much money confiscated in narcotics raids that he proposes to buy an old school building and turn it into a jail.

Hickey wants to buy the building and make it a minimum security facility.

He's got the cash — nearly three-quarters of a million dollars.

The sheriff's department has $740,725.86 on deposit at a local bank, money seized in eight narcotics raids by deputies.

Hickey will propose to the Nueces County Commissioners Court that the department buy the old Savage Elementary School in Corpus Christi. The purchase and renovation would cost an estimated $450,000, he said.

The sheriff won't be able to spend the money until the cases are disposed of in state district courts. But Hickey said he is confident that the money will be released.

Money accumulated by the sheriff's department through narcotics raids may be spent by the sheriff for law enforcement purposes. The funds are audited by the county auditor.

The proposed minimum security facility for about 90 prisoners is in addition to the planned $3 million expansion of the Nueces County Jail. Part of the funding for that project will come from a bond issue approved by voters last November.

The expansion will add 144 beds to the county jail, giving it a capacity of 435.

A minimum security prison is needed, Hickey said, because some prisoners need to be segregated from the general inmate population.

The problem at the jail now is more than not having enough beds, he said.

"Any time I have more than 275 prisoners, I have a problem in classifying and segregating prisoners," Hickey said.

He said he is in violation of the Texas jail standards most of the time because he can't keep all prisoners segregated according to classes, such as first offenders, youth offenders, misdemeanor offenders and felony offenders.

And although the county jail capacity is currently 291, Hickey said it often reaches 400.

"Expansion is two years away. I've got a problem now. The day they open the expansion I'll be able to fill the beds in both," Hickey told the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

Hickey said he has already negotiated with the school building's owners, B.E. Beecroft and Fred W. Heldenfels III, for purchase of the property. Hickey said he has asked architect Robert Kipp to make renovation estimates.

Beecroft and Heldenfels bought the property from the city school district after the school was closed in 1980.

Though the money is in a sheriff's account, the capital expenditure must be approved by Commissioners Court.

The right time to break a rule

By James Jacoby

What is the right card to lead from Q-5-4-2? The fourth-best card is the two, and that, of course, is the standard lead, taught for more than 50 years by teachers and experts alike. Still, all rules have exceptions.

When the low spade was led, declarer played low from dummy and East won the nine. A little imagination would now have served East well, since a low club back would defeat the contract. (West would win the heart ace, play a second club to East's ace and get a club ruff.) But East was not up to that play. Instead, he returned the seven of hearts. West won the ace and finally led the spade queen, but it was too late. Declarer ruffed, drew the remaining trumps and forced out the club ace for an easy 10 tricks.

Because North's two no-trump bid tells West that any spade strength held by his opponents will be in the dummy, he should reject the standard lead and instead lead the queen of spades on the go. The result is apparent. Whether or not the queen is covered in dummy, a second spade will be played, forcing declarer to ruff. Then when the ace of trumps is dislodged, another spade will be played. That reduces South's trumps to the same number as West's. Since East still has the club ace, declarer will not be able to draw trumps and enjoy the club suit, and so the contract will fail.

You can certainly play bridge better if you know the rules. Just remember that there are occasions when it's right to break them.

Clements says no to taxes

HOUSTON (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Bill Clements says the governor's office needs to either merge or eliminate low priority programs to help deal with an anticipated $3.5 billion budget shortfall.

Speaking before about 250 members of the Southwest Chemical Association on Thursday, Clements criticized Gov. Mark White, saying he has gone on a spending spree.

Texas' tax revenues have grown $3 billion per year since 1982, and the state doesn't need to be taxed more, Clements said.

"We do not need new taxes," Clements said. "Revenues are ample. I'm opposed to the liberal Democratic philosophy of tax, tax, tax and spend, spend, spend."

White has proposed a temporary sales tax increase to help cover the projected budget shortfall of $3.5 billion.

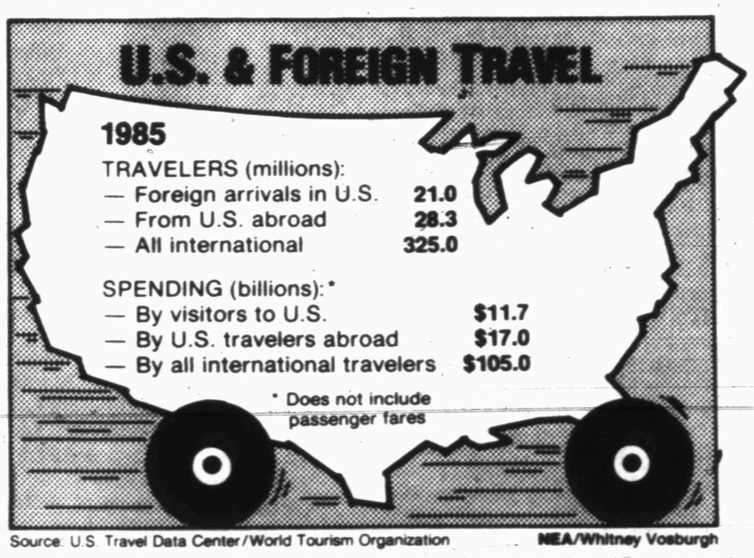

"Texas tax revenues are up 38 percent from January 1983 through January 1986," Clements said. "And the first nine months this fiscal year, Texas revenues are up 14.7 percent."

The state can avoid a budget shortfall by living within its revenues, he said.

Although Clements said the governor's office needs to organize its programs, merging some and dropping others, he added that he would retain the 51 percent of state tax revenues spent on education.

Clements also said White should contact his Democrat colleagues in the U.S. House of Representatives to protect the oil depletion allowance and the intangible drilling fee provision.

