As three shipments of government plow-up cotton checks arrived here this week, the farmers of Collingsworth County had received 1,153 of the 1,527 checks and $456,333 of the $572,645 allotted for this county.

Saturday, 25 checks were received, Monday another shipment brought 132 checks and Tuesday 101 more checks arrived here.

Option Contracts Follow

John O. Stovall, county agent, stated that as soon as all of the checks had been dispatched from Washington the office would forward the option contracts, which amount to $74,200 in this county.

Farmers were urged to visit the office at their earliest possible convenience and receive their checks, which are now waiting for them.

last two shipments were:

Tax Payments Prove Gratifying

That collections of delinquent taxes for this county were exceptionally gratifying was announced today by C. B. Anderson, county tax collector.

"Persons have been coming in unusually well and are taking an active interest in the payment of their past due taxes," Mr. Anderson said. "This week one man paid six year's back taxes and several have paid delinquent taxes for periods extending over four years.

In many instances the payments are not large, but as long as the majority of the people continue to make payments, it shows that they are trying to do the right thing
and when the majority pays, it means that the county is in a good condition to clean the tax rolls of delinquencies."

The commissioners court, which previously made the statement that payment of all back taxes would leave the county in good financial condition, expressed their intention of continuing the drive to collect back taxes and now that people have money the next two months
is expected to record the payment of a large portion of the delinquencies.

County Schools Cited As Only Ones In State Who Paid Teachers In Full

Stating that Collingsworth County was the only county in the state of Texas which has kept its teachers paid in full during the past three years, Miss Myrtle L.
Tanner, secretary of the rural school division of the State Department of Education, who visited in the county superintendent's office here October 27, said that she found the schools of this county in good condition at the present time.

"We couldn't do without The

State Makes Attempt To Secure Federal Road Aid Through Mass Meetings

Following a meeting held in the district courtroom of the courthouse here Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in which endorsement was given the work of the Texas
Good Roads Association, a campaign to obtain between 40 and 45 memberships in the organization was launched here Wednesday
under the leadership of Lee C.
O'Neil and Pink Sullivan.

Two representatives of the Texas Good Roads Association were present at the meeting, J.
C. Watson, field representative, and John Salveachter, membership representative, both from Lubbock. Mr. Watson made an address in which he cited the work that has been done by the Texas Good Roads Association since its organization last fall.

He stated that the Association is dedicated to the proper upkeep of existing highways, and to the building of those sections of highways needed to complete the network of primary roads in Texas.
It is a non-political, non-partisan, state-wide agency to support the development of Texas highways.

Mr. Watson said there is now 20,000 miles of designated state highways in Texas, over 9,000 miles of which is yet to be paved and that the Federal Public Works Program has allocated $24,000,000 to Texas which is about four dollars per capita per county. It is one of the aims of the Texas Good Roads Association to secure as much of this money
as possible for building primary and secondary roads.

The speakers stated that both

Nine Prize Rams Purchased Here

Nine registered Ramboilett rams were purchased this week by Andy Bell, Bob Glenn and Paul Starr.
These rams were purchased from Mr. Heath of Denton County. The county agent accompanied the above men to Denton County last week to look for some good rams, which were loaded in a trailer and delivered to farms in this county
Monday morning.

The rams purchased are outstanding and four of the flock
were winners in the Dallas fair this fall and Ft. Worth stock show last spring. One buck was purchased by Mr. Heath from the flock at A. & M. College. The rams carry an extra good quality of wool and will be used in this county to improve the flocks owned by Mr. Bell, Mr. Glenn and Mr.
Starr.

Deaf Man Relates His Own Story Of Flight To Restore Hearing Sunday

Thousands of eyes Sunday afternoon watched an experiment in attempt to restore the hearing of F. M. Mayberry, as an airplane bearing him soared 12-800 feet and then dived 11,700
feet toward the earth.

Whether Mr. Mayberry's hearing will be restored or not is still undetermined due to the fact that it will take several days before the full effects of the experiment are known.

The experiment was made after Mr. Mayberry, who had read of the success of such attempts,

applied for the flight. He paid $10 of the fare and the other $15 was made up from the crowd which had gathered around the field to witness the experiment. More than 1,000 persons watched the flight from the field and eyes from the streets and houses of Wellington and from farms for several miles around turned upon the plane as it weaved its way up into the sky for the plunge of

Skyrockets Will Meet Strong McLean Eleven On Local Field Friday Night

Wellington Boys Down
Amarillo Yannigans
With Score Of 13 To 0

Following their stellar performance in which they drubbed the Amarillo Yannigans by a score of 13-0 on Powell Field last Friday night, the Skyrockets are slated to meet the strong McLean eleven here Friday night.

The Skyrockets played 100 per cent better football in their game with Amarillo than they played against the Memphis Cyclones.
They are expected to put up one of their best tilts of the season
when they meet the McLean boys.

McLean is the hardluck team of the district. From the first of the season they were generally selected by football dopsters to win
the district title. They started off with a decisive victory over the Shamrock Irishmen and then lost to the Clarendon Bronchos. Both of the games were declared illegal, however, after the eligibility committee ruled that one of their players was too old. Following the decision, the McLean team handed Memphis a 59-0 drubbing last Friday.

The Wellington team met the Yannigans with a team which had been overhauled and re-arranged.
Part of the line was to be found in the backfield.
Captain Prenal, who has heretofore played tackle, was found in the position of quarterback. Prenal called a dandy game and effectively used the contrast advantages of the Skyrocket plays.

