FOR EMPLOYED FARMERS

County FHA Announces
Broader Loan Program

Farmers who have regular off-farm employment, if otherwise eligible, may obtain farm operating and development loans from the Farmers Home Administration, under the recently revised regulations of the agency.

John M. Russell, Farmers Home Administration supervisor for Mitchell County, said the new regulation went into effect Oct. 1.

Previously, except in rural development counties, a farmer had to spend most of his time farming in order to qualify for a loan.

Experience gained in rural development counties has shown that many farmers who are regularly employed off the farm can profitably use the Farmers Home Administration's credit facilities to increase the farm portions of their total incomes.

The regulation, which had limited credit assistance to farmers who spend most of their time farming, prevented some from obtaining the maximum income from their farms and from taking advantage of opportunities for industrial and other off-farm employment.

Other eligibility requirements remain unchanged, Russell said. Applicants must have sufficient farm experience to carry on sound farm operations, must need credit, and be unable to obtain financial assistance from other sources. As in the past, credit will be extended only to operators of farms that are family-type size or smaller.

No loan will be made unless a plan for the coming year's farming operations shows that income from the farm family to have a reasonable standard of living, pay debts, and have an adequate reserve for emergencies.

Loan funds may be used to pay farm operating costs, purchase equipment and livestock, pay farm development costs, and refinance certain debts. The interest rate is 5 per cent. Repayment schedules depend upon the purposes for which funds are advanced and upon the estimated incomes from the farms.

Usually, loans made for real estate purposes will be from funds advanced by private lenders and insured by the agency.

Technical farm and money management assistance is supplied to each borrower to the extent necessary.

The Farmers Home Administration office serving Mitchell County is located here at 108 East 3rd Street. The agency also supplies credit for farm housing and soil and water conservation.

Museum, Fair Sound Successful Tunes

Plain fact of the matter is that opening of Colorado City Historical Museum and the 1960 edition of Mitchell County Fair have struck notes of success.

Attendance at both the museum and fair Thursday, Friday and Saturday spirals to more than 8,000 persons. And that's by fairly accurate measuring — counting of actual registrants at the museum plus a conservative estimation of the fair crowd.

Leaders for both events deserve the applause of the community. Dr. Seth Cowan, the Chamber of Commerce vice president, tirelessly coordinated the fair program with the aid of numerous volunteer workers, both men and women.

Harry Ratliff, of course, was the one-man team which kept the museum idea alive and working through months of slow progress, then inspired dozens of citizens to carry through to the climatic opening.

Each project — either the fair or the museum — is a glaring example of the good progress which can come within and for a community if there is sincere thought, interest and effort. Naturally, there have been delays and detours along the road for both projects. No good work is usually without its challenges.

But the major problem for both the museum and fair has been the citizen who said it couldn't be done or who stood on the sideline and waited for the event to happen.

The rightful applause for the fair and the museum alike should be an enthusiastic community — business men first, too — placing a shoulder of team work right now to the task of maintaining the expanding Colorado City Historical Museum on a permanent basis, planning right now for a larger and better Mitchell County Fair.

Surplus Donations Continue Heavy Bulk

Donations of surplus foods by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at home and overseas totaled almost 2.8 billion pounds in the year ending June 30. This total is down slightly from the all-time record of 3 billion set the previous year.

The foods donated are acquired by USDA in its price-support and surplus-removal operations, and are made available to schools and charitable institutions in this country and to needy persons both here and abroad through the Agricultural Marketing Service's Direct Distribution Program.

Eligible recipients in the U. S. receive commodities through designated State and local government agencies. Foreign distribution in over 90 countries was handled by about 20 U. S. voluntary agencies in the fiscal year just ended.

Distribution to domestic recipients in the past year showed a 17.5 per cent decrease from the previous year. This decrease was due largely to the improved dairy situation, coupled with a decline in the number of eligible needy persons in family units.

Schools, under priority rules established by Congress, continued to receive available stocks of butter and cheese, and registered a gain of about 6 per cent in volume of surplus commodities used. Supplementary foods purchased by the USDA exclusively for schools taking part in the National School Lunch Program were not included in these totals.

Donations for foreign distribution, which are made only after all domestic needs have been provided for, showed very little change from 1959 to 1960.

The policy of making good use of surpluses both at home and abroad is a valuable program of this nation and has been patterned for many years. But the continuation of record high amounts of surplus points up the critical condition of agriculture economy within our nation.

WASHINGTON REPORT

Our Farm Puzzle: Farmers U. View

By CLINTON DAVIDSON, Special Correspondent.

The Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union of America, more commonly known as the Farmers Union, would place more emphasis on government-administered policies than either of the other two general farm organizations.

"The keystone of Federal farm policies," says James Patton, Farmers Union President, "should be the preservation, improvement and protection of adequate family farms."

The Farmers Union, smallest of the three farm groups, has approximately 250,000 members in 20 states, chiefly in the mid-section of the Nation. It is older than the Farm Bureau, but younger than the Grange.

Generally regarded as the most liberal of the farm groups in its thinking and policies, the Farmers Union often is also the most militant. It frequently is an advocate of Democratic party policies; seldom a supporter of Republican programs.

"Federal farm policies," Patton has said, "should provide legislative and economic conditions which efficient family farmers can earn and get an income for their labor and management and their capital investment and risk, equal to the returns of similar resources in other segments of the national economy."

Equality of income for farmers, compared with city workers, has long been a goal of the Farmers Union. Latest U. S. Department of Agriculture figures show farmers last year had net incomes of a little less than half the national city average.

"Federal programs," Patton insists, "must be provided to establish prices or returns per unit to reach the parity income goal for the family farm production units. The minimum fair price guarantee should be made effective to farmers through Government loans, purchase agreements, purchases and bargaining devices such as marketing orders in effective, workable combinations for each of the different commodities."

