FIST FIGHT AT QUANAH RESULTS FATALLY

Hoobler Defense Ends After Single Witness Testifies

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

On account of the great number of unemployed heads of families within the city the Wichita Falls Community Chest is experiencing greater demands for relief than it is able to meet. In the first place the goal set for the chest was never attained and this with the extraordinary demands has made it necessary to raise more money.

This, of course, will be done but whatever employment can be furnished unskilled labor will lessen the call for relief from charitable sources. To those who have money and who can expend some of it for improving, repairing, new construction, digging, grading, demolition or any kind of work that will employ labor, now is the time when they can surely help their fellow man by getting the work started.

To give a man employment whereby he can earn something with which to buy food and clothing for his family is far better than an equal amount doled out to him as charity. Of course there are those who are unable to work who will need help whether there is work or not, but the acute problem in Wichita Falls right now is to find employment for those who want and need it badly.

Every bit of improvement, repairs or new construction will help by just that much to relieve a situation in which there is real distress. Look around and see if there is not something that you can have done that will employ one or more men. The Salvation Army or the Family Relief association will be glad to send you men.

Nothing would be so stimulating and helpful to all business as the employment of a considerable number of those who are seeking work. There is no dollar that gets into circulation quicker than the dollar earned by labor.

Chairman Legge of the federal farm board acts like a man who means business in this matter of farm relief. He has gone into the market with the government emergency fund to buy wheat to stabilize a sagging market and he will do the same for other farm products. He is having to fight a number of interests who are not interested in relief for the farmers but he is making what looks like a courageous fight.

But Mr. Legge has given warning to the farmers that the federal farm board can do nothing to help them "if farmers are going ahead trying to produce an additional surplus on the basis that some way will be found to take care of it at a fair price level another year."

This is the first time in history that the government has advanced funds to help sustain prices of farm products. Whether the government's efforts will amount to much will depend upon the cooperation given by the farmers themselves. Planting additional acreage to crops with the expectation that the government plan will absorb the surplus is mighty poor kind of cooperation.

M. E. Foster in his column "Why" by MEFO in the Houston Press says the idea that our prison population has grown abnormally is all wrong and he goes to the records to prove the error of this belief. He quotes the figures on the prison population as follows:

Texas Prison Population

June 30, 1904	4190
Jan. 1 1910	3623
Jan. 1, 1923	3577
Jan. 1 1926	3396
Jan. 1, 1927	3201
Jan. 1, 1928	4200
March 1, 1929	5200

Mefo points out that while the population of Texas has increased more than 2,000,000 since 1904 our prison population has increased only a little over 1,000. If we can add more than 2,000,000 people with only 1,000 criminals the record is not so bad.

The trouble is, says Mefo, that all the increase has come during the Moody administration. He intimates a belief that more attention to paroling and pardoning would help solve the prison problem.

The Moody administration followed one in which pardons had been issued in large numbers and the prison population brought thereby to a low number. Moody has issued few pardons and not a great number of paroles. Of course, a more liberal pardon and parole policy would reduce the prison population. There are those who maintain that such a policy is good for prison morale and discipline.

But one reason the penitentiaries were refilled so quickly after the Moody administration came into office was that such a large number of those pardoned during the preceding administration had gotten into trouble and were again on the way to the penitentiary.

JUDGE MARTIN TO DELIVER CHARGE TODAY

State Attorneys Fail to Offer Confession in Testimony

WITNESSES GRILLED

S. O. Hamm, Former Officer Here, Admits Striking Defendant

Both the state and the defense in the second trial of D. J. Hoobler, charged with murder in connection with the slaying of Arthur Pendergraft near here Jan. 27, 1929, closed unexpectedly at 3:25 o'clock Wednesday afternoon after only one defense witness had been called to the stand and court was adjourned until Thursday morning while Judge P. A. Martin and defense attorneys prepared their charges.

Judge Martin indicated Wednesday afternoon his charge would be essentially the same as that delivered in the first trial with the exceptions that a written confession made by Hoobler following discovery of Pendergraft's body was not introduced by state attorneys in this second trial and will not be included in his charge and also that the automobile crank said to have been used by Pendergraft, classed as a "deadly weapon," will be incorporated in the charge to indicate the possibility of self-defense.

Court officials Tuesday had indicated the testimony would probably last throughout the day Wednesday and the closing of both sides came sooner than expected when court was adourned in mid-afternoon.

Auto Crank Exhibited

At the close of testimony in the case, the defense had introduced but one witness, J. C. Owen, employe of the Fox Chevrolet company, who identified a crank displayed by attorneys as the type used in the model car in which Hoobler and Pendergraft were riding at the time of the slaying. Owen said the crank was in his opinion "a deadly weapon."

In the absence of W. T. Stepp, deputy sheriff of Cotton county, Oklahoma, defense attorneys re-read the testimony he gave in the first trial. John Davenport of defense counsel acting as questioner and Joe Carrigan, also of the defense, answering the questions from the witness stand. Stepp's testimony told of citizens coming to the Walters, Okla., jail when Hoobler was brought there and of their questioning him through an entire night, alternating in pairs to keep

Women Leaders Fight For Prohibition Laws

Tulsa Slayer Hangs Self In Cell While Governor Ponders Mother's Plea

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 12. (UP)—A pencilled note addressed to Governor W. J. Holloway of Oklahoma and signed "Mother Fray" was put in a steel cabinet today marked "case closed."

The note was received by the governor last night and the writer, Mother Fray, was asking for commutation of her son's death sentence to life imprisonment.

Today jailers entered Charles Fray's cell in the death house at state penitentiary at McAlester, near here, to find his body dangling from the end of a bed sheet. He had cheated the gallows and died unmindful his aged mother was making a last minute plea to save his life.

Slew His Wife

Fray was found guilty of killing his wife and charged with killing a former wife. The jury verdict called for a death sentence and he was to be executed March 28.

The prisoner's mother had asked the governor to send her boy to the penitentiary for life because "he had been a good boy and nobody would be happy if he died. The harm, if he had done anyone harm, was over and his death would make nobody feel better."

The letter, Governor Holloway said last night, would receive his consideration after a state investigator had reviewed the case. It was Governor Holloway's intention to have the investigator begin his inquiry today.

Plans Carefully Laid

Fray, in committing suicide, had apparently been as careful in the preparation as he was when he killed his wife and former wife.

A water faucet in the corner of his cell was left running. It overcame the sounds as he choked to death.

Two condemned men, Tom Guest and Claude Hagar, both sentenced to hang for murder, said they did not hear Fray when he committed suicide. Their cells are next to Fray's.

Fray was found guilty of killing his second wife, Lucille Fray, May 3, 1928, at their Tulsa home. He was charged with killing his former wife at Jenks, near here, on the same day but was never tried for the murder.

In his cell Warden Newell found several notes written to his mother, his little daughter and Governor Holloway. He asked the governor to commute sentences of the two men in the death house from death to life imprisonment.

TURNER KILLING STORIES VARY

Accused Widow and Daughter-in-law Testify

TAHOKA, Texas, March 12. (AP)—Two versions of how Mrs. Mollie Turner, 57, killed her husband 10 years ago were related at Mrs. Turner's murder trial today—one by the defendant and one by her daughter-in-law.

Mrs. Turner told of a hand-to-hand scuffle over a gun which was accidentally discharged. Mrs. Ester Turner, divorced from John Turner in 1926, declared that Mrs. Turner deliberately shot her husband, making good threats she had voiced several times.

The shooting took place on the Turner's farm home near Wilson, Oct. 8, 1920. In 1928 Mrs. Turner was sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment but won a new trial on appeal.

The daughter-in-law testified today she had been afraid to tell what she knew of the slaying because the defendant and her former

Temperance Advocates Ask Advice When Subjected To Cross-Quiz

By CECIL B. DICKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Two dozen women leaders who said they represented 12,000,000 of their sex throughout the country today maintained that the womanhood of America stood four square behind prohibition.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of Beverly, Mass., chairman of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement they presented all their testimony before the house judiciary committee in opposing repeal before a single question could be asked by members of the committee.

Applause Curbed

In rapid succession the women were rushed onto the witness stand by Mrs. Peabody, who limited their time, curbed the applause of enthusiastic drys in the crowded committee room and combatted every attempt to interference or delay. Mrs. Peabody also presented statements from other prominent women who were unable to appear.

It was the third day for the dry forces before the group which earlier had heard seven days of argument by wets for repeal. With the exception of a few, cross-examination was completed at a prolonged afternoon session to make way for a statement from Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church. It will be read tomorrow by Deets Pickett, secretary of the organization, as Doctor Wilson was obliged to leave the city this afternoon.

Political Creed

The hearing was opened by Mrs. Peabody, who presented the political creed of the women's national committee for law enforcement, the

Senate Adds $100,000,000 For Additional Farm Aid In Voting Deficiency Measure

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Immediate appropriation of more than $173,000,000 for multiple government projects was voted today by the senate in passing the first deficiency bill.

The senate added to the measure as it passed the house the $100,000,000 requested by President Hoover for the farm board; $150,000 to continue the American delegation at the London naval limitation conference; $12,000,000 for river and harbor work, and $7,000,000 for seed loans to farmers in storm stricken states.

Goes to House

These increases along with other funds authorized by the senate must be approved by the house.

The $100,000,000 fund for the farm board gives this newly established government organization a total of $250,000,000 of the $500,000,000 authorized for its revolving fund by congress. The additional fund was approved without opposition but its consideration provoked some sharp words on the policies of the farm board.

Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, demanded that the board cooperate with the Canadian wheat pool against what he believes to be a combination by England, France and Italy to depress the American market. He estimated the board would really need $1,500,000,000 to carry out the purposes of the act.

Policy Defended

Chairman McNary, of the agriculture committee, supported the board's policy in the grain market and said he believed the board was "doing all it possibly can."

Senators Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, and Overman, Democrat, North Carolina, complained the price of cotton was going down and demanded that more consideration be given to this commodity by the board.

Provisions carried in the $48,241,562 bill passed by the house received senate approval. In addition to the amendments voted by the senate appropriations committee, the senate also added $1,660,000 on motion of Senator Black, Democrat, Alabama, to provide for federal help in road and bridge construction in the flooded sections of Alabama.

VOODOO NEGRO DIES IN CHAIR

Adams Changes Religion Twice on Last Day

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, March 12. (AP)—Bishop Adams, negro voodoo doctor, was electrocuted in state prison here early today for the murder of William Glober, Austin grocer.

He entered the chair at 12:11 a. m. Thursday and was declared dead at 12:21 a. m. by Dr. M. H. Judd, who said:

"Bishop Adams, I pronounce you dead."

Adams was calm when he came into the death cell. Captain Homer Knighten, assistant warden, said to him in a low voice:

"Bishop Adams, you got anything to say before you die?"

"Nothing."

"Don't you care to make any statement?"

"No, sir."

"All right."

And the buzz of the motor began.

Adams re-embraced the religion of his childhood, Catholicism, Wednesday night as he was made ready to die.

The negro, who earlier had forsaken his faith in black magic and had been readmitted to the Baptist church, called for Fathers Hugh Finnegan and J. Laurent before the guard came to shave his head.

To the priests he made known a desire to die a Catholic. As a boy in Louisiana he had joined that church.

He was calm and detached, without visible fear as the guards prepared him for the chair. He was talkative, too, they said, but never referred, except casually, to the imminence of his death.

In his conversation with the fathers, the voodoo doctor was philosophical.

"I've got to die sometime, and it might as well be now, if I have to go," he told them with a shrug. "I have made my peace with God and I am ready to go."

C. F. Wilson, negro chaplain, said Adams had admitted the killing, but denied the accusation that he robbed the grocer.

INTERVENOR IN BATTLE LANDS DEATH BLOW

Frank Beavers Dies After Being Knocked Down by Unknown Man

PAIR DISAPPEARS

Two Youths Leave Scene After Taking Side of Beaten Fighter

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, March 12.—A bus driver's fight for preferred parking space near the railroad station ended Wednesday afternoon in the fatal injury of Frank Beavers, operator of the Red Star Stage line to Paducah, the victim of a blow from an unknown opponent's fist.

Beavers died in a local hospital from a cerebral hemorrhage after physicians had operated for a fractured skull, suffered in a four-sided fight on the station platform about 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. No trace had been found late Wednesday of the unknown youth who struck the fatal blow.

Spectator Intercedes

According to an account of the fight given Sheriff G. T. Hawkins, the affair began in an encounter between Beavers and L. O. Page, local bus driver. Bystanders said that Page was getting the worst of the fight when a young on-looker interfered, trying to stop the punishment. He sent Beavers to the platform with a blow, but the fighter came up for more, dazed but still scrapping. It was then that a second man, a slight youngster, weighing not more than 135 pounds against Beavers' 200 odd, intervened.

When Beavers prepared to resist the interference, the smaller man struck, landing squarely in Beaver's face and sending him again to the station platform.

The head of the fallen man struck the pavement a terrific blow and Beavers lay still. At that moment the Fort Worth & Denver train pulled in, spectators reported, and both the young men disappeared.

Train Searched

Beavers was rushed to the hospital where an emergency operation failed to save his life.

Sheriff Hawkins had the train flagged and searched but no trace of the two missing men was found. Only inadequate descriptions were available Wednesday afternoon.

Officers reported that Page and Beavers have been disputing over parking places near the station. Last week Page swore out a complaint charging Beavers with abusive language, the sheriff reported.

The body of the slain man was taken to the home of his people at Paducah for burial.

Nicholson Thanks Dame Fortune For 'Un-Losing' Him in Black Grotto

By FRANK E. NICHOLSON
Leader Carlsbad Cavern Expedition

(Copyright, 1930, by The New York Times Co., All Rights Reserved)

CARLSBAD, N. M., March 12.—While examining the well of our mystery chamber, I found a small opening almost hidden by protruding formations and no larger than the head of a barrel. I crawled through in an effort to determine the extent of the tunnel; whether it carried on or merely ended in a grotto. I had left the balance of my party at the top of a pit some 200 feet away where they were carrying on soundings.

Inside the tunnel I found a good air current, unusually strong, and of pure fresh air, denoting that the other end of the tunnel opens somewhere on the outside.

Spurred on by the thoughts of being near the long sought for, unknown entrance to Carlsbad Cavern, I pushed my way farther up the corridor. Presently I came into a grotto from whence led a maze of tunnels.

In my excitement I neglected to lay a string or markers showing the way out. At last I came to a spot where the tunnel was blocked with formations making further progress impossible until the stalag-

Texas Judge Overrules 'Unwritten' Law in Murder Trial at Waco

WACO, Texas, March 12. (AP)—Lee Whatley, barber was "persuaded" to kill Sam Kus, his former friend and neighbor, whom he shaved almost daily, by the statement of E. W. Roberts and Mrs. Roberts that they had seen Kus and Mrs. Whatley driving in a car together in East Waco, Whatley testified this afternoon in 54th district court, where testimony on both sides was concluded in one day in his trial for the murder of Kus. Kus was killed Jan. 22, in Pete's Hamburger stand.

This was the burden of Whatley's "unwritten law" defense.

Judge R. I. Monroe submitted to the attorneys on both sides his charge, which concluded with this paragraph:

"You are instructed that the criminal laws of this state are complete within themselves, and no system of foreign laws, written or unwritten, may be appealed to; and no person can be punished in this state for any act or omission unless the same is made a penal offense and a penalty affixed thereto by the written law of this state."

RANGES FEEL NEED OF RAIN

Stock Conditions Improve, But Pastures Dry

AUSTIN, March 12. (AP)—Range conditions improved in February and stock losses were far less than were expected but the pastures were needing rain at the beginning of March, the monthly livestock report of Carl H. Robinson and E. E. Finley, statisticians for the United States department of agriculture, showed.

The report said that temperatures last month were generally mild and losses were not nearly so heavy as expected after the severe freezing weather during January. The cold had caused livestock to lose flesh rapidly. Stock entered February in poor condition and forced feeding was heavier than in many years, the report stated.

"Grass and weeds have started in most sections, and the prospects for fairly early spring pastures are very good," the report continued. "The change in temperature came at an opportune time for the cattlemen, as their feed supply was getting scarce and livestock were not in condition to withstand a continuance of severe temperatures. Rain is now needed in most sections to start grass and weeds, or to keep them growing."

Emphasizing that rain was needed to insure good summer grazing the report revealed that cattle range conditions improved one point during February. The condition of 72 per cent was nine points below the five-year average, however, the report said. The condition of cattle became two points better during the month but was seven points below that of the corresponding time last year and nine points below the five-year average. The coastal region was said to be in the most serious shape, with warmer weather having brought some relief.

