Trains Rolling Again

WASHINGTON (AP)-The nation's trains are starting to roll again after a clerks union that defied President Carter obeyed a federal judge and agreed - at least temporarily - to end a four-day strike that strangled rail traffic from coast to coast.

But a full resumption of service is expected to be slow, and industry officials estimate it will take four to six days for operations to return to normal.

Pope's Funeral Set

VATICAN CITY (AP)-Thousands of mourners, many weeping openly, filed past the body of Pope Paul I today as the cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church planned the pontiff's funeral and set Oct. 14 to begin the conclave that will choose his successor.

The Congregation of Cardinals, a daily gathering that administers church affairs after the death of a pope, held its first session today and later said the funeral would be held Wednesday.

Princess Margaret Ill

FUNAFUTI, Tuvalu (AP)-Britain's Princess Margaret is ill with a fevor of 104, has cancelled her visits to Tuvalu and Fiji and will be flown to Australia to recover, her private secretary said today.

The 48-year-old princess was in Tuvalu representing her sister Queen Elizabeth II.

No Arab Converts Yet

JERUSALEM (AP)-U.S. envoy Alfred Atherton failed to win any Palestinian converts to the Camp David peace accords but pledged today to continue the dialogue he started Friday with Palestinian leaders from the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip.

"No one was converted," an American diplomatic source said today, commenting on Atherton's closed door meeting with Palestinian leaders Friday night at an undisclosed location.

Atherton sought to break through the Arab opposition that has left President Anwar Sadat of Egypt virturally isolated in the Arab world.

The SDN Column

Leland Wallace, who ranches down below Vincent in Howard County, was in our office the other day and marveled that his place got eight inches of rain during the recent wet spell.

"I never thought I would see anything like it," said Wallace. "It just rained about 50 hours and filled our tanks up and soaked into our land."

Wallace is out notifying people of the date for his fifth annual Anxiety 4th Production Sale, which is set for Oct. 20 at his ranch, just off Texas Highway 350 between here and Big Spring. The Wallaces have one of the largest herds of straight-bred Anxiety 4th Herefords in America.

There are few situations in this life where you can follow a script, or a precise formula. For example, in the Texas and Wyoming football game a week ago yesterday, the total of 20 points came by moving the football a grand total of 34 yards. A week earlier, the University of Houston moved the ball 364 yards but managed to score only three points against Memphis State.

And then there is the story we came across recently about a Metropolitan Opera performance by the legendary Enrico Caruso. He and Maria Jeritza were starring in Carmen when some unusual lines crept into the proceedings. It seems that a nervous horse had done the most impolite thing possible on the stage just before the climactic scene in which Caruso had to stab Jeritza. She refused to fall and die. Stabbing her again, Caruso shouted, "Die! Fall, will you!"

Madame Jeritza screamed back, "I'll die if you can find me a clean place!"

Soviets, U.S. Meet...

New Treaty Is Sought

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter explored prospects for a new strategic weapons limitation treaty today at the White House with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

To prepare for the critical session, Carter convened an unpublicized meeting of security advisers and arms specialists late Friday.

Together they reviewed key obstacles to completion of the agreement as well as negotiations held earlier in the week between U.S. and Soviet delegations headed by Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Gromyko.

Carter's meeting with the Soviet foreign minister was arranged during the New York talks. It is considered critical in determining whether the treaty can be concluded by year's end.

Optimism within the U.S. negotiating team subsequently declined during two apparently inconclusive sessions between Gromyko and Vance.

One American official, declining to be identified, claimed "some movement" after Vance's meetings with Gromyko, but another said "some problems remain."

Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, said Gromyko's meeting with Carter would be a "substantive working session" but offered no predictions Friday about the outcome.

For a year now, Carter has said the administration was on the verge of an agreement with Moscow to limit long-range bombers and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Snyder High Planning Homecoming Weekend

Homecoming activities will begin Thursday at Snyder High School and continue through Friday night.

The SHS Student Council has mapped plans for several major activities during the event.

The Snyder High School Band will lead a parade downtown beginning at 6 p.m. Thursday. The parade will begin in the Varsity Square parking lot, proceed north on College Avenue to the square. It will circle the square clockwise and end up on the west side.

Prizes will be awarded for top floats in the parade. The first prize will be $50, while the second prize will be $25 and the third prize $15. Also, a $5 prize will be awarded for the best-decorated bicycle.

The Student Council also hopes that old-fashioned cars and unusual vehicles will participate in the parade. Those wishing to enter floats should call 573-6301 during school hours, or after 4 p.m. call

Ask Us

Q--Why is first class mail being put up later at the post office than it used to be? By 9:30 a.m. we used to always be able to pick up our mail at the post office box. About half the time now it is not up. Since our business is partly mail order business, we (and I'm sure others) need their mail by the time we use to get it.

A--Postmaster Jack Tilson says there has been no change in schedule at the post office. However, the volume of mail has grown and sometimes the truck which brings mail here is late. This has happened several times recently. Local personnel put the mail up as soon as they can after it arrives, but when there is more mail than usual, it takes longer, and when the truck is late, they get a late start.

DRY WEATHER

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: Highs Friday, 82 degrees; low, 53 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Saturday, 58 degrees; precipitation, none; total precipitation for 1978 to date, 20.55.

WEST TEXAS: Dry with no important temperature changes. High in 90s and 90s. Low in 50s and 60s.

Weevil Control Effort Endures

Scurry County Producers Association was still seeking cotton farmers Saturday to participate in the boll weevil control spraying program.

The office in the Chamber of Commerce-BCD building was open all day Saturday and it will be open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. today for those who may come in and pay their spraying fees. The Texas Department of Agriculture extended the deadline from Friday morning to 5 p.m. Monday for the association to sign up a minimum of 90 per cent of the county's cotton acreage. Failure to reach that mark will result in loss of state funding.

The fee is $2 per acre of cotton land, and the producers association is anxious to learn of any cotton which has been plowed up, or otherwise destroyed. This would affect the figures in computing the percentage.

The Scurry County Producers Association tries to operate the boll weevil control program as economically as possible so far as the farmers are concerned. All of the fees go directly into the spraying program, since there are no personnel salaries paid by the association. The secretary's salary is paid by the BCD.

Two sprayings have been projected this fall to decrease the number of overwintering boll weevils. The recent rains have enhanced the prospects for large numbers of boll weevils to make it through the winter, unless they are sprayed this fall.

United Way Set To Launch Drive

The Scurry County United Way will launch its general campaign to raise more than $50,000 at a cornbread - and - beans "banquet Tuesday night in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The program for the kickoff session will feature Eddy Nicholson of Lubbock who is known as "America's Rocking Chair Philosopher" and who is in demand for speaking engagements throughout the region.

The advance gift division began its work in the campaign last week. In all, the United Way this year hopes to raise $51,340.

Heading the general campaign are Mike Reed and Larry Genuchi. Bill Eiland and John Jarrell head the advance gifts division.

Division chairmen in the general campaign are Charles Lantrip, oil and industry; Jerry Vestal, commercial; Dr. Robert Clinton, educational; Wayland G. Holt, professional, Rex Robinson, rural; Earl "Hassie" Sneed, public employee Rodger Sullenger, utilities, and Lyle Deffebach, royalty owners.

Tickets to the kickoff dinner are priced at $2 each and they may be purchased at the chamber of commerce office.

Two Students Picked WTC Out Of A Book

By JOHN DUNNAM

College students pick Western Texas College for various reasons. Many become Westerners because they have friends attending. Others are attracted to the young college by its reputation as a small and friendly but aggressive learning institution. Still others are recruited by the athletic department. And many attend WTC simply because it is close to home.

But none of these reasons apply to Gail Adderley, a freshman mass communications major from Nassau, Bahamas. Nor do they apply to Betsy Benson, a physical education major from Hawaii who is also an attractive addition to the basketball team.

Betsy is on scholarship but she was not recruited. She found WTC.

"I was looking through a college directory and Western Texas College appealed to me. After finding it offered the courses I wanted I wrote a letter telling them I played basketball. They (Sid Simpson) communicated with two of my high school coaches and I got a scholarship."

Being away from home doesn't bother the spright 17-year-old. The daughter of a career Navy officer, she has found herself living in many parts of the world.

"I was born in Norfolk, Va. From there we moved to California then to Japan for a year."

Next she lived in Rhode Island, Washington, D.C., then back to Japan for seven years. When she was a senior in high school her father retired from the Navy and her family now makes its home in Hawaii.

Betsy says Hawaii is over-rated but that she misses Japan.

"It is a fascinating country. You can just walk around and be entertained by soaking up the cul-

HOMECOMING

573-6234 or 573-9484.

A short pep rally will be held downtown on the west steps of the courthouse following the parade.

The cheerleaders and Student Council will sponsor a homecoming bonfire in Towle Memorial Park just north of the Little League baseball field. It is set for 8:30 p.m.

A big pep-rally is set for 3 p.m. Friday in the SHS Gym, with everyone invited.

The Snyder Tigers will host the Levelland Loboes at 8 p.m. in Tiger Stadium and the homecoming queen will be crowned at half-time.

Following the football game, all ex-students are invited to attend a reception in the Snyder High School Cafeteria, sponsored by the National Honor Society.

The closing event will be a dance in the SHS Student Center, sponsored by the Student Council. The music will be provided by "Jook Box" from Austin.

Two Vehicles In Mishap

One minor traffic accident was investigated Friday by city police.

The mishap occurred in the 2500 block of 40th St. and involved a 1976 Buick driven by Sandra Sewell and a 1973 Ford driven by Vickie Chandler.

The accident was reported at 12:30 p.m.

In the 18th century a good cow yielded only four gallons of milk a day, whereas now a good cow yields eight or nine gallons.

United Way Hunts Sign

Missing: One United Way sign.

The mysterious disappearance of the campaign sign used last year by the United Way on the courthouse square has local officials puzzled. It was taken down after the 1977 campaign and presumably was stored some where.

But where? That's the question nobody has been able to answer during the past week as a search was made in preparation for beginning the 1978 United Way campaign. If anyone knows where the sign is stored, United Way leaders have asked that he or she call the United Way office at 573-5508.

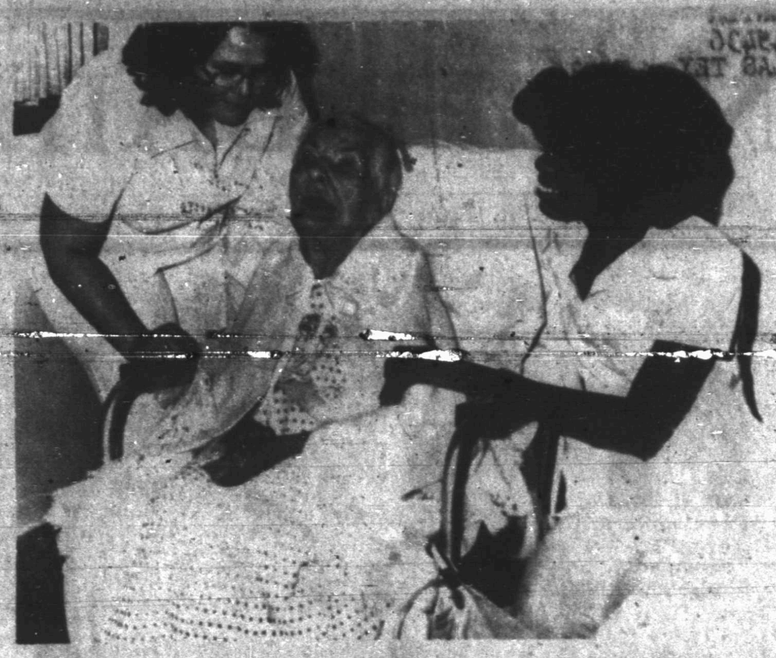

Mark White's Wife Due Here

Linda Gale White, wife of Mark White, Democratic Party nominee for Texas Attorney General, will be in Snyder campaigning for her husband Tuesday.

She will be on a three-day trip through West Texas, accompanied Ann Mobley of Austin. She will fly from Austin to Abilene and then travel by car to Sweetwater, Roby, Snyder, Colorado City, Robert Lee, Bronte, San Angelo, Sterling City, Big Spring, Lamesa, Seminole, Andrews and Midland.

Teachers Meet

The local unit of the Texas State Teachers Association will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the Snyder High School Student Center.

Merger Plan Is In Spotlight

By MARK POTTS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP)-United Technologies Corp. is at it again.

UTC, the aerospace conglomerate that has been one of the most aggressive participants in the takeover game, has set its sights on Carrier Corp., the company founded by and named after the man who produced the first commercial air conditioner.

Carrier is fighting the $1 billion proposal. UTC originally proposed a tax-free merger with Carrier through a securities exchange, but when Carrier's board rejected that idea, UTC said it would go ahead with a tender offer for 49 percent of Carrier's stock and complete the merger through a cash deal or exchange of securities.

Although UTC indicated a willingness to negotiate, Carrier Chairman Melvin C. Holm said "United's 'offers' to negotiate a merger, coupled with the threat of an imminent tender offer, is tantamount, in the board's view, to blackmail and represents an unconscionable course of conduct by United."

But United's conduct may not have been the only thing about the offer Carrier objected to. "We believe the United offer is clearly inadequate from a financial point of view," said Holm, leaving the door open a crack.

Barring a unilateral move by United to raise its offer from the current $28 a share, Carrier could force United's hand by finding another company to make a competing offer - a "white knight," in takeover parlance.

Carrier denied reports that it had discussed merger with other companies, holding to Helms' statement that "We believe that in the long run the interests of all parties will be best served if Carrier remains an independent company."

In other business developments this past week:

-Many of the nation's railway clerks walked off the job in sympathy to the three-month clerks' strike against the Norfolk & Western Railway. The strike closed most of the nation's railroads, hurt much of the nation's industry and led President Carter to form a railroad strike emergency board to mediate the dispute. Although the President said he would go to court if necessary to halt the walkout, the strike continued.

-The Commerce Department reported that the U.S. trade deficit in August shrank to $1.62 billion from July's $2.99 billion, continuing a narrowing trend begun in April.

-The prime rate, the interest banks charge to best corporate customers, rose for the third time in less than a month, from 9½ percent of 9¾ percent. The move followed efforts by the Federal Reserve System to curtail the economy's growth and inflation by boosting internal interest rates.

ture."

Learning to speak and write Japanese is part of the culture she "soaked up."

She also likes WTC and Snyder." "It is different, very friendly, people really care about each other."

Gail Adderley discovered WTC the same way that Betsy did. She was looking through a college directory and out of the hundreds of choices picked WTC.

"I was impressed with it from the first. It stood out as something different," said the bright-eyed dark-skinned, 19-year-old who aspires to a career in radio and TV broadcasting.

Gail has only been on campus a week. Foreign students must go through much red tape before being eligible to enroll and like anything the government is involved in, progress was slow and behind schedule.

But a week at WTC is plenty of time to make friends and first impressions.

"The facilities and equipment of the college are outstanding" she said in her native tongue, a brand of English that sounds more British than Texas.

"Students are friendly and the instructors seem to be really interested in you", she added.

Snyder is vastly different from Nassau, a bustling and hustling city of 55,000 that thrives on gambling tourists and international banking. According to the World Almanac, 700 islands make up the Bahamas, only about 30 of which are inhabited. The total land space is less than that of the Texas Panhandle.

When Gail graduates from WTC she plans to enter Texas Tech, another choice from the college directory. When she finishes her training she says she may return to the Bahamas to pursue her career. Bahamians may someday be surprised when they turn on their TVs and see one of their own doing the news but with a peculiar drawl.

Some 8.9 million gallons of wine worth more than $6.4 million was exported from Argentina during the first half of 1978, with 35.6 percent of the table wines going to the United States.

Suspect Caught In Amarillo

AMARILLO (AP) - A 31-year-old East Alton, Ill., man charged with three bank robberies in Arkansas has been arrested by authorities in Amarillo.

The FBI said a woman was also arrested and charged with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

William E. Kell, special agent in charge of the Little Rock, Ark., FBI office, said Jimmie Dale Gomer was arrested Thursday with Velma Mae Burton, 37, of Panama City, Fla.

Gomer and Mrs. Burton were being held in the Potter County Jail in Amarillo Friday.

Authorities said Mrs. Burton tipped FBI agents in Panama City that she and Gomer were en route to Amarillo after the two had a falling out.

Gomer is charged with robbing the Shannon Hills branch of the Union Bank of Benton on Jan. 31 and March 16, and with robbing the Citizens Bank of Tillar, Ark., on July 18.

Mrs. Burton was charged in Pine Bluff, Ark., July 25 with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Study Of Electric Rates Released

AUSTIN (AP)-The Texas Public Utility Commission staff will release its study on the general structure of electric rates on Tuesday.

The commission held three weeks of public hearings in June on future guidelines for electric rate-making. The staff has studied the issue for six months.

Lifeline rates, time-of-day pricing and declining block rates will be discussed in the report.

Utility commissioners will receive the report and make recommendations to the Texas Legislature on future electric rate-making.

Biorhythms Use Is Questionable

MADISON, Wis. (AP) - Using biorhythms as a means of predicting whether your day will be accident prone "is highly questionable," says two University of Wisconsin-Madison researchers.

Biorhythm theory made its way into the working world as a means of forecasting accidents without earning proper scientific credentials first, said Professor Frazier Damron and research assistant Dan Leetz.

The biorhythm theory contends three rhythmic cycles determine a person's actions. The physical cycle runs 23 days, the emotional cycle 28 days, and the intellectual cycle 33 days. Each cycle has a "critical period" of about 24 hours when nothing seems to go right.

A confused caller

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

Hot-line counselors are prepared to handle calls from people who want to discuss a specific problem. Sometimes, however, they are confronted with callers who do not fall into that category.

