

Warrick Feed Store Opens 100,000 Bushel Grain Elevator

The Warrick Feed Store, owned and operated by Velman Warrick and Lawrence Warrick, this week completed its new four-unit grain elevator, and wheat from Collingsworth County's 1950 crop is pouring into it.

The grain storage bins were designed and planned by the brothers, to give county farmers the most modern elevator facilities, either for private, public or government storage in the lower Panhandle.

Earl Keller is manager of Warrick Feed Store.

The four units have 100,000 bushel capacity.

The elevator leg, which raises the grain to the top of the bins, was designed and built by Harlan Foster of Hollis, Oklahoma. The leg is 110 feet tall, although 20 feet of this extends beneath the ground level. The elevator belt, with 444 cups, can carry 5,000 bushels of wheat into the bins an hour.

"You can see that unloading a truck-load of wheat or other grain is just a matter of minutes," the brothers said.

A 15-horsepower motor operates the belt in the leg. It is enclosed at the top of the elevator shaft.

Twenty-Five Cars Wheat Bought Here to Date

Twenty-five cars of wheat had been bought by Wellington dealers from growers of the county, they reported Wednesday morning.

The bulk of this has come from the southeast part of the county, which always matures earliest.

Reports of good yields are coming in. Woody Wood had an average of 28 bushels per acre, Earl Keller of Warrick Feed Store reported. This was measured bushels on measured acres, he said.

There is some cutting north of Salt Fork in the Lutie and Aberdeen communities.

Wheat farther north and north-west, which was not damaged by the hail Saturday, is still too green for cutting, buyers here said.

Rev. L. C. Reece To Hold Meeting At Christian Church

Rev. L. C. Reece, evangelist, will conduct an evangelistic meeting at the First Christian Church, commencing June 17, and continuing for two weeks, the Rev. Archie Gray, pastor, announced.

Rev. Reece is a well known preacher among the Christian churches of Texas and he is an outstanding evangelist. Rev. Reece recently ministered to the Southside Christian Church in San Antonio, Texas. He resigned early this year to enter the evangelistic field and has done a great work in the several meetings he has already held. Rev. Gray said.

Rev. Reece is the father of Mrs. Rayburn Holton who resided in Wellington until a short time ago. Friends are cordially invited to attend as many of these services as possible. Meetings start at 8:00 o'clock every night except Saturday.

Gribble With Pontiac Motors

L. E. Gribble, who received his bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Texas early this month, has accepted a place in the experimental research department of the Pontiac Division of General Motors, Pontiac, Michigan, and will begin work there July 1.

Mr. Gribble is the son of Judge and Mrs. Luther E. Gribble of Wellington.

At present, Mr. Gribble is visiting his parents here. He will leave June 19, flying to Michigan to join his wife, who is visiting her parents, Major and Mrs. Dan O'Madigan, of Bloomfield Hills, a suburb of Pontiac.

Mr. Gribble was born and reared in Wellington. He graduated from Wellington High School in 1942, after an outstanding career. He attended John Tarleton Agricultural College the following fall, where he played football and was a member of the rifle squad.

From January, 1944 to May 1946, he served in the United States Army and was stationed in the Marianas and Saipan. Upon being released from service, he returned to the University of Texas, and in January 1949 he received his bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering. He has had approximately a year and a half of post-graduate work.

Student technical societies of which he was a member are the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the Ramshorn Association, and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. His social fraternity was Sigma Chi, and he was a member of the Panhandle Club.

For approximately two years while a student in the University, Mr. Gribble served as a student assistant, teaching laboratory work in the engineering department.

For the last three semesters, he was on the University Honor Roll, and was one of those recognized at the Honors Day, an honor reserved for the upper three percent of the class.

In his new position, Mr. Gribble's work will be in the engine section of the Pontiac plant, where he will do testing and design.

Judge and Mrs. Gribble went from here to attend their son's graduation.

TO HOLD REVIVAL

The Rev. L. C. Reece of San Antonio will conduct a revival at the First Christian Church, beginning June 17. Rev. Reece is the father of Mrs. Raburn Holton.

Baptist Hold Church Wide Picnic Friday

The all-church picnic of the First Baptist Church in Wellington will be held at the Pan-Fork Baptist Encampment Friday afternoon and evening, June 16, the Rev. Howard Jones, pastor, has announced.

Children will leave the church at 3:00 p.m., and will enjoy an afternoon of swimming and games. Other members will get to the encampment in time for the barbecue which will begin at 7:00 p.m., and continue until everyone is served.

An attendance of around 500 is expected.

Those not familiar with the location of the Pan Fork Encampment should turn east at the first road after crossing the Salt Fork Bridge. Signs will direct them along the dirt road to the encampment ground.

Since this road becomes difficult to travel in wet weather, Rev. Jones said that if it should rain, the picnic will be held at Ellison Park in Wellington, and if it is raining at the time, it will be moved to the church.

"We urge all members of the church to attend. They are privileged to bring guests, and we feel that this is going to be one of the high spots of the church year," the pastor said.

Census Release Shows County Has Lost 1,219; City Gains

Census figures for Wellington, Dodson, and Collingsworth County, announced today by Walter Shaller, district census official, fell considerably below the estimated population, even that made after the count had been completed and it was known that the county's original sights had been too high.

Wellington has 3,669 population, a gain of 361 over the 1940 count. Dodson has a count of 337, a drop of 20 from the 357 listed in 1940.

But Collingsworth County as a whole lost 1,219 persons during the 10 year period, with a population of 9,122 now compared to 10,331 in 1940.

The count for Quail, Samnorwood and Dozier was not given by Mr. Shaller at this time.

The revised guess of Wellington's population was around 4,200 to 4,500 for the incorporated section, and not counting the residents

Mr. Rogers said that he will open his campaign in a radio speech over Radio Station KGNC, Friday, June 16, from 7:00 to 7:30 p.m.

Junior Dukes Play First Home Game Friday

The Junior Dukes will play for home-town fans for the first time Friday night, June 16, when they meet the Shamrock town team, John Lee, sponsor, has announced.

The game will be called at 8:30 p.m., and the public is urged to come out and support these home youngsters.

The Junior Dukes will not play Sunday, since a Duke of Wellington game is scheduled here.

The probable starting lineup will include Lindel Norman as catcher; Raymond Neely, center field; Ted O'Neil, short-stop; Virgil Owens, third base; Walt O'Neil, second base; Tim Hatch, first base; Robert Fulton, left field; and Walter Johnson, right field. W. P. Spillman started in the recent scrimmage game, and is equally good on the pitchers mound and in the outfield.

Strong support will be given by Burl Brim, Donald Joe Terry, Gene Moore, Newell Van Pelt and Welch, any one of whom could start the game.

The Junior Dukes scrimmaged with the Black Cats, managed by Earl Shamblee, last week and won over a Cat team that consisted mainly of second and third stringers until the last few innings, when the two teams were about evenly matched.

Present plans are to scrimmage the Black Cats at least once a week, and the public is cordially invited to come out to Marian Airpark and watch these practice games.

"We are asking for the support of the people. We are not asking for donations," Mr. Lee declared.

"We have a team of young boys who ought to be playing baseball, and we are getting them ready to be the regular Duke players in a year or two."

A similar team is being formed at Memphis to understudy the Memphis Owls of the Red River Valley League. Tentative games with this team, one there and one at home, are set for next week.

C of C Seeks to Stop Transient Solicitors

Directors of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce, meeting Monday night, took action to stop solicitation of money from Wellington residents by out of town individuals or groups. This includes also transient salesmen who have been coming into Wellington in increasingly large numbers in recent months, many of whom peddle merchandise that is of questionable or inferior quality.

In the future, all salesmen or solicitors must be cleared through the Chamber of Commerce office in the County Court House, and Wellington business men and housewives are urged to co-operate by asking such solicitors for their letter of approval from the C of C, and by reporting their presence if the solicitor or salesman does not have a clearance.

Placards have been ordered by the Chamber of Commerce with the wording "Absolutely No Contributions to Any Solicitor, or purchases from Any Salesman unless approved by the Wellington Chamber of Commerce." These will be given without cost to every business house and home upon request. The cards for the residential are small in size. It is suggested by Chamber of Commerce officials that all cards be displayed where they can be seen by solicitors and salesmen.

It is pointed out by the C of C directors that this action is not aimed at local organizations conducting fund-raising campaigns, or local groups, such as school classes selling advertising. Nor does it eliminate legitimate salesmen or solicitors, for the Chamber of Commerce will investigate each case and if it seems to be a legitimate enterprise, approval will be given.

The whole action is to stop questionable solicitors and salesmen who appear to be taking a considerable amount of money out of the county at present.

Rainfall Up to Six Inches in Area Reported

Rain and hail swept across the western part of Collingsworth County Saturday afternoon, and in a half-hour period wiped out crops washed fields, broke terraces and ruined roads.

There is no way of estimating the amount of the damage. It is believed that half of the crops north of Salt Fork, and in the western part of the county south of Salt Fork, will have to be replanted.

Wellington received only .53 inches of rain Saturday evening, but as much as six inches was reported in points north of the river.

Hail and rain accounted for the damage through the west part of the county. Another section north of Dodson had all crops destroyed by the hail. Heavy rains also fell in that area, Floyd Teutsch of the First State Bank reported.

The worst of the rain and hail storm swept from north to south across the county, veering a little to the east, and cutting a swath from two to three miles wide.

