Necessity Must Be Shown, Says House Chairman

McNutt's "All-Out" Prediction Stirs Capitol Hill; Speedy Senate Approval Sought For Kilday Deferment Measure

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 13 — Announcements by War Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt that the end of 1943 will see most able-bodied fathers under 38 in the armed forces brought threats on Capitol Hill today of legislation to limit the size of the Army.

Chairman May (D-Ky) of the House military committee said he would urge speedy Senate approval of legislation passed yesterday by the House to give deferment priorities to men with children and added that he would demand a congressional review of manpower plans if "they don't stop fooling around down at the manpower commission."

"Just where the manpower commission plans to put all the men they apparently figure on drafting between now and the end of this year is more than I can figure," May said. "The last figures we got, from the War department itself, were based on an army of 7,500,000 men."

While he was not prepared to say he would move immediately to control the size of the armed forces, the Kentuckian added, "something along that line will be forthcoming unless they can show the need for all these men they seem to be determined to draft."

McNutt asserted that "simple arithmetic" would require the induction of all fathers except those with occupational or farm deferments and a comparatively few "hardship cases."

McNutt added that when wholesale drafting of fathers begins "some changes are indicated" in the allotments and allowances paid to families.

Allowance Change Unlikely

May said he did not believe Congress would boost the allowances and allotments and would stick to the policy that bona fide families should not be broken up until absolutely necessary.

Rep. Kilday (D-Tex) said that in view of the one-sided vote by which the House approved his bill — 143 to 7 — he expects it to win Senate approval.

As passed by the House it retained a committee amendment prohibiting the induction of men by occupational groups, an amendment designed to nullify a WMC order that men in prescribed nonessential occupations would be inducted, regardless of dependency, unless they transferred to essential work.

Passage Due For Bill On Loan Sharks

House Advances Measure; Manford Bill Reconsidered

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, April 13.—The Moore-Morse bill to put loan sharks out of business by injunctions today seemed assured of becoming law in Texas by Aug. 9.

The bill which passed the Senate after weathering a 13½ hour filibuster was passed to third reading in the House yesterday afternoon. It failed to get suspension of the rules for immediate final passage but the vote of 79 ayes to 43 noes gave assurance that it will be enacted.

Bankers Withdraw Opposition

Three attempts to amend the bill and thus send it back to the Senate were beaten off and Rep. R. E. Morse of Houston said bankers have withdrawn opposition to it after the Senate amendment permitting an expense charge of $1 for $50 of loans, not to be counted as interest.

Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston was Senate sponsor of the bill. It authorizes injunctions against habitual usurers.

A Senate recess yesterday afternoon left proposed amendments to the present liquor enforcement law as the Senate's pending business for today to be interrupted at 11:15 a. m. by an executive session to pass on governor's appointees.

Sen. L. J. Sulak of LaGrange, who said he comes from probably

Hope Lost For Valuable Port

OMAHA, April 13 (AP) — Army engineers today abandoned hope of saving Omaha's $4,000,000 airport and Carter Lake, Ia., from complete inundation by Missouri river flood waters as the angry stream poured through two broken dikes into the 10-square-mile stricken area on the northeastern outskirts of Omaha.

At Hamburg, Ia., 50 miles south, 200 families living in the southern portion of the community, which is 11 feet below the normal river level, began leaving their homes after dikes at McPaul and Percival, above Hamburg, gave way. Residents of McPaul also were ordered to leave their homes.

Col. Lewis Pick, U. S. Army division engineer, said there was no chance of stopping the Omaha dike break and that further efforts to save the airport-Carter

Governor Proclaims Pan-American Day

AUSTIN, April 13 (AP) — Pan-American day, April 14, suggests appropriate celebrations by churches, schools, civic associations and citizens generally in observance of the 53rd anniversary of the Pan-American union, Governor Coke R. Stevenson declared in a proclamation.

INSPECTIONS SLATED

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Aides of Rubber Director William M. Jeffers announced yesterday that he will inspect synthetic rubber plants in Louisiana and Texas later this month.

Young County Group Leads In Salvage

DALLAS, April 13. (AP)—Farmers of Young county, Tex., are leading the southwest region in heavy metal salvage, Lewis C. Huff, region WPB general salvage chairman here, announced today.

Young county has collected and dispatched to the rolling mills its six-month quota of 1,550,000 pounds of heavy scrap, Huff said.

In Texas, the farmers' quota through June 30 is 209,000 net tons, or an approximate quota of 1,000 pounds per farm, added Huff.

Victims Of Navy Plane Crash Named

LOS ANGELES, April 13 (AP)—Officials at the Navy Air station, Roosevelt base, last night announced the names of two men killed in the crash of a navy plane near Plain Dealing, La., Sunday.

Dead are:

Lieut. Jones Seaborn Tinsley of Wharton, Tex., the pilot, and William Alex Shannon, aviation radioman, first class, of Victoria, Tex.

The plane, attached to Roosevelt field, had left Fort Worth, Tex., on a routine flight.

Four Convicts Flee Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13 (AP) Four convicts were missing after a break at Alcatraz island prison today, and a fifth prisoner was picked out of the bay waters by a speed boat.

Other swift launches were patrolling the waters for the missing men.

The San Francisco police radio said the four missing men wore soldier's uniforms.

Auto Tire Found

The break occurred at 10:25 a. m. An hour later there was no sign of the missing men who broke from the federal prison and plunged into the water while bullets from rifles of guards in the towers kicked up geysers of water.

A speed boat picked up the re-

Two Cups Out Of One Cup Of Coffee Sought By Chemistry

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

DETROIT, April 13—Coffee extendors—they stretch one cup of real coffee into two cups—are chemistry's proposed gift to America's coffee drinkers.

Extendors are not like substitutes. They do not try to imitate coffee; they are not expected to continue on the market when coffee imports resume.

Has No Marked Flavor

Their principles were explained to the American Chemical society here by R. E. Kremers of General Foods corporation. A good extendor has no marked flavor of its own. It has a very light aroma, coffee-like if possible, but too weak to interfere with the real aroma, even when extended.

An important point for an extendor is good body, the quality which the palate recognizes as non-watery. Body has the thing which epicures describe as smoothness.

The main ingredients of one extendor mentioned by Kremers are cereals and cocoa. He said that chemists have found 123 species of plants containing more or less

Another Lubbock Boy Gives His Life That American Ideals May Survive

To many of us safe on the home front—to too many of us, perhaps—the war is a distant thing. But to the boys on the far-flung fighting fronts, and to their parents, there is nothing distant about it.

Close to the bursting bombs, the chattering machineguns, the barking ack acks—close enough, in spirit, to smell the acrid smoke—are the parents of countless Lubbock and South Plains boys who battle on land, on sea, under the sea and in the clouds that freedom some day may be shared by all. But even closer today are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Coe, 2302 Fourteenth street, who this morning were informed of the death of their son, Lt. Paul T. Coe, U. S. Marine Corps fighter pilot, in blazing action against the Japs off Guadalcanal.

Young Coe, who entered the service on November 1, 1941, is typical of thousands of West Texans now defending civilization against the Axis hordes. Reared in Wellington, he moved to Lubbock with his parents in 1934, attended Texas Tech and was graduated with both bachelor and master degrees, the latter in 1939. He became a Marine Corps second lieutenant in September 1942 and went overseas the following December 2.

Lieutenant Coe, who would have been 24 on May 23, never forgot his home, his family, nor Lubbock, despite the horrors of warfare. From his foreign battle station last Yuletide, he mailed to the annual Goodfellows fund here his personal contribution of $10.

Known to his flying buddies as "Pete," Lieutenant Coe is the prototype of a score or more of South Plains fighting men who already have given their lives to their country and to a world ideal. There will be others—perhaps many others—who will make the supreme sacrifice. In an effort to bring the war right here at home—where it should be and must be in the minds of us all—The Evening Journal presents herewith three letters, two of which were received today, for all to read and contemplate.

Let us remember, as we read them, the slogan of the current, Second War Loan Drive: "They Give Their Lives—You Lend Your Money," then do our BEST, instead of our bit, to bring Victory, and halt the slaughter of our sons, at the earliest possible moment!

A Buddy Writes To Friend's Parents

3-22-43

My Dear Mr. Coe and Family:

May I send my most sincere and heartfelt sympathy to all of you in your bereavement. Your loss is truly mine. Paul "flew on my wing" in our section of the "Flying Circus" division; without him that section of the sky seems empty.

Your son, brother, died in line of duty due to conditions beyond his control, or ours; and everything possible was done to save him.

"Nothing Can Lessen Loss"

I know that nothing I or anyone else can say will lessen your loss, but I would like you to know that we here in his squadron considered him a fine Christian lad; a gentleman, a conscientious worker and a splendid fighter pilot.

It is my hope that eventually that I and other members of his flight will be able to talk to you personally. Perhaps we can tell you items of interest concerning your son's career here that he was not, nor are we at present, able to tell you.

I repeat—your loss is also mine; I have lost a wing-mate and roommate whom I mourn with you. Perhaps it would be best if we just thought of "Pete" as transferred to a more pleasant station.

With my deepest sympathy and kindest personal regards, I remain, as "Pete" himself would say—

"The Deacon"
Wm. Virgil Moore,
1st Lt. U. S. M. C. R.

Boy's Last Letter Home Says: "Remember The Things We're Fighting For Are Much Bigger Than One Person, One Squadron!"

March 10, 1943

Dear Mother and Dad:

This letter is being written by the aid of a lantern. My table is a box of .50 calibre ammunition and the tent is affording protection from the torrential downpour that usually occurs nightly in the South Pacific Islands.

This letter is not being written with any feeling on my part of impending doom, but it is being written with a full realization of the scope of the job we have to do. My part, however small, can help in some way with this job.

Paul Coe

Tomorrow my squadron leaves for a crack at the Japs. I'm happy that after months of training the time has come at last. Chances are that some of us will not make it through and should I be one of those, please remember that the thing we are fighting for is much bigger than just one person or one squadron. Also remember that there will be many more who will give their lives before our job is done and we are proud to do our part so that those we love can continue to live in the manner in which they have become accustomed. Pray that this war will soon be over and we will be free to worship, do and say what we please always as now.

I regret that the strikers in the airplane factories cannot see how unflinchingly our soldiers give their lives so that they can have a free country to live in. If they could see our living conditions and the spirit with which our boys take it, I know that they would feel ashamed of themselves.

To "Uphold Marine Traditions"

I hope that I can uphold the traditions of fighting courage and undying effort of the Marines—if I can do this my one objective will have been accomplished.

If at any time, I have to take my life to insure that a Jap will be stricken off the records, I'll gladly give it. The thing that will eventually mean the winning of the war is the whole-hearted cooperation of every person with our president in providing the implements of war to our fighting forces.

Mother, if something should happen to me, be brave and remember that I wanted a chance to do the most and such a chance always offers the greatest danger.

Love always,
Your Son.

Coe's Commander Offers Sympathy

March 22, 1943

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Coe:

It is with deep regret and sorrow that I write to you concerning the loss of your son, Paul. Although he is listed as missing, I think you should know that he is dead and will not return. He and his plane were observed to crash in the water off Guadalcanal and disappeared leaving no trace. He met his death in a manner that all fighter pilots expect, that is, in his plane in line of duty.

"An Outstanding Officer"

As his commanding officer, I had many opportunities to observe Paul in his work with the squadron and I cannot speak too highly of his abilities as an officer and as a pilot. His attention to duty and willingness to work was of the highest order. He was the outstanding junior officer of his squadron. His fellow officers regarded him very highly as a friend and soldier in this war. I can assure you that he was in every respect a real Marine, and that he met his death honorably in the service of his country.

Yours very truly,
Robert R. Burns,
Captain USMC.

Flood Of Dollars Is America's Response In War Bond Drive

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 13 — America is responding with a flood of dollars, the Treasury reported today, to the greatest appeal for funds in history—the government's $13,000,000,000 second war loan campaign.

The drive was opened officially Monday by Secretary Morgenthau, but even before the secretary addressed a rally at Carnegie hall in New York reports began pouring into the Treasury indicating a tremendous public response.

"Is People's War"

"This is a people's war—so all of the people ought to have a part in financing it," Morgenthau told the New York rally in urging full participation by everyone.

Stressing the Treasury's urgent need for funds, the secretary warned that heavier financial sacrifices will be required of the people to meet the growing demands of the war.

"Ten per cent is no longer enough," he said. "We are asking everyone to buy extra bonds this month, even workers who are now participating in the payroll savings plan."

To Raise 70 Billions

Coincident with opening of the three week campaign, the Treasury disclosed tentative plans to raise a total of $70,000,000,000 this year—plans which will strike

Local Sales Of Bonds Climbing

The Second War Loan drive continued forward under a full head of steam in Lubbock county today.

Certainly there was no apparent slackening of the pace which resulted in government bond sales totaling $657,000 Monday on the opening day of the drive—thus covering more than one-sixth of the distance toward the county's quota of $3,700,000 in the 13 billion dollar national campaign.

This $657,000 reported does not include the $260,000 in city funds approved by the city commission Monday night for investment in war securities. No figures are added to the official totals until the money actually is invested. A day or two may be required to iron out the technicalities involved

Farm Slashes Recommended

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Abolition of the Farm Security administration, abandonment of the crop insurance program and discontinuance of parity payments on the 1943 and 1944 crops were recommended today by the House appropriation committee in sending a $707,040,844 Agriculture department supply bill to the floor.

The funds recommended for the department's operation for the fiscal year starting next July 1 were $20,939,259 more than current year appropriations and $240,093,647 below budget estimates. Included in the total was $193,623,000 for parity payments for the 1942 crop year which were authorized in last year's appropriation but for which no funds were made available at the time.

Recommends Work Transfer

In recommending abolition of the New Deal sponsored FSA, created in 1937 and one of the favorite targets of congressional criticism for several years, the committee suggested that its functions be transferred to the Farm Credit administration, which was

Allied Tunisian Forces Advance In Four Areas

Montgomery's Vanguards In 50 Miles Of Tunis; Churchill Says Allies Are More Than Holding Own Against Axis U-Boats

BY ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced today that Allied troops were advancing all along the line, scoring gains in four key sectors, as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel took refuge in the mountain - rimmed "coffin corner" of northern Tunisia and the stage was set for a blazing finale to the battle of north Africa.

(The Algiers radio, in a broadcast recorded in London, said the British Eighth army had occupied Enfidaville, 27 miles north of Sousse and 50 miles south of Tunis. An earlier broadcast said nearly the whole of the Italian Vittoria division had been captured.)

The total of prisoners captured was reported as boosted to more than 33,156.

"Advances were made yesterday at most points along the 8th army group front," the Allied war bulletin said.

V-Boats Stalemated

Other major developments in the global war:

Battle of Atlantic — Prime Minister Churchill tells Parliament "we are more than holding our own" in campaign against German U-boats.

Western air war — London sees new Soviet raid on Germany as Berlin reports "enemy planes" hit Koenigsberg in east Prussia.

