Hallanan Blames Oil Imports For Slowing Activity

West Texas scored a hit Saturday with a group of 25 oil men, financiers and newpaper representatives from Pittsburgh and New York.

The visitors spent Saturday night in Midland after inspecting properties of Plymouth Oil Company in the Benedum field and of the Big Lake Oil Company at Texon.

The party was headed by Walter S. Hallanan of Pittsburgh, president of Plymouth, and chairman of the National Petroleum Council.

The visitors are traveling in four airplanes on the tour which started from Pittsburgh Thursday. They will return to Pittsburgh Sunday.

They were greatly impressed with the petroleum operations in this area and all agreed the future of the industry in this territory is bright—except for one item.

A spokesman for the group Saturday night said all members are convinced the only major trouble facing the oil industry of the United States is that caused by the increased imports of foreign crude.

Blasts Imports

In commenting on the import situation, Hallanan declared, "Excessive and abnormal imports have curtailed drilling and exploratory work, seriously impaired the revenues of many states and communities, and some small, independent oil producers and refiners are being forced out of business."

Midland's Greatest $$Dollar Day$$ Is Scheduled Monday

Midland's June $$DOLLAR DAY$$ is to be observed Monday, with spectacular values in practically all types of merchandise offered by Midland merchants.

Most retailers are participating in the city-wide event, which is expected to attract an unprecedented number of shoppers from Midland and area cities.

$$DOLLAR DAYS$$ in Midland are held the first Monday of each month. The sales events were started several months ago, with increased interest and enthusiasm being displayed at each succeeding $$DOLLAR DAY$$. The June event is expected to shatter all previous records both in bargains and attendance.

Free bus rides for women from residential districts to downtown Midland are offered Monday through the courtesy of the Midland Bus Company and The Reporter-Telegram. A coupon appears elsewhere in this issue.

Woman Banker To Become Treasurer

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A vivacious Midwestern woman banker is slated to become treasurer of the United States.

The President, it was learned Saturday, plans to send to the Senate on Monday the name of Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark of Richland, Kan., to succeed the late William A. Julian, killed in a car crash a week ago.

Banker, farmer, actress, owner of a small-town general store, and grain elevator operator—Mrs. Clark already was in the capital for conferences with the President and Secretary of the Treasurer Snyder.

As treasurer, her signature henceforth would appear on all U. S. currency. No other woman has had that distinction. The job pays $10,330 a year.

All Public Meetings Halted At McCamey

McCAMEY — The City Council Saturday ordered all public gathering places, including churches, theaters and ball parks, closed effective at noon Sunday. The order was issued when doctors at a San Angelo hospital confirmed a report Johnnie Joyce, about 11, resident of Rio Pecos Camp 10 miles west of here, was suffering from polio. The lad is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Joyce and had attended school in McCamey.

Mayor C. W. Brown said all livestock pens and out houses in the city limits will be sprayed with DDT Sunday. He also ordered all livestock moved outside the city limits in a move to help prevent a possible epidemic of the dread disease.

The council ordered hand bills printed and distributed to notify citizens of the close up order.

All public gatherings will be canceled, including softball games and movies, until the order is lifted.

The order was issued on the advice of Dr. W. Howell Cooper. He met with the council in the absence of the city health officer, who is out of town.

TIME IS 8:30 P. M.—

Rodeo Finale Sunday Night

It's the all-star final Sunday at 8:30 p.m. for the 15th Annual World Championship Midland Rodeo. The fifth of a series of star-studded events will ring down the curtain of Western pleasure which has been up since last Wednesday, furnishing a thrill-a-minute to the thousands attending.

Before the last calf is roped and tied, before the last bronc is ridden, before the last Brahman bull is chased out of the arena, spectators should let go a loud "whoopee" of appreciation to Midland Fair, Inc., the Colborn string, the specialty act presenters, the cowboy performers, and to all who helped—for a job well done.

It seems only a few minutes ago that the stirring grand entry snaked into the arena of Midland Fair, Inc., and the 1949 show was on, yet it has been hours and days ago. Time flies in West Texas when there's a fine cowboy on the back of a snorting bronc, however. Midland Fair believes five full nights of good Western entertainment is plenty to fill even the most rabid of rodeo appetites. But there are many, who would like to have—more, more, more.

"All West Texas Night"

It's "All West Texas Night" Sunday. The Midland High School Band will replace the Hardin-Simmons Cowboy Band as the official musical unit. The final go-round will be as tense, colorful and interesting as opening night was. That's the way Midland Rodeos end—with a bang.

Special events are carded for Sunday evening. Then too, there will be the drama of the finals. It's a fact the cowboys and specialty performers put their best in the farewell, giving as much as they do in their "howdy." And the bucking stock seems to sense it is their last chance at the Midland Rodeo to get mean with the buckaroos.

San Angelo Has Fifth Polio Death

SAN ANGELO—(AP)—Polio claimed its fifth life of the year in this area Saturday.

A four - year - old Latin American boy whose home was in San Angelo died a few hours after he was admitted to a hospital.

The city stepped up its effort to clean out fly-breeding filth in its fight to curb the epidemic.

One other San Angelo child has died. The other victims were a child from Sonora, one from Miles and one from Christoval.

San Angelo's official polio count since January 1 moved up five cases to a new high of 67 Saturday, the health unit said.

Air Spraying Ruled Out

Hospitals announced 11 patients were admitted Friday. Three patients were dismissed. This left 48 cases under treatment Friday. No reliable figure for Saturday's total was available.

The City Commission Saturday ruled out as "absurd and wasteful" the technique of spraying the city from the air. Besides several standard spraying machines long in use, the city is using an insecticide-fogging machine.

Civic clubs organized teams to treat outdoor toilets on the city's outskirts with DDT. Citizens were asked to spend San Angelo's first churchless Sunday cutting weeds, clearing trash and spraying their homes.

Churches, swimming pools, theaters, schools and several night clubs have been closed by the City Commission.

Big-Time Operator Buys Adolphus Hotel

DALLAS —(AP)— L. F. Corrigan, big real estate, apartment and hotel operator, Saturday said he had paid cash for a controlling interest in the 825-room Adolphus Hotel in Dallas.

Corrigan, at Houston, said he had promised the Busch interests of St. Louis, the sellers, he would keep the sale price a secret.

In a telephone conversation with The Associated Press he said he had bought "85 per cent of the common stock and 90 plus per cent of the preferred stock."

"The price," said he, "will not be announced until the next meeting of stockholders."

The Adolphus was built in 1912 by Colonel Adolphus Busch. A second portion was erected in 1916 and a third in 1926.

"I have always thought a lot of the old Adolphus," Corrigan said. "That's why I bought it. I feel that it has a grandeur that is unobtainable in buildings today.

"We are going to completely refinish and redecorate it but we'll be mighty careful not to lose any of its fine atmosphere," said Corrigan.

The name of the Adolphus will not be changed, Randall Davis will continue as manager, and no personnel changes will be made, Corrigan said.

Outa Chute Number 3—

By DICK VENATOR

If these "rave" paragraphs about the Midland World Championship rodeo performances have a ring of sameness occasionally it can be laid to the fact that the performers never let down. They perform in superlatives and therefore deserve superlatives. Never during a single performance has there been the least evidence of "dogging" by a performer and the specialty acts and routines never miss a beat in their perfect timing.

Credit the Jaycees with donating a lot of time for a good cause in their hawking of the carnival wares and refreshments at the rodeo. Efficiency is the keynote. Shorty Shelburne, who doesn't have far to bend over to reach the ground, was pulling the soft drinks out of the tub and John "Treetop" Friberg, who stands about six-six in his sock feet, had the chore of buzzing the little canaries on stick, above the heads of the crowd. Talents and size, well utilized!

They're off, and it isn't a horse race either. It's action in the 15th Annual World Championship Midland Rodeo, which ends Sunday night in the arena of Midland Fair, Inc. These action scenes were snapped at early performances in the big five-day event. Where earlier action pictures showed the cowboys on board, these show them getting off in more ways than one. Top, a bucker goes heels over head in love with throwing a cowboy. Center, a "rider" meets Mother Earth from the back of a Brahman bull. Bottom, both bareback bronc and cowboy stage another forced "landing" action.

Solons Seek Trial Run On Grains, Pigs

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Concerned over falling prices and bumper crops, some farm-minded senators were ready Saturday for an immediate trial run of the Brannan farm program on wheat and pigs.

The two-way program urged by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan aims at lowering food prices to consumers and at the same time guaranteeing good incomes to farmers. The market prices of perishable farm products in large supply would be permitted to drop, with the government paying the difference to farmers as a subsidy.

Chairman Elmer Thomas (D-Okla) of the Senate Agriculture Committee said Saturday he has asked Brannan to put the plan into immediate operation in the Southwestern wheat belt.

"He promised to have an answer ready for our committee Monday," Thomas added.

Thomas said the only legislative step necessary before the Agriculture Department could put the plan into effect would be to step up the effective date of the Aiken Farm Law passed last year. Its effective date now is next January 1.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt), the author of that law, concurred in Thomas' appraisal of the legal situation. Aiken said, however, he wants full hearings first.

Price Situation Serious

Thomas announced a five-member Senate subcommittee under Senator Gillette (D-Ia) will begin hearings as soon as possible upon the pig and pork products proposal.

"We may be able to combine the wheat program with it," Thomas said.

Two Republicans on the committee, Aiken and Kem (Mo), said they have "open minds" on both proposals.

Thomas and Kem agreed that

Two Dead, Two Hurt In Crash

Two persons were killed and two injured in a truck-car collision on State Highway 158, five miles northwest of Midland, at 7:15 p. m. Friday.

Killed instantly was Clarance J. Reed, 43, of Jal, N. M., oil company employe.

His wife, Mrs. Nola Reed, 40, died in a Midland hospital soon after she was brought in by ambulance.

Their daughter, Jane Reed, 18, was injured but not critically. She suffered an injured arm, multiple bruises and other injuries. Extent of her injuries had not been fully determined Saturday, doctors said. She is in Western Clinic-Hospital.

James E. Hill, Jr., 33, Midland rancher, suffered a head injury but doctors say he is not hurt critically. He was hospitalized and the full extent of his injuries are not yet determined.

The Reeds were traveling toward Midland in a passenger car. Hill was going out of Midland in a one and one-quarter ton truck (pickup type) and was alone.

Meet Headon

Motorists on the highway say the truck and car met headon. Both were demolished.

Investigating Highway Patrolmen say both vehicles may have overturned several times. Reed was thrown clear of his car. Officers say it was one of the worst smashes investigated recently.

State Highway 158 is the Andrews Highway.

Jane Reed told officers she and her parents were traveling toward Midland and were enroute to Abilene. She was not immediately told her parents were killed.

Ellis Funeral Home reported Saturday the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Reed were transported to Merkel.

Opportunity Bond Sales Skyrocket

The Treasury Department's Opportunity Drive in Midland County got into high gear last week as purchases of U. S. Savings Bonds skyrocketed to $116,900, approximately 53 per cent of the county's $220,000 quota.

John P. Butler, campaign chairman, said the total for the three weeks period ended Saturday includes for the first time payroll deduction sales and bond purchases allocated to Midland County.

The Opportunity Drive opened May 15 and extends to June 30.

District Court Civil Jury Session Monday

One civil case is to be heard when a 70th District Court jury trial session is held here Monday.

Jurors were ordered by District Judge Paul Moss to report at 10 a.m.

Other cases may also be heard during the session.

Building Permits Pass Two Millions For Current Year

Construction in Midland hit the two-million dollar mark for the year during the week ended Saturday. Building permit issuances for 1949 now total $2,035,986. Permits of last week totaled $60,550.

O. B. Carr received three permits, total $24,550, for three frame residences—$8,300, $8,250, and $8,000—to be located at 1603, 1507 and 1511 North Marienfield Street respectively. Sizes range from 27 by 30 to 32 by 24 feet.

Other permits of the week included: Douglas Nix, $8,000, frame with asbestos siding residence at 1604 North Edwards Street, 48 by 54 feet; G. C. Ponder, $5,000, frame residence at 300 West Jax Street, 49 by 23 feet; W. A. New Express Agency Building Is Under Construction Here

The erection of a new building to house the Railway Express Agency here was started late last week by J. R. Freetag of Midland who was awarded the general construction contract, A. S. Hollingsworth, express agent, announced Saturday.

The structure will be 100 feet east of the new Texas and Pacific Railway Station now under construction on the railroad right-of-way. The express building also will be on the T&P right-of-way. The agency now is located at 222 South Main Street.

The building will be of the same type architecture as the new depot and its appearance will conform to that of the railway station.

The express building is expected to be ready for occupancy at about the same time as the new depot.

Appearance Bond Fixed At $1,000

Justice of the Peace Joseph A. Seymour fixed appearance bond at $1,000 for Claude F. Brooks, charged with failure to stop and render aid after an accident.

The complaint was filed after Albert Johnson, 54, of Monahans was struck by an automobile as he attempted to cross West Wall Street here Thursday night.

Brooks was bound over to action of a 70th District Court grand jury.

Vernon Lad Loses Ground In Battle To Survive Burns

VERNON—(AP)—Donnie Woodward came out of a coma late Saturday—too weak to blow the harmonica he's been wanting.

The 10-year-old farm boy was burned on 70 per cent of his body by flaming gasoline.

His physician said the boy had definitely lost ground since Friday. He was burned May 10 when an older brother accidentally flung a bucket of burning gasoline on him while the two were setting fire to weeds.

Donnie sank into a coma early Saturday and failed to respond to a blood transfusion.

The family was warned to stand by.

But Saturday afternoon he came out of the coma, too weak to blow the harmonica, but wanting to talk.

High Winds, Drifting Sand Deliver Damaging Blow To Area Cotton Crops

Midland County's up and coming cotton crop late Friday and Saturday suffered damaging blows from the high and dry winds which kicked up sand and dried out moisture in this section of West Texas. The damage apparently was heavier south of Midland.

County Agent Hubert Martin, after a Saturday swing over the county, said cotton in some fields was wiped out completely while in others the losses ranged to 50 per cent.

Martin said the crops in the Greenwood, Valley View and Cotton Flat areas were extremely hard hit. To the north, the damage was not as heavy.

Sand in many instances completely covered furrows six to eight inches in depth and in which the cotton was growing. Some cotton was just coming up while in other cases the stalks were four to five inches high. Some stalks had four to six leaves.

North-South Rows

Fields with north and south rows suffered the most damage, Martin said, while cotton in east and west rows appeared in good shape. The strong wind was from the south both Friday and Saturday.

Grain sorghums did not appear to be damaged to any great extent.

Jess Miles, who farms south of Midland, said he lost about 25 per cent of his cotton crop. The Cecil and DeWayne Davis farm lost about 65 acres of cotton.

Fields which had been stirred since recent rains suffered little damage, the county agent stated.

The Friday blow was termed a ground wind, which kicked up sand throughout the day.

Plants Burned

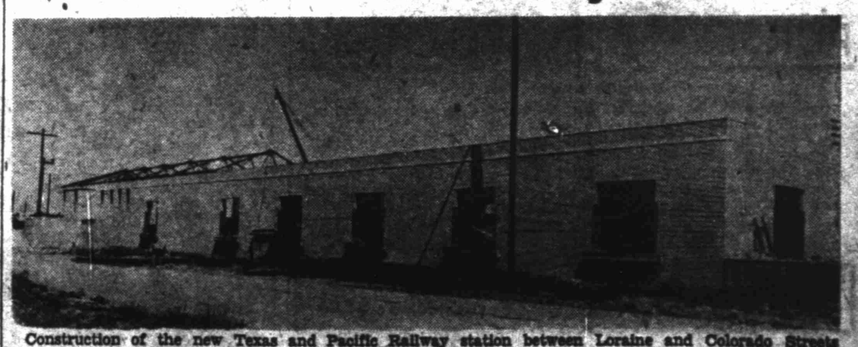
Martin said some cotton plants not covered with sand were burned by the dry wind. The damage, he said, cannot be determined until the wind ceases.

Martin said Midland County this year has about 40,000 acres planted to cotton.

Most of the damaged fields will be replanted immediately if sufficient seed can be obtained, Martin predicted. He said the shortage of quality cottonseed is becoming critical over the state.

Some Midland County farmers already have had to replant two and three times this season.

Work On New T&P Station Progresses



Construction of the new Texas and Pacific Railway station between Loraine and Colorado Streets here is progressing rapidly and completion is scheduled this Fall. The brick work practically is complete and the steel beams for the roof support are being installed. The Fulcher-Berghes Construction Company of Austin has the general contract. The job was started early this year. When completed, the depot will be the finest in the Permian Basin area.

Size Of U. S. Atom Bomb Stockpile May Be Aired In Probe

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The size of America's atomic bomb stockpile might have to be disclosed to get a proper assessment of the work of the Atomic Energy Commission, Senator McMahon (D-Conn) said Saturday.

McMahon is chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee which is investigating charges of "incredible mismanagement" leveled by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) at AEC Chairman David E. Lilienthal.

The current investigation, McMahon said, "gives point and meaning" to his earlier suggestion for a study of the effects of lifting the secrecy ban on the number of bombs.

However, Hickenlooper told reporters he doesn't think that is "a safe area for publicity."

McMahon said: "We must carefully weigh the benefits and any military disadvantages that might come from divulging this information."

Truman Disagrees

He added that he is making a study of this situation, as are some of his colleagues.

President Truman has opposed making public any information on the number of bombs stockpiled.

Lilienthal recently promised a study of McMahon's suggestion, but the Connecticut senator said he had not received any report.

Hickenlooper made it plain that, so far as he is concerned, the number of the bombs will not be divulged as a result of his questioning of Lilienthal with regard to commission policies.

The Iowa senator said he regards the number of bombs as "a matter that should be carefully guarded."

Lubbock Man Dies In Traffic Mishap

LUBBOCK — (AP) — Robert F. Brewer, 34, resident of Lubbock for 28 years, was killed instantly and three others injured, one critically, when a car in which they were riding went out of control and overturned several times on a highway curve at Woodrow, 10 miles south of Lubbock Saturday.

Jessie Franklin Bumpas, 56, owner of a Lubbock laundry, who was driver of the car in which Brewer was riding, was injured critically. His condition was described as grave.

Two negroes riding in the car suffered minor injuries.

By JOE POUNS

PECOS—A rain of near cloudburst proportions about 12 to 14 miles north and northwest of here early Saturday sent flood waters over highways, damaged cotton and cantaloupe fields in the Pecos irrigation farm district and did some damage in and around Pecos.

The rainfall here amounted to only half an inch, but at Hermosa, eight miles west, the fall totaled more than one and one-half inches. It was estimated more than four inches of rain fell in the country to the north and northwest. Some hail was reported in the Pecos vicinity.

Most of the damage was by flood waters on the north side of the Texas and Pacific Railroad tracks between Pecos and Hermosa. The rail embankment and U. S. Highway 80 served as dams to impound the flood water, sending it on east toward Pecos.

Over Highways

To the north, Highway 285 toward Carlsbad, N. M., banked up the water, as did the Pecos Valley and Southern Railroad embankment and Highway 17 to the south. The PV&S and Highway 17 extend from Pecos to Balmorhea. Water flowed over Highways 80, 285 and 17 during the day, but none were closed to traffic. A farm-to-market road from Pecos to the air base south of the city was closed. A roadside park in a low spot about a mile north of Pecos was said to be four feet under water.

Two homes under construction in the south part of the city were flooded, and water lapped at homes in other sections of the city. Downtown Pecos is higher than most of its residential districts.

To the northwest of Pecos, several families moved out of their homes as the flood waters approached. A bus driver stopped to awaken one farm family near Hermosa, warning them of the impending danger.

Backwater from the flooded section stopped traffic to and from the Western Cotton Oil Company plant about two miles southwest.

Farms Flooded

Several farms in the vicinity were completely flooded and the damage to cotton and canteloupe crops was expected to be high.

Glen Estes said he lost 40 to 50 acres of cotton on his farm eight miles west. Harold Wendt said all his farmland was under water. Eighteen or 20 other farms to the south, west and north were flooded.

Many streets in the north part of the city were impassable Saturday afternon and flood water was within four or five blocks of the T&P tracks.

The Pecos River flows about six miles east of Pecos.

Fire Destroys SP Railroad Trestle

ORANGE —(AP)— Fire destroyed 700 feet of a mile-long Southern Pacific Railroad trestle over gulf coast marshlands near here Saturday.

W. S. Jackson, Orange passenger agent, said the cause of the fire was not known.

He said the damage woud cut Orange off from train service for at least 48 hours. Jackson said it would take that long to repair the trestle.

West coast-bound trains from New Orleans are being detoured north of Orange by way of Lake Charles, La., and Beaumont, Texas, on Kansas City Southern tracks.

AT THE MIDLAND RODEO—

Walton's Bulldogging Time Friday Feature

By DICK VENATOR

Billy Joe Walton of Fort Worth tossed his steer to the ground in five seconds flat to set a new record for the event this season in Friday night's performance at Midland's World Championship rodeo.

A high wind which swirled about the arena apparently put no damper on the cowpokes in all divisions and certainly was no handicap to the performers in the special events, which went off with perfect smoothness and precision.

Although some of the times were slow, in most instances it was due to anxious horses breaking the barrier, thus causing 10-second penalties.

Other times in the steer wrestling were: Bill McGuire of Phoenix, 8.4; Jack Favor, Arlington, 9.3; George Mills, Pueblo, 10.5; Leonard Mitchell, Fort Worth, 13.2; Tater Decker, Roswell, 14.4, and Royce Sewalt, Brownwood, 16.6.

In the cutting horse contest, "Skeeter," a horse belonging to Philip Williams of Tokio gave another shining performance but the best he could do this time was a tie with "Pistol," owned by Jim Calhoun of Crescent, with 143 points. Second was "Jodie Earl," owned by John Wisdom of Haskell, with 142 points.

Toots Mansfield, world's champion calf roper from Rankin got off on the wrong foot and the best he could do was 16.8, considerably slower than the 13.9 posted by Sonny Edwards, another Rankin roper.

Calf Roping Times

Other times recorded in the calf roping were: Jess Slaughter, Cisco, 15 seconds; Rex Beck, Coleman, 15.9; Zeno Farris, Las Cruces, 15.9; Vic Montgomery, Ozona, 16.2; Bobby Sherrill, Pecos 19.5, and Polly Rushing, Plains, 20.6.

In the wild cow milking contest, Manuel Enos of Fort Worth, was clocked at 36.6 to lead the contestants. Second was Royce Sewalt of Brownwood with 36.9.

In the cowboys' bareback bronc riding contest, successful rides were made by: Wag Blesing, Glendale, Calif.; Harry Tompkins, Vinita, Okla.; Jim Shoulders, Tulsa; J. B. Bradshaw, Bandera; Lee Harris, Houston; Tater Decker, Roswell, Tex Lewis, Glendale, Calif., Manuel Enos, Fort Worth, and Larry Finley of Phoenix.

An event which drew enthusiastic applause from the approximately 3,500 persons who attended was the Lightning C Ranch horseback quadrille, led and directed by Everett E. Colborn. The matched couples participating were:

Alvin Gordan and Fay Kirkwood, Pete Kerscher and Faye Blesing, Tater Decker and Norma Shoulders, Lanham Riley and Mitzie Riley, Marvin Shoulders and Jeanne Godshall, Dan Taylor and Berneta Kerscher, Jimmy Schumacher and Carolyn Colborn, and Leo Sultenfuss and Jo Decker. Rosemary Colborn was in the center.

Successful rides in the cowboys' saddle bronc riding contest were made by: Blesing, Lewis, Enos, Lee Roberts of Roswell, Finley and Barton.

Cowboy Hurt

A near-accident almost marred the cowboys steer wrestling contest when Charlie Sheets of Fort Worth was kicked by the animal when he drew. He was "out" for only a short time, however, and left the arena under his own power.

The flying twins, an exhibition of Roman riding and jumping by Byron and Lee Hendricks, proved to be a favorite event in the eyes of the spectators, as did Ann Hendricks and "King Richard," the world's greatest dancing horse.

Exhibition trick and fancy riding by cowgirls Jeanne Godshall, Faye Blesing, Norma Shoulders and Mitzi Riley drew repeated applause from the stands.

Cisco Man Turns Out Fishing Worms On 'Assembly Line'

CISCO (AP)— What would you do if you were an old man faced with these two problems:

The need for making a living.

An invalid wife whose side you couldn't leave for long.

Homer Lane, who is in his late 70's, found a way out. He has established a worm farm—in the heart of Cisco.

Until several months ago Lane worked for a furniture store here. But his wife's condition worsened. He felt he should stay at her side.

Then Lane read of a man who "made good" worm-farming. Thousands of anglers come to fish in nearby Lake Cisco and Lake Bernie.

Now he has a worm farm. He estimated there are 2°,000 fat, squirming worms ready to come off "the assembly line."

Lane started worm-farming in a small way. Now he has several large beds in which the worms have multiplied until the earth seems like a mammoth pepper box.

Lane feeds the worms mash. He replenishes the soil often. Over the soil he places a layer of tow sacks, kept moist. The worms average four and one-half inches long.

Flight Of Czech Mission Chief In Berlin Disclosed

BERLIN—(AP)—American authorities disclosed Saturday the highest ranking Czech representative in Berlin has fled, leaving behind a letter declaring his country is under a "corrupt police dictatorship."

Dr. Bedrich Bruegel, acting chief of the Czech Military Mission, took leave in a letter May 26 to his Foreign Ministry. He gave U. S. State Department representatives a copy.

Bruegel is the seventh member of the 10-man mission to go into exile since the Communist coup in Prague in February, 1948. The chief of the mission, Brig. Gen. Frantisek Dastich, and others fled eight months ago.

'Operation Lookout' Set For September

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Secretary of Defense Johnson announced plans Saturday for the most extensive test of the nation's air raid warning system since the war.

More than 26,000 civilian volunteers are slated to take part in "Operation Lookout," which will be conducted next September in a 10-state East Coast area ranging from Portland, Me., to Wilmington, Delaware.

with military personnel assigned to radar detection stations set up along the Eastern Seaboard in what Johnson called a "test of long-range emergency air raid defense plans."

IN ODESSA HOSPITALS

Lester Boone, Midland attorney, was reported Saturday to be in an Odessa hispital after suffering a heart attack there several days ago.

Doctors Ready To Tee Off On Truman Medical Program

ATLANTIC CITY—(AP)—The American Medical Association—world's largest organization of doctors — prepared Saturday for its annual pow-wow with indications President Truman's call for compulsory health insurance would take a terrific lacing.

The AMA declared it expected more than 16,000 doctors from this and other countries to attend sessions officially opening Monday at which the House of Delegates—policy-making body of the organization—will consider "such matters as education of the American public against the dangers of compulsory sickness insurance x x x."

The week-long parley, said the AMA, "will be one of the most important ever held by the largest medical organization in the world. The decisions will be vitally significant in determining the future of medicine in this country."

Christian Laymen Will Have Barbecue

Members of the Laymen's League of the First Christian Church will stage their annual barbecue Monday evening at Cloverdale Park, Dave Smith announced Saturday.

A recreation period at 5:30 p. m. will precede the serving of the barbecue at 7 p. m. Softball, horseshoes and dominoes are the games scheduled.

TEXAS' CASH BALANCE MORE THAN $178,000,000

AUSTIN —(AP)— State Treasurer Jesse James Saturday reported a cash balance in all state funds on May 31 of $178,186,209.

In the general revenue fund was $83,616,050. Another $12,587,032 was in the unallocated clearance fund.

Old Tent 'Graces' Post Office Lawn

Livestock Roundup

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Cattle, calves and hogs receipts were larger than the week before, while number of sheep decreased. Most classes of cattle and calves ruled strong with spots higher on best offerings, although some plain kinds were weak; butcher hogs were 1.25 higher, sows 1.00 higher and feeder pigs 1.50 up; Spring lambs were quoted steady for the week; shorn old crop lambs and yearlings 50-1.00 lower, shorn feeders 3.00-4.00 lower, aged slaughter sheep 1.50-2.00 lower.

Beef steers and yearlings sold from 17.00-27.00, cows 12.00-19.50, bulls 16.00-22.00, slaughter calves 16.00-28.00 stocker yearlings, 18.00-25.00, stocker calves, 17.00-26.50, stocker cows 15.00-19.00 Spring lambs 20.00-30.00, shorn lambs and yearlings 20.00-26.00 aged ewes 7.00-12.50, shorn feeder lambs and yearlings 14.00-1950. Closing top on butcher hogs was 21.00, sows 17.50 and feeder pigs 19.00.

The word "artillery" was first used for all engines used to discharge missiles, but in more recent times it has been used only for firearms of long range capable of discharging a bursting projectile.

Martyrdom To Public Service

James Forrestal's fresh grave in Arlington Cemetery is a cruel lesson for many of us. It should lead us to take painful thought of the way we measure our public servants and the way we treat them.

This was a tragedy of war, but it was also a tragedy of Washington. The brutally critical capital has much to learn about gauging the character and talent of its public men.

Forrestal, the little guy with the tough exterior, the grim jaw, tight lips and broken nose, really had the shy, sensitive nature of the philosopher and poet. He was reflective, imaginative, intense in his internal drives.

He was a wartime secretary of the Navy and our first secretary of Defense. His recorded achievements and the word of his friends and working associates show him to have been one of the greatest public servants in American history. It is hard to believe anyone could have toiled more faithfully than he.

In responding to the call of public duty, he drove his mind and body to the limit. He worked 12 to 18 hours a day seven days a week. He crammed his job into every corner of his life.

He expended colossal intellectual effort in learning all he could about the problems he faced. He weighed arguments and evidence with extreme care.

Forrestal's service came in a critical time in history. This knowledge bore heavily upon him. He felt he had to make the right decisions, for the good of his country.

Forrestal had much to do with creating the greatest Navy the world has ever seen. Then, as defense chief, he moved into the uncharted area of armed forces unification. He himself had argued for a law that proved too weak for effective unity, as he admitted later. He nevertheless wrestled gamely with the task of breaking down the rigid barriers separating the services.

The record is magnificent. What, then, led a man of demonstrated high ability to take his own life?

Fundamentally, his downfall came from his urge to work until he literally dropped. For in doing so he sapped his strength until he became an easy prey to other influences. What were those influences?

First, his highly developed habit of self-censure. He did not forgive himself error, no matter how great the public tributes. He wanted perfection and was always deeply preoccupied with ways of doing his job better. His mistakes gnawed at him constantly.

Harshly critical Washington heaped fuel on this intense flame of perfectionism. Forrestal was accused of disloyalty to President Truman, labeled a "Wall Streeter" and "militarist" by Communists and others, charged with hostility to Israel and indecision about the Air Force role in war. These criticisms were largely uninformed. But they hurt.

Perhaps a final blow was that in the end, when he decided to leave his job, he really had nowhere to go. Given a rest, he still was superbly fit for further public duty in some other field. None opened up. He no longer felt at home in the banking world from which he had come. Thus he was lonely, troubled by the empty vista of the future.

Together these influences plunged him into depression and a mood of suicide. His strength no longer was enough to lift him out of this mood. Wavering on the edge of unbalance and tortured by loneliness and his sense of failure, he leaped to his death.

It seems incredible that it should have happened, that Forrestal should have felt defeated and unwanted when he had done so much. Let us hope the lesson is not lost on Washington—or any of us. For no man had more right than he to an honored resting place in hallowed Arlington.

Ever Try To Sell An Out-Of-Date Number?

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Voteless District of Columbia may vote at long last; "Sonny" Whitney is insecure in Washington; Senator Lucas plays trick on GOP colleagues.