The damage started in the Pak-a community in Wheeler County, came down through Collingsworth County to the Abra and Dozier communities, continued south across Salt Fork River through Marella and Quail, and on south to Rolla. Most of the crops in this area were completely destroyed.

The hail was spotted in other parts of the county, with considerable hail loss reported north of Dodson.

The rain was heaviest north of Salt Fork River, and damage east of Highway 83 was from rain. Most of the cotton and weed were washed out or covered up, but the wheat and barley appears to have little damage.

Wood Coleman of Dozier reported that the storm hit that place about 5:00 p.m. and was over by 5:30. His rain gauge recorded 3.3 inches of rain and 7 more fell during Saturday night.

Hail knocked all the leaves off the cotton in that vicinity, he said, leaving little stubs sticking up. Alfalfa was cut off at the ground and washed into ricks. Only stubs are left of the feed that was up, although there is some of this that may come out.

Mr. Coleman estimated that two thirds of the wheat was knocked down and the ground is covered with the grain that was knocked out. This wheat was practically ready to cut and will not straighten up.

Sudan, knee high and ready for stock to be turned in on it, was broken off at the top of the ground, Mr. Coleman said.

Among the farmers of his area with whom Mr. Coleman had talked or had heard reports from their farms were Pat Bradley, Bully Tate, Hugh Grogan, C. E. Strong, Frank Coleman, Leroy Bell, Alex Coleman and Gus Gooch.

East of Dozier the hail grew lighter, although cotton and feed just coming up was washed away.

In the northwest part of the county, at the Hess Ranch, there was just a good rain, Jake Hess reported.

Pat Bradley of Quail, commissioner of Precinct 3, said the damage was from four to five miles wide in that area. Affected were the Marella, Quail, Buck Creek and Rolla communities.

"The rain fell fast, and it not only got the crops but it damaged the land. Damage to fences was the worst in several years. Debris drifted up on top of the bridges, several inches thick in some places. "We didn't lose any bridges, but they wouldn't carry all the water that ran. Some not more than one-third of the water," Mr. O'Hair said.

Mrs. Tom Crabtree said that farmers coming to the Quail Mercantile estimated the fall variously from two to five inches. Water stood in a big lake on the land just east of Quail for several hours. This is sandy land.

It is believed that an average of three inches fell over the Quail community as a whole Saturday afternoon.

It is Not Meant for the Church to Beg

Some pertinent thoughts on religion came during this past week from a distinguished churchman who spent his boyhood in Wellington.

Now conducting the first revival in many, many years at a Dallas Presbyterian Church, Dr. J. Hoytt Boles, of Denton, has brought standing room only crowds with such pointed statements as:

"The church is not meant to be a mendicant organization, begging for pennies and nickels from innocent children and insecure old women."

"... The church is big business for God Almighty," he continued, "It is not to be supported by bingo games and oyster suppers, but by God's own plan a minimum of one seventh of one's time and on tenth of one's income."

Now the Presbyterian Church is one not given to revivalism, and the series of services which Dr. Boles is holding in Dallas is one of six revivals which he says to the people of that city could conduct each year. What he is having will be taken to heart by all church people. The membership vows of most denominations say in effect that the member shall support the church with his means as well as his time and his prayers, but too often this is not followed very closely in practice.

Many of the older residents here will remember Hoytt Boles as a youth, when the family lived at the corner of El Paso and Eight Streets. That was about the time he planned to study law. Now 43 years of age, a stocky, mustached clergyman with a stentorian voice, he is arguing the case for religion, so effectively that his church has made him Texas field representative for the boards of National missions and Christian education of his denomination.

So far as this writer remembers, Hoytt Boles has never spoken at a public meeting in the town where he lived as a boy. Beyond a doubt he has something to say that is worth listening to. Might it not be well for some group or organization looking for a speaker to bring this distinguished churchman back to Wellington?

Texas' Plight is Texas Fault

This is your own doing, Texas!

When the United States Supreme Court Monday struck down historic barriers set up for the sole purpose of making unwise miscegenation impracticable, it acted politically in the conviction that the Solid South would vote Democratic whether the party is New Deal or Old Deal.

When the court declared that Texas had no title to its tidelands regardless of any pledge the United States might have made to forward annexation, when it held that other sovereign states had no ownership of their own soil, the court remembered the ballots of 1932-36-40-44-48 and was convinced that they would not change.

The law is what the court says it is and the court today is caught in a frenzy of New Deal thinking that pays only lip service to the constitution. The court rules as it thinks the people will vote.

And the court can not be blamed for holding that you think as you vote.

Don't blame the Supreme Court, blame yourself.

You wrote the three Monday decisions, two on segregation and one on the tidelands, when you wrote your ballot in 1948 and the sixteen years before that.

If the three decisions represent your own beliefs, there is no reason, of course, for you to regret. But if they are contrary to everything in which you do believe, again, don't blame the court, blame yourself.

It is the Roosevelt-Truman court that decided the tidelands issue, Monday.

What one court has undone for another, still another court can upset for this one.

You still have a chance in 1950 and in 1952. You may not have many more.

The necessity for the United States to defend the land and to handle international affairs is not enough to transfer property rights in the marginal sea from Texas to the United States.

The needs of defense and foreign affairs alone can not transfer ownership of an ocean bed from a state to a federal government any more than they could transfer iron ore under uplands from state to federal ownership.

Procession

Now begins the real procession of beauty. Memorial Day, when the flower of youth is immortalized, has given way to the flowers of the land. Petunias are in bloom. Hollyhock brightens the back fences. Cannas were never redder. A few pansies are left, after yeoman service since January, but they are giving way to vineas and pinks of a hundred kinds. The frail, pink blooms of mimosa spread over Bermuda lawns and fall at the slightest breeze, fluttering to earth like miniature parachutes of color. Gardenias that survived the cold lend a prophetic fragrance of early summer. In the country, the elm is fully leaved; the pecan, ash and oak is splendid in green. Blackeyed Susans and Indian blankets cover the untiled fields and spread over the gullies to the road's edge. Perch are biting.

It's a fine time to be alive. Gather up the kids, fill a basket with food and go to see it all. Thank God if you have eyes. Develop the appreciation He gave you.

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note: The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek has some more opinions on television, his letter this week reveals again.

Dear editor: I must have television on my mind, since my letter to you last week was on that subject, but yesterday I found another newspaper which turned up out here which had another angle on television and its effect on farming.

According to this article, "Television is going to stem the tide of humanity moving from farms to the big cities — a flow of residents which has almost depopulated some farmland areas. Television takes to the farm the one big luxury of city life, entertainment, and that alone will make many farm residents happy with their lot."

Now I ain't familiar with much land goin' to waste, and while I ain't familiar with many farmers who have thrown up their hands and moved to the city just to be near the kind of entertainment I understand you can get on a television set, there may be some who have done it.

But if you ask me, folks who leave the farm for the city don't leave for the entertainment values so much as the fact you don't drive a tractor up one row and down another in a city, don't work from sunup to sundown. While I have heard farmers say they're givin' up farmin' in order to get the advantages of the city, generally it works out it ain't the cultural advantages of the city they're interested in so much as the shade. It's them electric fans and air-conditioning in the summer and steam heat in the winter that does the trick.

Nope, when a man makes up his mind to quit farmin', ain't no television set invented yet that'll hold him there.

Farmin' is a way of life, a fight between you and a plow and the soil, all by yourself, and is probably responsible for more bankers, teachers, lawyers, doctors, county agents, and store clerks than any other occupation.

Faith in Christ Means More Than Believing Miracles

One of the most valuable lessons we can learn from a study of the Bible is found in John 6:35—"I am the bread of life; he that cometh to me shall not hunger, and he that believeth on me shall never thirst."

It is this Golden Text which should warn us against committing an error in the matter of faith. Take, for example, the two miracles of the feeding of the hungry multitudes. The first was of 5000 people, and the second was of a similar feeding of a multitude which had been for three days with Jesus.

Their interest, as Jesus Himself reminded them, was not upon a high plane. "Ye seek me," He said, "not because ye did eat of the loaves and were filled."

In a somewhat different way, but in much the same spirit, we may make the same mistake. Our interest and attention may be so concentrated on the physical wonderment of the miracle as to miss altogether its spiritual meaning and significance.

The miracles, as is frequently pointed out, occupy a strange and limited place in the New Testament records. They never dominate the story or take the place of the

THE INFILTRATION DANGER

One of the ever-present dangers to American freedom is the mistaken belief among so many of our people that our freedom-giving institutions are too strong to be come critically affected by infiltration of a few Communists or Socialists. The facts of history reject such a belief but it nevertheless prevails. Most Americans simply cannot accept the idea that a few Communist "cells" or a few Fabian Socialist "nests" could gain any real crippling control over our institutions.

But actually that is one of the basic secrets of the radical zealots — small and relatively unnoticed in number, cunning in strategies, powerful in influence. The public is lulled into a false sense of security; and then one day the people awake to find their national institutions controlled by the once insignificant little handful. A reading of the classics of Communism or a study of the steps to power engineered by the English Fabian Socialists clearly shows that by their own designs these destroyers of individual freedom are never more than a handful compared to the population of the nations they sabotage.

THE CZECH DOWNFALL. Czechoslovakia is the classic example of the Communist technique of conquering through infiltration. The Russian-controlled Czech Communists poisoned President Eduard Benes' mind with the idea that a Socialist economic system could be operated within the framework of Czechoslovakia's freedom-giving national government. Dr. Christopher Daniels, the distinguished British physician and business man now lecturing in America, makes the following provocative statement: "Any movement that can overwhelm England is capable of overwhelming any other nation in the world today."

