College Boys Are Hard On Taxi-Dancers

DIME-A-DANCE GIRLS DREAD APPROACH OF EASTER HOLIDAYS

BY GEORGE ROSS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK, March 25—For the girls in Broadway's dime-a-dance temples of terpsichore, Easter week is the rush season. Even the arrival of the United States Navy doesn't provoke such landslide business.

The reason? Easter finds New York overrun with collegiate youth, and that, any dance hall hostess will tell you, is nothing for a dancing girl to look forward to.

Own Particular Style

Each college, explains one of the veteran lasses at Roseland, the city's largest you-pay-your-money-and-take-your-choice ballroom, specializes in a particular style of dancing, and woe unto the young lady who commits the unpardonable sin of tripping the light fantastic with a Harvard man under the assumption that he hails from Princeton.

It is not sufficient to know what dance vogues were current with the collegians last year. Last year's steps were long forgotten.

Sort Of Feet-Loose

The girls' chief complaint seems to lie in the fact that the boys from campuses attempt to cram into one short week all the steps they had been practicing during the present semester. So Gotham's dance halls serve as training camps for the Spring proms to come, when the boys can trip the light fantastic for the benefit of co-eds from Vassar, Smith and Bryn Mawr.

An idea of what taxi-dancers are up against in Easter Season can be gleaned from the steps which they were confronted with by the collegiate contingent last year; the Princeton Stomp, Goody-Goody Hop, Frosh Flamingo, Campus Caper, Double-Swing, Slow Swing, Steam-Roll Swing, Wichita Wing, Suzy-Q, Double-Q, Drake Drag, Double Truck, and an involved number dubbed "the Sash-Kosh Truck".

Some dance-halls hold special sessions after closing. During these late seminars, an erudite instructor tells the girls what to expect from the college boys on furlough. Others just rest as much as possible, gather vim, vitamins, tape their insteps securely and settle down for the worst.

Graduated Honors

The general opinion at taxi-halls is that Amherst students are far and away the best foxtrot artists and that Princetonians arrive with steps radical enough to baffle a Nijinsky. No offense meant, but Harvard men are the rowdiest, indulging particularly in stomps and hops, and not a little malt.

According to Roseland lore, a dance hall hostess visited her dentist last year after a hectic Easter week. She complained of a severe

MIDDLE WEST IS PLAGUED BY SNOWS

HIGHWAY TRAFFIC IS BLOCKED AND MANY TOWNS ISOLATED

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Mar. 25 — Crippled communication lines, isolated communities and paralyzed highway transportation provided evidence today of the winter's worst snowstorm in sections of the middle west.

While winds whipped snow into big drifts in Minnesota and the Dakotas, rain, sleet, hail, dust, tornadoes and freezing temperatures plagued a wide expanse of the midcontinent.

Towns Are Isolated

A 22-inch snowfall deluged Brookings, Watertown, and the Black Hills territory of South Dakota. Mitchell, Huron, Pierre and Aberdeen were cut off when a 50-mile an hour wind and snow snapped wires.

The Aberdeen American News received Associated Press news reports by short wave radio. Telephone company officials said at least 5,000 poles were down. Schools were closed in a score of communities.

Drifts in Minnesota ranged up to 10 feet. Snow plow crews rescued 20 bus passengers marooned near Faribault.

Chicago Gets Mixture

The storm dipped into Wisconsin, Nebraska, and Illinois. Chicago got a mixture of bad weather, including rain, sleet and snow.

Tornadoes swept parts of Alabama and Kentucky. Two were dead at Ozark, Ala., and at least 30 persons were injured in a twister at Winchester, Ky.

A dust blizzard descended on Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and the Texas Panhandle, while a combination of dust, snow and rain produced "red snow" at Ames, Ia.

Forecasters reported rainfall at Los Angeles for the season totaled 21.86 inches, highest since 1914.

President To Join In Easter Parade

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—President Roosevelt will be among the nation's best dressed men in the "Easter parade" Sunday in his black cutaway, striped trousers, stiff wing collar and black top hat.

The president, recently named one of sixteen male sartorial leaders by the Merchant Tailors' Designers association—to the amusement of Mrs. Roosevelt, who said, "he liked to wear the same thing year after year"—plans to attend church in Washington, in formal morning clothes.

Strikers Evacuating Plants Today

RULES FOR USE OF GAS URGED

PICKET LINES ARE PLANNED BY WORKERS

PEACE PARLEY TO BE RESUMED; DEMANDS TO BE TALKED

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Mar. 25 — More than 6,000 striking automobile workers marched in swirling snow today from eight Chrysler corporation plants they have held since March 8, but prepared to establish picket lines until their strike for executive bargaining rights is settled.

The "sit-downers" in the Chrysler Kercheval avenue plant, the last to vote on the peaceful evacuation agreement, gave their approval about 12:40 p. m. and in a few minutes began to leave the factory.

March From Plant

Word of the Kercheval vote was telephoned to the big Dodge plant and 5,000 strikers there marched at once from the plant.

About 1,400 strikers in the Kercheval plant cheered the announcement of plans to end the sit-down phase of the strike, but asked for a speech from Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers union, before they gave final assent.

Governor Frank Murphy at Lansing received word at 12:45 p. m. that the evacuation had started, and said the negotiations between Walter P. Chrysler, corporation chairman, and John L. Lewis, head of the Committee for Industrial Organization, on the union's demands, would resume this afternoon.

Parade Is Planned

Martin and Frankensteen, organizational director of the UAW, hurried by bus to the Dodge plant to take part in a parade there. A crowd of several hundred gathered at the Dodge plant cheered the arrival of the union officials.

Frankensteen announced company police would take charge of all factory gates and the union would establish peaceful picket lines. He indicated that he expected some state stroopers would be stationed at entrances also as observers.

Freeze To Follow In Wake Of Blinding Texas Dusters

(By The Associated Press)

Freezing weather in Texas early tomorrow, in the wake of dust clouds which were rolling gulfward, was the forecast by the weather bureau today.

Freezing temperatures were expected in the northern part of East Texas, with frost in the southwest portion of East Texas if the wind subsides. Rising temperatures were seen for the state generally.

To Banish Sand

The cold wave was expected to dissipate sand and dust.

Longview and Corsicana reported the sun obscured by dust. On the South Plains a fine silt was falling—an aftermath of two days sand and a night of dust.

The norther blew in at 10 miles an hour in Dallas, where the dust had cut visibility to three-quarters

Grab Yourself A Nice Chorus Girl, Sophie Tucker's Advice

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 25.—A man looking for a wife ought to pick himself some nice chorus girl and settle down, in the opinion of Sophie Tucker, the "red hot momma."

Now the obvious attributes of a chorine, to most men, are those shown to best advantage while the floor show is in progress, but Miss Tucker listed some other strong selling points.

"Chorus girls make better wives than college girls," she declared today and explained:

"Business and marriage are a great deal alike, in that both include many hard knocks. Let's take the college girl and place her against a screen dancer.

"The dancer has known good and bad days—days during which she didn't know where her next meal was coming from. Yet, she has learned to take it with a smile and keep on plugging."

This, said Miss Tucker, is fine prepping for the business of matrimony.

EXPERT GIVES HIS REPORT TO ALLRED

DECLARES PUBLIC IS NOT AWARE OF THE MANY DANGERS

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Mar. 25—Dr. E. P. Schoch, professor at the University of Texas who assisted in investigating the disastrous explosion at New London, suggested to Governor James V. Allred today appointment of a commission to formulate rules governing use of gas.

He also made a number of other recommendations.

The report of Dr. Schoch was one of several expected to be made public soon, including that by the military court of inquiry which conducted an investigation while martial law was in force and another by the state fire insurance department. Dr. Schoch was a witness at the military inquiry.

Unaware Of Dangers

Dr. Schoch said the public was not fully aware of the dangers involved in gas and urged explicit rules for the installation of distribution systems.

"However, the formulation of such rules must be made carefully so that unnecessary hardships may not be imposed either upon the gas distributors or upon the gas user," he said.

"I suggest that you appoint a

SEVEN BURNED TO DEATH AS THEY SLEEP

DEATH TOLL IN CRASH OF BUS MOUNTS TO 20 EARLY TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Mar. 25—Mrs. Rose Burkhardt, 54-year-old widow, her five youngest children, and a brother-in-law, burned to death early today in a three alarm fire which razed a three story frame building.

The other dead:

John Gorman, about 60.

Philip, 12, Charles, 15, Florence, 17, Theresa, 10, and Veronica, 9.

One Girl Escapes

Rose, 17, another daughter was the only occupant of the building to escape. Awakened by smoke, she ran down the stairs and was carried to the street by a passerby.

All available firemen and apparatus in the city were called to battle the fire. Police and firemen awakened members of three families sleeping in an adjacent three story building and aided them in reaching the street.

In Upper Stories

Firemen said the Burkhardt family and Gorman were sleeping in their quarters on the second and top floors of the building. On the ground floor Gorman operated a junk shop, and firemen said they had to fight their way with axes through the piles of mattresses, furniture and other articles stored there to reach the stairway to the upper floors.

Dr. Alan Rose, medical center interne, said two of the children suffocated before fire reached them.

HORRIBLE DEATHS MET BY TWENTY

(By The Associated Press)

SALEM, Ill., March 25. — Twenty persons met horrible deaths in one of the nation's worst motorbus crashes yesterday.

Five of the 23 passengers escaped immediate death when the privately owned vehicle sped crazily into a bridge abutment and caught fire, but two died early today, leaving three survivors.

Stand By Helplessly

Their clothing aflame, they stood by helplessly as 18 others burned to death in the blazing wreckage.

At the Salem community hospital, two of the survivors—Mrs. Emily Thomas, Chicago, wife of the driver, and Ted Mullen, Portland, Ore., announcer—died early today.

John L. "Schoolboy" Creekmore, Miami, Fla.; Dick Thomas, Chicago, the driver, and Don Planery, Kansas City, Mo., were transferred to a St. Louis hospital today. Creek-

Britain And France Are Ready To Use Force Against Italians

FRANCE RALLIES EUROPEAN ALLIES IN MOVE TO ERECT NAVAL BLOCKADE OVER SPAIN

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 25—Great Britain backed up forceful action by France today to halt any further landing of Italian soldiers in Spain, agreeing, if necessary, to a warship blockade of the wartorn peninsula.

An accord by the two powers, through Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos of France and the British ambassador to France, Sir George Russell Clerk, was disclosed today.

