AIR RAID WARNINGS SOUND ALL OVER WESTERN INDIA

Pakistani Jets Attacking Bombay

By The Associated Press

Pakistani jet fighters attacked the Indian city of Bombay in a raid that lasted less than half an hour, United News of India reported today.

It said civil defense officials were unable to give any immediate assessment of damage, if any.

The agency added in a dispatch from Bombay, India's most populous city with 5.6 million people, that the raid began at 7:30 p.m. with the enemy jets coming in from the Arabian Sea. Coastal batteries and antiaircraft guns opened fire for 15 minutes and an all clear was sounded at 8 p.m., the dispatch said.

TANK VICTORY

Air raid warnings sounded all over western India after sundown as Indian radar picked up sightings of aircraft, New Delhi dispatches said.

Earlier in the day, India recognized the Bangla Desh rebels as the legal government of East Pakistan and claimed victory in a major tank battle on West Pakistan's border.

In another development, Pakistan broke diplomatic relations with India in retaliation to its recognition of Bangla Desh.

A spokesman for India's Foreign Ministry in New Delhi said earlier the Indian government had no plans to sever diplomatic ties with Pakistan.

India has supported the Bangla Desh rebels since March and has gained backing for this stand from the Soviet Union.

MOSCOW MUM

There was no immediate word from Moscow on whether the Soviet Union would follow India in recognizing the rebels. Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said Sunday the question of Kremlin recognition had not been considered.

The Soviet news agency Tass carried a New Delhi dispatch reporting that India had done so and noted that Prime Minister Indira Gandhi had told her Parliament that recognition signifies an important turning point in the history of national libertion movements.

GRAB 20 POSTS

The Pakistanis claimed their forces had made a general advance in all sectors along the border between India and West Pakistan and had crossed the Tavi River in the Jammu sector of Kashmir.

Pakistan reported earlier that it had seized 20 Indian border posts in Kashmir.

The tank battle began Saturday night when the Pakistanis sent two brigades of infantry and an armored regiment against Indian defensive positions in southern Kashmir near the West Pakistani border, an Indian spokesman in New Delhi said.

He said the battle raged throughout the weekend and that 23 Chinese-built T59 tanks were destroyed by the Indian forces. "Our losses were minor in the fighting," the spokesman added.

He said in East Pakistan Indian forces "are making significant advances and we have captured some territory northeast of Sylhet and south of Comilla." The two cities are key supply centers for Pakistan's army in the east. Sylhet is 123 miles northeast of Dacca, the provincial capital. Comilla is 50 miles southeast of Dacca.

LINES FIRM

Earlier, Indian Defense Secretary K. B. Lall reported Indian forces on the eastern border of East Pakistan had captured the key rail and communications center of Akhaura, 60 miles east of Dacca. But Pakistan said the attack on Akhaura had been repulsed and insisted its lines along East Pakistan's western borders with India remained firm. It added, however, that "the enemy is dominating" some of East Pakistan.

The head of India's military operations in East Pakistan, Maj. Gen. J. F. R. Jacob, told a news conference in Calcutta today that there had been heavy fighting around the towns of Jessore in the south-

Vetoes Cast By Russians

(AP WIREPHOTO)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and other nations are considering asking the U.N. General Assembly to intercede in the India-Pakistan war following two Soviet vetoes of Security Council resolutions calling for a cease-fire and withdrawal of the opposing forces.

The 106th and 107th vetoes cast by the Russians in U.N. history came in weekend meetings at which Chinese Ambassador Huang Hua charged Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik with filibustering to give India time to advance into Pakistan and Malik called Huang "an imperialist jester."

ANOTHER MEETING

The council scheduled another meeting this afternoon to take up another resolution calling for a cease-fire but no withdrawal. But as of Sunday night, the U.S. government had instructed Ambassador George Bush not to vote for anything that omitted the call for withdrawal of forces.

The assembly's 1965 "Uniting for Peace" resolution provides for an emergency session on the vote of any nine of the 15 council members whenever a veto prevents the council's acting in the interest of peace.

Somali Ambassador Abdulrahim Abby Farah said African, Asian and Latin American members of the council were considering this course in the belief that a big majority in the assembly would vote for a cease-fire and withdrawal.

LINE OPTION

Bush, asked whether he would go to the assembly with the issue, replied, "I would say it's a live option."

"We're keeping all our options open."

Bush had just come from the council meeting at which a Soviet veto killed an eight-nation resolution calling on India and Pakistan for an immediate cease-fire and withdrawal and also calling for an early political solution in East Pakistan.

The vote was the same as on a U.S. cease-fire-and-withdrawal motion early Sunday: 11 for, the Soviet Union and Poland opposed and Britain and France abstaining. Both resolutions failed because the Soviet vote constituted a veto.

Between those two votes, the council rejected a Soviet resolution in effect putting the blame for the situation on Pakistan. It called for "a political settlement in East Pakistan which would inevitably result in a cessation of hostilities" and demanded that Pakistani forces in East Pakistan "cease all acts of violence," meaning that they stop all action against the Bengali rebels.

Mourners Led By Johnson, Mrs. Nixon

BOSTON (AP) — Mourners led by former President Lyndon B. Johnson and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon heard the wife of former House Speaker John W. McCormack eulogized today as one who "lived and died heart to heart with her husband."

Mrs. Nixon and Johnson were among a large procession of notables who attended the funeral Mass for Harriet McCormack at St. Margaret's Roman Catholic Church in the working-class Dorchester section that McCormack represented in Congress for 42 years.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliot L. Richardson, former attorney general and lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, represented President Nixon.

A delegation of congressmen, led by Speaker of the House Carl Albert of Oklahoma, traveled here from Washington with Mrs. Nixon aboard a presidential jet.

Albert succeeded McCormack after the Boston Democrat did not seek re-election in 1970.

The Most Rev. Humberto J. Medeiros, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, read the funeral Mass.

The eulogy was delivered by the Rev. Walter W. Flaherty, former assistant to McCormack and now director of field education at the Pope John National Seminary for Delayed Vocations in Weston, a suburb of Boston.

Father Flaherty spoke of the McCormacks' 51 years of marriage and said, "Right up until the day of her death he (McCormack) was at her side, not because it was a duty but because he wanted to be there. "And there, daily, they exchanged their promise of love: 'Do you love me? Yes, I love you.'"

Mrs. McCormack died Thursday in Washington and her body was flown to Boston Friday aboard a presidential jet.

Henderson Arguments

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — The 106th and final witness testified today in the court-martial of Col. Oran K. Henderson and the judge set Dec. 13 for the closing arguments and submission of the case to the jury.

Henderson, the former commander of the 11th Light Infantry Brigade has been on trial since Aug. 23 on charges he concealed the killing of an estimated 175 to 400 unresisting civilians in the South Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai.

He is charged with three offenses: dereliction of duty in failing to conduct a proper investigation of the incident; failure to notify Saigon command that a war crime had been alleged; and lying in one instance to the Army's high-level My Lai inquiry.

If convicted of the three charges Henderson could be sentenced to 39 months in prison.

Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, the military judge, set aside the remainder of this week to clear up pending court business and to complete the instructions he will give to the jury. By this morning, the defense had submitted 36 suggested instructions and the prosecution had 11.

Explosion Hurts Eight

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — An explosion ripped through an iron works today as workers began returning to their jobs after a three-week strike. Authorities said eight persons were injured.

Officials at Dayton Malleable Iron Co. said the blast occurred in a section of the plant where molten metal was being handled. They would not comment on the cause of the explosion.

Six injured were taken by ambulance to Lawrence General Hospital and two others, suffering burns, walked to the hospital.

The plant makes iron castings for heavy industry.

Martin Well Catches Fire

LAMESA (SC) — Henry and Landenberger No. 1 S. B. Parham, a Spraberry Trend test in northern Martin County, blew out Saturday morning at an unreported depth and caught fire.

Efforts to control the flames, which destroyed the rig belonging to B & B Drilling Company of Abilene, the contractor, had defied efforts to bring them under control at mid-morning Monday. No injuries were reported.

The venture is five miles south of the Flower Grove community and two miles west. This puts it about a mile and a half west of SH 137 (Stanton-Lamesa) highway.

There were no details about how the mishap occurred. The last available drilling information from the test was when the 8⅝ths string was set at 3,882 feet. If the test blew out short of the Spraberry, which normally is found in that area around 7,900 feet, it would represent a new production zone for the area.

U. S. Dollar Dives To Lows

LONDON (AP) — The U. S. dollar hit record lows in West Germany and Japan today. It also was weak in most other major financial markets around the world.

Dealers blamed the downtrend on contained speculations the dollar would be devalued as part of any package settling the international monetary crisis.

The dollar hit new lows in Frankfurt and Tokyo. It also was down in London and Zurich.

In Paris, the dollar bucked the general downtrend and moved higher, because of new government controls checking speculative inflows.

In London, the British pound rose to its highest peak since it was devalued in November, 1967, from $2.80 to $2.40. In morning trading the pound was quoted at a post devaluation high of $2.4994. The new strength of the pound reflected a corresponing weakness of the dollar.

In Zurich, the dollar opened at 3.9140 to 3.9190 Swiss francs, down from Friday's closing range of 3.9235 to 3.9260.

Railroad Spur On Agenda For Special Meet Tuesday

Members of the city commission have called a special meeting for 10 a.m. Tuesday with the Industrial foundation to discuss possible terms that might be reached in retaining the railroad spur, servicing the foundation's industrial park.

After almost a month of silence and no action, Commissioners Eddie Acri and Jack Watkins requested other members of the city council to join in calling the meeting so that some agreement might be reached by the city and foundation to secure a lease on the spur before the Dec. 19 deadline.

The deadline was given the Foundation by the Army Corps of Engineers early in October.

Reporting to the city fathers in regular session Nov. 9, Tom Eastland, former Chamber manager, said that Webb AFB, current lease holder of the spur, will turn the lease back to the Corps of Engineers for "sterilization" unless the foundation takes steps to obtain transfer of the lease.

Foundation representatives asked the commission in the session to make a decision, before the deadline, on whether or not the city will become a "legal vehicle in the transaction".

Eastland told the council that due to legal technicalities the foundation could not secure the lease transfer without the city's help. City commissioners were reluctant to make a quick decision, because of the liabilities and responsibilities the city might have to accept in becoming the legal vehicle.

Mayor Arnold Marshall observed in the meeting that the city will act only as a legal vehicle to meet the requirements of the transfer, and the city, through a contract with the foundation, will be relieved of responsibility.

The mayor had been approached by the foundation before the formal request was made to the rest of the commission, and had already taken some steps toward the city securing the lease.

Since the meeting, the proposed lease agreement for the exchange of the spur has been received by the city. "We will do nothing on the contract

House Panel About To Cut U.S. Contribution To U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A key House subcommittee is about to slash America's United Nations contribution by more than half, scrapping the entire 1972 U.S. $100-million share of the U.N.'s major foreign-aid program.

Chairman Otto E. Passman, D-La., confirmed $100 million was cut by his House foreign operations appropriations subcommittee in a reported $2.8-billion U.S. foreign-aid money bill headed for subcommittee approval today.

FOREIGN AID

The foreign-aid appropriation is scheduled for a House vote Tuesday or Wednesday as an end run if necessary around the House-Senate deadlock over a bill to reauthorize foreign aid.

Passman said the $100 million cut from President Nixon's request for $192 million in U.S. contributions to the United Nations was not made in retaliation for Nationalist China's expulsion.

He said the money, the U.S. ante for the U.N. Development Program (UNDP), was made because the agency has gained a $243-million surplus it says it wants to use for a "one-time burst of additional activity."

"Everybody wants an extra burst of activity," stormed Passman. "And that's why this country is $370 billion in debt. They make me so damn mad."

The impact on UNDP should America withhold its $100 million is not clear. The agency provides technical economic development assistance to underdeveloped countries.

The world agency anticipated more than $250 million in contributions from U.N. member nations next year and planned to begin using $193 million of the $343-million surplus for program expansion. The other $150 million of the surplus is to go into a reserve fund.

DOPE CONTROL

Passman said he opposes the 1972 U.S. contribution only because of the UNDP's surplus and said he would favor renewed U.S. funding in future years.

The UNDP gained the $343-million surplus when it switched from fully funding its programs at the time of their approval to a system of funding them on a year-to-year basis.

Passman said his subcommittee approved some $41 million in voluntary U.S. contributions to such other U.N.-related programs as the children's fund (UNICEF), drug-abuse control and the World Health Organization.

This with the $52 million Congress has already appropriated for operating costs of the United Nations itself would bring the total U.S. contribution to $93 million.

Passman's subcommittee began drafting the U.S. foreign-aid appropriation bill Friday when House-Senate conferees deadlocked over the Senate's six-month Indochina-war deadline in a bill to reauthorize foreign aid.

Will Work For Election Of Young Delegates In '72

CHICAGO (AP) — A conference of 3,000 college students has committed itself to working for the election of youthful delegates to the 1972 political conventions.

Duane Draper, president of the Association of Student Governments, said the action Sunday was a "reaffirmation that young people will work at electoral politics when they see a chance for success."

He and other leaders of the meeting, called the Emergency Conference for New Voters, also warned the Democratic party that predominantly liberal young persons will not automatically deliver the vote to the Democrats.

NEW RULES

Under the new rules for the Democratic party, Draper said, 300 of the party's 3,000 convention delegates will be young persons.

"The question is whether they will be independent young people or Daley young people," he added, referring to Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, a proponent of organization politics.

Allan Lowenstein, a former New York congressman and head of Americans for Democratic Action, said most young persons will be against the re-election of President Nixon.

"But," Lowenstein said, "if the Democrats think there's an automatic delivery of votes they don't understand what this conference means."

The conference action approved the formation of a National Youth Caucus, which is intended to help students in college communities pack precinct, county and district political caucuses with young persons. If enough are placed on these caucuses, the youthful strategists reason, it will be possible to convince major party leaders they deserve representation in the state delegations.

DOESN'T MATTER

The Youth Caucus will be most concerned with nonprimary states, where concentration of college students can be more effective.

Art Kaminsky, an aide to Lowenstein and a planner of the conference, said youths in many nonprimary states could indicate their strength at precinct and county levels, then accept an offer to be placed on a candidate's slate of delegates.

"It doesn't really matter if a kid is committed to Muskie or McGovern or whoever so long as the candidate is aware that the youth delegate will be completely independent at the convention on matters such as platform, rules and credentials," Kaminsky said.

"One really important area is selection of a vice president," Kaminsky added. "The last four vice presidents have become presidential candidates."

Dock Dispute Talks Waged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A status report on the West Coast dock dispute has been submitted to the President as a new round of talks between longshoremen and employers continues.

J. Keith Mann, Stanford University law professor and chairman of a special Taft-Hartley inquiry board, said the report, due Sunday midnight, had been "substantially written" before talks resumed Saturday.

