Hitler's Plans To Crush Czechs Told

Germany Was Not Bluffing In 1938 When War Threat Brought About Munich Pact

(By The Associated Press)

NUEP[illegible]ERG, Dec. 3. — Hitler was not bluffing when his threats of war in 1938 led England and France to sign the Munich pact, secret German war plans introduced at the international war crimes trial of 20 leading Nazis disclosed today.

Documents laid before the international military tribunal showed that the Munich pact — by which the Czech Sudetenland was handed over to the Nazis — was signed only two days before the date set by the German high command for four armies and the air force to be prepared for a blitz invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Expected To Fight France

The German Air Force also expected France to join the fight and had prepared detailed plans for attack in the west, the evidence introduced by American prosecutors made plain.

Detailed plans for the invasion and an agreement that Hungary would join in the attack left little doubt at the trial that the cold-blooded invasion would have been carried out if England and France had not signed the Munich pact.

Plans for the bombing of Prague without warnin were made by Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, German Army chief of staff, while Sudeten Germans were ordered to stir up unrest and Hungary had promised to be ready to "take part in the conflict by October first," official German documents disclosed.

Forces Moved Up

Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command, according to another German document, was ordered on Sept. 26, 1938, to move his assault forces up to the jumping off places for the Czechoslovak invasion. Next day Britain mobilized her fleet and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain joined French Premier Edouard Daladier at Munich, where they finally gave in before Hitler's threat of war and signed the Munich pact on Sept. 29.

Citing the growth of the Nazi party into a powerful fifth column among the Sudeten Germans, an official Czechoslovak report filed with the court asserted that "few people knew that Henlein (Kon-

Plan To Halt Labor Tieups Is Proposed

Law Putting Ban On Strikes For 30 Days Sought

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—President Truman today set up fact-finding boards to deal with the General Motors strike and threatened steel walkout, and asked Congress for permanent machinery to handle labor disputes in "important nationwide industries."

The president appealed publicly for 225,000 CIO-United Automobile Workers to return to their jobs in the big General Motors corporation and urged the approximate 700,000 who might be involved in a steel strike to remain at work.

Acts In Special Message

Mr. Truman acted in a special message, fast on the heels of the labor - management conference which could not agree on a fact-findg recommendation.

He proposed:

A law for setting up machinery for naming fact-finding boards to prevent work stoppages in important, nationwide labor disputes.

A ban on strikes or lockouts for at least 30 days—five after certification of a dispute by the secretary of labor, 20 for the fact-finding board to deliberate and five more.

Industries Are Cited

The president cited such widespread industries as steel, automobile, aviation, mining, oil, utilities and communications, as those to which the act should apply.

This list, however, was not conclusive, although Mr. Truman said the legislation should not cover small and local labor troubles.

Is Appointing Board

The president said he was appointing such a board on his own authority to deal with the General Motors-CIO - United Automobile Workers dispute.

"While this board will not have the statutory powers which I hope the Congress will soon authorize," Mr. Truman said, "I am sure that the American people will expect the employer and the employees to cooperate with the board."

"In the meantime, I am asking both parties to the dispute to display the same kind of patriotism as they displayed during the war.

"In connection with the threatened strike involving the United States Steel corporation and the United Steel Workers, I am appointing a similar board. I am making the same appeal to the United Steel Workers to remain at work pending the report of the board's findings and recommenda-

Man And Wife Are Bound By Masked Thugs

Bandits Threaten Lives Of Victims To Obtain Money

(Special To The Journal)

SUNDOWN, Dec. 3 — Two armed and masked gunmen robbed and bound Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Robinson, Sundown market and grocery operators, early Sunday night and escaped with almost $2,000 in cash, the Robinsons informed Sheriff Ed Hofacket.

First reports indicated the 66-year-old man and the 60-year-old woman had lost almost $5,000 in checks and currency, but Sheriff Hofacket found part of the checks later.

Wife Was Threatened

Here is the story Robinson related to the sheriff and to The Evening Journal in Lubbock:

"It was about 8:20 p. m. There was a knock at the door. Mrs. Robinson lifted a curtain and one of two men standing outside the door struck the glass pane with his pistol and shattered it. He threatened to hurt my wife if she didn't open the door.

"Mrs. Robinson let the men in, and one of them, the one with the gun, demanded our money.

"I told them it was in the safe at the store, and they lined us up and marched us over there. There was $150 in the safe, and they demanded 'the rest of the money.' I told them there wasn't more, that the money in the safe was all we had.

Made Death Threat

"The one with the gun said he would kill me if we didn't get the rest of it. So Mrs. Robinson told them we'd have to go back to the house, and that she would find it.

"When she got the money from where it was hid one of the men knocked me down on a bed, with his fist. He said something about I had 'lied' to him about the money.

"They tied up Mrs. Robinson too, and they left us on twin beds —our wrists tied and our ankles bound. My position didn't let me see my wife, but they placed a comfort over me to keep me from freezing. I think there was one on her too.

Yelled For Help

"Mrs. Robinson must not have been tied as tightly as I was. She whispered to me to keep quiet— 'They'll kill you if you move' — then she swung her feet over the side of the bed and by moving her feet an inch or two at a time managed to get to the door and open it. She yelled for help to the

Matt Kimes Is Nabbed

Outlaw Is Hit By Truck In Little Rock

Broken Leg And Head Injuries Said Suffered

(By The United Press)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 3—Matt Kimes, notorious "kid outlaw" of the 1920's, was held by the Federal Bureau of Investigation today after he was run down by a truck on a North Little Rock street corner.

Kimes, on "leave of absence" from the Oklahoma state prison, had been hunted throughout the southwest for the past three months in connection with a $17,000 Morton, Tex., bank robbery Sept. 5.

Suffers Broken Leg

Suffering from a broken leg and head injuries, the boy bandit of 20 years ago gave his name as "Leo A. Woods" of Miami, Okla., when he was admitted to the Baptist state hospital Saturday night.

Hospital authorities became suspicious when Kimes asked them not to notify his family about the accident and refused to answer questions concerning the more than $1,600 he has in his possession.

Patrolman Bert Campbell, a witness to the accident, said a .38 caliber automatic fell from Kimes' pocket when he was hit. At that time, the injured man denied that the gun was his.

Admits His Identity

Kimes admitted his identity after hours of questioning only when confronted with a report from Miami police that the real Leo Woods had been robbed of his billfold and credentials several weeks ago. FBI agents clinched his identity with a fingerprint test.

Federal agents said Kimes would not comment about his activities since he was released from the state prison at McAlester for a 60-day probationary period last July to prove he had reformed.

They said he would be held for removal to Texas to face the bank robbery charge as soon as his condition permitted.

Headed Notorious Gang

Kimes, now 39, headed a gang of hard-shooting bandits which terrorized the entire southwest with holdups and shooting forays before he was jailed in 1926 on charges of slaying two Oklahoma peace officers.

Six of his henchmen helped him break jail at Salisaw, Okla., while awaiting trial but he was recaptured and entered state prison in July, 1927. After 18 years, he was granted a leave last July, reportedly in return for turning "informer" on a $10,000 a month dope smuggling ring in operation at the institution.

After the FBI announcement that Kimes was wanted for the Morton bank robbery, he was reported "seen" from southern Kansas to the Texas gulf coast as jittery citizens and bankers recall-

HAVE ROLES IN MARRIAGE BY PROXY—Above are central characters in Thursday night's marriage at Levelland of Seaman 1/c Shirley Bert Lindsay by proxy and the former Miss Lucy Pansy Rinnen, both of Levelland. At left is Rev. Sam A. Thomas, pastor of the Levelland First Methodist church, who officiated at the ceremony in Universal Pentecostal church; James Mitchell, discharged veteran who acted as stand-in for Seaman Lindsay who was aboard ship at New York; the bride, and Mrs. Roy Davis, the matron of honor. Three times Seaman Lindsay and Miss Rinnen had attempted to arrange their marriage, and failed. So they determined on the marriage by proxy, and he was to listen in over the telephone. Orders, however, prevented that, and he was not able even to hear the ceremony.

Forces In Hawaii Told To Be Alert

General Warned Hostile Action Was Imminent

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 — Maj. Gen. Sherman A. Miles said today that the reply Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short made from Hawaii on November 28, 1941 to a war warning message from Washington was "totally inadequate."

Miles testified before the Senate-House group investigating Pearl Harbor. Thursday the committee is to hear General of the Army George C. Marshall who sent the warning message.

Warning Was Given

Evidence was cited by Rep. Clark (D-NC) that on November 27 Marshall warned Short that "hostile action is possible at any moment" and to take reconnaissance and such other measures "as you deem necessary."

Filed as a reply was word from Short to Marshall the next day that the Hawaiian department was "alerted to prevent sabotage."

"Was that in any way responsive?" asked Clark.

Miles, who was head of Army intelligence at the time of Pearl Harbor, demurred. He said he would like that question to be directed to officers who saw the reply.

Wanted His Opinion

But Clark persisted, saying he wanted Miles' opinion as a military man of long experience.

"Very well, sir," replied Miles. "My opinion is that that message was a totally inadequate reply to the message it purported to reply to."

Miles previously testified he considered General George C. Marshall's Nov. 27, 1941 message "sufficient warning to cause the necessary and proper alert to be put into effect" to meet the Japanese Pearl Harbor attack.

Clark noted that messages similar to the one sent to Hawaii were dispatched at the same time to other overseas stations. He directed attention to a reply from General Douglas A. MacArthur in the Philippines that reconnaissance had been extended and ground forces put in a state of readiness for defense.

Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn) asked specifically if Miles thought the Marshall message was "sufficient warning to cause the necessary and proper alert to be put into effect" by Short.

"I did, sir, most definitely," Miles replied in a solemn voice.

Previous inquiries have disclosed that Short had placed into effect a No. 3 alert, designed primarily against sabotage. This alert was two steps away from the No. 1 full alert under which guns would have been manned constantly.

Captain Of Cruiser Charged With Negligence At Hearing

Charles B. McVay Blamed For Loss Of Many Lives

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 — The Navy today accused Capt. Charles B. McVay, III, of being directly responsible, through "negligence" and "inefficiency," for the loss of many men in the sinking of the cruiser Indianapolis.

About 880 persons were lost when the ship, skippered by McVay, exploded and sank off the Philippines July 30.

Charges Are Read

The charges against McVay were read at the opening of his court-martial at the Washington Navy yard before an eight-man court. He was accused of failing to order prompt abandonment of the 16,000 ton warship after it was "badly damaged and in sinking condition." As a result of his "culpable inefficiency," it was alleged, "many persons on board perished with the sinking ship."

The charges held that McVay's "negligence" in directing the Indianapolis just before the disaster resulted in "suffering a vessel of the Navy to be hazarded."

The captain, naval officer for 26 years, was alleged to have "neglected and failed" to order the cruiser to pursue a zig-zag course in waters where enemy submarines might have been encountered.

880 Listed As Lost

Of the 1,196 officers and men aboard the Indianapolis when she went down, 880 have been listed by the Navy as lost. The remainder suffered injuries or exposure. It was five days after the disaster before the survivors were picked up.

The Navy's charges against McVay concerned only details involved in the actual sinking of the ship and the course it pursued. He was not blamed for events which occurred after the men were in the water or the lack of an escort for the cruiser, which was proceeding to Leyte from Guam. It had delivered atomic bomb material to Guam.

The charges did not specify how the 16-year old Indianapolis met her fate. It is believed however, to have been torpedoed by a Japanese submarine or to have rammed a submarine.

"She's Wonderful—It's The Real Thing!" Georgina Campbell To Become Eighth Mrs. Tommy Manville In Wedding Scheduled Sunday

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Dec. 3 (U.P.)—Tommy Manville, the asbestos heir, confirmed today that he will make Georgina Campbell, 27, beautiful English-born columnist, his eighth wife.

Miss Campbell was enroute here from Hollywood aboard the Golden State Limited.

"This is it," Manville said.

To Continue Career

Miss Campbell was first to announce their betrothal, confiding to reporters as she boarded the train in Los Angeles. She said she planned to continue her newspaper career after her marriagke.

