

GRAHAM CRACKERS

—WHG

Since we are now a "grown-up" newspaper with a full-time local news editor, we have been uncovering some special problems which we had not anticipated.

In the production end of the business, for instance, we have separated the job of writing most of the larger headlines from the hands of those who write the stories themselves.

This pitfall proved especially disconcerting last week when we had a misleading headline atop a county story indicating that a "bond election" for county taxpayers is on the horizon.

There isn't any "bond election." It's to be an election that will affect, if carried, the taxes that will be collected to acquire road rights-of-way in the county.

If you read the story, you discovered this; if you read only the headline—well, you shouldn't be in such a hurry anyway.

Something else: the county has now discovered that the increased taxes will be used to acquire farm-to-market rights-of-way only, and that using the money for coming state four-lane highways isn't in the works.

We were in Amarillo Saturday afternoon to view Cotton John's salute to the Black community. It was the first time we had been in the TV production studio, and doubtless the first time for some other people, too.

Dillie Kelley's reaction was one that amused us. He said he was "floored" with the simplicity of the props that are used in studio productions.

"Take that desk over there, for instance," he confided. "Boy, when I see that thing on television, I think it's really a fancy one."

He was talking about a chewed up wooden desk that is used by the news announcers. Its corners and edges were battered from much moving about.

The entire studio will, in fact, fool most people. It is nothing more than a warehouse with a few drapes. The walls are bare and the floor is plain, unpainted, concrete. The studio is obviously designed to be used — not looked at.

Actually, don't get the wrong idea. The KGNC-TV building is a thing of beauty. It's just the studio we were in that we're talking about.

Friona isn't the only place where General Telephone Company is seeking a rate increase. We notice that over at Memphis they are requesting a nudge in their structure, and the reaction of the city commission is about like it has been here: cautious.

They are asking $12 for one-party business line, and $10 for a two-party business line. They want residence rates of $6 and $5 for one- and two-party connections.

That's a little higher than what they seek in Friona. Here they want $10 for one-party business, $8.50 for two-party business, and $5.25 and $4.50 for one- and two-party residences.

General probably can ultimately prove that it is entitled to these rates. But the net result of ramming increases down a town's throat isn't helping their relations with their customers very much.

The biggest failing of General Telephone, as we see it, is in their service and public relations fields. They have a lot to learn in both departments. They could profit from the records shown by Southwestern Public Service Company, we feel.

There's more ill feeling against the phone company than seems to be necessary.

Phil, Lynn, and Tex, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Phipps of Denver returned home with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Phipps, last week, and will visit Friona relatives.

New Pharmacist At Hospital

M. L. "Marty" Martinez is now on duty at Parmer County Community Hospital. He finished exams before the Texas and Oklahoma Board of Examiners and started work June 15.

He is a recent graduate of Southwestern State College in Weatherford, and obtained experience while in college by having a job in a Weatherford drug store.

The Martinezes are living in Friona, and have a two-year-old daughter, Virginia.

Teachers Get Pay Raise

Friona school teachers, like other teachers in Texas, have a raise in store for them starting in September, Governor Price Daniel signed the teacher-pay-raise bill June 6.

Superintendent Dillie Kelley received the letter explaining the amount. The teachers will get a $399 increase, bringing the state minimum teacher's salary to $3,204 for a beginner with a bachelor's degree. Last year the state minimum was $2,805.

Friona teachers will receive $3,404 for the beginner with a bachelor degree, if school board officials continue with the policy of paying $200 above the state minimum salary. The $54 annual increase for experience will remain effective.

Blake Has 1st Barley

Barley, usually later than wheat in ripening in the Friona area, was ready to cut about three days earlier than the first load of wheat this year.

L. B. Blake brought the first load into Friona Wheat Growers Friday morning from his farm about 8 miles north of Friona.

Blake had about 23 acres planted in October about a week later than his wheat was drilled. He said the wheat would probably be ready to cut about Friday, a week after the barley was mature.

The variety was Kerney barley, a variety commonly used in Kansas and Nebraska. Weight of a bushel was 45.5 pounds, at 14.01 percent moisture. Blake estimated the yield was about 40 bushels per acre.

Governor Price Daniel has placed his signature on the bill creating a new district court for Parmer, Lamb, and Bailey Counties. The bill becomes effective September 1.

The counties are now in District 64 with Castro, Swisher, and Hale Counties. The latter will remain in District 64, and the other three will be separated to form District 154. Judge E. A. Bills will be on the bench for the new district and a district attorney is to be appointed by the governor.

Bills is judge of the district to be divided.

Air Patrol May Join Plainview

About 25 prospective members of a Friona Civil Air Patrol Squadron Friday night talked favorably toward temporarily joining the Plainview CAP during the waiting period before the organization can be formed in Friona, reports Loyd Messenger.