They agreed, with full knowledge of other European powers within the non-intervention committee, on "all points" of a program to make non-intervention completely effective and decided it was imperative to prevent, even by force, any further Italian landings.

British sources pointed out that the agreement was interpreted to mean that Britain was ready to discuss stringent measures presently but had made no decision actually to dispatch warships against any Italian incursions.

LANDING OF TROOPS IS TO BE HALTED

PARIS, March 25 (AP)—France rallied her European allies about her today in a move to erect a naval blockade against the possibility of Italy's waging an undeclared war against the republican government in Spain.

Merle Oberon Said Seriously Injured

LONDON, March 25 (AP)—Production of the $500,000 film "I, Claudius," was halted today when it was learned Merle Oberon, Hollywood motion picture actress and star of the production, had been more seriously injured in an automobile accident March 16 than had been thought.

The star's doctors said she would be unable to return to work for three or four months.

Modern Cat Comes Home-And In Style

The modern cat comes home—but he rides.

John Thomas, a near-adult Maltese tom cat, set that record yesterday when he rode beneath Jack Adair's automobile from Friona to Lubbock through a dense dust and sand storm.

Placed In Sack

Mr. and Mrs. Adair, 1703 Avenue T, sacked John Thomas at Anton about 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. They were to take him from the home of Mrs. Carl Reese to Mrs. Adair's mother, Mrs. J. A. Wimberley, at Friona.

Released at the Wimberley home, John Thomas scuttled beneath the house closely followed by a large dog.

The Adairs left on the return trip to Lubbock about 1:30 o'clock that afternoon. At Muleshoe, when they stopped for gasoline, they heard a cat mewing. Search failed to uncover any cat. Further search was made at Anton.

Rides On Rear Axle

After returning to Lubbock, the Adairs found John Thomas. He was riding on the rear axle, where apparently he had perched during the 125-mile drive.

John Thomas today had a new home—at the B. L. Wright residence at 1810 Avenue N.

FDR's Court Bill Branded Coercion

GRANGE LEADER TODAY IS HEARD BEFORE SENATE GROUP

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25. — Fred Brenckman, Washington representative of the National Grange, denounced the Roosevelt court bill today as "an attempt to intimidate and coerce the supreme court."

"Aside from the objections to packing the supreme court in order to influence its decisions, against which millions of patriotic citizens are rising in revolt," he said, "it is clear that the real issue is one which involves a redistribution of power as between the federal government and the states."

Leave It To People

Brenckman, called as the day's first witness before the senate judiciary committee, said in a prepared statement:

"Let a proposal to amend the constitution be submitted to the states. Let the people read and study it, so that they may know what

Girl's Adventure In New York Ends

NEW YORK, Mar. 25. (AP)—Twenty-year old Sadie Burns, who dressed herself as a man and said she hitch-hiked from Houston, Tex., to see New York is going home—dressed as a woman.

But first she'll be shown the sights of the city where she hoped to get a job.

A loose strand of hair brought a climax to the girl's long trip yesterday. Patrolman Capolonzo noticed the male-garbed figure leaning dejectedly against a building in the bowery. The clothes didn't seem to go with the long wisp of hair sneaking from under a brown fedora so he took the woman in custody. She pleaded guilty to vagrancy charges; was given a suspended sentence and turned over to the Salvation Army.

FEDERAL CROP BILL IS UP

BACKER OF INSURANCE PLAN FEARS ACTION OF HIGH COURT

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—Senator Pope (D-Ida), urging enactment of federal crop insurance, speculated today on whether the supreme court would uphold his bill to create a $100,000,000 corporation for that purpose.

He told the senate there was doubt whether the measure would be declared constitutional, "if the language of the supreme court in the AAA case were strictly followed."

Hope For Support

"It is firmly believed," he added, "that it is constitutional and it is our hope the supreme court will uphold it."

(The court held in the AAA decision that agriculture was a local matter—to be regulated by the states.)

The corporation proposed in Pope's bill would insure wheat farmers against natural disasters such as drouths, winter-kill, floods and tornadoes.

FAMOUS POET DEAD TODAY

JOHN DRINKWATER IS CLAIMED BY HEART ATTACK AT HOME

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 25—John Drinkwater, famed poet and dramatist, died today at the age of 54.

The distinguished poet, whose dramatizations of characters of British and American history were among his best known works, died suddenly of a heart attack while asleep at his London home.

Attended Boat Race

Apparently in normal health, he had attended the Oxford-Cambridge boat race yesterday and later went to the University club for an evening with friends.

His widow, Daisy Kennedy, the Australian violinist, was injured March 11 in an automobile collision.

Drinkwater had just completed his own motion picture for the coronation of King George VI of which he was both author and producer. The film dealt with "the king and his people" from the time of Queen Victoria to the present.

Producer Flees In Terror But Strip-Dancer Pursues

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 25—George Black, the English producer who "doesn't want any strip tease dancers here," fled into hiding today from Diane Raye, the American dancer who wants to demonstrate undressing to music to British audiences.

"I," said Miss Raye determinedly, "have been looking for Mr. Black all day to get this crazy report about my act being banned straightened out. And I shall go on trying.

"I shall appear on the stage Monday—or there will be fireworks."

Anyway, Miss Raye pointed out, "my act is not vulgarity but art."

It is about that point that Black has decided doubts. Black took a preview look at Diane's Broadway specialty and, with the startled gasp "it's too hot for England," fled.

He had imported Diane without having seen her act.

Diane, frankly, is more bewildered than hurt.

"What are they mad about?" she pleaded demurely. "I wear beads, don't I?"

Captain Of Yacht Now Being Sought

NEW ORLEANS, March 25. (AP)—Federal agents sought today the captain of an heiress' yacht on charges of whipping a seaman.

The captain is Frederic Lange, commander of the Blue Water, palatial 180-foot steam yacht, which is owned by Miss Marian Huntington, 52, heiress to Southern Pacific railroad millions.

The United States district attorney's office charged him today with beating Edwin T. Podola, cook and second steward aboard the vessel.

Agents went to the yacht to arrest the captain but did not locate him up to a late hour.

Podola and William Page, seaman, former captain of St. Mary university's Galloping Gaels, filed suit for $48,000 against Miss Huntington yesterday, alleging they were beaten by the captain and his first mate, Henry Wasch.

Jack Herring, student at Texas Technological college, is to spend the Easter holidays at his home in Mexia. He will be accompanied by Garrett McKinnon.

Limbs Stiff, Sore With Rheumatism

Mr. Pruitt Says Gly-Cas Is Unfailing; Had Nearly Been Crippled; Nervous, Entire System Disordered; Then Gly-Cas Changes Suffering To Good Health

"When I began the use of this new Gly-Cas I had been suffering with rheumatism for years," said Mr. J. D. Pruitt, Iowa Park Road, Wichita Falls, Texas. "I was almost a cripple with rheumatism settled in my limbs, swelled dreadfully and were so stiff and sore I could hardly get around at times. I could not stoop over nor get up when down without being assisted. My bowels were also irregular and my entire system seemed to fill with poison. I became terribly nervous, couldn't rest at night and in spite of all I tried I continued to grow worse everyday until I finally began Gly-Cas—it was the very medicine I should have had years before."

MR. J. D. PRUITT

"My entire system has undergone a great change since I have given this new Gly-Cas the opportunity to help me," he continued. "That dreadful rheumatism has yielded to the action of this new remedy and all those years of miserable suffering are now at an end. My appetite is now good. I sleep fine and can say I have never felt better in my life. Too much cannot be said in praising Gly-Cas' action for it gives exactly the results that are claimed for it. Everything had flatly failed in my case until I began Gly-Cas—it was wonderful."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug, 1219 Broadway, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.

FLASHES OF LIFE

Lax Locomotively

OMAHA, Neb. — Patrolman John R. Wilhelm covered his beat, but not on foot as prescribed by regulation.

He was suspended. Assistant Police Chief Robert Munch explained, for "walking his beat in his automobile."

No Lip Wanted

COLUMBUS, O.—Beer mugs which gather lip rouge are without charm for bartenders, the Ohio board of liquor control was told at a hearing on sterilization methods. Charles McDonald of the Akron health department said ordinary rinsing would not remove the rouge.

What? Spinach?

McPHERSON, Kas.—John Bottinott, 5, on his fifth birthday, had a party "just as he wanted it" from menu to guest list.

John selected the following dishes for the festivities: applesauce, hash, spinach, lima beans and ice cream and cake.

And to the party he invited only adults—those who know that spinach is "good for them."

Mt. Thorvald Nilson in Antarctica is 15,400 feet high, higher than any peak in the United States.

SAFETY PLANS BEING MADE

INSPECTION OF TEXAS BUILDINGS IS ASKED BY C OF C GROUP

HUNTSVILLE, March 25. (AP) — Members of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce recommended Wednesday that the 136 chambers of this area be asked to put inspection of schools and buildings on the safety program for coming years.

With reverberations of the traffic New London school explosion still ringing in their ears, they passed a resolution to that effect and also unanimously extended their sympathy and condolences to sufferers in the school disaster.

Birthday Celebration

The organization convened for its eleventh annual birthday celebration with outstanding business men representing all enterprises of East Texas attending, coming from 70 counties and 29 towns.

The most important report was that a $5,000,000 paper mill to utilize southern yellow pine was an assured fact.

"Securing the mill represents five years effort," said Hubert Harrison, general manager. "I believe East Texas is securing an industry that if successful means many mills."

Another item of major importance was the fact that Texas would likely obtain $250,000 for cotton research.

Better Spirit Seen

Datus E. Proper, past president of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, made the principal address at the birthday banquet which closed the celebration. He said there was a better spirit to be seen in East Texas counties, adding:

"Two things that will aid the growth of Texas in coming years are improvement in health conditions and advertising that will bring tourists. At the present the tourist business of our state brings an estimated income of $300,000,000 a year, a figure second only to oil."

T. E. Acker, Jacksonville, president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, presided at the business session.

BURGLARS OUTWITTED

DENVER (AP)—Burglars say the safe in the Denver office of the Home Owners Loan corporation is a hard one to "crack."

Employes entering the office one morning found this sign:

"Next time leave an easier safe to open—(signed) yours."

The note, neatly typed, was on the battered—but unopened—safe door.

Suggestions For Safe Driving

CURVES AND TURNS

No matter how perfect the condition of the car, the DRIVER is the most important factor in safe driving.