WASHINGTON—There's an interesting backstage story behind the Senate's passage of home rule for the District of Columbia, by which 900,000 disfranchised people at long last may be able to exercise their voting privilege in a nation which prides itself on democracy.

Reason for the long failure to give Washington the right to vote was due, of course, to the Southern fear that the negroes would dominate the city. Not since shortly after the Civil War—1873—has the nation's capital had the right to elect a mayor.

The men who did the front-line battling for D. C. home rule were Senators Kefauver of Tennessee and McGrath of Rhode Island, Democrats, with Taft of Ohio, Republican. They did an A-1 job. But backstage, a senator from the Deep South—Spessard Holland of Florida—also did effective work.

Holland argued to fellow Southerners that negroes voted in Florida with no disastrous consequences, that in Richmond, Va., a negro had been elected to the city council—with the support of white votes. Referring to Richmond, Senator Holland coined the question—"Does the capital of the union have to be more Southern than the capital of the Confederacy?"

Finally, Holland argued that Southern senators would be on much firmer ground in opposing civil rights if they were reasonable on such matters as home rule for the District of Columbia and statehood for Hawaii.

This was what swung the Senate. Whether the voteless nation's capital soon will have anything to say about its own schools, its own roads and its own government will now be up to the House of Representatives.

Insecure "Sonny" Whitney

Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, unofficially known as "Sonny," officially the undersecretary of Commerce, gives the impression of being a most insecure man.

Sonny has squeezed more polo playing into his 49 years of life than most people in the U. S. A., belongs to the swank Jockey Club, the Racquet and Tennis, and Brook, River, Creek clubs; is also a director of the Metropolitan Opera, the Westchester Racing Association, the Whitney Museum of Art, and the American Museum of Natural History.

But despite the alleged security of many millions, Sonny Whitney doesn't act secure in Washington. A delightful dinner companion in the evening, during the day he loses his temper, snaps at subordinates, bangs on his desk to emphasize trivial points and behaves pretty much like the Chicago Tribune's cartoon of a typical bureaucrat.

A lot of wealthy men's sons have come to Washington to work for the government. Some do A-1 jobs, some do not. However, even the less efficient members of the social set always stand out because of one thing—courtesy. Sonny Whitney is an exception to this rule.

Latest insecurity of the undersecretary of Commerce has been evidenced by suddenly calling on his bureau chiefs for lists of employees who have been "cleared" for accesss to confidential papers, and to demand this on such short notice that all other work had to be put aside. The Civil Aeronautics Administration, for instance, had to telegraph long lists of employees into Washington from Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and other far-flung offices.

Then, having received the lists, Whitney proceeded to raise cain over the fact that stenographers and secretaries had been cleared for access to confidential papers. Apparently he wanted his executives to type up their own reports and file them without being seen by a stenographer—despite the fact that government secretaries love their country just as much as top executives.

Recently, Sonny took another unusual step. He pulled a tight iron curtain around him by requiring that the State Department clear all foreign visitors to any office in the Commerce Department.

This means that if a visitor from Belgium, who knew Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer when he was ambassador to Belgium, wants to drop in for a social call, he must wait two weeks to be cleared by the State Department.

Or if a Canadian scientist wants to discuss currents in the Bay of Fundy with Admiral L. O. Colbert of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, or if a Cuban official wants information on hurricane trends from the U. S. Weather Bureau, they have to wait two weeks for State Department clearance before they can even hang their hat in the outer office of any Commerce Department bureau—thanks to the insecurity of Sonny Whitney.

Disguised GOP Filibuster

Senator Scott Lucas, the majority leader, has pulled a neat trick on the GOP.

Although it hasn't been publicized as such, actually Republican senators have kept up what amounts to a running filibuster all during the congressional session. They have made speeches, asked questions, haggled over technicalities, done everything in their power to block the Truman program, thereby making the 81st Congress look worse than the much-maligned 80th.

But beginning July 1, the Senate will move out of its regular chambers to permit a remodeling job. And when Capital Architect David Lynn suggested moving into the reasonably roomy Senate Office Building, astute Scott Lucas said no.

Instead, he picked the old Supreme Court chamber, a tiny room where the Senate met in the days of Daniel Webster and Henry Clay and there were some 40 to 50 members of the Senate—not 96.

Lucas figured that what with the heat and cramped quarters, the GOP would get tired of filibustering and finally get down to business.

Wheel-Chair Solons

Last week two severely wounded combat veterans, doomed to life in wheel chairs, descended on Capitol Hill and single-handed moved cumbersome legislative machinery into action.

Irving "Bucky" Nanis and Tony Diglio, patients at the Veterans Administration's Cushing General Hospital, Framingham, Mass., are hemoplegics—victims of combat brain injuries which cause the same type of paralysis as the spinal-cord injuries of the paraplegics.

When Congress passed the law providing housing for paraplegics it was generally assumed that all wheel-chair veterans would be covered, but VA lawyers ruled the legislation was confined to just one type of paralysis. A separate law would be required to help the hemoplegics.

Armed with the facts, stout hearts, and their wheel chairs, Bucky and Tony went into action. Within three hours they had sold Senator Wayne Morse on the justice of their cause and he introduced the necessary bill. More support came from Taft of Ohio, Humphrey of Minnesota and others, until the two veterans, on leaving Washington, remarked:

"It makes you really proud of our democracy when you think that the most powerful government in the world would pause and listen to two strangers in wheel chairs."

Questions and Answers

Q—What is the salary of the President of the United States?

A—Under a law enacted in January, 1949, the President's salary is $100,000 a year plus a $50,000 tax-free expense allowance.

Q—Why are burying-beetles so called?

A—Their name is derived from the habit of burying their food. When they find a dead bird or mouse, they dig under the body until it settles down into the ground, and when deep enough, they cover it. Then the female digs down and deposits her eggs on the body, and the larvae feed upon it.

Q—Where is Black Dome Peak?

A—Black Dome is another name for Mt. Mitchell in North Carolina. The name came from the blue haze often seen on some of the higher elevations.

Q—How many times has Robert Sherwood won the Pulitzer Prize?

A—Four times. He won the Pulitzer Prize in biography this year; he previously won three Pulitzer awards for plays.

Q—Who was Disraeli?

A—Benjamin Disraeli, one of the most famous English statesmen, who rose from obscurity to the post of prime minister, was also an author of distinction. He was created Earl of Beaconsfield for his great contribution to the building up of a large empire.

New Texas Highway Map Is Off Press

AUSTIN—The 1949 Texas Highway Map is off the presses and ready for free distribution by the Texas Highway Department. Showing 31,000 miles of completed Texas highways, over 30,000 miles paved, the map is illustrated with drawings and 30 full color pictures.

A panel is devoted this year to travel attractions in Mexico on the Pan-American Highway, with particular attention given to pre-historic ruins. This highway, which dissects Texas, north to south, now runs to Tuxtla, almost in Central America. Texas will be the gateway state in future travel on this international road.

Complete mileage tables of comparative distances between Texas cities and between state capitals outside of Texas to border points in Texas are given. Mileages from Laredo south to points on the Pan American Highway are included. A United States road map, showing major national highways, is on the back of the Texas map.

Gov. Beauford Jester's message to Texas travelers prefaces the edition.

Singer Acquitted Of Opium Charges

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—A jury of six women and six men acquitted Torch Singer Billie Holiday Friday night of a charge of possessing opium.

The verdict was returned after two and a half hours' deliberation.

She testified her manager, John Levy, handed her a paper-wrapped parcel last January 22 and told her to get rid of it.

But before she could dispose of the packet, she said someone grabbed her.

The prosecution said the package contained a bundle of opium and that an improvised opium pipe was found in Miss Holiday's bureau.

"I never smoked opium in my life," the singer told the court. "I didn't know those things were in my dresser drawer."

The defense contended Levy had turned informer on the singer to avoid marrying her and after arranging the raid, planted the drug on her.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

I saw a gadget the other day that a mathematician had worked out whereby you would push a lot of little indicators for the number of aces and kings, also the length of your suit and it would tell you what to bid. Then your partner would take his gadget, push it around, and it would give him the responses. Well I pushed the thing around on a half-dozen hands, but I found out that when I got through, the robot bridge player was a failure.

I think Alfred P. Sheinwold in an article entitled "Practical Bridge," which he wrote for the April issue of the Bridge World, gives an excellent example of why bridge will never become a mathematical or mechanical game. It is an intellectual pastime. It takes a lot of concentration, but if you do concentrate you will get a lot of fun out of defeating contracts which are really ice-cold.

In rubber bridge Mr. Sheinwold points out that South would let his partner play the hand at six hearts. But at match-point scoring, with North showing the ace of diamonds, most South players would take the contract to six no trump.

At the table where the king of diamonds was opened, the declarer won it with the ace. He now led a small club, put on the queen and West, without a moment's hesitation, dropped the jack. Up to this point the declarer had had no problem, but now he was worried about East having four clubs to the ten spot.

In order to get a count on the hand he took two rounds of spades. He found out that West had five spades. Therefore, he must have had four diamonds, probably five, so he could easily have held a singleton club. Declarer led a small club from dummy and finessed his nine spot. West won with the ten spot and down went a safe contract five tricks, simply because West did not give up.

Negro Siamese Twins Are Three Weeks Old

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Los Angeles' Siamese twins were three weeks old Saturday and doing as well as can be expected, their doctor said.

The little girls, joined at the top of their heads, are gaining weight and developing normally, Dr. Phoebus Berman of Los Angeles County General Hospital reported. He has said preliminary examinations indicate each baby has a complete set of organs, including a separate brain.

But it will be several months before it can be determined whether the twins can be separated surgically, Dr. Berman added. The babies are daughters of Mrs. John Jones, negro mother of seven other children.

Congress Has Meaty Problem; Country's Going To The Hogs

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—There are too many pigs. This trite statement does not refer to the kind that hover around the Washington pork barrel, though it might. The surplus pig population is made up of the four-legged variety—easily convertible into jowls, fat-back and pickled feet—complete from squeal to curly tail.

In April, 1948, the Department of Agriculture asked farmers to increase their farrowings by at least 10 per cent, so as to bring more than 34,000,000 pigs to market in the Fall of 1949. A continuing meat shortage was anticipated then. It hasn't worked out that way. So now, what is done with the surplus pig population will have to be decided by Congress before it goes home this Summer.

If Congress does nothing, the government will be forced to buy enough processed pork to keep the price of hogs from falling below 90 per cent of parity. This figures out to approximately $16.50 a hundred pounds. Total cost to the taxpayers may be as much as a quarter of a billion dollars. And even then, the government won't quite know what to do with all this surplus pork, once it has it.

Only alternative to this predicament now in sight is Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan's new farm plan. Department of Agriculture experts think it would cost something less, and do more good. They don't know this. The Brannan plan would have to be tried for a year, to make a real test on how it would work.

'Plowing Under'

First government experiment in buying pigs to keep up prices, which cost $30,000,000, was back in the 1930's. Over the years, memory of this event has been pretty well distorted. It is now remembered as "Henry Wallace's plowing under of baby pigs." But it wasn't a bit sillier than what the government would be forced to do under the present farm law, if the Department of Agriculture has to go into the market and support the price of live hogs at $16.50 a hundredweight.

There was a second purchase program from November, 1933, to May, 1934. Two million pigs were bought then for another $15,000,000.

All pigs weighing more than 80 pounds and bought by the government were processed as dry salt pork and given to the poor. The little pigs weighing less than 80 pounds were too small to process.

As one farm expert now recalls, "these were the little pigs that grew wings and flew right up to heaven amid howls of protest against such public slaughter." Anyway, they ended up as 10,000 tons of grease and 5,000 tons of tankage—protein stock food.

The important point is whether this program did any good and whether it taught anyone a lesson applicable today.

In the cold light of historical research on the subject, a case can be made that it saved corn by getting ahead of the 1934 drought. All those little pigs that were killed didn't have to be fed. The program also gave food to the needy. It reduced the pig surplus by more than 8,000,000 head and it raised hog prices received by farmers. In January, 1933, hogs were selling at $2.59 a hundred. At the start of the buying program they were $3.77. At the end they were $4.19. It also raised the prices of pork for consumers.

Fear Similar Howl

But it was the converting of those baby pigs into tankage that gave the program its black eye. That is what scares Department of Agriculture experts now, as they look ahead to the prospect of having to buy a lot of surplus pigs. If the government went into a pork-buying program now, it probably would end up as it did in 1933, only on a much grander scale.

Pork doesn't keep forever. Two years is about the limit. Of course it could be given to Europe or China, at taxpayers' expense. But if some of that surplus pork had to be dumped in the ocean, there would be an awful public uproar.

It never got in the papers because of wartime censorship, but almost 1,000,000 pounds of spoiled meat was dumped into the ocean in 1943. In 1942, the German U-boat attack cut off normal food shipments to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. To relieve the situation, War Food Administration bought pickled beef in Cuba. But it wasn't properly pickled. So it was salted in the Atlantic.

WFA also got stuck with many tons of lard which turned rancid and was sold to the soap works. And several million cases of eggs also spoiled and were sold at 5 cents a case—30 dozen eggs to the case—for fertilizer.

Think what a scandal that would have made, if the news of it had ever gotten out in those days of wartime shortages and rationing. Think what a scandal anything like that would be now, at today's high prices.

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

By Hugh Lowrence Nelson

COPYRIGHT BY HUGH LAWRENCE NELSON — DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: First a murder, then fire and explosion which destroy everything on the island, make the "New Eden" of Henry Gough Harding on Speare Island anything but a paradise. Eight islanders are now without shelter and very little food with a murderer in their midst. Then another body is found, that of the mate on the Simpatico, a fishing boat which brought Bea Cosgrove and others to the island. Harding believes the fisherman started the fire because of a grudge. Then George Bascombe picks up the rifle found by the body and points it at Fred Sillwell.

XXX

HENRY HARDING snapped, "We haven't time for this nonsense. There is much to do." The rifle covered him and he stopped abruptly as Bascombe's eyes held his.

George tapped the rifle with his left hand. "You're not headman any more, Harding. We've just had a plebiscite, and I've been elected king. This rifle's my vote and assurance of the best will of the people. You're all the people, and you'll all decide to work for me, do what I say. As long as I'm duly elected and hold the rod of authority."

Henry Harding's big body tensed. "What do you want? What do you expect to gain?"

Mollie Stark spoke suddenly. "Mollie wants to be queen! Mollie's tired of that old nasty man. She's tired of talk and an old man. Can Mollie be queen?"

George Bascombe laughed but the rifle did not waver. "Why not? Why not?" He darted a glance at Nona McGuire. He said, "You can be queen, Mollie."

George watched the strength leave Harding's legs, saw purpose drain from his set face. He looked old as he sat down in the mud.

"I'M hungry," Mollie whined.

"Cold and wet and hungry."

"Come on then," George said. "Fred'll hunt around until he finds some food to bring to us."

"I'll see you in hell first," Sillwell said, but the words lacked any conviction.

"Have it your way. But you're the one with the thirst and I'm the one with the whiskey."

Fred licked his cracked lips. "I'll buy it. I'll pay you for it."

"With food," Bascombe insisted. "And from the looks of things you'd better start hunting. Whoever blew things up did a first-class job."

The stone steps and a small portion of the western foundation wall of the house remained. It marked now the edge of a cliff which dropped abruptly to the water.

On the southern side where the funicular had been, the blast and ensuing slides had laid bare blank rock. Sliding stone, mixed with debris from the house had piled up in the treacherous currents of the cove. There was no sign of either dock or lower storeroom, just a formless, smothering mass of rubber. All outbuildings had been knocked flat by the explosions and partially burned before the deluge.

Bea Cosgrove said, "What can you gain by this? Some ship must have seen the fires. Or a fishing boat will come. You won't be king very long, George."

"Maybe not. I doubt if anyone could have seen the fires any distance at all through that storm. At any rate, I'll be king for a day." He looked at Nona again. "Come on, Mollie, let's get a fire going where it's dry."

"You have matches?" Mabel Jones asked.

"Yes. Dry matches. Strange, isn't it? Last night too much fire. Today, no fire but the one I'm going to light. So if the rest of you want fire, you'd better help Fred collect luxuries for me."

"You're horrid," Agnes Firth said. "I always thought people stuck together in times like this."

Nona McGuire said, "I'm cold and wet. Shall we move around at least? And I guess I'm the one who ought to do most of the food hunting for George. He's acting this way because he's mad at me." She added softly, "I hope." She pointed suddenly and laughed. Mollie and George had stopped beside the collapsed and splintered hut. The girl obeyed his obvious order, gathered up a full armload of the splintered wood, then followed him down the trail a few paces behind.

"Squaw work," Nona said. "I could almost feel sorry for Mollie. Almost, but not quite."

"We've wasted too much time," Mabel said briskly. "Too much time on his foolishness. We need shelter, a fire and food. We won't get them standing around feeling sorry for ourselves."

Henry Harding looked up then. "They've gone. They've gone." He got slowly to his feet. "We must work." The words gave him strength. "We must work to live. Miss Firth, you and Mr. Sillwell will go to the lower storeroom. There may be some food left uncovered. Mrs. Jones, you will help me make a shelter of some sort. There will be plenty of tools left at least. Miss McGuire and Miss Cosgrove can hunt for anything of value. And perhaps some of the sheep are still alive. There may be others we can use also."

"Is there a chance the fires were seen?" Agnes asked.

"A small chance. And it wouldn't help now if they had been. Not for days at least. Nothing can get close to the island and live, until the surf goes down."

Nona McGuire's teeth were chattering again. "What about t-the d-dead man?"

Henry Harding picked up the body. He walked slowly the distance to the stone steps, to the edge above the sheer drop. He stood on the top step for a long moment. His arms straightened and their burden slid from sight.

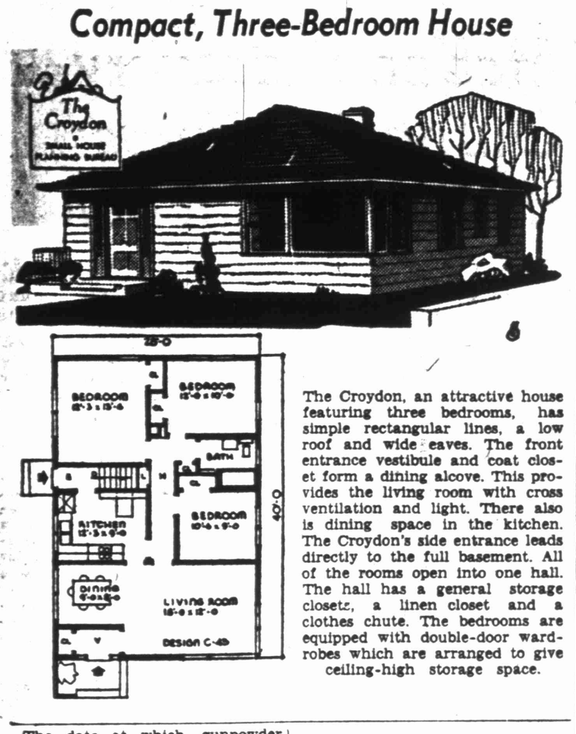
Compact, Three-Bedroom House



The Croydon, an attractive house featuring three bedrooms, has simple rectangular lines, a low roof and wide eaves. The front entrance vestibule and coat closet form a dining alcove. This provides the living room with cross ventilation and light. There also is dining space in the kitchen. The Croydon's side entrance leads directly to the full basement. All of the rooms open into one hall. The hall has a general storage closetz, a linen closet and a clothes chute. The bedrooms are equipped with double-door wardrobes which are arranged to give ceiling-high storage space.

Home Owner Can Beat Heat By Ventilating, Insulating

In the Spring a home owner's fancy turns to thoughts of Summer comfort. There are three things a home owner can do now, according to housing experts, to prepare for the hot days ahead. One is to insulate, another is to provide for proper ventilation and third is to put exterior trimmings and surroundings to work.

Wall and ceiling insulation, the experts say, can reduce the inside temperature of your house in Summer by from ten to fifteen degrees. The same insulation will work to your advantage this Winter by making your home more comfortable and easier to heat.

Homes already built can be insulated in several ways. For Summer comfort, insulation experts advise insulating the upper part of the house, either at the attic floor level or in the roof. Insulation of both roof and sidewalls, of course, is advisable for Winter fuel economy.

Insulate Attic Floor

When the attic is unfinished, an effective plan is to insulate the attic floor. This can be done, builders say, by nailing large sheets of insulating board over the floor joists, or by filling the space between the joists with an insulating material.

If the attic is floored, insulating board can be nailed to the under side of the roof rafters. This operation is also a step in finishing off the walls and partitioning a future "extra" room.

Another thing the home owner can do to keep his house cool this Summer is to ventilate. According to ventilation engineers, attic windows should be kept open three or four inches during dry weather. If the attic is windowless, slatted openings or louvers can be installed at each end for ventilation.

A fan-type kitchen ventilator is another Summer comfort "must." While its primary purpose is to remove steam, grease and cooking odors from the kitchen, it is usually powerful enough to exhaust stale, hot air from the entire first floor.

Fan In Attic Helps

The most efficient night cooling aid, according to experts, is an attic fan. It literally pushes hot air out of the house, replacing it with cool night air from the outside, and it can mean as much as twenty degrees difference. All that is necessary is to open all the first-floor windows and doors at sundown and turn on the fan.

Don't overlook exterior house trimmings and surroundings. Awning, for example, keep out the sunshine and much of the heat. They should be used on windows facing the west, south and east.

The outside of the house also can affect the inside temperature. A test of two identical brick houses, one painted white and the other unpainted, showed that the white house was thirteen degrees cooler on a hot day. That's because dark colors absorb heat, experts say, and light colors reflect it.

Green, fresh foliage around the house has a reverse effect. It absorbs more sunlight and reflects less heat into the house.

Hazards In Home Easily Corrected

Nearly 5,000,000 persons suffer home injuries each year, either because the house was not built with an eye to complete safety, because it was allowed to fall into disrepair, or because of careless habits.

Many hazardous construction features can be eliminated easily and at little expense, such as: Placing railings beside unprotected steps; cutting a vision panel through the swinging kitchen-dining-room door; replacing all loose bricks and boards as soon as discovered; painting low - hanging basement pipes and ducts white for high visibility; installing strong grabbars in easy reach over the bathtub; illuminating stairways; replacing each extra-wide kitchen cabinet door with two narrow ones; rounding off sharp corners of kitchen counters.

Can Of Red Paint Can Be Put To Good Use Around House

As an eye-catcher, try painting the outdoor faucets and the handles of small garden tools red. The color shows up clearly against ground, grass or foliage.

For a warning, use the red paint to band the containers of such poisonous materials as lye preparations for cleaning drains or for insecticides.

The high shelf in the bathroom cabinet where medicines are kept out of sight and reach of curious children may be painted red as a flag to other members of the family. Anything on that shelf should be carefully handled.

Condemned Slayer Gets 30-Day Stay

AUSTIN —(AP)— The customary 30-day reprieve was granted by Gov. Beauford H. Jester Saturday to W. Fred Jones, 40, sentenced to death in the September 27, 1946, slaying of H. C. Love, Jr., outside a Floydada, Texas, grocery store.

The reprieve stays the execution set for July 8, making the new date August 7.

Home Builders Step Up Quality Of Construction

Trade reports indicate that an increasing percentage of new dwellings are featuring quality construction, as builders prepare for more competitive selling and renting markets.

With the volume of new home building gradually alleviating the housing shortage, builders realize that in the not-so-distant future buyers and renters will be able to be more selective in their choice of quarters. Consequently many owners, in constructing homes and apartments, are emphasizing quality materials which will add appeal to the buildings.

Items such as hardwood flooring, insulation, high grade plumbing fixtures and other features which enhance the liveability and attractiveness of a home are being included on an increasing scale in construction specifications.

Good Selling Points

In prewar years when housing was relatively plentiful, veteran observers recall, it was not uncommon to see houses and apartments remain vacant for comparatively long periods simply because they lacked certain features which discriminating buyers and renters demanded. Many residential units drew low rentals for the same reason.

To attract desirable tenants, owners often were called upon to install various improvements in the property.

Officer Is Victim Of Heart Attack In Attempted Suicide

HOUSTON —(AP)— Deputy Sheriff H. C. Spence, Sr., 60, died Saturday of a heart attack after attempting to hang himself with two wire coat hangers.

He was found in a sixth-floor closet in the Harris County Criminal Courts Building.

Justice of the Peace W. C. Ragan, who returned an inquest verdict, said there was no evidence of strangulation, but the heart attack was caused by the suicide attempt.

Sheriff's Captain Charley Nix said Spence had been in ill health since January.

A native of Henderson, Spence had been a peace officer 27 years, six of them in Henderson and the last 21 with the Harris County sheriff's office.

Survivors include two brothers, George and Bid Spence, both of Henderson.

Funeral services will be held Monday in Baytown.

Large Window Areas Gain In Popularity In Home Planning

Unlike a few years ago when designers and builders of "average" homes seldom considered windows as major factors in home planning, today's home owner often determines room arrangements and orientation of the house to get the best views from his window.

Until recently virtually all homes had small window openings. Windows themselves frequently were divided into many small panes, characteristic of the popular Colonial and Cape Cod architectural styles.

The necessity for this type of window actually is a thing of the past. Small panes and small window openings might be said to be relics of the days when it was difficult to keep homes warm in cold weather because of inadequate heating facilities.

For a period of many years a so-called "average" number of "average" size windows was simply taken for granted in planning an "average" home.

Today, as a result of years of research on the part of glass manufacturers, sash makers, heating engineers, architects and designers, large window areas which provide more abundant daylight and enhance the beauty of homes can be constructed at small additional cost and without risk of sacrificing comfort in cold weather.

Wherever large fixed windows are installed, designers offer numerous methods for providing adequate ventilation in warm weather. Fresh air intakes, for example, can be constructed in the form of louvers above below the windows, or if preferred, casement windows which open out can be installed at either side.

Lieutenant Harris Services Are Held

Memorial services were held at 3 p. m. Saturday in the Ellis Chapel for Lt. Weldon Harris, World War II hero who was killed in action May 24, 1944, in Romania. The Rev. V. R. Howze of Big Spring officiated the rites.

Interment was in Fairview Cemetery. Pallbearers were members of the Midland VFW and American Legion posts.

Harris was born at Comanche on September 23, 1919. He was graduated from Midland High School.

Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Harris of Midland; two brothers, Victor and Trueman of Midland, and two sisters, Mrs. George Elliott and Mrs. William C. Voss of Muskegon, Mich.

APCO Has Shooting Option On 120,000-Acre Spread In Midland, Adjoining Counties

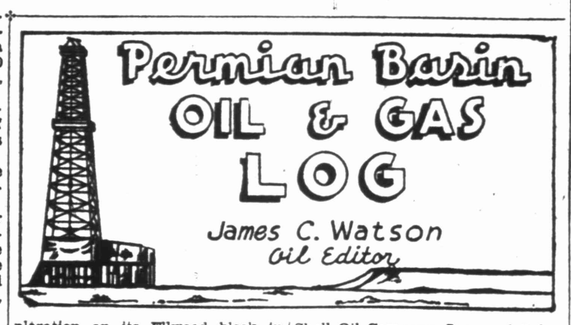
Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation has acquired a six-month seismograph shooting option on a spread of approximately 120,000 acres located in Andrews, Martin, Midland and Ector Counties.

The spread covers all of the unleased acreage in the large block of land owned by Midland Farms in that region.

The option was effective on June 1 and work of running the sub-surface survey has already started.

Under terms of the contract for the shooting option, Anderson-Prichard has the right to select the equivalent of 50 sections out of the 120,000 acres, and take commercial oil and gas leases on those tracts, after the shooting is finished.

No cash was involved in the option, according to unofficial sources and no information is available as to what the concern is due to pay for any leases it may take after the survey is completed.



Strawn Flows Gas, Yields Oil In Runnels For Humble Wildcat

Free oil and gas in the Strawn lime of the Pennsylvanian showed discovery possibilities for Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Odom, extreme Northwest Runnels County wildcat, six miles southeast of Blackwell and 785 feet from northeast, 660 feet from southeast lines of Felix Sosa survey.

The show was on a two-hour drillstem test at 5,241-60 feet. Gas reached the surface in five minutes and was at the estimated rate of 80,000 cubic feet per day. Recovery was 450 feet of pipe line oil and 38 feet of drilling mud cut oil. Corrected gravity of the petroleum was 42.3 degrees.

The prospector has drilled ahead to 5,280 feet in lime and sand. Another drillstem test was in preparation.

Sinclair Testing In Borden Dolomite

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Williams, Northwest Borden County discovery from the section in the Mississippian at 9,830-9,928 feet, and also from the zone at 9,945-10,000 feet, had drilled to 10,035 feet, in a dolomite section, and was taking a drillstem test.

After flowing 20.75 barrels of 34 gravity oil in 30 minutes on a drillstem test at 8,945-10,000 feet, this venture had a recovery of 1,350 feet of salt water in the bottom of the drill pipe when the tester was pulled.

It resumed drilling and in making the 15 feet from 10,000 to 10,015 feet, three bits were worn out. The section from 10,015 feet to 10,035 feet is reported to have drilled softer than did the 15 feet above it.

Most observers are of the opinion that the section which flowed the 20.75 barrels of oil in 30 minutes is in the Silurio-Devonian. That zone had at one time been called Ellenburger by some geologists. That call has about been eliminated.

North Snyder Slated For Strawn Venture

Standard Oil Company of Texas is starting immediately on a venture into the Strawn lime of Pennsylvanian in the North Snyder field of North-Central Scurry County, where present production is from the Canyon-Pennsylvanian.

It will be Stanotex No. 4-3 Jessie Brown, staked 1,980 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of section 441, block 97, H&TC survey, about 10 miles north of the town of Snyder.

The Strawn is expected to come in above 7,500 feet. Drilling will be with rotary tools.

Humble To Drill Into Sterling Ellenburger

Humble Oil & Refining Company is to drill another Ellenburger exploration on its Ellwood block in Northeast Sterling County.

The new project will be Humble No. 3-B I. L. Ellwood estate. It is located 560 feet from north and 760 feet from east lines of section 55, block 18, SPRR survey.

That makes it 16 miles north of Sterling City. Drilling to 8,000 feet, with rotary tools is to start immediately.

Humble opened the Spade field more than a year ago after finding small production from the Ellenburger in its first deep test on the Ellwood property. That well has since declined until it was making very little of oil at last report.

Another deep venture in the same area, drilled since the small discovery was completed, failed to develop any signs of production.

Flanagan-Clear Fork Makes Oil For Shell

Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 1 Selma Andrews, et al, five-eighth of a mile northeast of the discovery well for Clear Fork, Devonian and Ellenburger production at the same company's No. 1 Hawkin, to open the Flanagan field in South-Central Gaines County, developed considerable free oil in a drillstem test in the Clear Fork.

This venture took a two hour drillstem test at 7,141-7,230 feet. There was a fair to strong blow of air for 17 minutes, and gas then showed at the surface.

Recovery was 2,700 feet of 36.1 gravity oil and 360 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud. Open flowing bottom hole pressure ranged from 105 pounds to 500 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure, after 15 minutes was 1,275 pounds.

The venture drilled down to 7,255 feet and was taking another drillstem test at last report. The project is due to continue to 12,600 feet to test the Ellenburger. It is located 660 feet from south and west lines of section 2, block A-23, psl survey.

Sun Logs Shows In Nolan Venture

Sun Oil Company No. 1 Cook, Southwest Nolan County prospector to 7,200 feet to explore into the Ellenburger logged some slight signs of oil and gas in cores at 6,292-6,307 feet.