But he said Sunday it "reflects at least the fact that talks have resumed."

The first session, described as exploratory by federal mediator Edwin W. Scott, lasted 90 minutes, then was recessed until this afternoon.

The President invoked the Taft-Hartley act Oct. 4, ending temporarily the 100-day strike by the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union against the 120-member Pacific Maritime Association.

The law provides for an 80-day cooling off period, which will end Dec. 25, and for a report from the board 60 days after the injunction is issued.

Mann said the law requires President Nixon to make the report public after he receives it.

Union members in 24 West Coast ports will vote Dec. 14 and 15 on management's last offer. ILWU Presibent Harry Bridges had said any resumption of the walkout would be delayed until after the holiday period.

State Of Emergency Proclaimed In Korea

SEOUL (AP) — The South Korean government proclaimed a state of emergency today, charging war preparations by North Korea.

President Chung Hee Park declared South Korea must "reposture" its defense arrangemnts in view of Communist China's admission to the United Nations and uncertainty over the level of future American support.

A government proclamation informed South Koreans their constitutional freedoms may be restricted and "social unrest that risks the national security will not be tolerated."

The major opposition party, the New Democrats, took issue with Park. A party spokesman said the president's aim appeared to be the security of his government rather than the security of the nation. If the situation was serious enough to warrant emergency measures, the spokesman added, it should have been discussed in the National Assembly.

Park said North Korea has increased infiltration of armed agents to South Korea and has carried out a massive military buildup of more than 2.5 million troops, including a regular military force of 500,000 men, a militia of 1.4 million and 700,000 Red youth guards.

He noted that Communist China as a U.N. member is supporting North Korea's demands for dissolution of the United Nations Command in Korea and the U.N. Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea.

"We must foresee thorny trails that might come in the path of our national security," he said.

As for South Korea's major ally, Park said: "The United States is running into a difficult position to allow us to depend on or ask for the same level of support for our national security as before."

The balking by the American Congress over the foreign aid bill is a warning to countries receiving aid to assume more responsibility for their national security requirements, the president said.

Powell Sure To Win Okay For Supreme Court Seat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lewis F. Powell Jr. is sure to get Senate approval today, perhaps by unanimous vote, to succeed the late Hugo L. Black on the Supreme Court.

The real controversy, over the nomination of Asst. Atty. Gen. William H. Rehnquist to the court, lies ahead.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott said the Senate will confirm him, too, and forecast an overwhelming vote.

But timing of that vote is another question, since opponents of Rehnquist have not agreed to any limit on their debate against him.

CINCH BET

The Powell confirmation vote was set for 4 p.m. "I don't think a single senator is likely to vote against Powell," said Scott.

Indeed, Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., who will miss the roll call, set out to find an opponent in hopes of arranging a pair. That is an arrangement under which opposing senators agree that both will skip a vote, and the absentees cancel each other. Percy said he couldn't find anybody to provide the other half of the pair.

The Senate agreed to spend two days discussing the Powell nomination, but it was a debate without an opposing side.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a leader of the opposition to Rehnquist, praised Powell as a man of integrity, ability and commitment to human rights.

"This man meets the standards we in the Senate are duty bound to apply to any nominee . . . " Bayh said. "The second nominee, William Rehnquist, does not."

TIMETABLE

Senate Democratic Whip Robert C. Byrd said he hopes for a vote on the Rehnquist nomination sometime this week. Bayh has been unwilling to agree to any timetable that would limit the debate.

And the vote on Powell, 64, of Richmond, Va., could leave opponents of Rehnquist, 47, free to take their time and stretch the debate on the second nomination, to fill the court vacancy left by the retirement of Justice John M. Harlan.

That would be unlikely unless Bayh and his allies saw evidence they were gaining votes for the opposition. Otherwise, lengthy resistance would be pointless, particularly in a Senate anxious to adjourn for the year.

Meanwhile, the American Civil Liberties Union announced Sunday it will depart from a traditional policy of not opposing nominees for public office and will campaign against Rehnquist.

Asks Advisory Committee To Include Ag Laborers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. James O'Hara has asked the Agriculture Department to expand its 26-person advisory committee on safety to include farm laborers.

The Michigan Democrat, chairman of a House farm labor subcommittee, says he is certain those already named to the board are forceful spokesmen for their field. They include representatives of the pesticides land farm equipment industries, farmer organizations and milling operations.

But O'Hara contends the worker also should have a voice in the deliberations.

"It seems to me that the men and women whose lives are put on the line in farm work—the men and women who are poisoned by pesticides and mangled by farm machinery—are morally entitled to a specific voice or voices on your advisory committee," O'Hara said in a letter to the department.

"There are millions of Americans who work for wages in American agriculture—millions of people who are exposed in the course of their daily work to the hazards this advisory committee is created to think about," he said.

An Agriculture Department spokesman said O'Hara was right in his assessment of the committee's members if the term farm worker meant someone who works for wages on a farm.

But he said more than two-thirds of the toil on farms is done by the farmer himself and 14 of the 26 members are farmers. In addition, three members are farmers' wives, one is a rancher and another is a rancher's wife, the department spokesman said.

O'Hara's subcommittee has been studying farm accidents and the possibility of legislation aimed at halting work-related accidents on the farm.

SOME MAKE WITHOUT BITTERNESS

The Climb To Professional Success Is Harder For A Black Woman

By ELAINE OGBURN
Raleigh News and Observer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The climb to professional success is harder for a woman than a man and more difficult still if the woman is black.

Still, several black women whose careers began in North Carolina can trace their climbs to top jobs without bitterness.

Their success stories instead tell about hard work, a fair share of self confidence and a little bit of luck.

One of them is Mrs. Dorothy Allen, Executive Director of Wake Local Opportunities Anti-Poverty Agency.

With only a high school background, boosted by an immeasurable amount of self-confidence and drive, Mrs. Allen worked her way up from among the poverty-stricken to helping the poverty-stricken.

Her early years in Cleveland, Ohio, where she went to integrated schools, did not prepare her for life in Raleigh's Southside slum area as a teenage wife.

Her husband died when she was young, and Mrs. Allen said the most tragic thing in her life was the realization she had to rear three children alone.

When she moved to Raleigh 27 years ago, Mrs. Allen said doors were not open to blacks.

"I became a maid — that was the only thing I could do. I had to eat in the basement with a separate set of silver," she said.

"I wasn't bitter. I've never been taught bitterness." Next she worked for a family for 17 years during which time she took into her home four needy youths to care for along with her own three.

Later Mrs. Allen became the first black salesclerk at J. C. Penney and eventually head of the notions department.

Despite some encounters with prejudice through her life, Mrs. Allen feels she has never been discriminated against in a job situation. In fact, being black, she believes, has played a part in her success.

"I was in the right place at the right time," she said, referring to her present two-year-old position.

"It is still a good time for the black. Times can be better, but they are the best ever right now — if you work hard and apply yourself."

She calls herself a monitor of government projects. Previously she had been deputy director and had worked at the grass roots level to help develop a community action program against poverty.

Another black woman, Mrs. Juanita Baker, is superintendent of the North Carolina Correctional Center for Women. She explains her tremendous task simply. "I am responsible for 325 inmates, 170 employes and the complete upkeep of 10 acres."

In the year and a half she has been in that position, she has expanded both study and work release plans for inmates and set up community-volunteer programs.

Mrs. Baker, 36, is a Raleigh native who grew up near the Bragg Street Correctional Center. She and her husband John, a former professional football player and now a member of the Paroles Board, used to walk by the center when they were dating.

"I never thought I might end up here," she said. It was John's family who influenced her career in corrections, she said. "His father is a policeman."

After graduating from Shaw University where she earned a B.S. degree, Mrs. Baker began teaching at the center. She moved through the ranks from eight years as a teacher of business subjects to more than a year as deputy superintendent before stepping into her present position.

Mrs. Baker said she has never been discriminated against in a job because of her skin color. She practices what her religious father taught her — "to love my fellow man."

Working in a completely integrated situation as she does, Mrs. Baker insisted, "I don't see color. I have to go home at night confident that I have made impartial decisions.

"If racial acceptance is ever going to work, this is the place for it. It's an unusual situation — the races are forced to live together. Yet I can't say everything is peaches and cream here either."

Mrs. Baker doesn't feel that it is nearly as hard for blacks to succeed as it used to be, adding, "Anybody can hide from responsibility by saying he is black."

Legion Auxiliary Plans Activities For Holidays

Mrs. Bob Boyett was appointed Americanism chairman for the American Legion Auxiliary Thursday evening at the legion hall.

Mrs. Ollie Branson presided, and plans were finalized for a Christmas party Dec. 17 at the hall. The party is for legion members and their families. Auxiliary women will meet at 8 p.m., Dec. 16 at the hall to fill Christmas stockings for the party.

Also, plans are being made for a New Year's Eve party Dec. 31 at the Legion hall. All members and guests are invited, but reservations must be made in advance.

Members are reminded that homecoming for the department commander will be held Dec. 11 in Lubbock.

A LOVELIER YOU

Watch Your Step! Save Dignity, Digits

By MARY SUE MILLER

When somebody steps on your toes, which hurts most — your digits or your dignity? Ten to one it's your dignity that suffers. You know in your heart, if your foot had not been in an awkward, vulnerable position, it would have escaped harm.

Granted, keeping the feet out of harm's way may not be as easy as once was. The female foot is a great deal bigger than in Grandma's day and the world is a lot more crowded.

But surely there would be fewer embarrassing mishaps if the feet were more discreetly managed, not stuck out in the aisle of a bus, not sprawled under a dining table, not spread across the movie line. But that's elementary.

Let's get on to the finer points, like turning around to talk with the handsome male who is standing directly behind you. How do you maneuver then? Whirl like a dervish or teeter like a toddler? Either way there will be some scuffed toes. Not to mention ruffled poise!

It is so much simpler to give a smooth performance. Just center your weight on the ball of your right foot. Take a fractional step forward with your left foot. Lift both heels a bit and pivot on the toes until in an about-face position.

After a bit of practice your motions take on a graceful flow. Your footwork becomes so deft, that handsome male starts to think he's the agile one. And therein lies a secret of charm, my lovely.

TEEN TRESSES

Is your hair a problem, Miss Teen? Then send for my leaflet, "Teen Tresses, Model Type." It tells how to correct such ailments as oily hair and flaky scalp; fly-away, unmanageable, lackluster locks. Included, too, are styling tips and model grooming quickies. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long-self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

Bridge Winners In Friday Games

North-south winners in Friday afternoon's duplicate bridge games were Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, first; Mrs. J. Y. Robb and Mrs. Hayden Griffith, second; and Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. J Gordon Bristow, third.

Taking top spots in the east-west position were Mrs. Ayra McGann and Mrs. R. E. Dobbins, first; Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. E. O. Ellington, second; and Mrs. Truman Jones and Mrs. Wally Slate, third.

Names Of Needy Will Be Given To Helpers

Names of families in need will be furnished to civic groups, churches and social clubs wishing to provide such families with food and toys at Christmas time.

Mrs. Ruby Phillips, county welfare officer, will provide names of a family, its background, sex and ages of all children and information on which items might be most welcome.

This will be the 11th year that Mrs. Phillips has assisted civic and social groups in their Christmas projects.

Any group wishing to sponsor a family may contact Mr. Phillip in her office in the county courthouse or by telephoning 263-7191.

a GAS dryer saves you money and throws in a little LOVE

Gas dries five loads for the price of one in any other kind of dryer. The dependable, carefree performance you get with a gas dryer saves you on repairs.

With a gas dryer, the wash comes out soft, fluffy, and wrinkle free. Gas dries gently and evenly. It doesn't bake the life out of clothes. And that's especially important when you have something or someone you like to cuddle.

See your gas appliance dealer and find out about all the other wonderful features of a MODERN GAS DRYER.

The Council's Plan

The city council ostensibly has come up with a plan to wipe out a carry-over $177,000 deficit, end with a balance at the end of the fiscal year and yet pay for capital improvements.

In a nutshell, if we understand it correctly, the proposal is to slice $250,000 off the budget of $3,200,203 which is the figure under the continuing appropriations plan now in operation until a new budget can be approved. After laboring over the budget for three nights, commissioners whittled some $23,000, or about one per cent, off the total. Then they tossed the matter into the lap of the city manager with instructions to slash another $124,000 from it.

The reductions in spending, plus around $113,000 expected to be available in savings because of a surplus in the interest and savings fund would account for the $250,000. This is about eight per cent of the budget, and the practical effect of the turnaround would be much more than this when it is considered that most budgets are going the other way.

The savings plus the debt service windfall (provided it is not tied down by a specific tax rate levy) would go into a contingency fund. This fund would be available to bail out departments which might not be able to operate under a sharply reduced allocation; also to be used for capital improvements such as revamping the sewage plant, etc.

As an expediency to try and avoid a continuing deficit and at the same time meet capital necessities, the plan is laudable. It may be stringent but if it puts the fiscal ship back on balance within the space of a year, it will have accomplished a remarkable feat and at the same time set a pattern for closer operation. We do not, however, endorse this as a regular practice because it is not good budgeting practice to have big chunks of money for contingencies. Good budgets are simply good plans, and therefore it would not be good planning to have sizeable amounts for contingencies and miscellaneous. These are too broad and indefinite.

Ending A Farce

Agreement by leaders of the United Kingdom and Rhodesia on terms for Rhodesia's return to the Commonwealth is a victory for the Ian Smith Rhodesian regime, of course.

And it is also a defeat for the United Nations, which had voted an economic embargo on Rhodesia which failed miserably to bring the rebellious former colony to heel.

The fact is the U.N.-invoked embargo never was enforced, and was indeed unenforceable. Member nations have continued to trade with Rhodesia — small nations particularly.

It is ironic that British-Rhodesian agreement should be reached now, within a week of a U.N. vote condemning the United States for easing its Rhodesian trade barriers, adopted in compliance with the U.N. embargo. The question here is chrome; Rhodesia had been our chief supplier of the metal, vital to steelmaking. Since the embargo, however, we have had to purchase chrome from the Soviet Union — which has jacked up the price alarmingly. Congress recently approved legislation lifting the embargo. Now the farce comes close to ending.

'The Ice Bag Doesn't Help The Stomach Pains'

Scoop's Good Issue

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — "Why should the Republicans be the only major party that SEEMS to be in favor of safe streets?" asked the man from Sen. Henry (Scoop) Jackson's office.

THE ANSWER, of course, is that until Washington state's Scoop Jackson announced his Presidential candidacy, all the Democratic contenders either shunned the law-and-order issue or gave it incidental, mealy-mouthed obeisance. (Forget Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty; he is pure and simple a protest candidate.)

Even Maine's Sen. Ed Muskie, ordinarily a sensible man, was persuaded by some chic liberal on his staff to condemn the Attica prison riot as an example of "what's wrong with America." As Jackson has noted, a riot by incarcerated, convicted murderers, robbers and rapists indicates only that such thugs dislike being locked up for their crimes.