Whether drunk, on drugs or, as in this excerpt, mentally disturbed, such people usually cannot be helped significantly by phone. Although it may seem inhumane to hang up when somebody wants to talk, long conversations with disoriented callers only tie up the phone lines, keeping counselors from callers they may be able to help.

This counselor is fortunate because the disturbed caller has immediate access to psychiatric help. (Personal information in all hot-line excerpts has been changed to protect the caller's confidentiality.)

HOT LINE

JIM: My name is Jim. Hi!

COUNSELOR: Hello, my name is Nancy.

JIM: "Hi" is a word I invented. I want you to say it. I like the way it sounds. Say it after me.

COUNSELOR: You want me to say the word "Hi"?

JIM: That's what I said. Say it because it goes with pie and fly and it ends up with my sky.

COUNSELOR: I really can't follow what you are saying. I'm sorry.

JIM: You could understand if you followed the trash men when they pick up garbage in Fort Worth, Texas. People pile junk outside their houses and leave it for days. It looks terrible.

COUNSELOR: Did you live in Fort Worth?

JIM: Where is Fort Worth? And why did you ask me that question? I want to hang up.

COUNSELOR: When you called the hot-line, what did you want to talk about?

JIM: I was just wondering the same thing. When you called the hot-line, what did you want to talk about? Why did you call me?

COUNSELOR: This is the Hot-Line Telephone Center and my name is Nancy. I am here to talk with people about their problems. Why did you call today?

JIM: What is today?

COUNSELOR: It is Wednesday. You sound very confused. Are you okay?

JIM: I was okay until I called you. Now I don't know what we are talking about, or what we should talk about or what we could talk about.

COUNSELOR: I'm not sure what —

JIM: Ideas, thoughts, memories, feelings, flying, folding, fleeing —

COUNSELOR: Jim, I really don't think we are going to get anywhere talking like this on the phone. Is there someone you can talk to in person?

JIM: I can always talk to a psychiatrist. But they don't help me. That's why I called you.

COUNSELOR: You can always talk to a psychiatrist?

JIM: Yes. I'm in the nut house. I just wanted to talk to someone different. After all, birds fly around to different skies and fish swim to different lakes and —

COUNSELOR: Jim, I am really sorry but we can't keep the phone tied up like this. I think —

JIM: I know how it feels to be tied up. I was in a straight jacket yesterday. The room was very little. Maybe I could learn how to fly. Could you tell me where I could get flying lessons?

COUNSELOR: I understand you feel confined in the hospital but I hope you can find someone there who can talk more with you because I have to hang up now.

The counselor interpreted Jim's remarks about garbage, the "nut house," being tied up and needing flying lessons as his way of saying that he felt degraded and trapped. However, she realized her limitations and referred Jim back to the hospital staff.

Dr. Blaker cannot take telephone calls from her readers. However, there are hundreds of crisis intervention phone lines in the United States. For the phone number of one near you, contact your local mental health association or mental health information service.

Connally Due To Endorse Bill Fisher

ABILENE - Former Texas governor John Connally will appear with Bill Fisher, 17th Congressional District candidate, in Abilene, Oct. 17. Connally will support and endorse Fisher during an evening appreciation dinner at the Abilene Civic Center at 7:30 p.m.

"The occasion is billed as 'An Evening of Political and Musical Entertainment'," Fisher said. "It will be serious, of course, but we also plan to have a good time." A committee headed by Jack Cox is now selling tickets in all areas of the 17th District. Cox ran against Connally for governor of Texas in 1962. "Tickets are selling for $25 each and sales are already going very well," Fisher said.

In 1931, a [illegible] hit British Honduras, killing 1,200 persons.

Fat, not pork, the problem

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please tell me why a good many people are advised by their physician to refrain from eating pork. What is in pork that makes it more harmful than beef or mutton?

DEAR READER — I am afraid it's an oversimplification. Many people who need to restrict their fat intake are advised not to use pork because many of the cuts of pork are fat.

However, if you trim away all the excess fat from a fairly lean ham, it doesn't contain a lot more fat than much of the lean beef or lean mutton. There are other cuts of pork that are mostly fat. A good example here would be fat bacon.

Another medical consideration is the possibility of trichinosis. This may involve pigs that have been eating untreated garbage. This was once a frequent problem in the United States. You can protect yourself from trichinosis by adequately cooking the pork.

Beyond that, you get into the "cured meat" problem, but you don't have to have cured pork any more than you have to have cured beef.

You can help lick the fat problem in pork by how you cook it. First, cut away all the fat before cooking. Second, cook it without fat by boiling, broiling or roasting.

What you do in the kitchen to eliminate fat is often the key to successful weight control. To give you some general concepts about this, I am sending you The Health Letter number 9-12, Kitchen Power for Weight Control. Other readers who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — For the last 15 years I have been bothered with warts. My family doctor told me they are caused by a virus, and there isn't much a person can do about them aside from pulling them off. They are getting more dense the older I get. They are mostly around my neck and down the front of my neck. Is there anything I can do to get rid of them? I am 55 years old. They are not seed warts.

DEAR READER — Warts are caused by a virus. That's why simply cutting out the wart does not cure it. The virus exists in normal appearing cells adjacent to the area where the wart is. They simply grow a new wart.

Fortunately, warts tend to have a limited life cycle. In some people, a tendency to warts will disappear within six months; in others, two years. Within seven years at the most, a person should develop some immunity or whatever the mechanism is that develops to prevent recurrence of warts. In the meantime, there are a few things that can be done, but I hasten to say that none of them are universally successful.

A common approach is to use liquid nitrogen to freeze the wart tissue to the point of destruction. If you are lucky, that removes all of the tissue that has any of the associated virus and it may not recur. If you are not so lucky, you may have to go back for repeated treatments.

There are plasters and paints that contain salicylic acid. These destroy superficial tissue that has to be removed daily. In the course of time, this procedure will often eliminate a wart.

There are new research studies reporting successful treatment by injecting anticancer medicines directly into the wart tissue. If these early studies are confirmed by other investigators, there may yet be an agent available to eliminate most of the warts in people. Meanwhile, I am afraid the reason so many treatments for warts are available is because none of them is really good.

5 Boys Die In Highway Crash

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) - Five teen-age boys, including two brothers, were killed when their pickup truck collided with a tractor-trailer rig on U.S. 150 northwest of here, state police reported.

A third brother in the pickup truck was hospitalized in serious condition. The victims, all of West Terre Haute, were identified as Richard Carne, 17, the driver; his brother, Curtis, 13; Michael Carpenter, 14; Steve Hatke, 14, and Andy Moore, 15. Douglas Carne, 14, was taken to Union Hospital in Terre Haute. The truck driver, Graham Long, 28, of Pontiac, Mich., was reported in good condition.

Utility Tax Will Be On Oct.'s Bill

AUSTIN (AP)-Comptroller Bob Bullocks says all homeowners and renters should not expect their October gas and electricity bills to show the repeal of the state utilities sales tax.

"Under the law, the utility companies will continue adding the tax on their October bills if their billing cycle begins before Oct. 1," Bullock said in a statement Friday.

This means, he said, a customer whose billing cycle is Sept. 25 through Oct. 25 will continue to pay the sales tax through Oct. 25. A customer whose billing period is Oct. 3 through Nov. 3 will get advantage of the tax break as of Oct. 3.

The recent special session of the Legislature repealed the four percent state sales tax on residential gas and electric bills, effective Oct. 1.

CAMPAIGNS HERE—Bill Seale (left) and James C. Dowdy (right) were on hand to greet Charles Stenholm when he arrived in Snyder Friday afternoon and went to the Scurry County Fair. Hermleigh Highlights...

Teachers Specify Goals

By CURTIS W. TATE

HERMLEIGH - The faculty of Hermleigh High School has indicated some of the accomplishments they hope to make during this school term. The faculty also listed some of their special objectives and educational policies in response to a questionaire distributed by the school journalism department.

Most teachers mentioned that they want to do the best they can to help students, achieve success in their various endeavors. Brown, science teacher, said, "I want to do my best to promote cognitive development and learning skills by using the inquiry method of teaching." Brown indicated that he tries to make the considers literacy "the ability to think skillfully."

Jean Schooler, who teaches English and literature, responded that she intends to concentrate on teaching grammar and hopes to install in he students an appreciation of good grammar. Schooler is also yearbook sponsor. Concerning the school publication, she replied, "I hope to help the students produce a yearbook that will please the student body and will consist of good quality journalism, containing photographs that truly capture the school year and good copy that tells the story of the school year - the story of how we felt and what we did."

High School Principal Tommy Riley said that he wishes to do his job efficiently while adequately fulfilling the responsibilities of Beta Club sponsor and senior class sponsor.

Brenda Row, the homemaking teacher, commented," I want the students to learn some of the basic homemaking skills so they will be better prepared for their future lives as adults...and so they can develop self-confidence and self-pride."

Math instructor Randy Peel said, "I want to teach the students in my math classes the fundamentals in math so I do not have to repeat it each year and I want to try to teach math so the students can enjoy it."

Phyllis Smith

typing, drama, reading, and spelling. She also is a junior class sponsor and the director of the U.I.L. One-Act Play. She listed her objectives as "teaching my students something useful that they can carry with them into their adult lives, helping my students develop an appreciation for and an enjoyment of theatre.., and helping the junior class with their various money making projects."

Clarence Spieker teaches junior high English and world history. He is also head coach and athletic director. Spieker indicated that he hopes to see a definite educational growth in all the students. He also wishes to have a successful athletic year in all the sports activities of the school.

Richard Smith is vocational agriculture teacher and sponsor of the Hermleigh chapter of the Future Farmers of America. Smith expressed a feeling shared by all the faculty when he said, "I hope to teach every student that he or she is an individual that someday will be asked to stand on his or her own. I would like to instill in each student the idea that he is important in some way, big or small, to society. In other words, everybody is somebody and should do the best with what he has."

Indians Want To Administer Grants

DALLAS (AP) - The Alabama-Coushatta Indians say they aren't happy with the way federal grants they receive are administered, so they've asked the Department of Labor for authority to administer the grants themselves.

Emmett Battise, superintendent of the Alabama-Coushatta reservation near Livinston, Texas, and representatives of the Tigua reservation near El Paso met Friday in Dallas with Ward Phelan, executive director of the Indian Employment Training Service Inc. of Houston.

IETS is a clearinghouse for Comprehensive Employment Training Act programs. CETA programs employ Indians throughout most of the state.

In order to administer their own grants, the Alabama-Coushatta board of directors and tribal council must approve the tribe's withdrawal from the statewide agency that now administers the funds.

Village Is Due Complete Facelift

CENTRAL LAKE, Mich. (AP) - Residents of this Antrim County community say their little village will undergo a complete facelift in just one day.

Village officials say 25 business in the downtown area will be given new store fronts Sunday so the entire community will have a turn-of-the-century look. About 95 percent of the work is being done by volunteers at a cost of $30,000 for the entire project, officials will attract more business in the lower Michigan resort area.

Parole Is Denied To Richard Speck

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)-A three-man Prison Review Board has voted unanimously to deny parole for Richard Speck, serving long prison terms for murdering eight nurses.

The parole hearing was one to which Speck was routinely entitled. He declined to appear at the hearing, although parents of two of the young women killed testified against his release. His next hearing will be in 1981. Speck said recently he hoped someday to be paroled, but the chairman of the review board, James Irving, said that's not likely to happen for possibly 20 or 25 years.

Blind Man Sues Phone Company

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - A blind Ohio man has filed suit against General Telephone Co., claiming an information operator's refusal to give him a phone number caused him "rebuke, stress and humiliation."

Miller Thoss of Cleveland, who was in Clearwater, Fla., on business last May, filed the class action suit on U.S. District Court. He asks $100,000 damages and that the practice be declared illegal.

The capital of Illinois is Springfield.

HEALTH TIP from DEAN

Do you sit more than you should? do you feel aches in your legs - feel sluggish? You may be a victim of "sititis." Your legs may be crying out for exercise.

Prolonged sitting can develop varicose veins, clots in the leg veins, weak and flabby leg msucles. Leg cramps or 'restless legs' can come from "sititis." Walking helps to keep blood vessels elastic by washing away fatty deposits - it keeps tissues youthful and resilient. Therapists advise that we get off our seat and onto our feet, and walk to put new youthful vitality into your entire body.

The Shuttle . . . A Step to Space Stations?

Especially for young readers

The Shuttle . . . A Step to Space Stations?

The Shuttle system is made up of the Orbiter, the external tank that contains the blast-off fuel and two rocket boosters. The Orbiter and boosters can be used again. The Shuttle will blast off vertically (straight up).

©UPS

The Orbiter will carry a crew of seven and the "payload" of whatever is to be taken into orbit. The missions can last from 7 to 30 days.

Next year, the U.S. will test the Space Shuttle.

The Shuttle will make routine space trips by 1985.

Unlike other space flights, the Shuttle can blast off, land and then be used again.

Highly trained astronauts do not have to go. After a little training, almost anyone can make the trip.

The purposes of the Space Shuttle program are:

1. To make regular flights into space.
2. To carry spacelabs into orbit where many experiments can be carried out.
3. To remove satellites floating in space.
4. To launch satellites into space.

Maybe someday shuttles will carry people to and from homes in space stations.

The Paper Box

Write your own story about what you think life on a space station would be like.

NEXT WEEK: Read about Fire Prevention Week. Read about a fireboat!

How the Shuttle Works:

1. It takes off vertically.
2. The booster rockets separate.
3. Parachutes drop them into the ocean.
4. The Orbiter keeps flying.
5. The external tank separates and falls into the ocean.
6. The Orbiter carries out its mission.
7. The Orbiter begins to land.
8. It lands on a runway just like a plane.

A Place in Space

The Dream of a Space Station

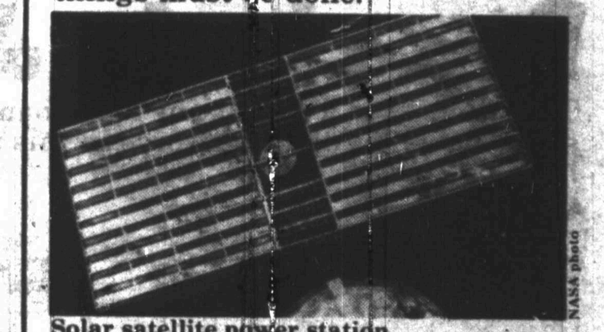

by Dr. Lynn Bondurant

Someday millions of people might be living in space stations orbiting the earth. Before this can happen, several things must be done.

NASA photo

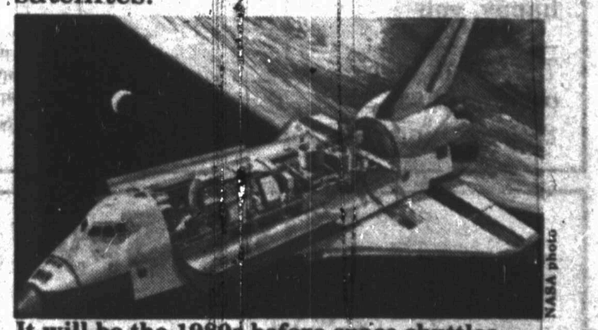

An artist's drawing of a 21st-century space colony. The cylinders are where people will work and live. The dish-like cups in the two circles are where the food will be grown. Mirror wings will control sunlight. Power stations are at the top of each cylinder.

Solar satellite power station

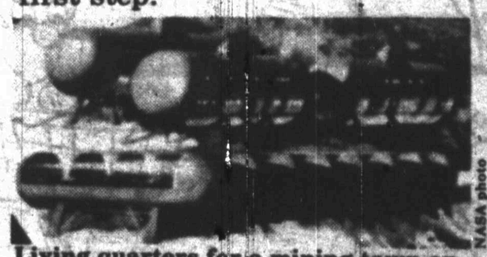

1. Power satellites will have to be built that can change sunlight into electricity. At first this energy will be used in the construction of the space station. Later, lunar bases will be powered by these satellites.

NASA photo

It will be the 1980s before space shuttles are in use.

2. Improvements in space transportation must be made. The Space Shuttle is the first step.

Living quarters for a mining town on the moon.

3. Bases on the moon will have to be built. From here, lunar soil will be mined and launched into space to be taken to the space station. It is out of the lunar soil that many of the things necessary for the construction of the space station will be made.

Below is a make-believe letter from a boy who might be living in a space station.

Space Station Neil Armstrong
July 22, 2027

Hello Friends on Earth,

I am on board the space station "Neil Armstrong." I am living in here with my mom, dad, and sister. We had to leave Lucky, our German Shepherd, on Earth. We couldn't train him to live in space.

The space station rotates very slowly. This turning motion makes us feel like we have weight. If the space station did not rotate, we would feel weightless and we would float around in here.

All our food is grown here. The vegetables grow really well, especially the corn. We cook our food in a microwave oven.

Our apartment is very comfortable. But, since it is smaller than our home on Earth, we go to the recreation center to exercise and play games.

We will be coming back to Earth in six months for a short visit. The doctors will check our health. If we pass the physical, we can return to space.

Your far-out friend,
Kenny

Dr. Lynn Bondurant is former education officer for the National Air and Space Museum, Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. He is a member of The Mini Page Advisory Board. He is now curriculum coordinator for the Coldwater Community Schools in Coldwater, Michigan.

"Dominic" first of new "Once Upon A Classic" series

"Dominic" will be the first in the new "Once Upon a Classic" series scheduled to start on the evening of October 7 on PBS.

"Dominic" is not based on a book. It is a series just for TV. It is an adventure about Dominic, the son of a sea captain. His father sends him to a special school to prepare him for the naval college.

