Talks On Berlin Crisis Opened By U.S. And Soviet Diplomats

Rusk, Gromyko Launch Effort To Find Basis For East-West Negotiations

NEW YORK (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk was meeting today with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko for "exploratory talks" on the Berlin crisis and other bitter East-West tensions which threaten world peace.

The lunch session was set up as the first of a series of conferences during which Rusk hopes to test the sincerity of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's professed desire to negotiate a lowering of international tensions.

The U. S. secretary, according to his top aides, was not optimistic about an early diplomatic break-through in the Berlin stalemate. He was said to fear the adverse effects of mounting tension on other fronts.

Rusk, during a 24-hour visit to Washington Wednesday, painted a rather bleak picture of the prospects in appearances before the Senate and House committees concerned with foreign matters.

The secretary is under orders from President Kennedy and instructions from the other Western foreign ministers, to warn Gromyko that Russia must meet two basic conditions before there can be any full-scale East-West negotiations on Berlin:

—The Communists must give firm assurance that there will be no more unilateral acts against the West such as interference with the air traffic through the corridors to Red-encircled West Berlin.

—Any East-West negotiations must be on a much broader basis than that proposed by Khrushchev, who wants talks limited to discussing his idea for a peace treaty with Communist East Germany on terms which would eliminate the West's war-won access rights to Berlin.

Rusk told his advisers he expected to hold a series of talks with Gromyko during the next week or so, possibly as many as 10.

In Berlin, Western observers waited today to see what use Communist boss Walter Ulbricht would make of the sweeping new powers given him by East Germany's puppet parliament.

The legislature authorized Ulbricht Wednesday to draft young East Germans, confiscate private property, billet troops in private homes and transfer workers from city to city when necessary to aid the Communist cause.

Police To Ask For Custody Of 'Check Artist'

Pampa police today were trying to get their hands on a much wanted man in the person of 31-year-old Ray Laffoon Haney.

Haney, sought by authorities in several states, now is in custody of federal agents in Oklahoma City to whom he was turned following his apprehension last week in Toledo, Ohio.

He is wanted in Pampa on a warrant charging theft by false pretext in connection with the purchase last June 12 of a used car from Bill Rich, used car dealer, 811 S. Wilks.

Police Chief Jim Conner said today Haney endorsed a stolen check for $551.07 made out to Charles Burton of Canadian and gave it to Rich in payment for a used car. Rich, police said, gave Haney $226.07 in cash as change in the transaction.

Police Chief Conner said he would get in touch with authorities at Oklahoma City today in an effort to have Haney returned here for prosecution on the local warrant.

Chief Conner said Pampa probably will have to wait its turn to get hold of Haney inasmuch as he is being held in Oklahoma City on similar charges and is wanted in other places.

Attorneys Tangle In Battle Royal

TYLER (UPI)—Two Tyler lawyers—one muscular and the other quiet natured—tangled in a battle royal fist-fight Wednesday in City Court but later apologized.

Muscular Ray Thurmond, 53, a weight-lifting enthusiast, floored Fred Hull 55, with a right cross to the jaw in a fight which grew out of the use of the word "liar."

Hull flew into Judge Frank McClendon's bench, breaking his arm. Judge McClendon did not hold either in contempt of court after they apologized.

Red Cross Storm Aid Drive Planned

The Pampa High School Red Cross members will be in charge of a house-to-house campaign Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. for donations to the Hurricane Carla Fund, according to A. J. Carubbi, chapter chairman.

Carubbi announced that $1,500 has been received from mailed-in contributions.

Parents Are Asking 'Red' Books Ban

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The National Association of Parents has launched a campaign to have leftist and pro-Communist textbooks banned from schools throughout the country, it was announced today.

An association spokesman charged that the education of Mexican children was "in the hands of Fidel Castro's embassy here, with the complicity of Marxist teachers in our schools."

Cooler Weather To Arrive Today

By United Press International

A Canadian cold front pushed into Texas today and the Weather Bureau said chances were good it would shove temperatures as much as eight degrees below normal over the weekend.

The Weather Bureau's five-day advisory said some light rainfall was expected to arrive with the cool air, expected to move into the state by late afternoon.

Overnight low temperatures ranged from 47 at Dalhart to 78 at Corpus Christi. The only rain measured in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. was .03 of an inch at Mineral Wells.

Temperatures were generally warmer across the state Wednesday. Presidio topped the nation with a high of 96 degrees The coolest afternoon high was at Dalhart—78 degrees.

Interim Grecian Premier Sworn In

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — Retired Gen. Constantine Dovas, King Paul's chief military counselor, was sworn in Wednesday night as prime minister of a caretaker government until national elections are held Oct. 29. Prime Minister Constantine Caramanlis tendered his resignation Wednesday.

Bottled Note 'Delivered' By Hurricane

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)—When Hurricane Carla roared through Texas it brought about the delivery of a letter to a Nevada Highway Department engineer — more than five years after it was "mailed."

On March 28, 1956, John and Marge Cavanaugh of Reno wrote a letter to Denton Hays while they were on their way home from a tour of South America. They sealed the letter in a bottle and tossed it off the ship Del Norte in the Gulf of Mexico.

The bottle was found Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. John Rimmer of Lockhart, Tex., on the beach of the Matagorda Peninsula near Corpus Christi, where they had gone beachcombing after Carla had passed. They placed the letter in another envelope and mailed it to Hays in Carson City.

The date of the letter was fixed by the date of a check, which also had been placed in the bottle by the Cavanaughs to help encourage anyone who found it to send it on its way.

The letter, although wrinkled from being in the bottle, was clearly legible and was not water-stained — despite what must have been a long stay in the sea or buried on some beach until uncovered by Carla.

Council Votes End To Strikes In Auto Plants

DETROIT (UP)—The United Auto Workers' national General Motors Council voted unanimously today to accept the decision of the union's international executive board and end all local strikes against the nation's largest manufacturer.

The 280-member council, which only Wednesday night had voted to support the local strikes, changed course today under the urging of UAW President Walter P. Reuther.

The council met for less than an hour before returning what the union said was a unanimous vote.

In fact, Reuther addressed the council for only 10 minutes. He told the council "We don't want to fight anybody, especially General Motors. We are trying to do what is right. The power of a union is the ability to work together."

Reuther went on to tell the council that one local union "can paralyze the entire corporation."

Reuther stressed that "we are not trying to sell them (the local unions) down the river" but pointed out that "when we make a democratic decision, we want them on the team."

The council had previously approved national contract terms and today's decision wiped out remaining local contract issues.

Thus GM should be able to return to full production within a few days.

Louis G. Seaton, GM vice president said Wednesday after an agreement had been reached on the terms of a new three year national contract that the company hoped to get back into full production by the end of the week.

GM said local issues were still pending at a total of 26 plants as of this morning.

After Wednesday night's setback Reuther had worked out a "new approach" to the local contract problems with the union's international executive board and this apparently satisfied the council today.

Earlier Wednesday the council had voted to support what would have amounted to a nationwide strike against the auto giant despite a "settlement" announced by Reuther and GM vice president Louis G. Seaton.

The hectic council session at one point appeared to amount to a repudiation of Reuther himself but in the end the union leader grabbed the reins in time to prevent a runaway and pulled the unwieldy body to a halt by reminding it that the IEB was the final authority.

"The IEB has a responsibility to the membership and to the nation," Reuther said, "and we will exercise that responsibility."

He also spoke of a "new approach" to local issues which still are unsettled at about 20 per cent of the General Motors plants.

Congo Cease-Fire Order Considered Slap At UN

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (UPI) — Repeated radio broadcasts beamed to the Congo's "independent" Katanga Province today advised troops on both sides of the battle there that a cease-fire had been arranged.

It was not immediately certain whether word of the agreement reached by Katanga's President Moise Tshombe and U.N. negotiators here was getting through to the troops.

The broadcasts were carried in French by Rhodesia's Federal Broadcasting Corporation at the request of both the United Nations and Tshombe to make sure that all the troops got the news.

Travelers reaching Ndola reported heavy firing in Elisabethville when they left late Wednesday afternoon.

The terms of the cease-fire appeared to be a slap in the face of the U.N. forces which started out a week ago to occupy Elisabethville and end Katanga's "secession" and wound up fighting for their lives.

Tshombe pulled no punches as he blamed the United Nations for the fighting and bloodshed in Katanga.

He said the agreement will end the fighting "unless the United Nations launches new aggression . . .the United Nations must carry the whole responsibility for all the massacres in Katanga."

Asked if he thought the United Nations would relieve the U.N. civilian chief in Katanga, Conor Cruise O'Brien of Ireland, Tshombe told newsmen: "O'Brien must bear the major responsibility for what has happened. He is responsibile for the fact that so many poor Irish boys have been killed uselessly."

Asked whether his regime might reach agreement with the Leopoldville government, Tshombe replied: "The main thing is. . .to prevent further useless bloodshed."

"For us the solution to the problem is the complete withdrawal of United Nations from Katanga," he added.

Another Nuclear Firing Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia set off a nuclear explosion in the atmosphere equal to about a million tons of TNT Wednesday. It was the 14th fallout-producing blast since the Russians resumed testing Sept. 1.

The Atomic Energy Commission said Russia exploded the device in the vicinity of Novaya Semlya, in the Arctic. It was one of the larger Russian tests since Sept. 1.

Increases in radioactive fallout were reported in several southern and midwestern states.

New One-Way Street Plan To Be Offered

Members of the City Traffic Commission at a special meeting late Wednesday afternoon voted a change in their recommendation for one-way street proposals on Frost and Russell streets on the east and west sides of Pampa City Hall.

The traffic commission recommended to the City Commission that Frost St. be made one-way south from Francis to Foster street and that Russell street be made one-way north from Atchison to Francis.

The motion to make the one-way street recommendation was made by E. E. Shelhamer and seconded by Don Conley.

In the discussion of the one-way street plan it was decided to change the original recommendation of the traffic commission to leave Frost from Foster to Atchison and Achison from Frost to Russell as two-way streets.

Wednesday afternoon's special meeting was called at the request of Mayor E. C. Sidwell who had asked the traffic commission to reconsider previous action on the one-way streets.

This followed lengthy discussion of the one-way street plan at Tuesday's City Commission meeting in connection with a drive-in window proposed for water department customers on the Frost street side of City Hall.

Mayor Sidwell at that time invited interested persons to attend next Tuesday's City Commission meeting and express their views on the one-way street recommendations.

Recommendations of the Traffic Commission also will be before the City Commission for consideration at that time.

Jack Miller, presided at the special meeting in the absence of Bob Hudson, traffic commission chairman. Eight members of the 15-member commission attended the session.

Woman's Words Halt Escaping Texas Prisoner

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) —Mrs. E. Potts Johnson, wife of the superintendent at the city prison farm, is a woman of few words.

She used exactly 11 to recapture an escaping prisoner.

Mrs. Johnson was driving to town Wednesday and saw Walter E. Davis, 24, strolling away from the farm in his prison garb. She drove up to him.

"Where are you doing?"

"I'm running off," Davis replied.

"You're not either. Get in this car," Mrs. Johnson ordered.

Davis did. And he waited quietly while Mrs. Johnson drove to a service station and called police to take him back to the farm.

SURE SIGN FALL IS HERE—Pampas grass is in bloom in the area, and, as most longtime residents know, it only blooms in the fall. So, fall must be here. Officially it arrived today, so the grass and the calendar agree. Marion Davies, Star Of Silent Movies, Dying

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Marion Davies, former star of the silent and early talkie eras of motion pictures was given the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church Wednesday and reported near death.

Doctors at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where she has been a patient since the middle of May, listed her condition today as "poor."

A church spokesman confirmed Miss Davies, 61, had been given the last rites. She was reported under heavy sedation.

One hospital attendant said, "It may be a week, or sooner. She's getting wonderful care."