Be careful when passing cars, especially if another car is approaching.

Passing cars on turns and corners involves additional as passing a string of cars 300 feet long.

Don't "wonder" if you can make it—take no chances.

Passing cars on turns and corners involve additional dangers.

Turning curves on highways that are not "banked" increases the hazards.

You can't take liberties with natures laws of momentum and centrifugal force. Study them.

Jane Wyatt says:

"Luckies are a light smoke my throat approves and my taste prefers"

"I first chose Luckies about five years ago because I had noticed that other actors and actresses seemed to prefer them. I enjoyed Luckies so much I've smoked them ever since. In the new picture, 'Lost Horizon', in which I was Ronald Colman's leading lady, the film ran 36,000 feet—almost 7 miles—before it was cut down. That gives you some idea how much work it was and what a strain it put on my throat. Luckies, I feel, are the obvious cigarette for an actress. They are a light smoke that my throat approves and my taste prefers."

Jane Wyatt

FEATURED IN NEW COLUMBIA PICTURE "LOST HORIZON"

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Wyatt verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

Gene Tells How You Can Bust 70; Start By Reducing Weight

SHORTER BELTLINE IS NOW ADVOCATED FOR LONGER DRIVES

BY BILL BORING

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 25 (AP)—Short-coupled Gene Sarazen advocates a shorter beltline for longer drives.

He worked six inches off his bay-window and feels as though he "ought to crack 70 every time I start."

A New Approach

The colorful professional trooper believes that in dieting and training the golf veteran will have a new approach to the challenge of the young brigade.

Sarazen expounds:

"It's a wonderful thing—this keeping in shape. Orange juice and sweet milk for breakfast. Nothing else. Then tackle a mess of vegetables for dinner. Lettuce! That's what we need."

The stocky campaigner warms to his subject.

"Let me tell you some more. No beer! No highballs! No cocktails! Don't mix proteins and starches at the same meal. Just think, I once ate sausage and eggs and toast. Now I don't have to burn up energy digesting food."

As a phase of training Sarazen plays table tennis after meals, with his attractive wife as a partner.

Great For Digestion

"Great sport for aiding digestion," he declares.

Sarazen started watching his calories and waistline after taking a 10-day treatment of sun and sweat baths at a Florida sanitarium. He is continuing the baths.

Now he is preaching the doctrine of keeping in condition wherever golfers meet.

"I've written Walter Hagen," he says. "If he's really on the wagon and will go into training and on a diet he will be back in the competition."

Training, something new for golfers who spend most of their time on fairway and under a hot sun.

"But the real McCoy," says Gene, with the Sarazen twinkle of old.

GENE SARAZEN: 'Orange juice and milk for breakfast.'

'No beer! No cocktails!'

'Great sport for digestion.'

The kinks go out.

Big Bill Tilden Drops To Briton But He Gives Fred A Real Lesson In Tennis

FAILS TO UNDERSTAND WHY PERRY CAN WIN SO MANY MATCHES

BY BILL BONI

NEW YORK, Mar. 25. (AP)—Big Bill Tilden saved only ten games out of 32, and one set out of four in his first meeting with Fred Perry but still wondered today what makes Perry's tennis click.

"He was extremely interesting to play, but I still don't know why he wins," mused the 44-year old veteran, repeating his theme song of recent months, after dropping a decisive 6-1, 6-3, 4-6, 6-0 decision to the black haired Briton before 15,132 spectators in Madison Square Garden.

Get Prized Lessons

To the spectators, who paid $30,433.25 to see the match, the contest furnished entertainment pure and simple. To the contestants it furnished entertainment, ample rewards in cash and, in addition, highly prized lessons in the court game.

"Playing Bill was an experience I wouldn't have missed for all the money in the world," said the Briton who, quite incidentally, earned $7,500 in his second Garden appearance of the winter.

"Undoubtedly Tilden isn't as fast in getting to a ball as he was in his prime, but mentally he's a jump ahead of you all the time," continued Perry. "Against him, unlike many of the men I've played, there's never a chance to let up. Bill makes no errors unless he's forced into them.

"Tilden is thinking of the next shot before you've completed your last one. It's a great lesson to play him, a real education in tennis."

Europeans have an old superstition that animals receive the power of speech at Christmas.

Cooper No Longer Fighting Himself

PINEHURST, N. C., March 25 (AP)—Harry Cooper, the fidgety little Chicago golfer, has quit fighting himself and that's bad news for rival professional cash-shooters.

Cooper said today mental tantrums had cost him quite a bit of golf pay, but, he announced, "I'm as calm as a zephyr now, and you can bet that temper won't beat me now in any tournament."

Cooper started the final 36 holes of the north and south golf tournament today, along with 62 others, in pursuit of boyish Byron Nelson, the Reading, Pa., pro, whose 68-61—139 led the field at the half way mark.

The slender, pale Chicagoan was tied for third place with three others at 142, two blows behind Horton Smith, Chicago, the runnerup.

Bracketed with him were Bobby Cruickshank, Richmond, Va.; Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., and Craig Wood, New York.

Indians To Be '37 Surprise Team

SPORTOMETER by COLLIER PARRIS

Copyright, 1937

MAYBE IT WAS a rehearsed act, and all that—we're neither denying or confirming it—but last night's fiasco between the feminine grapplers at the Auditorium certainly was a pepper-upper for the mat game. . . . Not that the wrestling profession is in need of a shot of pepper, because the middleweights and light heavies continue to give the game a reputable name, but that splash of color afforded by the females was, to say the least, a welcome change of scenery. . . . Wouldn't mind seeing them come back, and Promoter Fletcher has hinted of just that . . . but soon. . . .

A couple of gals clinched in a thing billed as a wrestling match some time ago here . . . but it was pretty poor. . . . So surprise took us by the throat yesterday afternoon . . . and again last night . . . when the principals in last night's feminine main event made their appearance. . . . Miss Mildred Burke, claimant to the world's women's lightweight wrestling title, paid us a visit to the office. . . . We wouldn't have picked her out, as a wrestler, in any kind of crowd, because she has IT, them and those. . . . Very attractive, nicely formed, well educated (we hope Husband Billy Wolfe doesn't take offense and we're sure he won't) Miss Burke didn't look and talk at all like a wrestler. . . .

But in the ring last night she was every bit a wrestler . . . and there are many masculine grapplers who do not have half the real, legitimate grappling knowledge that Miss Burke possesses . . . and that compliment goes for her opponent of current trouping, Miss Betty Lee of Florida. . . . They are a well-matched couple, no doubt. . . .

The flower that bloomed most beautifully from last night's show, however, was the boy from New York, Ace Freeman. . . . Quite a lad, that boy, when he makes up his mind. . . . He's sort of like Bennett, Tremaine and the rest of the clean boys in that he's slow to take offense and make something of it . . . but when he gets going, it's Katy bar the door. . . . No wonder he got a shot at Gus Kallio's middleweight belt. . . . And how does this Jerry Markus get the idea that he's king of the Hebrew middleweights? . . .

MORE NEWS from Texas Tech . . . and its exes. . . . It is hereby announced as official that Bill McWilliams, large and very effective Texas Tech tackle back in the early seasons of the decade, has been appointed head coach at Ralls High school. . . . Bill has been coaching at Flomot, over in District 4, and his record is one of the most enviable. . . . He coached the Flomot Steers to a district and bi-district title last year, and that's a pretty rough district, what with such teams as Silverton, Spur, Floydada, Paducah and Matador in it. . . . Flomot won in the northern part of the district, then whipped Paducah, the favorite, for the district title. . . . They almost made McWilliams mayor of the town. . . .

Bill succeeds C. B. "Cebe" Hendricks at Ralls High coach. . . . C. B. resigned before the 1936 season was over, to take a job with an oil company. . . . McWilliams is coming out of one tough district into one that may be a little tougher. . . . Ralls is in District 5, or the Lubbock district, and it's brand of football is pretty high. . . . The Jackrabbits have been on the losing end for some time, due to a dearth of material. . . . Old Bill has our best regards and fondest hopes. . . . If material is available this year, Bill will make a football team out of it. . . .

Bennie McWilliams, younger brother of Bill, who also served as a great tackle at Tech and who coached a good team at Denison last year and will be back there this year, is coming here for the Easter holidays. . . . Bennie has written his former coach that he has 62 youngsters out for spring training, and of these he hopes to arrange a hot eleven for the Class A race in

PHOENIX GOLF PLAY OPENS

STARS FROM SEVERAL STATES TO LAUNCH TOURNEY TODAY

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 25 (AP)—About 200 golfers from Arizona, New Mexico, southern California and West Texas will tee off in qualifying rounds of the 23rd annual southwestern tournament of the Phoenix Country club course today.

Battling in defense of his title will be Kim Bannister, jr., 19-year-old Phoenix student at Stanford university.

Among his principal competitors will be his father, Dr. Kimball Bannister, southwestern titleholder in 1918, 1919 and 1928.

Other Former Champs

Other former champions in the entry list are Verne (Spec) Stewart, Albuquerque, N. M.; Jack Harden, El Paso, Tex.; Dr. James Vance, El Paso, and Bob Goldwater, Phoenix.

Harden scored a 73, one over par, yesterday when he led nine El Paso entrants on a practice round. Stewart, who carded a 73 Tuesday, slipped to a 78.

The 332 low scorers in qualifying rounds will constitute the championship flight, finals of which are scheduled for Sunday.

ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN FOR CLEVELAND

MUCH IS TO DEPEND ON THE SUCCESS OF BOB FELLER

BY PAUL MICKELSON

NEW ORLEANS, March 25 (AP)—Even the slickest crystal ball gazer would toss up his hands and retire when he came to forecasting the Cleveland Indians of 1937.

The team, led by the sensational Bob Feller, can win the American league pennant, or it can fall right back into the wilderness of second division without causing the flutter of an eyebrow.

Feller Looks Great

Probably 90 per cent of the team's chances depends on Kid Feller and the veteran catcher, Frank Pytlak.

So far, Feller looks greater than great. The 18-year-old school boy pitcher from Iowa has developed a fine change of pace.

Pytlak has been a problem for years. A great catcher and a dangerous hitter, his problem has been ruggedness.

Although Joe Vosmik's punch will be missed, Manager O'Neill believes the big swap with the St. Louis Browns gave the team better balance and lifted its spirit.