The next "Once Upon A Classic" series will be "The Secret Garden," based on the famous book by Frances Hodgson Burnett. It is scheduled to start in December. It is the story of a girl who goes to live with her rich uncle when her parents die.

The hero, Dominic (played by Murray Dale), in the hands of his enemies. The story is one of kidnapping, murder, smuggling and even early rockets. It is set along the rocky coast of England.

"John Halifax, Gentleman," will start in January. This series is about a poor orphan boy who becomes rich. It is based on a popular English novel.

"Pinocchio" will be shown in the spring. This tale of the old woodcarver, Geppetto, and his puppet, Pinocchio, is truly a classic.

Bill Bixby will return as the host on this popular children's show.

Raising Goldfish in a Space Station

by Dr. Lynn Bondurant

Near the center of a space station, things will feel weightless. Raising goldfish in this weightless place will be fun. You will not have to keep your fish in water.

On Earth when you take a fish out of water, its gills (the lungs of a fish) collapse due to gravity. Because of this, the fish cannot breathe in the air and it dies. But in the weightless world, the gills will not collapse. You can keep your fish in a tank or room that has a lot of moisture in its air.

Your goldfish will have to learn to swim in this weightless world. At first your goldfish will have to get used to weightlessness. Then it can swim like its cousins, other goldfish on Earth.

Now Your Children can enjoy easy how-to recipes in book form.

Throw away your TV dinners — throw away your TV! — the kids are in the kitchen and they're cooking with class.

© Universal Press Syndicate

From beverages to desserts, from appeteasers to plum-delicious puddings, this handy cookbook will make its owners the first on the block in culinary reputation. Here are recipes fine as company fare but easy enough to be kids' stuff. (Spiral bound) 128 pages; 7x10.

VISITING THE AVIARY—A parakeet breeder, Carl Couch keeps his 1,200 birds in a two 12 feet-by-32 feet aviaries outside his 2912 Ave. F home. He has been in the bird business for 25 years. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

AIRBORNE FOWLS—A black and white photograph cannot do justice to the blue, green, yellow, and white markings of parakeets. The birds are colorful when nesting or when airborne. Carl Couch, the breeder of the birds, has experimented with other types of fowls, but prefers parakeets. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

Daughter Got Him Interested...

Collection Of 1,200 Birds Began With 98-Cent Parakeet

By JOHN LONG

The song of one parakeet may be beautiful, but the combined songs of 1,200 of the airborne singers produce a genuinely discordant noise.

The noise, however, does not bother Carl Couch. Couch breeds them not for their singing ability, but for their cuteness as children's pets. It was because of his child that he got into the bird breeding business.

Once, when his daughter Donna Lynn was about 4 or 5 years old, she began pouting for one of the caged singers she saw in a store. The bird cost 98 cents, and Couch bought him.

"It was cheaper to buy one than to argue with her," said Couch, remembering the day.

Starting with that one bird, and adding several more to his cage to provide him with company, the girl's bird collection grew. Then Couch and his wife noticed something about their daughter.

They discovered she was allergic to birds. So sensitive was their daughter to birds that she eventually came to react to eating even fried chicken. It was at that point that Couch took over the bird business.

Now, 25 years later, Couch tries to keep a 1,200-bird supply on hand. He discovered that the birds can be profitable. A prime young bird, he said, sells for $5.50 to $6.

While not true love birds, parakeets are prolific, Couch observed. A prime hen lays four to 10 eggs once every seven weeks.

Couch, who has tried his hand at raising other birds, prefers parakeets.

Canaries, he said, "are hard to raise." Finches "have no set market." Cockatiels "bite you," and love birds "don't always produce."

Parakeets, however, "hold their market value better than anything," he said.

Parakeets are gentle birds and pretty intelligent, too. "You can teach them a lot of things if you have the patience and time," Couch said. They can even be taught to speak.

Couch, however, does not have the time. Birds to him are a business, not a hobby. It is a business he enjoys, though.

Couch admitted that he sometimes likes to get a cup of coffee, go out to his aviaries, and just watch the birds.

"That's the way I learned a lot about them," he noted.

Horticulture Classes Are Open To All

The agriculture division and the Community Services department of Western Texas College have made arrangements for plant enthusiasts to attend horticulture classes being offered at the college.

R.C. Eoff, owner and operator of Snyder Nursery, is teaching the course for college credit, but persons who would like to sit in on all or part of the class sessions may enroll as non-credit students through the Community Services department.

Most of the classes will meet in room 105 of Applied Science Building B on the south side of the campus. Other classes will meet at Snyder Nursery. Class meetings are scheduled from 6:30-9:20 p.m. on Mondays.

Fees will be $3 per person for each class session attended. Persons wishing to attend as Community Services students are to make arrangements by calling the Community Services office at 573-8511, extension 240.

Subjects to be studied and the dates are as follows:

Oct. 2 - Controlling plant environment and plant development

Oct. 9 - Directing plant growth. The first half of this session will meet at Snyder Nursery

Oct. 16 - Pruning and shaping of trees and plants. Meets at Snyder Nursery.

Oct. 23 - Soil requirements; fertilizing; insect and disease control

Oct. 30 - All methods of propagation. Meets at Snyder Nursery

Nov. 6 and 13 - Landscaping home grounds

Nov. 20 and 27 - General care and maintenance of the landscape

Dec. 4 and 11 - Indoor plants and their culture.

Senior Center's Meals Program Ends 1st Year

The Senior Center will mark the first anniversary of its meals program at the noon luncheon Tuesday, Mrs. Gloria Shaw, Center Director, said.

Special guests for the luncheon will include Dr. Ben Brock, Western Texas College vice president, County Judge Preston Wilson, the county commissioners, and Dot Vanderslice of Abilene, program developer for the West Central Texas Council of Governments' Area Agency on Aging.

The menu for the day will be one which has proved to be a favorite during the past year - barbecued beef brisket, pinto beans, coleslaw, potato salad and fruit cobbler. Everyone who plans to attend the luncheon is asked to call in or sign the meal list on Monday.

Mrs. Shaw ended her first year as director of the Senior Center earlier this month, and the introduction of a noon meal for senior citizens was one of her first major projects.

"We thought we would be going very well if we averaged serving 35 people per day," Mrs. Shaw recalls. "We now average 70 per day, and we expect that number to increase when the center moves to its new location."

The menus are planned to provide a hot, nutritious meal for senior citizens, and each person who eats is asked to make a donation for each meal. The actual cost per meal at present is $1.50. The meals are prepared in the Western Texas College cafeteria and served buffet style.

Mrs. Shaw and a part-time secretary, Mrs. Jean Smith, are the only paid employees of the center. Volunteer workers serve the meals each day and perform many other tasks as well.

"We couldn't function without our loyal volunteer workers," Mrs. Shaw commented. "They are so cooperative and tackle every project with enthusiasm."

There is no Senior Center membership as such and all senior citizens are invited to participate in the activities at the center. Senior Citizen age is set at 60 and variations are permitted for spouses who have not yet reached that age. It is noted that 655 persons recieved senior citizen identification cards through the Senior Center, and all those persons were 60 or above. The identification cards entitle the holder to discounts at a number of local businesses and also provide information which would be useful in time of emergency.

A Senior Center Advisory Council sets the guidelines for the center. The council is made up of nine members, with 51 percent of that number required to be active participants in the center. Present council members are M.W. Pilcher representing RSVP, Laura Holladay representing the National Retired Teachers Association, Nellie Smith representing the Women's Auxiliary of Cogdell Memorial Hospital, Charlie Yoast representing the county commissioners' court, Dr. Joe Reaves representing the Snyder City Council, Loren Sullivan representing the Retail Merchants Association, and the Rev. David Robertson representing the Ministerial Alliance. Serving on the board as ex officio members are Gay Hickman, WTC business manager, Dr. James Tully, Director of Learning Resources at WTC, and Dr. Robert Clinton, WTC president.

The Senior Center is presently located in the Learning Resource Center on the WTC campus. It is open each weekday and regular activities include a morning exercise class, 42 on Tuesday afternoons, quilting, and square dancing. A Senior Center Chorus has also begun rehearsals.

Varied programs of entertainment are presented about 11 o'clock on many mornings as people gather before the noon meal. Those who wish may also play cards or dominoes and visit friends while they enjoy a cup of coffee. Other activities are arranged on request and Mrs. Shaw welcomes suggestions for activities or programs suitable for the Center.

Glass Making Disappearing Art

ROME (AP) - The National Geographic says the art of making fine glassware all but vanished in Europe after the fall of the Roman Empire and was not revived until the 13th century. The craft was kept alive, however, by Muslim artisans in the Islamic world.

Gets Degree

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)- Stephen Sloan is believed to be the first person in the country to receive a doctorate in human sexuality.

He received the degree in September, 1977, from New York University where a program that offers a Ph. D. in human sexuality was established in 1970. A lot of people started through the program before he did, he said, but most were part-time students, and he was the first to finish.

Dr. Sloan, 28, who has been doing some counseling work here, said his primary interest was in counseling the handicapped and the elderly, and in teaching.

Mahon, Poage, Burleson, Teague...

Retiring Congressmen Praised By Leader

FORT WORTH (AP) - Four retiring Texas Congressmen whose terms total 150 years in the U.S. House received high praise from House Majority leader Jim Wright who said they would be "sorely missed" in the nation's capital.

Reps. George Mahon, D-Lubbock, Bob Poage, D-Waco, and Omar Burleson, D-Anson, attended the event here Friday night.

Clin Teague, D-College Station, remained in Washington due to ill health, but Wright arranged for a video tape to be made of the festivities.

Wright, a Fort Worth Democrat who has served with the retiring veterans since 1954, set the tone of the evening by saying "tonight is a happy night. Oh, yes, we'll have our moments of nostalgia, but they won't be maudlin or sucdly or overly sentimental."

Wright told the near-capacity crowd of 600 that his four colleagues had emerged from simpler times in the nation's history.

"Perhaps it is not really chauvinism but a bit of forgivable pride to suggest that the simple virtues and homespun homilies of small town Texas and the American Southwest, embedded early in the lives of these four, have come through to bless the nation richly and to permeate its institution," he said.

"Who could have guessed that one of the four (Mahon) would come to preside with world-acknowledged prudence over annual outlays of $350 billion?

"Or that one would be the author of more agricultural legislation (Poage) that made great contributions to improving the life of rural America than any other American in the nation's history?

"Or who could have guessed that a third would be among the most decorated soldiers in America's military annuals (Teague) and the driving spark that launched and oversaw the nation's space program?

"Or who would have thought that the boy from Anson (Burleson) would become a foremost expert on taxation and the author of legislative language which every year saves literally billions of dollars for America's taxpayers and preserves the heart of free competitive enterprise."

While praising the four men, Wright honored their wives, calling them "four great women whose incredible patience and strength...self-sacrifice, have made possible four great careers."

Wright said many things have changed since the four Texans went to Washington, beginning with Mahon in January 1935.

"Some things have entrenched themselves in the lore of the capitol: - "Omar Burleson's gentle, self-deprecating humor.

-"Tiger Teague, nemesis of the paddle-ball court and mean enough if you got in his way to stomp on your instep with that five-pound shoe of his - until an amputation forced him out of the competition.

-"Bob Poage, walking encyclopedia of historic and geographic data, unofficial arbiter of factual disputes.

-"George Mahon, abstemious by personal habit, leaner, lither, and more alert in his 70's than most men are in their 30's.....

"No other state delegation has produced four of such monumental influence and such universal respect."

Air Fare Cuts Okayed By CAB

By STEVEN R. HURST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Jetting coast to coast could cost travelers just $99 one way by the heavy Christmas travel season as a result of action the Civil Aeronautics Board is setting in motion.

The board took another step Friday toward allowing drastic cuts in transcontinental air travel when it ordered its staff to draw up an order allowing World Airways, until not a charter line, to schedule service between the East and West coasts for $99 one way.

The service would cut the cost of traveling between either New York or Washington and Los Angeles or San Francisco by $216 for a roundtrip. The cheapest unrestricted roundtrip flight now offered is $414.

In addition, it is likely that another charter service, Capitol International Airways, will be granted CAB approval for the same service, although its proposed fare has not been announced, the CAB said.

Joining Capitol and World in competing with the current big three coast-to-coast airlines - United, Trans World and American - would be Pan American World Airways, which flies mostly international routes.

Pan American has said it would offer roundtrip transcontinental service for about $300

Although it was not clear what impact the CAB action might have on United, Trans World and American's existing fares, they could seek CAB permission to match World's lower fares.

"The board is trying to recognize and reward competition," said Wally Stefany, a CAB spokesman.

The new routes and the cut-rate fares, if given approval by the Thanksgiving target date, could make Christmas travel much less expensive.

"If I were World, knowing what they know now, I would rent some space and be ready to go the day after the order was signed," said another CAB source, asking not to be named.

Stefany said the new CAB decision grew out of an old case in which World Airways had asked for the right to provide scheduled, cross-country air travel for $99 one way.

"That offer is what aroused the board's curiosity," he said.

World was also helped by a court order directing the CAB to consider its latest request. The airline had been seeking a scheduled cross-country route for nearly 10 years, offering service for as little as $75 one way, and it sought the court order after the CAB rejected all its applications.

Bill Fisher To Address Local Groups

Bill Fisher, Republican candidate for 17th District Congressman, will be back in Snyder for three appearances Monday.

He will be on hand for formal opening of Republican campaign headquarters at 4 p.m. The headquarters will be located at 2608 College Avenue.

He is scheduled to address the local Texas State Teachers Association unit in a meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the Snyder High School Student Center.

At 7:30 p.m., he will address the Eagle Forum in a meeting in the junior high auditorium.

Fisher spent most of the day here Thursday campaigning in town and visiting the Scurry County Fair.

NEW YORK (AP) - Columbia University will be offering a course in community activism this fall, believed to be the first of its kind in New York City.

Officials said the course was created to help develop community leadership to combat neighborhood decline.

'Watchdog' Award Goes To Burleson

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Congressman Burleson has received the "Watchdog of the Treasury" Award from National Associated Businessmen, Inc., (NAB). Omar Burleson qualified to receive NAB's Gold Bulldog symbolizing the "Watchdog" award by voting 83 percent of the time to reduce wasteful government spending during the 95th Congress.

In special ceremonies honoring Congressman Burleson on Capitol Hill, NAB Chairman Arthur T. Roth said, "The people of the 17th District and all of Texas are extremely fortunate to be represented in Congress by a Member whose concern with the inflationary impact of excessive governmetn cessive government spending is so clearly reflected in his voting record."

NAB has been rating Members of Congress on their votes for fiscal responsibility since 1964, Roth said. The "Watchdog of the Treasury" Award is presented each Congressional session to those Members who vote at least two-thirds of the time for economy in government.

"We are a nonpartisan organization," he continued. "We believe the importance of balancing the federal budget and stopping inflation in the United States transcends party affiliation and that eliminating unnecessary federal spending is a crucial step toward achieving these goals."

ANDREWS - It wasn't a massacre. It wasn't even a statistical whipping. And by no means was it a romp em', stomp 'em, red-eyed victory bent on revenge.

But the Snyder Tigers may have made up for last year's 25-0 loss to Andrews in the most damaging way they could have here Friday night....defensively.

The Tigers all but turned off Andrews' offensive machine - a unit which had dealt out an average of 31 points a game going into the contest - and added insult to injury by scoring on a blocked punt to win, 6-0.

But while Snyder's defensive cast deserves encores, its counterpart - the offense - could have petitioned for wounded in action awards. Except for some brief moments in the first and second quarters which were eventually stiffled by turnovers, the Tiger attack force served mainly as an instrument to rest the defense, and then only briefly.

It became obvious early-on that a big play might decide the non-district AAA contest. Neither team was able to move the ball well. Snyder had problems with a trio of turnovers, while Andrews had problems with the Tigers. The Cats got their big play mid-way through the third quarter when end Perry Robertson led a group of Snyder defenders in on a Mustang punter. The clock showed 5:14 remaining in the period as teammate Alan Pollard scooped up the blocked ball and raced into the end zone for the game's lone TD.

A bobbled snap left place-kicker Tony Degrate with no choice but to try a pass on the conversion attempt, but his toss was unreceived and Snyder settled for the 6-0 lead.

The Mustangs did have an early chance to score, but that determined defense, coupled with a five yard penalty, stalled the effort at the Snyder 10-yard line and Billy Green's 27-yard field goal attempt minutes later went wide to the left.

While Andrews dominated second half offensively, its smooth, almost error-free play was left behind with the first two quarters. In addition to the Cat defensive unit, Andrews was besieged with three turnovers and 65 yards in penalties in the final 24 minutes.