A core at 6,292-6,305 feet had a recovery of three feet of black shale with streaks of gray to tan sand, which had some dead oil stains and some bleeding gas; one foot of shale with no shows; one foot of shale, with sand streaks and more signs of dead oil and bleeding gas; three feet of shale with no shows, and three feet of shale with another slight oil sign, and finally two feet of shale with no shows.

The zone at 6,305-07 feet did not report any petroleum indications. Operator is now preparing to cut a core from 6,307 feet.

San Andres Wildcat Spotted In Andrews

Anderson-Prichard No. 1-D University is to be a 5,750-foot wildcat in Central-East Andrews County, to explore into the San Andres-Permian.

It is six and one-half miles north of the Mabee field, which gets its oil from the San Andres. The wildcat is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 38, block 7, University survey.

That makes it one mile north and slightly west of a dry hole drilled to 4,918 feet in 1947 by Amerada Petroleum Corporation.

Drilling at the Anderson-Prichard prospector is to start at once. Bob Hissom of Tulsa has the rotary contract.

Fisher Ellenburger Gets Wildcat Test

Drilling is to be started soon on a wildcat to explore into the Ellenburger in Central-North Fisher County, about ten miles northeast of Rotan.

The project will be Roeser-Pendleton, Inc., of Fort Worth, No. 1 Landy Jameson. It is to be at the center of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 109, block 1, H&TC survey.

The lease is on a farmout from Shell Oil Company, Inc., and it has an early expiration. The project is due to go to at least 7,000 feet, unless it gets the Ellenburger at a lesser depth.

Forest Injects Acid In Ector Clear Fork

Forest Oil Corporation No. 1 Phillips-TXL, prospective discovery from the Clear Fork-Permian, in the undeveloped area of Central-West Ector County, between the Goldsmith and TXL fields, is preparing to test, after treating the section which has the signs of oil and gas with acid.

This exploration, located 20 miles northwest of Odessa, and 660 feet from north and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 25, block 45, TP survey, T-1-S, is bottomed at 6,297 feet and has a string of 5 1/2-inch casing cemented at that point.

The pipe had been perforated at 5,640-5,875 feet with 540 shots and at 5,985-6,085 feet, with 400 shots.

The sections which are perforated had shown good signs of oil and gas on drillstem tests. No formation water has been developed.

Republic Natural To Test Upton Wildcat

A drillstem test was scheduled in lower Permian lime and sand at Republic Natural Gas Company No. 1 V. J. Powell, slated 10,500-foot wildcat in North-Central Upton County about 25 miles north and a little west of Rankin.

The exploration was bottomed on 8,628 feet. Operator was coming out of the hole for the test on last report.

Wright Slates DST In Benedum-Devonian

Warren Wright was planning to drillstem test in Devonian at his No. 1 C .W. Chancellor, exploration projected to the Ellenburger on the south edge of the Benedum pool in East-Central Upton County.

The project was making hole from 10,620 feet in lime and chert. When it reaches 10,650 feet, the examination is slated to be run.

It is 660 feet from north and east lines of the south half of the east half of section 5, A. W. Daugherty survey.

Norsworthy Makes No Shows In Scurry

C. L. Norsworthy, Jr., No. 1 E. G. Williamson, Northwest Scurry County wildcat, eight miles northwest of Snyder, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 256, block 97, H&TC survey, failed to develop any signs of oil, gas or water in a drillstem test in the Canyon lime at 6,965-80 feet.

The tool was open one hour. Recovery was 15 feet of drilling mud, with no indications of oil, gas or water.

The project then cored to 7,000 feet, and was due to be taking another drillstem test at the time this report was prepared.

Gaines Ellenburger Yields Salt Water

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1 Doss- Central-East Gaines County deep wildcat, 10 miles southwest of Cedar Lake, and 4,620 feet from east and 7,430 feet from south lines of league 292, Lynn County School Land survey, developed salt water in the Ellenburger, and is now being plugged and abandoned.

The water came during a one hour drillstem test at 13,586-791 feet. A 3,000-foot water blanket was used. Recovery was the water blanket and 9,850 feet of salt water. There were no shows of oil or gas.

Top of the Ellenburger was picked by unofficial sources to be at 13,560 feet. Elevation is 3,114 feet. No signs of petroleum were developed in any zone which was penetrated by this prospector.

94,000 Disabled Vets Trained VA Reports

WASHINGTON —(AP)— More than 94,000 disabled World War II veterans have been fully trained to earn their livings, the veterans administration said Saturday.

VA said those rated as rehabilitated represent about 20 per cent of all handicapped veterans who have entered training with government aid.

VA said it did not know how many of the 94,000 actually are employed now.

BULLETIN

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Williams, Northwest Borden County discovery recovered salt water, along with some gas, in a drillstem test Saturday at 10,000-035 feet.

Only slight signs of oil were developed by the investigation. The test was open three hours. An 1,100-foot water blanket was used. Gas showed at the surface in 55 minutes. The gas volume was not gauged or estimated.

Recovery was the water blanket and 6,300 feet of salt water.

It is understood that Sinclair executives have ordered drilling stopped and the wildcat completed from the section between 9,830 feet and slightly above 10,000 feet.

That horizon at 9,830-9,928 feet developed considerable amounts of free oil, and the zone at 9,945-10,000 feet flowed 20.75 barrels of oil in 30 minutes, and had a recovery of 1,300 feet of salt water, when the tester was pulled.

This report was received in Midland late Saturday.

Hewgley Stages A Party

A new method of celebrating the completion of oil wells has been developed by Hewgley Drilling Company. Each time the concern finishes a producing oil well for an oil company or oil operator it serves "home-made" ice cream at the well to the drilling crews and other interested persons. Some of the participants at a recent Hewgley ice cream party were: Top row, left to right: N. E. Gilstrap, Hewgley toolpusher; and J. M. (Jimmie) Hewgley, Jr., member of the firm and general superintendent. Bottom row, left to right, C. W. (Bill) Chancellor, royalty owner and oil operator; "Bud" Warren, Hewgley drilling superintendent, and Gilbert Tompson, petroleum engineer for Slick-Urschel Oil Company. In the foreground is the big ice cream freezer, and in the background is the derrick and drilling rig on Slick-Urschel and Plymouth Oil Company No. 2 Alford, which Hewgley Drilling Company completed as a good flowing producer from the Ellenburger, in the Benedum field in East-Central Upton County.

Washington Oil—

Crude Oil Price Cuts Are Viewed With Alarm By Producers Over Nation

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER

WASHINGTON — It's not generally realized, but there have been 26 reductions in crude oil prices this year.

While local in effect, they have occurred in areas from coast to coast. Heavy crudes have felt the bulk of the cuts.

Oil men wondering how long the current near-record level for crude oil prices will continue regard this trend with alarm.

They also express concern with the plight of the domestic refiner. Month by month his margin shrinks. It was $1.11 a barrel as an average for least year, but has dwindled each month this year.

The refiner paid an average of $2.56 a barrel for crude oil in April, and received $3.36 a barrel as an average for the products. This left a margin of 80 cents, the smallest since 1946.

In the face of this situation, more than one refiner has gone out of business.

To many in the oil industry one way out of the squeeze appears to be a sharp, general reduction in crude prices. They see slim chances for a general hike in product prices.

Not so Russell B. Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

He warns: "The importing companies may try to use this reduction (in refiners' margin) to justify crude price decreases when, in fact, this margin decrease is related directly to their own determination to flood the market with fuel oil and heavy crudes."

The first reduction this years was initiated by the South Penn Oil Company, on January 21, according to statistics prepared by one oil association; the company slashed the price for Penn Grades by 44 to 54 cents a barrel.

Subsequent reductions affected California, Wyoming ,Ohio, Mississippi, Arkansas and Texas.

The Talco Pipe Line Company on April 1 made a 30 cent reduction in the price of heavy crudes in Wood and Hopkins Counties, Texas; Humble Oil & Refining Company on April 25 initiated a 25 cent cut in the Hawkins, Sand Flat and Talco fields; the Pan American Production Company mad a 25 cent drop in heavy crudes in Northeastern Texas on April 27.

The Truman Administration is asking oil men for advice as it lays plans for its "bold, new program" to build up industry in backward areas of the world.

The plan—called Point Four—is no more than and idea at this time, but it promises to be big news in coming months. Its aim is the industrial growth of under-developed areas of the world. To put factories in India and Mexico, for instance; to make minor Pittsburgh's out of deserts.

Seeking advice, top government planners recently met with Russell B. Brown of the IPAA, James Moss of the American Petroleum Institute and Fayette Dow of the National Petroleum Association.

They promised to cooperate. They said oil money is ready to go abroad with or without the plan if guaranteed against excessive taxes, discrimination, expropriation and other abuses.

They also suggested the top brass of the industry be called in.

Free Enterprise

As a result, another meeting is due in the near future between government officials and heads of the Cities Service Oil Company, Gulf Oil Corporation, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, and Socnoy-Vacuum Oil Company.

The reason the government looks to the oil industry is clear. It is the outstanding example of free enterprise going out to under-developed areas and creating industry, jobs and wealth.

Tardy recognition came a few days ago. In a major speech, Dr. John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, pointed with pride to foreign operations of the oil industry.

"Royalties on oil produced by American capital have made possible fine hospitals and schools in Venezuela," he said. "The first railroad constructed in Saudi-Arabia is being built by American capital and paid for from oil royalties.

"In many parts of the world today where American capital has aided in developing the natural resources, it has contributed more significantly in developing human resources."

In crude petroleum and natural gas production, the average hourly pay is $1.75.

The BLS gave out detailed figures as of last September on earnings of 41 types of oil refinery workers by areas. Top wages were paid in the Great Lakes area with the Pacific, Mountain and Southwest areas following slightly behind.

Laredo Times Asks Mexican Oil Loan

The Times, published in Laredo-Texas ,a gateway to Mexico, is advertising in newspapers to urge a loan to Mexico for oil development.

An ad appearing June 1 in the Washington Daily News took the form of an open letter to Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., just sent to Congress in a special election.

It urged young Roosevelt to carry on his father's Good Neighbor policy and suggested:

"We are giving billions away to enemy nations, yet we refuse our most important neighbor, Mexico, a legitimate $600,000,000 loan."

An editorial from the Times of May 29 was part of the ad which occupied two columns in the tabloid News. It explained only $200 million is for oil. Editor and Publisher lists William Prescott Allen and publisher of the Times.

Robert Friedman, acting head of the Oil and Gas Division, quits in mid-June to become assistant to the President of Trunkline Gas Supply Company. Ralph K. Davies is head of the company, which has headquarters in San Francisco.

President Truman is sure to rename Leland Olds to the Federal Power Commission with the surprise support shown another New Dealer named to the FPC. The Senate Commerce Committee voted nine to one to confirm Thomas Buchanan to the FPC, Olds will be confirmed by the Senate, but only after a sharp fight, perhaps a delay until next year in the approval. Those amendments to the Natural Gas Act are having a tough ride in Congress. They would ease some FPC controls.

TEXAS OIL ROUNDUP—

Crude Imports Blamed As Profits, Production Slump

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON—(AP)—Oil company financial statements this year probably will not be as healthy as those which impressed most 1948 stockholders.

Current stockholders, in many cases, are being advised company incomes can be expected to tumble unless market conditions improve suddenly.

Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) released its warning last week. The company's annual stockholders meeting was advised company earnings the first half of 1949 probably will be 30 per cent lower than the same period last year.

Chairman of the board F. W. Abrams gave these reasons:

1. Supply and demand again are coming into balance, with resulting increased competition and downward adjustments in products price.

2. Reduced demand for products has necessitated curtailed production and refining operations.

Abrams predicted production and refining operations will climb later in the year but he added that curtailment of capital expenditures now is being emphasized.

Confirmed By API

Comparison of the American Petroleum Institute reports for the years ended May 28, 1949, and May 29, 1948, bear out Abram's explanation of anticipated income declines.

The comparison shows two definite trends:

1. All 1949 production and refining operations, with the exception of gasoline production, are well below 1948.

2. Refined products stocks far exceed those of a year ago.

Domestic refineries, API reports, on May 28 were operating at 83.5 per cent of capacity. A year earlier the figure was 97.9 per cent.

Many oil men, particularly the independents, say these figures reflecting downward trends in production and operations result primarily from increased foreign crude oil imports.

The chairman of the National Petroleum Council this week called upon the industry to accept in good faith the council's unanimously approved imports policy—foreign oil should be used only to supplement domestic production.

Hallanan Speaks Out

Walter S. Hallanan, president of Plymouth Oil Company, said imports in recent months have been beyond this point.

The result, Hallanan said, has been curtailed drilling and exploratory work, seriously impaired revenues of many states and communities, and many small independent producers and refiners being forced out of business.

The Independent Petroleum Association of America, in a recent report, says imports continue to climb.

Russell B. Brown, IPAA general counsel, places imports for the four weeks ended May 21 at a daily average of 434,000 barrels, compared to 417,000 the preceding four weeks.

First quarter crude imports were totaled this week by the U. S. Bureau of Mines at 31,417,000 barrels, an increase of 11,860,000 barrels or 46.5 per cent over the 1948 period.

Hallanan says such imports in reality have supplanted domestic production and forced crippling cutbacks in output.

The comparison of the weekly API reports shows nine states were producing more crude on last week than a year ago. Fourteen were producing less oil.

Louisiana Output Climbs

Louisiana showed the greatest gain, having increased its production by 36,450 barrels daily. Texas had the greatest decrease, producing on a daily average 543,750 barrels less than in 1948.

Other states showing increases over 1948 were Colorado, 15,300 barrels daily greater, Oklahoma 5,150, Indiana 4,450, Illinois 4,400, Montana 3,250, New Mexico 2,000, Florida 550, Utah (not listed in May, 1948) 550.

Joining Texas in the decline column were Wyoming, down 27,150 barrels daily, Mississippi 19,450, Kansas, 17,950, California 15,450, Michigan 4,350, New York-Pennsylvania 2,300, Arkansas 1,900, Kentucky 1,350, Alabama 1,150, Ohio 600, West Virginia 350, Nebraska 200, Virginia 150.

Stocks Up, Runs Down

Domestic crude production for the week ended May 28 averaged 4,897,000 barrels daily, compared to 5,451,000 a year earlier. Daily crude runs to stills at refineries totaled 5,197,000 barrels, compared to 5,715,000 in 1948.

Comparative figures for 1949 and 1948 respectively, on refined products production during the final week of May:

Heavy fuel, 8,144,000 and 9,508,000; light fuel, 5,943,000 and 7,054,000; gasoline, 18,324,000 and 17,827,000.

Refined products stocks the last week of May in 1949 and 1948, respectively:

Gasoline, 120,661,000 and 107,185,000; kerosene, 20,953,000 and 15,250,000; gas oil, distillate, 55,971,000 and 38,641,000; residual fuel, 63,758,000 and 55,146,000.

McKee Discovery Outpost Assures Heavy Production

HOBBS, N. M.—(AP)—The second prolific, flowing well from the McKee sand section of the Simpson, has been assured for the Warren area of East-Central Lea County, between Hobbs and Eunice.

Continental Oil Company No. 1-A-29 Warren, one location northwest outpost to the same company's No. 1-A-30 Warren, recently completed discovery from the McKee horizon, flowed 194 barrels of oil in two hours, through a five-eighth inch bottom hole choke, from the top of the pay section, and is to core deeper.

This project, located 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 29-20s-38e, took a two and one half hour drillstem test at 8,885-9,039 feet.

At 2,328 BOPD Rate

Gas showed at the surface in six minutes. Oil started flowing at the top in 30 minutes. The 194 barrel flow in two hours followed. That was at the rate of 2,328 barrels per day from the pay zone already penetrated.

This venture entered the McKee at 8,808 feet, on an elevation of 3,583 feet. It is high, geologically, to the discovery, which was finished for a daily initial production of 3,450 barrels per day, flowing natural.

Ralph Lowe No. 1 Selman, deep wildcat one and one-half miles south of the city of Hobbs, in East-Central Lea County, had reached 8,147 feet in a lime formation and was expected to start shortly on making production tests of the lower Permian horizon between 7,326 feet, and 8,000 feet. Some observers say the prospect is bottomed in the Devonian.

May Make A Well

That formation has shown a large number of streaks of lime which carried fair shows of oil and gas. Interested observers think that some sort of a commercial oil well and a new discovery likely can be completed from that section.

The wildcat ran a three hour and 45 minute drillstem test at 8,000-8,014 feet. Recovery was 7,700 feet of sulphur water, with no shows of oil or gas. No signs of formation water were encountered in the interval between 7,326 feet and 8,000 feet.

Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation No. 1-12 State, three miles south of the Crossroads field in Northeast Lea County, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 16-10s-36e, was on a total depth of 7,198 feet in lime.

Operator was moving in a big rig to continue drilling to 12,500 feet to test into the Devonian.

Making More Hole

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Leonard-Federal, Ellenburger prospector in extreme Southeast Leo County, had reached 10,290 feet in lime and was making more hole.

It developed a little gas and considerable sulphur water in a drillstem test of the section at 10,025-090 feet, in a formation thought by some observers to possibly be the Silurian.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 11-26s-37e.

Mid-Continent No. 1-D Sawyer, a flanker to Devonian production in the Crossroads field and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 27-9s-36e, was drilling below 10,392 feet in lime.

It is 660 feet from east and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 28-9s-36e.

Oil Development Company or Texas No. 1 Santa Fe, another flanker to Devonian production in the Crossroads area, was making hole below 10,014 feet in lime.

No Shows Reported

McAlester Fuel Company No. 1-A Denton, East-Central Lea County wildcat 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 11-15s-37e, had reached 8,050 feet in dolomite and was making more hole. It is contracted to go to at least 11,500 feet to test into the Devonian. Up to now it has not reported having encountered any possibilities of production.

Magnolia Petroleum Company is trying to locate the source of water which is being swabbed out from perforated section at 9,693-9,700 feet, in the Pennsylvanian lime at its No. 1 Cox-Federal, extreme Northeast Lea County wildcat.

This venture showed some signs of oil and gas, and indicated possibilities of commercial production in a drillstem test between 9,646 feet and 9,760 feet.

Since the casing was set at 9,760 feet and perforated at the 9,693-9,700 foot interval it has swabbed out only drilling mud and water.

Hunting Water Source

It is probable, that if it is determined that the water is coming from the formation that operator will perforate and test higher.

It is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 1-9s-36e.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1-CA State, wildcat three miles south of the Crossroads field in Northeast Lea, and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 9-10s-36e, had reached 2,600 feet in a dolomite, which has been identified as Ellenburger, by operator representatives, and was making more hole.

So far it has not reported having logged any indications of production in the Ellenburger. It showed salt water in a drillstem test at 12,467-520 feet.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-X State, slated 12,000-foot wildcat 17 miles southwest of the Crossroads field, was drilling below 11,154 feet in lime and shale.

It is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 31-11s-35e.

Humble No. 1 Federal-Wiggs, South-Central Eddy County wildcat, 16 miles due south of Carlsbad, had reached 4,555 feet in lime and shale and was boring ahead.

All-Woman Jury To Try Mrs. Garnier For Owens Slaying

RIVERSIDE, CALIF. —(AP)— An all-women jury will try Mrs. Agnes Garnier on murder charges in the slaying of wealthy John E. Owen, friend of Actress Irene Rich.

State and defense lawyers settled finally on 12 middle-aged housewives Friday and selected two alternate jurors Saturday.

Defense attorneys indicated they will base their case for Mrs. Garnier, 52-year-old secretary and property manager for Owen, on the theory of death by accident. They asked prospective jurors:

"If it should develop that Mr. Owen came to his death from an accident without criminal intent or negligence on Mrs. Garnier's part, would you hesitate to acquit her?"

District Attorney William O. Mackey countered with: "If the court should instruct you that a mere accident alone is not a defense would you abide by the instruction?"

Mrs. Garnier is accused of shooting Owen, 68, at his ranch April 22 after a quarrel over his friendship with Miss Rich. Testimony is scheduled to start Tuesday.

Legion Will Elect Officers Tuesday

Nomination and election of officers for Woods W. Lynch Post No. 19 will occupy the regular meeting hour at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the American Legion Hall, according to Floyd O. Rhoden, post adjutant.

A nominating committee has been selected and there also will be nominations from the floor on the night of nomination and election, Rhoden said.

MIDLANDERS TO MEXICO

Betty Britt, Joe Midkiff, Pat Corbitt, Penny Mertz and Alice Midkiff have returned from a trip to Villa Acuna, Mexico. Attending a bull fight was the highlight of their trip.

New Hearing Device Has No Receiver Button In Ear

Chicago, Ill. — Deafened people are hailing a new device that gives them clear hearing without making them wear a receiver button in the ear. They now enjoy songs, sermons, friendly companionship and business success with no self-conscious feeling that people are looking at any button hanging on their ear. With the new invisible Phantomold you may free yourself not only from deafness, but from even the appearance of deafness. The makers of Beltone, Dept. 40, 1450 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement they will gladly send you their free brochure (in plain wrapper) and explain how you can test this amazing invisible device in the privacy of your own home without risking a penny. Seifert Is Named Area Production Head By Amerada

R. E. Seifert is the new district superintendent for the production department of Amerada Petroleum Corporation for the West Texas-New Mexico Permian Basin territory.

He succeeds J. O. Hathway, who held the job for two and one half years. Hathaway has been promoted to be division superintendent for the concern at Fort Worth.

D. C. Capps has been moved to Midland from Longview and is the new assistant district production superintendent for Amerada in the Permian Basin. He takes the job Seifert held prior to being moved up to the "head man's" position in the district.

At Fort Worth, Hathaway will succeed J. E. (Jimmie) Low, a former Midlander, on the division superintendent's job. Low has been moved to the company's headquarters at Tulsa and will be assistant general superintendent.

H. W. Deax who had been administrative assistant to Low at Fort Worth, has transferred to Tulsa in a similar capacity.

Seifert came to Midland about two and one half years ago from an Amerada job in Oklahoma. He has been with the concern since 1935.

W. G. Abbott, a petroleum engineer, has recently joined the engineering staff of Amerada's Permian Basin district. He is to be stationed at Hobbs, N. M. J. C. Blackwood of Midland, is district engineer.

General Industrial Supply Opens New Store At Odessa

General Industrial Supply Corporation is a new concern to service the oil industry of the Permian Basin.

The concern has opened a store to serve this territory at 207 North Amburgey Street in Odessa.

store. He is an electrical engineer and was with Wyatt C. Hedrick, Fort Worth architect, before taking his present connection.

He served as an officer in the U. S. Army field artillery during the war.

General Industrial Supply Corporation features sale and servicing of oil field pumping unit motors and controls manufactured by Robbins & Myers, Inc., and by Cutler-Hammer, Inc.

Headquarters for the concern are in Fort Worth. A store is operated there. Clarence M. Holden is president of the corporation.

In addition to handling the pumping unit motors and controls, the concern will shortly start wholesaling a line of electrical building materials at the Odessa store.

Legislature Passes 300 Laws But Still Is Dodging Issues Of Spending And Taxation

By DAVE CHEAVES

AUSTIN — (AP) — You can hang the "well-done" tag on work of the 51st Legislature as soon as it gets up the nerve to face squarely the issue of spending and taxation.

Gov. Beauford H. Jester has signed into law more than 300 acts of the current session including a score deserving the label of major legislation.

Last week the session finished its work on acts enabling the revolutionary Gilmer-Aikin public school proposals to go into effect next Fall. In terms of legislation that will vitally affect every Texan, it was the session's major accomplishment.

Very early in the session, the 51st gave Texas a refirmed, modernized prison system and somewhat later it voted a record-breaking 30 million dollars for rural road building.

But after nearly five months of talk, and stalling, the Legislature's leaders have not been able to jell opinion on how to meet the cost of extending state services.

Juvenile Delinquency

Among other major legislative question still undisposed of is the proposal to try a new and modern plan of dealing with juvenile delinquents. Other dangling issues are rent decontrol, a veterans bonus, repeal of the poll tax, and lifting of ceiling on old age assistance spending.

Prison and school reform and rural road legislation were among top objectives listed on Governor Jester's program for the Legislature. Another was the question of a new juvenile code which appeared headed for enactment. Jester left the question of who would pick up the check with the Legislature, and there it remained Saturday.

Submission of a constitutional amendment calling for annual sessions and annual salaries for legislators.

Setting up of a commission to regulate and promote the mammoth citrus industry.

Provision for local option control of underground water.

Provision of a plan for gubernatorial succession in case the governor-elect and lieutenant governor-elect die between date of election and swearing-in.

Lowering of the tax and increasing the benefit of unemployment compensation.

Pecos River Compact

Setting up a real estate commission to administer real estate laws.

Approving the compact to end a long struggle between Texas and New Mexico for division of Pecos River waters.

Providing money to make up last year's deficit in rural aid school funds.

Barring Communists from the general election ballot.

Attempting to conserve shrimp in Texas coastal waters—a new plan to take the place of the present invalidated one.

Providing $100,000 to pay for Texas' fight to retain title to its tidelands.

Passing of bills regulating anti-freeze prohibiting the sale of horse meat for human use, ordering that wells which children might fall into be plugged.

Rewriting the State Labor Agency Law.

Setting up a judges' retirement system.

Stock Market Has Toughest Week In 25-Month Period

NEW YORK —(AP)— Last week was a sad week for the stock market—the saddest since last November.

The decline in the market value of all stocks listed on the exchange approached the $2,000,000,000 mark.

Not since May, 1947, has the general price level was lower.

With only a little effort, the market is in a position to fall to the lowest since 1945.

Three times since 1945 the market has approached its present position on the price scale. Each time the tide of selling has been rallied back and prices rallied. These three approaches established what Wall Street technicians term a resistance point, because great resistance to further declines has developed in the past.

For the market to break through this resistance point would be regarded as a highly omnious portent regarding the future price trend. Hence the market now is regarded as being in extremely critical price territory.

Simic Advanced By Bay And Chalmette

Dolphe E. Simic has been advanced to vice president in charge of exploration for The Bay Petroleum and Chalmette Petroleum Corporations. General offices are at Denver, Colo

Simic will retain his previous position as chief geologist in charge of the field staff and geological division offices. He was appointed to that post in 1948, having been with the corporations in the North Texas division since 1946.

In the previous ten years, he had been associated with Cities Service Oil Company as district geologist in West and North Texas areas.

MGS Slates Final Summer Meeting

The Midland Geological Society is to meet at noon Tuesday in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer. A representative of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is to show a film entitled "Ice King's Challenge."

Officials of the society say this will be the last meeting until Fall.

Traffic Crash Near Houston Kills Six, Hurts Two Critically

HOUSTON —(AP)— Two persons remained in critical condition Saturday following a highway automobile collision which killed six other people, including five members of a Texas-Indiana family.

Two late model automobile collided head-on shortly before midnight Friday night on the Bryan-Houston Highway near Waller, 40 miles northwest of here.

Those killed:

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Coppinger, Pasadena, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Balyeat, Bristol, Ind.

Mrs. John Thomas Balyeat, 24, Elkhart, Ind., daughter of the Coppingers and daughter-in-law of the Balyeats.

Mrs. E. L. Reid, Jr., 23, Orange, Texas.

The injured:

E. L. Reid, Jr., 27, Orange, attorney whose wife was killed.

John Thomas Balyeat, 33, Elkhart, Ind., whose parents and wife were among those killed.

Reid is in a Bellville, Texas hospital while the younger Balyeat is hospitalized at Navasota, Texas. Hospital attendants said both remain in very critical condition. Reid suffered head injuries. Balyeat was said to have suffered sever internal injuries.

Attended A&M Exercises

The six members of the Coppinger and Balyeat families were returning to Pasadena after attending commencement exercises Friday at Texas A&M College near Bryan.

The Reids were enroute from Orange to Austin, where the young attorney was taking $40,000 in non-negotiable high school stadium bonds of the Orange Independent School District.

Two small children of the young Balyeat couple, Patricia, five months, and Steve 19 months, had been left with Mrs. William H. Sealy, Pasadena, while their parents made the trip to College Station.

Four of those killed are believed to have died instantly. Mrs. John Thomas Balyeat died 15 minutes after arriving at a Navasota hospital. Her father-in-law died there at 7:25 a. m. Saturday.

Abercrombie Names Reeves Landman In West Texas Region

Robert H. Reeves is now West Texas landman for J. S. Abercrombie, Houston Independent oil operator. He has formerly been employed by another oil company.

Abercrombie has producing properties in Pecos County and is carrying on a development program on some of his properties in that county which had not been completely drilled up at the time he acquired them about two years ago.

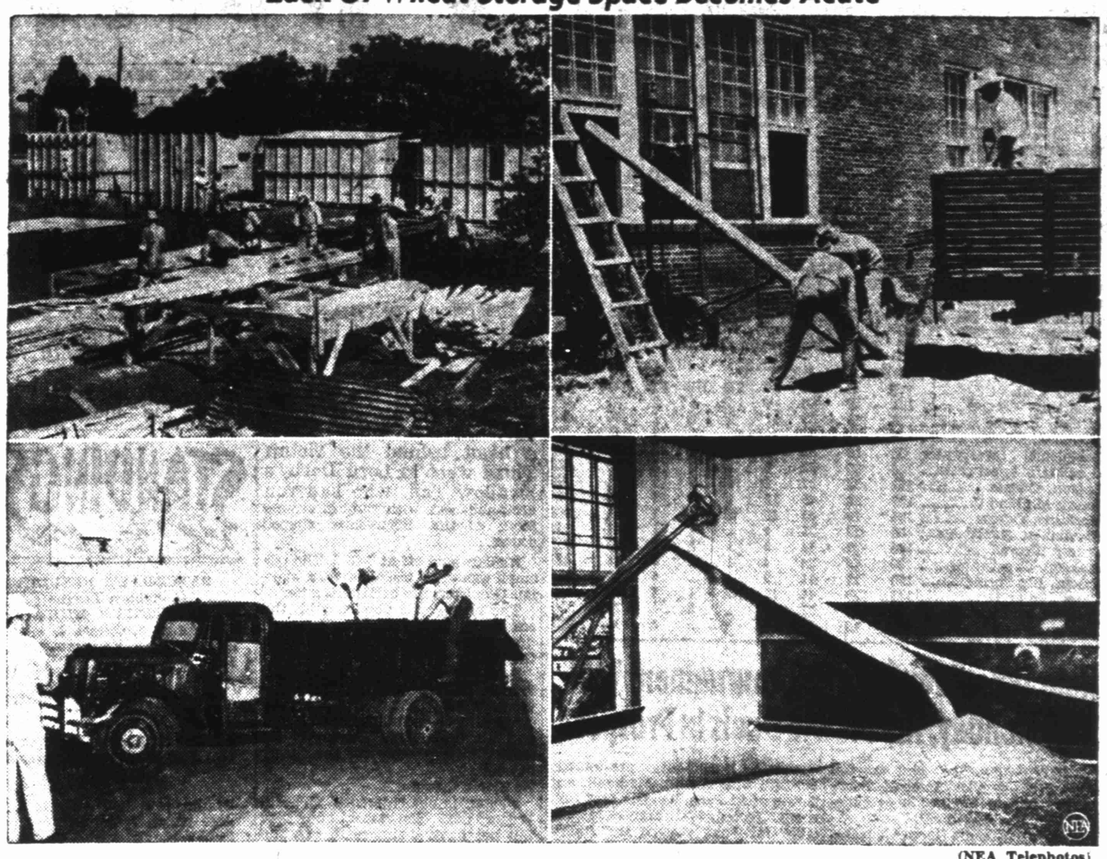
Lack Of Wheat Storage Space Becomes Acute



(NEA Telephotos)

As the wheat harvest moved into the Vernon area the shortage of available storage space became acute. Many different methods were being used to solve this serious problem. At upper left, in Burkburnett, workmen using assembly line methods are turning out a 1,000-bushel portable storage unit per hour. These units are for sale for $250 and can be bought in the finished units or in parts ready for assembly. At upper right, the Hinds school, just five miles south of Vernon, is being used for emergency storage. Here the trucks are unloading wheat through the school windows. In the lower left photo, a truck backs into the Hinds gymnasium and dumps wheat on the floor. At lower right, the long snout of the conveyor dumps bushel after bushel of fresh harvested wheat into what was once a classroom in the Hinds school. Note the blackboard in background, where childish markings are visible.

