WLB Requests Decree Miners Return To Jobs

Request Will Be Presented Today At White House

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The War Labor board today asked President Roosevelt to intervene in the 20-day strike of Pennsylvania hard coal miners.

The board asked the President to demand that the miners return to work immediately. The board's request, drafted at a brief emergency session, will be taken to the White House this afternoon by six WLB members.

WORK STOPPAGE SPREADS

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 18 (AP)—The wildcat work stoppage in Pennsylvania's anthracite field spread today to the United Mine Workers district 7 for the second time, forcing two collieries to close and adding an additional 2,300 men to approximately 12,500 others in district 1 who continued their 19-day-old strike despite a second War Labor board ultimatum.

The WLB decided to ask for Presidential action after 10,000 strikers voted at week-end meetings to reject a WLB plea that they go back to work.

When the President will act is uncertain. Board members believed that if a White House appeal to the men to resume production of vitally needed anthracite is ignored the Army may take over the mines.

Considered Showdown

WLB Public Member Wayne L. Morse said he considered the situation a showdown between the government and the miners which, if not settled now, would lead to prolonged wrangling and much more serious difficulties when the UMW contract expires April 30.

"The vote of the anthracite miners to continue on strike," he said, "will be enthusiastically received in Berlin, Rome and Tokyo. It will be a shock to the people of this country.

"I believe that the joy such action brings to the Axis should be stressed to the striking miners."

Wouldn't Get Coal Mined

Asked if he thought the situation was close to government operation of the coal mines, Morse replied:

"That may be what the miners want in that district. Why give them what they want? No favorable consideration should be given them."

Neither Morse nor alternate Employe Member Frank Hewitt would predict what action Mr. Roosevelt might take. Hewitt was asked about the possibility of a "work-or-fight" order.

"The trouble with that," he said, "is that the coal can't be mined if these strikers are put into the fighting forces."

Both Morse and Hewitt agreed that the important thing is to get the men back to work with as little delay as possible.

Allies Keep Up Battering Of Japs' Bases

New Onslaught On Guadalcanal By Japs Expected

(By The Associated Press)

Allied air forces kept up their two-day battering of the Japanese in Burma and their steady pounding of the invaders' shipping and air bases in the Solomons-New Guinea area over the week end while the Americans on Guadalcanal braced for an expected new onslaught against their improved positions.

A U. S. Navy communique told today of heavy American bomber attacks on the Shortland islands area of the Solomons and announced that American ground troops on Guadalcanal had killed 150 more of the enemy in their efforts to complete conquest of the island.

Three air attacks against the Americans on Guadalcanal, announced over the week-end by the Navy, indicated that the Japanese were preparing for another determined attempt, however costly, to regain their former positions on Guadalcanal. Such efforts already have taken a heavy toll of enemy shipping, planes and men.

Landings Not Revealed

The raids, the first multi-plane attack on Guadalcanal since last November, followed repeated attempts by the Japanese to get new troops and supplies ashore. The Navy reported two days ago that United States planes attacked one group of five destroyers and another of nine. Both groups were damaged, but it was not disclosed whether they accomplished any landings.

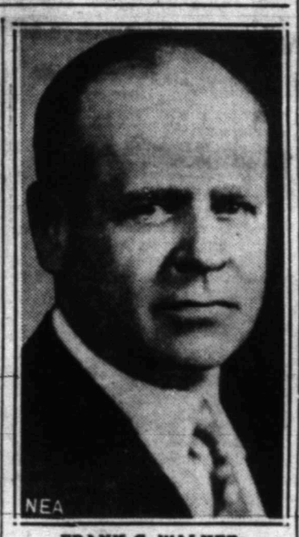

Maj. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commander of the Army air and ground forces in the south Pacific, declared that the scope of Allied offensive plans extended far beyond Guadalcanal.

Pound Japanese Shipping

He said it was the aim of the Allies to "unhinge the Japanese from New Guinea, the Bismarck archipelago and the Solomon islands."

Walker Elected Demo Chairman

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Postmaster General Frank C. Walker today was elected chairman of the Democratic national committee to succeed Edward J. Flynn who resigned from his party post and was nominated by President Roosevelt to become ambassador, minister plenipotentiary and personal representative of President Roosevelt to Australia.

Walker, who had been expected by political observers to succeed Flynn, was elected without a dissenting vote His nomination, the only one placed before the committee, was by Culbert L. Olson, former governor of California, who declared that under Walker's leadership "we can look forward to the 1944 battle with the reformation of our lines and with no recession from our social objectives."

Before retiring from the chairmanship, Flynn told committee members he believed it was their counsel and influence "which made possible a continuance of our Democratic control in Congress when many of us doubted that such continuance of control was possible."

The committee meeting called to pick his successor, was the first and last at which Flynn presided. He said his only reason for resigning was to render "service to the nation in a different field."

Reds Announce New Gains On 5 Main Fronts

Russians Capture Railroad Center On Donets River

BY HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Jan. 18—Russia announced new gains today on five major battle fronts along the 550-mile Red army offensive line between Voronezh and the northern Caucasus.

On the south Voronezh front, Red army men were within 110 miles of Kharkov; on the Donets river front, they captured the railroad junction of Milleroro; in the Stalingrad area tanks, infantry and cavalry were ripping into the remnants of 22 German divisions now numbering only about 70,000 men; on the lower Don front Russians were within 25 miles of Salsk junction and in the Caucasus they were only 80 miles from Armavir, whence a railroad leads through the Maikop oil fields to the Black sea.

Capture 1,255 Nazis

Driving ahead throughout the night south of Voronezh, the Russians took several new inhabited places, wiping out almost the entire garrison of one fortified town and capturing 1,255 Germans, including a colonel in storming another, the noon communique said.

On the Donets front, the Russians took three populated places in a single sector. They killed about 1,000 Germans, the noon communique reported; knocked out seven tanks and 20 field guns and captured 300 prisoners, two tanks, 20 field guns, 50 trucks and two war supply dumps.

Nazi Resistance Dwindles

In the Stalingrad area, where the resistance of the trapped German army was nearing its end, the Russians spent the night wiping out additional nests of German resistance isolated in fortified villages.

One unit, overwhelming a resisting enemy force, killed more than 1,000 Germans, took 850 prisoners and captured 20 airplanes, 38 tanks, 91 field guns, 14 six-barreled mortars, 93 machine guns, more than 1,000 Tommy guns and rifles, 20,000 artillery shells and 21 radio trans-

German Capital Blasted Sunday, Saturday Nights

Large Fires Started As Bombers Drop Tons Of Block Busters; London Press Calls For A Similar Assault On Rome

BY SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Heavy bombers of the Royal Air force rained block busters on Berlin last night for the second straight night, and today London newspapers called for a similar assault on Rome.

PLANES ON RAID AGAIN

FOLKESTONE, England, Jan. 18. (AP)—A strong force of Allied planes roared out over Dover strait beneath low clouds shortly before dusk tonight in the direction of Boulogne and heavy explosions sounded for some time along the French coast.

That last night's raid on the German capital was much heavier than the one Saturday night was indicated by the loss of 22 British planes. Only one plane was lost in the previous raid. Its intensity also was indicated by a significant sentence in the communique of the Air ministry:

"By the end of the attack, large fires were burning."

Over Berlin Two Hours

Reports reached Stockholm, capital of neutral Sweden, that the British planes were over Berlin for more than two hours, appearing not long after dark.

The comparatively few planes the Germans sent over Britain during the night in an effort to convince the home front that they were giving as good as they received, met the heaviest anti-aircraft barrage of the war, the barrage and night fighters brought down 16 planes in all, a much larger percentage, it was indicated, of the total number of planes involved than the German anti-aircraft defense achieved.

Nazi Retaliation Weak

Of the weak Nazi retaliation, the Air and Home Security ministries said in a joint communique:

"A few enemy bombers penetrated the outer defenses of London in two raids last night and early today. Ten [illegible] were destroyed.

"There was some damage but nowhere was it on a large scale, and it was mainly confined to houses. The number of casualties so far reported is not large."

It was believed many of the German raiders not shot down were damaged so badly they never crossed the channel to their bases. During the first raid, between 8 and 10 p. m., 25 to 30 planes

Allies Step Up Blows On Axis Supply Routes

Lightnings Down Two Big Junkers Transport Planes

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 18—United States fighters and bombers pressed their aerial onslaught against German land and air communications today while repeated showers kept ground operations at a virtual standstill.

The 12th U. S. Air force reported the destruction of 194 German and Italian planes from the beginning of the north African campaign last Nov. 8 through Friday, Jan. 15, against the loss of 97 American aircraft.

Two Junkers Downed

Lockheed Lightning P-38's shot down a pair of Junkers 52 transports returning to Sicily from Tunisia yesterday and a Junkers 88 bomber which was heading for Tunisia, it was announced.

At the same time B-25 light bombers, the North American Billy Mitchells, hammered the railroad junction at Graiba, 30 miles southwest of Sfax, with an escort of P-38's. Bombs were seen to hit the target.

Axis Supply Ship Sunk

British light naval forces sank a medium-sized Axis supply ship 100 miles northwest of Tripoli on Saturday, the Admiralty announced today.

The vessel was sailing under escort and the escorting ship, which was not identified as to type, was reported damaged.

The British warships suffered neither casualties nor damage, the Admiralty said.

The British headquarters at Cairo said the Eighth army, still advancing in contact with the enemy, had reached the vicinity

Texas Senate Votes Sixty-Day Session

Adjournment For March 15 Voted; House Must Concur

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN Jan. 18.—The Senate of the Texas legislature voted today to adjourn sine die on March 15.

This would provide a 60-day session instead of the usual 120-day meeting.

House Must Concur

Concurrence by the House of Representatives is necessary to make the adjournment date certain.

The proposal for a 60-day session was made by Sen. Allan Shivers of Port Arthur and was adopted by a Senate vote of 17 ayes to 8 noes.

The adjournment vote was taken [illegible] legislature was beginning the second week of its regular session.

Appointments Awaited

Committee appointments in both the Senate and House may be made this week. Some quarters thought that Lieut. Gov.-Elect John Lee Smith would reveal his selections shortly after inauguration ceremonies are held for him and Gov. Coke R. Stevenson Tuesday morning at 11:30 a. m.

File Nearly 50 Bills

House Speaker Price Daniel may have his committees ready by the latter part of the week.