THUS, ALTHOUGH Jackson is the first to admit that his biggest problem is making himself known to the electorate, he's got himself a major issue that is enormously appealing to the nation's fear-ridden Main Streets. He is not going to let Richard Nixon pose as the only major candidate who cares about the thousands of victims of violent crime.

JACKSON is on the button when, speaking as a liberal with impressive credentials on domestic questions, he calls it a "tragedy that liberals have decided (law and order) is a code word for racism, and they're going to allow the far right to preempt it." As other Democratic candidates must know, but seldom mention, the blacks — to use Jackson's own words — "take the worst beating of all in the area of crime." More than any other segment of the population, Negroes desperately need safe streets because most of them are trapped on our most dangerous streets.

MOREOVER, JACKSON is not just whistling Dixie. He has a program to combat crime that meets the most pressing need. He would deny Federal funds to states that failed to amend their code of criminal justice to require that any person charged with a felony involving a crime of violence be brought to trial within 60 days.

"To me," says Jackson, "this would be the fulfillment of the Bill of Rights because the Bill of Rights guarantees a speedy trial." More to the urgent point, Jackson reminds us that while the innocent want a speedy trial, the guilty want to postpone it. To make speedier trials possible, Jackson would provide additional funds to the states for additional judges, prosecutors — and public defenders.

JACKSON is at best a dark horse for the Democratic nomination, but I suspect that if he hammers away at this law-and-order theme in the next few months he'll pick up some standing ovations in primary states.

Indeed, even as a single issue candidate, Jackson could give fits to the Muskies, the Hubert Humphreys, the George McGoverns, the John Lindsays and the Teddy Kennedys.

TO BE SURE, Jackson still carries the label of hawk on the Vietnam war. He supported both John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson over there. However, he did break with Johnson on the policy of a war of attrition and helped to block a Johnson administration attempt to ship another quarter of a million troops to Vietnam after the Tet offensive.

Thus, Jackson does have a chance, not only because of his tough anti-crime posture, but because his opponents so far have made only ripples, not waves.

Morton Thinks Pipeline OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton says he is convinced, at least so far, that an oil pipeline across Alaska will not endanger the environment and he is inclined to approve the project.

MORTON SAID in an interview, however, that he could not issue construction permits for the pipeline — if that is what the administration finally decides to — until the Interior Department completes a court-required environmental impact statement and satisfies a court injunction blocking federal action.

The statement should be completed by about Jan. 15 for submission to the President's Council on Environmental Quality, said Morton. Then, he said, the Nixon administration would have to decide whether the statement was ready for submission to the U.S. District Court here. Morton estimated it might take the court another three or four months to review the statement before deciding whether the terms of last year's injunction have been satisfied.

COULD STALL JOB

ENVIRONMENT groups who oppose the pipeline project have said they might appeal lifting of the injunction if they regard the environmental statement as inadequate. Such an appeal, said Morton, could stall the issuance of permits as much as a year longer.

Seven oil companies in partnership as the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. have applied for Interior Department permits to build the pipeline across federal land in Alaska.

EARLY LAST year, when then-Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel was on the verge of issuing the permits, the environment groups got the District Court injunction requiring prior preparation of an environmental study.

The study, now nearing completion, had been expected in mid-December, but Morton said its release has been postponed 30 days at the request of Alyeska lawyers.

PROBABLY ISSUE

DURING A radio interview in Seattle last Thursday, Morton said: "As to the issuance of the permit, it looks as though it will follow very closely behind. I will consult with the President, I will consult with Chairman Russell E. Train of the Council on Environmental Quality and perhaps with some other officials of government, but we should be ready to issue a permit certainly before the end of January."

IN A LATER interview Morton admitted making the statement but said "it was a mistake."

Completion of the environmental statement by mid-January, he said, "means we can issue or not issue a permit as the case may be.

Resolutions For Bosses

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The boss might be the person who sits back in a big chair and says, "Please take a letter, Miss Jones," but he may really not be the person who runs things. Miss Jones might.

Secretary power, that is to say, is often a very subtle thing, exerted gently but with fierce determination. It is artful, skillful and refined. Cunning too? Well maybe, but that's very touchy territory.

Forsaking for the moment these qualities, Mrs. Angeline Krout of Glen Burnie, Md. decided a few days ago that perhaps it was time the boss received a blunt reminder of his role and duties, and so she came up with a list, "Resolutions For Bosses."

Mrs. Krout, a gracious, youthful looking mother of a daughter over 21, and president of The National Secretaries Association, suggests that Mr. Boss take a pad, copy the following instructions, and then observe them.

1. If I get in earlier than you, I shall keep my hands off the mail even though it is addressed to me. If I do, I'll keep it in order for you to see and log so that you may properly handle correspondence.

2. I shall always tell you where I am going during business hours, or at least where you can say I am going, and approximately when I may be expected back.

3. I shall not write all over originals that need only minor corrections which can be done on the typewriter without a complete retyping job.

4. I shall not accuse you of being emotional and illogical when you are trying to suggest a more expeditious, efficient way to accomplish something.

5. I shall not have you place a long distance call and then disappear.

6. I shall not squirrel away papers or give them to a colleague and then suggest you have misfiled them.

7. If I need you to work overtime, I shall not pussyfoot around, but will give you as much notice as possible.

"Certainly these are legitimate demands," said an attentive listener who was dutifully taking notes. "Surely no boss, male or female, should object to these little reminders."

8. I shall let you have full access to the business contents of my brief case before and after business trips.

Hold on there, Mrs. Krout, just what do you mean by that? "Nothing other than when he comes back he should let his secretary retrieve the files he took with him," replied Mrs. Krout. The momentary alarm having subsided, Mrs. Krout continued.

9. I shall render unto the secretary the things that are the secretary's and unto the boss the things that are the boss'.

Widen Your Horizons

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Life doesn't begin at 40, but you can get more relief from pain after that age. In fact, a study at five Veterans Administration hospitals showed that the older you get the better the results you receive from taking painkillers. Patients 80 years old obtained almost twice as much pain relief as those between 40 and 45.

What did Czar Nicholas II, Kaiser Wilhelm II, King Edward VII and Lady Randolph Churchill, mother of Sir Winston Churchill, have in common?" All had themselves tattooed during the late 19th century when the fad became popular among European nobility. Lady Churchill had a snake tattooed around her arm.

Getting a college degree has at least one advantage: it keeps you from getting the inferiority complex that afflicts many people who never went to college.

Do you have a philosophy of your own toward life? Walter Hagen, the great golfer, had a simple one which he used to say aloud every time he knocked a ball into the rough: "Don't hurry, don't worry. And don't forget to smell the flowers."

Among the 30 parts of the body that can now be transplanted are hearts, kidneys, lungs, bones and corneas. But can you guess which is the most important transplant? It is blood.

Quotable notables: "I believe that we are lost here in America, but I believe that we shall be found."—Thomas Wolfe.

Paper flood: One of the troubles with science today is that it is publishing so much about itself that even an expert has difficulty keeping up with his field. In 1771 Benjamin Franklin founded the first scientific journal in America, "Transactions of the American Philosphical Society," which is still in existence. But throughout the world some 500,000 scientific journals have sprung up.

Household hint: Eggs tend to keep longer if stored broad end up. This position helps protect the sealed air cell just below the broad end of the shell.

Widen your horizons: Chronic depression haunts the lives of millions of men and women during their middle years. This is most likely to happen, according to Dr. Francis J. Braceland, an authority in this field, among people who are "narrow of outlook and rigid in their views."

Worth remembering: "If you want to really know a man, observe his behavior with a woman, a flat tire, and children."

Behemoths: Two half-a-million-ton supertankers being built in Japan will draw 90 feet of water and are so huge that only about five ports in the world are deep enough for them to enter. Even the English Channel is too shallow to accommodate them.

WHY, the dog might ask, in these times of inflation, does man look for a job with less to do, more time to do it in, and more pay for not getting it done.

Elected officials help to make it a whacky world. If you're in England, you'd best not go begging door-to-door to borrow hot water—it's against the law. THERE MAY be honor among thieves but there's not always logic. I notice someone stole a 1,500-pound wrecking ball in Indiana. In Italy, a group of thimble riggers showed a burst of energy you might admire — they dismantled a five-ton railway bridge and drove off with it.

The military says that revolutionaries are planning to steal containers of germs in order to poison urban water supplies. Who are they kidding? How could decent germs live in some of our polluted waters?

Urgent UN Need

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Another Vietnam fiasco could emerge on the India-Pakistan border in Asia, but this time the United Nations has an opportunity to show the world that it has the means of preventing such a grave crisis from developing.

ALREAD THE SOVIET Union has stated that it is supporting India with arms. Red China has disclosed that it is sending money and military supplies to Pakistan. Without the help of these two major powers, there could be no big war. Thus, the United Nations, if it doesn't act, will be permitting a new war on the Asian continent which could spread to other lands. Pakistan has requested that a U. N. observer group be sent to East Pakistan, a move which the United States approves.

India is supporting insurgents in East Pakistan where fighting has begun. The representative of Red China at the United Nations openly emphasizes to the press what his government is doing to help the Pakistan government. In a public announcement recently, also, it was revealed that a treaty had been signed between the Soviet Union and the government of India assuring supplies of arms and other aid.

HERE IS A situation in which the United Nations should be able to exercise its influence effectively. Peacekeeping forces have been established in the past which have acted in behalf of the U. N. in maintaining peace. There is no reason why such an armed unit should not be set up now to be sent to East Pakistan to discourage any further fighting.

Coincidentally, the question arises as to whether the Soviet Union and Red China should continue to supply military aid to India and Pakistan when it would be more useful if the same funds were given instead to the United Nations for its peacekeeping mission.

WHEN WAR BROKE out in Korea in 1950, the United Nations organized an army to handle the situation, and various members of the U. N. contributed troops as well as supplies. If the conflict between Pakistan and India becomes extensive, members of the U. N. could cooperate in paying the cost of a peacekeeping operation.

WHEN IT IS thoroughly understood throughout the world that the United Nations will promptly send a peacekeeping unit to avoid the spread of war through revolutions and other hostile movements, there will be less chance of military action developing in the future from which large wars could ensue. If the U. N. had acted, for instance, in the case of Vietnam, there never would have been as long a war as the world has witnessed. Indeed, the U. N. could have halted the flow of military supplies from the Soviet Union and Red China as well as the United States to the belligerents while a peacekeeping force enabled the South Vietnamese to set up their own form of government, just as happened with South Korea. This would have saved America an enormous expense and tens of thousands of lives.

TODAY THE UNITED Nations not only could help to prevent a war between Pakistan and India, but could alert a conflict in the Middle East by using peacekeeping forces to restrain Egypt and Israel. No resolutions, howeverr, proposing such a course have been adopted, and the U. N. has not intervened in any dispute since its peace efforts on Cyprus and in Africa — which, incidentally, were successful.

If world opinion insisted that the U. N. exercise its powers, and if numerous governments were willing to support positive action to prevent war, there would be a big advance toward world peace throughout the world.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I have heard that trouble is for our own good. Is this true? R.D.

The Bible definitely states that troubles, afflictions, and adversity, are for the good of the child of God. "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them with are called according to His purpose." Romans 8:28.

But we are never to assume that this goes for those who are not in Christ, to those who are rebellious aginst God. This promise is only for those who are "called according to His purpose." Christians are enabled to handle trouble in a special way, and God has promised to turn it to good, if our love for Him is unfeigned.

Dr. Edward Wilson, who died on an expedition to the Antarctic, wrote: "This I know is God's truth, that pain and troubles and trials and disappointments are either one thing or another. To all who love God they are love tokens from Him. To all who do not love God and do not want to love Him they are merely a nuisance. Every single pain that we feel is known to God because it is the most loving touch of His hand."

The Great Physician, like early physicians, often hurts in the very process of healing. We, knowing that God is all-wise, and is concerned for His children, should never doubt His wisdom, but accept every adversity as a part of the Divine process.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Let your light shine before men; that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven. (Matthew 5:16, RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father God, whose redemptive work goes on all over the world, teach us to follow Thy guidance. In this world of suffering, poverty, and warfare, guide us to do our part in bringing others to Christ. In Jesus' name. Amen.

LIFE CONTINUES AS USUAL—ON THE SURFACE

Indian Villagers Content With Their Traditions

By LISA WOHL

KSHETRAPALAPURAM, India (AP) — For as long as anyone can remember, dawn has found the women of Kshetrapalapuram drawing designs with white powder on the freshly swept earth in front of their homes.

The designs, called kolams, tell much about this village in Tanjore District, South India.

Once they were drawn with powdered rice to feed the crows whose visit to a family's front door was considered auspicious. Today many women economize by using chalk and the birds no longer chatter on the morning streets.

Like the tradition of the kolams, life in Kshetrapalapuram appears to continue as it has for centuries. But inwardly it is changing, slowly but fundamentally.

The village of 2,800 residents probably looks much the way it did hundreds of years ago. A dull, dusty brown is the predominant color of the cluster of houses, built low with narrow windows to keep out the blistering summer heat.

Prosperous villagers live in tile-roofed three or four-room brick homes.

The poor have one-room mud huts with thatch roofs. Skinny chickens and goats meander in and out of doorways scavenging in the dirt.

Around the houses lie the fields — 810 arable acres shimmering emerald green with rice, the main crop, and dotted with small gardens and tall coconut trees. The village's land is its wealth, for agriculture is the principal occupation.

Typical of many Indian villages, Kshetrapalapuram isn't rich by Western standards. But all except the very poor seem contented.

"I like this village," says R. Subramanium, a newly married farm owner. "Life is very calm here and we have our position. I think it is a good place to raise children."

Each day in Kshetrapalapuram (pronounced shay-trah-pal-lah-puram) begins with a bath, a prayer and a meal.

Although few have watches, most men leave home around 8 o'clock to work according to their station in life. Government efforts to abolish caste, the ancient Hindu system of hereditary classes, have as yet had little effect in Kshetrapalapuram.

Brahmins, fair-skinned descendants of India's priestly caste, are landed aristocrats. Most villagers are Padayachis, small farmers.

At the bottom of the social scale are the outcasts of the caste system. Formerly known as untouchables, these landless laborers are now called Harijans, "children of God."

Farming is done in the traditional way. The village has no tractors so the fields are readied by teams of bullocks pulling a wooden plow.

While their fathers work, about 70 per cent of the children attend the village's three-room primary school.

The little school is primarily responsible for the village's 50 per cent literacy rate. About 5 per cent of its graduates have the money and motivation to take the bus to the government high school about eight miles away, but most of the boys follow their fathers into the fields.

Most of the girls leave school at puberty so they can learn to become good Hindu housewives. They'll marry in their teens to husbands chosen by their parents.

