CITY NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

W. F. SCHENCK AND SON, Walter, are in Breckenridge and Graham for a few days on business.

MISS LILA BAUGH, DEAN OF women at the Kingsville Normal college, is in Lubbock for a few days.

JACK MADDOX, OF JUNCTION, has returned to Lubbock and will enter the Tech this fall. He is a cousin of Frank M. Maddox.

DR. AND MRS. SAM H. STEWART are expected to return to Lubbock this evening from Dallas, where they have been for a few days.

G. M. WITT, OF THE LUBBOCK Business college went to Crosbyton today, on business. He will return to Lubbock Saturday.

MISS HELEN HILTON, DAUGHTER of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hilton, returned to her home here today after spending about three weeks with friends in Eastland.

ERNEST MAY, FIRST ASSISTANT Attorney General of Texas, and perhaps Dan Moody's most valuable right-hand man, left for Austin at noon today after spending a short while in Lubbock attending to legal business.

MRS. R. A. METCALF, OF WILSON, was operated on for appendicitis in a local hospital yesterday. Mr. Metcalf is in Lubbock, staying with his brother, Wiley Metcalf, desk sergeant of the police department.

GARLAND DAVIS, OF TEAGUE, arrived in Lubbock this morning, to make final arrangements for entering the Tech College next week. He is visiting for the present with W. L. Meier, of 311 Ave. S., and with Jno. L. Vaueha, whose father is a close friend of Davis' father.

A SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENT FOR members of the Tech Sunday school class of the First Baptist Church here, scheduled for this evening, has been postponed indefinitely on account of inclement weather of the past days, according to Irwin Coleman, president of the class.

DR. V. V. CLARK RETURNED last night from Muskogee, Okla., where he attended a Kiwanis convention during the first of the week, as a representative of the Lubbock Kiwanis club. He returned by way of Amarillo, stopping off there long enough to look in on the state meeting of the American Legion before returning home.

A NUMBER OF STATES OF THE Union were represented in Lubbock today by the following out-of-state visitors registered at the Hotel Lubbock: Lee M. Harris, Tulsa, Okla.; H. K. Taylor, St. Louis, Mo.; M. M. Moore and H. Brewer, of Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Fisher, St. Louis, Mo.; W. D. Johnson, Kansas City, Kansas; O. G. Allen, Chicago; G. C. Davis, Atlanta, Ga.; O. D. Todd, Spartenburg, South Carolina; and Major R. C. Scott and family, of Jovina Park, Md.

LIKE THE BLOSSOMS OF A RED rose, the grad sweaters worn by heroes of the war, the diamond, members of the band, and other Tech College letter award organizations, are becoming quite numerous in the city with the simultaneous arrival of some extra cool weather and a larger number of Tech students of last year who are returning to school this year. The sweaters can be spotted for quite a distance, and they show up quite prominently.

FIVE HILARIOUS YOUTHS, considerably under influence of some intoxicating beverage, drew up in front of a residence on Ave. L, Thursday night, and proceeded to make merry for the time being, with improvised and impromptu quartettes, and a stamance to a training school for throat exercise, until officers, summoned by occupants of the house, appeared upon the scene; whereupon the youths were escorted to the city hall, where they spent the remainder of the night. Four of the boys were released late yesterday upon payment of their fines for drunkenness and disturbing the peace, while the fifth is as yet still in jail.

RICHARD MERTON A RICH GERMAN TALKS ON STAND

HE ADMITS HE PAID SUM OF $441,000 OVER TO KING FOR HELP

(By The Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Richard Merton, German metal magnate, testified today that he paid the late John T. King $441,000 for his aid in obtaining for allegedly German owners the $7,000,000 realized from the sale of American Metals company stock seized as enemy property during the war.

Merton said he paid $50,000 to King by check and then gave him $391,000 in liberty bonds. The government contends that Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, shared in this money for approving the transfer of the $7,000,000.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Richard Merton, German metal magnate, testified today that it was he who suggested paying the late John T. King "something" for his aid in obtaining the return to allegedly German owners of $7,000,000 realized from the sale of American Metals company stock during the war.

Merton said that under the terms of an agreement he finally reached with King, in July, 1921, he agreed to pay the latter five percent of the amount of assets recovered, provided the transaction was completed before Aug. 15, 1921. If the transaction was not completed before September 1, Merton said, he was to pay King 2 1/2 percent of the amount received.

In addition, he testified, he agreed to pay King $50,000 in cash, and shortly thereafter gave King a check for that amount drawn on the Chase National bank.

Merton said he had not seen the cancelled check but he knew that it had been cashed.

Wanted "Cheap" Job Merton said he obtained the services of King because he thought it would be less expensive than hiring a lawyer.

King was once Republican national committee man from Connecticut and one of the most influential men in the Republican party.

Telling of the actual transfer of the $7,000,000, Merton testified that at a

Auto Test Drive Again Postponed

The automobile test drive from Amarillo to Corpus Christi, which was scheduled to have been made today following abandonment of the run following heavy rain over the greater part of the route, was postponed, according to Mr. Colp, manager of Glacier to Gulf Motorway association, to the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce said.

Government Warns of Approaching Storms

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. (AP)—Reports to the weather bureau today indicated that another tropical storm is centering northeast of Porto Rico and moving northeastward.

The weather bureau issued the following warning: "Advisory 10 a. m. There are indications of tropical disturbance central about 500 miles north northeast of Porto Rico and probably moving northwestward."

Dallas Officials Hold Three Women For Bank Robbery

(By the Associated Press.) DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 10.—Three women, two sisters and a niece arrested Thursday night at a tourist camp near Clarksville, may reveal whether the two bandits shot to death yesterday at Clarksville were implicated in the Irving State Bank hold up of August 25, officers here believe.

The women were brought here today for questioning. A photograph of one of the Clarksville robbers, A. M. Slaton of Fort Worth, was partially identified Friday by A. P. Mauk, cashier of the Irving bank, as one of the two unmasked men who held up his place and made off with $7,000. He could not recognize the photograph of the other robber, D. L. Smallwood.

The women denied knowledge of the Clarksville robbery, although they could not explain their presence at the camp, 15 miles south of Clarksville, to the satisfaction of officers.

One of the women is said to have come to the bank there Monday and have sketched the interior, the drawing being found on her person by officers. In addition, the women are alleged to have been in the bank as customers at the time of the hold up.

Mutiny In Greece Is Minor Affair, Report

ATHENS, Greece, Sept. 10. (AP)—Premier Kopydis today declared the mob scenes in Athens (following yesterday's mutiny by the republican guards) were caused by communists and a few royalists wishing to take advantage of the situation and cause the overthrow of the republic.

The government has arrested ten royalist leaders and participants. The number of dead is placed at 14 and the injured at 370, but some of the newspapers say the casualties were larger. Colonel Zervas and Dertilis, who commanded the mutinous guard, were taken to the arsenal secretly last night. The revolt was scheduled for today, the government says, but the authorities, having advance information, nullified the scheme by quick action.

Brownwood Policeman Released Under Bond

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Sept. 10. (AP)—C. S. Thigpen, assistant chief of police held in connection with the fatal shooting of Charles Greenwood and the wounding of Hoyt Shelton here Wednesday night, waived examining trial and was released, under $1,000 bond. Shelton is in a very critical condition in a local hospital. The two men were shot when Thigpen attempted to arrest them on charges of disorderly conduct.

Drunken Mexican Is Killed On Rail Line

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Sept. 10. (AP)—An unidentified Mexican was killed on the Santa Fe tracks sixteen miles west of Brownwood early this morning. He was apparently asleep on the tracks and an east bound freight train ran over him. A half gallon jug of liquor was found with the body.

Serum Saves Life Of Rattler Victim

LAREDO, Texas, Sept. 10. (AP)—Fort McIntosh serum yesterday saved the life of Mrs. J. S. Dunlap of Mirando City who had been bitten on the foot by a large rattlesnake. The woman arrived here apparently dying. The injection was made immediately. Today she is recovering.

Belgian Priest Is Slain In China War

SHANGHAI, China, Sept. 10. (AP)—Advices to the Belgian mission here say retreating Kuomintang (national army) soldiers in Northwestern Chihli province, killed Father Lauwers, a Belgian priest, burned three mission stations and plundered seven others in the episcopal vicariate of Swintze, northeast of Kalgan.

CENTRAL STATES PARALYZED; CROP DAMAGES COSTLY

THIRD DELUGE IN SHORT TIME BRINGS MILLIONS OF DOLLARS LOSS

(By The Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—The Central West counted seven deaths and guessed at millions in property and crop loss today in the flooded wake of the third visitation within ten days by storms of equinoctial fury.

Industry and agriculture were at a standstill in many localities. Paralyzed into complete inactivity by floods. Rains which swept fields and factories alike.

Damage Is Great. In Indiana and Illinois the torrential rain and lightning were more damaging in their efforts than last week's storms, from which a broad area from Ohio to Nebraska was beginning to recover before the fresh onslaught.

The fear today was of swollen streams, freshened by torrents draining inundated territory miles from the principal gutlets.

Flood Bad At Terra Haute. At Terra Haute, Ind., conditions were the most serious since the disastrous flood of 1918. The 7.25 inches of rain at Mattson, Ill., was the heaviest fall since 1907 and Jacksonville 17.5, recorded eight inches of rain for the first flood in its history.