State Schoolboy Baseball Tournament Will Start Monday; Hot Mound Duels In Prospect

Each of the eight Class AA teams has at least one outstanding pitcher to send to the mound during the three-day competition which begins at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

Waco meets Beaumont in the opener. Beaumont, pre-tourney favorite with Austin, Marshall, and Bowie of El Paso, has the best full-season record, 17-1. Mainly responsible for that record are Right-handers Willard Sterling (9-0) and Norman Ward (4-1) Waco will rely heavily on Joe Mac Gresham. He chalked up seven victories against no defeats. Gresham is a righthander.

Stephenville and Bowie of El Paso meet at 3:30 p.m. Monday. The darkhorse Stephenville nine boasts an ace southpaw in Bobby Shroyer, victorious in all his eight starts.

Bowie Has 7-0 Hurler

Bowie's four-man hurling staff is led by Trini Quillen (7-0), who tosses from the right side. He shut out Lamesa in a bi-district play. Other Bowie moundsmen are Ruben Porras, Alfonso Lopez and Javier Holguin, a lefty.

Marshall and Denison tangle at 6:30 p.m. Monday. Marshall has two star righthanders in Hollis Morton and Ghalen Dinkle. Morton has won nine and lost one. He has pitched two one-hit shutouts an earned run average of 1.26. In his last 57 innings he allowed only 26 hits and walked only 13.

Dinkle, also a brilliant footballer, has won four and lost none. His ERA of 1.23 is even better than Morton's.

Lubbock Meets Austin

Austin and Lubbock complete Monday's first-round play, meeting at 8:30 p.m.

Austin perhaps has the best rounded pitching corps, its nine triumphs over high school opposition being evenly divided between Jackie Brinkley, Riley Verdine and Bill Hees. Verdine is a portsider.

Lubbock's lefthander, Denny Day, has won four, lost none. Jimmy Richards, who also plays the outfield, has copped four while losing one. Jimmy Hamilton has a 2-1 record.

The pitchers may be able to bear down more than usual as tournament games will go only seven innings, except in cases of ties. Another tournament rule says no pitcher shall hurl more than 10 innings. He would have to be replaced in the eleventh inning of a tie game.

Second round games will be played Tuesday at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. The championship contest will begin at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, following the third-place playoff.

Ranchland Country Club Launches Hot Membership Drive

The Ranchland Hill Country Club has announced the launching of a concentrated membership drive to raise the number of club members to 500.

More than 200 members have paid their dues and the money has been expended in the construction of the first nine holes of a proposed 18-hole golf course at the club tract northeast of the city.

Money raised from new members during the drive will be used to finance the completion of the last nine holes and the remodeling of the club house.

Golfers from throughout the state have expressed the opinion the Ranchland Hill layout is one of the finest and most beautiful in Texas.

Officials Saturday said it is expected the club will be open by July 1. They said anyone wishing to obtain further information on the club should contact any of the members, a list of whom is carried in the third section of this edition of The Reporter-Telegram.

Black Indians Edge Jal; Battle Lamesa Lobos Here Sunday

The Midland Black Indians edged by the Jal Gassers of Jal, N. M., 10 to 9 in a 10-inning battle in Indian Park Friday night. John Hall started for the Midland team but had to have help from Harry Dooley.

Isiah Carpenter, Midland catcher, knocked a homer with one on in the third to start a rally.

The Black Indians will take on the Lamesa Black Lobos in Indian Park at 3:30 p. m. Sunday.

Nimbus Wins English Derby

The photo showed Amour Drake, French horse which challenged every step of the end of the mile and a half trip, in second place, about a head behind the victor. Third went to Lord Derby's Swallow Tail, who had run neck-and-neck with Nimbus around most of the horse-shoe shaped course.

Nimbus paid off at 7 to 1. The triumph was worth $56,680 to Mrs. Marian Glenister, the barrister's wife.

The victory was popular with the crowd. It was the first time in three years an English entry has won the race.

Pearl Diver and My Love, both French horses, won the last two years. When Nimbus' number went up the mob—including Aly Khan and his bride, Rita Hayworth—let loose a mighty cheer for the sturdy bay colt.

No Triple Crown

Nimbus is not entered in the St. Ledger next September and thus will not have a chance to win the coveted English triple crown. Before taking the Derby, Nimbus had captured the 2,000 Guineas, the third classic—also in a photo.

Here is how they finished after the first three: 4, Royal Forest; 5, Barnes Park; 6, Normanton; 7, Boisson; 8, Willoughton; 9, Highlander III; 10, Gades; 11, Royal Empire; 12, Jai Hind; 13, Val Drake; 14, Marco Polo II. Neapolitan Star could be seen getting in last.

A prominent failure was the well-backed Hindostan, running in the silks of Aga Khan.

SMU-Georgia Tech Grid Series Signed

DALLAS —(AP)— Southern Methodist and Georgia Tech Saturday scheduled a four-game football series starting in 1950.

Athletic Director Matty Bell of SMU said the first game would be in Dallas Sept. 23, 1950, with the second at Atlanta Sept. 22, 1951. The 1952 game will be October 4 in Dallas and the 1953 contest will be at Atlanta October 3.

Fair Enough

Edith Jurs exhibits the trophy emblematic of the 1949 National Individual Championship of the American Junior Bowling Congress. The 15-year-old Kenosha, Wis., prep school student won with a 604 series. The pretty miss, who entered competitive kegling at 12, bolted a 669 triple highlighted by a 258 singles in league competition to be awarded a ring. She led three of four circuits with averages of 177, 174, 171.

Big Seven Wraps Up Southwest In Duel Of Champions

KANSAS CITY —(AP)— The Big Seven Conference, spurred on by performances of two sophomores, won its first duel of champions track and field victory over the Southwest Conference by the surprising score of 80 to 51 Saturday night.

The Big Seven wrapped up the victory after 12 events. The Southwest won the first meet two years ago. Last year's meet was a tie, with the last event deciding the outcome both times.

Bill McGuire of Missouri and Pat Bowers of Kansas, both sophomores, broke meet records for the mile and half-mile runs, respectively, in the fastest races they ever had run.

McGuire traveled the mile in 4:13.8. Bowers got the 880 in 1:52.1.

The Southwest champions took a rather sound beating, placing first in only three events—the 440-yard dash, high jump and mile relay.

Florida Flyer Wins Light Plane Event

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen McBride of Apopka, Fla., Saturday won the race for 65-horsepower planes, feature event at the opening of the third annual All-Woman Air Srow.

Mrs. McBride took $300 first prize money.

Meanwhile, it was announced that Lauretta Foy and her co-pilot, Sue Kindred, both of North Hollywood, Calif., won the 2,544-mile air race from San Diego, Calif., to Miami in a Piper Clipper.

Second place went to Betty Gillies, San Diego, and Co-pilot Barbara London, Long Beach, in Navion.

Sweetwater Swatters Outlast Midland 9 To 7 As Two Indian Hurlers Flounder

The Midland Indians wind up a week's road trip Sunday afternoon when they battle the Sweetwater Swatters in Sportsman Park in Sweetwater. Ernie Nelson is the probable starting hurler for Midland.

The Indians return home for a three-game series with the San Angelo Colts in Indian Park, opening Monday night.

SWEETWATER — The Midland Indians, led by Julian Pressley who hit five for five, collected all kinds of base hits here Saturday night but left 10 men stranded on the bags to drop a 9 to 7 decision to the Sweetwater Swatters.

Bad pitching in the early innings contributed to the Indians' downfall. Bill Gilliam, working with a slightly stiff arm, lasted only two innings and was tagged for five runs. Rudy Kellee got an early shower when he came on to relieve and gave up base hits to the first three men to face him. Sam Van Hoozer turned in a sparkling fireman's job, finishing the game and allowing only three hits and one run.

Big First Inning

The Tribe got off to a fast start with four big runs in the first inning. Rose, Sliter and Pressley singled and Marty Filigamo and Pat Romanello each doubled to produce the quartet of counters.

Sweetwater came back with three in the first when Art Cuitti homered with two men on base.

From there on the Swatters didn't slow up. They picked up one in the second and four big ones in the third. A single run in the sixth gave them insurance.

In the third, Carriel Nipp led off with a single and scored on Pressley's single and a Sweetwater error.

Circus Catch

Big Johnny Lindell shoulders quite a load not too far from the 457-foot mark in left center field at Yankee Stadium. Had he not made this spectacular, sliding catch of Sam Chapman's drive with two men on base to retire the Athletics in the fifth, the New York club would not have gone to the 14th inning to beat Lou Brissie, 2-1.

Pollet Hurls Cards To 2-1 Decision Over Boston Braves

BOSTON —(AP)— Lefty Howie Pollet choked off a threatening ninth-inning rally to hurl the St. Louis Cardinals to a 2-1 victory over the top place Boston Braves Saturday night before a 38,315 crowd, largest of the Boston National League season.

Detroit Tigers Spot Red Sox Six Runs, Then Triumph 10-9

DETROIT—(AP)— The never-say-die Detroit Tigers spotted the Boston Red Sox a six-run lead and beat them 10 to 9 in a hectic game Saturday.

The Tigers were guilty of six errors and some sloppy base running in the early innings, but were given a helping hand by Red Sox pitchers who yielded 10 walks in the last three innings.

TEXAS WEEKLY WINS NEA CONTEST AWARD

SALT LAKE CITY —(AP)— The National Editorial Association Saturday night announced awards in its annual better newspaper contests for its members.

The Weslaco, Texas, News won honorable mention in the general excellence contest for weekly newspapers with circulation over 1,500, and third place in the community service contest for weeklies.

Michigan State has three national collegiate champions and six members of last year's U. S. Olympic team gracing its lineups in various sports.

Hurls First No-Hit Tilt In Softball

Joe's Gulf broke out with eight runs in the late innings to blank The Reporter-Telegram 9 to 0 in a softball game at Wadley Field Friday night. The two teams battled on almost even terms for six innings.

Shell Oil pulled one out of the fire when they clipped Rotary Engineers 6 to 5. It was a slugfest all the way.

The top performance of the season in the Midland Softball League was turned in by Milt Montgomery Thursday night as he hurled a no-hit game for the Standard Oil nine in a make-up tilt with Shell. Standard took the decision 16 to 1.

Montgomery was master of the situation all the way except for the fifth inning when Pyle of the Shell team spoiled his shutout. Pyle walked to open the frame, stole second, advanced on a fly ball and then stole home to score Shell's only run.

Gerald Rogers, Shell hurler, issued 14 free passes to first, many of which were good for eventual runs as Standard dented the plate 16 times.

Montgomery struck out 10 batters. He received good support from his teammates, including a home run by Harold Sherrod.

The league will swing into its fifth week Monday night with Standard taking on the tough Western Plastic outfit in the first contest. The Reporter-Telegram meets Rotary Engineers in the nightcap.

Truman Completes Atomic Labor Panel

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman completed an atomic energy labor relations panel Saturday, in time for possible intervention in a threatened strike at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

On April 26 he appointed William H. Davis as chairman. Saturday he announced the other two members. They are:

Dr. Edwin E. Witte, economics professor at the University of Wisconsin.

Ponder Returns To Derby Form To Cop Peter Pan Handicap

NEW YORK —(AP)— Ponder returned to his Kentucky Derby form Saturday and rambled home in a furious stretch drive to capture the $18,450 Peter Pan handicap.

Trailing in a dusty eighth place in the early part of the mile and one-eighth gallop at Belmont Park, Ponder got up steam in the stretch run and ripped under the wire a three-fourths of a length winner over Colonel Mike.

Colonel Mike, owned by Eugene Jacobs, was six lengths better than Clifford Moores' Old Rockport at the finish. King Ranch's Curandero was fourth in the field of nine classy three-year-olds.

The winner got a brilliant ride by Jockey Steve Brooks. They were clocked at a good 1:49 2/5 over a lightning fast track. Ponder, off at 5 to 2, made his backers happy with $7.11, $4.90, $4.20 return in the mutuels.

In order behind the first four were Brandywine Stable's Cochise, Walter M. Jefford's Pibroch, Capot, Fred Hooper's Ocean Drive, and George D. Widener's Reveille.

Round-Tripper Gives Phillies 1-0 Verdict Over Chicago Cubs

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Andy Seminick's eighth home run of the season off Bob Rush in the seventh inning gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 1-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday. Ken Heintzelman blanked the Cubs with six hits for his fifth win of the season against three defeats.

Indians Slaughter Ballinger 14 To 3

BALLINGER—Julian Pressley and the Midland Indians continued their power-packed hitting assault on the Ballinger Cats here Friday night and coasted to a 14 to 3 victory. The win gave the Indians the series, two games to one. Pressley got his third homer in two nights and Marty Filigamo followed suit right behind Pressley.

Ralph Blair, the hard-luck work horse pitcher of the Indians, scattered nine hits along the route to turn back the Cats in easy manner. He had a shaky inning in the second when he allowed three runs but came back to blank the opponent the remainder of the game.

MIDLAND SCORING

The Tribe opened with one run in the second and added four more in the third. From there in it was just a matter of time. Two in the fourth, two in the fifth, one in the sixth and four in the ninth did the thing up right.

Catcher Romanello who reported to the Indians Friday, worked the entire game, behind the plate. He go. one hit, stole a base and batted in a run.

Nine errors by Ballinger, four of them by Shortstop Fidler, helped the Indians' cause. With the miscues and Midland's dozen base knocks off three hurlers, there was little to be desired by the Tribe.

Results in the Longhorn League in Friday night's games:

Big Spring 12, Sweetwater 5.
San Angelo 10, Odessa 4.

Julian Pressley apparently has found his batting eye for the first time this season and it really is helping out. He clouted two homers in Thursday night's game at Ballinger and came back with one in Friday night's contest.

Hitting like that is just what the doctor ordered to help the Indians up. We hope he can continue to knock the ball over the fence for the remainder of the season. Not only will it help the Indians but it also will help Pressley. He's a young boy and has a chance to go up.

Glen Patton, newcomer and who can be hot or cold, was voted the most valuable player of the week here and he will receive the first, Bulova wrist watch from Hughes Jewelry.

Patton was voted the player of the week on the strength of his famous one-hitter pitched against the Big Spring Broncs last week. He hurled the most sensational ball game of the season, going 11 innings to take the 1 to 0 nod. He also scored the winning run.

Congratulations to Patton. We hope he can hurl a dozen more just like that one.

—SS—

Carriel Nipp is currently leading the Midland Indians in runs batted in with a total of more than 30 for the season. The surprising thing about Nipp is he always seems to get his hits when the bags are empty. However, he is out in front in RBI's.

—SS—

New developments on the Indian roster in the last day or two include the signing of Catcher Romanello, the suspension of Hoss Alvis and the reinstatement of Sam Van Hoozer. Harold Webb also went on the roster for a five-day try.

Romanello came from Lawton, Okla., and Webb says he looks like a million bucks behind the plate. He worked Friday night's game while Kenny Jones took a rest.

Chances are Romanello will do some duty in the outfield if he is a long ball hitter.

Van Hoozer seems to be in good shape and should help the hurling staff. He has been on the suspended list for several weeks.

The Midland Bulldogs may have to take their football camp training at home this season.

Coach Tugboat Jones is having difficulty in finding a place in Alpine where the boys can eat during the proposed two-week camp there.

It is reported Odessa has called off their trip to camp and will train at Broncho Stadium.

Further developments on the Midland situation are expected when Tugboat gets back from coaching school at Colorado Springs, Colo.

There won't be much traveling for the SMU Mustangs come next Fall and the Southwest Conference football campaign.

Eight of the game scheduled will be played in Dallas and another is slated for Fort Worth, 30 miles away. Still not getting very far from home, the 10th game is to be played at College Station.

Sports Slants credits Claude Watkins and all the other boys who umpire in the Midland Softball League with a major assist.

Those fellows are out at Wadley Field almost every night to work the softball tilts free of charge. What with make-up games being played on the off nights, the fellows have just about a full-time job.

HALF SLANTS . . . Big Joe Goodwin of Crane dropped from .458 to .367 in batting to lose first spot in the Texas Softball League. He dropped to second as Wally Fowler of Bluebonnet in Lubbock moved up. L. Wells of Crane is fifth and D. Williams of Crane ninth . . . Manager Sam Harshaney of the San Angelo Colts has nominated Lefty Shelton, the Forsan flash, to hurl against Midland in the opener here Monday night . . . Shelton won his first start by a 4 to 0 count and allowed only four hits . . . Marcel Cerdan and his trainers are a little worried about Jake LaMotta's iron jaw. The two meet for the middleweight crown in Detroit's Briggs Stadium June 15 . . . Roscoe McGowen, veteran New York Times sports writer, says he can't remember any two outfielders who could equal Carl Furillo and Duke Snider in defensive ability . . . TCU and SMU will play football teams from eight states this year. Foes come from Texas, Arkansas, Indiana, Kentucky, North Carolina, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas and Mississippi

Pagoda Pool Opens For Season Monday

It'll be "down to the old swimmin' hole" for all Midlanders at 2 p. m. Monday when the pool at Pagoda Park is thrown open to the public for the first time this year. City Manager H. A. Thomason Saturday invited all swimmers to be the guests of the city on opening day and swim free of charge.

Opening day swimmers must furnish their own bathing suits and towels, however. None will be issued at the pool.

Thomason announced a wide-scale improvement in the purification system for the water in the pool. The flow has been reversed, the type solution has been changed and more water will be circulated through the pool this year than ever before. It will be drained and cleaned out once a week.

Open Each Day

The purification improvements were made under the supervision and at the recommendation of a representative of the State Health Department.

Following opening day, the pool will be open to the public at 2 p. m. each day. Admission will be 30 cents for adults and 18 cents for children. The Summer Recreation Program will have use of the pool from 9 a. m. to 11 a. m. each day.

Thomason also announced plans for holding special days for surrounding towns. It is expected a "Stanton Day" will be held this week. All Swimmers from Stanton will be admitted free on that day.

The swimming pool will be operated by Charles Tubbs.

Pecos All-Stars To Play Barstow Sunday

PECOS — The Pecos All-Stars will battle Barstow in a baseball tilt on the Barstow diamond at 4 p. m. Sunday, L. C. Curb, Pecos manager has announced.

The All-Stars dropped a 10 to 9 decision to the Latin American Pecos Wildcats here Monday afternoon.

Curb also announced a new diamond is being constructed for baseball and softball games. It will be ready within the near future.

Stanton's Pistol Champ

Jess N. Woody, Stanton's pistol-shooting barber, really brought home the Buccaneer Pistol Tournament in Corpus Christi last week. He fired well enough in the field of the nation's top pistol shooters to win five out of the six trophies awarded in the meet. He is pictured here with the five prizes, the center one being the Grand Champion award. Woody fired a score of 2,173 to outclass the second place winner, Tom Parks of Dallas, by more than 50 points.

Youths Are Invited To Take Part In Fun

There will be transportation for youths desiring to attend the Optimist Club softball "blowout" Tuesday, according to W. P. Z. German, Jr., president of the club.

All boys of Midland not over 15 years of age are asked to be at the softball park at the Wadley tract north of the city at 7 p. m. Tuesday. Each Optimist is expected to bring along at least one prospective ball player.

Cars will be at the Service Drug at 6:30 p. m. to take the youths to the park. There will be softball games, refreshments and other fun. Youths will be signed for teams in the league.

POLIO PATIENT NO. 11

AUSTIN —(AP)— A. L. Purdy, 27, was admitted to Brackenridge Hospital Saturday as Travis County's eleventh polio patient of the year.

La Motta Ordered To Appear Before Fight Commission

DETROIT —(AP)— Jake La Motta, three days late in arriving to start training for his June 15 title bout with Middleweight Champion Marcel Cerdan, was ordered Saturday to appear before the Michigan Boxing Commission.

Commission Chairman Floyd Stevens said a hearing would be held the morning of the fight.

La Motta will be asked, he said, to explain the violation of a contract requiring him to reach Detroit last Wednesday.

Stevens indicated La Motta might be fined but probably would not be suspended.

Yanks Hand Browns Tenth Straight Loss

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—The New York Yankees extended the lowly St. Louis Browns' losing streak to ten games Saturday, beating the Brownies 11-3. Dick Kryhoski, Gene Woodling and Phil Rizzuto led the Yanks' 15-hit attack with three safeties apiece.

— FARM DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

... Podner, this 1949 World ...pionship Midland Rodeo is about the best, roughest, toughest and most thrilling cowboy attraction ever staged in the Southwest. And rodeos have been staged in this section many years.

We hope you have seen the first four shows and are planning to witness the concluding performance Sunday night. It should be by far the best of the five shows and we predict a record crowd for a record show.

After seeing Midland Rodeo 1949 it is easy to understand how Midland gained its coveted position in the rodeo world. The show really is of world championship proportions in every respect. Don't miss Sunday night's show, Podner.

All of our old friends, Toots Mansfield, Manuel Enos, George Mills, Weg Blesing, Tater Decker, Rex Beck, Sonny Edwards, Dan Taylor, Zeno Faris, Lanham Riley, Dub Phillips, Bill McGuire, Jimmy Schumacher, Buttons Yonnick, Walton Poage, Larry Finley and about a hundred other top cowhands are participating in the rodeo and all will be riding and roping in the Sunday night finals.

Some of our cowboy friends have been having a little trouble with the wild stock Everett Colborn brought to Midland, but they have not given up yet.

And those added attractions and special events are tops in thrills and entertainment. If next year's show can beat the 1949 rodeo, it really will be something.

One of the most popular events of the 1949 show is the Cutting Horse Contest in which many of the best Cutting Horses in the Southwest are entered. The finals will be held Sunday night, and the performance really should be worth the chips.

We'll be seeing you Sunday night at Midland Rodeo.

Friday's high and dry wind took most of the fun out of the rodeo and everything else for many Midland County farmers. It was the most damaging wind of the year from the standpoint of growing crops, the damage running into multiple figures.

The blow was termed a ground wind, which whipped the blow sand over the area, completely covering acres and acres of growing cotton. Most of the cotton in this section is planted in the furrows between ridges and of course those furrows caught the blow sand.

DeWayne Davis, assistant manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, and who with his father, Cecil Davis, operates a farm southwest of Midland, said the south part of the county apparently suffered the most from the high wind.

The Davis farm lost about 65 acres of cotton. It had been up about 10 days and the stalks were about five inches in height. Davis said the irrigated part of the farm, about 25 acres, was not damaged.

The crops had been doing exceptionally well following the fine rains of the last several weeks and the wind damage is heart breaking.

The only thing to do now is to re-plant, and many of the farmers will start that chore immediately. The planting season ordinarily extends until the middle of June. But the main trouble now facing the farmers is the shortage of good cottonseed. Efforts are being made to locate seed.

Albert Norris, who operates a farm near Salem, Mo., is here with his family to attend Midland Rodeo. Norris said the Missouri country is in fine condition and crops are doing fine. Rains have been adequate the last several weeks. He came through heavy rains in Missouri and Arkansas on his way to Midland.

Norris said many of the farmers in his section, like those in Texas, are going heavy on cotton this year. And he saw cotton field after cotton field all the way from Missouri to West Texas.

The Missourian also raises some Hereford cattle and plans to look over the Hereford situation in West Texas. Arrangements have been made for him to visit several ranches in the Midland sector. He was high in his praise of Midland Rodeo.

Donald Hutt, former Midland rancher and rodeo official, was back in the city for the 1949 Midland Rodeo. He enjoyed the opening performances, which he termed "the best ever." Donald hasn't missed many rodeos here since moving to Fort Worth, and it wouldn't seem natural having a Midland Rodeo without Donald. Mrs. Hutt accompanied him to Midland.

Donald, by the way, says he believes Fort Worth and vicinity now can get by with just a few light showers for the time being. He said he had often dreamed of but had never seen such a rain as flooded Fort Worth recently.

Everett Colborn, managing director of the World Championship Rodeo Corporation's Lightning C Ranch at Dublin, said the Dublin country is in top condition. Some sections in those parts really have had too much rain, the veteran rodeo producer said.

Hub Castleberry, well-known Midland ranch hand who now operates in the Marfa area, is attending Midland Rodeo. Hub said it is a bit dry in the Marfa section of the Highland Hereford country, but that range conditions are good and cattle are in good shape. Marfa, it seems, has not had the rainfall this section of West Texas has had during the last two or three weeks.

Buck Jackson, Pecos, former Reeves County Sheriff and one of the area's most active cattle traders, told DSQ in Pecos last week he is turning lots of cattle but that he isn't making much money on them. He indicated most of the Pecos country could use a little more moisture.

Buck plugs Pecos' annual Fourth of July Rodeo at every opportunity. The show this year, he says, will be bigger and better in every way. Buck, by the way, is one of the best rodeo announcers in the business.

The Colborn string of rodeo livestock moves from Midland to Lubbock Monday for the annual Lubbock ABC Boys' Club Rodeo, which opens Wednesday and continues through Saturday. The Lubbock show, too, is a rugged event.

Billy Bryant of Midland was among the buyers at the annual distribution sale of the Texas Aberdeen-Angus Association in San Angelo last week. Aberdeen-Angus history reportedly was made at the sale.

A total of 1,700 black cattle changed hands, with 31 registered bulls selling for an average of $498. The top bull brought $1,375. A total of 433 pairs of commercial cows and calves sold for an average of $261.

The annual Breckenridge Rodeo is scheduled July 6-9, with a Quarterhorse Show set for July 7.

The selection of a Prairie Princess will be a feature of the Breckenridge event. Pat Griffin of Midland has held the Prairie Princess honor since the 1948 celebration.

County Agent A. E. White and five of his Ector-Andrews-Crane County 4-H Club boys are in Lubbock to compete in the District 6 judging contest at Texas Tech. Members of the livestock judging team are Johnny Putty of Odessa and Robert Keith and Melvin Cotton of Andrews. Billy Roach and Max Williams of Andrews are on the crop judging team.

Mac Benge of Monahans has taken delivery on some 16 truck loads of calves he contracted earlier this year from the Premier Ranch near Mason.

Christoval plans its annual rodeo next Saturday and Sunday under the sponsorship of the Christoval Roping Club.

Leland Howard and T. O. Midkiff, Midland County 4-H Club boys, have been selected to represent the club boys of this county at the annual 4-H Roundup June 14 and 15 at College Station. Howard and Midkiff will join other 4-H Club boys and girls from this section of West Texas in making the trip to A&M College in a chartered bus. They will leave next Sunday.

County Agent Hubert Martin and Mrs. Nettie B. Messick, home demonstration agent, will accompany the Midland group to the roundup.

Texas 4-H clubbers attending the meet will have a full two days of instruction and entertainment.

M. L. Wilson, director of the federal extension service, Washington, D. C., and Durwood Manford, speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, are scheduled on the first morning's program.

Group singing—always an important part of the Round-Up program—will be led this year by Billy Triggs, minister of music, First Methodist Church, Wichita Falls, accompanied by his wife.

Earline Gandy, editor of the young folks department, Progressive Farmer, will speak to club girls on the subject, "Ideas for Older Girls in 4-H Clubs."

The night program will be a showing of "The Green Promise." Reports and other business and entertainment are scheduled.

Pecos notes: The E. A. Humphries farm near Balmorhea weighed out 91 bushels of oats per acre. The oats were planted as a cover crop and for pasturage. Cotton in the Madera Valley is clean and there is a fairly good stand. Hay yield is good although the market is down. Water in Phantom Lake is holding up well. Pump wells in the Balmorhea area are holding up fine.

Garvin Beauchamp Hurt In Accident

Garvin Beauchamp, assistant coach at Midland High School, was treated at Western Clinic-Hospital for minor injuries received in an automobile accident at the intersection of "H" and Missouri Streets Saturday night. He was released following treatment and his condition was not considered serious.

The accident involved automobiles driven by Beauchamp and Dozier Truelove.

Polio Precautions

Children should be cautioned by parents to avoid swimming in polluted waters, particularly in areas affected by polio epidemics. Children should use only beaches or public pools declared safe by local health authorities.

Husband Testifies In Assault, Maiming Case Against Negro

GEORGETOWN —(AP)— William A. Slack testified Saturday he was blinded by a bucket of acid thrown in his face by a man who subsequently assaulted his wife.

The Dallas man testified in the criminal assault and maiming trial of Clifton Okra, 25-year-old Dallas negro. Mrs. Slack, whom Okra is accused of assaulting, pointed out Okra as her assailant.

Slack said that on Aug. 17, 1948 he and his wife had parked their car on a side road in West Dallas to talk over plans for a reconciliation.

A truck passed them, then returned, and a negro got out and asked if he had seen anyone stealing cattle or hay, Slack testified. He said the negro left, went to his truck, returned with a shot gun, ordered the two out of the car, and then struck him and knocked him to the ground.

Begged For Life

Slack said the negro told him to kneel down, that he was going to kill him, The Dallas man said he begged not be slain.

The negro then returned to the truck, picked up a bucket, and asked "You say you have some gasoline?" Slack related. Slack replied that he did, whereupon the negro threw the contents of the bucket into his face. The negro then took his wife and drove away, Slack said.

Slack said he was blinded by the fluid in the bucket and spent some time in the hospital suffering from third degree burns.

Okra's wife said that after Okra was arrested she was taken to jail and shown a paper with writing on it and was told to sign it. When she refused, she said, she was told "We will beat you up like your husband is if you don't." She said she was kept in jail about 13 hours.

The state rested its direct testimony after Slack had taken the stand.

Wheat—

wheat farmers in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and elsewhere in the Southwest face a serious price situation because of inadequate storage facilities.

Farmers can get a government price-supporting loan of about $1.87 a bushel if their wheat is in approved storage. But because most elevators are filled with old crop wheat, farmers have been forced to sell new wheat on the market at from $1.48 to $1.55.

Congress this week passed legislation for storage facilities for crops under government loan, but it cannot be provided in time to help at once even if President Truman signs the bill immediately.

Cost Less Than Loans

"Most wheat farmers in my area are losing about 32 cents a bushel on their wheat because of lack of storage," Thomas said. "I asked Secretary Brannan to step in at once with the new program and pay the difference between average market prices and the loan support level."

Thomas said his proposal actually would cost the government "much less" than the loan-support efforts.

"The loans now cost about two dollars a bushel, or about $2,000,000,000 if we have a billion bushels put under loans," Thomas said. "We could make production payments (subsidies) at one-quarter of this amount or less and the government would not have the wheat on its hands."

New Trial Refused Guard Convicted In Hospital Slaying

Saucier was assessed the death penalty May 21 on murder charges. He was accused of beating, stomping and kicking Gibbons, a Sulphur Springs produce dealer, to death.

Judge Frank Ikard ruled against the new trial motion. Notice of appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin was given by Defense Counsel W. W. (Bill) Ballard.

Beaumont Mayor Pledges Brown-Root Police Protection

BEAUMONT —(AP)— "Law and order will be maintained in Beaumont to the full limit of our police resources," Mayor Otho Plummer said Saturday. He commented after receiving reports Brown and Root Construction Company may resume building a Texas-Eastern Transmission Company gas booster station here next week.