The former governor also criticized White for not establishing a good working relationship with President Reagan, citing White's absence at the recent oil summit meeting at the White House.

Swindle to pastor Episcopal church

A Navy veteran born and reared in Louisiana, the Rev. Frank M. Swindle, Jr., has accepted the call to become vicar of three missions in Northwest Texas.

Swindle was recommended to the Rt. Rev. Sam B. Hulsey, bishop of Northwest Texas, by the bishop's committees of Sweetwater, Colorado City and Snyder on May 15. Bishop Hulsey issued the call on May 27.

The three missions, St. Stephen's in Sweetwater, All Saints of Colorado City, and St. John's of Snyder, have been working together in the search for a vicar.

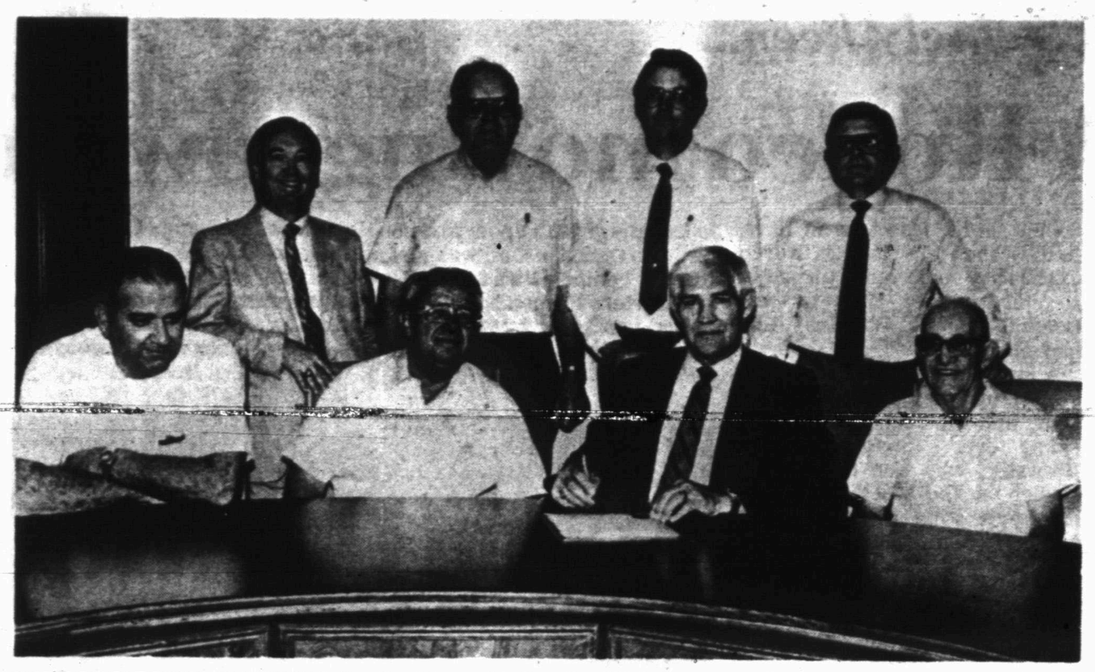

Sweetwater has been without resident Episcopal clergy since Sept. 1, 1984, when the Rev. James L. Considine retired and moved to Lake Coleman. Colorado City and Snyder were served by the Rev. Monte Jones, who moved to Sonora Oct. 1, 1984.

Swindle, who holds a bachelor's degree from Northeast Louisiana University in Monroe, La., was born in Monroe, attended high school in Monroe and moved to Northwest Texas from Monroe, where he was the curate of Grace Church.

Before entering the seminary, he worked as a schoolteacher in Tampa, Fla., and as a Navy communications technician, serving in the North Africa and Far East areas.

Since his 1973 graduation from the school of theology of the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. Swindle has served congregations in New Orleans, DeRidder, Leesville, Lake Charles, and Monroe, all in Louisiana.

He and his wife, Gloria, a science teacher, are parents of a daughter, Beth, who will be 14-years-old on Aug. 21.

US ties analyzed

WASHINGTON (AP) — This week's visit of Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid went off with no apparent hitches, but it has done little to ease the undercurrent of uneasiness in U.S.-Mexican relations.

The visit got off to a good start Tuesday when Secretary of State George P. Shultz, returning from an appointment in San Francisco, arrived at Andrews Air Force Base precisely five minutes ahead of de la Madrid, thus enabling Shultz to give him the appropriate high-level welcome.

As in their four previous meetings, Reagan and de la Madrid appeared to get along well. After their 2½-hour meeting Wednesday, both praised the efforts of the other's government to achieve a more cooperative relationship.

The issue, however, is not whether de la Madrid is a man of virtue and ability, but whether he or any other Mexican president can cope with the deepening crisis Mexico faces.

On this issue, administration officials seem to be divided.

Some appear confident that de la Madrid's Institutional Revolutionary Party, which has dominated Mexican politics for 57 years, will be able to overcome the challenges before it, much as it has done in the past.

But other officials wonder whether the current array of problems may be too much even for a party as resilient and resourceful as the PRI.

What troubles these officials is that a number of the problems have direct bearing on the United States — steady flows of illegal aliens and narcotics to this country as well as a $96.7 billion foreign debt, much of it owed to U.S. banks.

Added to these is the allegation by U.S. Customs commissioner William von Raab that "ingrained corruption" hampers the anti-narcotics drive in Mexico and the claim by opposition parties that the ruling establishment rigs elections to maintain power.

Lincoln-Mercury bestows award on Wilson Motors

Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Company has awarded Wilson Motors a silver award in the division's "Great Performer" program for 1985. This national award is given to Lincoln-Mercury dealerships for outstanding performance in customer satisfaction and sales.