Manville said he approved of his wife continuing to work as long as she takes some time off for a honeymoon.

Manville said Miss Campbell will arrive in New York Thursday. They will be married Sunday.

"We have to have blood tests. That takes 24 hours," he said "Then we have to wait the regulation three days. We'll be married Sunday, probably here in New Rochelle.

"She's wonderful," he said of the new girl for the old ritual, which he confessed he knew by heart.

"This is the real thing," Manville said. ""We've known each other a long time."

Miss Campbell was the first newspaperwoman slated to become Mrs. Manville.

Police Cases Are Numerous

A lengthy police investigation sheet this mornuing reflected numerous overt acts of the public over the weekend—such as zipping around recklessly, drunk or sober, in automobiles; tossing firecrackers in defiance of city ordinances; bumping heads and automobiles; thievery, and the like.

Sheriff Sam Floyd of Lynn county reported Sunday night that a car was overturned between Lubbock and Tahoka. Sheriff Grady Harrist and police were informed that another car had been overturned early Sunday a mile south of Wolfforth and that the driver, when motorists offered to assist him, offered to fight us."

Cars Are Ransacked

Murrell Tripp of 2111 Ninth and Charles Hubbard of 1204 Main reported cars had been ransacked. The car referred to by Hubbard is owned by J. L. Allred of Slaton.

Mrs. O. C. Surratt of 310 Ave. Q said two purses had been stolen from a dance place here. One contained a $65 watch and $5 in money, the other $40 in money and personal effects.

Seven wrecks were reported Sunday, but no person was described as injured sufficiently for hospitalization or examination.

Beatrice Rogers, 23, a negro woman, was charged with theft of a $925 diamond ring from F. W. Stephenson, in a complaint sworn to by Bill Mabray, assistant chief of police, and filed by District Attorney Burton S. Burks in the court of C. E. Lynn, justice of

Boasting Costs Man Billfold And $80

HOUSTON, Dec. 3. (U.P.) — C. D. Warren stopped at Houston's busiest intersection last night and stepped in the doorway of a drug store to get out of the rain.

A tall man walked up, shivvered and remarked:

"Looks like it's gonna get cold."

Warren agreed. Then the man pulled a billfold out of his pocket.

"But I've got some money," he said.

'Me too," replied Warren, not to be outdone, as he flashed 80 bucks.

"Reckon Id better take yours too, said the stranger, pulling a nickel-plated pistol. The tall man took the billfold and disappeared in the rain and passing crowd.

Cold Weather Covers State

(By The United Press)

The cold front which moved into Northwest Texas early Sunday morning, continued a slow southeastward movement yesterday and last night and by today had resulted in colder weather over the entire state.

When the cold air reached the Panhandle it caused a few light snow flurries yesterday. As it progressed farther to the south and east it caused rain generally over most of the state except in the Rio Grande valley.

Heavy Rains Reported

Heavy rains were reported in some sections of Central and Southeast Texas. Houston had 2.58 inches; Austin 1.27 inches and San Antonio .78 inches.

Winds were in the north over the entire state today. Temperatures ranged from the lower 20's in the upper Panhandle to the lower 50's in the extreme lower Rio Grande valley section.

Skies were generally clear in West Texas and cloudy over East Texas.

Generally fair and cold weather prevailed over New Mexico with temperatures ranging from four

Auto Workers Seek Inquiry

DETROIT, Dec. 3 (AP) — The CIO United Automobile Workers today asked U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark to investigate General Motors Corp. with a view to anti-trust prosecution, contending GM's control of a large part of the supply of fuel pumps for the industry constitutes a monopoly.

The request was made by R. J. Thomas, president of the UAW-CIO, in a telegram which stated that "control of a single vital item gives General Motors Corp. a control over its competitors that is contrary to the public interest."

Thousands Are Idle

Some 225,000 General Motors employes are idle in a nation-wide strike by the union to enforce its demand on GM for a 30 per cent wage increase within the corporation's present price structure.

International officers of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) today acknowledged mounting opposition within the union's ranks to a plan for resumption of parts production in some o fthe 70-odd strike - bound General Motors plants.

Noting vigorous objections from big Detroit and Flint locals, UAW-CIO President R. J. Thomas reiterated that GM workers would decide for themselves whether they wish to return to their jobs while a strike is in effect.

Proposal Is Accepted

Thomas accepted the corporation's proposal to resume manufacture of parts for competitor firms dependent on GM in behalf of the union Sunday. He stated in his

Husband Named As Wife's Murderer

TEMPLE, Dec. 3 (U.P.) — Murder charges were filed today against Oscar Bell, automobile salesman, for the murder of his wife, District Attorney James K. Evetts, said.

Evetts said Bell had beaten his wife Sunday afternoon and would not let his children summon a doctor. When taken to a hospital three hours later she was reported in serious condition. She died about two hours later from a brain hemorrhage as a result of a blow, according to the autopsy.

Chief of Police Mackey McDonald arrested Bell in a drunken condition before his wife died.

City's Proposed Bond Issue Is Explained To Lubbock Jaycees

Pointing out that the full $5,894,000 in bonds proposed for a five-year expansion plan for the City of Lubbock may not be needed or used, A. B. Davis, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, outlined the 14 separate projects that will appear on the ballots in the Dec. 11 election in a talk to the Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon today in the Hilton hotel.

Davis said the amount proposed was a maximum figure and that during the coming five years costs on some items might be lowered and full amount would not be needed, allowing the city to cancel this amount of bonds. He also said the program of construction and carrying out of the projects could not be outlined as some projects might be postponed and some moved up to earlier dates.

Still highly enthusiastic about his recent seven-weeks USO tour entertaining American occupational troops in Europe, Nino Martini, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera association who will appear at 8 o'clock tonight, Lubbock High school auditorium, is looking forward to the time when he can return to his home in Verona, Italy, and "do what I want to do when I want to do it."

"I like America, I like singing, I like people, but most of all I would like to settle down and take things easy—maybe work five or six months out of the year," grand opera's gentleman said. Perhaps a lot of people would like this leisurely life but the reason Martini gives is, "Im simply tired of traveling."

Help Is Asked For Canteen

Sickness in several homes has curtailed helpers at the Red Cross canteen maintained at South Plains Army Air field, it was said this morning. Chairman of personnel, Mrs. F. B. Malone, said she doubts that the canteen can remain open if more women do not volunteer for the work.

Experience in the work is not necessary, since a trained person is on duty at all times.

The cars leave the Red Cross offices at 10:30 o'clock each morning and the canteen is closed at 5 p. m. Volunteers are asked to telephone the Red Cross office at 8534, stating the days they prefer to work.

Hamburgers, coffee and milk are served at the canteen for transient fliers who spend several hours at the field and do not have an opportunity to come to town for snacks.

Abernathy Man Honored With Birthday Supper

Mrs. A. B. Myatt of Abernathy entertained recently with a buffet supper honoring her husband on his birthday. The dining table was centered with the decorated birthday cake. Fall flowers carried out an autumn motif. After supper, the guests played eighty-four.

Guests were Thomas Myatt, father of the guest of honor; his brother, Edward Myatt of Shallowater; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hood and children, Patsy Ann and Allen; Wanda Ruth Respondek, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jackson and son, Deen of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Smith and children, Hilton, Gail and Carla Nell; Elizabeth Goebel; Mr. and Mrs. A. Cosmetics Saleswomen Are Luncheon Guests

Mrs. Leona Roffey was luncheon hostess recently to 24 saleswomen in the Roffey district of Luziers cosmetics. The meal was served at the Chicken House and flowers decked the candle-lighted candles.

Mrs. Ruby Wilkinson gave devotion on "Individual Responsibility;" Mrs. Sybil Law gave details of the Kansas City meeting; Mrs. Maye Lofland discussed "Discouragement" and Mrs. Lois Reese of Levelland discussed "Perfumes."

Sixteen Lubbock women attended the luncheon and from out-of-town, other than those mentioned, were Mesdames Martha Stallings, Slaton; L. B. Smith, Brownfield; Dorothy Weaver, Tahoka; Roy Hill, Morton; W. A. Childs and Nellie Fraks, Brownfield and Sally Schuster, Muleshoe.

Household Items Standing High On Gift Lists

Gift lists, which have had numerous unavailable articles added to them each of the four wartime Christmases, will be shortened when this year's Christmas shoppers buy items which have reappeared on store shelves. However, many of the buyers, who have patiently awaited a peacetime Christmas to secure certain gifts, will be disappointed again. Only the tireless hunter will find a maximum of the scarce goods which are back on the market.

Most in demand will be household gifts to replace worn out equipment. If a new washing machine, refrigerator, electric mixer or a vacuum cleaner can be obtained, no wife would complain about receiving such a present. Even though these items are being manufactured, there continues to be a limited supply and those who have had their names on the dealers' lists the longest will get their orders first.

The gift that every woman is most eager to see on her Christmas tree is a pair of nylons, but the possibility of nylons arriving before the holiday season is most uncertain. Next to nylons, shoes will be the most popular gift, now that rationing has ended.

Since strikes have stopped the production of several makes of automobiles, it is doubtful that many families will be riding around in new cars before 1946.

For Early Shoppers

Early and determined shoppers are the ones who will enable Santa to bring their children the few available skates, tricycles, bicycles and metal construction sets. The toy situation still is tight, says the Toy Manufacturers of America. Even though metal restrictions were relaxed after V-J day, less than 8 per cent of the toys for sale this Christmas will be metal.

"There will be only a token showing of wheel toys, electric trains and mechanical toys," says James L. Fri, managing director of the toy association. "The only metal toy lines which will be produced in any volume will be the simplest type of stamped-out metal toys."

Rubber toys also will remain to be scarce, and plastic toys will be available in about the same volume as last year, manufacturers predict. Textile restrictions will continue to limit production of dolls.

There Are Extra Children Now

The scarcity of toys is further aggravated by the fact that more than five million extra children have been added to the toy age population as a result of the high wartime birthrate, purchasing power is at peak level, and production has not reached its acme.

Most plentiful on the toy list will be games such as Rook, Pit and Flinch as well as newer games and miniature croquet and bowling games may be purchased.

The 1945 Christmas dolls, though few in number, will again have movable eyes and will say "Mama." She'll have an extensive wardrobe, too, and perhaps hair that can be combed. Babeyette dolls are available with elaborate layettes, with or without bassinets, and in twin, triplet or quadruplet combinations.

In the masculine gift line, a scant supply of fountain pens, typewriters, sports equipment and white shirts will be here for Christmas.

WOODS-GARNER

W. G. Woods and Mrs. Essie Jewel Garner, both of Lubbock, were married in civil rites read this morning in his office by C. E. Lynn, justice of peace. They will live here.

Officials of the Wyoming Game and Fish Department expect big-game hunting in the state to be limited within the next few years because it's feared the game may be depleted to the danger point.

IN COLLECTION—This water color, "Threatening Skies" by Dow Simpson of Dallas, is now showing in the Twenty-Third Circuit exhibition, Southern States Art league, which will be on display at the West Texas museum until the Christmas holidays. Two Lubbock women placed second and third in the 1945 national Thanksgiving Poetry contest sponsored by the national Thanksgiving association, it has been announced by J. W. English, Texas chairman.

Rose Jasper Nickell, 1915 Twenty-sixth, placed second and Maud Vermilion Wallace, 2113 Fourteenth, was third-place winner. Rose Nickell also won fourth place and "prize" in the nation.

Patch Tests Offered College Students

Lubbock County Tuberculosis association is offering the patch test to all Texas Tech freshmen today and tomorrow in Tech's medical office, library building, under the supervision of Bennie Sanford, field representative.

Very few students had reported before noon today and Miss Sanford is anxious that every freshman be tested for tuberculosis. "It is extremely important at this particular time," she added.

Readings, determining whether student's reaction to the test is positive or negative, will be given Friday.

