Club House for Business Women a Monument to Their Capability

The business and professional women's club and Miss Morgan.

By NEA SERVICE

NEW YORK, March 11.—The tired business woman is about to find a haven of rest—the new building of the American Woman's association. A fund to build it has been accumulating for the past two years and it is about to reach its 24 stories on West Fifty-seventh street.

This skyscraper is not only an achievement in architecture and a last word in modern convenience, but a convincing argument that women can work together on a big project and carry it through. They alone have arranged the dinner which, typical of the scale of the undertaking, is to be the appropriate termination of the drive for funds. More than 2,000 guests are expected, and the American diplomatic representatives of a dozen foreign powers, many of them outstanding personages of the Washington diplomatic corps. The date is March 16.

Not Feminists, She Says

Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of the late Viscount Alcock, who is directing the campaign to finance the project, explains that the women in the organization are not feminists, but women who have come into the business and professional world with a contribution of their own to offer.

The club, she points out, is on the solid financial foundation of property in a valuable part of the city, a locality where rentals from stores, offices, shops and assembly rooms will be appreciably more than on the first

See That Man

On yonder mountain peak, a David, a Milton, a Moody, a Lincoln? You might be that man. No man has climbed so high, but that man can follow him.

See that man in the deepest gutter, a Benedict Arnold, a Demas, a Judas. No man has fallen so low, but that you might sink to the same level.

Both possibilities lie within your grasp. Only the Saving Grace of God can save you from the deepest hell and lift you to the highest heaven.

We extend to you a hearty invitation to worship with us Sunday.

GOOD SHOT

"Most men, of course, demand far too much of their wives. They expect them to be good mothers, clever housewives, and sparkling conversationalists, and there is not one woman in a thousand who can be all three. If a man finds that his wife possesses one of these qualities, he should go down on his knees and thank God." So writes a Britisher in his native weekly.

He's right, remark I, a woman. But on the other hand, most women demand equally too much of their husbands; they demand that they be good providers, tender lovers, sparkling conversationalists, and carp if their better halves have a low batting average in any of these fields.

Comment of Observer

Special to The Avalanche

AUSTIN, March 11.—When the National association of Deans of Women met recently at Dallas, one of the members attending the convention, standing in the lobby of the hotel where headquarters were maintained for the delegates, chanced to hear one traveling man say to another, "What are all these women doing here?" "I'm sure I couldn't tell you," his friend replied, "but it looks like the Society for the Prevention of Bobbed Hair."

SICK HEADACHE

No Pains, Says Ohio Lady, to Go Places, Till She Took Black-Draught Which Brought Relief.

Longville, Ohio.—"For years and years I suffered with severe headache," says Mrs. Joe Campbell, of this place. "It wasn't any pleasure for me to go places, for I came home with sick headache. If I went to church or to any social gathering or to town to shop, when I got back I would have those headaches and have to go to bed for a day or more, till I would just get out of heart and would not try to go."

"About 15 years ago I discovered that Black-Draught was good for those headaches. I began using it. I would take it two or three nights in succession if I felt the least bad, and it sure did wonders for me. It is about 14 years since I had sick headaches, and I can go places and really enjoy life. It surely is splendid."

Headache often is a symptom of constipation. The best relief is secured by trusting the cause of the trouble and in such a case many people have been greatly helped by the use of Theodore's Black-Draught.

Honest Countenance Aids Bunco Worker

With an honest looking face as his best asset a young bunco artist worked a local store for a $50 suit and left a wispy group of merchants and an unpaid hotel bill behind him, here Wednesday.

Three different names were used by the youth, although the same "line" was used in each case, his aliases being George W. Roberts, of Amarillo, George W. Parks and W. H. Wilson of Houston. On two occasions he gave local addresses.

Entering a store he would ask to see men's suits, being very critical in his examination of them. Then he would explain that his "mother" was at another place and would have to see the suit before he could buy it. Leaving the store, he would return, possibly an hour later, twice just before closing time, claiming his mother was unable to see the suit and asking to take it out on approval so that she might inspect it.

On one occasion he was allowed to take out the suit, but in another store he was not so fortunate, being allowed to take only a coat that was several sizes smaller.

Yesterday when the small coat was found in a local hotel room, officers were notified, and an investigation started. Officers are looking for him now.

LEGISLATURE

the counties. Efforts will be made to provide a greater source of income from corporate interests.

Important Law
The resolution is regarded as one of the most important pieces of legislation in this session. It voted by the people. It will authorize suitable tax reform laws to be based on the report of a tax survey committee of 15 authorized in another resolution adopted by both houses some weeks ago.

A prolonged fight over the justice, equity, public policy and necessity of diverting state taxes for 25 years to support of an $18,000,000 flood control project along the Tarrant and Dallas county reaches of the Trinity river was left undecided in the house tonight.

Recessing at 6:30 p. m., the house will take up the issue again at Saturday's session called for 9 a. m.

Fight on Stuart Bill
The opening battle is on the Stuart senate bill to assign ad valorem taxes on Tarrant county portion of the district to support of the project in which that county will have a $12,000,000 share. An estimated $5,000,000 of that sum will come from state tax diversion for 25 years, while the county is to put up $7,000,000.

Another bill on the subject seeks to tax remission Dallas county's $6,000,000 end of the project, which involves a portion of Wise county also. Twenty speeches about evenly divided between proponents and opponents were made today on the Stuart bill, and nearly as many more are slated to follow. Proponents' chief argument were that the project concerns public welfare and should have state support, that only the state ad valorem tax of 25 cents is sought, while the total district tax will be 65 cents; that actual and potential calamity exists, that the state would profit by increased land valuations and that court decisions support the right and duty of the state to foster flood control projects.