She underwent surgery on June 7 for malignant osteomyelitis of the jaw and appeared to be recovering, but 12 days later she fell in her room and broke a bone in her left leg.

Capt. Horace Brown, her husband since 1951, has stayed by her bedside much of the time during her illness, and Joseph Kennedy, father of the President, had three New York specialists flown to the hospital in June for consultation.

In the silent film days, Miss Davies played in many hits for Cosmopolitan Pictures, a William Randolph Heart enterprise. These included "The Fair Coed," "Tillie the Toiler" and "Yolanda."

When sound came in she played in "The Floradora Girl," "It's A Wise Child," "Blondie of the Follies," "Ever Since Eve" and several others.

Pampa And The Top O' Texas In Transition

One Pampa store has been on the local scene for a couple of generations, but it has doubled and then doubled again in the past two decades.

This is a specific example of many similar situations which weave into an enthralling progress story. That's what the Transition issue of the Pampa Daily News is gleaning, along with data to project some exciting possibilities the future holds.

Be sure to look for it, and tell your friends. It's an issue you won't want to miss. In fact, you probably would like to have extra copies for friends and relatives.

We're still gathering old-time pictures and digging up historical tidbits about the town and area. Have you anything that might be of interest? If so, bring it in.

Hurricane Esther Slams Hard At Eastern Coast

NEW YORK (UPI)—The center of Hurricane Esther and its 100-mile-plus winds bore down on the southern coast of Cape Cod today, touching off the flight of hundreds of men, women and children to the safety of public buildings.

The tropic-bred storm whipped along the eastern end of Long Island as it zeroed in on New England, cutting off the town of Montauk, Long Island, and sending waves crashing across narrow parts of the summer resort of Fire Island.

New York City, well prepared after two days of warning and with hundreds of police mustered for emergency duty, escaped with little more than fallen wires and trees under a comparatively modest brush of wind and rain.

President Kennedy's two children, Caroline, nearly 4, and John Jr., 9 months, were weathering out the hurricane at Falmouth and Chatham, which are 40 miles apart. The President and Mrs. Kennedy were in Washington, but a White House spokesman said "they feel the houses are safe."

Robert Knowland, chief of the U.S. Weather Bureau emergency observation post at Hyannis, Mass., said he expected Esther to cut directly over the Cape between Falmouth and Chatham with winds up to 100 miles an hour.

Police in seven Cape Cod towns said they had alerted about 600 coastal residents to seek safety in public buildings.

Wind gusts up to 90 miles an hour were reported at Fire Island, a long sand spit off the south shore of Long Island. About 1,500 persons were removed from the island Wednesday, but a few stayed behind.

Tides were running five to six feet above normal at Montauk Point on the eastern end of Long Island. The town of Montauk was cut off when waves broke over the only road leading westward, and police barricaded the highway. Winds were reported gusty to 30 miles an hour.

Clinton Evans, Cameron Marsh, Aubrey Steele, Floyd Watson and Jack Edmondson.

The new advisory board members will be installed at a dinner meeting Monday night, Oct. 16, in Coronado Inn when all new officers and directors for the chamber for the coming year will take office.

Faris C. Oden, president of Western National Life Insurance Co., of Amarillo, and a former Pampan, will be the installing officer.

The annual Chamber of Commerce membership banquet has been set for Thursday, Oct. 26, in Robert E. Lee Junior High School Cafeteria.

Principal speaker at the annual banquet will be William J. Bird, San Francisco, vice president of John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co.

UN Secretariat Plan Launched

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —The question of a U.N. seat for Communist China comes up for initial debate today when the General Assembly's Steering Committee takes up the agenda.

While the 21-member committee met and the assembly was in adjournment until Friday, backstage efforts went ahead to have the world parliament name an acting secretary general until a successor to Dag Hammarskjold is chosen.

An informal 12-nation committee with wide geographic distribution scheduled an afternoon meeting to draft a resolution asking the Security Council to recommend Hammarskjold's successor. It would propose that the assembly meanwhile select an acting secretary general.

No name was to be mentioned in the projected resolution, but Burmese Ambassador U. Thant appeared the most likely candidate fo rthe job.

The Russians were reported to have told Thant they would insist on eventual institution of Nikita S. Khrushchev's "troika" system of three secretaries general, each with a veto.

President Plans UN Talk Monday

WASHINGTON (UPI — President Kennedy will speak to the United Nations General Assembly Monday, probably at a morning session, the White House announced today.

Kennedy will spend Sunday and Monday nights in New York City in connection with his visit. He hopes to inspire the United Nations with a new sense of purpose and vitality.

Eligible Social Security Benefit Survivors Sought

AMARILLO (Spl) "We are still looking for survivors of workers who died before 1940 who may now be eligible for monthly payments," states Hal Geldon, Manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office.

He explained that the original Social Security Act provided benefit payments only for retired workers. When the law was changed in 1939 to make benefits payable to the survivors and dependents of workers, no provision was made to pay monthly benefits to the survivors of a worker who died before 1940.

Due to recent changes in the law, payments can now be made to the widows of workers who died after March 31, 1938, and before January 1st, 1940, with at least a year and a half work under social security before their death; to the aged dependent widower or parents of these workers; and to their sons and daughters with severe disabilities which began before age 18.

Geldon emphasized, however, tht survivors who could receive these payments must file an application not later than October 31st, 1961, to avoid losing out on some of these payments.

President Asks Funds To Help Storm Victims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy asked the waning Congress today to vote $55 million to help relieve the vast damage inflicted on Texas and Louisiana by Hurricane Carla.

The President also designated six Louisiana counties as major disaster areas, thus making them eligible for special federal help.

He previously had designated the hurricane section of Texas as a major disaster area.

Federal, state and local officials have estimated that Carla caused more than a half billion dollars damage in Texas and Louisiana.

Some of the $55 million will be he'd back to meet possible needs for federal help in the wake of Hurricane Ester which pounded the New England coast today.

Loans To Storm Victims Proposed

AUSTIN (UPI) — State Rep. C. W. Pearcy of Temple proposed today that Texas cities and counties make loans to victims of Hurricane Carla.

Pearcy called for an immediate special session of the legislature to authorize the program of long-term, low-interest loans financed through bonds issued by local governments.

"The state government could assist local officials with the planning, organization, promotion and sale of these bonds," Pearcy said, "and if possible act as underwriter if they need this added strength for their programs."

Pearcy added that "it would be a mistake" for the state to levy new taxes to pay for hurricane damage. But he said state aid would be preferable to federal aid.

Crisis

man said Ulbricht needed extra authority "to mobilize all the power of our people."

Western observers believed the grant of new powers to Ulbricht was a result of the Reds' successful sealing of the Berlin escape route. They said arbitrary conscription of young soldiers and transfer of workers in the past would have sent a new wave of refugees fleeing to the West.

Bayonet wielding Communist police sealed off one of East Berlin's few remaining escape routes Wednesday by removing all residents from houses and apartments along three East-West border streets.

The move was carried out behind huge screens put up to prevent West Berliners from watching as the Communists moved about 200 residents and their belonging from their homes.

Since Aug. 13, when the border was sealed, doors and first-floor windows facing West Berlin have been bricked up, but many East Berliners fled through second-story windows by sliding down ropes or jumping into West Berlin fire nets.

Nuclear Warning Should Be Given Reds, Solon Says

San Francisco, Calif., (UPI) — Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., believes the United States should warn the Soviet Union that it will use low yield nuclear bombs to save Berlin and West Germany.

Goldwater, during a news conference held at the 30th annual Youth Banquet of the California Junior Chamber of Commerce, declared:

"Mr. Khrushchev should be told by President Kennedy, or some other high authority, that the United States would, if Berlin were invaded, use low-yield nuclear bombs that would destroy planes on enemy airfields."

"Let Mr. Khrushchev know what to expect and let us name the bases we would attack," he asaid.

Goldwater said the Kennedy administration is wrong in talking "about fighting conventional warfare wth an enemy which is conventionally far stronger than we are."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has urged Americans to contribute generously to the united community campaigns across the country. He noted that the nation's 2,200 United Funds and Community Chests are trying to raise $478 million for nearly 30,000 state and local voluntary services.

Welfare Fraud Case Revealed

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—Erie County officials investigated today a "fantastic" welfare fraud in which a Buffalo couple allegedly cheated the county of some $5,000 in assistance over a 15-year period.

It came to light in city court Wednesday when Marvin Herrod, 36, (a Negro), appeared on a charge of public intoxication brought by his wife, Wilhelmina.

The Herrods, parents of six children, live in a rundown section of the city.

Arrested early Wednesday, Herrod told details of the alleged fraud, first to arresting officers, then to City Judge Joseph P. Kuszynski and finally to Assistant County Attorney Ronald W. Plewniak.

For 15 years, the suspect said, he had received weekly salaries from $150 to $300 while his wife remained on the relief rolls at $28 a month.

Herrod said he had worked at a variety of jobs including carpenter, painter and general handyman. He said he was presently employed as a painter.

Kuszynski termed the case "one of the most fantastic in my experience in the welfare department."

Republicans Plan Poll Tax Drive

HOUSTON (UPI) — Republican state chairman Tad Smith of El Paso said today the greatest poll tax drive in the history of Texas will be launched Oct. 2 by the GOP in a fight "to elect conservative Republicans to office all over Texas."

Smith said the election of conservative Republicans was the only way to "return state and local government to a policy of fiscal responsibility."

The Republican leader said the poll tax drive will begin Monday, Oct. 2, at a meeting in Dallas. Tower, Rep. Bruce Alger of Dallas, only Republican in the Texas congressional delegation, and Jack Cox, defeated Democratic candidate for governor in 1960 who switched to the GOP this month will address the meeting.

The Republican State Executive Committee also will attend the meeting.

Nutritious Liver Becomes Fun Food When Served As Dinner-On-A-Stick

Liver Served On Skewers

Kabobs can be broiled indoors as well as outdoors. These unusual kabobs are packed with good nutrition. They are squares of liver with bacon and onions. It's an excellent way to vary your servings of liver.

Nutritious liver becomes fun to eat when it's served as kabobs with bacon and onions.

Kabobs are popular for out door grilling in warm weather, but you can still enjoy fixing these morsels - on - a - stick all year long. Simply cook them in your range broiler, says meat cookery authority Reba Staggs.

Be sure to include liver in your menues frequently. It far surpasses any other food as a source of Vitamin A, iron, riboflavin and niacin. It is also a source of thiamine. Vitamin C and protein.

Liver and Bacon Kabobs
1 pound beef liver, sliced
½ inch thick
8 slices bacon
16 small cooked onions
1-3 cup French dressing
8 six - inch skewers

Cut liver in 1½ - inch squares. On each of eight 6 - inch skewers, thread 3 or 4 pieces of liver, 2 onions and 1 slice of bacon, weaving bacon in between. Set regulator for broiling. Place kabobs on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top surface of the kabobs is 3 to 4 inches from the heat. Brush kabobs with French dressing, using about half the dressing. Broil 5 minutes or until browned. Turn and brush kabobs with remaining dressing. Continue broiling 3 to 4 minutes, or until browned. 4 servings.

Grease muffin pan well and heat. Fill muffin cups about 2-3 full. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate oven (350 degrees F.) and bake about 20 minutes longer. Serve immediately. Makes 12 popovers.

Shish Kebab Spells Lamb On A Skewer

By MARTHA LOGAN

The Shish Kebab is an adaptation of one of the most primitive methods of cooking. The pieces of meat were threaded on swords and then cooked over open fires. And, according to its Near Eastern heritage, Shish Kebab is always made with lamb.

Lamb is hearty and substantial, delicious and different, with a delicate flavor all its own. Your best guide for tender lamb and greatest eating enjoyment is to select a well-known packer's brand. Martha Logan, famous home economist, suggests cutting meaty chunks for Shish Kebab from the leg of lamb or shoulder. One and a half to 2 inch cubes cut from the leg are ideal for kebabs. The wise homemaker might also plan on 2 meals from the whole leg, cutting cubes from the shank end and roasting the butt end.