The Farmers Union program calls for a 5-point Food and Fiber Policy that would include establishment of an annual quantity of each commodity required to meet needs for:

1. Effective commercial demand in domestic markets.
2. Special humane or social market needs for low income and other special groups of consumers.
3. The commercial export market.
4. Needed additions to the national safety reserve.
5. The humane or food for peace export program.

The Federal Government, after establishing domestic and export needs, would, Patton proposes, assign each farmer a production goal, which would become the maximum he could market in any one year.

The greatest need for farmers, Patton contends, is for increased net income, and in seeking that farmers should not shun government policy assistance.

Water Program, Traffic Toll Studied by Capitol Agencies

By VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association

Neither Texas civilians nor the armed forces can afford the losses incurred through traffic accidents involving military personnel in the state.

On this note, the Texas Military - Civilian Traffic Safety Council was formed in Austin with a goal of reducing the accidents.

About 200 persons, civilian and military, attended the Council's first meeting, called at the behest of Gov. Price Daniel.

Service men have more auto accidents than any other population group in Texas, said Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety. Last year servicemen drivers were involved in 103 fatal accidents in which 130 persons were killed.

A great many of the servicemen in Texas are in the 18 to 25-year-old age bracket, said Gen. Edward T. Williams, Fourth Army Commander. People in this age bracket generally are the most inclined to have auto accidents.

Gen. Williams urged vigorous enforcement of traffic regulations so that the driver knows he will be caught and punished if he breaks the law.

Brad Smith, director of the Governor's Highway Safety Commission, outlined the five-point program recommended by the governor to improve highway safety.

1. Driver education for all high school students.
2. A law to permit chemical tests to determine if a driver is intoxicated.
3. At least 200 additional highway patrolmen.
4. Revision of the drivers license law.
5. A system of traffic courts.

WATER PROGRAM—Texas' 7-man Water Development Board is considering whether to ask the next Legislature to expand and liberalize its program of lending financial aid to local water projects.

Decision is to be made at the Board's Oct. 28 meeting. Board presently has authority to issue $100,000,000 in bonds and use the money to make loans to local governments for water conservation projects. Loans are limited to one-third the cost of the project and cannot be more than $5,000,000 for any one project.

Under study is whether to ask the Legislature to step up the program by authorizing the Board to lend as much as $15,000,000 per project and to issue another $100,000,000 in bonds to purchase water storage space in federal reservoirs.

When the Board was created, the law provided that another $100,000,000 in bonds could be authorized by a two-thirds vote of the Legislature.

DANIEL HONORED—Governor Daniel is the newly-elected chairman of the 16-State Southern Governors Conference.

He is the second Texan in a decade to head the group. Former Gov. Allan Shivers was chairman in 1951-52. Conferences are devoted to study of problems which the member states have in common. This year the protetion of home industries against ruinous competition from imports has been a prime issue.

HURRY-UP HOSPITALS

With a long, long waiting list of mentally retarded patients, the State Hospital Board is studying short cuts toward providing housing for them.

A contractor, member of the Board presented drawings of, one possible approach — semi-permanent one-story, concrete block cottages. They would provide for 40 persons, cost $38,000 apiece and could be ready for occupancy in 20 months. More than 1,000 children are now on the state homes' waiting list.

Board has authorized getting an estimate of the cost of putting an automatic sprinkling system in the Confederate Home in Austin, now used for mental patients. Home has been called a fire trap, but if it could be made safe, the cost of replacing it could be postponed.

Also voted by the Board was a policy of preventing tuberculosis patients, by force if necessary, from leaving state hospitals until they are well enough not to infect other people.

A recent attorney general's ruling held that the hospital system does have authority to make TB patients stay in the hospital until they are no longer contagious.

EDUCATION SUPPORT

Texans will be penny wise and pound foolish if they try to avoid the cost of establishing a top-notch system of higher education.

This was the theme at an Austin meeting of the members of governing boards of state colleges and universities. A series of regional meetings are planned during October and November to rally public support for better appropriations for state colleges.

Regrettably, the regents pegged Texas state-supported colleges as less than best. A survey was cited showing that 65 per cent of the top jobs in Texas industry are held by graduates of out-of-state colleges. Texas is training the hired hands; other states are training the bosses, said Reagan Houston III of San Antonio.

Texans will play, said John Newton of Beaumont, whether they ante up for good education or not. In an age of electronics, automation and exotic fuels, good educational and research facilities are a prime attraction for new industries, said Newton.

"Cost of losing major opportunities for growth will be at least as great as the cost of providing what we really need," he said.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Presidential Polls Are Needing Help

Editor's note: The Shinnery Flats Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek looks at public opinion polls this week. We aren't sure what he sees.

Dear editor:

A lot of people are accusing the United States of not making any progress, and in some fields it may be true, especially in some of my fields out here on this Johnson grass farm, but there's one area the country has made great strides in.

I refer to public opinion polls.

I don't mean they're any more accurate than they used to be, what I mean is that the poll-takers have gotten smarter.

For example, take the way they word their questions when they send interviewers out to take the public pulse. They don't ask, "How're you going to vote on Nov. 8?" they ask: "If the election were held today, how would you vote?"

This is the smartest way I know to conduct a poll, mainly on account of the election ain't being held to-
I'll be the most accurate public opinion poll ever taken in the United States, and I figure I can get the results day, consequently there's no way on earth to find out whether the polls are accurate or not.

This is sort of like asking, say, a mid-western corn farmer: "If you were harvesting your corn today, how much would you make," when at the time the corn is just sprouting.

As I understand it, right now the polls show both candidates for President about even, provided the election were held today, with maybe one having 48.2 per cent and the other 48.1 per cent, with the balance of the people undecided.

If the poll-takers continue smart, they will keep on taking the public's pulse, always playing it safe by asking how the people would vote if the election was being held today, right up to a few days before the election on Nov. 8.