Accident Fatal To Local Man

Horace B. Swindell, 36, sales manager of Plains Liquefied Gas Co., died about 2:20 o'clock Sunday morning when his delivery truck overturned and ignited seven miles southwest of Brownfield on the Brownfield-Seagraves road.

Funeral services are to be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the residence, 2512 Coleman street.

Was Returning To City

Swindell, who had been connected with the company about a year, was returning to Lubbock after a delivery of butane to Denver City. A spokesman at the gas company office said it was supposed that Swindell fell asleep.

Thrown from the truck, Swindell was crushed by the cab, which ignited, the spokesman said.

He is survived by the widow, three daughters and three sons; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Green Swindell of Wolfe City.

Selection of the officiating minister and burial site had not been made this morning, it was reported by Rix Funeral home.

Lone Plane Captures 140 Italian Troops

CAIRO, Jan. 17. (AP)—A single plane of the "Groupe Bretagne," fliers with General Jacques Leclerc's central African army now moving to the aid of the Allies in north Africa, captured 140 Italian troops.

Its pilot who saw the garrison of Italian-held Fort Murzuch, 2,500 air miles southeast of Tripoli, evacuating their stronghold, machinegunned them until his ammunition was exhausted.

Then he dropped a note threatening to open fire with his cannon unless they surrended.

They did.

He had no cannon.

Mercury Drops To Ten Above

A bitter norther hit the Panhandle last night and today all West Texas shivered in a biting northeast wind that sent the mercury to its lowest figure at 10 above zero in Lubbock at 8 o'clock this morning.

Wire reports said it was four above at Pampa, coldest spot in the state from whence came

GEORGIA STORM KILLS 12

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 18 (U.P.)—High winds which swept a wide area of western Georgia, have taken a toll of at least 12 lives and resulted in injuries to more than 100 persons, reports from outlying areas revealed today.

Those killed included a soldier at Fort Benning, Ga., four members of a farm family near here, six negroes in Pike county, and an unidentified negro at Cuthbert, Ga.

Communication lines were down in other rural areas and county and state police reported it would be hours before highways into some sections where tornado winds struck could be traversed.

Five War Workers Killed In Collision

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 18 (AP) — Five Tulsa bomber plant workers were killed today in the collision of their automobile and a Frisco passenger train at a city crossing, the state highway patrol reported.

The patrol listed the victims as: Clarence Webb, 25; A. L. Harris, age not given; Thomas A. Hill, 25; Thelma Page, 25; Alfreeda Gans, age not given.

Andrew J. Maxwell, grade crossing watchman, told the patrol he stood in the path of the oncoming automobile waving a red lantern, but the driver apparently did not see the warning signal. He said he was forced to leap aside to avoid being struck by the car.

The five were on their way to the Douglas bomber plant, where they were employed.

Murder And Suicide In Farmers' Deaths

CROCKETT, Jan. 18 (U.P.) — A murder and suicide verdict was returned today by Justice John Penick in the deaths yesterday of Arthur Childress, 43, and John Nelson, 67, in the Waneta community of north Houston county. Both men were deaf and dumb.

Sheriff W. W. McConnell said that neighbors told him that Childress came to their home and informed them by writing in dirt with a rifle barrel that he had killed Nelson with four shots from the rifle.

Childress then walked about 300 yards down the road, lay down and pointed the rifle at his heart and pulled the trigger. He died instantly, the neighbors told the officer.

Both men were industrious farmers and there had been no ill feeling reported between the two, the sheriff said.

Draft Changes Are Considered

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — The Army's manpower situation and its future needs will come under the scrutiny of the House military affairs committee at hearings starting Wednesday. On the basis of information obtained then, the committee may reopen the entire Selective Service act.

High-ranking officers in charge of Army personnel matters are to be the first witnesses.

May Revise System

Their testimony, committeemen said, will determine whether legislation to revise the existing draft system and to give the War department exclusive jurisdiction over the drafting of men will be pushed.

Already before the committee is a bill, passed by the House last year but rejected by the Senate, to put selective service on a statewide instead of a local board basis.

Drafted by Representative Kilday (D-Tex) and backed by Chairman May (D-Ky), the bill is in-

Kelly And Duncan Fields Are Merged

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 18. (AP)—Two of San Antonio's largest military establishments — Kelly and Duncan field — Saturday were officially merged, Army officials announced, when it was revealed that a War department order, effective as of Jan. 9, made the fields one unit to be known as the San Antonio Air depot.

Officials declared that with the merger the order effected a junction of the largest hangar line and the largest repair depot in the United States.

Due to a fusion of the two fields, all flight training will come to an end at Kelly and all mechanical and repair facilities there will be taken over by Duncan field. The San Antonio Aviation Cadet center adjacent to Kelly field will not be affected by the order, officials said.

The oldest U. S. Army air training field, Kelly was first organized as Camp Kelly on June 11, 1917, to become Kelly field on July 30.

Brown Is Given O. K. By Senate

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — The Senate confirmed today President Roosevelt's nomination of Senator Prentiss M. Brown of Michigan to be price administrator.

Brown's appointment was approved after Minority Leader McNary of Oregon waived the rule which would have required the nomination to lie over one day following its report by the Senate banking committee. In reporting the matter, Chairman Wagner (D-NY) said the committee had approved the nomination unanimously last week.

No Objection Made

McNary said Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) who defeated Brown in last November's senate race, had no objection to the confirmation.

Brown, 53-year-old native of St. Ignace, Mich., is expected to take over immediately the reins of the price control administration being relinquished by Leon Henderson. Henderson resigned last month because of ill health, his resignation

Conviction Of AMA Is Upheld

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The Supreme court upheld today the conviction of the American Medical association on a charge of violating the Sherman anti-trust law by alleged activities against a group health organization in the District of Columbia.

Justice Roberts delivered the 6 to 0 opinion, which also applied to the medical society of the District of Columbia, an affiliate of the national organization. Justices Murphy and Jackson did not participate.

Conspiracy Alleged

The two medical organizations were alleged to have conspired against Group Health Association, Inc., described as a non-profit cooperative organization of government employes to provide medical care and hospitalization in return for monthly dues from the members.

"The defendants, during the years 1937 and 1938," the Justice department told the Supreme court, "have combined and conspired to restrain Group Health in its business of providing medical care and hospitalization, to restrain the doctors on its staff, as well as other doctors, in the pursuit of their callings, and to restrain Washington hospitals in the operation of their business.

"To achieve these objections, the district society and AMA in-

If War Should End Tomorrow, Treasury Could Redeem Bonds

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — If the war should end tomorrow, says Undersecretary Daniel W. Bell, the Treasury has enough money in its general fund to redeem nearly half of the approximately $15,000,000,000 in war savings bonds now outstanding. Should additional funds be needed, he adds, the Treasury could borrow them.

"Of course," said Bell, "we do not anticipate any such demands for redemptions. We believe the majority of bondholders will want to hold on to their bonds until maturity and thus get the benefit of the full amount of interest they have earned."

The maturity terms range from 10 years on the series E bonds,

Midwinter Lull Of War Is Shattered

By GLENN BABB
Wide World War Analyst

The midwinter lull which has ruled for weeks on most of the major war fronts was savagely shattered over the week-end.

Berlin's 14-months respite from air attack was ended by the RAF's smashing one-two punch and Berliners made their first acquaintance with the block-busters, so much more devastating than anything Goering has been able to deliver over London.

No Lull In Russia

In Africa General Montgomery set his Eighth army in motion again. And in Russia, where there has been no lull, to Hitler's sorrow, the resurgent Red army gave new evidence of its tremendous reserve power by adding another offensive to the half dozen already rolling forward, meanwhile continuing the relentless destruction of the 22 trapped divisions before Stalingrad.

Everywhere the initiative was with the Allies; nowhere was the enemy, German, Italian or Japanese, permitted to choose the new battlefields His response was limited to feeble retaliation, as in the air war over Europe, desperate defensive fighting in Russia, headlong retreat in Libya.

Success In Africa Seen

Of the new campaigns that in North Africa promises the earliest major success. Nowhere throughout the world have Axis fortunes fallen more disastrously than in this campaign of pursuit across Libya, which illustrates more vividly than any other phase of the conflict the way the initiative has been snatched from Hitler and his fellows.

Only three months ago Rommel was still a threat to Alexandria, the Suez canal and the whole position of the United Nations in the Middle East. Now, more than 1,000 miles to the west of El Alamein, where the onetime wizard of the desert wars met his master, Rommel again is in rapid retreat.

Apparently that beating he received at El Alamein robbed Rommel not only of the initiative but of the capacity to offer effective resistance. Twice now, at El Agheila and last week at Buerat El Hsun, he has abandoned naturally strong positions and fled as soon as his conqueror, Montgomery, was ready to resume the advance. In the latter case Rommel had the additional advantages of communications lines only a fraction of those which supplied the Eighth army. The strong implication is that the Axis high command has decided to abandon Libya and combine forces in Tunisia for a last stand in Africa.

Farmers Assured Of Operating Capital

John E. Burch, rural rehabilitation supervisor here for the Farm Security administration, is advising farmers that none need be hindered in production in 1943 for lack of supplies or operating funds.

"Banks and private credit institutions are expanding their [illegible] facilities," he said, "and the federal government also has ample facilities to meet the farm and ranch producers' needs."

Farmers who lack the required security for negotiating private loans, but whose family labor and land could be put to fuller use in the war program are invited to contact the Farm Security office, federal building.

Funds are immediately available to small operators for the purchase of farming equipment, feed, seed, livestock, household needs, building repairs, land rental, clothing, necessary medical care, sanitation facilities, and many other needs.

"Farm security loans this year," Burch said, "are being directed especially to any small farmers who with such financing can become qualified as essential farm producers under the war-unit rating, by adding to their livestock or poultry, or by increasing their production of war-rated crops."

TOOL MAKING GROWTH

During the years before the war, machine tools were produced at the rate of $100,000,000 worth a year., Now more than that amount are produced in a single month.

Recipe For Baking Dry Beans Given For Club By Miss Clara Pratt

When you bake beans, bake enough for several meals, Miss Clara Pratt, home demonstration agent, told Monroe club members Friday afternoon when they met with Mrs. W. H. Emery.

All kinds of dried beans may be baked by this recipe, she said. Soak 1 quart beans overnight in cold water. Drain. Cover with 2 quarts fresh water. Cook slowly one to one and a half hours or until skins burst readily. When done, put beans in a large baking pan. Remove rind from one and one-half pounds salt pork, score in squares and bury in top of beans. Mix 1 tablespoon salt, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon mustard, 1-3 cup molasses, 1 cup boiling water and pour over beans, adding enough water to cover. Bake 6 to 8 hours at 250 degrees, F. in covered pan and add hot water as needed. Uncover during last hour.