Opponents recalled Attorney General Claude Pollard's ruling Wednesday that state tax remission would be unconstitutional.

CANYON MAN IS OLDEST JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

CANYON, March 11. (AP)—J. W. Turner, who qualified January 1 for a third term as Justice of the Peace for Precinct No. 2 of Randall county, claims to be the oldest Justice in Texas.

Turner first served in this capacity in 1839 when Randall county was organized, and he has served continuously since except for one term when he served as city marshal for Canyon.

Turner has had an exceptionally interesting career, having come to the Panhandle in the early 30's when the T-anchon ranch was first established. For many years he served this ranch as cook. He is still known for the excellence of his biscuits, preserves, and barbecued meats and is in demand whenever there is a reunion of the cow-punchers of this area.

RAMMED SHIP SINKS BY LIBERTY STATUE

MILLION DAMAGE AND LIFE OF CARPENTER IS TOLL IN ACCIDENT

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 11.—The Statue of Liberty enlightening the world held high her torch tonight and stared out over New York bay with unseeing eyes, while at her feet the water rippled over the projecting spars of an ocean freighter that had sunk for lack of light, this morning.

A million dollar cargo sank with the freighter after it was in collision with another in a fog, but the crew of 44 men were rescued with one exception, a ship's carpenter who could not swim.

In got of the Southern Pacific steamship company, and Sac City, of the American Diamond line, were nosing through the channel off Robbins Reef, one in and one out, when the fog leaped around the base of the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island, enveloped the freighters and blinded the lookouts deadening even the shrieks of the fog sirens.

Hit Head-On
Head-on the boats came together and both were torn open. Sac City was able to limp to a safe anchorage, but through the rent bow of El Sol the waters of the bay cascaded in a flow that could not be stemmed.

El Sol sank in 50 feet of water, flush in one of the world's most congested ship lanes, as her crew plunged into the bay, many of them having not even time to procure life preservers.

Wireless messages soon set every available craft in the harbor to feeling its way to the rescue. The Morgan line tug El Amigo was the first to arrive and 43 shivering seamen were pulled aboard. John Brown, ship's carpenter, was last seen by his mates, clinging to the boat's rail as it went down.

At the Southern Pacific office the rescued seamen were kept incommunicado, under orders not to talk until investigations had been completed to determine where the blame lay.

The captain of El Sol, Charles Knowles, was the last to leave his sinking ship as tradition of the sea demands.

Warner and Wade Learn New Plays

By NEA Service
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 11 (AP)—Alabama parades before southern grid fans next season a few of the plays used successfully by Stanford against the Tide when the two teams met at Pasadena New Year's Day may be seen.

Likewise, Stanford may have gained something from Alabama's attack that they may serve them in good fashion this fall against their opponents out on the Pacific coast.

There is no question but that Warner and Wade took a couple of the plays that troubled the boys so much and with a few ideas of his own, made them world-beaters in Dixie next fall against his Dixie opponents.

Such maneuvers as that screened pass, which was never completely solved by the Alabama boys, and that triple reverse and other reverse plays would be trouble-makers.

Neither Warner nor Wade are the type to see something working effectively without thinking that it would work as well for them. Both are students of the game and both are always willing to revamp something that might aid the team.

Americans to Help English Boat Race

OXFORD, University, March 11 (AP)—After having been cut from the Oxford University rowing squad, and omitted from the vacation rowing practice at Shrewsbury, two American oarsmen have been restored to places in the first university boat which will face Cambridge this spring.

The two Americans are H. T. Kingsbury, captain of last year's undefeated eight at Yale, and now a student at Queen's College, Oxford, and J. H. Merrill, a Rhodes Scholar graduate of the University of California. Both men rowed on Crew II of the two trial eight teams last term. In the race with which the term ended Crew II defeated the rival boat, Kingsbury being given much of the credit.

However, when the first varsity boat was made up both Kingsbury and Merrill were omitted.

The theory underlying their rejection by the coaches was that both men having first been trained in the American school of oarsmanship, might revert to the American stroke when they became tired at the end of a grueling distance race. However, on the return of the crew to Oxford last month, both men were again given trials, and were found to add so greatly to the power of the boat that it was considered necessary to reinstate them.

McWILLIAMS CREW TIE TECH SERIES

FAST PLAYING MARKS 29-12 VICTORY OVER OPPONENTS LAST EVENING

The McWilliams crew of basketball performers defeated the Bearden five in the second round of the three game series in the physical training playoff last evening on the Tech assembly hall floor with a score of 29 to 12. In the initial half the Beardenmen crowded the McWilliams quarter and when the period was expiring the score stood 5 to 2—McWilliams leading.

In the last half the Mackmen hung up a rapid fire of shots and leaping into a good lead piled up the score, much to the Beardenmen's amazement. As the game closed, the McWilliams crew played an easy and consistent game and kept their lead steady.

Hewett and Watkins, both members of the McWilliams quint, shared scoring honors with five field goals each. Bainwater, Bearden forward, ripped the basket four times to count a total of eight points and topped the field in scoring for the Bearden machine.

Pirate Fielder Is Bumped Senseless

PASO ROBLES, March 11 (AP)—Herbert Layne, regular left fielder for the Pittsburgh Pirates, was bumped unconscious for a few minutes today when he collided with Hansen Cuyler, right fielder, while both were attempting to catch a fly ball in a training camp game.

John Hall and Mr. Matheny, of St. Louis, were business visitors in Lubbock Friday.

INJURIES TO STARS DAMPENS SPIRIT OF MAJOR LEAGUE PLAYERS AS WORK OF GETTING IN CONDITION GOES ON

(By Associated Press)
ATLANTA, March 11.—An unkind fate has laid its hand on four of the American league's greatest stars, but in only two instances is it expected to hinder the players' aspirations of individual clubs.