Never Mentioned "Socialism" John Flynn's "The Road Ahead," published in the February "Readers Digest," emphasizes the English Fabian Socialists were so successful because so few became so politically powerful via the infiltration route. "This Fabian Society," he says, "never had more than 4,000 members. Yet it was this small group that made the whole amazing triumph of socialism possible in England. He said the Socialist clique in England established the Labor Party and captured the support of millions by hiding its ultimate objective.

"The Fabians' cunning strategy," Flynn writes, "was to bring on socialism without mentioning the odious word—to offer to the voters one small part of the Socialist machine at a time without the Socialist label on it; to smuggle social fabric without arousing the suspicions of the masses." Whatever else may be said for it, Flynn concludes, "it was a sneak attack."

In America Too

Flynn says the Fabian Socialist handful instituted their scheme to capture the British government many years ago when Great Britain was one of the mightiest nations on earth. "It was into this immense and virile (nation)," he says, "that this small coterie of Socialist doctrinaires thrust themselves. Nine years later (their) Labor Party had representatives in the British cabinet." By 1949 the Fabian "handful" ruled supreme in England. Of the 390 Socialist members in Parliament, 230 were members of the Fabian Society, and 41 Fabians were in the Cabinet.

The counterpart of England's Fabian Society is now operating in America. There can be no question about the similarity of some of our "step by step" congressional measures and proposals and the ones which became the entering wedges for conversion of the truly great nation of Great Britain into a third rate, Socialist state. A striking example is the socialized medicine proposals. The English Fabians played the "health" issue strongly. It was the "bait," the "come-on." When they had hooked the people with it, they decided that transportation, coal and other resources had a bearing on "health" and should be socialized. Will our ignorance and lack of vigilance permit the "few" to get a strangle hold on our nation?

Eli Wolf with a small metal "Single Vehicle Tax" issued by the City of Chicago in 1909. Eli found the tag behind the seat of a used car he bought at his Used Car Lot, and is wondering who it belonged to, and how after so many years it happened to be behind the seat of a car that in comparison is new. The number is 48087, and he is wondering if he can have the tag traced and see to whom it was originally issued. He is also wondering if the "Single Vehicle" means car, buggy, bicycle or what.

Mrs. Herbert Dysart of Plainview calling long distance to say that The Leader to her mother, Mrs. J. O. Wood, isn't coming regularly, and could the missing copies

Rev. Howard Jones saying the telephone number of the Baptist Parsonage is 484, and his post office box and car license both No. 489. Recently in Dallas, he placed a long distance call to Wellington, and asked the operator to charge it to No. 489 here. A minute later he remembered. "But by the time I got it straightened out, I think central thought I was trying to put something over on someone," he said.

They stopped first at her brother's, the Elzie White's, who went with them to the Peck White's. What happened when they walked in? Jimmie fainted.

County Judge R. L. Templeton telling this Tall Texas Tale from his RCAF days, and which was brought to mind by his recent reunion with a flying buddy from Ontario: A tall, slender, typical Texan from Pittsburg, Texas, was serving with them in the early days of the war, when they were training with the Royal Canadian Air Force. To him, Texas was the best and the biggest, till one day, a flyer from Michigan spoke up. "Well, there's one thing Texas hasn't got the biggest of, and that's Lake Michigan. It's the biggest of the Great Lakes, and the state of Michigan straddles it." "Why, son," the Texan replied, "we could hide Lake Michigan in the corner of one of our mirages."

How SMOOTH can a ride be?

THAT'S a question well worth answering before you settle on your next automobile.

For what fun is there—what thrill—in a car that is prisoner to the city streets, slowed down by roads a Buick is built to take in stride?

So we'd like to show you just how much smoothness your money can buy. How levelly you float over cobbles and car tracks—over rutty gravel and wavy black-top—in this stunning traveler.

The car will be any Buick you prefer—SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER. You can name the place—pick a spot or a stretch you know so that you can measure Buick's smoothness against your own experience—and we'll promise you a new sensation in riding comfort.

The time can be any time you want to arrange with your Buick dealer—who is ready to show with actual figures that "if you can afford a new car you can afford a Buick."

See him, will you, and treat yourself to some real comfort?

Only Buick has Dynaflo[®] and with it goes:

HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD forefront, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

YOUR KEY TO GREATER VALUE

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT

This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

It's the best—

Electric Cooking has advantages for all!

Better for you

FAST . . . electric "speed-units" now cook faster than any other method. They bring food to cooking temperature with unbelievable speed, and cook it at just the right temperature for the most flavorful and nutritious results.

COOL . . . the heat goes directly into the food and not into the air and kitchen. The days of hot, stuffy kitchens are over when you use flameless, clean electric cooking.

SIMPLE . . . as turning on your kitchen light. A flick of the switch and you're ready to cook. Baking, broiling, roasting, surface, deep-well, and pressure cooking are all equally simple.

AUTOMATIC . . . you've got a thrill coming when you can take the afternoon off, and have your supper ready for serving when you return. Electric cooking's automatic timing will "chef" for you, turning your oven on and off at just the right time, while you are enjoying a game of Bridge or Canasta.

Better for your home

CLEAN . . . you have freedom from combustion. No smoke, soot, fumes, or odors can come out of an electric coil to make your kitchen walls dark and dingy. This clean, flameless heat helps keep pots and pans bright, too.

CONVENIENT . . . once you cook electrically, you'll wonder why you stayed so long with horse-and-buggy methods, as old-fashioned as flame lamps.

MODERN . . . electricity is as dependable a servant for cooking as it is for lighting your home. Yes, today, the modern way to cook is the "electric way."

LONG LIFE . . . your electric range is built to be a permanent part of your home. You have a right to expect—and you will get—many, many long years of cooking pleasure.

Better for your family

SAFE . . . no matches, no fire, no fumes to bring hazards into your kitchen. Since electric cooking is flameless, no oxygen is removed and the air is not over charged with nitrogen to sweat up the walls.

HEALTHFUL . . . less water is used when cooking electrically; foods cook in their own juices, retain garden-fresh flavor and food values which are so often lost and carried off with the fumes of combustion in other methods of cooking.

ECONOMICAL . . . there's no wasted heat with electricity. Faster than ever, electric cooking gets the job done quicker and low-cost electric cooking rates bring operating costs way down.

MORE FREEDOM . . . your electric range requires less attention from you in the kitchen; its automatic features free you to devote more time to your family, more time to the pleasures of life. Its gleaming porcelain is so easy to keep clean...you'll be out of your kitchen in a jiffy after mealtime.

In Memory of Our Husband and Father
THE EMPTY CHAIR

Each night when we return at home,
To quiet rooms where we are alone,
We sit beside his empty chair,
And make believe that he is there.

So lovingly we hold his hand,
And brush aside a truant strand
Of golden hair now touched with gray,
The way we did the other day.

Sometimes in the silent hush,
We can see his eyes of blue look straight at us,
And hear his murmur soft and low,
Words of love long, long ago.

What God has done must be the best,
For soon we too shall be at rest,
And there in some sweet Holy land,
We'll walk together, hand in hand.

— Mrs. John Trimble and children

Rocket Musicians At NTSC Clinic

Six members of the Skyrocket band are attending the Summer Band Clinic at North Texas State College, Denton, for a two-weeks period of intensive instruction.

The group includes Jocelyn Wells, Jeanne Drummond, Donald Shoff, Jerry Nix, Benny Bob Graves, and James Frederick Le-Derer.

Rufus Johnson, director of the Rocket Band, is attending NTSC this summer, working toward his master's degree, and is with the group.

Band members from over the entire state are attending, and some towns are sending an entire band or chorus.

The boys and girls are taught music appreciation, theory, and other phases of band and chorus work.

Climax of the clinic will be the massed band concerts, when all the boys and girls attending will participate as members of a band or chorus.

Taking the Rocket musicians to Denton were Mrs. Darwin Nix and Mrs. Morris Wells.

Rain, Hail -

Mrs. E. L. Rankin, Leader correspondent at Dozier, reported: "The rain here Saturday evening and night measured but three inches in the gauge, but from the amount of water that came out of the fields, we think it could have been more."

"Farmers were out early Sunday morning taking an inventory of what is left of their crops. Many report a complete loss and a few who had a good stand up report 50 per cent loss. High wind and a considerable amount of hail accompanied the rain."

"Abra community seemed to have been harder hit by the storm than Dozier and vicinity."

Mrs. Theo Parker of Samnorwood reported Saturday night that the rain measured two inches there, but that farmers farther south reported more, and the rain west of Samnorwood was much heavier.

Gene Ezell reported three inches in the Plymouth community.

Mrs. C. W. Fritts, Leader correspondent in that area, wrote: "A young flood fell Saturday afternoon. On the Plymouth Flat 3.20 inches fell in a short time, while further north it was still heavier, varying from 5 to 6 inches."

"It is safe to say that half the cotton will have to be replanted. A good deal of hail fell in the area around John Morgan. Much of the cotton has already been planted twice."

Mrs. G. D. Thomas, Lillie correspondent, where the land is sandy, wrote:

"Some of the farmers in Lillie community are beginning to plant their crop over since the big rain Saturday night when three inches fell."

"There is still lots of cotton that won't have to be planted over."

Monty Mitchell of Salt Fork reported three inches of rain. While it ruined many crops in this area, Mr. Mitchell reports that his were not covered up. He believes this is because his cotton was not planted very deep and the beds are wide.

Water stood in lakes in this area.