Onions may be baked with the beans or may be added with tomato juice to give a different flavor the second and third day they are served, Miss Pratt suggested.

Mrs. A. L Faubion was elected council member to fill a vacancy.

Those present were Mesdames Edgar Abney, Marshall Shipp, Haney Emery, guests, and Mesdames Pat Dunlap, John Harrell, E. J. Exum, J. H. Barnett, Faubion, E. W. Smith, members. The club will meet Feb. 11 with Mrs. Barnett.

Russell Drafts Anti-Liquor Act

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — A tall, bronzed former Texas Ranger who hasn't "had a drink in 33 years" is preparing an anti-liquor bill for introduction in the House, a measure to forbid sale of alcoholic beverages to soldiers, sailors or marines.

He is Representative Sam Russell of Stephenville, Democrat, who patrolled horseback along the Mexican border back in 1914, taught school 5 years, was in the Army during the last war, and served as a district attorney and district judge in West Texas before coming to Congress two years ago.

Died Last Session

The bill he is preparing would prohibit the sale of any beverage containing more than 1 per cent alcohol by volume to any service man in uniform. He sponsored similar legislation during the last Congress but it died in committee.

Popular with his colleagues, Russell says he earnestly believes that unless the present trend of drinking by service men is curtailed he believes it will lead again to national prohibition

"And I still describe prohibition as we had it up until repeal of the 18th amendment as a whopping success," he added.

Saw Numerous Incidents

Russell said that in the few weeks he spent in Texas at the end of last year he saw numerous incidents and heard numerous complaints which led him to believe more strongly than ever that legislation such as he proposed should be introduced. He said that in travel on bus and train he had seen many cases of excessive drinking by service men.

"Unless something is done I think the public will arise and demand national prohibition. . . and get it."

"I haven't had a drink in 33 years," he said. "I am the dryest of drys. I know that our soldiers and sailors can not give the best in them when they are under the influence of liquor."

Russell said many church and school groups supported the type of legislation he advocated. It differs from the dry bill offered by Senator O'Daniel of Texas in that the latter's bill would forbid the sale of alcoholic beverages on or near Army or Navy reservations.

Keeping too little gas in the tank allows it to vajorize and escape through the vent.

January Vows Are Revealed

LANETT, Ala., Jan. 18. (Special) —The marriage of Miss Lillian La Merle Blakely of Lanett and Robert Loyd Altman of Chanute Field, Ill., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Altman of Lubbock, which took place Jan. 5 at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Blakely in Lanett, is being announced here.

Army last January He is to go to Officers Training school at Fort Sill, Okla., in the near future and Mrs. Altman plans to join him in Lawton

We The Women

BY RUTH MILLETT

The average housewife today should be thinking about tomorrow and trying to prepare herself for it.

If the war lasts several years, and she might as well assume that it will, there are some things she can be pretty sure will come about.

Clothing will likely be rationed. With that as a possibility the housewife who has any spare time had better start learning to sew. Making over clothes may be the only way she can manage so that she and her family will have plenty to wear.

Furthermore, she had better begin now seeing that the whole family starts taking the best possible care of the clothes they have. And she had better hang on to any outmoded clothes where the material is still good for future remodeling.

Many kinds of food will be scarce. That is another safe guess. But families won't need to suffer, if the homemaker is busy right now learning all that she can about adequate diets and food and meat substitutes.

HELP WILL BE SCARCE

Household help will be harder and harder to get. Knowing that, with the war plants needing more and more workers, it will be practically impossible for a family to keep a maid, the wise housewife who still has help will be organizing her housework now so that she can get along unassisted. If she is the helepless type who thinks she never could do a washing she had better take a few lessons from her maid, while she still has someone to teach her.

Private nurses will not always be available. Already in many communities there is a scarcity of nurses, and as the war goes on there will be even fewer to care for civilians. So the housewife can't start too soon on a home nursing course, so that she will be capable of giving her family proper care in time of sickness.

Lubbock Housewives To Start Slicing Own Bread Today As New Regulations Are Invoked

Lubbock bread buyers, along with others throughout the nation, start slicing their own today.

Furthermore, unless new regulations are changed, people will keep on slicing their own until the war is won.

Likewise, indications are that they'll do their slicing under difficulties. The declaration attributed to officials of the War Production Board in Washington several days ago that "there are plenty of bread knives" does not apply to Lubbock.

No Bread Knives

If a single bread knife is obtainable here, a hurried search failed to locate it. Although most, if not all, local establishments which handle such knives have been trying to obtain supplies for weeks, none has succeeded. Furthermore, none expects to succeed.

"It is almost impossible to get knives of any kind—much less bread knives," the manager of one local department store remarked. "I guess we'll have to sharpen the old butcher knife."

Bakers and store managers emphasized that the ordinary knife used to slice bread should be sharp. Otherwise the bread loaf is likely to be gnawed and squeezed.

Local operators seemed as much mystified as ever as to the reasons behind the ban on sliced bread. They agreed that there will be no saving of manpower because the machine which does the slicing also does the wrapping. This machine is fed by hand—and still must be fed by hand if the loaf is to be wrapped. The only saving that can be achieved, they pointed out, will be on the sharpening and replacement of slicing knives.

"Don't quote me," remarked one operator, "but this looks to me like an attempt to sell more bread. Home slicing will get fewer slices and will result in more waste than when the bread is bakery sliced."

He pointed out that the ban on slicing resulted from a recommendation by the national baker's association.

Another reminder given in connection with new regulations was that most stores likely will carry smaller stocks of bread and other bakery products. Heretofore, bakers have picked up the products remaining unsold at the end of the day. This practice has been discontinued The retailer does the worrying hereafter about the bakery products, including bread, which remains unsold. Consequently, most of them will carry smaller stocks.

Navy Mothers Club Will Collect Razors To Be Sent To Servicemen

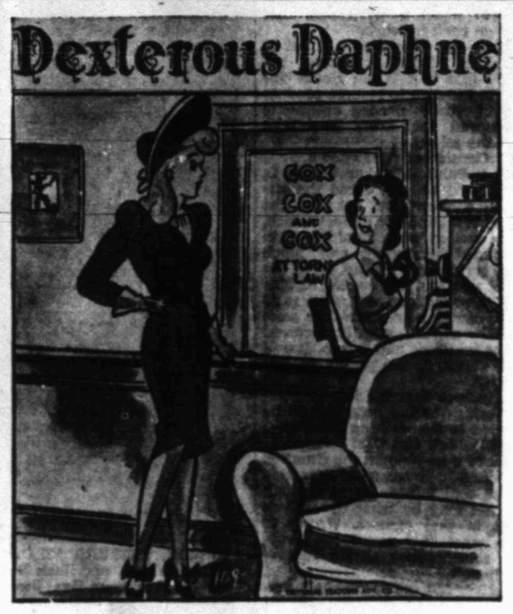

South Plains Navy Mothers club has started a campaign to collect usable razors to be sent to servicemen who lose their belongings in ship sinkings and other disasters, and a box has been placed at Cocanougner's cafeteria for the donations.

The club plans to send a large number of safety razor blades when they ship the razors. That necessary article is one men need greatly when they land at a port and often the demand is greater than the available supply, it was explained. The club members are of the opinion there are many razors laying unused in Lubbock bathroom lockers and they are askin that inventory be taken and the razors be left at the cafeteria.

Williams Is Picked As Player Of Year

Scribes To Honor Slugging Boston Sox Outfielder

BY JACK CUDDY
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—Theodore Samuel (Ted) Williams, former slugging Boston Red Sox outfielder whose idiosyncrasies won him as much baseball renown as his potent bat, received belated but none-the-less sincere recognition from diamond scribes today when he was chosen player-of-the-year by the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers of America.

New York somehow had gained recognition as being a hoodoo to thumping Ted who turned in some of baseball's most impressive batting feats but was overshadowed two years running by Yankee players when it came to picking the American league's most valuable player.

Passed Up For DiMaggio

He compiled the tremendous average of .406 in 1941 only to be passed up in favor of New York's Joe DiMaggio who had run up a consecutive batting streak of 56 games. That year Ted led in home runs with 37 and in runs scored with 135.

Last season it seemed that Williams had clinched the most valuable player recognition when he led the majors in batting for the second consecutive year with .356, homers with 36, total bases with 338, runs scored 141 and runs batted in with 137, yet he lost the coveted laurel to Second Baseman Joe Gordon of the Yankees.

In certain quarters it yas reported that a caucus of New York scribes ganged up on Williams but his placing by the local chapter among a long list of outstanding stars of the game who have received their accolade scotches that rumor.

Now An Aviation Cadet

At present, Ted is a naval aviation cadet at Amherst college along with teammate Johnny Pesky and is so enthusiastic about his new career that he is ready "to quit baseball for good" in favor of flying.

And when the kid talks about quitting the game he so obviously loved, he must be really sold. Williams came to the Red Sox from San Diego before he was 20 years old and stormy incidents were almost as numerous in his career as home runs.

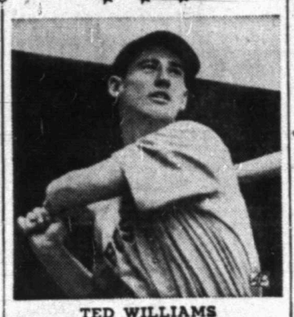

Last year, Manager Joe Cronin fined him $250 and suspended him for allegedly "loafing" and "sulking." That little incident probably cost him the 1942 M. V. P. award since team spirit as well as performance plays a large part in the selection.

In Various Clashes

Ever since Williams began to have various spirited clashes with his manager, Cronin, the report persisted that if Ted had been under another pilot, he would have gone even further—perhaps not in batting, but in the general esteem of the public. Theoretically, that might be so, since another manager might have exhibited more patience with willowy Williams and capitalized to a greater extent on his natural ability.

Perhaps if his foibles had been played down and not given so much publicity in the clubhouse and before the fans, Ted might have been a greater, more sincere team man. But when Williams climbs on the dias, on Feb. 7, to receive his plaque at the writers' 20th annual dinner, the acclaim bestowed on him will be only a small part of what's coming to a player who seemed destined to overshadow the batting feats of even the diamond's greatest stars. And that includes your Cobbs and Speakers.