Then they can slack off and I'll be glad to take over. Won't be any trouble at all for me to take a poll to find out: "If the election was held yesterday, how did you vote?" merely by looking at a newspaper on Nov. 8.

Me and Dr. Gallup both have our work cut out for us.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

LOCAL BUSINESS

Income Production Is Real Yardstick

By MADGE BELL, Record Staff Writer.

A recent survey indicates that during the past ten years newspaper advertising has brought in revenue of more than thirty billion dollars.

There has been an increase of a billion and a half dollars.

There has been an increase of a billion and a half dollars annually since 1949. The big increase has come at a time when television was being developed and when many new radio stations were being founded.

Instead of reducing the volume of newspaper advertising, the expanding new media seem to have stimulated newspaper advertising in many instances. In fact, newspaper advertising increased at a more rapid rate than television advertising, even though television was starting at zero.

This trend was not a surprise to many people who saw the same thing happen years ago at the advent of radio. The fact is that no device of retail selling has been found which could take the place of newspaper advertising.

The new media are sometimes helpful, especially on the national level. But major retailers have always retained the view other outlets are supplementary to newspapers.

Very often a general demand for a product may be stimulated by television or magazine advertising. By such national advertising, a certain style or model may be brought to the attention of the public.

However, experience has shown too often that such national advertising does not benefit a specific retailer until newspaper advertising notifies the local public that an item is available locally and tells the potential customer something about the immediate conditions of purchase.

Thus, as other forms of advertising grows, newspaper advertising expands at a more rapid rate. Other media simply do not do the selling job unless they are backed by substantial newspaper display.

BIBLE COMMENT

Community Ideal Gathers Strength

Throughout world Christianity the ecumenical movement has been slowly gathering momentum.

Ecumenical comes from the Greek, meaning "drawing together."

More than many people realize, this movement has been making remarkable strides to obliterate the differences that have separated Christian religions for hundreds of years.

The differences in belief have not been done away with, but a thing will probably never come about. But the ecumenical movement has had the effect of creating a sense of a Christian community.

Many traditional hostile sects have not become merely separated brethren.

Of course, there are those to whom this solidification bodes ill. Many Christians, for what they consider good reason, dwell on the differences that divide Christian against Christian — instead of accentuating the common aims of the Christian community as a whole.

But no one should be surprised that sharp divisions do exist for many Jesus warned his disciples 2,000 years ago that He would judge them on how they managed to get along with one another.

A new commandment I give unto you," He declared, "that ye love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples."

Pvt. Howell In Germany Training

Army Pvt. Joe D. Howell, 23, whose wife, Wanda, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Howell, live on Route 2, Colorado City, is participating with other personnel from the 3rd Armored Division's 23rd Engineer Battalion in a field training exercise in Grafenwohr, Germany.

The exercise is scheduled to be concluded Oct. 15. Some 15,000 troops and more than 1,000 tanks and armored personnel carriers of the division will maneuver over the rough and hilly terrain of the training area.

This exercise is typical of the constant training conducted to determine that all units in the NATO shield of defense in Europe maintain a high state of combat efficiency.

Howell, a radio operator in the battalion's Company E in Hanau, entered the Army in December 1959, completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo., and arrived overseas last April.

Watching Calories? Try Coffee Bavarian

Weight watchers can have their diet and eat their dessert, too.

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

These two recipes will interest weight watchers. Both are made with super-nonfat dry milk, low in calories and cost, high in nutrition. The family-size package makes 12 quarts of nonfat milk for as little as eight cents a quart.

The Coffee Bavarian contains about 58 calories per cup serving. The low-calorie whipped topping has about four calories per tablespoon. The Pineapple Custard has about 79 calories per one-half cup.

Coffee Bavarian
(1½-quart mold; 6 servings)

One envelope unflavored gelatin, 1 cup cold water, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup instant coffee (as it comes from the jar), ¼ teaspoon vanilla extract, ¼ teaspoon artificial rum flavoring, ½ cup cold water, ½ cup super nonfat dry milk.

Soften gelatin in 1 cup cold water in double boiler top. Add sugar and instant coffee; heat over boiling water, stirring constantly until gelatin has dissolved. Remove from boiling water; stir in extracts.

Chill until mixture reaches the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Combine ½ cup cold water and nonfat dry milk in small mixer bowl.

Beat with high speed on electric mixer 6 minutes, or until stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into 1½-quart mold. Chill until firm, about 2 hours. Unmold just before serving.

Pineapple Custard
(½ cup; 8 servings)

Two cups water, ¼ cup super nonfat dry milk, 2 eggs, ¼ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, ½ cup drained, crushed pineapple.

Combine water and nonfat dry milk in top of double boiler; beat with rotary beater until blended. Scald over boiling water. Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored; blend in sugar and vanilla extract. Mix a small amount of the scalded milk with the eggs, then stir egg mixture into remaining milk.

Strain; stir in drained pineapple. Pour into 8 (½ cup) custard cups. Place in baking pan filled with hot water to depth of 1 inch. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) until knife inserted near center of custard comes out clean, about 80 minutes. Remove cups from water bath. Cool immediately in pan of cold water. Chill before serving.

Re-Styling, Engineer Changes in New Olds

The 1961 Oldsmobile Dynamic 88's, Super 88's and 98's in 18 different models incorporate the greatest changes in styling and design to be introduced by Olds in many years.

The new line of cars are being introduced now to the public at the Colorado City Oldsmobile dealer showroom Jay Adams Chevrolet and Olds.

Head room is increased, the cars are much easier to get in and out of, and seating comfort is improved.

Highlighting the styling motif, the sculptured sides of the Dynamic 88, and Super 88 and 98 sweep back from the distinctive, alert-looking looking front end, with the profile tapering at the rear. Excluding convertibles, a total of 8 different roof designs is featured on the various models within the three series.

Oldsmobile's Dynamic 88's, Super 88's and 98's will feature interior fashions utilizing brighter, newer, more modern fabrics, color-harmonized with exterior finishes.