Brown & Root has charged its men were given insufficient protection by county and city authorities and has appealed to Gov. Beauford Jester for state protection.

The job was closed down Monday after brief violence between 14 company employes and men the company charged were members of Beaumont building crafts unions.

140 Well Completions Reported Last Week

The 1949 total now stands at 3,671 compared with 3,000 at this time last year.

There were 12 gas well completion, increasing this total to 307, against 258 a year ago.

Fifty-eight dry holes were drilled.

Eighty wells were plugged, 59 of them dry, two gas, and 19 oil.

The total average calendar day allowable Saturday was 1,989,292 barrels, a decrease of 43,786 barrels per day from a week earlier.

T-H Repeal Foes Claim Administration Compromise Bill Plays Into Their Hands

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senate Republicans battling to keep a big part of the Taft-Hartley Law, contended Saturday a Democratic compromise drive plays into their hands.

But Senator Douglas (D-Ill), a leader of the move to revise the Truman labor bill, said:

"I think we've got a very good chance to put our program across."

Senate debate on the Administration bill is to start Monday. It would repeal the Taft-Hartley Act and replace it with a slightly modified version of the old Wagner Act.

Three Republicans, Senators Taft, (Ohio), Donnell (Mo.) and Smith (NJ), are sponsoring a substitute measure which would retain the basic provisions of the T-H Law.

Both their substitute and the Administration bill amendments backed by Douglas and a group of Democrats and Republicans—provide for presidential seizue of struck plants in national emergency disputes.

Amendments Outlined

Five proposed amendments to the Administration bill were outlined to an all-day meeting of Democratic senators Friday. Backers of the amendments claim they attracted some support which they said the Administration bill otherwise would not get.

In addition to seizure of struck plants for up to 90 days, the amendments provide:

A free speech guarantee to both employers and workers; union financial reports; collective bargaining in good faith on the part of both unions and employers; and for oaths by both union officers and employers that they are not communists, fascists, or members of totalitarian organizations.

Taft, it is known, regards the compromise as less of a vote-getter than the one defeated in the House a month ago, despite the fact it had the backing of Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas).

The Taft substitue would keep 22 of what he calls "the best features" of the Taft-Hartley Law. The proposed amendments to the Administration bill would retain only four of the 22 provisions in Taft's list.

Can You Help A Needy Boy?

An appeal is made to Midland citizens to help a boy who was stricken with rheumatic fever and arthritis and now needs an exercise tricycle.

Citizens may remember the boy who was flown to John Sealy Hospital from here last year. He was there one year taking treatment. He was sent by the Children's Service League.

Now he is at home in Midland and needs a vehicle of tricycle type with a chain to give him the exercise he needs.

Any Midlander, who may have such a tricycle and would like to help a needy boy, should contact Mrs. Cooper Hyde of the Children's Service League at telephone number 312-J.

U. S. Holds Captain, Crew, Passengers Of Eisler Escape Ship

NEW YORK—(AP)—The U. S. government covered the Gerhart Eisler escape ship and her pier with agents Saturday, detained her captain and crew and sent 111 passengers to Ellis Island for hearings.

The Immigration Service served an order on the captain of the Polish Liner Batory late Saturday night, directing him and all his 350 officers and crewmen to stay on the ship for the duration of her stay in American waters.

An immigration official said the order was a result of investigations aboard the ship Saturday night, when agents questioned the entire crew.

The official said inspectors doing the questioning had advised "no leave" for each of the crew—including the captain.

Pete Esperdy, assistant immigration enforcement director, said District Director Edward Shaughnessy had left for Washington to confer with officials about the Batory affair.

"We will maintain such supervision over ship and crew as is deemed necessary until it sails," Esperdy said.

He said further details must come from Washington.

On the pier a strong guard of U. S. Border Patrolmen, all armed, surrounded the ship and dock entrance.

Ship Seizure Rumored

Customs guards and city policemen also were posted around the pier.

An immigration inspector, asked if there was any "unusual" reason for the action, replied:

"The Batory has a bad record of wholesale ship-jumping by its crew."

Crew members, questioned about the Eisler escape, laughed at reports that he had waited two days before showing himself on the ship.

Throughout the day there were conflicting statements on whether the government was seizing the ship or only inspecting it.

Early statements of officials that the government might be in the process of seizing the ship and that it was under U. S. control, were discounted later by top immigration officials.

Washington Squawks At Cowpoke's Praise Of Fair Texas Fillies

WALLA WALLA —(AP)—The state went to bat for "Washington's wonderful fillies" Saturday.

Alfred McVay, chamber of commerce manager here and member of the State Advertising Commission, did a bit of wincing when he read an Associated Press quote attributed to Jack Lael of Northport, Wash.

Lael is in Madisonville, Texas, where he's hailed as the "World's most weatherbeaten cowboy." He told the Texans:

"They've got something down here we don't have in Washington—a lot of pretty women and pretty horses."

McVay fired Lael a wire.

"It's impossible to believe you could have so completely overlooked the State of Washington's wonderful fillies, both the trim double-limbed and the four-legged kind."

Truman Will Take His Weather Straight

LITTLE ROCK, ARK. — (AP) — There will be no air-conditioned hotel suite for President Truman when he visits here next week—he doesn't want it.

Manager Ben R. Shelley of the Marion Hotel disclosed Saturday that the president had written him requesting that air conditioning be cut off in his suite. "He just doesn't like it," Shelley said.

The President is coming to Little Rock to attend the reunion of his first World War Army outfit, the 35th Division, in which he served as an artillery officer. He also will speak at a dedication of a war memorial. The White House has indicated that it will be an "important address."

Double Rites Set For Crash Victims

HOUSTON —(AP)— Double funeral services will be held here Sunday for a Houston couple killed in a plane crash.

Victor W. Vautrin, 30, and his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Wampler Vautrin, 30, received fatal injuries Friday when their light plane struck a power line near a small Houston airport.

The bodies will be sent to Arcadia, La., for interment.

Big Four Break Up For Weekend; Some Progress Reported

PARIS —(AP)— Four weary foreign ministers broke up Saturday night a four and a half hour secret session on unIting Berlin, and an American source said a "little progress was made."

"It was just a little," the informant added.

Western officials said there definitely was an "area of agreement" between Russia and the West, but this concerned broad general principles and could come to nothing in consideration of details.

Barely had the foreign ministers broken up their formal meeting at 8 p. m. when U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky went into a less formal huddle over their dinner plates at the American Embassy.

Strictly, Social Occasion

At the end of the dinner Vishinsky went straight to the Russian Embassy When the Americans came out one of them said, "It was strictly a social occasion."

The meeting was the second of a series of secret sessions, from which reporters do not receive a briefing by official observers. A communique was issued saying:

"The foreign ministers, with Secretary of State Dean Acheson in the chair, continued in closed session Saturday the discussion of the proposals of the United States and the U.S.S.R. relative to Berlin. The next meeting will be June 6 (Monday)."

Experienced observers interpreted the plan for the Monday meeting in itself as meaning some progress.

collected 145 points to lead Saturday's cutting horse competition. Second was "Red Boy," owned by Loyd Jinkens of Fort Worth. "Red Boy" collected 142 points and third was "Trusky," owned by Jess Everett of Snyder, with 139 points.

Saturday's event brought the cutting horse competition down to five which will compete in the finals Sunday night. They are "Skeeter;" "Pistol," owned by Jim Calhoun of Cresson; "Housekeeper," "Red Boy" and "Jodie Earl," owned by John Wisdom of Haskell.

There originally were 14 horses in the cutting horse contest.

In the calf roping event Saturday night Zeno Farris of Las Cruces was first with a time of 13.4; second was Rex Beck of Coleman with 14.1, and third was Peppy McKinney of Ysleta with 15 flat.

Bronc Riders

In the bareback bronc riding contest successful rides were made by Harry Tompkins, Vinita, Okla.; Jim Shoulders of Tulsa; Lee Harris, Tucson; Tater Decker, Roswell; Tex Lewis of Glendale, Calif.; Manuel Enos, Fort Worth; Larry Finley, Phoenix; Bill Barton, Abilene, and Andy Fenton of Tulsa.

The best time posted in the steer wrestling contest was 9.4 by Leonard Mitchell of Fort Worth. Others were Tater Decker, 10.2; Bill McGuire, 11, and Royce Sewalt, 12.2.

In the wild cow milking the fastest time was 46.3 by Royce Sewalt of Brownwood. Second was J. T. Fisher, Midland, with 49.8, and third was J. L. Sawyer, Midland, with 52.

Successful riders in the Brahman bull riding contest were Wag Blessing, Glendale, Calif.; Rankin Morgan, Houston; Loyd Lippie, Yuma; Tompkins, and Lee Harris of Tucson.

Revised Military Pay Boost Bill Prepared For House Calendar

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A new military pay bill giving corporals with more than seven years service a bigger percentage boost than officers was announced Saturday by the House Armed Services Committee.

But all members of the Armed Forces would get more money under the revised measure, including recruits who wer left out of the original pay increase bill the House shelved less than two weeks ago.

Rep. Kilday (D-Texas), who was in charge of drafting both proposals, told reporters the new plan would cost about $358,000,000 a year more than present military pay outlays, as compared with the $406,000,000 price tag on the rejected measure.

He said he will introduce the compromise bill Monday and that his Armed Services subcommittee will hold a brief hearing Tuesday to allow members of Congress to express their views. He said the bill will be ready for House action during the week of June 13.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the Armed Services Committee said the new bill had the support of House Democratic leaders and predicted it will get a favorable vote in the House.

Big Hikes For Non-Coms

The revised measure would provide generally smaller percentage increases than the original measure. For example, brigadier generals would be upped 37 per cent instead of almost 50 per cent; major generals, 23 per cent instead of 34 per cent, and colonels, 20 instead of about 25 per cent.

Corporals, however, who have been in service more than seven years, would get a 69 per cent pay hike. Those with less service would receive 26 per cent more as compared with 28 per cent provided in the old bill.

Recruits still would start in at $75 a month, but after four months they would draw $80. Under the original plan no increase was scheduled for them.

Three Children Die In Wooden Ice Box

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. — (AP) — A wooden ice box became a death trap for three young children Friday.

Mrs. Ed Chastain, mother of two of the victims, found the youngsters when she returned home to prepare supper. They had been left to play while she chopped cotton in a nearby field.

Sheriff Joe Spades said the children were wedged tightly together in a small compartment of the refrigerator. The door was fastened from the outside. No ice was in the box but food was in the compartments.

James Delbert Chastain, two and Shirley Ramsey, six, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Ramsey, one of the Chastains' neighbors, were dead when the box was opened. Joyce Ann Chastain, nine, died early Saturday in a clinic here.

Sgt. Wyatt L. Patrick of the State Police Criminal Investigation Division said officers are trying to determine whether the children locked themselves inside the four-foot wooden box.

"We don't know how this happened," Patrick said, "but there are a lot of angles.' He did not elaborate.

If there is a horse anywhere which can match the feats of Ann Hendricks' "King Richard," the famous dancing horse—well, its just downright doubtful that it can be done. The horse is a dancing master to say the least and Ann also must be a master teacher to have trained the animal to such perfection.

Speaking of perfection, the Flying Twins act, an exhibition of Roman riding and jumping by Byron and Lee Hendricks, has it down to a "T." The least slip could spoil the whole act and the horses seem to realize it. A slip also could cause serious injury to the rider.

Hitchhiker Charged With Theft, Assault

HOUSTON —(AP)— A 31-year-old Gonzales man has been charged with the robbery and beating of a Houston interior decorator who was left nude on a highway near Brookshire Friday.

Willot Eggers, 45, decorator for a furniture firm, told police a hitchhiker forced him out of his automobile near Brookshire.

He said his new automobile was taken after the passenger had beaten him and stripped him of his clothing.

unanimous vote, had adopted a policy that imports should be used only to supplement domestic production.

The council represents all branches of the American oil industry in dealing with the federal government.

"The oil industry must keep faith with its declaration of policy with respect to imports," Hallanan declared. "It is our high duty and responsibility to see that our words are supported by action."

If the import situation is brought in line, Hallanan asserted, oil development activity in the Permian Basin will show a decided increase.

"The oil is here. All that is needed to stimulate activity in this region is for the unfair and unnecessary competition from imported oil to be removed."

Inspect Gulf Properties

The Plymouth party spent Thursday night in Houston. The Republic Oil Refining Company plant at Texas City and offshore drilling operations of the Melben Oil Company and associated concerns in the Gulf of Mexico were inspected Friday.

The Republic Oil Refining Company, Big Lake Oil Company and Melben Oil Company are either subsidiaries of, or affiliates of Plymouth Oil Company. The concerns are members of the Benedum & Trees group.

After spending Friday night in Galveston the group Saturday flew to Sinton, headquarters for Plymouth's operations in Texas, and saw two of the concerns' South Texas oil fields from the air.

The aerocade then came to Texon and were entertained Saturday noon with a barbecue at the Big Lake Oil Company camp.

Visit Permian Basin Fields

Inspection of the Big Lake and Benedum fields followed before the party came to Midland.

The visitors were guests at a dinner in the Petroleum Club Saturday night. Several attended the Midland Rodeo.

The group is scheduled to fly to San Angelo early Sunday for an inspection of the Susan Peak oil field, which was opened several months ago by Plymouth.

W. M. (Mike) Griffith of Sinton, vice president and general manager of Plymouth and W. D. (Bill) Lane of Midland, general superintendent for the concern in West Texas, were hosts for the visitors while they were in Texas.

Among the Pittsburgh and New York visitors are:

Hallanan, W. E. Huston, president, Republic Oil Refining Company, Pittsburgh; Griffith; Paul G. Benedum, president, Hiawatha Oil & Gas Company, director, Plymouth, Pittsburgh; A. R. New Orleans Woman Sees Midland Rodeo But Still Puzzled

The New Orleans woman who wrote the Midland Chamber of Commerce recently to inquire if women attend rodeos, and who said she was disturbed, witnessed the Friday night performance of the World Championship Midland Rodeo.

In the words of a Chamber of Commerce staff member, who suggested the Louisianan attend the rodeo and who took care of all arrangements,

"The New Orleans woman came, saw and still wonders just what it is all about."

She departed Saturday for the Louisiana metropolis still somewhat confused as to the purpose and intent of a World Championship Rodeo. It was her first and perhaps last time to see a rodeo.

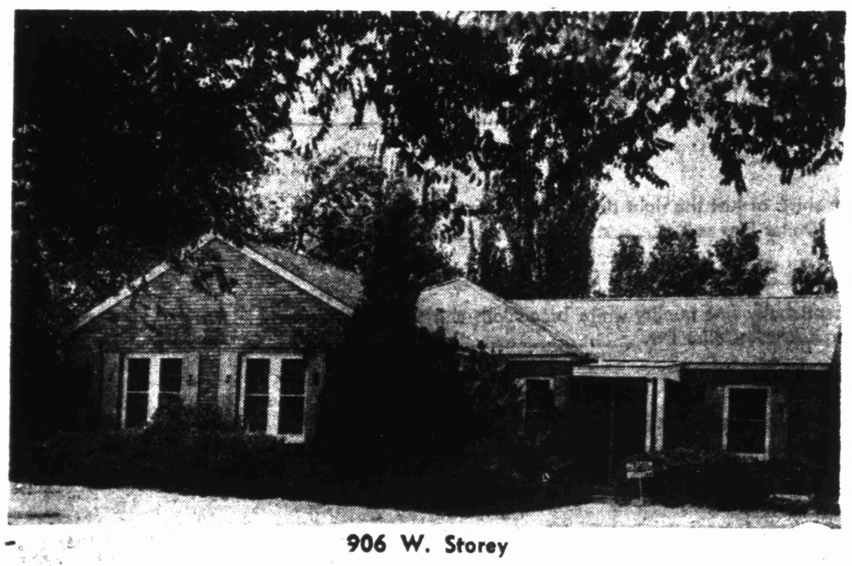
BEAUTIFUL MIDLAND HOME



906 W. Storey

This is a home that everyone dreams about and only a few people have the opportunity to buy in Midland.

Extra large living room with serviceable floors made of hardwood that has quality and beauty, built-in natural gas heater that has class to make any living room comfortable and at the same time adds beauty. The walls are textone finished in a shade that you will like the year round. There is a beautiful large cut glass mirror over the heater with book shelves on each side to add to the beauty of the living room.

An archway joins the living room and the dining room. It is also textoned in color to match the living room. Has large windows to add light and at the same time lend charm to this home.

This beautiful home has a kitchen that every lady dreams of owning. The kitchen is extra large, with cabinets galore, large double sink and inlaid linoleum of harmonizing color to make the kitchen unusually attractive.

The large hallway leads from the dining room and connects the three large bedrooms with the bath.

The bath is extra large and I mean extra large. Beautiful tub with shower overhead; linen closets that have plenty of room. The extra large bathroom is piped for permanent washing machine connection.

This home has 3 large, comfortable, outstanding bedrooms—an outstanding feature that very few homes have today. Each bedroom has clothes closets with cedar lining to keep all insects out, nice shoe racks and many other features. Each bedroom has textone wall in colors to match your furniture to a tee.

You will find this home on the west side of Midland, located on the north side of the street facing south, with barbecue pit in the rear, double garage, tall trees, large yard, plenty of shrubbery, and grass galore.

We can't help bragging on this beautiful Buff Brick Home with its many outstanding features. We think you will, too, when you see it—at 906 W. Storey.

Plans Wedding In July

Donna Marie Baker

Altus Girl To Wed Robert N. Conkling

Mr. and Mrs. William Clarence Baker of Altus, Okla., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Donna Marie, to Robert Neill Conkling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Conkling of Midland.

The wedding will be an event of July 23, in the First Methodist Church in Altus. Dr. C. H. Royall will officiate.

The bride-elect was graduated from Altus High School, where she was president of the K. A. Y. social club, and given the Kiwanis award as outstanding girl her senior year. She is now a sophomore student at the University of Oklahoma, where she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta social sorority.

Conkling was graduated from Midland High School in 1945 and entered the University of Oklahoma the following Summer. He received a Bachelor of Science degree in Geology in January, 1949.

He is a member of Sigma Chi social fraternity, was on the Student Senate and the Sooner yearbook staff while at the University. He now is a consulting geologist with the firm of Russell C. Conkling and Sons. Mr. Conkling has lived in Midland since 1935.

Summer Work For Children's Service League Is Planned

Mrs. Lee Flood presided for the meeting of the Children's Service League Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John M. Hills, in the absence of Mrs. C. H. Atchison, president. Mrs. Ralph Fitting acted as secretary.

Duties were assigned in the league's clothing room, which is open for distribution of clothing to qualified applicants on Tuesdays. Cases were discussed, and the group voted to pay for transportation to a hospital for a girl who is to receive treatment.

Mrs. C. H. Ervin explained the plan for collecting Swan soap wrappers to be sent to CARE, in a program for sending soap to European countries where it is a scarce item. The league is sponsoring the campaign here.

The league has adopted a Summer schedule of one meeting monthly, and will have its next regular session on July 8.

Mrs. Bizzell Heard In Book Review At Valley View Club

A book review by a member, Mrs. Bennie Bizzell, was presented at a tea for members of the Valley View Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. I. J. Howard. Each home demonstration club in the county is entertaining with a tea for its first June meeting.

The book chosen by Mrs. Bizzell was "Spoonhandle," by Ruth Moore.

A gift and a corsage of white carnations were presented from the club to Mrs. Nettie B. Messick, county home demonstration agent who is starting her fifth year of work in Midland County.

Plans were made for an all-day meeting on June 17 of the club members and other residents of the Valley View community, to repair the teacherage and make plans for repairs to the community building. This is one of the club's projects for this year. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon to the workers.

A new member, Mrs. J. T. Flowers, and a guest, Mrs. Hobart Howard, were present Friday with Mrs. J. C. Stevens, Jr., Mrs. D. M. Bizzell, Mrs. T. O. Midkiff, Mrs. J. D. Bartlett, Mrs. Preston Vest, Mrs. B. L. Mason, Mrs. Messick and the reviewer.

Summer Schedule Of Art Classes Made

Art classes for children being conducted by Bonny Bogardus will continue through the vacation months, Mrs. Bogardus announces, but the schedule will be changed. All the Summer classes will be held in the mornings.

The time will be from 9 to 10:30 a.m. on Mondays and Fridays. Class days previously have been on Wednesdays and Fridays.

RETURN FROM VACATION

Mary Alice Tidwell and Mary Nell Smith returned Friday night from a vacation trip. They spent a week on a resort ranch near Alamogordo, N. M., and returned by way of El Paso and Juarez.

Marriage Vows Said In Church

A morning ceremony Friday in the South Side Church of Christ united in marriage Janie Manning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Manning, and Troy D. Etheredge, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Etheredge. Members of the two families and a number of friends attended the wedding.

Floyd Stanley, minister, officiated for the double ring service. The bride, given in marriage by her father, had as her only attendant her cousin, Mary Lynn Manning. Glen Etheredge was his brother's best man.

Bride Wears Blue

Gladiolus in varying shades of pink, with gypsophila and greenery, were arranged as a background for the wedding party. The bride wore a frock of horizon blue dotted swiss trimmed with imported lace, and a tiny hat of the blue with white flowers. She carried gardenias on a white Bible.

The maid of honor was dressed in white waffle pique and wore pink carnations in a corsage.

Wedding Breakfast Follows

After the wedding the couple and their parents received friends for an informal wedding breakfast in the Manning home. The maid of honor and another cousin of the bride, Pauline Norwood, served the wedding cake after the first slice was cut by the bride and bridegroom.

The couple left for Carlsbad, N. M., to spend a few days, then will be at home at 409 West Estes Street. For traveling Mrs. Etheredge wore a blue linen suit with matching accessories and a corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Both are graduates of Midland High School. Miss Manning continued her studies at Sul Ross College, Alpine, and has been employed by The First National Bank here. Etheredge served in the United States Navy, and is employed with the Dunagan Sales Company.

Recently Wed Couple Here To Make Home

Mr. and Mrs. Dale E. Mickey came to Midland after the close of the school term at Texas Christian University at Fort Worth, where both have been students. They plan to make their home here.

The couple was married on May 13. Mrs. Mickey is the former Mary Louise Howard, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Howard of Burleson. Mickey is the son of Mrs. and Mrs. S. E. Mickey of Midland.

Girl Graduate Is Bride

Mrs. Daryl Selby

Mary Whitmire Weds In Home Ceremony

Mary Helen Whitmire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Whitmire, and a graduate from Midland High School Tuesday night, became a bride Saturday evening in a simple ceremony solemnized in her parents' home, 1108 North Big Spring Street. She married Daryl Selby, son of Mrs. Ora Selby.

Wesley Mickey, pastor of the Northside Church of Christ in Odessa, officiated for the wedding. The couple was attended by Donna Louise Ward as maid of honor and Artie Leftwich as best man.

A suit in oyster white crepe was chosen by the bride for her wedding costume, with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. She carried a white Bible.

The maid of honor was dressed in navy sheer with white accessories. Her corsage was of red carnations.

Mrs. Whitmire wore a dress of aqua with navy accessories, and pink carnations in a corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy and white frock and accessories in the same colors. Garden flowers decorated the home for the wedding.

After a short trip, Mr. and Mrs.

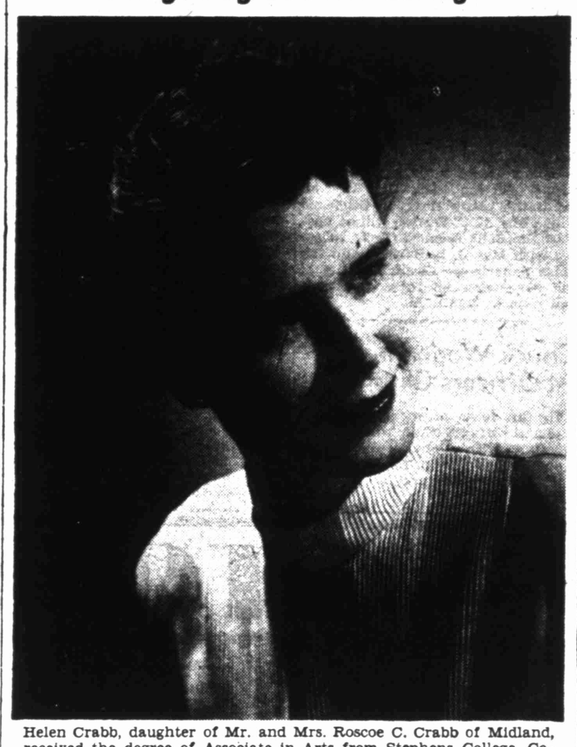
Brings Degree From College



Helen Crabb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe C. Crabb of Midland, received the degree of Associate in Arts from Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., at its commencement exercises Tuesday, when Dr. Homer Price Rainey, president of the college, conferred degrees on members of the 116th graduating class. Miss Crabb arrived in Midland Wednesday night, and plans a trip through western states this Summer. She has been a member of the Independents Association, of Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college honorary scholastic fraternity, and of Delta Sigma, honorary science society.

College Students Home For Vacation

Vacation time for college students as well as for public school pupils starts this month, and Midland girls and boys are arriving daily from campuses near and far. Some come as graduates, proudly bearing sheepskins to signify degrees conferred; others find the Summer a welcome breathing spell before more classes.

A few plan to study during the Summer. Virginia Dunagan, who arrived the first of last week from Hardin - Simmons University at Abilene, left later for Waco to enroll for the Summer Theater Workshop of Baylor University.

Mary Ann Goddard is leaving Sunday for Lubbock to attend the Summer session of Texas Technological College, after a brief visit at the close of the regular term, and Pat Ruckman plans Summer study there also. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherwood, Jr., will return to Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, after a visit here.

Graduates From TCU

Marjorie Morrison was graduated from Texas Christian University. At home from TCU are Patsy Collings, Sarah Hunter, David Dickinson, Shirley Brunson and Fred Dunn.

A degree from McMurry College, Abilene, was received by Leona Meissner. McMurry students also include Eddie Richardson, Bob

Jill Parrott And Joe Holder Marry, Leave On Honeymoon

Married in Odessa, where they will live, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Joe Holder are spending a honeymoon in the Big Bend section of Texas. The bride was Jill Parrott of Midland before the wedding Saturday afternoon in the Emmanuel Baptist Church of Odessa.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Parrott of Midland, and Holder is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Holder of Goldsmith. The Rev. Jimmy Dolan, pastor of the church, officiated for the double-ring wedding ceremony. Her father gave Miss Parrott in marriage.

Ann Royston of Midland was the bride's only attendant, and Bobby Dodson of Kermit served as best man. Ushers were Glenn Parrott of Midland, brother of the bride; Claude Holder of Goldsmith, brother of the bridegroom; George Ener of Odessa and Billy Stewart of Goldsmith.

Music Precedes Ceremony

White gladiolus in two tall baskets marked the altar, where white tapers burned in candelabra. Delanna West of Goldsmith, pianist, played "Because," D'Hardelot, and "Clair de Lune," Debussy, before the ceremony, the "Lohengrin" bridal march as a processional and Mendelssohn's wedding march as a recessional.

The bride's dress was of opaline white silk, street length, with cocoa accessories. She wore an orchid corsage. The maid of honor was dressed in rose crepe with white accessories, and a white carnation corsage. Mothers of the couple both chose Summer black ensembles, and wore corsages of pink carnations.

A reception followed the ceremony, in the apartment at 1013 North Moody Street where Mr. and Mrs. Holder will reside. The wedding cake, which centered the table, was served with punch.

Bridegroom Army Veteran

Mrs. Holder, who was graduated from Midland High School in 1947, has been employed in the Montgomery Ward office here. After completing high school work in Buras, La., Holder attended Texas Technological College, Lubbock, and Sul Ross College, Alpine. He served two years in the United States Army and is employed now with a drilling company in Odessa.

After the wedding rehearsal Friday night, members of the wedding party went to the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. A. C. Ener, in Odessa for an informal party. Cake and coffee were served.

A pre-nuptial courtesy for the bride was a gift tea Monday with Mrs. L. H. Chivers and Mrs. Ener as hostesses in the Parrott home. Bouquets of larkspur, baby breath and white lilies decorated the rooms.

Mrs. J. C. Reynolds and Miss Royston took turns pouring punch and Mrs. D. P. Parrott of Odessa was in charge of the bride's book.

The guest list included Mrs. W. F. Buehrle, Mrs. E. F. McCormick, Ina Sue McCormick, Mrs. W. E. King, Mrs. Bess Moseley, Mrs. Carl Roush, Mrs. O. W. Roberts, Jr., Melba Lee Roberts, Gertrude Witt, Mrs. J. G. Whitmire, Mrs. L. E. Morrow, Mrs. S. R. McKinney, Jr., Mrs. Pauline Kirk, Mrs. J. W. Christian, Mrs. Billy Stewart of Goldsmith.

Mrs. K. E. Dodson, Mrs. Paul Jackson, Mrs. C. L. Holder of Goldsmith, Mrs. R. L. Carr, Mrs. Jane Bean, Mrs. T. P. Davis, Mrs. Polly Horne, Mrs. W. N. Keisling, Mrs. R. E. Baker, Mrs. C. E. Smith, Mrs. C. L. Reeves of Rising Star, Mrs. Minnie Dozier, Mrs. Charles Lynch, Mrs. C. H. Aslin.

TO MEET IN HALL

The noon luncheon of the Optimist Club will be held Tuesday in the American Legion Hall, according to Jack Chase, program chairman. District Judge Paul Moss is to be the speaker.

Takes Office

Mrs. Fred Wycoff became worthy matron of the Order of Eastern Star Chapter here Tuesday when officers for a new year were installed. She has held various other offices in the chapter, and served as mother advisor of the Rainbow Girls Chapter when it was organized last Fall under Eastern Star sponsorship.

Parsonage Wedding Is Read

Only members of their immediate families were present for the ceremony that united Betty Baldwin and C. R. (Bud) Springer in marriage Saturday evening in the First Methodist Parsonage. The Rev. Howard H. Hollowell, First Methodist minister, read the double ring service.

The bride, who has been employed with the Shell Oil Company here, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Baldwin of San Angelo, and Springer, now employed in Denver City, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Springer of Midland.

Bride Wears White

Attended by the bridegroom's sister and brother, the couple stood for the ceremony before the fireplace, where tall baskets held greenery and white gladiolus. Betty Jean Springer was the maid of honor, William Willard Springer the best man.

White linen made the bride's dress, with an aqua yoke studded with rhinestones. Her hat was a white straw bonnet, veiled and beflowered, and other accessories were all-white. She carried an orchid on a white Bible. Her father gave her in marriage.

To Live In Seminole

Close friends of the couple offered their congratulations and best wishes at an informal reception after the wedding in the J. E. Springer home, 804 West Michigan Street. The wedding cake and punch were served. Out-of-city guests included the bride's parents and her brother, Dick Baldwin, of San Angelo.

After a short trip, the couple will reside in Seminole. Springer is employed with the National Supply Company in nearby Denver City. He was graduated from White Oak High School near Longview, attended Kilgore Junior College and served three years in the United States Army.

Mrs. Springer is a graduate of San Angelo High School and later attended San Angelo Junior College. She was employed in New Mexico and for two years in Honolulu before she came to Midland.

Manning-Lane Vows Repeated In St. Paul

Nadine Manning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee O. Manning, and Walter Lane of St. Paul, Minn., son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Simms of Midland, were married Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church of St. Paul. The Rev. Percy L. Smith, pastor, officiated.