Williams will be the 13th recipient of the honor, first awarded to Bill Terry, when he played first base for the New York Giants and oddly enough, the last man before Ted, to hit .400 in the major leagues.

Texas Cagers Only Unbeaten Team In Southwest Circuit

(By The United Press)

The usually topsy-turvy Southwest conference sports picture is holding to form in this season's basketball campaign with high-riding Texas university remaining the only unbeaten team at the end of the second week of play.

Th standout game of a full schedule for the week pits the potent Texas quintet against Texas Christian—the pre-season favorite—at Austin. The Christians, beaten only by Texas A. and M. in an upset performance, and Arkansas are the only teams being rated in the same class with the pace setters.

Rice Topples Arkansas

Arkansas, co-leaders with Texas up until Saturday night, was toppled by a Rice crew that finally found itself after a miserable start.

The Arkansans take a rest, not having any conference games on tap until Feb. 5, when they engage Baylor.

Southern Methodist, a strong club that always seems to fall just short of winning, takes on Baylor Tuesday night and Texas Christian Saturday night. Both games are at Dallas

Rice, the busiest club in the league last week with three tilts, plays two more this week, meeting the Texas Aggies at Houston Wednesday night and Baylor at Waco Saturday night.

The Owls while not having much of a chance to win the buntin, look as the club which will have a great deal to say about who does. They have already taken the measure of Arkansas and still meet Texas again. If they get hot, they might tumble Texas—if TCU or some other club doesn't beat them to it—and throw the race into a scramble.

Rolfe Says Northern Training Is Better

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 18 (AP)—Now that the war has erased southern training jaunts, at least for the duration, Robert (Red) Rolfe, ex-New York Yanks third sacker, predicted today that baseball players will be the better off for it.

The action, in the opinion of Rolfe, Yale's new baseball and basketball coach, means the end of sore arms and legs, ailments which often plagued the athletes once they left the balmy South and hit northern climes.

"Working out on northern diamonds and in field houses should be a pleasure compared to those terrible baseball parks in Florida," eagerly declared Rolfe, looking as though he was getting a load off his chest.

Hunter To Challenge Distance Records Of His Friend, Rice

BY ROBERT MELLACE
NEA Service Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 — Gregory Rice calls Oliver Hunter III the greatest distance running prospect in the history of this country.

Notre Dame men consider Ollie Hunter a worthy successor to Greg Rice, although most of those better acquainted with track hasten to add, "but not 'another Rice' by any means."

Rices don't come along very often, you know.

Shaping Up Fast

But the fact remains that Hunter of Notre Dame is fast shaping up as one of the great routers, and he is coming east to challenge the reign of Rice, his idol and with whom he worked out as a freshman.

Rice will answer the attack on his rule only if the pulled tendon in the calf of his right leg heals. Injured Oct. 20, the tendon has tightened the three times he has attempted heavy work.

If Rice's leg comes to hand, the old and new stars of Old Notre Dame will have plenty of opportunities to tollide during the indoor season, starting with the famous Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 6, and ending with the Knights of Columbus show in Cleveland, March 27.

In His 11th Year

Hunter, a resident of Erie, Pa., is in his 11th year of running. At 5 feet 8, he is slightly taller than Rice, but is built along more slender lines and without the keg chest. He weighs 145 pounds.

Hunter, a senior now, of course, was unbeaten in cross-country the past fall. He won the Loyola Invitational in Chicago in 17:43, 14 seconds faster than Walter Mehl's old mark.

He captured the Indiana State meet in 17:34, 18 seconds swifter than Earl Mitchell of Indiana; bagged the N. C. A. A. crown at East Lansing in 20:18, more than 18 seconds faster than the record formerly held by Fred Wilt of Indiana. This last was accomplished despite a heavy and slippery course on which he missed his way and lost 18 or 20 seconds.

Has Stamina And Kick

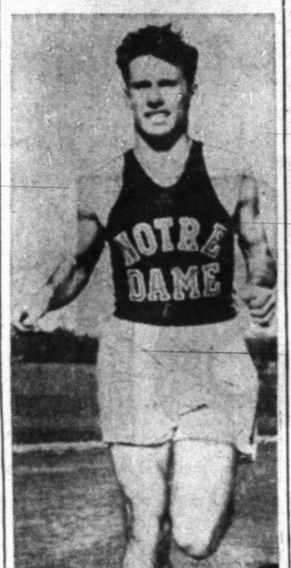

Hunter won the New Orleans Sugar Bowl three-mile, beating Wilt by 70 yards when he turned on the juice 200 yards from the finish.

His best two-mile is 9:13, which was only good enough to get him fourth place behind Rice, Gilbert Dodds and Joe McCluskey in the 1942 Chicago Relays. This year he will attempt to win the Central Collegiate Conference two-mile for the third straight time. He came down in front last year in 9:17.1

Hunter has put in hours and hours of cross-country over a period of years with the result that he has the strength to stand pace and finish with a remarkable kick. He should have a good year, to put it mildly, when he drops down to the two-mile and mile.

The late Notre Dame coach, John Nicholson, warned Gregory Rice that Ollie Hunter was the boy who some day might be the one to beat.

Here he is.

Ollie Hunter . . . goes route.

Callura, Wilson In Title Bout Tonight

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 18 (AP)—A couple of hungry boys say they hope to start eating regularly as soon as Jackie Callura and Jackie Wilson get through battling tonight for the N. B. A. featherweight title.

The hungry pair are Callura and his manager Leo Bradley, who have taken a few humps in the past several years and managed to squeeze in a win here and there.

But once they have the sanction of the N. B. A. — conceding always that they tip over the little negro titleholder — they figure that, despite rationing, they'll be eating much more regularly.

Jackie — meaning Callura — doesn't look like too bad a bet either. He's been sharp in his training sessions while Wilson has been rather slow.

Both of them tapered off Friday with nothing much scheduled for the week-end. Today they weigh in and tonight Jackie — Callura and Leo get their shot at some steady eating.

Many Contract Worries Loom

Task Complicated By War Problems

BY PAUL SCHEFFELS
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 — The three metropolitan major league clubs, the New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees, open fire this week on baseball's annual player poser — contract negotiations — a task complicated this year by a serious manpower shortage and the government ceiling on wages.

An official ruling on how to treat salary slices or wage increases has not been handed down to the major leagues as yet but all three local clubs plan to go ahead "as usual" as President Branch Rickey of the Dodgers was confronted with the added problem of choosing a new manager.

Giants Not Hard Hit

Secretary Eddie Brannick of the Giants announced he planned to put his club's new wage figures in the mails either today or tomorrow. The Giants have not been too seriously affected by the service draft, only their pitching suffering important losses. Pitchers Hal Schumacher, Bob Carpenter and Dave Koslo have enlisted but the remainder of the squad promises to give the Giants a fast breakaway.

Sid Gordon, Dick Bartell, Johnny Mize, Billy Jurges and Nick Witek remain to make up a good infield for the Giants while Manager Mel Ott, Buster Maynard and Babe Barna form an effective outfield. Ott announced he would begin personal training immediately and expected all of his players to report at Lakewood, N. J., at their best playing weight.

Wants Quick Signing

President Ed Barrow reports that his contracts may not be sent out until the end of the week but he will facilitate signing for 1943 as quickly as possible. Service calls have punctured his club almost beyond recognition. Only top-flight men who will return to the infield are Joe Gordon and Frank Crosetti and the latter still has to serve a 30-day suspension.

Manager Joe McCarthy, with Joe DiMaggio as his latest loss, will call on Charley Keller to carry the outfield burden, helped by Tuck Stainback and Roy Weatherly, former Cleveland flychaser. Red Ruffing is his first serious pitching loss while Bill Dickey and Rollie Hemsley will do the catching.

To Use New System

After years of successful player negotiating at St. Louis, Rickey will introduce a new "stagger" system to Brooklyn contract procedure. Instead of sending out his wage documents in one bunch, Rickey will mail only a few at a time and expects few, if any, holdouts.

Expected to return to active duty as a player-manager this year, Durocher has been summoned by his draft board for examination—an apparent prelude to reclassification in 1A.

The field for the manager's berth has thinned down to Camilli. Should Rickey, who leaves for the Pacific coast soon to talk with several of his players, offer Dolph the pilot's post, the stocky slugger most certainly would return to his spot at first base. Bill Terry has been counted out of the running but Ray Blades, one-time Cardinals' mentor, still is cast in the role of dark-horse.

Lone Star Contest Goes Into High With This Week's Games

(By The Associated Press)

The Lone Star conference basketball race goes into high this week but the Texas conference will not have two of its big guns in action until next week.

Stephen F. Austin and Southwest Texas State Teachers opened the Lone Star campaign last Wednesday and Thursday by dividing a series.

Thursday and Friday North Texas State Teachers move into Nacogdoches to play Stephen F. Austin a brace of games and Sam Houston State Teachers will be doing the same at Commerce with East Texas State Teachers.

Abilene Christian college opened the Texas conference drive with a 36-33 decision over McMurry last week. Tonight McMurry tackles Daniel Baker at Abilene while tomorrow night A. C. C. clashes with Daniel Baker at Abilene.

Texas Wesleyan and Howard Payne, top-rated teams, will not swing into action until next week.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—This corner can't speak with authority about such places as Evansville and Muncie, Ind., Swarthmore, Pa., or Wilmington, Del., but from personal observation of the spots chosen by the New York clubs for spring training, we think some notably tall tales will develop from the efforts of players and scribes to find something to do outside of working hours. . . . One thing Asbury Park, Lakewood and Bear Mountain have in common is that they're very dead spots in the early spring and just a little too far from New York for quick and easy commuting.

THE SEASHORE

Asbury Park, to our mind, is a place that's always a little too hot or a little too cold, except maybe late at night after a steaming summer day or on a sunny spring afternoon if you can keep out of the wind . . . It's a pretty big town, cris-crossed by wide, fandy streets and chock full of hotels of all sizes and shapes and needing, more more than anything else, a few of the wide, green lawns you see across the lake at Allenhurst and Deal . . . It probably has more amusements than the other places, but most of them are along the boardwalk and they stay tightly closed until the summer season gets under way. . . . P. S.: At any season, the shore dinners are something to write home about.