News Briefs

Capt. G. W. Parkhill, associated with an architectural firm here before the war, is visiting his wife and three children at 2010 Main following his return last week from duty in the Pacific. Capt. Parkhill expects to be discharged from the Army when he reports to El Paso in about ten days. Recent announcements said Capt. Parkhill later will join with Marlin R. Smith, jr., whose resignation as city manager will become effective Jan. 1, and S. C. Cooper, former city engineer at Big Spring, in formation here of a firm of consulting engineers. Cooper and his family moved to Lubbock about six weeks ago.

Slight damage was caused to a garage at 2418 Twenty-first about noon Sunday, firemen said. The department answered one other alarm, two hours earlier, when dust caught fire in a hay barn at Economy mills. No damage resulted.

Co-Ed To Entertain GI's, Shelves Degree

AUSTIN, Dec. 3 (U.P.) — Meet a co-ed who is postponing her university graduation to entertain soldiers overseas.

Meet Miss Albertine Starr, the first University of Texas drama student to be accepted for overseas service, a girl who took matters in her own hands to bring it all about.

The twenty-year-old co-ed is only three months away from her degree, but just the same she is going to be a "civilian actress technician" for the Army.

Albertine read in a newspaper that an Army Special Services representative would be in Dallas to try out entertainers for overseas work. Albertine went to Dallas, tried out and was accepted, just like that.

And now Albertine is just waiting . . . For the Army to tell her when.

Heart Attack Fatal For Veterinarian

Funeral services for George M. Hill, 81, veterinarian of O'Donnell, who died at 12:30 p. m. Sunday after suffering a heart attack while treating a cow, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow at the O'Donnell Church of Christ.

Rev. G. Adkisson, pastor, will officiate.

A native of Missouri, Hill had resided in O'Donnell five years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rosa Hill; and three sons, Ed Hill, O'Donnell; Ralph and A. V. Hill, both of Sulphur Springs.

Burial will be be in O'Donnell cemetery with Plains Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Sale Of E Bonds Being Stressed

In line with "Victory Week" in Lubbock, designed to bring attention toward the sagging E bond campaign, bonds will be offered for sale Tuesday in the lobby of each local bank and a special committee will "re-sift" prospective investors, it was announced today by Charles Whitacre and Hop Haisey, co-chairmen of the drive, sponsored by Allen Bros. post of the American Legion.

Comparing the current campaign to those of the past, Whitacre and Halsey said the problem in the Victory loan was not so much a problem of fewer purchasers as of a preference for smaller bonds. "Unless some of the fellows come back and buy bigger bonds, Lubbock county is doomed to flop its first bond drive," Whitacre said.

Lubbock Low In State

The county now has attained only about 30 per cent of its quota, he said. In the last report from Dallas headquarters of the War Finance committee, Lubbock county stood 223rd among the 251 counties listed.

Shallowater is the only rural community in the county which has reported its quota reached.

The campaign at Slaton was due to get under way this morning, under direction of Bill Sewell, to raise its $65,000 quota.

Mayor Overton Ribble proclaimed the special week following a statewide proclamation of "Victory Week" by Governor Stevenson.

Pauper's Grave Last Refuge For Hermit

HOUSTON, Dec. 3 (U.P.) — Arrangements were completed today to bury a lonely, 60-year-old hermit, found unconscious in a cold dismal cave Saturday, in paupers' graveyard.

He died yesterday of pneumonia, malnutrition and emaciations.

Identified as Louis A. Crapitto, of Providence, R. I., police said he had gone into the cave last week to seek protection from a chilling wind. A few yards from the damp cave was his shack, a makeshift building of sheets of rusty tin, cardboard boxes and stray planks.

His inert body was spotted Saturday by a railroad worker. Brought to a city hospital, he never regained consciousness.

Scenic and historic spots along Wyoming highways will be marked shortly by signs, according to plans of the state department of commerce and industry.

McCarran Seeks Early Action Of A Natural Resources Bill

By NED BROOKS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 — Sen. Pat McCarran (D., Nev.) today sought early hearings on his bill to conduct an inventory of natural resources and develop a national policy on their use.

Cutting the war's drain on high-grade mineral deposits, the Nevadan said science must now be directed toward making the lower grades of ores available on a commercial scale.

Can Be Developed

"With proper research these can be developed, in spite of the type of thinking which argues that we should go outside the United Statesc to acquire rate metals and minerals," the senator said.

The Army-Navy munitions board has urged an immediate program of stockpiling critical materials from foreign sources.

Meanwhile the Civilian Production administration reported that shortages in several metals force retention of distribution controls. CPA said the office of metals reserve on Oct. 31 had on hand 21,000 tons of pig tin, 86,000 tons of refined lead and 10,000 tons of antimony. None of these stocks are large enough to permit removal of controls, the agency added.

Others Are Scarce

Cadmium, corondum and certain grades of mica and graphite also are scarce CPA added. For current industrial needs, stocks are adequate in refactory chrome, cobalt, industrial diamonds, fluorspar, magnesium, mercury, molybdenum, tungsten, vanadium, aluminum and columbium, the report said.

Senator McCarran's bill is awaiting action by the public lands committee. Among its provisions:

1. A national inventory of resources and an annual accounting of prospective depletion.
2. Encouragement of private enterprise to develop resources and new technologies.

To Prohibit Exports

3. Prohibitions against exports of critical and strategic materials in short supply in this country.
4. Creation of stockpiles of critical materials sufficient to meet military and civilian requirements for at least three years in advance.

The measure would create a natural resources council composed of the secretaries of interior and agriculture and three other members of wide experience in mining, agriculture and business administration.

In addition to surveying mineral resources, the proposed inventory would cover agricultural and forest resources, reclamation needs and soil productivity.

"No one really knows how much we have depleted our natural resources in the war," Senator McCarran said. "I do not agree that we have become a 'have not' nation, but we need to know all the facts. For us to continue without knowing our potential assets is insane from an economic standpoint."

An inventory of low-grade mineral resources, he said, "would set up a clear goal to shoot at" in developing methods for using these reserves.

Mrs. Arthur L. Dunn Is Buried At Austin

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Arthur Lee Dunn, 29, in an Austin hospital Saturday, Nov. 24, after a long illness. She had been an invalid for the last eight months of her life. Funeral services were conducted in the chapel of the Cook Funeral home in Austin the following Monday.

Mrs. Dunn was the former Louise Burkhalter, daughter of Mrs. H. P. Burkhalter of Austin and had lived near Lubbock for 14 years before moving to Austin about six years ago. She was a graduate of Lubbock High school and Texas Technological college.

Survivors are the husband, Pfc. Arthur Lee Dunn; a son, William Henry (Billy) Dunn, 5; a brother, Henry Burkhalter of Madison, N. J., and her mother.

Soldiers Released In Slaying Probe

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 3 (U.P.)—Three Camp Bowie soldiers have been released after questioning in connection with the slaying of Sgt. John W. Murphy of Boston, Mass., according to Raymound South, investigator for the sheriff of Bexar county.

Murphy's body was found in a Comal county pasture, near New Braunfels, Nov. 17. It had a bullet hole through the chest, and both arms had been severed.

South said one of the soldiers held for questioning had been absent without authority from Camp Bowie Nov. 4, the day before the last on which Sgt. Murphy was seen alive.

No trace of the car which Murphy borrowed has been found, South reported. An investigation recently was made at Vernon, where a civilian had been seen whose car apparently fitted the description of the one driven by Murphy.

Hay Fever Sufferers Are Promised Relief

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP) — The University of Illinois College of Medicine announced today discovery of a new drug which it said brings "marked symptomatic relief" from hay fever, asthma, and other common allergies.

The drug, benadryl, was discovered by Dr. Earl R. Lowe, associate professor of pharmacology, and has been used on both animals and humans in the tests.

The new drug's function is to prevent the ill effects of histamine—a chemical released from the body cells during an allergic attack. The announcement said histamine "is considered" the cause of the allergic symptons.

The announcement said the drug was not a cure and that three doses a day would be required for continuing relief of symptons.

Dr. Lowe said studies conducted at the university with human subjects "proved the value of the new drug in minimizing allergic responses to histamine."

The new drug, effective by mouth, has not been released for general use, Dr. Lowe said.

Closing Youth Rally Staged

About 300 youths of Lubbock attended the final rally for young people held at the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon, pushing the total attendance for the four meetings held under Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsorship to near the 2,000 mark.

At the close of the meeting George Morris, president of the Lubbock Senior High school Hi-Y, and Mary Frances Payne, secretary of the student body at the high school and president of the Girl Reserve, met with adult directors from local churches and some of the officers from the High School Religious council to discuss plans for future meetings.

To Plan Details

A vote that carried overwhelmingly was taken among the youth attending regarding the future gatherings of Lubbock young people in meetings such as have been held. A Dec. 11 meeting has been set between Morris and his group and the Religious council to work out details for regular meetings and the possibility of a joining of forces between the various youth organizations already established for the purpose of furthering the rallies.

At the final rally Sunday Rev. Jimmy Bell, youth evangelist from Clovis, N. M., gave the principal talk. Rev. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the First Baptist church, gave a short opening talk to youths.

Forum Is Held

A forum was held during the meeting with local ministers answering Biblical questions of the young people.

Glenn Woody, president of the Jaycees, addressed the youths briefly and pledged future cooperation of his group to any youth movement.

Rev. Bell directed a rally at the Community Center, recreation center at 302 Sixth, late Sunday. After the meeting five boys pledged to join a church. Rev. Bell left Lubbock today after directing the four meetings held here on consecutive Sundays.

Sundown Robbery

Powers family living next door (Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Powell) and Bobbie Jean (the Powerses' 15-year-old daughter) came running over and cut Mrs. Robinson's wrists loose. Together they freed me. Then we reported to the sheriff and to Bill Mabray, the assistant chief of police in Lubbock."

Robinson, who had moved here from the Goldsmith pool in Ector county four years ago and who never before had "been subjected to violence in all my 30 years of business in oil sections," described the two men as dressed in green coveralls and having stockings, with holes cut in for their eyes, over their heads.

Could Recognize Voice

"They wouldn't let us take a close look at them, but one of them did a lot of talking, and I could recognize his peculiar voice if I heard it again. The other didn't talk much. They were about the same size, and both must have had round faces, probably fair complexions. They'll weigh about 160 pounds each, I'd say. The one who was in the background didn't talk much. Both sure must have known their business. I didn't see but one gun."

Mrs. Robinson complained of a hurting in the chest, but said she believed it was caused by the cramped position of having her hands tied behind her. She was not otherwise molested, her husband said.

AVIATION ON RISE

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP) — Aviations monopolized the ticker tape in today's generally rising stock market, with many motors and industrials attracting strong support in one of the liveliest sessions since last June, but rails and assorted pivotals turned somewhat hesitant.

Activity expanded briskly after a steady and quiet opening. Top marks ran to 5 or more points near the close. New highs were widespread and losses generally held to fractions. Transfers were in the neighborhood of 2,500,000 shares.

Better performers included Pan American Airways which started an hour and a half late, up 3½ on a 25,000-share block, but subsequently reduced the advance; American Airlines, Aviation Corp., United Aircraft, Chrysler, General Motors, Hudson Motors, U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, Montgomery Ward, Dupont, Engineers Public Service, Goodrich, Loew's and Paramount Pictures.

Bonds were narrow and commodities nervous.

letter to GM President C. E. Wilson, however, that the international would have to "lay the facts before the various GM local unions which may be involved."

The Greater Flint Industrial Union council, with a membership of 60,000, passed a resolution declaring a back-to-work movement by some employes would destroy the strikers' morale and might result in "riot and bloodshed."

Thomas hastened to correct what he termed "certain erroneous impressions which seem to have arisen from a misinterpretation" of his letter to Wilson.

One Or Two Items

He said international officers were seeking only to determine what GM-produced parts were needed to keep competitor firms operating.

The GM spokesman said more than 40,000 were employed in parts and accessories manufacture, but Thomas said it was his "personal opinion that there are only one or two critical items on which General Motors' production is an essential part of the picture for the other manufacturers . . ."

H. W. Anderson, General Motors vice president, will confer at Washington Tuesday with federal labor conciliators seeking a resumption of negotiations on the wage issue.

