Texas Solons Eye Districting, Pollution

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP)—Speaker Ben Barnes places before the House today his aims for the 60th legislature. He planned to call for action on redistricting, water pollution, highway safety and other issues.

Senators planned to go through the dismal business of drawing slips of paper deciding the 16 and the 15 who must run again in 1968. This is routine after every senatorial redistricting.

House action was considered possible on a new and revolutionary set of House rules, including modified seniority on committees and a calendar based on bill priorities. The Temporary Rules Committee bucked the proposed rules to the floor Tuesday afternoon.

Opening day of the 60th legislature was marked by a challenge of Lt. Gov. Preston Smith's power by the Senate's liberal element.

Sen. A. R. Schwartz, Galveston, claimed that 10 new senators had not operated under the 1965 rules and were ready to make some changes.

He lost in two bids to get the two-thirds vote (21 members) needed to cancel the Senate rule requiring that the governor's appointments be considered in secret sssion. The votes were 12-18 and 11-19.

Smith then won approval 24-8, of the 1965 rules.

"Sure they tried to take it away from me," Smith said afterwards. "They claimed they had 16 votes and I told them to show up on the floor with them. I refused to compromise. You can see how many votes they got."

Voting with Schwartz in the final count on the rules were Sens. Roy Harrington, Port Arthur; Don Kennard, Fort Worth; Oscar Mauzy, Dallas; Chet Brooks, Pasadena, and Charles Wilson, Lufkin.

Miss Barbara Jorden, Houston senator, and Sens. Criss Cole, Houston; Bill Patman, Ganado; V. E. Berry, San Antonio; Joe Bernal, San Antonio, and Ralph Hall, Rockwall, also went with Schwartz on earlier votes.

"The only time we cheat the public is when we gather in secret sessions to consider these names," Schwartz said of the secrecy rule. "There's no reason to have this rule at all."

Schwartz said he had considered offering a proposal to strip the lieutenant governor of his power to appoint committees.

US Drives Deep In Iron Triangle

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Armored U.S. columns plunged deep into the "Iron Triangle" from the east today and the Communist toll reported in the big American drive climbed to 165 dead.

The four-day-old campaign to neutralize the jungled triangular area 20 to 30 miles north of Saigon was supported by another raid at midday by B52 heavy bombers, the 11th since Operation Cedar Falls began.

U.S. military spokesmen reported frequent contact with small enemy groups but no large-scale engagement so far. They said the 60-square-mile area was pulverized by about 400 U.S. tactical air strikes in the last four days in addition to the heavy B52 raids.

Elsewhere, South Vietnamese military headquarters reported government forces killed 172 Viet Cong soldiers and captured 26 during five scattered engagements, four of them in the northern part of the country 318 to 354 miles northeast of Saigon.

In the largest of these clashes, Vietnamese rangers and infantrymen reported 77 Viet Cong killed 318 miles northeast of Saigon. A spokesman said half of the enemy casualties resulted from air strikes and government casualties were light.

Nine U.S. Marines were presumed killed today in the crash of a helicopter into the South China Sea off the coast near Chu Lai, a Marine Corps spokesman announced in Da Nang. He said the UH34 helicopter apparently had an engine failure.

Vietnamese headquarters reported that the Tri Tam airfield 38 miles northwest of Saigon took an estimated 100 rounds of Viet Cong mortar fire early today, but there was no report on casualties.

In an unusual raid in the Mekong Delta, B52 bombers hammered at dawn at a Viet Cong base camp in mangrove swamps in Vinh Binh Province 87 miles south-southwest of Saigon.

Forward air controllers, directing the rare delta raid, reported nine secondary explosions, indicating hits on munitions or fuel. There was no indication whether the strike by the Guam-based B52s was a forerunner of another U.S. invasion of the Communist-infested delta.

Johnson Proposes Increase In Taxes

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has asked Congress to increase taxes to help pay for the Vietnam war in which "we face more cost, more loss, and more agony." Congressional reaction to a tax boost is cool.

After thundering approval Tuesday night for Johnson's State of the Union declaration to "stand firm in Vietnam," Republicans and many majority Democrats said a domestic budget cutback — not a tax boost — is the way to finance the fighting.

Johnson proposed a 6 per cent surcharge on corporate and most personal income taxes to last two years or longer unless war costs drop. Married couples with two children and incomes up to $5,000 yearly would be exempt, as would single persons with incomes up to $1,900.