THE PINES

Lakewood, only 17 miles inland from Asbury Park, is a winter resort where they begin to hang up the shutters about spring-cleaning time . . . You can get plenty of sand in your shoes there, too, but what you notice the most in that section are the scraggly, mis-shapen pine trees that keep reminding us of a New Hampshire description of a scrub pine tract—It couldn't be more wuthless than good for nothing. . . You have to be very careful about your cigar butts there, too; remember those disastrous forest fires during a dry spring a couple of years ago . . . It isn't surprising that the Giants found horse-drawn transportation to their training field on the Rockefeller estate. Carriages always have been popular there, apparently because there's no hurry when there's no place to go.

THE MOUNTAINS

The night before the Dodgers picked Bear Mountain for their training site somebody counted 22 deer feeding on the baseball field. But it's miles to the nearest place where you can put a couple of bucks on a horse race. . . . Currently, the place is something of a winter sports center (when there's snow) featuring ice skating, skiing and the big stone fireplace in the oversize log structure known as the inn.

Phillip Sparks Illinois Five

Creighton Keeps Unbeaten Status

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 — Handy Andy Phillip is the youngster who knows all the answers asked of the Illinois whiz kid basketball team.

Last year as a sophomore guard he helped lead Illinois to the Big Ten basketball championship. This season as a junior forward he is helping lead rival coaches to the hospital.

Playing as though he wasn't handicapped by the lack of the customary "S" at the end of his surname, the 20-year-old product of Granite City, Ill., has plunked in 66 points in a trio of league games.

Only One Game Lost

This season Coach Doug Mills inserted Phillip's 6-foot 2 1-2-inch, 184-pound frame up front and he has taken advantage of the scoring opportunities to the extent that

MAKE FEWER AND SHORTER CALLS

Every morning, Army and Navy men and government officials must put through thousands of long distance war calls that help to move troops, procure supplies . . . and direct the fighting.

Every afternoon those same Army, Navy and government men, and men who make calls that help produce tanks, airplanes, ships and shells, must complete the day's wartime business.

Every evening after 7 p.m., the boys call home, telephoning in the few hours they have free. You know we can't get material to build more lines just now, and we know you will be glad to help make the most of what lines we have. So . . .

Morning, afternoon and evening, by making as few long distance calls as possible, and by keeping them short, you can help to speed the nation's business of winning this war. Thank you!

Two RAF Raids Strike Berlin

headed for London. A number of these failed even to reach the city and the others caused only small damage.

The second raid was carried out by about the same number of planes between 4:30 and 6 a. m., but even fewer penetrated the outer defenses to range over London. There were scattered incidents in various parts of South England.

This afternoon anti-aircraft guns went into action on the Thames estuary, but there was no immediate report of bombs having been dropped.

The theme of editorials in morning newspapers here was "Berlin was due for a good plastering and now Rome had better look out."

The destruction of 10 planes brought the total of enemy aircraft destroyed over Britain since the war started to more than 4,000.

Large Fires Started

The air ministry's communique announcing the second attack on Berlin said:

"Berlin was again attacked by a strong force of our heavy bombers last night. A great load of bombs was dropped and at the end of the attack large fires were burning. Over the target area there was some clouds, but for the most of the way our bombers flew in bright moonlight.

"There was many combats with enemy fighters and one was destroyed.

"Aircraft fighter command intruder patrols attacked enemy transport targets in France, Belgium, and Holland.

Twenty-Two Bombers Missing

"Twenty-two of our bombers are missing."

Observers believed that the great difference between the number of British planes lost last night and lost Saturday night—22 against one—had been at least partly due to the weather. Saturday night the British bombers flew all the way to Berlin above heavy cloud banks. Last night a bright moon created the condition most favorable for the operation of night fighters.

The air ministry gave no indication of the number of planes that engaged in either raid, although both forces were described as "heavy." In the past, "heavy" has meant anything from 300 to 500 planes but more recently heavy has implied any number of planes exceeding 100. It was not believed here that the Saturday night force exceeded, at most, 300.

Nazis Minimize Raids

German propagandists, following their well known technique, minimized both raids, though Berlin newspaper editorials, quoted by the German radio, indicated that Saturday night's raid had been sufficiently heavy to shake civilian nerves, for they spoke of the necessity of the home front matching the courage and endurance of German troops in Russia.

The Berlin radio said that British bombers penetrated the "area of the western Baltic" last night and "a small number reached the area of greater Berlin." These "few," it continued, dropped bombs "at random in residential quarters." It said 24 planes had been shot down, two more than the British acknowledged. It claimed three planes downed Saturday night.

of the emergency.

The cold is said to have hit hardest in the Panhandle and southward and eastward as far as Central Texas. In some cities where the predicted hard freeze was ignored, it was reported the hard-pressed plumbing industry was trying to cope with many broken pipes.

Five At Amarillo

Amarillo reported five degrees this morning. Clarendon had eight. Wichita Falls 17, Abilene and Gainesville reported 17, Dallas 21, Tyler 27, and Sulphur Springs 26.

At Tyler, over in East Texas, a fire in an eight-inch gas main serving that city caused a lack of pressure and shortage of fuel during Sunday and last night, but repairs were reported early today, with a resumption of normal service.

The break was reported to have been caused by a grass fire setting a small leake in the pipe, and as the pipe became hotter cracked and allowed a much greater leakage and flames 200 feet high.

In other sections of the state readings were: Austin 31, Waco 25, San Antonio 34, Galveston 38, El Paso 45, Brownsville 49, Texarkana 36, and Navasota 39.

Fighting In Pacific

pounded Japanese shipping, ports and air bases in the New Guinea area. Five Japanese merchant ships were sunk or damaged in a three-hour raid by Flying Fortresses on the harbor of Rabaul, New Britain, Saturday night.

Airdromes at Rabaul and Malabang, supplies at Lae, docks at Madang and Finschhafen, and an enemy transport near Admiralty island were other bomber targets.

The Japanese sent 24 medium bombers and 20 fighters against the Allied base at Milne bay in New Guinea, but a communique from Allied headquarters said damage was unimportant and there were no casualties.

On the New Guinea land front, Allied forces cut the main road in the rear of Japanese forces at Sanananda and killed 120 Japanese.

Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, Australian commander of Allied ground troops under Gen. Douglas MacArthur, said in a broadcast last night that Japan's forces in the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea had been "practically eliminated," as well as defeated.

United States and British fliers scored anew in their blows from the east and west against the Japanese in Burma.

Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters in Chungking said Bhamo, an advanced Japanese base in Burma, had been practically ruined by heavy bombing and strafing.

American medium bombers also battered the Japanese air base at Lashio with tons of explosives.

Cowan Infant Will Be Buried Today

Funeral services for William Edward Cowan, jr., seven-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cowan, 402 East Thirteenth street, will be conducted this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Bryan McDonald Funeral chapel with Rev. Ben D. Johnson, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church, officiating.

The child died of whooping cough at 11:50 Sunday night. Besides the parents, the child is survived by two sisters, Elizabeth and Gracie.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

CHURCH LEADER DIES

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 18 (AP) —George D Pyper, general superintendent of the Latter-Day Saints church's Sunday schools, died Saturday. He was 82. A singer and actor himself, Pyper, as manager of the historic Salt Lake theater from 1898 until it was razed in 1929, was known by many in the theatrical and musical fields.

Congress Roundup

to take effect on the confirmation of his successor.

Served Ten Years

Brown served 10 years in the House and Senate before his defeat for re-election last year.

As price administrator, Brown also will be charged with the administration of rationing programs, including those curtailing consumption of gasoline, fuel oil, food and other articles.

In a statement after his confirmation, Brown asserted that he did not "fear" the job before him, which President Roosevelt had described in a letter to Henderson as a "thankless task."

Makes Statement

"I will consult with my superior and associates, with consumers, producers and business men to get a full comprehension of the task and do my utmost to be just between the various interests to be served and to alleviate so far as I am able the hardships we all must suffer," the statement said.

Despite the quite manner in which Brown was confirmed, there was no lack of potential pyrotechnics as the new Congress started its third week.

The fireworks probably will begin when the Senate foreign relations committee begins hearings Wednesday on the appointment of Edward J. Flynn as minister to Australia. Flynn, who was due to resign as chairman of the Democratic national committee at a meeting in Chicago today, has drawn the fire of Republicans.

An expected battle over continuance of the lend-lease program, present authority for which expires on June 30, apparently has been headed off. Republican members of Congress were reported to have decided not to attempt to prevent renewal of the authority, but to concentrate instead on holding its cost to the minimum.

Full Hearing Promised

A full hearing on how the government's money is being spent was promised by acting Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) of the Senate appropriations committee when a supplemental war appropriations bill, for about $2,000,000,000, comes up soon.

War manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt indicated Saturday that a proposed nationwide occupational registration of women was being abandoned in favor of an educational program to obtain women workers in areas where they are needed.

Rutledge Approval Seen

As with the Brown nomination for price administrator, there was no opposition to the President's choice of Judge Wiley Blount Rutledge of the District of Columbia appeals court to fill a vacancy on the Supreme court. Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said that unless some request was received for hearings a judiciary subcommittee probably would approve the nomination Friday.

A fourth appointment — that of former Senator Josh Lee of Oklahoma to be a member of the Civil aeronautics board — awaited consideration by a Senate commerce subcommittee. Lee's successor, Senator Moore (R-Okla) already has protested formally against confirmation, but action has been delayed awaiting the return of Chairman Bailey (D-NC) to the city.

Axis Lines Hit

of Beni Ulid, more than 80 miles beyond Beurat El Hsun where Rommel's line was broken on its entire front in a two-day battle late last week.

Beni Ulid is nearly 100 miles inland from the coast and about the same distance from Tripoli. Thus it appeared that the British were driving on a straight line across the Tripolitanian "hump", taking the shortest route to Tripoli.

The advance cut the distance between the Eighth army and the Allies in Tunisia to less than 400 miles, with Fighting French forces from the south closing in apace to keep pressure on Marshal Rommel and Gen. Walther Nehring from three sides.

Bonds Redemption

bought, mainly by the general public, to 12 years on the F and G bonds, which because of the lower interest return, are held mostly by large investors and corporations.

Should a strong trend toward bond redemptions develop after the war, Treasury officials said, the government probably would undertake an educational campaign to induce the people to hold on to their bonds.

ARGUMENTS ON MISTRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18. (AP)—Legal fireworks replaced spicy testimony today as the state opened its argument for mistrial in the case of film star Errol Flynn, charged with three counts of statutory rape. Subpoenaed to face each other in court were accusers and accused name in affidavits alleging prejudicial statements by two women jurors.