"We're especially pleased to win this award because it is based not only on sales totals, but on customer satisfaction," said Bill Wilson. "In effect, customers picked the winners of this award."

"Independent national surveys have consistently named Lincoln-Mercury dealers as having the highest level of customer satisfaction of any domestic automobile dealers," Wilson said. "So to be singled out as a top Lincoln-Mercury dealer is a real honor."

Great Performers award winners were chosen on two criteria: market penetration and quality of sales and service. New car sales were totaled for each dealership and compared to local and national averages. In addition, new car buyers were surveyed to determine their level of satisfaction with each dealership, and compared to local and national averages on a "Customer Satisfaction Index."

Top performers in the program were awarded a silver with gold medallion, followed by a silver medallion level, a bronze with silver medallion level and a bronze level.

Medical report says drug reduces heart attack risk

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A newly released medical report, based on a study conducted in part in San Antonio, indicates the drug diltiazem can prevent serious heart attacks in patients who have suffered minor attacks.

Fifty South Texas victims of small heart attacks participated in the study at Audie L. Murphy Memorial Veterans Administration Hospital. They were among 576 patients in North America who took part in the study.

Results of the four-year study were published in Thursday's editions of the New England Journal of Medicine.

The study showed that diltiazem, a calcium-blocking drug, reduced the occurrence of a second heart attack by 51 percent.

"What it means is that here is the first treatment that has been shown to reduce the incidence of recurrent heart attacks in these patients," explained Dr. Michael Crawford, principal investigator of the local research project.

Crawford, a co-author of the journal report, said a minor heart attack does not cut off all blood to the heart.

"Although this usually means less extensive injury to the heart, these patients run a 15 percent to 20 percent risk of having a second heart attack within a year."

Local Nazarenes planning VBS

The Church of the Nazarene will conduct its Vacation Bible School next Monday through Friday. Classes will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily with children bringing sack lunches. Drinks and cookies will be provided.

Brenda Coutouzis will serve as director of the week-long program. The theme is "Learning From Bible Heroes."

"The goal of this summer's VBS is to help children from preschool age through young teens develop the spiritual dimension of their lives. This will be accomplished through a study of Bible heroes from the Old Testament," Coutouzis said.

American photographer died of second bout with illness

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — A former Corpus Christi, Texas photographer who died of altitude sickness during a Sino-American expedition on the upper reaches of the Yangtze River in China had an earlier bout with the illness at the onset of the trip.

David Shippee, 29, of Boise died Aug. 3 of pulmonary edema — fluid in the lungs — a complication of altitude sickness, Chinese authorities reported.

The crew buried him the next day along the Tuotuohe River, a Yangtze tributary, in a grave marked with yellow and black kayak paddles and American and Chinese flags. They were 10 days from the nearest point from which they could relay word of Shippee's death.

"I don't know why they let him go back on the trip," said his wife, Margit Shippee, who learned of the death on Thursday. Shippee was a photographer for the Idaho Statesman.

A native of St. Paul, Minn., Shippee started his career at the Corpus Christi Caller-Times as a photographer in 1982. He graduated from the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis in 1981 with a bachelor's degree in journalism.

Shippee, who was on a leave of absence to photograph the expedition, developed altitude sickness at the onset of the trip in July when the crew set up a base camp at 14,000 feet near the town of Tuotuoheyan.

Dr. David Gray, an emergency medicine specialist from Corpus Christi Medical Center sent Shippee back to Golmud, at 10,000 feet, to recuperate.

Gray had found fluid in Shippee's lung, according to John Wilcox, an independent film producer who had been preparing a documentary on the expedition for ABC television network.

Shippee rested two weeks in Golmud, but Wilcox said he was told if he had doubts about his condition, he should return to the United States. But in mid-July, Shippee said he felt fine and wanted to meet the crew at Tuotuoheyan when it returned from the Tanggulas, Wilcox said.

"He was eager to get back to the group," Wilcox said Thursday from Aspen, Colo., home.

In his last letter to his wife, Shippee wrote that Gray had been placed on probation by expedition leader Ken Warren, 59, Portland. Shippee wrote that Gray was "on probation until we get to Yushu because he overrode Ken's authority and sent me to a lower elevation when I was sick. Ken said from now on he makes all the decisions on what to do with sick expedition members because 'I have more experience than the doctor does.'"

Shippee also wrote that when Warren handed out evaluations of the crew, Shippee was given a mediocre evaluation for becoming ill and missing the first leg, Mrs. Shippee said.

When Shippee rejoined the group, he immediately became ill again. Wilcox, who was contacted by China Sports Service, a government sports agency in Peking, said he was told that despite constant medical attention from Gray, Shippee died.

The expedition continued toward its destination, Yibin, elevation 797 feet.

Shippee met Warren while working on a Statesman photo assignment in 1985. Warren, an adventurer who was the first man to raft the upper Ganges River in India, was floating the Owyhee River in Oregon to prepare for his Yangtze expedition.

Warren contacted Shippee in May about photographing the expedition.

Shippee later wrote of his reaction: "My body was shaking so much that I couldn't speak... I paced the floor, dragging the phone off the counter until it crashed on the floor. I was incoherent."

Ask The Preacher

About questions "from a layman about baptism."

A list of interesting questions about baptism was printed in this paper last week. Those questions were very thought-provoking and I believe they deserve some careful, Biblical answers.

Since it takes less space to ask these questions than to answer them, I'll answer them all, in order, in the next few weekly columns.

The first question asks, "Did you know the word 'immersion' is not in the Bible?"