The President indicated he wants the increase effective next July 1. He said the plan would raise about $4.5 billion in its first year.

His proposal would cost an extra 6 cents for each dollar paid in income taxes. As an example, a person who now pays $1,000 a year would pay $60 more.

The President told the Congress and the nation, "We shall continue on a sensible course of fiscal and budgetary policy that will keep our economy growing without new inflationary strains; finance the needs of our men in Vietnam and the progress of our people at home; support a significant improvement in our export surplus, and press forward toward easier credit and lower interest rates."

He said he planned to send a detailed report to Congress on the situation in Southeast Asia, particularly in Vietnam.

Congressmen Skeptical Of Viet Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's State of the Union formula for ending the war in Vietnam — slow pressure and patience — left neither doves nor hawks happy today.

His proposals for East-West bridge-building and an agreement to slow the arms race ran into some skepticism and a formidable roadblock — Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Dirksen said he couldn't reconcile support for increased East-West trade and a consular treaty with the Soviet Union with the fact that "we are sending American-boys to be killed every day in Vietnam."

Johnson drew strong applause when he pledged in his State of the Union address Tuesday night that the United States would "see Vietnam through to an honorable peace."

But there was less enthusiasm when he said he knew of no better strategy to gain that end than the slow, inexorable accumulation of resources "and patience — and I mean a great deal of patience."

So much turns, he said, on "whether we can continue to act with restraint when the temptation to 'get it over with' is inviting but dangerous."

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, didn't agree with a slow-pressure tactic, saying: "I feel we should increase the pressure

"It could be a long procedure if it goes on and on," said Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

But Fulbright promised that the Senate would give careful consideration to the President's proposal for an East-West trade bill and request for approval of the consular treaty with the Soviet Union.

Both proposals were shelved in the last session.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., who has been in the forefront of those opposing escalation of the war, said Johnson's speech 'didn't satisfy the anxieties."

He said "the efforts toward peace should be intensified and frankly I think we should de-escalate and stop the bombing of the North immediately."

Taking the other view, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., a member of the Armed Services Committee, said it was estimated that 5,000 Americans would be killed in Vietnam this year. He expressed belief more air and seapower "would avoid this by ending the war quickly."

"I wish I could report to you that the conflict is almost over," he said. "This I cannot do. We face more cost, more loss, and more agony. For the end is not yet. I cannot promise you that it will come this year — or come next year. Our adversary still believes tonight that he can go on fighting longer than we and our allies will stand up and resist."

In his 70-minute address, the President said he has no intention of scuttling his domestic programs. But he conceded there have been "setbacks and mistakes" that must be corrected. Not once did he use his usual label of "Great Society."

Superintendent's Contract Extended; Vote Set April 1

The Snyder School Board last night extended the contract of Dr. Robert L. Clinton, superintendent, and set the annual trustee election for April 1.

Dr. Clinton's contract was extended from June 30, 1968 to June 30, 1969. It has been the custom of the board in recent years to "look at" administrative contracts annually, but to keep them running two years in advance. The board policy provides that the contract of the superintendent be considered in January, with other administrative personnel, teachers and staff members in subsequent months.

The April 1 school board election will fill two posts on the board. The terms of Clifford Terry and Max von Roeder will expire. Three polling places will be operated for the election. They will be located at the East Elementary School, West Elementary School and at the city hall. Election judges will be Mal Andress, Mrs. Mary Ann Lambert and R. C. Lunsford, respectively

The deadline for candidates to file for places on the ballot is March 1, and the dates for absentee voting will be March 13-28.

Following brief discussion, the board indicated that it would continue its own studies of long range plans which were given impetus by citizens committees several weeks ago.

Ray Peveler, tax assessor collector for the school district, conferred with the board on plans for keeping the public informed on tax matters, particularly the new valuations and rates. At its December meeting the board voted to bring up local values to put them closer to 0ll values and then make an "across-the-board" increase to put valuations at $200 million. It was agreed that as soon as next year's budget is ready for a firm tax rate to be set, a provision will be made to let taxpayers know what their taxes will be and how the figures were arrived at.

The board approved a leave of absence for Margaret Miller, English teacher at Lamar Junior High School. Miss Miller requested the leave of absence because of the illness of her mother. Lacy Turner will replace Miss Miller for the spring semester.