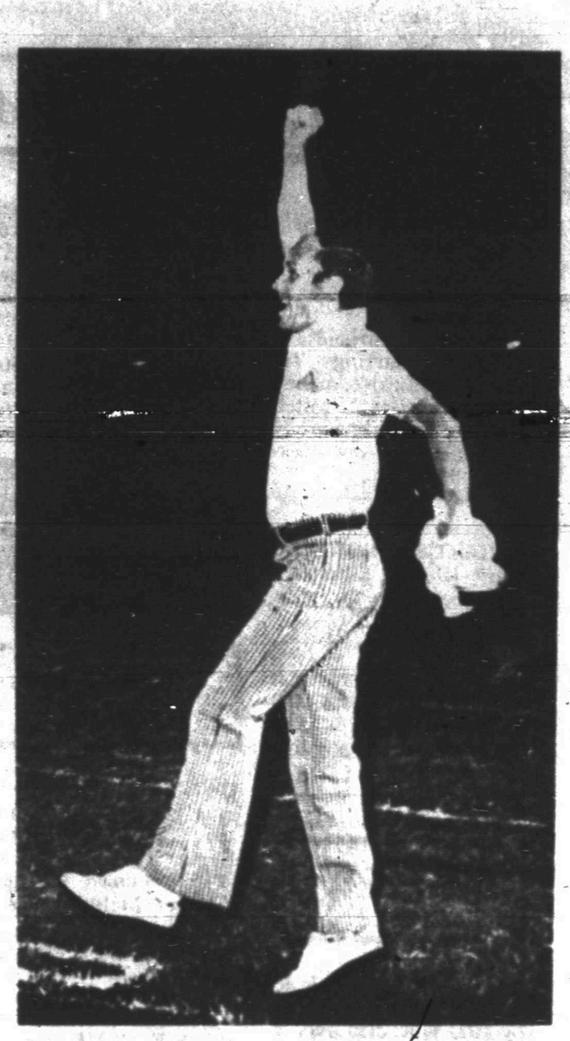

Folowing Snyder's touchdown, the two teams traded turnovers before Andrews began to mount a drive into Tiger territory. The Mustangs pushed to the nine-yard line, but a clipping penalty and two imcomplete passes killed the march.

Later, the hosts advanced to the visitor 24 but two quarterback sacks and an imcomplete pass on fourth down gave Snyder possession again.

The Tigers - playing without the aid of starting quarterback Clay Johnson - managed only two yards gained before punting it away again. Snyder posted 103 ground yards for the night; 60 in the first half. Andrews garnered 129 yards on the ground; 83 in the final two quarters. In fact, the Mustangs came up with a great defensive effort themselves, allowing the Tigers only 43 total yards and one first down in the second half.

The Cats did have their moments offensively, however, Paul Gafford, standing in for injured quarterback Clay Johnson, completed passes of 15 and 19 yards to Mitch Mackey and David Lee as Snyder drove from its 20 to the Mustang 34 before Andrews' Steve Bailey pulled down a wayward toss and punctured the effort. Also seeing play at the goal-line spot was Ricky Gambol.

With the clock showing only three seconds, Snyder sacked quarterback Jay McWilliams on the Mustang one-foot line to gain possession. The hurried try for another quick touchdown was stopped however, as the final gun sounded.

SWEET, SWEET VICTORY--Snyder defensive coordinator Wes Poarch openly displays his joy over Snyder's 6-0 win against Andrews Friday. The Tigers scored on a blocked punt mid-way through the third quarter, and held on for their third win in a row. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

Cat Fems Host Seminole Troops

Snyder varsity volleyball will highlight Tuesday evening activities here as Seminole comes to town for a triple-header at the high school gym. Meanwhile two matches will be held at the junior high.

The Tigers, 10-0 for the season, will host a strong Indian Varsity squad at 7 p.m. That match however, will be preceded by a freshman game at 5 and a junior varsity contest at 6.

Snyder eighth grade teams, which also play in Seminole Monday night at 5 and 6 o'clock, will host Sweetwater in the junior high gym Tuesday at 5 and 6.

CORNERED AGAIN--The Tiger defensive unit never looked better than during Friday's game against Andrews. Above, Mustang quarterback Bill Sherrill finds the field cut off by a battalion of Snyder defenders including Mark Davis (34), Baron Land (70), Morris Anderson (71) and Bobby Degrate (33). Cards Cool W-Valley; Keep Record Intact

WATER VALLEY - Overcoming an early, lightning-like thrust by the hosts, the Hermleigh Cardinals turned in a well-balanced performance here Friday night to wrap up a 24-18 victory and run their season's record to 4-0.

Water Valley got on the board early when it managed to spring speedster Doug Schwarts for a 70-yard touchdown gallop which put his team in front, 6-0. Water Valley missed its extra point try.

Hermleigh came back to take the lead later in the first period when Chip Roemisch connected with John Williamson on a five-yard touchdown pass. Roemisch kicked the points and the Cardinals were ahead, 8-6.

But Water Valley resorted to the pass early in the second period, when Sal Doyal found Charles Glass on a 15-yarder that carried into the end zone. The extra point was missed again, and Water Valley led by 12-8.

Roemisch got busy again before half-time, hitting Wesley Kruger for 20 yards and a touchdown and then kicking the points. That gave Hermleigh a 16-12 advantage at intermission.

The Cardinals put it out of reach in the third period when Johnny Arellano scored on a five-yard run and the extra points made it 24-12.

Water Valley's last score came in the fourth period with Schwartz going eight yards for the TD. The extra points were missed again.

Hermleigh Coach Clarence Spieker had special praise for the defensive work of Ramon Fuentez, James Williamson, Clayton Riley and Larry Bridges. Bridges had come back off of an injury. Spieker also said he felt that his offensive line turned in a good performance.

The Cardinals have an open date this week. Spieker said the team needed the rest to recuperate from bruises and to prepare for the district opener against Hobbs, which also will be the Hermleigh homecoming game.

IRA--Christoval took the ball and ran here Friday night...and ran and ran and ran. The visitors handed Ira its fourth straight loss of the season in clamping down the 68-29 victory.

Danny Duke, finding the end zone from 30 yards out, put up the first Christoval points. Corey Solomon booted the extra points. The TD was the first of three in the initial quarter by Christoval, which took a 22-0 lead early.

A 63-yard scamper by Frank Arango and a Solomon PAT knoted the next visitor score. Minutes later, Solomon found Cary Tomerlin for a 43-yard touchdown pass. The point-after try failed.

Christoval continued to dominate the game when in the second quarter Roy Fava scored on a 62-yard run. Solomon's PAT was fine.

Ira got on the tote as R.D. Phillips broke for a 45-yard TD run. Keith Bryant kicked the points-after.

But Christoval came firing back, and Joe Jacques raced 70 yards with an interception to give his team a 36-8 halftime lead.

R.D. Phillips lit up the Bulldog bench early in the third period with a 65-yard kickoff return. Jacques retaliated for Christoval with a 37-yard run and Ira came back with a 53-yard scoring pass from Phillips to Robert Mitchell. Point-after trys by Solomon and Bryant were good. Christoval added another TD on the ensuing kickoff when Jacques raced 60-yards for paydirt. The conversion attempt failed.

Christoval slammed two quick TDs in the fourth quarter as Jacques scored on a 50-yard jaunt and Henry Begil found Todd Author on a 40-yard pass play. That pass for a touchdown, coupled with two following scores, occurred in only 20 seconds.

Following the TD pass, Scott Kesner returned Christoval's kickoff 70 yards for an Ira touchdown. The Bulldogs kicked off on the first play with three seconds showing, Jacques raced 50 yards to score the final points.

Bryant hit Scott Sharp for a 1-point conversion while Christoval's PAT try failed.

Ira, 0-4 for the season, will open district 3-B six-man play here Saturday as the Bulldogs celebrate homecoming by inviting McCaulley.

WTC Places 2nd At League Meet

MIDLAND - Host team Midland College took top honors in the first Western Junior College Intercollegiate Golf Tournament played here Friday while defending champ Western Texas College tied for second with a 303.

Midland will receive six points for the 300 victory, shot at Midland County Club. Par for the course is 288.

Billy Sitton of WTC took medalist awards with a 73 (plus 1) to aid the Westerners' second-place effort which gained 4½ points. Odessa College also shot a 303 to garner 4½ conference points.

"I was pleased with the Westerner performance in the first conference tournament," noted Coach Bob O'Day. "Three shots separated the top three teams and it looks like it is going to be another close race for the golf title this year.

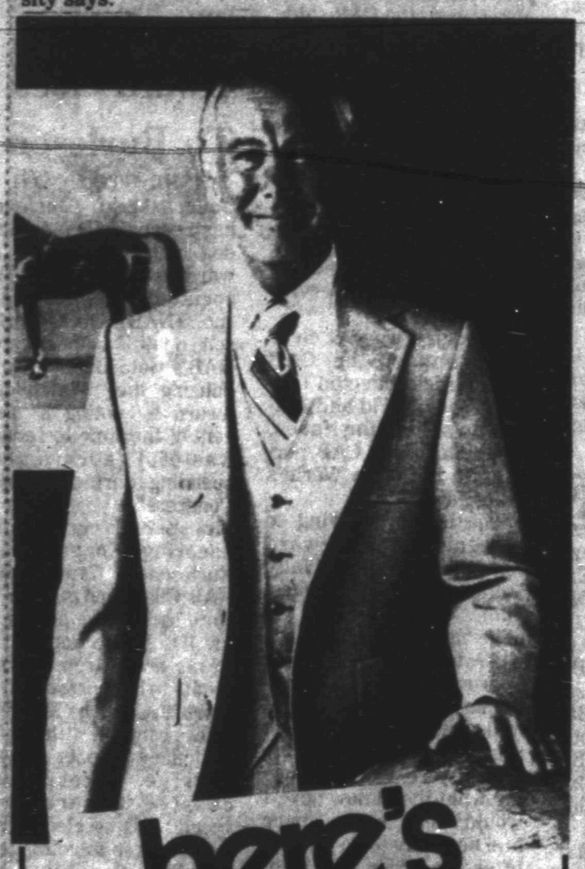

"This year we shot two strokes better than last year. We played well considering that WTC doesn't have a starter back from last year's team and Midland, Odessa and New Mexico Junior College have most of their players back. I believe we will improve after we get some more tournament experience.

"Only 18 players out of 36 broke 80 and not a single player shot even par or lower in the tournament. We had four break 80 and I was proud of the play of Billy Sitton and Britt Lindsey. Greg Reynolds and Lee Baird played a consistant round."

Behind Sitton's 73 were Lindsey, 75; Reynolds, 77; Baird, 78; Mike Mahan, 78; and Mike Waller, 80.

Next action for WTC will be the McLennan Intercollegiate Tournament at Waco Country Club next weekend.

Wolves Waltz By Hosting Antelopes

By JOHN LONG

POST---The Colorado City Wolves snatched a 19-6 victory from the Post Antelopes as the two 2-A teams tangled Friday night.

It was Post that scored first, but C-City countered in the second quarter and led the rest of the game.

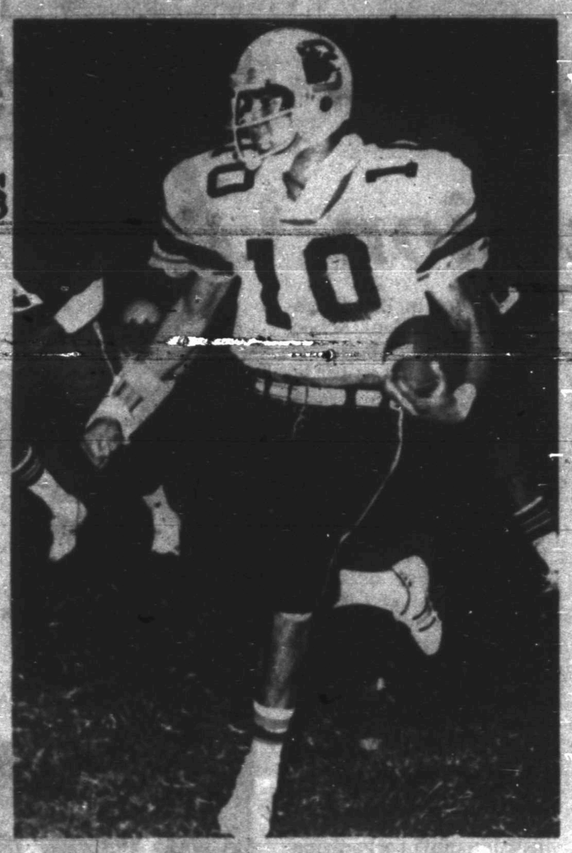

Cliff Kirkpatrick, a 165-pound wingback, loped six yards in mid-first quarter to earn for the Antelopes their only touchdown of the game. Leslie Looney, a 180-pounder, tried to kick in an extra point, but the move was blocked.

Following a sluggish start in the first quarter, the Colorado City Wolves came back in the second quarter as Jay Feaster connected with a 25-yard pass directed to him by quarterback Eddie Carter and scampered across the goal line for six points. Gary Hulme, a 200-pound senior, kicked the extra point.

The Wolves battled their way to within one yard of the goal, and it was Hulme this time who made good their potential when he darted over the goal line for six more points. The attempted extra point failed, and the score stood at 13-6.

The remaining Wolf score was made in the fourth quarter, again by Hulme. The Wolves had come within two yards of the goal line, and it was Hulme who powered the ball through the Antelope defense. The attempt at extra points failed.

C-City, 2-1 for the season, faces Anson next Friday night in Anson.

Roby Defeated; Rule Is Culprit

ROBY--Rule enjoyed the pleasure seven turnovers bring to whip the Roby Lions here Friday evening 22-6. The victory gives Rule a 2-2 record, while Roby - losing its last two ballgames - is also 2-2.

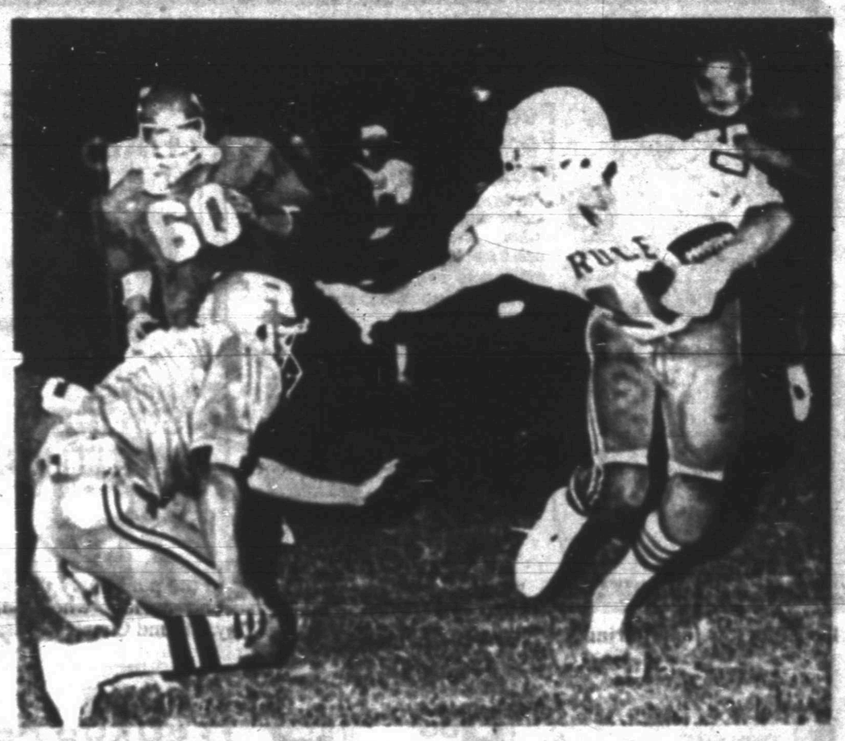

Rodney Threet put the Bobcats' first points up with 35 seconds remaining in the first period as he scored from nine yards out. Quarterback Rick Kittley tossed to Tony Carter for the two-point conversion.

Threet scored again in the second quarter, bursting over from the four yard line. Kittley again found Carter to give Rule a 16-0 lead.

Neither team was able to move the ball well in the third quarter, but the Bobcats enjoyed picking off three second-half interceptions, one of which gave Leonard Menchaca a 55-yard return and brought the score to 22-0.

Lions quarterback Mark Pope finally found the connection with 1:31 left when Al Gonzales snared his 25-yard scoring pass.

The Lions will be at Miles next week, before kicking off the District 3-B campaign Oct. 13 when Garden City comes to town.

NO YOU DON'T--That seems to be what Rodney Threet, the Rule quarterback, right, is saying to Danny Thompson during the Rule-Roby game Friday night. Rule won the Class-B bout 22-6. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

USC Defeats Michigan State

LOS ANGELES (AP)- Paul McDonald fired two touchdown passes and Charles White ran for two more scores Friday night as third-ranked Southern California rolled to a 30-9 non-conference football victory over Michigan State.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)- Larry Crowe is blind but he is on the tandem bicycling team that holds the Kentucky tandem time-trial record.

Tandem bicycle racing requires a team effort. The "stoker" on the back and the "pilot" on the front have to be pretty much equal in strength and stamina.

Rotan Shocks Steers; Remains Undefeated

ROBERT LEE - The Rotan Yellowhammers may have picked up some believers after Friday's 24-7 victory over undefeated Robert Lee.

The 'hammers, who had ripped previous weaker opponents by 41-14, 50-14 and 63-0 margins, held their own against a tough Steer squad.

Rotan jumped out in front 6-0 on a Fred Acorn 54-yard run, but a 1-yard plunge by Brett Clark tied the score and Wes Sawyer's PAT kick put the Steers ahead 7-6 for a brief period before the Yellowhammers took control of the game.

Rotan, 4-0, will begin district play next week as they host Hamlin.

Dawson Digs 3-0 Decision Over Gail

GAIL - Dawson's Sammy Rivas booted a 27-yard field goal with seven seconds left in the contest to give the Dragons a 3-0 victory over winless Borden County.

The Dragons took over possession on the Coyote 30 when a fourth and three situation failed for Borden County. Minutes later, Rivas connected on the three-pointer to give Dawson its third win in four outings.

Borden County, 0-4, will play at Wilson next week and open league play the following Friday at Jayton.

TAKES OFF--Ira's Scott Kesner (20) eludes would-be Christoval defenders during six-man football action Friday. Christoval won the contest, leaving the Bulldogs with a 0-4 record. Ira celebrates homecoming Oct. 7, and hopefully, its first win of the season. (SDN STAFF PHOTO by Glenn Rea)

Bills, Chiefs Try Season Turn Around Sunday

By The Associated Press

Marv Levy and Chuck Knox, a couple of new coaches working on National Football League club rebuilding programs, can compare notes when the Kansas City Chiefs and Buffalo Bills meet Sunday.