To allow full penetration of the piquant marinade the cubes of lamb are refrigerated in the vinegar sauce overnight. Before threading the meat the skewers can be run through a piece of suet for easy removal of the meat after cooking. The skewers are threaded with the cubes of lamb allowing space between the cubes for thorough cooking. As the cubes are broiled more of the piquant sauce is brushed over the meat. The vegetables go on the ends of the skewers for a final few minutes of broiling. And, there you have it, a meal on a skewer.

Tomato wedges
Green pepper squares

Combine vinegar, salad oil, salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce, onion, bay leaf, and cloves. Pour the marinade over cubes of lamb. Chill for at least 6 to 8 hours or overnight in the refrigerator. Remove lamb cubes from the marinade. Thread cubes onto skewers leaving space for thorough cooking. The vegetables will be placed on the ends of the skewer later. Drop green pepper squares into boiling water for 2 minutes. Place skewers on a broiler pan 3 inches from the heat source. Broil 10 to 12 minutes, turning once. Thread the vegetables on the same skewers alternating the mushrooms, tomatoes and green peppers. Baste vegetables with the marinade. Broil 2 to 3 minutes.

ORANGE BARBECUE LAMB SANDWICHES
Yield: 3¼ cups sauce
Sliced hot lamb roast
½ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon mint leaves
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1½ cups catsup
1 cup water
¾ cup orange juice
2-3 cup chopped onion
Sandwich buns

Combine all ingredients in a saucepan. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat. Simmer, uncovered, about 30 minutes. Spoon sauce over sliced lamb between sandwich buns.

New Flavor For Barbecued Fowl

Barbecued chicken takes on a different flavor when oven cooked. You don't need a complicated sauce for it, either.

A new one made of olive oil, corn sirup and soy sauce couldn't be easier for the ingredients are simply blended together.

Olive oil keeps chicken juicy and moist, point out home economists for Mario's Food Products. Corn sirup adds a bit of sweetness while soy sauce has the salty taste that's needed.

OVEN BARBECUED CHICKEN

Brown cutup chicken in butter on all sides. Remove to baking dish. Pour over the chicken a mixture of 2 tablespoons soy sauce, ½ cup olive oil, ¼ teaspoon ground ginger and 2 teaspoons white corn sirup. Cover and bake at 325 degrees about 1 hour or until chicken is tender. Baste chicken occasionally with the sauce.

FRANKFURTERS

Cut 5 or more slits in a frankfurter and it will curl in a circle when it is broiled, baked, panfried or simmered. Serve the franks on toasted buns with kraut in the center. Include your favorite relishes.

Auto Production Expected To Pass Output In 1961

NEW YORK (UPI)—With new models about to be introduced, the Alexander Hamilton Institute finds that predictions are for 1962 auto production to exceed the banner accomplishment of 1955 when 7,170,000 units were sold.

The institute notes that the anticipated 7.2 million units in sales for 1962 will represent a tremendous improvement over the current year which is running somewhat less than 6 million.

Any new boom in auto sales will be reflected in the operations of banks and finance companies with buyers of autos seeking financial arrangements, according to the institute. "The general impact will be widespread as one out of every six businesses depends to a degree on the automotive field."

W. I. La Tourette of Shearson, Hammill & Co. says he continues bullish about the stock market with chemical, defense, auto, finance, electric utilities and railroads remaining his favorite groups.

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. says the current setback should be utilized as an opportunity to buy favored equities. He looks for prices to resume their upward pattern "in the immediate period ahead."

Beaumont Court Row Near Climax

BEAUMONT (UPI)— Criminal Dist. Judge Owen Lord today said he would ignore a grand jury named by a fellow district court judge and appoint a grand jury of his own.

The controversy between Lord and Dist. Judge Harold Clayton appeared to be headed toward a climax whereby Jefferson County will wind up with two grand juries.

Judge Clayton Tuesday named a five-man commission to select 16 names of prospective grand jurors who would serve the last quarter of this year. The 16 names were selected and turned over to Clayton.

But Judge Lord said he will name his own commission next week to select the names of 16 prospective grand jurors. He contends the job of naming the commission and swearing in the grand jury belongs solely to his court, and said he would recognize no grand jurors but the ones he empanels.

Big Hurricanes Generate Great Force Of Energy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hurricanes like Carla and Esther gather up and spend fantastic amounts of energy.

Throughout their mature life they metabolize energy at a rate comparable to the explosion of several atomic bombs every second.

In one minute, the vortex of a hurricane may generate more energy than all the electric power stations in the United States can produce in a decade.

In a single day a big hurricane will pick up two billion tons of water from the ocean and drop it back as rain.

In 60 seconds, it may lift several billion tons of air into the upper atmosphere.

Dr. Harry Wexler of the Weather Bureau estimates that hurricane Carla dumped 40 billion tons of water upon the Mississippi Valley.

While performing such feats, these giant storms rev up the winds whirling about their center to speeds hitting gust peaks up to 200 miles an hour.

Whence comes this energy upon which hurricanes feed? The ultimate sources are the sun and the rotating earth.

The sun in season warms tropical waters of the Atlantic, the Caribbean Sea, or the Gulf of Mexico. It pulls up enormous amounts of water in the form of invisible vapor.

Gentle westward-flowing trade winds gather this vapor, in the case of North Atlantic hurricanes, over areas of millions of square miles.

Under the right conditions, not yet well understood, this vapor then is crowded into a region of some hundreds of thousands of square miles.

The vapor condenses into gigantic water clouds. This releases energy — the so-called latent heat of condensation.

Heat liberated by condensation is the primary fuel of the monster pump that is called a hurricane.

THANKS A MILLION! — — —

Dear Abby...

Painful Job To Tell On Child

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was warned, through a second party, that my friend's 7-year-old daughter was a little thief, and that I should keep an eye on her since she visits with her parents in my home frequently. I watched the child like a hawk and, sure enough, I saw in her pocket several items that belonged to me. I felt like a heel telling her parents about it, but I really told them for the good of their child. I realize now that it wasn't my place to tell them. I have lost two friends, and gained a nickname. It's—

BIG MOUTH

DEAR BIG: I disagree. Perhaps you lost two friends, but you were big-hearted, not big-mouthed. Your motives in telling the parents were pure. They should have thanked you for the information, and then set about to find out what their child was missing that made her steal.

DEAR ABBY: What does it mean when a man wears his wedding ring on his little finger?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: It probably means that he has gained so much weight he can't get it on any other finger.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell the wives of traveling salesmen not to worry about the traveling salesmen jokes they hear. I have driven a taxi for 16 years, and I have hauled thousands of traveling salesmen from airports to hotels. The number who are looking for a good time are very few. Most of them are so beat up from traveling all they want is to get to their hotel and go to sleep. I have found that salesmen and representatives are interested in their families first, and their jobs second. When they start a conversation they don't ask me where they can meet a cute chick, they ask where to buy gifts for their wives and children. And they talk about their homes, families and hobbies. They travel because that's the way they can make the best living. And don't let anybody tell you different.

TABLE TALK

An old table located in the laundry area makes sorting of clothes much easier; saves a great deal of bending.

Fresh crisp colors and a decorative trick or two make this dining room-kitchen a cheerful place. The drop-leaf dining table and deacon's bench are placed to overlook a garden through the window. Curtains with an awning valance are sprightly modern print in no-iron blend of Dacron and cotton. Motifs cut from curtain fabric scraps are appliqued on placemats and framed for pictures on wall.

Gay, Decorative Kitchen Can Offer Hospitality

By KAY SHERWOOD

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The fresh, crisp, uncluttered look is seldom more admired nor harder to achieve at home than it is in the room shared by dining and kitchen facilities. The very tasks you perform in the kitchen work against an atmosphere of orderliness and tranquil charm in the dining area.

The noisy and untidy outpouring of pots, pans, dishes from cupboards, perishables from the refrigerator and steaming roasters from the oven occurs at regular intervals. In between these intervals, the remnants of peanut - buttered crackers, sticky glasses and half - filled coffee cups infiltrate to mess up counters and table.

The capable homemakers who have mastered the confusion and clutter are an elite group. I doubt that I shall ever attain the state of grace they enjoy but their achievements are worth praise and study.

Visiting one such homemaker the other day, I was struck by the skill with which she managed in a relatively small area to combine a gracious atmosphere for dining with a smoothly efficient kitchen.

For one thing, the major function of the kitchen — preparation and cleaning up of the daily meals — is not allowed to crowd over into the dining area. The table doesn't become another handy place to park a sack of potatoes or cool a cake or hang damp dish towels. The table top is kept clear except for a bowl of fruit or flowers.

I noted, too, that the kitchen counters are free of extraneous objects — there were no jars of last night's lightning bugs, no containers filled with grass and caterpillars, no half - eaten peaches, in marked contrast to my own counters.

Without asking, I knew her children are trained to keep their treasures in more suitable places, making meal preparation a darned sight easier.

A spic and span kitchen - dining room is not necessarily a cheerful one. Bright colors, saucy curtains, a decorative touch or two warm things up. And this my friend knows, too. A rug, for example, under the dining table marks off the area in bright green and quiets the clatter of chairs.

Is a rug wildly impractical in such a situation? The answer from those who use them is "No" if the fiber is easily cleaned. Braided rag rugs have been used in kitchens for years. Recently, washable are rugs in bold, bright colors liven up the room. A leading manufacturer has added to his area rugs some made in a new nylon fiber which exhibits a high degree of practicality.

Dacron and cotton blended fabric, so successful in clothing is new to the curtain world and I'll wager that the gay new prints and the clear colors will bring new life to the checked gingham-kitchen circuit.

The blend is washable, requires little or no ironing. Patterns include some modern florals scattered over clear white backgrounds. The material is also durable enough for seat cushion slip covers.

THEY COME CLEAN

To remove stubborn white mineral deposits from glass cookware, half-fill the cookware with very hot water and two tablespoons of vinegar. Boil for a few minutes, then wash in hot suds and rinse.

Fidel Announces New Curbs On Catholic Church

MIAMI (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro has announced new restrictions on the Roman Catholic Church, apparently as part of a campaign to crush its opposition to him "without firing a shot."

In a four-hour speech broadcast by Radio Havana, Castro said religious processions in Cuba will be banned in future and that Cuban priests who "conspire against the fatherland" will lose their citizenship.

The bearded Cuban's latest attack on the church was inspired by a religious procession a week ago Sunday which flared into an anti-Castro demonstration. Castro's troops and police fired on a crowd of about 4,000 Catholics, killing one man and wounding several others.

Bishop Eduardo Boza Masvidal and 135 other priests were expelled from the country Sunday on a liner bound for Spain. Forty-six of them were Cuban, including Boza, and the others Spanish.

Castro said that in future the government will seize the homes of refugees from Cuba, evicting any relatives who may be living there, unless the refugees return within a set time.

He said refugees who go to other Latin American countries will be allowed three months to return. He said time also would be allowed to Cubans who flee to the United States, but did not say how long.

Dodging Marriage Ideas Are Advanced

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—If I had a stenographer, I would shove her off my knee and dictate a letter to that young fellow in Georgia who took a powder on his wedding night.

I would like for him to know that there is at least one person in America (me) who views his conduct with sympathetic understanding and even a certain amount of admiration.

According to the account I saw in the papers here, the bridegroom decided at the last minute that he couldn't go through with the ceremony. So he headed for the hills, leaving behind carefully rigged evidence to make it appear he had been kidnaped.

Some people who read about his fight may have marked it down as a case of cold feet. But that is patently absurd.

Anyone who has ever faced matrimony knows that it takes a lot more courage to get out of it than it does to go through with it. That is why most weddings go on as scheduled. Most of us are chicken.

I well remember the eve of my own wedding. I stayed awake until dawn thinking up schemes by which I might forego, or at least postpone, the trip to the church, short of actual desertion.