Walter Johnson, acclaimed as one of the greatest hurlers of all times, has received a fractured leg at the Tampa testing camp of the Washington Senators. The accident occurred in a practice game Wednesday when Joe Judge, veteran first sacker of the Nationals lined one straight for "Barney's" shin. The leg is in a plaster cast and Walter's mishap has dampened the enthusiasm of the rejuvenated Senators.

Johnny Mostil, brilliant centerfielder of the Chicago White Sox, remains in a serious condition at Shreveport from self-inflicted wounds. The Sox gardener had been expected to lead the team in its search for honors under the guidance of Ray Sobell, long a leading catcher in the circuit but new to the purple of leadership.

Ruth Wall Sore
Babe Ruth, the fencer of home runs and paid admissions, has a strained tendon at the St. Petersburg camp of the New York Yankees, but is expected to recover rapidly and get off to the season in fine style.

Eddie Collins, considered by many as one of the "maestros" of the four pointed greenward still has a blow leg, suffered much in the same manner as Johnson's.

Meanwhile exhibition games held the spotlight in Florida. Six teams were in action today.

Sowell Arrive
The Cleveland Indians had time to rejoice when the popular Sowell brothers, Joe and Luke, arrived at Lakeland. The two younger stars stepped up the McAllister practice outfit a bit.

Stuffy McInnis sent his Phillies through a couple of drills today at Brimondton. The venerable manager is still shy Fred Leach, outfielder and Jack Scott, pitcher, and is beginning to count them as holdouts. Connie Mack's brigade at Fort Myers did the working today while he talked "dope." He said he would carry eight infielders, five outfielders, three catchers and eight pitchers during the regular season.

Jack Hendricks hoped for the early arrival of Hugh Crite at Orlando as the Cincinnati Reds continued to prepare for the big show.

Over in Texas, the Detroit Tigers bent their backs in preparation for their official exhibition opening Saturday against the San Antonio Bears of the Texas loop.

The Red Sox of Boston took things lightly at New Orleans, confining themselves mostly to fielding and hitting practice.

Scrappers Clad in Tights Flee Blaze

CHICAGO, March 11 (AP)—Kid Howard's arcade gymnasium, housed in a five story building in Chicago's downtown district, and headquarters for many famous fighters, was threatened by fire late today, sending boxers clad only in gym suits scurrying to safety and forcing patrons of adjoining theaters to flee from the shows.

Although causing only minor damage the fire threatened adjoining structures which included the Planters Hotel and the Adelphi Theatre.

When the fire broke out, about 50 boxers and wrestlers working out in the gym grabbed towels, bath robes and anything else they could find to run for safety. Several of them were caught in bathrooms and fled to the streets almost nude.

Kid Howard and Virginia Mercereau, a woman wrestler, carried the woman's 12 year old sister to safety after she had been overcome by smoke.

Increase the profits from your dairy herd—by reducing feed costs

The feeding of Cottonseed Meal with homegrown grains does two things. It lowers your feed costs on one side and adds to your profits on the other. One hundred pounds of Cottonseed Meal offers more digestible protein per dollar invested than any other concentrate. It increases the milk flow thereby adding those extra dollars to your creamery check that pays you more than a mere living. Cottonseed Meal is the South's most valuable concentrate. It maintains the cow in good health and vigor. Are you fully informed on its feeding qualities? Do you know how to balance it for practical feeding with your homegrown grains? Write this department for authentic feeding information for dairy cattle and other classes of live stock.

Penn State Fund of Long Brothers

By NEA Service
STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 11.—To the Thomas boys of Chicago and Southern California, the Barron brothers of Georgia Tech, and other sets of brothers who gained athletic distinction in college, add the Long brothers of Penn State.

There are five of them—all wrestlers and all champions. The real one of the Long brothers started in 1914 with Brother Herman. It will end three years from now when Brother Paul will graduate. In between these two have been Brothers Morris, Henry and Ike.

Brother Herman, the mightiest of the lot, wrestled under Penn State colors during 1914, 1915 and 1916. He was captain the latter year. He graduated in the 115-pound class. He served as captain in 1915.

Brother Morris followed him and held a varsity berth for three years. He did his stuff in the 125-pound and 145-pound class. He served as captain in 1915.

He also won the intercollegiate championship that year.

Brothers Henry and Ike came along in 1917. They still finish their careers this year. The former is in the 125-pound class and the latter is a light-heavyweight.

Brother Paul is just a freshman this year. He is on the freshman wrestling squad. The ability he has shown so far makes him an almost certain for a place on the varsity squad in 1928, 1929 and 1930.

BANDITS BLOW UP ARMORED PAYROLL TRUCKS WITH DYNAMITE AND ESCAPE WITH A HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS

(By The Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, March 11—Planting dynamite bombs expertly under a highway, nine bandits today wrecked two armored automobiles by setting off the explosives as the machines passed and escaped with a $102,000 payroll of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal company.

Most of the five drivers and guards of the two cars, an armored truck carrying the money and a lighter escorting car, were knocked unconscious by the blast but one of them, retaining his senses, had a pistol held at his head by one of the robbers until the others had gathered up the money. All the custodians of the payroll were injured, one seriously.

The daring holdup occurred as the payroll cars neared the Cove-dale mine, nine miles from Pittsburgh. Castle Shannon, three miles from Cove-dale, was the scene of a holdup on Christmas, 1925, when a $48,000 payroll of the same coal concern was stolen. A guard was killed in that holdup.

