Local elections slated Saturday

Voting was slow in all county elections as early voting ended Tuesday, May 2.

By noon Tuesday, only 87 votes had been cast in the Mitchell County Hospital Board election.

With six candidates filing for the four open positions, the hospital district board elections were expected to draw the most interest from voters.

Incumbents Kenneth Rogers and Kent Boyd are being challenged by four other candidates. They are Kent Womack, Tom Carlock, Donny Lindsey and Shirley Clifton. In the Colorado City Council elections, where only incumbents are seeking re-election, eight people voted early.

Mayor Jim Baum; Councilman District 1, Sammy Contreras; District 2, Walt Staats and District 5 Bob Reily are running unopposed.

Five people voted in the CISD school board election in the last hours of the early voting period.

Both incumbents Roxie Strain and Diana Garza are seeking re-elections for their respective positions on the Colorado ISD Board of Trustees.

Investigation continues in recent shooting case

It's a "wait and see" situation right now, Sheriff Patrick Toombs said Tuesday, as investigators are following up leads in last week's apparent accidental shooting of a 15-year-old Colorado City youth.

Brad Bruce, a passenger in a vehicle traveling on County Road 127, south of Loraine April 22, was hit by a bullet at 4:15 p.m. The shot apparently came from outside the vehicle, Toombs said.

"From everything we know so far, we believe it's an accidental shooting," Toombs said.

"The big question is...who shot him and what were the circumstances?" said the sheriff.

Toombs said they are looking at the area where the shooting incident occurred and the angles from which the shot could have been fired.

"It's a big territory," Toombs said.

The investigation also includes determining whether the bullet came from a handgun or a rifle.

It could take as long as two months to receive the results of tests on the firearms tests, he said.

Toombs said that doctors' reports from Lubbock have determined that the bullet entered the right side of Bruce's face above the eye and exited through the left temple, indicating that the bullet came from outside the vehicle.

Fisher named editor

Earl Plagens, publisher of the Colorado City Record, announced Monday the addition of Eunice Fisher to its staff. She will be serving as editor of the Record.

Fisher previously worked as editor of the Corrigan Times in east Texas. Just before moving to Colorado City, she received notification that she had won a journalism award from the North and East Texas Press Association for her work at the paper.

"With the addition of Eunice to our staff, we will be able to continue our strong emphasis on local news," Plagens said. "Her experience as editor of the award-winning Corrigan Times will be a tremendous asset to us."

A native Texan, she earned a journalism degree at the University of Texas at Austin.

She has worked as a reporter for the Austin Light, a weekly newspaper in Austin and as a journalist and freelance writer in North Carolina.

"I'm looking forward to working with the excellent staff at the Record office, living in Colorado City and covering the stories that

First ever cycling tour to become annual event

The first cycling tour in Mitchell County will be held Saturday, May 27 during the Lone Wolf Bluegrass Festival.

The Tour of Lone Wolf Bike race is sponsored by the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce and planned as an annual event.

It is expected to attract between 50 and 100 riders of all ages—both local and out of town riders, said Richard Arthur, race director.

The race will have three routes of varying lengths—a 10 mile route, a 30 mile one and a longer route of 62 miles.

Entry fee for the event is $15 per rider if registered before May 18 and $20 if registered after May 18.

Each rider will receive a Tour of Lone Wolf custom t-shirt, headband, and medic alert card.

Registration forms may be picked up at Healthstyles Wellness

Center or the Chamber of Commerce.

For safety, all riders will be required to wear ANSI-approved riding helmets in the race.

Sponsors for the cycling tour include Fuller Foods, Dairy Queen, Healthstyles Wellness Center, Corky's True Value, First National Bank, City National Bank, Ramage Appliance and Furniture, TU Electric, Wood's Boots, Lone Wolf Electric, Joe Morren - CPA, Big Spring Education Employees Federal Credit Union, Pizza Hut, Sonic, Showplace Video, and Eddie's Pharmacy.

The purpose of the race is threefold, Arthur said.

"One, it will promote health and wellness for our community; two, it will enhance the Lone Wolf Festival Weekend; and three, it will offer a means for tourism and revenue for our area," he said.