The midday meal is the housewife's main chance to show her culinary skill. She serves big helping of rice, a fried spiced vegetable, a mouth-burning sauce plus a lentil soup and curds for protein.

After the meal is finished and the banana leaves are cleared away, most people spread a straw mat on the floor for an hour's nap. Then the workday resumes at a more leisurely pace until sunset.

At dusk the men gather in homes, tea stalls or the pan shops which sell the favorite between-meal treat — spices wrapped in betel leaf. These gossip sessions are not without their critics.

"People do too much talking and are making trouble in the village," says T. Ramachandaran, a government-employed agricultural worker. But he adds "Our people like society," and because they do, news travels as if carried on jungle drums.

Most men go home soon after dark for supper, often lunch warmed over.

Caroline Kennedy Attends Opera

WASHINGTON (AP) — Caroline Kennedy attended an opera Sunday at the John F. Kenedy Center named for her late father.

It was her first trip to the recently opened memorial, which neither her mother nor younger brother has visited.

The occasion was a performance of Verdi's "Falstaff," produced by the Opera Society of Washington.

Caroline, who turned 14 Nov. 27, was accompanied on the journey from New York by Catherine Cunningham, granddaughter of Hobart A. Spalding, president of the Opera Society.

The girls occupied the No. 2 box in the center's opera house with Spalding and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, Caroline's maternal grandmother.

Snow Alerts In Colorado

By The Associated Press

Damp and cloudy weather covered much of the nation today as a front off the Louisiana coast caused severe rainstorms in the lower Mississippi Valley and funneled light rain and drizzle as far north as the Eastern Great Lakes.

Heavy thundershowers and some flash flooding were reported in Louisiana and Mississippi.

More than two inches of rain fell on Baton Rouge, La., in six hours. Lake Charles, La., reported almost six inches of rain in 18 hours.

Another storm center, located in the Pacific Northwest, was expected to move over the northern Rockies today and dump heavy snow in Montana, Northern Idaho, eastern Nevada and northern Utah.

Snow warnings also were in effect for parts of Wyoming and Colorado.

An Arctic high brought clear skies but sub-zero temperatures to much of New England.

A record low for Dec. 5 was set Sunday morning in Johnsbury, Vt., with a reading of minus 13.

'FRANKLY, I DON'T KNOW'

What Do Desperate Democrats Do Now?

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the drawing board at the Democratic National Committee is the outline of a fund-raising campaign that isn't going to happen. It would have been an appeal for money, prefaced by a protest against President Nixon's veto of legislation for public financing of the 1972 White House campaign.

But there isn't going to be any such veto, there isn't going to be any such legislation, and the Democrats are desperate.

"What do we do now" said Lawrence F. O'Brien, chairman of a party still $9.3 million in debt from the 1968 presidential campaign. "Frankly, I don't know."

VETO THREAT

Ironically, it was a Democrat, and a Democrat with presidential aspirations, who scuttled the measure that might have helped rescue the party from the prospect of a woefully underfinanced 1972 campaign.

O'Brien and Democratic congressional leaders thought they had from Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, a commitment that the public finance measure would be part of the final version of the tax bill to be sent to House and Senate for a final vote, and then, presumably, on to President Nixon. Nixon had said he would veto it.

WRONG AGAIN

They were wrong, and Thursday a House-Senate conference committee approved a $15.8-billion tax-cut bill with the campaign finance feature put off at least until the 1976 election.

Had that provision survived for 1972, each major party would have been eligible for up to $20.4 million in public funds, the proceeds of a dollar-a-taxpayer checkoff option.

The Democrats were anticipating a veto, and they knew it would stand. But they figured they would have gained either way, with the campaign money, or with an opportunity to accuse Nixon of preferring well-heeled private donors to small public contributions.

Said O'Brien, "We had to come out of this with at least the issue, the veto. We didn't."

On the assumption that the provision would survive in a Democratic-controlled Congress, O'Brien and his advisers already had sketched the outlines of their follow-up fund raising campaign.

OPPORTUNITY

In essence, they planned a drive built around the argument that a veto had cost taxpayers the opportunity to put a dollar apiece from their returns into the 1972 campaign, but that they should do so anyhow, by sending small contributions to the Democrats.

O'Brien already has talked with affluent Democrats about underwriting the campaign with $250,000, to be repaid out of its proceeds.

O'Brien said he had no warning of the plan's death. To the contrary, he had reassurances from Mills and other congressional Democrats.

But while Democratic whips and labor lobbyists were counting votes in the Houst to see whether the bill could be passed with the campaign finance feature intact, Mills was on the telephone to Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., the man drafted to guide the campaign finance amendment through the Senate.

Mills was saying there was trouble ahead in the House and a veto beyond that, so the measure would have to wait. There would be no campaign-finance amendment for 1972, only a framework to be used later.

NO LIMIT

And with that, one Democrat said, nearly five months of back-room preparation went down the drain.

"There's no limit to the amount of money that will be available to Nixon," O'Brien said. And to the Democrats? He shrugged.

He said the Democrats could put on a sound 1972 campaign if they had $20 million to invest in it, and had the money early, in time to use it for maximum impact.

The Democratic chairman said the Republicans will spend at least three times that much on the campaign to re-elect Nixon.

Looming ahead of the Democrats is a costly campaign for 1972 nomination draining money away from regular Democratic party financiers.

OWES MONEY

At the same time, there is increasing pressure on the party to pay off leftover 1968 debts. Already, th telephone company has demanded that the party post bond to guarantee payment of 1972 telephone bills. O'Brien won't be surprised if a similar demand comes soon from airlines the party still owes money.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Saturday that as far as he is concerned "election financing is here to stay," even though it won't happen in 1972."

He noted to the Senate that the tax bill still includes provision for tax credits or deductions for political contributions.

He said it is most unfortunate that the public financing of presidential campaigns was put off until after next year. He said the checkoff plan is essential if democracy is to endure.

Newman Sues For Premature Show

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Paul Newman has filed a $750,000 damage suit against Universal Pictures, claiming one of his films was sold to television too early.

The Superior Court suit filed Friday said the studio broke a contract when it released "The Secret War of Harry Frigg" to a national network 3½ years after its theater premiere. The contract stipulated that Universal was not to sell the film to television until seven years after its release, or five years if it proved unprofitable, the suit said.

TOMORROW

—CARROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A very interesting day for you to start a new set of conditions in operation that have to do with outlets requiring considerable scope to them and for adding charm, beauty, color and culture to them so they are more pleasant and valuable as well. Express your school of philosophy in a down-to-earth manner.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Stick to theory when handling partnership matters since associates are watching you closely. You find you have big opportunity through discussions with others. Don't let them slip through your fingers.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) An intelligent discussion with mate shows how to get business affairs handled more wisely and well. A new project can be started with success following. Figure well the cost of supplies.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A good day to plan what pleasures you want the most in the future and plan for them, eliminating those that are not good for you. Consider the cost well. Make your business affairs run more smoothly.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A businesslike talk with kin will bring just the right results so that your lives run more smoothly and successfully. Use that smile more and avoid arguments. Take it easy in the evening.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Instead of criticizing an attachment, listen carefully to what is being suggested instead and cooperate with him or her. Renew friendship with one who is out of the country or state via a conciliatory letter.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can get out of that financial bind if you do very precise work and earn greater profits. Add whatever beauty and comfort you can to your home and improve its value. Show that you have good taste.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are confused about just what to do today, so consult with ally who has his feet on the ground and you get right ideas. Trust your advisor where some big business deal is concerned. Take it easy at home in the evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Look into new outlets that could mean greater benefits and know what new associates would expect of you in them. You have to prepare very carefully if you want big success. The evening is fine for music and fun.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get good ideas from a social leader on how to make your own life more charming and interesting, your appearance more attractive, also. A group affair in the evening would be very rewarding.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Carry through with research work for data you need now that you have the backing from bigwig you have long wanted. Get into that civic outlet that opens new path of opportunity for you. Show that you have tact.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) An ideal day to join with good pals who can introduce you to other persons who are interesting and worthwhile. Show more interest in different philosophies, trends, ideas to your own. Learn.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You have very good intuitive perception today that can be very helpful to you in both business and personal dealings, so follow them. Mate will listen to your ideas readily at this time. Much progress is possible.

Sympathy?

TEEN FORUM

SYMPATHY? (Q.) I have been seeing Les four months and have fallen in love with him. Just recently, though, he came up with this idea to date my closest girl friend because she had never had a date before and he kind of felt sorry for her.

Knowing that he is dating her as well as me is killing me. When I say anything about it he says he and she are just friends but that he and I have more of a relationship.

I am afraid he is falling out of love with me and in love with her. What can I do to stop him? — Help (!) in California.

(A.) Les's project sounds to me like a little more than a gesture of sympathy.

But you must realize that so long as you and he are not going steady he can date whomever he pleases, including your girl friend. This right to date others extends to you, too. Dating someone else a few times might help revive Les's interest in you.

* * *

PERSONAL: (Q.) What can I do when this girl asks me very personal questions like "Have you started your periods yet?" or "What size bra do you wear?" — Quizzed in New Mexico.

(A.) The best thing to do is to avoid a nosy person like that. If you can't avoid her, tell her you do not answer questions that are too personal.

If this does not stop her, try silly answers, like: "Sure, I started at four. Didn't you?" To the bra question you could answer, "Size 50D."

Tired Castro Back In Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's just completed 23-day tour of Chile demonstrated that "the imperialists have not succeeded in their attempts to isolate" the Communist island from Latin America, Havana radio says.

A tired Castro returned to Cuba on Sunday where a festive greeting by several hundred thousand cheering workers, students and housewives awaited the bearded leader.

Castro surprised observers by not making a speech. "There is nothing to say because everything has been said," he was quoted as telling newsmen.

The Cuban radio said, however, that the prime minister was "smiling and very happy" and indicated the tour was "a triumph."

The trip was Castro's first outside Cuba in seven years.

'Resigned'

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "Resigned" interested me, but your very clever non-answer interested me even more. "Resigned" said her husband batted zero in the love department, "but when a woman can't change a situation, she had better learn to live with it. And that's what I'm doing. Outside of being no Romeo, he is a good, sober, hard-working man, which is a lot more than some have." And she signed herself "Resigned". Your answer: "As long as you remain 'resigned' you'll have no problem."

Now, I ask you, Dear Abby, what if she doesn't remain resigned?

"ONCE RESIGNED — BUT NO MORE"

DEAR ONCE: Either the woman's frsutrations overwhelm her, and in order to get some attention she becomes a neurotic with some very real symptoms. Headaches, backaches, "nerves," pill-popping, martinis, to name a few.

Or she finds herself a romance on the side, and the only thing that bothers her is her conscience — occasionally. But rather than take her problem to a professional, who might be able to improve her relationship with her husband, she keeps telling herself it's hopeless, because she really likes the situation as it is, and if her husband should "recover", she won't be able to justify her playing around.

And by the way, this works the same with the husband who justifies his playing around because his wife is "cold". There are no "cold" people, just those who don't know how to kindle the fire and keep it going.

DEAR ABBY: This is a letter to "Resigned" and to all her spiritual sisters who find themselves in a sexually unfulfilling marriage, and who nobly tell themselves, "When a wife can't change a situation, she had better learn to live with it. After all, he is a sober, hard-working man, and for security and the children's sake, etc., etc."

That was me 20 years ago. I also made the best of a marriage with a dull, unresponsive husband, and I suppressed everything I felt inside, and even convinced myself that I was in control and was doing the right thing.

Now I am 45, my children are grown, and all the frustrations I've suppressed for years have suddenly broken through. I suddenly realize that I've probably done my husband a great injustice by assuring him that everything was "fine", and I was perfectly happy with things the way they were. For in a way, he was cheated, too.

I have no advice for all the "Resigneds" of the world, except perhaps to say that right now you are dealing with surface feelings, and one day you'll have to face your inner feelings honestly. And my God, how it hurts! JUST "ME"

DEAR ABBY: In all the years I have been reading "DEAR ABBY," I think the letter signed "Resigned" is the most intelligent I have ever read in your column.

Here is a woman who had a cross to bear, and she bore it. No woman has everything. That woman's husband did not give her the sexual satisfaction she would have liked, but she reviewed his other attributes, and was grateful for them. That woman was a saint!

We would be amazed at some of the things we can do without if we have to. Sign me BEEN THERE

DEAR BEEN: I agree, if a woman must do without something, she shows maturity and intelligence in accepting her lot with grace and being grateful for that which she has to compensate. But in this enlightened age while some women must live without sexual fulfillment, many do not. They just think they do.

Wax In Ears

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Lately wax has been accumulating in my ears. Could it be nerves? Or age? (I am 64.) I know it is dangerous to dig wax out of the ears as I have seen people do. What could I use with a syringe to get it out? — C.S.T.

You're right about not digging wax with hairpins, toothpicks and other dangerous implements. Ear specialists spend a fair amount of time treating such injuries as perforated ear drums or scratched, infected ear canals.

Even blunt instrments can push the wax further in, until there's a solid, impacted mass of it against the ear drum.

Ear wax (cerumen is the technical name) is a natural, protective secretion that protects the tender lining of the ear canal. Some folks produce more of it than others, so discovering some wax in the ear is no reason to worry.

Excessive formation, however, can result from infection in the ear canal (from fungus, germs, or irritant dust) and calls for treatment other than just removing the wax. Likewise, what is thought to be wax may sometimes actually be hardened discharge from a diseased ear canal or perforated ear drum.

So long as an open passage remains in the ear canal, hearing will not be impaired, but if wax plugs the entire diameter of the canal, then hearing will be less acute. And if the wax is pushed against the ear drum, ear noises and other discomforts result. In some cases, impacted wax can cause a chronic cough. It is the result of what is called a nerve reflex.

So stay sensible as you now are, and do not try to go poking things in the ear. To be safe, I'd have your doctor (or an ear specialist) take a look to see that there's nothing really wrong in your ears.

If you insist on trying to remove wax, instead of letting it work out naturally, the safest way is to put a few drops of mineral oil or olive oil in the ear canal (to soften the wax).

After allowing time for the softening, use a small syringe (infant rectal syringe or similar) to irrigate the canal to wash out the wax. You can use a warm solution of baking soda or weak salt solution. But use the syringe only as a means of squirting a stream into the ear and letting it run out. Do not let the nose of the syringe close the ear canal and thus exert force in the canal. That can force the wax deeper instead of removing it.

For more complete removal of the wax, if necessary, it's simple to have your doctor do it two or three times a year. Some folks do. He can see what he is doing, and has proper instruments, so it is done both quickly and safely.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When I was about 20 I had a spot on one lung which the doctor termed T.B. I never broke down, coughed or had sputum or temperature.

Now I am 53 and always had checkups and X-rays. I have scars but the tuberclin skin test has always been negative. Why? — Mrs. L.E.