It wasn't so much the idea of "being" married that panicked me. I was sort of looking forward to that. It was "getting" married that I dreaded.

There is a world of difference between "being" married and "getting" married.

At first I thought of pretending I was sick. But, on second thought, I realized the doctor would immediately spot me as a malingerer. I had tried faking illness in the Army a few times and I always got detected.

In my midnight desperation, I concocted and then discarded a number of other evasions, such as:

(1) Sending a bogus telegram to myself reporting that one of my out-of-town relatives had died.

(2) Falling down the steps of my apartment building in hopes of breaking a leg.

(3) Acting as though I had been struck dumb and was unable to say the vows.

Deep down, I knew that none of them would work, mainly because I lacked the nerve to attempt them. The only thing I could do was pray for a real catastrophe, such as war breaking out so I could rush off and enlist.

Frankly, the idea of kidnaping myself and persuading a friend to tie me to a tree never occurred to me. Had I done so, I might still be a bachelor.

Some five years later, I learned that my wife had spent our wedding eve in similar fashion. But she also lacked the courage and/or the ingenuity to find a way to back out.

So here we are, two cowards, still going our craven ways together. Sometimes, bravery doesn't pay.

Warning Issued To Loan Sharks

AUSTIN (UPI)— Atty. Gen. Will Wilson flew to Washington today to meet with Senate rackets probers and discuss federal legislation to aid states in fighting organized crime and corruption.

Wilson planned to meet with Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a member of the permanent subcommittee on investigations now conducting the hearings on racketeering.

Before leaving, Wilson issued a double-barreled warning—one to loan sharks and the other to hurricane victims.

He warned victims of Hurricane Carla to beware of the loan sharks and promised the loan sharks a "double dose" of prosecution if they try to gouge persons trying to rebuild and repair homes in the wake of Hurricane Carla.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A man to watch carefully is a dark be-spectacled figure of severe deportment, an admirer of Red China who now is expected to quicken the pace of the Algerian rebels' guerilla war against France.

He is Youssef Ben Khedda, little known even among Algerian rebels before he replaced Ferhat Abbas as premier of the Algerian nationalist provisional government.

He is described as a "pure, tough revolutionary," not necessarily Communist but a leader of the rebel "Chinese wing" which admires Mao Ts-tung's success in organizing 600 million Chinese.

Ben Khedda's ascendancy over Abbas is a defeat for the rebel conservative wing and has aroused doubts even among such ardent admirers of the Algerian revolt as presidents Nasser of Egypt and Bourguiba of Tunisia.

These doubts spring from a fear that Ben Khedda will open the way for further Communist penetration of Africa or to internationalization of the Algerian conflict through use of Chinese "volunteers."

These fears, still only in the speculative stage, have led to further speculation that North Africa could at some time in the future surpass Berlin as a world flash point.

Ben Khedda's rise is regarded as the direct result of failure of this summer's peace talks with the French.

He is said not to oppose further peace negotiations but his terms are believed even tougher than those which the French already have refused to accept.

Record Fallout In U.S. Expected By Scientists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists expect most of the long-lasting radioactive poison hurled into the high atmosphere by this month's Soviet atomic tests to settle on the earth in a four-month period starting in February.

They will not be surprised if next spring's fallout sets a new record. The present mark was set by the Russians in 1959.

What Dr. Lester Machta of the Weather Bureau calls "the greatest fallout ever recorded" occurred in March, April, May, and June of 1959. It came from the Soviet tests of October, 1958.

This year's Russian tests started a month earlier and continued at a pace which threatened to surpass the 1959 rate.

What humanity will suffer from this radioactive contamination imposed upon it by Russia is not known. Science so far has been unable to detect the measure whatever damage is done to man by low radiation doses such as those normally associated with worldwide test fallout.

This radiation is small to the disappearing point compared with the instantaneous radiation from an exploding bomb or that from quickly descending "local fallout."

Local fallout in wartime could produce, a few miles down wind from the explosion, radiation exposures amounting in an hour to thousands of times the dosage received from test fallout over a period of years.

The Soviet test fallout in the spring of 1959 increased by about 50 per cent the amount of strontium-90 deposited on the United States by all previous American, Russian, and British tests.

The 1961 Russian tests, if they prove comparable to those of October, 1958, could build up the strontium-90 contamination of the United States by 30 per cent above present levels.

Strontium-90 is one of the most menacing products of atomic fission. It is long-lived. It gets into plants and thence into milk and human bones. Very young children, whose diet is mainly milk and whose bones are growing rapidly, absorb more strontium-90 than adults.

It is known that in large amounts — large by comparison with those resulting from test fallout—strontium-90 can cause bone cancer in animals. It may also cause leukemia.

Another long-lasting product of bomb tests, cesium-137, is more widely distributed in the body than strontium and so can subject the reproductive organs to radiation.

There may or may not be a dose level below which strontium-90 can do no bodily harm. Scientists are not agreed whether such a threshold exists.

But most biologists believe no amount of radiation is too small to cause some genetic damage if it hits the cells of heredity. From the standpoint of man as a species, this is the worst menace of radiation because genetic damage is bequeathed to future generations.

When nuclear weapons are tested, some of their radioactive products are deposited into the troposphere, the so-called "weather zone." Above the troposphere, at altitudes ranging from 3,000 to 5,000 feet, depending on the latitude, is a vast region of relative calm known as the stratosphere.

Small bombs tested above ground throw all of their fission products into the troposphere. It stays there a matter of weeks. Tropospheric contamination from the Soviet tests has been detected all around the Northern Hemisphere.

But it has been so slight, according to government experts, as not to pose any public health threat.

The great contaminators are the "dirty" H-bombs, with their fission triggers and jackets, which spew the bulk of their poison into the stratosphere.

Stratospheric "residence time" for radioactive material from big bomb tests ranges from under a year to perhaps 10 years, depending on the latitude and altitude of the explosion.

Fallout of major proportions from past explosions had all but disappeared from the atmosphere until the Russians resumed testing on Sept. 1.

Once radioactive debris gets down from the stratosphere into the troposphere, fallout tends to be heaviest in regions where rainefall is heaviest.

For this reason next spring's fallout from the current Soviet tests is expected to be about twice as heavy in a large part of the United States as it is in Russia except for comparatively rainy southeastern Siberia.

According to Atomic Energy Commission figures published before the new Soviet series, Americans anually receive 25 times more radiation exposure to the reproductive organs from natural sources (radiation from the earth and sky) than they get from bomb tests. The medical radiation dose (X-rays and the like) has been more than 40 times fallout exposure.

The fallout dose to these organs has been about 125 times smaller than the maximum exposure from all sources recommended by the Federal Radiation Council as the permissible limit for the general public.

LUXURIOUS STYLING of Pontiac's 1962 sports coupe models is graphically illustrated by these views of the sparkling new Bonneville. A smaller rear window and a lower roof design give this two-door hardtop the rakish look of a softtop convertible. A divided V-shaped grille of horizontal bars exemplifies the smooth flowing lines and the Bonneville's generous full-lengthi side moulding accentuates the car's long, low and sleek appearance. This same new look in hardtops is found in the Catalina sports coupe.

Negroes Did Talking In Video 'Close-Up'

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — On my way to a screening of "Walk in My Shoes," I noticed on a wall a sticker that read, "Cool off-no. Action-yes. Democracy-now."

Not only does this slogan express a galvanizing viewpoint held by many American Negroes, it also serves as a proper point of departure for the "Bell & Howell Close-up" that was aired Tuesday night on ABC-TV.

The full-hour program, "Walk in My Shoes," was a thought-provoking, highly dramatic, informative and long overdue TV study that explained the ways and wherefores of the "Cool off-No, Action-Yes" attitude.

Boldly, bluntly, the program helped illuminate the forces, movements and ideas that are spurring Negroes to join sit-ins, "freedom" rides and, in many cases, harken to the cries of the black supremacists, personified by the black Muslim movement.

Dr. Gardner Taylor, president of the National Baptist Convention, summarized the point of the program as he said, "Unless very real and substantial progress is made to the democratization of the American communities, the rug will have been pulled completely from under the responsible Negro leadership. . .and will pass to people whose preachments and negative attitudes towards everything American will have very dire results."

The hour was valuable because it brought moods into focus and gave them a common denominator, summarized perhaps by the speaker who was heard to say he would settle for nothing less than "my fiar share of what is out there. . .whatever I have the ability and the education and the desire to accomplish."

Written by Arthur Holch, narrated by Louis Lomax, produced and directed by Nicholas Webster, the program delivered its message by letting Negroes do the talking. There were interviews and some living - room eavesdropping as the Negroes, all imbued with the vision of upward mobility, argued, exhorted, cajoled and simply conversed.

"Walk in My Shoes" attempted to weld itself into a neat, artistic entity by spenduing a day with a young Harlem slum dweller. This approach failed, however, because it wasn't intensive enough and because it was, basically, the wrong one for the sort of ground the program was covering. But this failure didn't dilute the impact. The powerful comments were enough to bind the story into a memorable TV event.

An absorbing study, "Angola—Journey to a War," brought NBC-TV's "White Paper" series back to the airwaves Tuesday night.

Filmed in the strife-torn African country, the hour presented the human side of still another battle in which African nationalists are taking up arms as they seek independence. This time, it's against Portuguese rule.

Numerous heart-breaking, chilling scenes of suffering, death and torture were shown as correspondents Robert Young and Charles Dorkins took their cameras and marched across the country to visit native villages where fighting has centered. Presumably, Jack Paar, NBC's intrepid foreign correspondent, is ready to follow suit.

The documentary was at its best as it acquainted us with the land and its people. It reminded us, again, of war's horrors with some exceptional footage. It discussed Angola's relationship to Portugal, tied the story to the world scene, but drew a blank in terms of delivering insights into the leadership of both sides of the struggle. There were no interviews, as such; no direct communication with rival forces. Blame it on language difficulties, on censorship, on the weather. Whatever the cause, the program lacked balance and perspective because of it.

Churchman Admits Knowledge Defect

LONDON (UPI) — Dr. Donald Coggan, archbishop of York, was quoted by the Daily Express today as saying, "My ignorance of science is such that if anyone mentioned copper nitrate I should think he was talking about policemen's overtime."

Electrical Units Needed At Prison

HOUSTON (UPI)— The Texas Prison Board has decided that $400,000 must be found for practical auxiliary power units at the pris on system's farms.

The nine-man board voted to get the money as soon as possible, and probably will ask for the money in a special report to the state legislature.

At present the prison system has no auxiliary power units. The urgency was brought about by the complete breakdown of electrical power at six coastal prison farms as a result of Hurricane Carla.

Presidential Auto Difficulty Bared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's super-duper new bubble top limousine developed its first bug Tuesday when Secret Service agents tried to remove the dome's glass panels to give Kennedy and Peruvian President Manuel Prado an open-air ride.

Agents found it took too long to put the panels in the car's trunk. They left them under surveillance of a policeman to be picked up later.

Steel Shipments Cut By Walkouts

NEW YORK (UPI) — Auto strikes will cut deeply into September steel shipments even if General Motors completes settlements of all plant-level disputes, Iron Age magazine said today.

The metal-working weekly said today.

The metalworking weekly said local strikes at GM plants by early this week had cost the company about 130,000 cars.

This week the strikes had not cut into steel production, Iron Age said, but if the strikes are not settled by early next week, some steel orders will have to be held up. Setbacks will expand each day the strikes are prolonged.

But the trade magazine said the auto strikes do not threaten to curtail the overall steel market. The demand for steel in the next two months will intensify as GM tries to make up for lost ground.

Clotheless Child Taken From Store

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)— A "Lady Godiva" rode a coin-operated horse in front of a grocery Tuesday.

A store employe wrapped the bare two-year-old girl into a sweater. Police said she wandered from her nearby home while her mother was canning peaches.