Reds Pound Nazis Lines

Russia — Soviet warplanes pound German supply lines as mud bogs land operations; Red army command says Nazi drive halted on Volkhov front, southeast of Leningrad, after five German attacks beaten off; Russians heighten threat to Smolensk.

On the Tunisian front, Marshal Rommel's hard-hit Africa Corps was reported falling back into a narrow 100-mile-long corridor in the extreme north, extending from Cape Serrat to a position about 20 miles north of Enfidaville.

Jammed into this tight corner, at the mercy of great fleets of Allied warplanes and a bristling ring of American, British and French siege guns, the Axis chieftain was estimated to have about 210,000 troops left to battle against final disaster.

British Pushing Forward

Swiftly following up yesterday's capture of Sousse, 170 airline miles north of the Mareth line, British 1st and 8th army patrols were officially described as "pushing forward" north of Sousse and northeast of the fallen Moslem holy city of Kairouan.

Liaison was now completed between Gen. Montgomery's 8th army veterans and Lt.-Gen. K. A. N. Anderson's 1st army troops

Allied Victory Checks Aerial Threat Of Japs

Enemy Loses 52 Planes In Single Day's Operations

(By The United Press)

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, April 13—Allied victories that cost the Japanese 52 planes in a single day, including 37 out of 100 that raided Port Moresby, have checked the enemy's developing air offensive, a communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today.

JAP AREAS RAIDED

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP) — Japanese anti-aircraft guns were silenced and fires were started in camp areas when Army and Navy bombers struck five times Sunday and Monday at enemy positions in the Solomon Islands, the Navy reported today.

In the north Pacific, meanwhile, Army planes continued their almost incessant pounding of enemy-held Kiska island with four raids which resulted in direct hits and the starting of fires in the camp area.

Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, commander of southwest Pacific ground forces, warned at a press conference, however, that Japan has put 200,000 troops and a strong air force in the island arc above Australia and has set out to seize air supremacy.

Beginning Of Struggle

"This is the beginning of the struggle for control of the air," he said. "We have had air control in the south and southwest Pacific areas. Now the Japanese are challenging it. The thing is on now. The results will be of the greatest importance."

Ground troops cannot function without such control, Blamey said, and the Japanese have concentrated their power to win it. He warned that they also could assemble fleet backing "on short notice" to add to their striking ability.

A communique describing the attack on the Allied-held south New Guinea coast base described it as a "complete defeat" for the raiders. The largest blow ever aimed at Fort Moresby, the raid was the latest of a long-expected series of aerial punches by the Japanese.

15 In Other Actions

Fifteen Japanese planes were downed in other aerial actions. A Liberator, on reconnaissance, knocked over seven. Planes on

"Equal Rights" Bill Criticized

WASHINGTON, April 13. (AP)—Opposition to a proposed constitutional amendment mandating equal rights for men and women was expressed today by senators who contended it would backfire against the very group it is intended to benefit.

Dumped into the senate's lap by a 12 to 4 vote of the judiciary committee, the legislation promptly was tabbed in the politically ticklish category by some lawmakers and indications were that action would be delayed "for study."

Connally Predicts Disruption

Sponsored by Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) and 23 other senators, the proposed amendment, which would require ratification of at least 36 state legislatures, states simply that "men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place

Fugitive From Texas Prison Surrenders

HOUSTON, April 13. (AP)—Leo Phillips, one of the seven convicts who escaped from Retrieve prison farm early Sunday, April 4 surrendered to Capt. J. A. Lockwood, prison manager, last night.

Phillips, who had been hiding in Houston, returned with Percy Foreman, Houston lawyer. Foreman said Phillips' mother came to him Saturday and promised her son would return to the farm with Foreman. Foreman assured Police Inspector C. V. Kern he would be taken to the farm near Angleton.

Phillips is serving a life sentence from Harris county for criminal assault after being sent up in 1938.

Complications Follow Mix-Up On Twin Lubbock Automobiles

Two car owners here were laughing today at their experiences with "twin" cars—but it wasn't funny Monday night.

Late Monday Mrs. R. F. Beisel of 1412 Fourteenth street went to the downtown parking place where she had left her car, got into a black sedan and drove home. Leaving the car parked at her home, she went to Littlefield with friends—unaware of the complications which had arisen.

Key Wouldn't Work

Ray F. Simmons of 3016 Twenty-first street had returned to what gave every appearance of being his car. It was a black sedan, with seat covers like those in his car and with a crack on the steering wheel resembling that on his. The key just wouldn't work, however, and investigation of the license plate revealed it to be different from the plate on his car.

An appeal to the city police resulted in telephone calls to Austin to determine in which county the car was registered and to Lamb county to learn the name of the owner.

Totally unaware of the exchange of automobiles, Mrs. Bei-

Lack Of Machinery Plagues Corn Belt

CHICAGO, April 13. (AP)—Shortages of manpower and machinery are twin wartime locusts plaguing the Corn Belt farmer.

But, as Donald Kirkpatrick of the Illinois Agricultural association puts it, "the American farmer has a knack of making the best of things and can be relied upon to do the job expected of him."

The job expected of him this year in the 12-state Corn Belt is to produce food, and the products that go into food, as he never has done before.

Conservation Pays Off

Midwest farm leaders estimate that 90 per cent of the vital foods needed for America's fighting men and for lend-lease to the United Nations will be produced in the fertile north central states.

A ten-year program of soil conservation has come to the aid of the middlewestern farmer in this pinch, John J. Lacey, information director of the American Farm Bureau federation, says. This program, embracing rotation of crops to restore fertility, gives farmers thousands of acres which will temporarily be withdrawn from rotation and planted to foods.

The products of the Middle West require skilled handling.

Machines in great numbers and varieties work the corn belt lands, and their operation can't be entrusted to the inexperienced.

City Folks To Help

The valuable dairy herds of Wisconsin demand scientific feeding, milking and care.

City folk are expected to contribute real help to truck farmers near populous centers and to supply periodic aid to corp farmers.

Young men from marginal farms in northern Wisconsin have been trained and assigned jobs on highly-productive dairy farms.

Minnesota has a program to train high school youths, and some Iowa farmers favor a program that would utilize retired farmers and high school pupils.

Harry D. Linn, Iowa state secretary of agriculture, declares there is a serious shortage of labor saving machinery, vital now more than ever because of the shortage of farmhands.

Industry Wages Blamed

In the cooperative use of machinery, owners exchange different types with one another or agree to lend a machine in some phase of farming that can't be done by machine.

Adequate farm machinery was stressed as a vital wartime need to achieve increased food production at the 24th annual convention of the American Farm Bureau federation, an organization representing more than 2,000,000 farm residents.

The attractive wage rates of war industry were blamed by some farm leaders for taking tenant farmers off the land. Lacey said, however, he felt farm tenancy at this time offered better opportunities than ever before.

"A tenant," he said, "can make a lot more money these days feeding hogs for market than he can in a war plant."

Morale Effect Of Raids Cited

LONDON, April 13 (U.P.)—If a man hasn't a house to live in, if his corner grocery has been burned down, if there's no gas, electricity, water or street cars and if he has been up all night fighting fires—he is not going to be much help getting the blitzed Essen steel works going again.

That is one of the secondary—but highly important—effects of the Allied air offensive against Germany which may be overlooked in the United States. It is not forgotten by the British who have been through the same thing themselves.

Willow Run Cited

Possibly the closest parallel to this type of situation in the United States is at Willow Run, Ford's giant plane plant. Willow Run's experience has shown a specific correlation between the ability of workers to find a place to eat and sleep and live and the production capacity.

Willow Run didn't have enough houses so workers were forced to travel by automobile as much as 70 miles round trip daily. As a result, Willow Run never has been able to obtain enough workmen to run steadily at its originally estimated capacity and has a constant labor turnover that hampers efficiency.

This is the same thing on a smaller, and less drastic, scale that happens when the RAF sends a pulverizing raid over Essen. A more graphic idea of secondary bombing effects also can be found in London or almost any British industrial city by a sightseer.

Houses Burned Out

All you have to do is see acre after acre, mile after mile of burned out and battered houses, apartments, stores, shops—buildings of every description—which run alongside the London dock area, commercial road and East India dock area.

The problems which authorities of German blitzed towns face in handling refugees and essential services are believed to be many times those of Britain. The Germans have little or no reserves of civilian supplies such as blankets, dishes, cutlery, pots, pans and clothes—all necessities for persons who have lost everything in bombed houses.

No Spare Stocks

They also probably have no spare stocks of wood, bricks, nails, mortar, and the materials needed to repair damaged residences.

Figures on the evacuation of Essen range from 90,000 to 350,000 of the normal population of 670,000. These show that the Krupp works there will have a hard time running full blast even if the damage to the plant itself is repaired. One estimate said production had been cut 35 to 40 per cent.

Factories are no good without men and women to run them. Therefore the Royal Air force actually is delivering a triple blow to most German cities: blasting out the means of production, making it impossible to work in many damaged plants and placing a heavy strain on the already hard pressed Nazi war economy by forcing on it the whole job of caring for refugee civilians.

City To Use Preventive Plan Instead Of Ordinance To Combat Juvenile Problem

Decision to approach the Lubbock juvenile curfew problem on a preventive basis, instead of through regulations or ordinances of doubtful legality, was reached by members of the city commission at their postponed regular meeting Monday night.

The commission also approved the investment of approximately $260,000 in city funds in war bonds.

In discussing the curfew problem, members agreed that conditions are developing which make it desirable that attempts be made to discourage teen-age boys and girls who loiter on the streets or frequent "night spots" late at night.

So they authorized Police Chief Don Reeder to select a man to be added to the police department whose special duty will be to look out for juveniles who may be discovered in questionable places at unseemly hours. When the officer feels that circumstances justify, he will report his observations to the parents who may be in ignorance of the conduct of their son or daughter.

"This is intended to be a step of prevention," explained Police Commissioner J. O. Jones. "We are trying to keep young boys and girls from getting themselves into trouble. With the cooperation of the parents, I believe this step will succeed in its intended purpose and will accomplish a great deal of good."

Recent Survey Trip

This line of procedure was agreed upon after Chief Reeder, City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., and City-County Juvenile Counsellor John W. Wilson made a report on a recent trip to Waco and Austin to observe the operation of curfew efforts there. They related that a curfew plan which does not seem adaptable here being employed with apparent success in Waco. A plan tried in Austin for a time was abandoned.

All were agreed that the man to be selected for the new job must be chosen with utmost care, and must be peculiarly fitted for difficult duties requiring a great deal of discretion and "good horse sense." The chief is to interview prospects, but he asked the cooperation of members of the commission in making the final selection.

The city money to be invested in government securities is to apply on the county's $3,700,000 quota in the national Second War Bond drive launched Monday.

Of the money, $100,000 is to be placed in Series G bonds, bearing approximately 2 1-2 per cent interest. The remainder will be invested in Series B treasury certificates which mature in one year, and bear seven-eighths of one per cent interest.

Approximately half of this money will be taken from unexpended balances of bond issues which were voted for projects brought to a halt by the war emergency. The remainder will come from various other city funds which now are idle and which now bear no interest.

License Deadline Extended

Another action taken by the commission was an extension of time until May 15 during which 1943 bicycle tags can be obtained without penalty. Usually, the 50 cents penalty is added March 1. This year the tags were not obtained until after a delay of several weeks.

Letting of a contract for the drilling of another city water well to George Anderson on a bid of $747.50 was approved. His was the lowest by $117.50 of two bids submitted.

The commission also approved plans for alterations and remodeling of recreation centers for white and negro soldiers as submitted by Carl Svensen, architect. The white center is at 1211 Thirteen street and the negro center at 2101 East Avenue C.

Surety bond of Travis Jackson as a sign board contractor was approved.

Florieta Sand Hit In County Wildcat

Still without showings of oil, J. R. Sharp and associates' No. 1 R. D. Martin is drilling below 5,500 feet after encountering the Florietta sand at 5,290 feet, according to reports here Monday.

Late completions in the Slaughter field include one well each in southwestern Hockley county and northwestern Terry county.

In Terry, the Lido Petroleum company's No. 1 Cecil Devitt flowed 997 barrels of 32-gravity oil, plus 1.2 per cent water per day. It was acidized with 10,000 gallons in pay lime from 5,007 to 5,040 feet, the total depth. The gas-oil ratio was 775-1. George P. Livermore, Lubbock, was contractor on the well. Tevis Morrow's No. 34 Mallet Land & Cattle company, on the Hockley side of the field, flowed 642.24 barrels of 32-gravity oil daily, with a gas-oil ratio of 562-1, after acidizing with 12,000 gallons in lime from 4,900 to 4,940 feet, total depth.

The Humble Oil and Refining company's No. 1 Tannehill Brothers, Inc., et al., in extreme southwestern Yoakum county four miles west of the Wasson field, is drilling unchanged at 5,896 feet in lime.

Northeast of Seminole and the Seminole pool, the Gulf Oil corporation's No. 1 Pauline Haybeck Kottwitz wildcat in north central Gaines county is preparing to drill the plug from the 10¾ inch surface casing cemented at 418 feet with 250 sacks. The present depth is 432 feet in red beds.

Jefferson's Birthday Observed In Capital

WASHINGTON, April 13 (U.P.)—The capital today was celebrating the 200th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States who swore "upon the altar of God eternal hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man."

At 4 p. m., Monday, Achibald MacLeish, the librarian of Congress, opened the ceremonies by reading the Declaration of Independence in the library's rotunda and opens special Jefferson exhibits. The original copy of the declaration, of which Jefferson was the author, will be on exhibit this week in a special bullet proof case.

Highlight of the week's ceremonies was to come today with the dedication of the $3,000,000 Jefferson memorial at the tidal basin. The collonaded, marble edifice is situated midway of the Lincoln memorial and the Washington monument.

Beginning Of End In Tunisia Seen

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

The sudden crumbling of Marshal Erwin Rommel's resistance in central Tunisia and the speed of his flight northward towards the hills of the Tunis-Bizerte corner mark the beginning of the end in Tunisia.

The retreat no longer is "according to plan." The penetration of Allied forces on his flank and the pressure of the British Eighth army from the south upset Rommel's program for an orderly withdrawal to prepared positions in the mountains.

Only Two Ports Left

Allied pounding from the west, which has resulted in capture of Kairouan and its important airfields, forced Rommel to flee almost precipitately up the coast to avoid entrapment of the bulk of his forces. Now Sousse, only remaining port except Bizerte and Tunis, has fallen.

The speed of the Allied advance, which swept the 75 miles from Sfax to Sousse in 48 hours over the week-end, shows clearly that Rommel has not had time to mine his line of retreat to slow the enemy's progress.

Sweep Upsets Plans

The same presumably will hold true north of Sousse. As the Eighth army pounds at his heels, Rommel will have little time to prepare and man defensible positions on the line from Enfidaville to Pont du Fahs, which would have been his next logical holding point in the lower hills had not the Allied nutcracker sweep upset all his plans.

The American-British-French force which took Kariouan is in a position to advance along the highway to Enfidaville, effecting a junction there with the Eighth army.