My guess would be that the "T.B." wasn't T.B., but might have been histoplasmosis which, 30-odd years ago, was often mistaken for tuberculosis. They are difficult to tell apart by X-ray, but these days a skin test for histoplasmosis is available and settles the uncertainty.

HOSTAGES THREATENED — Man identified as Primo Marcelo holds cleaver to the throat of Johnny Ngho and shouts to crowd below in Manila Sunday, moments before police opened fire killing Primo and his brother, Basilio, who had held the Ngho family hostage for 48 hours. Ngho escaped without serious injury.

Four Die As Bullets End 48 Hours Of Fear

MANILA (AP) — Forty-eight hours after Basilio Marcelo and 14 others men tooka Chinese businessman and his household hostage, police sharpshooters sneaked up a stairway and shot Marcelo dead as 1,000 spectators watched from below.

The police also killed three of Marcelo's companions, including his brother, Primo. Of the 12 hostages, only Marcelo's former employer. buisnessman Johnny Ngo, was wounded.

A bullet grazed his scalp and his throat was cut slightly by meat cleaver held by Primo, police said.

The last hours of the drama took place on an open terrace, and Marcelo spoke by bullhorn to a crowd of about 1,000 outside the four-story apartment house. He reviled local politicians and the local Chinese community. He told newsmen he was acting "for my country" but refused to explain.

The hostages included Ngo's wife, children and several maids. Some of the men with Marcelo later told police he told them they were going to see Ngo about a construction job.

Marcelo told the crowd that money was not his objective, although at the outset he demanded 8,000 pesos—about $1,200 — and received $30 in cash from Ngo and a check for the 8,000.

Police demanded Marcelo throw down his weapons and surrender, but he refused.

"Fools! idiots!" he called to the police. "If you want the hostages dead, then go ahead and shoot me."

DEATHS

west, Hilli in the northwest, and Akhaura.

Jacob said 317 Pakistanis have been killed, 199 wounded and 426 taken prisoner in province-wide fighting so far. He said in Akhaura a battalion of Pakistan's crack frontier force had been wiped out.

RETREATING

Jacob described Indian casualties as "light to moderate," but declined to give figures. He also praised the determination of the Pakistani troops and appealed to them to surrender.

Associated Press correspondent Dennis Neeld reported from the East Pakistani town of Darsana that India poured regiments of troops, tanks and guns across the border and that they met only desultory resistance from steadily retreating Pakistani forces.

Indian military spokesmen also reported their troops advancing as much as 10 miles into West Pakistan at a point west of Jaisalmer, which is in the Indian state of Rajasthan. But they had not launched a major land invasion of the west.

Meanwhile, Pakistani spokesmen in Rawalpindi reported their forces had taken 20 Indian outposts along the border running through the disputed state of Kashmir and inflicted 300 Indian casualties.

DAMAGE LIGHT

The Indian spokesman said the Pakistanis continued to bomb Indian military airfields, but "the damage is very light and we have suffered no losses."

One Pakistani B57 was shot down during an attack on the airfield at Amritsar, he said, bringing the total of Pakistani planes claimed by India to 48. Indian losses remained at 17, the spokesman added.

Possible Cancer Virus Isolated

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Scientists say it will cost $1 million and require skimming 7,500 gallons of fluid off growing human cancer cells to complete the next experiment with a newly discovered cancer virus.

The researchers are almost certain they've discovered human cancer virus, which would be a significant step in understanding the causes of the killer disease. But their conclusions are based largely on circumstantial evidence and they need more direct proof.

CONFIRMATION

The crucial confirmation could come from a difficult, months-long procedure under way that will produce less than an ounce of material for injection in 10 guinea pigs and several rats.

Dr. Robert Huebner of the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md., said money is available for the procedure, largely because of a new emphasis on cancer research by the federal government.

"If this turns out to be conclusively a human cancer virus, if this works out the way we hope, we'll be light years ahead of where we stand now," Huebner said.

Such proof will be strong new evidence supporting a still unproven theory that each animal cell contains the seeds of cancer. Somehow, the theory proposes, genetic messages in a cell are unlocked, turn the cell cancerous and cause manufacture of cancer virus particles. These particles then infect other cells and pass along genetic information making them cancerous.

The virus particles discovered here were in human cancer cells growing in a kitten, where they were implanted before the kitten was born. The work was done by Dr. Robert M. McAllister of Childrens Hospital of Los Angeles and Dr. Murray B. Gardner of the University of Southern California.

The circumstantial evidence that the virus particles are of human origin comes from knowing what the particles are not. Tests have shown they are not cat, mouse, rat, hamster or chicken cancer virus. But the virus particles do have properties common to all known mammalian cancer virus particles and they have been observed coming from human cancer cells.

"We think this is the best candidate so far detected to be the so-called human C type (cancer) virus," McAllister said in a briefing for science writers at which the discovery was revealed.

In the new experiment, millions of the human cancer cells are being grown. The virus particles emerge from the cells into the surrounding fluid, which is poured off. The work is being conducted at several laboratories around the country with NCI coordination.

The billions upon billions of virus particles in the fluid are being treated to remove a biochemical manufactured by the virus.

The biochemical is a unique fingerprint of the virus presence.

Huenber said 7,500 gallons of this fluid must be treated to obtain one gram—a twenty-eighth of an ounce—of the biochemical, which is called GS-1 antigen.

These few drops will be injected into guinea pigs and rats. The test animals' bodies will begin manufacturing antibodies, other biochemicals that attempt to repel the invading antigen.

District Court Has 10 Civil Cases On Docket

Docket call will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in 118th District Courtroom, and trials will begin Dec. 13 at 10 a.m. On the docket are 10 civil cases, one of which will be heard in non-jury proceedings.

The case which will be heard outside the presence of a jury concerns a $103,750 damage suit resulting from a Nov. 29, 1970, auto collision 10 miles east of Andrews on SH 176. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Neal, Andrews, have filed suit in 118th District Court against William P. Bodin, Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton H. Harrison, Big Spring, are asking $82,000 in damages of Hull & Phillips Grocery & Market in connection with injuries Mrs. Harrison allegedly sustained as a result of a fall on the store's premises.

A June 11, 1970, automobile accident at Douglas and West Fourth has resulted in a $45,150 damage suit. Jessie Lee Metcalf is asking payment for damages from Michael Lee Moates.

Glenda Beevers has filed suit in behalf of Cory Max Beevers, a minor, against Bobby Joe Bell, asking $26,300 in damages in connection with a Sept. 18, 1970, car-motorbike collision at Eleventh Place and Birdwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Toland have filed suit in district court against Irene McKinley in connection with a May 5, 1969, collision on IS 20. Mr. and Mrs. Toland are seeking $8,600 in damages.

Ray S. Parker is asking $510.66 in damages of Tommy C. Hubbard in connection with a Feb. 1, 1970, auto collision at Sixteenth and Nolan.

Two workman's compensation related suits are on the docket for Tuesday. Stanley J. Willis is asking $30,000 in compensation from Banker's Life and Casualty Co.

Transport Insurance Co. is suing Melvin L. Blum in connection with over $500 in workmen's compensation awarded Blum March 30, 1971, by the state accident insurance board.

Freddie W. White is suing Victor McCrea et al in connection with a $4,500 promissory note issued in March, 1963.

No information was available on the case concerning Barbara Jean Hector and David Hector vs. Brozy Wilkins in behalf of Bene, Steven and Jimmy Hector, all minors.

Public Hearing Today On Zoning

A public hearing of the city Zoning Board of Adjustment was scheduled for 5 p.m. today at City Hall.

The board was to review a request by H. C. Tidwell for permission to place a mobile home on his property at 2107 Grace for a fixed dwelling for a member of his family.

All property owners within 200 feet of the lot are requested to attend the meeting, and will be given an opportunity to state their approval or disapproval of the requested variance.

TEN DAYS FROM DEADLINE

No Entries Received In House Decoration Contest

With only 10 days before the deadline on the city's traditional residential and block Christmas Lighting and Decoration contest, no entries have been received by the Chamber of Commerce.

Substantial prizes for winners in the over-all yard and home contest have been provided and special plaques will be presented to those winning for a special feature. Texas Electric Service Company is cooperating with the chamber in providing the awards.

Persons may enter their entire yard and home; or may elect to enter only a window, a door, or a special feature. Those who will join in the holiday brightening should call the Chamber of Commerce at 263-7641. It is required that name, address, and stipulation of which event is being entered be given. The entry may be mailed to the chamber, P. O. Box 1391.

Chamber officials are urging wide participation, since "the contest will provide pleasure for everyone participating and will help beautify our city at this season of the year and will foster a friendlier community spihit."

The rules are simple:

The contest is open to all residences in the city limits. This includes Webb Village and the barracks facilities on Webb AFB. Simply notify the chamber of the event you want to enter, and the earlier the better.

Deadline on entries is Dec. 17, and judging will be done the night of Dec. 22, with announcement of winners to be made immediately.

Contestants must leave lights on until 11 p.m. Dec. 22, so that judges will have time to view all entries. It is requested that entries be kept lighted each evening during the holiday period.

Those persons who won a first place in 1970 will not be eligible for first place this year.

In the home-yard general contest, prizes will be: First place, outdoor electric Ready-Lite, installed as per the winner's wish; second, and electric blanket; and third, an automatic electric coffee percolator.

Special plaques will be given for first and second place winners in each of these events: door, window and special feature.

In addition, special certificates will be presented to each household participating in a special "block" display; and people in any city block may cooperate for this special neighborhood event.

A board of judges will survey all the entries, and will name winners according to this guideline: Artistry and ingenuity, up to 30 points; lighting techniques, up to 30 points; originality, up to 20 points and symbolic portrayal, up to 20 points.

GIVES STRANGER HIS LAST DOLLAR

Santa Wears Blue Uniform

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Harry L. Jones is the kind of guy who'd give a stranger his last dollar. And does, frequently.

He's a policeman who, for the last 17 years on duty, has seen life at its worst. But he's not discouraged. He says he thinks people just need a little help.

Last week, for instance, Jones answered a routine report of family trouble. He said he found a woman and five ragged children—three girls and two boys, ages 13 years to 19 months—huddled in an attempt to keep warm in a freezing mist.

Inside the house, he said, was the children's father, drunk.

FATHER DRUNK

Earlier that day the woman had taken four of her husband's last $11 and sent one of her children to the store for groceries. When the child returned, Jones said she told him, the man snatched the food away, stomped it to bits.

"I kicked the door open," Jones said. "Those folks were living there with just wall-to-wall floor—I mean no furniture at all, no food.'"

Jones said he radioed headquarters he was going to the grocery store, then spent the only money he had—$6—on food for the family.

"None of that comes as a surprise to me," said Mrs. Jones, who has been married to the big-hearted Birmingham native for 18 of his 43 years.

PAID HER RENT

"I recall one occasion he called home one night and asked if we had any money in the bank. I told him we had a little bit. He said he had found a young woman who had no place to go, so he paid her room rent at the YWCA for a week with a $30 check.

"I had to go out and borrow the money the next day to cover the check," she said.

Recalling his experience last week, Jones says, "I was really touched by that family. I'm going to work with the man . . . try to help him get rehabilitated. I've talked to him about Alcoholics Anonymous and he seems acceptable to it.

"The Fraternal Order of Police is going to see that the kids have a Christmas this year.

"You should have seen the eyes of those kids when we mentioned Santa Claus to them . . . they lit up like diamonds."

The Jones have two daughters, Teri, 17, and Carol, 13. When they outgrow their clothes, their father always finds someone who needs them.

until after the new city attorney, James Gregg, assumes his duties here," said Harry Nagel, city manager, on Nov. 23.

The city attorney has reviewed the contract, but has found that in Section 5, it is required that the city cannot sublease the spur without the consent of the Corps and Webb AFB, according to Nagel.

No other action has been taken by either the city or the foundation, marking an apparent impasse, which must be side-stepped before the transfer can be initiated.

The agenda has been drawn up, including a resolution that the mayor be authorized to sign the contract to meet the legal requirements before the deadline, Nagel said.

THEFTS

Mrs. Pete Mize, 504 Douglas, reported Saturday that someone had broken into her home Saturday and had stolen $104 worth of sterling silver, four record albums, one rifle and one pistol. No value was determined on the last items. She later said the items had been returned.

Jimmy Huckabee, 1810 State, reported Sunday that someone had stolen his television set, valued at over $50.

INVOLVED WITH ANOTHER MAN

Hotline For Deaf

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Lonely and depressed, a young woman calls to say she's afraid she doesn't love her husband anymore. She's involved with another man and needs to talk about it.

More than that she needs someone who can talk to her. She's deaf.

SILENT WORLD

Like 400,000 other deaf Americans, she lives in a silent world, often isolated and alone; sometimes desperate.

This woman's request for advice was one of almost 200 calls received by a new Hotline for the Deaf, a 24-hour listening and referral service started two months ago by the Prince George's county Mental Health Association.

The service offers deaf persons living in the Washington metropolitan area a solution to one of their greatest problems; a way to communicate with the rest of society.

"The deaf live in a very closed community," said Diane Cabot, coordinator for the program. "They have the same problems we do but they can't communicate them."

HIGH FEVER

The Hotline for the Deaf rings rive or six times a day—a teen-ager wants to ask an old girl friend if she'll see him again and needs help calling her for a date; a mother has a son with a high fever and wants help making a doctor's appointment.

A deaf man's car won't start, so he calls the Hotline number 301-884-4480 and an aide not only finds him a mechanic, but also calls the man's boss to say he will be late for work.

"A situation which may not seem like an emergency to the hearing can be very serious for the deaf," Miss Cabot said.

The service is available at this time to only 250 of the 3,000 deaf persons in the Washington area who own a Teletype Writing Machine, a $500 device that connects to a telephone. The machine enables its owners to communicate through typed messages, similar to telegrams, with the Hotline or with other persons who have the same equipment.

CONFIDENTIAL

The hotline is staffed by 70 aides who also man the Prince George's Hotline for Youth, a telephone counseling service for young people seeking information or advice on drug, sex or personality problems.

Many of the aides, who range in age from 15 to 25, are high school or college students. Some are volunteers. Others are paid $1.80 an hour by the service, which operates on an annual budget of $48,000.

Before joining the staff, the young people are screened by a Mental Health Association team for maturity and stability. Then they receive a minimum of 12 hours training which includes sessions with social workers and legal, medical and psychiatric experts.

They are taught to give information, not off-hand advice. All information about the callers is kept confidential.

Dowdy Bribe 'Finger' Due Back On Stand

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The man who says he was with Rep. John Dowdy, D-Tex., when the government alleges the congressman received a $25,000 bribe in 1965 was expected back on the witness stand today.

Disputing testimony of two other witnesses in the trial entering its fifth week, Leonard Wilson, 35, Jasper, Ala., said Thursday he was in the Atlanta, Ga., airport the entire time Dowdy was there changing planes en route to his East Texas home.