The sharp, clean lines of Oldsmobile's new F-85 for 1962 are apparent in this front view of the F-85 four-door Deluxe sedan. Styling changes for 1962 include a new hood, grille and headlamp housings. Body side mouldings on F-85 Deluxe models are of a different design and are re-positioned to create a smart new styling accent. A re-styled rear section features twin tail lamps mounted on each side. Back-up lamps are now located on the lower body panel, below the rear bumper. Exceptional performance and economy of operation are provided by V-8 aluminum engines with up to 185 horsepower.

'Chaos' In Gas Prices Assailed By N.Y. Lawyer

HOUSTON (UPI)—A New York lawyer today said capital for planned gas industry expansion could dry up unless "order is brought out of the pricing chaos" by the government.

The prediction was made by Gene Woodfin, a partner of Carl M. Loeb, Rhoades and Co., of New York, before the annual meeting of the Independent Natural Gas Association of America session of the convention on the Financial Problems of Natural Gas.

Woodfin spoke before a general

He said long transmission lines built largely in the past 20 years represent an investment of about $21 billion. This investment will rise to $30 billion by 1970, he said.

Investment firms, which furnished money for this rapid expansion, now are reluctant to continue such commitments because of "the squeeze on income due to present federal control policies."

Woodfin said the fault lies in the Natural Gas Act, which provided no guide lines for the court to follow.

Another speaker, Dr. Martin A. Elliott of Chicago, academic vice president of the Illinois Institute of Technology and former director of the Institute of Gas Technology, explained new uses for gas and methods of handling it.

Gleason-Carney 'Honeymooners' Renewal Favored

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Art Carney may hang his shingle outside a new sewer if he can get rotund Jackie Gleason before the TV cameras in a remake of their "Honeymooners."

Carney and Gleason, with their TV wives, gave video some of its best humor during the one season they cavorted across the screen in "Honeymooners."

Gleason, portraying bumbling bus driver Ralph Dramden, and Carney, as sewer worker Ed Norton, were a study in confusion, battling each other, their wives and anybody else who happened along.

After one season on the air, the show was tossed aside. However, it's still being rerun in some cities much to the delight of Carney-Gleason fans.

Lots of folks hope for a new series of those programs, but it's rare that TV brass remake a cancelled show. At least there's a slight chance we may get one new "Honeymooners" episode.

"There's talk of us doing another one of those shows as a TV special," said Carney, between sips of vichy soisse in a Hollywood restaurant.

"I'd love to do a one shot thing with Gleason," he added. "Whether or not it'll be a Honeymooners, I don't know."

Carney revealed he and Gleason might do a TV show based on those two great comics, Stan Laurel and his late sidekick Oliver Hardy.

Art, in town to videotape a part in NBC-TV's Oct. 9 production of "Sound of the Sixties," talked about his career as an entertainer, a career that took him from radio acting down into a dramatic sewer and back up into the lights again.

"It's paid off," he said. "As yet, I haven't had any trouble being acepted as a straight dramatic actor. If you average it out, there were probably more comedy roles than drama in my career."

Speaking of comedy, Carney opined, "I don't think it's as good as it used to be in the old days of TV and I don't mean ten years ago.

"I don't know what the matter is. I guess the same thing that's happened to drama on TV, good writers have been eaten up. I guess a lot of them got tired of being told 'you can't do this'. I imagine it must be pretty frustrating for a fellow to beat his brains out and then have somebody come up and tell him he can't do something."

Whatever the problems are with TV writers, they haven't hurt Carney. The talented performer is planning to do a Broadway play this fall and has already completed three TV shows which will be aired this season.

Pope Expresses Grief Concerning Events In Cuba

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, (UPI)—Pope John XXIII said today he is gravely grieved at the "real persecution" of the Roman Catholic Church in Cuba at the very "gateway of the two Americas."

The Pontiff publicly expressed his deep concern to a crowd of some 5,000 pilgrims during a mass audience here at the papal summer villa in the Alban Hills south of Rome.

The Pope's frank reference to church-state relations in Cuba followed a stern warning Tuesday by the Vatican City newspaper, Osservatore Romano, to the Cuban government that the church "cannot remain insensible" to such anti-religious acts as the deportation this week from Cuba of Bishop Eduardo Boza Masvidal and 135 priests.

Church sources believed the Osservatore Romano warning and the pointed references by the Pope foreshadowed the excommunication of Fidel Castro and other Cuban leaders.

Excommunication is the churchs sternest penalty. It excludes the person affected from the communion of the faithful, barring him from attending mass and receiving the blessed sacrament.

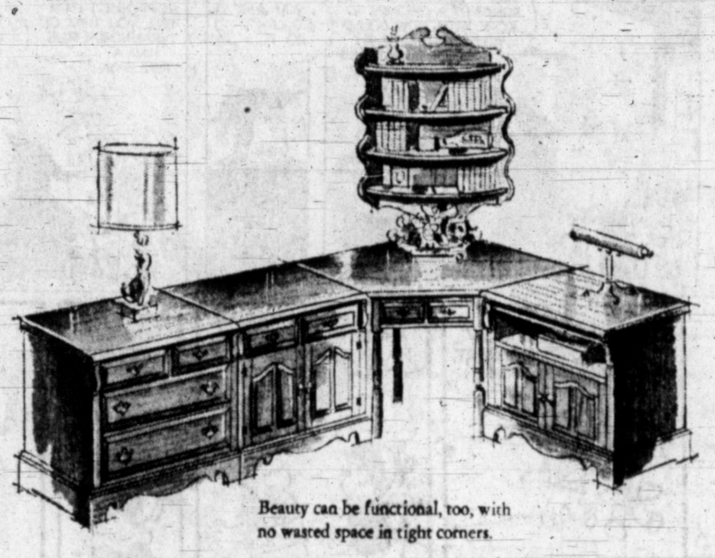

Since the war, excommunication has been applied at least 10 times against Communist leaders in Eastern Europe and Communists, generally, and twice against officials in Latin American countries.

In June, 1955, Pope Pius excommunicated former Argentine dictator Juan Peron and all those responsible for the arrest and expulsion from Argentina of two Roman Catholic prelates.

Roger Maris Gets 59th Homer

Yankees Clinch Another Crown

By United Press International

Time has run out on Roger Maris but it's galloping swiftly along for the Cincinnati Reds in their rush to a World Series date with the New York Yankees.

Maris hit his 59th homer to help the Yankees beat the Baltimore Orioles, 4-2, Wednesday night and clinch their 26th American League pennant. In his last three times at bat, however, he was unable to hit the 60th homer that would have earned him a share of baseball immortality with Babe Ruth.

Still, there are many who will recognize him as home run king if he surpasses the magic 60 during the last eight games of the regular season without any pennant pressure.

As for the Reds, the only magic number they're interested in is "4," which happens to be their pennant-clinching combination. Cincinnati moved a step closer to the World Series by edging the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-2, on Wally Post's two-run homer in the eighth inning.

The Los Angeles Dodgers kept "alive" by edging the Chicago Cubs, 3-2, in 13 innings. Los Angeles now is five games behind Cincinnati and has nine games left to play. Thus, any combination of Reds victories and Dodger defeats that add up to four will clinch the pennant for Cincinnati.

The Milwaukee Braves defeated the San Francisco Giants, 7-4, and the Philadelphia Phillies beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-1, in other National League games.

In the American League, the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Cleveland Indians, 4-2, the Detroit Tigers ended their home schedule with a 6-3 victory over the Los Angeles Angels, and the Chicago White Sox beat the Boston Red Sox, 3-1. Minnesota at Washington was rained out.

For the second straight season, Ralph Terry pitched the pennant-clincher for New York. He held the Orioles to four hits as he gained his 15th victory against three defeats. Besides Maris, Yogi Berra hit a Yankee homer.

The triumph made Ralph Houk the 12th manager in baseball history to guide a team to the pennant in his first season as skipper.

In the World Series, the Yankees' opening-game pitching opponent undoubtedly will be Joey Jay, who yielded seven hits Wednesday night in achieving his 21st victory. Post's game-winning homer was hit off reliever Roy Face following a walk to Vada Pinson.

Ron Fairly singled home Wally Moon with the Dodgers' winning run in the 13th. Norm Sherry sent the game into extra innings with a homer in the eighth. Sandy Koufax pitched the distance for his 18th victory and struck out 15 batters. That gave him 259 strikeouts for the season and tied him with Christy Mathewson for the third highest total in National League history.

Cal Quarterback Out Of Texas Tilt

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Top University of California quarterback Randy Gold was ruled a "highly unlikely" starter today for the Bears' opener against Texas Saturday because of a twisted knee.

In Gold's absence, Larry Balliett took over the first string quarterback chores. The Bears worked on offense and defense drills Wednesday with brief contact work.

White Deer And McLean To Play In Top Contest

A titantic battle will take place Friday night at White Deer between the host Bucks and the visiting McLean Tigers.

These two titans enter the top area scrap undefeated although some of the glamor was rubbed off the tilt when White Deer was held to an upset tie by Lefors last Friday 6-6.

McLean has been ranked as the area's top class A eleven while the Bucks are rated sixth statewide with the Tigers in the second 10 teams.

But around 10 p.m. Friday night, the area's top grid team in class A may be decided with the winner getting the blue chips.

McLean will throw its two W's against the Bucks' one M. Halfback Jim Watson and quarterback Ken Willingham are the stars in the high-scoring Bengal offense and fullback Carl McAdams is the ace of the White Deer foursome.

A top contest in AA circles pit undefeated Dalhart against the rugged Perryton Rangers. Dalhart picked up some prestige last Friday with a 22-15 licking of the Stinnett Rattlers. Perryton trounced a good Canyon club 26-6 after dropping its season opener.

Pampa goes to Dumas in a battle of winless teams while Amarillo High takes on the state's No. 1 team — Wichita Falls — in other games of local interest.

Vada Pinson Nabs 200th Season Hit

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Outfielder Vada Pinson of the Cincinnati Reds is the first major leaguer to collect 200 hits this season.

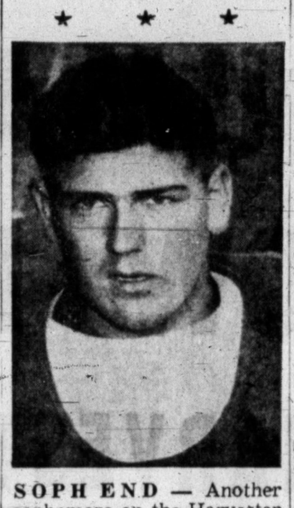

Pinson, in the race for the National League batting championship with a .342 mark, made his 200th hit when he singled against Joe Gibbon of the Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday night during the Reds' 3-2 victory.

Roberto Clemente of the Pirates, leading the league with a .354 average, also had one hit and ran his total to 198.

TOP GAINER — Sophomore fullback Kenny Hebert is the Harvesters leading ground gainer. The 168-pound star romped for 114 yards against Phillips last Friday.

★ ★ ★

SOPH END — Another sophomore on the Harvester starting lineup is end Keith Reimer, a 180-pounder. Reimer was a starting tackle before switching to left end.

Shockers Meet Phillips Tonight

The Pampa Harvesters and the Shockers drilled in earnest Wednesday for games with Dumas and Phillips "B" respectively.

Coach Norman Phillips and Deck Woldt's Shockers host the Phillips club tonight at Harvester Stadium at 7:30 p.m. The Shockers have a tie and a loss in their two games to date. Gruver shocked the Shockers 46-0 Saturday after the Pampa 11 had played the Perryton Deputies to a 6-6 draw in their first game.

Interim coach Weldon Trice has been putting the Harvesters through a week of stiff workouts in preparation for the tough Dumas Demons.

The Harvesters, who worked late in the afternoon Tuesday and Wednesday, have been minus the services of end Shawn Hills and tackle Carl Clark. Hills and Clark have been ill with a slight case of flu. Cark has missed only Wednesday's session and he says "I'll be ready to go Friday night." Hills has been out of action all week and it is doubtful whether he will get to play or not.