BARBECUE: Charter Builders, general contractors for the state jail facility now under construction, treated everyone at the site to a free barbecue Tuesday celebrating the halfway point toward completion. Construction is progressing on schedule. (l to r) Charlie DeVoe, project manager; Assistant Wallace Unit Warden Jackie Edwards and James Nagle, TDCJ project manager are enjoying the barbecue.

Cinco de Mayo activities set

An entire day and evening full of activities is planned here Saturday to celebrate the Cinco de Mayo.

The third annual Cinco de Mayo celebration will be held at Lake

Colorado City State Park.

Santos Reyes, president of the Cinco de Mayo committee, described the event as a family oriented day filled with activities that highlight Mexican-Americans' cultural heritage—Tejano and mariachi music, baile folklórico, arts and crafts, activities for the youngsters.

"And plenty of food, both authentic Mexican and Tex-Mex," he added.

"Cinco de Mayo is a part of our Texas roots," explained Reyes.

It recalls the date in 1862 when a small Mexican army defeated Napoleon III's highly trained French fighting forces.

Observed as a national holiday in Mexico, second only to Mexico's Independence Day on September 16, Cinco de Mayo is a major celebration in Texas.

A Texas soldier, General Ignacio Zaragoza of Goliad, led the famous Battle of Puebla on May 5. The victory delayed the invasion of Mexico and affected the outcome of the Civil War by thwarting Napoleon's plan to aid Confederate troops, according to historical information compiled by a Texas State Teacher's Association committee.

Mexican-American Texans identify with the battle of Puebla because of the rich tradition and

NEW BUSINESS: McCormick Marketing of Snyder has begun construction on a new convenience center to be located at the intersection of Hwy. 208 N. and I-20, where the existing Willis Taylor Phillips 66 station has been in operation for years. The center will also contain a Burger King and Blue Bell Ice Cream store. Opening date is set for August 1.

CIA a big success

The third annual Christmas in April (CIA) event was a tremendous success and even better than last year, according to almost anyone involved in Saturday's flurry of activity.

Completed in a one-day blitz, twenty-one homes in Mitchell County received facelifts that ranged from minor to major structural repairs.

"There are a few houses that are not complete but, overall, with the tremendous effort on all the volunteers, I feel like Christmas in April this year is even more successful than the last two years," said Jan Lemons, CIA president.

The preparatory work done by TDCJ inmates and the number of volunteers that exceeded last year's made a noticeable difference in this year's endeavor, said Lemons.

Lunches were served to approximately 400 people at noon Saturday.

BIKE RIDERS prepare for the Lone Wolf Bike Race. Deanna Moody (left) and Mario Yanez, both 11-years-old, are practicing in case they decide to enter Mitchell County's first-ever bike race to be held during the Bluegrass Festival Weekend. Riders 12 and under must be accompanied by an adult.

Volunteers needed for bike race

Volunteers are needed to help with the Tour of Lone Wolf Bike Race, said Richard Arthur, race director.

The race, slated for May 27, will be the city's first endeavor to bring cycling to Mitchell County.

Sponsored by the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, the race will be in conjunction with the Lone Wolf Bluegrass Festival Weekend.

There will be seven rest stops at which cyclists can receive water, drinks, fruit, and/or medical assistance if needed.

"We need clubs or organizations to sponsor one or more of the stops," said Arthur. "Approximately two to three people are needed at each stop for a period of about 2-3 hours. Your group would

COOK'S CORNER

Nancy Hanks

Ever heard of a green bean cake? Nancy Hank's family almost got one when all the kids were still living at home and she was a busy mother.

Nancy was in the middle of trying to do three things at once—bake a cake, cook dinner and help one of the kids with a school project. What resulted was "kitchen dyslexia." She got turned around, forgot what she was doing and put the can of green beans in the cake batter instead of in the pot on the stove! There really wasn't a green bean cake, though, it all just got thrown away.

Nancy really didn't want to share that story, but she said if she didn't one of her kids would call and tell us about it, so she might as well fess up.