The Ford Motor Co., believed least dependent of the major car producers on GM for parts, resumed its wage discussions with the union today.

Chrysler-UAW negotiations will resume tomorrow.

Negro Is Being Held In Hit-Run Mishap

A 34-year-old negro, Robert Dice Williams, was held early this afternoon by police, who had sought since early Saturday to fix identity of a negro whose truck ran down and injured Cecil Watson, about 43, of 101 East Thirty-fourth.

Arrested at his quarters in 300-block Eighteenth, the negro was "stupified by drink," Sgt. Bill Lamb of the traffic department of police said. "He was not questioned because of that, but he did tell us that he couldn't stop his truck after he hit a man at Fourth and Ave. H." That was where the mishap occurred.

Lamb, Tommy Everheart and Pete Hubbard, arresting officials, said "another negro is sought as a material witness. He was in the truck with the man who ran down Watson."

Arrests culminated an intensive search during which dozens of persons were interviewed, some of them witnesses.

ed his exploits of another era.

Theater Was Robbed

Three weeks ago, a Wewoka, Okla., theater manager said Kimes had entered his office and robbed him of $1,200. The hold-up victim and four other witnesses identified the bandit as Kimes.

Three days later, vigilantes in another eastern Oklahoma town waited in vain after five persons swore that Kimes had "cased" the main business section and banks.

A dragnet was set over five states after Kimes was named in connection with the Morton hold-up, in which four men escaped with more than $17,000 in cash.

Two of the men, Oliver Melton, Shawnee, Okla., and Fred Pair, Bledsoe, Tex., were in custody, FBI agents said, but a fourth, Olaf Alvin (Chick) Rogers still was at large.

KIMES WILL STAND TRIAL IN LUBBOCK

FORT WORTH, Dec. 3 (U.P.) — Acting U. S. District Attorney Bob Young said today that Matt Kimes, Oklahoma desperado, would be returned to Texas to stand trial at Lubbock on charges that he robbed the Morton, Tex., bank Sept. 5 of $17,600.

Kimes, killer and bank robber in his youth, but more recently a parole from the Oklahoma state penitentiary, was captured at Little Rock, Ark., where he was hurt in an automobile accident.

Hitler Not Bluffing

rad Henlein, Nazi leader in Czechoslovakia) went on Hitler's payroll . . . in 1933."

Planned For Conquest

Another top-secret Hitler directive added to the mounting pile of evidence disclosed that the fuehrer said on May 30, 1938 — four months before the Munich pact and a year before the Germans goose-stepped into Prague —that "it is my unalterable decision to smash Czechoslovakia by military action in the near future."

Assistant U. S. Prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman said the Nazi plotting was carried on under a pretext of "friendship" through the Locarno pact and other treaties. Hermann Goering nodded in agreement as Alderman quoted the former No. 2 Nazi as assuring the Czechs that "I give you my word of honor" that Germany had no aggressive intentions toward their country.

Hitler's calculated plans to stir up unrest among Germans in the Czech Sudetenland were made plain by a directive amending the "case green" invasion plan calling for propaganda war to intimidate Prague officials by threats and to "direct national groups such as the Sudeten Germans to support the German forces and to influence neutrals into our way of thinking."

Italy, also, was aware of the conspiracy, according to a German foreign office memorandum, which declared that "Attolico (Italian ambassador Bernardo Attolico) added that we had made it unmistakably clear to Italians what our intentions are regarding Czechoslovakia."

Truman Appeal

tions."

Mr. Truman's outline of the fact finding legislation said it was "not applicable to small industries or to small local disputes in large industries." He added:

"The objective should be to cover by legislation only such stoppages of work as the secretary of labor would certify to the president as vitally affecting the national public interest."

As outlined by Mr. Truman, strikes or lockouts would be banned for 20 days of the fact-finding board's deliberations—longer if extended by the president or parties to the dispute-plus five additional days.

Mr. Truman said "the American people have been patient" and "waited long in the hope that those leaders in labor and management whose business it was to handle this problem would be able to do so in agreement." The president recommended:

Procedure Outlined

"In industrial disputes in such industries, where collective bargaining has broken down, and where the conciliation service of the federal government has been unable to bring the parties to agreement, and where the secretary of labor has been unable to induce the parties voluntarily to submit the controversy to arbitration, I recommend the following procedure:

"Upon certification by the secretary of labor to the effect that a dispute continues despite his efforts, and that a stoppage of work in the affected industry would vitally affect the public interest, the president, or his duly authorized agent, should be empowered to appoint, within five days thereafter, a fact-finding board similar to the emergency board provided for under the railway labor act.

"I recommend that during these five days after the secretary of labor has made the above certificate, it be unlawful to call a strike or lockout, or to make any change in rates of pay, hours, or working conditions, or in the established practices in effect prior to the time the dispute arose.

Make Thorough Study

"The board should be composed of three or more outstanding citizens, and should be directed to make a thorough investigation of all the facts which it deems relevant in the controversy. In its investigation it should have full power to subpoena individuals and records, and should be authorized to call upon any government agency for information or assistance. It should make its report within twenty days, unless the date is extended by agreement of the parties with the approval of the president. The report should include a finding of the facts and such recommendations as the board deems appropriate.

"While the fact-finding board is deliberating and for five days thereafter it should be made unlawful to call a strike or lock-out, or to make any change in rates of pay, hours, working conditions or established practices, except by agreement.

"The parties would not be legally bound to accept the findings or follow the recommendations of the fact-finding board, but the general public would know all the facts. The result, I am sure, would be that in most cases, both sides would accept the recommendations, as they have in most of the railway labor disputes.

"I believe that the procedure should be used sparingly, and only when the national public interest requires it."

The youth, who was hunting with four other boys two miles north of Whiteflat about 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, was taking a 16-gauge shotgun out of the car when it accidentally discharged. The charge entered the right side of his chest and emerged under the left shoulder.

Died Within 10 Minutes

He died within 10 minutes after reaching the Traweek hospital here.

Others on the hunting trip were Billy Jameson, Lowell Don Whitaker, Dale Jackson and "Jelly" Williams.

Other survivors are his stepfather, Bob Jameson, jr., who is the son of Rev. R. L. Jameson, sr., pioneer Motley county resident and retired Methodist minister of Whiteflat; a half-brother, Clay Rudolph; his father, B. H. Florence of Globe, Ariz.; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Florence of 224 Paris, Lubbock, and Mrs. Laila Duncan of Matador.

The grandparents from Lubbock arrived in Matador a few hours after the accident and the boy's father arrived from Arizona this morning.

Burial was to be in Matador cemetery.

Bond Issue

to the present houses, and $65,000 for trucks and more apparatus. He noted that the present facilities offered by Lubbock's fire fighting system was inadequate for the suddenly increased population.

Proposition three, addition of space to the police station, will total $88,000, Davis said. City equipment will be boosted by a $60,000 project outlined by proposition number four. Housing and shops are needed to shelter present city equipment and to keep it in good condition, Davis said.

Recreational Needs Cited

The need for more playground equipment, more swimming pools and various other recreational needs will be lessened or removed by a proposed $155,000 spending program on this item. An enlarged pool is planned at Mackenzie State park, replacing the present inadequate one, and two other pools—one for negroes and one for the southwest section of the city —will be constructed. All parks will have wading pools and other improvements, Davis said.

With two airlines already running through Lubbock, one due to begin immediately and with nine applications already placed for landing facilities here from various airlines in the nation, $300,000 will be spent on airport facilities under the proposed program More ticket offices, an administration building and hangers will be constructed along with shops, flying schools and salesrooms for private plane concerns already applied for by various firms. All of these will bring revenue, Davis said, through rents including the amount paid by airlines for landing facilities furnished by the city.

Auditorium-Coliseum Needed

One of the most controversial projects according to Davis is item number eight, the auditorium-coliseum, which will be constructed at a cost of $1,750,000. He pointed out extensive study and planning that are in the background of it, "insuring the need of it here."

Proposition nine, $60,000 for storm sewers, needs little discussion, Davis said citing the poor drainage system in the city.

Under the proposed program $600,000 will be spent for street improvements. Of this amount $400,000 will go to buy right-of-ways, widen streets and work out a traffic dispersal system that "will stabilize property values of the business district property," he said. The remainder of this will be for street improvement and repaving.

Street Lights Planned

A $245,000 program is outlined for modernized street and traffic lights. The "whole setup will be revised with more street lighting added and modern traffic and street lights installed throughout the city," Davis said.

Sanitary sewer improvements will total $445,000 including the extension of sewer lines to growing sections of the city and an enlargement of sewers in the business district, Davis said. An adequate disposal plant will be constructed to accommodate the rising population, "for which nothing has been done in several years," he said.

Water Important Item

Water supply improvements and additions will require $1,300,000 Davis said. Davis pointed out that the city was "not protected" by the present supply and that water rights and—or land containing water supplies must be purchased to insure ample water for the city in the future.

Water softening plants costing $650,000 is proposed by the final proposition. Davis said that soft water here would cost some more on the individual's water bill but "it would come back easily through the saving in soap bills and the reduction in wear and tear on laundry and plumbing facilities."

Davis declared that the tax rate would increase a maximum of only 40 cents, "according to an estimated tax valuation of the city of $33,000,000 which is probably far below what it has reached since this valuation was taken." He also noted that any savings made during the program allowing cancellation of bonds would further reduce the tax rate.

President Glenn Woody presided. Rev. Jimmy Bell, youth evangelist from Clovis who has been conducting a series of youth rallies here under Jaycee sponsorship, outlined the results of the meetings which closed Sunday.

DIRECTORS OF C. OF C. FAVOR BOND ISSUE

Directors of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce have unanimously approved all propositions of the proposed $5,894,000 bond issue which will be presented to the voters Dec. 11, and are sponsoring an educational and get-out-the vote" campaign in connection with the election, it was reported this morning at chamber of commerce offices.

The first of a series of talks before local civic clubs outlining the city's five-year expansion program was given today noon at the regular luncheon meeting in Hilton hotel of the Junior Chamber of Commerce by A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. A committee appointed by the directorate is selecting speakers and arranging time on this week's programs of all other luncheon clubs.

The directors, in acting to promote a large turnout at the polls, took the position that every eligible, tax-paying citizen in the city, regardless of whether he or she is for or against the bond issue, should express his or her sentiments on election day.

They formally approved each proposition as "necessary to the growth and further development of Lubbock" after hearing a comprehensive outline of the program from Mayor Overton Ribble.

YMCA Secretary Is Speaker In Lubbock

"If there ever was a time, it certainly is now, when young people needed the guidance, companionship and patience of adults," Ned Kemp of Dallas, Southwest area council secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, declared in a talk to the Methodist Men's club today noon at Lubbock hotel.

"We're awfully condemning of the behavior of our young people," Kemp continued, "but I'm afraid we're giving them too many 'wooden nickels' . . . If there's any one thing and I believe the greatest thing a father can give his child is his time and his wisdom of experience . . . Until we take this time to give to our young people, we shouldn't criticize . . . As an individual, your boy needs to develop a working philosophy of life, one that has a tangible value . . .

"As long as a boy can guide his own activities and if he is going in the right direction, I don't think there's much need to worry about him," Kemp said. "The cure for delinquency won't be found behind the bars of a jail. . .

"Take a good look, not a quick one, at your young people . . . meet their needs through activity, a supplementary effort to the home, the church and the school and you'll find that you're doing a lot toward improving the welfare of your community."

Kemp reviewed briefly the 101-year history of the YMCA which is now operating in 62 nations and told of the work of the Hi-Y organizations, started 56 years ago and now in more than 10,000 groups throughout the nation. Kemp was introduced by Ernest Manning, program chairman.

Several members of the Hi-Y club with H. J. McCabe, dean of men. G. E. Dawson, Senior High sponsor; and W. A. Wimberly, Junior High sponsor, were guests at the luncheon. Lt. Bob Case and Bob Neismith, both of the Navy, were also special guests. E. W. Jordon of Chicopee, Ga., and Capt. Brody of Little Rock, Ark., were out-of-town guests.