There remains for Rommel only a consolidation with the northern force of Gen. Jurgen von Arnim for the last stand around Tunis and Bizerte. That heavily fortified region may be held for a considerable length of time, but perhaps not as long as some Allied military authorities had feared, because of two factors.

The odds are against Rommel in the matter of Allied air superiority and in weakened supply lines. With possession of Kairouan and other advanced bases, this air superiority is bound to be increasingly felt. Moreover, Rommel's sea lines have been funnelled down to Tunis and Bizerte, making it easier for the Allies to smash any attempt at replenishment of supplies, especially gasoline and oil.

Statisticians count an accident a "catastrophe" when it claims more than five lives.

Senate Wants Part In Parley

WASHINGTON, April 13 (U.P.)—Barring of reporters from access to delegates at the forthcoming United Nations food conference today precipitated demands for Senate representation at the meetings and a suggestion for a fifth freedom — freedom of full information.

The conference opens May 18 at Hot Springs, Va. Delegates from the United Nations will explore the means of distributing food to peoples stricken by war.

The Senate demand for representation was an aftermath of President Roosevelt's original plan to bar all newspaper reporters from the site of the conference. That has been amended to allow reporters to attend the opening and closing sessions, but they still will be barred during the rest of the two-week conference from the hotel in which the delegates will meet and live.

Senators Ask Representation

Senators asking for representation pointed out that the Senate will have to ratify any treaties promulgated and will be asked to pass legislation needed for setting up food distribution machinery. They felt that it would increase Senate support of any action taken if some of their own members were observers.

Sen. Gerald P. Nye, (R., N. D.), member of the foreign relations and agriculture committees, said a resolution should be passed demanding that the State department receive chairmen and minority leaders of those committees at the conference.

Former New York Lawyer Becomes Leading U. S. Air Ace In Africa; Fight Story Told

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 13 (AP)—A young New York state lawyer who shelved his career for silver wings today told details of the engagement last Monday in which he shot down his ninth and tenth enemy planes to become America's leading ace in North Africa.

Major Levi R. Chase, 25, of Cortland, N. Y., said it was "the toughest spot yet" when he and other pilots of a P-40 Warhawk unit were jumped by a superior force of German fighters.

"We were on a sweep and right at the start it became a fight for our very lives," he said. "We split up. I had my two wing men with me when at least 10 Messerschmitts attacked us. We stuck together as best we could and when they got too hot we had to turn and face them and shoot it out.

"My two lads did nobly and we had luck at the very outset when I tagged one Messerschmitt and he spun in. The fight raged for minutes that seemed like hours. We three hit for the ground and headed for home. We turned to fight only when the Jerries got close on our tails. That's the toughest test, especially to the younger lads, when you have to turn heavily outnumbered and face the enemy.

"After a while we turned and started shooting again. I got one in my sights and down he went. As always, they scattered when we gave fight, but they kept on coming and we had to use every trick in the trade to get out of the trap. I suppose the entire engagement lasted 25 minutes, and fighter boys alone know what that means."

Chase's commanding officer, Col. William W. Momyer, 26, of Seattle, is the second highest American scorer in Tunisia with eight enemy planes to his credit. His unit has destroyed 43 planes in two weeks and 79 in the entire campaign.

Others in Momyer's command who scored victories in the last two weeks inelude Lieut. Tom A. Thomas, jr., Ada, Okla., with two victories, and the following with one plane apiece during the fortnight: Lieutenants Deaver V. Davison, Oklahoma City; Robert P. Kantner, San Francisco; William P. McBride, Realitos, Tex.; James D. Linn, Lubbock, Tex.; Stanley K. Hanson, Fort Collins, Colo.; Lassiter Thompson, E. Paso, Tex.; Capt. Daniel B. Rathbun, Ontario, Calif.; and Capt. Carl W. Stech, jr., San Francisco.

News Briefs

Three boys from Lubbock Senior High school entertained members of the Lions club and their guests here at noon today at the civic club's regular weekly luncheon session at Hotel Hilton. The boys were Billy Medley, pianist and baritone; Bennie Lowe, tenor and Jack Thompson, second tenor. They entertained with vocal numbers and young Medley with a pianologue. Chas. A. Guy, editor of Avalanche-Journal newspapers, spoke briefly in behalf of the Second War Loan Bond drive, now under way. Roy Boyd, county schools superintendent, was in charge of the program and President Harry Morris was in the chair.

Information was received in Lubbock this morning saying Woodrow Robinson, 29, former Lubbock resident, had died Monday in Houston. He had suffered two months of a malignant ailment. He had been associated here almost a year with a brother, Ralph Robinson, in a grocery store at 715 Broadway. Other survivors are his widow, of Houston; his mother, Mrs. L. F. Hudgens of 2312 Fifteenth street; two sisters, Mrs. Bernie Baize of Corpus Christi and Mrs. James Pitts of Mississippi. Burial will be in Stephenville Wednesday.

Bikes were listed by police today as stolen from Austin Ruse of 2324 Fourteenth street, Roger Walden of 1714 Thirteenth street, and Marvin Link of 2308 Third street. Ray Simmons of 3016 Twenty-first street complained that his 1940 Buick sedan, license 963-643, had been taken.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Coe, 2302 Fourteenth street, are leaving Wednesday morning for San Antonio to visit with their two daughters, Mrs. Paul Love and Miss Marijo Coe. Mrs. Love is the twin of the Coes' son, Lt. Paul Coe, who was killed in action off Guadalcanal, March 22.

Pvt. and Mrs. J. O. Grisham, jr., of Venice, Florida, are visiting Pvt. Grisham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Grisham, sr., 2307-B Sixteenth street on a fifteen-day furlough. They will return to Florida on April 19. Pvt. Grisham is in the air corps.

Red C coupons in war ration book No. 2 became valid Sunday in purchase of rationed meat, cheese, fats and canned fish. A, B and C stamps will remain valid through April 30, as will the D stamp, which will become effective Sunday.

Mrs. Pearl Sampson of 1404 Avenue O has a $64 question: what became of her handbag Monday night. It contained $64, part of it a money order for $25, the rest in bills and silver. She said she took change out of her purse to give a relative to buy milk, then laid the handbag on the bed.

Sons were born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Fowler of Littlefield, in Lubbock General hospital, and to Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Dycus of Lorenzo, in West Texas hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Herring and daughters, Mrs. Woody Walker and Mrs. Alton Peak, have returned from Mexia, where they attended the funeral of Herring's father, W. M. Herring.

A daughter weighing 7 pounds 8 ounces was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McWaters of 1611 Ave. F at 3:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the residence, Lubbock General hospital reported. The father is in the Navy and is at a California post.

"Life in the Walking Air Corps," an original musical production, will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight in the gymnasium at Texas Technological college by 200 Army pre-flight students. There will be no admittance charge. Other announcements on the "war front" at Tech: Dr. Harry L. Kent, liaison officer, has announced that all Marine corps reservists in their freshman or sophomore year must take sections one and five of the Marine-corps-Navy test to be given April 20, and that Naval reservists in class V-1 will be required to take the examination in its entirety if they are in the second semester of their sophomore year or are further advanced. A new group of Army Signal corps preradar students will arrive Saturday instead of Thursday, and classes will commence Sunday night. Forty students are expected.

TRIAL IN RECESS

ALBANY, Ore., April 13 (AP) — The trial of Robert E. Lee Folkes on a charge of murdering Mrs. Martha Virginia James aboard a crowded passenger train last January 23 was in recess again today because of the continuing ill health of Defense Attorney Leroy Lomax.

Ice Cream Shortage Is Said Possibility

CHICAGO, April 13 (AP) — A severe shortage of ice cream may develop this summer unless manufacturers' quotas are increased, D. T. Carlson, of Willmar, Minn., president of the American Dairy association, said today.

Production has been limited by the government to 65 per cent of last year's output, he explained, and this may prove to be an exceptionally heavy cut, since 1942 was a cool year and consumption comparatively light.

He argued the ice cream industry should be maintained because it makes an essential food, particularly for adults who do not drink milk.

Pledge Dinner Is Conducted

Four pledges were initiated at a formal dinner and program sponsored by Kappa Gamma sorority Monday night at the Hilton hotel. They were Misses Dorothy Ford, Beulah Harmonson, Martha Willett and Ruth Castle.

An Easter motif was featured in table appointments. The centerpiece was a bowl of spring flowers.

Members present were Misses Evelyn Raybon, Frances Conley, Mildred Boone, Helen Hart, Patti Willett, Louise Chance, Evelyn Jones, Ruth E. Ford, Marguerite Whipp, Ann Kelly, Dr. Pauline Miller, Mesdames Winnie Wheat, John Watson, Eula Mae Toone, Lottie Hilton, Norman Knouf and H. B. Hawkins.

Mesdames Hilton and Knouf were in charge of arrangements.

Fifteen million cattlehides, which will make more than 315 million pairs of shoes, will be allotted for U. S. civilian requirements in 1943.

KIDNEY TROUBLE
The function of the kidneys is to filter uric acids, urates, and poisons from the blood stream. Many times this filtering process does not work to the extent of clearing the blood of poisons and a toxic blood stream follows with rheumatism, neuritis and other aches and pains. On the other hand if this process is to lax red blood cells find their way out through the kidneys which we term hemituria. When a kidney fails to function it is called a dead kidney. All functions and actions are controlled by the nerves. A chiropractor recognizes this fact and kidney trouble is easily handled when the cause is adjusted.

POINT and PENNY SAVERS

Quality is a better economy than ever because you pay no more "points" for the top quality than you do for the bottom quality — and top quality means full pack . . . full palate-pleasure . . . full health and nutritional goodness. You get more food value for your points when you buy the quality brands —and when you buy them here, you get more for your money, too. Our daily low prices for quality foods are real penny-savers that add up quickly to worthwhile savings on the food bill.

Scribes Pick Cards For National Flag

Sports Spinners Say Bums Next Best Possibility

BY WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 13—The uncertainties of baseball this year failed to bring any uncertainty to the minds of the baseball experts as to which team will win the National league pennant.

Figuring it always is best to string along with a champion when in doubt, the 72 scribes taking part in the annual Associated Press poll selected the St. Louis Cardinals as their No. 1 team by an overwhelming majority.

Reds Backed For First Spot

Fifty-four of the voters picked the world champions for first place, with no ballot placing them lower than third. The Brooklyn Dodgers, runnersup last year, ranked second, drawing 11 first-place votes and no vote lower than fourth.

The only other teams to be considered for first place are the Cincinnati Reds, with four backers for the top position, and the Chicago Cubs, who have three voters picking them for the pennant. The Reds ranked third, right behind the Dodgers, figuring on the point basis of 8 points for first, 7 for second, 6 for third, etc.

Phils Least Thought Of

Behind the Reds, in order, came the Cubs, the New York Giants, the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Boston Braves, and, as usual, the Philadelphia Phils. The point totals ranged from the 554 assembled by the Cards to the Phils' 87. The Phils have one backer who thinks they will wind up in fifth place, and one optimist also has the Braves tabbed for that slot.

The Cards and the Dodgers are the only two teams not to be pushed back into the second division by at least one voter. The Reds were ticketed for every place from first to sixth, and the Cubs from first to seventh. The Giants were picked to finish anywhere from second to seventh.

Rice Starts Spring Basketball Practice

HOUSTON, April 13 (AP) — Basketball practice — the spring kind — opens at Rice institute April 19.

Six lettermen from the 1943 Southwest conference co-champions will be eligible to return and five of them are expected to be out for spring training. They are John McDonald, David Cook, Rusty Darling, Bill Henry and Willie Croucher. The other letterman, Bill Cummins, is now busy with track.

Preacher Practices What He Preaches

BIG SPRING, April 13 (AP) — The Rev. H. Clyde Smith tells his congregation at the First Methodist church to hew to a straight and narrow line.

He illustrates his point on the golf course.

Playing on the municipal course the other day he sent his tee shot straight and true on hole No. 6 for a 140-yard hole in one.

Football Sold For $25,000 In Bonds

KILGORE, April 13 (AP) — Between halves of a high school intrasquad football game here last night, a football sold for $25,000 in war bonds.

The ball had been used in a 1940 game in which Kilgore High school had defeated the Longview Lobos and had been autographed by members of the 1940 squad.

Because of the frequent dust storms which play havoc with warplanes in the North African desert, moving plane parts which are ordinarily good for 500 hours of flying in America must be changed after 50 hours of flight.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 13—The season is at hand for selecting this year's major league pennant winners, though we can't see what good it will do this year when the team you pick in April may be just a bunch of individuals in Uncle Sam's uniforms by October . . . Why not just wait until the end of the season and then say: "See, I told you so?"

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Manufacturers are working on two different kinds of plastic golf balls and expect to come up with an acceptable substitute for rubber soon . . . The Women's International Bowling congress not only brought a bomber for Uncle Sam with $1.50 contributions but the members have "adopted" its two-man crew, Capt. William J. Crum and M/Sgt. William B. Morehead . . . Clair Berry, the Tigers' traveling secretary, never goes to ball games because he's afraid he might become a baseball fan and "let my prejudices as a fan interfere with my work with the boys." . . . Louis Messina, promoter of Friday's Charley Burley-Kid Cocoa fight at New Orleans, has invited 5,000 service men to see it on the cuff and claims to be the first promoter to play Santa Claus to so many men.

ONE HIT, ONE ERROR

Bill Brandt, who takes considerable pride in the accuracy of his National league "Green Book," is the first to spot a mistake in the records of games won and lost at home and abroad. The headings were reversed, thus giving every club in the league a better record on the road than at home.

SERVICE DEPT.

First Class Specialist Max Marek, who once outpointed Joe Louis in Joe's amateur boxing days, is at Floyd Bennett Field, N. Y., instructing sailors in boxing, wrestling and judo . . . When Lieut. Dan Pollock, director of physical training at Moore Field, Tex., started from his southern Illnois home to become a star athlete at St. Edwards university in Texas some years ago, he had just $6 in his pocket. His first hitchhike ride was with some city slickers who relieved him of a fin in a shell game . . . The Army can't teach Dan anything about the old army game.

UPSETTER — Harry Holiday (above), University of Michigan swimmer, handed Adolph Kiefer his first defeat since 1935 in winning the national A.A.U. 150-yard backstroke title at New York.

Another Rip Top Pitcher

AUSTIN, April 13 (AP) — Warren (Rip) Collins doesn't say but undoubtedly he watches the Southwest conference baseball race with mixed emotions.

With justifiable pride the former big league pitcher can point to the fine work of a lanky University of Texas player. But there also will be the knowledge that the hurling of this young fellow may knock the school for which he gave his all on the athletic field out of the championship.

Wins Four

Jim Collins, a six-footer weighing a bare 140 pounds, has arrived one year later than expected as the star pitcher of the conference. Last season he tried to stem the tide that rolled up from Aggieland but couldn't. Texas A. and M. marched to the title.

The son of Rip Collins has won four games and lost none. In his two conference appearances he beat Rice 10-2 with a three-hit exhibition. Last week he humbled A. and M. 4-2 with a five-hitter.