Mel Zane Gilbert presented a request for a resolution by the board in behalf of Snyder Community Antenna Television. Gilbert said the cable company wants to drop Channel 12, Abilene - Sweetwater, and replace it with an educational station in Dallas. This will give the cable two Lubbock stations, two Dallas stations and one Fort Worth station. Gilbert said FCC approval is needed to drop Channel 12, since Snyder is in its "grade B contour." He said a resolution was sought from the school board because it might be interested in an educational channel. A similar resolution already had been obtained from the city, and the school board authorized its own resolution.

New personnel approved by the board Monday night included Mrs. Faye Donaldson, English at high school; Bettie Boren, special education at West Elementary; Mrs. Jerry Bowers, language arts at Lamar; Mrs. Margaret Kennedy, language arts at Lamar; Larry McNair, physical education at Travis; Lacy Turner, English at Lamar; Mrs. Wanda Clinton, first grade at Northeast Elementary.

Resignations included Kathy Standefur, special education; Mrs. Rita Lawrence, vocational nursing; Mrs. Carolyn Bowden, first grade at Northeast.

Seven invited guests attended the board meeting, along with Pat Abbananto, minister of the Thirty - seventh Street Church of Christ, who led the invocation. Guests from the community included Jay Rogers, Joe Sentell, Lee Smyth and Louie T. Vaughn. Representing the Snyder Classroom Teachers Assocaition were Mrs. Virginia Montgomery, Ray Courtney and Charles Anderson.

Maddox Pledges Peaceful Reign

By DON MCKEE
And JOE ZELLNER

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Lester G. Maddox promised today to initiate a "people's administration" devoid of extremism or violence, and to seek legislative reapportionment, a constitutional convention and a task force approach to the state's problems.

"Peace and tranquility will prevail in this state while Lester Maddox is governor," he pledged in his inaugural speech.

Maddox, 51, a segregationist who ran second in the popular vote in November, toppled Republican Howard H. Callaway, 182-66, in balloting Tuesday by the General Assembly, which, by law, made the choice because neither candidate received a majority in the election.

Maddox, who quit the cafeteria business two years ago after losing a court fight to maintain segregation, also said he would be committed to "the right of dissent" and would set aside two afternoons a month for people to meet with him.

Maddox appealed for unity and support immediately after his election.

Market In Sharp Drop

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market registered a sharp drop in opening trading today, following President Johnson's request for a 6 per cent surcharge on income taxes. But, by noon, it was regaining lost ground in record heavy trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which fell 11.47 points to 802.67 by 10:30 a.m., recovered rapidly. At noon, the average was off only 2.12 points at 812.02.

Mrs. Oscar (Cora) Davis, 83, who lived at 2906 Avenue J, died at 11:45 a.m. today in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Funeral arrangements will be made at Bolger Funeral Home.

N-Treaty Ready For Approval

LONDON (AP) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators have agreed on a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons, but their governments must still approve it, qualified diplomats said Tuesday night.

The sources said the breakthrough in the disarmament stalemate was achieved last month following a series of secret exchanges in New York and Geneva.

Details of the agreement were not disclosed, but informants said the Russians made at least one important change in their position by accepting the idea of West German participation in nuclear planning arrangements set up by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization last month.

The arrangement is designed to satisfy West German demands for a say in nuclear policy and also to meet Soviet opposition to giving Bonn control of nuclear weapons, which the Soviet Union maintained was the chief bar to agreement on a nonproliferation treaty.

Three Swans Pick Scurry Tank As Home For Winter

Three unusual visitors to Scurry County — whistling Swans —apparently have decided to spend the winter here.

Recently, they landed at a stock tank on the P. L. Fuller lease about 18 miles north of town east of the Clairemont Road.

Larry Matthews, employe of the Texaco Co., said the big birds were first spotted by a pumper. Larry said he checked a book of the Audubon Society which disclosed the fact that these handsome white birds usually spend their winters in Alaska south to the San Joaquin Valley in California. Others can be found near the Labrador Bay area of Canada.

"A few have been sighted in the Texas Gulf coast area," he said, "but so far as I know, this is the first time they've been seen this far inland."

The white birds have an average wingspan of about eight feet, and they weigh almost 20 pounds.

Although the birds apparently have decided to spend the winter here, they don't like to fraternize with the natives. They soared loftily into the air when a photographer approached too close to the stock tank where they are staying.