The group obtained information and application blanks and decided to meet later when rush farming season is over, so others can be present. Captain Clayton Campbell and several other Plainview squad members were present at the Friday night meeting.

Pump Switch Shorts On No. 4 Well

A short in the electrical control box for the water pump on well number four caused pressures to drop sharply and water to be depleted in both tanks Friday morning, according to Roy Wilson, city clerk.

Wilson said a new switch and control box was required to get the pump in operating condition. The pump was out of order about five and one-half hours while Wilson went to Hereford for the switch and rewired the box.

Building Permits Total $5,430

A total of $5,430 in building permits were issued by City Clerk Roy Wilson during the week ending June 16.

A. J. Hellman was granted a permit to replace a roof at 509 Prospect for $130. R. G. Wiley is contractor.

Steve Messenger received a permit to construct a driveway, fence, flower bed, and miscellaneous improvements at 504 Elita Avenue. Johnny Brand is contractor. Estimated cost is $600.

WORM HUNTERS RAVAGE FLOWERS

Worm-hunting fishermen got the blame for some flower bed digging that destroyed zinnias, and petunias at Friona School last weekend.

Superintendent Dillie Kelley reported the beds near the high school study hall windows were "dug up quite thoroughly" by what apparently was some weekend fisherman. He said the custodians, who take pride in beautifying the campus with flowers, were peeved considerably about the destruction.

"We would like to request that fishing worm digging be done elsewhere," Kelley said.

Crews Changing Water Line Size

City employees are increasing size of water mains between Third and Fourth Streets and extending a main between Second and Third Streets.

Between Fourth and Fifth, the outlets are being connected to the eight-inch main laid last year. This is expected to erase any danger of lowered pressures in summer months due to heavy usage. The small line there is being moved to connect Crow's Slaughter Plant.

Massey Bros. Buy Station Partnership

Ed Massey and Russell Massey announced Monday the purchase of Alvin Gaines' share of the former Gaines-Smith Texaco Service Station on Highway 60.

Name of the firm under the new ownership will be Smith-Massey Texaco Service. David Smith is to be manager, the announcement said.

SWIMMING POOL directors were picked Friday night from the names on this board. Vera Ann Jones was elected one of nine directors. Obtaining a pool is a desire she has had for about five years. Miss Jones was a member of a team which sponsored plays to raise money five years ago.

Tax Rate Election For Farm Roads

The tax rate increase, which Parmer County taxpayers have been asked to vote on July 25 will be only for increasing revenue for the acquisition of farm-to-market roads, it was pointed out this week by A. D. Smith, county judge.

In clarifying the purpose for the election, the judge cited the way in which the petitions, asking the commissioners to call to the election, read and the way in which the order for the election was stated. The petitions, calling for the election, were as follows:

"We the undersigned, 10 percent or more of the resident property taxpayers qualified voters of Parmer County, as shown by the returns of the last general election, who have duly rendered the same for taxation, respectfully pray your Honorable Body to order an election to determine whether or not said county shall be authorized to levy, assess and collect ad valorem taxes upon all property within said county, except the first $3,000 valuation of residential homesteads, not to exceed 30 cents on each $100 valuation in addition to all other ad valorem taxes authorized by the Constitution of the State of Texas, provided the revenue therefrom shall be used for construction and maintenance of farm-to-market and lateral roads or for flood control, either or both, as the Commissioners' Court of said county may determine, as provided in House Bill No. 107, Acts, 51 Legislature, Regular Session, 1949."

According to the way this reads, farm roads are all that the tax increase can be used for, and "I do not believe it can be used for obtaining right-of-way for U. S. Highways," says the judge. When asked what would be done if the county ever did want to acquire the rights-of-way for four-lane highways, the judge said, "We'll cross that bridge when we get to it."

He said that at the present time all the county was concerned with was farm-to-market roads. "When the state offers us some farm roads, we plan to accept them."

If the tax rate election fails to carry, the county will have to raise the property valuation, says Judge Smith. The county has not had a property valuation increase in many years and the commissioners court can raise the valuation to obtain the necessary funds without an election.

By doing this, though, it will increase the revenue in all other funds too, and this is not needed. "The tax rate increase will be the cheapest way for the taxpayers," the judge says.

Absentee Voting Begins July 5

The dates for absentee voting in the July 25 tax rate election have been set for July 5 through July 20, reports Hugh Moseley, county clerk.

Eligible voters who will be unable to vote in the election on the 25th may receive ballots from the clerk's office during that period, Moseley says.

Tulsa Man Dies in Wreck

A 35-year-old Tulsa Okla. man, John Noyes, is dead and six members of his family are hospitalized with injuries received Tuesday in a late model car and grain truck crash near Black.