The robbery apparently was carefully planned. Starting out with $125,000 in the armored truck, $73,000 had been delivered to two mines when the two machines, the second acting as an escort, left the Liberty road, a main highway, and turned into the old Bethel road, to deliver the Cove-dale payroll before proceeding to two other mines for the same purpose. Two charges of dynamite had been planted in the Bethel road about 100 yards from the main highway. As the cars passed over them, the two bombs, about thirty feet apart, were set off with an electric battery, by the bandits, hidden nearby. Both cars were blown into the air, overturning as they fell, shattered wrecks, near holes several feet deep in the ground where the dynamite had been placed.

Skull Is Fractured
Howard Blackstock, W. M. Tarr, and Edward Herberster were in the armored truck containing the money and William Leonard and Lester Stauffer were in the lighter machine. Blackstock, the most seriously injured, suffered a fractured skull when he was blown from the car and alighted on his head.

The injuries of the others, who were also thrown from the machines, were considered of a minor character.

Tarr was the first to regain consciousness. As he climbed to his feet one of the robbers ran to him and forced him at the point of a pistol to lie face downward. While the one bandit remained at Tarr's side the others scooped up the money, which was also intact, in the armored truck, placed it in two automobiles and disappeared along the old Bethel road. Police learned that one of the machines carried Pennsylvania license 602-556, which was issued to H. B. Light, R. D. Number 4, Myerstown, Lebanon county. The car is reported to have been stolen.

Miners Find Wrecks
Miners and persons living nearby, attracted by the explosions, hurried to the scene and found the wrecked machines and injured men.

One man obtained the license, number of one of the machines but when he attempted to notify police he found that the wires had been severed, and it was necessary to go to Castle Shannon to communicate with authorities.

The armored truck and escort car, together with drivers and guards were provided by the Brink's Express company. Officials of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal company said the express company assumed responsibility for the money until it was delivered to their mines. At the Brink's company office it was stated the money was fully insured.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DR. J. E. NUNN

MAKING THE WORLD CHRISTIAN

Lesson Text—Matt. 28:16-20; Acts 1:6-10.
Golden Text—Go ye therefore and teach all nations.

Primary Topic—Telling Everybody About Jesus.

Junior Topic—Winning the World for Christ.

Intermediate and Senior Topic—How We Can Spread the Gospel.

Young People and Adult Topic—Christian Missions the Hope of the World.

I. The Great Commission (Matt. 28:16-20).

1. When and where given (v. 16).

It was shortly before the ascension in a mountain in Galilee where the disciples met Jesus according to appointment.

2. The foundation upon which the commission rests (vv. 17, 18).

In order to prepare the disciples to receive this commission, Christ declared to them that all power in heaven and in earth was given unto Him. Before the disciples would enter upon the execution of this commission they must be convinced of His Lordship. To create doubt in the minds of believers as to the deity of Jesus Christ is to cut the nerve of missionary endeavor.

3. What the commission is (v. 19).

1. "Go—teach all nations" (v. 19). This means make disciples of all the nations, not Jews merely.

(2) "Baptize them in the name of the Father God" (v. 19).

Those who have become disciples of the Lord should receive the rite which signifies their relation to Him.

(3) "Teach them to observe all Christ's commandments" (v. 20).

Those who have become Christ's disciples should be taught obedience to all His commandments.

4. The promise attached (v. 20).

Those who obey the king in evangelizing the world have the promise of His unfailing presence.

II. Forbidden by the Holy Spirit to Preach in Asia Minor (Acts 16:6-8).

The inclination of Paul and his companions was to tarry in Asia Minor preaching the Word, but contrary to their inclination they were hurried along. We have here a fine lesson on divine guidance. The Holy Spirit is just as active and faithful in closing doors as in opening them. "The steps as well as the steps of good men are ordered of the Lord." We ought as truly to recognize God's hand in the "shut-ins" as in the "open-outs."

III. The Call to Macedonia (Acts 16:9-12).

The gospel having broken the confines of the Jewish city and country, the middle wall of partition having been abolished, the time has come for it to leap across the Aegean sea and begin its conquest on another continent.

1. The vision (v. 9).

Being summoned in on all sides, a vision was given to Paul of a man of Macedonia pleading for help. This made plain to him the closed doors about him. In finding the divine will, we should look both ways.

2. The advance (vv. 10-12).

As soon as the divine way was known they moved forward therein.

IV. The First Convert in Europe (vv. 12-15).

The devout people were accustomed to worship by the riverside. To this humble gathering Paul came and preached to the women assembled there. A certain woman from Thyatira named Lydia, a proselyte, believed his message and was baptized.

The steps in Lydia's conversion are worthy of note for they are typical.

1. Attendance at the place of worship (v. 12).

Usually those who God is calling are found at the place of prayer.

2. Listening to the preaching of the Word of God (vv. 13, 14).

The instrument used in the conversion of sinners is the Word of God (Rom. 10:17).

3. Her heart was opened by the Lord (v. 15).

Only the Lord can convert a soul. It is our business to preach the Word of God, and it is God's business to open the heart of the inquirer.

4. She was baptized (v. 15).

Every one whose heart the Lord has opened desires to confess Him in baptism.

5. Her household believed (v. 15).

When one is converted those in the home will find it out.

6. Practiced hospitality (v. 15).

Those who have experienced God's saving grace are thus disposed to have part in His work by rendering aid to His ministers.

AUSTIN, March 11.—Collection of material relating to the career of Sam Bass in possession of the University of Texas library represents part of the effort of that institution to bring together historical relics and accounts concerning the noted Texas bandit, according to Mrs. M. A. Hatcher, archivist.