News Briefs

Collectors Return—L. B. Barkley, deputy collector of internal revenue, and his three assistants in the Lubbock office returned to their desks today, following a week spent in a Dallas school of instruction, presided over by Washington and regional officials from the federal tax bureau who are placing in the hands of collectors new regulations and new forms to fit the 1942 revenue act. Barkley said his office here from now on will be an exceedingly busy place.

Repair Course Offered—Coleman Cowan, vocational agriculture teacher in the Idalou high school, reports a continuance of the farm machinery repair course there. Farmers of the neighborhood who want to place their machinery in running order and who are faced with a shortage of parts and mechanics are invited to contact the school's repair shop for any assistance the class may render with its tools and other equipment, Cowan said. The course is being continued while many other schools have closed repair departments, and Cowan said the work is proving popular and is much appreciated by many who make use of the service.

Bolding Rites Set Today—Last rites for Lee Otha Bolding, 53, of 1619 Fourteenth street, will be read at 4 o'clock this afternoon in Tabernacle Baptist church, with Rev. Ben D. Johnson, pastor, officiating. Bolding died Thursday night at his home. He was a retired special nurse. Arrangements are in charge of Plains Funeral home.

Juvenile Paroled — A 14-year-old boy was paroled to his mother this morning by County Judge G. V. Pardue. His offense: He had slapped her.

Car Recovered—A 1941 Buick automobile reported several hours earlier stolen from O. A. Woody from 900 Main street was marked recovered Sunday, at Tulia. Lubbock police records showed a week-end of nine arrests for drunkenness, three for disturbance, two for fighting, one for simple assault and one for draft law investigation. Military police took a knife from a negro woman after she had struck a man with a bottle in a negro cafe. In the exodus from the place, another black was slammed by another. A motorist who had driven erratically paid a $25 fine. F. T. Kirkland of 301 Avenue W reported a burglary and resultant loss of $70 and valuable papers. A bicycle was stolen from Charles Brown of 2305 Fourteenth street.

Missing Sought—Police records this morning showed two runaway boys from Littlefield, 9 and 12 years old, and a 14-year-old Lubbock girl sought in this area.

Will Visit Marine Station—Maj. Thomas E. Kendrick of Oklahoma City will visit the Lubbock Marine recruiting office Tuesday, he has advised Sgt. Robert D. Good, in charge. The officer will be on one of his periodic inspection trips and will look over the local recruiting office before going on to other units in the district. He has not visited Lubbock since about Sept. 1, last.

Mail Continues Heavy—Postmaster Amos Howard said today his office is back to normal after one of the heaviest loads of Christmas and New Year's mail traffic in the history of the local office. Mail continues to arrive in unprecedented quantities for the time of year, and outgoing mail also is heavy in volume, he said, but clerks are handling it with dispatch and on time.

Soldier on Leave—Cpl. Technician B. B. Marbut of 2008 Eighth street is visiting family members in Lubbock while on a seven-day leave from duty. He is a member of a ship hospital platoon and has been in the service several years, having been in the field artillery and the quartermaster corps before being assigned to the medical corps.

School Men Meet — County school superintendents of district 2 will meet at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in Hilton hotel for a dinner program, they have been advised by Lenore M. Tunnell of Tahoka, secretary of the district setup. No announcement of business for discussion was made, nor was there any estimate of attendance.

To Visit Schools—E. H. Boulter, deputy state school superintendent, and Roy Boyd, county school superintendent, will check state aid applications of Idalou and Estacado schools in Wednesday visits to those institutions. Other rural schools of Lubbock county had applications examined before Christmas.

Barretts Are Parents—A daughter weighing 6 pounds 13 ounces was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Barrett of 2116 Seventh street at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning in West Texas hospital. Barrett is associated with an automobile parts firm.

Slight Fire Damage—Fire in a wall of a residence at 1627 Seventh street resulted at mid-morning from attempts to thaw out a water connection, firemen said. A run was made early Sunday afternoon to Thirteenth street and Texas avenue when sample cotton caught fire and burned a table in room 207 of the old Cotton Exchange building. Damage was not much in either run, firemen said. There was one run earlier this morning growing out of the wind's whipping smoke downward from the flue of a trailer house, but no property was afire. A "false siren" Sunday afternoon was set off when a fireman adjusting record blanks on a barometer touched a switch, it was explained.

Until 1867 Alaska was designated on the maps as Russian America.

MIRROR CHEERS UP GERTIE—Gertie, penguin at the Cheyenne Mountain zoo at Colorado Springs, Colo., moped and gloomed after her mate, Oscar, died. Attendants provided a mirror. Presto! Gertie cheered up.

Army Show, "Anything Can Happen," To Be Presented For Lubbock Civilians Tonight

It will be another full house at Senior High school auditorium tonight when soldiers of the Lubbock Army Flying school offer a repeat performance of their original musical comedy, "Anything Can Happen." The curtain rises at 8 o'clock.

Boasting a wealth of gags and nine appealing songs written especially for the show by Privates Dudley Henriques of New York City and Burt Levi of Chicago, who also is master of ceremonies, the rollicking play delighted Saturday night's overflow crowd, which was mainly composed of soldiers and their guests.

Primarily For Civilians

Tonight's performance, which is also a sell-out in advance, is primarily for the people of Lubbock.

Surprising things happen throughout the play, with actors "planted" in the audience helping to enliven the proceedings. The gags are of a "Hellzapoppin" nature.

Chief asset of the production is its superlative music, and the LAFS dance band does a particularly notable job on the score. Critics who saw the Saturday evening performance are of the opinion that at least four of the nine Henriques-Levi tunes merit nationwide distribution.

Twenty LAFS soldiers and ten Lubbock girls have a part in the entertainment, which features Betty Rhea Caldwell, Lubbock girl, and Pvt. Andrew Martin of Spring Lake, N. J., in dancing specialties, Cpl. Sam Carson of Pittsburgh as the male singing star, and Cpl. Albert Kaplan of Brooklyn as leading comedian.

War's Ship Sinkings Increased To 593

(By The Associated Press)

Sinking of two more neutral and three United Nations ships, disclosed last week, increased to 593 the total of officially announced Allied and neutral losses in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor as recorded by the Associated Press.

Another United Nations vessel was sunk in a collision in the Caribbean and was included in the figure

Of the total number of ships announced as sunk up to last Thursday, the first anniversary of U-boat sinkings of ships off the Atlantic coast in the present war, 198 were sent to the bottom off the United States, 50 off Canada, 177 in the Caribbean, 46 in the Gulf of Mexico and 122 in the South Atlantic.

Identical Twins At Dallas Join WAACs

DALLAS, Jan. 18. (AP)—A pair of identical twins who have been doing their part for the war effort were sworn into the Women's Army Auxiliary corps here yesterday.

They are Miss Ellen L. Kelley, riveter at the North American Aircraft corporation and Miss Helen C. Kelley, a painter at North American. They are the 24-year-old daughters of Mrs. R. E. Kelley of Port Arthur. They have a brother, Jesse Woen Kelley in the Navy and a half-brother, G. J. Frank, jr., in the Marines.

TO ENTER ARMED SERVICES

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 18. (AP)—Most of the 655 men in the A. & M. college mid-term graduating class will enter the armed services soon after the term ends, school officials said today. Among the class are 564 men who have completed their ROTC training and who will be commissioned. They will leave immediately after their final review Saturday for active duty.

RUNS DOWN HIS PANTS

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 18. (AP)—A. F. Sullivan noted with interest that a pair of his own trousers adorned a youth walking nearby.

The boy eluded Sullivan's grasp. Sullivan flagged a motorist and rode the running board for a several-block chase.

Captured, the youth told police he stole the trousers a week ago.

EMPLOYMENT DECLINES

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (AP)—The number of employed persons in the United States, including the armed forces, dropped about 550,000 in November from the record level of 59,500,000 in October, the National Industrial Conference board reported today. The decline was due mostly to completion of the fall harvests.

SOLDIER LOSES HAND

WACO, Jan. 18. (U.P.)—Accidental discharge of a gun while hunting on the farm of his father approximately 13 miles northeast of here Saturday resulted in the loss of his left hand for Pvt. Albert Lyons, 32, who is stationed at the reception center at Camp Wolters, Mineral Wells

Committees Of LAFS Auxiliaries To Meet

A general meeting of steering committees of auxiliaries at Lubbock Army Flying school is to be held in Soldier Recreation Center, 1211 Thirteenth street, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock to plan activities there for women, according to announcement this morning by Miss Leona Gelin, superintendent.

The steering committee, she explained, represents wives of soldiers at LAFS. Bridge clubs and classes in such activities as reading, dancing, theatricals, knitting and the like have been suggested, Miss Gelin said. She reminded that wives of soldiers are especially invited to make use of the Center during afternoons.

Miss Gelin reported that 350 soldiers and more than 100 partners attended the weekly dance at the Center Saturday night. New records supplied by Allegro Music club furnished most of the music. Cookies were furnished by Senior High school Parent-Teacher association.

Week-end entertainment for negro soldiers included a "lucky night" party Saturday night and coffee and cake Sunday afternoon. Events this week include a stamp selling contest Thursday night, a grab-bag party Saturday night and a community sing Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. All events will be in Pleasure Garden.

Twenty-Nine Enroll In New WAAC Unit

Twenty-nine women of the Panhandle-West Texas area were enrolled in Lubbock Sunday as WAAC's in the Palo Duro platoon, the third platoon to be recruited in the Panhandle-Plains areas by Lt. Rose Smothers.

The group examined here Sunday will spearhead the new contingent being formed from West Texas counties. Six of the 29 women are school teachers. One woman is a negress, the first of her race so far to hurdle the stiff mental tests required in examinations here. A large proportion of the women enrolled have sons, husbands, and fathers in the service already, they reported.

Among the enrollees are:

Hallie E. Payne, Viva L. Buchaults, Esther Bearden, Perryton.

Being a gunner on an anti-aircraft battery, and repeatedly knocked from your feet and deluged with water from near misses, you continued to fire your gun with such tenacity and accuracy that a large percentage of the attacking planes were shot down before they could release their bombs. Your exceptional performance of duty is worthy of the highest praise."

Tickets Selling For Frank Buck Program

Ticket sales remained on sale today for the appearance here Tuesday of Frank Buck, famous adventurer and hunter of wild, jungle animals.

Offering dramatic accounts of his trips to all the out-of-the-way places of the earth, and a motion picture with members of the animal kingdom as a cast, Buck first will be presented in a matinee for school children at 3:45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and again at 8 o'clock for the public. Both programs are to be given in Lubbock Senior High school auditorium.