That little episode happened long after Nancy learned to cook, after she and Gene married. With only herself to depend on, she taught herself by trial and error. She always tried to find an easier way to do things, though. Take for instance the caramel pie recipe given to her by Gene's mother.

A neighbor told Nancy to quit going to all the trouble of caramelizing her sugar. The neighbor had a recipe for a syrup pie that was just as good. Needless to say, Gene didn't think so; after all it was his mother's caramel pie recipe.

Gene let Nancy know the pie wasn't the same and she didn't cook him another caramel pie for years. Now she only makes it on his birthday.

Nancy doesn't cook much anymore, now that all the kids are gone, but at one time she enjoyed cooking "whatever struck me at the moment." She still enjoys cooking when all the family comes in to enjoy it.

Nancy is the principal's secretary at Colorado High School. She and Gene will be married for 40 years this month and they have three children. Griff and his wife, Beverly, live in San Angelo. Beth and her husband, Steve, and their two boys also live in San Angelo and Squeaky and Sherry and their three kids live in Colorado City.

Nancy is sharing three recipes with us today.

CARAMEL PIE

1 cup sugar
3 cups milk
3 tsp. butter
6 egg yolks

1 cup sugar
6 Tbs. flour
1 tsp. vanilla
2 baked pie shells

In large heavy skillet, caramelize 1 cup sugar over low heat. Add 3 cups heated milk with 3 teaspoons butter in skillet with sugar. (This is when it may boil over and make a mess - stir and add milk slowly). Dissolve all sugar. In a large mixing bowl, mix egg yolks with 1 cup sugar and 6 tablespoons flour. Beat until very light. Add to milk and sugar in skillet. Add vanilla and cook until thick. Pour into two baked pie crusts. Cover with meringue and bake at 350 degrees until meringue is done.

1 - 4 oz. can chopped black olives

Cumin, chili, garlic powder to taste

BEEF:

2 lbs. ground beef
Salt and pepper to taste.
Brown in skillet with 1 large chopped onion.

Layer in buttered baking dish: tortillas, meat and sauce. Top with grated cheddar cheese. Bake at 350 degrees until bubbly.

HOT DIP

1 lb. ground beef
1 lb. hot sausage
1 large chopped onion
1 chopped bell pepper
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 lb. Velveeta cheese
1 small jar of picante sauce

In large skillet, brown ground beef, sausage, onion and bell pepper. Pour off excess grease. Put mixture into crock pot and add soup, cheese and picante sauce. Simmer for at least one hour. Serve with chips.

Rodney and Gayle Cooper have had some recent experience in the art of stenciling. Seems they stenciled the baby's room in their new house, then discovered that the room only had one coat of paint. The room needed another, so they repainted, then had to stencil the room again. This was all so that the room would be done for the open house which was held Sunday. The open house went well. I hear approximately 200 people toured the new home.

While on a recent trip to Worth, I was almost dazzled by beautiful Texas wildflowers along the interstate byway. The entire route was almost a constant source of enjoyment.

Some of the flowers familiar and others not, bluebonnets, primroses, horse chestnuts, Indian paint and Indian blankets, yellow white wild daisies, along many others with names unknown to me, but beautiful all the same.

Lady Bird Johnson must be proud! She is now in her 80s still planting wildflowers.

Speaking of planting, the Discovery Channel, a young environmentalist from England with impressive credentials and degrees, is urging everyone to plant trees. They clean the air and help stabilize temperatures.

He reported that since mankind messed with Mother Nature, cutting down so many trees, the world's rain forests and other, it has caused erratic weather patterns to form and the temperatures warmer all over the globe.

So let's plant trees every way we can.

While on a recent trip to Ft. Worth, I was almost dazzled by the beautiful Texas wildflowers all along the interstate byways. The entire route was almost a constant source of enjoyment.

Some of the flowers were familiar and others not. I saw bluebonnets, primroses, phlox, horse chestnuts, Indian paintbrush and Indian blankets, yellow and white wild daisies, along with many others with names unknown to me, but beautiful all the same.

"Texas, How Beautiful" was the theme for the garden show in Abilene last Saturday afternoon at Abilene Garden Center.