"Sheep and goat ranges have improved three points during the month, but are still eight points below the condition on March 1, 1929, and 11 points lower than the five-year average. Some areas are very dry, and a good general rain would be beneficial."

The report disclosed that the condition of sheep was 74 per cent—three points lower than the previous month and nine points lower than a year ago. Where ranges have been overstocked," the report said, "grass is short and supplemental feeding has been much heavier than usual."

The statisticians said that goat shearing was well advanced in the southern section of the territory but that few sales had been reported. Very little wool and mohair had been contracted to March 1 and prices were mostly unsatisfactory, they asserted. They said that quite a few losses had been reported among early lambs but losses of sheep and goats had been lighter than had been anticipated.

"On March 5 the bulk of fat lambs scaling 82 to 93 pounds sold from $10.50 to $11.00 on the Chicago market, those at the latter price being mostly choice kinds scaling 90 pounds down. Outsiders paid up to $11.25 for a few loads of choice light lambs. Shorn lambs scaling 86 to 92 pounds made $9.40 to $9.75. Common light woolskins sold at $9.00 to $9.50. Good to choice yearlings averaging 92 to 96 pounds, brought $8.75 to $9.00. Choice 106-pounds ewes earned $6.00 with scattered lots of heavier kind from $5.00 to $5.75. Good to choice 60-pound feeding lambs went out at $9.75.

"Cattle prices were much stronger than the previous week, and the demand was good for all classes."

Youth Trudges Eight Days to Cheer His Friend

MANGUM, Okla., March 12.—Miles by the hundreds and weather not any too auspicious for hitch-hiking, were no barrier to Jimmie Wilson of Mangum, junior at Oklahoma university, who returned Tuesday to his studies after spending four days at the bedside of his buddie, Houston Johnson, freshman in the school of medicine at the university.

The youths grew up together at Mangum, and last fall they went to the university together. Six weeks ago Johnson was stricken with an ailment of the knee. He was sent to Memphis, Tenn., for treatment, where the leg had to be amputated at the knee.

Then Jimmie came. Rolling an extra shirt in a newspaper he set out on foot. Rides came with indifferent frequency, and it took him four days to get to Memphis. After cheering up his schoolmate Jimmie returned to the university by the same means of locomotion. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Wilson, pioneer citizens of Mangum.

THREE WOMEN ON BRIBE JURY

Negro Mechanic Also to Hear Doheny's Trial

WASHINGTON, March 12. (US)—A jury of nine men and three women, including a colored automobile mechanic, was selected today to try Edward L. Doheny, millionaire oil magnate, in the last of the "oil scandal" trials.

Doheny is charged with having given Albert B. Fall, then secretary of the interior, a $100,000 bribe to obtain a lease of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve in California. Fall already has been found guilty of having accepted such a bribe.

Actual hearing of the case will begin tomorrow, when Owen J. Roberts, special government prosecutor, presents his opening arguments for the prosecution. More than 60 witnesses have been subpoenaed and it is expected the case will last two weeks.

Thirty-seven talesmen were examined before 12 jurors acceptable to both sides were obtained.

Of the three women chosen, Miss Margaret Mannix, 23, and Miss Jane Yeagle, 26, are stenographers for the National Geographic society. The third is Mrs. Chrissie E. Vollmer, housewife, 49.

The negro, Luther W. James, 39, was selected after the government had challenged two colored women, accepted by the defense.

The other eight men on the jury are: Charles P. MacWilliams, store manager, 43; Clarence Canter, street car conductor, 46; Archibald Gill, chauffeur, 52; Isaac Dengler, laundry employe, 38; T. Bernard Beckert, hotel clerk, 33; Emory English, Terminal company employe, 45; Conrad Pitts, Stonemason, 47; and Chesley H. Ray, steamship agent, 41.

THINK OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE IN TERMS OF TOMORROW

Ultimate cost is as important as first cost in the purchase of an automobile

WHEN you purchase an automobile you are making an investment of a considerable amount of money. It is essential, therefore, that you give careful thought to the best selection and know what you are getting for your automobile dollars.

The first cost is important because it may mean an immediate, satisfactory saving. Of equal importance is the ultimate cost after thousands of miles of service. This ultimate cost is the true measure of automobile value.

THE first cost of the new Ford is unusually low not only because of economies in manufacturing, but because the same principles that inspire these savings are extended to every other step that means greater service to the public. It is easy to see that economies in production would be of little value if they were sacrificed later through high charges for distribution, selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, does business on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company. His discount or commission is twenty-five to fifty per cent lower than that of any other automobile dealer. You gain because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

The difference in selling cost, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, amounts to at least $50 to $75 on each car. This is as important as economies in production in keeping down the price you pay for the new Ford.

THE low ultimate cost of the new Ford is the result of sound design, quality of material and unusual care in manufacturing. Friction and wear are reduced by the accuracy with which each part is made and assembled.

These factors combine to decrease the cost of operation and add months and years to the useful life of the car. The good performance and low yearly depreciation of the new Ford are indicative of the enduring quality built into it at the factory.

SERVICE charges are on the same fair, economical basis as the making and selling of the car and replacement parts are always available at low prices through all Ford dealers. In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost.

Think in terms of tomorrow, therefore, when you purchase an automobile. For tomorrow will reveal its true worth.

DEMOCRAT MAY SIT ON COURT

Capital Circles Believe Davis Has Chance

By HERBERT LITTLE

WASHINGTON, March 12. (UP)—President Hoover may name a Democrat to the supreme court when he appoints a successor to Justice Edward Terry Sanford, probably next week, political circles believe. The most likely candidate is now believed to be John W. Davis, of West Virginia, and New York, the 1924 presidential candidate of his party.

There is precedent for appointment of a Democrat by a Republican president and several good political reasons. Besides, the supreme court traditionally has been nonpartisan, although there is no statutory requirement for appointments among political parties.

Davis would be a representative of the country west of the Alleghenies, and he is one of the foremost lawyers in active practice now. He and Charles Evans Hughes, before his appointment as chief justice, were the leading corporation lawyers, especially in supreme court work.

The United Press is informed Davis turned down a supreme court appointment in 1922, offered by President Harding, who subsequently named another Democrat, Pierce Butler of St. Paul. Davis' practice in recent years has been so lucrative and successful, however, he might be better able to accept a position paying only $20,000 a year and spend the rest of his life on the most powerful tribunal in the world. Davis is 56.

Newton D. Baker of Ohio, war secretary in the Wilson administration, is another member of the minority party who might be considered.

The state of Pennsylvania has no one on the supreme court now, whereas New York and New England each have two and several Republican lawyers from there probably will be suggested. Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia, who prosecuted the oil case, would likely meet less opposition in the senate than the others mentioned. Representative James M. Beck, former senator George Wharton Pepper and State Supreme Court Justice Robert L. von Moschiske.

Illinois, which also has no supreme court justice, may put forward one of the most distinguished lawyers of the country, Silas H. Strawn.

But if Mr. Hoover decides on a Republican and one who would offset the storm of criticism which Mr. Hughes' appointment brought, Federal Circuit Judge William S. Kenyon of Iowa would meet his qualifications admirably.

Kenyon was the author of his court's decision invalidating the Teapot Dome lease, but in the old days he was one of the reforming Middle West senators and allied the farm bloc in many of the so-called "progressive" movements.

Mr. Hoover will take up the selection of the new justice at once, now that Justice Sanford has been buried. The advice of Chief Justice Hughes and Associate Justice Stone is expected to guide him in large part.

Paper Ownership Denied by Utility

WASHINGTON, March 12. (INS)—Testimony to the effect the American Gas and Electric Co., does not own stock in any newspapers but that the Appalachian Power Co., a subsidiary, does hold 240 shares of preferred in the United Newspapers, Inc., of Wheeling, W. Va., which was taken in part payment for a debt, was presented to the federal trade commission by H. M. Sawyer, vice president of the American company at the resumption of hearings today on the financial structure of the American company.

He said the Appalachian company also held 200 shares of preferred stock in the Wheeling Intelligenced and the Wheeling News as collateral security for a debt and that it could not be voted.

Asked if the Appalachian, through owning stock in the United Newspapers, had anything to do with the policy of the paper Sawyer replied, "emphatically no."

FINE LADIES WEAR

A New and Better Shave by Gillette

A new Blade
A new Razor

(PATENTS PENDING)

THE GREATEST SHAVING IMPROVEMENT IN 28 YEARS

MILLIONS of faithful, well-worn Gillettes are now going to win an honorable discharge. Sure—they're good old razors! And if you have to wait for your dealer to get his supply of the New Gillette Razor, your old Gillette will operate with the new blades.

But once you have tried the New Gillette Blade in the New Gillette Razor you will never be satisfied to shave with anything else!

Many important changes

What have we done to the Gillette Razor and the Gillette Blade? Not just one thing, or two things, or three. We have made a dozen important changes which, when you add them all together, make an entirely new and greatly improved shaving tool.

Take "razor pull," for example. Do you know why your old Gillette "pulled"? Perhaps you blamed the blade; but the fault was not in the blade. Our laboratories examined tens of thousands of used razors; our engineers talked to twenty-seven thousand hard-to-satisfy shavers.

What did they find? A razor "pulls" because its working parts have been dropped and dented on floor or wash basin.

Perhaps the dent is microscopic. Just the same it makes a difference. When you handle a Gillette, you are dealing with a fine precision tool. Even the smallest dent can throw it out of alignment. Hence "pull." Now look at the corners of the new razor.

See those heavy lugs? You can't dent those corners by any ordinary accident. But suppose, by some terrific abuse, you should dent them. Never mind. The ends of the blade have been cut out. The blade is no longer held at the corners. Therefore, a dented razor-corner can't possibly affect the smoothness of your shave.

No more blade wiping

Another thing. The new blades are processed to resist rust. Think what that means in convenience and time saving. No more do you have to take the razor apart to wipe the blade. No more cut towels. Just loosen. Turn guard at right angles. Then re-tighten. Hold under hot running water for rinsing. Shake well. Lay on the shelf.

The old posts are gone. How many a good edge was lost by bumping against those posts. Now the razor blade turns at right angles for rinsing. No taking apart for cleaning.

QUICK FACTS

1. New blade can be used in your old Gillette
2. New processed steel; new blade resists rust
3. Cut-out corners of blade prevent "razor pull"
4. To clean, turn guard at right angles ... then re-tighten ... rinse ... shake dry
5. New shape guard channel gives full shaving clearance
6. New shape guard teeth meet skin smoothly, naturally
7. No projecting posts to dull blade edges
8. Reinforced razor corners prevent damage if dropped
9. Square blade ends safer to handle
10. Shaves easier around mouth, nose, ears
11. New blades same price as old
12. New razor, 24K. gold-plated, with one new blade, in case, $1.00

New shape guard teeth

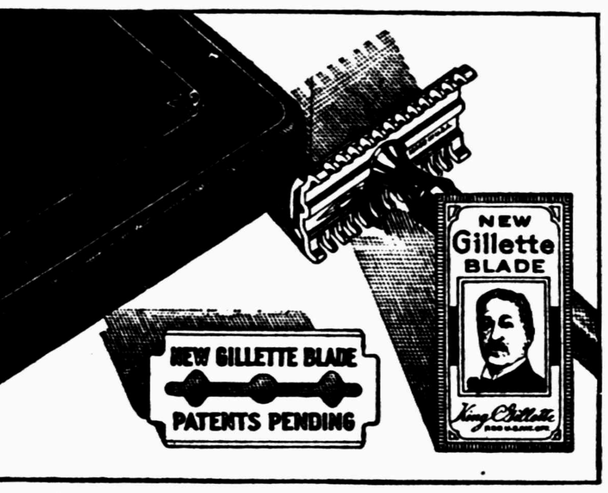

Notice the guard teeth . . . longer . . . turned back farther. They glide over the skin like velvet. You hardly feel the razor slide over your face.

See the ends of the blade . . . square . . . not round. Much easier to handle with slippery fingers. Less chance of having to fish for the blade down the drain pipe. And, being almost flush with the cap, the blade shaves much better around the difficult corners of the mouth, ears, and nose. The famous guard channel beneath the blade edge allows the blade to meet the beard full and clear, yet with perfect safety. This has hitherto been an exclusive feature of high priced Gillettes selling at $5.00 to $75.00. Now you have it in the $1.00 model.

See your dealer today

Gillette factories are working at capacity to supply all dealers as soon as possible. See your dealer today. Tomorrow he may be sold out . . . an inconvenient delay for you. Give your face this good news now!

All of which means that for $1 you can buy the greatest shaving improvement, the biggest money's worth in shaving comfort that has been offered in the past twenty-eight years.

The new Gillette Razor, 24K. gold-plated, in beautiful case, complete with New Gillette Blade . . . . . Price $1.00 Other De Luxe models at $5.00 to $75.00

$1.00 for ten and 50c for five

TESTIMONY IN TRIAL CLOSED

Attorneys to Argue Hoobler Case Today

him awake. The witness, according to the testimony read, said Hoobler was "in pretty good condition the next morning and didn't look as if he'd lost any sleep."

Mrs. Fred Ebner, operator of the Marchman hotel cafe here, testified she talked with Hoobler on the day of the slaying and cashed a $20 check for him.

E. F. Lamance, who was an attendant at the Fourway filling station here at the time of the homicide, told the jury he had sold Pendergraft seven gallons of gasoline on Jan. 27, three gallons of which he ordered left at the station for Mrs. Pendergraft to obtain later. He knew Pendergraft, the witness said, but did not know and could not point out his companion. Mrs. Pendergraft later came for the three gallons of gasoline, he said.

Physician Testifies

Dr. M. A. Beckman, county physician, was asked by state attorneys to tell of his examination of the body of Pendergraft after it was brought to the Hines mortuary here. A defense objection because of the fact the body was embalmed at that time was overruled. Dr. Beckman, using District Attorney Sam B. Spence in the demonstraton, indicated to the jury the exact spot where the bullet entered Pendergraft's head, about one inch from the tip of the ear.

O. W Hines of the mortuary said he had found no powder burns on the head when he prepared the body for burial. He said the body was "in bad condition," due to the time it had been exposed. Mr. Carrigan of the defense objected to qualification of the witness as an expert on powder burns but the court told him not to interrupt the state questioning and Mr. Spence continued. Hines said a gun would make powder burns from a distance of about six inches but would not burn when fired directly against the head or at a greater distance away.

The jury was excused while attorneys recalled S. O. Hamm, state ranger and employe of the state highway department, to testify for a bill of exceptions.

"Did you strike Hoobler while you were questioning him on the night of Feb. 7?" asked Mr. Carrigan.

"Yes, I slapped him," answered the witness.

"Why did you strike him," Mr. Spence put in.

"Because he called me a damn liar," Mr. Hamm said.

"Well, were you?" asked Mr. Carrigan.

Before the witness could answer, Mr. Spence interrupted and the court allowed the state to continue its questions. Hamm said he knew of no one else striking the defendant during their questioning and did not strike him but the once himself. He admitted having accused Hoobler of killing Pendergraft.

P. A. Landis, teller at the Wichita State bank, told the jury he had known Hoobler in Oklahoma and had cashed a cashier's check for him Jan. 29, two days after the slaying. The check was for "about $500," he said, and was on the Security National bank. Claude Parrish, employe at the Security National, said he had examined the records of the bank when the check came in and states the amount was $550. J. H. Mathis, teller at the Security National, identified a check introduced by state attorneys as the one cashed by Hoobler and said he had examined the records Wednesday, discovering the check was dated Jan. 30 and was for $550.

Cattle Recovered

During the morning testimony, S. B. Heard, buyer for the Wichita Packing company, told the jury that during the latter part of January, 1929, he had bought 11 head of cattle from Hoobler for $550. Hoobler posed as the owner, he said. Further testimony showed the cattle were later surrendered to representatives of Mrs Pendergraft.

Glen R. Kincaid, vice president of the Security National bank here and then connected with the Farmers State bank of Burkburnett, said Hoobler was behind on a note for $400 owed there and that after Pendergraft's disappearance, $225 was paid on the obligation.

E. M. Kimmell, Grandfield banker, testified Hoobler was four months in arrears in January, 1929 in payment of a promissory note for $240 and that Hoobler called him on long distance the Monday following the Sunday on which Pendergraft is alleged to have been killed. The defendant told him then, the witness said, he was going to East Texas to settle an estate and would settle the note Thursday or Friday.

Most of the witnesses introduced by the state Wednesday were called in an attempt to develop the theory that Hoobler killed Pendergraft so as to dispose of the slain man's property in order to meet obligations he was being pressed to pay.