Gene Glenn was back at his regular post at half and continued to put every ounce of energy and fight he had into the game. Glenn was throwing his passes right, too,
and held a nice advantage over the opposing team of kicks.

Wood was also right there with everything he has ever had and played one of his best games of the season. Wood has started us-by students, who reported them to be interesting and entertaining

character studies.

Officer Shoots Man Through Arm As Attempted Car Robberies Thwarted

As one man sustained a bullet wound in his arm, reports of several affrays and fights were reported and considerable debris littered the streets, Halloween night
left its marks on the city of Wellington Wednesday morning.

Claude Pledger, cotton picker on a farm near here underwent treatment in the Wellington Hospital Wednesday morning after he had been shot through the arm by G.
N. Scruggs, nightwatchman, as Pledger took a number of blankets, robes, hats, shoes and other articles from cars parked on the south side of the square Tuesday night.

Mr. Scruggs, who saw the man taking the articles, demanded that he stop and when the man failed to do so, Mr. Scruggs fired his gun into the air. He stated that the man still refused to stop and that he was forced to shoot
through the arm.

Pledger came about 10 minutes after the shooting.

OUTWITTING A CROOK

An unusual package was delivered recently to Hermann Pattberg, a wealthy citizen of Duisburg, Germany. Inside was a carrier pigeon and a letter.

The letter directed him to securely fasten a 5,000-mark note, equivalent to about $1200, to the pigeon and turn it loose. He was warned that he would be murdered should he fail to comply.

Pattberg thought it over, then a bright idea crossed his mind. He hired an aviator to follow the pigeon when it was released, minus the money. The flyer carried a camera with which he photographed the house on which the pigeon alighted, then returned and gave the picture and directions to the police. (The would-be blackmailers were soon in jail.

Which illustrates that a slick crook can be outwitted if his intended victim is just a little bit slicker.

BIRDS OUR PROTECTORS

Although some varieties of birds are considered a great nuisance by farmers and others, it is doubtful that any of these feathered tribes are more destructive than useful.

Birds are the natural enemies of insects, and insects are the greatest enemies of mankind. Scientists have declared that without continued research and the employment of improved means of combating insects pests they would overrun the world and destroy all other life, including man.

The rapidity with which certain insects multiply is beyond the imagination. For example, a pair of pucerons, a species of flea, will in a year, produce more than 441 quadrillion young. One small bird, such as a tomit, will destroy about 1,500 of these in a day; a partridge will eat 30,000 white grub in a year. Various birds have their favorite insects upon which they prey, but all eat practically any insect which crosses their path.

With this ever present menace of insects to combat, we can hardly have too many birds. Not only out of humane sentiment, but as an actual protection to civilization, the birds should be spared.

PRISONER PRIZES

Sponsored by the American War Mothers, contests among the prisons of the country have been conducted for some time, with the laudable purpose of leading prisoners to a more social outlook upon life.

Among the activities for which prizes are given are athletics, the growing of prison flower gardens, the building up of prison libraries, the best prison magazine, excellence of prison band musicians, training of practical nurses among inmates, and suggesting plans for placing prisoners in suitable employment after their release.

Prizes are given for each of these activities, while the Bennet cup, donated by Mrs. Mary Bennett Little, of Wadesboro, N. C., in memory of her father, is awarded to the prison making the highest average score in all seven contests.

While some believe that there is at present a tendency to coddle prisoners too much, there is no doubt that such competitions as those promoted by the War Mothers are of value in restoring to many convicts a sense of pride and a renewal of self-respect.

HONORS FOR HORSES

Perhaps no horse was ever cared for with the attention given to Man 'o War, one of the greatest racers of all time, living quietly on the Faraway farm, near Lexington, Kentucky, where a corps of trained stablemen minister to his every need and sentries guard him day and night.

Man 'o War reached the pinnacle of his fame in 1920, in which year he won $166,140 in prizes, being then a 3-year-old. He was retired from the track the following year and has been used for breeding purposes, many of his progeny likewise having made notable records.

More than 95,000 visitors have registered in his "guest book" since his retirement. With the humility which characterizes the truly great, Man 'o War receives the homage of his admirers with becoming equine modesty.

SCOTLAND YARD

For more than a century the police force of London, operating from headquarters in famed Scotland Yard, has held an enviable record for efficiency, although in its early years the organization was far from popular with the public.

Owing to the unsatisfactory state of law observance at that time, Sir Robert Peel in 1828 took steps toward the organization of an efficient police force for the British metropolis. Its first headquarters at Scotland Yard was furnished with only a table and two chairs, but its facilities were rapidly expanded and the force was soon recruited to about 3,000 men.

Feeling that the new powers conferred upon the police constituted an undue restriction of liberty, hooting crowds reviled the new force, calling its members obnoxious names, including those of "Bobbies" and "Peelers," which have persisted to this day. These names of course, were derived from that of their sponsor, Robert Peel.

As an illustration of the effectiveness of the present force, it has been pointed out that in a recent year only 15,662 crimes were reported in London, while 222,083 were noted in the less populous city of New York. The efficiency of Scotland Yard detectives is proverbial, and comparatively few London murders go unpunished.

This probably accounts for the fact that while the yearly homicide rate in London is only 1 in 100,000, in several cities of the United States it runs more than 50 times as high, and averages more than 10 times as high in the country at large.

OUR PAST

By C. C. BISHOP

The story of petroleum in Texas is unlike that of any other oil-producing state in the Union.