A considerable amount of rye in the area appeared to be blown down.

East of Lutie, through the Aberdeen, Roundup and Needwood communities, from two to three inches of rain were reported. Jim Light of Aberdeen said his cotton and feed would have to be replanted, and P. E. Starr also reported damages to crops on his place in that area. Farther east, Bill Hill reported that he would have to replant all his feed, but although his cotton was damaged some, he intended to leave it.

Damage to the roads was extremely heavy, County Judge R. L. Templeton reported. Two bridges were lost in Precinct Four, south of Salt Fork, and that precinct north of the river bore the brunt of the damage.

Over much of the county, the commissioners had just finished working the roads.

A dam on Long Dry Creek, which starts near Lela, broke in Wheeler County and the floodwaters carried out seven bridges on that creek, which flows into Elm Creek.

One culvert was washed out in the Shinnery community, however, all bridges and culverts were intact on the Cook Creek road north of there.

A dike along two farms north of Rolla broke and severely damaged that road.

None of the county's larger bridges was lost.

The Commissioners Court in session Monday borrowed $6,000 from the Wellington State Bank for emergency road repair, but Judge Templeton said this will only begin to make the repairs. The full extent of the damage is not known, he said.

Glenn Director of First National

Election of a new director and hiring a new employee for the First National Bank was announced Wednesday morning, June 14, by R. D. Wiley, president.

John D. Glenn, cashier of the bank, was elected a director to replace the late M. F. Hunter. This election meeting was held Tuesday.

Mr. Glenn is the son of the late Charley Glenn, who founded the First National and was associated with it for many years. Mr. Glenn began working in the bank more than 20 years ago, and has held the position of cashier for several years.

Miss Lennie Lou Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman, begins working in the bank Thursday morning, June 15.

A graduate of Wellington high school, she has completed her work for a bachelor of business administration degree from Abilene Christian College.

Norwood Students To Get Last Shots

All Samnorwood students who took diphtheria shots under the school immunization program are asked to be at the Samnorwood School Friday, June 16, at 1:30 p.m. for the last shot, Mrs. Bernice Welch, special teacher for the school, has announced.

Approximately 600 children received 2,000 shots of which 500 were for smallpox immunization; about 600 for typhoid; about 250 for diphtheria or the diphtheria-whooping cough combination. These vaccines were furnished by the State Health Department.

About 700 tuberculosis Patch tests were put on and from these, six positive reactions were found.

Plans are being made for this health service to become a permanent part of the educational program, and cumulative health cards are being set up.

"The committee was enthusiastic over the program and appreciated the splendid co-operation of the parents, students and school faculties," Mrs. Duncan said.

Schools participating were Quail, Samnorwood, Dodson and Lone Mound.

Roping Club Opens Season

The Wellington Rodeo Association has opened its summer season and roping sessions will be held each Tuesday and Friday nights, Cameron Beam, president, has announced.

"The brahmas are fat and sassy and ready to be roped," he declared.

The ropings will begin about 8:00 p.m. The public address system has been worked over, and spectators can not only know who is roping, but his time and other information. Those wishing to may remain in their cars, or if they wish may sit in the bleachers at the arena.

"We've run the calves a few times, and there's been lots of interest," Mr. Beam said.

Matched ropings will be scheduled later in the summer.

The Wellington Rodeo Association is composed of nine members, Mr. Beam, Fleet Pruden, Bill Towns, Ed Smith, Guy Bell, Paul Bell, John Holton, Guy Clay and Ben Hurst. The ropings are open to any performer at a nominal fee, however, and some of the top non-member ropers so far this season have been J. W. Kromer and Kenneth Kromer of Vinson; Pete Melton of Lutie; the Johnson brothers of Samnorwood and Reese Norman of Wellington.

Girls Softball Team Organized

A girls softball team has been organized for Wellington this summer and in the first game of the season defeated the Mangum girls 16 to 6.

Potty Sisk is coach.

The girls will play the colored girls softball team Wednesday night, June 14, at 8:30 p.m., at the Midway Diamond.

Girls on the Wellington team are Viola Sisk, Goldie Jones, Joyce McPherson, Nan Mauldin, Patsy Baird, Jean Brown, Lena Fay Allred, LaVelle Robinson, Jo Evelyn Godbey, Gaylia Needham, Nell Hurst and Evelyn Tarver.

On the colored team, coached by Earl Shamblee, are Corene Washington, Priscilla Jackson, Verlene Jackson, Vera Mae Bishop, Helen Randon, Frances Bishop, Ruby Bishop and Gladys McCollum.

Quail FHA to Craterville Park

The Quail F. H. A. girls had their annual encampment at Craterville Park, Cache, Oklahoma, on June 6, 7 and 8 with twenty-one attending.

The program for camp was recreation, consisting of swimming, skating, hiking, sight-seeing, and rides in the amusement park.

Those attending were: Jo Blevins, Barbara Davis, Betty Duckworth, Pauline Smith, Jo Helen White, Eugene Black, Annie Mae Souder, Nancy Jett, Verna Sue Adams, Hettie Joyce Baggett, Jeannell Lacy, Reba O'Hair, Virginia Miller, Fern Neeley, Ellabell Wilson, Mrs. Kidron Mitchell, Mike Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Parker and Lloyd and Wayne Parker.

This hidden talent was discovered during the vacation bible school which is being sponsored by the First Baptist Church in Wellington. In the intermediate department a very talented group of young boys and girls were found, and on request of the Lutie Baptist Church members they have agreed to bring the special music for their worship service Sunday evening.

Two of their favorite songs are, "Is It Well," and "My God Is Real."

Members of the choir are as follows: In the soprano section: Lucile Nash, Bobbie Lee Bishop, Charlie Jones, Myralin Ellis, Dorcia Nash, Lutrenia Meadows, and Wilma and Dorothy Price; in the alto section: Helen Randon, Barbara Bell, Rubie Bishop, Emma Jean and Annie Price; the tenors are Joe Powell, Aaron Rayford, Charlie Rayford, Honey Boy Williams, Eddie Joe Ford; the bass singers are Tommie Charles, J. C. Honnicutt, Haros Powell, Don L. Williams, James Honnicutt and M. J. Randon.

Pedigreed Marv-L-S Cluster Cotton Steps Ahead Again

TEXAS STATE CERTIFIED FOR YOUR PROTECTION and insures you high quality cotton seed.

Our pedigreed Marv-L-S Cluster cotton has some outstanding characteristics that often times prove the difference between profit and loss in a cotton crop.

First, it is an early maturing cotton—some ten days earlier than any other variety we have carried in our breeding brocks.

Second, it is a close jointed cotton which is very essential in a drought-resisting cotton, because extra moisture is required to grow foliage.

Third, it has a large thin boll which can be picked or snapped.

Fourth, it has a good strong, hard fiber, making from 7-8 to 15-16 inch staple.

Plant Breeders Work on Sweet Potato Cork

COLLEGE STATION — The new virus disease of sweet potato known as internal cork has been found in a number of additional counties this spring. It was first found in Texas in Morris county last year. According to Dr. A. A. Dunlap, head of the department of plant physiology and pathology of the Texas A. & M. College System, the disease was found this spring scattered through an area from Nacogdoches county northward.

He says the disease was found in the new areas this spring when sweet potatoes that had been in winter storage were inspected. He says that recently obtained evidence indicates that the virus may have been present but unnoticed in certain Texas areas for at least a few years.

Dunlap says the state inspectors will continue their close inspection work in an effort to hold the disease in check. Recently, the green peach aphid was found to be a carrier of the disease.

An experiment is now underway at College Station, says Dunlap, to test the resistance of certain varieties or selections of sweet potatoes to the disease. Diseased plants have been established in the nursery and from the Sweet Potato Investigation Laboratory at Gilmer will come rooted cuttings that will be mixed in with the diseased plants. Those showing resistance will be used for further study and testing.

The horticulture and entomology departments will cooperate with Dr. Dunlap and his group in making the resistance tests.

D-DAY PLUS SIX YEARS

Six years have passed since American troops stormed the Normandy beaches. The successive campaign through France, Belgium, Holland and Germany will long be remembered, but time already has erased many of the scars of war. The wartime picture, at right, of Fifth Army infantrymen advancing cautiously through the rubble-littered streets of Frankfurt, Germany, contrasts strongly with the picture below, which shows the same scene today. The peaceful atmosphere in which civilians move quietly about their business is a far cry from the constant rumbling of artillery six years ago. And the clean streets and patched-up buildings bear few traces of the wreckage of the world's costliest war.

The Weather Did It to Peaches

COLLEGE STATION — The mild weather during the past winter is causing Texas peach producers much concern. According to John Hutchinson, associate extension horticultural specialist of Texas A. & M. College, there just wasn't enough cold weather to give the trees the needed rest period. Peach trees, he says, must have 750 hours of temperatures below 40 degrees F. before February 15 to produce a normal bloom foliage. This will vary widely with varieties.

The lack of cold weather, he points out, will likely cause heavy shedding of the young fruit that is beginning to show up on the trees at this time. The shedding will result from a lack of foliage on the trees which is necessary to maintain the proper development of the fruit.

All varieties of fruits, he says, are blooming from two to four weeks late. Burbank's Early July Elberta is one of the varieties that is showing the most promise at this time for it has set the heaviest crop of fruit. This would indicate that in the southeastern part of Texas, that maybe future plantings should include this variety.