Sam C. Arnett of Lubbock in 1923 presented the university with the cartridge belt Bass is said to have worn in his last fight with the Texas Rangers at Round Rock in 1878, when he was killed. There are thirteen cartridges in the belt. It is of medium size, of black leather, with places for 45 cartridges, and plainly shows signs of hard wear. The cartridges are of .44 caliber.

Photostatic copies of written accounts dealing with the life of Sam Bass have been placed in the university archives. A copy of the book, "Authentic History of Sam Bass and His Gang," by a citizen of Denton county, borrowed from the library of congress, has been made. Original material selected by W. P. Webb, associate professor of history in the university, from the office of the adjutant general of Texas is the source of documents concerning Sam Bass, Mrs. Hatcher said.

Construction Upon
Big Dam Progresses

CANYON, March 11 (AP)—Unusually favorable weather has made it possible for work to go forward very rapidly on Amarillo's new water plant which is to cost $2,000,000. This plant, which is located 12 miles from Canyon and 18 miles from Amarillo, will be the largest in the Panhandle area. It will be composed of five wells and a great dam which will back the water four and one-half miles up the Palo Duro Creek. There will be also a storage tank of 600,000 gallons capacity.

Across Canyon

The dam, which is built entirely across a shallow canyon of the Palo Duro, will be 2100 feet wide, 442 feet through at the base, and 42 feet high. It is estimated that there would still be a sufficient supply of water for Amarillo's 50,000 people should it not rain for two years and a half.

During the summer of 1926, Amarillo consumed one and one-half million gallons each day and the consumption will be greatly increased in 1927. Under pressure, the two-foot mains from the new plant will carry 10,000,000 gallons of water each day.

Thousands of trees growing along the creek banks have to be removed; these trees taken up carefully and given to anyone who wishes to transplant them.

Hundreds of visitors are finding the operations of the well drilling a most interesting sight and those in charge encourage the coming of visitors at all times.

Dayton, Ohio, claims the only newspaper in the country printed on a hand press. It is a community journal published by Robert Fitzgerald.

BLIND STUDENTS MANAGE TO MAKE HIGH GRADE

AUSTIN, March 11 (AP)—Blind since birth, four Texas university students manage to make exceptional grades and carry on.

Leo Mahoney of El Paso, junior academic student, earns part of his expenses playing the violin and coaching his colleagues. Mahoney has written a number of poems which have been published in the campus literary magazine.

Calvin Lemke, of Waco, senior has above average grades. Lemke last year studied law but went back to a literary course this session.

Truett Childre, of Austin, senior in arts and science, manages a student rooming house. In addition to carrying his regular curriculum.

Hubert Foster, also of Austin, is a law student, and lacks one more year, after the present session, of receiving his degree.

CHAIN STORE BUYING POWER

This department store chain's buying power makes possible prices on guaranteed quality merchandise equalled by few such organizations and seldom by merchants in general, even during "special sales", and price cutting events. Low prices such as this organization maintains, make unnecessary "Sales" either special or otherwise; neither is price juggling resorted to, nor extra long profits taken on style lines and seasonable merchandise which generally assumes such a role. To the manufacturer's cost is added a percentage to cover the cost of handling, plus a small commission. This then becomes the retail price at which goods are sold.

A comparison of this chain's prices with current catalogue prices and prices generally charged for the same or similar lines will convince even the most discerning of economies possible on purchases made in one of its stores.

THE NEW YORK ORGANIZATION

Nearly 50 years of buying, building and merchandising has developed a New York buying organization, housed in two modern New York office buildings, 19 floors in all, devoted to the merchandising of this chain and its associated stores.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
Death struck GARRETT FOLSON while bathing at Ocean Town, N. J. After being perfunctorily examined by a doctor, the body is brought to the Hotel Majestic, where an inquiry is started.

Folson's bathing companions have been ROGER NEVILLE, MRS. HELEN BARNABY, and CARMELOITA VALDON. It is established that Folson, just before his death, had been standing next to NED BARRON, known as the copper king.

ANASTASIA FOLSON, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is established that the death weapon was a picture, an Oriental knife, and that it was in the hand of the dead man.

It is also established that one CROYDON SEARS is a fan of curious knives. Anastasia engages TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, the dead man's nephew, arrives. Anastasia questions Croydon Sears sharply as to his whereabouts at the time of the murder and he is unable to prove that he was not near the spot.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV

There were but few at the funeral service of Garrett Folson.

Of course, Miss Folson and an Pelton were the chief mourners. They were attended by Paxton and Ross, who behaved as proper servants should, and watched for any opportunity of ministering to the wants of their employers.

Titus Riggs and Robin Sears attended, for they had the case well in hand now, and Riggs, like a hunter keen for prey, lost no possible chance to glean any bit of information. He scarce hoped to pick up any at the funeral, but there might be some hint or suggestion in the attitudes of the dead man's relatives that would be enlightening.

And there were some who dropped in out of mere idle curiosity, and others who were there because they chanced to be in the neighborhood.

Pelton had locked the door at his suite and thrown the key on the office desk as he came downstairs.

But that did not keep intruders from his room.

Scarcely had he left the hotel, in company with his aunt, than two smiling young people, with shrewd eyes watching out for spies, slipped quietly along the corridor and one of them, the girl, produced a key and quickly gained entrance to the locked room.

"Here we are, Tubby," Myrtle said, as they reached their goal and locked the door behind them.

But after all their arduous work of no more sinister intent than to look at the French dolls, which still sat in a gorgeous row on the sofa.

At least, that was what Myrtle, the chambermaid, wanted. Tubby, the bell boy, his alert mind longing for something more exciting was opening and shutting the drawers of the chiffonier.

"Hey, Tubby, don't you do that!" the girl cried out. "It's no harm for me to feast my eyes on these dolls; but I won't stand for your snooping around in any of the rooms that I have charge of."