Overall length and width have actually been reduced so that the new models will fit in almost anyone's garage. Ample leg room has been maintained. Compared with 1960 the Classic 98, Super 88 and Dynamic 88 are from 3 to 5½ inches shorter overall.

Exterior width is 3½ inches narrower and interior width remains virtually the same. Roominess has not been sacrificed.

In all three series — the Dynamic 88, Super 88 and 98 — head room has been substantially increased in the hardtop models and is ample in all body styles.

The front floor is lower, providing more comfortable chair height seats. The front floor tunnel is reduced another 25 percent, making it almost 50 percent smaller than the 1959 tunnel.

The 325-horsepower 'Skyrocket' engine for the Super 88's and 98's has an improved induction system including a new camshaft design. Its compression ratio is increased to 10.0 to 1 to take full advantage of the premium fuels now available.

The Skyrocket engine with 4-barrel carburetor and 394 cubic-inch displacement is also available on Dynamic 88 models at extra cost.

Displacement of the 250-horsepower Rocket engine — standard on the Dynamic 88 — has been increased from 371 cubic inches to 394 cubic inches for additional performance. This Rocket engine uses the 2-barrel Econ-O-Way carburetor and operates on lower cost regular-grade gasoline.

Engine quietness and durability have been further improved on both the Skyrocket and Rocket engines by lengthening the crankshaft front main bearing and bearing journal by ¼-inch to provide better crankshaft support.

Complementing these engine improvements, an entirely new lightweight Hydra-Matic transmission is offered this year. The new unit, featuring smooth Accel-A-Rotor action, is 70 pounds lighter, and slimmer than the Hydra-Matic transmission used on 1960 models. This made possible the smaller floor tunnel.

Smaller Olds Entry

Here is the new, smaller Oldsmobile, the F-85, which is being introduced at Jay Adams Chevrolet Company. The F-85 is built on a wheelbase of 112 inches with an overall length of 188.2 inches and offered in 4-door sedan or 4-door station wagon models.

Frankie E. Pendleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pendleton of Route 3, Colorado City, graduated from recruit training recently at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

The graduation exercise, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp," included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the "raw recruit" is developed into a Navy Blue-jacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

FOR PURSE RETURN

Tourist Praises C-City's Honesty

Mrs. Esther Reynolds of El Paso likes the honesty of Colorado City citizens.

And she wants the public to know about it.

The reason why is contained in the following letter she wrote to the Record.

"Last month, while we were passing through Colorado City on our way to visit our parents, I lost a purse containing (to us) a substantial amount of cash, travelers' checks, credit cards, etc. The loss was not discovered until we reached Wichita Falls, so I had no idea where I might have left it.

"We notified the Texas Highway Patrol and they tried diligently to locate it, but could not. They held out little hope of our recovering the purse-at least, with the money still inside.

"When we returned home we received word from a Mr. Coker, owner of Coker's Cafe, that he had the purse and was mailing it to us. I received the purse in good shape, with all the contents intact.

"To me, this is a newsworthy item. Many persons who heard of the loss were not optimistic about its recovery, so I think it is worthwhile to let people know, through the medium of the newspaper, that there are still honest citizens in this country.

"My husband is a teacher, so we are not wealthy people. A loss of this amount would have been a real setback financially.

"We are sending Mr. Coker a token reward, but we hope that you can, in addition to that, give him some well-deserved recognition in your paper.

"We appreciate your consideration in this matter."

CHURCHES—

Walter Mitchell of Snyder spoke Wednesday morning and lunch was served at the noon hour. Dr. Lee Hemphill of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene spoke in the afternoon.

Crackdown on Non-Licensed Fishermen

Game wardens are making another crackdown on persons who fail to buy their hunting and fishing licenses. Mitchell County citizens were warned this week.

New licenses were required after Sept. 1.

Last month 433 persons in the state paid fines for failure to have fishing licenses, according to the monthly report of the law enforcement division. There were 546 arrests for the month, with fines and costs amounting to $9,075.42. Five persons paid fines for "telephoning" for fish. This is the illegal use of electrical devices in shocking fish.

Licenses were revoked on a dozen violators, including those who "telephone" the fish. Others who killed deer out of season also got their licenses revoked.

"There is little excuse for a person to get caught without a hunting or fishing license," Texas Game & Fish Commissioner warned, "everyone knows such a license is required. They think they can get by without one, and then get caught."

TELEPHONE TALK

by Truman Black, Manager

YOU KNOW BY NOW

No doubt, your phone conversations with friends have emphasized again and again the splendid response to the opening of Colorado City Historical Museum. Even more impressive, however, has been the favorable comment within the West Texas area newspapers.

Our experience has been that newspapermen are not persons easily impressed, especially by "hometown" projects which sometimes have more local patriotism than actual public appeal. But editorials in newspapers like the Big Spring Herald, Abilene Reporter News and others emphasize the fact that Colorado City Museum does have general appeal and its artifacts and exhibits make larger communities envious.

Citizens like Harry Ratliff, the Museum Association president; Will Berry, the collector who many years has been a one-man disciple for preserving West Texas heritage and lore here at home; Mrs. Ruth Earheart, one of the many women who assisted with the opening, and Mrs. Pam Parmelee, the school teacher writer, deserve the thanks of this community and area for their foresight and sturdy work which caused an idea to blossom into an attractive, valuable museum.

You know, it would be a shame if we let our Historical Museum stand still now after this distinguished opening.

HOW TO "HOLD THE PHONE"

You and your family may be among the many that believe the color wall phone is the handiest thing in your kitchen.

You probably realize how it brightens up the room and saves you time and steps. You probably like the way it saves space — it doesn't take up valuable room on a kitchen counter or table.

But did you know there is a handy way to keep the receiver from dangling if you are called away from the phone for a minute?