Nino Martini

contrary he's amicable and cordial, but there is a lot of private life he likes keeping that way.

When questioned about his home in Italy, the tenor's green eyes crinkled at the corners and he wasn't reticent in speaking of his sisters and their children. "They're grand people and it was one of the happiest moments of my life when I saw them last year while on tour."

Not Like Going Home

That was the first time Martini had been home since he came to America in 1929 and gained fame through moving pictures and radio. His relatives had been to New York during 1937-38 but seeing them here wasn't like going home.

Martini said he had had a good life since coming to America—he has been well received. He has had featured parts in "Paramount on Parade," "A Night in Venice" and other films but his greatest success has come through radio. His work as leading tenor with the CBS symphony orchestra won him the Columbia medal for "distinguished service to radio." Other recipients of the award were Charles A. Lindbergh, Amelia Earhart and Leopold Stokowski.

Made Debut In 1933

It was in 1933 that Nino Martini made his debut as a member of the Metropolitan Opera company in the role of the Duke of Mantua in "Rigoletto." That was the chance he had been waiting for and since that date Martini has won critical acclaim in practically all the leading lyric tenor roles, constantly adding to his gallery of portrayals.

One of his favorite roles and one for which he is famous is Rudolph in "La Boheme." He said he particularly liked "Faust," a role which he recently played in Chicago with Jeanette McDonald.

On the very personal side of this tenor's personality are the little likes and dislikes that he's not always able to indulge. Dislikes are cold and unduly critical people, being to inquisitive and aggressive.

The other side of the ledger is this: He likes a quiet life, horseback riding, ranches, his six nephews, singing, and fine foods.

Sen. Bilbo To Get Opponent

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—The U. S. S. Mississippi lay at anchor in Norfolk, Va., today, and one of her gunnery officers was ready to take on Senator Theodore "The Man" Bilbo in Mississippi's 1946 senatorial primary.

Lt .Comdr. Nelson T. Levings of Gulfport won't make an official announcement until he retires from service around Jan. 1, but there is little doubt he plans to run against "The Man." Levings has spent several days talking things over with Mississippians in Washington.

"If Bilbo is defeated, the winner will be an ex-serviceman," he commented.

Has Been Delegate

Commander Levings has been a delegate to three national conventions, and ran for lieutenant governor several years ago. He is a farmer, and a graduate of the University of Virginia.

When the "Mighty Missy" steamed into Tokyo bay, Commander Levings got Admiral Halsey's permission to fly the Mississippi state flag beneath the Stars and Stripes on the mainmast. Mississippi newspapers wrote glowingly of his "tremendous state loyalty."

Commander Levings was gunnery officer aboard the Mississippi in the battle of Surigao straits in October, 1944. The Mississippi sank a Jap cruiser and a destroyer when Admiral Oldendorf's battle line "crossed the T" of the Jap fleet.

Levings now is urging the Navy department to give the "Mighty Missy" to his native state as a shrine.

He volunteered the day after Pearl Harbor, and has served aboard the U. S. S. Seattle, Antietam, Tennessee and Mississippi. Two of his three sons are in the Army.

The first Liberty ship, the Patrick Henry, was launched at Baltimore Sept. 27, 1941.

America's Virile Males Spending Good Hunk Of Dough Looking For Right Smell

By JIM LUCAS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 — I don't know how it will strike the girls, but personally, I've been upset ever since I found out that we virile males who have come home from the war with a persistent case of battlefield B. O., are spending a good hunk of our mustering-out pay trying to smell like:

(1) Citrus fruit.
(2) Leather.
(3) A horse.
(4) The spice shelf of a country store.

Until 1942, there were a scant half dozen brands of male toiletries on the market. Today, there are more than 200. And, what's more, we buy 'em.

Blame It On War

There are some things we don't want to smell like. We don't want to smell of roses or violets, and we've got a name for guys who do. We don't want to smell like milady's handkerchief. But, it seems, we don't want to smell like a G. I., either. Not if we can help it, we don't.

We can blame the whole smelly business on the war. The cosmetic chefs were content to dish out lotions, creams and powders for the women up until the fall of 1942. Matter of fact, they were a little timid about trying to adorn the male with any smell at all. Then, the first G. I. came home, ashamed of his foxhole aroma, and headed for the nearest barber shop. Bingo—the dam broke.

Wants Masculine Odor

The ex-GI wants a masculine odor out of a masculine-looking package. No fancy glassware for us. One lotion company has had a lot of luck with a little brown jug. Another goes in for gilded flasks. Still others feature duck and hunting dogs, or wooden bottles and leather caps. The smell-conscious male doesn't want anyone to get the idea he's gone sissy.

We'd probably take a poke at anyone who said we use perfume. No such thing. We use cologne. Most of the male cologne takes its odor from the citrus family—lemon, or orange, or even grapefruit.

Another favorite is the spicy smell—cloves, cinnamon, ginger.

One of the latest twists is the "discreet odor, a faint whiff of leather, or what the boys are pleased to call a "horsey" smell. This leaves the impression we've just come off the polo field. Or maybe we spent the afternoon following the hounds. Took a bath, of course, before we came to dinner, but couldn't get rid of it all.

It can be a lot of fun. A guy isn't considered an expert, however, until he can mix a horsy lotion with some grapefruit and add just a dash of ginger.

Lubbock Girl Voted Favorite At ACC

Roberta Niblack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Niblack of 1628 Ninth, has been selected by the student body of Abilene Christian college as one of the six girl favorites of the campus. A full page picture of her will appear in the college annual, "The Prickly Pear."

Miss Niblack is a freshman and is majoring in home economics. She was selected as the typical freshman girl of the college last September.

Gestapo Agent Says He Was Tortured

DACHAU, Germany, Dec. 3 (AP)—Johann Kick, gestapo agent charged with war crimes at Dachau concentration camp, told an American military court today that he himself had been tortured by U. S. soldiers until his "arm was paralyzed."

The former Nazi criminal investigator said that after his arrest May 6 he had been beaten "throughout a day and night," kicked, forced to stand at attention "for many hours," forced to kneel on round or square objects, and forced to look into a bright light for hours.

Asked who administered this treatment, Kick said.

"They were persons who were wearing the uniform of the Army of the United States."

His charges were made after the prosecutor, Lt. Col. William Denson, repeatedly brought out discrepancies between Kick's written and oral statements.

Nearly 52,000,000 toothbrushes were shipped from United States factories during the first quarter of 1945.

Errol Flynn's New Novel Is Due Soon

BY ROSALIND SHAFFER
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 3 — Errol Flynn's second novel, "The Showdown," will be off the presses by the holidays, he says. Confessing himself as a onetime starving writer, the film town's most exciting glamor boy says he now does his writing strictly as a hobby.

"I have nothing to gain," is the way he sees it. "I can't make money on it, for if the novel is a success, Uncle Sam gets it in income tax. I can't get a reputation as a writer by it, for if it's good, the critics will say it was ghosted," says Flynn.

Will Never Know

"The pity of it is," said he, as we sat in his cozy den, "I'll never really know if it's any good. If it has a good sale, I'll suspect strongly that my well advertised name has a good deal to do with it."

"Writing a novel takes a lot of nerve; it's like trying to dash off a piece by Chopin without ever having taken a piano lesson. But I felt I had a story to tell, and the thwarted writer in me had to do it. Sheer stubbornness carried me through," he admitted.

Flynn's novel is laid against a South Sea island background, a territory with which he is familiar from his pre-Hollywood days, when he made films for an Australian company in the vicinity of New Guinea. A group of ultra sophisticates is cast ashore there, and their proving up against the primitive conditions they encounter is the story. The theme is much like "The Admirable Crichton," though the characters differ.

People He Knows

Some of them, Flynn says, are inspired by Hollywood characters he knows. If you start looking for someone you know, you may find a few. One character sits on the deck of the stranded vessel, reading a racing form a year old, and excidedly reaching for the issue to see whether the horse he likes won that race. He is Raoul Walsh, Hollywood director whom Flynn admires very muc

Cleo, the heroine, who is described by Flynn as "a sexy little society dame who always wears shorts," has a Hollywood prototype, but Flynn isn't talking on that one. Best character in the book, says the author, is the German missionary priest, who's been lost in the wilds, by choice, for years, a lusty salty fellow.

"The only role in it I could play, if it's bought for pictures, is on the dull side, the hero," Flynn said. "He's a serious and intense young man; that would make it a character role for me," quipped Flynn.

The number of cotton-spinning mills in the United States has declined by 179 establishments, or 17.1 per cent, in the last 10 years, from 1046 mills in 1935 to 867 mills in 1944.

Hey Neighbor—saddle up and come on over. Big Foot says Lubbock's gonna have one of them famous "Jersey Lilly eating places"—you know where they serve only old time chuck wagon grub. We mean the real McCoy—sometime our barbeque is so tough you have to cut it with your fork, and there's that there son-of-a-gun, and them there big fat sour-dough biscuits, brown beans and sow bosom, baked taters, Sorghum lasses and black pot coffee (better hush now you are already hungry).

You can take a meal like that to the bank and borrow money on it. People will drive forty miles for a real chuck wagon meal but we will be only 10 minutes from down-town Lubbock. At the Lubbock horse and mule barn on the Plainview-Littlefield cut-off—that old ex-cow poke Frank Britton will be Judge Roy Bean—"Law west of the Pecos" and his wife—Mrs. "Britt" Britton will be the real boss—watch and listen for our opening hit won't be long now.

Fans Look To Bowl Games And East-West, North-South Tilts As 1945 Grid Season Is Ended

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP) — The football season is finished except for the bowl festivals and East-West, North-South games, but the thousands of fans who saw Army's record-busting array in action probably will be talking about this peerless grid machine until another fall campaign rolls around.

In beating Navy 32-13 Saturday for their ninth straight victory this year and their 18th in a row over two seasons, Coach Earl Blaik's repeating national champions became the first cadet corps ever to go through two campaigns with perfect records and the first to win more than 16 games in succession.

It was Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis again who led the Cadets to victory.

The top throng of the day was gathered in Los Angeles' Memorial coliseum where 103,000 fans watched Southern California's Trojans defeat U. C. L. A. 25-15 and earn the right to meet Alabama in the Rose bowl.

Alabama wound up its campaign unbeaten and untied by slaughtering Mississippi State 55-13.

Miami walloped Auburn 33-7 Friday night. With Bobby Lund romping for four touchdowns, Tennessee clinched second place to Alabama in the Southeastern conference by trouncing Vanderbilt 45-0; Louisiana State won the battle of the bayous by whipping Tulane 33-0 and Georgia wrapped up the state title by overwhelming Georgia Tech 33-0.

The ranking form reversal of the weekend saw Great Lakes' sailors mow down Notre Dame 39-7 while California staged another surprise by beating St. Mary's pre-flight 6-0.

Second place in the Southern conference went to Wake Forest who beat Clemson 15-16.

Eight Grid Squads Unbeaten, Untied

NEW YORK, Dec. 3. (AP)—Eight college football teams finished the 1945 season unbeaten and untied, headed by Army's national champions for the second year in a row.

The unbeaten and untied teams:

Team	G.	Pts.	O.P.
Army	8	412	46
Alabama	8	375	66
Oklahoma A. & M.	8	252	63
Arkansas Tech	8	311	6
Oberlin	8	230	40
Gustavus Adolphus	6	138	19
Arizona	5	193	12
Redlands	5	150	13

Ben Hogan Victor In Orlando Open

ORLANDO, Fla., Dec. 3 (U.P.) — Ben Hogan, whose six-stroke victory in the Orlando open yesterday was his second straight tournament win, headed a field of some 150 touring golf professionals and amateurs who moved to Miami today for next weekend's Miami open.

Hogan, a leading money-winner before entering the Army in 1942, was in top form as he ran his 1945 links earnings to $27,000 by capturing the $2,000 war bond for first place. He carded a 67 on his final round for a 72-hole total of 270, 14 under par.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Sanford, Me., grabbed a tie for second with John Revolta at 276. Best round of the day was the seven-under-par 64 carded by Bob Hamilton of Chicago, who moved into sixth place with 280.