In other states, like Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, California, Illinois, Oklahoma and Kansas, the story has been one of steady progress from small beginnings.

The first discussion of drilling for oil in Texas was in 1859 at Oil Springs, in Nacogdoches County—the people had seen scum of oil on the water similar to that described in the oil fields of Pennsylvania.

But the violent controversy over the question of slavery overshadowed everything else and then, in April, 1861, the Civil War broke out and the talk of oil was forgotten.

After the war, however, the talk was revived, and the latter part of 1866 a well was sunk at Oil Springs, in Nacogdoches county. It produced oil at a depth of one hundred feet, but was not a paying proposition.

Twenty years passed away before another attempt to find oil in Texas was made, and even then it was only a revival of interest in the question of developing the Nacogdoches field.

In the next three years about ninety oil wells were drilled in this county.

A pipe line four and half miles long, the first to be laid in Texas, was constructed from this field to the town of Nacogdoches, by a company known as the Petroleum Prospecting Company.

In 1889 Texas was listed for the first time as an oil-producing state, but its annual production was placed at "less than five hundred barrels."

The state remained in this class until 1896, which was the first year a thousand barrels of oil was produced in Texas.

In 1895, the municipal authorities of Corsicana drilled a well for water, and at a depth of 1,027 feet a showing of oil was found.

Under the leadership of Maj. Alexander Beaton, the citizens of Corsicana organized a company for the purpose of drilling a test well near the town.

The well as drilled and production amounting to two and half barrels a day was obtained. In 1896 a well was brought in that made twenty-two barrels daily, the largest producer in Texas up to that time, and by the close of 1899 a total of six hundred and forty-two wells had been drilled in the Corsicana field.

Of these wells, five hundred and eleven produced oil, thirteen produced gas, and the remainder were dry holes.

In 1898, J. S. Cullinan, built the first refinery in Texas, at Corsicana.

Four miles south of Beaumont, Capt. Anthony F. Lucas was drilling a well January 10, 1901, when it "blew in"—this was Spindletop. It shot petroleum two hundred feet in the air.

For 90 days this well ran wild flowing 75,000 to 100,000 barrels of oil daily. This was the beginning of the big oil industry of Texas.

It is hard for them to forgive the newcomer his mistakes and hold back the urge to rush upon the field and show him how the game is really played.

Max made, Groom News—For a number of years, J. B. Smith was in the telephone business. He has been called Telephone Smith for a long time. Now he is with the gas company and is asking his old friends to call him Gas Smith. We feel like everyone ought to go it 50-50 and call him Telegas Smith.

Chas. A. Guy, Lubbock Journal—A match is burned out and thrown away, forgotten regardless of the services it performed. A man dies—burned out of life—and generally he, too, is forgotten soon after his burial. We're none of us so important, after all, when we come to think of it. Are we?

J. C. Estlack, in Donley County Leader—If you rent a house, you pay insurance. When the purchase of a suit of clothing is made, or groceries or anything else, the buyer pays a per cent of fire insurance. Besides the saving in dollars and cents, thousands of lives may be saved through the year by cutting down fire hazards and using diligence in avoiding a fire in any place wherever possible.

Home Town Stuff in Vernon Record—A recent legislature discovery is that Governor Jim has been enjoying a brisk trade in the butter and egg business. Every once in a while he would show up at his newspaper office and hand the boys a thousand or so to deposit to his dairy account. That's an idea for newspaper men. Maybe they could do better and get their past due paper bills paid up if they would go into the butter and egg business on the side.

R. B. Haynes in Miami Chief—Coming back from our trip to the Gulf Coast, we were literally entranced by the beauty of the South Plains growing crops and the Panhandle's broad acres. We visited no section which would compare with this one.

Roy (Jumbo) Haynes in Floydada County Heeperian—A friend of mine made the suggestion that a feller could look at his belt and trace the depression. I delved into the subject and doggone he was right. I have nine punched holes in my belt and the buckle tongue is now in No. 5, reading from right to left. One year ago I had her down to No. 9.

John L. McCarty, Dalhart Texan—You often hear of individuals, committing suicide, but did you ever stop to think that perhaps communities also commit suicide? They can die as a result of selfish attitudes. Lack of cooperation, lack of civic and community pride. Communities can die from an overdose of intercommunity gossip and jealousy. A community is nothing more than the sum-total of the individuals in it. If our community dies, it does so at our hands.

When William Edwards of London arrived from France he had tied to his suspenders six pairs of hosiery he was trying to smuggle for his wife.

Confronted in court by a man who had swindled her, Mrs. Elsie Mayer of St. Louis punched him in the jaw and knocked him out.

WELLINGTON People . . . Places . . . Philosophy

By Jimmie Gilentine

As government cotton checks and money from the current cotton crop come into Collingsworth County, many farmers are buying greatly needed items—and paying debts which they have, heretofore, been unable to pay.

Best Story Of The Week

Last Thursday morning the inspiring tune of a glorious old song, long since famous because of its touching, soul-inspiring words, wafted through the corridor of a local bank as W. D. Shipp, local farmer, put his heart and soul into the refrain, "Glory, Glory Hallelujah!"

The event, rendered in public, attributed no little attention, but Mr. Shipp went right on singing and continued to put his heart and soul into every single chord. Finally, when he got a chance, a banker inquired as to the reason for this unusual procedure.