A number of people have told me they were surprised to learn they can hook the receiver over a notch on the top of their color wall phones until they return to the phone. The illustration shows how it works.

I thought you might be interested in hearing about this added convenience of wall phones in color.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

TEXAS AGRICULTURE

White Slaps at Payment - in - Kind

By JOHN C. WHITE
Agriculture Commissioner

In the course of a heated national campaign political catch phrases bounce hither and yon through the autumn air, and a favorite target is the vast and complex problem of American agriculture.

Payment-in-kind has been pointed out by the Texas Department of Agriculture as one of these catch phrases — a phrase which on first hearing carries perhaps a shrewd and solvent ring to it.

It sounds somehow as if the government is going to pay for something without spending any cash. But analyzing this payment-in-kind proposal from a Texas and a Southwestern viewpoint, as the commissioner has done, seems to make it sound a good deal less attractive.

Payment-in-kind has been advanced as one phase of a plan to help solve the farm problem. Ostensibly this would be applied toward helping get rid of agricultural surpluses by giving certain surplus commodities to our farmers in return for a voluntary cut-back in production on their part.

In other words, if a farmer voluntarily would agree to cut his production of a certain commodity by such-and-such a quantity, in return he would be given such-and-such an amount of either that or some other commodity from surplus stocks.

Where would it lead? First it must be remembered that the vast bulk of our farm surplus is in feedstuffs. This would mean that these surplus feedstuffs, when given to farmers, would have to be fed to cattle and other live stock as the only practical means of disposal.

Our cattle raisers here in Texas and in the Southwest do not have to be told that the cattle population of this country is already dangerously high and that markets are showing definite signs of weakening. Start feeding out a few more head in every cow-lot with surplus feedstuffs and see what would happen.

What this proposal means is that surplus feedstuffs would be dumped back on the farms to feed more cattle, and it would lead to certain disaster as far as livestock markets are concerned. Cattle raisers in our part of the country are still in the process of recovery from a disastrous seven-year drought, and certainly should not be called on to carry this new burden in disposing of government-created surpluses.

This is another instance of primary pitfalls in trying to deal with our complicated farm situation, which is well understood by those who have been trying to deal with it for any length of time.

Newport—Chrysler's Newest

For 1961 Chrysler introduces a Newport series, modeled here by this 2-door hardtop and powered by a 265-horsepower engine. With 122-inch wheelbase, the Newport will compete in the lower price range than previous Chryslers and is on display now at Frank Motor Company.

AT FRANK MOTOR

Newport Makes Bow in Chrysler's 1961 Line

The Newport series, a new-manual transmission is standard and equipment in the Newport and Windsor series. The new Chrysler models feature canted head lamps, a new ribbed roof for four-door hardtops, single-curvature windshields and lower, more functional tail lamps.

Alternators replace generators in 1961 models, providing up to eight amperes of electrical power when at idle. The alternator assures adequate electrical generating capacity always—even in the most severe winter traffic stalls. Motorists in smog areas will benefit from Chrysler's new smog-reducing crankcase breather. Push-button windshield washers and a safer foot-operated parking brake are new features.

In addition to the new 265-horsepower Newport engine, Chrysler offers a 305-horsepower V-8 engine of 383 cubic inch displacement and 10.1-to-one compression ratio in Windsor series models. Chrysler New Yorker models are powered by a 350-horsepower V-8 engine of 413 cubic inch displacement and 10.1-to-one compression ratio.

The 1961 Chrysler line comprises fifteen different models in four series: the Newport, Windsor, New Yorker and 300G. The Newport and New Yorker series have 5 body styles: 4-door sedan, 4-door hardtop, 2-door hardtop, convertible coupe and 4-door hardtop station wagon. The Windsor series has 3 body styles: 4-door sedan, 4-door hardtop, and 2-door hardtop.

The 300G will be offered in two-door hardtop and convertible body styles.

Twelve solid colors and 28 2-tone combinations are obtainable on all Newport, Windsor and New Yorker models. Three of these—black, white, and silver metallic, are the same as used in 1960, and all the rest are new.

The 1961 Chrysler interiors feature a larger number of color-keyed trim schemes. New materials include Jacquard-woven nylons and craft-textured vinyls whose basket-weave surfaces are perforated for passenger comfort.

The 33 interior trim codes range from rich all-broadcloth in sedans to luxurious all-vinyl combinations in convertibles and station wagons. High-Tower driver seats are standard on all Chryslers for 1961, and swivel seats are optional on several body styles.

Chrysler's new electric push-button windshield washer is an entirely new design. It provides the power and dependability of a DC electric motor, which drives a positive displacement pump to send four high-pressure jets of washer fluid against the windshield when the button is pressed. The washer button is conveniently located in the center of the windshield wiper switch, giving the driver complete control of the washing and wiping cycle.

Stressing economy, the 1961 Chrysler Newport features a new 361 cubic inch engine with a 9.0:1 compression ratio. A two-barrel carburetor is standard with this engine.

The economical two-barrel carburetor is also continued as standard equipment on the Windsor engine. The engine uses a modified cylinder block which allows a shorter piston stroke (3.38 inches vs 3.75 inches) and a larger bore (4.25 inches vs 4.03 inches). The pistons now travel shorter distance for a given engine speed and thus, wear is reduced.

BIG SPRING

By VERN SANFORD

Becoming more and more important to the outboard motor user is the storage battery.

This is true for several reasons, but mainly because more than one-third of the outboard motors now being sold are electric-starting.

Although marine batteries are similar to the automotive type, their use, and abuse, is quite different. Boats often lie idle for several weeks at a time. Sometimes for the entire winter. Marine batteries also are subject to more bouncing around than are car batteries. This due to more frequent periods of "rough riding."

Another factor is this: Often the boat battery is directly exposed to the elements for long periods. Much of the time it sits uncovered for weeks, even months, in the hot sun.