This question, unfortunately, bases itself on a false premise. The Greek word, "BAPTIZO" appears in the New Testament over 100 times! The Greek-English dictionaries tell us that this word "BAPTIZO" has, as its FIRST meaning, "to immerse." For example, Vine's Expository Dictionary of New Testament Words says that this word denotes "the processes of immersion, submersion and emergence" - page 96.

Our English versions have done us something of a disservice by not using the English word "immersion" more often (though some do use it). A strict interpretation of Greek scripture would force us to always use "immersion", but, because of doctrinal differences, the major versions have chosen to use the less specific English word, 'baptism'.

The second question asks, "Did you know the Israelites were baptized when they crossed the Red Sea, and water didn't touch them?" Yes, that is true, and it is an interesting point. However, this usage (found in 1st Cor. 10:2) is a FIGURATIVE use of the word "baptize." We do the same thing today. For example, when we speak of a soldier's first experience in combat, we say that he had his "baptism of fire." But the fire didn't touch him! It is a figurative use, to describe an overwhelming experience.

Please see this column next week for answers to more of these questions.

AJRA Rodeo moving toward fast finish

Action at the AJRA National Finals Rodeo has been as quick as the official timer's stopwatch and it promises to be on record pace again tonight, pausing only briefly for the crowning of Miss AJRA for 1986-87.

Rebecca Powers of Sonora will step down after crowning the new Miss AJRA. Candidates are Ralynn Key of Gail, Kody Newman of Stanton, Schelli Walls of Stephenville, Leslie Ward of Snyder, Robin Wardlaw of Del Rio and Jamie Watkins of Odessa.

Also highlighting tonight's 8 o'clock show will be the presentation of six all-around saddles, going to the all-around cowboy and cowgirl in each of the three age divisions.

While several contestants try for a final time to move into the average, at least one event - the goat tying - was decided Thursday.

Waxahachie cowgirl Shanna Sigler became the average champion in the 12-and-under goat tying. Her total time of 18.50 on two head edged the 20.15 posted by Tammi Stevens of Odessa.

In the girls 13-15 age group, Manor's Mitzi Mayes clocked a 16.81 to win over Stephenville's Schelli Walls, who had an 18.14. And, in the 16-19 division, Karen Cochran of Aspermont turned in a total time of 17.89 to best Odessa's Jamie Watkins, who had an 18.79.

A local cowboy meanwhile set himself up to be champion for the year, and the rodeo, in the bull riding event. Snyder's Adam Brewster, who won the first-go earlier in the week, scored a crowd-cheering 80 Thursday night. He is almost a cinch winner now in the bull riding. Brewster also won the first-go in the bareback. He will compete in the second-go tonight. Derek Reeves of Godley leads the second-go with a 64.

Cory McFadden of Crane gave the crowd of 1,125 another thrill when he posted a 71 in the boys 12-and-under steer riding. Snyder's J.J. Kincheloe scored a 62 to hold down second place in the go-round.

One of Thursday's best battles was between Jim Smith of Del Rio and Keith Hudson of Paradise. Smith took first place in the 16-19 age calf roping with a 7.81. Hudson, who rodeos for Western Texas College, was second with a 9.88. The two all-around talents reversed the order in the steer wrestling as Hudson clocked a 6.17 and Smith a 7.70.

In other action from Thursday slack and the performance:

- Snyder's Leddy Lewis clocked a 9.90 to lead the boys 12-under ribbon roping.

- Lorissa Edmondson of Roby zipped around the barrels in 14.85 to lead the girls 12-under division. Kelly Jo Ogden of Gail was just a fraction behind with a 14.99.