Then Rip Collins went to war. He never did return to A. and M. to get his degree and today is sheriff of Travis county. His political career began after pitching eleven years in the big leagues.

He has taught son Jim the finer points of baseball. Jim uses a devastating sinker ball like his father did in his baseball heydey.

Southern Loop To Speed Game

Arguments Will Be "Streamlined"

ATLANTA, April 13 (AP)—Showman Joe Engel, head man of the Chattanooga baseball club who runs his team like a three-ring circus, thumbed idly through a brand new manuel from Southern association headquarters and grinned.

"Yes sir," spoke Joe. "This is the stuff."

"Why it's just what we need to pep up the old ball game. I guess you might call it the 'daily dozen delay destroyers,'"

Umps To Have Job

Engel referred to a set of wartime instructions for players and umpires authored by veteran baseballer Billy Evans, serving his first year as president of the Southern association.

Baseball, believes Evans, needs speed and hustle. The 59-year-old former big league umpire thinks it's the ump's job to help keep things rolling along and he says so in his manual.

Under the new rules, Southern association umpires will fire new balls directly to the pitcher, rather than hand them to the catcher for 'round the infield tossing.

There will be no long conferences at the home plate when umpires go on the diamond to start the game.

No "Visiting"

And even arguments will be streamlined. When there is a dispute over the umpire's decision, say the rules, no players other than those involved shall take part in the discussion. And when a pitcher is the last man out, retiring his side, he's to go directly to the pitching mound instead of returning to the bench.

Training Briefs . . . Double Blow Hits Giants

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 13—Regardless of what the schedules say, the big league baseball season is officially on as far as capital city fans are concerned.

President Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators, dragged out his Sunday suit, had his shoes shined and his hair neatly brushed yesterday before marching up to 1600 Pennsylvania avenue to present President and Mrs. Roosevelt with season's passes.

He's been making the same trip annually since the days when William Howard Taft was the chief executive.

ST. LOUIS—Although the major league opening is only a little more than a week away, managers of both St. Louis teams are juggling their lineups today in the third game of the city series.

Manager Billy Southworth of the Cardinals, is trying to round out a smooth functioning infield while Luke Sewell of the Brownies, must find a replacement for Outfielder Glenn McQuillen, who likely will be inducted today.

McQuillen said he would pick the Navy, if accepted, and ask to be sent to the Great Lakes training station.

NEW YORK—Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants received a double blow today when Tom Sunkel, left handed pitcher, went to take his draft screening test and Cliff Melton, his ace southpaw, reported that the elbow of his pitching arm was swollen and that doctors had advised rest as the best cure. The joint was repaired late last fall.

NEW YORK—New York Yankee rookie catchers will get their chances the remainder of the spring training season in view of the doctor's orders that veteran Bill Dickey rest a balky knee.

Although yesterday's game with the Boston Braves was called off, the Yankees got in a long hitting drill. Charles Wensloff and Jim Turner are slated to hurl today's game against the Braves.

Only the catcher and one infielder will be permitted to confer with a faltering hurler, and bench managers will have the right to go to the mound just once during an inning.

Both teams are to run to and from their positions with no visiting by players on the way.

A.A.U. Title Bouts Tonight

Trio Of Negroes Among Favorites

BOSTON, April 13 (AP) — Thirty-two survivors, including two defending titlists, a former champion and all the favorites, vie for top honors tonight in the final round of the 55th national A. A. U. boxing championships in Boston garden.

Laurels in eight classes are at stake for the simon pure fighters.

Topping the list of favorites is a negro trio — Bob Foxworth of St. Louis, defending the 175-pound crown; Samson Powell of Cleveland, 160-pound titlist, and Leroy Jackson of Cleveland, flyweight titleholder last year who now seeks the 118-pound crown.

Billy Tiger Impressive

Jackson fought his way into the semi-finals by kayoing Pvt. Barry Darby of Fort Sill, Okla., in the second round of the opening program before some 6,000 fans last night.

Perhaps the outstanding competitor in the opening round was Billy Tiger, Indian soldier from Fort Sill, Okla., who won his way into the 147-pound class with less than four minutes of actual fighting. He defeated Mel Hawkins of New York with a one-punch knockout in his first bout and registered a first-round technical knockout over Pvt. Art Saulsgiver of Smyrna, Tenn.

Westerners Practice Again Today; Davis "Satisfied" With Opening Session Monday

Lubbock High's 1943 football hopefuls were ready for their second spring grid practice, after an opening day workout yesterday which saw 55 players go through a fairly strenuous two-hour drill under the eye of Coach J. "Mule" Davis.

The initial workout saw the LHS candidates briskly go through a lengthy calisenthics session, followed by "limbering up" blocking, passing and punting exercises.

Following the practice, Coach Davis appeared well satisfied with the first day's results.

"We had a good turnout, and, for the most part, the boys were in excellent condition," the Westerner mentor said. "The boys' spirit was especially good—they were throwing some real blocks out there toward the close of the workout. And all of them seemed to be hustling all the way."

Caraway Is Assistant

Assisting Davis in the drills was Doyle Caraway, Texas Tech guard of the past season who has been hired as assistant coach for the spring training period.

Of the first day squad of 55, only one letterman, End Jim Joe Reiger, was on hand. The only other letter-winner expected back next year, Tackle Jim Strawn, missed the practice in order to have some dental work done.

Of the remaining 54 boys, 15 were squadmen on last year's Westerner outfit that finished in a second place tie in the District 1-AA race, about 20 were up from last year's Cowhands and about the same number were junior high students who will enter high school next fall.

Delays Scrimmages

Most of the opening day passing and punting chores were handled by Billy Bob Harris, a 1942 Cowhand, since Roy Grimes and Reubon Lindsey, leading candidates for the Westerner tailback post, were busy most of the afternoon with a track workout.

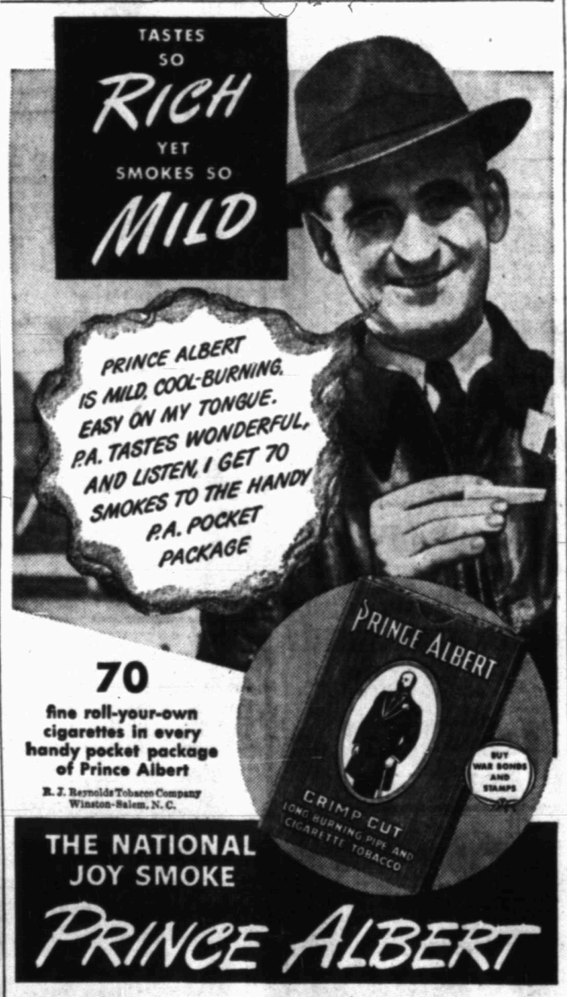

Daily practices, Davis said, will continue for the full 30 days allowed under Texas Interscholastic league rules, which means that the Westerners have appoximately 21 drills remaining. Each day's workout will begin at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Because most of the outstanding backfield candidates are also going through daily track workouts, Davis said the squad probably will not engage in scrimmages until after the regional track meet at Canyon April 24.

TOURNEY POSTPONED

PINEHURST, N. C., April 13 (AP)—Start of the 43rd annual North and South amateur golf tournament was postponed until today on account of weather conditions.

The use of horses for peacetime work followed long after the discovery of their value in war.

Mail, Taxi Service By Helicopter Is Planned After War

BOSTON, April 13 (AP)—Samuel J. Solomon, president of Northeast Airlines, today disclosed plans for a post-war setup wherein helicopters would be used to carry mail and passengers from town and city rooftops to major airline terminals as part of what he called "an aerial taxi service."

As an initial step, Northeast officials filed with the Civil Aeronautics board in Washington today an application for a "helicopter service to carry airmail and express to and from the rooftops of over 400 post offices and railroad stations in the six New England states and New York." Solomon said the service would operate not only between cities and towns but also from congested urban areas to airports.

Authorization Sought

"This application," Solomon said, "seeks authorization not only for the transportation of airmail, but of all first class mail as well. We think this is the first specific proposal to bring to reality the transportation of all first class mail by air.

"The helicopter has tremendous possibilities. We can envision a machine that will carry as many as 20 passengers. It is entirely possible that we might operate an aerial taxi service between Boston and New York, not running on schedule, but, say, picking up a group of Boston business men at their convenience from the roof of their office and depositing them on the roof of an office in downtown New York."

Camouflaging Job Is Just About Perfect

CAMP BUTNER, N. C., April 13 (AP) — The inspecting colonel decided the camouflaging job in the bivouac area was just about perfect.

Blackie, the fox terrier mascot of the signal construction company doing the work, was fooled twice and fell into two camouflaged foxholes while making the tour with the colonel. That was proof enough.

Axis Flees To Coffin Corner

from the north, thereby sealing the Axis behind a tight arc.

"French forces continue to press forward in the hills to the east of the Ousseltia plain," the Allied command said.

First Army Advances

"Farther north, on the 1st army front, advances were also made in the Medjez - El - Bab - Munchar sector."

In the air, Allied fliers continued to pound enemy bases and airdromes, scoring hits yesterday on docks and shipping at Bizerte; on a tanker and barges at Trapani, in Sicily; and on an enemy airfield at Ste. Marie Du Zit, it was announced.

The Ste. Marie Du Zit airfield first was attacked Sunday night and many fires were left burning after direct hits on the buildings, it was said.

Attacks Continuing

"Attacks on this target and on another enemy airfield in Tunisia were continued yesterday by formations of B-25 Mitchells and A-20 Bostons," the communique said. "Bombs burst among aircraft on the ground and more fires were started."

Ste. Marie Du Zit is 46 miles northwest of Sousse and 30 miles southeast of Tunis. It is nine miles east of Zaghouan.

Flying Fortresses carried the attack to Bizerte, and other Axis Mediterranean supply ports. A "very large fire" was caused by the destruction of the tanker in Trapani harbor.

Escorting P-38 lightnings shot down four enemy aircraft during the bombings.

Parity Abolition

from the assignment of carrying [illegible] FCA programs already [illegible]

"A thorough and painstaking" investigation this year, the committee added, led it to the conclusion that "since the Farm Security administration is essentially a farm credit agency, its functions should, in the interest of better credit integration, economy and efficiency, be transferred to the Farm Credit administration, which has operated for many years in the farm credit field and has existing facilities to discharge these functions."

The committee recommended that the FCA be given $12,000,000 for rural rehabilitation and other functions and $40,000,000 from Reconstruction Finance corportation funds for loans.

In overriding a budget bureau recommendation that the bill contain authorization for the incurrence of obligations to provide full parity for the crop years 1943 and 1944, the committee said it believed "observance of existing price control legislation or any other legislation affecting this matter, will afford producers, either from loans or from the market, the full parity price."

Insurance Money Limited

Its recommendation for abolition of the federal crop insurance program, the committee said, was based on the showing made on insurance of cotton and wheat and the conviction that "further operations will eventuate even greater losses."

It wrote into the bill safeguards of existing binding contracts between the Federal Crop Insurance corporation and producers, but said the program in general should be abolished as "the better part of wisdom and sound policy." Appropriations to the crop insurance agency were limited to expenditures for indemnities accruing on wheat and cotton planted prior to August 1, 1943, with the stipulation that no insurance be handled for the 1944 crop year.

The committee wrote into the measure an unqualified prohibition of the sale of government controlled surplus farm commodities by the Commodity Credit corporation at less than parity price.

It trimmed from $400,000,000 to $300,000,000 the regular budget estimate for payments to farmers under the soil conservation and domestic allotment act and under the agricultural adjustment act of 1938.

To eliminate what it called "duplication, overlapping and confusion which results from a multiplicity" of agencies carrying on informational and promotional programs, the committee included a proviso that these activities be carried on through the extension service.

Jefferson's Tenets Stated Forgotten

AUSTIN, April 13 (U.P.) — Jefferson's principles seem to have been forgotten was the comment of Gov. Coke R. Stevenson of Texas on the 200th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson.

Jap Air Attacks

various missions brought down the rest.

Besides the aerial triumphs, a bomber hit and sunk a Japanese submarine during a heavy attack on airdromes at Rabaul, the big enemy base on New Britain island, and other planes raided enemy supply points and shipping.

Japs Lose 85 Planes

A compilation of air fighting results in the southwest Pacific during the past week showed the Japanese have lost at least 85 planes. Thirty-nine others were destroyed in the Solomons, under the south Pacific command, during an attack on United States shipping.

The gains by their newly reinforced Japanese air fleet have been negligible. Allied losses in planes total only a handful. Only two were lost in yesterday's Port Moresby battle.

The battle lasted 40 minutes, Lightnings, Airacobras and Kittyhawks intercepted the fleet of 50 bombers and 50 fighters 60 miles north of the port over the mountains and fought them from 18,000 to 23,000 feet. The Japanese formation broke up quickly and turned back.

"Equal Rights" Bill

subject to its jurisdiction."

Senator Connally (D-Tex), one of the four committee members voting against reporting the measure, declared it would "disrupt the laws of each of the 48 states" and would fail to give women any compensating advantage.

"In fact," added the Texan, "it would destroy much legislation now in existence in behalf of women."

O'Mahoney Supports Proposal

Connally suggested that the most effective method of placing all women on a constitutional level with men would be for the states lacking such provisions to adopt local legislation.

On the other hand, Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), one of the sponsors, argued the legislation would help rather than hinder women.

"We might as well wake up and realize that women are taking an equal part not only in war work but most everything else," said O'Mahoney.

"Buy A WAR Bond TODAY"

Despite Heavy Bombings, Japs Building Aleutian Airfields

A FAR WESTERN BASE in the Andreanof Islands, April 3 (AP)—(Delayed)—In the face of heavy bombings and naval action against their fog-shrouded supply lines, the Japanese are building air fields on Kiska and Attu islands in the outer Aleutians.

Eleventh bomber command headquarters revealed today that steady progress in developing a half-mile long runway on Kiska might make it ready for fighter planes before Easter. The field already has been bombed a half dozen times, and Lightning fighters have strafed it repeatedly. Its completion would mean speedy land-based Zero fighters could rise to challenge American bombers above the Aleutian chain.

