There was one structure fire, two grass fires, two false alarms and six miscellaneous calls. Eleven of the calls were in the county and three were in the city.

Thus far, in July the firemen have been called only twice. Both occasions were on July 2 when there was a false call to a location on FM 1229, and firemen were called out to help in the fatal traffic accident, as well as to help direct traffic around overturned truck-trailers at the Morgan Creek Bridge on IH 20.

For The Record...

FROM THE SCRIPTURES—"Thou art snared by the words of your mouth." Proverbs 6:2

I still get frequent comments from readers who enjoyed the series of Texas slang words presented here some time back. Mac Morris, former resident just returned from El Paso, told me the other day at the fly-in that he particularly enjoyed passing them on to his "Yankee Italian son-in-law".

There is another kind of Texas talk. For instance, can you read the following:

MRDUX
MRDUX

Got it translated? It's very simple. Here's what it says:

'Em are ducks
'Em are not

Oh yes, them are
See 'em wings
Well, I be!
'Em are ducks!

THE LONE WOLF SAYS, "A tourist is a person who travels to see things that are different and then complains when they aren't the same."

Here's another that you should now be able to figure out for yourself:
ABCD live goldfish?
LMNO live goldfish!
OSAR live goldfish!
ICMP

DID YOU KNOW? Adobe, the building block used in Texas and the Southwest for at least three centuries, did not originate with the Spanish explorers. The bricks made of clay and straw and then sun-dried were first used in North Africa, particularly in Egypt where even some of the early pyramids were made of adobe then faced with stone.

revisions in recent years," he said. "Much of the role of the administration has been absorbed into board board policy."

"Administrative regulations, documentation and decision-making could be enhanced and improved by careful restructuring of the administrative staff responsibilities," he said. "Job descriptions, lines of authority and responsibility and other aspects of the organization scheme have become intertwined and confused over the decades."

"The process of analysis and change will be time and energy consuming, but I believe it will be worth the effort," he said. "I have a goal of having an action-oriented management team."

He said he hopes to have the plan ready for execution during the 1988-89 school year.

No action was taken on the matter, but board president Dwayne Harris said "This is an area that needs to be worked on. We give you our blessings."

The board had already approved a recommendation from Ramsey that the Texas Association of School Boards update the board policy manual for a cost of about $1,000.

Ramsey also told the board of three committees he hopes to have formed:

• Annual Performance Report Committee - This committee would be made up of administrators, teachers from each campus, and at least one board member. The committee can help prepare part one of the state required annual performance report. The committee's responsibility would be to develop a compilation of achievements and "good news" for use in a special edition of the Colorado City Record, which would be used in the TEA document.

• Superintendent's Advisory Committee - This committee would be made up of the principals, plus two faculty representatives from each campus. The committee's role would be one of developing two-way communication, between the central office and the building faculties. Each meeting would be designed to allow opportunity for suggestions from the teachers, while serving as a channel for communicating and interpreting administrative regulations and board policy to the faculty.

• Community Advisory Committee - This committee would be made up of a cross section of the population of the CISD. Government agencies, civic groups, ministerial alliance, media and other groups would be represented. Meetings would serve as a means of gathering information from the community for needs assessment. Suggestions for school improvement will be accepted and meetings will serve as a channel for communication between school administration and the public.

In addition, the committee could serve as the advisory committee for special programs, such as special education, chapter programs, gifted and talented, compensatory and vocational education, which are required by statute.

Athletic director Tom Ramsey told the board about plans to organize the pay scale of the coaching staff.

Coach Ramsey said that the present salary schedule is below most of the other school districts in our district and that by preparing a pay scale based on job descriptions would "help bring us in the ballpark to other schools in our classification."

Dr. Ramsey said the total difference for the 16-person coaching staff would be about $10,000 more than currently paid, but would "be a pretty good investment."

Again, no action was taken on the matter, but Harris said "I like the idea of getting some organization in our pay scale."

The board members also expressed a desire to pay teachers extra who work with students in University Interscholastic League literary events. Dr. Ramsey said high school principal Jerry Reynolds is preparing a proposal dealing with that matter.