Hutchinson suggests that spray solution made by mixing two lbs. of lead arsenate, three pounds of 50 percent wettable DDT and 8 pounds of hydrated lime to 100 gallons of water be used on the trees that have set a fair crop and have some leaf foliage coming out at the present time. It will protect fruit from curculio damage. If the leaves have come out on the trees, he recommends the addition of six pounds of wettable sulfur and three pounds of zinc sulphate

ADVERTISED IN LIFE AND THE POST

Three New Grain Sorghum Varieties Now Developed

COLLEGE STATION — Three new grain sorghum varieties — each selected to meet a definite need — have been developed by plant breeders of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and released to certified seed breeders for increase, Director R. D. Lewis has announced.

The Station will have additional seed at the end of this season for distribution through county agents for demonstration plantings in 1951.

The characteristics of the new varieties, as explained by R. E. Karper, agronomist in charge of grain sorghum investigations, and J. R. Quinby, superintendent of the Chillicothe station, are:

Combine Kafir-60 — Like Kafir, the stalks are juicy and stand up well in the field. The heavy head is borne on a long stem and stands well above the stalk. The variety is awnless and seed are white with black specks, testing 60 pounds to the bushel. The variety blooms in 60 days from June 1 planting at Lubbock, or about a week earlier than Texas Blackhul Kafir or Plainsman. Combine Kafir-60 was developed by crossing a double dwarf Kafir selection with Texas Blackhul, followed by selection and backcrossing to the Kafir parent several times until a pure type of double dwarf adapted to combine harvesting was obtained.

Redbine-60 and Redbine-66 — These new red-seeded varieties are similar except in their maturity. Redbine-60 blooms in 60 days, a little earlier than Martin; Redbine-66 in 66 days, a few days earlier than Plainsman. Both have dry head-stems and rachis, can be combined before frost if desired, and have a long stem so that there are fewer leaves and less stalk to load down the shaker when combining. Both varieties have a brighter reddish-yellow seed color than Martin and have a longer stem, are taller and have better threshability than Plainsman. Redbine-60 has awns, tests 57 pounds to the bushel and is a little surer of production because of its earliness. Redbine-66 is awnless, tests 60 pounds to the bushel and will yield higher under favorable conditions because of its longer growing season. These two varieties were chosen after several years of test from numerous selections from the progeny of

NEW CHRYSLER "HARDTOP"

Popular "hardtop" styling has now been made available in Chrysler's New Yorker and Windsor lines. The sleek body style, shown here in the New Yorker Newport, combines the safety and comfort of the sedan with the smartness of the convertible. Open-car effect is accentuated by side windows and window frames which lower completely out of sight. Maximum rearward vision is provided by the "Clearbac" rear window which curves well into the permanent steel top.

Corn Earworm Can Be Controlled

a cross between Martin and a sib of Caprock.

Four ounces of each of the new varieties were distributed to 35 Texas certified seed growers.

Some of the growers have pooled their seed and planted it in Hidalgo county. This crop will be harvested in early June and the seed shipped to the Lubbock area for planting there for fall harvest.

One such pool of 70 ounces of each variety is expected to yield 20 bushels of certified seed from plants that are bagged to insure self pollination. This 20 bushels would seed 300 acres or more; if the crop averages only a little over 30 bushels an acre on the South Plains, the increase in one year would be a half million pounds, or enough to plant 100,000 acres in 1951.

Other certified seed growers will further increase the foundation seed of the new varieties in plantings on their own farms this year.

Dale Hively in Army Air Force

Dale Hively, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hively of Wellington, enlisted in the Army Air Force recently and is now stationed at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio.

He enlisted for a four-year period. Hively graduated from Wellington High School in 1949.

Pogonology is a study of beards.

Corn Earworm Can Be Controlled

COLLEGE STATION — That pest of the roasting ear patch, the corn earworm can be successfully controlled. The use of a new method of control may make it possible for farmers to grow crops of high-value sweet corn in many areas of the country where the earworms have in the past made the crops unprofitable. This has been especially true in the South.

According to J. A. Deer, assistant extension entomologist of Texas A. & M. College, the method has been field tested for three years in four states, including Texas, and earworms were controlled in every instance when the sprays were applied properly.

Spray applications of an emulsion containing DDT, mineral oil and water to the silks and husks of the developing ears, when applied at the right time, kills the worm before they have a chance to ruin the corn. The commercial grower who uses a power sprayer with fixed nozzles should use three quarts of 25 percent DDT emulsifiable concentrate and two and one-half gallons of white mineral oil, diluted with water to make 25 gallons of the solution. This amount is sufficient to spray one acre of sweet corn.

For the small growers who will be using a knapsack sprayer, paint gun or a small power sprayer, and where the solution will be applied to the individual ear the amount of mineral oil should be increased to six gallons, says Deer. The mixture, he says, must be kept agitated to keep the mineral oil from separating.

He says the DDT emulsion should not have a kerosene odor and that not more than one-fourth teaspoonful per ear should be applied after the ears have been fertilized. In the case of the small grower where the individual ear is treated, one application is usually considered sufficient. The application should be made when 75 to 85 percent of the silks have wilted and have begun to turn brown at the tip.

With the commercial grower, it is a little different, says Deer. Two to three applications are necessary. The first should be made the day when the first silks appear. Other applications should follow at two day intervals. The use of mineral oil in the emulsion, says Deer, makes the difference

Tall Hegari Seed Released

COLLEGE STATION — Seed of a new variety named Hi-Hegari has been released to certified seed growers for increase, R. E. Karper, agronomist in charge of Texas Agricultural Experiment Station grain sorghum investigations, has announced.

It is a tall variety of Hegari, bred and developed primarily for forage and silage.

Karper says it has the high quality and palatable forage of Hegari and the same maturity and adaptation, but yields approximately 20 percent more forage.

The first grain sorghums were tall and late maturing. Hegari, one of the more popular, was imported from Africa in 1909 and was first grown at the Chillicothe station. In 1938 Texas sorghum breeders came up with Early Hegari, a dwarf, drought resistant, early maturing type which is still the principal variety of Hegari.

The labor shortage during World War II, the demand for grain and the development of the double dwarf grain sorghums brought the combines into the sorghum fields. In 1949, more than 85 percent of Texas grain sorghums were combine harvested.

The popularity of the combine varieties in turn led to a shortage of bundle feed; the supply is expected to be shorter still in the future because of acreage reductions.

Plant breeders of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station foresaw the need for forage and silage and for the past several years have been working on the problems; Hi-Hegari is the result.

The entire supply of seed has been distributed for increase, and a fair amount of Hi-Hegari will be available for 1951 planting through regular trade channels.

Ben Guill Reports To The People

If the decision of the Supreme Court on the Texas Tidelands case made the people back home half as angry as it did the Congressmen up here in Washington, then the air must have been blue last Monday all the way from Perryton to Childress and from Farwell to Tollett.

The decision stole a billion dollars out of the pockets of our Texas school children. It also broke the solemn word of the United States government, given in 1845 when Texas voluntarily joined the United States.

There is a bill which would overrule the decision of the Supreme Court being considered by the House Judiciary Committee this week. It will undoubtedly be reported out favorably and the House will undoubtedly pass it if it comes to the floor. Unfortunately, it looks as if there will not be time for the Senate to pass it and, even if it did, the President would certainly veto the bill.

The tidelands area embraces 2,608,774 acres of shallow, submerged lands which have been legally within the boundaries of Texas since the first session of the Congress of the Republic of Texas in 1836. The tidelands were specifically given to Texas for all time in the Joint Resolution annexing Texas to the United States in 1845.

In 1933 Mr. Harold Ickes, then the Secretary of the Interior, stated that tidelands generally could not be appropriated except by authority of the sovereign states. But, three years later, "The Old Curmudgeon" began to have his doubts, and with those doubts the fight for Federal appropriation began.

But even the bureaucrats of 1938 believed that specific permission from Congress would have to be obtained if the tidelands were to be appropriated. They asked the 75th and the 76th Congresses for that permission and were turned down cold. After this, Mr. Ickes again reversed himself, and on April 19, 1943 he told the Truman Committee he disapproved of litigation in regard to submerged lands. In June, 1944, he reversed himself for the third time and tried to move in on the tideland States. At this point the States went to Congress and sought relief.

The House passed a resolution on September 20, 1945 favoring the tidelands. States by a vote of 108 to 11. The Senate passed a similar resolution on July 22, 1946 by a 44-34 vote. So President Truman vetoed the Bill, on August 1, 1946. The House failed to override the veto by a mere 17 votes, 138 to 95.

The bureaucrats, suddenly deciding that they didn't need Congressional approval to steal the tidelands after all, especially since that approval wasn't forthcoming, sued the State of California for possession of its underwater lands. The Supreme Court decided against the State of California in June, 1947.

The matter was brought up before the 80th Congress again and this time, on April 30, 1948 the Tidelands bill passed by the overwhelming majority of 257 to 28. (Remember, this was the so-called "worst" Republican Congress.) Administration pressure prevented the tidelands bill from getting out of committee in the Senate. The bill died.

But, all this was in regard to the tidelands in general and had little to do with Texas. Texas had been given permanent ownership of her tidelands through a solemn agreement with the United States government, as a condition under which she joined the Union. The United States Attorney General's office chose to consider the solemn word of the United States as unimportant, and sued Texas anyway. The Supreme Court, on Black Monday, June 5, 1950 also decided that the solemn word of the United States government isn't worth the paper it's written on.

The decision simply "legalizes" theft. It also leaves all of us Texans with the problem of raising a billion dollars in tax money over the years to support our public schools. That money would have been forthcoming from the revenue from oil-reproducing wells in the tidelands area.