At first, it seemed as if they might have sung their "swan song," for they flew out of sight in a westerly direction. Later, however, they returned to the pond and made a smooth landing.

Larry said the big birds spend their summers in Alaska and often migrate as far north as Siberia.

Does their presence here indicate we're going to have a severe winter? Only time can tell. Perhaps they just like the place.

'Light, Sporadic Action' Not So For C Company

EDITOR'S NOTE—Associated Press photographer Al Chang was with troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division taking part in the massive drive against the "Iron Triangle" north of Saigon. Chang was knocked down once by the concussion of an exploding mine, but he escaped injury and stayed on to get his story and pictures.

By AL CHANG

IRON TRIANGLE, South Vietnam (AP) — The communique said contact was light and sporadic in Operation Cedar Falls, the big American push against the Viet Cong's "Iron Triangle."

Considering that up to 30,000 American troops were involved, the communique was probably right. But it wasn't that way for the men of C Company, 1st Battalion, 27th Infantry, the Wolfhounds of the 25th Infantry Division.

For them, the whole thing got off to a bad start. They made their helicopter assault along the Saigon River Monday and found they were right in the center of a heavily defended Viet Cong position.

"We took casualties even before we hit the muddy rice paddy," said Capt. Joe K. Clary of Charleston, S.C., the company commander. "The choppers landed in mud and waist-deep water. We deployed as much as we could under heavy rifle fire and grenades. Every single member of my company was wet, and they couldn't move or stand up without being hit.

"We stayed there and slugged it out with the VC."

The Viet Cong were in carefully dug-in positions, deep bunkers and spider holes. They poured a hail of fire on the American troops.

2nd Lt. Ed Cravey of Houston, Tex., a platoon leader who has been in Vietnam two months, remembered it this way:

"We just couldn't do much against the VC, they way they were dug in tight and shooting right down our throats. We fought back, of course, but some of our weapons jammed on us, and, oh God, how I wished we had some tanks and some armor then to blast them right out of their positions.

"For four long hours we traded shots with them. Every one of our troops were in deep, muddy water and our wounded were everywhere.

"The medics had to crawl and swim toward the wounded under heavy fire. They dragged them to the dikes to work on them. Some of the troopers stayed on and fought back even though they were hit.

"Air strikes and artillery finally drove the VC off. We were hit pretty bad, but I think we hurt them bad enough, too."

David H. Keefe of Washington, Pa, 20, a second lieutenant and one of the youngest combat officers in the division, was one of those who stayed and fought on. Hit twice, he refused to leave when the medical evacuation helicopters began to come in, staying with his men until the fire from the Viet Cong positions had ceased.

After the Viet Cong positions had been silenced and the wounded had been taken out by helicopter, the battalion commander, Maj. Harvey H. Perritt of Alexandria, Va., pulled the wet, weary men of C Company out for a night of rest and hot rations in the battalion area.

But early Tuesday morning they set out again to destroy a Viet Cong village stronghold about 1,500 yards south of their original position.

They moved out behind four heavy tanks, blowing up mines and booby traps from hedgerows around the battalion perimeter.

At one point, they found themselves in the center of a mine field.

Officers ordered their men to walk behind the tanks as they crossed the field. A mine exploded with a shattering blast, knocking the tracks off one of the 50-ton tanks.

Shrapnel from the mine and pieces of metal from the broken tank tracks sliced through the air. Men were knocked flat by the concussion of the blast, but no one was wounded there.

Lani Bird 2 Soars To Wide Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Lani Bird 2 satellite soared into a preliminary transfer orbit today en route to an outpost high above the Pacific to serve as a commercial space communications link between North America and the Far East.

A towering delta rocket brilliantly illuminated the early morning darkness as it propelled the Comsat Corp. payload into space right on schedule at 5:55 a.m. (EST). Thirty minutes later, the control center reported the satellite had achieved a wide-looping orbit.

"We appear to have a very good mission and to have achieved a proper transfer orbit," a spokesman said.

Orbital figures were not known immediately, but officials said they appeared to be close to the desired path ranging from about 200 to 22,300 miles above the earth.

The Communications Satellite Corp. paid the National Aeronautics and Space Administration $3.5 million to launch the $2 million-357-pound satellite.