Both teams have 1-3 records in the young season, but they bring different dispositions into this American Conference game. The Chiefs are dragging after three straight losses including last week's 23-17 overtime toughie against defending champion Denver. The Bills, on the other hand, are looking up after knocking off Baltimore 24-17 last Sunday.

Elsewhere this weekend, two of the three remaining unbeatens will be on the road with Pittsburgh visiting the New York Jets and Los Angeles at New Orleans. Washington, the other 4-0 club, is at home against Dallas in the Monday night game.

In other games, Houston is at Cleveland, San Diego visits New England, Seattle goes to Denver, Detroit plays Green Bay at Milwaukee, Tampa Bay hosts Minnesota, the New York Giants play at Atlanta, Cincinnati goes to San Francisco, Oakland plays at Chicago, Baltimore is at home to Philadelphia and St. Louis visits Miami.

"I think possibly we feel this loss more than the other two," said Levy after the Chiefs lost their OT game to the Broncos.

"We played so hard and with a tremendous dedication to winning the game. The players played their hearts out and they didn't succeed."

Levy termed the loss to Denver a bitter disappointment. "But we'll just have to pick ourselves up and go after Buffalo. Each week, we have to continue to improve in every area and, if we do, success will come our way."

The Bills can attest to that. After dropping three straight under Knox, they stung Baltimore last week, riding the pin-point passing of Joe Ferguson, who took over first place in AFC passing statistics.

"The guys have been working so hard that I'm glad they finally got the satisfaction of winning," said Knox. "No one has worked harder to be successful than Joe Ferguson. He's been coming on and improving each week."

STOP HEAT LOSS!

Based on independent laboratory tests Glidden Insul-aid can reduce heat loss through walls up to 20%!*

How Insul-aid works

In winter, warm moisture inside your home passes through walls and ceilings, condenses and makes insulation and building materials wet. Wet insulation is less effective, and more heat can escape from your home. One coat of Insul-aid on interior walls and ceilings creates a vapor barrier. This barrier keeps insulation drier; reduces heat loss through walls and ceilings up to 20%. Independent laboratory tests prove it.* And, Insul-aid exceeds FHA vapor barrier standards.

Insul-aid protects exterior paint, too

Insul-aid reduces the chance of moisture penetrating wood siding which causes blistering and peeling. It may also prevent rotting and decaying wood in your home.

Insul-aid goes on like any latex paint

It's latex-easy to apply on interior walls and ceilings that face the cold outside. Topcoat with any good latex or enamel wall paint. Get started today, even if only a room at a time.

Janet is a WTC drama scholarship recipient and is the daughter of Carroll and Roseanna Johnson of Jayton.

A teacher in the Hermleigh Independent School District, Jeane Schooler will join the cast as Birdie Hubbard, a loyal, sensitive alcoholic who is beaten by her husband, Oscar. Timid and melancholy, Birdie knows she was married for her money. Mrs. Schooler brings to the WTC stage a handsome list of melodrama, farce and drama credits. An active drama participant at Auburn University, Jean was seen in "The Crucible," "Ring Round the Moon," and "Thieves Carnival."

William Marshall, the smooth-talking Yankee businessman who is instrumental in organizing the business venture of the cotton mill with the Hubbard clan, is Mike Mahan, a 1978 Midland High graduate. The son of Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Mays, Mike has been the recipient of numerous UIL drama tournament awards. Prior acting credits include "Cyrano de Bergerac," "Marat Sade," "Barefoot in the Park," and "Lil' Abner." Mike is also a member of the WTC golf team.

Patricia Farmer, an employee of Snyder National Bank and a newcomer from Nashville, Tenn., will portray Addie the admirable and loving housekeeping of the Giddens home. Sensitive and hardworking, Addie is easy to love. This is Mrs. Farmer's first acting venture.

John Prunty, Jr., will complete "The Foxes" cast as Cal, a middle-aged servant who also demonstrates his undying loyalty and love for Horace's goodness. John is a mass communications major from Peoria, Ill. He is the son of John and Nancy Prunty of Peoria. This role will be added to his acting experiences as a younger boy.

Gymnastics Class Set For Children

Gymnastics for children from 3-14 will be offered through the Community Services department of Western Texas College in classes starting October 6 and 7.

Doug Fitzjarrell, coach of Snyder High School gymnastic teams for the past three years, will direct the classes with the assistance of student instructors.

An organizational meeting for the classes is scheduled from 6-8 p.m. Thursday in the gymnastics room at WTC. Everyone interested in enrolling students is urged to attend that meeting. Details of the classes may be obtained by calling Fitzjarrell at his residence, 573-0701, during evening hours.

The proposed class schedule calls for one-hour classes for children from 3-5 starting at 6 p.m. on Fridays.

Classes for students from 6-8 are tentatively scheduled from 9-10 on Saturday mornings, with students from 7-14 meeting from 10:10-11 a.m. on Saturdays.

Fees will be $20 per student per month, or $60 for the three-month duration of the classes.

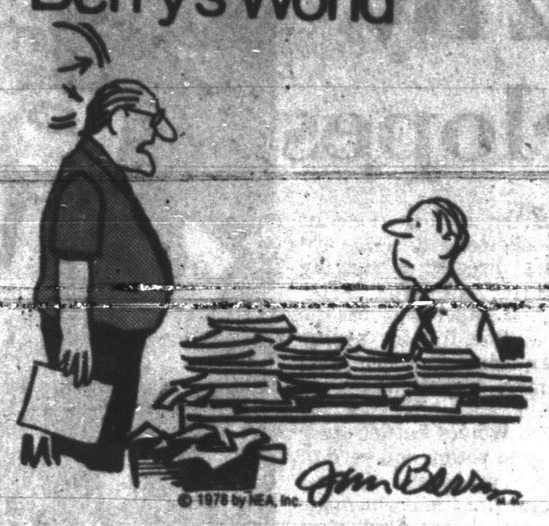

Fitzjarrell has 18 years of gymnastic experience and was a World Games Trials Finalist and an Olympic Trials Finalist. He was a member of the U.S. International Competitive Team for four years and a member of the U.S.A. Men's Elites for four years. He is a member of the United States Gymnastic Safety Association.

Betty Ford Will Attend Dinner

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) - Former first lady Betty Ford has scheduled her first public appearance since her cosmetic facelift earlier this month an awards dinner honoring entertainer Fred Astaire in Los Angeles on Oct. 6.

Bob Barrett said Mrs. Ford has been "doing beautifully" since the surgery. "Everything is just great," he said.

Barrett said the former president will not accompany his wife to the dinner because of previous commitments to campaign for Republican candidates in Illinois and Indiana.

Vows Said In Garden Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. GARY JOE MARTIN

Valerie Dianne Burney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Burney, and Gary Joe Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Don Martin, were united in marriage in a garden ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacky Grimmett, 4401 Houston, Sept. 2 at 7:30 p.m. Sam Kitching, minister of East Side Church of Christ performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride entered the garden through an archway of English ivy and wisteria. The garden was lined with green plants and accented with orchid petunias and yellow and white potted mums. The atendants stood in front of a rock fountain which flowed into a shallow pool, which was filled with lighted floating candles. The bride and groom stood in front of Spanish spirals entwined with English ivy. Placed alternately on the pedestals of the spirals were clam shells entwined with English ivy and small pots of orchid impatients. Each shell contained a lighted yellow taper.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown fashioned with a fitted lace bodice with a sweetheart organza ruffle featuring full lace sleeves fitted at the wrists with pleated organza ruffles. The skirt was covered with lace overlay and accented at the waistline with a satin ribbon. A chapel train was attached to the back of the dress by a satin bow. The bride wore a halo of white silk flowers accented with small orchid flowers in her hair.

The bride carried a nosegay of fresh white daisies, baby's breath and the same orchid silk flowers like those in her hair.

For something old the bride wore a wedding ring belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Doug Burney; something new was her gown; something borrowed was a heart-shaped diamond necklace belonging to the groom's mother, given to her by the groom's father on their 25th anniversary,and diamond earrings belonging to the groom's mother; something blue were her garters, one a gift from the groom's mother and one made for her by Ms. Peggy English. She carried a lace handkerchief given to her by the groom's mother.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Danny Ray Williams. Bridesmaid was Mrs. Larry Schairer of Odessa. They were dressed in similar design with a scoop neckline. They were made of mauve polished silk accented at the waist with an orchid and pink needlepoint ribbon. They carried nosegays of fresh yellow daisies and baby's breath.

Flower girl, Lindsey Kae English, the groom's niece, wore a mauve empire waist with a long gathered skirt with a jewel neckline and short puffed sleeves and was trimmed like the bridesmaid's. She carried a straw basket of fresh yellow daisies tied with yellow silk streamers.

Ring bearer was Jason Burney, cousin of the bride.

Joe Graves was best man; groomsman was Bill Martin, groom's brother, and seating guests were Danny Ray Williams, bride's brother-in-law, and Brett Martin, groom's brother. Male attendants wore tuxedos fashioned like the groom's with dusty rose rounded satin collar and European fitted jacket. Their pink shirts were ruffled in front and at the cuffs.

The groom wore a white Seville tuxedo in a one-button jacket tapered at the waist with matching flared trousers, a bowtie and a single breasted vest. His shirt was a white ruffled shirt with ruffled cuffs. His boutonniere was a fresh white daisy.

The wedding music was provided by Ms. Pam Camp, organist, and Wayne Burney, soloist, the bride's uncle, who also acccompanied himself on the guitar. They presented selections "I Only Have Eyes For You," "The Wedding March" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother wore a sleevless lemon yellow knit, A-line floor length dress with V-neck accented with a broad lace of the same color. She wore gold earrings and a diamond necklace. Her corsage was a white gardenia.

The groom's mother was attired in a floor length dress of sky blue Qiana. The skirt was three tiered. She wore a waist length, high necked cape accented by a cameo necklace. She also wore a white gardinia corsage.

A reception was held inside the Grimmett's home. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Billy Jack Wilson. It was three tiered topped with an arrangement of fresh white daisies and baby's breath. The tiers were separated by pedestals and accented with light orchid glitter and white doves.

The groom's cake was German chocolate served from a crystal platter. A fruit punch and coffee, served from brass coffee service belonging to Mrs. Eldon Perry was served. The bride and groom lit the memory candle which centered the table. Mrs. Willie English, groom's sister, and Mrs. Bill Martin, the groom's sister-in-law attended the service tables.

Miss Clinta McCowen registered wedding guests. The book was placed on wrought iron, glass top table decorated with light violet carnations. The rice bags were placed on the table for the guests. They were made by Mrs. Maggie Blalock.

The bride chose blue denim jeans with a poml silk shirt for her going away attire.

A gift shower was given for the couple Aug. 25 at Northside Baptist Church. The bride was honored at a kitchen shower Aug. 14 at the Ira Community Center hosted by Mmes. Patti Monroe, Ozane Pylant, Lois Greer and Bunky Glasscock.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted the groom's parents for friends and family Sept. 1 at the Christian Student Center on WTC campus.

The bride is a 1976 Snyder High School graduate and is employed in the insurance department at Cogdell Hospital. The bridegroom is a 1976 SHS graduate and is employed with Southwestern Brick, Inc. here.

Out of town guests registered from Plano, Odessa, Midland, and San Antonio.

Can a dollar be placed on homemaker services? The Social Security Administration estimates that in 1975, a homemaker's services, after inflationary adjustments, were worth $5,500 to $7,500, reports Debby Johnson; a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

A spade lead would spoil all South's fun at six diamonds, but you can't fault West for opening his partner's suit.

South wins trick one with the ace of hearts over East's jack. He leads a trump to dummy and since both opponents follow he can afford to start on clubs. East wins the first club with the ace and leads the suit back.

South needs the rest of the tricks. Victor Mollo asks what the last three cards should be in his hand and in dummy and where he should place the lead.

It isn't a tough problem. South should cash dummy's ace of spades somewhere along the line to wind up with the queen of spades, nine of hearts, the last trump and the lead in his own hand, and the king-10 of hearts and four of spades in dummy.

Then he plays the last trump, discards the four of spades from dummy and chalks up game, slam and rubber.

Poor East must either chuck his king of spades or unguard his queen of hearts.

This type play is known as the Vienna coup and consists of setting up a defender's card as a prelude to squeezing him.

Ask the Experts

A Canadian reader asks the meaning of the expression "Trump poor."

It means that declarer and dummy have a lot of trumps, but so many side losers that they can't make any extra tricks by ruffing.

Vows Pledged In Church

On Saturday, Aug. 19 at 2 p.m., Augustina Aguilar Fuentez became the bride of Rodolfo Mata Rodriquez at the 37th Street Church of Christ. Officiating the double ring ceremony was Carlos Bermea, minister of the Lamar Church of Christ of Sweetwater.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilario Fuentez of 1402 7th St. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Edwardo Rodriquez of Harlingen.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white cathedral gown covered entirely with Chantilly lace. The bodice featured a high lace neckline, and see-through sleeves, both accented with seed pearls. The floor length, six tiered gown flowed into a lace, with seed pearls enhancing the crown, and the sides of the veil, as it softly fell to elbow length. The bride's bouquet was a nosegay of blue and white silk carnations and pansies, accented with streamers of blue and white satin.

Ms. Beatrice Rodriquez, sister of the groom, registered the guests before the wedding. She also handed out scrolls. Ushers for the wedding were Frank Rodriquez and Pete Rodriquez.

In keeping with the "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue," tradition, the brides' dress symbolized something new. For something old, she wore a solid gold bracelet belonging to Mrs. Rachel Garcia. Something borrowed was a turquoise pinkie ring belonging to Miss Sara Garcia, and something blue was her garter.

Going along with the Spanish tradition, the bride and groom was presented with a Bible, arraz (spanish dimes representing the couples' future wealth together), and a lazzo (a beaded rope, or something similar, symbolizing the tying together, or uniting of the couple's lives).

These were presented by the bridesmaids and groomsmen.

The couple exchanged vows before a brass arch entwined with greenery. It was complimented on either side by two brass candelabra trees holding 19 tapered candles. The entire ceremony was in Spanish, except for the wedding selections sung by Arlie and Barbara Eicke, Patti Wolfe, Stan Pavlik, Belinda Scott, Cindy McCormick, Brantly Kitchings and Steven Ham.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Carol Fuentez, sister of the bride. She wore a white empire waisted Quiana dress. The floor length gown, which had capped sleeves, featured a U-neckline which fell softly into cowl layers. She carried a nosegay identical to that of the brides' except smaller. Completing her attire, the maid of honor wore blue and white pansies mixed with baby's breath in her hair. Bridesmaids at the wedding were Mrs. Rachel Garcia of New Braunsfels. Miss Minnie Rodriquez, both sisters of the groom, Miss Sara Garcia, Miss Rosie Quiros, Mrs. Irene Canales, sister of the bride, Mrs. Minerva Fuentez, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Alma Munoz, cousin of the groom, and Miss Belinda Fuentez, cousin of the bride. All the bridesmaids wore dresses identical to that of the maid of honor, except in baby blue. They carried bouquets of baby blue silk carnations, and blue and white pansies, accented with streamers of blue satin. They also wore blue and white pansies, entermingled with baby's breath, in their hair. Matron of honor was Mrs. Jamie Mena.

The bride's mother was escorted down the aisile by George Fuentez, her oldest son. She wore a pink gown and a pink corsage. The groom's mother was escorted by Edward Rodriquez Jr., her oldest son. She wore a blue summer dress and a blue corsage.

Flower girl was Joanna Fuentez, sister of the bride. She wore a floor length blue dress, with a white eyelet apron. Her basket was filled with fresh blue rose petals. Ringbearer Christopher Fuentez, nephew of the bride, carried a white, satin ribbon in the center of the heart holding the two rings. It was made especially for the occasion by Mrs. Patsy Fuentez, sister-in-law of the bride. The ringbearer wore a blue suit with dark blue velvet trim accenting the suit.

The groom was attired entirely in white. He wore a white Charleston tuxedo which had a white satin lapel. The shirt had white ruffles down the front with blue trim on the edges of the ruffle. His pants also had a satin trim on the seam of the legs. He wore a blue carnation on his lapel to complete his ensemble.

Serving the groom as best man was Pete Tercero. He wore a solid blue suit with dark blue trim accenting the suit. His shirt was white with blue ruffles in front. The groomsmen wore identical suits except they had white jackets and blue pants. Groomsmen were David Garcia of New Braunsfels, brother-in-law of the groom, Rudy Esquivel of Munday, Armando Rodriques of Harlingen brother of the groom, Mike Quiros, Johnny and Mike Fuentez, both brothers of the bride, Joe Garcia, cousin of the groom, and David (Ben) Fuentez, cousin of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Christian Student Center at Western Texas College. The bride's table was covered with a blue cloth with ecru overlay. The four tiered wedding cake featured a water fountain with greenery and cherubs around it. The fountain had blue water flowing from it. It was adorned with blue carnations on all four tiers. The centerpiece was an arrangement of blue and white large carnations. Mints and nuts were served from silver dishes with blue ribbon tied on the base of the dishes. The couple toasted each other with fruit punch made by Mrs. Rita Carter. The groom's table also had a blue tablecloth and it featured a heart shaped ice mold with two doves above two bells, tying a ribbon. It was dyed blue to coordinate with the wedding colors. The groom's cake was chocolate covered with chopped almonds. Coffee was served from a silver service. Mrs. Rita Carter, Mrs. Amanda Rodriquez, Mrs. Diamantina Rodri-

Sex Doc's Food Book

By Gaynor Maddox

Sex and nutrition are both subjects that come up frequently in modern conversation.