Several clubs congregated with their best and loveliest to show, while seven qualified judges from surrounding areas stayed busy with a nice selection of flowers and plants to examine and judge.

Two judges were from Brownwood, two from Breckenridge, one from Snyder, one from Stamford and an invitation came to Dorothy Johnson from Loraine, a most qualified and respected show judge.

Mrs. Johnson reported that a popular division was roses, perfect plants and the quality of the plant. Smaller roses were also in a division and very beautiful to view.

Tables were set up with centerpieces depicting different themes with artistic samples such as Southwest or Texas coastlines.

Many flowers and plants were judged, then viewed by gardeners and flower lovers.

"Mirabell's Health and Beauty Spa"
"Wilma, I'm so mad at you for taking me into this joke of a health spa. I'm starving, I'm sore and all my body parts have been weighed, measured and pummeled."

"We have been here for three days and my stomach has been empty and growling for three days going on a year."

"What's the matter with you, Wilma? You're not complaining. Maybe you had more lunch than I?"

"I had four green beans, some tom lettuce with vinegar and half a turnip."

"Please look in your purse and see if you have anything in there to eat, please!"

"Now Weegie, for the 10th time, there is nothing in my purse to eat. Quit griping and take it like an adult. Try to remember how you looked in last year's bathing suit!"

Thirty minutes later...
"Weegie, come here!"

"There are several items gone from my purse. Did you take anything from my purse without my permission? Tell me the truth! You might be my good friend, but I hate stealing. I hate it!"

"I'm so sorry, Wilma. I was so hungry I ate all your Tums, all your Tic Tacs, all three pieces of Juicy Fruit chewing gum and, Wilma, that bottle of Maalox was wonderful."

"I'm so sorry I didn't leave any for you; I just went crazy. You thought you had your candy hidden but I found it under some Kleenex."

"Weegie, I didn't have any candy, honestly!"

"Yes, you did."

"There was a small square box of little chocolate squares wrapped so nice. I'm so sorry, Wilma. I ate all the little pieces of candy."

"On the torn wrapper, all I could make out was EX. Now that my stomach is full, I'm bored. I want to go somewhere, Wilma."

"Oh, not to worry. I just have a feeling that you will soon be on the move."

Take good care and see you about town.

"I'm very excited about being here and making Colorado City my home. I've found it to be a progressive community with positive economic influences like the new prison facilities and the positive, caring spirit of its residents which I encountered while covering the Christmas In April event my first weekend here," she said.

"The combined efforts of TDCJ and volunteers made it possible for contractors and house captains to finish the projects in one day, instead of it taking up to a week to complete," said Lemons.

Workers for the project fell into three divisions—volunteers on the homes, food committees and those making voluntary contributions.

"There's no way that the project could have been effective without all three," she said.

Lemons noted that this year many family members of home owners "pitched in" to help, working beside volunteers.

While monetary donations were received from Mitchell County residents and former residents, once the work began Saturday, expenses skyrocketed as repairs to one part of a house seemed to uncover additional problems that required buying more supplies.

"It was like a domino effect," Lemons said.

Worries about how to pay for the additional supplies ended when she received a $1000 donation from Fina Oil & Chemical Company.

"Right now it looks very promising that the donations have covered everything beautifully," she said Tuesday.

Lemons said she hesitated to individually name people who did outstanding jobs in making the day a success.

"I appreciate the tremendous effort and caring spirit that you displayed over the past days—weeks—months," she said.

"Individuals are also needed to drive support vehicles to lead and follow racers.

"Preferably these folks would need to drive pickups in case a cyclist breaks down," he said.

An organizational meeting will

CHIEF LONE WOLF

By Jim Baum

The job of early day telephone operators could be exciting, satisfying and anything but boring. Mary Lloyd called it "interesting," while Betty Oyler says it was the "most fun" job she ever had.

There were times the old equipment would be strained to the maximum—when there were fires, for instance, in Colorado City.

"We answered the fire calls," (in addition to calls concerning bad weather), Mrs. Oyler stated, "and when we had a fire, all the firemen would call in and ask the operator where the fire was." That could blow the fuses on the panel when all the calls were received at the same time.