"Well, I'll tell you," Mr. Shipp said, "for more than a year I have been declaring that just as soon as I was able I was going to pay off my note—and when I did I was going to break right down and sing."

Which he continued doing, and everyone near the place, with a smile on his face, went about his own private business—a genuine feeling of genuine delight crept over him at the true happiness of fellowman.

In this story we have an example of the integrity and honesty of the average American citizen. A stirring scene, which actually makes your heart bubble with enthusiasm and you go about it with a new outlook.

that are again satisfied and happy.

Over 200 On Honor Rolls

The Wellington Schools announced their first 1933 honor rolls this week and 200 students out of the 1,200 enrolled were listed as having made sufficient grades as to place them in a class outstanding from their colleagues. When you stop and consider this situation, it is actually marvelous to have so many brilliant minds in the coming generation. The situation does not indicate, of course, that these two hundred students will be the greatest success in life, but it does show that they are interested in their work and that they are applying themselves. There is really a very marked degree of efficiency between the average person and the successful one. A close examination of the school records will show, I feel sure, that there were slightly over 15 per cent of the students on the honor roll and about the same per cent of students close to, or under the passing grade point—this leaves the big majority about 70 per cent, in the middle class. Practically every person in this big middle class could have been on the honor roll with just a slight bit more effort.

Did you ever notice how times are changing? We use switches to turn on our lights, heat and even to sweep with. Just in contrast with our forefathers, we use switches for everything except to bring up our children.

Will We Have An Airport

Wellington has certainly turned air-minded. Monroe and Mervin

Keenan told me the other day that they thought two or three more local persons were going to buy planes and bring them here. The boys are also trying to build a hanger and start a regular municipal airport. During the past month persons have gone up who never before rode in an airplane in their lives. These planes are affording much enthusiasm and entertainment for the general public, and as long as they are piloted by safe, reliable pilots, the work will do much for the town. It will be nice, indeed, to have these planes in cases of serious illness or death, through which local persons will desire to reach their kindred. Yes, there are many, many advantages to be seen from a safe aeronautic expansion program, because not 50 years from now airplanes are going to be as "thick as hops."

The sad part of this program is the fact that many of the younger generation desires to be second Lindberghs and Hawks. This is alright, too, if they are willing to wait their turn to the extent that they will know their own mind and allow sufficient time for training as all successful, famous birdmen have done. First, a good aviator must be thoroughly trained—in addition to this he must be mentally and physically fit at all times.

Yoshiko Kawashina, a Japanese girl, who had a combined force of Japanese and Manchukuo soldiers in a skirmish against bandits in Manchuria last year, recently returned to Tokio to be feted for her heroism.

ECONOMY..CONVENIENCE..SAFETY with a Modern Electric Refrigerator

Three outstanding features of superiority have made modern Electric Refrigeration an overwhelming favorite of progressive home-managers throughout the Nation.

ECONOMY—Unusual economy of operation . . . savings realized through the elimination of food-spoilage . . . and the profits of buying groceries in larger quantities at bargain prices will net substantial savings for you. CONVENIENCE—Trouble-free . . . constantly dependable . . . furnishing an adequate supply of sparkling ice cubes . . . offering delicious frozen desserts and salads . . . and providing ample storage space for perishable foods, the modern Electric Refrigerator is a model of convenience. SAFETY—Authorities agree that food-safety depends on a constant temperature of less than 50 degrees—in summer and winter. Electric Refrigeration maintains this safe temperature automatically—providing a constant health safeguard for yourself and your loved ones.

Truly, you cannot afford to be without this efficient "Electrical Servant." Present prices are planned to fit the average family budget—and monthly payments can be made from savings. Ask for your demonstration today.

NOTE: There are 200 names on this honor roll. This makes an average of 20 per cent of the pupils of the Wellington Schools on the honor roll at the end of the first six weeks period of the present session. That is, there are at the present time about 1,000 pupils in regular attendance in the schools. Dividing 200 by 1,000, we get 20 per cent. This is indeed a very fine record, possibly the best record ever made in the Wellington Schools. It must be borne in mind that there are something like 200 pupils out of the schools at the present time picking cotton, or working at other jobs. We have had larger numbers on the honor roll in the past, but we, at that time, had a larger number in regular attendance. So, all in all, we are greatly pleased with this excellent showing at the end of our first division of school work. The report comes in from the various colleges of the country that a large percentage of the graduates of the Wellington High School has made the college honor rolls. We are proud of this record. We find, also, that our pupils always stand in the highest brackets of the Freshman Class when they have been sectioned for work in that class at college.

Explanation Of Honor Roll

Those whose names appear below have made an average of "A" or better on their school work during the first six weeks of the 1933-34 session of the Wellington Public Schools. An average of "A" means that the pupil has made as many "A's" as "B's" and no grade below "B." Quite a number of these pupils have made a straight "A" and some of them have made almost a straight "A plus." Among these are such pupils as Dorothy Margaret Forbis, Lois Langley, Virginia Glenn.

Parents should scan this roll to see if their children have their names written on it. If you find your child's name on this honor roll, you may rest assured that the pupil is doing excellent school work, and you and the pupil are to be congratulated on such work. If you do not find the name of your child on this list, please help us to pull the pupil up in his or her grades to the extent that his or her name may appear on the list at the end of the next six weeks period. Report cards are sent out and the honor roll is made up at the end of each six weeks of school work.

The secret of satisfactory work is a reasonable amount of home study. There may be a few pupils who can do satisfactory work without home study, but the great majority of them will have to study at night, or at home, if they are to do the work that is done in the schools.