"Gee, Myrt, don't be a lemon. I ain't doing a bit of harm. You play with your dolls and I'll play alone."

"They're not my dolls; I wish they were! Oh, if Mr. Pelton would only give me one of them!"

"Pluch it. I don't believe he'd ever give it to you."

"No, I'm scared to do that. And the one I want—"

"Which one do you want?"

"This. This dark-haired beauty. Oh, my, but she's a peach! Not the prettiest of all, maybe—"

"Not much, she isn't! That yellow-top puts it all over her!"

"Well, I don't know. This was Mr. Folson's favorite. He used to talk to this one."

"Did he? What would he say?"

"Why, he talked to it almost as if it was alive! He'd say, 'I'll have you put it all over her!'"

"You mean, I'll have you put it all over her?"

"Tubby honored the doll with a short nodding."

"Looks like somebody I've seen, but I dunno who. Say, Myrt, I wish I dast go through Mr. Pelton's suite—"

"No, Tub, don't do it. Don't make me sorry I let you in here. You said you wanted to see the dolls."

"Huh, I only said that to make you let me in! I don't want to see those silly things! They make me sick!"

"Then we've got to get out. I'll never believe you again! But I'm afraid to come in here alone, and, of course, if anyone is here, I can't touch the dolls. Oh, you lovely! You beauty!"

She caressed and patted the dolls, and arranged them in coquettish attitudes on the sofa and chairs.

"Does Mr. Pelton call for 'em the way Mr. Folson did?" asked Tubby.

"No; he seems to like them a little, but Mr. Folson, he acted like they were real girls."

"Then I bet Mr. Folson would give you one. Or ask the old girl. She'd do it."

"I dunno. Miss Folson is nice some ways, then again she's a terror."

Taking advantage of Myrtle's absorption in the dolls, Tubby had opened a suitcase of Dan Pelton's and was rummaging among its contents. They were almost all papers and letters, and as she heard the rustle, Myrtle turned on the dining hallway.

"Here you! Stop that! I told you I wouldn't allow that! I'm in charge of these rooms. I'm chambermaid and I'm responsible—"

"You responsible! That a good one! Don't be silly, Myrt. I'll bet I could find sumpin in those papers that might help solve the big mystery."

"Oh! You a detective? Hello, Mr. Picklock Holmes! Now, if that's your lay, here's where you get off! March!"

Tubby's voice, full of defiance, toward the door by the agile and vigorous Myrtle.

"Tubby was loth to go, but he had to do so or make a scene, which might call the attention of the chief of the chambermaids and get a sound beating for Myrtle. If not for himself."

He made one last plea.

"Aw, lemme stay here a little minute more. Myrt and I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll ask the old girl myself to give you one of the dolls. Or I'll ask Mr. Pelton. He sorter likes me."

"He won't like you if he hears you've been snoopin' into his baggage! And I'll tell him, if you don't clear out here! Wait till I see if the way's safe."

Cautionously Myrtle opened the door a crack, saw that the hall was empty and then, pushing Tubby through, she followed and locked the door with her key.

Myrtle was one of the most trustworthy chambermaids on the staff, and never had she been false to the trust, nor entered a room except on her legitimate errands, until she had fallen under the spell of the wonderful dolls. Why they fascinated her so, she couldn't have told, but she was far from being alone in her adoration of the siren faces and bewitching garb of the puppets.

She had almost made up her mind to ask Mr. Folson for one, for he had smiled on Myrtle in a way that she understood to imply his favor. Then came his sudden and terrible death, and from that time on, the girl had watched any opportunity she could get to hang over and fuss with the dolls.

Let her be too careful of the very thing that seemed to hang round Garrett Folson's room to venture in there alone. True, she had done so the time that Carmelita caught her hiding there. But the intrusion of that lady had so scared Myrtle that never again had she gone into the room alone.

And now she vowed never again to take Tubby in there, or anybody else. People were too curious, too snoopy. No, she would ask either Miss Folson or Mr. Pelton for a doll, whichever of the two seemed more amenable.

Also, they were Paxton and Ross. Perhaps she could get at the matter through one of those. Well, she would think it over.

And still thinking of those glorious human-looking faces, she went about her regular routine of work.

Later, she was startled to receive a summons from Dan Pelton himself.

"Well, Myrtle, that gentleman said, 'I do love 'em so!'"

"Do you? Well, well, perhaps I'll have to give you one. But someone has been meddling with my belongings—my suitcase. Was it you?"

"Answer me!"

"No, sir," she said, glibly. "Not that. Mr. Pelton, I came in here with the fresh towels, but I didn't spend my time here."

"Didn't hang round a bit?"

"Only to look at the dolls," she said, thinking it might be her opportunity.

"Oh, Mr. Pelton, aren't they beautiful? Oh, I do love 'em so!"

WHEAT TRADES LOWER
CHICAGO, March 11. (AP)—Despite good buying at times today on the part of commission houses, wheat averaged lower. Widespread rain and snow beneficial for the domestic winter crop tended to favor the selling side, and so likewise did prospects for big wheat shipments this week, nearly 25,000,000 bushels.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 3-4 cent off, corn 1-4 cent to half a 1-8 cent down, oats at 1-8 cent.

DAILY MARKET

COTTON DECLINES

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—Continuance of realization or liquidation and slightly more southern selling seemed responsible for declines in the cotton market today. Prices made new low ground for the present movement, breaking through recent points of resistance in late trading when May sold off to 14.00 and October to 14.25, or about 50 to 70 points below recent high levels. The close was at about the lowest on active positions, with the general market barely steady at net declines of 2 to 6 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 2 to 5 points, active months showing but advances of 3 to 10 points after the call on trade buying and covering promoted by belief that recent selling had improved the technical position of the market, and that weekend rallies were likely.