"It would just light up like a Christmas tree when the fire whistle blew," she added. One panic situation which Mrs. Lloyd recalled was when President Franklin Roosevelt died (1944). "Everybody had to call everyone else and tell 'em about it. I had to have extra help that night," she added.

There were other times the operators received calls, some welcome, some not. First, those from men, which were not objectionable; men would be captivated by the pleasant sound of the operator's voice and that could lead to, well, an extended conversation.

"We were all single girls," Mrs. Oyler recalls (although a few married women also worked as operators). "The biggest part of us were single. Of course, we were looking and they [the male callers] were, too."

And that brings us to the unwelcome calls. Drunks. "Yes, we got those, too," Mrs. Oyler stated. "But we had a police chief here and all you had to do was call him up and say, 'Dick [Hickman], we're having trouble with so and so,' and that was the end of it. He did not allow us girls to have to put up with anything."

And there was the time the operators went on strike. Actually, there were several times they struck, but this particular time was in 1948. The work stoppage lasted for six weeks. Mary Lloyd remembers it very well.

"It cost us money then, but we made money in the long run because we got more benefits and our pay was better," Mrs. Lloyd says she even walked the picket line. "I had a picket sign," she says, "and I walked down there in front of J.C. Penney." (The operators worked upstairs in Penney's.) She says the pickets provoked comments from passing motorists and (some of) the citizens "didn't like it at all."

There were more, though, she says, who voiced support for the telephone company employees. Most of the Bell workers were strongly united; however, Mrs. Lloyd remembers, "we had one scab, but she quit because the other employees didn't treat her very good." During the walkout, the operators were only paid $50 by the union.

But Mrs. Lloyd remembers going to work for Southwestern Bell for $9 a week (in 1937). "We would have worked for $9 for the rest of our lives if we hadn't formed a union," she said. The operators' first raise, after going union, doubled their salaries to $18 per week.

"When I quit in 1973, I was making between $300 and $400 a week," she continued. After working as an operator, Mrs. Lloyd was promoted and still later, transferred into the business office.

Mrs. Oyler's career (1944-1949) with the telephone company wasn't as long as Mrs. Lloyd's, but she remembers really enjoying the job. Most of the time.

Once, while serving as evening chief operator, she received a complaint from a customer. The caller didn't feel one particular operator had "answered in the proper way." The operator under fire, as it turns out, was none other than Betty Oyler herself.

"I told her I would certainly take care of that girl and she wouldn't talk to her that way again," Mrs. Oyler recalls. "And I was very careful from then on."

Eventually, in 1955, new-fangled dial telephones came to Colorado City. And that meant the number of operators could be reduced substantially. Fortunately, most of the women were able to transfer to other towns that still used manual services.

No more would Colorado City operators have to work frantically to plug jacks into their panels in order to complete calls during peak times. And no more would operators have to just sit and look at the blank switchboard while they waited on calls during slack times. One can imagine an operator may have painted her fingernails during those slow times (we didn't ask Mrs. Lloyd or Mrs. Oyler if that ever happened), or maybe the ladies might have dared to take a magazine to read—we didn't ask about that either. Or, it's possible an operator might have listened in to a telephone conversation.

"As far as Ma Bell is concerned," Mrs. Oyler told us, "no." Then a slow smile. "We didn't listen very much."

The same question for Mrs. Lloyd. "Now you're asking me a question that the answer is not supposed to be told," she laughed. (Sounds like we dialed the wrong number there.)

But one thing is for sure...when automated equipment took over, the days of "number please" were numbered. And in a way, that's too bad. Mechanical reproductions can't answer fire alarms. Nor pass along weather information when there are storms.

But with progress, we have to make sacrifices.

Commissioners approve resolution

Mitchell County Commissioners unanimously approved a resolution to enter into a cooperative agreement with the Texas Narcotic Control Program at a called meeting Tuesday morning. The cooperative agreement is signed each year with the drug task force in Abilene, said County Judge Ray Mayo.

The county has never had to match funds because of forfeiture, the judge explained.

In other business, county commissioners approved a request for a letter of support from People For Progress, Inc. The non-profit organization is re-applying for funding for a rural transportation program.