Sheriff C. O. Hooper of Cotton county, Okla., who testified Tuesday afternoon, was recalled to the stand Wednesday morning. He told of the three days of questioning Hoobler before the defendant led them to the body and said he had promised to protect Hoobler from "the mob" if he would "tell the straight of it." After Hoobler led them to the body, Sheriff W. G. Bralley here took him in custody, he said. Sheriff Hooper said the prisoner was not "beaten up" when he saw him and told officers here "that was not his way of doing."

Widow Recalled

Sheriff Bralley told of being led to the spot where Pendergraft's body was found and said Hoobler later took them to a place on the Henrietta road where he said the shooting occurred. Judge R. V. Gwinn, justice of the peace, testified to having held an inquest over the body.

Mrs. Pendergraft, widow of the slain man, was recalled Wednesday morning. She said Hoobler had told her son, Roy, a few days after her husband disappeared "things would have to be different around here now." Clyde Hoobler, half brother of the defendant, denied that in January, 1929, D. J. Hoobler had any interest in an estate at Mount Pleasant, Texas, where the defendant and the deceased were planning to go when they left home before the slaying.

A larger number of women were present in the court room Wednesday than were evident the first day of the trial and interest seemed to have increased the size of the audience. The listeners remained throughout the afternoon Wednesday in spite of the slowness with which the testimony proceeded and many seemed reluctant to leave when Judge Martin announced at 3:30 there would be no more action in the trial until Thursday morning.

District Attorney Spence is being assisted in the prosecution by Mike Anglin and George W. Anderson, assistants. Temple Shell and John Davenport are participating in the defense with Mr. Carrigan.

WOMEN FIGHT FOR DRY LAWS

Organization Heads Heard By Committee

central organization linking many affiliated women's groups in the prohibition movement. This creed held the buyer of liquor equally guilty with the seller, advocated personal liberty for women who have "endured personal slavery through drunken husbands," and called for organization of citizens' public safety groups, recognized and approved by the government to "safeguard observance and enforcement of law through the regular channels of government."

From every angle and type of organization and from nearly every section of the country, the women's arguments were assembled by Mrs. Peabody, and they all declared the prohibition, even though not well enforced in some regions, constituted a vast improvement over prohibition conditions.

Witnesses Careful

Under questioning by wet members of the committee, the witnesses reiterated their contentions and avoided being drawn away from the line of their direct testimony. They frequently sought rulings on the admissibility of the questions

Mrs. John F. Sippel of Baltimore, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, was the first witness. She came to Washington accompanied by three men presumably to guard her. She said she had been threatened if she should appear. Her organization had 14,500 clubs in the United States and willed that the 18th amendment be carried out

Among the other witnesses were Mrs. Clarence Fraim, legislative chairman of the general federation; Mrs. I. I. Johnson, of New York, president of the Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America; Mrs. Orin R. Judd, of New York, president, Counsel of Women for Home Missions; Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, of Chevy Chase, Maryland, of the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement committee, and Miss Hilda Olson of Cambridge, Mass., treasurer of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement.

Others Heard

Witnesses not affiliated with Mrs Peabody's organization were Mrs Henry Marshall Kendrick of Washington, D. C., representating the National Council of Federated Church Women; Mrs. William Tilton, Cambridge, Mass., legislative chairman of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers; and Mrs. Clarence Marshall Busch, of Miami, Fla., president of the League of American Penwoman.

Representing the national advisory committee of the law enforcement committee were former Mayor Bertha K. Landes of Seattle, and Mrs. Clarence Macey of Rochester, New York.

Twelve state officers of the committee added their testimony in person. They were Mrs. Charles H. Greenland of Franconia, New Hampshire; Mrs. Lewis Jerome Johnson of Cambridge, Mass.; Mrs. Frank Porter of New Haven, Conn; Miss Grace Van Braam Roberts; Mrs. Richards Aldrich, Mrs. John Osgood Blanchard, and Miss Bertha Rembaugh, all of New York; Mrs. W. H. Alexander of Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. Clayton D. Eulette, of Chicago; Mrs. John Dickinson of Camden, N. J., and Mrs. Maynard Thayer of Pasadena, Calif. Mrs. Thayer represented both northern and southern California.

Messages supporting the witnesses' views were read from Mrs. Henry Ford, Mrs. Thomas Edison, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, of New York; Mrs. Vic Donahey, wife of the former governor of Ohio; Mrs. Percy V. Lost in Dark Tunnel, He 'Stumbles Out'

mites and stalactites could be chiseled away."

I then began retracing my steps to bring back my companions and enlarge the passage way, but somewhere down the tunnel took the wrong hallway. Realizing a bit later that I was lost I shouted but the only answer was the resounding echo of my own voice.

My party was out of hearing and knew nothing of the small opening into which I had ventured. In the midst of it all the globe in my flashlight burned out. I had an auxilliary globe but I found it difficult to replace that the way my hands shook from the sheer fright that came with the realization that I was lost behind and beneath thousands of tons of stone, and about me a darkness blacker than any I have ever known, my only hope of escape being to stumble into the right passageway with blind luck, which was the eventful outcome. My companions were searching for me and though they claim my absence amounted to less than two hours I insisted it was more than a week.

Today I am leading them down the tunnel. We will enlarge the opening and perhaps will come out into the sunshine somewhere in the Guadalupe mountains, a few miles from the known entrance to the cavern. But we most assuredly will lay string in case there is not an exit at the other end of the tunnel.

Single prescription made a family doctor famous

SELDOM has any single act been of greater benefit to mankind than the one which Dr. Caldwell performed back in 1885 when he wrote the prescription which has carried his fame to the four corners of the earth.

Over and over, Dr. Caldwell wrote this prescription as he found men, women, and children suffering from those common symptoms of constipation, such as coated tongue, bad breath, headaches, gas, nausea, biliousness, poor appetite, or lack of energy, etc. And it invariably relieved these symptoms so much more pleasantly, so much quicker than other things, that his patients simply had to tell other people about it.

The demand for this prescription grew so fast that by 1888 Dr. Caldwell was forced to have it put up ready for use and supply drug stores with it. Today you can get the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, at all drug stores.

When you or your children suffer from any of the symptoms of constipation, it will pay you to remember this safe, pleasant-tasting, effective laxative; made only from herbs and other pure ingredients; a real corrective for constipation. A doctor's 47-year experience behind this formula!

THE SHOCK OF FACING what your figure may become

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, properform, women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Albany Senate Passes Investigation

ALBANY, March 12. (INS)—After the ghost of Arnold Rothstein, slain New York City gambler, had been paraded up and down the senate chamber for more than an hour this afternoon, the senate passed the Republican bill authorizing Governor Roosevelt to appoint a commission to investigate New York City.

Democratic senators voted solidly against the bill but it was passed with the Republican majority supporting it. The vote was 27 to 24.

The investigation is the aftermath of recent charges that magistrates courts in New York are a "disgrace."

The bill would authorize Governor Roosevelt to appoint a special commission of five members to investigate the police, magistrates' courts, and bureaus of standards and appeals in New York City. It carries an appropriation of $50,000.

Senator George R. Fearon, Syracuse Republican, and Senate Leader Knight brought Rothstein's name into the debate on the bill.

"There is more than a suspicion that politics is so interwoven in the Rothstein case that it can not be separated," declared Senator Fearon. "There is more than a suspicion that someone knows the name of the slayer of Rothstein."

Half Million Potential Babies Involved in Fascist-Feminist Fight

By PRINCE PIGNATELLI

ROME, March 12. (US)—Italy is awaiting with intense interest the outcome of one of the strangest battles ever fought on a non-military field.

The struggle lies between Fascism and feminism, and the issue—vital to Dictator Mussolini's schemes for a greater Italy—involves 500,000 potential babies.

So far Il Duce has been worsted, and Fascism is now facing the resolute refusal of Italian women to fill any longer the subordinate role allotted them in the Fascist scheme.

At the beginning of last year Mussolini demanded a bigger quota of babies to realize a large scale emigration into Italian colonies, and extensive settlements on the land at home.

Yet Fascists now perceive that, instead of more, about 100,000 fewer children were born in 1929 than in previous post-war years. Consequentely a new battle for increased population is going to begin.

This time women canvassers are to replace men on behalf of the birth rate. The harassing of spinsters and men of marriageable age is to be discontinued and the demand for babies has been reduced from 1,000,000 to half that number.

Realizing that improvement in economic and social conditions is more likely to bring about an increase in the birth rate than propaganda, slum clearance projects and building programs are being initiated in industrial centers.

Biologists are preaching that a baby about once a year is the best way for a woman to maintain her youth in mind and body.

Vernon Schools Show Increased Enrollment

Special to The Record News

VERNON, Texas, March 12.—The enrollment of the Vernon public schools will reach a total of 2,600 students by the end of the present school year, Superintendent W. T. Lofland predicts, following a check of school attendance for the six-weeks' period ending Feb. 28. The rolls showed a total of 2,550 students now attending Vernon schools.

Regularity of students and punctuality at all of the white schools set high attendance records, and many rooms in the junior high and ward schools received half holidays as a result of good attendance.

The enrollment by schools is as follows: Hawkins 248; Shive 332; Central 440; Junior High 372; Parker 314; high school 588; Booker T. Washington 256.

GANDHI LEADS PROTEST TREK

Indian Leader Conducts Peaceful March

BOMBAY, India, March 12.(INS)—Launching his campaign of civil disobedience through which he hoped to force the British government to grant India its independence, Mahatma Gandhi and 70 volunteers today started from Ahmedabad on a two-week march to the Gulf of Cambay.

More than 100,000 natives cheered the Indian leader and mystic when he and his followers left the city early today determined to spread their dogma of firm but peaceful civil disobedience.

Hundreds of gifts were showered on the marchers as they began their long trek after much speechmaking and prayer. During their march, Gandhi and his followers will make speeches at about 100 towns whose residents, it is expected, will furnish them food and supplies.

No attempt to violate the law will be made until the marchers reach Jalalpur. There they will attempt to manufacture salt in violation of the government's salt monopoly.

It is not regarded likely that Gandhi will be arrested so long as he continues peaceful tactics for the government fears his arrest would enhance his reputation as a martyr and help rather than hinder his cause.

France and Russia are the only two countries which owe the United States money and have not made a refunding arrangement.

Texas Students Get Jail Terms

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 12. (AP)—Jack Hartman and Tom Gadis, youths who said they were students of the University of Texas, pleaded guilty to charges of possessing intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes here in district court today.

They were sentenced to serve 60 days in the parish jail, but the sentences were suspended.

Hartman and Gadis were arrested in Lake Charles, March 5, by a special agent of the Southern Pacific railway. They were found on a Southern Pacific freight train.

The youths said they had been to New Orleans for Mardi gras and were on their way back to school at Austin. Each had a pint of gin when arrested.

Four million women are employed as farm hands in Japan.

Bandits Rob Bank And Police Officer

PEORIA, Ill., March 12. (INS)—Two bandits just before noon today held up and robbed the Farmers and Mechanics State bank here, rifled the pockets of an unsuspecting patrolman who strolled into the bank during the holdup, and escaped.

The bandits were scooping up about $1,500 in cash, while the cashier and his assistant were held at bay under their revolvers. The patrolman, William Harms, walked in, was covered by the bandits, who disarmed him, forced him to lie on the floor, took his gun and money, and hurried off.

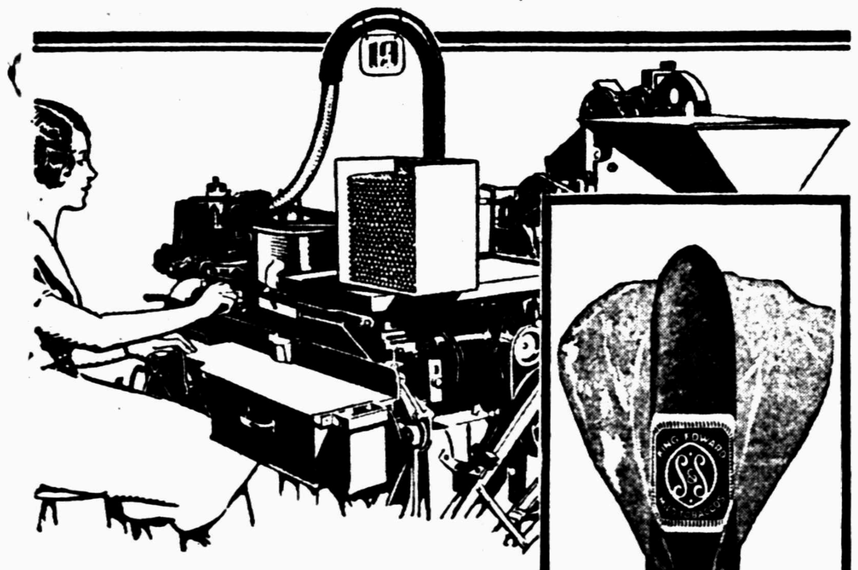

The bank was robbed just two years ago at which time the bandits obtained about $4,000.

In the entertainment of the board of education by the Wichita Falls Principals' club at dinner in the cafeteria of Austin school Tuesday night, one of the prettiest scholastic meetings of the season was arranged. PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Margaret Fuller had a great opinion of herself.. Some writers do. But not many are quite so egotistic as she, who said, "I now know all the people worth knowing in America and I find no intellect comparable to my own."

Clemenceau must have come in contact with other Americans like Margaret Fuller, for in the biography just published, written by his secretary, Jean Martel, he says, "You can never speak too well of the Americans. What an example of living, of will, of courage! But why must they be so pleased with themselves? Their population is made up of all the races of the world and yet the American is 36 times prouder of being American than the Frenchmen of being French."

America is not so far from the day of her pioneers that she does not know what privations a brave lot of men and women went through to make the country what it is. Having done 36 times as much for his country as the average Frenchman of the day has done for his (withing the last four centuries), the American has a right to be 36 times as proud.

We would, at the present time, concede the right to conceit to a pear tree that blooms in our yard. It is so white with flowers that one can hardly see a branch and so full of sweetness one cannot draw near without being met by the droning "buz-z-z" of hundreds of honey bees.

Every spring we debate on our mind whether peach, plum, apple or cherry trees are more beautiful. Taken by the individual cluster, we have personally yielded the palm to the apple, seeing nothing more beautiful than the pink edged petals.

But like a picture in our memory, stands out an orchard of flowering cherry trees that whitened the side of a hill in a little village in Missouri. It was breath taking in its beauty.

That was a strange little town, built a mile away from the depot and railroad and as inaccessible to broad minded information as it was to traveling facilities.

There was one rich man in the town; he lived in a big, ugly square white house with his third wife. Two were buried in the little grave yard, and this one rich man had economized on the carving of his one tombstone. He had taken the time worn "Remember friends—etc." and changed it (regardless of grammar) to read,

"Remember friends as you pass by,
As you are now, so once were we;
As we are now, so you must be—
Prepare for death and follow me."

And that's what wife number three had to look forward to.

That verse was never interesting to us. We find no pleasure in looking forward to immortality, so long as life is full in the springtime. Earth—with all its trials, is quite enough at present.

Marriage Never Life of Carefree Joy, Says D. Dix

Can Marriage Be Made a Life of Carefree Joy?—Folly of the Girl Who Risks Her Reputation Just To Be "Modern"—A Sister's Duty?

Dear Miss Dix—I am soon to be married to a girl whom I love very much, but when we are married she wants to settle down and have children. But not for me. I don't see why we shouldn't continue to go to parties and dances after we are married just the same as we do now. Why should we tie ourselves down just because we are married? My idea of a happy married life is one of carefree joy and I don't want to be burdened with children. I make plenty of money and I think that we should spend at least the first five years of our married life just having a good time and enjoying each other's companionship without taking on the worries of babies.

WORRIED YOUNG MAN.

Answer—When a couple is childless, the woman is practically always blamed for it and is accused of being too cowardly to face the ordeal of bearing children, or too lazy and selfish to be willing to burden herself with the care of babies.

But, judging from the innumerable letters that come to me on the subject, there are more men than women who do not want children. They don't want the noise and confusion of children in the house when they come home at night, and, above all, they don't want to spend their money on babies and sterilized milk instead of golf and gasoline. It is significant that, as social settlement workers tell us, the husbands who become wife-deserters nearly always disappear immediately after another baby is born.

But every man to his taste, whether it runs to stepping out of an evening or walking the colic, and if yours, Mr. Young Man, are not paternal, I strongly advise you against getting married. Because, welcome or unwelcome, babies are mighty likely to come along, especially if you marry a girl with the mother complex, and whose arms just naturally form themselves into a cradle.