In many cases the boat battery is connected to a generator-less motor. As a consequence it is used without being recharged until its power is completely exhausted. This is highly injurious to the battery.

All these factors mean that the marine battery gets the roughest treatment.

Habitually the motorist will have his car battery checked regularly, or the service station attendant will do it for him without being directed to do so.

But seldom if ever does the boat owner think to add water to his marine battery, much less take time to have it recharged. Nor does the filling station man check it when the motorist drives in trolleying a boat. In fact, we've yet to see a station attendant inspect a boat battery or a boat owner ask that it be done.

Marine batteries are taken for granted, seldom inspected, and rarely recharged. Not only are they subject to rougher treatment, they also get less attention.

Often we've wondered why some Texas manufacturer didn't come up with a specially built storage battery for outdoorsmen, specifically designed for electric-starting outboard motors.

It seems that the Reliable Battery Co. is doing just that. They now have factories in three Texas cities — San Antonio, Houston and Dallas — plus another in New Orleans, La.

They have been making "Sea-Going" batteries for diesel engine starting, auxiliary power and standby service, for many years. But only recently have they gone in for marine batteries for the small craft.

Their small marine batteries — in 6, 8 and 12-volt sizes, have extra heavy plates, especially built for tough marine service. Tests prove that they will retain 98 per cent of their charge after four weeks and more than 80 per cent after 24 weeks. That's over three times as long as government requirements.

Manufacturers claim that the longer life is due to larger plates, massive grids, extra heavy cross bars, and perma-life insulation.

Nothing could sound sweeter to the boat owner who has had the sad experience of readying for a pleasure cruise only to encounter a balky battery — or worse yet, a dead one.

Regardless of the make of battery you use, it deserves more care than it's getting.

Mercury outboard authorities, sensing the need for more attention to marine batteries, offer some recommendations.

They suggest that you purchase an ordinary hydrometer, available at auto stores for about a dollar, and check your marine battery regularly.

If the hydrometer test shows a reading of 1.150 it means that your battery is almost dead. A reading of 1.250 indicates a half-charged state, and 1.280 means it is fully charged.

You can bring your battery up to full charge on any slow charger of appropriate voltage. Rate of charge should not exceed six amperes, and charging should be discontinued when the hydrometer reading reaches 1.280.

Check the battery's water level often and add distilled water as needed. But don't overfill.

Outboard battery trouble often is traced to poor connections at the terminals. When installing your battery, scrape or sandpaper the terminal metal to get a bright surface. A little grease or petroleum jelly, spread on the terminals after tightening, does much to deter corrosion.

Brush a mixture of baking soda and water over corroded terminals to clean them. Anytime you remove the battery, rinse it off thoroughly with the solution.

Although your marine dealer will store your battery with your motor, for the winter, you can keep it at home in a cool, dry place. Put it away fully charged and bring up the charge at 60-day intervals. If you allow it to drop down to the fully discharged state repeatedly, its life will be materially shortened.

Now, as cooler weather approaches and you go pleasure boating less frequently, your marine battery needs closer attention.

New 'Functional' Lines Mark 1961 Chevrolet

Chevrolets, with a fresh 'functional' design for all models, are making their 1961 debut this weekend at Jay Adams Chevrolet Company.

The premier showing at Jay Adams will continue all day Friday and Saturday.

Display of the '61 Chevrolet models — there are 20 in all — is in continuation, too, with first look at '61 Corvairs (9) models in this line).

Complete the Chevrolet line-up for '61, of course, is the skintight 2-place Corvair.

Complete new body styling, which provides easier loading for both passengers and baggage plus make in motorist comfort and convenience, is featured in the regular line of Chevrolet passenger cars.

The entire body, from floor to roof and grille to rear bumper, is all new. Prime design emphasis has been placed on functionalism with thrust.

High on the list of advantages of the all-new body are:

1. Easier entrance to passenger compartments.
2. Large, more accessible luggage space, with the trunk loading level lowered as much as 10.5 inches.

3. Improved chair height and over-the-hood visibility which will increase the ease of parking and add to driving safety.

4. Other safety items include improved brakes, overlap electric windshield wipers, and a new placement for the fuel tank which protects it from road hazards such as hard bumps and flying stones.

Although the conventional cars are shorter, narrower and slightly lower, the interior roominess remains about the same or better than comparable 1960 models. Riding comfort is improved.

From a styling standpoint, the new models feature gentle curves and smooth lines and a generally cleaner and stier appearance from all angles.

Revised styling of the Corvair reflects the influence of Chevrolet's recently displayed XP-700 experimental vehicle, especially in its streamlined rear quarters. A new underbody which slims down the transmission hump, better engine cooling and use of an aluminum transmission case are some of the other features.

As in 1960, the line-up in the conventional size Chevrolet passenger cars will be offered in the Impala, Bel Air and Biscayne series. But, they have been expanded to include an Impala two-door Sedan not previously available.

The station wagon series also has been expanded so that there is a choice of either six or nine-passenger accommodations in each of them — the Nomad, Parkwood and Brookwood.

Reversal of the trend, to longer, wider bodies also is noted in the fact that the new passenger cars are 1.5 inches shorter and 2.4 inches narrower. Overall length is 209.3 inches and overall width is 78.4 inches.

Distinctive design effects are achieved by matching exclusive roof contours of body types. Particularly noteworthy is the elimination of small, triangular windows at the rear of four-door sedans and station wagons. Also, the rear corner pillars of sport sedans have been widened to create a slightly hooded effect.

Woman Hurt In 2-Auto Accident

Mrs. O. D. McDonald is in Root Memorial Hospital with injuries received in car accident here Wednesday.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her sister, Mrs. Winnie Myrtle Horner.

The Horner car and a 1958 Chevrolet sedan driven by Mrs. Velma Edwards Bender were in collision at Hickory and Sixth St. The Horner car was traveling west on Sixth St. and stopped for the intersection sign when the accident happened, according to Police Sgt. Q. Dickson.