Wilson, who was temporarily excused from Dowdy's bribery-conspiracy trial to return home, promised to furnish 12 transcribed pages today of tape recorded telephone calls to Dowdy, that he said led to their Atlanta meeting.

The calls concerned a $500 campaign contribution to be given to Dowdy, Wilson said. He said the original tapes contained in a desk diary were stolen from the congressman's Washington apartment.

Dowdy, a veteran of 19 years in the House of Representatives, is accused in an eight-count indictment with illegal interstate transportation of a $25,000 bribe, conspiracy and perjury.

The government contends the money was offered Dowdy for his aid in sidetracking a Justice Department probe of a Maryland home improvements firm engaged in fraudulent activities in the Washington, D.C., area.

Specifically, the indictment alleges that Dowdy, a ranking member of a House subcommittee for the District of Columbia, was to grant immunity from prosecution in return for testimony by Nathan H. Cohen, then president of the now defunct Monarch Construction Corp. of Silver Spring, Md.

Cohen, a disbarred lawyer from Virginia Beach, Va., testified earlier of his part in the scheme and said he arranged the bribe.

Myrvin C. Clark, a former Monarch sales manager, said he passed the $25,000 to Dowdy in a briefcase, testimony confirmed by another prosecution witness who disagreed with Clark on certain details of the alleged bribe exchange.

REJOICE! REJOICE! — The joy of Advent (the coming of Christ and the period including four Sundays before Christmas) was celebrated by worshiper dancing in the aisles Sunday after Holy Communion in the Perkins Chapel at Southern Methodist University in Dallas. Miss Kris Pfautsch and SMU Chaplain J. Claude Evans were among the participants. The congregation was given crepe paper stoles and streamers. The dancing at the service is part of Chaplain Evans' program to relate religion to today's youth.

GOP Target: Dixie Sweep

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Southern Republicans have joined in building a strategy aimed at sweeping the South for President Nixon in 1972, after a special weekend meeting in Memphis.

With enthusiasm drummed up by appearances of David and Julie Nixon Eisenhower and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, several hundred GOP leaders, congressmen and volunteers made the battle plans for next year.

Agnew making a 98-minute visit ot the conference, told the applauding crowd that Democratic attempts to allow the taxpayer to allot one dollar of his income tax to a political party would destroy the two-party system.

"This is the most blatant, politically-motivated tax fund grab in the nation's history," Agnew said at the Saturday luncheon.

Agnew went on to criticize the Democrats and the news coverage of President Nixon's accomplishments—a theme that dominated the two-day conference.

"It is important," Agnew said, "for Republicans to let others know the record of this outstanding president, because, ladies and gentlemen, you're not going to find that record sufficiently documented in your favorite publications of national impact.

Three Persons Shot To Death

By The Associated Press

While snow and rain made highways in the Panhandle and North Texas hazardous, most of the traffic deaths occurred this weekend in South Texas.

The Corpus Christi-Beeville area was the most vulnerable, with at least eight persons dying in traffic accidents there.

By midnight Sunday, The Associated Press had tabulated 20 deaths, 15 of them in traffic. Three persons were shot to death, one was stabbed and one died in a fire. The count began at 6 p.m. Friday.

Two Dallas women died late Sunday when two cars collided in Dallas after one went out of control on a curving hill. Killed were Sharon Ann Walter, 22, and Mrs. James H. Wiles, 59.

FIRE IN ODESSA

Jerrie Norman, 2, died in an Odessa hospital Sunday following a fire in her Odessa home Saturday. She was burned over 50 per cent of her body, doctors said.

George Francis Murphy, 20, of Combs was killed Sunday when his car veered off the highway and struck a sign. The accident occurred on U.S. 77 just north of Harlingen.

Mary Z. Campos, 87, of Beeville was killed in the South Texas city when she was struck by a car as she attempted to cross a street. Officers planned no charges.

Jose Solis, 55, was killed Friday night when he was struck by a car on U.S. 83. Officers said the La Grull man was hit about 13 miles east of Rio Grande City.

Billy Ray Garrett, 39, of Dallas was shot to death in a bar early Sunday. Dallas police said the case would be referred to a grand jury.

Bill Glover, 81, of Dallas was killed Saturday night in a two car crash on Dallas's northside.

Michael Ray Welch, 22, of Campwood and Carrol Powers Jr., 24, of Keakey were killed early Sunday when their car veered from a rainslick highway and struck a tree. The accident occurred two miles east Uvalde.

Three persons died in a two-car collision on U.S. 181 between Beeville and Sinton Friday night. Killed were Alfred Gonzalez, 51, of San Marcos; Jesus Lopez, 56, of San Antonio, and an unidentified woman.

A two-car head-on collision three miles south of Corpus Christi on Texas 286, early Saturday killed Jerald Mitchell, assigned to the Naval Air Station at Kingsville and Mrs. Elias Villereal of Corpus Christi.

West Texas Skies Clear

By The Associated Press

The low frontal system that brought downpours across Texas Sunday moved near the west Louisiana coast during the night, but still caused considerable rain and thundershowers along the Coastal Plains and South Central and Southeast Texas.

Skies cleared in West and Northwest Texas behind the front.

Early morning temperatures ranged in the 20s in the Panhandle and most of West Texas to the upper 50s in Southeast Texas.

The National Weather Service said the rain and thunderstorms would end over the south central and eastern portions of the state with slow clearing from the west.

It was expected to be a little warmer across the western portions of Texas but continued cool elsewhere.

Congress Starts Weighing National Food Bank Idea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, with an eye on the political scale, is weighing whether to create a national food bank stocked with about $1.5 billion worth of vital grains at an average annual storage cost of $215 million.

The Nixon administration, taking its own approach toward easing farm problems, has joined the American Farm Bureau in opposing the Democrat-backed plan that would set up a strategic reserve supply of up to 300 million bushels of wheat and 25 million bushels of feed grains.

Agriculture specialists on Capitol Hill said they expected a close call for the measure in the House Rules Committee, which moved today toward its decision on whether to dispatch the legislation to the floor for action.

The bill, which emerged from the House Agriculture Committee on a 21-10 vote, has the backing of the Farmers Union, the National Farmers Organization, the National Grange, National Association of Wheat Growers, National Corn Growers Association and the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

Maneuvering on the bill could include attempts to tack onto it a measure which cleared the Agriculture Committee last Thursday by 19 to 6. This would provide that when the government announced wheat and feed-grain programs that add to reserve stocks, the minimum loan level or rate available to producers during that crop year would be hiked by at least 25 per cent.

In addition, it is expected that Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., will try to attach a $20,000 limit on all farm-subsidy payments.

Under the base bill for a national food bank, the secretary of agriculture would buy wheat and feed grain at prices not exceeding the average price for the previous five years.

These reserve supplies could be released only when market prices for wheat and feed grains were 120 per cent above the previous five-year average price received by farmers—or to relieve economic distress, provide disaster help, assist in a civil-defense emergency, or feed livestock in an emergency.

The stocks would be rotated to prevent spoilage. The secretary of agriculture could store the supplies in producer-owned and commercial storage facilities.

Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, the measure's chief sponsor, had urged new Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz to support the bill that Smith said "would make available to the department an effective tool to counteract the depressed prices." Butz instead announced a corn-purchase plan.

Butz said Friday the government will buy an undisclosed amount of corn on the open market in an attempt to firm up farm prices. Butz added that this would "provide reserve stocks to meet domestic requirements during periods of short supply."

Chevy Recall Is Gearing Up

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp., pressed by the federal government, is gearing up for the largest automotive recall in history — the callback of nearly 6.7 million Chevrolets which may have defective engine mounts.

In a letter to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, GM said it would pay for installation of restraints to prevent mount failure. GM said Saturday that the recall would begin in late February, once Chevrolet dealers are equipped with the restraint devices.

Affected are 1965 through 1969 full-sized Chevrolets and Chevrolet Novas, plus 1967 through 1969 Camaros and some light trucks. The recall applies only to models with V8 engines.

Thefts Costly

DALLAS (AP) — The grocery cart is just about everything else as well. And its cost to area stores runs in the vicinity of $60,000 a month from thefts, one grocery chain executive estimates.

They can be seen hauling laundry, store garbage, papers and in use as kids' hill carts.

Willie Ellison Shatters NFL's Rushing Record

By The Associated Press

Los Angeles running back Willie Ellison started things off in grand style against New Orleans Sunday.

The five-year veteran raced 80 yards for a touchdown early in the first quarter and then rushed 247 yards in 26 carries for a National Football League record.

"It took a lot of extra effort and stamina. It's the happiest day of my life," the 200-pound Ellison said after the Rams upended New Orleans 45-28.

Ellison's performance stole attention from a 105-yard kickoff return by Travis Williams and three touchdown tosses by Roman Gabriel.

SINCE 1963

He broke the standard of 243 yards set by Cookie Gilchrist of Buffalo against the New York Jets on Dec. 8, 1963, in the American Football League and the mark of 237 yards established twice by former Cleveland standout Jim Brown.

"Just about everybody told me at halftime that I would get the record," he said. "The line did a tremendous job of blocking and Gabriel did a great job of selecting plays against the New Orleans defense."

In other contests Sunday, San Diego upset Minnesota 30-14, New England stunned Miami 34-13, Philadelphia edged Detroit 23-20, Cleveland nipped Cincinnati 31-27, Atlanta defeated Oakland 24-13, Houston swamped Pittsburgh 29-3, Washington crushed the New York Giants 23-7, Denver downed Chicago 6-3, Green Bay and St. Louis battled to a 16-16 tie and Baltimore blanked Buffalo, 24-0.

TONIGHT'S GAME

In Saturday's game, Dallas swarmed over the New York Jets 52-10.

The San Francisco 49ers entertain the Kansas City Chiefs in Monday night's nationally televised game.

The Dolphins' setback spoiled their bid to clinch the American Conference's East Division title and moved them into a showdown with the Colts.

Quarterback John Hadl led his team 63 yards in seven plays to set up the go-ahead touchdown as the Chargers barreled from behind to reel off 20 points in the final quarter. With the Steelers' upset over the Lions, Minnesota could have secured Central Division laurels by winning.

Several Miami miscues and precision passing by rookie Jim Plunkett snapped the Dolphins' eight-game victory streak.

Mercury Morris took the opening kickoff 94 yards for a touchdown to give Miami an early lead, but Plunkett then rifled eight straight passes to set up a touchdown. Plunkett, who celebrated his 24th birthday Sunday, completed 16 of 23 passes for 223 yards.

BROWN CLINCH

Leroy Kelly plunged four yards with 1:48 remaining as the Browns garnered the AFC's Central Division title, which they will retain even if they lose their final two games.

Norm Bulaich's one-yard lunge capping a 78-yard march broke a scoreless tie in the third period and veteran Johnny Unitas then fired a five-yarder to Ray Perkins for his first scoring pass of the season.

The Falcons intercepted Daryle Lamonica twice and recovered three fumbles in handing the Raiders their second straight loss. Atlanta also suffered five turnovers but sealed the win after Oakland couldn't score after grabbing a fumble on the Atlanta four.

CRUSH GIANTS

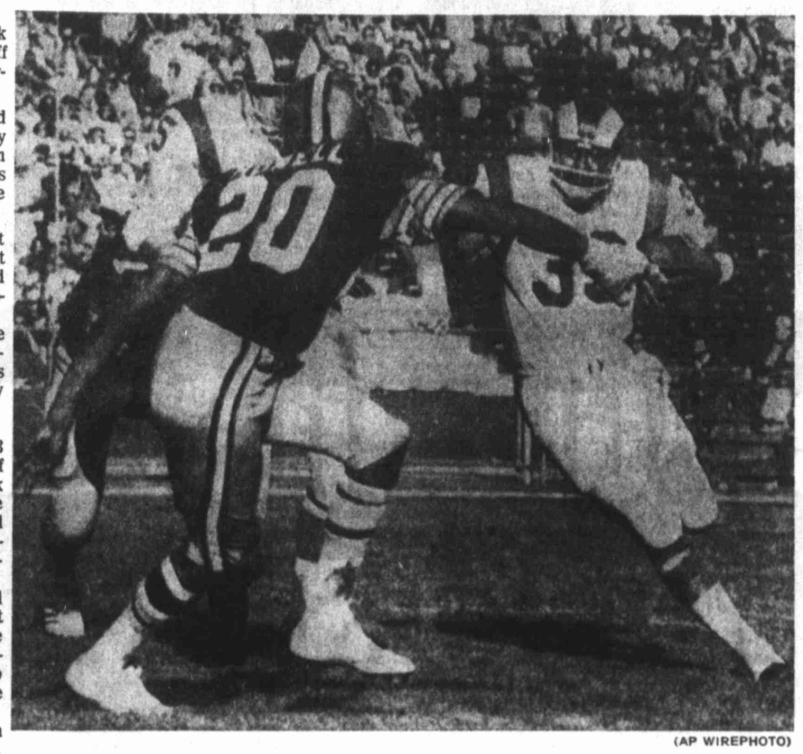

Washington snagged four interceptions in the first half and Larry Brown scored twice while picking up 129 yards. New York's sole touchdown came when Otto Brown recovered a blocked punt in the end zone.

Pete Liske hit Kent Kramer with a five-yard pass in the final minute as the Eagles came from behind to ruin Detroit's NFC Central Division playoff aspirations. Moments before Liske's scoring pass, the Lions went ahead 20-16 on quarterback Greg Landry's five-yard run.

WINNING BOOT

Jim Turner kicked a 33-yard field goal with two minutes left after giving the Broncos an early 3-0 advantage with a 34-yard boot. Denver's defense limited the Bears to 66 yards total offense and dumped quarterback Bobby Douglass nine times.

Rookie Tim Webster's 27-yard field goal as the final gun sounded hoisted the Packers into a tie after both teams scored touchdowns in the final seven minutes.

ELLISON HAS BIG DAY — Los Angeles Rams' Willie Ellison (33) does a fancy step as he waits for teammate Tom Mack (hidden) to put the block on New Orleans Saints' Delles Howell (20) during second quarter of NFL game in Los Angeles Sunday. Ellison got around Howell for a first down on the play. Ellison set an NFL rushing record of 247 yards in 26 carries as the Rams whipped New Orleans, 45-28.

Oilers Rise From Grave

HOUSTON (AP) — Rumors of the Houston Oilers' death may have been greatly exaggerated.

The Oilers put on a lively enough performance in the Astrodome Sunday in eliminating the Pittsburgh Steelers from the American Football Conference's Division race with a 29-3 victory.

It was only the second victory of the season for Houston's rookie head coach Ed Hughes but that didn't make it any less satisfying.

"It was our finest hour," Hughes beamed. "We finally put things together. Robert Holmes did an outstanding job running the ball. He showed great effort and the line blocked better than it had all year."