March sold up to 14.02 and July to 14.51, but offerings increased at these prices and the market soon turned easier. Circulation of about 20 March notices seemed to bring out near month liquidation, while there was some southern selling in the new crop months as well as local selling and further liquidation of old long accounts. After easing back to about yesterday's closing figures the market stiffened up, as there seemed to be trade buying orders at that level, but demand was soon supplied and prices weakened again, in late trading, March sold off to 13.85 and closed at 13.87, while July declined to 14.17 and closed at 14.18.

There was bearish comment on the weekend figures which showed a decrease of 100,014 bales in the world's visible supply of American, compared with 113,558 the previous week and 192,168 last year. The selling, however, was more generally attributed to talk of a falling off in spot demand and apprehension of only a comparatively small reduction in acreage at present prices.

Exports today 14,336 making 7,987, 341 so far this season. Port receipts today 43,516. U. S. port stocks 2,717,812.

COTTON CLOSING LOW

NEW ORLEANS, March 11 (AP)—The cotton market today followed in the footsteps of yesterday morning, advances giving away before the pressure of reports of liberal selling and liquidation on northern market to show net losses for the day of six to seven points.

Favorable Liverpool cables were reflected in initial gains over yesterday's close and the market continued to advance on bad weather reports until May had moved up to 14.17, July to 14.31 and October 14.40, 10 to 11 points above yesterday's close.

Liquidation which set in here dragged May down to 14.04, July to 14.18 and October to 14.27, 12 to 13 points below the earlier high, and 10 to 20 points under the previous close.

A rally following a mill takings report of 337,000 bales recovered 6 to 8 points of the loss in the early afternoon, but activity in the last hour pushed May through the 14 cent level in establishing new lows for the day with May at 13.98, July 14.13 and October 14.22, 18 to 19 points below the high and 7 to 9 points under the previous close. The end was a little above the lowest.

The day's exports were 5,336; for the week 191,565 bales.

WALL STREET REPORT
NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—Dunn's tomorrow will say: despite the continuance of uneven commercial conditions, the situation, in its larger aspects, discloses a favorable trend. The circle of expansion, following the hesitation of the early weeks of this year, is gradually widening, and a number of instances there is a distinct gain. In quarters where the expected increase in activity has thus far failed to appear, or is but faintly visible, there is a natural disappointment, yet the so-called barometer of the market is moving forward steadily.

Conspicuous among these is the great steel industry, whose prosperity means much to business generally, and the recent progress in that channel reflects, in turn, a betterment in several other manufacturing lines.

Weekly bank clearings $4,314,545,000, a decrease of six per cent.

Way to Break Beer Bottles Is Taught

HOUSTON, March 11. (AP)—How to break a beer bottle by tossing it on another one twenty feet away is taught Houston prohibition enforcement agents at a school conducted here by George A. Hammons, deputy prohibition administrator for South Texas.

At the same time, the rules of the school provide, the riders must be a consideration of the feelings of the raided bootleggers as procedure suggests. They are allowed to call their attorneys and arrange bond before being taken before a United States marshal for arraignment. Occasionally patrons become unruly and if the "party" gets too noisy, one of the agents patrols the room with a nightstick. When usually the agents say, "quiet the place without more forceful methods."

Proprietors Assist
Sometimes, indeed, the proprietors are treated with such consideration that they assist the agents in gathering the liquor from the ice box and other places where it may have been concealed.

All this, it seems, takes time. Recently, when a residence was raided in Houston, the agents consumed nearly two hours in collecting and destroying the liquor. First the party of agents divided, one entered through the kitchen door and the other from the front door. Then the warrant was read and the proprietor given a copy. The search began. The ice box yielded a quota, closets disclosed still more and finally the liquid was segregated and the bottle broken. Before the agents had left they had consumed two hours on the job which apparently would not ordinarily require more than 15 minutes.

No force was used, the "customers" remained passive and the proprietor stood by stolidly while his wares were destroyed.

All this was accomplished, the agents said, by diplomacy and patience, which are regarded as the ordinary, yet essential, attributes of a successful prohibition enforcement officer.