We, personally, extend congratulations and thanks to those whose names appear on the honor roll for the year. We sincerely trust that a number of others will work this next six weeks to advance their grades to the honor roll.

MISS MOUNTS ATTENDS MEET

Methods Of Teaching Discussed At Wichita Falls Parley October 20

Miss Hattie Mounts attended the Home Economics conference at Wichita Falls Friday, October 20. The conference consisted of an all-day discussion concerning Home Economics problems by teachers of ten counties directed by Miss T. T. Thomas, district supervisor.

Methods of teaching, including lesson plans were the main theme of the discussion; however, attention was also given to other problems, particularly home projects and Home Economics club work. The State Department put out a new course of study last year organized around the problem series method of teaching. Through these conferences and the supervisor's visits, the department is trying to help home economics teachers put into practice this newer method of teaching.

The supervisor announced that she will grade Home Economics Departments this year on the following points when she visits each school:

1. Rooms of department—(General appearance, equipment, arrangement, care, and storage of supplies.)
2. Library.
3. Organization of work.
4. Budget and accounts and how managed.
5. Filing system.
6. Home project work.
7. Home Economics club.

LIBRARY

The Home Economics Department library has been greatly improved since last year. Thirty-five books have been added. This improvement, however, does not yet make the library meet the minimum requirements. For the past ten years, the supervisors have stressed the necessity of having more books.

FILING SYSTEM

Miss Thomas stated that Miss Mounts has the best filing system and most complete files of any teacher in her district. This material consists of illustrative material, state reports, state news letters, and the Department files (budget, accounts, duplicate reports, etc.)

HOME PROJECTS

Each girl receiving one-half credit in Home Economics is required to complete 30 hours of Home Project Work. This must be related to the school work, must be practical, and must be carried out by the girls.

The Home Economics I girls have recently completed a study of breakfasts, including the selection and preparation of foods for breakfast, setting the table and table service. Each two girls has served a breakfast to two guests in the laboratory under Miss Mounts' supervision. As home projects, these girls are planning, preparing, and serving breakfasts at home. They are studying lunches now.

Finish Unique Federal Building

Here is a Federal Building unlike any other in the United States. It has just been completed at Tezakama. The state line between Texas and Arkansas runs exactly through the center of the building. The postoffice occupies the first floor and basement. Above the first floor the structure is virtually two separate buildings, divided by a solid wall. The structure costs a million dollars complete.

The Home Economics II girls have just completed a study of the care and repair of clothing, and have made-over garments in class. As home projects, they are now working on other renovation problems, on the care and arrangement of the storage space for clothing and specific work on the care and repair of clothing.

Lurlene Bird is working on a typical project in which she has improved her clothes closet by painting it inside, putting in shelves, making a new rack, making a shoe bag and two hat stands. This class is making tailored dresses now.

The Home Economics III class has just completed a study of entertaining. Particular attention was given to food, etiquette, decoration, and entertainment for picnics, dinners, buffet luncheons, and teas. Now the girls are working on entertaining projects to put into practice the things they have learned. They are beginning now a study of nutrition.

Library News

The librarians this year are:
8:30-9:30—Leslie Moore, Juanita Clark, and Othella Dennis.
12:30-1:00—Bessie Smith and Josephine Wilson.

4:00-4:30—Ineva Cudd, Mildred Allen and Leona Caison.

The library is under the supervision of Miss Hulsey. All the above named girls who are working in the library are seniors except one, Mildred Allen. These new books, just ask any student who constantly goes to the library window and calls for a long list of books which we cannot secure.

The instructors, especially the English teachers, are quite aware of the fact that there should be sufficient varieties in the books in the library to afford a choice for the various types of students in school. There are many many kinds of good books. Trying to force a student to read a book which he decidedly dislikes is like forcing a person to eat food for which he has an aversion. His dislike is intensified. The purpose for reading books in school is to train the student to enjoy reading wholesome books. Everyone can see that this purpose is not attained when the student reads what he doesn't like.

Many great thinkers have expressed the idea that the books read in a community determine the kind of citizens. Shall we fear for ours or provide for them,

Local Students Make Showing At Canyon College

Two On Honor Roll; Others Hold Offices And Take Part In Activities

Among the 144 names that appear on the recently published honor roll for the 1933 summer session of the West Texas State Teachers College, are the names of Virginia Ann Robey and Olmon Sweat of Wellington.

This means that these two students made a minimum of 17 grade points in their work, and that

Cowboy Classic

Ken Maynard, who comes here Saturday, November 4, at the Ritz Theatre in one of the year's outstanding cowboy pictures, "King of the Arena."

their grades placed them in the upper ten per cent of all the students enrolled in the college last summer.

Miss Robey received another honor recently, when she was elected one of the superintendents of the W. T. Wesley Foundation, a student organization of the Methodist Church.

Several other students from Wellington have, in the last few days, received recognition on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers College. May Love has been elected vice president of the Home Economics Club, and Addie Mae Carmack took part recently in a play, "The Cathedral Clock," presented by the College Dramatic Club.

Enrollment at the Canyon college is as large as it was this time last year, and it is expected that many new students will take advantage of the new split-semester plan, and enter school at the opening of the second half, November 20.

"Anything to say?" asked the court of Mrs. Margaret Ludford of Chicago, accused of disorderly conduct. "Yes," she replied, "everything said here is a lie."