Within two weeks, Comsat hopes to have Lani Bird 2 — named for the Hawaiian "Bird of Heaven" — in commercial service. It is to relay radio, telephone, television and teletype signals between the United States mainland, Hawaii, Japan and Australia.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The woman who is worried about her husband having a cigar or pipe in his mouth while pouring gasoline in the power lawn mower or filling the gas tank on their boat is worrying needlessly as far as her husband is concerned.

Pipe tobacco, cigars and cigarets do not burn at a temperature high enough to ignite gasoline. You can prove this by dousing a lighted cigaret in a pan of gasoline. Puts it out like water.

LIVING DANGEROUSLY

DEAR LIVING: Please read another letter on the same subject from another reader:

DEAR ABBY: I liked your answer to the worried wife whose husband kept a cigar or pipe in his mouth while pouring fuel into his boat and power lawn mower. You said, "There is always a chance that the fire isn't as 'out' as he thinks it is."

I am in the safety field and it doesn't take an expert to know that "unlighted" cigars or pipes do not mix with fuel. The fumes, if they are strong enough, will certainly cause an explosion.

There were 900 deaths in 1965 from firearms. Most of the victims were killed by guns which were "not loaded." (Only, they were!) Many people die from accidents because they have the "it-can't-happen-to-me" attitude. According to the National Safety council 6000 people died from fires, burns or injuries associated with fires in 1965.

The fumes were so powerful that the fire on the end of his cigaret ignited and my cousin was burned to death. I hope others will read this and be careful.

DEAR ABBY: My sister's daughter has been engaged for a year. Both she and her fiance have good jobs and money saved, but this girl has told her mother that she wants a big fancy church wedding with all the trimmings, and if the mother doesn't pay for it, she'll run off and get married by a Justice of the Peace.

My sister and her husband can't afford the kind of wedding their daughter demands, and the girl refuses to spend a dime of her own money for it. My sister has a heart as big as Texas, and she will go into debt to put on a big wedding if she has to. How can I help my sister see that she shouldn't jeopardize her own future security to please this selfish daughter?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Your sister may have a "heart as big as Texas" but she has a brain as small as Rhode Island if she allows her daughter to pressure her into going into debt for a wedding. Tell your sister to tell her daughter that she can't afford a fancy wedding, that a ceremony performed by a J. P. is just as legal as any other kind, and to take her choice.

Burglars Hit Laundries

Burglaries hit two laundries in Snyder Tuesday night and stole a small amount of change.

They took about $2.50 in change from a Coke machine and from a coin changer at Beaty's Laundry, 2400 Twenty - sixth Street. An undetermined amount was taken from a coin changer at White Star Laundry, 811 Twenty - sixth Street.

Officers also are investigating an incidence of vandalism at Snyder Heating and Air Conditioning Co. on the Big Spring Highway. They recovered two pieces of lead. It was determined that someone had fired a pellet gun and a .22 rifle through the west window of the firm Tuesday night. A similar incident occurred about two weeks ago.

Football Hero Returns To Front

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Capt. William S. Carpenter Jr. is back on duty with the 101st Airborne Division in Vietnam.

Carpenter, 28, famed as football's "Lonesome End" in 1959, became a battlefield hero last June when he called down napalm strikes on his own position to keep it from being overrun.

He was decorated for heroism and soon afterward assigned as an aide to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Today the general's headquarters announced Carpenter has returned to duty with the 101st.

The statement was made by Forest Craig, OCAW international representative from Pasadena, Tex., after negotiations were broken off by Mobil and union representatives of the company's marketing employes.

He reported the principal issue was parity of wages and benefits for the marketing employes with Mobil refinery workers.

Lass Turns Everything Pretty Pink!

DARLINGTON, England (AP) — Miss X is 19, pretty, an efficient secretary, and everything she touched turned pink.

She touched her white blouse and left pink patches. There was pink on her desk, pink on her writing pad and pink on the letters she typed for the boss.

For two days Miss X put up with her pink problem at the Chrysler-Cummings works in this north England town. Then she went to see Dr. Valentine Crowley, the factory physician.

After detailed laboratory tests, Dr. Crowley came up with the answer Tuesday. It was all caused by a curry dinner.

"No wonder the poor girl was so upset," the doctor said. "A spice called turmeric in the curry was the trouble. Her system reacted against it and sent something like a pink dye through her pores."