His son, Dwight, 10, was reported in fair condition at Parmer County Community Hospital. His wife, 32, a son, about 4, and a daughter, 1, were reported in critical condition at a Hereford hospital. The oldest son, 12, is reported in good condition at Hereford. The grandmother was reported recovering from shock and bruises.

Driver of the truck, Roy E. Norman, 44, of Clovis, is reported in satisfactory condition.

The truck, loaded with about 24,000 pounds of milo, and car, occupied by the six-member Noyes family and a grandmother of the children, collided about two miles east of Black on Highway 60 Tuesday about 10 a. m.

Two Highway Department employees, Billy Horton and T. A. Mills of Bovina, were working about 75 yards from the scene of the crash. They say they heard a loud, explosion-like sound and saw the vehicles after the collision.

Les Lightfoot of Hereford, among the first motorists to reach the scene, said the car passengers were stunned and several of them were bleeding badly. He and others helped place the two injured into a Claborn ambulance. Driver of the ambulance, Baker Duggins,

THE STAR'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Abusing Our Privileges

The announcement by the Parmer County Community Hospital that they will soon embark on a "cash" basis for non-emergency medical attention points up another instance of where the public is being shut off from a convenient and perfectly legitimate business practice through abuse of the privilege.

It is not commonly held that hospitals are "businesses" in the sense that they place financial return above all other goals, and represent a truly commercial outlook. Nevertheless, hospitals do have to face up to the hard, cold statistics of the outside world. Buildings and equipment must be paid for. Supplies and medicine, salaries of doctors and nurses are placing an increasingly heavy burden on hospital budgets. In that sense, hospitals are like any other enterprises not supported wholly or in part by taxation: They must have revenue in amounts at least equal to expenses.

The Parmer County Community Hospital is a splendid example of what top-rung management can do in spite of modern trends toward spiraling hospital costs. The hospital in Friona receives no support from taxes (except in the case of indigent or transient patients—which is insignificant compared with the annual budget), and is wholly dependent on private subscription plus operating receipts for its sustenance. The ability of the hospital to expand and improve its facilities and service as it has in spite of this obstacle is a remarkable achievement and a tribute to those who have backed it, along with the management and staff.

But now, rising bad debts have forced a change in policy, and we are wholly in sympathy with the hospital for the action it has taken. Here, again, is the lesson of what people bring upon themselves by abusing a privilege. They have long had the privilege of credit at the local institution, and the hospital has been glad to give it. But debt losses have enlarged to such a degree as to make it necessary to "draw the line."

Lions Hear Talk On Stock Mart

Blair Hankins of Amarillo, associated with Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane Investment Brokers, told Friona Lions some of the procedures for investment in stocks on the New York Stock Exchange.

In an explanatory speech at a meeting Thursday night of last week, Hankins pointed out that a greater profit can be obtained through careful investment in private stocks than by investing in lower paying U. S. savings bonds.

Municipal bonds usually yield a higher rate of interest than savings bonds, he said. Lions voted to support construction of a swimming pool in Friona during a brief business meeting.

er and two sons' partnership. Combined, the owners have about 80 years of cotton ginning experience. They operate a gin at Earth under the same title.

Most of the equipment in the gin under construction is to be new, with some used equipment to be from a gin being moved from Sherman. It is to have five stands, and a new Murray, Mitchell and Moss Co. lint cleaner. Electric power is to be used, and the building is to be of all steel material. The gin is located about two miles east of Lazbuddie.

Mitchell Steel Co. of Lubbock is doing the frame and sheet metal construction.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

It is commonly recognized that the solution to our cotton production and sales program problem is a difficult one, and that trial and error are necessary for the solution. Everyone growing cotton is interested in producing a fair quantity and selling it at a profitable price.

Farm Bureau, along with the National Cotton Council, has for the past year or longer, been advocating methods of making increased acreage possible, with a view to selling on a competitive market in enough volume to keep government warehouses from overflowing.

Farm Bureau coined the phrase, "Amount sold times price minus expenses equals net income" several years ago, and has based proposed solutions to the problem of net income for farmers on this premise.

When cuts in acreage began, many people believed they could stand the cuts, so long as the price stayed high enough. It soon developed that prices could not be expected to rise high enough to allow a decent net income for producers with the cuts in acreage brought about by production of synthetic materials at just under the price of cotton.

Farm Bureau was unpopular in some quarters because it stated that it believed competitive (slightly lower) prices would give assistance to the producers in making a better net income. We are happy that now several opponents of this theory have come up with the same idea, and are giving their support in Washington to it. We hope congress will lend an ear to this plan soon.

The bindweed map, prepared by the ASC office staff from answered questionnaires from farmers, shows approximately 175 plots of the weed. Have you sent your answered questionnaire in yet?