But there are other implications. The decision gives the Federal Government the green light to move in on anything it wants within the sovereign states. Mr. Philip B. Perlman, the United States Solicitor General who is so fond of quoting Communists and fellow-travellers as authorities in his

NEW INSTRUMENT AIDS FARMER

Ford tractors now coming off the assembly lines at the Ford Highland Park, Michigan, Plant are equipped with the new Proof-Meter, an instrument which "takes the guesswork out of tractor operation." Actually five instruments in one, the Proof-Meter shows engine speed, tractor speed, power take-off speed, belt pulley speed and total hours worked by the tractor. The farmer in the picture is recording hours of tractor operation for use in determining his farming costs. In the lower right hand corner is an enlarged close-up of the Proof-Meter, which Dearborn Motors officials say is the first instrument of its kind to be made available on a farm tractor.

briefs, was asked recently if the tidelands decision would affect the Great Lakes. "I don't know," he said. "Let's find out if there's anything in the Great Lakes the government wants."

If the Federal Government, in its greedy quest for control of every natural resource in the country, can claim that the McClellan Creek (which is four inches deep in some places) and any other stream in which you can float a log is "navigable" it can also declare that the Canadian River or even our Panhandle field tanks are technically "tidelands" and thus subject to Federal ownership and control.

Texas had the law, tradition, the word of the Government and the Congress on its side in the tidelands controversy. The Administration merely had agreed. Greed won.

30 YEARS OF SUFFERING - - THEN CHIROPRACTIC

Orange Grove, Texas, November 18, 1949.
To Whom It May Concern:

I was injured in a coal mining accident in 1919. Ever since that time I have been suffering with low back pains, and my feet and legs have given me great trouble upon the slightest exertion.

All during these past 30 years, I have been to medical doctor after medical doctor and have been through many clinics, but no permanent relief could be found—nor could anybody find the cause of my distress.

Because it was necessary to work, I repeated attempting to work time and time again, but in a short time I would be again confined to the hospital. Each time that I returned to the hospital I was confined for months. The last time that I spent in any hospital at one time was three months.

Last June, I felt another severe attack coming on, and in a matter of but two days I was again almost helpless. I couldn't stand and my legs burned and were drawn up. Many friends had urged me to go to Dr. P. Gordon Clare, Chiropractic or, of Alice, Texas. One day I heard him talk over the radio and decided to go to him.

He carefully analyzed my case, took X-rays of my spine, and showed me where a vertebra was misaligned in my neck region and that it was exerting a pressure upon my spinal cord. He adjusted me the same day. Within a week I could stand up erect, and within three weeks I felt better than I ever had in years. Two weeks ago I slipped, and again my symptoms started to return. This time I went immediately to Dr. Clare, and by the time I returned home, I felt well again.

I write this in the hopes that others who have similarly suffered might receive the same gratifying benefits that I have. I only wish that I had known of Chiropractic—30 years ago for what it really is.

DISCOVER NATURAL WAY TO HEALTH

Cynthiana, Kentucky, August 29, 1949
To Whom It May Concern:

In 1921, our third child, at the age of three months, became very ill with a bowel condition. Medical doctors seemed unable to help her. She did not respond to drugs, and it began to look as if we were going to lose our baby. We heard of Chiropractic and decided to take her to Chiropractor Florence Keller of Cynthiana, Ky., and today she is fine and healthy and raising her own family.

In late years my wife suffered with her back, hips, and legs. She decided to try Chiropractic but was discouraged and tried many other methods, finally undergoing an operation. However, the operation failed to relieve her pains, so she decided to go to the Chiropractor who took care of our daughter. She, too, began to respond immediately. She then insisted that I also try Chiropractic after suffering for 15 years with stomach trouble, blood pressure of 105 and weight 130, severe sick headaches, and no pep or energy. What work I did was a burden, and I was ready to give up in despair. After being under Chiropractic care for two months, my weight was 143 and my blood pressure 130. I am feeling fine, enjoying good health, and feeling better than I have in 15 years, without taking any medicine of any kind.

We are very thankful to Chiropractic and to Dr. Keller for the natural way to health, which is today honored by thousands as a blessing to humanity. This testimonial is non-solicited and presented to Dr. Keller to do with as she sees fit, hoping it may benefit some one.

We Are Proud Of Our Part In Building The New Warrick Feed Store Elevator

Elevator Shaft, Designed and Installed

By Harlan Foster, Hollis, Oklahoma —

We extend sincere congratulations to the Warrick Feed Store on the completion of its modern new grain storage . . . one of the finest in the southeast Panhandle.

One of the most important parts of any grain storage system is the elevator leg . . . the part that carries the wheat from the truck into the tanks, helps to move it and stir it, then loads it out into the box cars.

We have designed this leg to take care of your wheat at maximum speed and efficiency. It will unload your grain and get your truck free to get back into the fields. It means more money to you, and your crop is in the elevator when it should be.

We Invite Your Inspection

We join with Warrick Feed Store in inviting your inspection of this new elevator, and we call your attention to the elevator leg designed by us.

This unit is 110 feet in height, but 20 feet is underground. It will carry 5,000 bushels per hour into the storage bins. The long, continuously moving belt carries 444 cups, each loaded with wheat. It turns into any one of the four steel tanks.

By this system, the wheat may be stirred and moved about. Come down and see how it works!

DUKES BOW TO MEMPHIS OWLS 4 TO 2 HERE SUNDAY

BY BOBBY MCCUTCHEEN
The Memphis Owls held on to beat the Dukes of Wellington 4-2 in a Red River Valley League game here Sunday.

The die-hard Duke fans, believe that the next meeting will be a different story if this base umpire, which was all-popular in the high school district championship last year, is not present.

The Owls really have a good team and should do better since they managed to get Ed Mathes, an ace pitcher from T. C. U. Ed did a fine job on the Dukes last Sunday afternoon, limiting the Duke team to three hits.

The Dukes bested the Owls in errors 6-5.

Billy Dennis failed to greet the pitcher with a homer which he is getting noted for but lead off with a hard hit ball to shortstop who fumbled it enabling Dennis to take first. Virgil Francis, Duke shortstop who could hunt 300 in this league sacrificed, and the following two batters were victims of the pitcher.

In the second the Duke nine looked good when centerfielder, Bob McAllister and catcher Lewi Morris each got on by errors. Owens sacrificed, allowing the runners to 3rd and 2nd. Strong hit a long fly to centerfield. McAllister and Morris came in for the first runs of the ball game. Eldridge Wright, third baseman, was thrown out at first by Coppage, the Owl shortstop, for the final out.

Bus Dorman held the Owls scoreless until the fifth when pitcher Mathes got on by an error. Farmer, center fieldman, struck out, then J. W. Coppage leaned back, and swatted the pill out to the fence which it hit on top of then bounced out of the park. This tied up the ball game, but not for long.

Bybee came in to take over the pitching chores of Bus Dorman in the sixth.

Burr Pruitt, third baseman singled, then catcher Stonecipher hit a double, bringing in Pruitt. Weltman first baseman walked, Ed Mathes hit to Francis who threw to second to tag out Weltman. Stonecipher advanced to third. Coppage then hit to first baseman Dorman who stepped on the bag then tossed home to tag Stonecipher for the final out.

The Owls practically put the game on ice in the eighth when Pruitt singled, then Stonecipher got on by error when hit to Dorman. Weltman sacrificed, then Mathes hit a short fly to McAllister and Stonecipher was doubled off of second base. Farmer walked, Morris over threw second bringing in Pruitt for the last score of the ball game. Coppage hit a long fly to leftfielder Dennis, which retired the Owls.

Brinkley, pitcher from O. U., came in for Mathes in the ninth.

The Dukes tried to rally in the 9th when Owens hit a hard one to the third baseman, who fumbled the ball, Charlie Hendricks, pinch hitting for Bybee, walked, Owens taking second. Wright bunted to pitcher, who threw to third, Owens slid in and was safe by everyone except the base umpire.

That kinda knocked a hole in the game, for Dennis came up for a strike out, then Francis flew out to left field, ending the game.

of Wellington living outside the city limits. Even then it was felt the town would have a total population of more than 5,000.

On the basis of the figures released by Mr. Shaller, 3,669 persons for the incorporated, the total population of the town will possibly reach not more than 4,200 or 4,300.

It had been felt that the county would hold its own, although the earliest guess had been an increase to 12,000.

This loss of 1,200 persons in the 10-year period is a surprise to local officials.

These are not the official figures, but the unofficial count which Mr. Shaller is able to release at a much earlier date.

Warrick Feed -

Conveyors beneath the four storage tanks circulate the wheat, can move it from one bin to another, or put it back in the top of the same tank it came out of.

"This is what you'd call an auger operating just beneath the floor of the tanks," Velman Warrick said. The grain falls on the conveyor and is carried to the elevator belt, which can raise it to be put back in any of the tanks."

Automatic loading scales weigh the wheat out when it is loaded in the boxcars.

The elevator is federally licensed and bonded throughout, the Warrick brothers pointed out. Also, every bushel of grain is insured for its full value from the time it goes in storage until it is taken out.

The 64-foot tanks are constructed of 7, 10 and 14 gauge steel.

The mechanism of the entire elevator is push-button operated. Only one man is required to handle the entire operation of the elevator, Velman Warrick said.

Farmers who plan to put their wheat in government loan this year were told by the owners that they will receive their warehouse receipts immediately if they want them, thereby enabling them to get their money on their crop much earlier than might otherwise be the case.