The board scheduled two workshop meetings, one for Thursday, July 14, during which goal-setting will be discussed and one for Monday, July 18, during which a budget workshop will be held.

Dr. Ramsey said the public and teachers are invited to both meetings.

Police activity light past week

City police made three arrests the past week, one for DWI, one for public intoxication and one for DPS warrants in a very quiet week since the Fourth of July weekend.

There was also a drug overdose report Tuesday, a juvenile problem and a reported assault on Wednesday.

Thursday, Sharon Myers, 716 E. 11th reported a check forgery and Tana Marie McKinney, 343 West 9th reported an assault and threat.

Weddings

Pylant, Freeman exchange wedding vows in Snyder ceremony

Jacqueline Deeann Pylant of Snyder and Layton Earl Freeman of Knott exchanged wedding vows May 21 at 7:30 p.m. at Cotton Hill Baptist Church in Snyder.

Rev. Miller Robinson, pastor, officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Don and Joann Snider of Snyder and Jackie Pylant of Snyder and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Merket of Colorado City.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Earl Freeman and the late Earl Freeman.

A three-tiered, 15-light brass candelabrum centered the altar and four seven-light candelabras stood before the choir rail. The candelabras were trimmed with greenery. Teal blue satin bows and greenery marked the pews.

Russell Baird of San Angelo, cousin of the bride, was candlelighter.

Wedding music was provided by Diann Andrews of Lubbock, vocalist; Barbara McGee of Snyder, pianist; and Barbara Perkins of Snyder, organist and pianist. Wedding songs included Ave Maria and The Lord's Prayer.

The bride was met midway through her walk by the groom who escorted her to the altar.

She wore a traditional-styled wedding gown fashioned of purest white bridal satin, enhanced with a delicate Chantilly lace, French re-embroidered Alencon lace and dainty Schiffler lace motifs. Rainbow sequins, seed pearls and dangling crystal teardrops heavily adorned the lace accents of the gown. The high, wedding band collar topped an illusion neckline with a sheer, sweetheart effect. Leg-o-mutton sleeves featured a scalloped design of sheer lace and satin and tapered to a bridal point at the hand.

Falling from a basque bodice was a full skirt with cut-out lace motifs and a wide lace-edged hemline. A grand, cathedral train was caught at the waist with a bow and boasted a vertical inset of Chantilly lace dripping with pearl and crystal teardrop dangles.

Mrs. Layton Earl Freeman
...nee Jacqueline Deeann Pylant

To complement her gown, the bride wore a picture hat of white satin and Alencon lace embellished with pearls and iridescent sequins. She wore it to the side to expose a spray of sparkle illusion, silk flowers and a sprinkle of pearls. A double puff and elbow length veil was of sparkle illusion netting.

She carried a cascading bouquet of apricot roses, stephanotis, french carnations in white with English ivy and matching bridal satin peacock ribbon streamers.

Maid of honor was Janetta Pylant of Snyder, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Patti Stewart of Denver, Col., Amanda Baird of San Angelo, cousin of the bride, and Holly Shafter of El Paso.

The bridesmaids wore teal blue taffeta gowns with a ruffled sweetheart neckline. The bodice dipped low in the back to a large bustle bow. They wore peach and white flowers in their hair and carried a fan shaped bouquet of peach and white flowers.

Flower girls were Erika Dembkowski of Bastrop and Chelsey Hix of Bryan, cousins of the groom.

Ring bearer was Jerrod Hix of Bryan, cousin of the groom.

Best man was Scottie Freeman of Knott, brother of the groom. Groomsman were Jeffrey Pylant of Houston and Jerrel Pylant of Snyder, brothers of the bride, and Walter Elmore of Dallas.

Ushers were Sam Scheef of Lubbock, Douglas Lloyd of Big Spring, cousin of the groom, Stockton Roberts of Snyder and Randy Burrus of San Marcos.

The groom wore a Pierre Cardin black concord full dress tuxedo complemented by a white shirt and black cummerbund and bow tie. Male attendants wore Pierre Cardin black citation coats with traditional one-button single breasted styling. White shirts and black cummerbunds and bow ties completed their attire.