May Carry 10 Pitchers

O'Neill can and may carry 10 pitchers with Mel Harder, Johnny Allen, Dennis Galehouse, Earl Whitehill and Feller composing a starting "big five," all right handers but Whitehill. The three reserves, undoubtedly, will be Ivy Andrews, Lloyd Brown, and Willis Hudlin.

Lyn Lary has been stationed at shortstop. "Bad News" Sammy Hale has been shifted from third to second and Roy Hughes has been transferred from second to third.

Earl Averill will be in centerfield, Julius Solters will patrol left, and either Bruce Campbell or Weatherly will hold down right field.

'HEAVEN SENT' DINNER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Sunday dinner was "heaven sent" recently for Mrs. J. Bascom Giles.

A flock of geese flew over the Giles home. Suddenly an airplane zoomed over the birds, terrifying them.

One goose hit the side of the house and was stunned. Mrs. Giles ran out, picked it up and placed it in a pen. The next Sunday it was moved to the dinner table.

Ace Freeman Gets Call As Favorite

NEW YORK LAD LEAPS INTO LIMELIGHT BY DEFEATING MORAN

The new wrestling favorite with mat fans of the community today is Ace Freeman, the black-thatched New York youth who leaped with a sudden rush into the limelight of the entire Southwestern circuit last night by defeating Sailor Moran in the main event of Sled Allen's weekly show.

Oppressed and downtrodden by both Moran and Referee Isaac Clements for the better part of the three-fall event, Freeman shook off both of them to drop-kick Moran into submission and cop a major victory here. Today he is a big favorite with one of the largest crowds of mat fans ever to assemble here.

It was the drop-kick that caught Moran by surprise and under the chin to win the third and deciding fall. Moran had been acting unusually nasty—and getting by with it—up to that point, although he lost the second fall. After flinging Freeman from the platform with a hair-hold, and keeping him from re-entering by kicking him back to the floor, Moran was met with a jarring head-butt to the stomach. That gave Freeman time to get inside the ropes. He followed the butting with a couple of teeth-jarring flying tackles, then cut loose with a series of kangaroo kicks that knocked Moran groggy. The last of these was a beauty, and Moran fell, stretched on his back, in no humor to rise and continue to fight, too nonplussed to scram for the ropes.

A capacity crowd of 2,300 lusty-voiced persons were attracted to the Auditorium last night for one of the most varied and versatile programs ever presented.

Good Gracious, Ladies!

Stealing the show, up to the second fall of the main event, were a couple of well-formed females whose advertised appearance no doubt accounted for the large crowd.

The ladies, Lightweight Champion Mildred Burke of Kansas City and Challenger Betty Lee of Tampa, Florida, staged a very fascinating act.

It was their "third or fourth meeting," Manager Billy Wolfe, husband of Mildred Burke, couldn't remember just which, but it might have been their first so far as apparent antagonism was concerned.

Referee Big Train Clements fitted very nicely into the scheme, allowing his new white shirt to be torn almost into shreds as the ladies grappled with him, forgetting each other. It was very, very funny, too, when they toppled each other outside the ring in the last fall, one of them tangling with a policeman, the other holding off Referee Clements, whose 240 pounds seemed hardly a match for the 125-pound Burke. Folks got a wallop out of it, too, when one of the ladies (?) left a bloody scratch across the countenance of C. E. Maedgen, well known banker who happened to be on the first row, ringside, near the spot one of the contestants rolled overboard.

They Know The Holds

But regardless of the extra curricula activities indulged by the frolicsome females, it was a good scrap. Miss Lee, bushy-haired, streamlined young challenger and probably the second best lightweight woman wrestler in the professional ranks, won the first fall of the 22-minute time limit, 2-out-of-3 falls event, with an expertly applied airplane spin and body smother. She carried the fight to Miss Burke, who wore her championship belt into the ring, and it was frisky business for 4 minutes. They came back and got serious about the whole thing. They swapped nearly every legitimate hold

Umpires Of League Have Been Elected

BISBEE, Ariz., March 25. (AP)—R. E. Souers, president of the Arizona-Texas baseball league, announced today the complete roster of umpires for the circuit, which opens its season April 15.

Last to be signed was Nelson (Chick) Hawkes, San Francisco, former major league player and for a short time an umpire in the Pacific coast league.

Other umpires are Rudy Baerwold, umpire-in-chief; Dudley Randolph, Venice, Calif., and Tom McQuillan, Denver.

FINEST TEAMS OF COUNTRY LINED UP

CHAMPION STENOS OF TULSA WILL MEET GALVESTON TEAM

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

WICHITA, Kas., Mar. 25. (AP)—Four teams from four states will answer four questions when in the semi-final round of the women's national A. A. U. basketball tournament tonight.

The thrice champion Tulsa Stenos will meet the pre-tournament favorite Galveston, Tex., Anico sextet and the Wichita Thurstons will battle the Little Rock Flyers for the right to move to the title round.

The Four Questions

1. Will the strong Wichita defense line of Corrine Smith, Alpha Shook and Mildred Pederson be able to stop the equally as strong Little Rock front line of Hazel Walker, Lucille Thurman and Vera Dunford?

2. Will All-America Frances Williams, Galveston guard, be able to stop All-America Sonny Dunlap of Tulsa?

3. Will potential All-America Nora Caln, Galveston center, be able to check All-America Alberta Beck?

4. Will the Stenos sweep on to their fourth consecutive title?

The Tulsa-Galveston game looms as a tartar. Galveston has the greatest array of stars in the game, veterans whose very size makes them formidable.

Tulsa advanced last night with a 22 to 11 victory over the clever Des Moines A. I. B. sextet. Galveston defeated Houston 25 to 14. Wichita downed Nashville Carriers, 34 to 15, and Little Rock edged out Lambuth college of Jackson, Tenn., 36 to 22.

WOMAN CHOSEN AS SHERIFF

MRS. LOYD TO SERVE UNEXPIRED TERM OF HUSBAND

LITTLEFIELD, March 25 (Special)—Lamb county's chief law enforcement officer today is a pretty brunette who has fired a six-shooter "only once—and that was a long time ago."

By unanimous vote of the commissioners court, Mrs. F. A. Loyd was endorsed for the unexpired term of her husband, fatally shot here Saturday night by a drunken negro.

"I propose continuing policies planned by my husband," said the new sheriff.

Smiles Bravely

Caught up by tragedy that left fatherless her eight children, seven of them unmarried, Mrs. Loyd smiled bravely in the face of swirling new responsibilities.

"The commissioners relieved me of necessity for carrying a gun, but I will spend my time in the sheriff's office at Olton and, with assistance of Chief Deputy Sheriff Sam Hutson of Littlefield, I pledge fullest efforts to see the law enforced," she said.

No other deputies had been appointed by the court.

Responsibility is not new to Mrs. Loyd. She had assisted her husband in his Amherst store and had done his marketing before Loyd was named sheriff in 1935.

Youngest Child Six

And there was the care of her children—the youngest of which now is six.

Earlier, when she was Miss Grace Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Owen of Dickens county ranch reputation, she had taught school three years in the Dickens district, two years at Afton.

She attended school at Sam Houston State Teachers college.

Mrs. Loyd has two children, Owen and Doris Loyd, in Texas Technological college. At her Olton home are Lucille, 17; Tommie, 15; Geanine, 8, and Silva, 6. Aubrey, jr., of Amherst is the other unmarried member of the family. Mrs. Chester Colbert of Amherst is the married daughter.

Active In Church, Clubs

The sheriff-mother is "very pretty," is well tailored and has dark bobbed hair. For the past several years she divided her time in the kitchen, with business, church and social activities, and with her children and husband. She is a member of the Baptist church and the Pre-School circle, activities of which parallel those of a Parent-Teacher association.

"She thinks twice before making decisions," said one of her friends, "and will make an excellent sheriff."

Gravity was relaxed fleetingly on Mrs. Loyd's face when a reporter asked her if she knew "how to handle a gun."

"I've shot small game," she said.

"With pistols?"

"I shot a pistol only once—and that was a long time ago," she said.

Leroy Kelly, 32, negro, was denied bond on arraignment in the Lubbock county jail at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He had been charged with murdering Sheriff Loyd.

Mike Brewer, Littlefield justice of the peace, conducted the hearing. County Attorney Billy Hall and Deputy Sheriff Hutson, both of Littlefield, were present. Arraignment in Lubbock was because of excitement slow to die at Littlefield, it was indicated.

Mrs. S. A. Ellington of Shelbyville, Texas, army nurse and the first woman member of the American Legion in this section, is an applicant for a soldier's bonus.

known to the game—full nelsons, hammer locks, toe holds, head and body scissors, arm locks—and they applied them like the professional experts they are. There was no dilly-dallying, no time losing, no pulling of punches. The girls earn their living that way, and a good living at that.

Burke won the second fall in 8 minutes with a body smother. The third one, limited to 8 minutes, was a draw, but it was entertaining. So much so, in fact, that Promoter Allen is threatening to bring them back next Wednesday night.

Welch A Villain

The entire card was well worth attending. Folks who hadn't seen a match in months kept up a steady noise from the curtain-raiser to the finish of the main.

To start it, Roy Welch, blond Tennessee grappler who has added weight and slowed up since his last appearance here, kept George Bennett of Oklahoma interested for the 15-minute limit. It was a draw. Welch leaned toward the more villainish side, and scrammed for the ropes to elude holds. Bennett did not get rough for the first 12 minutes, but it was a lively finish.

Yaqui Joe and Young Sampson did a 20-minute draw that brought out some real wrestling talent.

Old Tug Himself

Young Sampson, billed from Borger, who is not Young Sampson at all and who is not originally from Borger, but who in reality is Tug Wilson, well known professional strong man and veteran wrestler from Nashville, Tenn., had the Indian fooled and baffled. Everything Joe would try met with neat blocks and defensive maneuvers. The match was slow, but it allowed the customers time to see some work by experienced grapplers.

Yaqui's flying legs threshed thin air, as Sampson, or Wilson, dodged the drop kicks. He would wriggle free of other holds the Indian likes. Because it was slow, there was little cheering, and Wilson did not attempt many offensive measures. He was kept busy dodging Joe, and Joe was in a 20-minute quandary over what to try next.

In the main go, Moran beat Freeman down with his favorite, fists to the heart region, to win by a knockout in 14 minutes. Referee Clemente refused to recognize the illegality of Moran's attack, and let him go. Yet when Freeman, possibly not as adept at "hiding" his punches, went to war, he went to war with two antagonists. He was constantly being broken when he pushed Moran against the ropes.