Throughout Central Illinois hundreds of automobile tourists were marooned, cut off by submerged highways or weakened bridges. Railroad service was impaired by washed out tracks and bridges and in some sections was not attempted.

There were little more than estimates on the cumulative loss to agriculture, but they ran well into the millions.

Three of the four storm deaths in Illinois were from electrocution. The others were a Missouri farmer and his two small children by drowning.

CHICAGO BANDIT GANG GETS AWAY FOLLOWING RAID

FOUR MEN ROB TRAIN IN CITY'S SUBURB; MAKE ESCAPE IN AUTO

(By The Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Mail loot estimated at from $150,000 to $200,000 was seized aboard east bound Grand Trunk train No. 10 today by three of a band of four robbers who escaped at the southwestern suburb of Evergreen without firing a shot.

The robbery occurred in the suburb of Evergreen part of the southwest side of the city.

An automobile was in waiting for the mail robbers who had fled before the police had even received notification of the robbery.

Consignments of currency from the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago and the Union Trust company, also a Chicago bank, comprised the loot, the exact amount of which Grant Miller, postoffice inspector in charge here, said had not yet been ascertained.

Two of the robbers entered a mail car and held up the clerks, taking one pouch of mail containing the registered shipments of cash were assigned to delivery. The other two, carrying a large sack, started south.

They Leap From Train The robbers had boarded the train in the city. After the robbery they dropped off at Evergreen Park, a suburb on West Ninety fifth street chiefly known for its cemeteries.

An automobile of an inexpensive make little used by robbers was seen and is believed to have been used for the escape.

Only one pouch was taken, Inspector Miller said, indicating that the robbers had information that the currency was on board and were familiar with the mail system.

Inheritance Tax Test Case Called To Trial

BE YOURSELF; DON'T GO ON LIVING OUT OF CHARACTER

A woman went to a psycho analyst "just for fun." He told her a few things about herself that made her furious, but she took it as a compliment. After a while she decided to take his advice and see if anything happened. They did—several things. The canary didn't turn pink, nor did the plumber come when she phoned the first time; no, the intruders were far greater. One was that she seemed suddenly to have friends—real friends, the other was that her health came back and she had almost no headaches.

It is not necessary to rush off to the nearest psycho analyst, good friends, I can save you your feelings and five dollars, or is it ten? I shall tell you one thing the gentleman said to her. He said, "You are not you are not sincere. You are acting out of character all your waking hours. Then he translated his mystic words. He told her that when she disliked a person, she put on a smile and tried to outdo herself in being nice to them; that at heart she disliked society, yet because it was smart to be seen at certain places, she acted as though she enjoyed it. "You are a misfit, Madame," said he. "Not that I advocate kissing your enemies when we meet them, but I do advocate trying to like them, honestly. Then your actions and your feelings will match. If you cannot like them, avoid them. If you are in an environment or have work you do not like, change it, if possible, to things you do like. Do not go on living out of character."

That is not hard to understand. Nervous stretching to do things they hate wear us out. Moreover we are imposters and people are quick to detect it. "All the world's a stage, and men and women merely players," is too true. Too many people are acting a part. A maid once said to me, "I think in German and talk in English." A school girl said, "I use slang but I never think it." What goes on in our minds has too often no relation to our acts.

Mrs. Ernest Lee Heads C. I. A. Ex-Students Chapter

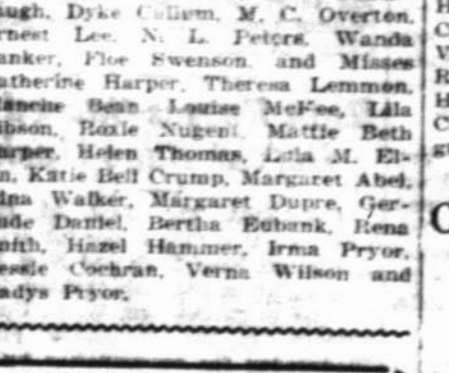

Mrs. Ernest Lee was elected president of the C. I. A. Ex-Student association Thursday evening when 30 former students gathered in the banquet hall of the new Lubbock Hotel for a banquet and reunion. A number of visitors who are here attending the teachers institute were in attendance. Miss Bertha Edulans was toastmistress of the evening.

A three-course dinner was served with a program being given between courses. Miss Katherine Arper, graduate of C. I. A., who later taught at the institution and who is coming to Lubbock as an instructor at the Tech, brought greetings from the new president of the college, from the faculty members and student body. Miss Theresa Lemmon, accompanied by Miss Lula Elkins, sang two songs and Miss Verma Wilson gave two readings. Mrs. M. C. Overton, president, gave a toast to students of years ago and Miss Edna Walker later students of the institution.

Other officers who were elected were as follows: Vice president, Miss Edna Walker; secretary, Miss Irma Pryor; treasurer, Mrs. Floe Swenson. Mrs. N. L. Peters headed the dominating committee.

Out of town visitors at the banquet with their teaching or working addresses were as follows: Misses Millie M. Hale, V. T. Clark, Louise Reagan, Lamesa, Ethel Hill Montague, Lamesa; Robbie Kincaid, Dayton. Others who were present were Mesdames R. S. Williams, C. H. Smith, O. F. Sensenbath, Drake Colburn, M. C. ## Mrs. Corson Cheered As She Arrives In New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 10. (AP)—A mother of two little children, almost unknown to the world at large a few weeks ago, returned to the city of her adoption today and received a conqueror's welcome from New York's millions.

She was Mrs. Clemington Corson, born in Denmark as Mille Gade, who will go down in history as the first mother to swim the treacherous waters of the English Channel.

New York, which reared itself hostile a fortnight ago to greet Tradie Ederle, the first woman to swim the channel, showed its impartiality by doing the same thing again today.

Bands blared, harbor craft whistles screamed in an ear-splitting welcome. Delegations of admirers marched, a "dilldare" of tickle tape and confetti dropped on her from the skyscrapers in the canyons of lower Broadway and thousands bunched along the sidewalks applauded vociferously. At City Hall, Mayor Walker gave her a scroll commemorating her feat.

Bridge Party Courtesy To Mrs. Tom Foster Thursday

A bridge party given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. H. L. Allen, 1512 1/2 Main Street, was a courtesy to Mrs. Tom Foster, farmer resident of Lubbock who is moving back here to live. Friends were invited in and following a number of pleasant games, a salad course was served. Mrs. J. R. Crisler received high score favor. Mrs. T. H. Carter cut prize and Mrs. Garland Woodward, consolation prize. The guest of honor was presented with a gift.

Guests were Mesdames Tom Foster, Dewey Campbell, L. S. Harkey, W. H. Bledsoe, Maple Wilson, Herbert Maxwell, H. D. Woods, N. L. Peters, Amos Howard, Garland Woodward, J. E. Crisler, E. J. Parsons, Byron Brown, Vernon Brown, Rufus Rush, K. L. Rigg, E. C. Simmons, T. H. Carter, H. E. Miller and Miss Bell Howard, of Crosbyton. Mrs. Ernest Lee was a test guest.

Chicago University Ex-Students Hear Dr. C. D. Judd

Something of the present work of the University of Chicago and recent changes there were told on last evening by Dr. C. H. Judd at a meeting of former students of the institution in a banquet at the Lubbock Hotel. The banquet was very informal with Dr. J. C. Grambery in general charge.

Some particular things mentioned by Dr. Judd were that in recent years a change was made in the constitution of the university allowing the president to be other than a Baptist and that Max Mason, incumbent president, is the first who has not been a Baptist. Dr. P. W. Horn made a short talk in which he expressed appreciation of the work of Dr. Judd during this week at the Panhandle-South Plains Institute in session here.

Those who were in attendance at the banquet were Dr. C. H. Judd, Dr. and Mrs. Horn and daughter, Miss Ruth Horn, Dean and Mrs. J. M. Gordon, Dean and Mrs. A. H. Leidigh, Dean and Mrs. W. E. Miller, Miss Margaret Weeks, Mrs. Mary W. Deak, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Grambery, Professor and Mrs. A. W. Evans, Professor C. D. Eaves, Mrs. R. A. Studhalter, Miss Elizabeth West, Dr. W. E. Read, Dr. Leroy Patton, Mrs. Van Walker and Miss Lila Raugh, of Kingsville.

A WOMAN'S DAY ABROAD

By ALLENE SUMNER
Brussels, Belgium, Sept. 10.—If you aspire for a wedding "as in a wedding," you will trek with your orange blossoms to the fair city of Brussels with its world-famous marriage hall.

Likewise, if you grow awaried of this thing called matrimony, you will hie you with blood in your eye and a smart lawyer to the same fair city.

But you will gaze at your wrist-watch and mark the time well.

If you wish to hear ye marrie, marriage wedding bells, you will go to Brussels at nine in the morning, and if you hark to lend your ears to those words which announce to the world and his wife that hereafter you eat your liver and bacon alone, you will go to Brussels at four in the afternoon.

Seriously, the marriage and divorce hall of Brussels is one of the most interesting things my duenna and self have seen in all Europe.

It burst upon us unexpectedly. We had fared as forth to the historic medieval Hotel de Ville, the finest specimen of Lacy Gothic architecture in all Europe.

And we had just passed beneath an old portico, dripping with ivy, when we saw a mist of wedding veil floating through a door ahead.