An auto and a cotton loaded truck collided Saturday morning at 10:25 on Oak St. at the W. Third St. intersection.

Miss Margaret Ann Ryburn of 644 Locust was driver of a sedan that was in collision with the truck, owned by Buford Coop Gin and driven by Anastacio Alvarez of Route 1.

The accident happened when the truck stopped for a red signal light. About $300 damage was caused to the car driven by Miss Ryburn, Dickson said.

Lankford arrived home from service.

WESTBROOK — Doyle Lankford arrived home last weekend after receiving his discharge from the Army at Fort Ord, Calif.

Lankford plans to attend Howard County Junior College in Big Spring.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Lankford.

Chevrolet's Impala

Designers have applied new, smooth lines to the 1961 Chevrolet line of automobiles as shown here with the Impala. Wings on the rear deck have been smoothed into the body, roof lines are contoured for each model and overall body design has gently sloping lines.

Welcome—to the NEW Republican Party of Texas

The Young Guard of Democracy

The NEW Republican Party of Texas believes in the principles of Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson and Woodrow Wilson now abandoned by the leaders of the Democratic Party. The Democratic Party has buried those principles in its efforts to please the various and well organized pressure groups and others to whom those principles mean little or nothing.

We address this message to the rank and file of Texans who bear the brunt of all give-away programs through their tax load—the forgotten people of America and Texas, those who own a home, a business, a bond, a share of stock, a savings account, a pension—an earned share in America's future—and who would like to conserve what they own or hope to own.

In leaving the Democratic Party to vote the Texas way—as the majority of Texans voted in 1952 and again in 1954—Democrats are not deserting the party of Jefferson, Jackson and Wilson. The principles on which the Democratic Party was founded are still on the label but the Democratic donkey of old is now a horse of a different color.

The time has come for Texans to see the two parties as they are today—not as they were 50 years ago.

The Republican Party embodies those principles upon which this country was built and on which Texans fought for and won independence—self reliance, individual initiative, limitation of governmental power, government which makes it possible for most citizens to do most for themselves—and then assists those who cannot provide the basic necessities for themselves.

Republican candidates need not apologize for their party's platform nor hide its intent from Texans as Texas Democratic leaders have attempted.

We, the Republicans of Texas, with your help will preserve the principles of sound, responsible and enduring government in America and Texas. We ask your help in electing Nixon and Lodge and in establishing a long-past due two party system of government in Texas.

If you would like to help, complete and mail the attached coupon and we'll tell you how.

P.S. A small contribution toward good government would also be helpful. We need the money. The Democrats are coming.

Corvair Blossoms To Complete Line

Chevrolet's rear-powered Corvair blossoms out as a full line of automobiles for 1961 and Colorado City is having its first look at the '61 models now at Jay Adams Chevrolet.

In addition to the three half-ton commercial cars previously announced, the company has new station and sports wagons that join the Corvair family.

Here is the Corvair lineup for 1961:

Passenger cars — Club coupes, four-door sedans and a new Lakewood Station Wagon in the "500" and "700" series plus the deluxe Monza Sport Coupe and the new Greenbrier Sports Wagons.

Commercial — Corvan, Rampside and Loadside trucks.

In appearance, the latest Corvair retains its lithe, symmetrical form. New styling touches and beautified interiors clearly distinguish the models as 1961's, but the low-slung profile remains unchanged.

Also untouched are the engineering fundamentals which the Corvair pioneered in 1960. The flat, air-cooled engine and transmission-axle combination are continued at the rear. Compact body-frame integration lends its special staunchness to all models.

To supplement the original Corvair features, however, several improvements have been adopted. Fuel economy benefits from the lower-numerical axle ratio and the new non-gas burning heater. A hot air heater is now offered as optional equipment.

Increased luggage capacity is made possible by moving the spare tire from under the hood to the engine compartment. A 14-gallon fuel tank is substituted for the former 11-gallon tank.

The Greenbrier is a totally new forward control vehicle designed on a 95-inch wheelbase. The normal car hood has been eliminated. A full-width driver's seat mounts over the front wheels. The roomy body will accommodate two additional seats, positioned conventionally or facing each other.

For ready accessibility, the Greenbrier is equipped with six doors — one on each side of the driver's compartment —

Corvair Wagon

A new surprise model of the 1961 Corvair line is this Greenbrier sports wagon, a 95-inch wheelbase vehicle with rear-installed engine and independent suspension. A counterpart is the delivery vehicle Corvan.

and double doors at the curb-side and at the rear. Side and rear doors open a full 180 degrees.

Nominally rated at 1,600 capacity, the Greenbrier's speedy conversion from a commercial to a pleasure vehicle recommends it to varied utility. As a bus, nine passengers and 250 pounds of luggage or six passengers and 700 pounds of luggage can be transported. With single, three-passenger seat, the cargo accommodation totals 175 cubic feet.

The Lakewood Station Wagon which, like the Greenbrier, houses its six-cylinder engine under the flat luggage compartment floor, is built with the same airy superstructure that characterizes the larger 1961 Chevrolet Sta-

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Feathers Becomes World Question

Editor's note: The Shinnery Flats Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek has a problem this week which is beyond us.

Dear editor:

If you want to confuse me and the average Congressman or foreign affairs expert, ask us what ought to be done about the foreign situation. But there's one question about foreign affairs that while maybe a Congressman can answer, I don't mind saying I can't. It has me completely stumped, buffaloed, floored. And until I get an answer, I have little hope for any truly international understanding among the peoples of this earth.

The question is: What were Fidel Castro's men doing scattering chicken feathers around in their hotel rooms in New York when they were there last week for a United Nations meeting?

As I understand from what I could read about it in the papers, these Castro men brought along their own electric hot plates and freezers and supplies and cooked their own meals in their rooms, but what I want to know is did they go into the hotel carrying live chickens?