The couple will live in St. Paul, where Lane is a student in an art school.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Horne of St. Paul served as best man and matron of honor for the wedding. Mrs. Horne is a cousin of the bridegroom. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Marian Smith sang "Because," D'Hardelot, and "The Lord's Prayer," Malotte, and the church organist played a musical prelude and the traditional marches.

Mrs. Simms, who went from Midland for the wedding, wore an all-navy costume with a corsage of Shasta daisies.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lane were graduated from Midland High School. She also attended Texas State College for Women, Denton, and he was a student in the Peacock Military Academy in San Antonio. She has been employed with the Grammer-Murphey store here.

Mrs. Hughston And Mrs. Bliss Hostesses For Golf Luncheon

Mrs. R. L. Hughston and Mrs. Jack Bliss were hostesses for the Ladies Golf Association luncheon in the Midland Country Club Friday, when members and several guests were entertained. They decorated the tables with a centerpiece of red daisies and snapdragons.

Announcement was made that a style show, planned for last month but postponed, will be presented at next Friday's luncheon.

OCATION

To Receive Hockaday Diploma

Freda Evelyn Wemple

Evelyn Wemple Will Graduate At Dallas

Freda Evelyn Wemple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wemple, 504 North Loraine Street, will graduate from Hockaday Junior College in Dallas at 9:30 a. m. Monday on the terrace, traditional scene of Hockaday graduations.

Attired in floor length white organdy dress and white horsehair picture hat, and carrying a basket of white flowers, Miss Wemple will walk under an arch of white gladiolus held by honor students of the Freshman Class to her place under the pergola. One of the honor guard will be her sister, Lucille Wemple.

The commencement address will be given by Dr. M. L. Wardell, head of the History Department of the University of Oklahoma. Hobart F. Mossman, President of Hockaday, will award the diplomas to the 39 graduates.

Mr. and Mrs. Wemple left Friday for Dallas to be present for the Commencement Week activities; Fred Wemple, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Avery plan to leave Sunday. Mrs. Avery is a sister of Miss Wemple.

Miss Wemple is president of the Student Council at Hockaday, highest elective office in the school, and is vice president of Tau Gamma Epsilon, college honor society. She also belongs to the Glee Club and the Dramatic Club. Lucille Wemple has been elected president of the Dramatic Club for 1949-50 and will be a member of the Club Council. She will return to Midland on June 6, as will Jessica Turpin, Freshman in Hockaday Junior College, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Turpin. Miss Turpin is a member of the House Council and the Spanish Club.

Camcalcin—For Arthritis—

Arthritic patients, when treated with physiological respiratory catalyst as a therapeutic measure, experience great improvement. It was reasoned that the addition of an analgesic, in combination with the catalyst, would be even more beneficial. For the respiratory catalyst, calcium succinate was used, and the analgesic was aspirin, as it is unsurpassed in control of rheumatic systems. Camcalcin, available at CAMERON'S PHARMACY, is the result of this medical research. It contains, also, thiamin chloride and ascorbic acid to supplement deficiencies caused by this disease.

Why The Catholic Church Says "INVESTIGATE!"

Probably not more than a handful of people hate the Catholic Church as it really is.

But many have heard anti-Catholic calumnies from sources they have been taught to respect, and have come to fear and suspect the Church as it has been falsely represented to them.

It is hardly reasonable to believe that 25 millions of Americans would remain in the Catholic Church if the rumors circulated against the Church are true. Nor would thousands of others become Catholics every year if they believed such things — without inquiring into the facts.

That is why the Catholic Church says again and again to people everywhere: "Investigate! Investigate!"

The Church makes this appeal not merely to settle an argument, nor primarily to win the good-will of the non-Catholic people, although this is a hoped-for result.

Its more important aim is to invite people to inquire into Christ's truth as taught and preserved by the Catholic Church down through the centuries. For no man, seeking the salvation of his own soul, can conscientiously discount the Catholic claim to be Christ's Church on the basis of mere rumor and slander when the truth is so readily at hand.

The Catholic Church therefore invites you to inquire into its teaching and practices ... to find out for yourself if what you believe about the Church is true or false.

Learn for yourself, for instance, if it is true that Catholics give divine worship to Mary, the Mother of Christ ... or if this is not just another calumny. If you have been led to believe that Catholics worship idols and statues ... buy and sell the divine worship of the Mass ... are opposed to the religious freedom granted all religions by our Bill of Rights, then you have been deceived and misled.

If you have harbored these or any other false beliefs about the Catholic Church and its teachings ... and if, above all, such misunderstanding has kept you from examining the Catholic claim to be the Church established by Christ Himself ... you owe it to yourself in good conscience to seek the truth.

We shall be glad to send you free on request, a booklet dealing with the points mentioned here and many others ... including the attitude of the Church toward Birth Control ... secret societies ... the salvation of non-Catholics ... why Catholic priests are called "Father" ... the Inquisition and the alleged goings-on behind convent walls. Write today ... ask for your copy of Pamphlet No. 7—KC.

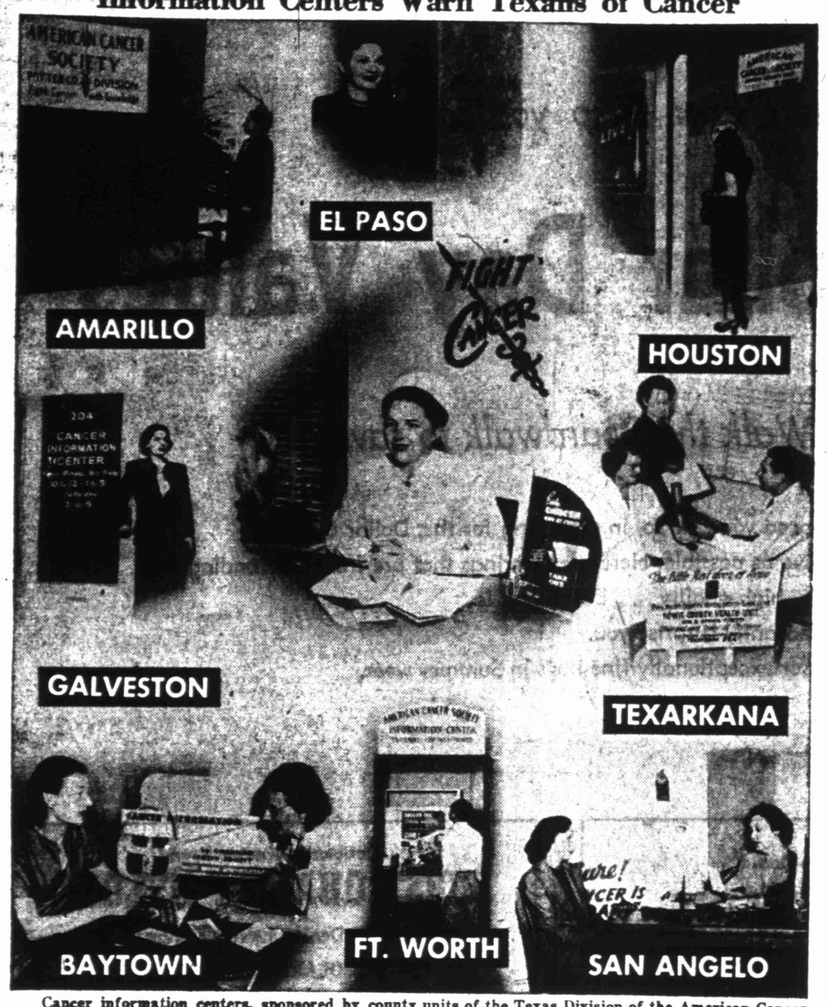
Information Centers Warn Texans of Cancer



Cancer information centers, sponsored by county units of the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society, are at present reminding Texans that cancer can be cured, if caught in time, and are conducting an educational program to cut the Texas cancer death rate, which took the lives of almost 7,000 Texans last year. Volunteer workers of the American Cancer Society operate the centers, along with full-time employed executive secretaries at the full-time centers. The centers are located at densely populated points about the state. The Texas Division of ACS is urging county units to establish centers in every county of the state.

A GREAT NAME IN DIAMONDS

Honor Graduate

Patricia Anne Bray, graduate with the Class of 1949 from Midland High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Bray, 1605 West Wall Street. She won third highest scholastic honors in the class although she was one of its younger members, having passed her sixteenth birthday on April 12. Her piano teacher, Mrs. Maud Leonard, presented her in recital at the close of the term. She plans to attend Ward Belmont College as a music major next year. In high school she was a member of the Sub-Deb Club, National Honor Society, National Thespian Society, Quill and Scroll Club, and was news editor of "The Bulldog." She has been pianist for the First Christian Sunday School the last three years, and has a seven-year perfect attendance pin from the Sunday School.

Program To Close Term Presented By Kindergarten Pupils

Kindergarten pupils of Mrs. A. L. Armontrout presented a program for their parents and friends Friday night, completing the regular term of the school. A Summer term will start immediately in the school, 1405 West Kentucky Street.

The program opened with the group repeating the Twenty-Third Psalm. Then a playette of nursery rhymes and songs, "A Visit From Mother Goose," was given. Other group numbers were a song and dance, "Yankee Doodle," and "The Scarecrow Song."

Also on program were "Our Clock," June DeArmon; "Early Morning," Ann Brennan; "Soap Bubbles," Judy Hollis; "It," Diane Busby; "Peter Rabbit," Joe Watson; "The Fisherman," Nick Lucas; "Time to Rise," Ann Rogers; "Little Clock Sparrow," Jody Givens.

Julia Tullis, Carl Doris Wed At McCamey

McCAMEY—Julia Ann Tullis and Carl Doris, Jr., were united in marriage Wednesday at high noon in the First Methodist Church in McCamey. The Rev. C. J. Mann officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Tullis of Tulsa, Okla., and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Carl Doris, Sr., of Titusville, Fla.

Mrs. Carl Doris, Jr.

Mary Florence Tullis, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. W. E. Pulley attended the bridegroom as best man. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. C. J. Mann sang "Because" and Claudyne Brown played the wedding music.

The church was decorated in a background of lemon leaves and plumosa fern through which a lighted cross shone. The chancel rail was covered in white with an overlay of nylon net festooned on either side with garlands of green. A white arch rose from either side of the kneeling rail.

The bride attended Texas State College for Women where she received her B. S. and M. A. degrees. She is a member of the faculty of the McCamey schools. The bridegroom attended Kentucky Wesleyan College and Bowling Green Business University. He is an employe of Humble Pipe Line Company. Mr. and Mrs. Doris will make their home in McCamey after returning from their wedding trip.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Speed, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dickey, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilson, Midland; Mrs. T. J. Baynham, Orlando, Fla., Mrs. Carl Doris, Sr., Titusville, Fla., Mrs. E. B. Tullis, Tulsa; Blanche Sisk and Mrs. W. I. Pratt, Midland; Mrs. Ray Meier, San Angelo; Mrs. R. C. Voigt and Eleanor Voigt, Fort Worth.

Virginia Dunagan Wins H-SU Award

ABILENE — Virginia Dunagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Dunagan, 1904 West Wall Street, Midland, has been awarded a trophy by Hardin-Simmons University for being the best actress of the year. She won the trophy for the leading role in "The Great Big Doorstep."

The award was announced at the annual commencement program held Memorial Day in Behrens Chapel. The commencement marked the graduation of 276 students, the largest number to receive degrees since the founding of the university.

Miss Dunagan, a senior student, has held various offices in the student counsel. She recently was elected to the place of counselman. She is a member of players club and Alpha Psi Omega.

Texas Christian Adds Church Music Course

FORT WORTH — A new degree, that of Bachelor of Music in Church Music, will be added to the curriculum of the Texas Christian University School of Fine Arts next Fall, following completion of the new $1,500,000 Fine Arts Building on the TCU campus.

Designed to train ministers of music on a professional level, the new curriculum will be made possible primarily by the new seventy-rank concert pipe organ—one of the largest in the South—which will be installed in the new auditorium. Candidates for the new degree will take a major in either organ or voice and a minor in the other plus a full major in religion courses.

Piano Classes For Summer Scheduled

Summer classes in piano will begin Monday in the studio of Mrs. Yates Brown at her home, 604 North Carrizo Street, she announced Saturday. She plans to continue the classes through the Summer.

The regular term was closed for Mrs. Brown's pupils on May 17, when they were presented in a recital.

HERE'S NEW HOPE FOR UNSIGHTLY SKIN TROUBLES

Don't suffer from an unsightly skin

Doctor's discovery hailed as "Wonder Formula" gets results in difficult cases; exposes and inhibits growth of germs present in ACNE.

New treatment improves your appearance at once

Your unsightly, externally caused skin blemishes . . . the stubborn pimples, blackheads and red, burning skin that embarrass . . . may now yield to a new treatment developed by a group of physicians.

These doctors found that in many such cases there is a sub-surface infection due to various types of germs. This new treatment exposes and inhibits the growth of these germs. After endless experiments and tests on thousands of cases, this new formula called Enca Cream is now available at any drug store. When Enca Cream is applied to the skin, this 3-way action takes place:

(1) ENCA'S flesh-tinted film instantly conceals unsightly skin blemishes — immediately improving your appearance.

(2) The new anti-biotic ingredients are held in contact with the skin for hours, to expose germs and inhibit their growth.

(3) With germ growth inhibited, unsightly surface skin eruptions can be controlled and helped to heal. Thousands are amazed to see quick improvement after everything else has failed. Regardless of how stubborn your case, you owe it to yourself to try this new treatment.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

Don't continue to suffer the embarrassing handicap of unsightly skin. Get ENCA CREAM from your druggist today. Use as directed. If, in just one week you don't see quick improvement—if your unsightly skin does not look and feel better and better—just return the jar and your druggist will refund full purchase price. Couple At Home After Recent Marriage In New Mexico City

Mrs. Leland P. Kestler

Mr. and Mrs. Leland P. Kestler are at home at 107-1/2 North G Street after their marriage Monday in Alamogordo, N. M. Mrs. Kestler was Zela Brock before the mid-afternoon ceremony in the parsonage of the First Baptist Church of the New Mexico city.

The Rev. T. J. Gamble, Jr., pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony. The bride wore a bolero styled white linen suit, the jacket decorated with lace tulips and rhinestones. Her blouse, lacy open-crown hat and other accessories were of navy blue and her corsage of white carnations.

TSCW Graduate

Mrs. Kestler is the daughter of Mrs. Grady Brock of Perrin, where she attended school before entering Texas State College for Women at Denton. She received a Bachelor of Arts Degree with a major in mathematics from the college.

For the last two years the bride has been a resident of Midland. She is employed as a geophysical computer with the Shell Oil Company.

Kestler, the son of Mrs. Hattie B. Kestler of New Boston, is the owner of Kestler's Pharmacy and has lived in Midland since 1947. He received his Bachelor of Science Degree with a major in pharmacy from the University of Texas. During World War I he served two and a half years as a group executive officer in the Air Force in the European Theater, and was released from active duty with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Officers Installed For Wink OES With Mrs. Allen As Head

CRANE — Lela Wilson, deputy grand matron of the Order of Eastern Star for this district, and Ethel Owens, worthy matron of the Crane chaper, went to Wink Thursday when Mrs. Wilson served as installing grand officer for officers of the recently organized Wink chapter.

Mrs. Verl Allen took office as worthy matron succeeding Mrs. Fred Keene, and Keene was returned to the worthy patron's office. Angie McBee became associate matron; Joe Robertson, associate patron; Winnie Sims, secretary; Xina Vista Robertson, treasurer; Era Sasser, conductress; and Nell Green, a former Crane member, associate conductress.

Appointive officers installed were Velma Hildreth, chaplain; Eula Reeves, marshal; Irene Lipscomb, organist; Johnny Bell Talton, Adah; Louise Langford, Ruth; Lilly Ditterline, Esther; Lita Stephens, Martha; Jewell Bishop, Electa; Joyce Brinkley, warder; and Ruben Brinkley, sentinel.

Installing officers assisting Mrs. Wilson were Mrs. Keene, marshal; Mabel Cannon of Pecos, chaplain; Viola Bayless, secretary; and Winnie Sims, organist. Gifts were presented to the installing officers, the new and retiring heads of the organization.

Red roses, chosen flower of the new worthy matron, decorated the hall. Refreshments were served to 35 members, five guests from Kermit and the two from Crane.

Crane News

CRANE—R. E. Wesberry, realtor, recently was elected president of the Lions Club here. Other new officers include: Ken Spencer, first vice president; H. O. Waters, second vice president; C. M. Deaton, third vice president; Virgil Keyes, secretary; Tom Hogan, Jr., treasurer; Jack Boyd, Tail Twister; A. T. Carroll, Lion Tamer. Directors include: Den Culp, Leon Neeley, John Bindman and Jack Porter.

All Crane Boy Scout units participated in a downtown parade recently. Seventy-five boys marched in formation. A day's observance of carrying the torch for Democracy was ended with a program on the courthouse lawn. Troop 57 will leave June 19 for Camp Louis Farr and a week's outing.

Joyce Bright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Bright, and Miss Clo Dossey, recently left for Dallas, where they will visit relatives. They later will go to Hot Springs, Ark., and their parents will go to return them in July.

An open house and reception in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. J. N. Whetstone and family was held at the church. Gifts were presented. The Whetstones are leaving Crane and going to Monahans, where he will be pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Invitations have been issued to all mothers and dads of Cub Scouts to a supper and gab feast Monday at the Community Hall.

Mrs. C. A. Carroll is visiting her mother, Mrs. Martha Ezell in Stamford while he is on a trip into California with the seniors of Crane High School.

Equalization Board

A large delegation of representatives of oil companies was present at a recent county and school board of equalization meeting here.

The Rev. H. D. Christian conducted a business meeting when the Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church met recently. O. O. Ervin and George Ashburn made talks Twenty-seven attended.

Midlander Attends Watchmakers Meet

A. E. Houck of Midland left Friday night for Galveston where he will attend the annual convention of the Texas Watchmakers Association as a delegate from the Permian Basin Watchmakers Guild.

He was named as the delegate from the area association at its June meeting Wednesday night in Odessa. The state convention was the principal subject of discussion at the session. Seven new members were introduced to bring the membership to 32. Members were present from Midland, Big Spring, Odessa, Lamesa, Levelland and Andrews.

The next meeting will be held July 6 in Big Spring. The guild was organized at a meeting here last month.

Midlanders attending the Odessa meeting included Houck, Raymond Jenkins, J. B. (Pete) Peterson, W. A. Treadwell, Bill Leavitt, Jr., H. W. Coker, H. G. Roman, Michael Cristian, Norman Swanson and Elbert Harrison.

Bride Of McCamey Man

Mrs. Carl John Kedziora, Jr.

Couple Married In Fort Stockton Will Return From Trip To Home In McCamey

McCAMEY—Carl John Kedziora, Jr., and his bride, the former Gloria Simon of Fort Stockton, will return from a wedding trip to Colorado to be at home in McCamey after June 15. They were married in the Crawford House at Fort Stockton Wednesday evening.

The bridegroom's parents live here, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Simon of San Fedro Ranch, Fort Stockton. W. H. Burcham, minister of the Church of Christ at Fort Stockton, officiated for the wedding.

Martha Lee Campbell was maid of honor and Kay Tarleton of Lamesa, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Ray Arnold Kedziora, brother of the bridegroom, served as his best man. Sam Edwards was usher.

Wedding Songs Heard

Music before the ceremony included solos by Clyde Smith, accompanied by Mrs. E. L. Howard, who also played the wedding marches. The wedding party stood before the fireplace, where ferns and pink and white lilies made a background with tapers in tall candelabra on either side.

The bride's dress was of deep blue iridescent taffeta cut on princess lines with plunging neckline outlined by a roll collar of organdy. Her pink horsehair poke bonnet had a velvet bow and blue veiling trim and she carried a white prayer book with white orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

The bride's parents were hosts at a reception after the wedding in the Crawford House dining room. Mrs. R. E. Priester served punch and Miss Campbell the wedding cake, assisted by Mary Glenn. Mrs. Jack Hubbs was at the bride's book. The decorated cake was at one end of the table, balanced by an arrangement of pink and white lilies and stephanotis at the other end.

Mrs. Kedziora was graduated in May from the Fort Stockton High School. Kedziora attended the Spartan School of Aeronautics after his graduation from McCamey High School, spent three years in the Army Air Force during World War II, with service in the Pacific Theater, then studied in Sul Ross College, Alpine. He is employed by the Humble Oil and Refining Company.

Guests from McCamey at the wedding included his parents and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. McKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. John Sumroll, Janet Pauley, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Shaffer. Other out-of-city guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Clayton of Odessa, C. E. McFarland and Clydene McFarland of Marfa, Mrs. J. B. Tarleton and Mrs. Walter Smith of Lamesa.

Renewal Of World's First Rodeo Is Slated At Pecos

PECOS—The world's first rodeo will be renewed here on July 2, 3 and 4 when the annual "West of the Pecos" show will be presented.

The opening day parade July 2 will be headed by Gov. Beauford Jester. Acceptances also have been received from Lt. Gov. Allen Shivers, Attorney General Price Daniels, Land Commissioner Bascom Giles, State Senator Hill D. Hudson, Federal Judge R. E. Thomason, U. S. Rep. K. M. Regan and other notables.

There will be five shows this year, one each on the afternoons of July 3 and 4, and night shows on July 2, 3 and 4. It was here in Pecos in 1883 that cowboys from the historic Hash Knife and W Ranches staged the world's first rodeo.

Buetler Brothers of Elk City, Okla., are producing this year's event; and Jess Burner is manager on behalf of the sponsoring organization, the Pecos Rodeo and Fair Association.

Events include bareback bronc riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, team tyeing, Brahman bull riding, and cowgirls' clover leaf barrel race. Specialty events this year will be better than ever.

Amateur Night Is Set At Garden City

GARDEN CITY — Staged under the sponsorship of the Garden City Lions Club, an amateur night show will be presented here Thursday, with scores of entertainers scheduled to perform.

Special invitations have been extended organizations and individuals of neighboring cities to attend.

Detroit finished the American League 1948 season with exactly the same mark at home as on the road; the Tigers won 39 and lost 38 both places.

Gordon Homecoming Slated Next Sunday

GORDON — This Palo Pinto County community will be the scene of the annual Gordon Homecoming to be held Sunday, June 12, members of the Homecoming Committee announced. A record attendance is expected.

Those planning to attend are expected to bring a basket lunch.

Presbyterian Men To Have Annual Barbecue

Presbyterian Men of Midland will stage their annual steak barbecue at 6:30 p. m. Thursday in Cloverdale Park, officials announced Saturday.

Members of the Men's Club of the Trinity Episcopal Church and Boy Scouts of the Presbyterian-sponsored troop will be special guests.

W. H. Crenshaw and C. E. Bissell are in charge of arrangements.

SAUCE FOR BEETS

Cooked beets, either slices or cut in strips, may be dressed with a sauce of sour cream flavored with a little sugar and prepared mustard, and seasoned with salt and freshly ground pepper.

Cook cauliflowerets in boiling salted water until partly tender. Then dip in seasoned flour, egg, and bread crumbs and fry in deep fat.

VARY MUFFINS

An excellent variation for plain muffins is to roll the tops in sugar and cinnamon that have been well mixed together as soon as you take them out of the oven.

Diced cooked carrots and white turnips may be served together in a cream sauce; a small amount of cooked peas (leftover) may be added for color.

Lila Winters Given Shower To Precede Wedding On June 12

STANTON—Lila Winters of Lenorah, who will marry Bill Estes of Burkburnett in the McMurry College Chapel at Abilene on June 12, was honored with a shower in the home of Mrs. S. J. Foreman at Lenorah Tuesday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lige Winters of that community.

Hostesses were Mrs. A. C. Fleming, Mrs. P. G. Yates, Mrs. C. D. Willingham, Mrs. Doc Bristow, Mrs. N. C. Haggard, Mrs. Truett Standefer, Mrs. George Cathey, Mrs. Denver Springer, Lois Standefer, Tillie Morrison, Mrs. Jimmy Jordan, Mrs. Urey Butler and Mrs. Gus Koonce.

Red and white flowers decorated the rooms. Phlox in those colors filled a crystal bowl on the table where Betty Bennett and Linda Cathey served refreshments. A miniature bride and bridegroom topped the bouquet, and the table was lighted by red and white tapers in crystal holders.

Musical Numbers

Billie Carlile, Miss Bennett, Miss Morrison and Miss Standefer sang two numbers with Mrs. Jordan at the piano. Dorothy Thompson was also in the house party.

The bride-to-be was dressed in the party colors, with a white waffle pique frock and a corsage of red carnations. Her mother wore grey crepe with pink gladiolus in a corsage.

Approximately 40 guests presented gifts to the honoree. From out of town were Mrs. M. H. Brewer of Andrews, Mrs. Wesley Cathey and Mrs. Felton Thompson of Lamesa and Pauline Brewer of Houston.

Small paper baking cups may be used inside muffin pans, in preparing cupcakes, to save pan scrubbing. The tops of the cupcakes may be frosted in the paper cups and served this way or they can be removed from the cups and then frosted.

DAD wins some recognition—at last! Sunday, June 19, is Father's Day. Even irate traffic policemen will turn angelic, the new Father's Day cards predict. Cutout greetings are shaped like the pipes, plaid socks, and gaudy ties Dad traditionally receives. Sentimental verses have largely given way to wisecracks and gags—like the shaving mug with cotton-batting lather. Grand-dads and husbands rate special verses. There's even a quiet floral design honoring that forgotten man—"My Father-in-Law!"

If you want every blossom to bloom, pull out the weeds occasionally, and give your Johnny and your William a fighting chance.

Many a girl has lost a devoted beau because she enjoyed being contrary.

Take for instance a very pretty redhead with saucer-size blue eyes. When asked what had happened to her handsome date who was booked for the big cotillion, she said: "He's the most selfish, but the most selfish boy I've eyer met. I'm glad I found out."

Real Sacrifice

Pressed for the details, she explained that after a movie the young gallant had taken his petulant beauty to a local eatery. She had been very, but very impressed, by his selection of the nicest place in town, had taken into consideration that he had only an after-school job which paid him off virtually in bright green polly seeds, and decided immediately that she would have only milk and cinnamon toast at his expense.

Thereupon, the young man tried to persuade her to have something more substantial, but she didn't, and as she says, "being that magnanimous made me feel like a positively wonderful character . . . because I really was starving."

Everything was moonlight and stardust until her young man ordered for himself sirloin steak, fried potatoes and smothered onions, whereupon his fine feathered date decided she would but nibble at her toast and teach him a lesson. Obviously, he didn't even notice, increasing her wrath. She says "any young man so inconsiderate is just downright selfish."

They Don't Mean It

As one popular boy says: "Girls never do say exactly what they mean, that's the trouble with them. They thrive on gestures." Boys queried in this respect cite the following examples of the girl . . .

Who . . . when offered the salt, pepper or bread, says "help yourself first" and then gets miffed when he does. . .

Who . . . says "of course, if you want to listen to the ball game go ahead" and then sulks because he turns off the sweet music and tunes in to the double header . . .

Who . . . turns down his offer to bring ice cream and cokes for that evening-at-home and then gets positively chilly when he asks for a snack.

Who . . . says "don't bother, I'll answer the door" and then freezes when he doesn't try to beat her to it.

Suspicious At Assent

Who . . . when asked if she would rather go to a movie or take a walk, says "whatever you want to do" and then retaliates with stony silence when he decides on the walk.

Who . . . says "isn't Jane the cutest girl?" and then gets suspicious when he agrees readily.

Who . . . says "isn't Jane the cut-this evening" and then pouts because he is a half-hour later than usual.

Who . . . asks him how he likes her new hairdo and then resents his "I liked it better the other way."

Who . . . asks his opinion about a movie or play and is furious when he doesn't share her viewpoint.

It seems there is no silk curtain separating city girls and their country cousins . . . girls are the same over all the world, according to the boys. It adds spice to their romance to be little martyrs.

But one thing is sure. The first girl out of her corner with a down-to-earth new technique will win the golden gloves . . . or so say the boys.

DELECTABLE DESSERT

Pineapple ambrosia is a quickly made and delectable dessert. Peel, core, and cube a fresh pineapple; sprinkle with sugar and mix well. Just before serving, place a layer of the pineapple in individual sauce dishes or sherbet glasses, then sprinkle with coconut and then repeat the layers once more. Garnish with fresh or marashino cherries.

Club Calendar Has Few Dates For Summer Months

Club activity, coasting to a standstill with the beginning of vacation months, still has a little momentum left with a few meetings scheduled for this week. Only a handful of women's organizations will continue to meet through the Summer, and those on abbreviated schedules.

Last of the federated study clubs to close its season was the Modern Study Club, whose members had a final program Wednesday afternoon in the home of the president, Mrs. F. R. Schenck. This meeting was one postponed from last month because of the death of a member, Mrs. Ivan Hood. A past-season business meeting has been called for June 15.

The Modern Study Club is one of the two study clubs which will retain its officers to complete a two-year term. The Fine Arts Club, which terminated its program with a luncheon on May 7, will have the same officers headed by Mrs. Henry Murphey.

Luncheons Start Vacations

Mrs. Robert Turpin is the new president of the Woman's Wednesday Club, which finished the season at a luncheon May 18; Mrs. James T. Smith heads the Junior Woman's Wednesday Club, which had a party the night of May 14 as its final event of the Spring.

Progressive Study Club installed Mrs. J. W. Thomas, Jr., as president when it closed a year with a luncheon May 25, and the Twentieth Century Club had its closing luncheon the previous day and installed Mrs. Carl O. Hyde in the president's office.

The Midland Woman's Club year ended on May 6. Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith took office as president at a luncheon, succeeding Mrs. W. G. Epley. The club's Planning Committee for a building, with Mrs. Earl Johnson as chairman, will function through the Summer.

Delphian Meeting Scheduled

A meeting set for this week is a luncheon Tuesday for the Daleth Delphian Chapter, in the Dragon Grill. Members completed their study course for the year with a double program on May 24, and at the luncheon will have a special program from the "Delphian Quarterly." Mrs. Woodrow Campbell is the new president of this group which completed its first year under the leadership of Mrs. Hal Peck.

Of the city's garden clubs, the Pyracantha Club plans to hold one meeting a month through the Summer and then resume its twice-a-month sessions in September. Mrs. E. W. Cowden has assumed the presidency of this club.

Mrs. J. W. Christian was elected president of the Perennial Garden Club, which has a June meeting on its schedule before it starts a vacation. The Little Diggers, junior garden club with Mrs. Frank Stubbeman as its sponsor, will have regular Summer meetings.

Some Garden Clubs Active

Garden clubs which have suspended activity until Fall are the Midland Club, with Mrs. H. E. Bahr as the new president; the Tejas Club, headed for next year by Mrs. J. L. Smith; and the Yucca Club, which installed Mrs. R. E. Gillespie as president at its closing luncheon. Mrs. J. D. Dillard is president of the Council of Garden Clubs.

Play Readers Club has a luncheon in the home of the president, Mrs. J. E. Beakey, on May 19 and will meet next in September, when new officers headed by Mrs. Harvey Herd as president will be installed.

Mrs. J. B. Koenig became the president of the Civic Music Club before it recessed for the Summer with a business meeting May 17.

Beta Sigma Phi units have closed their regular meeting schedule for the year, but plan for the vacation months some informal entertainments on the order of the steak barbecue given in Cloverdale Park Thursday by the Xi Theta Chapter. The Beta Delta Chapter, loser in an attendance contest, will be hostess to the Xi Theta and Iota Beta Chapters at a party being planned now by its social committee.