Most of us don't see eye to eye with you about children. We think that a marriage that is childless is more or less of a failure, no matter how companionable the husband and wife may be. We think that a baby is more fun and entertainment than a box of monkeys; that watching a little child's mind unfold is the most thrilling and fascinating occupation in the world; that one renews one's own life in growing boys and girls, and that to rear up a family of fine men and women is to make the greatest gift that is possible to one's day and generation.

But if you think differently; if you see in a baby nothing but a squalling brat that is going to keep you at home when you want to go to a night club; if you see in your children nothing but little parasites who will absorb the money that you might be spending on good clothes or hooch, then, for goodness sake, don't get married.

For your own sake and for the girl's sake, stay single. Don't be unjust enough to marry a girl and when the babies come resent them, and leave her alone to rear them. A lot of men do that. Every time a new baby comes along they make their wives feel that she is an arch-criminal to have afflicted another mouth on them to feed.

A lot of men don't like the noise of children and as soon as dinner is over they put on their hats and go out to some place of amusement, leaving the poor wives to listen to the racket they have heard all day. A lot of men never do one single thing toward helping to rear their children and start them along the road they should go. A lot of men take more trouble training a setter pup than they do their own children.

So if you are not going to be a real father, don't be a father at all. That way you will save yourself a lot of responsibility and you won't have to answer some embarrassing questions on the judgment day when you are asked what you did with the little souls that God put into your hands to mold, and why you let that fine boy grow up into a wastrel, or that pretty, impulsive young daughter stumble off the straight and narrow way.

And don't go into married life thinking it is one of carefree joy, because you are due for a big shock of disappointment if you do. Marriage is the end of playtime and the beginning of the serious business of life. It is the acceptance of the responsibilities of existence. It is the shouldering of burdens that must be borne to the end. It is settling down, as your fiancee says, and unless you are ready for that you have no right to marry.

But I can tell you one thing for your comfort, and that is that our taste in good times changes. All the fun in the world does not consist in stepping out. Staying in by your own fireside can be even more enjoyable. Nor will you always care to dance and racketeer and make whoopee, and the chances are that in your own home, with your own wife smiling at you across the table of an evening and your babies' arms cuddled around your neck, you will find a far more intense pleasure than you ever got out of any wild party.

And there won't be any dark brown taste of regret in your mouth the next morning, either.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark
By RUTH WAITE

Every woman with gray, faded or streaked hair is entitled to do something about it, for it is every woman's birthright to retain her youthfulness and charm as long as she can. When a woman mentions gray hair to me, I don't hesitate to advise the use of a restorer and I recommend sage tea and sulphur.

A brew of common garden sage, when properly combined with sulphur, restores gray hair to its original color, luster and beauty. So perfectly does it do the work that its use is undetectable. You may either prepare the mixture at home or buy it already prepared and ready to use. Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur is the name of the prepared article and it costs only 75c a bottle at druggists. Hence there's no need of your bothering to prepare the mixture yourself.

You simply moisten a comb or soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, one strand at a time. The very first application banishes the gray and one or two more sees the hair beautifully restored to its original life and color. One would be surprised if she or he knew of the thousands who use this preparation.—Adv.

The girl who lets menstrual pains interfere with her activities has not heard of Midol. These wonderful little tablets act quite harmlessly, directly on the organs affected. They do not interfere with nature, but they do remove every particle of that unnatural, unnecessary pain.

Midol will end the most severe menstrual pain in five to seven minutes.

Midol is a marvelous discovery made by specialists. It is not a narcotic, yet it ends all that needless pain. And if you anticipate the time, the expected pain will not appear at all. Tiny tablets in convenient little aluminum case obtainable at every drugstore. Isn't it folly to suffer month after month?—Adv.

Members of the local council of Camp Fire girls met in the Camp Fire room in the Memorial auditorium Wednesday at 12 o'clock for the regular monthly meeting and luncheon.

The centerpiece was formed from a hand-made grass mat with an artificial lake and miniature canoe which added a touch of reality to the scene. Small pieces of cedar were used as trees and were so arranged as to appear to be growing out of the water.

Plate favors were hand-made miniature teepees with the cross logs and flame on one flap and the crow moon for March on the other. On the back of the tent was the earth and sun which symbolizes peace, and on the front above the door was the local headquarters emblem.

In the business meeting which followed the luncheon, Miss Mary McIlheran gave her report from the field trip to Dallas which was a district meeting of district four. Miss McIlheran reported that district four ranks third highest in having the largest number of executives and also ranks highest in financing field work.

New Century Jr. Hears Splendid Italian Program

Italian historical figures and Italian literature furnished the theme of an interesting program for the New Century Junior club when members were entertained Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John Hampton on Pearl street.

Mrs. Ted Krohn gave a report on the historical figure, "Savonarola," and the effect of his life on the political and social life of Italy.

The other number on the program was the interpretation by Miss Marguerite Fisher of the story "The Mother," by Grazia Deledda, written in Italian and translated into English by Mary G. Steegman. The book won the grand prize as a translation in 1926. The story, which takes place in two days' time, is not one of action but of feeling. Full details of lives are given and the central theme is a love affair between Paul, a priest, and Agnes, the woman. The real interest of the book, however, as depicted by Miss Fisher, is the spiritual and mental conflict that takes place in the mind of Paul's mother.

Mrs. Overton Abernathy conducted a thorough parliamentary drill after the lesson. As a finished pupil of Mrs. Kerr, Mrs. Abernathy qualifies splendidly as parliamentary leader, members said.

Mrs. Joe B. Carrigan was welcomed as a new member. After a social hour, a delicious refreshment plate was served to Mesdames Overton Abernathy, Dillard Anderson, A. R. NORTH PANHANDLE COUNTIES LAUNCH HUGE ROAD PROGRAM

PLAN UNITES PAVING LINKS

Leaders Meet to Connect Road System

Special to The Record News.

DALHART, Texas, March 12.—More than 50 delegates from 10 counties in the northwestern Panhandle and from Texas county, Okla., attended a special highway paving meeting here today.

Tentatively plans for a united paving program of seven counties comprising Dallam, Sherman, Hartley, Moore, Oldham, Potter and Deaf Smith were worked out.

Every county pledged its support to the state highway department with assurances that a delegation would be present around April 1 to meet with highway engineers and state commissioners in Dalhart at that time.

A program resulting in a connected system of paved roads throughout all counties in this area is to be launched.

HIGHWAY FIVE PLANS INVOLVED

Wichita Falls residents are watching with considerable interest the road building plans of the counties in the northwestern Panhandle, according to officials of the chamber of commerce here. In three of the counties listed in the program, state highway five is one of the principal routes, and the paving of this road, from Texarkana to Dalhart through Wichita Falls, has been placed as one of the major chamber of commerce goals here. The proposed program as it relates to Dalham, Hartley and Potter counties is of particular interest to Wichitans in relation to the highway five project, it was said.

A good portion of the highway, which if completed would carry a vast amount of east and west traffic through Wichita Falls, is already paved, and efforts are now being made by the highway five association to close the gaps in the route.

Federal Court To Rule on O. O. Owens

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 12. (UP)—The United States supreme court will decide whether O. O. Owens, Tulsa legislator and wealthy oil man, will return to the Oklahoma county jail to complete his one-year sentence on a contempt of court charge.

Owens has taken his case before every court in the country. The circuit of appeals recently refused to direct his release on habeas corpus proceeding.

He served three months of the sentence. The contempt action resulted from filing of a pleading in the Riverside Oil and Refining company litigation. He charged an opinion returned by the supreme court was written by an attorney, J. D. Lydick, and not by Chief Justice Charles W. Mason.

If the supreme court refuses to intervene, Owen's other recourse is appeal to the governor for clemency.

Quanah Delegates See Growth of Highway Plan

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, March 12—Six Quanah good-road enthusiasts attended the meeting of the Carlsbad Cavern Highway association meeting at Matador, R. R. Gilliland, of Quanah, acted in the official capacity of vice president during the meeting. Carl Guin, of Quanah, vice president of the association, was unable to attend.

This meeting was the largest and best attended gathering since the organization of the association. Delegates representing every town from Oklahoma City to El Paso over the Carlsbad Cavern route were present.

A budget of $2,000 was adopted for the coming year, according to Mr. Gilliland. Efforts will be continued to secure federal designation of this highway for its entire length as the route not only connects Fort Sill and Fort Bliss, via the famous Carlsbad Caverns, but shortens the distance from eastern United States to El Paso and California by several hundred miles. Most of the route is already state designated highways, and a considerable part of it already paved.

Those attending from Quanah were F. W. Kennerly, Jan. A. MacMurry, Luther Hunter, R. S. Reed, J. M. Christie and Mr. Gilliland.

South Plains Leaders See Success For Move to Add New Railroads

Special to The Record News

LUBBOCK, Texas, March 12.—"We feel like we laid a good foundation for some follow-up work that will result in convincing railway executives that Lubbock and the South Plains section have traffic and freight to justify additional rail facilities here," C. E. Maedge, president of the Lubbock National bank and vice president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce stated here today upon his return from St. Louis and other points where he and A. B. Davis, manager of the organization interviewed railway executives regarding rail extensions into Lubbock and the South Plains.

"All of the railway executives that we interviewed showed interest in West Texas and the South Plains section in particular and while none made definite commitments or indicated any action in the immediate future, we feel that we have formed some contacts and laid foundations for future work that will be fruitful."

The executives were given a brief of information regarding the growth and development of Lubbock and the South Plains section within the past several years and their attention was called to the great volume of wholesale business being handled by houses here and of the agricultural crops, livestock and other tonnage originating at Lubbock and South Plains points, as well as tonnage of materials and commodities being shipped here.

Oklahoma Aviator Tries for Record

Special to The Record News

MANGUM, Okla., March 12.—Robert Allen, a skilled aviator with the Shifflett Airways of Mangum, climbed 20,000 feet into the sky before high altitude forced him down. Allen, flying a 100-horsepower Kinner, American Eagle plane, flew up 20,000 feet in one hour and 25 minutes, and came down in 20 minutes. The flight, which place at Hobart, was witnessed by hundreds who trained field glasses upon the ship.

Allen reached this altitude without any oxygen equipment. He plans to obtain this equipment and then seek to establish a new altitude record for light commercial craft. He stated that his machine functioned perfectly at the high altitude, and he used less than one-half the adjustment for high altitude flying. He expressed confidence that with the oxygen equipment he will be able to set a new record by climbing 25,000 feet or more into the air.

COTTON MEN TO HOLD ACREAGE

Survey Shows South Plains Sticks to Crop

Special to The Record News.

LAMESA, Texas, March 12.—Contrary to government warnings, farmers on the lower South Plains will increase their cotton acreage this year, it was revealed in a survey of ten counties in this section.

"We see no inducement for reducing cotton acreage after looking over government figures that prove cotton can be grown in this section cheaper than any other part of the cotton producing world," Wm. A. Wilson, manager of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, said. "The counties included in our survey, which was conducted by the agriculture department of our chamber, are Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Kent, Garza, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum and Andrews. Farmers and county agents all stated that they not only would plant the same acreage that they harvested last year but that they will break in new ground, heretofore uncultivated and plant it in cotton. They did not state that they would reduce their feed crops any."

"According to government figures the lower South Plains can produce cotton at the small cost of ten cents per pound as compared with 17 cents in some sections of the state, and an average of 29 cents in other states," Wilson further stated.

Six Held After Raids in Jackson County

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., March 12.—Two of the six men arrested in Jackson county whisky raids during the past 24 hours, Wednesday made a successful break for freedom from the custody of Sheriff Sam Banks in a restaurant at Eldorado. Roy Richardson and a man whose last name is Tompkins escaped the sheriff at the noon hour while the party was awaiting the arrival of the other raiding officers and their prisoners.

B. T. Hanners, Eldorado youth, is being held in the Jackson county jail in default of a $500 bond on charges of aiding the escape.

The half dozen arrests followed the capture of one still and the parts of a second plant by county and federal officers. Bid Medlock, one of the number, was given a 60-day jail sentence and fine $200 on a plea of guilty to the possession of a still in the county court Tuesday afternoon. Barney Smith, under similar charges, was released under a $500 bond. The other prisoners are J. C. Quick, charged with the possession of whisky, and Floyd Summers, charged with possessing a still.

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, March 12.—Inspector Nagle of the postoffice department with others has completed a survey of the rural route to Greyback and hope has been expressed that the postoffice will be awarded.

If a postoffice is allowed at Greyback, it will serve the purpose just as well as a rural route, as it will be what is known as a star route, which will include the service of all people on the route by boxes at their homes between here and the Greyback field. Hill Top and Rock Crossing will also be served from this postoffice at Greyback, thus giving Electra a postoffice and rural route out of the city to serve this very important district.

Herbert Kaufman's TAPS Daily Editorial

TWO FINAL distinctions grace the extraordinary career of William Howard Taft. The first colonial governor to become president of the United States, and the first president of the United States to become its high justice, now becomes both the first president to rest in a national burial ground, and the first chief magistrate to convoke the entire nation to his funeral. Forty million Americans attended his last rites; forty million folk, transported to the banks of the Potomac by the magic of radio, stood beside his bier and heard the obsequies of the great administrator, statesman and jurist, upon whom the republic bestowed more honors than any other of her illustrious sons.

Meanwhile, by a sardonic quirk of fate, the differences between Russia and the United States, which Taft had so notably striven to prevent, are indefinitely widened by an organized state and federal drive to smash the Trojan horses, designed under Soviet direction to invade every industrial stronghold and release their secret forces for sabotage and anarchy. Washington accepts the challenge of Moscow with a decision to round up its trouble-making agents, and deal with all like firebrands under laws laid down for undesirable aliens. The departments of justice and labor, cooperating with Commissioner Whalen and the New York police, have concluded to prescribe the deportation act for imported "scarlet fever." Lists of the Reds in their employ are being prepared, and merchants and manufacturers the land over, are urged to rout these plague-carrying rats from their factories and pay rolls.

The federation of labor, loyal to the flag and still faithful to the traditions of Samuel Gompers, stands ready in solid ranks to protect democracy from further Bolshevist penetration. The American Federation of Labor rejects the principle of Communism as unitedly in 1930, as when the Portland convention voted down its radical minority in 1923. It refuses now, as it refused then, to barter its precious estate for the chaos and empty pottage pots which a harebrained renegade system offers in return. The American Federation of Labor thus justifies the high regard and profound confidence in which its leadership was notoriously held by Mr. Taft, not only during his incumbency as chairman of the war labor board, but throughout previous years of intimate association with Samuel Gompers.

THE WRITER vividly recalls an afternoon en route to Detroit, practically devoted to a eulogy of Gompers' character, his integrity and his patriotism. "America will never realize its debt to Samuel Gompers at this crisis in our fortunes," said Mr. Taft. "We may thank God that He has given us such a man to inspire the millions under His leadership to their duty. I dread to think what might happen if he were suddenly lost to us." And the writer likewise recalls a morning with Gompers himself, when, with tears rolling unabashed down his seamed face, he asked how he could be expected to hold labor's unstinted zeal and enthusiasm in line, in face of the stupid insults that it was constantly receiving from certain government bodies.

He related how several federation members had been summoned as experts to Washington. And, whereas the other appointees to that particular board were engaged at stated salaries, suggestion was made to discriminatingly compensate their confreres only for such days as they were actively engaged —and at their regular trade wage scale. Imagine the effect on the hair trigger temper of war workers if Gompers had demagogically proclaimed the sordid affront of these white collared morons; there's room enough at Arlington for soldiers of the common good, as well as presidents and military commanders. Sam Gompers would be in more fitting company there than in his present humble bed in obscure [illegible]

"How would I ever face St. Peter," said General Smuts, "if I died without seeing America?" He should tell that to his fellow countryman, George Bernard Shaw.

New Wealth and Empty Cupboards

PRODUCTION of $158,000,000 worth of new wealth in the Wichita Falls district during 1929 was announced Tuesday. By coincidence, this announcement appeared simultaneously with that of the Family Relief association which reports that approximately 2,000 family providers in Wichita Falls are unable to secure employment, and with their families are in desperate need of food.

The paradox presented by those two reports, appearing in juxtaposition to each other, does not point a situation peculiar to the Wichita Falls area, but suggests a critical problem now being faced apparently by every government in civilized Christendom. One need not be a party to, nor sympathetic with, the recurrent "Communist" demonstrations to recognize frankly the serious failure of civilized peoples to solve the problem of economic distribution.