We tried to follow the veil, but some of those blue coats and brass buttons which abound in this continent stopped us.

"The King's daughter must be having a civil marriage," thought we, felled, going in another door to see some old Flemish tapestries instead.

We looked out of the window. More brides. Dozens of them. We looked in a window and saw seven varieties of official high hats shaking hands with 67 more veils.

The plot thickened. But light dawned. We came to an open door leading into a hall of cathedral vastness.

A sign proclaimed it: "The Chamber of Marriages."

To our surprise no gold buttons showed us back and we were ushered in to stand in a reception line of "the public."

And there the brides were—dozens and hundreds of them—brides in misty tulle and satin—widow brides in the black of mourning 'not yet put off. Old women brides with grizzled heads and gnarled hands.

And bridegrooms, too: boy grooms and widower grooms and a horde of "sugar daddy" grooms. One out of every six brides, it seemed, was on the arm of one who seemed already to have lived his three score years and ten.

Braze buttons explained Brussels's marriage hall. Every marriage in the city must have its civil ceremony here on Saturday morning. Five hundred of them some Saturdays. They stood in line for hours sometimes.

And at four o'clock the divorces! The divorce line nearly as long as the marriage line.

So waited this long queue of those who would wed in the outer hall, filling in like files to sit on high humpy cushions before the august, uniformed burghmaster and say their vows.

Friends and parents filed in with them. Each party had its own bench in that inner room, and as one bench was emptied, a guard let another in.

GENEVA, Sept. 10. (AP)—A Russian was arrested today charged with plotting to assassinate Dr. Giuseppe Motta, former president of Switzerland. It is alleged that he desired to avenge the murder of M. Vorovsky, Russia's representative during the Lausanne conference in 1923 by Maurice A. Conrad, a Swiss, who was acquitted.

Apparently he made no actual attempt against the life of Dr. Motta, who was present at the league assembly meeting today at the head of the Swiss delegation. The prisoner will be sent to Zurich, where he is wanted on another charge.

A Cinch.
Hogan's Alley: O'Brien—By golly, I'm tired tonight.
Mrs. O'Brien—There you go again! You're tired! Here I be standing over a hot stove all day and you working in a nice, cool sewer.

We heard a widow of 47, a flower seller in the Grand Place below the dome where she says her vows. It was hard to pick the roses and daisies herself, she said.

He was a gardener next door. He sold his roses next her's in the market place.

Last Saturday it was that they watched the brides come forth, and he said, "Let's go up there next week." And so they did—she didn't know. Maybe it was foolish. But it was so hard to keep the panicles transplanted.

Slip into a Bradley and out-of-doors

For the gay college chap, what could be in better tune than this carefully tailored V-neck pullover? Made in rayon and pure worsted mixtures—in inequard patterns and the snap-piest of colors and color combinations. A campus favorite. Interestingly priced, too.

Put, as compared to our large assortment of Bradleys—all styles, all prices, for men, women and children—this natty looking pullover is the merriest drop in the bucket.

Big Distillery In New Orleans Raided

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 10. (AP)—A mammoth distilling plant occupying a four-story building, utilizing more than 30 distillery vats with a manufacturing capacity of more than 2,000 gallons a week, was aided by prohibition agents here today. Several thousand gallons of raw alcohol were captured and five men found on the premises were detained, including J. B. Kessy, alleged operator, a young woman book-keeper and three negroes.

Prohibition officials described the raid as the largest in the history of New Orleans. The distillery, offices said, was operating under the name of the Kessler Salvaging company, and the men were said to have admitted that it had been operating day and night.

Jack Concludes A Three Day Vacation Soaked In Brine He Takes A Sun Bath Gene Will Not Attend Legion Meeting

(By The Associated Press) ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 10.—His three-day vacation over, Jack Dempsey, sun-baked and thoroughly rested, intends to get a bristling pace for his sparring mates from now on. He promises to work within the next ten days as he never has worked before. Weighing around 187, he desires to bring the poundage to about 191.

While the title holder has been loafing around his bungalow, his sparring partners have been nursing their bruises for the punching they know is coming to them. Charley Anderson, 211 pound negro from Chicago, and Big Bill Tate, veteran negro shock absorber, are none too happy over what is ahead.

On Dempsey's last day of rest he smeared himself with pickling brine and went upon the roof of his cottage for a sun bath.

WESTERN TEAMS, PENNANT CRAZY, ARRIVE IN EAST

NATIONAL BATTLES WILL BE FEATURE; YANKS IN CINCH FOR FLAG

(By The Associated Press) The West has invaded the East with four fighting teams to battle for the National league pennant.

St. Louis, leading, and three games ahead of Cincinnati, has engagements first with the Boston Braves, buried deep in the cellar. Chicago, in fourth place, but with a chance, meanwhile meets Philadelphia, Boston's rival for the foot of the ladder.

Pirates At New York. The Pirates, who top the Cubs by three points will entertain Cincinnati in a double-header.

Cincinnati rested yesterday. Hornsby and his Cardinals pitching staff perched in the Yankee grand stand, gaining probable world series points, meanwhile, Pittsburgh and Chicago resumed the fight for third place, but split two games and dropped a lone point each to the leaders.

Joe Bush hooked up in a pitching duel with Percy Jones of the Cubs, in the first game and made sure of his two to one victory by doubling in the second inning to chase Traynor and Cronin across the plate. Then Pittsburgh made five errors in a 10 to 1 debate.

Robbins Win. Philadelphia closed the season with Brooklyn, losing 12 to 6. The Robins scored nine runs in the final frame. C. Y. Williams hit two homers, making a life total of 222.

The Giants nosed Boston in an 11 inning tilt, 3 to 2, after tying the score in the ninth.

Cleveland virtually gave up the ghost in its chase to catch the New York Yankees. The Indians dropped eight games behind the leaders when Detroit won, 3 to 1. The Yankees showed the watching Cardinals how to hit. The Red Sox were barbecued 18 to 0. Bob Shawkey turned in a four hit game.

The St. Louis Browns lost two to Chicago, 3 to 1 and 5 to 1.

RAIN BREAKS UP SPORT PROGRAM HERE THIS WEEK

BASEBALL AND FOOTBALL SUCCUMB TO WEATHER; RAIN CONTINUES

The damp and sticky atmosphere that has prevailed throughout the South Plains, and especially in Lubbock, for the past two or three days, has practically wrecked the program of sports events scheduled for this week, and the heavens continue to drip over the Plains today.

The first victim of the weather man was the play-off series for the city league championship, that was slated to have been finished this week. Instead, however, only three games out of the scheduled five have been played, and one of those ended in a tie score, leaving the contesting teams just as though they had never started, each having won one game. The series will not be finished until the weather fairs, it was said Friday.

Another scheduled baseball event for today succumbed to the weather when the Lubbock-Slaton Rotary game for inter-city championship was called off. The game was to have been played on the Slaton diamond this afternoon at 7:30, and the Lubbock ball team was to have been guests of the Slaton Rotary club at noon lunch.

From present indications, Tech College's athletic officials will be called upon to go through about the same process this fall, both during training season and regular playing schedule, as last year. Coaches were dogged with bad weather the greater part of the season, including cold, and a great deal of rain.

The Matador gridiron warriors were to have taken the field today in the first call for training, and a few did struggle out and paddle about a while through the mud, but as far as any actual benefit is concerned, none was derived. Such were weather conditions last season, in both football and baseball that coaches hardly had a fair chance. The athletes could not be brought into the desired physical condition, and it appears that such will be the dilemma again this year.

The high school grid squad, under coaches Von Tungen and Frank, is likewise having a similar fate. Two practice sessions have been held this week with a wealth of material on hand, but the coaches have not yet had an opportunity to arrive at any conclusion as to the possibilities of the crew. About 20 or 25 boys have been in the training sessions, with others to fall in as soon as the school bell rings Monday.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10 (AP)—Miss Louise McFarland, Pasadena, Calif., is the new girl's national lawn tennis champion. Today she defeated Miss Clara L. Zinke, Cincinnati, 6-2, 5-6, 6-6 in the final round of the championship at the Philadelphia Cricket club.

Second Ederle?

NATALIE HESS

This 17-year-old Long Island girl may some day be another "Trudie" Ederle. Who knows? Every day Natalie swims the St. Regis lake in the Adirondacks, a distance of four miles. Miss Hess is an outdoor-loving type of lass, likes sports and is quite an all-round athlete.

The NUT CRACKER by Joe Williams

American womanhood today seems to be divided into two classifications: those who can inhale, and those who can swim the channel.

Perhaps one reason women have made success in swimming the channel than men is that they spend so much more time in bathing suits, and look so much better in them.

Gertrude Ederle, unmarried and Mrs. Corson, very much married are the only women channel conquerors of the year. This gives America the singles and doubles championship, as you might say.

Of course, if this 100-pound Asiatic who is in New York posing as the "Voice of the Godhead" fails to make the grade at that racket maybe he can get Tex Rickard to match him with the flyweight champion.

Dutch Reuther, who was one of the mysterious non-starters in the last world series, has been traded to the Yankees with which club he undoubtedly will get a chance to be knocked out of a world series in the fall.

There is talk of disbanding the Big Three in football on the very obvious theory that children are smarter nowadays and refuse to believe everything anybody tells them.