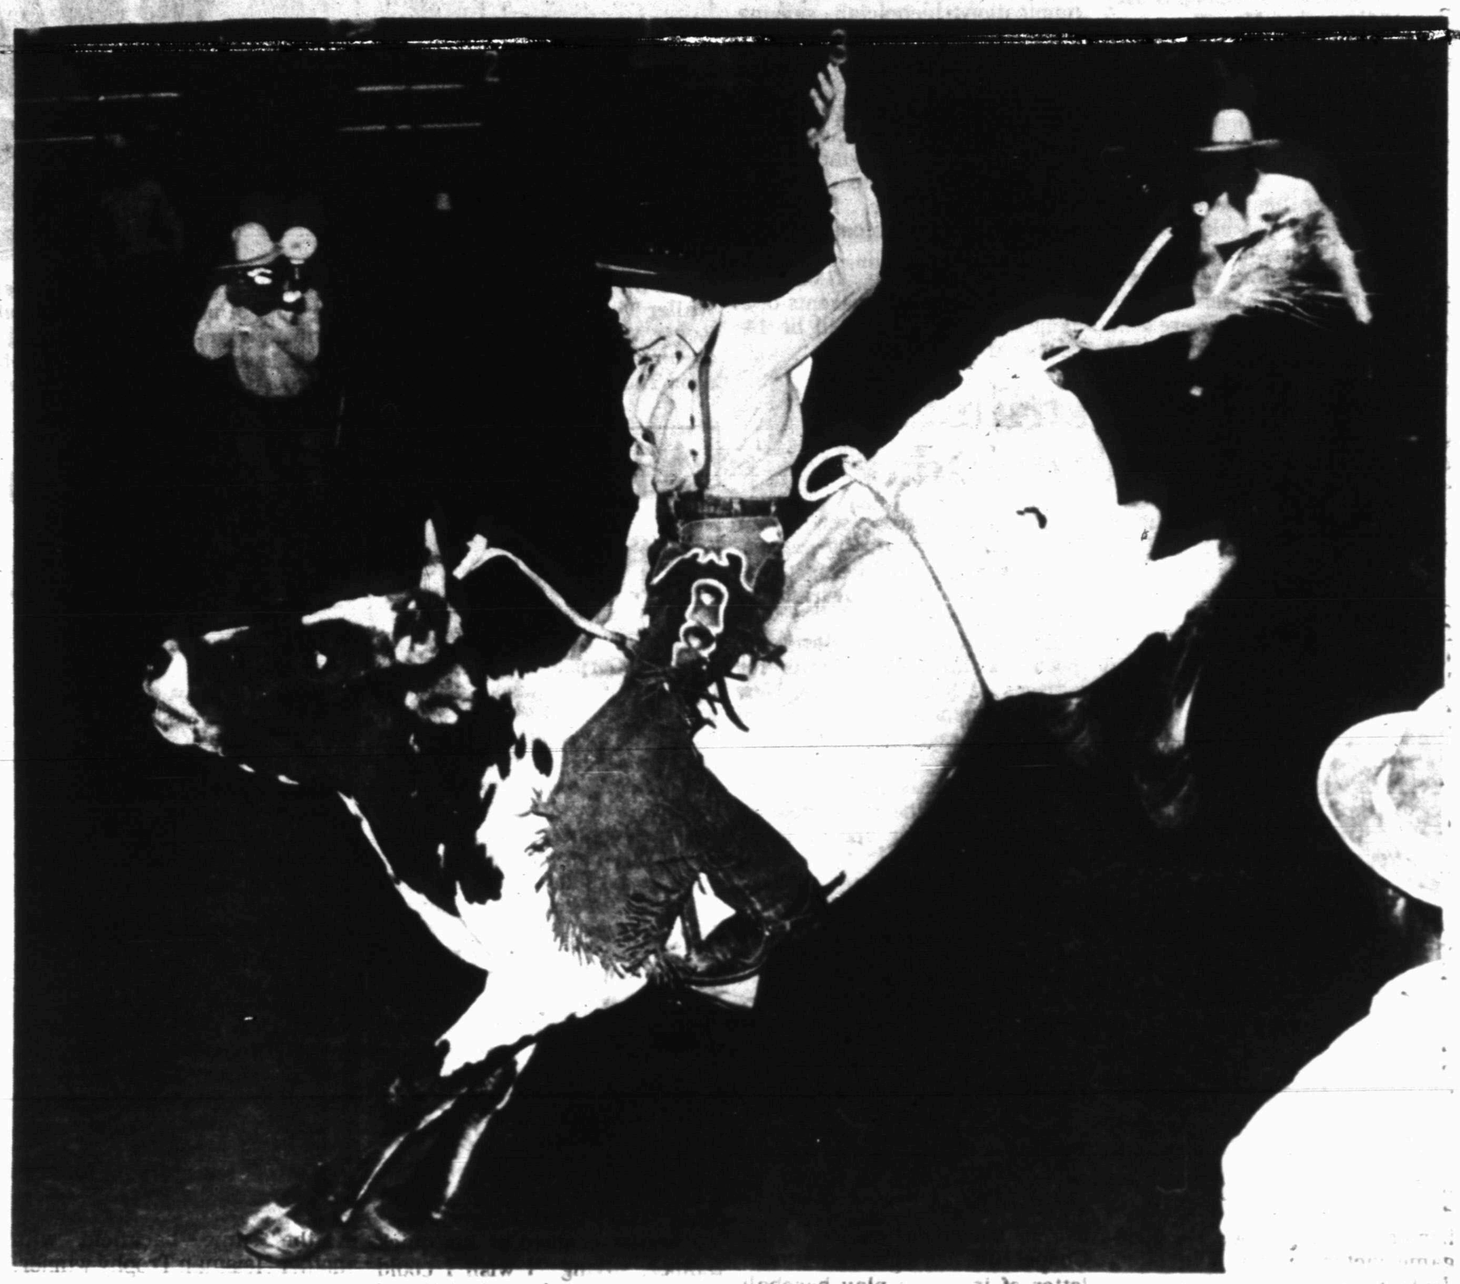

- Carter Edmondson, Roby, turned in a scant 2.21 to take the lead in the boys 13-15 age breakaway roping. Chad Houck of Henrietta was second with a 2.59 and Marty Yates of Corsicana was just off the pace with a 2.97.

- Dripping Springs' cowboy Canyon Clowdus took the lead in the boys 16-19 ribbon roping with a 4.89.

The rodeo continues Saturday evening as the season's top four contestants in each event go head-to-head for cash. Saturday's performance will be telecast, live in some areas and on a tape delay basis in others. Portions of tonight's show will also be aired.

Bacon shot

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former Washington Redskins defensive end Coy Bacon, who was recently charged with possessing cocaine, was shot and critically wounded at his home outside Washington, D.C. early today, officials said.

LOCAL COWBOY – Snyder's J.J. Kincheloe holds on during Thursday's steer riding event. The youngster scored a 62 to place second in the second-go so far. The rodeo continues tonight and Saturday night with performances at 8. Tonight, Miss AJRA will be crowned and six all-around saddles will be presented. (SDN Staff Photo)

Boston bats finally wake up; Rangers blast Brewers, 8-2

by The Associated Press

The Boston Red Sox, carried by their pitching most of the season, figure it's about time their bats came alive.

Averaging just 3½ runs per game since July 26, the Red Sox collected 18 hits Thursday night in an 11-6 victory over the Kansas City Royals that improved Boston's lead to four games over New York in the American League East.

"We've got 48 games left," said Dwight Evans, who had one of Boston's three homers. "We have to win about 35 of them. We're starting to swing the bats and we have the pitching. Going down the stretch, it looks real good."

In other AL games, it was Chicago 8, Detroit 2; Baltimore 12, Cleveland 2; Texas 8, Milwaukee 2; and Minnesota 14, Seattle 1.