Local Tax Case Now Before High Court

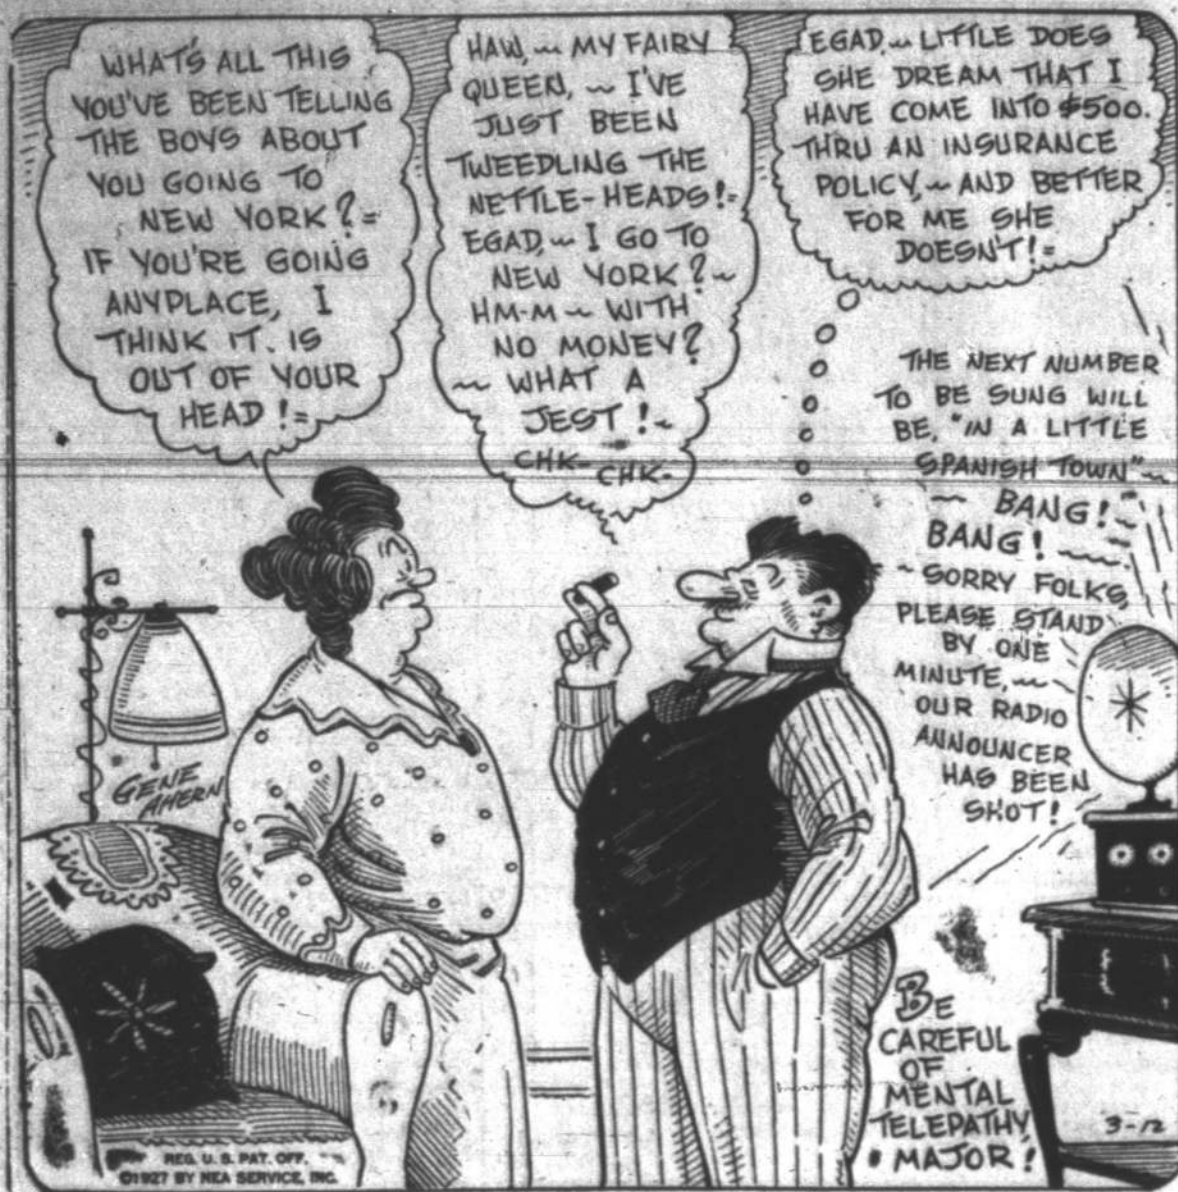

AUSTIN, March 11.—Agreed motion for advance hearing in the state's suit against J. M. Jones and others of Lubbock county, in which the defendant's attack the validity of the inheritance tax law, was filed today in the supreme court.

Should the motion be granted a decision will probably be handed down within a few weeks. Suit was brought by the state against the defendants for inheritance tax it is claimed was due on an estate. The constitutionality of the law was attacked by Jones, and upheld by the district court. The appellate court, however, reversed the decision.

American made pictures usually are from a year to two years old when they reach Chgo. while European films are brought here soon after production.

Cotton Checks From Bureau Due Soon

Checks from the Farm Bureau Cotton association to farmers who placed their wares with this organization for marketing will begin arriving within a short time from state headquarters, it was announced by R. E. Overstreet, member of the state board of directors, who returned Friday from Dallas where he attended a meeting of the board.

The checks will represent the difference in price of cotton at the time it was turned over to the association and the present price, and will represent that much clear gain to the farmers, it was stated.

In Lubbock county alone, this difference will amount to approximately $200,000 on the 10,000 bales that was handled by the bureau here, Mr. Overstreet said. The largest part of this was taken in by officials of the association when the price slumped to five and six cents and it was advancing more money on the staple than the market afforded. The bulk of the holdings of the company have now been sold at what is considered a fair price and checks covering the difference will be mailed to farmers as quickly as tabulations can be made.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER GIVES A SHORT COURSE

Special to The Avalanche
LITTLEFIELD, March 11.—The International Harvester Short Course held in Littlefield for the past two days has been tremendous success. It is estimated that more than 5,000 people have heard these lectures and have seen the pictures. A good deal of good will be done towards fostering diversification, and also in bringing the farmers of the country, and the people of the town into closer co-operation, it is believed.

The label that distinguishes

Finer Flavor

Finer flavor is a distinguishing quality of Cudahy's Puritan Ham. The label is your positive assurance of this quality in every ham which bears it.

Puritan has a mild, sweet, delicious flavor and a decided tenderness that can be enjoyed only in this fine ham. That is because the choice, young meat selected for Puritan are "ripened naturally"—a special Cudahy method of curing.

This exacting method diffuses the rich juices of the meats slowly and in a natural way, producing a result similar to fruit tree-ripened as compared to fruit artificially ripened.

Puritan is so easy to prepare because it requires no par-boiling. It is nutritious, easily digested and is rich in the elements necessary for muscle and tissue building.

You, too, will be delighted with this fine ham. So look for the label when you buy. At your dealer's.