The Big Three in football hasn't been anything more than a sentimental tradition for years and under the new rules it is practically impossible to take a sentimental tradition and run it the full length of the field for a touchdown.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Cashand Carry Pyle, who manages both athletes, never gets his programs mixed and sends Suzanne out in a football uniform and Red Grange out in tennis flannels.

The English protested that two accompanying items had helped Gertrude in her channel swim. It is a bit too early to conjecture just what objections they will have to register against Mrs. Corson's success.

Mr. O'Gearty thinks the objection will be that she didn't sink.

The disclosure is made that George Washington was the first man in America to wear false teeth. Thus it seems he was likewise the father of Pyorrhoea.

Frenchman Beats All Records With His Channel Swim

LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Georges Michel, Frenchman, today swam the English Channel from Cape Gris-Nez, France, to England, in 11 hours and five minutes. This constitutes a new record.

Michel, according to his companions, started from Cape Gris-Nez at 8:26 o'clock last evening and arrived in St. Margaret's bay at 7:31 o'clock this morning.

This is the third time this season the record has been broken. The record up to today was 12 hours and 43 minutes and was made by Ernest Vierkotter, German, August 30. Previously, Gertrude Ederle of New York went across in 14 hours and 31 minutes. The only other swimmer to conquer the channel this year was Mrs. Corson of New York, who on August 28 made it in 15 hours and 23 minutes.

Billy Evans Says

Home Run Decline Has home run hitting declined with the coming of the less lively ball? It has not to a marked degree.

The homer epidemic reached its highest level last season, all modern major league records being smashed. At this time a year ago 991 circuit clouts had been poked in the two big leagues. Of these the National led with 546.

Over a corresponding period this campaign the total number of four-base blows is but 717, a decrease of almost 275. The American has 363 to its credit and the National 354, showing how even the two organizations have been running.

Going back to 1924 we find a drop to 698 up to the latter part of August. In 1923 the figures were 815 and the year before that 824. In three of the years the National was out in front in the homer jamboree.

Ruth Better Effort This time last season Ken Williams of the Browns and Bob Meusel, Yankees, were tied for the American League home run leadership with 25. This year the one and only Bambino leads in leading the procession with 39. Incidentally, Ruth is one of the very few to show a better homer mark this year than last, most of the boys being far below their efforts of a year ago.

In the National in August, 1925, Rogers Hornsby has ahead of the gang with 21 four-basers. This year the Rog has put nine to his credit with Wilson of the Cubs out in front with 19 or 14 less than Hornsby had for the same period in 1925.

Ken Williams has smashed out 17, eight under his mark this time last season while Meusel is 35 behind his performance of a year ago. Fournier of Brooklyn, another of the big wall-hoppers last year, is 19 in the rear of his efforts up to this time last campaign.

Anent Grover Alexander The St. Louis Cardinals may not cop the National League flag this year, but if they do more than a little credit will be coming to Grover Alexander, veteran hurler, who was picked up by St. Louis after the Cubs decided to let the big fellow go a few months ago.

Alexander, a major league campaigner for 16 seasons, has not only turned in several victories for his new club, but he has saved quite a few games in the role of relief pitcher. This has been especially true during the last few weeks; Grover going to the aid of a faltering mate and pulling the game out of the fire.

Bad Weather Causes Cancellation of Ball Game Set For Slaton Inclement weather condition caused the cancellation of the annual baseball game between the Lubbock and Slaton Rotary clubs, which was to have been played in the latter city today.

Just what arrangements will be made to play off the tilt has not yet been decided although it is probable that the game will be played next Friday.

LONGHORN COACH WATCHES RAY

AUSTIN, Sept. 10 (AP)—When Coach "Doc" Stewart, Texas university grid boss, surveys the material that will report here September 10 for the opening of training, his eyes will rest fondly for several moments on Steve (Red) Wray, the big, red-haired boy from the Rio Grande valley who should develop into one of the greatest centers of Longhorn history.

Wray was the star forward of the 1925 "Fish" eleven. Playing in scrimmages against the 1925 varsity forwards and broke through to similar offensive plays before they were well underway.

Wray weighs about 235 pounds, is six feet tall, and is extraordinarily fast for one of his bulk. His favorite stunt of his to pass back the ball to his kicker, and then pace down the field to down the punt receiver. Wray's greatest asset, however, is his love of the rough and tumble game, called football. The rougher the going, the better he appears to like it, and from all indications he is tough enough to "stand the gauntlet." Some of the most enthusiastic of Wray's admirers are predicting he will take rank with "Big" Ditmars, conceded to be the outstanding center the Southwest Conference has produced. Needless to say, Wray has not yet justified such expectations. However, barring accidents, Wray should become as brilliant as "Swede" Svensson, who had his best year in 1923, and "Big" Bralley, center of the undefeated 1923 combination. Wray is a fair student, and Coach Stewart in all likelihood will lose no sleep wondering whether his star player will be academically eligible. "Pooty" McCullough of Waco, letter man of last season, should give Wray a fairly interesting battle for the regular job at center. If business is going when everybody says it is, a lot of business men won't be so put out when they die.

She Bared Her Soul!

To the man whose kindly tolerance and sympathy have put thousands back on the road to happiness

AND she was but one of hundreds who have done the same—told secrets she would not tell her mother—or perhaps her husband—but in the confessional of the Judge's chambers she revealed all. Her story and the stories of scores of others—men as well as women—are now being retold for society's good by Judge Ben B. Lindsey in the most candid and startling series of articles ever published in any magazine. Reasoning from the stories of real life told him in court after day, Judge Lindsey has reached certain conclusions, and now he boldly asks: "Is a new code of sex morals being created?" It is a startling question—but a question that has heretofore existed unasked in the minds of all intelligent men and women; and it is no mere startling that the evidence that Judge Lindsey offers in his great series of articles under the title: "The Moral Revolt."

When you have read the first of the Judge's articles and considered it, turn a few pages of the same magazine and read the first article in another astonishing series in which the internationally famous beauty and social leader—

Mrs. Philip Lydig Reveals Secrets of New York Society

ALMOST since girlhood, beautiful Mrs. Philip Lydig has been an unquestioned leader of New York's ultra-society. Now for the first time Mrs. Lydig proceeds to turn the spot-light on that society—telling in great detail why she finds it futile, false and corrupt. The statements she makes will astonish you—story after story of tragedies heretofore never publicly disclosed. If chronicles of the real lives of the prominently fashionable—heretofore known only to those on the inside of that group—are of interest to you, then you must read Mrs. Lydig's revealing article, "Marriage Without Love." In these two remarkable stories—the one by Mrs. Lydig, the other by Judge Lindsey—the Red Book Magazine for October inaugurates its new plan of adding the drama of fact to the drama of fiction—which latter is expressed by Rupert Hughes in his splendid novel, "We Live But Once," and by these other distinguished novelists and story-writers: Ruth Comfort Mitchell, James Francis Dwyer, Struthers Burr, Samuel Merwin, Leroy Scott, Thyra Samter Winslow, Robert Benchley, Wm. H. Osborne, Arthur K. Akers and Michael J. Phillips.

Mrs. Philip Lydig—the first wife of the late W. E. D. Lydig, a New York social leader for years, and descendant through her mother of the Spanish Duke d'Alba.

ANOTHER INSTANCE
 Some time ago there was considerable unnecessary hubbub raised in Lubbock concerning the patronage of business here which were wholly or partially owned by out-of-town capital. The Journal immediately called less propaganda, the adherence to a halt on such impossible and sense-
 which would mean the passing of prosperity.

It was at that time, and still is, the question of the Journal that the substantial type of business are needed in Lubbock whether or not they are partially or wholly owned by outside capital. In its swift steps to halt such foolishness it pointed out that many of the outside owned businesses in operation in Lubbock were being their bit and standing shoulder
 by shoulder with the home-folks in making a city out of Lubbock.

We have had many examples of civic spirit on the part of outside concerns
 in the past and just yesterday had another. Here it is:

Tom Stone, manager of the F. W.
 Axtell company, announced, unsolecited, that his firm would give as a prize to the farmer who exhibited the best ten heads of male at the 1926 Panhandle and South Plains fair, a roller bearing windmill. The value of this mill is $75.

Now the F. W. Axtell company,
 which has offices in both Fort Worth and Lubbock, is headed by F. W.
 Axtell of Fort Worth. Yet in spite of this fact the Axtell company, which happily enjoys a fine business on the South Plains, sees fit to do something for the Panhandle and South Plains
 fair—to do its bit to make the fair bigger and better.

It's just another instance of proof
 of the fallacy of the thoughtless cry
 which was so unhappily raised here
 recently.

As long as Lubbock would continue to grow and prosper—as long as the South Plains of Texas would continue to progress along the upward path
 new businesses and new people—the right sort—must be welcomed regardless of where their capital comes from.
 Lubbock is a young town. Practically all of us here, who are in business
 'came here' from somewhere else
 though some came earlier than others.
 Whenever we begin to frown, as a municipality, upon new enterprise and new blood, then will we wither and die—at least from an economic standpoint.

DESERVING ADVANCEMENT
 Another young man has made good his trust and his efforts are being crowned with advancement. Lubbock's fertile grazing ground of young men in big business, has turned forth
 another well rounded product.

Three and a half years ago a large corporation sent to Lubbock a young man. This corporation placed him in charge of the construction of its plant and later of the management of its large refining business.