Building Bomber Field

At Attu, westernmost of the Aleutian islands, a long bomber field is under construction. It has been bombed twice with 20 tons of explosives.

Aerial photographs show several hundred fox holes already ringing the Attu field and many clusters of buildings in the valley nearby.

Indications are that the Japanese either have, or expect to have a large number of men on Attu, which is only 735 miles from the northernmost Japanese island base, Paramushiro.

Stepping Stones Seen

Completion of Attu and Kiska fields would provide the enemy with a string of stepping stones from Tokyo, which even fighter planes could span.

The enemy's building efforts open a wide field of conjecture as to Japanese intentions. They may be getting ready to repel a naval bombardment with Zeros, to throw back any beach landing attempts, to harass our advance bases if possible, to hit our shipping lines or to launch an offensive against Alaska.

Outfitting and supplying the fields poses a major problem for the Japanese, but the enveloping fog of the Aleutians is an aid in the effort.

RAILS, BONDS BREAK

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP) — A sharp break in rail stocks and secondary bonds, attributed to suspension of last year's freight rate increases by the Interstate Commerce commission, brought another relapse in today's securities markets.

Dealings subsided after a fast opening in which blocks of 10,000 Southern Pacific, 5,000 Lackawanna and 4,000 U. S. Steel, with numerous 1,000-share transactions, crowded the ticker tape. Early losses, ranging from 1 to more than 3 points, were reduced in most cases, and scattered industrial gainers were in evidence, but trends generally were down near the close. Turnover for the full proceedings was around 1,600,000 shares.

Conspicuous casualties included Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Chryaler, U. S. Steel, Goodrich, American Telephone, McIntyre, Porcupine, Deere, J. C. Penney and United Aircraft. Exceptions with modest advances were Homestake, Standard Oil (NJ), Dome Mines, Montgomery Ward, Bethlehem, General Motors, and Norfolk & Western.

Newspaper Publicity Backfires On Youth

TYLER, Tex., April 13 (U.P.) — Skinny Warren Lee Green, the 13-year-old lad who spent two days and nights locked in a refrigerator car in transit between Guthrie, Okla., and Tyler before being rescued, isn't going home to Mom and Dad in Alameda, Calif., after all—that is for a while.

Newspaper publicity given his rescue attracted the attention of Oklahoma peace officers and upon inquiry they informed local officers that young Green was an escapee from the state training school for boys and Pauls Valley, Okla.

He has been returned to Pauls Valley.

United States trainer planes are replacing Nazi planes in Latin America.

Livestock Shows Are Conducted Over Area

Judging of livestock in community shows is one of the regular chores for Tech college men. Calf, pig, and lamb shows are just as numerous this year, despite the war; in fact they now are considered part of the war effort by authorities. There are more 4-H and FFA farm boys than ever before, and instructors say they are producing more and better quality livestock than ever before.

Littlefield, Spur, and Slaton already have held fat stock shows for the youthful farmers. Hale Center has billed one for Saturday, April 17. Seagraves is to have a show soon, but definite date has not yet been set. Morton and Matador are to hold shows Saturday, May 1.

Dog Finds Long-Lost Purse; Gets Reward

VALE, N. C., April 13 (AP) — Mrs. Pink Crow's little dog got an extra piece of rationed meat.

She was in the backyard when the pint-sized puppy walked up with something in its mouth. It was a weather-beaten pocket book her husband had lost 13 years ago. The fifty dollars were still in it.

HIDDEN TREASURE

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C.—The policeman had looked high and low for illegal liquor at a suspect's home when a furiously scratching hen in the backyard aroused his curiosity—so he watched.

Up came a paper bag; up came a quart of liquor; over came the policeman to lend the hen a hand. He reported digging up 18 more quarts. He left the hen still scratching.

It came from the overseas branch of the O. W. I.

Man Who Staged Exhibition Train Collision Dies

DALLAS, April 13. (AP)—William George Crush, 77, veteran railroad man who once staged an exhibition train wreck between Waco and Hillsboro, Texas, for the benefit of an awe-struck crowd, died at his home here yesterday.

Crush began his railroad career with the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville railroad when he was 23. In 1893 he moved to Denison, Texas, to become general passenger agent for Texas for the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad. He was made general passenger agent for all MKT lines in 1914 and in 1930 he became assistant to the vice-president in charge of traffic. He had lived in Dallas since 1895.

It was in 1896 that he staged a train wreck between Hillsboro and Waco.

For three days two snorting high wheelers raced along a special track rehearsing. On the fourth they rolled down the track toward each other at a breath-taking mile-a-minute speed and crashed head-on in shattering impact after first rumbling over 1,000 torpedoes set on the track.

So great was interest in the spectacle that a number of the spectators crept beyond guard ropes and were killed when the engines collided and exploded.

Grand Jury Bills Negro On 2 Counts

MORTON, April 13. (Special)—A Cochran county grand jury this morning returned two bills of indictment, both of them naming Harry Oland, a negro also known as Henry (Red) Oland.

The black was charged with murder of Dan Roberts and with assault to murder R. L. Culver, when he allegedly ran amok Nov. 28 in Morton. He was captured after a mob had run him down in an automobile and broken one of his arms and one leg.

Judge Daniel A. Blair of the 72nd district court adjourned the grand jury, of which E. V. Burton was foreman, subject to call at any time of the continuous term.

Burton S. Burks, district attorney, said the negro would be arraigned probably this week. Burks indicated trial of the indictments, or one of them the state might elect, would be the week of April 26.

the wettest district of the state, joined dry Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe in advocating strengthened powers for the liquor control board. Sulak said his people want orderly drinking but are for law enforcement and an end of honky tonks. Sulak said, too, that if present liquor law is rigidly enforced it may defeat a curfew bill now pending in the legislature.

An amendment to the Manford act to regulate labor unions was contemplated to meet Atty. Gen. Gerald C. Mann's ruling that an exemption in it for railroad brotherhoods made a section regarding annual election of union officers discriminatory and unenforceable. The proposed amendment would call for officers terms of not longer than four years.

Fee Limits Questioned

Rep. Durwood Manford of Smiley, author of the act, had not announced definite intent regarding two other sections of the act that Mann said were unenforceable. Backers of the measure, however, pointed out that the two sections did not materially affect the purpose of the act.

Airport Flooded

Lake area would not be made.

From four to six feet of water was expected to cover the airport within the next 48 hours. Two thirds of the field stood in several feet of water this morning, said Airport Manager William R. Milner.

From two directions through widening gaps in the broken dikes, the swollen river spilled into the airport and Carter Lake.

Red Cross and other rescue workers worked late last night to evacuate the last of approximately 1,000 families living in the 10-square-mile stricken area, which is on the northeastern outskirts of Omaha. Other scores of families had been removed earlier from north and east Omaha as the crest moved downstream.

of the chemicals of coffee. Many, by proper roasting, could make an imitation coffee drink.

Mercaptans Smelly

A close chemical relative of the skunk, a widespread chemical known as mercaptan, has been the ruin of some scientific experiments at making a synthetic coffee aroma. Mercaptans are the smelliest things on earth.

Nevertheless, all coffee contains mercaptans, right in the bean. In some way nature's chemistry blends these mercaptans into the desired aroma. Conscientious chemists have added mercaptans, but they have not solved the secret.

GARDEN NOTE

SAN ANTONIO, April 13. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Otto Mintel's victory garden has already paid dividends—in gold. In 1933 Mintel lost his Masonic ring, valued at $75. Yesterday Mrs. Mintel, while spading in the back yard for a victory garden, hit upon a metallic object—the long lost ring as good as new.

Pickets 'Boo' John L. Lewis

NEW YORK, April 13. (U.P.) — John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president and former president of the Congress of Industrial organizations, walked through a CIO picket line today amid the boos of the pickets.

Looking neither to right or left and chewing vigorously on a large cigar, Lewis emerged grimly from the Hotel Roosevelt and into a circling picket line of CIO workers gathered at the entrance. He was accompanied by eight UMW officials who have been his assistants in negotiations with coal operators at the nearby hotel Biltmore.

As he went through the revolving door a resounding boo went up from the pickets, who gathered to protest the action of Lewis' UMW district 50 in staging a walkout at the Newark, N. J., plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, where production has been curtailed since yesterday. The corporation has a CIO contract but the UMW contended it had a majority of the employes.

Over-Optimism Encountered

Officials of the drive headed by General Chairman Neil H. Wright admitted frankly that they are having to curb a tendency toward over-optimism as they consider prospects for the success of the campaign. There is no question in their minds but that the quota will be over-subscribed in Lubbock county before May 2, the deadline date.

But they also warned that there still is a long way to go. Subscriptions undoubtedly will become increasingly difficult to obtain as the drive continues, because the first such subscriptions invariably come easiest. Approximately $3,000,000 still are needed to reach the quota. Only by the most unrelenting efforts on the part of all the campaign workers can there be hope that the goal will be reached.

Drive To Continue

The chairman made clear, too, that the drive won't end if the quota should be reached soon. He declared that the fact that many people may do more than their expected part in this effort will not be a reason for allowing others to do less than they should. Every purchaser is expected to do all he can, regardless what others may do and regardless what the subscriptions may total. The chairman urged that all of the many campaign workers continue their work until they have interviewed all of the prospective workers assigned them.

The program of bond events today included talks before the Optimist club luncheon by T. E. Buckner and at the Lions club meeting by Chas. A. Guy. A special bond program is scheduled at the Rotary club luncheon Wednesday.

Radio Programs Set

Frenship rural school students are to present a 10-minute program over KFYO at 3:20 o'clock this afternoon. Shallowater students are to give a similar program at the same time Wednesday afternoon.

Durwood H. Bradley is to deliver a five-minute talk over KFYO at 6:55 o'clock tonight. Speaker at the same time Wednesday night is Lt. Gordon R. Close, personnel and war bond officer at Lubbock Army Flying school.

ELDER REESE PURCHASES $1,000 BOND; SON MISSING

Several days ago A. F. Reese, farmer of near Shallowater, was informed in a cablegram that his only son, Lt. A. F. Reese, jr., was missing in the North Africa theater of war.

The elder Reese, hard hit by the news, came into Lubbock and bought a $1,000 war savings bond!

He said he wouldn't accept belief that his son was dead; he had faith the boy would turn up alive, either as a prisoner of war or a wanderer in the wastes.

There is an example of what makes the Treasury's great 13 billion dollar Second War Loan drive mount in totals each day.

Commandery Buys Bond

Another example:

Lubbock Commandery Monday night subscribed a $1,000 bond.

Still another:

Lubbock schools are staging contests to see who can buy the most in bonds incidental to the drive, said L. C. Ellis, chairman of a drive committee that centers on rural educational institutions.

"It will surprise you when we make an announcement later on," he said. "The schools are in the saddle."

WANTS INVESTMENT DEDICATED TO BATTALION

This will be a date to remember for Staff Sgt. Harold L. James, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. James, 1908 Fifth street, who is somewhere in Australia.

This is his 19th birthday anniversary. And, as it happens, his parents received a letter from him enclosing money for investment in a $50 war bond in the present Second War Loan drive. Sgt. James knew the drive was scheduled, and he explained that he wants to have a part in it.

He said further that he wants his investment dedicated to the boys of the Lost Battalion—which is the 131st field artillery made up mostly of West Texas and South Plains boys, of which he was a member. It was his good fortune to be among the few who escaped after the Battle of Java—having been taken off the island in a mosquito boat during the final stages of that fight.

Sgt. James was a student in Junior High school when he enlisted about 18 months ago.

THREE SONS IN SERVICE: BUY $100 BOND A MONTH

"Without bonds the war couldn't go on," Ben Cave of 1605 Avenue G, said this morning. "I have three boys in the service and had one in the other war and I know what war is," he said simply.

One son, Pvt. Lindsey Cave, is stationed at Bryan; another, Clarion Calvin, is in the air corps at Jacksonville, Fla., and Martin Thomas is a flying cadet at Santa Ana, Calif. The son who served in World war I is Marion Cave, now of Garrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Cave have bought a $100 bond each month last year and this year. "Without bonds they wouldn't have the guns and ammunition and all the other things they need," Cave said.

BUYING BONDS ONE OF MOST IMPORTANT THINGS

"Buying bonds is one of the most important things that we can do at home," said Mrs. J. B. Maxey of 2123 Thirteenth street. Mr. and Mrs. Maxey have two sons overseas. Lieut. Homer Maxey is in the Southwest Pacific and Ensign Robert Maxey also is overseas.

"BUYING BONDS THE LEAST THING WE CAN DO"

In the same simply worded manner Mrs. F. W. Groce of 1210 Avenue R said, "Of course all of us can't go to the front lines and to buy bonds here is the least that we can do." Mr. and Mrs. Groce's son, Pfc. Wayne D. Groce, is in an anti-tank company in Hawaii.

PARENTS DOING THEIR PART BY BUYING BONDS

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Barnett of 912 Avenue K, like all of the parents interviewed, buy bonds regularly. "Certainly it is so important that we all buy bonds," Mrs. Barnett said. They have a son, Pvt. W. C. (Dub) Barnett, who is in an anti-tank company and is in desert maneuvers in California. His post is at Haan, Calif. A son-in-law, John Harvey Scoggin, is to receive his wings and commission in the Army air corps April 22 at Houston.

News Briefs

Richard Knox, sr., about 47, a negro, this morning was absolved of a charge of aggravated assault on his former wife Katie by a county court jury. He was accused of having broken an alcohol bottle against her head April Fool day. Son, Richard, jr., 21, overtook the father in an alley and administered a terrific beating by way of reprisal, it had been related by arresting police.

For the second time this week prisoners released from city jail on drunkenness assessments were back a few hours later—stewed again. Solon Lea, police recorder, made the first fines $15, the second $25.

Syrian E. Marbut, county attorney, said Guy Jones of Slaton pleaded guilty of liquor law violation this morning in county court and was assessed a fine of $150 and court costs.

Mrs. Ernest D. Tice, 1619 Avenue D, underwent major surgery in West Texas hospital this morning after having become suddenly ill two days ago. She probably will be in the hospital about three weeks. Her husband, "Buddy" Tice, is a projectionist for Lindsey theaters.

Pioneer Spur Woman Is Claimed By Death

SPUR, April 13. (Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. J. H. Grace, who died here Monday, are to be conducted Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Grace, who was the widow of the late Dr. J. H. Grace, who died in 1934, came to Spur with her husband in 1909 at the foundation of this town. Dr. Grace previously practiced medicine in Hico, Stamford, Rochester and Rule. From 1909 he conducted his practice of medicine here.

Mrs. Grace, whose maiden name was Frances Hellums, was married to Dr. Grace in 1890 in Hico. She is survived by her daughters, Mrs. R. E. Dickson and Mrs. Helen Williams of Spur; her son, Joe W. Grace, of Dallas; and her adopted daughter, Lt. France Springer, who is in the U. S. Army Nursing corps.

Kay Kyser Rejected For Army Service

LOS ANGELES, April 13. (AP)—Surgeons at the Los Angeles induction station today announced that Bandleader Kay Kyser had been rejected for military service.