Freeman had his inning with the referee toward the finish of the second fall when he grew tired of being constantly held away from the "poor, defenseless Moran." The New Yorker biffed Clements a good one to the eye, opening a goodly gash from which the blood spurted freely. Thereafter, Clements was more kindly toward the visitor from the east, but hardly fair enough to please the customers, who went for Freeman in a very large way.

PRAISE GIVEN THIS AREA

GROWTH FOR LUBBOCK AND SOUTH PLAINS IS PREDICTED

General John A. Hulen of Fort Worth, vice-president and executive head of the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad, in an interview here late Wednesday afternoon said, "I have been coming to this Plains country for 50 years now, and it is just as good a country as you will find anywhere." He had spent a full day here with other officials, meeting business men and contacting friends.

With General Hulen were J. C. Peckenpaugh, general manager of the company and C. S. Edmonds, general freight agent. They left last night for Plainview, to spend the night there, going on to Amarillo today. General Hulen returned to Fort Worth last night. They were here in two business cars.

No Improvements Planned

The Denver's physical properties are in good shape and have been kept so, even through the depressing years. There will be no major improvements over the line this year, Mr. Hulen said, only the usual repair work and painting.

Business of the railroad for 1936 was satisfactory when compared with conditions. The company is increasing steadily its freight and passenger business and is prepared to handle all that comes its way.

Says City, Area Growing

"I see changes every time I come to Lubbock," General Hulen said. "You have lots of building going on here. This is a growing city and a growing territory.

"From my own observations and from what I have been told, it is my opinion you will have a good crop this year. Everything points to splendid conditions for farmers. I hope that we get them."

Interested in farming operations, General Hulen asked numerous questions regarding irrigation and its possibilities. He sought information on the depth to water in irrigated sections, what yields of cotton and grain sorghums would be and how general was the interest in irrigation.

Longer stapled cotton should be planted by farmers, he pointed out, with the crop hand picked instead of pulled. Irrigation should increase the acreage of the higher grade cotton over the area.

Asked if he agreed with General Peyton March, retired chief of staff of the U. S. Army, who said in an interview Tuesday that the United States was better prepared for war than at the opening of the World war, he said: "General March is an authority, he ought to know."

"I served with him in the Philippines during the insurrection over there," General Hulen added. "I know him quite well. He is a very splendid officer and his opinion should carry weight."

General Hulen was an officer of the 23rd U. S. volunteers during the Philippine trouble. It was a Texas regiment, he explained, and was sent to the islands to help put down trouble. General Hulen served 42 years in the Texas National guard, including his World war service and that of the Spanish-American war. He retired several years ago.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Local Schools Are Closed For Holiday

Final classes of this week are being conducted today at Texas Technological college and in Lubbock public schools.

Tech students will be dismissed from 6 p. m. today until 8 a. m. Tuesday morning. Most out-of-town students will leave today to spend Easter at their homes. Since they will not report for classes Monday, students living a great distance from Lubbock will be enabled to spend all of Easter Sunday with their families.

Dr. Kenneth E. Oberholtzer, superintendent of public schools, said all schools would be dismissed Friday. The schools have a peak enrollment of 5,700, with an average attendance of about 5,100, or nearly 400 greater than at this time last year.

Many Tech and public school faculty members will visit elsewhere over the week-end, and many Tech students living here will spend their holidays out of town.

CITY Manager Will Rodgers says The Plainsman jumped the gun when he jumped on the lengthening of time between red and green light signals on Lubbock's downtown intersections.

The reason the time was stretched, he explains, is because the controls were worn out and it was impossible to do anything about it until new controls arrived.

They have arrived, have been put to work and yesterday the time interval had been cut back to normal.

Incidentally, there is some hope that needed traffic lights may be installed at Broadway and Avenue Q and Avenue Q and 16th street.

All that is necessary is for the commission to be convinced that the lights are needed—which would be easy if each commissioner would take it upon himself to read the safety commission's survey, or park his car for a few minutes at each intersection mentioned and see with his own eyes the very evident need.

In The Plainsman's opinion, lights are needed at 19th and Q, 19th and College and Broadway and College, as well as at Broadway and Q and 16th and Q.

IN an out-moded, dingy district courtroom not far away the other day The Plainsman sat briefly listening to the trial of a young man charged with forgery.

The defense attorney was examining the venire of 36 citizens and asked each one if he had ever had a check forged on his account.

Remarkable it was to The Plainsman that five or six of the 36 men answered in the affirmative.

This column has known for sometime that forgery is a popular custom around and about the South Plains, but we never realized it was carried on to that extent.

It must be fully as popular as golf!

IT is natural for forgery to be frequent in this country where most people trust most other people.

In New York, for instance, it is almost impossible for a stranger to get a check cashed without a letter of credit, or a list of indentifiers as long as your arm.

But a fellow with a fairly good face and a nice approach can get money in almost any town on the South Plains—if not all of them.

In this era of easy charity and federal dole there is no excuse for forgery, if, per chance, there ever was any excuse for it.

And the only way to stop the practice is for business men to know first what they are doing when they cash a check. Then, when they make mistakes, juries should respond in no uncertain terms.

Professional forgers know the towns and sections where the "pickin's" are easy and they work those towns and sections with dispatch.

It's this section's own fault if it doesn't take itself out of the sucker class and build up a resistance against the easy money boys.

SOME wise man once remarked that it is possible to be so close to the fire you can't see it for the smoke.

That seems to be the case of a number of Americans who believe—or profess to believe—that never again will this country be what it was during the brash years prior to the great depression.

But a big-time American business man, who prefers not to have his name used, is just back from a business trip to Europe, during which time he talked to many leading European business men and he says he heard no such pessimistic talk about the U. S. A. on the other side of the pond.

"European bankers," he reports, have more confidence in the ultimate recovery of the United States than many of our own citizens. I didn't talk to one who didn't say he wished his country were in as good a position as ours."

Other interesting observations he makes include:

"Another great war is not likely for a few years—at least five.

"The League of Nations as an instrument for preventing war is as dead as a salt mackerel.

"Every great power is furiously preparing for war.

"What instruments of destruction will dominate in the next conflagration is a guess, but all Europe is fearful of air forces and chemical gases. All nations are driving full speed ahead in the building up of their air forces.

DEMOCRATIC governments are seriously handicapped in dealing with dictatorships. One is led to wonder whether democratic rule can survive, much less thrive, in the midst of one-man governments.

"Great Britain continues to be the most prosperous nation in the world. Financially, industrially and governmentally, she is solid. But from my conversations I gathered that the man in the street is irritated with the empire's assumption of responsibility for all the rest of the world. Nationalism is growing. The common people are willing to pay any price, including their lives, for the defense of the empire, but they don't like the idea of fighting for the League of Nations. The troubles brought on by the Italian conquest of Ethiopia are bitterly resented.

"Mussolini is acknowledged to have made an amazing demonstration of the art of modern warfare in his quick victory in Africa.

"France is beset with trouble in every direction. Within the nation, opinions vary widely on every subject—the franc, communism, fascism, war, cost of living. The people are depressed and dissatisfied, but there is no agreement on the way out.

"Hitler is conceded to be doing a good job in Germany, everything considered, if you don't care about liberty. In the crazy world of today it is becoming increasingly clearer that nobody knows much about anything. Germany is supposed to be everything a sound nation should not be, yet with neither proper money nor raw materials she gets along, feeds her people and builds up a fighting machine that has terrorized the nations about her."

Pretty picture, isn't it?

Eve's Orchard

By Margaret Widdemer

SYNOPSIS: After five years of work and play in New York, Eve Mannersfield goes back to her two-century-old farmhouse and orchard in Connecticut. Eve feels lonely without guy, slim Denny whom she was to marry in a few days, if his new job had not collapsed. The tenants left the house in a state, and there is no heat or electricity. But quiet, polite George Cleveland, a young fruit experimenter who owns the nearby Seymour house, has his man Adriano bring over rolls, coffee and eggs which he shares with Eve in her sunny, still dusty kitchen.

Uncle Henry Helps Clean

They got quite friendly over the hot creamy coffee, the buttery rolls and the too-hard eggs. Nothing had ever tasted better. It was pleasant not to have to hurry through, to sit there with this man, harmless enough, between the crackling fire and high bright windows, fresh from exercise in the spring outdoors. George talked on about his work with the Seymour trees. They were on the third cup of coffee when a knock sounded at the door, which was flung open immediately on the knock.

Eve sprang up and threw out welcoming hands to the man who came in. "Uncle Henry De Remer!"

He was unmistakably a farmer; tall, thin, elderly, in a sheepskin coat over a sweater and blue overalls, with an old felt hat pushed back on his gray hair. He had a kind, leathery face criss-crossed deep with lines, and a high nose. His bright dark eyes smiled as he took her hands.

"Heard you were here, down at the post office, daughter. Came over to see what I could do. Well, you don't look much different. Morning, George." He eyed George sharply.

George greeted him with his usual quietness. Eve offered him coffee, which he accepted, saying he could always drink more coffee.

The De Remers had been old friends of Aunt Lina's. A childless couple since the war took their only son, they had a farm out toward Torrington. Eve remembered Aunt Essie De Remer as a plaintive semi-invalid, endlessly talking and rocking by the stove or the window; Uncle Henry as her own aunt's helper and adviser, working the vegetable garden and gathering the apples on shares. A quiet hard-working elderly man with a passion for books on the Napoleonic wars.

"Came over to see if I could help you settle in," he said, when breakfast was leisurely over.

"You certainly can!" Eve said gratefully. "And how is Aunt Essie and can you spare time from the spring plowing?"

"She died last fall," the man said briefly. "And I don't have to worry over plowing, not now. Living with my niece Emily till I can turn around."

The farm was gone, then. With quick sympathy, she said, to make him feel she wasn't lucky either. "I'm out of a job too!" No use saying she had given it up herself.

"So you came back home? That was right. What do you plan on doing?"

But when she told him that she wanted to rent for the summer, or sell, he shook his head.

"Not much doing. You'd make money living here yourself, it it was fit for a young girl. You ought to have some friend with you, another woman."

"Oh, we don't do that any more," she said lightly.

He said no more, but bent over the fire, managing to arrange two thick boughs across the embers so that a dishpanful of water would heat.

He put a hard old kind hand on her shoulder. "We'll pitch right in now and get the house to rights." He said it with genuine enthusiasm; she realized that he was glad he had something to give and do. He had always been a proud man.