Are the topics so closely related that the doctor who wrote the bestseller, "Everything You Always Wanted To Know About Sex But Were Afraid To Ask," is also qualified to write, "Everything You Always Wanted To Know About Nutrition"?

The answer is no. Nutrition is a vast field of knowledge, requiring years of study, even long periods of intense research and the ultimate in modesty. No true scientist ever claims to know "everything" about it.

Dr. David Reuben, author of the new "Everything You Always Wanted To Know About Nutrition" (Simon and Schuster, $9.95), took his medical training at the University of Illinois College of Medicine and his training in psychiatry at the Cook County Mental Health Center. He claims no training in nutritional science, despite his broadside attacks upon it.

Reuben's publisher informs us that his previous books on sex and diet have sold 20 million copies. Therefore, as one who for years has worked with and interpreted highly credited nutritionists, I believe Dr. Reuben's statements should be diligently questioned.

Admittedly, Reuben is a popularizer of the mysteries of sex. But of nutrition, he might best be called an voracious reader — not a researcher.

In addition, Reuben is far from the toiling masses of scientists and food manufacturers. He lives in a secluded area of Costa Rica, coming to the United States only infrequently.

Certainly his book — written in an intimate style, with prayers to God for help — will have some value in awakening Americans to what is lacking in their diets. He may also teach us to be more wary of the false claims of advertisers.

But let the reader beware of some of Reuben's theories. For example, he insists that synthetic vitamins are not the equal of natural vitamins. Scientific evidence disproves that statement.

According to Reuben, Americans eat one of the world's unhealthiest diets. He claims our diet is connected not only with cancer, but with such ailments as heart disease, high blood pressure, kidney problems, obesity and diabetes.

Reuben attacks the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) for its failure to establish standards and controls for food processors and sellers.

But the doctor's broadsides are aimed not only at the federal agency. Bad nutrition, he claims, can even be found in U.S. and Canadian hospitals. Says Reuben, "I suspect that one of the largest pockets of unrecognized malnutrition in America — and Canada, too — exists not in rural slums or urban ghettos, but in the private rooms and wards of big city hospitals."

Reuben also criticizes the nation's restaurants. "About 14 percent of all people who get sick from food get sick from restaurant food," he says.

Reuben advises Americans who eat out to stick to simple items, such as fresh foods instead of hash, chicken salad or stew.

Snyderite Attends 7th Stop-ERA Conference

SNYDERITE AN ERA FOE--Mary Gill of Snyder, right, is shown at the seventh annual "Stop ERA" leadership conference in St. Louis with Phyllis Schlafly, leader of the movement.

Mary Gill has returned from St. Louis where she attended the Seventh Annual Stop ERA Leadership Conference held at the Marriott Hotel, Sept. 22-24. Stop ERA is an organization of women opposing ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

She was one of 350 women from 45 states who attended the conference, for which the theme was "Only Six Months Until Victory." ERA is scheduled to expire on March 22, 1979, unless Congress votes an extension of time. In order to be valid, any such time extension would also have to be upheld by the Supreme Court in the face of legal challenges expected from the ratified states, the unratified states, and the rescinding states.

The banquet speaker on Sept. 23 was Senator Jake Garn, who has pledged to lead a filibuster against the ERA Extension Bill now in the U.S. Senate. The threatened Garn filibuster is unique in that, unlike all other filibusters, it is not designed to prevent a vote. Its purpose is only to incorporate the Fair Play Rescission Amendment and the two-thirds majority rule required by Article 5 of the U.S. Constitution.

"If Fair Play and constitutional integrity are included in ERA Extension, I will call an end to extended debate and gladly proceed with the vote on extension," Senator Garn pledged.

The bill now before the Senate extends the time for states to ratify after previously rejecting ERA, but makes no provision for states to rescind a previous ratification. ERA proponents deny that states have that right. Senator Garn will introduce what he calls the Fair Play Rescission Amendment to remedy what the ERA opponents call "the UNfairness Doctrine."

The annual invitational meeting in St. Louis was called and presided over by Phyllis Schlafly, National Chairman of Stop ERA who addressed the conference on Friday evening.

"The desperate push for an extension of time for ratification of ERA proves that we are winning and proves that the ERA proponents know they cannot win by fair and constitutional means," Mrs. Schlafly said.

"ERA Time Extension is the most unfair and deliberately discriminatory bill that Congress has ever considered," Mrs. Schlafly charged. "It is intentionally designed to extend the time for states to switch from no to yes, but to forbid them to switch from yes to no. This is so contrary to fundamental concepts of fair play that we call it the UNfairness Doctrine."

At the St. Louis meeting, Stop ERA leaders celebrated their spectacular victories of 1978, especially in Illinois where they overcame the combined opposition of President Carter and Vice President Mondale, who both came into the state to push for passage of ERA, and also of Governor James Thompson.

The Stop ERA Conference continued at the Marriott Hotel in St. Louis through Sunday afternoon. Most of the sessions were taken up with reports from state chairmen and with workshops in the media, organizations, and campaign techniques.

The recent NBC-Associated Press poll shows that 55 percent of the American people oppose extension of time for the Equal Rights Amendment. Another recent poll by Opinion Research Corporation shows that 61 percent of the American people believe that ERA has already had a fair time for consideration, and also that 61 percent believe that, no matter what the time period for ratification is, states should be allowed to change their minds from yes to no as well as from no to yes.

Laynes To Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Layne will be honored on their 25th wedding anniversary with a reception at the Ira Community Center 2-5 p.m. Oct. 8. The occasion will be hosted by their children, Danito Roe of Ira, Kim Hines of Union and Donna Layne of the home. They have one grandchild, Heather Roe.

The couple has lived in the Ira community for 13 years. Layne is a county employee at Dermott and Mrs. Layne works at the Ira school.

All friends and relatives are invited to come and join the couple in celebrating their anniversary.

HD Agent Takes Leave

Blanche's Blabs, a regular Sunday column in The Snyder Daily News by County Home Demonstration Agent Blanche Chisum, has been discontinued for a few weeks due to an addition to the Chisum family.

Mrs. Chisum and her husband, Dennis, recently became parents of a son and she has taken a leave of absence from her duties with the extension service. Those who have business with the home demonstration agent's office may contact Mrs. Roy Hanson, secretary, at the office in the livestock agriculture building on the coliseum grounds.

Notices Ignored

LONDON (AP) - The "quiet" notices of the St. Pancras library here were ignored when a student driver crashed through the wall of the fiction department.

BRIDAL SHOWER-Molly Riley, bride-elect of Mike Tatum, was honored at a bridal shower in the Snyder Country Club recently. Hostesses for the event were Kate Owens, Lanell Hogan, Juanita Hart, Nell Price, Charlotte Smith, Margaret Glass, Trellice Perry, Judy Hale, Nelda Allen, Faye Lopour, Connie Kelley, Lousie Rice, Gina Means, Janelle Calvert, Beth Beck and Lou Ann Walker. Pictured with the honoree are (from left) Beth Mills, cousin of the honoree; Mrs. H.L. Shirley Mills, her aunt; Mrs. Doug Riley, her mother; the honoree; Mrs. Oscar Talley, her grandmother; and Mrs. Lewis Crouch, her sister. (SDN Staff Photo)

NUPTIAL VOWS SAID-Tanya Kay Raines and Robert Frank Essery exchanged marriage vows in the home of the bride Sept. 9 at 7:30 p.m. D.C. Jones officiated the double ring ceremony. The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. S.T. Raines and Mr. and Mrs. M.E. Essery. The bride wore a white, off-the-shoulder, gown with a fitted bodice and a full length tiered skirt, that was trimmed with lace. She carried a cascade of white sweetheart roses and baby's breath. Maid of honor was Deborah Raines sister of the bride. Best man was Gene Gross. Mrs. Wayne Bethel provided wedding music. A reception was held in the home following the ceremony. (Photo By Craft)

Hot Dog Nutritious

COLLEGE STATION - Hot dog lovers can say "hot dog!" with complete enthusiasm, according to a foods and nutrition specialist.

Hot dogs, wieners or franks, are a nutritious, economical and convenient food, says Marilyn Haggard.

Miss Haggard is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Taste and variety are other factors in the hot dog's popularity - as proven by the 14 billion hot dogs that Americans eat every year, the specialist says.

quez and Mrs. Barbara Perkins served at both tables.

For their wedding trip, the couple chose to tour several cities including San Antonio, San Marcos, New Braunfels, and San Angelo.

Both, the bride and the groom were 1976 graduates of Snyder High School. The groom is also a 1978 graduate of Western Texas College, where he received his Associate of Arts degree. The bride is employed by the Snyder Daily News. The groom is presently attending Texas Tech University and is employed at The Shack as Assistant Manager.

Out of town guests were from San Angelo, Post, Gatesville, Sweetwater, Harlingen, Munday, New Braunsfels and Lubbock.

Breakfast Is Expensive

HARTLEPOOL, England (AP) - Breakfast cost the owner of the luxury yacht Leadastry a sizeable sum recently.

The 50-foot vessel was four miles out from Hartlepool when it was struck by a wave and seawater surged into the galley, spashed into the frying pan and started a fire.

A lifeboat reached the scene just as the $80,000 yacht sank.

Scuba Diving Course Set Oct. 9-17

A Scuba Diving course is planned at Western Texas College from Oct. 9-17, with classes meeting nightly in the indoor pool in the Health-Physical Building.

Instructors for the course will be Lee Burke, WTC physical education instructor, and Jerry Bell of Arlington. They have worked together in previous diving courses at the college, and Bell has also taught Scuba courses in several area towns.

Cost of the course will be $75 per person, and each student will be required to furnish fins and mask. The instructors will furnish the air and tanks.

An open water checkout is planned at the conclusion of the course, with the date to be determined by the weather.

Classes will meet from 6-9 p.m.

A minimum of 10 persons will be required to form the class.

Persons wishing to reserve space in the class are to call the Community Services office at 573-8511, extension 240. Reservations are to be made in advance of the beginning date so arrangements for the class can be completed.

Family Weekend Set For GS

The camp committee of the West Texas Girl Scout Council extends an invitation to any registered Girl Scout (adult or child) and his or her family to attend the Family Weekend at Camp Boothe Oaks, Oct. 13, 14, 15. The camp is located eight miles southwest of Sweetwater, off FM 1809.

Fun and fellowship from Friday evening until Sunday 10 a.m. will center on special interests of the families registering. It all starts with a pot luck supper at 7 p.m. Each family brings a favorite dish to share with others at Oates Hall, the dining area.

The fee is $1.75 per person and the reservations should be made before Oct. 9 with the West Texas Girl Scout Council, 3165 South 27th, P.O. Box 5586, Abilene, Texas 79605.

A trophy is awarded each year to the town having the highest total count present at the Family Weekend. Snyder families traditionally make, break, and take the coveted award. The Geilhausens of Haskell come each year and their four children are enthusiastic participants in every event. On the agenda: nature, canoeing, fishing, volleyball, campfires, archery, outdoor cooking, arts and crafts and outdoor skills. There will be great fun for all who come.

If you like your fresh pork spareribs to be soft rather than chewy, before putting them in the oven with a barbecue sauce precook the ribs in simmering water until bones pull away easily from the meat.

Compact Scuba Course Planned

A compact Scuba Diving course is scheduled from Oct. 9-17 as a Community Services course at Western Texas College.

Classes will meet from 6-9 nightly in the WTC swimming pool and an open water checkout is planned at the conclusion of the course. Prospective students must demonstrate swimming ability and will furnish their personal diving gear (snorkel, fins and mask). The instructors, Lee Burke and Jerry Bell, will furnish the air and tanks.

Fees for the course will be $75 per person.

Persons wishing to enroll in the course are to call the Community Services office at WTC, 573-8511, extension 240, during regular office hours.

Persons wishing to enroll in the course are to call the Community Services office at the college, 573-8511, extension 240. Details of other Community Services courses may also e vices courses may also be secured by calling that number during regular office hours.

MR. AND MRS. TERRY WAYNE GROSECLOSE

Sulphur Springs Rites Unite Rawls, Groseclose

Reisa Louise Rawls and Terry Wayne Groseclose were united in marriage in the Wesley United Methodist Church in Sulphur Springs Aug. 19 at 7:30 p.m. Rev. George Topper, minister of the church, officiated the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold E. (Bill) Rawls of Sulphur Springs and Mr. and Mrs. A.D. Groseclose Jr. of 3308 Ave. A.

Father of the bride gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a formal gown of chiffon over mooncloth. The gown featured a full skirt and empire waist topped with a short lace jacket featuring long, sheer crystal pleated sleeves. A row of self-covered buttons accented the back of the jacket. The open crown garden hat was designed of the same material. The bride designed and made her wedding gown and the attendants gowns.

She carried a bouquet of yellow roses with baby's breath and greenery.

Maid of honor was Roseann Rawls of Paris, Tex., sister of the bride. Nancy Rawls of Sulphur Springs, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. They wore full length dresses of buttercup yellow Qiana with off-the-shoulder double chiffon capes. The carried bouquets of yellow and white wild mountain roses interspersed with baby'a breath and greenery. Bridesmaids were Catherine Fergurson and Molly Elliott, both of Sulphur Springs.

Serving as best man was Ford Ferguson of Dallas. Groomsmen were Adrian Charlton of Weatherford, John Cameron of Commerce and Ron Fergurson of Sulphur Springs. Seating guests were Gary Robertson of Garland, cousin of the groom, and Tommy Everett, brother-in-law of the groom, also of Garland.

Vickie Hathcoat and Gay Johnson were soloists accompanied by Janie Caldweli at the organ. They sang "Time In a Bottle," and "Just the Way You Are."

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church following the ceremony. Identical bride and groom's tables were covered with soft yellow cloths topped with white lace overlays. The bride's table held a three tiered yellow and white cake served by Tina Cameron and Rebecca Hathcoat. The groom's cake was traditional chocolate served by Mary Lou Foster and Beckye Everett.

Carol Rawls attended the registry book.

Following a honeymoon to San Antonio the couple will reside in Goldsmith.

The bride is a senior student at East Texas State University and will attend UTPB in the fall. The groom is a 1977 graduate of East Texas State University and a member of Delta Chi Social Fraternity. Groseclose is an elementary education teacher with Ector County School Dist.

Ground School Is Still Open

Enrollment in an Aviation Ground School at Western Texas College has been extended through Monday.

The starting date for the course was postponed from last week due to insufficient enrollment. A minimum of 10 persons will be required to form the class.

Persons wishing to enroll in the class are to call the Community Services office at 573-8511, extension 240, during regular office hours. Fees will be $45 per person and students will furnish their own textbooks.

4 Million Since 1790...

PATENTS RECORD U.S. HISTORY

EDITOR'S NOTE-The nation's most fascinating attic is the patents archive, which testifies to the fertility of the American mind and to its vagaries as well. There, rummaging among dreams of 30 years ago, a reporter uncovers an intriguing slice of social history.

By Terry Kirkpatrick
AP Newsfeatures Writer

More than four million inventions have been patented by the government since 1790, and it would be too much to expect all of them to have found useful life in factory, office or home.

Good thing, too, in this gadget-manic era, since our attics probably couldn't bear the weight.

Yet the parade of patents, odd and ordinary, successful and not, relegated now in tech-no-jargon and diagram to dusty archives, serves another purpose: a history of the times, preoccupations and aspirations of people.

Browsing through the patent awards for any year is like thumbing through the family snapshot album of a nation. Here, for instance, is the patent picture of America in 1948, 30 years ago:

The world war was only three years past and among the 28,086 patents granted that year were innumerable improvements to implements of destruction - bombsights, torpedoes, code machines and land mines, including a land mine that could be set to ignore several vehicles passing over it before exploding; for the foot soldier, a combination shearsrifle, so that he could attack a position protected by barbed wire, clipping the wire and firing as he charged.

The great migration to the suburbs was on, and inventors wanted to improve the ride with automobile roof designs to insulate cars from heat, cold or noise, a headlight dimmer, a slow-down signal, a heated windshield wiper, a tire deflation signal, a car refreshment tray, and a phonograph to announce points of interest along the route.

With the postwar baby boom, there were more mouths to feed. That inspired a spinach dry-cleaning machine, a machine to make crisp bread, a method of making powdered mashed potatoes, an electronic baking oven, and a fish scaler-scraper.

Inventors like to combine things. The patent list for 1948 contains a combination compact and flashlight, a combination baby carriage and shopping cart and a combination magnifier and telephone dialer.

They also like to separate what is already combined. Hence, a process for mechanically separating eggs from their shells, a bean and pea pod splitter and a feather engaging drum for chicken plucking machines.

In mid-summer 1948 a device called the transistor was demonstrated for the first time. Who could have known where that would lead?

And, in the why-didn't-I-think-of-that category, were these designs to make life easier: an anti-rattle apparatus for windows, a non-spilling cup, and, for parents, a device meant to suppress objectionable tones from a violin.

Horse Round-Up Set For Center

With the 19th annual Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children which benefits the West Texas Rehabilitation Center getting off to a record start cattle sale, the attention now centers on yet another important sale. Horses from all sections of the state of Texas, including many registered quarter horses, have been pledged to the Center's horse sale which is set for 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 7, at Abilene Auction, Inc.

Center personnel are now in the process of rounding up additional horses for this sale which last year raised more than $15,000 to help provide services for handicapped individuals from all over the Southwest.

Shelley V. Smith, executive director of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, said: "We were most pleased and surprised with the outstanding response of our friends and supporters in helping us raise more than $153,000 during our Sept. 25 cattle sale. And now we look to our friends for their help in donating horses for our Oct. 7 sale."

Smith went on to say, "Another important part of our annual Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children is the Oct. 4 sale at 1 p.m. at the Coleman Livestock Auction, where we will be selling some late arriving cattle, sheep, goats and a number of specialty items."