Tickets for school students are on sale at the offices of the various school principals, general admission tickets at Lubbock and Hilton hotels and at Texas Technological college.

Buck's appearance is sponsored by the Junior Welfare league and proceeds will go to maintain the league's Well Baby clinic.

Children's tickets are 25 cents each, general admission 55 cents and reserve seats $1.10.

THREE CHEERS FOR YOU
from
OUR MEN IN UNIFORM

. . . and Thanks to You From Texas-New Mexico and Okla. Coaches

With Your Cooperation, We got 'em home & back for the holidays

Thanks to you, a most critical period in wartime but transportation has been passed with flying colors.

Just before Christmas . . . during the fall of the year, you were reminded that bus travel was not rationed and that the prospects of rationing was not even being considered. You were told also, when you wanted to travel, Texas-New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches stood ready to serve you as in the past. As a result of your cooperation . . . arranging your trips for mid-week, etc., thousands of men and women in uniform were able to go home by bus for holiday leaves and furloughs. While helping members of the armed forces, you also made it possible for agricultural workers in this territory to remain on the job until it was done before returning home.

Texas-New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches will make every effort to see that the service you count on is available when you need it during 1943.

Due to the heavy passenger traffic on all lines, we are compelled to limit all baggage to one piece for each paid fare. May we have your cooperation!

BUS TRAVEL IS NOT RATIONED!

WASHINGTON.—Next to President Roosevelt, the most important and the most powerful man in Washington is a fellow named Byrnes.

But not even the President, himself, exerts the influence over the daily life of John Q. Citizen to the extent this man Byrnes does.

He has been called "the assistant President." He has been called "the economic czar," and he has been called "the economic stabilizer." What he really is can best be summarized as "the domestic war boss." Anyhow, he is the fellow who has the say—and the WHOLE say—about what we shall wear, what we shall eat, how much money we shall make, and how we shall live until that glorious day when the Axis is broken, smashed—and totally defeated.

The Plainsman had lunch today with this man Byrnes.

Don't misunderstand. It wasn't just us two. Fact is, there were 20 of us at the luncheon which was held in the private diningroom of Speaker Sam Rayburn, in the capitol.

But Mr. Byrnes was the honor guest, and the only speaker, at the regular weekly luncheon session of the Texas congressional delegation. And he, figuratively speaking, took off his coat and talked in plain, unvarnished language, about the kind of country we're going to have between now and victory.

Mr. BYRNES, of course, spoke "off the record." He told the Texas congressmen and Senator Tom Connally and assorted guests—including several newspapermen—that he couldn't be quoted. So we can't tell you of the plans he disclosed, because to do so would be to violate a confidence. But we can tell you about Byrnes, the man; how he looks; how he talks; and the kind of individual he seems to be.

That should be worthwhile, because Mr. Byrnes, today, is probably the closest thing to a dictator that the American people will ever have.

In the first place, Mr. Byrnes is a typical American of Scotch-Irish and English stock.

He spent 14 years as a member of the national House of Representatives from South Carolina; a couple of terms as a senator from the same state. More recently, he has been a member of the U. S. Supreme court.

And in stepping off the high bench to become economic controller he exhibited a fine brand of patriotism—a brand fully as laudatory as the fighting men are today exhibiting on Guadalcanal; or in Africa.

AS A SUPREME court justice, Mr. Byrnes had a lifetime job. He held a position of great trust and of high honor—and at a salary sufficient to care for his every need.

But when war came, and President Roosevelt asked him to give up that lifetime job for a position of far less security, he did so. And you must give him credit for that.

So by his very first act—that of accepting the job as wartime economic czar, Mr. Byrnes proved himself to be a great American.

Physically, Mr. Byrnes is on the small side.

He is a dead ringer for Coleman Feeney, who was manager of Harry Mitchell's Mint cafe, in Juarez, Mexico, for something like 15 years. His face resembles that of Jim Sickels, there in Lubbock, but he is not as large as Jim. He's about the same size as Ray Simmons, or Dr. Fred W. Standefer.

Being a South Carolinian, he has a Southern accent that is as thick as molasses. He has a weakness for blue and is rarely seen in anything else save, occasionally, gray.

He is as frank as a high school sophomore and just as direct. And that, if you ask us, is a good sign.

FROM TIME to time in his remarks today, Mr. Byrnes referred to other men high in administration circles. Sometimes he expressed disagreement with their policies and ideas. Sometimes he expressed agreement. But the thing that impressed The Plainsman was his control over his remarks.

You could guess that Mr. Byrnes would like to take "a crack" at this, that or the other man, but that he refrained from doing so because, as he said, he might not be as fully informed as he should be in regard to the other fellow's thinking.

The casual reader has noted that we have referred to the "economic stabilizer" herein as "Mr. Byrnes." That's probably the best choice available.

But the fact is, newspapermen and officials in Washington have been somewhat puzzled over how best to refer to him, since he has had so many different titles in the past—titles much more ponderous than just plain "mister."

Mr. Byrnes, being a human sort of a fellow, has taken full cognizance of the title difficulty. He said today that he felt sorry for those who had to make a choice. He realizes that here in the national capitol the term "senator" is really important. He realizes that next to "Mister President," the title "Mister Justice" packs the most prestige.

But the best index to his character, and personality, seems to be his decision regarding his title in this new job. He says:

"In case you are in doubt about how to address me, just play safe and call me 'Jimmie,' or 'Jim.'"

And in his remarks today, when he referred to himself, he said "Jim Byrnes."

IN THE writer's personal— and humble—opinion — Mr. Roosevelt has done some very fine things since he has been President of these United States. He also has done some very bad things—as we see it.

But he has never done anything smarter, or better, for the nation as a whole—and in this emergency—than to appoint Senator, Mister Justice, or plain "Jimmie" Byrnes to the job that the South Carolinian now holds.

And here's why:

Mr. Brynes is by, of and for the people.

He would fit in Lubbock, or Lamesa, or Slaton or Littlefield, or Brownfield—or, for that matter, in comparable communities in Maine, Georgia, New Mexico or Nevada—just as well as he does in Washington.

The "economic stabilizer" is "plain American" and that's what we need.

WASHINGTON News Notes: Marvin Jones, of Amarillo, former longtime congressman now on the Court of Claims, recently turned down the job of "food czar," later given Governor Herbert Lehman, of New York. Marvin would be the last to admit it but those here in "the know" say it's true. Incidentally, Marvin rarely misses an opportunity to mix with his old congressional colleagues, nearly always makes the Texas weekly luncheons . . . Myron Blalock, Democratic national committeman from Texas and currently serving here in the Army, now sports the eagles of a full colonel . . . Walter Woodul, former lieutenant-governor and also an ex-state senator from Houston, is in town representing the sugar interests . . . Ditto, former Editor Roy Miller, of the Corpus Christi Caller, is here representing the sulphur interests of Freeport . . . It's a tie between the 19th district's George Mahon and El Paso's Ewing Thomason for the most popular member of the Texas congressional delegation.

YOU don't go barging around the various government buildings now like you used to, in peacetime. They've got soldier guards, replete with steel helmets, rifles and bayonets who demand—and get—your reasons for being here and who you want to see.

And even if you have duly signed passes to get into the House and Senate galleries, you have to submit to being "shaken down" by capitol police to make sure you aren't carrying any pistols or bombs!

But that's the way it should be in wartime.

YESTERDAY: Lieut. Dan Sherman was the guest of honor at Santa Philippa's War Bond dinner, and Mary Garthwaite's mother was chairman of the affair. But Dan did not make a polite speech; he flung the truth at the audience with both hands. And then he disappeared with Mary. She told Dan he had been rude, and Dan told her she would be seeing him again—soon.

Chapter Two

The War Comes Closer

Porter Lloyd was waiting for Mary, all right. She saw his car in front of the house as she turned into the wide tree-lined boulevard.

"Thank God you're here," he said as she came in. He strode toward her, hands out-stretched, his limp more pronounced than usual, Mary noticed instantly. It always was, she knew, when Porter was upset or tired.

"What's the matter?" she searched his face anxiously.

"Plenty." He drew her toward the sofa. "The F.B.I. picked up three of my night crew. Jap agents, every one of them."

Mary stared at him. "You're kidding."

Porter jumped up, paced the long room again nervously. "We've all been sound asleep here."

His curtness gave Mary her cue. "But, Porter, it's all over now. They're caught. You won't have any more trouble. Don't worry so."

His tall, slim body had never been quite strong enough to sustain his tremendous mental energy since that ghastly Thanksgiving Day game when they'd carried him unconscious out of the tanford Stadium deaf to the cheers of his school-mates. He'd earned the winning touchdown that day, but he'd paid for it with a year in a wheel chair and a permanent limp.

Porter flung out his hands helplessly. "What can we do? We don't know where they'll strike next."

"For one thing, we can stop talking about being prepared, and do something. There's a war on, you know. We can't go on taking safety for granted, doing business as usual. Everyone has to dig in and help to win—"

The Lieutenant Again

"Bravo! Well said, Miss Garthwaite!—from behind her in a now-familiar voice.

Mary lept to her feet, faced the graceful archway to the hall. Dan Sherman, grinning and clapping his hands in mock applause. And behind him, Mother and Dad.

"Well—fancy finding you here," she said stupidly, not sure whether to be glad or sorry to see the tall Lieutenant again.

"Hello, darling. And Porter, my dear." Mrs. Garthwaite took charge now. "I want you to meet our new and very dear friend, Lieutenant Daniel Sherman. Lieutenant, my daughter's fiance. Mr Porter Lloyd."

Mary saw the picture now. Bored Santa Philippa, grateful for a little novelty. And being told they were lazy and stupid was certainly novel. Presto! blunt Dan Sherman becomes the lion of the hour.

"Paul dear," Mrs. Garthwaite turned to her husband who still stood in the doorway. "We'd all love a nice hot drink. Do get us something, won't you dear?"

"Let me help you, Doctor," Porter offered courteously.

Doctor Garthwaite nodded. "What will it be? Hot buttered rum?"

"Marvelous darling. I'll find the cups," and linking her arms through Paul's left and Porter's right, she went with them through the spacious dining room into the kitchen beyond.

Mary, feeling that the Lieutenant watched her, was waiting for her attention, picked up a handsome copper cigarette box from the table beside her, offered it and a very arch smile as she taunted.

"How does it feel to be the lion of the hour?"