'Evelina Was A Gatherer'

"The telephone will be connected this afternoon." George told them. "And the electricity. But Adriano is having a hard time getting anybody to clean—it's a busy time. I'd offer you Mattie, but my mother's here just now."

Uncle Henry looked at George approvingly. They knew and liked each other, Eve could see.

"That's good."

George nodded, repacked the picnic kit with quiet deftness, then went, with some remark about his grafting.

Uncle Henry dug about, discovering a disgraceful broom stump and a mop handle and some rags.

"The Jenningses were always destructive," said Uncle Henry, looking disapprovingly at the torn rag carpet nailed over the old polished boards and the worn places in the treads of the beautiful massive staircase with its square halfway turn. "No wonder they couldn't make a go of your aunt's business. Your aunt wasn't like that, she took great pride in keeping up the house as near as she could to the way it had always looked. There's scatterers and gatherers. Evelina was a gatherer."

"I'm afraid I'm the scattering kind," Eve said with amusement, remembering the silver sticks of furniture that Denny was housing. "Where would anybody put anything they gathered, these days!"

"You have somewhere to put them if you're the right sort, daughter," said Uncle Henry austerely. "I take notice you still have all your aunt's good rugs. Untie them and I'll get around to beating them."

Eve felt swept away—then decided there was no use fighting his assumption that she was getting ready to live here. After all, the rugs belonged on the floor if she was only here a week. So she obediently untied rugs, and began to polish the banisters.

"You haven't any mortgage, have you?" he asked her anxiously, passing beneath her with the rugs.

"No, I suppose that makes the house harder to get rid of," Eve said in rhythm to her rubbing.

Horror was in the old man's voice. "You don't want to get rid of it?"

"All my work and my friends are in New York—"

She was about to add that she wished George Cleveland had bought this house instead of the other, but something checked her, as she stood looking down the wide shallow staircase to the half-paneled hall, with its beautiful mahogany doors and simple, exquisite fanlight. This was her house! She, young Eve Mannersfield, who prided herself on being as free from last year's possessions as from last year's calendars, suddenly realized that all this was hers, and in a queer way she was its. It was the enclosure where her decent, responsible ancestors had lived for two centuries, as finely and rightly as they knew how. It reached out and took her as she stood there . . . and then she shook her-

HAVE WE ANY GOVERNMENT, AFTER ALL?

Regardless of the righteousness—or lack of it—in automobile labor's position in Detroit, the fact remains that by its standing in contempt of court a state of revolution has been present in the motor capital.

Governor Frank Murphy, who is beyond doubt receiving his orders from Franklin Roosevelt, has been facing, of course, a problem of terrific weight and pressure. Yet the fact remains that the law of the land has been pitched into the ash heap by strikers and their supporters until the point has been reached where private property has been annexed by force.

The President of the United States meanwhile has taken no official cognizance of the situation in Detroit.

Whether Mr. Roosevelt has remained aloof because of the possible political consequences, or whether he has been too busy trying to take over the people's courts system to suit his own ends to take a hand in upholding law and order, makes no difference. The fact remains that an intolerable situation has arisen and that Governor Murphy, as the President's stooge, has been unable to control the situation even if he wished to control it.

Relatively unimportant is the question of whether or not the Chrysler Motor company recognizes the United Automobile Workers. Tremendously important to the nation is whether or not organized gangs can get away with seizing the property of others and holding it, even against orders from constituted authority.

Either we have orderly government in this country, or we do not have it.

And unless constituted authority moves make future similar occurrences impossible, it may be said that government in this country is weak, futile without the power or the inclination to protect its citizens.

From Hollywood MOVIE SIDELIGHTS

Behind The Scenes With The Stars Of Talkietown

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 25.—Explorers in the Hollywoods often are astonished and sometimes distressed to come upon beetle-browed screen gangsters who collect French china, sensuous sirens who will argue heatedly over baby formulas, funny-men who aren't funny, and sweet little ingenues who are colorful compendiums of cuss-words.

But that's the way it goes. A large number of screen people aren't what they seem. Usually this is through no fault of their own. They are workers in the world's daffiest industry, and although most of them would rather be known for what they are in real life, instead of reel life, their bosses say "No."

A few bask contentedly behind the smoke screen of illusion and dare anybody to find out what they're actually like.

James Cagney, Mae West, and Harold Lloyd are three examples of illusion-destroyers. Cagney is a very meek fellow away from the cameras. Reads honest-to-goodness literature, appreciates the other arts, and converses barely above a whisper.

Miss West drips with sin on celluloid, but after working hours she's a stay-at-home and a regular church-goer. She has received a million dollars' worth of publicity through her reputation for risque wise-crackery. Actually, though, she is likely to prove a little dull. She never could hold up her corner of a gag-session with, say, Gene Fowler, Frank Scully, Helen Broderick, Martha Raye, and Carole Lombard.

A Sourpuss

Lloyd is a comic, but outside the studio he is as glum as a Schnitzler novel and never associates with the cliques of hilarious Hollywoodites. In fact, few people even recognize him off the screen.

Everybody knows about the serious and erudite Charlie Chaplin. And Eddie Cantor is a painfully earnest man who will get all wound up in an inspirational lecture if you give him half a chance.

I have done paragraphs about some of the Hollywood tough guys and villains—how Victor McLaglen raises roses, Humphrey Bogart has a passion for symphony concerts, and Ricardo Cortez won't even shoot a rabbit.

Joseph Calleia is a deep student of the drama and a fine pianist. Jack LaRue is afraid of guns. Cesar Romero has the most social accomplishments, or at least is most in demand for parties, of any of the Hollywood bachelors.

Nice Monsters

Of the leading horror merchants, Boris Karloff, Peter Lorre, and Bela Lugosi, only the latter is in the least spooky out of makeup. Lorre has a macabre sense of humor but doesn't succeed in scaring much of anybody with it.

And then there are actors who assume accents and even fool members of the races they imitate. Three of the best Italian characters are not Italians at all. Chico Marx never even has seen Italy. Erik Rhodes was born in Oklahoma, and Leo Carillo is Spanish by birth.

Warner Oland, the screen's Charlie Chan, is a Norwegian; and as a detective, he's seldom able even to find his hat. George Givot isn't a Greek, either.

Two of the leading portrayers of old men were Chic Sale and Andy Clyde until Sale's recent death left Clyde alone in the field. Sale was a comparatively young man, and Clyde is almost juvenile looking without his makeup.

Movie Mamas

Glamor-gals Marlene Dietrich, Claire Dodd, Joan Bennett, and Frances Dee are all mothers, but only Miss Dietrich dislikes being reminded of the fact. She won't pose for photographs with her daughter any more. Daughter is taller than mama, and the actress has an idea that such pictures might be detrimental to her career.

Some of the stars have reputations of being difficult to interview because they constantly are being watched and restrained by their studios. Otherwise they'd talk too much.

Claudette Colbert used to be that way. Gladys George is now. William Powell is inclined to be overfrank on certain subjects in which industry policy is to be considered.

And I often have heard that Greta Garbo would like to leave her ivory tower for parties and friendships and the normal course of living.

There are lots of people who aren't quite what they seem. Roscoe Ates doesn't stutter except when he's acting. Herman Bing rolls his r's only into the mike. And a couple of screen cowboys are inexpert riders; their galloping scenes are done mostly by doubles.

The Battles Of The Century!

Three Schools Of Thought Turn Attention To Possibility Of Next Economic Collapse; Dutcher Outlines Conditions

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 25 — As previously noted in this column, there is a school of thought in this administration which holds that nothing of consequence can be done to forestall the next national economic collapse that many economists foresee as the ultimate result of a rapidly rising price level.

Dutcher

Others are convinced that if the government moved forward vigorously with a definite industrial program, it could break up the familiar cycle of soaring prices and soaring profits, and relatively lower purchasing power. This results in decreased consumer demand and, finally, more unemployment and depression.

The second group is not very confident of adequate action. With bankers, industrialists, labor leaders and farmers all on the bandwagon for higher prices, bigger profits and higher wages, the group doubts whether the administration will try to apply the drastic brakes considered necessary.

Only Plan So Far

One preventive program is presented herewith, in rough outline, not because the economists who suggest it are necessarily correct in their plan, but because it is the only comprehensive plan of the sort so far suggested here by anyone.

Leon Henderson, who was chief of research and planning in the NRA and who later directed economic council study, is more closely identified with the preventive program than anyone else. However, the plan has been widely discussed privately here, and is favored in part or whole by those most concerned with preserving consumer purchasing power.

These are the chief steps proposed:

1. Federal action to break up monopolistic devices, such as the basing point system in the steel industry.

2. Pressure through allocation of government purchases. That this is a weapon of some power has been indicated in the history of the Walsh-Healy bill requiring maintenance of certain labor standards by recipients of government contracts. Government insistence on enforcement helped bring about the 40-hour week and higher wages in the steel industry.

3. Selective taxation on profits so devised as to hit at corporations making "excessive" profits through boosted prices.

4. Patent law revision in an effort to curb prices sustained through patent monopolies.

5. Anti-trust law prosecutions and efforts to break up the practice of collusive bidding.

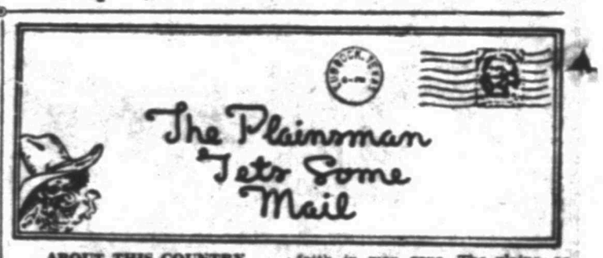

6. Abstention from the world armament race, which, by adding to the demand for certain raw and semi-finished materials, leads to price exploitation.

7. Encouragement of consumer co-operatives as still another curb on prices, and a means of preserving mass purchasing power.

8. Reduction of tariff barriers in order to allow certain foreign products to compete with high-priced commodities in this country.

9. Government yardsticks, such as are being attempted by fed-

ABOUT THIS COUNTRY

Dear Plainsman: I want to add a line to Mr. Johnson's letter to you about our broad open spaces.

I am inclined to favor Mr. Johnson and hand him the grapes and kick the seat of your pants.

I agree with Mr. Johnson in his letter to you about turning these good ranges into what is now cotton patches. I can see only one good reason for this change and this is for the profits that the land-sharks raked in and are still raking in, to some extent.