If President Hoover is able to see through the smoke of senatorial and congressional fire now being directed upon his administration, he can see in the United States hundreds of cases like that reported here Tuesday. Ramsay MacDonald's Labor government in England tottered Wednesday, chiefly because of unsatisfactory progress toward solution of the unemployment problem. Fundamentally, the "unemployment" problem is a problem in distribution. The primary objective sought is food, clothing and shelter, securing of which conventionally has been through the medium of employment. It would be as fallacious to say that all men are willing to pay in full measure for such necessities with labor as to deny that the vast majority of the unemployed are not only willing, but eager, to make such an exchange.

Assuming that progressing social wisdom should rightly be directed to providing better conditions of life, in all its phases, for every member of the world's population, the existence of such genuine distress as that extant among millions of persons in civilized countries today constitutes an outstanding indictment against such civilizations. Human intelligence which bids fair to master unbelievably intricate problems of science on land, in the sea, and in the air has not yet learned how to distribute labor hours and the earth's products to minimize human suffering. Some more genuine element of humanitarianism than has yet come into general practice obviously must be evolved if the present sores are to be healed permanently.

"What Shall We Do?"

MEANINGFUL commentation on life, which men and women of every class and condition find crowded with unsolvable problems, may be found in a few words spoken recently by Thomas Schall, recently elected United States senator from Minnesota.

Mr. Schall became blind 21 years ago, shortly after having begun his career as a lawyer. Doomed to spend his remaining years in darkness, he turned in despair to his young wife with the piteous query, "What shall I do? Sell pencils?" Her answer in that moment of tragedy took Mr. Schall back to his law office to pursue his chosen calling, depending from that day upon his wife's eyes and upon his own mind to keep pace with the legal profession.

The measure of his success may be indicated by his recent election to the senate. But during two decades of darkness, Mr. Schall has accomplished something more than political distinction. Commenting the other day upon his misfortune, he said: "These years of darkness have brought me knowledge and understanding that I would not exchange, if I could, for the best pair of eyes in the world."

Mr. Schall makes no pretense of holding blindness to be a desirable state; nor is his statement superficial talk of the sour grape variety. He properly evaluates the forced development of intellectual faculties which, in most of us, remain practically dormant throughout life because we are so busy seeing things.

This senator from Minnesota has escaped the ennui with which most Americans appear to suffer, and which is expressed at the first hour of leisure with the almost petulant plea for entertainment, "What shall we do?" In every field of human activity we have been so surfeited with spectacle upon spectacle that even with perfect vision we are bored if the extravagant, artificial feast for the eyes give way to everyday surroundings. Because blindness has relieved his mind of the confusion which unhampered vision often imposes, Senator Schall has found in thought the satisfaction and depth of experience which spell contentment.

Clutching at Technicalities

THE LENGTHS to which a certain type of lawyer will go in his hunt for unimportant technicalities is well illustrated in a recent Ohio criminal case.

A councilman in a certain city was convicted of accepting a bribe. His attorneys carried an appeal to the state supreme court. And listen to this:

One of the grounds on which they based their appeal was this: The indictment alleged that the councilman had "accepted money" from a man who sought his favor. This, the lawyers said, was not true—the councilman had accepted a check. A check, they said, was not "money"—and therefore the conviction ought not to stand.

Very properly, the supreme court refused to pay any attention to such pettifogging. But the case illustrates the way in which an unimportant technicality will be seized on, by some lawyers, in an effort to advance a client's cause. And that is one reason for the current disrespect for law which distresses our lawyers so mightily.

Cancer, Accidents and Heart Disease Kill More

NEW YORK, March 13. (US)—Heart disease, cancer and accidents claimed more victims in 1929 than in former years. Middle-aged men eat and drink too much, don't sleep enough, work too much and worry too much.

The Girl With The Red Hair by Rob Eden

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Pretty Gay Terris has agreed to marry her employer, Frank Patterson, wealthy bachelor, in return for a loan of $5,000. She is certain she can never love him, but makes the sacrifice so that she may send her sick mother to Arizona. She goes to live with Nita Rollins, an office companion. Andy Grant, whom Nita loves, asks Gay to Coney Island. Nita discovers them and makes a horrible scene. A stranger helps Gay to escape. She is greatly interested in him and is furious at herself for refusing to let him take her home. She leaves Nita and obtains temporary quarters at a hotel nearby.

CHAPTER VII

At noon the next day, Gay was looking around at the room she had rented. Small, meagerly furnished but within her price. A walk up five flights of stairs, but the top domain was her own. Even the last flight of stairs. A skylight room, with the light rushing down from the ceiling which in the center held a wide aperture of rather dusty glass. Better than nothing. Eight dollars a week it cost.

A bureau, a single bed, a small table and chair. The bath was on the floor below.

As she examined each bit of furniture, she smiled. She was alone here. There wouldn't be the chummy companionship that there had been at first between her and Nita. None of that. The tasks divided, the coffee late at night. Unless she went out and got it. For there was no cooking allowed. All her meals would have to be taken out.

The first place she had come to, the long walk up the stairs, but she had taken the room. Lucky to get it, so soon. Her grips were on the floor now. The taxi driver had carried them up. Of course there was no look out, no view, nothing but the sky which seemed dirty blue through the soiled glass. Outside it was a bright, hot, gorgeous blue. She knew, for she had just come in from it.

The room was warm, so she jerked open the skylight as the landlady had told her to, and unpacked.

Then putting on a fresh dress, she sallied out in search of something to eat. First, though, she was going to wander over to the Seventy-second street apartment where Nita was. Not to see Nita. Only to see if by any chance there was a special delivery letter from her mother. Every Sunday Mrs. Terris had promised her one. However, she had to be careful going into the place. First she would watch and see that Nita wasn't around.

As she went out of the old house, she looked back. The place wasn't so inviting; brown stone, exactly like every other house in the block. In the front window was the sign that had lured her in, "Rooms for rent."

Home now.

She swung along easily. Six or seven blocks to go. That was all. At breakfast she would read mother's letter. . . .

A block before she came to the big apartment house she stopped and looked anxiously around. Nita was not in sight. More than likely she was sleeping. Nita hated to get up early . . . but it wasn't early now, it was 1 o'clock.

A hasty glance in her purse to see that her mail box key was still there. It was. She would leave it, and the key to the apartment door in the box. She had forgotten last night.

At the door of the building she hesitated, and looked through the glass. The hall was empty. If she hurried, she could slide in, open the box and get her letter, if it was there. Bravely she opened the door, and crept in. Someone was coming down the hall—not Nita. A man.

The box she opened was empty, and quick tears of disappointment flooded her eyes. Slowly she locked it, and was about to go away when she thought of the manager. A chance that it might have been left with her. She flew down the hall, past the steps, and rang the bell of the manager's suite. Mrs. Knox came to the door almost immediately.

The memory of last night's adventure was fresh in her mind—the moment she had spent in his arms dancing—the quick grip of his hand as she left him—eyes smiling down at her.

"I'm Gay Terris," the girl explained quickly, her eyes still on the hall. "I—was up with Nita Rollins in 302. Was there a special delivery letter for me this morning?"

"Why—let me see," the woman opened the door wider, and Gay went in, glad to get out of the hall. "Yes—." She picked up a letter from the table and handed it to Gay, who took it eagerly. Her trip hadn't been for nothing.

"I signed for it," the woman was smiling.

"Thanks—"

"You and Miss Rollins haven't been in this morning have you?" Mrs. Knox asked.

"I haven't—I don't know about Nita—," she had to get away quickly now. What had mother said in the letter? Was she feeling better? She was in Arizona by this time—the letter must have been written on the train.

"I phoned up when it came but there was no answer." Then Nita wasn't there, either? All her haste late last night for nothing. Nita hadn't come in.

"A man came, too, to see you—"

"A man?" Probably Andy.

"Yes, he left his card. Here it is." She reached to the table and gave Gay an engraved card.

Gay looked rather bewildered at the bit of cardboard she was holding. "Mr. Paul Ladishaw." Then underneath it, scribbled hastily in pencil, an address, 33 East Fortieth street.

She had been so sure it was Andy asked for her, wondering where she was—this name wasn't familiar to her, she had never heard it before.

"He asked me your name—the red haired girl, described you perfectly, and I sent him upstairs. When he came down he said no one answered the door at 302, and told me to give you this card when you came in."

Gay was thinking. Someone who didn't know her. Had to describe her to Mrs. Knox.

"You're the only red haired girl in the building, so I knew he meant you," Mrs. Knox went on, "a nice looking, dark haired man—"

Dark haired man! It couldn't be the man who had been at the shore dinner place last night . . . it must be . . . he didn't know her name, and would probably describe her as "the red haired girl." Had he followed her? If he had she hadn't seen him. She hadn't seen anyone last night she recognized.

"Did he want anything in particular?" she asked.

"I don't know. He told me to give you this card, and then he went."

"How long ago did he come?"

"Oh, perhaps half an hour ago."

Gay left after that, explaining to Mrs. Knox that she wasn't going to live with Nita any longer, that she would call for her mail every day. Would Mrs. Knox keep it for her until she could get her address changed properly? Mrs. Knox agreed, and took the keys Gay gave her.

Eating her breakfast at a coffee shop nearby, the girl read her mother's letter. She felt a little better, still tired—she hoped Gay was having a good time. She felt selfish, resting so much, having such a grand trip when Gay was working so hard. The nurse was very nice, although strict. More that Gay read eagerly, for every word her mother sent was precious. Tears came into her eyes when she saw the shaky signature. Impulsively she put the letter to her lips. Dear mother . . .

Sipping her coffee, she glanced at the card which lay beside her saucer. Paul Ladishaw. The memory of last night's adventure was fresh in her mind. The dark haired man. The moment she had spent in his arms dancing, the quick grip of his hand as she had left him . . . his eyes smiling down at her. He had spoken but little—indeed, he had had no chance to say more because she had left him so quickly.

But some way he must have followed her. Of course he didn't know her name. He would have to ask. The red haired girl . . .

Paul Ladishaw. At least she knew his name and where he lived. He had left no message with Mrs. Knox. Only his card with his address scribbled on it.

Idly she turned the card over. Oh, she hadn't seen that! For on the back of the card were a few words: "Can you get in touch with me today?"

Gay was excited. He wanted to see her! What should she do? Phone him?

Nice looking, Mrs. Knox had said. Dark haired. That must be the man.

Even now he might be phoning her at the apartment—and stenographer this morning.

BEAUTY OF '25 BACK AT DESK

Fay Lanphier Takes Up Typing Again

By DUANE HENNESSEY

HOLLYWOOD, March 12. (UP)—Five years is time aplenty for a dream to end and Fay Lanphier, who was taken from a typewriter, named America's most beautiful girl, feted and featured in the films, is back at a typewriter once more.

Memories are often cruel and fate would have it that Fay Lanphier should become a stenographer in the studio where a publicity department once could not tell enough of her beauty, her grace and her screen perfection.

The girl who was chosen Miss America in 1926 was discovered today in the Paramount studio office, typing manuscripts. As an ever present reminder there was within view one of the great stages where, at the height of her fame, she was featured by Paramount in "The American Venus."

Five Full Years

Those five years have been full ones for the girl who has hurried into the public eye. She has learned how popularity can wane, marriage can fail and business affairs go wrong.

When the future was brightest she married Sidney Speigel, son of a wealthy Chicago furniture dealer. But they didn't hit it off and Miss Lanphier obtained a divorce and set out on her own again. Then came the business disappointment.

"But I won't give up," the auburn-haired beauty said. "Here I am close to picture-making and I am confident I'll soon get a break."

She came here only a few weeks ago from Oakland, where she had been interested in a beauty parlor. The Bay region sent her to Atlantic City and when all other things failed she went back home. But the beauty parlor proved unprofitable.

One of Many

Once more in Hollywood she is no longer Miss America, but merely a beautiful girl among thousands. Her first entrance to pictures came without effort, but if there is a return it will be hard now.

"I've found casting directors willing to hear me, much interested in me, in fact, but their story is always the same," she said. "They have 'nothing right now.'

"Things will break and I'll be handy. I like this work. I was a stenographer before—before 1925. It keeps me occupied and I am making friends; I'll make a success on the screen this time."

Strange Illness Afflicts Scores

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., March 12. (INS)—State and county health authorities today continued concerted efforts to diagnose the strange paralytic malady from which 107 persons in four eastern Tennessee counties are suffering.

Although it was stated that in a great number of the cases the patients admitted drinking liquor of doubtful quality before being stricken, health officials have yet been unable to definitely trace the cause to poison alcohol.

No fatalities have been reported as the result of the malady. Several of the cases in Washington county, where 75 persons have been reported suffering from the disease, have been reported as serious. The other counties in which the malady has made its presence are Unicoi, Carter and Sullivan counties.

Practically all of the patients were now reported suffering from a partial paralysis of the legs below the knees. The first symptoms are colds and slight throat infections.

The patients have been placed under strict quarantine.

The company had filed application for an injunction against enforcement of an embargo on Florida nursery stock.

FIGHTING IRISH COP REWARDED

Pat O'Grady Promoted to Detroit Police Head

DETROIT, March 12. (AP)—Patrick O'Grady, Irish of course, and a fatalist, the terror of all Detroit gangsters, has shot his way to the top of the force. He will become superintendent of police here Saturday.

O'Grady has pushed in more doors with a shoulder amid flying bullets than any other man in Detroit. He has accounted for many "bad men," some dead, others in prison, in his 25 years in the service.

"They'll get you yet, if you keep it up," his friends have warned him.

"Well, if they do, Frank will get them," is O'Grady's stock reply. Detective Sergeant Frank Holland, a machine gunner in the world war, is O'Grady's partner in fields of danger. They have saved each other's lives on occasion. O'Grady believes they won't "get" him until fate decrees.

In addition to his fearless work against hard criminals, O'Grady has solved some knotty police problems and recovered the loot of several robberies. He had 13 citations for bravery.

The thieves left no clues. Among the pictures missing were three by Rembrandt and three by Thomas Gainsborough, famous artist.

Why Simple Stomach Troubles so Often End on Operating Table

"BECAUSE it could have been so easily avoided, no case is more pitiful, than that of the man or woman who is forced to undergo the surgeon's knife as the result of neglecting simple stomach ailments," said a New York physician recently.

You, for instance, may look on an acid stomach as nothing to fear. Yet in reality, it is a most alarming condition on account of its great tendency to develop stomach ulcers.

Face facts. If you suffer gas and bloating after meals, loss of appetite, constipation, headaches, if your breath is bad, your tongue coated, the best thing you can do is to go to the nearest drug store and get a bottle of Tanlac. Besides getting quick relief, weak, disordered stomachs which seemed utterly to have stopped working the way they should, have shown almost a miraculous return to normal activity through the remarkable stimulating effect of Tanlac. One woman, Mrs. May Ogle, says: "Tanlac saved my life. I had stomach troubles for 10 years. Gas nearly killed me and I was in bed for weeks at a time. Doctors said it was gall stones and gall bladder. Spent lots of money but suffering increased and all hope was lost. Certainly a harder task for Tanlac could not be found yet it succeeded. Now in the best health in 10 years and eat everything." Tanlac is not a "patent medicine"—it's a real medicine so do not accept a cheap substitute. Fully guaranteed to give satisfaction or money back. At all druggists.

CONOCO HOLDS SALES RALLY

Company Officials Here for District Conference

A group of four officials of the Continental Oil company, headed by C. C. Warner, advertising manager from the general offices in Ponca City, Okla., arrived in Wichita Falls Wednesday morning to open a sales conference of all jobbing salesmen and district superintendents in the Wichita Falls division.

With Mr. Warner are J. E. Moorhead sales promotion manager, H. A. Tiemann, general supervisor of salesman training work; and Frank Moore, special sales representative, all of the Ponca City offices of the Continental company.

The conference was opened Wednesday morning with an attendance of about 30. The meetings are being held at the Wichita club, and will be held for the next three days. Mr. Warner Wednesday morning presented the Continental advertising program for 1930, which includes an extensive program utilizing more than 1,300 newspapers, national magazines, trade papers, radio broadcasting over the N. B. C. network, direct mail and other methods.

The meeting Thursday morning will be taken over by Mr. Tiemann and Mr. Moorhead for sessions in salesman training work, with special reference to training salesmen in this district in distributing the new Conoco germ-processed motor oil.

The new oil, Mr. Warner said, was developed from the researches of two British scientists, Southcombe and Wells, and is a new principle in lubrication, displaying the newly found characteristics of "penetrative lubricity," to which Continental owns the exclusive rights.

From Wichita Falls, the party of officials will go to Kansas City, Mo., and from there to 12 other divisional offices of the company extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific, where they will hold meetings similar to the one being held here.

Mr. Warner said Wednesday night the new germ-processed oil had shown unprecedented sales since its introduction.