We believe the new standards set up by Texas Board of Education members will benefit students and everyone with whom they are associated. It looks like a long needed healthy approach to this growing problem.

CONSIDER THIS: Then I saw that that wisdom excelleth folly, as far as light excelleth darkness. (Ecclesiastes 2:13).

THE GOLDEN GRAIN — Sifting a handful of wheat of the first load to reach a Parmer County elevator this year is Burke Hand. The weight was 62 lbs. per bushel, and tested 12.50 percent moisture.

Parmer County's First 1957 Wheat Goes To L. R. Hand

First 1957 wheat is in the elevator.

Cutting started Monday and about 2:30 p.m. it was on the scales at Friona Wheat Growers' Elevator.

Crower is L. R. Hand, who farms about seven miles east of Friona. Hand says the grain is from a 30-acre field of wheat planted early in October. He says he fertilized with 80 pounds of anhydrous ammonia per acre in September. He then deep-broke and irrigated the field before seeding. He watered it two other times after it began growing.

Estimated yield is 65 bushels per acre. The wheat was not grazed during the winter. Variety is Early Premium.

Arthur Drake, manager of Friona Wheat Growers, says the wheat tested 62 pounds per bushel at 12.50 percent moisture. The wheat was left in storage.

For having the first load of wheat at the elevator, Hand received a $25 premium.

Weed Workers To Meet Friday

About 17 Parmer County farmers who are cooperating in locating bindweed infestations along road rights-of-way will meet Highway Department officials in Bovina Friday morning.

To begin at 7:30, the meeting will bring together the two groups and lay groundwork for a cooperative program for the eradication of the noxious weed. The Highway Department already is doing considerable work in this field.

The name, United States of America, originated when it was written into the Declaration of Independence.

4-H'ers Reminded Of Grain Contest

Members of the Parmer County 4-H Clubs were reminded this week by County Agent Joe Jones that there will be another grain sorghum production contest, sponsored by the Parmer County Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

Moderate interest was generated last year, in the first time to launch the competition. Jones said this week that he expects interest to be up considerably in 1957.

Detailed records will be maintained of production statistics, and forms have been prepared by the county agent's office for this purpose. Full details will be carried in subsequent issues of the paper, but the deadline for entering will be July 15. Additional information on the contest particulars can be secured at the agent's office.

Jones also emphasized this week that the cotton production contest will be held, the same as it was last year, and that boys are not only permitted, but encouraged to enter both contests if they desire.

In the case of the grain sorghum contests, cash prizes for the winners will be distributed as follows:

1st—$50 and plaque
2nd—$35
3rd—$25

4th—$15
5th—$10

Insect Warfare Takes to the Air

Chemical war against mosquitoes progressed the past week over farms in the east and southern parts of Parmer County in the Hub and Lazbuddie communities. About 46 farms were sprayed from the air, and about 16 others signed up for the attack to come to their places, reports Elvie Jennings of Benger Air Park.

Jennings said the Lazbuddie and Hub communities had initiated a joint effort to control heavy infestations of mosquitoes and contacted him to apply the insecticide from the air. Several persons near Friona also arranged to have a barrage of chemicals sprayed on their farms.

Jennings said the 46 different farms sprayed were located in about one-third of the county. He said several reported good results from the spraying.

A mixture of benzene hexachloride and DDT, one and one-half gallons diluted with 10 gallons of water, is being used. More persons are expected to contact him to arrange for the aerial application, Jennings said.

Persons whose farms have been sprayed include Gene Smith, Kenneth Precure, Don Bryant, Mrs. A. W. Black, Jimmy Dale Black, Willie Frank Wagon, T. L. Gleason, DeWitt Precure, Wyle Bullock, Elbert Nowell, R. Steinbock, Ernest Nowell, John Seaton, H. H. Briggs, W. C. Harlan, J. B.

County Clubbers Home

(Editor's note: The following is a brief report of the recent 4-H Club state Round-Up held at A&M College. Preparing this report were Cooper Young and Billy Hardage, two of Parmer County's four delegates to the Round-Up.)

On June 10, Cooper Young and Billy Hardage, Lazbuddie 4-H Club boys, accompanied their adult leader, J. B. Young Jr. to College Station for the State 4-H Round-Up at A & M.

We registered on June 11 along with 2000 other 4-H boys and girls from throughout the state. Girls from Parmer County attending were Misses Lexie Stevenson of Bovina and Judy Billingsley of Farwell. They accompanied another group of 4-Hers from District I to the meet.

Theme of the 1957 Round-Up was "People to People Partnership", as the 4-H Club organization is one of four groups appointed by President Eisenhower to carry out this "People to People" plan. The 4-H Club is the only youth group included in the appointees.