Wednesday's session found the Harvesters working on its offensive plays in an effort to get into the scoring column against Dumas. Pampa has been shutout in its first two games. Fullback Kenny Hebert, the team's leading ground gainer, and captain and halfback Mike Stewart continues to spark the running attack with their hard running. End James Webb is returning to form and the senior lineman has been showing up well in practice.

Phillips plans to start Larry Johnson at quarterback, Hank Henry and Ronnie Oler at the halves and Curtis Fletcher in the fullback slot tonight against Phillips. In the forward wall it will be ends Ronald Urbanczyk and Ricky Fritz; tackles Gerald Rasco and Danny Hoggett, guards Gary Davis and Myron Aftergut and center Joe Gallett.

The remainder of the squad includes Rodney Calwell, Dee Allen, Clay Lively, Rickey Goodwin, Richard Rexcoat and Eugene Marak, backs; Larry Hopp and Gary Thurman, centers; Joe Dan Brock, James Head, Eugene Madrid and Jimmy McCluskey, guards; tackles Gerald Scarberry and Raymond Edwards; ends Cleve Seymore, Tim Eller, Kenneth Lister, Bryan Nortin and Bobby Ashbey. Other backs are Jimmy Samples, Barry Peterson, Gary Marlar, Claud Middleton, Johnny Bennett and Mike Sullins.

Baylor Line Rated Tough

By United Press International

Football fans are singing the praises of the Bear's fleet-footed backfield but the word is out down at Waco not to forget to hum a verse about that "Good Old Baylor Line."

Three of the seven starting Bear linemen have already been drafted by professional teams—which speaks very well of Baylor's front trenches.

It just so happens that the three men are transfers from a Little Rose Bowl team produced by Cerritos, Calif. Junion College a few seasons ago. They are tackles John Frongillo, 244, and Pete Nicklas, 246, and all-conference end Bob Lane, 192.

Center and tri-capt. Bill Hicks, 214, is the fourth out-of-stater in Baylor's starting line. Hicks, from Little Rock, Ark., Central High School, draws Bridgers praise as "a fine defensive captain, a steady, strong center with splendid poise and leadership."

The other three linemen—end Herbert Harlan, and guards Herby Adkins and Robert Burk—are top hands, Bridgers says.

Bridgers throws this rock-ribbed front wall against Wake Forest Saturday in Waco.

Arkansas ripped through a sharp workout Wednesday in preparation for Mississippi, but the big question was whether quarterback Billy Moore can play against the Rebels Saturday in Jackson, Miss. Coach Frank Broyles said he will decide today if Moore, nursing a knee injury, will make the traveling squad.

At Lubbock, Texas Tech worked on the multiple offense it will try against Mississippi State at Jackson, Miss., Saturday night after the Arkansas-Mississippi day game.

University of Texas Coach Darrell Royal said he will probably use most of his 42 man team making the trip to California for a joust with the Golden Bears Saturday at Berkeley.

Texas Christian and Southern Methodist devoted most of their drills Wednesday to defense. TCU plays Kansas at Fort Worth and SMU gets Maryland and its "T" formation at Dallas in Saturday games.

Coach Jess Neely praised his Rice squad after Wednesday's workout. "We are beginning to make our moves without having to think about them," Neely said. He said 66,000 of the 70,000 seats in Rice stadium have been sold for Saturday's game with the rugged LSU tigers.

At College Station, Texas A&M Coach Jim Myers named his starting lineup for the Houston game and it included Lee Roy Caffey at fullback and Jim Keller of Terrell at quarterback.

Last year at this time Keller was getting ready for basketball season and didn't even go out for the Aggie football team. But a fantastic spring training pushed him to the front at the cadet man-under spot—a position where A&M sorely needs an accurate passer.

SETS WORLD RECORD

LONDON (UPI)—Tamara Press of Russia set a world's record for the women's discuss throw with a toss of 193 feet, 6 inches Wednesday while leading a Russian women's team to a 75-43 victory over an English women's track and field team. The U.S.S.R. men's team also whipped its English counterparts, 122-102.

Russia Leading In Weightlifting

VIENNA (UPI)—Soviet musclemen are off to a good start in the world weightlifting championships.

World bantamweight record holder Vladimir Stogov, a 30-year-old army lieutenant, helped open the 1961 championships Wednesday with a record-equalling lift of 761 pounds.

The United States, which was given a good chance to win the bantamweight title, wound up a poor fourth when Chuck Vinci, the 1960 Olympic champion from Cleveland, Ohio, lifted only 722 pounds.

The Russian, however, got a good scare when 23-year-old Hungarian Imre Foeldi, competing in only his second international meet, also lifted 761 pounds. Foeldi had to settle for second, though, because he out-weighed Stogov.

Noisyobu Miyake of Japan, who set an unofficial world mark of 766 pounds two weeks ago in Tokyo, finished third with a total lift of 744 pounds.

Pampa Teams Play Today

Lee 8th And Perryton To Clash Here

Robert E. Lee's 8th grade gridders open their 1961 grid season today at 4 p.m. on the west field at Harvester Stadium when Coach Mack Choate's Rebels entertain the Perryton 8th graders.

Choate, in his first year at Pampa via Clarendon, has 38 gridders to fill positions on the red and blue teams. The Rebs mentor has plenty of weight and as he says "natural ability" and experience from an undefeated 7th grade season in 1960.

Tackles Billy Qurals and Jerry Wright beef up the red team line with Qurals at 245 pounds and Wright weighing in at 210. Choate describes Qurals, a 6-3 lineman, as having a great future and plenty of natural ability. The red team guards are Larry Eckroat 135 and Wayne Hill, 150; ends Nolan Ellis, 119 and Teddy Paul Bird, 130 and 115-pound center Steve Martin.

The backfield is composed of quarterback Gary Crossland, a 109 pounder; fullback Larry Doss, 104 and Sammy White, 119; and halfbacks Lewis Meers, 147 and Larry Danials, 149.

Blue team performers are ends Parker Steward and Ronald Hastings; tackles Fred Tinsley and George Nichols; guards Paul Burnitt and Harold Patterson; center David Frashier; quarterback Charles Heller; halfbacks Lulan Ellis and Scotty Epperson and fullback Sammie North.

Choate states, "Burnitt, a 101-pound guard, is my best tackler and hardest hitter. He likes to play hard."

The rest of the squad is made up of Danny Boyd, Charles Cauthorne, John Curry, Dee Hawkins, Keith Jones, Gregory Locke, Woodie Leonard, Frank Parrish, Teddy Phillips, Franklin Steadman, Billy and Ronnie Stokes, Darryl Webb, and Jon Windsor.

West Texas State Opens At Home

By United Press International

Texas college football teams outside the Southwest Conference meet some tough intersectional foes this weekend and some interference competition begins.

Houston, the state's No. 1 independent, collides with Texas A&M at College Station in a top attraction. West Texas State begins season play against a toughie—Brigham Young in a game at Canyon.

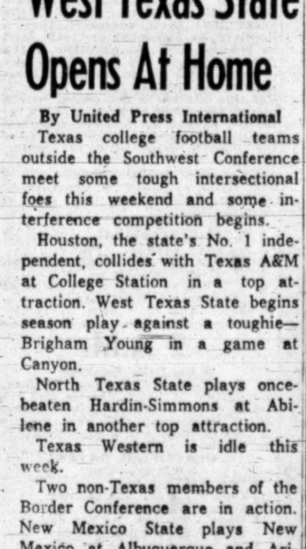

North Texas State plays once-beaten Hardin-Simmons at Abilene in another top attraction.

Texas Western is idle this week.

Two non-Texas members of the Border Conference are in action. New Mexico State plays New Mexico at Albuquerque and Arizona State is at home against Wichita.

In the Lone Star Conference, Lamar Tech will make its first start of the year against Northeast Louisiana. Six of the seven other teams also will be in action. Defending champion Texas A&I will be idle.

East Texas State hosts Southeast Louisiana at Commerce, Eastern New Mexico visits Sul Ross at Alpine, Howard Payne entertains Abilene Christian at Brownwood, Texas Lutheran is at Nacogdoches against the S.F. Austin Lumberjacks, Sam Houston plays at Corpus Christi University and Southwest Texas hosts Tarleton State.

Rog Expresses Cold Feelings

By United Press International

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Roger Maris had just hit No. 59, a blow which put him second in baseball annals only to the immortal Babe Ruth, and he was as impassive as someone living in a vacuum.

How did he feel now that he had hit one less than Ruth — and one more than any other man in baseball history — in the 154-game limit imposed by Commissioner Ford Frick?

He shrugged, still without cracking the veneer.

"I tried and all I got was one. I'm happy and lucky to get what I got. I'm relieved, too."

He didn't look happy, or sad, or relieved.

What about the Frick ruling?

"He makes the rules."

And another shrug.

This is not a new facade manufactured for protective coloration. Maris is noted as a quiet man, albeit one ever prepared to sneak up with unyielding firmness when he is displeased. There is about him the withdrawn manner of a pick-pocket at a police convention, a characteristic which never has made him a roaring favorite among his mates.

Throughout the latter stages of his Canaveral-like canter among the stars he has read the newspapers with the critical eye of an editor suffering from ulcers. He has had what is known as a "good press," meaning that most of the reviews of his efforts were encouraging and complimentary. Yet he has, an occasion, been quick to criticize as if he were a publisher of children's books who had been affronted by an immoral manuscript.

After his 59th home run in the third inning Wednesday night, a reporter pursued the ball into the right field bleachers. It had been snatched by an unemployed machinist as if it were the Kohinoor diamond and he clutched it firmly in his hands as he was led down between innings to pose for pictures with Maris.

There was a discussion of its worth in a trade. There was the offer of two new balls in exchange; of two tickets to the first game of the World Series; of a flat $25. It wasn't enough to the unemployed one.

"You gonna keep it?" Maris asked.

"Yep."

"Well, good luck to you," Maris said icily, and walked back to the dugout.

Later, in a Yankee dressing room long accustomed to pennant winning celebrations, they mechanically were going through the expected ritual of drinking champagne from paper cups and dousing beer on the heads of the younger and less blase members. One, who was watching, noticed a wet spot on Maris' cheek.

"Are they tears?" he was asked.

"No," he replied with the barest hint of lifted eyebrows. "Just champagne."

Black Thumper Wins At Belmont Stakes

By United Press International

Black Thumper, a hitherto undistinguished son of To Market, surprised eight rivals Wednesday to grab the top money in the $28,550 Stymie Handicap at Belmont Park.

Carrying low weight of 108 pounds and boasting only three victories in 25 previous starts this year, Black Thumper was overlooked in the betting by the crowd of 24,130 and so returned a gratifying $28.20 for a $2 win ticket.

Beau Prince, the favorite of the midweek crowd and a contender for 1961 3 year old honors, was unable to match the speed of the early pacesetters and never was in contention, finishing a poor seventh.

Divine Comedy led the field for the first mile of the mile and one-quarter test, but finally fell victim to his fast pace and slowly faded from the picture. Black Thumper, running second, took advantage to grab the lead and after a brilliant stretch run he crossed the wire three and one-half lengths ahead of Hillsborough, with Divine Comedy another nose back in third place. Don Poggio was fourth by a neck.

Johnny Ruane rode a smart race aboard Black Thumper and guided his mount over the course in 2:01 3-5.

The racing program at Atlantic City, including the scheduled $15,000 Added Home Bred Handicap, was called off because of the threat of heavy storms from Hurricane Esther. The Home Bred will be run instead Sept. 27 and the New Jersey racing commission has granted Atlantic City permission to extend the current meeting one day through Oct. 4.

'Do-It-Yourself'

"Carried to its ultimate conclusion, every proposal of the liberals must inevitably reduce the area of free choice remaining to the individual," declared Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater in a recent statement.