"I have never known a case like it. The girl didn't look pink, quite normal in fact, but everything she touched went that color," he said.

Turnmeric is used extensively as a dye in Asia, where it is cultivated.

Miss X's trouble is clearing up, and on Dr. Crowley's advice she is going to skip curry in future.

"We don't want to give the girl's name because she is so embarrassed," a factory spokesman said. "She can't help blushing."

Queen Mother Said Recovering

LONDON (AP) — Doctors report Queen Mother Elizabeth is convalescing "satisfactorily in every way."

However, it will be several months before she attends any official functions, they added.

The bulletin was issued Tuesday after physicians saw the 66-year-old mother of Queen Elizabeth II at her London residence.

MANCHESTER'S BOOK

Connally Makes Grim Comment

By ROBERT HEARD

AUSTIN (AP)—Upset by William Manchester's book on the Kennedy assassination, Texas Gov. John Connally has issued a terse statement to newsmen saying Kennedy's "declining popularity" prompted the trip on which he lost his life.

Connally grimly read the statement to newsmen Tuesday. He declined further comment.

"This transparent attempt to dictate history through a captive voice is shocking," Connally said.

The first serialized installment of the book in Look Magazine appeared on newsstands Tuesday. Connally said it purports to be factual history but "actually is a recitation of recollections and observations collected and reflected through the prisms of prejudice."

"For example," he said, "it has been reported that President Kennedy was unwillingly brought to Texas to settle a local political argument.

"To the extent that there was any significant argument prior to the trip, it was between then Vice President Johnson and Sen. (Ralph) Yarborough (D-Tex.) both of whom were readily available in Washington.

"The fact is it is common knowledge that this was part of a series of political trips of President Kennedy's own making planned in the wake of polls reflecting declining popularity."

Connally did not say, or permit newsmen to ask, if he had read the book or the magazine article or if he based his remarks on news reports. He prefaced his statement this way: "I propose to read this statement and have nothing further to say."

He and Mrs. Connally, who also was in the presidential limousine in Dallas when Connally and Kennedy were shot, have refused for three years to elaborate on details of Kennedy's trip, Connally said.

"Regretfully, we have concluded that we no longer have that choice in view of recent developments," he said.

Instead of authentic history, Manchester's book "turns out to be an astonishing propaganda instrument cleverly woven to reflect favorably on those who gave it birth, while rudely discrediting others involved," Connally said.

Connally did not comment on Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's characterization of him, reported by Manchester.

"I can't stand him all day," Mrs. Kennedy was quoted as saying to her husband during the Texas trip. "He's just one of those men—oh, I don't know. I just can't bear his sitting there saying all those great things about himself. And he seems to be needling you all day."

Connally said he was speaking out in the interest of "unmanaged history." The silence has not been broken earlier, he said, because "the intensity of our personal feelings and sense of helplessness as participants left deep emotion scars which we felt were best borne in silence."

It took Connally only three minutes to read the 344-word statement. He spoke deliberately, pausing only briefly from time to time for emphasis.

Two other high-ranking Texans commented on the assassination Tuesday.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said in Washington that he received a fake bomb in the mail after the assassination, apparently sent by someone who thought conservatives were responsible for Kennedy's death. Police persuaded him not to reveal the matter at that time, Tower said.

Dallas Mayor Erick Jonsson said Manchester was off base in writing that Dallas had a "disease of the spirit, a shrill, hysterical note suggesting a deeply troubled society" at the time of the assassination.

"Dallas was a town glad to see its president on that day," Jonsson said. "We were concerned with entertaining him and the most elaborate methods were used to make him welcome."

Ohio University led the Mid-American Conference in football attendance last season, averaging 14,092 for its five home games.

NATHAN TWINING, in concert here Monday, Jan. 16.

Fast Rising Young Pianist To Play Here Monday Night

Nathan Twining is unique in the field of concert performers, and will be featured here Monday, Jan. 16th by the Scurry Concert Association at 8 p.m. in the High School Auditorium.

Son of General Nathan Twining, retired Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, this incredible young musician had no contact with music in his early years. As a military man's son he has lived throughout the United States, including Hawaii and Alaska. Early interests were sports and in this area he excelled in football, basketball, swimming, and baseball.