Topics for study during the three-day session at A&M were "The Role of a 4-H Citizen," "4-H in Civil Defense," "4-H in Action," "4-H in Agriculture and Home Economics," and "Fitting 4-H into Farm and Home Development."

The session was ended with a chuck wagon barbecue supper. We feel that we learned a lot from our trip to Round-Up and really enjoyed the trip. We want to express our appreciation to the Farm Bureau for helping to sponsor it for us.

THE PARMER FARMER

Today is "it" for the nation's wheat growers. Most prognosticators expect the referendum to pass (as has been customary) by the required two-thirds majority.

We will agree with the critics of this type of vote, in that there isn't much choice left to the farmer. The gulf between the "aye" and the "nay" is wide and deep. It isn't surprising that farmers have traditionally stuck with marketing quotas.

We also feel that the referendum returns do not necessarily reflect an attitude prevalent among the majority of those voting for that reason.

At any rate, it's up to you, Mr. Wheatgrower. What'll it be today?

The weather really turned for a few farmers between Farwell and Oklahoma Lane Tuesday afternoon, and heavy crop damage was reported, though not in a wide area, fortunately.

As a whole, the farmers of this part of the Plains have been lucky in this respect, compared to their neighbors a few miles to the east.

J. T. Ford's 70 acres of onions near Farwell are really looking good, and we have heard from an unofficial source that they ought to be hitting the market in a couple of weeks.

J. T. really took a long jump with such a big acreage of this speculative vegetable crop—especially since last year proved lucrative and many other farmers are helping swell the planting in onions to record levels this year.

We hope to check on him between now and harvest time, and get the low-down on how he's made out with this project.

Our spring-planted crops are really making good headway now that warm weather is here to stay. It is amazing to see how fast the young cotton plants and the sprouting grain sorghum leaves can "take off" under the warm sun and with adequate moisture for growth.

A few farmers are worried about getting off to a late start this year, but actually, this part of the High Plains is ahead of nearly everyone else in the state this year.

If we have an even average fall, we should do at least as well as nearly all of the farming country to the east and south of us, which, traditionally, beats us to the gins and elevators by 10 days to two weeks. Jack Frost, stay away!

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Native ranges or native pastures are no longer Parmer County Soil Conservation District's most important agriculture product. However, what native pastures that still exist will bear some attention.

For the most part there are two significant range sites in the district. One is the hard land range site and the other is the mixed land range site. The hard land site consists of those lands containing tighter, less permeable, soils. In good condition they will contain unlimited amounts of blue grama, side oats grama, western wheat, little blue stem, with about 25 percent buffalo grass.

In poorer condition these grasses will be in less abundance and less vigorous quantity. Invading plants such as loco, broom snake weed and other harmful or less palatable plants will be present.

Mixed range lands in the district are those more sandy lands, that absorb water more readily. In an excellent or good condition they may contain blue grama, side oats grama, hairy grama, black grama, little blue stem, Indian grass, and switch grass in unlimited amounts, with buffalo grass, three awn, sand dropseed and tabosa grass making up about one-third of the cover.

In fair or poor condition, these grasses will be in less abundance and show less vigor and an invasion of annual weeds, and less desirable grasses will take their places with a great infestation of yucca and sagebrush.

To improve the condition of a range or pasture, a farmer should pick out his most desirable grasses, find out about their growth habits, and manage grazing so that they are allowed to make a seed crop every year or so.

It is never a good practice to graze more than half of the current year's growth of these more desirable grasses.

A good method of determining the carrying capacity of a pasture is to select a spot where conditions are average, measure off a plot 3.1 feet square, clip all the vegetation on the spot and weigh it in grams. The weight in grams multiplied by ten times are the pounds of forage an acre has produced.

The figure divided by the number of pounds of forage (20 or 30 pounds) a cow will eat per day will give the number of days that an acre will last for a cow.

County Girl Enters Contest

Judy Barnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Barnett of the Black community, is an entrant in the Miss Rural Electrification contest.

Judging and selection of the winner will be Saturday, July 20, at 5 p. m. in the studio of KGNC-TV on Cotton John's program. Carrot Men Seek 100 More Acres Carrot men of Friona Growers & Shippers, vegetable processing firm, are interested in increasing acreage in the area "by about another 100 acres," announced Kenneth Neill, this week.

Neill suggested carrots as a possibility for area farmers who either have not decided what to plant their land to, or who have been washed out or halled out in earlier plantings.

"You can plant carrots up 'til about July 10-July 15," Neill said. The growers already have put in about 225 acres, and most of them are up and looking "awfully good."

If they can secure an additional 100 acres, there will be 425 acres planted to carrots for the Friona shed this year.