He filled the job well and the business prospered. Now comes the announcement that he will go to Dallas
 as "October" first, as assistant to the President of his concern and will be first lieutenant in the operation of ten big mills of the kind which he managed here.

The young man is Joe H. Flieg, manager of the Lubbock Cotton Oil mill.

Hal Cochran's Daily Poem

WISH YOU WERE HERE
 Well, the old vacation's over, and I'm back at work again. I've been a loafin' rover like a lot of other men. The only thing that nags me every day, and haunts my cheer is the postal cards I'm getting, saying "wish that you were here."
 It seems that everybody whom I've ever chanced to meet, is thinking sending postal cards to me is quite a treat. I get no news about them, but they make it very clear that I never need to doubt them
 when they write, "wish you were here."

No wonder I am longing for the mountain and the stream. No wonder thoughts still linger in the old vacation dream. Instead of getting down to work, my thoughts
 are still, I fear, upon the spots
 from where folk write, "I wish that you were here."
 You're not supposed to answer,
 when the postals come each day.
 Friends simply "wish that you were here," and send them on their way. But, shucks, I'd like to write them all. I'd never bat an eye,
 but simply say, "thanks for the wish—and frankly, so do I."

IN NEW YORK
SEE-SAWING
and
DOWN BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—See-sawing
 up and down Broadway, I saw Lya
 de Putil, the newest of the very wicked screen ladies to come from Europe. And though all the male eyes at a Broadway premiere
 were upon her she showed no signs of vampishness. Nor was she so much as accompanied by a handsome escort. Instead was the solid looking German girl who acts
 as her interpreter.

Saw Lowell Sherman, the actor, with the largest monocle I have ever seen balanced between eyelash and cheek
 and so worried was I that it would fall off that I paid little heed to the performance, marveling at his dexterity.
 Saw Louise Brooks, enshrined in the seat of honor at the city's most popular night club. And only yesterday, it seems she was dancing
 in a Broadway chorus.

The dawned her and just as stardom hove in sight, her director fell in love with her and that was that.
 Another of those Broadway
 Cinderella romances.
 Gloria Swanson, looking fragily
 lovely in a French creation of black,
 trailed by the inevitable Count
 "Hank." Mary Pickford, back from a European trip, and quite mature it seemed to me, and most charming in this grown up robe. And it caused me to wonder when and how she will be able to escape the "golden curl" pictures and appear as the actress I'm sure she is.

Mary Brian, the "Wendy" of "Peter Pan," no longer a gangling girl, attending theatre with her ever-present mother. Jimmy Walker, the "boyish" mayor of this metropolis,
 standing in a theatre lobby, his straw
 hat cocked at rakish angle, a cigaret hanging George Cohan-esque from his mouth, swapping wise cracks, and
 looking for all the world like a song
 and dance man waiting to go on with his act.

A Valentino memorial song makes
 its appearance already on Broadway.
 And Gertrude Ederle found the "tin pin alley" writers had beat her to Broadway with a song in which the name "Trudy" is made to rhyme with "beauty." But then these things are done in a hurry.

Saw Millicent Rogers, otherwise the Countess Selin, "throwing a party" at one of the leading night clubs, and there seemed to be no sign of heartbreak over the passing of the late notable.

Last of the symphony concerts at the Stadium and final band concert
 in Central Park. . . . Goodly summer, goodbye, goodbye. What the first robin is to spring the conclusion of these annual musical events
 is to fall in Manhattan.

Stewart's
WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON WILL WAKE UP
THE MIDDLE OF SEPTEMBER
 By CHARLES P. STEWART
 NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Notwithstanding the congressional campaign,
 which is giving politicians in their home states and districts something to think about, Washington will begin to wake up, congressionally speaking,
 about the middle of September.
 There always is a great deal to do
 at a "short session" of Congress,
 which convenes this year on Dec. 6,
 and not much time to do it in.
 Actual legislation can't start—in the absence of a special call by the president, of which there's little prospect—
 until the specified date in December,
 but committees can be getting things
 in shape to work rapidly in the scant three months before the law ends the 69th Congress "sine die."

The administration is particularly anxious to get things "smugged down"
 next winter, because of apprehensions
 of course not admitted, but felt, beyond any question—that it will lose control of the Senate at the November elections.

If so, the coming "short session" of the dying Congress will be its last chance to get its policies acted on as it wants them acted on.
 Once acted on thus, the administration assumes that matters will "stay
 put" for the ensuing two years, inasmuch as it doesn't expect to lose control of the House of Representatives,
 too, however much it may be worrying
 about the Senate.

The Senate alone can't do any repealing. Even in the somewhat improbable event of a completely Democratic Congress the president can veto
 anything he dislikes, and it's unbelieveable that the Democrats will make gains enough to override a presidential veto.

Obviously it's the part of prudence
 for the administration Republicans to have everything in shape to be speedy
 with their program next December, January and February.

If they retain control, they'll have lost nothing by having been forehand-
 ed. If they lose it, they'll be exceedingly glad of having done all in their power to minimize the bad effects of a setback.

In the latter event, it's true that they'll be dependent on "lame ducks"
 to put through their plans at the 1926-7 session, and it's a reasonable guess that a "lame duck" is disgruntled and unmanageable—but there are ways of rewarding him, as with a federal appointment, if he forgets his annoyance
 and helps out as long as he's able.

That's what's the matter with a
 "lame duck" Congress.
 Sometimes I wonder if everybody knows what a "lame duck" is. He's a senator or representative who, having been beaten, still has an unfinished
 fraction of a term to serve.
 "Republicans are ungrateful," is his attitude. "Sure they are—at the polls
 —" agrees the administration, "but here's a nice appointment for you."
 Isn't it natural to suppose that that
 "lame duck" will be grateful, and do
 his best to please, during the unfinished balance of his term in office?

QUEER QUIRKS
of NATURE

By AUSTIN H. CLARK
 Smithsonian Institution.
 Half a century ago it was believed that silk could be profitably produced
 from the cocoons of the polyphemus moth, which for that reason is sometimes called the American silk-worm moth. But the promise of the early successes has not been fulfilled.
 On one estate in 1865 not less than a million of the huge caterpillars of this moth could be seen feeding in the open air on scrub oak bushes covered with nets, five acres of woodland were swarming with them. But this thriving colony was wiped out by a disease
 imported in the eggs of an allied moth
 through Paris from Japan.
 The cocoons of the polyphemus are oval in shape and tough and dense,
 and closed at each end. Within there is a spacious cavity with finely polished sides in which the pupa lies.
 Usually the cocoons are spun between two leaves and in the autumn fall to the ground with them. They are frequently to be seen on the sidewalks
 in our towns, and sometimes even in our cities.
 Sometimes the caterpillar runs a hand of silk up the stems of one or both of the leaves which are thus attached securely to the twig. You see these occasionally in the winter when
 the trees are bare.
 The silk of the polyphemus is of good quality, with a very strong and glossy fiber.

Helpful Health Hints

CHILD WITH MEASLES SHOULD BE ALONE TO CHECK
THE CONTAGION

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
 Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene
 the Health Magazine.

A child with measles should be placed in a room alone and not permitted to come in contact with other children in the family. The room
 should be warm, as the most dangerous complication is secondary pneumonia.

Chilling is especially harmful in measles, and protection from cold drafts is desirable. The room should be well ventilated but drafts warded
 off by properly placed screens.

A child with measles is likely to complain of inflamed eyes. However,
 the room should not be kept dark unless the child is too young to wear
 colored spectacles. Sunlight is an essential for the welfare of patients with measles, as well as for persons who are suffering from any other disease.

If the eyelids tend to stick, they may be bathed with boric acid solution or plain warm water.

Light Diet.
 The diet of the child with measles
 should be light, consisting chiefly of fluids as long as there is any fever.
 As soon as the temperature falls to normal, the child should receive plenty of nutritious food, particularly fresh vegetables and good milk. The bowels are to be kept open by properly prescribed diet or such remedies as the physician may think desirable.

The patient is likely to sleep much better and be less restless if he is given a warm sponge bath just before going to sleep. A warm sponge bath

will cool the patient just as much as a cold one, and it will have the added
 advantage of avoiding the possibility of chilling.

Following the sponge bath, the body
 may be dusted with some light talcum
 powder which will prevent irritation
 of the skin resulting from the eruption.
 There is no reason in warm weather for covering the patient with heavy blankets or for using flannel nightshirts. A good cotton sleeping shirt is more desirable than silk
 wool or flannel.

Contagious.
 The contagious material from the patient with measles is found chiefly in the excretions from the nose and throat. Therefore, arrangements should be made to boil all of the sheets, coverlets and underclothing worn by the patient during his illness, and if possible, to sun the clothes thoroughly
 after washing. Certainly, every possible measure should be taken to prevent children from coming in contact with the excretions.

One of the most severe complications of measles, aside from the irritation of the lungs which may result in infection with pneumonia or tuberculosis, is the possibility of an infected ear.

Naturally, a patient recently recovered from measles should not be allowed to come into intimate contact with any person suffering from a disease of the lungs.

The first sign of an infected ear,
 aside from pain, is recurrence of high fever. Sometimes the fever appears without the pain. The physician will examine the ear-drum and determine
 from its appearance whether or not it should be opened to permit the escape
 of the matter resulting from infection.

EAT MORE POTATOES

This ought to interest persons who are concerned about diet and health.