Of what group of people does this plains country consist? I'll tell you. They are the contented farmers of the East, South and the North of yesterday, that have come to what they thought was the land of independence. But independence only lasted for a year or two, after which they began to need a little cash and credit of which they had been used to back home among friends. They needed this said cash to take another rap at another cotton crop. But to their disappointment, the same land-shark that believed in this country as a land of cotton had become one of our Mr. Bankers and demands security of such an amount that the poor fellow can't rake up enough to cover the amount of money he wants to go on to make this year's crop. Nine times out of ten there's not enough among ten of these to satisfy Mr. Banker for the need and want of one of these men. Pray, tell me, where is our faith in men gone. The plains, as you say, are okay, but I wish you would tell me what in thunderation is wrong. It seems that these same men that believed so much in these parts of God's Good Earth could trust to their belief in their fellowman and the cotton farmer, when he wants to borrow a little dough to keep things going in order to keep the "rep" up for these land-sharks. The writer is an ex-business man and has been over the road and understands a few things, but I just can not get it through my upper story, just how heartless these men can be.

Just a day or so ago, I know of a certain man that went into a certain bank of the plains country and borrowed $16,000 for the purpose of buying tractors to be resold to the cotton farmers and got the money without any security. This same man used to be a cattle man and so did the banker. Then, in just a few days, I know of three cotton farmers that bought tractors from the tractor man and went to the bank to get a loan to keep going. But because that tractor that sold for nearly the sum of $1,500, had a lien on it for $300, the banker shook his head and said, "Nothing doin, Bill, We want everything you have and going our way. We must have first lien on everything you have, except your wife and kids and we'll let you chase rabbits for them."

Now, tell me Mr. Plainsman, which had you rather see and which is best?—A happy cowboy and a herd of white-faced cattle roaming where our broad ranges used to be, or—look down that long, burned and parched row of cotton and a tired and worn out cotton farmer, that has gone cross-eyed, looking for the next rain-cloud of this plains country.

Says Varicose Veins Can Be Reduced At Home

Prove It At Small Cost

If you or any relative or friend is worried because of varicose veins, or bunches, as good advice for home treatment as any friend can give, is to get a prescription known as Moone's Emerald Oil.

Simply ask Mark Halsey Drug or your druggist for an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil and apply night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins. Soon you should notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are no longer burdensome. So penetrating and powerful is Emerald Oil that it helps simple swellings due to strain to disappear. Adv.

CASH RAISED AT WRESTLING SHOW

Estimate that between $350 and $400 had been raised for the Lubbock Crippled Children's council was made this morning by Neil H. Wright, chairman of the ticket sales committee for Sled Allen's Wednesday night benefit wrestling card.

All reports had not been made on ticket sales. Part of the total estimated by Wright was secured through donations.

Lubbock's four civic clubs and the Slaton Rotary club sold tickets to the event, held at the Auditorium. For several years Lubbock civic clubs have held benefit events to raise money to aid crippled children. The Rotary club this year had charge of the drive.

"Money raised from the show combined with money we already have will be adequate for the council, and in behalf of all the clubs I wish to express our appreciation to Sled Allen," Wright said.

A pair of $25 binoculars will be given by Dr. John W. Broome, Rotarian and council president, to the club member who sold the most tickets. Winner had not been determined this morning.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Mar. 25. (AP)—Signing of the Chrysler strike armistice was followed by an early upturn in today's stock market but the trend was reversed in many instances in later dealings.

Trades were a bit timid in view of tomorrow's holiday closing and considerable profit selling was in evidence.

U. S. Steel led the advance with a gain of about 2 points at the best. Both Chrysler and General Motors, however, lost most of their morning's improvement.

On top the greater part of the time were Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, National Lead, International Printing Ink, Eastman Kodak, Douglas Aircraft, American Smelting, General Electric, Du Pont, Great Northern, and N. Y. Central.

Moving in a restricted area were Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, North American, Anaconda, Santa Fe, Westinghouse, Seaboard Oil, International Harvester and Hudson Motors.

Bonds and commodities were uneven.

commission composed of technical men experienced in the gas business as well as in the building trades, in public safety work and in hazard insurance to formulate such rules to be submitted to the proper legislative bodies for enforcement."

Reiterating that the explosion which took the lives of more than 400 children was primarily due to accumulation of gas beneath the building, Dr. Schoch said provision should be made for ventilation and distribution systems outside buildings insofar as possible; if space heaters were utilized, effective vents should be installed; and malodorants to enable detection of escaping gas should be injected in lines.

Funeral Services Are Not Arranged

Arrangements for the funeral of A. M. Arnold, 50, Ralls grocer who died at 1:45 o'clock this morning at a sanitarium in Lubbock, had not been announced here at noon today.

Last rites probably will be read tomorrow, said Sanders Funeral home, who will direct burial services.

Arnold had been admitted to a local sanitarium late Tuesday afternoon and his condition at that time was considered "extremely critical." Death was attributed to a gastric ulcer.

His body was removed to Ralls this morning. He was survived by his wife. He had no children, it was understood here.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 25 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 7 to 17 points advanced on higher Liverpool cables, the improved labor situation and on trade and foreign buying. May 14.10; July 14.00; Oct. 13.51; Dec. 13.44; Jan. 13.48; March 13.50.

Demand was active at the opening and broadened further in early trading. Wall street buying appeared with initial firmness in the stock market. Some realizing developed at the higher level but the offerings were well taken.

Business was best in the new crop positions, including Liverpool and continental accounts which were believed to have been influenced partly by renewed tension over the Spanish situation.

July sold up from 14.00 to 14.04 and was 14.01 shortly after the first half hour when prices generally were 10 to 15 points higher.

Liverpool was firm in sympathy with Egyptian cotton and because of new speculative buying.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 25.—Cotton prices gained 60 to 90 cents a bale in early trading today on trade and foreign buying induced by strong foreign markets and continued rain in the eastern belt.

May contracts advanced to 14.08, July to 13.96, October to 13.50 and December to 13.37, or 12 to 16 points above yesterday's close.

Liverpool reported buying from Alexandria and said that the improved statistical position of cotton was offsetting fears of increased acreage in the United States. Alexandria reported new speculative buying.

Continued rains in the eastern section of the belt induced fears of a late crop by keeping farmers from seeding operations.

Prospects for immediate settlement of the auto strike brought renewed confidence into the market. There was some comment on the renewed tenseness in Europe but this development failed to affect prices.

Pre-holiday realizing and liquidation entered the market during the morning, but was absorbed on setbacks of about 50 cents a bale.

Prices at midday were 2 to 9 points net higher.

May contracts eased from 14.08 to 13.98, Jly dropped to 13.88, Oct to 13.43 and Dec to 13.47.

IMPERIAL VALLEY FEELS DISTURBANCE

EL CENTRO, Calif., March 25. (AP)—A strong earthquake shook the Imperial valley today but Sgt. Jack Stork of the El Centro police said he did not believe there was any damage.

The jolt came at about 8:30 a. m. and lasted "about one minute and a half," said the officer.

Run From Buildings

People ran from buildings in the downtown district and gathered in little groups on the street.

"It was a pretty good shake," said Sgt. Stork. "It rocked one way and then turned around and rocked the other way."

The head of the Gulf of California, 50 miles south of here, is a region of considerable earth activity. Two years ago it was the center of a severe shock that caused damage in Mexicali and broke windows at a few points in the Imperial valley.

FIRE DEATHS

Kaplan, Gary, Ind., general counsel for the Transcontinental Roller Derby association, inc., said.

The list of known or believed dead also included:

Mrs. Erma Caldwell, Chicago; Carol Ann Caldwell, 4; Jack Israel, Kansas City, Mo.; Millie Cooper, Villa Park, Ill.; Louise Brower, Cincinnati; Carolyn Barton, Denver; Jerry Wallers, Hollywood; Joe Kleats, Chicago or Indianapolis; Buss Gesser, Covington, Ky.; Wilson Kay Wiend, Chicago or Columbus, O.; Tony Marzano, Chicago; Nick Kelson, Chicago; Ruth Hill, Kansas City, Kas.; Libby Hoover, Kansas City, Mo.; Frank Vining, St. Louis; John Britton, St. Louis; Henry A. Salmon, St. Louis.

BUCKINGHAM, Pa. (AP)—Effective at once "the pupils of Buckingham high school, Buckingham, Bucks county, will positively not be permitted to trap skunks before school."

With this ruling, Supervising Principal R. Chapman Carver expressed himself officially on the skunk question.

The order came after a number of pupils had gone into the skunk-catching business to earn money for a trip to Washington.

of a mile shortly before midnight. The dust at Fort Worth was clearing before the fresh winds.

Abilene reported fresh northerly winds brought swirling dust which reduced visibility to half a mile. The temperature fell as the wind sprang up.

At Amarillo the silt still hung thickly in the air but airports reported clearing weather there and generally west.

In South Texas skies at midnight were clear and the weather was warm. San Antonio and Austin reported no dust.

Pilot Ted Colbert of the Continental Oil company said at Houston the dust storm rose to 15,000 feet. The oil company's president, Dan Moran, a passenger with Colbert on across-state flight said "for miles and miles we flew at an altitude of 15,600 feet and looked down upon a cloud of red dust. I have never seen a worse dust storm."

FINE SILT OVER AREA SETTLING

Fine silt, tossed high into the air by two days of general, high winds, was settling this morning.

A 30-mile-an-hour north-northeast wind was blowing at 11:30 o'clock and the temperature stood at 45 degrees at Municipal airport.

Minimum temperature was 27 degrees at the airport and 28 at the experiment sub-station.

spokesman declared, has pledged aid to France in blocking Italian landings if more troops were dispatched to the war-torn peninsula.

Fearing that Premier Mussolini of Italy might scrap the London non-intervention agreement to isolate the civil conflict, France assured herself of the support of her own central European allies, should she feel action necessary, by a series of extraordinary diplomatic conferences.

Diplomatic circles considered France's stern attitude against any break in the international neutrality lineup had raised the gravest crisis in troubled Europe since Germany gave assurances of her peaceful intentions in the face of a similar French warning to keep out of Spanish Morocco.

In the present situation, Germany promised an early reply to France's two-fold purpose to bolster the London agreement by:

1. Withdrawal of all foreign troops from Spain.

2. Prevention of further influx by force.

EVANSTON, Ill., Mar. 25. (AP)—Samuel Harrison, veteran justice of the peace, may give up public office when he's 100, but today on his 84th birthday he wasn't even considering it.