Hughes could take some credit for the improved line blocking. He assumed line coaching duties several weeks ago when the Oiler management fired line coach Ernie Zwahlen and Hughes shifted the starting line up for the Pittsburgh game.

The victory also jeopardized Houston's chances of getting the first pick in January's pro football draft, which goes to the team with the worst record. The Oilers are now 2-9-1.

Buffalo, Houston's opponent this week, which is 1-11.

Brooks started Bradshaw's dilemma with a first quarter interception that led to an eight-yard touchdown run by Woody Campbell.

Safety John Charles followed with two second quarter interceptions that resulted in field goals of 37 and 25 yards for Mark Moseley.

Moseley also hit a 25-yarder in the first quarter and Dan Pastorini connected with Alvin Reed for a 27-yard scoring pass in the first quarter. Holmes barreled four yards for the final touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Pittsburgh's only point came with three seconds left in the half when former Oiler Roy Gerela kicked a 15-yard field goal.

Pastorini was the victor in the second duel with Bradshaw this season. Bradshaw threw two touchdowns in the final five minutes for a 23-16 Steeler victory earlier this season.

But Pastorini turned the tables this time, completing 12 of 22 passes for 126 yards and one touchdown. Bradshaw hit 14 of 31 and was relieved in the fourth quarter by Terry Hanratty.

"I don't know what was wrong," Bradshaw said. "I just couldn't hit my receivers. But Houston had the best pass rush that I've seen this season."

Lee Surprises Reagan On Heartbreak Hill Thrust

By The Associated Press

The undefeated Texas Aggies had best get their tennis shoes laced up tight—they've got to play defending national basketball champion UCLA Saturday night — on the Bruins home court.

A&M, Texas Tech, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian emerged from the first week of non-conference games with unblemished records as the the Southwest Conference piled up a lofty 12-6 record against outside foes.

But a truer test of SWC muscle will come this week in a full-scale slate of action with such opponents as UCLA on the cards.

The Aggies defeated Texas Wesleyan and Northwestern Louisiana last week—two teams certainly not in UCLA's league. Tonight rugged Tulsa of the Missouri Valley Conference comes to town.

Tech didn't play any mullet when it stunned Western Kentucky 95-87 Wednesday night. The Red Raiders also bumped off South Dakota State.

Tech hosts Oklahoma tonight and plays at Colorado Friday night and at New Mexico Saturday night.

SMU, which defeated Vanderbilt and Austin College, is at Oklahoma City Wednesday and plays at Wichita State and Nebraska Friday and Saturday nights.

TCU won its only games last week and the defending SWC champions go to Lamar University and host Oklahoma City this week.

Houston, which isn't competing for the SWC title until 1975, won two of three games last week and hosts Arizona State in a Friday-Saturday night doubleheader this week.

Arkansas, Texas and Baylor each won a game and lost one last week while Rice was winless in two starts.

In games tonight, Texas is at Oklahoma City, Tulsa is at A&M, Oklahoma is at Tech, LSU is at Baylor, The Citadel is at Houston, and Arkansas is at Missouri-St. Louis.

IN ORANGE BOWL

Huskers, Tide To Settle Title

By The Associated Press

Nebraska's 45-3 victory over Hawaii Saturday night virtually assured that the Cornhuskers and Alabama will be singing a national championship title song in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Night and left Michigan humming a not-so-jaunty arrangement of California, Here I Come.

Do the unbeaten but fourth-ranked Wolverines have much of a shot at the No. 1 ranking, even if they trounce Stanford in the Rose Bowl Coach Bo Schembechler says their chances are "not very good."

"We've accomplished all our goals in winning the Big Ten championship," Schembechler says. "We'd like to win the national championship, but I don't think we can. Even if Nebraska and Alabama tied in the Orange Bowl, I doubt we'd get it."

Besides the undeniable fact that 12-Nebraska is ranked first and 11-0 Alabama No. 2, there is another team—once-beaten Oklahoma—just ahead of Michigan.

The third-ranked Sooners did nothing to diminish their stature with a 58-14 walloping of Oklahoma State as the regular college football campaign came to a close.

Penn State wasn't so lucky. The fifth-ranked Nittany Lions, bound for the Cotton Bowl and a date with Texas, suffered a 31-11 humiliation at the hands of 12th-ranked Tennessee. Elsewhere, Syracuse turned back Miami, Fla. 14-0 and San Diego State gunned down North Texas State 42-28.

Jerry Tagge, the second team quarterback, sparked Nebraska's rout of Hawaii. He fired touchdown passes of 80 yards to Jerry List, 32 yards to Johnny Rodgers and 17 to Frosty Anderson and scored himself on a 12-yard run.

Meanwhile, Nebraska's Black Shirts, the rock-ribbed defensive unit, held the Rainbows to 47 yards on 41 rushes.

Grady Wins Consolation

GRADY — Both the Grady boys and girls won consolation honors in the Junior High Basketball tournament at Greenwood during the weekend.

In the opening round, Coahoma edged Grady boys 40-32, jumping to a 13-6 lead at the quarter and stretching it to 2-14 at halftime.

Grady then plastered Wingate 57-25, building up a 39-14 halftime lead. In the consolation finals, Grady measured Trinity of Midland by 44-13.

For the girls, Grady dropped the first round game to Coahoma 32-21, then turned the tables by burying Wingate 32-12 in the second round. They had an 18-3 half-time lead then stretched it at the three-quarter pole. Grady ran away with Coahoma Seventh graders in the consolation finals by a 57-18 count.

Grady boys and girls play two district at home games this week, meeting Forsan teams Tuesday at 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. and Coahoma Thursday at the same time.

Namath Awed By Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — Joe Namath has been around this football business awhile but he's never seen a team hotter than the Dallas Cowboys Saturday.

"They got out in front quicker than any team I've ever seen," said Namath of Dallas' 28-0 first quarter lead in the nationally televised game with the New York Jets Saturday.

Dallas rolled to a 52-10 rout over the Jets to keep it lead over Washington in the National Football Conference Eastern Division. The Cowboys have won five consecutive games in their Super Bowl surge.

"The Cowboys just licked us," said Jet Coach Weeb Ewbank. "We spotted them two touchdowns and it's hard to come back from that. Dallas has an excellent team."

The Cowboys seemed unawed by the return of Namath, the Jet quarterback who had not started a regular season game since October, 1970, until Saturday against the Cowboys.

Dallas intercepted Namath after Isaac Thomas' 101-yard return with the opening kockoff and the rout was on. Namath hit only one of five passes for 20 yards.

Dallas coach Tom Landry said Dallas is in good shape now to make the playoffs.

Pro Golf Leaders Vie Today For Season's Leading Spot

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Pro golf's prestigious leading money winning spot was scheduled to be settled today—one week early—with Jack Nicklaus holding the inside track on Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer.

"I'm leading the tournament going into the final round," Nicklaus said. "If I win, I'm going to be the leading money winer. If I don't win from this position, I don't deserve to be the leading money winner."

This was the situation today heading into the final round of the rain-delayed Walt Disney World Open Golf Tournament:

Trevino already has set a single-season money winning record with $229,777. But he hasn't been a factor in this tournament and is well back in the field at 213.

Nicklaus is second in money with $214,491 but leads the tournament—which offers a $30,000 first prize from a $150,000 total purse—by a single stroke at 205.

Palmer, who at one time shared the third-round lead, has 200,741 earnings and must win the tournament to have a chance at the money title. He's three strokes back at 208.

There's one more tournament on the schedule, next week's Bahama Island Open. But all three contenders let the Sunday afternoon deadline slip by without making an entry. None will play.

"I'm tired, mentally tired, and I want to rest up for next year," said Trevino.

"I'd like to win the money title but I've played enough this year," the 42-year-old Palmer said.

Nicklaus managed a two-under-par 70 in the third round Sunday to take sole control of the top spot in the tournament just one stroke over Bert Yancey, who also had a 70 for 206.

At one time or another Nicklaus, Yancey, Palmer, Frank Beard and Terry Dill all led or shared the lead.

But Yancey double bogeyed the ninth when he gambled in the rough. Beard double bogeyed the 17th. Palmer left it in a trap and took a double bogey on the 16th. Dill finished double bogey-par-triple bogey, the seven on the finishing hole after two trips into the woods.

That let rookie Lanny Wadkins, with a 69, and Dean Beman, 66, move into a tie for third at 207, two strokes back. Palmer and Beard, each with a 71, were tied at 208 with Lou Graham and Dwight Nevil.

Dill went to a 75 for 210, well back.

Gra-Y Teams For Basketball Set

Nine teams using the same boundaries as elementary schools but going under separate names, have been lined up for the Gra-Y basketball league.

These boys, along with those who played in football, also a number of fathers, turned out Saturday morning at the organizational meeting at the YMCA. Trophies were presented to the winning football league teams — the College Heights Bulldogs coached by Rev. Forest Robinson, and Sgt. Chuck Henderson, and the Park-Hill-Marcy team coached by Delnor Poss. Each has a 7-1 record.

About 200 attended the hot dog luncheon given by the Optimist Clubs in honor of the Gra-Y boys.

Hawks Facing Tough Week

This shapes as a rough week for the Howard County Junior College Hawks, now 9-3 for the season.

The Hawks play the Texas Tech freshmen at 5:45 p.m. today in Lubbock, then they return home to play the HSU Buttons Thursday night. They edged the ACC Frosh 81-78 Friday evening, and in it was Archie Myers who led the attack. Myers, now on the edge of being the leading all-time HCJC scorer with the season barely underway, continues to be the main weapon of the Hawks, who have not yet come up with an alternate nearly so lethal.

Kelly Guinn Cops 2 Races

Although overcast skies and wintry winds thinned the rank of spectators, the Big Spring Motocross held one of its best races here Sunday.

Fifty-eight riders tested the track, which was possibly in its best condition ever. The course has some 400 yards of beside-track parking which makes it ideal for spectators regardless of weather.

There was only one double winner for the day — Kedly Guinn, who copped the 100-senior and 125-senior. Results (with racers from Big Spring unless otherwise noted) included:

Mini-bike — 1. Craig Hodnett, 2. Roger Paige, 3. Steven Darby, and 4 (tie) Mark Lauren, Snyder, and Tom Currie, 6. Rory Roach.
100 junior — 1. Bob Ward, San Angelo; Mitchell Bell, 3. Henry Currie.
100 senior — 1. Kelly Guinn, 2. Jay Henry, Carlsbad, N.M., and 3. Danny Weir.
125 junior — 1. David Freeman, 2. Rusty Hayes, Midland, 3. Paul Liner.
125 senior — 1. Kelly Guinn, 2. Danny Weir, and 3. Robert Mayoros, Carlsbad, N.M.
250 junior — 1. Steven Floyd, San Angelo, 2. George Wood, Carlsbad, N.M. 3. Jim Ratliff, Carlsbad, N.M.
250 senior — 1. Dave Hanson, 2. Rancy Noel, and 3.Thomas B. Sparks.
Open junior — 1. Randy Tanner, 2. David Maley, 3. Jimmy Johnson.
Open senior — 1. James Kirk, Carlsbad, N.M., Jackie Haney, San Angelo, and 3. Danny Weir.

Allison Wins Speedway Event

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Bobby Allison, stock car racing's No. 2 money winner, was the only driver to profit from a rainy weekend in Texas.

That is, if you don't count a youthful newcomer from Mexico Ciyt named Juan Izquierdo.

Allison, 34, won a 200-mile race for older-model Sportsman stock cars at Texas World Speedway on Saturday and added $3,200 to a bank account that already includes $231,170 from Grand National racing and $30,000 from short-track Sportsman competition.

Allison had a fifth-place start in the $90,000 Texas 500 for current model sedans that was scheduled for 1 p.m. Sunday.

But a weather front that deposited rain and snow on central Texas caused a one-week postponement of the race. It is now set for 1 p.m. Dec. 12.

The Texas 500 pole position was won during qualifying trials Friday by Pete Hamilton in a Plymouth at 170.830 miles per hour. Benny Parsons got the other front-row spot in a Chevrolet entered by Texan A.J. Foyt.

Allison posted an average speed of 143.318 m.p.h. in winning Saturday's Permatex 200 by three laps over Jack Ingram, of Nsheville, N.C.

It was his 29th victory of the year. He was driving a Dodge.

Steers Slate Pair Of Games

Big Spring Steers, with a 5-3 record, take on the Mustangs in Sweetwater this evening, then return home Wednesday to meet Crane. Earlier in the season the Steers plastered Crane.

The Steers are showing possibilities of figuring in the District race in their pre-season warmups, and today's contest should shed more light on their chances.

Dick Todd Tapped Out For Hall Of Fame Spot

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex. (AP) — Dick Todd, who carried Crowell to a regional championship with an undefeated season in 1934, will be inducted into the Texas schoolboy football Hall of Fame Monday night, along with four other greats.

Todd, the first prolific scorer in Texas schoolboy football, scored 318 points that season, a record which stood for almost 20 years. His stardom continued at Texas A&M and in pro football.

Jerry Tubbs, a great cente at Breckenridge which won two state titles, will also receive a Hall of Fame plaque. He was an All-America at Oklahoma and a pro linebacker with St. Louis, San Francisco and Dallas.

The first star of the Interscholastic League in its early years, Bohn Hilliard, is another. The all-state backfielder at Orange starred at Schreiner Institute and for three seasons with Texas.

Karl Milstead, all-state lineman from Athens, was sought by all the colleges but settled on Oklahoma, where he was one of the finest players at the school.

Another is James Froggie Williams, all-stater for two seasons at Waco High School in the early 40s. He was an All-American at Rice. He rated with the finest ends ever produced by the Southwest Conference.

Reds Push Cambodian Army Into Retreating From Town

PHNOM PENH (AP) — North Vietnamese troops dealt the Cambodian Army another setback today, forcing it into retreat from a district town only 16 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. At least 50 Cambodians were killed or wounded.

About 150 troops fled from Bat Doeung in the darkness before dawn after two days of fierce fighting.

About 50 of the survivors were reported to have reached safety at the nearby outpost of Phnom Baset.

THOUSANDS FLEE

Last week the Cambodian army's northeast front collapsed, sending thousands of troops and civilians fleeing north to the besieged provincial capital of Kompong Thom. The North Vietnamese were left in control of 25 miles of Highway 6.

Reports during the weekend said hundreds of the fleeing soldiers and civilians and were killed during the retreat. The army abandoned three more hill positions during the weekend and withdrew the rest of its surviving force in the sector into Kompong Thom.

In Saigon, it was learned that U.S. Navy planes have nearly doubled attacks against the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos since the dry season began. The aim of the air campaign is to reduce the movement of North Vietnamese reinforcements and war materials into Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The Pacific Fleet's two most powerful carriers, the nuclear-powered Enterprise and the Constellation, are sending more than 100 planes a day against the supply trail. Military sources anticipate an increase in North Vietnamese attacks on the aerial raiders, and more U.S. attacks on North Vietnam in retaliation.