Parmer County Is a Land of 1,000 Lakes

By W. H. Graham Jr.

Minnesotans proudly brag that they are the state "with 10,000 lakes." Whether anyone has ever counted that many is subject to conjecture, but there's no doubt that they have plenty of that valuable commodity, water.

Residents of the irrigated portions of the High Plains, and Parmer County in particular, have had good reason to do a little bragging themselves about the amount of water they have on tap—but their bragging has been limited to the underground variety.

Parmer County has more water in storage than any other county in Texas. The 1955 inventory was 13,600,000 acre feet, as a matter of record.

Now come the statisticians who are giving us a new kind of brag, though. If Minnesota thinks it's flying with 10,000 lakes, then it ought to look at the Plains of the Southwest, which will, under close inspection, reveal more than 35,000 lakes right here in the dry Southwest!

Parmer County's share of this phenomenon is something on the order of 1,100 puddles—so a motto for ourselves might well be, "The County with 1,000 Lakes."

Of course, like most Texas tales, this one has a catch to it, and the catch to this story is that most of the "lakes" of Plains counties stay dry most of the time. However, that's typical, to a greater or lesser degree, of even the rivers in this part of the country, so maybe the claim isn't so absurd after all.

What is the explanation behind all of the lakes?

If you're not well versed in geology, it might be hard to explain a question like that, but even the amateur student of the land can see that the High Plains is a tremendously vast chunk, bounded by the Pecos River on the west, the Canadian River on the north and the "caprock" on the east. What's more, for all practical purposes, this sizeable piece of the Southwest is flat.

Oh, sure. Everybody who lives here knows that the land really isn't flat, and that the undulating fields give irrigation farmers all kinds of trouble, and that the entire Plains is tilted so that it gradually slopes to the southeast, making the difference between the western side and the eastern side about

1,000 feet in altitude.

But don't forget that if you could "back off" from everything and look at the High Plains, comparing them with the Rolling Plains to the east and south, they would, in actuality, be flat as a table top.

The Canadian River slices through the middle of the Plains, separating them into the northern and southern tiers. It's the southern Plains that we're mostly concerned with here, of course.

While scores of draws appear on the Plains' surface, and they carry some water from time to time, there isn't a single river or draw or creek or any developed drainage area of any kind that carries any significant amount of water from the Plains.

The water that falls from the skies onto the Plains stays here—kerplunk. It moves around a little, dribbling into the draws, into the bar ditches, and into the thousands of "wet weather" lakes we have, but it doesn't leave us.

Without any drainage development of any consequence, therefore, the Plains has become a land of thousands of lakes, with small depressions dotting the landscape like stars in the skies.

Most of the time, these ponds or lakes are dry. Whenever there's any significant rainfall, however, they hold water, and some keep water in them the year around.

That's why farmers in recent years have shown great interest in these potential sources of water supply, and are seeking to put the lakes to good use.

These lakes, when they have water in them, can be utilized in a number of interesting ways. First, they can be "siphoned" with centrifugal pumps to supplement the water ordinarily taken from beneath the ground to water crops.

Or, they may be used in that manner and also be depended upon for recharge of existing wells when it is not desirable to use the water somewhere on the surface.

Hydrologists of the High Plains Water District figure that the water standing in these lakes in an average year will be about a million and one half acre feet. The typical lake will cover about 30 acres.

The shame of all this is that studies indicate that about 90 percent of all water that drains into these ponds is lost to evaporation. The low humidity readings common on the Plains, plus the constant winds, wring water out of the lakes at a surprising rate.

If the area that these thousands of lakes take out of cultivation should be added up, it would total tens of thousands of acres, but really, this is not a big problem, since there is still plenty of land left to farm on the Plains, in most instances.

However, in years to come, when a need for expanding the agricultural plant is seen, it may be felt that the rich land that now is put out of cultivation by the often-dry lakes should be reclaimed.

A jackass rarely brays with his tail down.

Had you ever thought of a rolling pin needing an inscription? We hadn't until we ran across this little bit of verse. It is rather clever and we hope you enjoy it.

Inscription For A Rolling Pin
Apple turnover,
Strawberry tart—
That's the way
To any man's heart.
Deep dish cherry,
Apple pie—
That's how to keep him
Till you die.
And success is gauged
By this simple test:
With pastry or man,
A light hand's best.

There is a new gadget on the market that would be welcome in any household, but especially in one that cooks with electricity. It is called a Time-Rite and is easily installed. It works for you when you are not even at home. If you know at what time you want any electrical appliance turned off, just set the Time-Rite at that time and go on your way.

This would be especially nice for oven baked dinners. There are so many new recipes and menus for meals of this type.

For farm homemakers who help out in the fields during busy seasons, these meals are really a help.