About 50 per cent of the corn acreage in Wyoming was damaged this year by low temperatures.

Grid Season Was Thriller

Upsets And Freak Plays In Texas

BY CLAUDE RAMSEY
United Press Sports Writer

A stocky hard-hitting freshman brought the name of Kimbrough back into Southwest headlines as he banged through opponents of the 1945 season in a display of vicious blocking seldom seen in the Lone Star state.

Backing up the right side of the traditional "Good Ole Baylor Line" was halfback Billy Kimbrough, 17-year-old triple-threater from Beaumont.

Refused Pro Offer

No relative of the famous Jarrin' John or Baylor's coach, Frank the congenial youngster thought a long time before he turned down a Detroit Tiger shortstop contract to go to college.

Once in school, however, he soon earned the title of "hardest tackler and blocker ever at Baylor," an institution of rugged grid power.

Against Texas Christian he knocked out three players, two of them remaining off the turf for two weeks; against Arkansas he carried the ball 15 times for a 10-yard average; and he was credited with stopping two Texas touchdowns.

Kidney stones threw him in the hospital before the Southern Methodist and Rice games and, quick to spot his absence, the Mustangs and Owls hit the right side of the Baylor line for costly yardage.

Is Average Student

An average student at Waco, Billy hasn't decided what subject he'll major in, and says he'll be ready to think more about that Detroit proposition after graduation in 1949.

Besides young Billy's kidney stones, Baylor, playing its first football since 1942, was hounded with misfortune all season. Assistant Coach Bill Henderson weeded 100 players down to a team to smother two warm-up rivals, but dropped the third contest.

Then Lt. Cmdr. Frank Kimbrough, head coach, received three weeks leave from the Navy and took charge. Henderson stepped in for another week's work and Coach Kimbrough returned permanently Nov. 4 to herd the Bruins through to a season's record of five wins, one tie and five losses.

Full Of Upsets

Full of upsets and freak plays, the Southwest at one time saw Texas Christian, Arkansas and Southern Methodist atop the race only to be shoved aside by Texas. The Longhorns escaped a Rice uprising and got the title.

Service men hung up G. I. uniforms in mid-season to spark their teams to victories like Texas' Bobby Layne and Ralph Ellsworth and Southern Methodist's Doak Walker. Rice lost its brainy field general, Bob Nemir, due to Navy travel orders and never won a game thereafter.

Texas made its water-boy captain for its last game and Texas Christian praised Allah for the educated toe of Harry Mullins that kicked deciding points in three games. George Walmsley of Rice caught his own pass for a 15 yard loss and against T. C. U. crippled Walt Schlinkman of Texas Tech picked up 137 yards compared to six for the Christians and one for the remainder of the Tech team.

With only 15 seconds remaining in the final game of the 1945 season Baylor's big Bob Johnson placed a huge toe on the ball 15 yards from the sideline and booted the pigskin 31 yards to give the Bruins a field goal margin over the favored Rice team and ring down the curtain for another year in typical Southwest fashion.

The Baylor upset at Houston Saturday was to the tune of 17-14 while half an hour earlier at Fort Worth S. M. U. blanketed the Horned Frogs 34-0 to become runner-up in the conference.

Of such things was the 1945 Southwest grid season made.

Southwest Conference Cagers Will Be In Action This Week

(By The Associated Press)

All Southwest conference basketball teams will be in action this week, Baylor, Texas A. and M., Rice and Texas will be taking the court for the first time.

Arkansas, which rolled up 101 points Saturday night in walloping Sedalia, Mo., Army Air field, will open an intersectional schedule which will take it through the south and east.

Arkansas To Be Busy

The Razorbacks, boasting a 76-35 victory over Camp Chaffee, Ark., and 101-37 decision over Sedalia Air field, engage Western Kentucky Teachers at Little Rock Thursday and Friday nights, then next week journey to Memphis, Tenn., to play NATTC, going from there to New York to play New York university and looping back through Kentucky to engage Kentucky university at Lexington.

Southern Methodist, which holds a 50-28 victory over Ashburn General hospital and 54-44 decision over Dallas Naval Air station, plays the latter at Dallas tonight.

Texas Christian, which opened the season with a 30-20 win over the Eagle Mountain Marines, engages North Texas State Teachers at Denton tomorrow night and the same team at Fort Worth Friday night.

Others Open Season

Baylor opens the season tomorrow night against Randolph field at San Antonio, Texas A. and M. begins the campaign against Camp Bowie at College Station Wednesday night. Rice plays Sam Houston State Teachers, at Huntsville Thursday night and Texas opens the season with Kelly field at Austin Friday night. Other games this week:

Friday and Saturday nights — Southern Methodist vs. Oklahoma at Norman.

Saturday night — Texas A. and M. vs. Ellington field at College Station.

The famous English potteries founded in 1759 by Josiah Wedgwood have been operated continuously by the family for nearly two centuries.

Service Clubs To End Season

(By The Associated Press)

Two more games and Texas service football teams will close the season. The Camp Hood Doughboys play Camp Swift at Killeen tonight. Next Sunday Amy Air Forces Training command rings down the curtain with a game at San Antonio against Personnel Distribution command of Louisville, Ky.

The Fourth Army Maroons of Camp Hood went back into first place last week by beating Camp Swift 6-0. The Maroons now show a record of eight victories against one loss. Corpus Christi Naval Air station has seven wins and one defeat.

Training Command brought its victory string for the season to seven against two losses and one tie by downing Second Air Force 37-7 Sunday.

Hondo Army Air field surprised by holding Tulsa university to a two-point victory. The Golden Hurricane was pressed to win 20-18 from the Texas fliers.

Sixteen Sectional Champions Preparing For Bi-District Games In High School Race; Highland And Waco Are Favored

BY ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

What appeared to be the best-balanced Texas schoolboy football playoff race in years was shaping up today as the 16 class AA district champions prepared for their most important games of the season this coming weekend—the bi-district eliminations.

For the first time in the memory of most observers there wasn't a definite "weak sister" starting the round of 16. And, although there were underdogs in every contest, each team in the race was figured as capable of winning its opening round game without causing too much eyebrow lifting.

Pairings Announced

With Amarillo, Odessa, Highland Park and Waco clinching their playoff berths in the final weekend of the season, the bi-district pairings looked like this:

Amarillo at Wichita Falls, Saturday, 2 p. m.
Odessa at El Paso, Saturday, 2 p. m.
Highland Park at Paris, Friday, 2:30 p. m.
Crozier Tech of Dallas at North Side of Fort Worth, Friday, 8 p. m.
Breckenridge at Waco, Saturday, 2 p. m.
Marshall at Lufkin, Friday, 2:30 p. m.
Goose Creek at Milby of Houston, Saturday, 2:30 p. m.
Brownsville at Jefferson of San Antonio, Friday, 8 p. m.

Highland Park and Waco were generally rated favorites to meet in the finals Dec. 28, but the path to that goal will be strewn with tough obstacles.

Wichita Rates High

Wichita Falls and Lufkin rated close up behind the favorites as possible finalists.

Wichita Falls, Odessa, Highland Park, Crozier Tech, Waco, Lufkin, Goose Creek and Jefferson were favored in the opening round games, although that pattern would eliminate three of the five teams which managed to squeeze through the season without losing or tying a game.

Perfect record teams were Odessa, Paris, Lufkin, Milby and Brownsville. Highland Park and Wichita Falls had only a tie to

Shanghai Mysterious And Exciting, Where Native Girls Peddle Blackjacks For Buck

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, Dec. 3—A pretty young Chinese girl stood half-hidden in the shadows of the iron girders of Soochow creek bridge.

As each passerby walked over the Soochow bridge the Chinese girl came out from her shelter in the girders. She was one of a half dozen outdoor merchants who use the bridge as a salesroom.

She held out a piece of merchandise—a small, leather-covered object with a braided leather thong.

"Two dollars," she said.

I asked her what it was, and she swung it vigorously, as if she were cracking down on a skull, and laughed merrily. I saw then it was a blackjack and before I could walk on she had cut the price from a dollar and a half to $1.

Not Disappointing

I passed up the purchase because there was nobody around at the moment I wanted to clip, but the experience convinced me that of all oriental cities Shanghai is least disappointing to a newcomer. Where else in the world would you run across a pretty native girl at night peddling blackjacks at one buck each?

That was more impressive even then the oft-quoted statement that for $50 you could get anyone murdered here.

But despite all complaints being made against Shanghai merchants by American service personnel, their prices are no higher than merchants charge in Hongkong, Singapore or Tokyo.

Melting-Pot Of World

And Shanghai has much to be said for it on the credit side. More than any city in the Far East it is mysterious and exciting—a true wonderland of mixed-up peoples and strange sights and sounds, where women refugees belt rickshaw boys during fare disputes and somebody is throwing firecrackers at all hours. You have that strange small-boy feeling that "anything can happen here," and you can buy a mink coat for $250.

No city could be more cosmopolite. In one hotel lounge I counted 14 nationalities—American, English, Chinese, Russian, Polish, Danish, Indian, Iraquian, Swedish, Greek, Swiss, Austrian, German and Czechoslovakian.

This city by the Whangpoo river is the world-to-be in miniature—full of ambitious frustrations and secret dealings. It is perhaps the most interesting place in the world, yet I have met only one American soldier who wants to stay here.

Legend has it that the first cards made in the United States were painted on leaves by the sailors who came over with Columbus after they had thrown more orthodox cards over the side.

WALKING down the street the other day, The Plainsman stopped to chat a minute with Elder Liff Sanders who, we believe, is the dean of South Plains ministers. There may be some preachers in Lubbock, or in this vicinity, who are older in years than Mr. Sanders. But we believe there is none alive who preached the Gospel here at an earlier date that this grand gentleman who blazed the trail for present day Churches of Christ.

As L. C. (Claude) Denton aptly remarked: "Liff Sanders is an A-1 man. If everybody was like him, we wouldn't need any jails." Although Mr. Sanders has always been a member of the Church of Christ, he preached to all denominations in his early days in this area.

C. E. Hunt, one of our oldest oldtimers from a standpoint of residence in Lubbock, has in his little black book the time of Mr. Sanders' arrival in Lubbock. It was in November of 1900—now a little more than 45 years ago. But Mr. Sanders had preached on the South Plains prior to that time, for he had lived in Lockney for two years before coming to Lubbock.

Mr. Sanders must be in the neighborhood of 70, but he surely doesn't look it. He sows the result of clean living and doesn't seem to have aged a day in the past 20 years.

Speaking of Claude Denton, also a pioneer, reminds us of a story he told us the other day.

"I don't really owe anybody a nickel," he said. "But I sure would like to run across a man I made a trade with over 20 years ago."

It seems that Mr. Denton had a quarter-section of land for sale, wanted $1,000 down, the balance in 10 equal notes. A man from down-state was here and wanted the land, but only had $500 in cash.

"Tell you what I'll do," said the down-stater to Mr. Denton. "I'll take your land. Here's $500 to bind the deal. I'll go back home, get the rest of the money and we'll close it up. If you don't hear from me in a few weeks time, the $500 is yours. If I come back, the $500 is half of the down payment."

Mr. Denton agreed. He took the money. There were no papers signed.

Mr. Denton hasn't heard from the man from that day until this—doesn't even remember his name.

"Of course," Mr. Denton says, "that's my money the way the trade was made. But I've never felt too good about it."

WHAT is probably the most famous hunk of pork-on-the-hoof in Crosby county soon likely will be showing up in hams and bacon. This hunk of pork-on-the-hoof is Minnie Pearl, a sow on the place of Cliff Westerman, of the Robertson community not too far from Lorenzo.

Minnie Pearl is so big and fat (she tips the beam around 700 pounds) that she's not much good for pig-producing any more, so Mr. Westerman plans to sell her. Minnie Pearl is the property of Mr. Westerman's son, Roland, a student at New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell, who regales his school-mates with stories of her prowess and who keeps Minnie's picture in his room, along with a collection of pin-up girls.