James Corrigan of New York was ordered to return the latch-key he had taken from his 22-year-old daughter to keep her home at night.

Hurdles Stimulate Interest And Give Check In Typing

The system of "hurdles" give a practical device for checking progress and stimulating interest in typewriting. All scales are planned to recognize rate of output or consistent accuracy. The "C grade" is placed at the lowest point that is permissible.

There are twenty-six hurdles from which to make selections. The hurdles vary in difficulty, objectives, and nature of content. If all hurdles are successfully jumped there will be no question of the ability of the student to type efficiently.

The minimum score means that the hurdle has been jumped. A hurdle jumped qualifies for an attempt at the next hurdle. No one may attempt a new hurdle until the previous one has been jumped, unless conditions indicate that such action is wise.

Forty pupils have jumped the first two hurdles this week.

One and two minute speed and accuracy drills have been given the past two weeks. The average speed of all classes has been twenty-two words per minute. Jettie McClure typed forty words. This is far above the average.

Marriage Results After 33-Hour Chat

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—A romance that started in a thirty-three-hour chat culminated in the marriage this week of Albert C. Arnold, live stock man, and Mrs. Marie Loehr Davis, a teacher of psychology at Houston, Texas.

Explaining that when they first met they talked for thirty-three hours, Mrs. Arnold said the romance should be an enduring one.

Your Response to My Appeal is Amazing

On Behalf of Every Katy Employee I Thank You for the Magnificent Support You are Giving

WHEN reports showed that a financial emergency was approaching our railroad, two alternatives were open to me. One was to borrow money—the other was to go directly to the people and ask them frankly to rally to our support and give us enough additional business to see us through the last lap of a period that has sorely tried the patience, courage and resourcefulness of all people everywhere.

Seeking a loan would have been shifting the responsibility—following the line of least resistance—taking the easy way out. All my life I have fought against odds, and I knew this would be the poorest time of all to reverse myself, substitute retreat for resistance, and sacrifice a splendid and fighting organization, through my own lack of faith.

Against seeking a loan were two powerful arguments. First, the drain on the people's money, through agencies set up by their government, was already too heavy. Second, the Katy has kept and preserved its identity as a pure Southwestern Railroad—the pride of its employees in its independence and self-sustaining record has made Katy service everywhere the human service it is. Should that splendid morale—that interest in the public service—be sacrificed for want of courageous and determined leadership?

So, I decided quickly to lay the facts frankly before you people, and bluntly ask for your support. I had unbounded confidence in your spontaneous response when you knew what our record, frankly, what our claim on you actually is—and in several previous announcements I elaborated on the following points:

1. The Katy has sought no loan of the people's money, through any governmental agency.
2. The Katy has unflinchingly paid taxes, interest and all other bills.

3. The Katy has retained its individual Southwestern identity, free from mergers and outside domination that would destroy its singleness of purpose and service.
4. The Katy has actually improved its service, facilities and equipment through the darkest days of this depression, confident of the future of our country and the future of the great Southwest in particular.

Immediately after the first advertisement appeared, I received countless communications calling the effort a "bold stroke," a "daring departure." These expressions were a surprise to me—were perhaps inspired by the fact that such frankness with the public had seldom been ventured before.

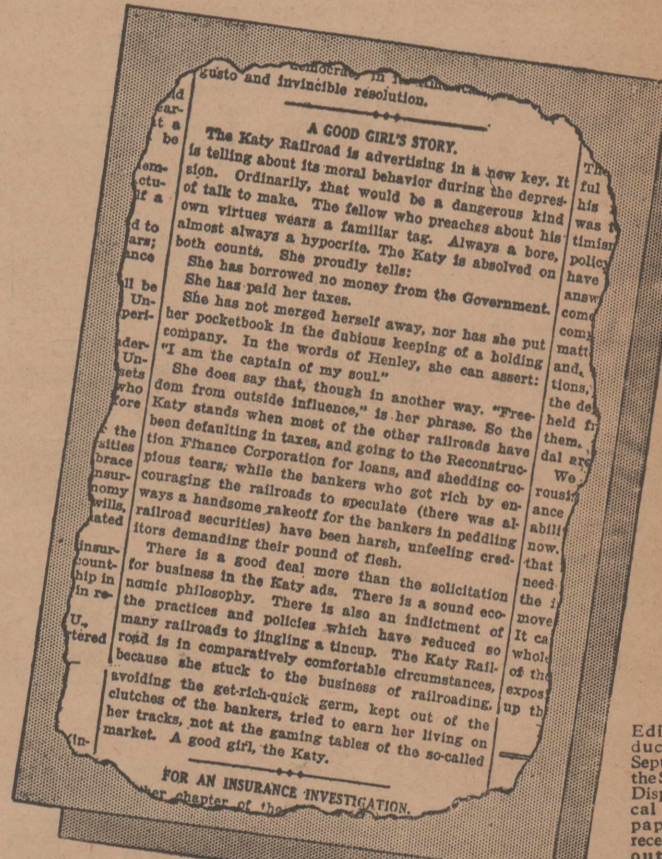

Nevertheless, your response has been amazing, even to me. Your telegrams, letters and other communications—the added volume and number of shipments you are entrusting to us, the splendid way in which you have been patronizing our passenger trains—are a source of gratification and inspiration to everybody on the Katy.