I do not understand the lack of enterprise of American newspaper reporters operating in the big-time, that would leave this question dangling. Just to say that Castro's men scattered chicken feathers around their hotel rooms in New York because they were cooking their own meals, without going into more details, is another example of the world's having to get along on half-truths when it comes to the international situation.

Now I ain't no international expert. I'm not sure there are any, but I know that if you bring along your own freezer full of food, you're not likely to have live chickens in it, not for long, and I can't imagine any nation so backward its governmental leaders would try to quick-freeze chickens with the feathers on. Be the awfulest mess you ever saw.

And you mean to say Castro, with all those American refineries, banks, sugar fields and cattle ranches in his hands, ordered live chickens instead of dressed ones sent up to his hotel room, just to save a two-bit dressing charge?

Now we may not be able to figure out what to do about Castro's taking over all the American property he can find in Cuba, about his lining up with Khrushchev, about how often he launders his fatigues jacket, but I'm going to be bitterly disappointed in the big-time reporters, columnists, and television newscasters if one of them doesn't find out more about those chicken feathers.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

VOTE FOR TEXAS

RICHARD M. NIXON, candidate for President, is a Californian, but he thinks the Texas way. Richard Nixon stands for:

- A strong national economy and defense so that America will not have to apologize to Khrushchev for anything.
- A sensible farm program that will attack and solve the present problems.
- Texas retaining its tidelands, and a tax policy favorable to Texas.
- Local control of our schools.

If you will read and compare Nixon's platform to that of his opponent, you will agree that a vote for Nixon is a vote for the best interests of Texas.

'New Look' for Pontiac On Showroom Display

Pontiac's new look for 1961—featuring new styling concepts and engineering changes—is on display now in Colorado City at Hunter-Market Motors.

The premier introduction of the new line of models will continue through the week-end, Friday and Saturday, at the local dealership.

The new Pontiac is as much as 9 inch lower, 4 inches shorter, and 25 inches narrower, yet important passenger compartment dimensions have been improved. Pontiac's famous wide track design, prevailing in each series, also is proportionately increased.

A new perimeter frame, new front and rear suspension systems, and a lighter weight, more efficient V-8 engine are among the car's completely new engineering features.

Pontiac's new styling approach for 1961 conveys an overall impression of distinguished simplicity.

Accentuating the wide, low front end appearance is an expansive hood on which tapers forward with narrow fenders to meet a dominant twin grille of three dimensional design. Each grille houses dual headlamps.

Long, sweeping sculptured lines highlight the side view. A central jet-like boom mounting a tasteful chrome moulding, gracefully spans the entire length of the car.

A unique bumper design, attractively integrated with the body, distinguishes a sharply profiled rear end.

Bonnevilles and Star Chiefs feature three matching tail lamps of circular design while Catalinas and Venturas are equipped with an oval shaped, dual bulb lamp. Safari tail lamps are integral with the chrome rear fender caps.

Curving pillars framing a generous Vista - Panoramic windshield combine with the sharper lines of the side windows and rakish, slim-line roof to create a new custom appeal. The new design eliminates the windshield corner extension on all models and the triangular rear side window on four-door sedans.

New Pontiac instrument panels feature a cushion extending around the cove area on the front face of the panel. New instrument clusters, gages, and control knobs are designed for driver and passenger convenience.

Also providing increased interior comfort are: a 12 per cent increase in front seat to steering wheel clear-

Pontiac Style Leader

Here is the 4-door Vista hardtop in the new 1961 Bonneville series of Pontiac. Curving windshield pillars, slim line roof and crisply defined side windows create a new mark of design for the '61 Pontiacs now on display at Hunter-Market Motors.

Wheelbases measure 119 inches with Catalina and Ventura models and the Bonneville Safari; 123 inches with Star Chiefs and the other Bonneville models. Overall lengths begin at 209.7 inches with all models and extend to 217 inches with sedans and coupes in the Star Chief and Bonneville series. Heights range from 54.9 inches with convertibles up to 56.9 inches with station wagons. All new Pontiacs have an overall width of 78.2 inches. Although the new car is reduced 2.5 inches in width, Pontiac's famed wide track is only decreased 1.5 inches.

Other officers for the chapter are Loyd Wshert, vice president; Bill Bird, secretary; Don Bird, reporter; Robert Rees, treasurer; Jerry Shaw, sentinel.

Sweetwater of the chapter is Glenda Jo Rees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis (Choppy) Rees. She also is the newly elected president of the Sophomore Class.

Teacher sponsor for the FFA is Pete Hines.

THE '61 PONTIAC IS OUT TODAY!

It's All Pontiac!
 on a new Wide-Track!

New track-to-body proportion! The track is the width between the wheels. Pontiac is the only Wide-Track car. Body width is reduced, shaving side overhang, balancing more weight between the wheels. Best relationship of body width to wheel width ever tailored. Lean and sway are ancient history.

Announcing the new Pontiac Trophy V-8 Engine! We've improved the engine the experts said was perfect. New fuel induction system saves gas by using more air in the gasoline mixture. This makes the engine breathe more efficiently, giving you better acceleration. Eleven versions to choose from. Horsepowers range from 215 to 348. For best economy, specify the Trophy Economy V-8. Its lower compression ratio lets you use regular gas.

More headroom, legroom, footroom for greater comfort! You'll take great comfort in the extra roominess we've built into the '61 Pontiac. Seats are higher, yet there's more clearance beneath the steering wheel and more hatroom over your head. There is more legroom, more footroom. Doors are wider and designed to swing open farther. The more highway you put behind you (Pontiac specializes in this) the more you'll appreciate the new room that's all around you in this sleek 'new '61.

THE ONLY WIDE-TRACK CAR!
 Body width trimmed to reduce side overhang. More weight balanced between the wheels. No other car hugs the road with such sure-footed stability and precision.