Kyser had been given special X-rays of his spine and one knee but the army doctor did not disclose the exact disability on which the rejection was based.

Kyser, 37, informed March 22 that the Office of War Information's request for his draft deferment had been rejected, expressed himself as "ready, willing and rarin' to go." He had not joined in the deferment request.

Sen. O'Daniel Asks Suit Be Dismissed

DALLAS, April 13 (U.P.)—Petition was on file today by Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel, asking dismissal of ouster proceedings brought against him by Charles Lavergne Somerville, Dallas attorney.

Somerville, defeated by O'Daniel in last fall's senate election, filed suit March 29, asking that O'Daniel's seat in the Senate be declared vacant.

O'Daniel filed a general denial yesterday and asked that the suit be dismissed.

PAYMENT IS RELSEASED

AUSTIN, April 13 (AP)—Release of $1,552,574 from the available school fund on the $22.50 scholastic apportionment was announced today by the Education department.

Supt. L. A. Woods said the payment brought to $19.50 applications on the current apportionment. He said another payment would be made soon.

Order Against Humble Issued

WASHINGTON, April 13 (U.P.)—The National Labor Relations board today issued a restraint order against the Humble Oil & Refining Co., of Houston, Tex., as a result of complaints by unions that the company had interfered with organization efforts in the company's Baytown, Tex., refiner.

The oil company was ordered to cease and desist from discouraging membership in the oil workers international union and oil workers organizing committee, both CIO affiliates, or the employees' federation of Humble or any other labor organization and to cease interfering with its employes in the exercise of the right to self-organization.

The company also was ordered to rehire a discharged employe when the latter was discharged from the Army and to pay him for the time lost between his discharge and induction into the army.

Landon Says FDR In Office "For Keeps"

NEW YORK, April 13. (U.P.) — President Roosevelt "seeks to perpetuate himself in office and will never leave the White House voluntarily," Alf M. Landon, his 1936 Republican opponent, charged last night.

Landon made his charges in an interview. The former governor of Kansas said there was a parallel trend in Washington to the events in Europe which foreshadowed the rise of dictatorships under Hitler and Mussolini.

"It is perfectly obvious that President Roosevelt will never leave the White House voluntarily," he said. "That is not a healthy condition. In a nation such as ours where popular government obtains, ancient and modern history tells us that when its chief executive seeks to perpetuate himself in office and succeeds, the inevitable result is the man on horseback."

Landon, who visited with the president in Washington last week-end, came here on a business trip before returning to his home in Topeka, Kans.

Alcatraz Break

captured man about 300 yards from the prison isle. Later, in the same area, the boat crew picked up an automobile tire, which the convicts apparently had hoped to use as a float.

Warden Johnston listed the men as:

Brest, serving life and a 50-year sentence;

Hamilton, in for 30 years;

Hunter, serving 25 years;

Boardman, serving a 20-year sentence.

In today's sensational break, the worst the prison had experienced since it was made a virtual fortress for incarceration of the nation's worst criminals, occurred about 10:25 a. m.

Guard Overpowered

Warden Johnston said the convicts overpowered captain of the guards Henry Weinhold and Custodial Officer Smith.

Then they raced to the edge of the rocky island and plunged into the strong current of San Francisco bay.

They were seen by Officer Frank Johnson who sounded the alarm. As the prison sirens screamed guards in the high gun towers poured rifle fire into the bay. The prison launch raced to the area.

Two men were seen in the water, and Warden Johnston said "it appears the launch picked up one or more, but that is uncertain, as the launch is still patroling the bay, assisted by coast guard boats."

'Flood Of Dollars'

heavily at individual pocketbooks.

Morgenthau explained that the government expects to spend about $100,000,000,000 this year and that only $30,000,000,000 of this will be provided by taxes. That means, he said, that $70,000,000,000 must be borrowed, unless existing tax rates are revised upward.

Nonbanking Sources Favored

In order to keep down inflationary forces, the Treasury wants to get the major part of this money from nonbanking sources—at least $48,000,000,000. Of this amount the Treasury has set a tentative quota of $25,000,000,000 to be obtained from individuals, $13,000,000,000 from corporations and $3,000,000,000 from insurance companies while the banks will be expected to supply $22,000,000,000.

This means, say treasury officials, that every person receiving income above the barest subsistence level will have to be reached. The bulk of the $25,000,000,000 expected from individuals must come, they say, from persons earning from $1,000 to $5,000 because it is this group that will have three quarters of the year's current income after taxes.

New York Firms Are Fined In Conspiracy

WASHINGTON, April 13. (AP)—A total of $80,000 in fines was levied against 15 leading New York department stores and the New York Retail Dry Goods association today in an anti-trust case which charged them with conspiring to boycott the New York Times because it increased its advertising rates.

The announcement was made by the Justice department which said pleas of nolo contendere were entered by the defendants.

The charge was made in the form of an information which differs from an indictment in that the accusation is made by a government prosecuting officer instead of by a grand jury.

The CHIROPRACTOR-and You

No. 11 of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of Chiropractic.

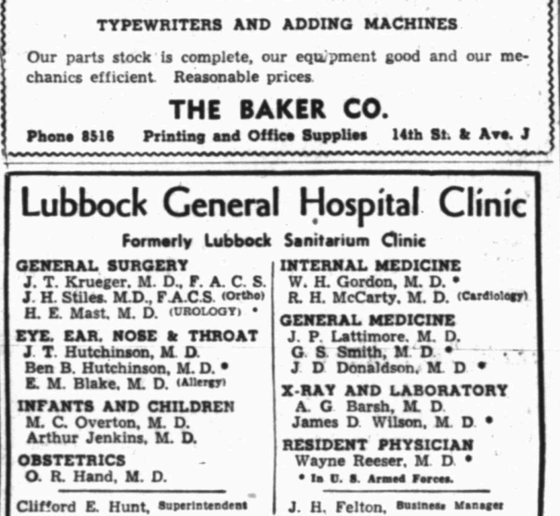

CASE HISTORY No. 274. A girl of 17 who came to a Chiropractor suffering from severe headaches which she attributed to her eyes. She had worn glasses for five years, changing to a stronger type of lens every six months. However, analysis revealed that the headaches were caused by nerve pressure at the base of the skull. A series of spinal adjustments released the nerves from pressure and the headaches promptly ceased. Further, eyesight so improved that within a short time she was able to discard her glasses and has not worn them since.

CASE HISTORY No. 742. A severe case of asthma resulting from the drainage of mucous from diseased sinuses which had affected the bronchial tubes. This middle-aged man had tried every available means of relief without success. Brought to a Chiropractor "doubting that anything could be done," he was restored to normal health within a few weeks. The cause of his condition was simply nerve pressure between the brain and the sinuses. When this pressure was removed by spinal adjustment the abnormality quickly cleared up.

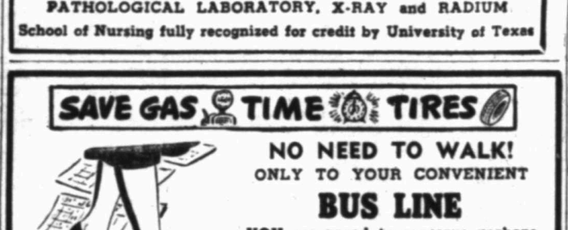

CASE HISTORY No. 17. A typical case of gastritis. The patient complained of headaches, pain in the stomach, a feeling of fullness and distress, heartburn, and was given to vomiting after food. This condition had existed for seven months, during two of which the patient had been unable to work. Analysis showed a displacement of a segment of the spine which had interfered with the nerve supply to the walls of the stomach. This interference was removed and immediately the patient began to show improvement. In a short time the stomach had normalized itself.

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC? Chiropractic is based on the fact that the brain is the human power house. It creates vital energy. Without brain energy no organ or part of the body can function. Brain energy is transmitted over the body's network of nerves. These nerves radiate from the spine, and it is in the spine that the nerves can be "pinched" by vertebrae, and the flow of energy over them impeded or cut off. When, in this way, the connection is broken between brain and one or more parts of the body, disease is the inevitable spinal adjustments, the Chiropractor is able to locate and release impinged nerves and restore an uninterrupted flow of brain energy to the part affected. Health follows naturally.

A 1000 Plane Raid over Germany Costs

GASOLINE $375,000 — BOMBS $1,000,000 — PROBABLE LOSS IN PLANES $11,000,000

FROM BONDS TO BOMBS—More and more huge U. S. bombers will blast Germany and Axis industrial areas this summer. They must! But it costs a lot of money to keep stepping up the tempo of destruction. For example, a single raid of 1000 bombers over the Rhineland calls for $375,000 worth of gasoline alone. Then add $1,000,000 for the bombs themselves, and eleven times that amount for probable losses of planes through enemy action. These are a few reasons why many Second War Loan bonds must be bought now.

Second student: Zat so? First thing you know, they'll be trying to make the students stop, too!

THE other day The Plainsman was leaning up against a downtown building, waiting for The Little Woman who was exercising the feminine prerogative of being late to appointments. In front of him stopped a young couple, an older woman, and a little boy. Beyond doubt, they were good South Plains farm folks, in town to do a little shopping.

The Plainsman wasn't paying a great deal of attention to the conversation of the farm group, but he caught one snatch that nearly keeled him over.

The younger of the women said to the man, certainly her husband:

"Well, I am going to get a new pair of shoes if you don't care."

We didn't know there were any wives left like that—wives who actually consult their husbands before going on a buying spree.

By golly, there's still some hope for the country—and in our book somebody should erect a monument to the young wife whose conversation we eavesdropped on!

BY the way. What has happened to that feeling of peace on earth, good will toward men; generosity; and overwhelming desire to be kind and helpful to everyone that had you under its spell between the 20th and the 28th of last December?

Three Tech professors were down at the Santa Fe depot the other afternoon and became so absorbed in conversation they didn't hear the conductor's "all aboard" cry. In fact, their attention was not called to the departing train until it began to pull out.

Then they all rushed, helterskelter, for the train and finally two managed to grab the last handrail and swing on as the train gathered speed toward Slaton.

R. F. Bayless, who had seen the whole thing happen, went up to the third professor, standing disconsolately on the platform.

"Too bad, doctor," Mr. Bayless commented. "But two of the three of you made it and that's a pretty good percentage."

"Yes," returned the professor, "but those other two gentlemen came down here to see me off!"

AMUSING MUSINGS: Few people ever expected to see the day when there'd be more money than meat . . . The butcher and baker are now under federal control—and the candlestickmaker faces a shortage of tallow . . . An oldtimer is one who can remember when Americans sat around and marveled over a condition in Europe which called for rationing of foodstuffs and under which people couldn't buy anything to eat without coupons and complying with a flock of regulations! . . . Another $64 question: Did the enemy ever take any territory except at enormous cost of men and material? . . . If you think the government is keeping inflation under control, it's been a long time since you've eaten a meal downtown . . . The reason a conceited person thinks he knows almost everything is because his circle of knowledge is so small it touches but little of the unknown.

IT is a generally admitted fact among administration friends and foes, alike, that the nation as a whole is largely satisfied with Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policies. But it also is a generally admitted fact that millions of Americans — if not an actual majority of them—are highly dissatisfied with the President's domestic policies, especially during wartime.

The man in the street has a difficult time understanding why the national administration fails to curtail waste on the home front, especially during this era when the mounting cost of war threatens eventually to bankrupt the country and the individaul taxpayer along with it.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Virginia Democrat, is one who long has been crying out for governmental waste stoppage and for a general tightening up of the public purse-strings. Senator Byrd is no johnny-come-lately on the side of government efficiency. He was active in opposing waste when wasting public funds was popular. But now that the entire nation is slowly but surely waking up to oppose waste on the home front, Senator Byrd and the Senate committee of which he is the chairman are digging behind the scenes to uncover all sorts of expensive inconsistencies.

About as typical a case of governmental waste and overlapping that we can imagine has been brought to light recently by the Byrd committee. It covers the Byrd investigation of federal bureaus set up to lend federal money for agricultural purposes.

John Q. Public will be interested—yea, even astounded—we believe, to learn that Uncle Sam'l maintains twenty (20) separate bureaus for lending money to farmers. Here they are, as turned up by the Byrd committee. Count 'em:

Central bank for co-operatives; Commodity Credit corporation; Disaster Loan corporation; District Banks for Co-Operatives; Electric Home and Farm authority; Emergency Crop and Feed Loan section; Fram Credit administration; Farm Security administration; Federal Credit unions; Federal Crop Insurance corporation; Federal Farm Mortgage corporation; Federal Intermediate Credit banks; Federal Land banks; Land Bank Commissioner loans; National Farm Loan associations; Production Credit associations; Production Credit corporations; Puerto Rico Reconstruction administration; Regional Agricultural Credit corporations, and Rural Electrification administration.

Even the most rampant supporter of paternalist government will admit that's quite a list; and will agree that even if several such agencies are needed, a set-up of 20 is certain to be too large, too unwieldy and must represent considerable duplication of effort, personnel and expense.

OF course, business in government is considered to be a very reprehensible thing, especially when it is considered that patronage makes votes and the more patronage, the more votes.

Yet the plain citizen, who pays the freight via taxes wrung from the sweat of his brow, cannot but decry duplication, overlapping and wasted money and effort, especially in times like these.

When the New Deal, as it most surely will, asks the American public to continue it in power for another four years following January, 1945, the least it can do is clean up the muddled domestic front. Otherwise, no matter how well it carries on with world affairs, it still will be only a hodgepodge affair.

Chapter 32
End Of The Trail

"The air is bracing on this peak," Tyra said. "It will be a good place to camp while Helen gets back her strength. Are you looking at the plateau, Sandy? What are you seeing?"

Sandy put his glasses aside and turned towards her, smiling a little.

"I'm seeing visions, Tyra. Do you ever see visions?

She appeared uncertain about how to take his mood. "I often do. Day-dreams they're sometimes called, aren't they?"

"Yes . . ." Sandy picked up one of her hands and traced the lines of the palm as if he were reading them. After a moment he went on, "I think I followed you, from the first, because I knew that I couldn't do without you."

She said softly, "Then both of us were—sort of blind."

Sandy lifted his head to look into her face. "I wonder what would have happened if I hadn't followed you into this Forbidden Land."

He felt the slight shudder that passed over her body. "Don't even think of it!"

"No, because that's part of the past and we can turn our backs on it and face the future." With one arm he drew her close to his side and pointed with his free hand to the undulating bush country spread like a colossal map below them. "There it is—the world. From now on whatever it does to us we'll take standing side by side, like this."

They turned from the scene toward each other. Their eyes spoke but it was a moment before their lips moved.

"Dear," Sandy said.

"I love you," Tyra whispered, like a pledge.

He held her more tightly and her slender arms stole up around his shoulders drawing his head down to the sweetness of her lips.

They lolled in deep cane chairs in McIntyre's patio—Fleming, Gil, Helen, Sandy and Tyra. They were all freshly tubbed and combed. The men wore white drill, the women light, thin dresses that made their browned skins browner. In their hands they all held tall glasses that tinkled coolly at every motion. Before them, on a table, lay an odd-looking manuscript, stiff and cracked, but legible.