How can I thank you for what you are doing? I cannot find adequate words. Perhaps you will get some conception of the gratitude that is in the hearts of myself and all Katy folk when I say that the demonstration you are giving is flaming testimony that a people in whom unselfish response, courage and wholesome Americanism burns so brightly, cannot much longer be held back by the bonds of economic depression.

People of Texas—may I count on your continued and daily support? The battle is not yet over and stagnation and surrender on the highroad are both human and dangerous. I have full confidence that a people capable of such a response as you have already made cannot know what turning back means.

Editorial reproduced from the Sept. 14th issue of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch is typical of the newspaper comment received throughout Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Here's How YOU Can Do Your Bit

There are four things you can do. First, ship your freight via Katy both within and outside of Katy territory. (On shipments coming to you from the North and East specify Katy routing through St. Louis or Kansas City.) Second, ride our trains. Third, use your influence on every hand to boost the Katy. Opportunities are constantly presenting. Fourth, when you hear about movements of freight or know of people who intend to travel, see, phone or write the nearest Katy employee—for every Katy man and woman is in this fight, eager and anxious to pass on information to proper officials.

It costs you nothing extra to join this movement. Use coupon below—Mr. Cahill will personally see every communication.

more than two miles straight toward the earth at full speed.

Mr. Mayberry Tuesday said that he had a terrible cold and that his head ached continually following the flight. Mervin Keenan, pilot, also reports severe headaches and attacks after the flight. This was Keenan's second flight on such a mission; he made the other flight in California and cured a woman of bad hearing under the same conditions.

Mr. Mayberry stated that as soon as the plane was between four and five thousand feet from the ground that he could hear the engine and whistling of the wind plainly, but that as soon as the plane descended to the earth he again lost his hearing, which he hopes will be permanently restored in a few more days.

The extreme cold air kept the plane from soaring to a height of 16,000 feet as was formerly planned and the occupants reported that the temperature at the 12,800 foot height they reached was around 20 degrees below freezing.

"After we got up so far, the earth looked just like a carpet to me," Mr. Mayberry said. "Red River and Salt Fork River looked just like two pieces of string, which it seemed as if a person could just step across. It was so cold, I was shaking like a dog with the chills. The last time I remember seeing the town of Wellington, it looked like a square, black block about 25 feet across.

"Was I scared when we started down so fast? Well, I was at first. When we dived, I slipped a little in the seat, but as soon as we got started it seemed as if we were just flying along straight."

The plane again straightened out at an altitude of 1,100 feet and lighted on the field just south of town. Both Mr. Mayberry and Keenan were considerably affected by the sudden change of altitude.

Mr. Mayberry, who has not been able to hear for more than 20 years, went to bed one night and woke up deaf the next morning. Since that time he has been unable to hear without the aid of an instrument.

cotton. He was reported by his brother to have come here from New Mexico, but his home is originally said to be in Arkansas. Officers are holding many articles of clothing, blankets, etc., for identification in the sheriff's office.

Report 29 Arrests

In addition to the escapade in which Pledger was taken, peace officers reported an unusually busy week end, during which time 29 arrests were made on charges of drunkenness and gambling. Eight of the arrests were made for intoxication and the other 21 were made on charges of gaming.

Sheriff Corry also turned Jesse Hughes, alleged to be an escaped convict from the federal prison at Mississippi, over to federal authorities here Thursday. The arrest was made after information came to the sheriff's office that Hughes, who was cooking for the Joe Cook restaurant, was wanted. Corry took the man, who he stated admitted that he was wanted.

age eight month term for this county and predicts that several of the schools will operate on a nine month term basis.

The fact that this county has been able to maintain longer terms and still pay its teachers in full, which other schools have cut their terms to five and six months and still not pay their teachers, is attributed to the proper application of a well devised budget and application of strict economic measures.

"When the schools of this county ran out of money, we just stopped them," Mr. Wilson stated. "We operated the schools on the money available each year and through the use of a depository, which lent us money, never missed payments on salary checks."

The fact that many schools over the state are heavily indebted and in critical condition adds to the accomplishments of the schools of this county. Such a condition has also been highly beneficial to teachers in this county as teachers who received warrants in other sections frequently had to discount them to receive their pay.

Good Roads--

labor in Roosevelt's cabinet and Colonel Louis McHenry Howe, the president's confidential secretary, have been opposed to using public works money for road building, but that recently Colonel Ike Ashburn of Houston, executive manager of the Texas Good Roads Association, on a trip to Washington showed Colonel Howe the names of 16,000 leading Texans who were in favor of such a program, and the Colonel admitted that the people of Texas are road-minded.

Not only that, but Mr. Watson said it is now planned to take 50,000 names of Texans to Washington to help get money from the public works appropriation for road building purposes. He mentioned the fact that to date, only $60,000 had been allotted to Collingsworth County for road work from the Federal appropriation, and it is the purpose of his organization, he stated, to get this amount raised, as well as the amount given to other counties in West Texas.

Skyrockets Will-- ing a pivot with his broken field runs—and he looked like a million dollars there once or twice when he hit the line, was tackled and pivoted right on out for a nice gain before he hit the secondary defense. Parker made his first startling run, when he skirted right end for a gain of 56 yards and a touch-down. Parker looked mighty good in that tangle and there isn't any doubt but what he has the goods.

John Anders went to the position of center and held down the post like a veteran. He not only passed accurately, but he also filled up a big gap when they tried to run those mass formations over center. He did a lot toward stopping the Amarillo bunch.

Shields is one of the finest linemen that has played on the Skyrocket eleven in the past three years. He certainly does slip through for some amazing tackles—and when that boy tackles, he really tackles. Just ask any back who has played against him this season.