"We're proud of our new elevator. We feel that it meets a real need of the wheat growers of Collingsworth and north Childress counties," Lawrence and Velman Warrick said.

"During the last few years, with wheat taking a more prominent place, taking care of the grain brought to us by our many valued customers has been a difficult job. We feel that we owe it to these good friends of ours to give them the best in grain storage facilities.

"Even with acreage curtailed by the government farm program, wheat is still a major money crop in the county and it will continue to be. We are building this elevator to take care of your needs this year and in the years to come."

The elevator is open for inspection, and any person interested in seeing its operation is invited by the owners to come down.

IH CULTIVATOR SWEEPS

• This picture above is not very accurate—it don't look like the style of IH Cultivator Sweep we are selling. The one we've got is the regular Texas pattern, which is very, very FLAT. And a high quality sweep. Under conditions of speed that we use sweeps these days, they wear out soon enough anyhow; IH sweeps will give you more mileage for your sweep dollar.

• Go-devil blades are in season now, too. J. R. Nelson got a couple of pairs yesterday. These are IH factory blades, beveled on the bottom and made out of a high-temper spring steel instead of stalk cutter iron. Cost more, too.

• Harold Keller comes in at ten o'clock at night to buy four rotary hoes. Well, that's our business—to try to have what you need when you need it. B. G. Glenn came in about nine or ten o'clock the other night after hay rake parts and I am not kidding when I say I don't mind opening up and getting parts for you any time of night you need them. Never did get to feeling independent even during the war; appreciated business then and still do.

IH 5-STAR SERVICE

• This IH 5-STAR SERVICE emblem is a little short, because I can think of many more than five ways we give you a better deal on SERVICE. One of these ways right now is QUICKER service. Keeping a full force of experienced mechanics is no small chore and the overhead is tremendous, but it enables us to give you that QUICKER service and that means any time you need some work done on your Farmall, we can do it for you in a hurry and get you back in the field. Most of our service jobs are small right now, but a little trouble will cost you time and money—but a whole lot less of it if you call on us.

• New stock of frozen food containers and wrappings came in this week. Sold out the original order we got a few weeks ago. Square, space-saver cartons, cellophane liners, cellophane and plastic bags, aluminum foil, sealers, everything you need.

• Let me remind you again, folks you will be losing money if you buy any refrigerator before you have seen the 1950 model International Harvester refrigerators. And you are losing money every day you don't own and use an International Harvester home freezer.

CHILDRESS PULLS OUT OF RED RIVER VALLEY LEAGUE BASEBALL

From The Childress Index
Semi-pro baseball in Childress came to an end with Friday's announcement from Doyle Thomas, Paul Ord and John Pelley that the Childress Zephyrs had quit for the season and had withdrawn from the Red River Valley League.

The reason for the collapse as explained by the team management is the lack of interest on the part of the ballplayers and the shortage of attendance. Several players failed to show up for Thursday night's game, and in spite of a lot of promoting for baseball night only about 350 fans turned out on a perfect weather night.

Childress is the largest town in the Red River Valley League and becomes the first to depart from the league. However, in most other towns well-to-do men are supporting their teams financially.

The Childress Baseball Association will take charge of all equipment and will continue its drive to pay all outstanding bills against the association. As it stands now the association owes about $400.

When the outstanding debt is paid off the association will have about $700 worth of equipment including new uniforms purchased this year.

There is a possibility of an amateur team being formed in Childress to play exhibition games but nothing has been worked out on it yet.

Frank Hatt, president of the association stated that he believed the Red River Valley League had outgrown itself and predicted that other teams would drop out before the season is over. There's too much of a financial strain on the clubs he said.

"How can the teams continue to operate when their costs are approximately $200 to $300 a game and their gate receipts are about half that amount?" he said. "When the league gets back to amateur ball and is restricted to teams within this area we will be able to have a paying team."

Managers of other teams in the league feel the same way about it and indications point to a new and better set-up next year.

Ford Tractors Now Equipped with Proof-Meter

Ford Tractors now being received by Kelly Pigg Tractor Sales, Ford Tractor and Dearborn Farm Equipment dealer in this area, are equipped with the Proof-Meter, an instrument which takes much of the guesswork out of tractor operation.

Actually five instruments in one, the Proof-Meter enables the operator to determine at a glance, the engine speed, tractor speed, power take-off speed, belt-pulley speed, or hours of tractor operation.

The outer band of the Proof-Meter dial is the engine speed indicator. It enables the operator to operate at the correct speed for the job being done. It eliminates guessing at the engine speed according to its sound.

The tractor speed indicator is important to efficient operation because it allows the operator to select the right speed and gear for mowing, spraying, planting, and the many other farm tasks in which correct tractor speed is essential.

Correct power take-off speed for P. T. O. operated farm equipment is made possible by the P. T. O. speed indicator incorporated in the Proof-Meter.

Belt-pulley speed which must be regulated correctly for sawing, grinding, pumping and similar belt work is quickly determined by another band on the Proof-Meter.

Accurate records of tractor performance now are possible through use of the tractor hour record on the Proof-Meter. Not only can farm tasks be timed but the tractor or servicing can be done at proper intervals.

Under modern farming conditions, when the tractor is called upon to do an increasingly large variety of tasks, the Ford Tractor Proof-Meter is designed to help get these jobs done efficiently and economically.

Alvin and Calvin Clark of Pasadena are here to spend the summer with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Williams and Mrs. Luther Clark.

J. M. Dickson Works at Luling

J. M. Dickson, Sr., who returned recently from a visit with his son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dickson, brought with him this clipping from a Luling paper, which he felt would interest the friends of his son:

J. M. Dickson, district sales manager for a large hybrid seed-corn company operating in Texas, is a Luling resident and dwells down in the Town's Addition, on Agarita Street.

Just recently, with his sales quota completed, Brother Dickson found himself with a lot of time on his hands, and not being the kind of guy who enjoyed "Twiddling his thumbs," he developed a happy solution to his "loafing problem" — he decided to paint his own "Teepee." Adjusting action to the thought, he sent for his Pop, Mr. Dickson of Wellington, as superintendent, bought a supply of paint and a couple of brushes, and the two got busy pronto on the assignment.

They did such a splendid job that all the neighbors were amazed, and Flavey Cobb and Bob Rutherford practically drafted J. M. and his Dad to stage a "repeat performance" on their respective residences. With these two additional jobs completed, orders for their services rolled in wholesale, but Pop and son were dead tired and refused a half dozen other assignments.

The moral to this story is that "even a traveling man can make himself useful occasionally."

Candidate for Lt. Governor Here

Sen. G. C. Morris, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, was in Wellington, on Monday, June 12.

The State Senator is making an intensive campaign in accordance with his promise when he announced his candidacy that he would see the voters in most Texas cities.

Sen. Morris is from Greenville. He is campaigning for Lt. Governor in opposition to the general sales tax and proposing a reduction of governmental costs through reorganization. He has a continuous record of 16 years of public service. He served eight years as state representative, eight as state senator, president of the Texas Senate, and Acting Lieutenant Governor for seven months following the death of Governor Beauford H. Jester.

Sen. Morris cited his support of education, old age assistance, REA Co-Ops, rural roads, soil and water conservation and governmental reorganization. He was the first chairman of both the Texas Legislative Council and the Legislative Budget Board.

He recalled that he led the 1941 fight against the sales tax, that he has been the recognized leader of the anti-sales tax forces in Texas. Sen. Morris is author of the 1941 Omnibus Tax Bill which supplies funds for Texas schools, farm-to-market roads, teacher retirement and old age assistance.

Rosetta Brown of Bethany, Oklahoma, is here visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Edgar Lockhart, for two weeks.

McClaskey Saves Drowning Child

From "The Wingspread,"

Randolph Field Newspaper
Presence of mind on the part of Sgt. Richard O. McClaskey, Base Finance Officer, Randolph Field, averted a tragedy on Lake McQueeney Sunday afternoon.

The young sergeant, working on deck, was helping in the construction of a houseboat belonging to M-Sgt. and Mrs. R. D. Hoffman, also from Randolph, when a splash in the water diverted his attention. He turned around quickly and saw Nancy, three-year-old daughter of the Master-sergeant and his wife, disappear underwater between the houseboat and the pier.

Struggling wildly, the little girl reached the surface and was pulled to safety by McClaskey. It all happened so rapidly that the other members of the party did not become aware of the incident until it was over.

The young lady was none the worse for her harrowing experience despite the loss of a shoe and a small toy boat.

Mrs. J. L. Burt was in Amarillo this week visiting her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brinson, and her son, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Burt, Jr.

CHILDREN OF METHODIST CHURCH END VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

The Methodist vacation Bible school closed Friday, June 9, after a successful two week period of studies, stories, music and other activities, stated Mrs. A. L. Elliott, superintendent of the school.

The school was divided into three divisions: the primary, under the direction of Mrs. Jack Brisbin and Mrs. Henry Sullivan; the kindergarten, under the direction of Mrs. Olan Alexander, Mrs. Myrett Henry, Mrs. Claude Nelson, and Mrs. Velman Warrick; and the Junior, with Mrs. L. L. Hill and Mrs. J. C. Ward in charge.

Of the fifty enrolled in the school, twenty-three of these visited with Mrs. T. B. Sledge, who is in the hospital with injuries received from a fall, and presented her with articles they had made, and flowers. Mrs. Sledge is a long-time member of the Methodist Church.

The closing program was a breakfast at 9:00 o'clock Friday morning for the children and at 9:45 o'clock the parents came to the church to observe the work that had been done.