Last to close its regular program was the Beta Delta Chapter, of which Mrs. A. R. Aytes is the new president. Xi Theta Chapter, headed by Mrs. Lloyd Zellner, ended the season on May 26 and Iota Beta Chapter, with Myra McReynolds as president, on May 23.

New Officers In Charge

The Epsilon Sigma Alpha, another organization for young business women, elected Ann Tolbert as its next president before closing the year with a dinner on May 26.

Daughters of the American Revolution of the Lt. William Brewer Chapter had their closing meeting on May 10 with Mrs. John Perkins, new regent, presiding. When it convenes next Fall, the chapter will have morning instead of afternoon meetings.

Officers of all the city's Parent-Teacher Associations were installed at a final joint program on May 10, when Mrs. Bert Cole, Jr., became president of the City P-TA Council.

Mrs. C. H. Atchison is the new president of the Children's Service League, which will meet through the Summer, but only once a month instead of twice.

The Business and Professional Women's Club and the Altrusa Club both will have meetings in June, when both will elect officers for another year. The P. E. O. Chapter ended its first year recently with a luncheon. Mrs. John Casselman is its president for next season.

A picnic planned by the American Association of University Women to close its year was postponed indefinitely last week. Most of the interest groups in the AAUW have ended their programs for the Summer, although the International Relations Group has scheduled a meeting for Wednesday. Mrs. Robert Meador is AAUW president for next year.

No luncheon meetings of the League of Women Voters will be held during vacation months, but Mrs. R. L. Hughston, the new president, announces that board meetings will be called as necessary.

Most social clubs will have only occasional Summer parties, with no regard for a formal schedule.

Although their program will differ from that of the regular club season, Home Demonstration Clubs will be no less active in the Summer. Each is having a tea and book review as its first June meeting, and the annual county encampment is scheduled for August.

Parties At Stanton Honor Bride-To-Be, Dorothy Hamilton

STANTON—Friends in Stanton, home town of Dorothy Hamilton, honored her with two parties the last week in the series preceding her marriage next Saturday to De-Wayne Davis of Midland. The wedding will be solemnized in the First Methodist Church here.

Miss Hamilton, daughter of Mrs. Horace Hamilton of Stanton, has lived in Midland in recent years.

She was complimented Wednesday morning with a Coke party in the O. B. Bryan residence, and Tuesday night with a shower in the home of Mrs. Sam Wilkinson.

Joining Mrs. Bryan as hostesses for the morning party were Mrs. Ernest Price, Mrs. Cecil Bridges and Mrs. Floyd Smith. They received guests, and Lela Hamilton was in charge of the register.

Early Summer flowers in yellow and white, colors chosen by the bride-elect, decorated the rooms. Refreshments were served from a table laid with a yellow cloth and centered with Shasta daisies. About 30 guests called.

For the Tuesday night party, hostesses were Mrs. J. R. Sale, Mrs. Evelyn Woodard, Mrs. B. F. Smith, Mrs. J. A. Wilson, Mrs. C. E. Luna, Mrs. H. A. Houston, Mrs Ralph McWhorter, Mrs. D. B. Cross, Mrs. H. C. Burnam and Mrs. Wilkinson.

Roses Deck Table

Mrs. John Connell was at the door to greet guests, and Lela Hamilton was again at the bride's book. Also in the house party were Frances Burnam, Mrs. Henry Houston, Grace McWhorter and Mrs. Carlton Hull.

Roses and other flowers added color to the rooms. Red radiance roses in a mass arrangement on the serving table had tapers in silver candelabra on either side. Betty McWhorter served the punch, and Mrs. J. D. Poe the cake.

The approximately 60 guests included from out-of-town, Mrs. Cecil Davis, Mrs. J. Hollis Roberts, Maedelee Roberts, Mrs. Jim Schroder, Mrs. Charles L. Klapproth, Mrs. R. W. Hamilton, Lillie Mae Stovall, Elizabeth Smith, Aileen Maxwell and Ann Hamilton, all of Midland and Mrs. Cecil Hamilton of Big Spring.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Howard on the birth Saturday of a son, David Wayne, weighing seven pounds, 12 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Watkins on the birth Saturday of a son, David Loyd, weighing six pounds, 15 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Kannady on the birth Saturday of a daughter, Bonnie Lea, weighing six pounds, nine ounces.

Valuable Lost Dog Found With Six Pups

CHICAGO —(AP)— A two-month search for a show dog valued at $1,000 by her owner ended. Found with the dog, Zaba of Selby, a Schnauzer which appeared in the Chicago Dog Show last March were six puppies.

Zaba, owned by Bobby Burns Berman of Redwood City, Calif. was being returned home last March 28 when she escaped from an attendant at the Douglas Airport.

Finds Ring After Lost Three Years

She had her diamond back recently. A peacock in her flock died. She opened it to discover the cause so the flock might be treated. In its craw she found her ring

Crane News

CRANE—Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Huffman were hosts at a chicken barbecue supper recently at their home. Attending the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. George Chrane, Joseph Beyer.

The Crane Rebekah Lodge initiated two candidates and held a "Love Sister" revealing party recently. Mrs. Myrtle Cherry and Mrs. Annie Earp were initiated.

Stops at San Antonio, Houston and Corsicana are planned by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Maxwell and family while on a two-weeks vacation trip. Also they will visit Lake Texhoma and Possum Kingdom Dam.

Little Tommy Le Isabell, age six and one-half months, died May 31 in a San Angelo hospital. Funeral services were held June 1 and interment was at Albany.

COUSINS REUNITED

A reunion of cousins who had not seen each other in 22 years occurred Friday, when Mrs. Esther Edge of Houston visited in the home of Mrs. W. H. Spaulding, 1204 North Main Street. Mrs. Edge is on a vacation trip, and stopped overnight in Midland.

"Eleven" and "twelve" were originally written "oneteen" and "twoteen."

Staff Announced For Girl Scout Camp, Ready For Opening Of Season Monday

Girls from over the Permian Basin Girl Scout Area will begin Monday the first camping period of a scheduled eight-weeks season in their own camp located in Fern Canyon, near Mitre Peak in the Davis Mountains.

The full Summer camp program is the realization of a goal toward which girls and their leaders have been working to fulfill the unanimous desire of the Scouts for camping experience. Mrs. J. J. Black of Midland is director of the camp.

She has announced her complete staff for the Summer, as follows:

Assistant unit leaders include Lois Black of Midland; Bobbie Eoff of Ballinger, Bettie Kyle of Abilene, Frances Carr of Sherwood and Anna Louise Patterson of Abilene, all students at Christian College; Mary Alice Allen and Joanne Starnes of Fort Worth, students at Texas Christian University.

Program director for the camp is Bernice Waggoner of Tyston, Okla., a graduate of Christian College; the waterfront director is Leatrice Brown of Tucumcari, N. M., a graduate of Sul Ross College, and the business manager is Mrs. J. E. Starley of Pecos.

On the nursing staff are Ruth Allbright of Grand Prairie, Jerry Cole and Gretchen Estes of Midland. Mrs. Ella McBride of Alpine is dietician, Yvonne Cogswell of Eddy, a student at Christian College, the assistant dietician, and dietician helpers are Dephane Tabor and Peggy Charlton of Midland and Joan Kendrick of Abilene.

Camp Periods Listed

The first camping period, for Intermediate Scouts, will close June 18. Succeeding periods are from June 20-25, for Brownies; June 27-July 2, for Brownies; July 4-9, for intermediates; July 11-23, for intermediates, and July 25-30, for Senior Scouts.

Girls going to camp will furnish their own transportation. Visitors will not be permitted in the camp except as it is necessary to bring the campers on the first day of each period and call for them on the closing day.

The radio station at Alpine will broadcast camp news at 6 p. m. each day, Mrs. Black announces, and parents may send messages to the girls by way of the station.

Members of Midland troops are registered for each of the camp periods, and there will be 27 Midland Scouts among campers of the first period.

Fishing Equipment Sales, $58,700,000

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Maybe fishermen have a right to tell fish stories. After all, they spend more for equipment than any other sportsmen.

The Census Bureau said in a report on its 1947 Census of Manufacturers that the factory value of fishing tackle sold to fishermen amounted to nearly $58,700,000.

Asphalt is found in lakes or in rock-like outcroppings and is also made in the process of refining petroleum.

Paintings By Utter To Be Shown Public In Palette Studio

Texas scenes in a happy and realistic mood, and abstractions that are somber and thought-provoking are the extremes in the group of some two dozen canvases by Bror Utter of Fort Worth which will be displayed here beginning Wednesday, preceding the start of his Summer art class on June 13.

The paintings will be displayed in the Palette Club Studio from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday. Members of the club will be present to discuss plans for the class with those interested.

Utter is to arrive next Sunday, and will be presented to Midland residents in a "meet the artist" reception in the home of Mrs. N. A. Lancaster. A nationally known young Texas artist, he has been a prize-winner in several recent shows.

One of his 1949 awards, a $250 purchase prize, was for a painting of an old mansion in Weatherford. He apparently enjoys painting the huge 1890-style houses of North and East Texas, as several of the pictures to be shown here are similar studies, one of houses in Palestine and one of Big Sandy.

Also to be shown are landscapes of clear and vivid colors, in oils and water paints; some interesting pencil drawings, still life with unusual coloring and satisfying balance, abstractions and some striking oils that combine realistic figures with abstract symbols.

UNDERTOW WASHING ACTION!

Wondertub's shape combines with the agitator to give you a new washing action! Clothes and suds are pulled down into undertow currents. Dirt comes out like magic.

FLOAT-AWAY DRAINING

Floating suds trap dirt. Wondertub then closes in—pushes suds and dirt up and out the hollow agitator, while sand and heavy sediment flush out through the tub bottom. Dirty water never strains through clothes. Clothes come out clean!

SQUEEZE-DRYING!

Wondertub then gently but firmly hugs clothes. Squee-ee-bezes out water. No wringer! No spinning! No deep-set wrinkles! No tangling! Just even, constant, vacuum pressure. Clothes come out damp-dry in a jiffy.

COSTS LESS TO MAKE! COSTS LESS TO BUY! NO WRINGER! NO SPINNING! NO BOLTING DOWN!

Ice Cool Costumes

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—Fashion's cool reply to wilting weather is the linen costume that looks as cool as an ice cube, is as crisp as a cracker.

What gives linen its immunity to heat and humidity and the wrinkling processes of warm-weather wear are non-crushable finishes.

Styling linen outfits for summer's versatile needs is a specialty of one outstanding designer. Eisenberg, for example, tops a camisole-top dress of cinnamon-colored linen with an impeccably-tailored jacket which can be peeled off for summer comfort. There are two tabs at the hipline of the jacket for anchoring a silk sash of brown and white coin dots. The hip-swathing sash may be recoved and worn as a stole or a scarf.

The suit that shrugs off the heat by dispensing with a blouse is another style success sponsored by Eisenberg. He combines a jacket of champagne-colored linen with a skirt of taupe linen to make a two-piece dress which masquerades as a suit. Posed over the straight, slim skirt is a dress-maker-styled jacket with a peplum tricked up with squared-off tucks. Designed with an eye to summer comfort is this jacket's key-hole neckline which opens up to form a deep square.

McMurry Graduates Get Teaching Jobs

ABILENE—Eight 1949 graduates of McMurry have signed contracts to teach in public schools of the area and 36 still are available for positions in September.

Those who have accepted positions are Richard Elliott, Abilene, director of the high school band, Snyder; Truman Nix, Loraine, assistant coach at Hamlin; Vernon Townsend, Rule, assistant coach at Snyder; R. M. Patterson, Abilene, coach at Littlefield; Hubert Carson, McCaulley, director of the high school band, Throckmorton; David Paige, Coleman, and Birdie Margaret Walker, Abilene, Coleman Independent district; E. C. Barry, Plainview, head coach at Moran; and Alva Shirley, Avoca, public school music in Dallas. J. B. Kempson, Brownfield, will teach mathematics at McMurry for the Summer but will be available to teach math or business administration in high school in September.

Many of the students who have not yet accepted positions have not done so because they will not complete the work for their degrees until the close of the Summer session, Dr. H. S. Von Roeder, professor of education at McMurry, pointed out.

Rayon Towels 'Something New' For Beach

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Rayon beach towels and mats will be the "something new under the sun" which will compete for attention this Summer with cotton terry accessories.

Rayon mixes with cotton to weave a new toweling material which, manufacturers claim, is more absorbent than some all-cotton weaves. These new towels owe their claim to quicker thirst quenching to the affinity of viscose rayon fibers for water.

Amply-sized to give generous coverage, the towels are color-fast and the rayon content adds luster to the surfaces. Matching hand towels and washcloths forecast an indoor life for these newcomers after the swimming season is over.

Thanks to the development of an all-rayon yarn, lustrous new beach mats which are soft and absorbent and boast unusual strength will spread their charms over the sands. The yarn of crimped rayon staple is as thick as a telephone cord and is easily knitted or crocheted by amateur needlewomen into mats, rugs and so on.

Because the fiber is permanently crinkled, rugs won't lose their resilient softness no matter how wet they become nor how often they are washed. The naturally white fiber is vat-dyed in a variety of billiant colors.

Not to be outdone in brilliance or feats of absorbency are all-cotton terry cloth bath sheets and beach shawls and stoles. The so-called bath sheet which doubles as an exercise pad or beach towel is nine square feet of thick terry nap. Colors are white or deep-toned to appeal to masculine users.

Rainbow - striped or polka-dotted terry cloth stoles nearly six feet long are intended to add a fashionable fillip to beach towels. Besides offering protection from the sun to beach combers the extra-thick weave of such accessories is designed to blot a swimmer dry in a jiffy.

Miss Ruby Nelle Braly left recently for Midland where she will be employed as secretary in Shell Oil Company offices. She was honored with a number of farewell parties before going away.

Mrs. Ann Qualls recently returned home from Houston where she visited her sister, Mrs. W. Teer and accompanied Mrs. Ross Smith to Houston.

Recent holiday weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Fuller were their son Tommy and wife, Orelda, and children, Beverly Sue and James Douglas; and Jan Fuller, Mrs. William Tidwell and Jim Holiday, all of Midland. The young Fuller family and Mrs. Tidwell also visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Asher.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen R. Hampton returned from a visit in Cactus, Texas, with their son, Jack and family, and welcomed their new granddaughter, Janice Leigh Hampton.

Faye Boucher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Boucher, who is ill in a San Angelo Hospital is reported to be in a serious condition.

Farewell Party

Gene Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scott, was honored with a farewell party recently at the home of Tommy Jo Hudson. Co-hostesses were Ruth Steele and Clara Roberts. The Scott family is moving to Okla. Party games were enjoyed during the evening and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to the following: Ann Key, Larry Bagsley, Jerry Rape, Mamie Roberts, Reta Johnson, Donnie Belcher, Kenneth House, Brylene Henderson, Melvina Henderson, Don Hart, and Norma Jean Hudson.

C. E. "Putt" Brandon, director of the Summer Recreation Program here, announced this week that 83 children had signed up for the swimming classes to be held each Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at the Upton County swimming pool. Also, six adults enrolled in the swimming classes. This class is a new addition to the yearly program and is expected to grow.

Mrs. Ethel Crighton recently was called to Bushnell, Ill., to attend funeral services for her aunt, Mrs. Mabel Miner, who died May 30. Mrs. Miner was 81 years of age and had suffered a broken hip last January.

Installation of officers for the McCamey OES Chapter 818, were held May 31 in the Masonic Hall. The following officers were installed: Mrs. Iva Boyett, Worthy Matron; W. E. Boyett, Worthy Patron; Mrs. Ruth Gaddy, assistant Matron; J. W. Gaddy, assistant Patron; Mrs. Lois Rambo, secretary; Mrs. Johnnie Grisby, treasurer; Mrs. Gertrude Gibbs, conductress; Mrs. Edith Haley, assistant conductress; Mrs. Callie Fisher, chaplain; Mrs. Marjorie Rice, Marshall; Mrs. Irene Nettleship, organist; Mrs. Iris Bridges, Adah; Mrs. Ruby Holt, Ruth; Mrs. Madene Joyce, Esther; Mrs. Edna Earl Simons, Martha; Mrs. Robert Maxcey, Electa; Mrs. Peggy Smith, Warden; Mrs. J. T. Gibbs, sentinel.

Final plans are being made for the bathing revue to be held on the stage of the Grand Theater here Tuesday evening to name "Miss McCamey." The winner will be sponsored by the McCamey Chamber of Commerce in the Fort Stockton Bathing Beauty Revue next week.

Installation

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Young-McCollum Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5071, McCamey, conducted its annual Memorial Day services at the cemetery, assisted by the VFW Post and the Price Pool American Legion Post 421 and its Auxiliary.

The McCamey Tigers, negro baseball nine, will make its first appearance in new uniforms Sunday, when it tangles with the Monahans Lobos at 2:30 p. m. at the old softball diamond here. Merchants, who contributed to purchase the suits for the team, include: Blue Bonnet Cafe, Senter Sales, L. E. Stokes Trucking Co., Grigsby's Texaco Sta., C. W. Brown Motor Co., West Texas Utilities, Jesse Russell Drilling Cont., Mark Haesly's Humble Service Sta., Echo Drug and Oliver Jacobsen Co. Several individuals also donated funds for the purchase of the uniforms.

The City of McCamey purchased a 200-gallon DDT spray unit for $1,242 and put the machine to work. On the day following the purchase the city dump was sprayed. Beginning last Thursday the city was sprayed. Mayor C. W. Brown said the process will be repeated in about two weeks.

Installation of officers was held May 26, at Rankin in the new Rankin Municipal Building for the Business and Professional Women's Club, with Mrs. S. E. Braly, past president of the McCamey B&PW Club presiding as installing officer. The Rankin Club was organized in 1947 by the McCamey B&PW with Mrs. Jackie Pollard elected as its first president. Officers installed were: Mrs. Lelia Workman, president; Mrs. Nan Daugherty, vice president; Mrs. Helen Ross, recording secretary; Mrs. Preston Patton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Veda King, treasurer. After the installation, a program was held.

A&M Students Plan European Flight

COLLEGE STATION—With invitations to visit such trans-Atlantic personalities as the American-born Lady Nancy Astor in England and the international architect, Le Corbusier, in France, 14 Texas A&M College students and an instructor will fly from Chicago on June 20 for a Summer air tour of Europe and the British Isles. The "flying classroom" tour for junior and senior students in architecture and allied subjects at the college is under sponsorship of the Architecture Department.

Flying from Chicago, the group will spend the first night in Gander, Newfoundland, taking the northern route from there to Ireland, where they will refuel before hopping to Paris. Ten to fifteen days will be spent in France, where they will be under the guidance of Le Corbusier, an internationally recognized authority in functional architecture, and a consultant on the United Nations buildings now being built in New York.

From France the group will go to Italy, Switzerland, Luxembourg, Belgium, Holland and Denmark, before re-crossing the channel to spend most of the month of August in England.

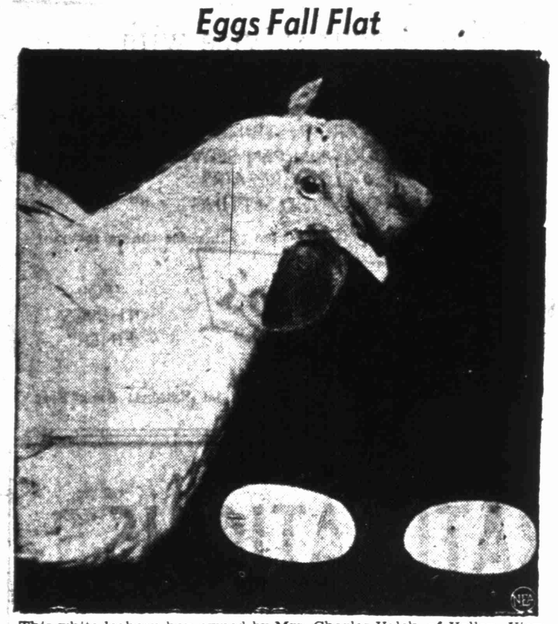
Eggs Fall Flat



This white leghorn hen owned by Mrs. Charles Valek, of Valley View, a Cleveland, Ohio, suburb, lays flat eggs. But every now and then, the bird lays a normal rounded egg. Mrs. Valek doesn't know what to make of it. The healthy hen seems to think nothing is odd at all. She cackles just like other hens and for just as long. Mrs. Valek says she is going to put a flat egg under a setting hen to see if it hatches a flat chicken. A neighbor suggested it might produce a chicken pattie.

College Grads Find Jobs, If Hustling

COLLEGE STATION — (AP) — A survey here shows this year's college graduate is finding a job if he knows something about looking for one and will hustle.

It is still pretty much the kind of a job he wants, and the starting pay is fair.

To get it he must be willing to call on a lot of prospective employers and sell his services.

This is given as the experience of 1,242 young men graduating from Texas A&M College in June.

The college placement bureau and an independent interviewer have just completed a study of the group's job prospects.

The veterans make up about 80 per cent of the class. Their average age is 24. About half the class is married. It is a mature group "better prepared to look for jobs and hold them than any of our classes in the past."

Largest Crop In History

Also, the study found, it is a group "aware of the drop in the number of jobs available and of the fact that this year's crop of job-hunting college graduates is the largest in history."

Most of them expect to go to work for $50 to $60 a week—slightlyy under last year's starting pay. They report agreeable surprise that "offers have dropped only about $15 a month, from an average of about $260 last year to $245 now." Many offers in technical fields are higher, running $275 to $325.

The last season the Brooklyn Dodgers finished in last place in the National League was in 1905.

Bob York's Mobil Service Station Open For Business

The new and attractive station is owned and operated by J. R. (Bob) York who came to Midland recently after having been engaged in construction work for an oil company in Arabia the last year. Anson is his home city.

Expert lubrication and wash jobs will be a specialty of the new service station, York said. Equipment of the latest design has been installed. Service of all kinds will be of a courteous and satisfactory nature, is the pledge of the management.

Maybe He Forgot To Put In Salt

NEW ORLEANS —(AP)— In some trades you've got to stay in practice, especially if you're a glass-eater.

Davis Kinsey, 29, of Harvey, was brought to Charity Hospital with a cut and bleeding mouth.

He told attendants he tried munching on a highball glass in a bar, but he was "out of form."

They quoted him as saying:

"I used to be a circus glass-eater and I wanted to see if I could still do it."

He disappeared before X-rays could be made.

White-Haired Expert, No Wonder, Studies Why Texans Get Killed In Auto Accidents

"Now it's not even gray," the 41-year-old statistician said. "It's just plain white."

Woerner's figures show that 2,059 persons were killed last year in motor vehicle accidents on Texas streets and highways—an all time high. Another 60,000 persons were injured.

"That's why my hair is white," he said. "It's no fun to sit around here every day and juggle figures about people getting killed and maimed in automobile accidents. But we have to know what causes these accidents so we can work toward preventing them."

Woerner gets full backing from his boss, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the department, and numerous safety associations and law enforcement agencies. He wishes he had the support of every driver and pedestrian in the state.

"Accidents don't just happen," Woerner declared. "They are caused.

"In every accident involving vehicles traveling in opposite directions, someone was on the wrong side of the road. Every intersection accident means that there was a right-of-way, stop sign or signal light violation."

When the causes of accidents are known, then steps can be taken to prevent accidents—or at least lessen them. That's where Woerner's figures — along with those of his four full time assistants—come in. Traffic flow, relative speeds, concentration of enforcement, the frequency of intersections, and parking are some of the variable factors in accidents which make the statistics important.

Right now Woerner is worried about the high percentage of accidents on rural highways—not inside city limits.

"My wife gets after me every morning," Woerner says. "She says I'm so busy reading the paper to find out about accidents that I don't know what I eat for breakfast."

Woerner figures that 73 per cent of all persons killed in auto crashes last year died on rural highways. The statistician laid down his pencil and put it this way:

"During 1948, a total of 1,495 persons were driving or walking along rural highways. Crash, bang, blooie! They never got where they were going. They ended up in the graveyard."

There were only seven mornings out of 365 days in 1948 when Woerner read his paper without finding a fatal traffic accident. The gory figures ranged from single fatalities to 19 bodies left along the highways one July Sunday.

Woerner has a theory as to why 40 per cent of the fatal accidents in rural areas occurred on Saturdays and Sundays.

"Rural highways on weekends are made more hazardous by the many city drivers who flock to the country for picnics, fishing, and trips to nearby towns to visit friends and relatives," he said. "These drivers, accustomed to 30-mile-per-hour speeds, are not skilled in operating their vehicles at rural 60-mile-per-hour speeds. As a result these operators too often make the wrong decision or find themselves in a position where they lack the time to act."

Woerner found that one-half of the fatal accidents on rural highways are the result of head-on collisions or a car running off the roadway.

Suggest Divided Highways

"A complete system of divided highways would eliminate the head-on accidents," he said. "Bordering all highways with a brick wall would eliminate the ran-off-roadway accidents. These things cannot be in our day, but we can and should drive as if they did exist."

Woerner does not agree with the advice that "to stay alive you must watch the other driver."

"This is a wise procedure," he says, "But we find that 63 per cent of the rural fatal accidents in 1948 involved only one vehicle."

Another factor Texans often overlook, Woerner said, is the economic loss from motor vehicle accidents. The pocket-book drain in 1948 was $83,226,975.

"Just think of that," Woerner said. "Take that much in paychecks and you could buy 10,000 five-room houses at $7,500 each, 10,000 refrigerators at $250 each, 10,000 electric ranges at $200 each, 10,000 pairs of men's shoes at $15 each, 10,000 men's suits at $85 each, 10,000 radios at $25 each, and 1,239 automobiles at $2,000 each. That's a wad of dough."

If you are still unconvinced after glancing at Woerner's statistics, he suggests this:

"For visible evidence of the loss from accidents, notice the wrecked car graveyards scattered all over the state. Then visit your nearest hospital and see the patients who are trying to mend broken arms, legs, pelvis bones, and necks. Then a few moments in your nearest cemetery will reveal the real loss that no amount of money could repay."

Hughes Reported Constructing Giant Twin-Jet 'Copter

CULVER CITY, CALIF. —(AP)— Howard Hughes, who has a penchant for doing things in a big way, has his aircraft engineers working on a twin-jet helicopter which dwarfs all previous such craft.

Hughes spokesmen confirmed that it is a restricted Air Force project, but declined to comment on a Los Angeles Times story which said:

The ship, the XH-17, is designed to hoist tanks, field artillery and the like, weighing up to 10 tons, on short hauls. It will be as big as a railroad boxcar with rotor blades measuring 136 feet from tip to tip.

Power will be supplied by two J-35 jet engines producing an estimated 4,000 h.p.

The cost is "confidential," but Hughes purchased design and production rights from the Kellett Aircraft Corporation of New Wales, Pa., for a reported $150,000. General Electric is building the J-35 jet engines.

Office Girls Keep 30-Year Pledge

NEW YORK—(AP)—Thirty years ago, six young office girls made a pledge to meet every 10 years on a street corner near where they worked.

Three of them—grandmothers now—kept the date recently at the northeast corner of 27th St. and Broadway.

Two have died, and another couldn't make the third rendezvous since 1919.

Buffalo Trail Scout Camp Opens Sunday

This is the first of eight weeks of camping at the ranch with each weekly period to accomodate approximately 100 Scouts and some 20 adult leaders.

A total of 772 Scouts have enrolled for the camp and Scout officials predict the goal of 1,000 will be reached.

Dr. P. T. Quast, chairman of the council committee on camping, stated that at least one more week will be added including July 24-31, to take care of Scouts and troops not able to attend the present schedule of camping.

All negro Scouts of the Buffalo Trail Council will be given the opportunity to camp at the ranch August 1 to 6. A central camp staff of qualified leaders, including a junior medical student, is on hand to assist scoutmasters with their troop program.

Dairy Made Store Opens This Weekend

Joe Davenport, well-known Midlander, is the manager of the new Dairy Made Store, which opened for business this weekend at the corner of North A and Texas Streets here.

The firm features Dairy Made malts, sundaes and cones and specializes in desserts for private parties.

Summer Recreation Program Scheduled To Start Monday

By SHORTY SHELBURNE

A gigantic Summer Recreation Program for all children of school age in Midland will swing into action at 9 a.m. Monday. Coach Garvin Beauchamp is general director of the program.

Activity gets underway with a supervised swimming session at Pagoda Pool in West Midland. The playground program will start at 5 p.m. Monday.

Swimming will be held Monday through Friday of each week between the hours of 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. A fee of nine cents will be charged and all swimmers must furnish their own swim suit and towel.

The program is to continue through six weeks with a new theme for each week.

The first week will be devoted to organization. There will be organized activities for all children. The high school playground area, tennis courts, gymnasium and football stadium will be used for conducting various phases of the program.

The organization of teams, selection of a safety council, discussion of plans and final arrangements for the six weeks of activity will take up most of Monday's time.

Following organization week, Sports Week, Athletic Week, Bicycle Week, Patriotic Week and Kite Week will come in that order.

A full program for Latin American children is planned with activity to be conducted at the Latin American school. Play sessions will be conducted from 5 to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Competition between Latin American teams and other teams is planned in baseball, track and other sports.

The program for children at Carver School will be under the immediate supervision of Mrs. Doris Richardson. There will be two sessions daily. The first will be from 9 to 11 a.m. and the other session will be from 5 to 7 p.m.

The Carver School activities will be similar to those at other schools and will include softball, volley ball, quiet games, nature hunts and craft work. The latter will be stressed.

Questionaires were distributed in the schools here several weeks ago and it is expected several hundred children will enroll in the Summer program.

Dancing Does It

Old soldiers never die—and they usually never dance either. But here's one who dances and loves it. Joseph Manning celebrates his 104th birthday by cutting a mean rug with receptionist Mabel Greene at Los Angeles, Calif., Veterans' Administration Hospital. Next to spinning yarns about his Civil War days, skirmishes with the Indians and how he was in Ford Theater when Lincoln was shot, Manning likes to dance. He claims it helps him keep his youth.

Recent visitors in Midland with Mrs. C. G. McCall were Mr. and Mrs. Byron Norris of Wink. Mrs. Norris is Mrs. McCall's daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris were enroute to College Station, where their son graduated from Texas A&M. He is a chemical engineer.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON—

Texas Rancher Scouting For New Grazing Lands

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A big, strapping Texas rancher who flies his own plane stopped the other day for a visit in the national capital.

Joe B. Finley of Encinal, who runs the 240,000-acre Callaghan Ranch 27 miles north of Laredo, is a friendly, modest Texan and, unless you happened to know him, you'd never guess he operates on such a vast and modern scale.

At the Agriculture Department he is recognized as one of the first American cattlemen to warn about the foot-and-mouth disease outbreak in Mexico. He urged speedy and vigorous action, even though it meant he had to write off as a loss the thousands of head of livestock he owned in Mexico.

Accompanied by his attorney, G. C. Mann of Laredo, Rancher Finley flew up from Texas in his medium-sized twin-engine plane. Several hundred head of Callaghan ranch Herefords are fattening on blue grass in Virginia's Shenandoah Valley.

"We are not sure yet," Finley commented, "but we think this is going to turn out to be as good grazing as any place in the nation. Right now we send a lot of our cattle to the Flint Hills in Kansas, which is the best we have yet found. This grass up here may be equally as good."

Fatten Faster

A steer can fatten much faster on the Flint Hills than in Wyoming, Colorado or other western states because of the mineral content of the soil, Finley said. He has been sending three-year old steers to the Flint Hills to fatten. He hopes to send two-year-olds to Virginia or surrounding states to get them ready for market.