The potato is an important source of vitamin B—the anti-neuritic vitamin, whose lack causes the disease
 occurring in certain tropical regions
 characterized by multiple inflammatory changes in the nerves, producing great muscular debility, a painful rigidity of the limbs and condition of general ill health and mal-nutrition.

According to F. J. Lyman and Inez
 Blystone, of the laboratory of applied
 chemistry at Ohio university, this essential element is distributed about uniformly throughout the potato and is stable both during cooking and storage. Meager in calories, the white potato supplies about 12 per cent of the American dietary. Mr. Lyman and Miss Blystone have conducted a series of experiments in which they have found that rats thrive and grow
 at a normal rate on a diet containing

as much as 80 per cent potatoes.
 When put on a diet of only 40 per cent potatoes from which other foods
 containing vitamin B were excluded
 the rats showed a rapid decline in condition, which disappeared as soon as a sufficient quantity of vitamin B was again supplied. — Temple Telegram.

THE VANITY CASE

BY CAROLYN WELLS COPYRIGHT 1926 N.E.A.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Mysterious lights flash one night from the Heath household and the next day Harbor Gardens, Long Island is agog over the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of her husband, PERRY.

House guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN, heir to Myra's fortune, and beautiful BUNNY MOORE, to whom suspicion points because of her queer actions. Myra Heath favored cosmetics, yet when her body was found she was heavily rouged. A rare old bottle from her collection of glass has been used by the murderer to kill her. Candies were burning at her head and feet.

At the Country Club the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the crime, and others.

Bunny is amazed to get a phoned call from Heath, saying Inman is the murderer. Inman confides to TOD HUNTER BUCK who is in love with Bunny, that he saw her ascending the stairs after the murder. One of the Heath servants says the same thing.

Cunningham goes to Anderson's house, and there, while waiting for his host, is suddenly confronted by Perry Heath, who then vanishes in the darkness. Anderson arrives soon after and upbraids Cunningham for letting Heath get away.

Todhunter Buck, puzzling as to the best way to clear Bunny is sitting in the dark when Bunny slips out of the house of his aunt, where she is now a guest, and meets Perry Heath at the edge of a wood. Buck trails Heath but the latter escapes. In despair, Buck sends for his friend, STEVE TRUITT, famous detective.

Bunny, dozing in a chair, awakens to find a strange man staring at her.

TODHUNTER BUCK, who is in love with Bunny, is witness to a nocturnal meeting between the girl and Heath. He tries to get Bunny to explain and when she refuses he calls in his friend, STEVE TRUITT, a famous detective. Bunny tells Truitt she had gone down stairs the night of the murder and seen Myra Heath, not yet cold in death, and Inman peeping from behind a curtain.

DETECTIVE MOTT comes to arrest Bunny but, coached by Truitt, she confounds him.

Truitt questions Inman and then, inspecting the Heath home, discovers something peculiar about a window. He then rejoins Buck and the latter's aunt, MRS. PRENTISS.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIV

"I found practically nothing of importance," Truitt said, then, seeing Tod's blank look of disappointment, he added, "except Mr. Inman himself. He wouldn't admit he had seen you that night, Miss Bunny, until I told him that you had told me of it yourself. Then he loosened up a little, but he still feared a trap. However, he did admit that he went down stairs almost immediately after you came up, and said he went down to see what scared you so."

"It's" said Mrs. Prentiss, "a little fishy. But, see here, Mr. Truitt, that checks up the lights. You know the place was dark as a pocket at one o'clock. Then, Bunny comes down at half past one, snaps on a bright light, and in about fifteen minutes turns it out and goes upstairs. Then, long about two, Mr. Inman comes down. Big light again, and soon he snaps it off and goes upstairs. Then, no more lights all night."

"Except the two small sparks—"

"Yes—those the murderer put there—"

"The murderer being?"

"Inman!" exclaimed Tod. "You must have seen, Steve how queer he was, you know—furtive, and that sort of thing. Sly, uncommunicative, until he concluded to say something, then his words came out in a perfect sluice."

"Not much of a psychologist, are you, Tod?" and Truitt smiled at him.

"Oh, get out. I know what I know. I know the thing rests between Bunny and Inman. I know—you know, Bunny didn't do it, therefore and wherefore, it was Inman."

"Going to take me over to the club tonight, Tod?"

And as Toddy agreed, the whole subject was dropped by common consent, and one of Mrs. Prentiss' justly famed dinners was enjoyed with no accompanying talk of horrors.

But after dinner, Cunningham telephoned that they were to come over to Sam Anderson's house instead of to the club, as he had invited a few chums there for billiards, and didn't want to go out.

So over they went, Truitt admiring as they walked briskly along, the bridge, the brook it crossed and the delightful, though different landscape on either side.

Sam Anderson was polite, even cordial, but it was plain to be seen that, as he was expecting guests, he must want them to make their visit brief.

Cunningham was the embarrassed one, for he had brought about this interview with no reason but a hope that it might be helpful to himself, and it was a little difficult to explain.

"I—I wanted you men to meet Mr. Truitt," he began a little lamely, but Tod Buck threw himself into the breach.

"It's all right, Mr. Anderson," he smiled; "we won't stay but a few minutes. I know you've got a party on, but to come down to brass tacks, I'm told that you Park people suspect Miss Moore of the Heath crime, and I'm asking you if you have any real, any definite evidence against her. And, if you haven't, as one of the most influential Park men—if you won't do what you can to squash that rumor—or suspicion, or whatever you call it."

"My dear boy," Sam Anderson smiled at him, "you're barking up the wrong tree! I haven't the slightest suspicion that Miss Moore did or could commit that terrible crime! Why, the mere idea is inconceivable. And I've said so every time I have been where the thing was discussed."

"Good for you, Mr. Anderson!" and Tod wrung his hand. "I suppose not all the Park people think alike, then."

"Whom do you suspect, Mr. Anderson?" Truitt asked, feeling that the time might be short, and he must learn all he could quickly.

"Why, I'm not sure I ought to voice a suspicion, and yet, if it's to help save the name and fame of a fair lady—of a young girl, I suppose I need not hesitate. I am quite willing to put it on record that such evidence as has been rehearsed in my hearing, leads me to think that the criminal was Mr. Inman. I may be wrong, as I can only say as seems to me the most likely suspect, as far as I can see."

"You don't think, then," Truitt went on, "it could have been the injured husband? You don't think Perry Heath did it?"

"How did he make a getaway afterward?" I understand the house was locked up like a bank."

Anderson seemed willing to talk, at least, until his guests arrived, so Truitt kept him at it.

"Yes, I hear it was. But why would Mr. Inman kill the woman he loved?"

"Do you remember a line of a famous poem, Mr. Truitt? It runs:

"For each man kills the thing he loves."

Not entirely true of course, but a man might do that from jealousy, or unrequited love. And, too, Mr. Inman is the heir. Oh, I don't know, of course, but he seems to me a far more likely prospect than Heath. I've heard the Heaths were married for several years, and though as a bachelor such things are outside of my line, I don't think the average man is jealous enough to murder his wife after they have lived together as long as that."

"That's so," Truitt agreed, and then Sam Anderson's guests began to arrive and the callers left.

From Tod, from Bunny, from Mrs. Prentiss, and even calling in one or two of the servants, it seemed Steve Truitt would never cease his endless firing of queries.

On all sorts of subjects, seemingly with all sorts of objects, but all more or less connected with the Heaths or with other of the Harbor people.

At last, he went off by himself and smoked a cigar in silence and solitude.

Three Dapper Bandits Captured In Illinois Cornfield After Escaping With Half Million Dollar Jewel Loot

(By The Associated Press)
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 9.—Three dapper Chicago bandits who robbed three diamond merchants of a half million dollars worth of jewelry on an Illinois Central train near here last night, were captured in a corn field near Buckley, Ill., this morning.

They fell victims to the rain and the mud and a straight shooting sheriff of Central Illinois.

Buckley is 25 miles north of Champaign. The robbers, when surrounded in the corn field, had floundered about six miles through the mud from Loda where they had been forced to abandon an overheated taxicab commandeered after they jumped from the train.

The three men told capturing officers that they had hidden the jewelry while the three prisoners were started to Champaign.

The three men timed their movements by railroad schedule last night and bound, gagged and locked up the three diamond merchants just before the Illinois Central's crack New Orleans Limited arrived here from Chicago.

Without being driven to a taxicab and were driven to Urbana, where they engaged a driver and another car, waited while he persuaded a friend to go along for company, and started on their flight toward Chicago, 125 miles away.

Twenty Enroll As Business College Opens For Autumn

Twenty students have enrolled in the Lubbock Business college with the beginning of a new term this week. Several of the students are from out of town. The enrollment of new students is as follows:

Miss Myrtle Kemp, Lubbock; C. D. Bradford, Fetersburg; Harold Perrin, Lubbock; Mrs. Norton G. Johnson, Lubbock; Mrs. Nona Bell Pugh, Lubbock; Miss Ethel Sides, Lubbock; Miss Sylvia Ainsworth, Lubbock; Miss Zena Polk, Idalou; Mrs. Gladys Boyd, Idalou; Miss Florella Mitchell, Idalou; M. M. Burkett, Lubbock; Weldon Howell, Brownfield; Miss Mary Jo Cagle, Lubbock; Mrs. E. B. Porter, Lubbock; Miss Adele Ohnemus, Artesis; Miss Nona Holt, Lubbock; Mrs. J. S. Hamilton, Lubbock; Miss Josephine Teasler, Carlsbad, N. M.; Miss Irene Roberts, Idalou; Miss Myrtle Springer, Hale Center.