JETS STRIKE

Two such encounters were reported over the weekend. On Saturday surface-to-air missile sites inside North Vietnam fired on U.S. jets operating over Laos for the first time in nearly a month but missed their targets. The American fliers did not return the fire.

On Friday U.S. fighter-bombers escorting B52s on raids near the Mu Gia and Ban Raving passes attacked three antiaircraft radar sites on the North Vietnamese side of the border with unknown results.

Secretary of the Air Force Robert C. Seamans, on a visit to Vietnam, told newsmen that North Vietnam has increased its antiaircraft defenses along the border with Laos.

Seamans said the effectiveness of the U.S. bombing campaign against the Ho Chi Minh trail is illustrated by the absence "of any major sustained military operations since we have really built up our capability to do a pretty darn sophisticated job on the trails in the last couple of years." He ignored the current North Vietnamese campaign in Cambodia, which is costing the Phnom Penh government heavily.

Tricia Makes It On Her Marriage

NEW YORK (AP)—President Nixon's daughter Tricia is a new listing in the New York Social Register, by virtue of her marriage to Edward Finch Cox of New York.

Cox, a law student at Harvard, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Cox of New York, also listed in the 1972 edition of the Social Register issued Friday.

Tricia is also listed in the Washington Social Register, since the occupants of the White House always appear there.

Sadat Vowed To Send Home All Soviet Missile Crews

NEW YORK (AP) — Egyptian President anwar Sadat says he has twice promised to send home all Soviet missile crews in Egypt and to estore full diplomatic relations with the United States as soon as Israel carried out the first phase of a withdrawal from the Sinai Peninsula.

Sadat charges that the Nixon administration misled him into thinking that the United States could in turn wrest major negotiating concessions from Israel. None materialized, Sadat notes in an interview in the current Newsweek magazine, adding, "We are now back to square one."

In the interview with Newsweek senior editor Arnaud de Borchgrave, Sadat says he first made the promise to send Soviet missile crews home in talks with Secretary of State William P. Rogers in Cairo last May.

The pledge was reaffirmed during a July meeting with Michael Sterner the head of the State Department's Egyptian Affairs Desk, Sadat says, and quotes Sterner as having told him that President Nixon had decided the United States would "now take an active role and cease to play the part of mailman between the two sides."

"Then we had a 70-day blackout from America," Sadat continues. "Absolutely nothing from anyone."

Two Texans Die During Breakout Bid

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Three prisoners—two from Texas—and a police major died during an attempted breakout of the Mexico City prison.

Two of the dead prisoners were identified as Medardo Pena Anaya and Sigfredo Pena Anaya of McAllen. They were serving 35 years for murder. The third was identified as Pablo Alvarado, charged with guerilla activities.

Killed also during the Saturday night incident was Major Ricardo Vital Hernandez, director of security inside the prison.

Juan Lopez Mejia, another prisoner, was wounded in shooting after four prisoners grabbed the director, Gen. Francisco Arcuate Franco.

Franco told the Associated Press he was watching television with a group of inmates when the Pena Anaya brothers and Lopez Mejia grabber him by the hair and threatened him with a knife and pistol. He suffered a small cut on his forehead.

"They took me and security chief Lt. Col. Edilberto Gil Cardenas into another small room and they sent to Colonel to bring Alvaredo," he said.

"They told me that nothing would happen to us. They said they would take me as hostage. They blindfolded me."

When Col. Cardenas, Alvaredo and Maj. Vital Hernandez returned, the other prisoners tried to grab the major who drew his pistol and fired, the general said. He added that he only heard the shooting in the next room.

"When it was all over three prisoners and the major were dead," he said. Maj. Vital Hernandez had been shot and stabbed.

Charged With Bank Robbery

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) —Gerald Phillip Lovelace, 31, of Wichita Falls has been charged in the robbery of a Fort Worth suburban bank.

The FBI said Sunday in Dallas that Lovelace had been charged with bank robbery. He was jailed in lieu of $25,000 bond.

The Security State Bank of River Oaks was held up last Thursday when, bank employes said, a man drove up to the motor bank, passed a note and a bag to a women teller and told her to give him her cash. She did.

The man then escaped in a car found abandoned a few blocks away.

Bank spokesman said about $9,000 was taken in the robbery. A Wichita Falls woman and man were later arrested but released.

Canadian Prime Minister To Meet With President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau arrives at the White House today to lead off President Nixon's summit sessions with allied chiefs in advance of his trips to Peking and Moscow.

Economic difficulties head the prospective agenda, with trading partner—pressing for an end to the 10-per-cent import surtax Nixon imposed in his emergency measures last August.

In a broader way, both Nixon and Trudeau were portrayed as wanting face-to-face talks to range over major international issues at a time of far-reaching changes on the world scene.

The theme of checking course with close friends amid a shifting international pattern runs through Nixon's unprecedented pace of separate summit parleys over the span of a month.

Next week Nixon flies to the Azores to see France's Georges Pompidou. The week after it's Britain's Edward Heath in Bermuda. Then comes West Germany's Willy Brandt, at Key Biscayne, followed by Japan's Eisaku Sato in San Clemente Jan. 6-7.

The wide-ranging impact of broadening dealings with the Soviets and of opening of U.S. contacts with Red China are on the agenda for all. So is the trade-and-monetary crisis.

Even as Nixon prepared for the Trudeau meeting, he was being kept abreast of developments in the world's newest hot spot, the Asian subcontinent where India and Pakistan are at war.

Illinois Slate Picked By Daley

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley has picked U.S. Rep. Roman C. Pucinski of Chicago to challenge Sen. Charles H. Percy in the 1972 election.

Daley announced at a news conference Sunday the endorsements of the party's slating subcommittee. The full slate-making committee was expected to approve those endorsements today.

Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, as expected, was slated to challenge Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie. Although all slated candidates must run in the March 21 primary, only Simon will have opposition.

Daley's selection of Pucinski, 52, a former newspaper reporter with 14 years' seniority in Congress, was an attempt to balance the top of the ticket with a Cook County candidate. Simon is from Troy in Southern Illinois.

During most of his years in Congress Puchinski has returned to Chicago each weekend and distributed statements to local newspapers and broadcasters on virtually any subject under discussion by the House.

He has been a loyal Daley Democrat, rising to defend police for their action during the street demonstrations at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Pucinski, who had been a sponsor of a law aimed at heading off interstate travel to promote disorders, said at the time of the demonstrations that they provided "an excellent opportunity to prosecute the first case under the new law enacted by Congress, which prohibits crossing a state line to incite a riot."

Like most Democratic congressmen from Chicago, Pucinski owes his allegiance to Daley and acts on issues close to Daley in a conservative fashion,. But he joins congressional liberals on many national issues, particularly in the fields of labor and education.

West Texas Pecan Show Scheduled

The West Texas Regional Pecan Show has been scheduled for Dec. 16-18 in Midland at the Dellwood Plaza Shopping Mall, according to Bruce Griffith, Howard County Agent.

Classes have been set up for all named varieties. Additional classes will offer competition for heaviest pecan, highest percent kernel, group of three varieties and group of six varieties. Native, or seedling, pecans are also grouped in a separate class.

Entries in the regional show may be from growers living in areas not having county competition. These entries must consist of a minimum of 40 pecans. Ten nuts are processed for judging of samples.

Pecans from yard trees are eligible and have been state winners in previous years. Growers are permitted one entry in each class.

Entries for the show should be sent to Charles W. Green, county agricultural agent, Box 1070, Midland, Tex. 79701. Samples must be received by 3 p.m., Dec. 14, for processing by the show committee.

In coming weeks pecans from all over Texas will be exhibited in more than 20 county shows and three regional shows. Winning entries in regional shows will be eligible for competition in the Texas State Pecan Show.

Persons interested in exhibiting pecans from this year's crop may obtain further information from county agricultural agents.

Nixon Tackles Dollar Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon summoned his four chief monetary experts to a White House meeting today to talk about dollar problems abroad and inflation at home in his first meeting with them in a month.

The economic meeting follows Nixon's three-day weekend at Key Biscayne, Fla., where aides said the President made some key decisions on his fiscal 1973 budget. However, there were no disclosures on what the decisions were.

Nixon returned to the White House Sunday evening. Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President continued his budget discussions on the plane ride from Florida with John Ehrlichman, his chief domestic adviser.

The last time Nixon met with his four top economic advisers was Oct. 28, but since then, there have been numerous developments in Phase 2 of the economic stabilization efforts at home and balance-of-trade and dollar values abroad.

The foursome is made up of Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, Chairman Paul McCracken of the Council of Economic Advisers, Chairman Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve Board and Director George Shultz of the Office of Management and Budget.

Aides said that during his stay in Florida the President kept in touch by telephone with the situation in India and Pakistan.

The President, the aides said, personally ordered Secretary of State William P. Rogers to take a cease-fire-and-withdrawal resolution on the Indian-Pakistani fighting to the United Nations after getting reports from a crisis-study group of high-level officials in the White House situation room.

Salvation Army Banquet Tuesday

An installation banquet honoring new members of the Salvation Army advisory board will be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the First United Methodist Chirch Fellowship Hall.

The Rev. Kenneth G. Patrick, pastor of First Baptist Church will be the guest speaker. Col. Robert Nass, Webb AFB, will be master of ceremonies, and G. G. Morehead will give the benediction.

Cadette Bill Thrasher, of Atlanta, Ga., and temporarily stationed with the local Salvation Army unit, will perform a vocal solo.

Maj. Donald Nelson, commander of the local unti, will install the new board members.

D. A. Brazel, advisory board chairman, will present the unit's service report; Chester Cathey, board treasurer, will present the financial report; and Lowell Jones, chairman of the Christmas committee, will report on the Christmas project of supplying food and toys for the needy families.

Lamesa Choirs Concert Tuesday

LAMESA (SC) — The three choirs of the Lamesa Middle School seventh and eighth grades will present a winter concert Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Lamesa High School auditorium, under the direction of Mrs. Marie Kinard.

The Tuesday performance will mark the choirs' first appearance in new uniforms, with the seventh grade dressed in gold, and the eighth grade in green.

The three Middle School choirs are the "Braves", which includes 35 seventh grade boys, the "Princesses", made up of 58 seventh grade girls and the "Green Warriors", which is a mixed eighth grade choir with 44 members.

The program will include a variety of music, with a number of Christmas music selections.

British Troops Stage Raids, Shoot Snipers

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops staging raids on suspected terrorist strongholds before dawn today shot three snipers and a man wielding a firebomb, the army said.

Extent of the four's wounds could not be determined because the men either escaped or were dragged away in the dark.

As the troops fired rubber bullets and nausea gas at bottle-throwing rioters, others swept through the Roman Catholic Bogside and Creggan districts, uncovering a shotgun, five carbines and some ammunition in one back yard, the army said. One soldier reportedly was hit by a bottle.

In Belfast, the Irish Republican Army blamed Protestant extremists for the worst bombing in Ulster's 28-month communal war. But police and army investigators said the bomb that killed 16 Catholics in a Belfast pub Saturday night may have been a mistake by the IRA's own guerrillas.

A man claiming to represent a Protestant organization called the Militant Ulster Branch of the Empire Loyalists telephoned a newspaper and claimed responsibility for the blast. However, police said they knew of no such organization, and Home Minister John Taylor said he would be "very surprised" if the Protestants had planted the bomb.

The police believed the IRA used the pub as a meeting place to transfer bombs. They speculated that the bomb Saturday night was destined for another target but went off prematurely. Forensic experts said the 50 pounds of gelignite had been placed inside the building, not on the doorstep as first reported, and police doubted that a Protestant could have gotten into the crowded pub without detection.

British troops separated Catholic and Protestant crowds hurling stones, bottles and abuse at each other Sunday night in the Duncairn Gardens area. No casualties were reported.

Elsewhere in the province, a tax office was wrecked and a county court damaged by bomb blasts in Donpatrick and an explosion rocked a hall of the Protestant Orange order in Newtonhamilton. No injuries were reported.

$300,000 Gift For Auditorium

DALLAS (AP) — The gift of $300,000 to Baylor University Medical Center here for an auditorium and auxiliary quarters was announced Saturday.

The gift is from Theodore P. Beasley and his family. The structure will be named the Beulah Porter Beasley Memorial Auditorium in memory of Beasley's late wife.

The auditorium, which will seat approximately 400, will have space for scientific exhibits.

War Declared On Drunk Drivers In New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — War has been declared on drunk drivers in New Mexico.

In Bernalillo County, seven patrol cars and 10 police and sheriff's department officers prowl county roads with the primary objective of apprehending drunk drivers. Two of those cars use portable television cameras which help insure convictions.

The patrol cars are operated by the Albuquerque-Bernalillo County Alcohol Traffic Safety Program.

Directed by Curtis T. Thatcher, ATSP is one of nine pilot Alcohol Safety Action Projects funded by the U.S. Department of Transportion. The Albuquerque program operates under a $1.44 million, three-year contract.

ATSP is designed to utiliize "innovative countermeasure to combat the serious problem of DWIs which has been around for more than 60 years without improvement. In fact, it gets worse year after year," said John W. Hoffman, ATSP public information officer.

State Traffic Safety Commission Director Henry Mathews said New Mexico is "probably the most dangerous state in the country to drive through."

He said the National Safety Council ranks New Mexico the worst in the nation in number of deaths per automobiles registered. The national average is 4.92 traffic fatalities per 10,000 registrations, but in New Mexico 8.7 persons die for each 10,000 automobiles.

Mathews blames "something over 53 per cent" of these fatalities on alcohol.

Hoffman said ATSP is trying to cut down the number of alcohol-related accidents in most of the standard ways, but with a couple of new twists.

Besides the prowl cars, ATSP uses an extensive public information program, specially trained probation officers to handle convicted DWIs, and a diagnostic center which weeds out problem drinkers from the driver who occasionally drinks more than he should.

"Our message is not 'If you drink, don't drive,'" Hoffman said, "because Americans do drink and they do drive when they've been drinking. Our message is 'Know your limit' and we try to educate the public as to what that limit is.

"But we also carry a club," Hoffman said. "Seven special alcohol patrols are out doing nothing but looking for you if you don't listen to our message."

Five Arrested For Base Thefts

Queen Selling Apples To Help Make Ends Meet

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II, who has asked for a big pay boost because of the rising costs of being a monarch, is now selling apples to help make ends meet.

Newspaper advertisements are urging the British public to visit her 20,000-acre royal estate at Sandringham, Norfolk, and buy her apples for Christmas.

Thirty-pound boxes of the apples are being offered directly to the public for $3.75.

"Christmas Apples," the ad says. "Visit Sandringham and collect your own."

The queen, whose private fortune is a secret, would get a new salary of $2.45 million, double her present pay, under a proposal before Parliament.

So many beautiful ways to give it this Christmas.