"And if we are not competent to spend our own money, to educate our own children, to make our own selection of entertainment on television and radio, then does it not follow that at some later date we will be judged incompetent to make a proper choice in the selection of our government officials?"

Indeed it does. And there are signs that more and more people are recognizing this fact, although the liberals are shoving more and more "free money" and advice their way.

Human Events Magazine points to an article in the Wall Street Journal which describes the strong right-wing pressures coming from the grass roots. The Journal says that the heavy mail to congressmen is having a profound effect upon the voting attitudes of members of Congress.

As evidence, the Wall Street Journal mentions that Sens. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania voted against the Kennedy housing bill — adding that this was the "first vote against a housing measure that any of them had cast during long congressional careers."

Do-it-yourself, which means local control and local funds, is a theme song that's getting more popuar all the time as people begin to realize that Washington has no "free" money. The price you pay for it is independence.

Busybodies Find Field

It is becoming increasigly clear that Americans, foremost of all the people in the world, have leisure time. The increase in leisure has been made possible by the amazing ability of the market-place to introduce labor - saving devices in factory and home; to provide so many necessities and comforts at such small costs in human energy that even the average hourly-rated worker today lives like a king.

During earlier years which we have classed as "dark ages," only the king and a coterie of privileged nobility had what we view today as ordinary necessities. Only these persons had leisure time to any degree.

But leisure time, in itself, is a great blessing in the hands of the man or woman who fills this time with study, with efforts to improve himself or his situation. But leisure time which results in empty heads and idle hands is a workshop of mischief.

It has become, in this nation, a Pandoras box of misfortune.

But we must be careful to examine this problem with some thoroughness. For like the automobile, which causes so many deaths on our highways, leisure time, in proper hands, is one of the greatest benefits and blessings to descend upon the human race. And just because some people do not properly employ their leisure time, is no reason to seek to eliminate it. Rather, the effort should be made to encourage constructive employment of one's leisure.

The cure for bad or reckless driving, is learning. The cure for wasted hours, is self-employment of one's resources.

But here, many people have taken precisely the wrong pathway. For instead of confining themselves to self - improvement and to an improvement of their own situation generally, millions of them have gone out to become professional busybodies, introducing their opinions and ideas into the lives of others.

Nor have they been content to offer their opinions and ideas in a market place manner for the acceptance or rejection of others on the basis of the rights all persons have to choose what they will do or not do. Instead, they have rushed to the government, formed committees, passed laws, collected taxes, so that their particular opinion or idea could be crammed down the throats of the people en masse.

Force has become the tool which is most constantly employed. The "do-gooders" are in the saddle, using up their leisure time by imposing their wills upon others and driving them to distraction and bankruptcy by the flood of social legislation, social engineering, social interventionism . . . socializing generally.

The latest indications of this mania for using leisure time to interfere with the leisure time of others (as well as the pocketbooks of all) has come from a new field where "experts" are swarming. Having just about exhausted areas dealing with child guidance, sex counselling, marriage counselling (the last two are not the same), impulse counselling, religious counselling, and so on, ad nausea, the "experts" are now clamoring for recognition in the field of counselling our elderly.

If you have retired . . . watch out. Some busybody is apt to pounce. The social reformers are thick as fleas on a cur's back, and are about to seek legislation which will provide social clubs, parks and playgrounds at taxpayers' expense so that you will never have to be alone.

It is taken for granted that elderly people are (1) alike; (2) lonely; (3) frustrated; (4) foolish.

As a retired person, if you don't (1) travel; (2) learn to square dance; (3) go to parties (4) join a club; (5) have a hobby; (6) actively promote more political indulgences, you are suffering.

What if you simply want to improve your mind, read a good book, or think back over the experiences of a life spent in activity which has brought in a harvest of rich memory? Well, according to the "experts" this can't be permitted.

If there is one thing needed in this land of growing leisure, it is the willingness on the part of all of us to begin leaving each other alone.

The Almanac

Today is Thursday, Sept. 21, the 264th day of the year with 101 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1784, the Pennsylvania Packet and Daily Advertiser, the first daily newspaper published in the United States, appeared in Philadelphia.

In 1792, France was proclaimed a republic.

In 1897 an editor of the New York Sun wrote an editorial in response to the letter of an eight-year-old New York girl who wanted to know if there was a Santa Claus. The famed reply, which has earned a place in history began: "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy."

A thought for today: British writer H. G. Wells said: "Human history becomes more and more a race between education and catastrophe."

The American Way

By WILLIS E. STONE

FOREIGN POLICY

There was a time in American history when everyone knew exactly what American foreign policy was — and that it would be backed up. Private property was safe and private enterprise revolutionized the world for the benefit of all.

In 1904 a naturalized Greek was taken prisoner by a desert Sheik named Raisuli. This attack upon an American (halfway around the world from home) was cause enough for action. Our then Secretary of State, John Hay, on June 22, 1904, telegraphed: "We want Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead."

Ion H. Perdicaris was released two days later.

We were involved in World War I for much the same reason. Secretary of the Navy, Curtis Wilbur, stated on May 7, 1925:

"We fought not because Germany invaded or threatened to invade America but because she struck at our commerce on the North Sea and denied to our citizens on the high seas the protection of our flag. . .To defend America we must be prepared to defend its interests and our flag in every corner of the globe. . . An American child crying on the banks of the Yangtze a thousand miles from the coast can summon the ships of the American Navy up that river to protect it from unjust assault."

With private property and private enterprise so vigorously protected, our whole way of life has been enriched. Look about you. What material things do you now use in your daily lives which existed a hundred years ago? All of it is the product of individual genius with property rights adequately protected by law.

In six thousand years, under political domination, mankind had not traveled faster than a horse could take him and the oceans of the world were empty of ships. Protected in their right to OWN property, Americans began to INVENT property for their convenience and they created a whole new mode of transportation under water, in the air and on the land.

The field of communication has been similarly changed by individual ingenuity.

The printed page has been revolutionized to a pushbutton affair.

Teletype, radio and television now, in the twinkling of an eye, project into homes the news, views and pictures from all over the world.

Is this the result of some special formula? Indeed it is. History tells us that we won these values by courage and decision in support of individual liberty. Our American government applied the simple equities and justice prescribed in the Constitution and willingly protected our persons and property rights anywhere on earth.

A degree of tranquility came to the world because the individual, for the first time in history, was really being protected by law in his property rights.

This was not easy to accomplish. First we had to secure our rights at home, which we did with a Constitution and Bill of Rights, the newest and most modern philosophy in the world today. Then we had to protect against foreign encroachment.

The Marines still sing of the action in Tripoli in which piracy was destroyed.

Yes, they were the golden years of justice — at home and abroad —when our constitutional morality was real and active — before the use of political force was used to deprive people of their property rights.

We can retrieve those days of equity and justice. We can restore the original Constitution to full force and effect by simply applying the terms of the LIBERTY AMENDMENT, pending in Congress as H. J. Res. 23. It provides that:

"Sec. 1. The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution.

"Sec. 2. The constitution or laws of any state, or the laws of the United States shall not be subject to the terms of any foreign or domestic agreement which would abrogate this amendment.

"Sec. 3. The activities of the United States, Government which violate the intent and purposes of this amendment shall, within a period of three years from the date of the ratification of this amendment, be liquidated and the properties and facilities affected shall be sold.

"Sec. 4. Three years after the ratification of this amendment the sixteenth article of amendments to the Constitution of the United States shall stand repealed and thereafter Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates, and - or gifts."

If He Really Wants To Negotiate —

The Nation's Press

THE MISSING INGREDIENT

(The Wall Street Journal)

The more one thinks about the president's speech, the more striking it is that with all his firmness on Berlin, there is no matching firmness about the ordering of this country's economic affairs. That, it seems to us, is the great missing ingredient.

The military must have, the President says, nearly $3.5 billion more, making a rise of $6 billion for the Pentagon alone just since January and adding up to defense appropriations of $47.5 billion this fiscal year. In consequence, the President forsees a budget deficit of $5 billion this year, on top of nearly $4 billion for the fiscal period just ended.

Very well; if that is what the military needs, that is what it needs. Yet it is important to note that in all the reviews of the nation's defenses since January, little has turned up in the way of significant savings to offset the huge increases. This despite the fact that is is generally agreed a serious attack on military waste and duplication, quite apart from anything else, could save billions a year.

Nor is that the worst. The worst is that these new military billions come tumbling on top of a vast increase in spending for domestic political handouts and foreign aid. The President will not retreat on any of these things; on the contrary, he is constantly proposing new forms of non - essential spending. His program is austerity and sacrifice for the people, but no retrenching or discipline for the Government.

The upshot is our continuing dangerous deficit in international payments, our sharply spiraling Federal budget deficits, our rapidly rising public debt. All these developments are calculated to weaken our economy at a time when it needs all its strength. In addition, as though to guarantee the attribution of inflation, our current guardians of Government are enamored of "cheap" money.

Not that the President is unaware of these consequences. He speaks of higher taxes if necessary. He says he will not hesitate to demand "more control of other new powers" — an ominous hint of the wage, price and other economic regimentation which is so often the politicians' "answer" to inflation.

Of course the people will pay the higher taxes and accept the controls if they believe national security requires it. But by that very token they are entitled to ask the President if his approach is the wise, the realistic way to build the nation's strength for the long struggle with communism. In wartime even the Government imposes austerity on itself; if the President is moving the people to acceptance of semi-war domestic conditions, why is he unwilling to sacrifice anything at all?

Well, it is often asked in presumed rebuttal to that question where would the Government start retrenching? The answers are so plain they should scarcely need citing. Much could quickly be saved out of foreign aid, to the benefit of that leaky enterprise. Billions could be squeezed from the absurdly proliferating subsidies to farmers, healthy veterans, housing and all the rest.

Taking the spending budget as a whole, more than enough could be saved to cover any new defense needs. At the same time, austerity should be applied to the illusion of artificially easy money; there should be no fear of making the proper monetary moves against inflation.

A disposition to take such courageous measures would soon solve almost all the Government's domestic and foreign financial problems, renew confidence in the dollar at home and abroad, build budget surpluses and halt inflation; in sum, strengthen the economy. Then it would not be necessary to call for higher taxes and controls, except as a last resort.

The Government would demand austerity from the people, if necessary, only after it had applied austerity to its own ramshackle house; only after it had abandoned this frivolous attitude that anything goes, money doesn't mean anything, discipline and repossibility are for the birds.

With the rest of the nation, we hope the President's tough talk is giving Khrushchev a good scare. But it would have been far more impressive to Khrushchev if the President had shown that his country is strengthening the economy that must support the arms. It would be infinitely better for the United States if he had not backed up foreign firmness with homefront flabbiness.

The Doctor Says:

By Dr. HAROLD T. HYMAN

WHAT TO DO BEFORE THE MEASLES ARRIVE

Here are the choices open to the conscientious parent and the informed physician when the problem of measles arises, as suggested in the first of these columns:

Let the disease run its course. In which case, the child faces an illness of two to three weeks with the possibilities of complicating bronchitis, pneumonia and brain involvement.

Request protective immunizations with the measles virus vaccine, soon to be made available to all physicians. Following vaccine injection, the child may be expected to have a very mild attack, lasting one or two days. There will be no complications. And preliminary investigations suggest that the immunity will be life - long just as in the case of recovery from an attack that has been permitted to run its natural course. This is called an artificially induced active immunity.

Investigate the possibility of obtaining the benefits of injections of measles modifier (gamma globulin) as soon as a known exposure occurs. Given in sufficient dose within the course of the first week following exposure, gamma globulin may prevent the disease entirely.

This has the obvious advantage of sparing the child any discomfort whatsoever. But it has the disadvantage that the immunity it provides is of short duration. Within a few weeks of this sort of passive immunization, the child is just as susceptible to attack as it was before the iniections were given.