Mrs. Bertha Williams was in Oklahoma City this week visiting relatives.

BOAT OWNER GETS THE BIRD

What to do with a duck on the deck presented a knotty problem for boat owner Fred G. Clarke, Jr., of Seattle, Washington. This mallard hen assumed command of the craft by selecting a coil of rope on its foredeck to deposit a clutch of nine eggs. Not wishing to disturb the wild waterfowl in the performance of her motherly duties, Clarke had to turn the boat over to the hen during the three-week incubation period.

Red Skelton at His Funniest Comes to Ritz

Let it be said right at the start, "The Yellow Cab Man," at the Ritz Theatre next Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, June 21, 22 and 23, is the funniest Red Skelton comedy in years. In the role of a zany inventor who just can't avoid accidents and who gets a job as a Yellow Cab driver in the home of demonstrating his unbreakable elastiglass windshield Skelton does about everything possible, human and inhuman to make an audience laugh.

In one scene he picks up his first customer and jams a whole city's traffic. In others he barely saves himself from electrocution, from gaseous explosion and from drowning in a bathtub. He falls down everything from flights of stairs, rope ladders, an elevated grease rack, a freight elevator shaft and through the roof of a house. In a distortion effect dream sequence photographed by Weegee he drives his cab to the North Pole. And in one of the wildest sequences ever filmed he is chased by a murderous gang through a Home Exhibit auditorium and a Solar-Roto House of Tomorrow and escapes by riding a huge gas balloon to the top of the building. By the time the picture has entered its climax, with a whole army of Yellow Cabs charging into the auditorium to rescue Red and his girl, the spectator is left limp with laughter. Here is out-and-out escapism comedy at its finest.

Skelton has a comedy field day in the role of the harassed hero, with Gloria De Haven effectively cast as the pretty girl from the Claims Adjustment department who gets him an opportunity to demonstrate his elastiglass windshield. Walter Slezak adds to the laughs in the role of a preposterous quack psychiatrist who tries to hypnotize Skelton into revealing the secret of his invention. Edward Arnold is properly villainous as a disreputable ambulance chaser and James Gleason is attractive as the amiable and exemplary cab driver, Mickey, who aids Skelton in getting out of his varied predicaments.

Add to this the fast-paced direction of Jack Donohue and you have a picture that never for one second deviates from its goal—to make its audiences roar. If ever a list of the season's funniest pictures is drawn up, "The Yellow Cab Man" will be way up on top!

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Bengé and their grandson, Bill Derr Bengé, have been in Wellington the past week visiting with old neighbors and friends. Mr. Bengé owned and operated a hotel in Mineral Wells during 1948 and 49, but they have now bought a home in Fort Worth. Mrs. Bengé stated that she didn't believe that any place could take the place of Wellington, but that they wanted to live in Fort Worth with their children.

Mack Saied, Jr. spent the week end visiting friends in Lubbock.

Rogers Urges Tideland Fight

Walter Rogers, Candidate for Congress for the 18th Congressional District, when asked for his reaction to the Tideland and Segregation Decisions of the Supreme Court, replied:

"The tremendous impact of the recent Tideland and Segregation Decisions by the Supreme Court of the United States on the people of Texas, as well as on the other Southern States, should serve to place us on immediate guard to at least soften the repercussions that can result in the future. I do not think that the Tideland have been lost, but immediate action by Congress is indispensable in our fight to save them. Unless this is forthcoming without delay, the brunt of the impact will be absorbed by our school children. It is a battle that must be fought with brains, and not heated talk. Had we used that weapon in the beginning, our position at this time would be considerably stronger. We must not lose sight of the fact that now is the time to build our defenses against further encroachments contrary to our constitutions. Let us be prepared to give up the rest of our public domain, we should heed the warning sounded by those decisions and prepare ourselves for the battles to come."

Six Coyote Pups Dug Out Recently

Six coyote pups were dug out of their den on the ranch of Mrs. Allen I. Smith in the north part of the county, recently by Frank Dyer, Polk Hooten and Frank Massey, who were working cattle.

Coyotes have been particularly bad in this section of the county, and considerable loss of young calves has been reported from time to time.

The coyote pups were killed.

Harwell received a bronze award for his outstanding work.

Sandy Parsons III and Ansel McDowell Jr. spent the week end in Wellington. They are attending summer school at Texas Tech, in Lubbock.

DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Warrick's new grain elevator adds an impressive gleam to the skyline of Wellington. It looks nice gazing north on East Avenue. It looks better on the hill just before you round the turn where cussing Kelley used to live. But the best view is northwest of Wellington about three miles out on the Quail highway. Last Sunday I saw it in the evening tide as the last rays of the setting sun portrayed it brightly against the dark green of the fresh washed trees of Wellington. It looked nice and the important thing is it will be most useful to the grain growers of this area.

Frank Eikenburg tells me there is a man in Chicago who will tell you when and where it will rain for the modest sum of one thousand dollars, ($1,000.), a year. By subscribing to the Wellington Leader you can save a net amount of nine hundred ninety-seven dollars and fifty cents, ($997.50). Check up on the issue of May 18, 1950, and read my column that day. In substance I said, "that it would rain plenty for row crops by June 10."

Here is the exact wording of one part of my column of date May 18:

The rains have been adequate for planting in all parts of the county according to Leader correspondents. We have a very fine start and prospects for more rain before June 10.

After hitting the weather on the head so precisely and accurately both as to date and amplitude, it seems to me that I should have a vacation about predicting the weather and resolving peoples' doubts about the moisture for June and July. Now I turn this task over to the amateurs. But if they are in doubt, I give them one hint. The rains are not over yet.

Of course, there are some farmers in the Rolla, Dodson, Lutie, Vinson, and Quail communities who won't appreciate these comments a bit. They are planting over for the second and third time after the cloud burst. They should be grateful for the moisture. It is a lot better than drought and sandstorms. The alfalfa looks good and so does the grass, after the torrential rains. Neither did the rains kill any of the pigs on the lush alfalfa patches. See what I mean.

The other day T. B. Starkey showed me some blue panic grass that was growing in his yard. The size and richness of the grass amazed me. Polly O'Neil tells me that the Mill Iron is growing 1,300 acres of this grass and up to date it is turning out wonderfully well. Jim Doneghy is also making a study of this grass — and he and Polly both agree that it seems to be wonderful. The main question seems to be as to whether it will do better seeded in rows and cultivated or sown broadcast and allowed to grow as native grass. The blue panic grass came from New Zealand. It is an experiment that is being conducted below the cap rock.

Lewis Morris, catcher of the Dukes, claims that he is playing baseball in order to stay active enough to one day play at least one ball game with his young son, Darrell. He may not be able to do it for the years creep ahead so terribly fast. But old Lewis is giving his son something to shoot at. He is leading the Dukes in his batting average while playing a heady game behind the plate.

The thought of Lewis Morris reminds me of something else. Bob McAlister is the best fielding outfielder and Virgil Francis is the smartest and most effective shortstop that I have seen on the local field this year. Bus Dorman and a number of others are outstanding on offense. What the Dukes do need is better pitching and to get rid of that Memphis umpire.

Shamrock is having a referendum vote on parking meters. The deal was that the meters would be tried for nine months and then the people would be allowed to vote on whether they wanted to retain them or not. The outcome of this vote will be awaited with interest by Donna Dukeminier and myself — the only two people who have ever advocated parking meters in Wellington. Folks here is something to think about. In nine months the city of Shamrock has met all payments on the equipment, AND IN ADDITION THEY HAVE MADE A NET PROFIT OF OVER THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS, ($3,000.00). Continuation of the meters will pave a lot of streets and build other public improvements without additional cost to the taxpayers. The decision is up to the people of Shamrock. Such people as Ed Crawford, Ralph Ball, Pink Sullivan, Ernest Lewis, and Horace Small, can await the outcome of the Shamrock election. If Shamrock goes wrong, that does not mean that Donna and I will go with them.

Memphis is trying the device of a mystery traffic cop to cut down on traffic violations and traffic accidents. I am in favor of all means of observing sane traffic regulations in towns both large and small and on the highways. I have advocated a motorized official for Wellington in the past. I am for safer driving. But the mystery cop of Memphis strikes me as something a little bit silly. If Memphis is as full of gossips as Wellington, then it will take only one week for every single person in town to know the identity of the mystery cop and all of his relations, faults and virtues. What towns like Memphis, Wellington and others of similar size need is a traffic cop that is recognized. But above this, they need mayors and justice of peace and other officials who will stand steadfast in imposing the proper fines and just sentences.

Louise and I were driving around after the rain the other evening and stopped by the home of the John Colemans. Louise was entranced with the arrangements of the inside of the house. I stopped because of the looks of the lawn. They have the beginning of something that can be truly beautiful, even though it does concern simple things as spacing, water, manure and love of living among growing things. They may have to dig up some stuff in future years, but they sure do have a wonderful start.

Dick Sweat says that the grasshoppers are expected to be worse than usual this year. He talks about Toxephene. This is supposed to take care of grasshoppers, fleahoppers, and other pests in cotton. Two applications at the proper time are supposed to be enough. I do not know about this and suggest that you ask Lefty Thomas. In fact since most of this is common knowledge to most farmers I did not pay much attention to what Dick was saying. Here is what Dick interest me.

Thrips cause a heavy loss in the germination of alfalfa seed. Dick says that Toxephene applied at the proper time will produce twice as much seed. Since alfalfa is becoming more important each year, it is something to talk about.