At seventeen young Twining met his first piano at close range when his family acquired an old spinet from friends. Shortly thereafter he tagged along to his younger sister's beginning lessons out of curiousity. This initial interest developed rapidily into a consuming passion and after only six months of lessons Twining was accepted at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music. His progress there under the guidance of Professor Joseph Hungate was phenomenal. This outstanding mentor described his student as "a youthful marvel."

Shortly after graduation in 1959 Twining made his professional debut with the Tulsa Philharmonic under the direction of Vladimir Golschmann. For this performance he drew high critical praise and at its conclusion members of the orchestra rose in a rare tribute.

In the Fall of 1961 Twining began his first national tour and since this time has played a great critical acclaim in more than 30 states. Audiences at Mr. Twining's concerts have the excitement of discovering for themselves one of the great pianists of tomorrow.

Johnson Displays Old Vigor In State Of Union Message

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, bouncing back from months of comparative silence, is as full of energy and ideas as ever, which would seem to wash out any guessing that he won't try for a second term in 1968.

There was a time, earlier in his presidency, when Johnson kept himself almost constantly in the public eye with speeches or pronouncements. He did, an almost complete about face on that in the last months of 1966.

But his State of the Union message Tuesday night, delivered to Congress in person and taking up almost one hour and 10 minutes of national television and radio time, was like his three previous messages, starting in 1964.

It dripped with proposals and programs and promises to get on with unfinished business. In domestic affairs alone the President dipped into at least 21 different fields with recommendations made then or to be made.

Yet, there was a difference between Tuesday night's talk and the previous State of the Union messages, both in what he said and the way he said it.

Gone was the excessive use of facial expressions as he explored the problems and made his points. He was straight-faced as he addressed Congress.

Those who have been critical of him for the way he delivered a talk — the expressions, the eye-squinting, the gestures — would have trouble finding the same fault in this latest talk.

In short, Johnson on television Tuesday night was a different Johnson. This showed up, too, at his televised news conference Dec. 31. There is as much ginger as ever but less self-consciousness.

The new Johnson is a lot more careful and thoughtful about his public image.

Further, the writing technique in Tuesday night's message was better than the earlier ones in sentence structure and matter-of-factness, without trimmings or over-use of short sentences.

And, full of ideas as Tuesday night's message was, it still was less controversial than some of its predecessors. Except for his suggestion to increase taxes to help pay for the war in Vietnam, there was very little to stir his listeners on racial, economic or other grounds.

Such hot issues of the past, like medicare or federal aid to education, were missing. Johnson's stress was on a better life for everybody in this country.

His suggestions for improvement ranged from fighting poverty to building up better police forces to fight crime and giving the states ever more federal aid and cooperation.

But Johnson did not propose giving the states a bundle of federal tax revenue to use as they pleased, an idea that has been talked about a lot recently, particularly by Republicans.

The recommendations he made covered such a broad field of American life — backed up by his promise to send Congress special messages on a number of them — will keep him busy and in the public mind for months.

In short, the whole thrust of his talk on domestic problems was one of aggressive action by him although, by repetition, he made it plain he wouldn't be high-handed but would seek the advice and consent and approval of Congress.

He was far less specific and inclusive in the foreign field. There he generalized mostly on American help and cooperation in all the continents of the world.

But the one place where he was very specific and emphatic was Vietnam. He didn't budge an inch on American participation in the war there.

Junior Editors Quiz on RENAISSANCE

QUESTION: Why was a certain period in history called the Renaissance?

* * *

ANSWER: Renaissance comes from the French word renaitre, meaning to be born again. It is applied to events happening in Italy from the late 1200's to the 1500's. The change in thinking and behavior during this era spread to other European countries. It is thought of as a historical period connecting medieval times with our days of the modern world. By the 1300's, there was more prosperity and wealth in Italy than before. People began to build fine houses and employ artists to decorate them. As our top picture suggests, Italians began to get interested in the relics of the old civilizations of Greece and Rome. They began to study the ancient philosophers and became influenced by their thinking, by their ideas of logic and science. But the Italians did not return to the pagan ideas of the ancient world. They remained Christians and began to look forward as well as back. With the newly invented telescope, such men as Galileo explored the heavens and made modern scientific knowledge possible.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Recall the date of Columbus' great voyage of discovery — then realize that this was in Renaissance days. The Age of Exploration was another development of the Renaissance. 1-11

Comments Of Pavement Philosopher

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a pavement Plato:

There is an easy way to solve the crowded feeling that has resulted from the human population explosion. The answer is to breed miniature people.