Retirement at the tender age of 70 is simply no problem for Harrison. It's too late for that, he observed, adding:

Commissioners Are In Session Today

Establishment of a downtown restroom, appointment of a building inspector, and moving of Shacktown were among subjects expected to be considered at a meeting of City commission in City hall at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

County Commissioners court will meet jointly with the City commission at 2 o'clock on the restroom.

The City commission recently voted to move Shacktown starting April 1, by condemning structures not meeting building and sanitary code requirements.

Appointment of a building inspector became necessary when the commission removed D. A. Forbess as inspector and fire marshal. Cecil Casey has been appointed fire marshal, and City Manager W. H. Rodgers has recommended that D. J. Schlagg be named inspector and that an assistant to Schlagg be appointed.

Dancing With Harvard Men

"Oh nothing," was the laconic reply. "Just dancing with a lot of Harvard men!"

Yale and Brown collegians prefer waltzes, while Cornell seems to have mastered the rhumba more proficiently than any other undergraduates. Columbia and New York university have a penchant for deep dipping, wide steps and low, drowsy dances. Fordham men hold their escorts loosely and also have a predilection for intricate steps.

Middies and the boys from West Point both dance alike. They hold themselves erect and dance as if they were on dress parade. The girls aren't fond of them.

Dance hall hostesses have a horror of cadets from any military college. Those gleaming brass buttons wreak havoc on the hardiest evening frock, and are far from being comfortable during a gavotte to Harlem's latest swing syncopation.

it all means.

"If this measure should be enacted, those who give it their support will be placed in imminent peril of standing accused at the bar of history with having supinely acquiesced in a step resulting in the overthrow of our constitutional form of government."

Brenckman agreed with the position of Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, who testified yesterday. The suggested enlargement of the supreme court, Taber insisted, might set a precedent which eventually could endanger rights guaranteed by the constitution.

Brenckman commended the supreme court for its invalidation of the National Recovery act. He said the blue eagle had thwarted the purpose of the Agricultural Adjustment act to give farmers "price parity."

Insurance Payments To State Are Due

January's unemployment insurance payments to the state commission are due today, reminded Ed Merriman, field representative stationed here by the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission.

Blanks already have been distributed, to employers of this section and payment is to be made direct to the commission, Merriman said.

March 25 was announced by the board as the deadline for payment of January taxes to avoid the interest penalty of one per cent of the payment every month.

The 1936 unemployment tax must be paid by April 1 if employers are to obtain credit with the federal government on the national social security act. The state law affects only employers with more than seven employers who worked in as many as 20 weeks of 1936.

POCKET PARKS ARE BUILT

PROGRESS IS SEEN ON NYA PROJECTS OVER THIS DISTRICT

Six roadside or "pocket" parks have been built or are being built in the 17th National Youth administration district, according to information from the NYA district office. Three are in Lubbock, one in Swisher, one in Hale and one in Briscoe counties.

An average of 40 NYA laborers working part time have been employed on the Lubbock parks.

Trees Are Planted

Five hundred feet of caliche drive, a fire place, trash burner, and table have been prepared at a park six miles southeast of Lubbock on the Slaton highway. Approximately 135 trees have been planted.

On the east side of highway 7 five miles northwest of Lubbock is situated another park. A rock fireplace, trash burner, concrete table and 700 feet of caliche road have been constructed by the youths. About 170 trees have been set out.

A third park in Lubbock county has about 75 trees planted. It is six miles southwest of Lubbock on highway 51. Fireplace, burner, and table have been built at this park. Two hundred 50 feet of caliche road has been completed.

Improvements Planned

More trees will be planted here and youths will make further improvements, said Wilson Holden, employe of the state highway department.

Hale county's park is five miles southwest of Plainview at "Ferguson Switch" on highway 9. Trees have been planted and the ground leveled for roadwork by an average of 22 youths working. Road construction is to be completed later. Herschel Brown, highway section foreman, is in charge of boys working.

B. G. Sherrod, section foreman is directing work of the youths on parks in Briscoe and Swisher counties. The Briscoe county park is just below the caprock with native trees. It adjoins a river bed. It has a terraced roadway 300 feet long, and other park equipment.

The Swisher county park is five miles south of Tulia on highway 9. It is equipped with two fireplaces, burner, 200-foot drive, and rock privy.

The parks project is sponsored by the state highway department. Supervising the work in Lubbock county for the sponsor is G. M. Garrett, district 5 division engineer, who is working through J. B. Early, state maintenance engineer. Jim Bray, section foreman, is in charge of youths.

Funeral Services Being Held Today

Funeral services for Howard Hawkinson, 37, World War veteran and former resident who was drowned near Three Rivers, Live Oak county, will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Rix funeral chapel. T. B. Zellner, a reader for the First Church of Christ, Scientist, will be in charge.

The body arrived last night overland from Three Rivers. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Glenn Howard, 1517 Seventeenth street and Mrs. Oquin Meyers, Denworth and his mother, Mrs. Della Hawkinson.

Burial will be in Memorial Park with arrangements in charge of Rix Funeral home. Mr. Hawkinson came to Lubbock in 1918 after service in the World War. He lived here a number of years. For some time he has been operating several shows, headquartering in San Antonio, but he made regular visits to Lubbock.

Annual Service Is Scheduled Sunday

Lubbock Commandery, Knights Templar, will observe its annual Easter service Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock at the First Methodist church, with Rev. L. N. Lipscomb, pastor and a member, preaching the sermon.

Sir Knights are to assemble in the asylum at Masonic hall, Broadway at Texas avenue, at 6:30 o'clock, in uniform, said R. H. Hester. They will march in a body to the church.

The Easter service is an annual affair of the lodge. A large attendance is expected, Mr. Hester said.

The collection of refuse costs London $4,000,000 annually.

self.

"I'll be joining the D. A. R. next!" she told herself flippantly.

"Your aunt used to keep her wood ashes in a barrel in the tool shed, I think," said Uncle Henry, now emerging from the parlor with a scuttleful.

"Keep them?"

"Soap 'n' fertilizer."

"But I haven't anything to fertilize and I don't make soap—"

—"By the looks of the truck garden some ashes wouldn't hurt it," he said obstinately, marching out with them.

"Well!" said Eve, half laughing, half annoyed. Having finished her banisters, she ran down to the fireplace whence he had removed the ashes, and found herself dusting the tall mantel before she knew where she was, and then the tarnished frame of the old oval mirror between the windows at the side. Really, Mrs. Morton shouldn't have left the Jennings so many things. The fire laid too—

Eve's Curls Are Smoothed

And then she saw herself in the mirror, flushed and dust streaked, with her gold curls wildly on end. She heard steps again, backed to the door and said gaily to Uncle Henry, "Oh, please do smooth my hair down; my hands are black and I look like a chrysanthemum!"

Hands came on her head, smoothing the electric curls, but it was not the horny touch she knew. She whirled to George Cleveland, standing behind her looking oddly grave, as if the action had surprised him as much at it did her.

"I thought I was asking Uncle Henry De Remer!" she said. She felt suddenly a little frightened, instead of making a joke of it as she would have with any other man she knew. George had done the trivial act as if it were not trivial and for a moment did not answer her at all. Then he spoke in his undisturbed way:

"I came back to see what I could do to help."

This time it really was Uncle Henry's step. His eyes twinkled a little.

"There's a lot of furniture up the attic to move down."

He eyed George, who had his habitual air of immaculate and slightly mannered precision, standing though he was in his wind-breaker and knickers. He looked, as usual, as if he were what the Well-dressed Man Wears in the Country. And he replied with complete placidity, that he would be glad to bring down any furniture for Uncle Henry. Eve felt naughtily that it would give her great pleasure to see this correct George going furniture man.

"I think I recollect just where everything stood," observed Uncle Henry. "Get me the keys, daughter."

"But I was only going to have a few rooms furnished!"

"The other way gives you a chance of renting furnished, though I doubt if there is any," said Uncle Henry, "However, just as you say."

"I think he's right," George said.

"Never just as I say?" asked Eve saucily. He blushed. It was an odd combination, George Cleveland's sure way of talking and acting and his sensitive way of coloring from time to time. She took her mind from such idle thoughts as these, and decided that he was right. It would be heavenly to have the house to show to Ellen and the rest, to flourish before Mitzi, who collected old furniture and had talked pityingly about Eve's shack. She was still annoyed with Mitzi.

Mrs. Cleveland calls and spots the lacquer cabinet, tomorrow.

Years Of Constipation And Neuritic Pain

"For years I had been a suffering, miserable person," said Mrs. Cannon. "I had been a victim of sluggish bowel constipation for years, which developed into all kinds of horrible misery for me. I developed a gassy, bloated condition and my food didn't digest right and my kidneys got weak and sluggish, and finally my whole system got so loaded with poison that it turned into neuritis misery with pains that would have tried the patience of a Saint! I think I tried every medicine under the sun, but never got any relief, and then one day I happened to be in the Walgreen Drug Store and saw some Van-Tage and heard them telling about this great, new medicine, so I got it and started taking it. Now my constipation and gas and bloat are relieved and my system has been cleansed so well that I don't have those neuritis pains any more. I think this medicine is one of the finest things ever offered to humanity."

eral water power projects, and such as was suggested in the threat of the government to make its own steel for the navy in order to break down defiance of the Walsh-Healy act.

10. A general policy of skimming profits off the top and feeding them back to the low-income and no-income groups at the bottom.

Idea Too "Radical"

As an omnibus program, cynics assert, this plan is too "radical" to receive approval of the President and Congress, no matter how imminent disaster might appear to be. Pressure of business groups would be too powerful.

Yet, most government economists agree that the solution best adapted to meeting the next crisis would be a combination of stimulus for wages and purchasing power, and measures stimulating volume production of goods at low prices. The modern industrial-financial system just doesn't operate toward volume production at low prices, it is argued, but rather the opposite direction.

About a year ago the Interstate Commerce commission, in the face of general protest, ordered eastern railroads to reduce passenger fares—although labor costs had recently increased. The first six months of operation under reduced fares showed that passenger miles of travel increased 41.3 per cent, and that total passenger revenues increased 17.8 per cent. But this example of "Lower your price and you widen your market" was brought about by a government agency's fiat.

The most pleasant, but perhaps not the safest, thing to do is to assume that the economists are all wrong about a coming collapse.