Have you ever seen a left-handed fiddler?

Well, there's one around and about Lubbock. He is Walter Lester and despite the fact that he saws his fiddle in the opposite from the customary direction, he does pretty doggone good.

SOMEBODY around here is having fun with chums whose hair is getting gray at the temples. Ed Hambright and Guy Victory, neither of whom is as young as he used to be but both of whom are still a long way from senility, have been receiving by mail interesting advertisements regarding how to put the lost lustre back in their hirsute adornments.

R. L. McAlister, manager of Radio Station KICA in Clovis, has been a citizen of New Mexico for several years now and not long ago was given an award for being Clovis' outstanding young citizen. The former member of the KFYO team of "Mac and Wes," ("Wes" having been Wes Youngblood, now one of the top announcers on the Pacific Coast) therefore should be able to give pretty fair testimony regarding the officiating at the Texas Tech-New Mexico university game in Albuquerque last Saturday week.

"Dr. John Odell Morgan was right as a fox when he said the officiating was 'lousy.' I've seen a whale of a lot of football, and I concur with the good doctor," said Bro. McAlister to us over the telephone the other day. "Furthermore," continued Mac, "the United Press at Santa Fe asked me what I thought after the Morgan description of the officiating and I told the UP Dell hit the nail on the head."

This, of course, is just for the record.

A FEW years over a quarter century ago, a 14-year-old kid with a peeled onion hair-cut each week-day afternoon used to lay a copy of the Tulsa Democrat on the desk of a handsome, powerfully set up man with a twinkle in his eye and a suggestion of the swashbuckler in his mein.

The kid was The Plainsman. The man was Pat Hurley, already an outstanding citizen of Oklahoma; a man who had battered his way up the financial ladder from the cow camp and the sludge pits of Oklahoma's roaring oil fields.

A few years later, upon two or three occasions, The Plainsman was among the vacationing college kids who danced the 1920 version of today's jitterbugging in the beautiful Hurley mansion off Tulsa's Riverside Drive when Mr. and Mrs. Hurley gathered the younger set together to fete a niece visiting from Chicago, as we now recollect. We remember one night, in particular, when we left the fun-making and, in great awe, conversed with the man who later became a major general, a Presidential ambassador without portfolio and, finally, the U. S. ambassador to China.

General Hurley recently has been in the news as never before.

He hasn't referred to a spade as a spade. He has publically called it a blankety-blank shovel!

He has ripped the shrouds of secrecy and fuddy-duddyism from the oh-so-sacred State department; has paid his respects to the striped pants diplomats of the four o'clock tea variety and has told his fellow countrymen that, in his opinion, they are victims of a gigantic run-around.

FROM our personal knowledge of General Hurley, we can say this: he thinks he is right in his beliefs; he thought he was right in "speaking out in meeting" regarding what he considers bad business in China and elsewhere around the world. We can't say he is right, because we don't know about that. But we can say that Pat Hurley is and always has been a man who swings a mean axe when he thinks he should—and who is willing to let the chips fall where they may.

Brave as a lion; a believer in talking straight from the shoulder and of dealing the cards above the table, General Hurley by nature cannot condone chicanery, secret dealing and/or vacillation or appeasement.

Like all men of action, he believes in action—especially action to right what he considers to be wrong.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT

(Copyright, 1945, For The Journal)

"GRANDMOTHER wanted," said an advertisement in a New York newspaper, which went on to explain that a little three-year-old girl needed a new grandmother because her own was moving out of the city.

MILLETT

Well, good luck to little Linda Rose in her search for a new grandmother. Without wishing to discourage her, it is only fair to point out that a satisfactory substitute grandmother may be very hard to find.

For much of the real grandmother's love for her grandchildren springs from the fact that they are actually John's or Mary's children. That fact alone makes them the most remarkable children in the world.

Then, too, there are all those traits that a real grandmother can trace back to older members of the family—and the secret feeling that some of the good qualities come from grandmother, herself, or at least from her side of the family.

SHE CAN BE A FRIEND

AND if a grandchild looks like a grandmother's own son or daughter once looked, then it seems the grandmother actually has her own child back again.

So, while a substitute grandmother might be very nice friend for a little girl, it hardly seems that she would fill the place vacated by a real grandmother.

To be a real grandmother to a child you have to have the special feeling that makes an ordinary child seem superior in every way for only one reason, because the child is John's or Mary's.

Today's Journal Editorial

HI-YAH, EGG-HEAD!

The hat manufacturers and all those with heads will be interested in a report from Mr. Franz Weidenreich of the American Museum of Natural History. A cranial specialist, Mr. Weidenreich proclaims that man's head—and we suppose that he means women, too—is getting shorter and wider.

But this does not indicate, he says, that our brain space is getting any bigger. In fact, he rather stays off the subject of brains, which may or may not mean anything. The real reason for the change, he explains, is the accumulative result of mankind walking erect.

A long time ago—Mr. Weidenreich is doing the talking—most men had long, narrow skulls simply because that is the way skulls grew when men (now, now, Weidenreich) were on all fours. When man stood up and picked the grassburrs out of his hands, the shape of his head changed.

"All mankind has undergone, or is undergoing, the change to the short, wide skull, in a physical evolutionary process," he declares. One gathers that, if this keeps up, our great-great-great-great-great-great-great-grandchildren will have heads shaped like fans. They may have to walk sideways to avoid the wind resistance that would meet them full face.

Or, if Mr. Weidenreich is correct, and we are not saying that he is, they might crawl around on their all fours at intervals of three or four years to reduce their headspread.

This big-head tendency is not confined to certain races or groups, Mr. Weidenreich avows. Everything that walks on two feet is susceptible, evidently.

We are inclined to believe that W. missed a bump or two in his "book" of phrenology. But maybe he's right.

Hurley Doesn't Understand Chinese Ways

Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — In 1925 this writer was making a laborious trip over the Gobi desert to Urga, capital of Mongolia. Across the horizon, heading down from the Siberian border, came a long caravan of motor cars — Fords, Buicks, Chevrolets of uncertain vintage—all driven by Chinese chauffeurs. Puffing across the plain, they pulled up at the water-hole where I was encamped.

On the running board of each car was strapped a long wooden box packed with rifles. Inside each car were smaller boxes of cartridges.

PEARSON

They were being shipped by Soviet Russia to stir up civil war in China. But their recipient was none other than Chiang Kai-Shek, more recently the ardent opponent of Russia.

Later this writer visited Chiang's stronghold in South China. He was in command of the Shampo cadets, a Red Chinese Army, trained by Soviet officers including the famous Comrade Borodin.

To Britons and Americans at that time, Chiange Kai-Shek and Communism were one and the same thing. Both were equally hated — and for good reason. In Canton, he and his so-called Communists had clamped down a boycott against Americans, Britons, and all foreigners that was no joke. Grass grew in the streets of the foreign settlement. The American consul general, Douglas Jenkins, could be seen each morning sweeping out his office. Every foreign official in Canton cooked his own meals — and considered himself lucky to get food. Only humorous aspect was watching the tall and bearded French consul pull his groceries home from the commissary in a child's toy wagon every morning.

OUR COWBOY AMBASSADOR

THAT was exactly 20 years ago.

Since then, Chiang Kai-Shek has become the great friend of the Americans and British and enemy of the Russians — though quite capable of patching up a new division of Manchurian spoils with them as reported last week.

I mention this because such changes are not uncommon in China. Neither are civil wars. There has been no period in the last 100 years of Chinese history when some war lord or other did not have an Army in the field, jockeying for more revenue, more territory, or more concubines.

At such times as I have visited China, it was always an axiom that when the Chinese corn crop was cut, the troops would start moving. Even Chinese war lords had some copsideration for peasants' crops and the country's food supply.

It was into this vortex of political intrigue that Pat Hurley, our naive and delightful cowboy ambassador from Oklahoma, threw the full weight of the U. S. A. with all its prestige, all its lendlease, all its far east airplanes — and threw their weight on one side, apparently not realizing that its chief was quite capable of making a new deal with his enemy, the Russians, whenever it was expedient, behind Hurley's back.

All this is why Hurley was so sore at the State department's Far Eastern experts who tried to warn him what was cooking. Months ago they realized what public reaction would be to American pilots' losing their lives for the benefit of Chinese war lords.

Note 1 — Eleven U. S. plane crashes were reported last week in China in one day alone, all of them flown by U. S. pilots for the benefit of Chiang Kai-Shek.

Note 2 — Senator Langer of North Dakota has long demanded that the State department explain the gift of rare Chinese jewelry valued at $30,000 by the Chiang government to Mrs. Hurley.

NO PARACHUTES

ADDITIONAL information is now available regarding the tragic death of Pvt. W. M. Callaway of Beaumont, Texas, on Oct. 7, 1945, in the Himalaya mountains, just after his and other Army passenger planes had been ordered not to carry parachutes.

The no-parachute order was issued by the Air Forces in Washington, Sept. 5, and by Brig. Gen. William H. Tunner, commander of the India-Burma theater, on Sept. 20. He was carrying out Washington orders. The order applied to C-54s, or 4-engined transports carrying passengers, including Tunner's own plane, and specified that they should not carry parachutes.

Hitherto these planes had carried parachutes while flying the "hump" but the Army explains that hump flying has been stopped. Reason for the no-parachute order on 4-motored transport planes carrying passengers is that though the crew could bail out, the passengers can't. They haven't been trained in parachute jumping, and no crew can desert a ship ahead of its passengers.

One reason why U. S. pilots in China are now burned up is that many of them have to carry Chinese troops into the battle area for Chiang Kai-Shek. Imagine the panic if 50 to 60 Chinese troop passengers all tried to bail out.

It should be noted that this situation is not the fault of the Air Transport command, which, like a railroad, is merely given orders to carry this or that. The ATC, for instance, once had to carry a Cadillac car across the hump for the benefit of Ambassador Hurley. Despite all these handicaps, General Tunner has sharply reduced the India-China accident rate.

Describing the situation, General Tunner informs me: "The men who flew Air Transport command planes in India and China, unarmed and under constant threat of enemy attack, performed one of the outstanding feats of all American forces in the war. Private Callaway was one of these men. He was one of 910 crew members who gave their lives in crashes of 594 aircraft in the India-China division of ATC while in the service of their country and the loss of every man is regrettable. Private Callaway was one of the 35,000 limitary personnel in the India-Burma division who made it possible to lift 776,532 tons of war materials to China from Dec. 1, 1942, to Nov. 1, 1945."

The latter were peddling tickets for $50 each . . . IN 1918 Blasco Ibanez's The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse made publishing history in America in more ways than one. Its chances in this country were rated so unlikely that an agent sold the American rights outright for $500.

Years later, after the book had sold hundreds of thousands of copies and the picture version had created a new idol in the person of Rudolph Valentino, Blasco Ibanez visited the United States, and was presented with a check for $10,000 by the fortunate publisher. The perfect ending of this little idyll of honesty and good will would be a tableau of the author swooning in gratitude. As a matter of fact, he squawked to high heaven.

A Test Of Strength

State Department Unable To Cope With Occupation

Overhaul Of Foreign Policy Said Necessary

By MARQUIS CHILDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — Taking pot shots at our foreign policy is an indoor sport indulged by high and low, and one that just now seems to be enjoying new popularity. If the target is somewhat vague, it is also so big and so full of contradictions and confusions that you can hardly miss.

What many of the critics overlook is that even if we had a clearcut foreign policy, we are lacking an adequate instrument to make it effective. With a series of rapid shifts in control at the top and a host of new functions dumped in at the bottom, the poor old State department is like a ship without a rudder.

CHILDS

During the past two years it has gone from bad to worse. The disorganization that exists today is a serious handicap at a time when we need, perhaps more than ever before in our history, to have an efficient, smoothly-functioning department of foreign affairs.

Ike Urged Civilian Control

That need should be looked at in the light of the demands soon to be made on the department. Shortly before he gave up his command in Europe to become chief of staff, General Eisenhower urged that control of the American zone in Germany be turned over to civilians at the earliest possible time.