In addition, the court awarded a bid for a front end loader to West Texas Equipment Company in Abilene for a new Caterpillar. The bid totaled $725,577.

Commissioners received two bids for the loader for Precinct 3. The second bid was from Air Master of Abilene for $99,950 for a John Deere.

Donkey Basketball

Donkey basketball will be sponsored by the Westbrook senior class at 8 p.m. May 9 at Westbrook gym. Tickets are $5 in advance for adults and $7 at the door; for grade-schoolers they are $3 in advance and $5 at the door. Tickets may be purchased at Mitchell County Sheriff's Department or from any Westbrook senior.

Jeanette Ceballos turned in her personal best of the year in the 3200 M run with a time of 13:7.70 and a ninth place finish.

In the long jump, Freda McKnight placed sixth with a leap of 16' 3 1/2".

There Are No Limits To Our Care

There are healthy signs of change all across West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. That's because the Lubbock Methodist Hospital System sets no limits when helping to keep quality health care thriving in rural hometowns. As we work with community leaders throughout the region, positive signs for rural health care are popping up literally everywhere. They show up as partnerships designed to keep local hospitals open, and make them stronger. They are evident in continuing education programs for physicians and other rural health care professionals. They appear as new and revitalized rural health care clinics that give family doctors new reasons to live and work in small towns. They thrive when programs like Cardiac Outreach Clinics bring advanced diagnostic procedures to outlying areas. Two new signs of change, FirstCare HMO and Methodist Southwest Provider Organization, show we're working with employers and community health care providers to make high quality health care more affordable, and keep it closer to home. Lubbock Methodist Hospital System knows no limits when it comes to partnerships that make health care accessible for everyone. Together, we're working to ensure that quality health care is always a welcome sign for communities across the region.

Home study courses offered

By Joe Raff, CEA-AG

The Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) has approved the concept of home or self study for the continuing education of TEA-licensed pesticide applicators. However, proposed home study courses must be approved individually.

The two tapes approved by the TDA are Ag-Ed Group Course 1627, "Spraying for the Money" and Ag-Ed Group Course 1628, "Pesticide Recordkeeping" for a total of 6.0 CEUs. If you are interested, call 1-800-556-0536.

I believe the number of home study courses approved by TDA will grow dramatically and this will, in turn, provide you with some needed help at the end of your five-year license period if you are still running short on your total CEUs.

The term "stress" refers to both certain heightened mental and bodily states and the causes of such states. It is said that a person who is in a physically or mentally demanding or dangerous situation is under stress.

Sounds like the whole world is in stress when you put it in those terms!

Internal disorders can produce stress responses. Long-time repetition of certain emotions, as well as a change in work or home life, may also induce stress.

Stress is a normal part of life. Prolonged and unwanted stress, however, can have undesirable effects on our mental and physical health.

There are many effective ways to cope with stress. Plan to attend the stress management seminar and bring a friend with you. There will be munchies and there is a Coke machine and free RO water.

take pride in the contributions of Texans of Mexican heritage to the republican form of government, said local Cinco de Mayo officials.

Colorado City festivities kick-off at 10 a.m. with a parade through downtown.

The parade route begins at Austin Street and Highway 80, continues west on Second Street, turning right on Oak Street to end at the Mitchell County Courthouse.

Seven floats had registered Monday to participate in the parade. Prizes will be awarded with the first place float winning $150. The second place prize is $100 and $50 for third.

Additions to this year's celebration include additional lighting at the Cinco de Mayo entertainment area of the state park and parking lot, provided by Caprock Electric.

Music begins at noon with a mariachi band, Grupo Amistad. Henry Reyna, entertainment and advertising coordinator, said the Cinco de Mayo committee feel fortunate to be able to bring the band here as there are only a few mariachi bands in the area.

The band will be followed by Los Tarahumaras, the top baile folklorico dancers in the state of Chihuahua and the second in the country.

The 24 high school-age dancers appearing in hand-crafted dresses will be performing dances from various regions in Mexico: Oaxaca, Michoacan, Sonora (danza del Venado), Guerrero, Tamaulipas, polkas from Chihuahua, Jalisco and danzas Tarahumaras.