Rangers 8, Brewers 2

Texas collected five consecutive hits in the second inning off 15-game winner Ted Higuera before Ruben Sierra capped the six-run rally with a three-run homer off Milwaukee reliever Chris Bosio.

Higuera, 15-8, whose shortest stint in 24 previous starts this season was 2 2-3 innings on June 23, was relieved without retiring a batter in the second, and he was charged with five runs.

Dale Mohorcic pitched the eighth inning for Texas and tied an American League record with appearances in eight consecutive games. The record was set by Boston's Bennett Flowers in 1953.

Orioles 12, Indians 2

Storm Davis pitched his first complete game since April 20 and was backed by a 17-hit Baltimore attack, including four by Lee Lacy and three by Eddie Murray, that handed Cleveland its fourth straight loss.

Lacy extended his hitting streak to 15 games.

Twins 14, Mariners 1

Mickey Hatcher knocked in four of his career-high five runs with a double in Minnesota's four-run third inning and a single in the seven-run fourth against Seattle.

With seven-hit pitching, Mark Portugal, 3-8, posted his first complete-game victory of the season.

White Sox 8, Tigers 2

Ron Hassey drove in three runs with two doubles and Jose DeLeon continued his comeback with his third victory in four decisions as visiting Chicago bombed Detroit.

"It's so good to have some runs," said DeLeon, who allowed four of the Tigers' six hits in 5 1-3 innings. "It's hard to believe I'm 3-1 and last year I was 2-19 (at Pittsburgh). Everything has been so good for me here."

Astros look like champs

by The Associated Press

The Houston Astros keep looking like a championship team. They get timely hitting, consistent pitching and have another trademark - they can come from behind to win.

"We've just got something started that won't seem to stop," Glenn Davis said after his RBI single capped a three-run comeback in the eighth inning Thursday night for a 3-2 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The late surge, against Fernando Valenzuela, gave the Astros a five-game margin in the National League West, matching their largest lead of the season. San Francisco is in second place while Los Angeles, after losing three out of four in Houston, is nine games behind.

The Astros have won 13 of their last 17 home games. Nine of those victories have come in Houston's final at-bat.

In other NL games, Atlanta beat San Diego 7-3, Philadelphia got past Pittsburgh 8-7, Montreal downed Chicago 5-4 in 10 innings, Cincinnati defeated San Francisco 2-0 and New York split a doubleheader with St. Louis, winning the opener 4-3 and losing the second game 5-1.

Mets 4, Cardinals 3
Cardinals 5, Mets 1

Rick Horton and Pat Perry teamed on a three-hitter and Andy Van Slyke hit a two-run homer, giving St. Louis a second-game victory and a split of its doubleheader in New York.

In the first game, Kevin Mitchell hit a two-run homer and singled home the tiebreaking run in the ninth inning.

Braves 7, Padres 3

Ken Griffey hit a two-out grand slam that broke a 3-3 tie in the eighth inning and sent Atlanta past San Diego.

Reds 2, Giants 0

John Denny pitched a three-hitter and had an RBI single, sparking Cincinnati over visiting San Francisco.

Denny, 10-10, walked none and fanned eight, including striking out the side in the ninth inning.

Pete Rose went 3-for-4 for the Reds. Rose has eight hits in his last 11 at-bats and has raised his average to a season-high .229.

Expos 5, Cubs 4

Tom Nieto, Montreal's reserve catcher, hit his first home run of the season with two outs in the bottom of the 10th inning, leading the Expos past Chicago.

Nieto fouled off several 3-2 pitches from Ron Davis, 0-1, before homering over the left-field wall. Davis, who entered in the ninth inning, was making his first appearance for the Cubs since being acquired in a trade with Minnesota this week.

Lubbock grad joins WTC Duster team

Two-time all-district 4-5A choice Nancy Bals will be joining Coach Kelly Chadwick's Western Texas College Dusters this fall.

Bals, a graduate from Lubbock High School, was all-city as a sophomore, junior and senior and was all-district 4-5A as a junior and a senior.

The 5-10½ freshman scored 32 points against Tascosa, which still serves as a Lubbock High School girl's record.

Bals concentrated on her studies and basketball while attending Lubbock High. When she was not receiving honors such as all-tournament in the Caprock or Andrews tournaments, she was putting together a 3.6 grade point average.

She was on the honor roll at Lubbock High, involved in the National Honor Society and named to Who's Who.

She hasn't decided on a major, but wants to study psychology.

"What I especially like about Nancy is she is a tremendous competitor," said Coach Chadwick. "She's a very good shooter, too. She needs to learn to play better defense and her ballhandling skills are not real good yet because as a post player in high school she didn't have to be able to do that. I think she can make the move from post player to the perimeter. I really think that in time she'll be a very good defensive ballplayer."

Won't renegotiate, either...

Schramm won't trade Dorsett

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - A contrite Tony Dorsett admits he flew off the handle over Herschel Walker's contract. He says he wishes it was uncharacteristic.

"The contract surprised everybody," says the 10-year veteran Dallas Cowboys' running back. "I flew into a rage. I showed a lot of immaturity."

Dorsett, who asked to be traded and warned he could be a "disruptive force" on the team, said Thursday instead of popping off publicly "I should have gone behind closed doors (with club president Tex Schramm). I might have handled it a lot better."

Then he laughed at his quick temper, saying "I wish I could say it was uncharacteristic of me."

Schramm said he will not trade Dorsett no matter how much he protests Walker's five-year, $5 million contract.

"I told him I didn't even intend to talk about trading him," Schramm said. "We'd never trade Tony. He is too much a part of our organization."

Schramm said "Tony would like to pull back what he said. He feels sorry he let it flow out. He didn't mean it. He was just mad and being egged on by the media."