If the limited scale operations in the East prove profitable, the Texan plans to ship 5,000 to 10,000 or more head annually and contract with more land owners back here for use of their pastures. He flew over and inspected a 150,000-acre tract of land in North Carolina and is keeping it in mind for leasing. It's timber and marsh lands along the Atlantic Coast.

One of the obvious advantages of fattening cattle in this part of the county, he pointed out, is the fact that they would be near the big cities and the shipping savings would be considerable.

While here Finley called on his new congressman, Rep. Lloyd Bentsen of McAllen. He also went to the Agriculture Department to urge action on plans to build a foot-and-mouth disease research laboratory. The law authorizing the project provides it shall be on an island, but so far no site has been selected.

Around the capital:

A. M. Felts, Austin lawyer has been appearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission on behalf of two Texas bus lines which want to expand their systems to serve the Panhandle and Rio Grande Valley. Felts was a guest of Rep. Homer Thornberry at a Texas congressional luncheon.

Washington's social life is not made up completely of cocktail parties and banquets.

A picture of the home life of a congressman is given in an account written by Rep. Bentsen for newspapers in his Rio Grande Valley district. Telling of a visit to his newly-bought home by a Texas colleague, he wrote:

"At dinner the other night the speaker thoroughly won over our youngest son, Lan, age two. The speaken and Lan retired to a corner all by themselves and fed each other popcorn. After they downed a couple of boxes between them, we finally managed to put an end to the gustatory performance by threatening to call the speaker about midnight to walk the floor with Lan and the stomach ache he was bound to have. We didn't have to make good our threat, because Lan didn't have the tummy ache."

Good Gas Service

Over 40 miles of new transmission and distribution pipe lines have been installed by West Texas Gas Company this year. Many more miles of new lines will be installed before the end of 1949.

Many of these new pipe lines, all of which are designed to maintain good gas service, replaced smaller lines. Other new lines were extensions to serve new customers and others were designed to transport natural gas to cities and towns West Texas Gas Company serves.

This year we will invest over $2,225,000.00 in new facilities... all of which are designed to maintain good gas service, high in quality, low in price... the best bargain in your family budget.

Fuzzyless Wuzzy

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Economic advisers make secret report to their chiefs; deficit in economy cannot be avoided next year; Congresswoman Douglas hits Senator Downey where it hurts.

WASHINGTON—The eight top economists who compose the real working brains of the Council of Economic Advisers have submitted a secret five-page memorandum to their chiefs—Dr. Edwin Nourse, John Clark and Leon Keyserling. The memorandum was prompted by the council's failure to present a clear picture of the nation's economy to the President several weeks ago.

In view of this failure, the eight economists now have spelled out the fiscal facts of life, and hope it eventually may reach the President. The analysis is most important because it represents pure economic thinking, whereas the council's reports to Truman always are diluted and distorted by the power politics and jealousies of the three-man board.

1. The government will be faced with a deficit next year even if Truman gets his four-billion-dollar tax increase. Lowest estimated deficit even with the tax increase is two billions.

2. The government simply cannot make significant cuts in federal expenditures in view of the large proportion of fixed costs, i.e., interest or debt, the military establishment and Veterans Administration. Budget-cutters will have to confine themselves to the six to eight billion dollars allocated for reclamation, farm programs and the civilian agencies of government. And Congress just can't squeeze any significant funds out of the latter. They were pruned to the bone during the war.

Slowing Economy

3. It is quite evident that the American economy is slowing down, and if we strain at this time to avoid a deficit—a goal which cannot be achieved, anyway—we will be walking right into a serious economic decline because:

(A) If we try to avoid a deficit by increasing taxes, we deflate the economy—by taking money away from consumers, leaving them with less purchasing power; or

(B) If we try to avoid a deficit by curtailing federal expenditures, it will decrease the flow of money through the economy. This, in turn, will add to the speed with which we go into a depression.

4. The economists pointed out that even today—while government expenditures are going up — the economy is slipping down. Curtailing government expenditures at this time would simply force it into a more rapid decline.

The economists concluded with the warning that the government must place first things first and that the important thing to avoid is a business recession. A deficit, they said, is of only secondary importance.

"We will be in good shape, they argued, if we develop a small deficit and thus avoid a depression. However, if would be tragic to try to avoid a small deficit and thereby throw ourselves into a 200-billion depression."

Significantly, the government's eight top economists agreed to this report unanimously. Political considerations played no part in their decisions. Until this morning, it had not yet reached the White House. Perhaps someone will give Truman a copy of the Washington Post so he can read it today.

Lady Takes Off Gloves

Members of Congress customarily don't cast too much aspersion on each other. Also, a lady congressman is supposed to be demure, winsome, and follow the leadership of the males.

However, California's Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas, who is as smart as she is beautiful, has chucked all this folderol aside and really taken off the gloves with the senior senator from California—Sheridan Downey.

In a memo circulated to California leaders, Mrs. Douglas has pretty much shown up the senator for what he is—a turncoat on his campaign promises.

She hit the alleged Democrat from California where it hurt most—by recalling the manner in which he climbed into the Senate as a California ham-and-egger. In those days, opportunist Downey was the personal counsel for Dr. Townsend of old-age-pension fame. But forgetting his onetime great solicitude for the poor and the aged, Downey recently held up federal money for 2,500,000 old people, 1,200,000 dependent children, and 86,000 blind—all because of his fight for the big power and farm interests of California.

Senator Puts On Shoes

Mrs. Douglas didn't put it in these words, but Downey, once the barefoot senator from California, has now become a rampant and prosperous defender of California's big interests.

But she did point to the ludicrous fact that, 25 years ago, when the Republicans wanted to defeat the 160-acre limitation on federal reclamation land, they kicked out another commissioner of reclamation, Arthur Powell Davis—on the grounds that he was an engineer! Real reason, of course, was that he was strictly enforcing the 160-acre limitation.

But in 1948-49, Senator Downey and Republican friends reversed this tactic in effect and provided that neither Commissioner of Reclamation Mike Straus nor his California deputy, Richard Boke, could hold office because they are not engineers. Like Davis, they also were enforcing the law.

And when the current House of Representatives overruled Downey and the GOP, Downey then threatened a filibuster, and did hold up payments to the old people he once championed for two months while the pay bill was stuck in conference.

"Senator Downey," concludes Mrs. Douglas, "was more concerned with winning the fight for the private power interests and the corporate farmers than with seeing government checks go out to 2,500,000 old people, 1,240,000 dependent children, 86,000 blind and 15,000 federal workers."

Another Hot Potato?

It looks as if President Truman narrowly had missed fumbling another hot potato in his search to get a chairman of the National Security Resources Board.

Under consideration at the White House recently has been the name of Ward Canaday for the controversial resources post, for which the Senate vetoed ex-Governor Mon Wallgren of Washington. Canaday is chairman of the Willys-Overland Company, which manufactured the famous Jeep during the war, and has been a Toledo industrialist of note.

However, while the White House had Canaday's name under consideration for this strategic job, it turns out that the Willys-Overland Company has been charged with war fraud and the case now is before the Justice Department which is considering prosecution.

Fraud charges against the Willys-Overland Company are based upon events which occurred when the government terminated its war contract and turned the Jeep plant back to Willys-Overland. The alleged frauds were discovered by the General Accounting Office which is entrusted by Congress to review all government expenditures.

As a result of general accounting office scrutiny, it now is charged that Willys-Overland owes the government $1,115,915. The fraud is based upon the allegation that this amount was concealed. A total of five different charges are made against Willys-Overland, as follows:

First, it is alleged that slightly over one million dollars of "common inventory" was charged to the government. These consist of items which Willys was able to use in its own civilian production without any loss. But after charging the cost up to the government, Willys later repurchased this inventory for only $376,991—though it charged the government $1,000,000.

This, according to the General Accounting Office, was misrepresentation and concealment, and the government was defrauded of $668,776.

2. The government disputes the figure of $75,000 for other common inventory.

3. The government also claims that additional inventory which cost the government $87,669 was purchased by Willys from the War Assets Administration for $15,911. In doing this, the government claims, Willys concealed the fact that it already had used $17,000 worth of this inventory in its regular production.

4. Willys claimed and was paid $1,815,000 by the government for its inventory of Jeep parts. But these were billed at "spare parts" prices, which were in excess of the actual cost. Therefore, the government claims that Willys now owes 43 per cent of the inventory which previously had been marked up 57 per cent. The difference, the government claims, amounts to $200,000.

5. In making Jeeps, Willys charged the government for general administration expenses, overhead, etc. In view of the above fraud charges, the government now claims that the fraction of the administrative expenses which were based upon excessive charges should now be refunded to the government. This amounts to another $146,500, which the Justice Department wants returned from the company that manufactured Jeeps during the war.

'Suicide' Changes Mind In Mid-Air

MELBOURNE —(AP)— Sidney Charles Dyer, tired of life, dived from his Melbourne hotel window, 40 feet above the street. In the air he made a snap decision to live some more. Today he is still alive.

Dyer told police that when he felt himself falling through space, he wanted to keep on living. "I twisted in air and back-somersaulted on to a shop veranda next to the hotel," he said.

The fall knocked him unconscious, but he suffered only bruises. Dyer, 35, is an artist.

The American League teams finished the 1948 season in exactly the same order in night-game won-and-lost standings as in the regular rankings.

And by our Constitution and laws we enjoy the government as servant and not the economic master of the people. We are a people dedicated to the theory of equal opportunity.

We believe that everyone should receive an education at public expense; that he should be free to choose his own occupation; that competition is the best device to assure maximum production; that monopoly is undesirable except in those cases where it clearly will confer a direct public benefit.

Constitutional government, the Bill of Rights, opportunity, the right to enjoy the fruits of one's own labor, freedom from unnecessary restraint in the pursuit of one's own welfare—are the principles which, for over 150 years, have guided our System.

Salesman Spots Serious Sightseers By Staring Such Things As Shoes

Summer and winter, Mink stands on the same busy corner in downtown Washington and sells guided tours of the nation's capitol to visitors. An infallible method of distinguishing visitors from residents, and then properly classifying them, is his key to a very profitable business. His average is only one-half of one mistake per 100 "approaches." This fraction of an error occurs when a resident happens to pass by shepherding two or three out-of-towners.

Looks At Feet

Honeymooners are his best customers. He claims he can spot them almost before they turn the corner. When he sees a couple holding hands he immediately looks at their feet. If they are both wearing new shoes, they're honeymooners. It's infallible, he says.

And the chances are they'll take his deluxe $8.50 tour, which includes a private limousine ride of 50 miles to all the points of high interest and a boat ride up the Potomac.

"The young man's pocket will be full of money which his father gave him as a wedding present," Mink explains, "and at that stage of married life they won't care how they spend it."

He says that there are many obvious signs which mark the visitor.

"They'll amble along. When they come to a corner they will pause and look up and down the street before deciding which way to go. There's always the camera and map. And they will be scrubbed and freshly pressed."

How Many Days

Mink can do better than unerringly pick out the visitors on a crowded street, he can tell you exactly how many days they have been in town. He proved this ability by picking out a half dozen before they passed, estimating how many days they'd been in town and then stopping them and checking his figure. He didn't miss on one.

"Mostly I can tell by how fast they walk," he explains. "The first day they poke along. Next day it's a little faster, and you can tell by how much of the 'lost' look they've lost."

He says that practically no visitor walks along the street as fast as the average Washingtonian, however.

For some reason which Mink can't explain, visitors who are carrying umbrellas or who are smoking pipes just aren't interested in buying a guided tour, even the $2.50 one. Unless business is very slack, he doesn't even approach such persons.

Family Groups

Next to honeymooners his best set of customers are family groups—mamma, poppa, and the kids. But it's the sightseeing families who worry Mink the most, too. He says that they will invariably start running out of money before the trip is over.

"The parents have probably been saving up for years to bring junior and his sister here to see the White House and the Lincoln Memorial, only to discover that they haven't saved up quite enough. It's pretty tough to get by for less than $10 a day per person. And that's staying in the average hotels, and skipping night clubs and expensive restaurants."

Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois supply the great bulk of all the visitors to Washington, Mink has discovered. Increasing numbers are coming from Canada. Business falls off only slightly in the winter, but the type of visitor changes.

"The winter visitors are employers—employes take vacations in the summers—and people who are retired," Mink explains.

By their shoes he knows them as visitors, but unmarried. Sightseeing "salesman" Earl S. Mink (right) peddles his tours to two visitors to Washington, Roberta Smith and Al Metzler of New York, on a Washington street corner. Holding hands is encouraging, but new shoes would have spotted them as honeymooners.

Little ECA Radium (3.5 Grams) Gives France An $80,000 Lift

European recovery in more ways than one, this French child's operation was made possible by Marshall Plan radium.

PARIS —(NEA)— Since August, 1948, 3.5 grams of Marshall Plan radium have been sent to France.

That sounds like a very meager quanity, but its value is $80,000 and it has been enough to bring new life to those branches of industry and medicine which depend on that precious,rare metal

Before Certain Death

French doctors have been allotted 55 per cent of the 3.5 grams Dr. Roger Petyt of Roubaiz, for example, received 10 milligrams as his share of the metal under the Economic Cooperation Administration arrangement. With this minute quanity he has been able to establish a modern and flourishing radiumtherapic clinic. In his clinic he can give radium treatments to thousands of victims of cancerous infections, who otherwise would have suffered certain death.

Dr. Petyt and the other doctors who have received this radium are outstanding experts with its use and are employing the most advanced techniques of treatment. They are advancing the whole field of radium as a medicine.

In French industry the use of radium has become practically indispensable to the modernization of many factories. One of its uses is for the detection of flaws and weaknesses in water, gas and chemical piping. This use has aided the construction of a new electric power plant in the Paris suburb of Gennevilliers, the largest such plant in Europe.

ECA Came Along

Another wide use for radium is in the production of luminous watch dials and instruments. This was a small but flourishing industry in France before the war, but was unable to start up again until ECA aid came along.

Only 2.2 grams of the total of 3.5 grams came from America. The rest came from the Belgian Congo, but was purchased with dollar credits built up under the terms of ECA. The greatly increased need for radium in France as the result of new uses for it has created a demand for imports of about 5 grams each year.

Fort Worth Plans Gigantic Birthday Celebration In July

FORT WORTH—Fort Worth will celebrate its 100th anniversary with a gigantic "birthday party" July 16-23.

It will be called "FIESTA-CADE." More than 2,000 persons will participate in the outdoor spectacle to be presented each night in Farrington Field, the city school's football stadium.

Historical events of the city's first 100 years will be dramatized in Fiesta-cade. The football field will be the stage and over it will roll stage coaches and covered wagons re-enacting pioneer days. There'll be Indians, soldiers, cowboys and other early-day personalities, gigantic sets and picturesque costumes.

Among Fiesta-cade's thrilling episodes will be the cattle trail era, arrival of the "iron horse," a ball at the old Texas Spring Palace, and a memorable scene from Casa Manana, "The Night Is Young."

"The Fiesta-cade will dramatize the history not only of Fort Worth but, in a general way, of all Texas," officials said. "We want Texans everywhere to come join in the fun and help us celebrate our birthday."

Socialite Married With Chickenpox

Now it has been disclosed that socialite Sylvie Brice went through the private rites suffering from the disease. She was married at "Floresta," Hope Ranch estate of her parents, to E. Clifford Potter II, of New York and Tucson, Ariz.

She came down with chickenpox the day of her wedding but rather than disappoint guests, some of them from the East, her doctor allowed her to go through with the wedding. But he barred the reception and ordered her to trade her bouquet for a fever thermometer.

Cowboys Gain In Favor With Kids

The American cowboy has made a sensational comeback in the minds of the younger set, which evidently is convinced there's no fight left in the Germans or Japs or even all the unseen enemies on the other planets.

Sale of cowboy equipment for the 4-12 age group are zooming. They're 25 per cent higher than before the war, reports the Toy Manufacturers of the U. S. A. Coincidentally, traffic in Indian wear is up 15 per cent.

Occupation— 'Just Sittin' '

- The Ranchland Hill location is the best site for an eighteen-hole golf course in the Midland area. It has deep soil free of caliche, the finest water supply, and terrain which provides a commanding view of Midland.
- H. L. Winkler and Walter Thompson, the operators, have the "know-how" of golf course construction and maintenance, along with the incentive and spirit which can make a private enterprise so successful. Because of better management, the members will get more benefits per dollar pent.
- The grass for the first nine holes is rapidly spreading, and seeding the bent grass greens on the second nine will begin this fall, providing, when grass is well established, a first class eighteen-hole golf course which Midland needs.
- Through its officers, directors and committees the club membership will function to schedule country club activities such as barbecues, dances, tournaments, and otherwise encourage full use of facilities by members and guests.
- By contract with the operators, the club is guaranteed ten years of play, and preferential rights to purchase the property in event of liquidation.
- Plans provide for enlargement of the club house and construction of tennis courts and swimming pool as funds become available. It must be recognized that a suitable swimming pool will cost $35,000 or more.

We Thought Hams Needed Smoke

DENTON—Hams don't like to be smoked.

You could draw this conclusion from experiments conducted with pigs at Texas State College for Women.

The advanced nutrition class chose two male pigs, six weeks old, for the experiments. Both were fed the same beneficial diets, but one pig was exposed to cigaret smoke for two minutes, three times daily. This pig didn't eat as much as the other. He lost weight, developed a skin irritation and a bald spot appeared on his stomach.

The other pig got along fine.

When the class took the first pig off the smoke treatment he gained weight in a week and a half. His skin cleared. Hair grew again on his stomach.

Daddy Ringtail

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And The Mud Hen

Bobby Ringtail and Mugwump Monkey were walking along by the Whispering River one day. They were trying to find the mud hen. Daddy Ringtail had told them that the mud hen lived on the river and would be a good friend to have but a very hard friend to get.

But maybe I'd better tell you, right now, what a mud hen isn't and what a mud hen is. First, a mud hen isn't a duck. A mud hen swims like a duck, but the mud hen is black all over, while ducks are usually a pretty white or red or brown or green. Then too, the mud hen is very easily frightened. When that happens, instead of flying away as the duck would do, the mud hen hides in the very tall grass that grows along by the river.

"I don't see the mud hen out on the river!" Mugwump said in his very loud voice.

"Maybe she is hiding in this tall grass," said Bobby. "Let's walk through it and maybe we'll find her." And that's what the little monkeys did. They walked and walked through the grass, but the mud hen was nowhere to be found. At last they gave up, and Mugwump Monkey went on home.

Bobby sat down on a clean rock that was sticking up out of the mud. He sat very still, trying to think where the mud hen might be. And as he was sitting there, so very quiet, looking down at the mud—suddenly he saw the mud hen. She was sitting so still in the black mud and she was so black herself that Bobby almost didn't see her at all.

When the mud hen saw that Bobby had found her, she stood up and stretched her wings and her legs. She had gotten a little tired from being so still, you see.

"Young man!" she said to Bobby. "Let me tell you something! Whenever you want to find a mud hen, come by yourself—walk very quietly—and use your quiet voice. Remember that mud hens are easily frightened!" Then the mud hen waded out in the water, and swam on her way to tend to her mud hen business.

And you know—this makes me think that you can more often make friends by being quiet and gentle than by being loud and gruff. Happy day!

Marseilles Fights Way Back To Pre-War Status As Port

MARSEILLES — (NEA) — Marshall Plan aid is about to make its first contribution to the reconstruction of this gigantic Mediterranean port, but France, almost unassisted, has brought this vital lifeline back from near-death.

Less than four years ago, evacuating German armies staged a fearful example of their infamous demolition prowess here. For three days, as invading American troops approached the city, thunderous explosions shook the streets, chilling the souls of Marseilles' 600,000 port-dependent population.

When the dust and water had settled, more than 30,000 yards of piers were crumbled concrete and shattered pylons; 236 dockside cranes were twisted steel; 173 ships, their hulls blown in, rested on the bottom inside the mile-long breakwater; dozens of warehouses were shambles.

Today, with only half as much equipment in operation, the port of Marseilles ships more passengers than in 1939. Seventy per cent of the prewar freight load is being handled. By the end of the year, imports and exports should exceed 1939.

Credit for the recovery of this vital Mediterranean port goes partly to U. S. Army engineers, who made

Of the 173 blasted ships which littered the harbor floor, all but 12 have been refloated or cut to pieces below water and scrapped. Pier space in almost the entire port is usable, although some of the temporary American Army repairs still being used are beginning to rot and cave in.

Fifty-five cranes were made operative after the German land mines wrecked the port. Another 45 have been built in France or purchased in the United States or Britain. Two-thirds of the port's warehouses have been repaired or replaced, and work is going forward rapidly to advance the total warehouse space over that of 1939.

Convinced that French ports are a key factor in the European Recovery Program, French government officials are hoping for Marshall Plan credits which will speed the reconstruction work. Meanwhile, the first four of 15 Marshall Plan cranes are being installed to assume some of the burden of the port's expanding business.

Seven American cranes, bought for cash and already installed, will soon be hoisting merchandise. Unfortunately, gear boxes on the cranes have proved defective, and replacement parts are being awaited from a Cleveland manufacturer. Still more unfortunately Communist newspapers here have made a good deal of political hay over the failure of the American machinery to function.

Marshall Plan goods destined for the factories, farms and homes of France, meanwhile, continue to go through the Marseilles port in increasing quantities. Since September, 227,872 tons of American Marshall Plan coal have been unloaded in Marseilles. Minerals and seeds arrive in smaller shipments.

Complicated System

French port authorities, anxious to publicize Marshall Plan arrivals, dislike the complicated shipping system which, they say, has made it impossible to know which shipments are Marshall Plan and which are not.

"We've a strong Communist element in Marseilles" declares Jean Revel, port directing engineer. "They know how to run the Marshall Plan down. We'd like to run it up, but we need to know when and what shipments are coming under the recovery program.

"We're also trying to arrange for more of France's Marshall Plan products to be delivered here, rather than Le Havre or Bordeaux. If we could publicize the arrival of American goods in Marseilles, the propaganda value in Southern France would be tremendous."

Conservative Or Liberal, Which Is Supreme Court?

WASHINGTON—(AP)—There's not much use in a layman's attempting to make up his mind whether the present Supreme Court is predominantly "liberal" or conservative." The Terminiello decision on May 16 proved the futility of it, if any proof had been necessary.

Experts on constitutional law often attempt to figure it out by making a statistical analysis of the justices' votes in civil rights cases. But their conclusions don't prove much.

In the first place, what is liberal to one man seems conservative to another. The words don't have any clear meaning.

And often in a so-called civil rights case the court's decisions are based on legal points quite apart from the main issue.

"I don't believe I know what they mean when they talk about a liberal or conservative judge," one eminent legal authority recently told this reporter. "It is not a field in which the term is applicable.

"I know what a liberal politician is. But a judge can't be either liberal or conservative. He is capable or incapable. If he is a good judge, all he seeks to do is base his opinion on the law and the Constitution."

The Terminiello case involved the right of free speech, whether the city of Chicago could convict a man of disorderly conduct for giving an inflammatory talk when the audience and the crowd outside were in a condition of near riot.

The Supreme Court has repeatedly recognized that the right of free speech is not absolute, that there are times and places where a man cannot be permitted to say everything he wishes.

But you'll never know whether the majority of the court believes Terminiello overstepped the bounds. That wasn't decided.

The court reversed Terminiello's conviction. But the case was not decided on the content of his speech or the circumstances of its delivery. In reading through the record, the court stopped short when it came upon the trial judge's charge to the jury, and it never went any further.

The trial judge, interpreting the Chicago ordinance under which Terminiello had been convicted, said that "misbehavior may constitue a breach of the peace if it stirs the public to anger, invites dispute, brings about a condition of unrest or creates a disturbance."

Invites Dispute

Justice Douglas, writing the opinion of the Court majority, said: "A function of free speech under our system of government is to invite dispute. It may indeed best serve its high purpose when it induces a condition of unrest, creates dissatisfaction with conditions as they are or even stirs people to anger."

The parts of the ordinance concerned in the case, as construed by the trial judge, were declared unconstitutional. Whether they would have been if the trial judge had said something different, or nothing at all, one can only guess.

The rest of the court, dissenting, thought the majority was entirely wrong in hinging its decision on the trial judge's remarks. They pointed out that the defendant had taken no exception to them and that none of the lower courts had taken any notice of the judge's charge. It hadn't become an issue, as Chief Justice Vinson pointed out in a dissent, until the U. S. Supreme Court "ferreted it out of a lengthy and somewhat confused record."

On this general contention, the other justices, Frankfurter, Burton and Jackson, agreed with Vinson. But they didn't agree with "the Chief" on another point.

Vinson in his dissent indicated that he too was shocked at the trial judge's statement. He said that if the defendant had made an issue of it, he would have agreed with the decision of the majority.

Jackson, however, in a 25-page dissent not only deplored the manner in which the court had reached its decision. He also defended Chicago's right to punish Terminiello for his utterances. He even spoke sympathetically of the trial judge's remarks.

But is Jackson, the dissenters' chief spokesman in this case, a "conservative?" A friend of his says that Jackson, a former New Deal politician, once told him "I believe in liberal laws, strictly construed."

Indicted By Government

After eight super-secret sessions, a federal grand jury in San Francisco indicted Harry Bridges, left, head of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, for lying in denying he was a Communist when he applied for citizenship in 1945. The jury accused Bridges of conspiring with J. R. Robertson, right, first vice president of the ILWU, and another union official, who were both indicted for perjury, to obtain his citizenship by fraud. Bail was set at $5,000 for each of the three union leaders.

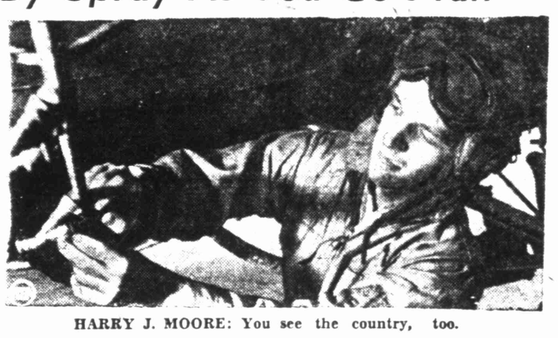
Veteran Finances College By Spray-As-You-Go Plan



HARRY J. MOORE: You see the country, too.

STATE COLLEGE, PA.—(NEA)—There are more ways than one of working your way through college, and a 25-year-old ex-Navy pilot has found a new way to do it.

Harry J. Moore, of Philadelphia, sophomore at Pennsylvania State College, likes planes, and came up with a plan which permits him to go on flying and still earn his degree.

When the good weather comes, Moore flies a plane to the campus and each weekend takes off on a spraying assignment. His assignment may take him anywhere from South Carolina to New England, but he never fails to report for classes Monday morning.

In his plane, he sprays cotton fields, potato fields, forests, and sometime cities. It's not dangerous, but "people think it is," he says.

"A Summer Job"

"It's really a Summer job," Moore says, "but I begin earlier because the spraying season begins before school ends."

At Penn State, Moore is studying forestry. He hopes to major in entomology and he sees possibilities of combining his spraying activities with his forestry career.

The jovial Navy flyer tried cross-country running at Penn State, but gave up the sport when his spraying job took him cross-country at considerably less effort to himself.

"It's easier to see the country this way," he smiles.

Dark, Longer Swim Suit Minimizes Size

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The woman who says she's "too old" to wear bathing suits isn't up on her fashions.

She can find as many smart suits of the cover-up type as she can styles of breath-taking brevity. Ready to give her a flattering fit is a wide variety of suits with built-in bras, elasticized midriff bands, longer, slightly flared skirts made in quick-drying fabrics which won't cling while wet. Such a swim suit plus a toss-on beach jacket or coat will turn her out on the beach as modestly dressed as any Miss Prim.

The woman who feels self-conscious in a swim suit because she is overweight can find fashions that will do much to minimize size. Her choice of color should be a dark one: black, navy or deep grey. The longer her skirt can be, within fashion's limits, and the less flared it is, the slimmer she will look in the beach parade.

Ty Cobb holds the American League record for playing the most years with one team, 22 with the Detroit Tigers.

A Little Neglect Helps Make Grown Child Prouder Of You

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

The woman who wants her grown children to be proud of her ought to neglect 'em a little.

Any older woman who doesn't believe that should listen to the conversation of young married women. When they start to brag about their parents, the young women who are the most admiring of their mothers are the ones whose mothers are so busy leading their own lives they don't have much time for their children.

The doting mothers and grandmothers who live for, and through, their children and grandchildren, who are always at their beck and call, and who can't do enough for them, don't come in for a lot of praise.

Their grown children take them for granted.

"Mother is going to keep the children while we take our vacation. They'll probably be completely spoiled by the time we get back, of course," a young woman will say complacently. There's no pride there—and very little gratitude.

Busy Mothers

But when a daughter talks about a mother who hasn't time to be an unpaid baby-sitter, who is enjoying life on her own, there's all the difference in the world.

She'll tell about all her mother's activities, her busy life, with real pride in her voice and real admiration for her not as a "grandma"—but as a woman.

There's a reason, of course, why grown daughters take more pride in self-sufficient parents than in parents who tend to live through their children and grandchildren. The self-sufficient ones aren't a burden to their children. The ones who give the most, once their children are grown, are actually the ones who are the most dependent, whose children always feel responsible for their happiness.

So a good rule for mothers would be: Make your children your main interest in life when they are children. But start neglecting them a little when they are grown.

To Spank Or Not To Spank Is Question For Puzzled Parent

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
AP Newsfeatures

To spank or not to spank, that is the question. How should a parent discipline his child? How can the child be made to mind and at the same time not become resentful of his parents? How can mother or dad take it easy in this matter of discipline and still retain their child's respect?

Dr. Dorothy Walter Baruch, distinguished psychologist and consultant in child-guidance problems, undertakes to answer these problems in her new book, "New Ways in Discipline, You and Your Child Today" (Whittlesey House, $3.00).

"Far too often," says Dr. Baruch, "parents feel that discipline is an either-or proposition, that it leads either to one extreme or the other. On one side, they have visions of a spoiled-brat horror—or a nasty, demanding, unruly and obnoxious child. On the other hand, they see a person who has had all the initiative and spontaneity knocked out of him, who stands with a hangdog, cowed air. They want neither."

Child Needs Guidance

We realize today that discipline is essential, says Dr. Baruch. Every child needs leadership and guidance. The idea of giving him complete freedom and license is recognized for what it is—a grave misconception. It just isn't fair. It places too much responsibility on shoulders that are not strong enough to carry it.

A child has neither the background nor knowledge, neither the wisdom nor judgment. The weight of the responsibility can crush him. He is called upon to do more than he is able so he loses confidence in himself. He feels, "I'm expected to handle all this on my own but I can't; it's too big. I'm not man enough to do it. I'm just no good."

Too much discipline, says Dr. Baruch, does practically the same thing as too little discipline. It also gives him a sense of failure. He cannot live up to all the things the adults expect of him. Again he feels the burden is too heavy.

Acts And Feels Naughty

Parents can lead either by the Whip or the Word. But the Word demands much more sharing, of living together. It calls on us and the child for building mutual understandings and confidence, she says.

An extremely important reason why discipline fails, says Dr. Baruch, is that a child's "badness" has two parts to it, and we deal only with one part and leave the other out entirely. A child acts naughty. That's one part of the problem. A child feels naughty. That's the other part. His feelings are the cause; his actions are the result.

For good discipline and good behavior we must deal with a child's feelings as well as his actions, stresses Dr. Baruch.

The materials required for our undertakings are not shelves full of games and expensive equipment but rather the equipment of heart and hand and head that lies within the children's and adults' own power to conjure up. Chief among the things that matter is the adult's own eagerness for becoming attuned to how a child feels.