Nemesis of Hun Fliers Dives To Death as Test Ship Motor Stalls

OTTAWA, Ont., March 12. (AP)—Canada's second ranking ace of the world war, Col. William G. Barker, 35, crashed to his death at the Rockliffe Park Royal, Canadian air force field today, when the motor of a new ship he was testing stalled in an upward loop while flying at a low altitude.

The valiant war ace, who had 52 German planes to his credit and once shot his way out of a "flying circus" never had a chance once his ship started plunging noseward to earth.

His broken body was pulled from the twisted wreckage by government officials watching his test of a new Fairchild two-seater biplane. It was the first time the colonel had flown a ship of that type.

Colonel Barker had been in the air only 10 minutes before his plane went into its fatal dive. He was flying low, and apparently put the ship into a steep climb when, at the top of the upward loop, it suddenly remained suspended for a moment and then plunged downward.

The plane had been flown here only yesterday from New York and its pilot said it had performed perfectly. D. Campbell Shaw, test pilot for the Fairchild Aviation corporation of Canada, of which Colonel Barker was president, said that the ship was in perfect condition at the take off.

He ascribed the tragedy to "an error of judgment while flying low," giving the opinion that Colonel Barker must have miscalculated the power of the motor to drive the machine from the ground.

Colonel Barker's war flying record was excelled among Canadian aviators only by that of Col. W. C. Bishop, V. C. He received a long list of decorations, headed by the enviable Victoria cross. The other citations included the distinguished service order, the military cross, with two bars; medalgia valore d'Argenta, (Italian) and the Croix de Guerre (French). He was wounded twice and was thrice mentioned in despatches.

JURY ACQUITS BILL CHANCE

Defendant Not Guilty in Tillman Slaying

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., March 12.—Bill Chance was acquitted of the charge of the murder of L. C. Adkinson, aged filling station attendant, by the verdict of a jury in the district court here Wednesday. The verdict was returned at 1:50 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, more than 20 hours after the case was given to the jury Tuesday.

Chance claimed that an alleged confession of the crime was obtained from him under coercion, declaring that he knew nothing of the attempted hijacking which resulted in the death of Adkinson.

The state attempted to prove that the defendant had blacked his face to avoid recognition at the time of the robbery and shooting.

husband had threatened her. She testified the woman frequently said she would kill her husband.

After a quarrel in Amarillo, she said, Mrs. Turner came home ahead of her husband, locked herself in the house, and, when her husband was unable to get into the house and started to bridle a horse, as if to leave, she shot him.

She then chopped down the door with an axe, the daughter-in-law continued to make it appear he had forced an entrance, and put bluing on her hands to make them appear powder burned.

The defendant testified that when Turner chopped down the door she fled to the lot, Turner following, Ester following him. A scuffle ensued between the three, she said, and the gun was discharged, killing Turner. Mrs. Mollie Turner's two sons, John and Claude, also testified in her defense.

CALIFORNIA OIL PRICE RAISED

Standard Posts Increase of 25 Cents Barrel

LOS ANGELES, March 12. (US)—Following each other in rapid succession, two favorable developments affecting California's oil industry were made known today.

The first and probably the most favorable—was the announcement by the Standard Oil company of California of an advance of 25 cents a barrel in the price of crude oil at the well. The other was the decision by Judge William Hazlett, in the superior court here, upholding the constitutionality of California's gas wastage law.

Advance in crude prices, which was followed by other purchasing companies in the state, is taken by oil men to indicate that all possibility of a gasoline war is now averted. That, plus the fact that the state's production is now virtually in line with demand, will insure good earnings for the leading oil companies in California.

Jury Selected In Suit for $31,200

Selection of a jury for the trial of a $31,200 suit brought against the county by W. R. Anderson was completed Wednesday afternoon in the 78th district court. The taking of testimony for the plaintiff will begin Thursday morning, it was said.

Anderson claims he would have earned $31,200 in commissions on delinquent tax collections between 1923 and 1927 if the county had fulfilled a contract made in 1923. The agreement was broken off in 1924, it was explained, after the attorney general had declared it unconstitutional. Since that time a supreme court ruling has held similar contracts in other counties legal, Mr. Anderson alleges.

Wane Somerville, county attorney, is being assisted in the defense by Ralph Mathis, special counsel.

The head of the French delegation received French newspaper men but rigidly excluded reporters of all other nationalities. The French writers came out of the conference convinced that Briand was depressed.

Candy Not Forbidden TO THE FAT

No need to deny yourself all good things because you overweigh. Modern physicians do not advise starvation. They know the dangers of it. They know that people who are over-fat have generally an under-active gland. So they supply the factor, for lack of which too much food goes to fat.

This modern method is the basis of Marmola prescription tablets. These tablets were perfected, and are prepared, by a famous medical laboratory. A book in each box states the formula and explains the reasons for results.

For 22 years Marmola has held the top place in its field. Millions of boxes have been used in fighting fat. The people who gained new youth and beauty, new health and vigor have told others. Now the results are seen everywhere. Excess fat has largely disappeared.

There is usually no excuse for an abnormal figure and the dangers which go with it. If the cause is an under-active gland Marmola is the right way to combat it. For 22 years, countless people have been learning what it does.

Go try Marmola and learn what they have learned. Read the book in the box, then do as directed. Take four tablets a day. When you see that results are coming, go on and complete them. You owe that to your future. Start today.

The FIRST PUBLIC FINANCING of a Houston Business That Has Grown From $800 to Be Worth Over $1,000,000 ALL OUT OF ITS OWN PROFITS in Ten and a Half Years

The W-K-M Co., Inc., started August 14, 1919, as a three-man partnership, with $2000 of borrowed capital and a firm determination to build a great oil field equipment business. That $2000 was repaid out of first-year profits amounting to $9000. The only actual cash capital ever invested in the business, until this year, was $800 put in the first year by an employe who later became a partner.

The business grew. The three partners got a fair income out of it for themselves, and earned over $100,000 net profit for the firm in a little over three years. Every dollar of this profit was invested in enlarging the business.

November 1, 1922, the partners formed a close corporation, with only four stockholders: Clint F. Williams, President; L. O. Koen and Fred McManis, Vice Presidents; D. J. Bryant, Secretary and Treasurer. In 1926 Mr. Williams sold out to his associates and Mr. McManis was elected President; Mr. Koen, Vice President; Mr. Bryant, Secretary and Treasurer. In this form the corporation ran along to the end of 1929, earning good profits and ploughing nearly all of it back into the rapidly growing business. In 1923 net income was $61,719, out of which only $4000 was paid in dividends. In 1924 we bought some experience and lost $19,232. Next year, 1925, we made $4010, net. In 1926 net income was $93,156.81; a $10,000 dividend was paid, the rest reinvested in the business. In 1927 net income fell to $37,337, of which $10,000 was paid out in dividends, the remainder reinvested. In 1928 net income was $79,640, all put back into the business. In 1929 net was $66,477.88. Average net income the past four years was better than $72,000 yearly. Like most other businesses, ours fell off heavily in the last quarter of 1929. It shows a big improvement in the first 1930 quarter to date. We are now marketing new industrial, pipe line and tractor equipment perfected in our shops during 1929 and expect 1930 to be one of our best years.

January 1, 1930, with a capital investment of $102,758.27—all but $800 of it paid in out of profits—the company had tangible assets very conservatively valued at $962,104.55. These included cash, notes and accounts receivable, land and buildings, inventory, machinery, patents at actual cost, etc. As of the same date, the company's intangible assets, items that do not show in a balance sheet but which practical business men know may be as valuable as items that do show there, totaled another $918,000, conservatively estimated. These include $168,500 gain in market value of the company's real estate; actual earning value of its patents in excess of their cost; its distributing contracts; its trade name and good will, very valuable in this and other countries where the company does business; its field and office sales organization, one of the best in the country; its large investment during 1929 developing new lines of tractor, pipe line and utility equipment which are now being marketed and are expected to double the volume of the company's sales.

The time had come when the company was justified in capitalizing a larger portion of its assets; when it needed new capital to reimburse its treasury for investments made in part with borrowed money, and to make and market its new products.

So, W-K-M Co., Inc., has become an open corporation. It has increased its capital stock from 1500 shares of $100 par value common to 3000 shares of $50 par, 8% dividend preferred and 30,000 shares of non-par value common. Twenty thousand shares of the new common stock have been subscribed by the three original shareholders; 10,000 shares are offered to the public at $25 a share. Total capitalization, on this basis, when the new shares are distributed, will be $900,000. The company has no funded debt. Its only mortgage debt is $97,712.50 on real estate and buildings worth nearly three times that amount, and steadily growing in value as the debt diminishes.

James A. Baker, Jr., of Houston, was elected a director March 5, 1930, with Mr. McManis, Mr. Koen and Mr. Bryant. One or more additional directors will be elected from among the new stockholders in the near future.

Substantial portions of both preferred and common stock issues have already been subscribed by men who knew the company's history and were eager to buy into it. Nearly all of the company's hundred or more well-paid employes have bought shares; most of them bought common stock, believing it will be a good dividend-payer in the near future, and that it will reach a much higher value than its $25 introductory price when the company gets its new capital to work producing more sales and larger earnings.

The 3000 shares of $50 preferred stock, earning $4 a share yearly dividends, payable $1 a share every three months, will call for $12,000 a year. The company's net income, available for dividends, has averaged $72,869.45 yearly for the past four years—more than six times the amount required for dividends on these preferred shares. Dividends on the preferred are cumulative—must be paid in full every year before any dividend can be paid on the common. They have equal voting rights with the common shares—one share one vote at all meetings of stockholders. They have a first claim on assets, to their full face value plus any accrued and unpaid dividends. They are redeemable by the company, at its option, at $54 a share, any time it wishes to retire them. The company pledges itself to maintain a sinking fund, equal to 10% of its net income each year, with which to retire preferred shares. As long as any of these preferred shares are outstanding the company can not issue additional preferred shares, nor create any bonded debt against its properties, without the approval of holders of at least two-thirds of both preferred and common stock, combined. If preferred share dividends are unpaid for six consecutive quarterly periods, holders of the preferred stock are entitled to elect a majority of the company's directors and take charge of the business.

We believe these preferred shares offer savings investors a safe 8% income, with a reasonable probability of increased market value hereafter.

We regard the common shares at $25 as a good, legitimate speculative investment, both for future income and for substantial gain in market value. The officers of the company and most of its employes, who know its past history, its present status and its future prospects better than anybody else, have bought the common shares by choice, because they believe these shares will pay them a great deal more than 8% in the years to come.

We invite you to invest with us. While they last, you can buy as many shares of either preferred or common issues as you want. If it is not convenient for you to pay all cash for as many shares as you would like to buy, you can pay one-fourth down and one-fourth monthly during the next three months.

Officers of the company will be glad to answer any questions you may wish to ask about this investment or the business back of it. We invite you to call at the company's offices, 220 Roberts Street, Houston; or to telephone Preston 0854, Houston, and ask Treasurer Bryant or Assistant Treasurer L. C. Witten for any further information you may want. Mail orders for shares, with check, bank draft or money order enclosed, should be addressed to The W-K-M Co., Inc., Postoffice Box 1883, Houston, Texas. Subscriptions for shares will be filled promptly, as received. We believe these issues will sell quickly, therefore we urge you to act at once if you are interested.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

Ulcers of the Stomach and Duodenum

Ulcers of the stomach and duodenum do not heal as rapidly as ulcers in other parts of the body because of being subject to the action of the digestive juices. An ulcer of this sort may be caused by anything which will weaken the protective mucous surface lining, and allow the powerful juices to actually penetrate into the muscular tissue.

Seventy-five per cent of stomach ulcers are located in the small area toward the ploric end of the stomach and the upper and back walls. In ulcer of the dudenum the ulcer is usually located in the first inch and a half in at least 95 per cent of the cases. The size of an ulcer may vary from a pinhead to quite a large surface. It may occur in several places, althought usually only one place is ulcerated at a time.

At first, the ulcer involves only the under mucous membrane of the mucous tissue, but as it deepens it affects the muscular wall and may even penetrate through this. Where the ulcers have been in development for some time, adhesions or scar tissue result from the continued inflammation, and sometimes the stomach will become adherent to adjacent surfaces, such as the pancreas, the small intestine, liver, spleen or gall bladder. When the scar tissue is extensive, the condition becomes quite serious. Sometimes a mass of inflamed tissue may block the ploric valve so that complete emptying of the stomach contents is impossible. There is usually an excessive gastric secretion.

The stomach may contain as much as from one to 500 CC of highly acid gastric juice which causes an unusual burning and makes the patient wish to vomit, or to be nauseated. On vomiting he feels relieved. He may raise as much as a quart of this material. After a few of these daily attacks the patient gets into a thoughtful habit of providing his bedside with some soda and water just to have it handy in case the too familiar symptoms arouse him again. After taking the baking soda, which neutralizes the acid, he feels better. This is a mistake that the famous star, Rudolph Valentino, is said to have made. Other patients get into the trick of eating something when the pain is most acute, which has a tendency to dilute the acid and lessen the degree of irritation.

The distress may be slight or only a feeling of construction, or the stomach may feel heavy, and the most severe pain is possible. The pain is often described as boring, gnawing, cutting, tearing or cramping. More pain seems to be caused by the acid contents of the stomach rather than from the mechanical grating from food particles. Foods which are rough or which tend to stimulate the formation of hydrochloric acid will retard recovery, and for this reason a strict diet becomes imperative.

The common tendency among general practitioners is to prescribe a "soft" diet made up of gruels and puddings. This sometimes relieves temporarily, but the after effects soon felt from this kind of a diet encouraging the formation of more of the over acid gastric juice and the patient is in despair of an operation as he too often is led to believe that if the soft diet does not dork well there is no other hope but the knife.

Tomorrow I will explain how the milk diet properly taken is the best diet to use at the start of treatment for either stomach or duodenal ulcers.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Floating Kidney

"Question—L. S. F. asks: "Is it advisable for one afflicted with floating kidney to wear a belt? If so, what shape should it be, and should it be worn night and day?"

Answer—There is very little advantage in wearing a belt, as it must be worn so tight as to be very uncomfortable, if the kidney is going to be raised at all. Sometimes by wearing a comfortably fitting support the patient will feel more like walking and exercising due to the fact that all of the organs in the kidney section will be firmly supported, but it is very difficult to use a support with enough pressure to raise the organs. The cure for prolapsed kidney depends entirely upon exercising the abdominal and back muscles so as to produce your own natural muscular corset which will encourage the kidney to return to a better position.

Climate and Health

Question—An Onlooker asks: "Do you think it is ever necessary for one to go away for one's health? I know some women who keep their husbands in almost a constant state of bankruptcy by always going some place for their health, but seem to make no effort while at home to overcome their ailments by way of exercise and diet. Don't you think a person can get in good health in any climate whether it is in the mountains or by the sea, as long as attention is given to correct diet, exercise, etc?"

Answer—You are perfectly right. It is not necessary to go from one place to another in order to regain health. Of course, it is true that getting away from unhappy environments is often of some help. Many times husbands and wives are so incompatible that both feel better when away from each other.

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

One who knows by "expierience" that as a sports editor the author of this immortal department is a class AA jackrabbit hunter wrote a wrathful letter denouncing two of our assertions. The letter, signed by Jack Cox, of Quanah, was found at the bottom of the stack of morning mail, but its merits kept it from the wastebasket, and we print it herewith:

The Rambler's Corner:

I have noticed your article in the "Rambler's Corner" where you give the rookies a great chance to make the Wichita ball club.

I wish to protest your statement, by expierience, I asked for a try-out at my own expense, but they refused to even issue me a uniform.

In your "Corner" you also stated that Socole was a promising rookie and had a good chance of making the club. Not conceitedly I can play ball where they won't even let him in the park.

Now if you think this is giving the rookies a fair chance I differ with you greatly.

—JACK COX.

Well, Mr. Cox, we can't defend ourselves very well against your first attack, because we don't know what kind of rookie you are. When we said Skipper Carl Williams was a guy who gave every rookie a chance to show what he knows, we didn't think it necessary to state that we were referring to rookies qualified to try out for a Texas league team. Mr. Cox, there are divers grades of rookies. There are class B rookies, class C rookies, and down the line to class Z, and, indeed, some rookies can't be classified at all. Please tell us what kind of rookie you are, and we'll do our darndest to turn the world upside down trying to get you a berth.

You inferred of course that you were a upper class rookie by asserting you could show up a certain Spudder candidate, one Socole, to where the said Socole would turn pale and wilt. But that is not a very good recommendation, insofar as there is not a man named Socole on the Spudder squad, and never has been in the memory of living man.