"My feelings haven't changed a great deal," Dorsett said. "I had a nice conversation with Tex so they would know where my head is at and I know where they are at."

Dorsett did not repeat he wanted to be traded but did not take it back.

Asked about the reaction of the fans, he said "I'm not worried about the boo birds. They don't put bread and butter on the table. They have a tendency to forgive and forget."

Schramm said he and Dorsett "shook hands before he left. Sure, he was still a little hurt but he'll be OK. He's a good kid, a good man."

Schramm said things would be fine once Walker gets back to camp.

"Things will calm down, life goes on," Schramm said. "We've got a football game coming up."

Walker, who is expected to practice in a Cowboys' uniform for the first time today, agreed to a guaranteed contract on Wednesday.

Asked if he would renegotiate Dorsett's contract, Schramm replied, "I feel comfortable with his contract."

Dorsett, who had fallen into financial trouble over several sour business ventures, missed training camp last year until the Cowboys' renegotiated his contract.

Dorsett, who has a salary of $450,000 per year, had originally welcomed the thought of playing in the same backfield with another Heisman Trophy winner, but was steamed when details of Walker's contract came out.

"If this team does not pay me like they are paying their other back, I would suggest strongly that the team try to trade me or pay me because I'll be very unhappy and ... I can be a very disruptive force," said Dorsett.

"I don't want to be here. When you pay a guy more than me, you've told me he's your back. I'm not second fiddle to anyone."

Walker was to return from personal business in New Jersey and attend but not play in Saturday night's exhibition game in Los Angeles against the Raiders.

Schramm said he can remember grumbling among the Cowboys' players when Dorsett was signed in 1977.

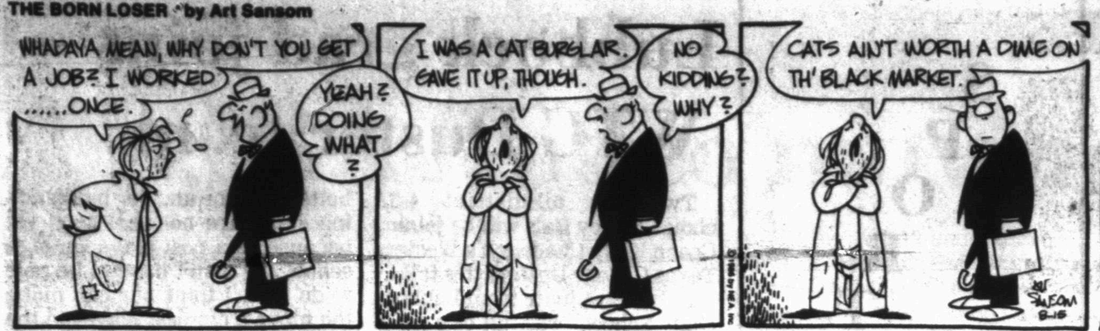

"It's just a historic thing," Schramm said. "Tony came in as the Heisman Trophy winner out of Pittsburgh and got a big salary and some of the veterans started grumbling. It happens every year with No. 1 draft choices. It's a fact of the game."

Agent's beating protested by U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today protested what it called "the unprovoked and totally unjustified detention and torture" of a U.S. drug agent who officials said was beaten by Mexican state police.

"We are submitting a note of protest to the Mexican government," White House spokesman Larry Speakes said in a written statement about the beating of Drug Enforcement Administration officer Victor Cortez Jr. on Wednesday.

Attorney General Edwin Meese, appearing on NBC-TV's "Today" show, confirmed that Cortez had been beaten by police in the Mexican state of Jalisco and said the United States is "not going to stand for this kind of conduct."

Meese called the action "a most serious and very disturbing occurrence" but added that it "does not represent either the approach or the commitments we have received from the president of Mexico and the attorney general there" to combat drug trade along the U.S.-Mexican border.

Meese spoke one day after Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid ended a two-day official visit to Washington, during which he pledged to President Reagan his cooperation in the administration's efforts to fight drug trafficking.

The attorney general said that the United States is working with Mexican authorities and "we have the assurances of the Mexican attorney general that they will investigate and get to the bottom of this — as we are."

But, Meese added, "there's no question that our agent was badly treated, and we're not going to stand for this kind of conduct."

This was the second incident involving U.S. drug agents in Mexico. DEA special agent Enrique Camarena Salazar was kidnapped in February 1985. He was later found slain and a top Mexican drug dealer now in custody is suspected of masterminding the killing.

Cortez was seized in the neighborhood where Camarena Salazar was kidnapped.

Meese described the two incidents as "isolated."

"These are exceptions to what has been a day-to-day working relationship that our people have had with the officials particularly of the attorney general's office in Mexico and the police officials that are working for him," the attorney general said.

"The Mexican authorities have removed from office many police officials, many prosecutors, many judges; they have arrested others; they are prosecuting a number of people down there. So we are very hopeful that the cooperation we have been pledged will be a reality."

In Mexico City, the chief spokesman for the federal attorney general's office said Cortez had been "held one or two hours while he was identified."

"A report that he was beaten is false," said Francisco Fonseca, the chief spokesman.

The attorney general's office in the Mexican state of Jalisco said Thursday that Cortez was picked up when his stakeout of a house in Guadalajara, 300 miles northwest of Mexico City, aroused neighbors' suspicions.

Meese and Vice President George Bush on Thursday announced "Operation Alliance," a program in cooperation with Mexico to stem drug smuggling across the 2,000-mile border. Meese said it would be "the most widespread interdiction program on our land borders in law enforcement history."

U.S. officials said the new U.S.-Mexico program will include hundreds of new federal agents and millions of dollars worth of sophisticated equipment.

The focus of the program will be to expand investigations of large drug trafficking rings and drug money-laundering operations, Meese said at the news conference.