Marsha Burrus of Colorado City registered guests at the reception following in the fellowship hall of the church. The registry table held the bride's toss bouquet.

The bride's table held a three-tiered wedding cake. The cake was baked in a white chiffon recipe and frosted in satin cream frosting. The three tiers were separated with five-inch crystal pillars. The layers were raised by 16-inch crystal pillars. Beneath the cake rested a flowing fountain surrounded with greenery. A lattice and ruffle technique was used to complement the cake. Cascades of peach roses and rosebuds completed the decorating.

The groom's table held a cake in the shape of a computer terminal. The cake was baked in an old-fashioned carrot cake recipe and was frosted with a cream cheese frosting. A shell design border enhanced the cake. The keyboard of the computer was made of teal mints.

Serving at the bride's table were Judy Pylant of Snyder and Teresa Pylant of Houston, sisters-in-law of the bride, and Becky Eaton of Dallas, cousin of the bride.

Serving at the groom's table were Becky Hix of Bryan and Sue Awtry of Midland, cousins of the groom.

After a honeymoon cruise to the Bahamas, the couple is at home in Grand Prairie.

The bride graduated magna cum laude from Snyder High School in 1982 and magna cum laude from Texas Tech University with a bachelor of music education degree in 1986. She graduated with a 4.0 grade point with a master of business administration degree in accounting from Tech in 1988. She is employed by the international accounting firm of Ernst and Whinney in Dallas.

The groom graduated from Sands High School in 1983 and attended Texas Tech University for the past two years. He will complete a bachelor's degree in information systems. Following graduation, he will attend law school.

Bob Reily and Porter Richardson prompted some fond memories Wednesday when they recalled the "Tumbleweed Days" in Colorado City during the early 1960s.

I was still in high school at the time and about the only thing I remember about them is marching in the parade each year in the Wolf Band.

Bob said that Colorado City received national recognition as a result of the festival during which a Tumbleweed Queen contest was held.

The Sons of the Pioneers, the once popular singing group which made Tumbling Tumbleweeds popular, came one year to provide entertainment during the contest.

I did go to the contest once to see my future sister-in-law compete for the title. The contest was held in Wolf gym where local and area beauties competed for the title.

Bob served as parade chairman for several years and Porter was chief float designer and builder.

All the floats, from 12 to 15 each year, had to be made of tumbleweeds. The parade drew a host of dignitaries, Bob recalls that one year a congressman from Michigan was one of the guests of George Mahon. The congressman, Gerald Ford, went on later to become President of the United States. John Connally, former Texas governor, also rode down Second Street in a convertible during one of the parades, Bob recalls.

Porter said the parades, which started at the old Roundtop cafe on East Hill, would stretch out about two miles long and junior high, high school and military bands from the area would participate each year in the event.

Porter said the floats were sponsored by local businesses for $100 each. He said, however, that he had complete control over the design and construction of each float.

The floats featured a variety of designs including animals.

Bob said a farm implement dealer from Loraine, who happened to be a loyal Democrat and who provided some of the tractors to pull the floats, became upset one year when one of his tractors pulled a float that was topped by a large, Republican-looking elephant.

Porter explained that that two large vats at the tumbleweed factory, located where Lujan's Restaurant is now, were filled with a chemical. The tumbleweeds were dipped into the vats which made them soft easy to form into shapes. When dry, the tumbleweeds maintained the shape into which they were formed.

The factory made decorative items, such as wreaths, from tumbleweeds.

There may not be much demand today for wreaths made out of tumbleweeds, but "wouldn't the rebirth of "Tumbleweed Days" in Colorado City be an exciting and appropriate way to tie together all the annual July 4 events.

Class of '68

TO THE EDITOR: Thank you for taking our class photo last Saturday evening at our 20-year reunion banquet.

We all had a great time! Out of 98 possible classmates, we had 68 in attendance. Our classmate who came the farthest was Candy Curlee who came from Sicily.