Smith added that he hoped the record response to the round-up would continue throughout the next two sales and reminded friends and supporters that the center, in addition to livestock, also needs cash donations toward the Round-Up. Going into the Sept. 25 cattle sale, the center was faced with a budget deficit of $225,000, so even with the record-breaking cattle sale, more funds are still needed to get the center back on the solid footing in funds to operate it's three campuses in Abilene, San Angelo and Snyder.

Anyone wishing to pledge livestock or cash should contact his area chairman or the West Texas Rehabilitation Center campus nearest him.

Reward Offered

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)-Rangers in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park are offering a reward for information about the person or persons who killed and dismembered a young bear.

Assistant Chief Ranger Bill Wade said Thursday a severed paw from a young bear was found in the road Sept. 16 near the Sugarlands Vistors Center at Gatlinburg. A few minutes later, Wade said, rangers found the severed head of a bear impaled on a road-marking stake about a mile from the visitors center.

Oil, Gas Reports Impressive First Eight Months

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP)-The statistical report on domestic oil and gas operations the first eight months of the year is impressive.

September figures have not been finalized but should bolster the eight-month totals in that a 2,349 Sept. 18 count for rotary drilling rigs in use was the highest weekly average since late 1958.

The weekly average of 2,224 for January-August, however, was the highest since a 2,429 average was posted in 1957.

The comparable 1977 count was 2,002. In 1976 it was 1,658.

Well completions the first eight months averaged 3,804, the highest level since the 1962 average of 3,848. Last year's completions averaged 3,668 a month, up from 3,323 a year earlier.

In boosting the well completions pace, operators drilling an average of 18.1 million feet of hole each month during the January-August period, the highest level since an 18.5 million foot average was recorded in 1957. The 1977 average was 16.9 million.

Domestic drilling activities peaked in the mid 1950s.

the all-time high for rotary drilling rig activity was set in 1955 when the industry had a weekly average of 2,687 units in use. In 1956, the industry recorded a record 58,160 well completions.

A prolonged drilling slump then set in, however, and the weekly count for active rotary rigs dropped to a modern low of only 975 and well completions dropped to only 27,300 in 1971.

The Oil & Gas Journal now is projecting the industry will have 48,615 well completions this year. Last December, the publication had forecast 48,041 completions.

The January-August drilling statistics are to be published in the September-October edition of The Drilling Contractor, the official publication of the International Association of Drilling Contractors.

Weekly rig activity averages the first eight months this year ranged from a low of 2,115 to a high of 2,339. As the bottom of the long slump in drilling operations was reached in 1971 the range was from a low of 814 to a high of only 1,189.

The weekly rig activity range during the record well completions year of 1956 saw a low of 2,395 and a high of 2,894.

Compared with the January-August monthly average of 18.1 million feet of hole, the industry had an average of only 10.7 million feet in 1971. This year's 18.1 million foot level was built through monthly operations that ranged from a low of 15.8 million to a high of 22.2 million feet.

A recent survey indicates the domestic rotary drilling rig fleet has regained the 2,800 level the first time since 1961.

Reed Tool's annual census of available rigs places the August count at 2,848, compared with 2,482 a year earlier.

Ed McGhee, executive vice president of the drilling contractors trade group, said the annual census differs from the weekly active rig count in that it shows all units capable of drilling below 3,000 feet whether or not they are "making hole" at census time.

And McGhee says the Reed count is still well short of the level it gained in the mid-1950s.

"Reed has been making the tally since 1957 when it found 3,296 units available in the United States," he said.

"The low point came in 1975 when only 1,767 rigs were identified."

McGhee said industry statisticians point out the Reed count does not reflect the total rig fleet.

"It doesn't include rigs in capable of drilling to at least 3,000 feet," he said.

"When such rigs are added, the grand total of the domestic rigs certainly exceeds the 3,000 level. In addition to this, it is estimated another 125 cable-tool rigs are still active in drilling for oil and gas in the United States."

Wildcat Test Slated In North Borden Area

Knox Industries, Inc., of Midland No. 1 Waddell is an 8,500-foot wildcat to test for production in the Strawn and Ellenburger in Borden County, 15 miles north of Gail.

It is 1,800 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 23, block 30, T-6-N, T&P survey and one location north of the depleted Mississippian discovery in the Dalton field.

Florida Gas Exploration Co. No. 1-8 Florence Read has been scheduled as a 9,000-foot operation two-thirds northwest of the two-well Coahoma, North (Fusselman) field, of Howard County.

The location is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 8, block 30, T-1-N, T&P survey and 13 miles northeast of Big Spring.

Sayers Operating Co. of Midland No. 1 W.C. Winters has been completed as a Wolfcamp discovery in Howard County, 1.2 miles east of Vincent.

On 24-hour potential test it pumped 100 barrels of 36-gravity oil and 404 barrels of water, through perforations from 6,210 to 6,223 feet after 300 gallons of acid. The gas-oil ratio is 440-1.

Total depth is 7,663 feet and 5.5-inch casing is cemented at 6,411 feet. The plugged back depth is 6,310 feet.

Operator called the following tops on ground elevation of 2,322.2 feet: Yates, 1,226 feet; San Andres, 2,226 feet; Clear Fork, 4,292 feet; Spraberry, 4,936 feet; Wolfcamp, 6,172 feet and the Canyon Reef at 7,612 feet.

Wellsite is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 6, block 25, H&TC survey. It is 2,800 feet west of production in the Sara Mag (Canyon) field.

Etheredges Involved In Hermleigh High History

EDITOR'S NOTE-This is the second in a series of articles honoring Hermleigh High School graduates for homecoming 1978. Selecting a few outstanding graduates from so many deserving and very qualified persons has proven quite a task. However, one name has come up again and again. That name is Etheredge.

By JERVIA FARR

HERMLEIGH-W.B. (Tuff) and Jessie Etheredge had a family of eight children. Tuff farmed in the Hermleigh community for 20 years, serving on the school board and actively taking part in his children's school lives. Jessie lent a steady hand to Tuff and mothered the large family. She was active in the P.T.A. and was a substitute teacher. On those days when the school needed her, she boarded the school bus along with her children. As their children developed into unique individuals each proved himself outstanding. And, all shared the witty, likable personality and good common sense passed on to them by their parents.

There had to be difficult times raising eight children on a farmer's earnings. The Etheredges weathered drought, sickness, and growing pains. All the while they maintained their happy, close-knit family life, and actively took part in the bettering of their school and community

Old friends know well the very specialness that is the Etheredge family. For those not fortunate enough to have come to know them, here is a brief introduction:

Helen Etheredge Mock graduated from Hermleigh High in 1953. Among other activities, she was awarded the Babe Ruth athletic award. She received her B.A. from Texas Tech and her M.A. from Sul Ross. She is now in her eighth year teaching in the Snyder Schools. She has also taught courses for those involved with Kindergarten students at Western Texas College.

Dick Etheredge graduated from Hermleigh High in 1955. He was on the Student Council and president of the F.F.A. He received the Anderson-Clayton Scholarship and attended Texas Tech and Southwest Texas State in San Marcos. He is presently an electrician, living on a ranch in Oklahoma where he raises quarter horses.

Tom Etheredge, a 1957 graduate of Hermleigh, was an All-District football player. He received his B.S. degree from Southwest Texas and worked as a research chemist at Balcones Research in Austin for 10 years. He is now in business for himself.

Dub Etheredge was football captain, "Most Popular," and F.H.A. Romeo at Hermleigh High, graduating in 1958. He is manager of a 234 section ranch in Cimmaron, N.M.

Jeanie Etheredge Daniel was a cheerleader, football sweetheart, and "Best-All-Around" at Hermleigh High, graduating in 1959. Her B.A. was received from Southwest Texas in San Marcos. She teaches at Academy, near Temple.

Judy Etheredge Handley was head majorette, football sweetheart, "most popular," and an honor student at Hermleigh High, graduating in 1962. She received her B.A. degree from Southwest Texas in San Marcos, where she was a member of the Strutters. She now teaches at Fannin Elementary in Odessa.

Betty Etheredge Widener graduated from Hermleigh High in 1964. She was cheerleader, in Who's Who, class favorite, class president, and an honor student. She received the B.A. degree from Sul Ross. She now is a housewife and mother.

Ray Etheredge graduated in 1968 from Hermleigh High. He was football captain, All South Plains football player, All Area, All District, class president, F.F.A. president and "Mr. H.H.S." He received his B.S. degree from Tarleton State University. He manages a feed lot for International Cattle Systems in Pampa.

The Hermleigh community, as well as the school, is happy to claim the W.B. Etheredge family as its own. Each member of this family is a tribute to the Hermleigh School System from which they graduated, the community is proud to honor them on the occasion of "Homecoming 1978."

SCD Vote Set At Gail

The election of a director for Zone Five of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District will be at 7:30 p.m., Monday in the district courtroom, of the Borden County Courthouse at Gail.

Zone Five includes all of Borden County south of U.S. Highway 180.

To be eligible to vote, one must own agricultural land within Zone Five but doesn't have to live on the land.

The landowner must be at least 21 years of age. Under the Texas Community Property Law, the wife of a landowner is also allowed to vote or be eligible for office.

W.L. Wilson Jr., a farmer and rancer in the south part of Borden County, is the present director and is eligible for re-eleciton.

Soil and Water Conservation District Directors are elected for a 5 year term.

In 1966, just 80 minutes after launching from Cape Kennedy, Gemini II pilots Charles Conrad and Richard Gordon hooked up with an Agene missle.

tax cut fever rages

All this year we have been treated to a constant barrage of stories concerning tax cuts. Back and forth from administration to House, from House to Senate, and back again, billions are bandied around as the amount of tax relief is considered.

The amount of proposed tax reduction has jumped around from $25 billion up tp $30 billion and down to where it hovers around $16 billion at this writing.

Just what segment of the population will get the lion's share of the reduction has gone up and down the scale of family income like an elevator out of control. Perhaps this is because our political leaders are not sure of just where the most campaign hay can be harvested.

They will have to make that hay pretty quick now, for after the election, the sun will be down on the political harvest.

For the taxpayer, there will be little joy no matter which income bracket he represents. For while all this consideration of the amount and distribution has been going on, factors causing built-in tax increases have been steadily at work.

There will only be a few taxpayers who will gain as much as they lose when the tax bill is finally signed. A taxpayer to win in this raffle will have just about the same chance as a bettor in a fixed horse race.

Trying to keep incomes in step with rising prices is now an exercise in futility. The total tax increase factor is rising faster than wages or prices.

The income of the average family is estimated to be rising at 11 percent and prices are rising at about 8 percent. One might think that there is a gain in the level of living for the American producer.

As incomes rise, the progressive income tax rates take a larger percentage. The family finds that jumping to a higher taxbracket takes an increasing toll. Add to that the increases in property and Social Security taxes and the red ink begins to show in the family budget.

And, in many parts of the nation, rising sales and other taxes add to the total tax grab. The producing citizen is finding himself on a treadmill which keeps moving a little faster than he can keep up.

In one lifetime we have observed the Congress debating a top income tax with a maximum set at 10 percent for the top bracket, to the present furor over distribution of a tax reduction which brackets up to 70 percent.

Back when a 10 percent tax limit was being proposed, Congress decided that to set that limit might encourage the tax to reach that "dangerous level."

As the tax brackets were raised, the idea of compulsory deductions from pay checks was promulgated. This was the device which kept millions of taxpayers from being aware of what was happening to them.

Now plundered producers are taking note of the net which has been fashioned around them. We doubt that the coming tax cut will bring them much happiness.

competition tried

The Civil Aeronautics Administration has decided to give competition a real test in the air transportation industry. Carriers will be permitted to reduce fares without going through lengthy and expensive hearings to determine whether such reductions are fair to competitors and will not adversely affect applicant's financial condition.

The decision was reached after months of experimentation with cut rates for certain days of the week, providing passengers wait a certain number of days before using the return portion of round trip tickets. The idea proved popular and net earnings of carriers has improved so dramatically CAA decided that allowing carriers to use their own judgment about rates and expanding services into new markets are worth a trial.

Experience in air transportation has been so productive of good results to both carriers and their customers it has been suggested that a critical look should be taken at long standing regulations in the railroad business.

No doubt some relaxation of supervision over the nation's railroads is worth considering. But it would need to be kept in mind that conditions in different types of transportation are far from identical. Railroads have a tremendous investment in roadbed and equipment. Maintenance of physical property is a major item in cost of operation. State and local property taxes are a major obligation.

Airlines have only their operating equipment and a relatively minor cost factor in terminals to consider. There is no roadbed to maintain. No local taxes except where they take on and discharge passengers and cargo. Their operation is of such nature as to provide maximum use of new developments. The Government pays much of the base cost.

Meanwhile, or course, the railroads are so hamstrung with old debts and low earnings they can't pay cost of modernization. They are less efficient in operation now than they were a generation ago. And the ratio of labor cost to revenues is much larger and less flexible than these factors are in the air transportation industry.

Even so, however, national leadership would be doing better than the average Congressman, Senator or President realizes if some of the solicitude that has been shown for the air transportation industry were applied to the nation's railroads.

Atheist Objects To Councilmen Praying

METUCHEN, N.J. (AP)- Paul Marsa plans to ask Superior Court Judge David Furman for a court order to stop township council members from praying before each meeting.

Marsa, who calls himself "an atheist by intellectual reasoning," objects to the prayer because he said it violates the right of separation of church and state. "The prayer didn't matter to me," Marsa said.

"You were coerced into joining them." The 44-year-old divorced father of three boys said residents of this central New Jersey community of 16,000.

better times

Have you stopped to think that, ominous as some of the headlines are, we Americans may have less to worry about than at any time in our nation's two centuries?

What's been dominating Page One in recent days? Peace talks.

What's preoccupied our voters in recent elections? Tax cuts.

The only truly worrisome factor in our nation's prospects is the shrinking dollar--yet even that problem eased with the most recent cost-of-living report.

Characteristically, and perhaps necessarily, we continue to sell newspapers with noise--conflicts, plane crashes and rainstorms--however isolated and comparatively inconsequential.

But from the historian's point of view, if you could choose--in all history--a time and a place to be alive, this would have to be the time and place.

Lately, I have been traveling--and I've found that Americans are mostly happy.

It's not a "whistling in the cemetery" pretense. It is a genuine psychological calm.

The questions and answers I hear tend to support the political polls: the present Washington Administration is less than popular.

But it is less than inflammatory, also.

There is less social confrontation, less disease and more take-home prosperity than at any time in our nation's history.

Even the crime fever has subsided by two percentage points this year.

Divorce statistics are stabilizing.

With the approach of Thanksgiving I've always sought--during at least one visit--to audit our blessings. I've never found it so easy as this year.

Statistically, uppers and downers are a fading fad.

Music is almost singable again.

And the comb--is making a comeback.

With the resumption of school, students are so orderly and campuses so quiet that it's hard to remember when they weren't. But they weren't.

The longtime citizen frustration with taxation has been ventilated--first in California, next in referendums all across our nation.

We've rediscovered that government "by the people" is functional.

And in courts of law there is less tolerance for wrongdoers, an increasing respect for the rights of their victims. That helps make it feel good again to be an American.

If in this upcoming time of Thanksgiving my audit stands, if the most exciting segment of the evening news continues to be the weather--how rich we are.

And if the oncoming generation lives up to its promises, these next will be our greenest years.

Time does pass swiftly. It seems downright impossible that two full years have passed since we came to Snyder and took over the Snyder Daily News.

It's been a good two years for us because of the super way that folks have accepted us and treated us during that time. It's been a good two years not only in business terms, but in terms of making friends and feeling a part of the community.

Snyder's a good town and we're glad to be a part of it.

Update: Last time we used this space to tell about the two major oil company employees who filed criminal charges against their boss for withholding payroll deductions.

The oil company superintendent apparently didn't think the situation was as humorous as we had first thought. It seems that the county grand jury no-billed the boss on the theft charges.

The oil company superintendent then in turn filed a $1 million lawsuit against the two employees and the Tax Free Foundation--charging them with libel, slander and malicious prosecution.

It's an interesting case

WASHINGTON (NEA)- Sex, religion and politics may no longer be considered taboo as topics for polite conversation, but that certainly doesn't make them fit subjects for legislative attention.

Introduce any one of them into a debate in Congress and you've got a surefire distortion of the issue under discussion. Put them all together, and the result is a total shambles.

That, regrettably, is what has happened in the 95th Congress over the abortion issue, which combines in equally explosive measure all three formerly taboo topics.

As if Congress didn't have enough to worry about in these closing weeks of the session with the energy bill, civil service reform and a tax reduction, it now faces the prospect of a rancorous House-Senate fight over no less than five major bills to which anti-abortion riders have been attached.

Last year, the huge Labor-HEW appropriations bill was held up for months by a bitter quarrel between the House and Senate over just how tightly a restriction on the use of Medicaid funds to finance abortions for poor women should be written.

To the dismay of the calendar-conscious from leadership in both houses, the same bill is headed for a rematch this year and four other measures are ensnarled in the abortion controversy as well.

In each instance, it is the House that is seeking to prohibit the use of federal funds for abortions while the Senate fights to keep restrictions to a minimum.

At stake are the defense appropriations bill, where the House wants to cut off paid abortions for military personnel; the foreign aid appropriations measure, where the target is abortion assistance for Peace Corps volunteers; a pregnancy disability bill, where the House wants to exclude abortion coverage from private health insurance plans, and a House move to prohibit the U.S. Civil Rights Commission from collecting any analyzing data about possibly discriminatory effects of the government's abortion policies.