There is a Spudder rookie named Sicola, however. Aye, Sir, Charles Sicola, from Houston, who plays great ball for a youngster. And we said as much two or three days ago, and we hereby repeat it, and draw our Bowie knife to defend that opinion against any and all comers between the age of 58 and 90, Phil Scott being admitted to the contest regardless of age, because we know he's yellow.

To change the subject, Mr. Cox, we admire neither your spelling nor your grammar. But we do admire your spirit. You think you've been wronged, and you write heatedly to protest. We have always been a champion of free expression, whether it be a protest against the cruelty and lack of judgment in this world, or the burbling of a sensitive poet, or the blowing of Ford horns, the noise of which apparently delights the modern American more than the Philadelphia symphony. And if you differ with anything we have said in response to your letter, write, Mr. Cox, and we will give it full consideration. This invitation applies not only to Mr. Cox, but to one and all. This department believes it has a mission on earth, egad—that mission being to further the cause of—well, er, just any cause—naval disarmament, for instance.

Andy Anderson, the good-natured sports scribe from down Houston way, took off for parts unknown Wednesday, leaving more kind words for the Spudders. Amplifying his statement down at the ball park Tuesday that the Spudders are "as good as the Steers and the Buffs," Andy went further, and said the Spudders outrank the Steers by far. He wouldn't concede that we have a better team than the Buffs, but he stuck to his first assertion that the Spudders are at least as good as the Bison crew.

Andy is on a tour of all Texas league training camps, writing what he sees for his paper, the Houston Press. We didn't see what he wrote about the Spudders, but he told us a good deal of it. He thinks we have a peppy infield, and he thinks the signing of Bear Allday, second baseman, and former grid star of the Centenary Gentlemen, was one of the best things Prexy Huff has done this season.

Andy went so far as to say that Allday probably will oust the Tulsa flash, Lin Storti, from the second sack position. Bettencourt, Andy thinks, should be included in the regular lineup as third baseman. The Houston scribe granted that Charles Sicola, the rookie third sacker from his home town, was showing up well, but he was extremely doubtful that the youth could stand up alongside of Bettencourt's high-pressure play.

And Andy also confided that he had written back home telling of the "Brazos Kid," the second Art Shires, and expressing the hope that the Kid some day makes good. The Kid, otherwise Austin Thomas, the pride of the Brazos bottoms, who admits he's one of the best outfielders in the lesser leagues, amused Andy very much down at the lot the other day. But after the Navasota ace had turned out a couple of hot line drives, and had actually performed some of his boasted outfield stunts, Andy's broad grin was turned on some of the Kid's kidders, and he said: "Now if that boy makes good, the laugh will be on you."

S. M. U. to Open 1930 Track Season Saturday

DALLAS, March 12. (AP)—Southern Methodist university will open its 1930 track season in a practice meet against the North Texas Teachers here Saturday. Although a full list of events will be run, there will be no tabulation of points.

Coach Jimmy Stewart said he would not send a squad to the Southwestern exposition meet at Fort Worth Saturday. The Mustang tracksters appear slightly stronger than last year, when they finished a poor last in the conference meet.

MORE ROOKIES START PACKING

Skipper Carl Gives Pink Slips to Five

By FRED D. THOMPSON
The Record News Staff

Carl Williams likes to see his Spudder squad in action, and so a second practice game was played down at Athletic park Wednesday afternoon, Howard Fitzgerald's revamped nine evening the series by defeating Tony DeFate's crew, 8 to 0 in a six-inning bout. Tuesday afternoon Defate's nine won easily.

Lennon and Moore divided time on the mound for the winners, and Cromer and Flinn, the great tall boy from Maine, offered up for the losers. Jack Kloza, hard-hitting left fielder from Montgomery of the Southeastern league, clouted a nice one over the center field fence for the first home run of the training season, and scored Allday for the first two runs of Wednesday's game.

Others Making Runs

The remaining runs were made by Lennon, Levey, Allday, whose second came in the fifth inning, Hooten, Euller, and Moore. Lennon walked, went to second when Levey did the same thing, and scored on Allday's base hit to second.

Levey took one of Flinn's good offerings and clouted to center field for a two-base hit. He went to third on Allday's base hit to center, and scored on Bradbury's wild throw to first, Allday advancing to second.

Hooten walked, and Allday and Hooten advanced a base each on Kloza's tap to the pitcher. Burns tripled to center field, scoring Allday and Hooten. Euller rolled to short, and was safe when Bradbury tagged Burns at the plate. Euller scored when the breezy Brazos Kid muffed Orr's drive to right field.

Moore, the Big Chief, got his in the sixth. He walked to first. Levey strode to the plate and hit a great one to center field which netted two bases, and advanced Moore to third. Hooten sacrificed to center, scoring the Indian, and advancing Levey to third. Levey, however, failed to tally as Kloza hit an easy one to short and was out at first.

The Kid Weakens

The great breeze from Navasota, otherwise Austin Thomas, the self-asserted base-stealing, hard-hitting Brazos Kid, again was on the losing side Wednesday afternoon. And the kid, apparently, had something, at any rate, to do with his side's failure to score even a single run. Tuesday afternoon Thomas was on Fitzgerald's losing side, but he drove in two runs and staged some flashy fielding.

In Wednesday's game however, the Kid played weakly. On his first trip to the plate in the third inning he singled to short, but was out a little later on a double play; on his second attempt in the fifth he fanned; and as for his fielding, he garbled Orr's smash to right field, and Orr got to third. The pride of the Brazos bottoms explained later that it was his off day.

The breezy Kid, however, was not the only one to experience an off day. The game did not have the flash that Tuesday's fracas showed. This, however, did not bother Skipper Williams. A let-up was expected, he said. As the players slip gradually into the groove, they will work up to tip-top shape long before the season opens, the skipper thinks.

Five Rookies Released

Manager Williams again brought down his axe after Wednesday's game, releasing five players outright. They were L. L. Marburger, pitcher, and M. G. Etzel, infielder, both of Coupland, Texas; Robert Williams, third sacker from Vernon; T. E. Bell, Electra infielder, and Jack Wise, Quitaque catcher.

Marburger and Etzel, the Coupland candidates, presented something new in the way of recruits. Instead of having to be told to go home, they cheerfully offered to quit after reporting Tuesday morning, saying they were not good enough. This coming on the heels of the arrival of the Brazos Kid, was a startling novelty in Wichita Falls' baseball office. Spudder officials had to actually plead with Marburger and Etzel to get them to stay over through Wednesday and perform on the lot. They agreed, but with many misgivings, saying they did not feel qualified to try out for a Texas league team. After receiving their respective pink slips Wednesday they departed for the home sandlots, where they said they would try to get in better shape.

Hard Day's Work

Wednesday afternoon's practice game brought to a close a hard day's work for the Spudders. Wednesday morning they went through the regulation drills, and early in the afternoon picked up where they left off, adding stiff batting and infield workouts to the menu. The game got under way about 3:30 o'clock, and was over a little before 5 o'clock. The sessions will be resumed Thursday morning at the usual hour, 10 o'clock. Another practice game is scheduled for the afternoon.

Bonowitz Signs Up

FORT WORTH, March 12. (AP)—Ted Robinson, president of the Fort Worth baseball club today said as he placed a blotter atop the freshly inked signature on the contract of Joe Bonowitz, regular left fielder and last of the holdouts of the kittens: "Nothing much we need now but the pennant."

When Bonowitz got on the dotted line after a conference with Robinson, he gave Fort Worth an outfield of Texas league regulars that averaged .338 in 1929. The left fielder, with a bat that clicked .359 last summer, is now well satisfied to play with Fort Worth, he said after he and Robinson came to terms.

In case Larry Cox is not returned by Pittsburgh the outfield will have Bonowitz in left, Eddie Moore, in center, Sullivan in right. In case Cox comes back, he and Sullivan will battle for the right field job with the loser taking the utility outfield role.

Trade Rumored

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 12. (UP)—Frank York, Brooklyn Robins president, made a mysterious trip to St. Petersburg today and the visit caused rumors of a trade between the Boston Braves and Brooklyn. Manager Robinson of the Robins has two infielders, Eddied Moore and Billy Rhiel, who might interest Bill McKechnie, Braves manager. The Robins, it is believed, would consider a deal that would give them Outfielder Lance Richbourg.

Babe Herman remains a holdout. In today's workout the regulars won from the yannigans, 10 to 7. Mickey Finn hit a home run for the yannigans.

Zundy-Reagan Cage War Opens Tonight

Basket ball will again predominate Thursday night when Reagan and Zundelowitz Junior high teams meet in the first game of a best three out of five series at 7:45 on the Zundy court. The winner of the series will earn the right to call themselves the champions of the city. The teams are bitter rivals and the entire series is expected to be hard fought.

Coach Ray Golden's Zundy machine apparently has the best argument if the pre-season games may be taken as a criterion.

The second game of the series will be played Friday night. The third game is scheduled for Monday afternoon while the dates for succeeding games, if they are necessary, have not been fixed.

Fort Worth Poloists Ride to 12 to 4 Victory Over Wichita Falls Team

San Angelo Rainbows' Star Leads Winners With Uncanny Strokes That Net Six Goals

FORT WORTH, March 12. (AP)—The Fort Worth polo team, led by Elmer Jones, rode to a 12 to 4 victory over Wichita Falls here today.

Starting with the first chukker, Jones, member of the San Angelo Rainbows, rode into the limelight and his play shining more brightly in each succeeding period of play. His efforts brought six of the Fort Worth goals and his hard riding and uncanny ability to hit the ball from all angles had a major part in the scoring of the other points.

Jones began the spectacular in the first chukker with two field goals, which aided by a one goal handicap, sent the Fort Worthians into a three point lead, which increased as the play progressed. Jones scored points in all but three chukkers. The Fort Worth team scored in every chukker except the second and sixth. Neither four scored in the latter.

Fort Worth entered the contest with a goal to its credit, carrying five to Wichita Falls six, but it had no bearing on the outcome of the game.

WALKER TEAM ENTERS FINALS

Sarazen, Farrell Beaten in Season's Greatest Match

MIAMI, Fla., March 12. (UP)—Probably the greatest golf match of the entire winter season was completed in almost pitch darkness here early tonight, as the veteran Cyril Walker and his comparatively "dark horse" partner, Clarence Gamber, Bocaraton, Fla., won their way into the finals of the $5,000 international four-ball tourney of the Miami Country club.

The Walker-Gamber team eliminated the favorites of the tourney, Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell, one up at the 39th hole.

Walker and Gamber thus earned the right to meet Harry Hampton, Chicago, and Neil McIntyre, Indianapolis, in the finals of the rich event. Hampton and McIntyre had surprised the gallery by vanquishing Tony Manero, Elmsford, N. Y., and Densmore Shute, Columbus, Ohio, one up at the 36th hole of the other semifinal.

AWARDS MADE IN STOCK SHOW

Texas Breeders Lead in Hereford Judging

FORT WORTH, March 12. (AP)—Today was Waco day at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show and more than 200 persons who came here on a special train witnessed the rodeo and cowboys seeking the elusive titles of world championship. Ideal weather continued today with stock show grounds crowded with sightseers.

Midnight, outlaw horse that has never been ridden still says "neigh, neigh," to the bronc busters and he will be in the arena again Thursday night.

H. L. Knust of Clifton, Oklahoma A. & M. college, Herschiel Wilks of Plainview and the Texas experiment station of the A. & M. college divided honors for grand championships of the swine division. Knust's heavy Berkshire barrow was named the individual champion.

The grand champion Jersey bull of the show was an honor taken by Las Palmas Jersey farm of Hebronville, Texas.

Texas breeders bested their northern brethren in annexing the most desirable ribbons in the judging of the Hereford and Shorthorn female classes that were completed Wednesday morning. When the awards were completed by the judges a Texas Hereford breeder, R. A. Elliott of Moran, was carrying the junior and grand champion ribbons that his heifer Blanche Mischief 14th, won. This young heifer is making her initial appearance on the major show circuit.

In the Shorthorn division Texas had to be satisfied with the junior championship. Clara 76th, owned by Singleton farm, Midlothian was edfeated for championship by Max-Walton lady Augusta 19th and owned by the John R. Thompson estate of Fifthian, Illinois.

In the carlot classes for breeding bulls honors are well divided. A Texas breeder, W. T. Lewis, Gainesville, furnished the first prize load of yearling Hereford bulls and the Wyoming Hereford ranch of Cheyenne, Wyo., supplied the first prize load of bull calves. This load was later made the champion load of the show. R. V. Colbert, Stamford, that won the championship with his load of bulls in 1929 stood second to the Wyoming Hereford ranch in the load of bull calves.

For Shorthorn bulls Frank Scofield, Hillsboro, was first with a nice load of cattle. Scofield has been connected with the Shorthorn industry in Texas for years and has furnished some of the best show cattle that have made the northern circuit.

Flaming Gasser in South City Field Defies Asbestos-Clad Men's Fight

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 12. (UP)—A flaming gas well, a terror of the oil fields, defied man's efforts to extinguish it tonight.

Casting a lurid glow from its 150 foot white hot jet the No. 5 Kinter, of Sinclair Oil and Armada Petroleum corporations in the South City field, continued to burn with increasing violence tonight. It has been afire more than 30 hours since it came in as a 100 million cubic foot producer Tuesday.

Blaze Attracts Crowd

As preparations were made to blast the flame from the gas column coming from below a 6,000-foot depth, thousands of sightseers crowded near the location. The spectacle of between $8,000 and $10,000 worth of gas daily being destroyed fascinated the crowds that came from all over the state.

The Kinter well is one of the largest gas wells to catch fire in the Midcontinent area. Last fall the No. 3 Stamper well of the Sinclair company blazed for three days and nights before a dynamite charge snuffed the flame.

The scene about the inferno was more barren than a battle field. Heat held back all but asbestos-clad workmen and pickets warned spectators "anything might happen." The roar of the gas, coming from a depth where the rock pressure is the greatest of any area in the world—2,500 pounds an inch—was deafening. The jet waved with shifts in the pressure. Reddish purple streaks showed there was oil in the combustion.

A twisted mass that was once a 120-foot derrick was woven about the base of the flame pillar. This must be removed before a gelatin-dynamite charge can be placed to blast the gas column from the flame. Workmen were doing this systematically but officials said it would not be before tomorrow or Friday the charge would be made.

Experts Arrive

Two veteran oil fire workers, M. M. and T. B. Kinley, brothers, of Tulsa, arrived here today to direct the work. A steel box with holes in one end was pushed as near the flame as possible. Men sprayed water on asbestos-clad workers who labored under the withering heat with acetylene torches to clear the wreckage. Boilers standing near the well were at red heat.

After the wreckage is cleared a dynamite charge will be placed in a trough about two feet from the surface. The flame does not burn at the surface but is about three feet from the hole. The charge will be set off electrically. The explosion will create a vacuum, forcing the gas into the well. In a split second the fire will have consumed the gas already in the air and the fire will cease.

Precautions were taken against spread of the fire to other wells. The Kinter is located in the midst of a cluster of large producers. Operators did not fear that the fire would spread, however. One of the two large producers that came in today was shut down as a precautionary measure.

Moore County Gasser May Turn to Oil Well

The Dumas area of Moore county, in the northwest part of the Panhandle field, has another big gas well, that may turn to an oil well at any moment.

Operators Royalty company, Barnsdall Oil company, Dana Oil and Gas company and Sunray Oil company No. 1, in section 164, block 3T, O. T. & N. O. survey, found a sandy lime at 3100 feet and is reported as making 50,000,000 feet of gas. It is acting just as the A. D. Morton well two miles away did early in 1927, and which made gas before it finally began to make oil.

The Operators Royalty company at its test in section 34, block B2, of H. & G. N. survey, in Gray county, drilled out the cement plugs at 2737 feet and blew in for 3,000,0000 feet gas and a slight spray of oil. It is 200 feet above sea level and can be deepened.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP)—It is expected that prices will be revised shortly on many printed lines. A further revision of 4-4 bleached goods is reported. Burlaps were easier. Raw silk steady and unchanged. Demand for Shantungs and sheer silk is better. More business is passing in wool goods.

MANY GARDENS IN RAY AREA

Community Also Busy With Fruit and Poultry

Featuring orchards and gardens rather than landscaped lawns and boulevards, generously occupied by comfortable looking cottages instead of impressive architectural structures, the Ray community which lies on the north side of the city opposite the Country Club Estates on the south represents a third suburban section of Wichita Falls in which small farming is extensively combined with home-building.

The Ray community has been in process of development longer than the Weeks small farm colony near Fair park and a lesser time than that of the Petrolia residence-gardening area. Approximately 200 families are resident in the district, which extends from Kenley avenue northwestward almost a mile. The higher portions of the addition being close to the irrigation ditch, waters are available from that source for truck growing.