However, when gamma globulin is given after the first week of exposure, that is to say in the second week of the period of incubation, the child may be expected to develop a mild measles attack. This bout of "modified measles" lasts but a few days. It is not, accompanied or followed by complications. And, since it combines active with passive immunization, it gives lifelong protection just like recovery from an infection that's been allowed to run its natural course.

Unfortuantely, supplies of gamma globulin are limited since it is a derivative of human blood plasma. And, in order that these limited supplies may be put to the best possible use, it has been agreed to confine protective injections of gamma globulin where the need is greatest. That is to say, for youngsters under the age of 2 years and for older children whose resistance has been lowered by some other disability. Such as heart trouble, rheumatic fever, asthma or some congenital deformity.

Now if you find all this confusing at a first reading, will you please save these two columns and study them again when you have free time and can concentrate on the information they are trying to convey? For, what you learn may save you and your children from weeks of discomfort at the very least. And this saving can best be obtained if you, the alert parent, take the initiative either before or just after exposure to the disease has occurred.

Hankerings

By HENRY McLEMORE

The first thing I did after reading that Nikita Khrushchev had taken up golf was to throw away my golf bag and shoes. (I had already thrown away my clubs when I learned the Fidel Castro had started playing the game.)

I do not want to run the risk, slight though it may be, of ever meeting either of these gentlemen in a tournament. Can you imagine how Khrushchev would react if his opponent happened to sink a 20 - foot putt on the 18th green to beat him? Or what Castro's revenge would be on the fellow who holed out from a trap?

Sweet as is victory, it is not worth a one - way ticket to the Steppes or a reclining pose against a jailhouse brick wall.

It is understandable, though, why Khrushchev and Castro should find the appeal of golf irresistible. It is a game that brings the worst out in a man, and never were there two men who enjoyed showing their worse selves more than the Russian and Cuban leaders.

Their tantrums in a sand trap, or when they lost their ball in the rough, would bring them overpowering delight. So would arguing with the chairman of the handicap committee. And being liars and cheats at heart, what good times they could have lying about their scores, improving their lies, and confiscating the property of others in the locker room when the attendant was away for a moment.

It would be taking one's life in one's hands to play with them, golf's language being what it is. A man would think twice before — three times, perhaps — before saying, "Oh, go ahead, Fidel. You shoot first." The chances are that Fidel would forget that he was on a golf course and reach for the sort of blasting iron he knows best.

It would not surprise me to read that Khrushchev had shot the lowest score of all time — a 52, say — for 18 holes. With his love for concessions he undoubtedly would concede himself all putts under 20 feet, or insist that his opponent grant them to him.

Wonder what's the name of the club where Khrushchev plays?

The "We'll Bury You Golf and Country Club," perhaps. Or the "Down with the UN and Up with the 100 Megaton Linds."

It must be a pretty place, though whatever its name.

Superbly landscaped with barbed wire, anti - tank obstructions, hidden but flowering microphones, its greens kept immaculate by bent old slave women, and with a clubhouse featuring hot and cold brainwashing rooms. What a restful place for a tyrant and his lackeys to relax and plot.

And think of the money the club bar must make, with vodka at ten rubles a shot, and with the club president knocking off a quart or two after each 18 holes.

But any game that Mr. K. plays, is a game to give up.

He could even make chess a noisy game.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — New York is a summer festival — it says that all over town. . . You are up early on a Sunday morning and even at that usually muted hour the street echoes to the snarls and whines of motor vehicles laden with less than festive people racing to get out of town before the thermometer once again hits 90 or more. . . It has been this way for 11 consecutive days, no rain, no cooling winds, nothing but sticky, clinging humidity laced with heat, or should it be heat laced with humidity. . . In any case, it is wearying and depressing. . . You decide that maybe you will put in a telephone call to Montevideo, Uruguay, and wish your startled bride the customary things one says to a girl on the occasion of her 18th wedding anniversary. . . You ask for the Overseas Operator, get the toll quotation and decide that you will send her a cable, instead. . . You can't send two girls to school in new clothes, pay the tuitions and place impulsive telephone calls to Uruguay on the same budget.

You pick up a large envelope of things she has sent you from Santiago, Chile, and Buenos Aires, Argentina, invitations to embassy dinners, invitations to presidential dinners, invitations to meet the American colony, plus a crytis, pencilled note to her from Helen Hayes, saying: "Darling Nancy . . . Tried to reach you twice in your room. Learned you were out. Was told you had acquired a sure cure for loneliness. I can't wait to see it. Call me in my room. Love, Helen H.". . . On the back, your girl has inked: "You'll know what it is when you see me in November."

When your twins get up for breakfast you ask them to read Miss Hayes' note, their mother's comment and what do they think? . . . One says: "Obviously she bought herself a Chilean or Peruvian jewel, probably an emerald. There is nothing like an emerald to poultice loneliness.". . . The other says: "I think she found some exotic garment, probably in or with fur, a kind that can't be found in the United States.". . And you decided that it is no more cosmic than a new hair-do. . . One of your daughters starts to laugh and says: "Well, there it is, a vest-pocket look at each of our characters. One immediately thinks of jewels, one of clothes and one of a coiffeur. This is the MOST materialistic family!"

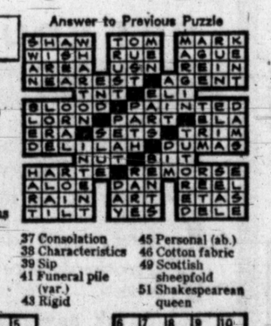

It is good that they are merry and laugh, for they not only miss her, but have one more day in New York before going back to school in Washington. . . They exhibition no fretfulness over that, a good, healthy sign of adjustment, or something. . . You try, once again, to reach Henry Hewes by telephone, to tell him that a situation concerning him has arisen in Texas and you want to be helpful. . . You find him in, awake and alert, and describe the problem and he says there is no real problem and that the man you mention is good enough for him for the job to be done and he will take it from there. . . You try to reach Harry Provence in Texas to tell him, find that he is in Colorado at a scientific congress, but you talk to lovely Frances, his wife, and she promises to pass the message on to him.

It is now well into the day, the thermometer has passed 90 degrees. . . You look out the window and see wilted, beaten people trudging slowly on the hot sidewalks and decide that the best thing to do is put on a pair of walking shorts and a thin shirt and keep indoors out of the sun . . . You pick up "The Carpetbaggers," because it is a thinly veiled Hollywood novel with readily identificable real people in it read 27 pages and put it down. . . It is inexcusably bawdy and frank in language and you decide you've had enough of that. . . One of the girls comes in and you say: "I've never forbidden you to read anything and I don't want to start now. I'd appreciate it if you don't read this.". . . She glances at the dust-jacket, shrugs and says: "That's all right with me, of course.". . . And you love her for being reasonable and not fractious.

The evening comes, finally, and a small, futile breeze comes up from the river . . . You turn on the radio and listen to the growingly alarming reports of gigantic Hurricane Carla and, at 9 o'clock, turn out the lights and go to sleep against getting up at 5 o'clock Monday morning.

Mexico's Press Raps Castro For Ignoring Notes

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The Mexican Press lashed out Tuesday at Red Cuba for "not even bothering to answer two protests" of the Mexican government.

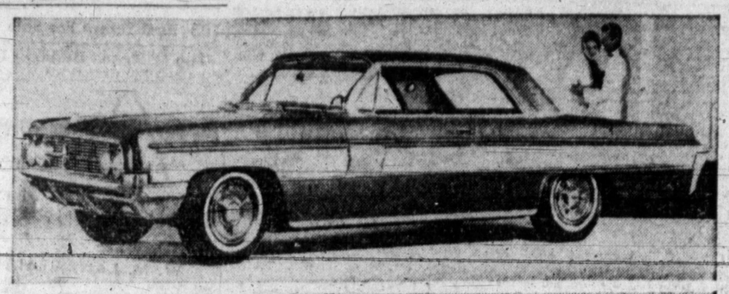

One of the protests was reportedly made by the Foreign Ministry for the recent assassination of Mexican diplomat Jesus Flores Aguirre in Havana.

Flores Aguirre was openly helping anti-Castro refugees get permits to leave Cuba. Reliable sources said he was shot and killed by Castro's secret service while taking a Cuban to asylum in the Mexican embassy in Havanna.

The second nose-thumbing from Castro, newspaper reported, was his failure to reply to Mexico's formal request for the extradition of airplane - hijacker Albert Charles Cadon.

Cadon forced a Pan American Airways pilot at gunpoint to fly a U.S. bound jet to Havana, minutes after the takeoff from Mexico City.

Although Castro returned the purloined plane and passengers to the U.S., Cadon remained in Havana where he was reportedly "detained."

A flashing high-performance addition to the Oldsmobile line of cars for 1962 is this Starfire coupe with its distinctive band of brush-textured anodized aluminum extending from front to rear. Luxuriously and tastefully appointed, it offers the same color, trim and mechanical features as Oldsmobile's spectacularly-received Starfire convertible. Included as standard equipment on the new 345-horsepower Starfires are front bucket seats, a sports-type power console, an even smoother 1962 4-S Hydra-Matic transmission, self-adjusting power brakes, and dual exhausts. Genuine leather is extensively used in the car's interior.

Corporation Head Fined, Sentenced

BROWNSVILLE (UPI) — Gordon E. Van Liew, president of Cal-Tex Juice Corporation of Houston, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to two five-year suspended sentences in federal prison yesterday.

The sentence was handed down after Federal Judge Reynaldo Garza rejected a motion for a new trail. Van Liew was convicted on two counts of perjury by a federal court jury last month in Houston.

The perjury charges grew out of testimony he gave in a government case alleging his firm falsely labeled citrus juices as pure when sugar and water had been added to canned concentrate.

Two other officials of the firm, vice president Dell Van Liew of Edinburg and secretary-treasurer Arthur Becker of Houston, were found not guilty on similar perjury charges.

Pipe Line Group In Safety Meet

LEFORS (Spl) — Employees and special guests of the Texas Pipe Line Co. met in Pampa for a safety meeting recently.

"Safety Meeting Dividends," the safety subject of the month was presented by E. E. Young. He included a discussion on tips on home burglary prevention.

J. W. Tynes presented the safety suggestion bulletin, entitled, "Good Old Days."

S. R. Morton presented the off-the-job safety bulletin entitled, "Help Make School Days Safe Days."

Visiting speakers complimented the local company on their safety record and added interesting incidents.

The gas-saving "4" with Pontiac Punch!

PONTIAC TRIGGERS ANOTHER TEAM OF WINNERS. Every one is a fancy mover. Convertible. Sedan. Wagon. Two Coupes. Choice of 110, 115, 120 or 140 h.p., gas-saving 4-cylinder engine. A couple of extra cost options: Put on a 4-barrel carb and get 166 h.p. The citizen who wants even more can go for an aluminum V-8 option that pulls 185 horses.

TEMPEST HAS A FRONT ENGINE/REAR TRANSMISSION! (The only American car with this feature.) It gives Tempest equal weight at every wheel. It has biting traction on the bricks or in the mud. Tires last longer. Brakes take hold like they mean it. The front floor is practically flat (no big hump in the middle). Tempest seats six—easily!

TEMPEST HAS INDEPENDENT SUSPENSION—FRONT AND REAR! Each wheel (and it's a big 15" one) moves up and down independently of the opposite wheel. There's no solid axle in the rear. Result: Firm ride on pavement, soft ride in the boondocks! Swing axles in the rear help the Tempest to carve out clean, firm curves.

PLUSH NEW SERIES—THE LE MANS (LUH-MAHNZ). The Tempest Convertible and Coupe are out this year in special custom trim. Call them the Le Mans! They both have sports-type bucket seats, full carpeting, floor mounted stick shift, acceleration rear axle option—no extra cost. Extra cost option: 4-speed gearbox. Take one out—it's a going machine!

Drive America's only front engine/rear transmission car... it's balanced like none of the others!