Activities for the younger crowd attending the celebration include a talent show and fishing tournament beginning at 4 p.m.

The evening's entertainment begins at 5 p.m. with Castigo, a Tejano group from Sweetwater that features a local talent, Ricky Molina.

Stefani, a popular Tejano entertainer, will be featured from 7 to 11 p.m.

Loraine city elections drew three voters. No votes were cast in the school district election.

Incumbent councilman James Merrell is running against Pat White and Andrew Jones. Mayor Cat Martinez is running unopposed.

In the Loraine School Board election, Luis Davila and Rosemary Aguilar are running against incumbent Frank Garcia for two positions on the Loraine ISD Board of Trustees.

In Westbrook, seven voters cast early voting ballots in the Westbrook School Board race.

Saturday, May 6, is the actual voting day. Voting for all three elections in Colorado City will be held at the Mitchell County Courthouse from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Loraine citizens can vote at the senior citizens building for Loraine City Council, LISD and Mitchell County Hospital District elections.

Westbrook voters can cast their votes at the school tax office for both the school board and Mitchell County Hospital elections.

Basketball Tournament

A basketball tournament sponsored by Project Celebration will be held May 13 at the Pit. There is an entry fee of $50 per team. Call 728-2984, 728-5453 or 728-3259 to register. Registration deadline is May 10.

Stefani, who's become a new favorite in Tejano and regional Mexican music, was asked to perform at SeaWorld on May 6 in place of slain performer Selena but turned down the offer to keep her engagement in Colorado City.

"Everyone in the community is invited to come out and have a good time," said Reyes.

Entrance fees are $10 for adults, $2 for children under 10. Senior citizens are free.

The entrance fee for the Cinco de Mayo celebration covers the state park entrance fee.

One dollar of every adult ticket sold will be donated to Project Graduation to benefit local high school seniors.

Those attending the day's activities should bring their own lawn chairs.

In case of rain, the celebration will be moved to the Mitchell County Agricultural Barn.

TxDOT promotes Graham

Steven J. Graham

Steven J. Graham has been named roadway maintenance supervisor of the Texas Department of Transportation's Mitchell County maintenance section. Mitchell County is in TxDOT's Abilene district.

Graham, under the direction of the Big Spring area engineer, coordinates work projects, assists with planning and scheduling of personnel, equipment and materials and inspects road conditions in the county. He also meets with the public, monitors and assists in preparing the budget and has overall responsibility for the operations, maintenance and personnel of the section.

Graham began his TxDOT career in October 1974 as a maintenance technician in the Scurry County maintenance section. In May 1978 he took the position of office technician in that section. In April 1982 he became a crew leader for the Mitchell County maintenance section.

In November 1985, Graham was named assistant supervisor for Mitchell County and remained in that position until his recent promotion to maintenance section supervisor.

Graham and his wife Debbie have two children—a daughter, Cristi, 13 and a son, B.J., 10. When not working with TxDOT, enjoying family life or helping out with the family's farming and ranching endeavors, he can be found participating in one of his hobbies, hunting, fishing or photography.

He and his wife are also co-owners with his father-in-law of the Lone Wolf Emu Ranch.

Graham is the son of Mary Helen Price of Loraine and the late Joe Graham. He was born and raised in the Loraine area and graduated from Loraine High School in 1974. He is a member of the Loraine Masonic Lodge #1307.

Sanitation laws to be stricter

By Joe Raff, CEA-AG

For years, certain sanitation standards for agricultural field workers were required by federal law. But enforcement of these standards, such as providing portable drinking water and portable toilets, wasn't regularly enforced until now.

For an estimated 470,000 agricultural field employees across the United States, current standards will be enforced by the Labor Department and the Employment Standards Administration.

Extension Agricultural Economist Dr. Dick Edwards says with the threat of stricter enforcement on the horizon, employers must avoid the temptation to cut corners.

The current standards state that if there are more than 10 workers in one particular location, employers should provide drinking water and hand washing facilities, as well as portable toilets.

For more information call Dr. Dick Edwards (409) 845-8694.