A good salad which can be made the evening before, then served with any meal is Red Bean-Tuna Salad:

1-16 oz. can red kidney beans, drained
1-6½ oz. can flaked tuna
1 cup diced celery
2 tablespoons finely cut parsley
4 hard boiled eggs
2 tablespoons cooking oil
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Pinch of garlic salt
In salad bowl combine drained beans, flaked tuna, celery, parsley, and 3 of the hard boiled eggs diced. Combine cooking oil, lemon juice and seasonings. Pour over salad and toss lightly. Chill for at least an hour for flavors to blend. Makes about 6 servings.

With June

Do men ever go on tours of homes such as we had in Friona Friday afternoon? If not, why not? When a new home is being planned, the man of the house is always consulted about the details and almost nothing is done without his approval. When taking this fact into consideration, it seems that having men view new homes would be a wonderful idea.

If there is anything new in ideas for every room in the house that we didn't see last week on the tour, it hasn't been printed in the newest magazines we have looked at. In almost every home on the tour one or more of the very latest innovations in home decoration and furnishing could be seen.

Since our knowledge of furniture styles is limited, it would be impossible for us to do a good job describing the interiors of any of the homes. All of them were very pretty and we thoroughly enjoyed visiting each.

H. T. and Mae Magness have house guests this week. Mrs. Marjorie Magness and son, Clifton Turner, of Lubbock, are visiting. This is the first visit Clifton Turner has made to the home of his Friona grandparents. Overheard a conversation in the drug store one day and it seems that Tiny and Mae are making an effort to spend every possible moment baby sitting.

Seems like the swimming pool supporters are on the right track. Read somewhere that, "When enough people get together and make enough racket, results are bound to be visible soon." Some of the supporters after the Friday evening meeting said that, "We will be swimming in our own pool before the summer is over." Wonder if those talking were not a little bit too optimistic. Here's hoping, though.

The latest word the S. E. Beaton have had from their son, Charles, was a letter written June 10. At that time, he was still at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, but expected to be back in Texas by the end of the week. At the time he wrote the letter there were 17,000 men being processed. Friona's representation of four seems quite small in a group of that size.

Harold Taylor, Roy Young, Buford Carter, and Charles Beaton are all in the same company. According to Charles the boys were just "eating, sleeping, and waiting to be shipped to Fort Hood."

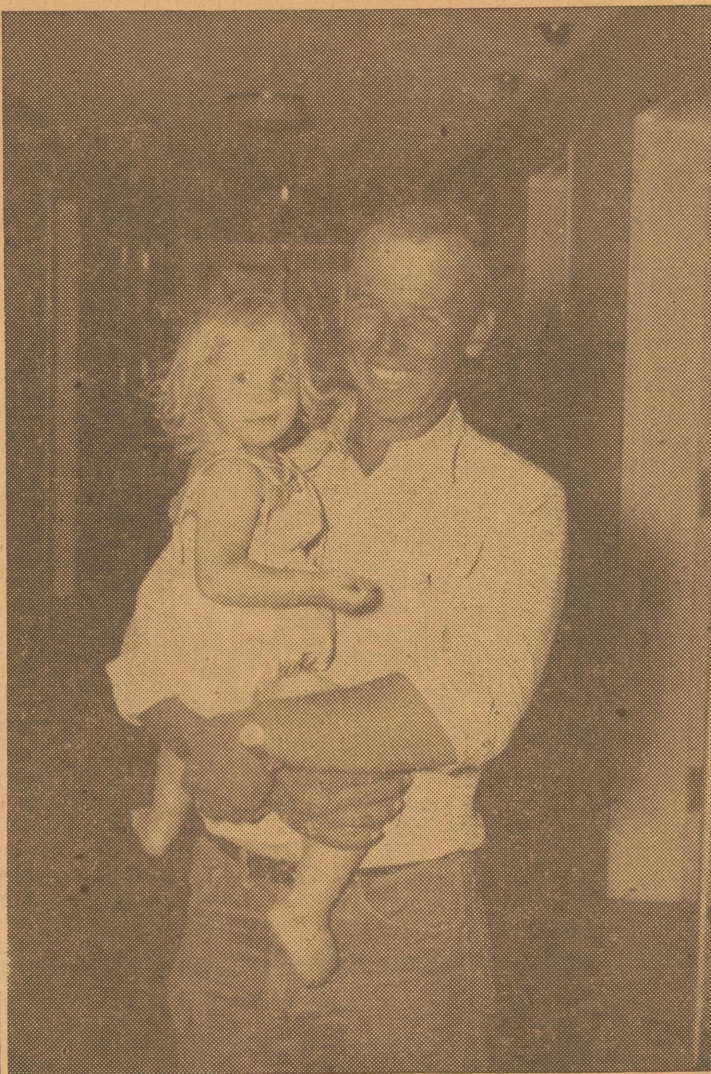

Do you know the definition of an old-fashioned father? Someone has defined him as "A father who thinks a boy should master the lawn mower before learning to operate the family car."