The breezy individual eventually bows up.

STATE SOLONS OFF WITH NEW BILL

Armed with all information needed in framing a bill for presentation to the Texas Legislature, State Senator W. H. Bledsoe and Representative J. K. Wester, of this district left Lubbock Thursday afternoon for Austin in answer to the special call for a legislative session sounded recently by Governor Ferguson, and will offer for presentation a bill calling for creation of a new district court in Lubbock county that would have jurisdiction concurrently over both civil and criminal matters.

Such a measure, it is understood, or any other measure for that matter, must have the approval of the Governor before it can be presented before the Legislative body in a special session, and for this reason the fate of the bill will rest largely with the Governor.

The bill calls for creation of an additional court in Lubbock county, separate and apart from the balance of the district of which this county is now a part, and would permit a continuous term in this county to aid in clearing up the congested docket now ahead of the court. Falling in pushing the bill through this special session, if such is the outcome, it is understood that an effort will be made to put the bill through the next regular session next January.

W. T. Eldridge Buys More Railway Stock

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 10.—W. T. Eldridge of Sugarland celebrated his sixty-fourth birthday anniversary by announcing the acquisition of a substantial block of stock in the road an independent line running 138 Oklahoma City, Ada and Atoka Railroads from Oklahoma City to Tropa. Mr. Eldridge has been named a director and made chairman of the board.

Last year Mr. Eldridge sold three short lines and one trunk line to the Missouri Pacific lines, retaining out of a group of five only the Rio Grande running from Brownsville to Point Isabel, where the United States government is now dredging a channel to deep water.

Live Alligator Is On Display In City

A live alligator about 20 inches in length and approximately 5 years of age was received by W. W. Stafford Wednesday from his brother-in-law, F. A. Saunders, in Florida. The alligator is now on display in the window of the Stafford Drug store in a tank of water. He probably will be kept in Lubbock.

JONES PREPARES FOR MEETING AT STATION MONDAY

2ND ANNUAL FARMERS' FIELD DAY WILL BE A BIG FEATURE

Inspection of crops planted at different dates and given the same care, of many varieties and strains of cotton given the same care throughout, of various spacings in planting along with interesting lectures are to be features of the second annual Farmers' Field Day under the auspices of District Number 2, of the Extension Service to be held at sub-station Number 8 of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, which is located here, next Monday.

Many farmers from this section are expected to attend a camping grounds are to be provided for those attending from a distance.

The first day will be at the experiment station and the following day an inspection of some pure fields of sorghums and the Texas Tech will be made.

Jones Gives Record.
Don L. Jones of the experiment station says that he has cotton, milo, kafir and sorghum competing their eleven year on the same piece of ground, seven acres devoted to 25 different rotations on which there is a 16-year record and various varieties of sorghums showing comparative reactions to dry weather.

In addition to these, he has grain sorghums planted on April 15, May 15 and June 15 that are all far enough advanced to admit comparisons and that he has records on this experiment for seven years. He has cotton spaced at intervals from three to thirty-six inches between plants. He has 21 different varieties and strains of cotton each having been given the same cultivation and care that others have.

Inspection of the fields at the station will be followed by a round table discussion and a luncheon served by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. A short program with interesting talks will be given later.

UPSHAW TO ASK RECOUNT AFTER BITTER DEFEAT

PREACHER-SOLON, BACKER OF PROHIBITION, IS BEATEN AT POLLS

(By The Associated Press)
ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 10.—Rev. W. D. Uphaw, congressman from the fifth Georgia district, today reiterated his intention of asking for a re-check of primary election figures from Caswell county, one of the five in his district.

Uphaw, a figure conspicuous for years in prohibition struggles in Washington, was defeated for re-nomination at Georgia's Democratic primary by L. J. Steele, who received 100 of the district's registered total unit votes. Uphaw received six, all from Fulton county, and Mayor Sims of Atlanta two.

In a statement yesterday Mr. Uphaw said he will turn to the lecture platform or to the editorship of a paper for students. "I do not see," he said, "that my defeat will have any effect upon my work for prohibition the very reverse is true."

George Is Nominated
United States Senator Walter F. George was nominated over Chief of the Georgia supreme court Justice R. B. Russell in the senatorial race. In his campaign, Judge Russell attacked the world court adherence of Senator George who declined to recognize it as an issue.

Malcolm Tarer received the Democratic nomination for congressman to succeed O'Brien Lee, who did not campaign for another term. Congressmen Charles H. Brand, Thomas W. Bell and Charles G. Edwards were renominated. In all other congressional districts, incumbents were unopposed for re-nomination.

With no majority apparent in practically complete returns, it appeared certain that a run-off primary will be necessary October 6 in the gubernatorial contest. Dr. L. G. Hardman early today was leading his three opponents with 165 county unit votes. John C. N. Holder was second with 156; George Carswell third, with 74, and Joe Wood fourth with 16. Two hundred and eight county unit votes are necessary for a choice.

LEGION HEARS DANIEL MOODY

Boxing For Texas Urged By Ex-Service Men After Convention Fight

(By The Associated Press)
AMARILLO, Sept. 10.—As the smoke cleared away from the Legion convention arena the boxing bill argument was disposed of, the world war veterans of Texas prepared to hear Dan Moody, democratic nominee for governor and a legislator, in the principal address of the day.

Moody is the guest here of Sloan Britner, a boyhood friend, and owner of the famous JY ranch on which was the only 100 percent Moody ballot box in the run-off primary. All twelve votes cast by the JY were for Moody.

The democratic choice for governor was the final speaker at the morning session.

The legionnaires late yesterday adopted a resolution urging the return of legalized boxing to Texas under proper supervision. The action came after a bitter fight on the convention floor.

Election of officers, both of the state department and the state women's auxiliary, will close the three day convention late today.

Kansas Officer Is Killed By Bandits
WINFIELD, Kans., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Herold Caspell, a deputy sheriff of Chautauqua county from Cedarville, Kansas, was shot and killed today at Falls City, a small town in Cowley county southeast of here near the Kansas-Oklahoma border.

Caspell was trailing two men who had previously shot and wounded two men at Waucoma, Kansas, in Chautauqua county, after robbing two stores there. Caspell pursued the men and approached them as they were getting gasoline at a filling station. The bandits sped south into Oklahoma.

"Of course I'll go. If I fall asleep, you can punch me when he comes." Admitting to himself, but not to Tod, that it might be a wild goose chase, Truitt led the way and followed by his friend, went silently across the lawn to the Heath house.

"Sit there," he whispered, pointing to a lawn settee, "and don't move till I tell you."

Tod did so, and ten minutes later, Truitt came to him and tapped his elbow. "All set," he whispered.

The French windows in the studio was open.

"How'd you do that?" he exclaimed but Steve only said, "Hush!" and pushed him inside.

"Just as good" won't do with women shoppers

Women, because they shop, have learned to distinguish values. Only by comparison have they learned of the wide difference in quality. They know exactly what they want and substitutes won't do.

So with coffee. Only by comparing their favors can you choose the one coffee you like best. Then, it is easy to avoid substitutes by always calling for your favorite coffee by brand name.

We could tell you of the wonderful flavor and delicate aroma of Folger's Coffee. How you would enjoy each steaming cup of this blend of the world's finest coffees.

Instead, we ask you to compare Folger's Coffee with the brand you are now using by making the Folger Coffee Test. It is the logical, easy way to shop for coffee.

champagne dinner in a private room at the Ritz-Carlton hotel in this city. Miller handed him two checks totalling about $7,000,000.

He could not fix the date of the dinner. The government alleged it took place on September 26, 1921.

Dinner Is Good One King, the late Jess W. Smith and Miller attended the champagne dinner. Merton testified he gave each of his three guests a gold cigarette case as a souvenir, the witness said. Two bottles were consumed, he asserted.

Merton said Miller had come from Washington to personally deliver the checks because he (Merton) had made it clear he was in a hurry to return to Germany.

Trial Is Renewed NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, was resumed in Federal court this morning after a recess yesterday for the Jewish holiday.

Richard Merton, German metal magnate, whose family held control of the stock seized during the war, resumed the witness stand. The star witness for the government had started his story Wednesday afternoon just before court recessed for the Jewish holiday. Today Merton told of his trip to Washington, where he discussed with Miller his proposal for the return of the $7,000,000 to the alien claimants whom Merton represented as agent. The move for return of the money was made on behalf of the Societe Suisse Pour Valeurs de Metaux, a subsidiary of the Merton interest organized in Switzerland in 1919 as a holding company for the interests of the German family.

He Tells His Story On the witness stand Merton told of meeting Miller, together with the late John T. King and the late Jess W. Smith, in New York several days before he saw Miller in Washington. "Can you tell us what conversation you had with Mr. Miller when you first met him in New York?" asked United States District Attorney Buckley.

"I'm afraid that I can't recollect that clearly," answered Merton. "I remember his telling me had only shortly been in office and did not know much about those things, but would put me in touch with men who did, when I came to Washington."

Had Seen Miller Before Merton said he had seen Miller in New York two or three times before he had his first trip to Washington. "I went to Washington," the witness said, "and went to the office of the alien property custodian, Mr. Miller. "Who took you there?" asked Mr. Buckley.