We want to take this opportunity to thank everyone in Colorado City who helped make our reunion such a success. We found local merchants eager and willing to assist us. A special thanks goes to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hobert at the Civic Center. This facility is certainly a credit to the citizens of your city.

Sincerely,

Round 1. Tyson bulled Spinks into the ropes but the challenger escaped soon after the round opened. Tyson pressured from the outset. Spinks was able to escape danger in the early going. Spinks missed a right and Tyson connected with a short right and bullied him into the ropes. A right to the body put Spinks down for the count of two with 1:10 to go. A left and right put Spinks down on his back.

The AP gives the round to Tyson.

Once again, the Associated Press sticks its neck out.

Just because Michael Spinks has a few rough moments the guy scoring his heavyweight championship fight with Mike Tyson for AP is ready to declare Tyson the winner of round one.

The ref proved to be even more of a knee-jerk reactionary. Just because he saw only the whites of Mr. Spink's eyeballs after he started counting, he ended the fight. The least he could have done was finish the count. Spinks wasn't going anywhere.

Besides, if the latest heavyweight championship bout hadn't included the silly rule that a fighter can't be saved by the bell, Spinks might have had enough incentive to get up and recover between rounds.

He might also have made use of the rest period to find a machete. Surely his brother Leon packed one for such emergencies. It would have needed to be a thick one, too, seeing as how Mr. Tyson's fist would surely have shattered an ordinary blade.

There should have been other options for Spinks, too - like a hand grenade, the U.S. Marines, Rambo...

What do we have here, anyway? Superman without a cape? The greatest fighter of all time?

We've all seen first-round knockouts before. Somebody invariably dusts off the word invincible, and every time that happens, somebody steps into the ring and proves the word has no relation to the human species.

Sonny Liston took out Floyd Patterson in the first round twice. Nobody was going to beat Liston, you'll recall. You could bet your house on that. And you could also move into an apartment complex after Muhammad Ali did it twice - once in the first round.

When Gerry Cooney beat Ken Norton senseless a few years ago with a first-round knockout, boxing promoter Don King started lusting over the dollars a great white hope would bring to his coffers. But Cooney flunked every major test thereafter.

Then again, none of these guys had scored 17 first round knockouts in their first 35 fights. So the question becomes: is the opposition in the heavyweight division that bad? Or is Tyson that good?

It may take a while to find out the latter.

No question, Tyson is working against one of the most inept lists of heavyweights ever assembled. Just think about a Beribek or a Carl (The False) Williams in the ring with a Joe Louis or Jack Dempsey. It's an insult to the tradition of the heavyweight division.

Hopefully, there is another reform school somewhere which is channeling the aggressive compulsions of some impressive young street kid. Once that kid is released and works his way through the same pretenders Tyson has breezed through, maybe then we'll get to see a legitimate title fight.

When you consider that Tyson was able to destroy the best his division could offer prior to his 22nd birthday, you have to figure the only way things are going to get interesting is if he comes back to the field. And the only way that seems likely to happen is if Tyson stops training. Or, if he develops an affair with a shady chemical. Or if he fires all his sparring partners and tries to get by with just a wife for a punching bag. Or, as he's just announced, if he really retires from boxing.

Don't count on it. Tyson may be another Joe Louis. He may be even more. For his sake and ours, hopefully the day will come when he can prove it.

WIC program announces new income guidelines

The WIC Program has new income rules that may make it easier for some families to qualify.

WIC is the Women, Infants and Children's program that provides healthy foods for pregnant women and their babies and children. Foods that growing bodies need to stay strong, such as milk or formula, cheese, juice, eggs and iron-fortified cereal, are provided. The new rules raise the amount of money a family can make and still qualify for the benefits. How much income a family can make and still qualify for benefits will vary, depending on the family size.

Card of Thanks

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the people who assisted my wife and I when I became ill on June 17th at Colorado City Lake. A couple and a young man, whose names we do not know, who helped to get the boat off the lake and loaded, Texas Parks & Wildlife, Mr. Fambro and staff who drove me to the hospital and Dr. Dee Roach and staff at Mitchell County Hospital for their outstanding care. To all the above we give our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for saving my life. God bless.