About 35 percent of the heroin, 30 percent of the marijuana and 30 percent of the cocaine coming into the United States comes from Mexico, he said.

Man injured in assault; car driven into home

A 35-year-old Snyder man was admitted to Cogdell Memorial Hospital Thursday evening after apparently being beaten with a hammer.

Listed in stable condition Friday morning was Valentino Carrisalez Jr. of 2800 Ave. D.

He was injured during the course of a fight at his residence which also included a car being driven into his house.

Police were initially called to the scene at 10:01 p.m. by neighbors who reported a fight in progress with knives and possible gunshots.

Three suspects were jailed in connection with the assault on Carrisalez and the vandalism of his house.

Being held in the Scurry County Jail Friday morning in lieu of bonds were 22-year-old Jesse Medrano, 21-year-old Rafael Vera and 32-year-old Manuel Medrano, all of Snyder.

Jesse Medrano is charged with one felony count of aggravated assault and two misdemeanor counts of reckless conduct. His bonds were set at $10,000 on the felony charge and $500 on each of the misdemeanors.

Vera was charged with one count of aggravated assault and one count of felony criminal mischief in connection with driving the car into the house.

Vera's bonds were set at $10,000 on the assault charge and $5,000 on the criminal mischief charge.

Manuel Medrano was charged with a single count of felony criminal mischief in connection with the actions with the car and his bond was set at $5,000.

Violence reported in Pakistan

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP) — Anti-government protesters today stormed and burned government facilities in several towns and five people were shot in a gun battle with police in the second straight day of clashes, witnesses said.

The most prominent government opponent, Benazir Bhutto, remained in jail after being arrested in Karachi on Thursday after addressing a protest rally and trying to lead an anti-government march.

From hiding, other opposition leaders issued a call for a nationwide general strike. Some shopkeepers and business owners in Karachi, Pakistan's largest city, were reported to be supporting the strike.

Salman Taseer, a spokesman in Lahore for the opposition Movement for the Restoration of Democracy, said anti-government groups nationwide were being told to prepare for demonstrations Monday.

The opposition groups are demanding that President Mohammad Zia ul-Haq step down and elections be held. Zia, a general who seized power in a 1977 coup, lifted martial law last Dec. 30 but has insisted elections will not be held until 1990.

Zia was in Saudia Arabia on a pilgrimage to Mecca, site of the holiest Moslem shrine, and is expected to return to this predominantly Moslem nation of 88 million next week.

Street fighting that accompanied opposition rallies Thursday left at least four people dead.

Today, thousands of riot police wearing armor and steel helmets and carrying clubs and rifles moved through Lahore and Karachi in trucks and buses. Many districts in both cities were largely deserted.

Five people, including two police officers, were shot in the southern town of Phatta when authorities charged an opposition march and fired tear gas at the protesters. Both sides opened fire with guns and two of the injured were reported in critical condition, witnesses said.

An opposition crowd stormed a jail near Phatta and released 24 people arrested in a government crackdown that began Wednesday. Crowds burned several government offices, as well as the jail in Phatta district, local journalists and other witnesses said.

2 probations revoked here

Two felony probationers are now facing five-year terms in the Texas Department of Corrections after having their probations revoked in the 132nd District Court this week.

Debbie Ann Ford, 26, of 2210 44th St. had been placed on probation in December, 1985 after pleading guilty to a charge of forgery by passing a worthless check.

Probation officers sought revocation of her term due to her arrest on an attempted burglary charge in May of this year and a subsequent arrest on a misdemeanor public intoxication charge.

Bobby Don Stephens, 22, of Colorado City was originally given a five year probated sentence on a burglary charge in Scurry County in July, 1982.

Revocation was sought in his case after he was recently arrested allegedly in possession of a prohibited weapon and for failure to pay required fines and fees connected with his probationary term.

a week in Denver, Colo. and they have visited Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico. "We have been trying to squeeze in as many activities as we can during the short time of her visit," Chisum explained.

Even though Georis had never been to America before, she had an idea of what to expect because one of her sisters had just returned in June after living here for a year.

Georis has completed high school in Belgium and will begin her university studies when she returns home. She wants to study English and German. She has been learning English for the past six years and speaks and understands it very well.

"I am impressed with the Americans I have seen," Georis said. "They are very friendly and communicative. Europeans are more reserved and here we do a lot of visiting. I like it better that way."

Georis also noted that Americans seem to eat out more and that they use their cars more than Europeans do. "We don't have to drive as much because our shops our centrally located and mealtime is usually observed at home with the whole family eating a meal the mother has prepared."

Georis said she has really enjoyed her stay with the Chisums in Snyder, adding "I am learning a lot from seeing the difference in lifestyles."

Police receive three complaints

Snyder police investigated three misdemeanor complaints Thursday including one from a woman who told police that she had been struck by a car following a dispute with four men.

Joyce Digby of Snyder contacted police at 4:27 p.m. and told officers that she had been struck by a motor vehicle at the intersection of 30th St. and Ave. O following a disagreement with four men.

The incident is being investigated as Class A misdemeanor assault.

Renee Grisham of Colorado City filed a misdemeanr theft report at 10:39 p.m.

She told officers that her purse had been taken from her 1981 Oldsmobile while it was parked in the 2200 Block of 32nd St. earlier in the evening.

Investigators say that they have cleared a recent criminal mischief incident with the arrest of a 16-year-old juvenile suspect Thursday evening.

Joe Brown of Joe Brown Carpets had reported a front window of his store apparently shot out on Tuesday. The juvenile suspect was identified with the incident, taken into custody and later released to his parents Thursday night.

There was no estimate of damage to the window.

In other action Thursday night, city officers jailed two suspects for public intoxication.