Explosion

He took a cigarette, lit hers and then his own before he answered. "Wonderful. I'm enjoying it."

"That's obvious." She shrugged a little. "What became of all your fine oratory about winning a war with parties as usual?"

"Why it's being quoted in all the best drawing rooms in town," he said slyly, the laughter in his eyes betraying his gravity.

The hit scored and Mary's flush mounted steadily. "That's unfair. I wasn't quoting you. I was only saying what I've thought from the beginning."

She was glad that the others were back from the kitchen now.

"Here we are," Paul Garthwaite said heartily, passing the tray of steaming cups to his guests.

"You were quite right about our not being aware of war, Lieutenant," her father went on "but you see it is difficult for us to appreciate an experience we've never had. War to us is still very far off and—"

As if ominous contradiction, there came the sound of an explosion. The house trembled and the windows rattled as if shaken by a severe earthquake. A moment later there was another. Then another!

Frozen to her chair, Mary saw Dan Sherman deliberately put down his cup, stand up. "The war," he said wryly, "seems to be coming a bit closer!"

UNFORTUNATE NOMINATION

Regardless how the Senate Foreign Relations Committee may find in the matter, it has become obvious that the President's nomination of Edward J. Flynn to be minister to Australia was unfortunate.

Even in normal times, the position is one of utmost importance because of the close relationship of the American and Australian governments and people. The importance is multiplied many times over in times like the present when their survival may depend upon complete unity.

Seemingly, no man should be considered for such responsibility who is not entirely above the suspicion of wrong-doing. The fact that wrong-doing has not been proved against him should not be sufficient. Flynn unquestionably is a man under widespread and outspoken suspicion. To many people, he is the personification of rotten, machine politics. Such a man should not be chosen as the envoy of this nation to any government.

However, since the nomination was made, the Senate Foreign Relations committee followed exactly the right course in deciding to conduct a hearing into Flynn's fitness, but to hold the hearing in public. It is unfortunate that dirty linen of this kind must be washed. But if it must be washed, then it should be done in the open where all may see the results.

Looking Over the Situation

Wickard Has Control Over Farm Wages "Over $2,400!"

Here's How Workers' Pay Is To Be Controlled

(Seventh of a series of columns explaining the government's wage stabilization program).

BY PETER EDSON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WHEN Justice Jimmy Byrnes, director of economic stabilization, handed over to the secretary of agriculture control over all farm wages of less than $2400 a year, it was kind of a joke, like telling the average white collar worker that his salary would have to be limited to under $67,200, or $25,000 a year net. For except in a few highly intensified agricultural industry areas like the dairy farm centers around Los Angeles, there simply aren't any farm workers coming even close to making $2400 a year.

Average farm wage in the United States today is about $60 a month, without board. From 1937 to 1940 the average wage was under $40 a month. The era of highest farm wages was in 1920, when the average rose to $65 a month. So the margin between the going rate of $60 a month and the so-called ceiling rate of $200 a month leaves the employers plenty of room.

EDSON

Farm wage scales are therefore the most unfrozen pay rates in the country, and the maximum of $2400 a year to which farmers can raise the pay of their hands without asking the government for permission practically makes the sky the limit.

This policy of unfreezing farm wages was deliberately adopted so that farmers could pay whatever rate was necessary to get labor to take off essential war crops. The farm labor problem is largely a manpower supply problem, not a wage problem.

Sooner or later, the secretary of agriculture will have to issue certain basic definitions or interpretations of the farm wage order, just to standardize practices.

QUESTIONS WILL ARISE

IT will have to be determined whether the $2400 a year limitation applies to year-round employment only, meaning that agricultural wage rates cannot go above $200 a month, or whether seasonal labor could be hired at say $400 a month for six months.

Also, some standards will have to be set up on whether or not food and lodging should be included in computing wages, and at what rates the board and keep should be calculated.

Thus far in the war the trouble in regulating farm wages has not been in fixing a ceiling over the pay scales, but in raising the floor under them. Farmers, and the farm organizations in particular, are against any move that will tend to set a minimum wage for agricultural labor.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard, however, thinks that farm-wages are generally too low and he has been doing everything he could to better the standards of farm labor, raising the farm wage and improving the living and working conditions of farm laborers.

There is, therefore, a definite procedure to set basic wages for farm labor which must be moved into an agricultural area for seasonal employment when there is a farm labor shortage. During the coming farm year, it will be applied to some 200,000 farm workers.

Supposing it's a case of having to move farm hands from Kentucky or West Virginia to New York state to pick apples as handled last fall.

The secretary of agriculture sets up a wage board of four government officials in the apple area of New York state. Two are from the Department of Agriculture, one from the War Manpower commission and one from the United States Employment service. All are officials from the local area, familiar with labor conditions in that region.

FARMER CAN HAVE SAY

THE wage board then holds hearings in the area to determine what the going rate of pay for farm labor in that area may be. Any farmer in the area can come in and speak his piece, giving evidence as to what the wage for the in-coming labor should be. Farm laborers can come in, testifying the rate should be higher. the wage board sifts all this evidence, then makes recommendations to the secretary of agriculture.

The secretary then promulgates an order, establishing the rate. In every case, however, the rate must be the equivalent of 30 cents an hour or higher, and there must be guarantees that the labor coming in will be adequately housed and will be given employment for at least three-fourths of the time covered by the contract.

If the rates and conditions of the wage board can be met, then a contract is drawn up between the farmers and the Farm Security administration of the Department of Agriculture, covering a definite period of time. FSA then pays the transportation of the workers from their homes to the job, less $5 per worker which the farmer must pay for each of the workers he employs. When the job is done and the contract has expired, FSA will transport the workers back home.

LUBRICATION .... UNDER RESTRICTED DRIVING

CRANKCASE—Less Driving—Slower driving doesn't necessarily mean less frequent oil changes. In fact, it might require just the opposite. Short, slow trips, do not let the motor warm sufficiently for efficient operation. This increased crankcase dilution and sludge making oil changes necessary more often.

CHASSIS—Lubricants dry out and harden. Oxidation takes its toll. More frequent chassis lubrication is cheap insurance against damage to hard-to-replace parts.

Don Budge Proposes Tennis For Fliers

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP)—Don Budge, the professional champion and the world's ranking player, told today of a proposal under which he hopes to have every Army flying cadet swinging a racquet as a means of quickening his reflexes.

He has submitted the plan to Army authorities, he reported, along with data gathered here and abroad to show that tennis holds peculiar benefits for air trainees.

Don expects a call from his selective service board within three months and left today to spend the time with his family at Oakland, Calif. He resigned his job as director of physical training for the Embry-Riddle school of aviation and was succeeded by his brother, Lloyd.

"I hope to go through an officer candidate school so that I may work out the physical education program I have in mind," he said.

MOORE SIGNS AGAIN

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 18 (AP)—Louisiana State university's board of supervisors have renewed for another year its contract with coach Bernie Moore whose football teams have won three straight annual games over LSU's traditional rival, Tulane. It was announced the terms of Moore's employment remained the same, at $10,000 yearly salary.

Twenty average civilian homes could be built with the lumber that goes into one minesweeper.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Extra-Fast Relief
HEADACHE·NEURALGIA

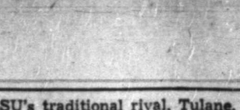

Headaches, the pains of neuralgia, muscular aches and functional periodic pains are quickly relieved by "BC". Why? Because the prescription-type ingredients in "BC" are readily assimilated. Such quick action naturally speeds relief.

Keep a 10c or 25c package of "BC" handy. Be prepared when minor aches and pains develop. Use only as directed. Consult a physician when pains persist.

Illinois Five

the Illini have lost only to the camp Grant outfit, 41 to 31, in eight games.

Dartmouth made a definite announcement it wanted the Eastern intercollegiate title for the sixth straight year by downing Yale, 48 to 29, Saturday.

Kentucky moved out in front in the Southeastern circuit by edging out Tennessee, 30 to 28.

Creighton Undefeated

Creighton retained its undefeated status by subduing Oklahoma A. & M. with whom it shared the Missouri Valley title a year ago, and invades Drake Thursday before going on to Chicago for a tussle with Great Lakes Saturday. Kansas, absent from Big Six play all week, now shares the loop lead with Nebraska. The Huskers are at Iowa State tonight.

Among the independents, Notre Dame remains undefeated, Toledo's all-freshman five is bounding along, West Texas Teachers college has hopped back on a winning stride and Duquesne has been beaten only once.

IN THE ARMY

FORT SILL, Okla., Jan. 18 (AP)—If the next world's heavyweight boxing champion is a man, he's in the Army. So says Sgt. Joe Louis, present holder of the title.

VETERAN REPORTER DIES

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 18 (AP)—Miss Susan Contesse, 83, whose 67 years as a reporter, columnist and editor made her career in Paterson, N Y., one of the longest in the newspaper world, died Saturday. She was believed the oldest newspaperwoman in the United States in point of service.

Private Backs Up His Talk With Cash

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18 (AP) — Said the buck private to the captain:

"I'd like to buy a couple of $10,000 war bonds, about five $1,000 ones and four $100 ones."

Capt. E. H. La Salle of the army aerial field training detachment can go along with a gag. So he marched Pvt. Robert H. Klemptner, 25, to the offices of a credit union.

"The private wants to purchase $25,400 worth of war bonds," said the captain with a grin.

The smile vanished when Private Klemptner pulled out his wallet and casually produced cash in that amount.

Before induction into the Army, Klemptner and his father operated a floor covering firm.

A total of 3,054 hospital projects have been financed wholly or in part with federal funds since 1933.

IN THE ARMY they say:
"HAY BURNERS" for cavalry horses
"JUGHEAD" for the Army mule
"CHICKENS" for the eagle insignia of a colonel
"CAMEL" for the Army man's favorite cigarette

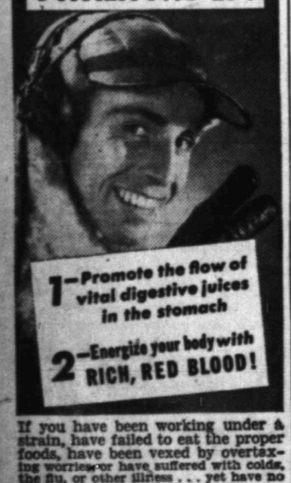

FIRST IN THE SERVICE
The favorite cigarette with men in the Army, Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard is Camel. (Based on actual sales records in Post Exchanges and Canteens.)