Club Meeting
Begins Early

The Friday meeting of the Hi-Point Home Demonstration Club began about 8 a.m. with a kidnap breakfast in the home of Mrs. Floyd Rector. After breakfast a short business meeting was held.

Roll call was answered with a household hint. Plans were made for the annual family picnic, which will be held July 14 at Palo Duro Park. Each member will bring a basket lunch for her family. The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. Harry Hamilton June 28.

Mental Health
Subject of Talks

Mrs. Shirley Smith and Mrs. Franklin Bauer of the Rhea community were guest speakers at a county wide meeting of home demonstration club members at the Hub Community Center last Friday evening.

Hostesses were members of the Hub Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Bauer, who are registered nurses, have made studies of the different phases of mental health and based their talks on these studies. Mrs. Bauer pointed out that a person's strongest emotion is fear. She also said, "If emotions were better understood and directed, many psychological disturbances could be avoided."

"Family Relations" was the topic of Mrs. Smith's discussion. She stressed the importance of the position which a child occupies in its family. She stated that, "The security a child feels has much more to do with its mental health than the amount of money his parents possess."

Some psychological facts which were pointed out: One out of 12 children born today will spend some time in a mental hospital. One out of 16 of these children will suffer from mental disorders, and 250,000 persons will be admitted to mental hospitals for the first time this year. One out of every 3 persons who consults a doctor is suffering from mental illness, and 650,000 mental patients are in mental hospitals at the present time and their care costs taxpayers more than a billion dollars a year.

There is a shortage of doctors, nurses, and clinical psychologists. The average hospital now has six doctors for every ten it needs, three registered nurses for every ten it needs, three clinical psychologists for every ten it needs, and three social workers for every ten it needs.

Each active HD club in the county was represented at the meeting. Those from the Rhea club were Mesdames Smith and Bauer. Mrs. G. H. Brock represented the Parmerton club, and Mesdames Waymon Wilkins, Earl Drake Ben Woody, J. R. Varner, and J. P. Sims were the Friona club representatives.

"Our daughter sold us on ELECTRIC COOKING!"

says Mrs. CLYDE BAXTER
College and 5th Streets
LOCKNEY, TEXAS

Mrs. Clyde Baxter, like many adults, has had the advantages of electric cooking pointed out to her by her high school student daughter, who learned that the modern way is the accurate, dependable way. Of course, it's electric! Says Mrs. Baxter, "I'm mighty glad we installed an electric range when we built our new home. The counter-top height oven gives perfect baking results and we get more broiled foods since getting the new range".

Sixteen-year old Linda Baxter is a sophomore student with two semesters in homemaking. Her teacher, Mrs. Quentin Adams, says, "Although our department has both types of household cooking equipment, most of our girls prefer to use the electric range".

Why not "take a tip from your teenager"? If you are not yet cooking electrically, ask your daughter to tell you why you should.

These Forty Years!

Forty years ago, in June of 1917, the Humble Company received its charter from the State of Texas.

The Company was formed through a merger of the properties of a number of independent oil operators. Its founding brought together a remarkable group of men who occupy an important place in the annals of the oil industry:

R. S. Sterling and his brother, F. P. Sterling, the principal organizers of Humble Oil Company from which the present company acquired its name; W. S. Farish and R. L. Blaffer composing Blaffer and Farish; H. C. Wiess with assets from Paraffine and Reliance Oil Companies; Walter W. Fondren and C. B. Goddard, producers; and L. A. Carlton and E. E. Townes as lawyers.

All of these men contributed greatly in adopting the principles, in shaping the policies, and in laying out procedures that have guided the Company's progress through these forty years. Their influence will survive as long as the Company continues.

They possessed courage and business judgment. They established high standards of performance. They built a strong organization of competent men and women.

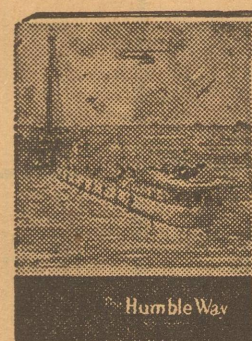

The Company, as it stands today, is a tribute to the leadership, the vision, and the work of its founders.

But it is doubtful that these men, with all their foresight, visualized the changes that have occurred in the oil industry since 1917, or the size and complexity of Humble's present operations, or the extent of the Company's contributions through the years to the progress of our society.

To all who have made those contributions possible—employees, customers, shareholders and the people of the states in which the Company operates—Humble extends its thanks.