"I think Mr. Smith met me, and he either took me there or else directed me how to get there, I am not sure," answered Merton.

"You had a talk with Miller?" "Yes, it was very short, we greeted each other, then he either called in Mr. Williams or sent me to Mr. Williams' office. I can't recollect which." R. E. Williams was chief assistant

TEACHERS PASS RESOLUTIONS TO CLOSE MEETING

SUCCESSFUL SESSION OF PLAINS INSTRUCTORS CLOSING TODAY

Resolutions submitted Thursday to teachers attending the Panhandle-South Plains institute advocating a number of reforms in scholastic circles, were adopted by the assemblage Friday morning in the last general session. A total registration of 1,060 teachers was recorded at the meeting which adjourned today noon after holding sessions all week.

The institute is to meet at the Technological college again next fall with President Paul W. Horn conducting the sessions and Dr. C. H. Judd, of Chicago University, whose splendid lectures and work this fall have met with virtually unanimous approval of those in attendance, has been invited to return.

Surplus in Cash Left A report of the treasurer Friday morning indicated that all expenses of the institute have been paid and that there is a surplus of about $400 in the treasury to be used in financing the institute in 1927, county and city superintendents were today certifying the attendance of their teachers in order that the latter might draw pay for the time spent here. Several hundred teachers left the city this afternoon going to their schools, many of which are to open Monday morning. Fifteen counties were represented here, two more than have ever been represented before.

Would Raise Ante Among the principal things mentioned in the resolutions were and favored by the teachers were that the per capita apportionment of the State be raised to $15 per pupil each year above the present apportionment of about $11, that a law be passed making a minimum salary and special professional training compulsory for teachers, the adoption of a strict county unit system, the placing of city and county superintendents upon the same basis and the appropriation of more money for buildings at the Tech.

These questions will be submitted to the legislature, according to President P. W. Horn, and it is hoped that some of the changes will be made. Other institutes in session over the State are adopting similar resolutions, thus expressing the opinions of the teachers of the State, he said.

One-Time Foes Cheer Each Other In Geneva When Germany's Entrance In League Of Nations Becomes Official

(By The Associated Press.) GENEVA, Sept. 10.—Germany was received into the League of Nations today amid scenes of European reconciliation which in their fire of enthusiasm have been unexampled since the armistice.

Germany and France, through Foreign Ministers Stresemann and Briand, committed themselves to perpetuate peace, and solemnly engaged the honor of their nations henceforth never to draw the sword but to settled disputes by arbitration or compromise.

Three things stood out dramatically on this historic day. The first was Dr. Stresemann's picture of present day Germany as gripped only by lofty ideals, determined to dedicate her energies henceforth to international cooperation based on a high intellectual and moral plane. This spirit, he said, had entered into the very conscience of the German people.

Briand Makes Address. The second feature was the remarkable oration of M. Briand, whose declaration that Germany and France have had enough glory in the past and need no further demonstration of heroism, and whose proclamation that the roar of guns had now been silenced, evoked tumultuous applause.

The third outstanding incident was the scene of almost delirious jubilation throughout the vast auditorium, when Sir George Foster of Canada arose, as M. Briand was resuming his speech and, waiting high the Union Jack, called for three cheers for France's eminent leader.

Instantly, every man and woman in the hall stood and joined in the uproar of applause which lasted several minutes, and which seemed a spontaneous expression of joy that the two principal protagonists in the great war had sworn henceforth to abandon the use of arms and seek solution of all their difficulties in the peaceful atmosphere of the League of Nations.

"Faith" Is Praised. "Faith will move mountains," M. Briand affirmed during his address. Both he and Dr. Stresemann admitted that many problems still awaited solution, but varied the conviction that by exercise of good will and by realizing that the world has had enough of war, solutions could always be found.

Dr. Stresemann emphasized the importance of economic understandings among nations, saying the old order of things had passed and that the new economic life needed new forms of international cooperation which would give less importance to national boundaries.

Recalling that the disarmament of Germany stipulated in the treaty of Versailles was proclaimed there as the precursor of general disarmament he voiced the hope that an advance would be made in that direction, thus affording proof that positive, constructive forces existed in the league. He appealed to Spain not to leave the league.

Called "Tangible Step." Foreign Minister Briand said a real tangible step had been taken toward a new international understanding. "Peace is the significance of this day," he added, "particularly for Germany and France. Today it is finished between us—no more war, no more seeking brutal bloody solutions. Away with machine guns, cannons and rifles. The time has come for understanding and peaceful arbitration."

The French statesman promised that in the future "the work of the league will be carried on in broad daylight with the participation of all members."

Spain May Resign. GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 10 (AP)—French circles in Geneva today seemed to be preparing public opinion for the early arrival of the Spanish note of resignation from the League of Nations.

French representations have been made to Madrid by league leaders, but the French apparently fear that Spain will follow in the footsteps of Brazil as soon as the assembly takes final action on the reorganization of the league council, in which Spain demands a permanent seat.

Report Affirmed LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Reuters Madrid correspondent confirms that the Spanish note of resignation from the League of Nations has been forwarded to Geneva.

Spain Resigns PARIS, Sept. 10 (AP)—A Havas dispatch from Geneva says Spain has officially announced her withdrawal from the League of Nations.

OPPOSITION IS HEARD IN MERGE Minority Stockholders Don't Want Rail Consolidation, They Tell I. C. C.

(By The Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Opposition to the plan of L. F. Loree to consolidate the St. Louis Southwestern Railroad with the Missouri-Kansas-Texas and Kansas City Southern was presented to the interstate commerce commission today by minority stockholders of the St. Louis Southwestern.

Walter E. Meyer of New York City acting for the minority group filed a petition asserting that the grouping of the three companies would be against public interests, would not make for increased efficiency, would confirm an unduly concentrated control of the railroad and would reduce railroad competition to the Southwest. The Loree proposal was said to contravene the tentative railroad consolidation plan of the interstate commerce commission and it was declared the St. Louis Southwestern if left independent would be able to maintain a profitable status and pay dividends.

MRS. H. T. GOOCH BURIAL IS SET

Pioneer Plains Woman To Be Interred Here Tomorrow; Pallbearers Chosen

The funeral of Mrs. H. T. Gooch will be held at the Methodist Church, Lubbock, at 1:30 Saturday afternoon. The services are to be concluded at 4:30. Rev. E. E. White will have charge of the services, and will be assisted by Rev. R. F. Dunn of Wilson and Rev. W. C. Hart of O'Donnell.

Mrs. Gooch, who was about 58 years of age, died at her home 2312 10th Street, at 4 o'clock Friday morning, after a prolonged illness. She is survived by her husband; two brothers, W. M. Keller of near Dublin and George Keller, of Dublin; a sister, Mrs. J. W. Pemberton, of Fort Worth; a son, Paul Gooch, of O'Donnell; and two daughters, with whom she and Mr. Gooch lived, Misses Marie and Fay Gooch, of Lubbock.

In Texas Many Years Mrs. Gooch was born in Virginia, but moved to Texas while yet young, and lived at Dublin for a time before moving in 1900 to the vicinity of where O'Donnell is now located, where she lived until recently, when she moved to Lubbock. She held a college degree, and was for a time a teacher in the public schools of the state.

All of the children of her family, and her own children were in Lubbock for a few days preceding her death, excepting Mrs. J. W. Pemberton, who will arrive from Ft. Worth tonight. Arrangements for the funeral were

COTTON PICKERS TELL MANY WOES

U. S. Department of Labor To Look Into Charges Voiced By Man In Prison

(By the Associated Press.) FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 10.—Evils of the free system and abuse of the "vagrancy" law are seen back of two complaints received here by C. W. Woodman, in charge of the United States Labor bureau here, he said Friday. South Texas counties are involved in charges made by laborers at Raymondville and Sinton. A letter forwarded from the department of labor at Washington, written by Mark Parker, in jail at Sinton, stated that Parker had been recruited at Texarkana, Arkansas to pick cotton for a man at Taft, Texas, which was to average three quarters of a bale to the acre at $1.25 a hundred with transportation one way refunded to those who remained until the crop was gathered. On arrival at Taft, Texas, Parker and others were offered employment by the man supposed to have hired them and the labor agency then sold the cotton pickers in bunches to farmers, the letter declared.

Being placed on a farm where the cotton averaged only a quarter of a bale, Parker quit and went to another farm where better wages were offered. He then found himself arrested for swindling, he said. Complaints of Wesley Lynch that laborers at Raymondville are being arrested and fined the amount of their earnings are being investigated by Woodman's agents, but no report has yet been made to him or the department at Washington, he said.

under the direction of the Rix Undertaking Company. Pallbearers are A. B. Ellis, H. L. Wilford, J. K. Miller, Jeff Shook, O'Donnell, D. W. Harris, O'Donnell, and T. D. Randle, of Lamesa. Interment will be made in the Tahoka cemetery.

Metcalf Resumes Duties With Police

Wiley L. Metcalf, Desk Sergeant of the Lubbock Police department, who has been on an enforced vacation for more than a week due to an injured eye, has resumed his duties with the department, although the injured member is still giving him some trouble. A small piece of steel was extracted from the eye a few days ago after infection had begun to spread, and it was feared for a time that the eye might be lost. The infection yielded to treatment, however, and the injury is now healing satisfactorily.