But to what civilians? Obviously, the State department. The department is pathetically unprepared to take on any such responsibility, even though it's been plain for some time that it would get the job.

To prepare policy instructions for our military government in Germany, Japan and Korea, the department had until recently a staff of exactly 13 men. Efforts are now being made to recruit additional experts. But it will have to get moving in a hurry if the necessary personnel are assembled in time to take over from the military.

THE military want to step out as quickly as possible. That is easy to understand, since the job of policing conquered country is one long headache. The prospect is that when they pull out, there will be nothing to substitute for military occupation.

The kind of long-term supervision that should be done requires planning and preparation. The enemy branch of the Foreign Economic administration presented the State department with a workable plan. It calls for detailed inspection and supervision of German science and industry, to make sure that the Germans do not secretly begin working for another try at conquest.

This is of vital importance in the era we are entering, when atomic missiles may flash across the sky without warning. It means replacing a large occupation force with a small staff of technicians who can readily spot any new rearmament effort and stamp on it with the use of force from the outside, if necessary.

Peace Aims Threatened

Such a technical staff cannot be assembled overnight. If we are not prepared to move in behind military occupation, then the peril is that we will pull out altogether. In other words, we will shuffle off another of our responsibilities for world peace.

The State department is not used to coping with technical problems that call for speed and efficiency. Take the matter of dealing with German assets hidden in neutral countries.

The amount involved is not small. The Germans managed to find safe refuge outside the Reich, and outside Britain and the United States, for $1,500,000,000 in assets. Much of this flowed out of Germany in the final months of the war, when the smart insiders knew that this trial for world dictatorship had failed.

A LOT of it represents investment in strategic industries in Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and the Argentine. FEA wanted to organize teams of experts to inventory these assets in the neutral countries. The State department disapproved.

Consequently, in Spain, where the Germans control several thousand firms and where at least 1500 active Nazi agents have taken refuge, two attaches in our embassy are trying to do the overseeing job. They have no background or training in industry, and therefore they rely on the Franco government for information.

Reorganization of the State department from top to bottom is a must. It is not too much to say that our future as a nation depends on it.

COINCIDENTALS

BENTON, Ill., (AP)—Two women, each bearing the name of Mrs. Earl Sanders, who live on the same street in the same block and each the mother of three sons, occupy the same ward in nearby West Frankfort's Union hospital.

Within the same hour each woman gave birth to a daughter. Dr. G. G. Moore was the busy attending physician for both women.

BEDTIME STORY

CLAYTON, N. M. (AP) — John Haverfield, Scott City, Kas., cattle buyer, and some of the boys were discussing horses in Haverfield's hotel room.

After a particularly glowing description of a colt from Larry Kehoe, Texline, Tex., Haverfield made this proposition:

"I'll buy him without ever seeing him if you'll bring him right up here in this room and tie him to the bedpost."

And — to the cheers of a crowd in the lobby — that's just what Kehoe did.

ROUT

CHICAGO, (AP)—Mrs. Martha Gilmore, 52, the grandmother of nine, didn't like the idea of a prowler in her home. So, in her nightie, she chased him out.

In bed, Mrs. Gilmore heard the prowler but thought it was her husband, Tom, a county jail guard. When he didn't answer, she investigated.

Mrs. Gilmore lunged, nightie and all, and the man fled.

Today's Thought

So ye shall not pollute the land wherein ye are: for blood it defileth the land: and the land cannot be cleansed of the blood that is shed therein, but by the blood of him that shed it.—Numbers 36-33.

* * *

Blood, though it sleeps a time, yet never dies.

The gods on murtherers fix revengeful eyes.—George Chapman.

So The Landlord Wants You To Get Out! If He Says So, Here's The Best Advice

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 — So the landlord wants you to get out. If he says so, here's the best advice: Check immediately with the OPA rental director in your area.

There are general OPA rules on vacating, applying to the whole country. Since each OPA has its own director and problems, the rules and time limit vary a bit from area to area.

In addition, there are local laws on evictions. They, too, vary. Some say a landlord can't evict within 30 days, some 60, some more.

His Rule Will Stick

In a certain case in a certain place, local law may say a landlord can evict in 30 days. But the OPA director may rule in that case — or that kind of case — that he can't evict for six months. His rule sticks.

Remember: Veterans who are landlords get special consideration from OPA and local courts when they want to occupy a house they own. There are two main groups of landlords:

1. Those who owned the property in which you live before OPA regulations went into effect in that area.

2. Those who bought the property after that date.

Take No. 1 — The landlord who owned the property before OPA regulations went into effect.

Can't Force You Out

Whether or not he's a veteran, he can't force you out at all if you have been a good tenant and his only reason for wanting you to vacate is to rent to someone else.

If the landlord (not a veteran) wants to occupy the property himself but has no urgent need for doing so, in most areas he'll have to wait six months. In some places it will be three months.

He must get from the OPA director a certificate of eviction. The director will send a copy to you. Depending on the area, the director will see that you don't have to move for three or six months.

But suppose the landlord says he wants you out because he urgently needs the place for his own occupancy. In that case he must notify you and file a copy of the notice with OPA.

In such a case the OPA doesn't have anything further to do with the matter.

Have To Go To Court

If you don't believe the landlord's story of urgency and refuse to move, he'll have to go to local court to force you out. There he'll have to prove his urgency. If the court believes him, it will set a date for you to move. This date will depend on local law, not on OPA.

Now take No. 2 — The landlord who bought the property after the OPA regulations in that area became effective.

Suppose he wants you out so he can move in. Veteran or non-veteran, such a landlord must get an OPA eviction certificate. The OPA director will decide how long before you have to get out.

Women in the U. S. labor force in 1950 will number about 17,500,000 to 18,000,000, as compared to 17,800,000 average in 1944, according to an estimate by the Census Bureau.

Italy Staging Political War

ROME, Dec. 3 (AP)—One cardinal factor motivates the recurrent Italian political crisis—a bitter war between leftists and conservatives for control of the government before the nation holds its first general elections.

Ferruccio Parri defined his administration as "moderate leftist" in a dramatic farewell speech to the Committee of National Liberation which placed him in power as premier last June.

It was this tendency of the government, observers say, which led liberals, the most conservative of the six coalition parties, to quit the cabinet.

No Election Held

Although southern Italy has been liberated more than two years, no local elections have been held anywhere in the the country. The United States finally informed the Italian government it would welcome early local elections as proof of Democratic intentions.

Local elections then were set to begin this year and general elections for a constituent assembly not later than next April. Significantly, however, the government postponed the vital question of powers of the constituent assembly—an issue fraught with crisis.

The constituent assembly's powers might include a decision on the monarchy, examination of the Lateran treaty, signed by Mussolini and the Vatican, as well as establishing an economic form for the new Italian state.

In Parri's government, a socialist and fervid Republican, Pietro Nenni, held the post of minister of the constituent assembly, charged with preparing law and procedure for that body. Parri himself, a member of the action party which also is Republican, held the ministry of interior which controls the police—generally regarded as a key factor in determining the result of elections in Italy.

Wage Bitter Struggle

The monarchists, waging a bitter struggle for survival, were against Parri's government from the outset. Advisers of Crown Prince Umberto have asserted that the Committee of National Liberation, upon which the government was based, included only leftwing members in many parts of Italy.

The monarchists, moreover, wanted the issue of the king or the republic decided by a referendum rather than by the constituent assembly on the grounds that the assembly would vote along party lines.

With the fall of Parri, the monarchists did not conceal that they pinned their hopes on Vittorio Emmanuel Orlando—an independent but not unfriendly to the monarchy—for forming a new government. Although Orlando's candidacy was opposed at the outset by the left wing it was not excluded that he still may be named premier.

The Communists' opposition to Orlando is the lightest of all left wing parties, but the Communist policy in Italy, based on past performance, has been to participate in any government.

Captain Trades Bars For Retirement Pay

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 3. (AP)—Here's one officer who decided he'd rather be an enlisted man. It sounds complicated, but Capt. Hal W. Freeman of Boise, Idaho, gave up his Army commission to re-enlist as a master sergeant to qualify for a pension.

In the Army for more than 30 years, Freeman was not entitled to retirement allowance except for disability.

Now as Master Sgt. Freeman, he can request immediate release and retire at 75 per cent of his base pay plus longevity pay. In his case it adds up to about $155 a month for life.

Maryland and Massachusetts are the only two states with capital buildings dating from before the Revolution.

Car Owners Report:

PREWAR PERFORMANCE AND BETTER FROM U.S. ROYALS

Since Pearl Harbor "U. S." scientists have made as much progress in applying synthetic materials to tire manufacture as had been made in the previous three decades with natural rubber.

Result—car owners are sending in reports from every section of the country that they are getting prewar performance and better from their U. S. Royals.

From tire dealers, tire service men and tire engineers, men who have made tires their life work, the evidence piles up—U. S. Royals are out in front in mileage, in safety, in all-round performance.

Follow this plan to get your U. S. Royals:

- Go to your U. S. Royal Dealer today for a thorough tire inspection.
- If you are in urgent need of new tires, he will show you how to get them at the earliest possible moment.
- If your need is not immediate, he will use his expert knowledge of tire care to keep your car on active duty until new U. S. Royals are available.
- The quickest way to get new U. S. Royals is to register your tire needs with your U. S. Royal Dealer now.

blemish their records—that against each other.

Amarillo, North Side, Crozier Tech, Breckenridge and Waco were beaten once, El Paso and Goose Creek twice and Jefferson three times.

Best Offensive Records

Best offensive records were chalked up by Lufkin, with 380 points to 59 for the opposition, Highland Park, with 370 to 33, and Brownsville, with 353 to 40.

North Side, which allowed only three touchdowns all season, had the best defensive record of holding the opposition to 21 points. Highland Park was runnerup with 33 and Wichita Falls and Paris were close behind with 37 and 38 points, respectively.

Seven of the district champions are repeaters setting the stage for repetitions of last year's games in three cases—Amarillo vs. Wichita Falls, Breckenridge vs. Waco and Marshall vs. Lufkin. Last year Amarillo won 7-6, Waco on penetrations 5-4 after a 27-27 tie, and Lufkin 19-13. Highland Park is the other repeater.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.) Adv

Modern Chinese Navy Whittled Down To Six Ships After Being Destroyed And Rebuilt; Allies Aid In Replacement

By RICHARD CUSHING
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, Dec. 3 — China's top admiral, Chen Shao-Kwan, wears six stars, one more than any other admiral in the world. And right now the Chinese Navy is down to six ships, one for each star.

It wasn't always that way. Hundreds of years ago the Chinese Navy had so many ships—wooden junks, of course—that they could be chained together to form a sea blockade 200 miles long.

That was back in the Han dynasty and the three-kingdom dynasty, when three warlords were fighting one another on sea and land. They fought a close-quarter war in those days. They set junks afire with flaming arrows, boarded, and beat in enemy heads with spiked clubs.

Fleet Began In 1842

The modern Chinese Navy began to take shape after the opium war of 1842. China built dockyards and a naval training station.

After the 1911 Chinese revolution the navy obtained ships from Japan, Britain and Germany and eventually floated a fleet of 20 vessels, including several cruisers.

In 1937 the navy had 53 ships, including five cruisers; total tonnage, 44,000 tons.

The fleet was destroyed—except for six small vessels—in three blockade operations on the Yangtze river in late 1937 and early 1938. These blockades were more or less delaying actions, and were costly in men and ships, but prevented the Japanese from sending invasion forces into the interior aboard transport ships.

Lost Most Of Navy

These three blockades cost seven-eighths of the Chinese Navy. The few ships that survived were taken upriver to Chungking after their guns had been removed and emplaced as shore batteries.

The Chinese Navy as such ceased to exist, but Chinese sailors went into the countryside as guerrilla forces. Some operated minefields along the Yangtze.

Soon there will be more than 20 ships, but nothing heavier than a gunboat, in the Chinese Navy. Some are being raised from the river bottom by the Japanese and turned over to China. Others are gifts from Britain, the United States and France. At least one American gunboat, the Tutuila, is now in Chinese hands.