What has precipitated this flurry of anti-abortion fervor in the House is not some sudden surge of broad-based public sentiment. On the contrary, public opinion polls have consistently shown a majority of those questioned support the Supreme Court's ruling that the decision on whether to terminate a pregnancy should rest solely with a woman and her doctor. Furthermore, an August survey by plurality now favors the expenditure of federal funds to pay for abortions that poor women cannot finance themselves.

This, however, is an election year, and many House members who face close contests this fall fear the balance could be tipped by the small but active percentage of voters who judge a candidate by his position on abortion of political expediency, even when they have no deep personal convictions on the abortion issue per se.

For those who do genuinely abhor all abortions on moral or religious grounds, funding cut-offs are a poor means of seeking to halt the practice.

The existing restriction on Medicaid outlays for abortions has now been in effect for a full year and has resulted, according to HEW calculations, in a 98 percent reduction in the number of pregnancy terminations financed by federal funds. Yet according to officials at the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, where abortions are monitored, there has been little if any reduction in the number of pregnancies terminated.

The Supreme Court has said women have a right to seek an abortion in the early months of a pregnancy. With or without federal assistance, they continue to do so. Congressmen who vote for funding cut-offs may help their own political prospects, but they are not stopping abortions.

CB Links Carriers And Customers

By Ink Dipper

It is estimated that there are more than 20,000 CBers among the nation's 33,000 rural letter carriers and that probably half of their 4.5 million customers also have mobile CBs and base units.

"The people we serve every day use CB constantly," says Leland Sorteberg, secretary-treasurer of the National Rural Letter Carriers Association. "As a matter of fact, CB is so much a part of the life of a rural mailman, I was surprised that no one introduced a motion at our convention in Indianapolis to start a mailman's CB club."

The stories of the use of CB in times of emergency (particularly with the bad winters of recent years) abound when rural letter carriers get together. In Ohio, it was reported, many carriers simply had to spend the night at homes of their customers because they couldn't go any further, and they couldn't retrace their routes.

The only way they could report to their post offices and to their families that they were well and out of danger was CB radio. All phone lines were out of order.

"The stories are really fantastic," says Sorteberg. "It's not at all uncommon for a carrier to be warned by a customer that a road is impassable, or for the carrier to ask ahead whether a road is passable. The carriers know their customers, and they all work together.

"When they know a carrier is getting near their road, and its blocked, they'll send one of their heavy duty tractors down to clear a path for him. And, perhaps, even take him on to his next stop. All the tractors are equipped with CB too."

Sorteberg, who has held his elected union position for about five years, is a CBer himself. His handle is "Minnesota Mailman" and his license is KFR 3604. He plans to return to his route in Minnesota when he leaves his union post. And his CB will be at his side.

"Our main concern is that the rural letter carrier not use his CB indiscriminately," he remarks. "They also must protect the privacy of the mail. This is most important. When he knows one of his customers is anxious for a package to arrive, he can call ahead and say he has a package for her. But to say that it is COD, and she should bring X dollars to him, would be a distinct invasion of privacy.

"He must also be aware that others can listen when he calls one of his customers, and they may note that there is no answer for several days, indicating they are away. That is good news for a burglar with plans for a robbery. This is the reason that constant caution must be exercised."

The intimate relationship between the rural mail carrier and his customers makes CB an ideal communications form.

robert schuller

it's possible

A few days ago my wife and I went out for breakfast to a little place we'd never been before. We wanted to be alone so we could talk. The table was outside and it was a pleasant morning. The waitress came up to our table bounding with enthusiasm.

"It's a beautiful morning, isn't it?" she exclaimed before she even gave us the menu. I hadn't taken time that morning to notice.

"Yes, it's a lovely morning," I said.

"Look how the sun is filtering through those trees," she added.

"Yes, it's beautiful," I replied, thinking what a sense of awareness she had.

"You're going to have a wonderful breakfast," she enthused, before we could even look at the menu.

I was sold! I want to go back there because in my life she excelled as a waitress! And the food was great!

You don't want to be mediocre. You want to be a star! You want to excel at something. When you feel you excel in something, you know you are a star in life. And there is enormous personal fulfillment in that. And that good feeling is the very affirmation of the blessing of God Himself who is saying, "There, my child, you did it! I didn't design people to be losers, I designed everybody to be a star. Somehow, some way, some place, you can be a star!"

From time to time I like to take my family to one particular hotel in a city where I frequently lecture. My youngest girls, who are 11 and 13, know the place well. They know the swimming pool, the restaurant and the beach in front of the hotel. They have played there often.

They run all over that beach except for one area. There's a road that leads to a clump of trees blocked off with a sign that reads: "PRIVATE PROPERTY: DO NOT ENTER." The girls never go any further down the road.

Recently, I returned to that city to lecture, and I took my family along so we could have a good time — even while I was working. When we arrived, we found our favorite hotel was booked solid. But the manager is a friend of mine and said, "Dr. Schuller, there are some condominiums next door. Take your family and stay there as my guests!" So we graciously accepted and entered the condominium in the dark of night.

The next morning I said to my youngest, Gretchen, "Let's go downstairs to breakfast." She took my hand faithfully, blindly believing in me the way the wise men followed the star to Bethlehem. She had no idea where we were. We took the elevator down to the first floor and walked through a long corridor that led out to the beach.

We were walking along the beach when Gretchen suddenly recognized the familiar grove of trees, which hid from our view the hotel next door. We walked over and slipped through a tunnel in the trees until we came to the back of the sign that said "PRIVATE PROPERTY." Gretchen recognized it immediately.

Then she saw the swimming pool, the restaurant and the familiar beach. "Oh, so this is where the road leads!" she exclaimed.

The next morning I was outside the hotel waiting to be picked up to go to my lecture. A young couple walked past me and both of them stopped abruptly. They recognized me, and we laughed and chatted awhile.

"Dr. Schuller," the young man said, "we're here on our honeymoon. We got married two days ago." I congratulated them and said, "I have a special little something for you."

I showed them the road and told them the story of Gretchen, the day before, saying, "So this is where the road leads." Then I looked straight at the groom and said, "When you looked at this lovely girl for the first time a star of love went on in your mind and you kissed her. Now, here you are on your honeymoon and this is where the road leads! Follow that star — never take your eyes off of it.

"A few years from now you may hold in your arms a baby and you'll look at the child and say, 'So, this is where the road is leading!' Then fifty years from now, you'll say to your children and grandchildren, 'This is where the road leads.' But to get there you must follow the star — you must believe in your dream!"

Reverend Schuller, pastor of the Garden Grove, Calif., Community Church, can be seen weekly on his nationally syndicated TV program, "Hour of Power."

'The Users' Is A Trashy Movie

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - "The Users" is another one of those trashy movies about Hollywood. Which is to say it's great fun.

It's knee-deep in swill. The characters are scheming and decadent, deliciously and memorably so with performances etched in acid. They don't have skeletons in their closets - they have whole graveyards.

It would join a long list of rotten movies about movies were it not done with such high style and with restraint over the seamier bits.

Some characters are so outrageous, yet so on target, that the film teeters on a knife edge between melodrama and black comedy.

"The Users," starring Jaclyn Smith of "Charlie's Angels" as a $100-a-night hooker who becomes the movies' social queen, airs at 9 p.m. EDT Sunday on ABC. It runs 2½ hours.

"We deliberately set out to make it trashy," admits executive producers Douglas Cramer. Cramer is also the former husband of Joyce Haber, author of the book from which the film was adapted.

"I think we've given it a new dimension. Take '79 Park Avenue.' That was another trashy movie that was fun to watch, but it didn't have that extra dimension."

That extra dimension comes from having a director like Joseph E. Hardy, whose bailiwick is Broadway and the "Hallmark Hall of Fame." From having Maurice Jarre, who won Oscars for "Lawrence of Arabia" and "Doctor ZHivago," score the music. And from opulent sets furnished with the real thing - designer clothes, furs, and priceless jewels, paintings, and statuary.

The screenplay was hewn by Robert J. Shaw from the 400 pages of Miss Haber's steamy roman a clef about a call girl who marries a fading screen idol and schemes and connives until he achieves an Oscar-winning comeback.

When the book was published, it set off a guessing game of who was who. The story is based in truth and each character has at least one authentic counterpart. A few characters are composites of several movie celebrities.

Tony Curtis stars as the aging actor who gets a shot of self confidence from Miss Smith. Red Buttons is the lecherous super agent. George Hamilton is the philandering producer kept on a leash by his Pasadena society wife, played by Carrie Nye.

But it is Joan Fontaine, a 1941 Academy Award winner for "Suspicion," who nearly steals the picture with a brazen performance as the flibbertigibbet who, for a nice fat fee, eases the strain of social climbing.

Schools Get Mystery Gift

CLEVELAND (AP) - A mystery benefactor, said to have a particular concern for the problems of urban schools, has presented Cleveland's money-starved school system with $10,000.

The donor was identified only as "the Richardson family," and a lawyer told the school board Thursday night a similar presentation would be made to New York. Thomas D.H. Barnett, a Richmond, Va., lawyer, said he did not know where his client lives, but that the family had a background in education and chose Cleveland because of news accounts of its troubles. "He's never been to Cleveland, and he never intends to be here, probably," Barnett said.

Tells His Secret, Loses Only Friend

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 20-year-old male and I'm gay. My best friend (I'll call him Bob) and I recently got into some heavy discussions and ended up confessing our innermost secrets.

When I told Bob I was gay, he became very angry and said he never wanted me near him again. Then he left.

I am not sexually attracted to Bob. He's my best friend and I don't want to lose him. Other than my friendship with him, I'm pretty much a loner.

Last year I was on the verge of taking my life, so I went to a suicide prevention center. They talked me out of going through with it, but now I'm considering suicide again. I've analyzed my situation and seriously wonder if my life is worth the pain of living it.

I look to you as a last chance, Abby. If your advice doesn't help me, I will just go with what I think is the best solution.

Please answer soon. I can't wait much longer.

CONFIDENTIAL IN DETROIT

DEAR CONFIDENTIAL: Your former friend Bob has a lot to learn about homosexuality if he feels threatened by your confession, and ended your friendship for that reason. You haven't lost much. Friends worth having accept you as you are.

Please go back to the suicide prevention center. They do more than just talk you out of committing suicide. They have competent counselors who will help you get your head together. Go now, and write to me soon and tell me how you're doing. I care.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 and my parents are divorced. My mother has remarried and so has my father. The problem is, my father has had TWO divorces, and is engaged to be married again. That doesn't really bother me. It's his life and he's entitled to happiness, but Abby, he is 53 and his girlfriend is 23! And that bothers me.

I've talked to him about it, but it did no good. He says he doesn't want to be alone. I can understand that, but I wish he'd find a woman nearer his age.

Don't get me wrong. I like his girlfriend, it's just that she is younger than my older sister.

I love my father very much. What can I do?

WORRIED ABOUT DAD

DEAR WORRIED: Cool it. If you really love your father and want him to be happy, the best thing you can do for him is to accept his young wife, and hope for the best.

DEAR ABBY: Being an avid reader of your column, I have noted many different kinds of problems, but the one that has always puzzled me is the problem of the single woman in love with a married man.

She thinks if only he would divorce his wife, they would get married and live happily ever after!

Why doesn't that foolish woman realize that if the man does ditch his wife and marry her, she has no assurance that he will not repeat his unfaithfulness and dump her for someone else?

I think if those "other women" who are drooling over another woman's husband would take this into consideration, quite a few would take up their lines and go fishing in a clearer stream.

What is your opinion?

BOGART, GA.

DEAR BOGART: Love is a "mental disease." It doesn't respond to logic. A woman in love reasons that the timing was unfortunate, and she can succeed in a marriage where her predecessor has failed. Occasionally she's right.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Signs Point To Bad Business

NEW YORK (AP) - Business executives can tell when their firm is heading for trouble when it experiences any or all of certain kinds of problems, according to April-Marcus, Inc., a merchandising consulting company.

The four most common signs were listed as inventory slackening, increased overhead, decreased profitability and a letdown in cash flow.

Swim Class To Meet Monday

A beginning swimming course for women will hold its first meeting at 5:30 Monday afternoon at the Western Texas College pool.

A minimum of 10 students will be required to form the class, and the class will be limited to 10 so the instructor can work with each student individually. Classes will meet from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. on Mondays through Nov. 20. Mrs. Jack Darby will be instructor.

Persons wishing to enroll in the course are to call the Community Services office, 573-8511, extension 240. Fees will be $22 per person and may be paid at the first class meeting.

UNITED WAY BOOTH--The Scurry County Fair was timely for the United Way this year as it prepared to launch its annual campaign for funds Tuesday night Jack McGlaun was manning the booth when Howard Harrington stopped by for tickets to the banquet of cornbread and beans which will kick off the general campaign. Tickets to the kickoff dinner are priced at $2 each.

Air Control Permit Plan To Change

AUSTIN - Effective Monday a major change in the Texas Air Control Board (TACB) permit procedures will require public notification of intent to construct new sources of air pollution.

As adopted by the TACB this past spring, the rule change (Rule 131.08.00.-010, Regulation VI) requires companies applying for a construction permit for a new source, or for modification of an existing source, to publicize specific information regarding the proposed facility.

The statement must run in two successive issues of a newspaper having general circulation in the area in which the source is to be located. Further, the statement must appear in both the public notice section of the paper and elsewhere in the same issue as a notice measureing at least three by five inches. A public comment period of thirty days from the last date of publication allows interested citizens to submit written comments to the TACB concerning the permit application. The TACB expects the new rule to broaden public participation in its permitting procedures and to help eliminate any element of surprise to citizens when a new facility is constructed in their area.

20th Birthday For CB Radio

By JOHN D. McCLAIN
Associated Press Writer

Happy Birthday, CB Radio.

You sure have come a long way, to borrow a phrase, in the 20 years since the Federal Communications Commission delivered you in September 1958.

Just think, about 14 million persons now are licensed to use you, and untold thousands more - their families - operate you under those licenses, as well as others who operate you illegally.

But use you they do - for personal hobby, to conduct businesses, to report on and assist in emergencies, to determine highway conditions and Smokey hideouts. For just about everything imaginable, really.

As you know, the CB industry plans to celebrate your birthday on Oct. 4 - 10-4 Day, it's calling it. You know, the 4th day of the 10th month. Kind of a play on words for the most popular of the 10 codes many use when talking on you.

First, a birthday cake-cutting in the Capitol here with a lot of government dignitaries expected to attend; then ceremonies in Chicago commemorating Illinois' early recognition of your public safety aspects, and then the inauguration in Berkeley, Calif., of a traveling museum detailing your growth these last 20 years.

And just about every governor has proclaimed Oct. 4 as "CB Recognition Day" in your honor.

We really did not begin to appreciate you, you know, until after the 1973 Arab oil boycott and the subsequent gasoline shortages and truckers' strike.

License applications in the months after you arrived were running only about 600 a month.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

October 1, 1978

A long-time desire you have silently toiled over will finally bear fruit this coming year. This occurrence could open up many exciting adventures and spawn new friends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In a situation where a major issue is at stake you might be instrumental in helping another alter it to something quite beneficial. You'll end up helping yourself, too. Find out more of what lies ahead for you by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll take the initiative today and face up to a tough issue that has mystified several people. While showing them how to handle it, you could fulfill a secret desire.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Even though you may not be consciously aware of it, today's events will have an uplifting effect to give you added strength for tomorrow's affairs.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't be afraid to put yourself out a little more than usual when dealing with others today. Because you possess the necessary knowledge, they're looking for you to take control.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your judgment is far-seeing today. You have the faculty to inspire someone who is feeling a little down. Speak up. Be a booster.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Others are willing to help you put into action plans you might have been sitting on. Take them up on it. You'll later find a way to repay them.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Seeking counsel and then not being afraid to try a new approach suggests is what will turn your day into a very rewarding one.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Luck will be with you when you try your hand at a project you've never before attempted. You'll succeed because one skilled in the field lends a hand.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll possess loads of energy today and will be able to accomplish all necessary chores and still have plenty of zest left to socialize with pals.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your optimism is contagious today. You'll lead the pack in showing how to make the most out of any situation and bring things to a successful conclusion.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Rely on experience to guide your actions today. You'll avoid yesterday's mistakes and gain compliments from others.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A day when old business is concluded and new enterprises can take over. However, make haste cautiously. Don't put the cart before the horse.

Your Birthday

October 2, 1978

Greater emphasis than usual will be placed upon an exchange of ideas and interrelationships with people this coming year. This added emphasis will increase your depth of understanding, which in turn brings much happiness.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) That natural charm that comes so easily to you will be put to good use today. You will get what you want without appearing aggressive. Like to find out more of what lies ahead for you? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The type of people who will be most helpful to you now are those with a compassionate nature. Don't waste time appealing to hard-hearts.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It would be difficult to overwhelm you today. The larger the group or organization seeking your leadership or aid, the better you'll respond.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Volunteering to take on another person's overpowering situations could end up aiding you as much as him or her. The acknowledgement of your act will be most gratifying.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have such a pleasant way of presenting things today. Even criticism becomes a compliment because your critique will be kind and constructive.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's so like you to always extend your best efforts to help someone. Today if one enlists your services, your determination can only bring success.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) For one normally charged with restless energy, today you'll be more content to handle things quietly. The effect will be soothing.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A kind word or deed today from a fellow worker could inspire you to put new life into a routine task. It'll be a refreshing change.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today, being with someone who takes life a bit too seriously won't pose any problems for you. You'll handle this person so as to bring out his or her best.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you feel creative today, try out your new idea. Your imagination isn't running away with you, it's working for you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) People recall actions better than they remember words. Today, you dramatize so effectively that your ideas are easily understood and accepted.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be alert for some hidden means to add to your resources today. If you are perceptive enough, the accumulation could be substantial.