Vandiver, who was switched from center to left end for this game, also gave a good account of himself and continually rushed down the field for tackles when a punt was made.

C. Duncan, on the other wing post, also got some mighty nice tackles and helped clear the way for some nice gains around his end of the line. Both ends played a dandy game.

Baumgardner and B. Duncan, at tackles, were in practically every play of the game. These two boys did a good job, while Blassengame at right guard also gave an account of himself. In fact the line did some nice playing.

Chevrolet Shows Sales Increase

Reported domestic retail sales by dealers of Chevrolet cars in September of 58,146 cars and trucks were 115 per cent more than the 26,966 units sold in the same month a year ago, H. J. Klingler, vice-president and general sales manager announced today.

For the first nine months of this year, Chevrolet dealers sold 499,912 units and in the next day passed the half million mark. Nine months sales were 31.9 per cent more than the figure, 378,811, sold in the full twelve months of last year. In the first nine months of 1932, 335,970 units were sold.

Sales to date for 1933 exceeded those for the same period a year ago by 163,842 units and for all of last year were the largest for the month since 1929. They were approximately 31,000 over September of 1932; 19,000 over September 1931, and about 5,000 over 1930.

Business in the last 10 days of the month showed the usual strength, 22,832 units having been sold as against 36,314 units in the first 20 days, Mr. Klingler said.

The fossilized remains of an ancient mastodon and the teeth of a saber tooth tiger have been found in what appears to have been an ancient spring eight miles west of Wellington. The bones are well preserved by petrification. The lower end of a scapula, shoulder blade, a knee joint and various smaller bones have been recovered by the geologist at work upon the oil well in the vicinity.

A tooth of conical shape is estimated to have been five inches long.

An examination of the location and structure of the bones leads to the belief that the ancient animals were entrapped in quicksand at the ancient water hole.

There is an oil well at a depth of seven hundred feet within a few hundred yards of this find. Back to the north and west is a large hill composed of volcanic ash and kaolin. It is quite an interesting place for a field trip.

The laboratory is being fixed up this week. Mr. Scoggins is our diligent carpenter. Shelves for the closets are being made, as well as racks for the students' notebooks.

The supplies are being increased by the students. Two microscopes have been brought in this week by Marshall Wells and Henrietta Stall. We thank them very much for their contributions.

The science department has a total enrollment of 168 students. Four have withdrawn leaving 164.

There are two classes in chemistry, two in physiology and one each in biology and physics.

New equipment has been added in the amount of $38 dollars. These additions facilitate the work and add to the students' interest in the department.

The boys of the physics department are planning an air-compressor for the laboratory. The materials used are negligible in cost, consisting of an old barrel and some water connections.

Verna Sullivan and Elton Amurn have been missed in science for several days. We expect you back before long.

Laboratory Conduct
The ideal laboratory student in chemistry follows directions to the letter. He does not waste time, either his own or the other fellow's. He protects his apparatus and table equipment. He never talks unless necessary. Boisterousness shows poor self control and not in keeping with good ethics. He never borrows when he can avoid it and always returns the borrowed apparatus clean. His sink is kept clean and closed up when not in use.

A student who spills chemicals at supply cabinet is marked as slovenly. He is a waster. Never take more of supplies than needed. Never put back an excess, just do not take it in the first place. Do not spill chemicals on your flesh or clothing. Some of them may burn you and destroy clothing. In case of accident wash with water. Apply soda water to acid burns. Then grease with unguentine. In case of fire, do not run; beat out clothing or the hair. Dropping acid on a table means some one's sleeves will be burned. Hold the stopper in your hand, wipe the table.

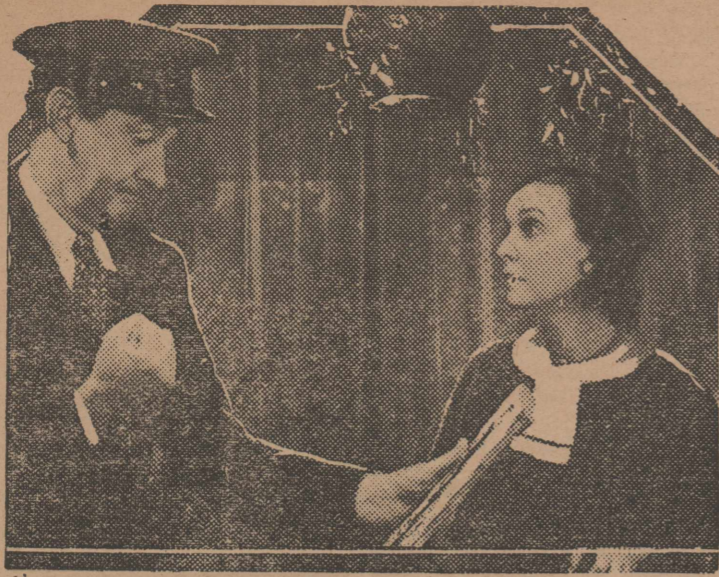

In general, know what you are trying to do, do it quickly, jot down results. Keep your senses about you. Look, feel, smell, hear and taste when so directed. Be cautious, ammonia smells so strongly that you need only to waft a little to your nostrils by waving your hand over the bottle. Some chemical reactions cause enough heat to burn you. Some chemicals are poisonous to taste and smell. Take no chances. After you have results recorded study them and draw your own conclusions.