Sandy and Fleming told their stories. McIntyre listened without interruption, only his singular brows working from time to time to show his emotion.

Now he shifted his huge bulk and grunted—"Uh-uh — quite an experience. And if you don't mind my saying so, you're all damn' lucky to be alive. Of course, I'm glad to have the mystery of the Forbidden Land cleared up, although I don't have any idea it'll help the Indians much. I can see that you've—ah—made a real contribution to science, too, Morse, and I don't believe, Fleming, you need to worry about anybody going after your gold cache. It'll be there fifty years from now—or five hundred."

"I may go back, some day," Fleming said. "But right now there are other things to occupy my time."

Helen spoke up quickly, Mr. Fleming is accompanying my next expedition."

"Uh?" croaked McIntyre. "Starting another? When? Where?"

Helen glanced across at Sandy and when he nodded, she addressed McIntyre. "Tomorrow we're all taking the train to Mexico City and, while Sandy and Tyra are having their honeymoon, Gil, Fleming and I will be getting our outfit ready. We're going up into Sonora. We want to find the mummies of a race of giants that are said to be there."

McIntyre intoned, "You folks are fiends for punishment, that's all I've got to say. From the frying pan into the fire, uh?"

CIVILIANS AND BOMBING RAIDS

Most people are entirely too practical to be swayed by recent and very occasional protests reported in the British isles against air raids against the Axis in which civilians may be killed.

Happily, people in the United States and Great Britain have not been brutalized to the extent that the killing of enemy non-combatants gives them pleasure. Not once have the United Nations indulged in killing for the mere sake of slaughter. They have not sought retaliation in kind upon the Nazis and the Japs, who repeatedly have murdered the helpless in their deliberate effort to terrorize enemy populations into surrender.

But people of the United Nations have learned the hard way that there can be no slackening of efforts to destroy the plants which manufacture the weapons intended for use in slaughtering our own. It is unfortunate that this must mean the killing of civilians. But it is one of the grimly tragic necessities of self preservation.

If the United Nations refrained from bombing Axis war plants because civilians might be killed, then the enemy would surround all its plants with civilians. As a matter of fact, it seems well established that they already have done just that. They have attempted to use civilians to protect themselves. But the strategy has failed, and must continue to fail. If civilians permit themselves to be placed in zones of danger, then they must expect the consequences.

Review Granted In Bartchy Draft Case

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—A draft registrant, convicted of failing to keep his selective service board properly informed of his address, obtained a Supreme court review of his case Monday.

The court, however, turned down the appeal of Rufo C. Romero, U. S. Army captain in the Philippines who was convicted of taking secret maps of Manila defense from Fort William McKinley, photographing them and disclosing them to persons who, the Justice department said, "were not entitled to receive such information." Romero had sought a review of the refusal of a federal district court in Washington state to grant a writ of habeas corpus for his release from prison.

The draft case involved Homer Lester Bartchy, alias Homer Brooks of Houston. He joined the merchant marine and signed at New York for a foreign voyage when, the Justice department said, his induction was imminent. For two weeks before his ship sailed he remained aboard, the department said, and failed to advise the National Maritime union in Houston or the draft board of his whereabouts. Bartchy claimed that he had told the board that his mail could be sent to the union.

"EVERYBODY'S WAR"

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—This war is everybody's war, President W. L. Hemingway of the American Bankers association said today in pledging support of the nation's 15,000 banks for the Treasury's $13,000,000,000 war loan drive.

SINKING REPORTED

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—The Navy announced today that a small British merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk by a submarine early in March in the Atlantic off the northern coast of South America. Survivors have been landed at Miami, Fla.

Disabled Youngster Has Victory Garden

McALLEN, April 13 (AP)—A victory gardener, Young Snodgrass, 7 1-2 year-old McAllen youngster, isn't one to complain.

Despite a hip bone infection which will keep him in bed for 18 months, Young has planted a plot of snap beans which are coming up. A member of his family carries him out and lays him down by his garden, which he prepared and planted himself.

This week, he received a cut on his left eyeball when a knife slipped from his hand. Now he has to remain in a darkened room until the eye heals. The garden has to wait, too.

Young hasn't whimpered yet.

Movies Fear Censorship Or Competition Most? . . .

Mellett Office Only Advises On Pictures

(Third of a series of three columns on government movies).

By PETER EDSON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WHEN the Government Bureau of Motion Pictures was set up in the Office of War Information last June, complete with producing unit and Hollywood office, the film industry was naturally skeptical.

True, the industry had asked for a co-ordinator to serve as a clearing house between the producers and the many government agencies. True also that Department of Agriculture had been making movies nearly 30 years, and that Department of Interior, Office of Education, Treasury and other federal agencies had dabbled in movies in a non-commercial and somewhat amateurish way. And before OWI was organized, civilian war agencies had a movie unit for newsreel sequences and initial propaganda shorts. But the creation of a full-time bureau to do the production job for all government agencies was something else again.

EDSON

What Hollywood feared particularly was censorship. Secondary fears were to have the government become too experienced in motion picture production, making it a competitor. Third was an apparently sincere belief that the industry could do the job the government wanted done, better than the government could do the job, and for less money.

THREAT OF COMPETITION

WITH the Army setting up a big movie unit and the Navy going in for movies in a less extensive way, producing companies that specialized in short subjects faced a threat of real competition and newsreels in particular looked askance on the likelihood that they would be frozen out of making pictures which the public would most want to see. If in addition the government Bureau of Motion Pictures should save for its own cameramen the choice newsreel shots, issuing them like handouts to all companies, there was a threat of serious government competition.

The censorship scare got hot when Lowell Mellett, head of the Bureau of Motion Pictures, suggested to the industry that on feature pictures, in no way connected with news, the studios should submit to the Bureau first the script, then the shooting script, and finally the picture itself, for review and suggestion.

What Mellett was after on this proposal was not censorship, he insists, but merely the right to call to the producers' attention film stories or incidents that might prove embarrassing to the United States and its allies. Mellett today stoutly maintains that he has no powers of film censorship and doesn't want any, but a few case histories will show how he has used the influence of his office to tie in the movie industry's entertainment product with the war effort.

"ICELAND" starring Sonja Henie was made before Mellett took over the new bureau, but it is typical of how a Hollywood version of something or other can go sour. In this case Icelanders protested the slander done their country and a mere piece of entertainment thus became a diplomatic incident. Movie moguls finally gave in, renamed the picture, took out references to Iceland and reissued.

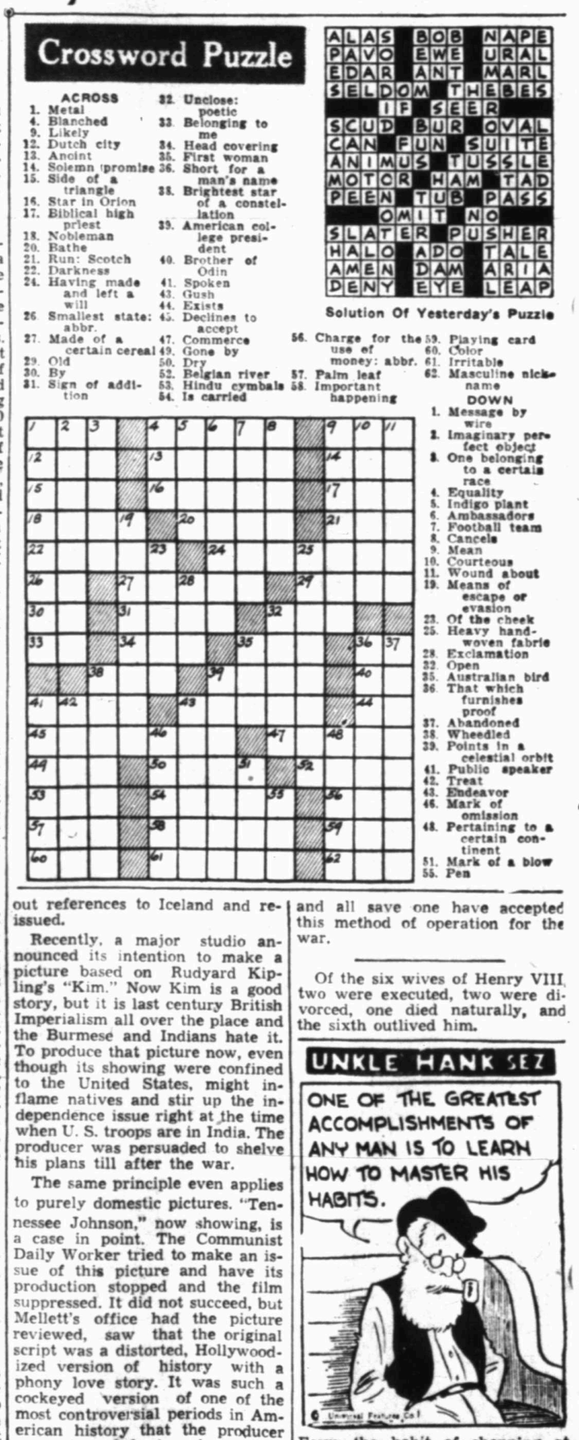

Recently, a major studio announced its intention to make a picture based on Rudyard Kipling's "Kim." Now Kim is a good story, but it is last century British Imperialism all over the place and the Burmese and Indians hate it. To produce that picture now, even though its showing were confined to the United States, might inflame natives and stir up the independence issue right at the time when U. S. troops are in India. The producer was persuaded to shelve his plans till after the war.

The same principle even applies to purely domestic pictures. "Tennessee Johnson," now showing, is a case in point. The Communist Daily Worker tried to make an issue of this picture and have its production stopped and the film suppressed. It did not succeed, but Mellett's office had the picture reviewed, saw that the original script was a distorted, Hollywoodized version of history with a phony love story. It was such a cockeyed version of one of the most controversial periods in American history that the producer was persuaded to change his script, reshoot some scenes and present a picture closer to the truth. But note the picture was not suppressed.

The same goes for Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls," the story of the Spanish revolution. The government has stayed out of this film ruckus because it has no powers of censorship. But the Mellett office is there to consult and advise if any of the movie producers wish to use it, and all save one have accepted this method of operation for the war.

Of the six wives of Henry VIII, two were executed, two were divorced, one died naturally, and the sixth outlived him.

War Bonds Buying Needed War Tools

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

This started out to be a column on the great defeat which we are piling up against the Axis forces in Tunisia, but somehow it's got mixed up with that $13,000,000,000 war bond drive of ours.

It isn't that I'm particularly money-minded, for I don't know just how much thirteen billion dollars is.

However, being just back from a tour of the war theaters, I do know that our troops in Tunisia are being rushed to victory on the backs of your war bonds and mine.

Lacked Equipment

With even more satisfaction one can record that scores of thousands of Allied soldiers' lives are being saved as this bloody battle swirls up the coast towards northern Tunisia.

Only a few weeks ago I visited the Libyan battlefields where not so far back the Allies suffered defeat and heavy casualties, not because they didn't fight courageously, but because they lacked equipment.

We are winning now because we have the equipment as well as the men. I saw mountainous stores of equipment which are just now beginning to make themselves felt in a big way. And that equipment comes out of our war bonds.

Air Power Given Credit

Marshal Rommel is racing north, his defenses in southern and central Tunisia shattered by the combined assault of British, French and American forces. One of the most important elements in the Allied success has been air superiority.

Warplanes helped destroy Rommel's defenses at the outset in the Mareth line. Bombers have blasted his bases and communications on both land and sea. Clouds of light bombers and fighters at this moment are pursuing his routed troops and exacting a terrible toll in casualties.

Well now an average fighter plane cost something like $165,000. A light bomber is more, and so on up until you pay $350,000 for the Flying Fortress which is doing such magnificent work not only in the Mediterranean zone but over western Europe.

Bombs are being spewed into Rommel's ranks from the air. Every 100-pounder costs over $41, and from there the prices range up to $872 for the big 4,000-pound devil. The machine guns with which the fighters are strafing the unhappy Axis troops cost $1,500 each, and the ammunition runs into big money when you figure the expenditure for a day's work.

TWO GREAT GENERALS MEET—Radioed from Cairo to New York this photo shows General Dwight Eisenhower, right, shaking hands with British General Bernard L. Eisenhower, commander-in-chief of all Allied Forces in North Africa, flew to Montgomery's headquarters to congratulate him and his men for their spectacular successes.

Show Opened At Plainview

PLAINVIEW, April 13 (Special)—Jersey bulls and Jersey dairy herds held the stage as the Panhandle-Plains annual dairy show opened here this morning. Judging will proceed throughout the day. F. M. Chestnut of College Station is in the arena.

The Holstein-Freisian association is well represented, and the Milking Shorthorn breeders will come in for the finals late Wednesday and during Thursday.

Howard Is President

L. A. Howard, manager of Lubbock's livestock auction market, is president of the Shorthorn association. The yearly consignment sale of Shorthorns here has become an institution. The group was organized in 1937, with 300 registered Shorthorns in the country. Now the backlog of supply represent over 1,100 head. Foundation material is offered, and seed stock goes to every part of the nation for building and improving herds. Breeders have put much effort into the sales. This year's sale and exhibition is expected to be one of the most important ever held because of the demand and limited supply of good beef and also of milk products.

Tonight there are to be three stellar entertainment features, including the annual meeting of breeders and dairy show officials, the annual banquet of A. and M. college exes, and the victory round-up.

Because the show has been reduced three days, officials explained the nights must be crowded with entertainments in order to stage them at all, and nothing has been left out this year, except the judging competition by 4-H and FFA club boys, and the visiting carnival shows.

STATEWIDE BROADCAST SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT

The opening night's festivities of the Panhandle Plains Dairy Show in Plainview tonight will be aired over a statewide broadcast starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Feature of the thirty-minute broadcast over the Texas State network will be music by the South Plains Army Flying School Band, under the direction of Warrant Officer Harry Dunham, the crowning of a WAAC as "sweetheart of the show" by Lieut. Col. Marvin B. Durrette, commanding the West Texas Recruiting and Induction district, and the presentation of a skit, "Food Is Ammunition."

The skit, to be presented by SPAFS soldiers and WAACs will emphasize the part food is playing in the war.

Station KFYO will carry the broadcast.

OPA Acts On Food Orders

WASHINGTON, April 13. (AP)—Fixing maximum prices for fresh tuna, the OPA today took the first definite step in carrying out President Roosevelt's order of last week to bring all cost-of-living foods under price control.

Fresh fish was the principal food excluded from price control at the time of the chief executive's order. OPA said the tuna order will be followed by similar action on halibut and other fresh fish. When the fish rules are completed, the agency estimated, 98 per cent of all food will be under price control.

Other Controls Planned

The other 2 per cent, also slated for early action, includes: apples, sweet potatoes, radishes, cucumbers, kale, cauliflower, pears, peaches and plums.