Numerous orchards of considerable size are scattered throughout the district, many of them being well advanced in growth. Few of the homes which line the well-kept streets in the community are without garden plots, ranging from a few square yards of space to several acres in size. The general appearance of the district indicates much preparation for growing vegetables in great variety during the coming season. Residents of the Ray community predict that in addition to providing the larger part of their own diet during the remainder of this year, they will be able to market a large surplus of fresh vegetables during the late spring and summer months.

Raising of poultry will be carried on more extensively this year than in the past, according to T. A. Crosby, owner of one of the best pens of fancy chickens in this community. Approximately eight families in the Ray addition have made plans for raising chickens on a large scale this year, it was said.

Pioneer Showman Dies in Florida

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 12. (AP)—Edward F. Albee, pioneer showman, who with the late B. F. Keith created and operated a transcontinental chain of vaudeville theaters, died here last night of a heart attack. He was 72 years old.

Beginning as a young man with P. T. Barnum, circus magnate, Mr. Albee became an important power in the amusement world, building scores of show houses and employing such stars as Fred Stone, Al Jolson and George M. Cohan.

His association with Mr. Keith in 1883 in the presentation of a modest variety show in Boston led to the founding of the cross-country circuit of theaters which was merged last November in the Radio-Keith-Orpheum consolidation. Mr. Albee retired from active control of his enterprises at the time of the merger.

Hartley, assertedly helped the girl hide the body and is being held as accessory to the crime.

Cotton

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP)—Reactions from an opening advance in cotton were followed by advances during today's trading on trade buying and covering accompanies by talk of an improved technical position. Offerings were light after the early selling had been absorbed and there was a broadening of demand on the advance which carried May contracts up from 14.31 to 14.68. Closing prices were within a point or two of the best with the market firm at net advances of 26 to 30 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 8 to 11 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables. The advance to 14.54 for May met considerable further liquidation. Prices eased to 14.48 for July and 14.55 for the old October contract, making net losses of about 5 to 10 points on active positions. The selling movement then tapered. July rose to 14.85 and the new October contracts to 14.98 in the late trading.

Two private reports on acreage prospects were published. One pointed to a reduction on the average of 7.5 per cent. The other said prospects pointed to a reduction of 8 to 9 per cent in acreage and also estimated ginnings for this season at about 14,558,000 running bales. Liverpool cables reported continental and Bombay buying in that market.

Exports today 15,266, making 5,611,134 so far this season. Port receipts 6,885. U. S. port stocks 2,029,186.

Tariff Leader Still Optimistic

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., March 12.—Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, and in charge of the independent oil men's campaign before congress for an oil tariff, in a telephone message to James G. Cloud, chairman of the Tulsa division of the I. P. A. A., said that prospects for an oil tariff appeared to be "50-50 now, with chances good for a second vote in the senate."

Cloud said that Franklin was not discouraged, but still fighting for the rights of the independent oil men.

The second vote will be on the amended resolution of Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, which makes the tariff 80 cents a barrel and reduces the ad valorem to 40 cents a barrel on refined oils.

In the meanwhile all of the divisions of the I. P. A. A. are busy increasing the membership and planning to carry on the fight for the betterment of the condition of the independents.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, March 12. (AP)—Business in the wool market was draggy today. Observers feel that there is considerable good business pending. Their opinion is not universally expressed. Foreign markets are quieter according to private cables. Mill inquiries are scattered some, some of the hesitancy expressed, is due to a desire to wait for the London opening due next week before making commitments.

It has been calculated that between 1914 and 1918 the Turks shot, burned alive or caused to starve to death more than 800,000 Armenians.

Oil Stocks Stand Out When Price Of California Crude Is Raised

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 12. (US)—Oil stocks stood out by reason of steady advance in an otherwise unsettled and somewhat less active market today. The announcement of higher price for California crude and strengthening of the gasoline market in the Middle-West was the signal for the more aggressive activity in the petroleum shares that kept the group moving against the main market price trend. Standard of New Jersey gained 1 point, Texas Corporation 1⅝, Houston 3¼ and Barnsdall 1. Continued bear pressure and profit-taking offset indications of further money ease and influenced the reaction in the rest of the list. Steel dropped 3¼, Simmons 5⅝, General Electric 1¾, Radio 2¼, Columbia Gas 1¼, American Can 3⅝, and Continental Can 2 points. Call money rate dropped from renewal of 4 to 3½ per cent. Turnover fell off to under the 4,500,000 share level.

There is a strong possibility that the local rediscount rate will be cut tomorrow afternoon. Banking interests who have been most correct in the past on rate changes, however, express a little doubt that action will be taken for awhile. They admit that "pressure is being brought to bear" but feel the directors may decide to hold off action a week or two longer. When the reduction is made it will be regarded as further aid to business revival. It also should have powerful effect in bringing about further improvement in the bond market. The German reparations financing is not such a long ways off now. The federal reserve statements tomorrow are expected to show a further increase in brokers' loans reflecting the increase in public interest in stock dealings during the week.

Many and interesting are the tales told of the motion picture stocks. Most important for the daily trader is the profit-taking in Warner by professionals in the South who made a big profit following the Raskob group. That group is reported to be holding to its big commitment in the stock. The Warner interests are not averse to merging with Paramount, it is said, but such combination is unlikely for the immediate future. Radio-Keith stockholders are expected to get rights to subscribe to new stock. The funds from the financing, it is believed, will be used in acquiring more theaters. There is some idea that Radio-Keith interests would like to get the Loew stock held by Fox but Loew is still selling more than 25 points below what Fox paid for it. There is an idea also that some people would like to put Pathe into the Fox organization.

"Frank" Haveron, director of Parmelee transportation, confirms report published here exclusively some weeks ago that conversations have been held looking to merger of Checker and Parmelee. He says the merger has not been "officially discussed" but admits "informal consideration." Professional sharpshooters in the South are joining in the bear operation in Simmons. New group work is expected in Borg Warner and Autolite. The same people are interested in the two stocks and were interested before and during the October-November crash in prices. Insiders issued favorable advices on Timken Roller Bearing stressing expectation of more activity in automobile lines that would aid their company.

Further highly optimistic advices were received from California coincident with announcement that the price of high grade crude oil had been advanced out there. As stated here last week, well known oil officials on the coast believe the picture definitely has changed for the better in the entire industry. If they are correct and prices can be maintained for another few weeks the normal increase in consumption recorded with the advent of more open spring weather would be of material assistance to all the leading producers and refiners of oil. There is more oil and refined products on hand today than ever before, but the California people feel it can be handled and their belief was reflected in the buying of the oil shares.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, March 12. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—A slow demand at eastern dressed beef markets today had a depressing influence on the cattle trade around the 11-market circuit. Packers endeavored to enforce a sharp decline on most all killing classes but light yearlings and most grades of she stock were in too limited supply at most centers for packers to obtain any material concession. Light yearlings in Chicago $15.00, $14.50 was paid for weighty steers. Choice 785-pound fed steer calves at Kansas City $14.75. Receipts 30,000, a decrease of 4,300 from a week ago and slightly under the corresponding day last year.

Hog trade was moderately active, strong to 15c higher. The top of $11.25 paid in Chicago. Offerings 76,000 as compared with 88,000 last Wednesday and 84,767 the same day a year ago.

Mature sheep firm to higher. Best light-weight lambs in Chicago $11.40. The supply approximated 66,000, a decrease of 4,500 from a week ago but 22,000 heavier than a year ago.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, March 12. (AP)—Wheat was lower and still very slow sale on the cash grain market here today. Mills were bidding $1.11@1.12 for ordinary No. 1 hard delivered Texas common points. Little grain was meeting requirements of the grain stabilization agency.

Fair demand was reported for corn, oats and cane seed. Barley and sorghums were dull and hard to sell. This is the season for cane seed and they are wanted with a premium for the better and cleaner arrivals, the latter accounting for the higher prices bid on the Kansas seed.

Bids and offers on coarse grains basis carloads delivered freight paid to Texas common points:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 88@89c; No. 2 white or yellow 91½@92½c.

Oats—No. 2 red oats 54@55c; No. 3 white delivered Texas group 1 points 53@55c.

Barley No. 2 barley nominal, 65@66c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per hundred pounds $1.55@1.56; No. 3 kaffir $1.35@1.36.

Cane Seed—Bulk country run red top Texas grown $4.00@4.25; Kansas origin $4.25@4.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 12. (AP)—World wide turmoil in grain markets today left each Chicago delivery of every cereal but May wheat tonight at the lowest closing prices reached this season. The sole exception as to May wheat was due to big buying ascribed to agencies that are sponsored by the United States government farm board.

Demoralization of the wheat trade at Liverpool was reported, with prices there down 6⅛ cents a bushel, while maximum breaks in wheat prices at Chicago today, 4⅝ cents a bushel, carried values here down to 11⅜ cents under last week.

Reduction of world's estimated needs of wheat to nearly 300,000,000 bushels less than was actually shipped last year, whereas the United States and Canada both have a huge surplus, formed an outstanding feature today, and despite late rallies the wheat market here closed feverish, 1 to 2⅝ cents a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1⅝ to 2⅛ cents down, oats ⅝ to 1½ cents off and provisions showing 7 to 22 cents drop.

Corn, oats and rye collapsed owing mainly to the severe breaks in wheat.

Despite upturns in hog values, provisions were affected by the downfall of grain.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May 1.06⅝, 1.11½—1.12, July 1.01—[illegible], 1.06⅝ [illegible], Sept. 1.02⅝ [illegible] 1.07 [illegible]. Corn May 75½—⅝, 81¼—⅝, July 79¼, 83½—⅝, Sept. 79⅜, 83⅛.

CLINE NAMES FORUM GROUP

Nominating Committee to Select Directors

Members of a committee selected by Walter D. Cline to nominate directors in the open forum now under process of organization in Wichita Falls were named Wednesday.

At a meeting of the general committee, of which Mr. Cline is chairman, last Sunday afternoon he was instructed to appoint nine persons to serve with him in nominating approximately 50 persons in this section of the state as directors of the forum. The following will comprise Mr. Cline's nominating committee: Overton Abernathy, Charles I. Francis, Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, Lamar Fain, V. N. Armstrong, Frank Cripliver, Dr. Nat F. Grafton, Mrs. C. P. Burton and Mrs. Wenonah Roach Ware.

Nominees will be listed at a meeting of this committee to be held soon, Mr. Cline said, after which subscribers to the forum will be asked to vote on the names submitted.

Inefficiency Too Costly in Florida

WASHINGTON, March 12. (INS)—Millions of dollars have been wasted and millions of dollars in property has been destroyed in the Florida citrus fruit belt through inefficiency, Representative Will R. Wood, Republican, Indiana, just returned from a survey tour of that state, told President Hoover today.

As chairman of the house appropriations committee, Wood made a personal investigation to ascertain how the government's fight against the Mediterranean fruit fly has been conducted. He found that some $60,000,000 in property had been destroyed in "eradication" work, and approximately $6,000,000 expended. Practical fruit men estimated, he said, that the work could have been done for $1,500,000.

The worst "pests" from which Florida fruit growers have suffered have been the entomologists, or "bugologists," he declared.

"Some one in the department of agriculture could be indicted for conspiracy to destroy the Florida citrus industry and be convicted," said Wood.

Wood said he is opposed to further large appropriations.

The republic of Turkey abolished the fez as a part of the national costume and adopted a new hat in its stead.

Life Worth Living Now, He Declares

Orgatone Returns Energy and Strength to Austin Man

"I feel better than I have for 10 years," said James R. Hurtsfield, a well known transfer and wood dealer, residing at 1639 E. First street, Austin, Texas, in a conversation with the Orgatone representative a few days ago.

"I suffered from kidney trouble and pains in my side and back. My kidneys troubled me so that it broke up my sleep, and I would never get a good night's rest. I also suffered from an obstructed gall duct which hindered the proper amount of bile flow into my system. I felt dull and listless and without any strength or energy, and I was so racked by the pain I was suffering in my back, that I wouldn't sleep hardly any. Then lately when I would stoop over I would have sharp pains in my back and sides. I tried to treat myself with other medicines but nothing seemed to do me any good, and I just kept going downhill and getting worse from day to day.

"I read a lot about Orgatone in the papers here, and saw where some of them described their troubles just like mine, so I decided to try some of the medicine, too. Well sir, it did me a lot of good—more good than I ever hoped it would. Since I have had more genuine comfort than I have had in years. My sleep is not broken and all the pain has let my side and back. I never have to get up more than once a night. My meals taste much better than before.

"It didn't take me long to see that Orgatone was the right medicine and was just the thing that I had been looking for, and I am always ready to pass a good thing on and let others know what good Orgatone will do."

Genuine Orgatone is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by the Allison Drug store, 716 Indiana avenue.—Adv.

Grand opera and talking pictures. No comparison is about to be drawn. But from comment which followed Madame Galli-Curci's recent and vehement withdrawal from the Metropolitan, it appears that the operatic stage suffers from imitation and dilution of genuine successes quite as much as the talking screen is now suffering. Mr. Henderson of the New York Sun, dean of eastern musical critics, read Amelita's abrupt declaration that "grand opera is going to the dogs." After which he succinctly remarked that such entertainment is always on the downward path until a new master comes along. Then it takes a fresh hold on the world. Then, he continues, "a hundred more or less clever imitations of the new model spring up, and a good time is had by all until the warmed-over meals of the imitators cease to stimulate the public, and then opera starts for the kennels again."

If it were possible for producers of talking pictures to find time to read that penetrating criticism, and to meditate upon its truth, the screen's public might possibly be spared many of the imitations now issuing from Long Island and Hollywood. This public has, to be sure, placed itself rather at the mercy of the show factories; for rather than seek entertainment through some intellectual or artistic endeavor of their own, its members automatically and vapidly inquire of themselves "What shall we do?" and with the same minimum of thought ankle their way to a box-office to purchase 50 cents' worth of entertainment. Two hours later some mental energy will be devoted to resenting the quality of entertainment offered; the only slip being, that this much thought would have accomplished more if applied in advance to selection—or rejection.

The current illustrations are "Hot for Paris" and "Chasing Rainbows," the latter opening Saturday at the Majestic. The former, like "Cock-Eyed World," took such small elements of the masterpiece, "What Price Glory," as could safely be repeated, diluted them with Whizbang humor, and rushed forth at standard rates under the glow of Stallings' great play. "Chasing Rainbow" dashes into the arena shouting its relationship with "Broadway Melody," which was a pronounced success partly because it was an innovation and partly because of dramatic and musical merit. Now Bessie Love and Charles King may have made something really different, and with surprising qualities of entertainment. The regular boarders, however, may expect to find last week's cake in today's pudding.

WEEKS URGES FAITH IN CITY

Optimist Club Hears Talk By Attorney

"To speed the economic reconstruction of this city, which already has begun, you should continue to radiate optimism, should first try shopping with home industries yourselves, and then suggest it to your neighbors," said Fred Weeks, local attorney, to members of the Optimist club at the Kemp hotel Wednesday noon.

If citizens of this city have been guilty of any outstanding municipal sin, Mr. Weeks said, it has been that of having insufficient loyalty to spend their money here.

Speaking from 20 years' residence in Wichita Falls, Mr. Weeks expressed the opinion that he had witnessed here one of the greatest exhibitions of city building that this country has seen.

"We have passed the crisis, and are on our way to recovery, after having suffered in common with all other citizens from a general depression," he continued. "Four weeks ago I would not have been so sure of the speedy recovery of this community, but enough evidence has come to me during the past month to assure me that we have passed the crisis."

Building programs inaugurated by utilities companies and railroads throughout the country will make a great change in the unemployment conditions, and money will eventually find its way back into channels of ordinary investment, according to Mr. Weeks.

"Citizens of this city have now learned how to keep the city growing," he continued. "We have had enough experience under adverse conditions to be able now to make the most of an improving situation. Optimism has played a great part in Wichita Falls' growth, and optimism is still here. You could find few persons in this city today who would say that it would be better to go elsewhere. Standing up to the reverse, it has had proves Wichita Falls a 100 per cent optimistic city."

Mr. Weeks was introduced by O. R. Hartt, program chairman. Entertainment was furnished by Ted Williams, baritone, who sang three numbers, accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey.

Preparations for election of new officers during the coming month were begun with the appointment of Kindel Paulk, Jimmie Randel, and Solon R. Featherston as a nominating committee. Two persons will be nominated for each office, and the committee's report will be presented at the next meeting of the club.

Plans for the installation program, to be held during the first week of April, will be made by Dr. George T. Singleton, Frank Haley, and Alvah Conner, it was announced.