Meanwhile, regional OPA offices have been authorized to "freeze" restaurant and other public eating prices, and action is planned to control various basic farm prices, including livestock, cotton and wheat, in order to strengthen the existing price controls on flour, meat and other processed products.

Tuna Ceiling Set

Quick action also was predicted in official quarters to strengthen the present, temporary price controls on lettuce, spinach, carrots, peas, waxed and green beans, cabbage and tomatoes.

The ceiling price of albacore tuna—most expensive of the tunas—was set at $325 per ton, instead of market prices which have ranged up to $398 in the last year. Other tuna prices were said to approximate current levels.

Most tuna is canned, and OPA announced it will revise price rules on canned tuna to jibe with the fresh tuna ceilings. The tuna regulation will be effective April 19.

FDR Hears Plea For Texas Steel Mill

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—A request of Texans for approval of a steel mill suggested as an addition to a $20,000,000 iron ore blast furnace under construction near Daingerfield was taken directly to President Roosevelt today by Rep. Patman (D-Tex).

The President, Patman said, expressed keen interest and sympathy with the mill proposition, asked for a detailed memorandum and "agreed to give us a hearing."

Patman said John W. Carpenter, head of the Texas Power & Light company, and others in Texas would work immediately on a memorandum and that its submission would be followed by a hearing with the chief executive.

Patman declared that the steel mill addition was recently disapproved by the War Production board on the ground it would use too much strategic material at this time.

The President, Patman said, told him he was interested in each section of the country developing its own mineral resources, adding that by such development a great deal of cross-country hauling of heavy commodities could be eliminated.

Tributes Paid To Jefferson

WASHINGTON, April 13 (U.P.)—The United States reconsecrates itself today to the ideals of liberty and democracy immortalized by Thomas Jefferson.

On the 200th anniversary of his birth, today's defenders of his faith dedicate the newly completed Jefferson memorial.

President Roosevelt, who laid the cornerstone of the white marble memorial on Nov. 15, 1939, delivered a dedication address.

The round, many-pillared, low domed structure — designed after the pantheon in Rome — now takes its place here with shrines to two other great Americans, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

South Of Basin

Situated on the south side of the tidal basin, with its ring of flowering trees, the memorial looks north toward the Washington monument and, about a mile away through a vista of trees, the south portico of the White House.

To the left, at the Potomac end of the mall, is the Lincoln shrine and to the right, at the mall's other end, the capitol. The Jefferson memorial and the White House define the arms of a gigantic cross.

Jefferson himself supplied a challenging, dedicatory theme for the day. Carved in the circular frieze just under the 100-foot-high dome are his words:

Hostile To Tyranny

"I have sworn upon the altar of God hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man."

Rising from a six-foot pedestal of Minnesota granite and Missouri marble and looking north through ponderous columns toward the far horizon is the 19-foot statue of the tall, raw-boned Jefferson modeled by Rudolph Evans.

On four high panels inside the memorial, standing out boldly in bronze bas-belief, are other words summing up all that Jefferson so ardently believed in:

"Almighty God hath created the mind free . . ."

"God who gave us life gave us liberty . . ."

"All men are created equal . . ."

"Laws and institutions must go hand in hand with the progress of the human mind . . ."

Poultry Course To Begin Here Tonight

First session of a course for poultry raisers, with first emphasis on broiler production, is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock in Locust Street chapel with Henry Elder, vocational agriculture teacher in city schools, the instructor. Other similar classes are planned if interest justifies, he said.

The general public is invited, especially those interested in any phase of poultry, Elder said successful poultrymen of the area will from time to time be asked to give talks and relate their experiences, and subject matter will be presented in a way that will prove interesting, informative, and practical.

SAN ANTONIO, April 13. (AP)—George W. Powers, 66, former newspaper editor in Ardmore, Okla., and Hico, Tex., and recently publisher of the International magazine in Laredo, died here yesterday.

U. S. Soldiers Pick '44 As Victory Year

LONDON, April 13. (AP)—More than half of 500 United States soldiers invited to record their predictions of the war's end in Europe at a Red Cross club in London guessed that 1944 would be the victory year.

Fifty-four per cent picked next year, 28 per cent thought victory would come in 1943, and 14 per cent said it would be 1945 before Germany was beaten. Four of every 100 took gloomy views from 1946 to 1950.

GOP Aid Sought For Trade Plan

WASHINGTON, April 13—Congress called today for the dollars-and-cents data on U. S. world trade and as hearings into the administration's tariff agreements program were resumed reports circulated of a compromise calculated to line up the support of the Republican minority.

Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones was summoned by the House ways and means committee to supplement the testimony of Secretary of State Cordell Hull whose tiff with Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif) not only enlivened the opening of the hearings yesterday but cast some doubt as to the smooth course of the pacts which Hull described as vital to the future peace.

Nullification Power Wanted

Gearhart's burst of opposition to the agreements with 27 nations—which he said got this country the nickname of "Uncle Sap"—prompted some Republicans in the House to go into a huddle on what the "party" attitude should be. The informal conference decided nothing but to "go slow," it was said.

The compromise idea circulated in the Senate. Influential minority members were reported to have agreed tentatively to a three-year renewal of the president's authority to negotiate the agreements provided Congress has the right by majority vote to nullify any of the pacts which it might find objectionable.

Hull Challenged

Hull said failure of Congress again to extend the blanket authority would indicate the United States does not intend to bear its share of responsibility in peacetime. As evidence that the program had worked successfully, he said, none of the 27 signers now is at war with the United States.

Gearhart challenged Hull's concept of the program, asserting the other nations had taken advantage of the United States and got the best of the bargain.

Hull accused Gearhart of having an "isolationist" attitude.

Legion Appropriates $525 For War Bonds

Purchase of $525 in war bonds was approved by members of Allen Bros. post of the American Legion at their semi-monthly meeting Monday night.

One committee headed by A. C. Jackson is to select the post's youth representative in the annual observation of state government. Posts over the state participate in the plan of sending youths each year—usually about May 15—to Austin, to study and participate in governmental functions.

L. B. Cooper and H. J. McCabe were chosen as a committee to select the local post's candidate for the national commander's scholarship, valued at approximately $4,000. To qualify, the youth must be an orphan of an ex-service man.

Two films from the Tech film library were shown, one depicting South American scenes and the good-neighbor policy, and the other showing war industry in action in the United States.

Leader Chosen For Women's Land Army

WASHINGTON, April 13. (AP)—Miss Florence Hall, for the last 15 years an extension field agent for the Department of Agriculture, was chosen by the department today to head the women's land army of the U. S. crop corps.

She will have the job of rounding up and directing the 50,000 seasonal crop farmerettes and 10,000 year-around workers the department says will be needed this year to help with farm work.

Negroes comprise one-tenth of the population of the United States.

Pan-American Programs Set

Knowledge, ideas, and ideals of North, South, and Central America are being instilled in the minds of people of each of these countries about the others by the programs to be given in the three Americas in observance of Pan-American day Wednesday. All Lubbock public schools have planned participation in the observance.

Students who take Spanish in the George M. Hunt school will present a Pan-American program Wednesday night at 8:30 on the lawn west of the school building. The public is invited. The program, under the direction of Mrs. William H. McKelvy, will consist of several Spanish songs led by Shirley Cartwright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cartwright, and Neil Vaughn, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Vaughn; Johnnie Sue Corcorran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Corcorran, and Tommy Raney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Raney, have the leading parts in a play, "A Pan-American Friendship Party." There are 13 other students in the play who will carry flags of the American countries. Patricia Sue Rhea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Rhea, and Cecil Caddell, son of Mrs. Araminta Caddell, will lead 22 couples, who will be dressed in colorful costumes of the southern republics, in "The Mexican Hat Dance." Jimmy Adams, son of Mrs. Margaret Adams, will announce for the program.

Central Ward Program

Representing the 21 Pan-American republics, 45 children from the Spanish classes of Central Ward school will emphasize the origin and purpose of Pan-American day and the products and folk music of the different republics in a play, "Greetings from Pan-America." The stage setting will feature a display of the flags and the most typical products of the republics. Major speaking parts are Herald, Johnnie D. Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Pearson; Pan-America, Floy Louise Pharr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pharr; and flag bearer, Harold Swindell, son of Mrs. H. B. Swindell. Tommie Carol Hartsfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Hartsfield, Patricia Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Walker, and Mary Ethel Massingill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Massingill, will be soloists featured in Spanish folk songs. Mrs. W. L. Metcalfe and Miss Martha Mathis are directing the program.

At Roscoe Wilson school, Shelia Jondahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Jondahl, will give an introduction of Pan-Americanism. Lawrence Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Williams, and Carl Matthes, son of Mrs. Carl Matthes, will conduct a quiz program on questions about Latin American countries. This part of the program is under the direction of Mrs. Annyce Brown. Mrs. H. B. Hawkins' Spanish students will give the pledge to the flag and sing "America" and "Mexicali Rose" in Spanish. Mrs. Turner Adams' students are to give "The Three Bears" in Spanish. The characters are Goldie Locks, Sandra Shook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Shook; Papa Bear, Donald Mills, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Mills; Mamma Bear, Kay Lynn Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Watson; and Baby Bear, Peggy Pugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Pugh.

Play Is Presented

Sanders school gave a Pan-American program last week for the P.-T. A. which consisted of a Texas play with Spanish numbers in between the parts of the play.

Students from K. Carter school appearing on a Pan-American program, which has already been given for the P.-T. A. are Mary Belle Perryman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Perryman, Betty Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Mills, Elaine Kallas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Kallas, Bobby Gene Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Day, and several groups of children. These students, under the direction of Mrs. Oscar Killian, will take a program to Guadalupe school at 1 p. m. Wednesday.

All children who study Spanish in Dupre school will have home room programs to which parents are invited. Children on the programs are Janice Duncan, Dale Young, Jack King, Joyce Worrell, Jane Austin, Jimmie Barnett, Christine Toles, Evelyn Sue Burks, Etta Lou Campbell, Elizabeth Stanley, Bobby Bratcher, Jimmie Richards, Charles Whitfield, Bettye Armstrong, Peggy Givens, Mary Ruth Sims, John R. Ming, Opal Key, and Merle Spivey.

Bean School Program Set

The George R. Bean school Pan-American program will consist of the meaning of Pan-Americanism, short talks in Spanish, a song by Mary Ramirez, and Patsy Guerrero, a play, "El Gato y Los Ratons," Spanish songs and dances, pledge to the flag and "God Bless America" in Spanish, and "La Casa," a talk. Sponsors are Mrs. Clyde Smith and Mrs. Harold Munn.

Junior High students will give assemblies Wednesday and Thursday at 8:50 a. m. consisting of the origin and significance of Pan-American day by Penrod Toles, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Toles, a piano number by Cecelio Velasco, a Texas Technological college student from Mexico City, and a play, "Hay Paz?" given in Spanish, the main character is Ted Grey who has lived in Mexico and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Grey. The director of the program is Miss Genelle Wilhite.

Senior High school Spanish classes have been working on a Pan-American unit involving the study of the history, geography, language, flags, and emblems of Latin American countries. Miss Velma McCandless teaches Spanish in high school.

Abolition Of State OPA Office Is Seen

DALLAS, April 13 (AP) — The Dallas Morning News says Texas consumers may expect the abolition of the state OPA office within the next few weeks.

Other anticipated developments outlined by the newspaper were:

1. Great curtailment of activities and reduction in the staff of regional OPA.

2. Wider powers to be granted local war price and rationing boards, including authority to hold hearings on certain complaints of regulation violations.

3. Abolition of rent control offices and placing of that unit with OPA work under the local boards, or at least to be correlated with district OPA's unified setup.

4. Strengthening of district OPA and addition of manpower to local boards to take care of the new work loads. Paid helpers, mostly clerks, already are furnished to most boards by the agency, but under the new plan it was believed that added personnel would be forthcoming.

Health Threat Faces Workers

DETROIT, April 13.—A new danger to the health of workers in an important war industry was disclosed before the meeting of the American Chemical society here by two Department of Agriculture research men, Dr. Joseph R. Spies and Dr. E. J. Coulson.

This industry is the extraction of castor oil, now needed in huge quantities for filling the recoil cylinders of heavy guns, supplying an essential ingredient for nylon, mixing with paints, and other important uses.

But workers handling the pomace or pulp left after the oil has been extracted sometimes develop asthma and other allergic symptoms.

Castor-bean pomace has long been known to contain ricin, a protein poison that rivals cobra venom in deadliness. But pomace extracts from which the last trace of ricin has been removed were still capable of causing allergic reactions. This newly discovered allergy-producing protein has not been given a name, but only a set of initials: CB-1A.

'Perfect Shipping Month' Is Planned

Lubbock shippers and carriers are to meet in Hilton hotel ballroom Wednesday night at 8 o'clock to discuss participation in national perfect shipping month, according to announcement Monday.

Expected to be represented at the meeting, according to the announcement, are the Santa Fe and Fort Worth and Denver railroads, truck lines and large shippers of all kinds.

Purpose of the observance, sponsors explained, is to focus attention upon the fact that the biggest cause of shipping losses and delays is the defective packing and preparation of the shipment. The campaign this year stresses that better shipping practices are demanded as a patriotic duty to conserve materials, time and transportation space.

A. H. Maas, chairman of the local committee, is to preside at the meeting Wednesday. Letters publicizing the meeting have been mailed from the chamber of commerce. However, sponsors declared, the invitation to attend includes everyone interested, regardless whether they receive such a letter.

Bond Sales Reach $9,287 At New Deal

A contest among students in New Deal rural school has resulted in the sale of $9,287.10 in war bonds and stamps, according to report Monday by A. L. Faubion, superintendent. The contest will close Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

In the contest the schools have been divided into three groups: Primary, intermediate and high school. The winning class in the primary group will be entertained by the Monroe community club, while the winning class in each of the other two groups will be guests of the losing class in that group.

Monday afternoon the primary group had sold $750.50 worth of bonds and stamps; the intermediates, $2,034.40; and the high school group, $6,502.20, bringing the total amount sold during the contest to $9,287.10.

In the primary group the second grade was leading in sales with the fourth grade running second. The eighth grade led the intermediate group, with the sixth grade, which was leading Saturday, standing second. In the high school group, the sophomores were leading, followed by the freshmen, who were in the lead Saturday.

Chicken Thefts Said To Be On Increase

DALLAS, April 13 (AP) — The cattle thief—whose activities were part of the legend of Texas—seems to have stepped aside for a more ambitious newcomer—the once-belittled chicken thief.

Dallas County Sheriff Smoot Schmid said today that his office has received complaints that 500 chickens have been stolen in Dallas county alone in the last 30 days.

Reports of similar thefts have been received from surrounding counties

Today's chicken thief appears to be operating more smoothly than his grab-and-run brother of yesteryear, who fled into the night with a squawking hen tucked under an arm. For sheriff's authorities do not know how he is operating—"with a sack, a truck or what," Sheriff Schmid said.

Chicken thievery, which the sheriff's office believes is connected in some way with a black market, could be eliminated if buyers of poultry stopped to ask "where the chicken came from," Schmid said.

"The trouble is," he said, "that the people who buy them don't care."