The first step, as a matter of fact, already has been taken.

Babies in most civilized countries today, as a result of medical advice to mothers, weigh at birth at least a pound less on the average than they did a generation or two ago.

A mother in 1900 somehow felt she had cheated her husband if she delivered a baby that didn't bump the scales beyond the 8-pound mark. Today her doctor praises a mother if she keeps her infant down to seven pounds.

The trouble is what happens thereafter. The smaller babies of today, thanks to vitamins and better nutrition generally, grow up to be taller and heavier than their fathers and their grandfathers. That's why they crowd the world.

The growing problem is how to use available space more efficiently. Scientists are well aware of this fact. Through the miniaturization of parts they have been able to make smaller machines that have more output than larger machines formerly did.

As man tends more and more to ape the machines he creates, that probably will turn out to be the human answer to overcrowding, too. Since the earth itself can hardly be enlarged, what better solution to the population problem can there be than the miniaturization of people?

For some time the secret ideal of most men has been to be six feet tall and weigh somewhere between 180 and 200 pounds. Such a man would have a brain weighing about three pounds.

This ideal must be destroyed. It is out of date.

I would say the ideal man of the future should have a five-pound brain, stand three feet tall, and weigh about 75 pounds.

Since women by then will still be insisting on being even more equal than men, I would say the ideal woman of the future should have a four-pound brain —more than ample for her everyday needs — stands 3 feet 6 inches, weigh 100 pounds, and be broad enough so that the ideal man would hide safely behind her skirts in case of sudden attack.

Don't think this is all a dream. If science could miniaturize machines, who can say it won't be able to midgetize man?

Interest Hike Disappoints LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson cites the rise in interest rates and a tightening of credit as "our greatest disappointment in the economy during 1966."

But as the year ended, Johnson told Congress in his State of the Union message Tuesday night, monetary conditions were easing. "Given the cooperation of the Federal Reserve System, which I earnestly seek, I am confident that this movement can continue," he said.

Frogs Flail Ags, 67-64

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Writer

Texas Christian was the undisputed leader of the Southwest Conference basketball chase today because the Horned Frogs kept cool in the pressure cooker at College Station.

The Horned Frogs, trailing Texas A&M by six points with little more than three minutes to go, swept past the Aggies 67-74 Tuesday night on the clutch shooting of Mickey McCarty and Johnny Underwood.

Coupled with defending champion Southern Methodist's 82-73 loss to Texas at Austin, the victory gave TCU a 3-0 Conference record and sole possession of first place.

In other games Texas Tech snapped a 10-game losing streak by whipping Rice 91-69 at Lubbock and Baylor clamped a sticky man-to-man defense on Arkansas for a 65-53 triumph at Waco.

SMU and Texas are now tied for second place with 2-1 marks. The remaining conference teams are lumped together with 1-2 records.

McCarty, who scored 20 points for the night, poured in seven points on the foreign court at G. Rollie Coliseum to help erase a 60-54 A&M lead with 3:10 minutes to play. Underwood sank four pressure free throws and Carey Sloan hit two.

The Aggies, tied with TCU 37-37 at halftime, were led by John Underwood's 16 points. Ronnie Peret had 15.

Texas Christian, despite having the disadvantage of shooting free throws before hooting A&M fans, connected on 19 of 24 charity tosses while the Cadets cashed only 14 of 27.

Texas outshot SMU 16-1 in a four-minute stretch of the last half. Billy Arnold of Texas tallied 23 points, most of them in the second half on driving layups and shots from the corner.

The SMU Mustangs, paced by the 16 point-production of both Bob Begert and Denny Holman, appeared to lose their poise and were hurt by traveling and poor passes. SMU was leading 62-55 before Texas went on its scoring splurge. The Ponies trailed 41-40 at halftime.

In Lubbock, big Vernon Paul, sidelined in December by an appendectomy, gave the Texas Tech Red Raiders a much needed scoring punch as he returned to the lineup. Paul hit 10 of 12 shots from the field and connected on two free throws for 22 points. The victory snapped a 10-game Tech losing streak.

The Red Raiders shot 66 per cent from the field to Rice's cold 36.1 per cent. Bill Doty was high for the Owls with 18 points.

Baylor surprised Arkansas with its man-to-man defense in the second half after trying to befuddle the Razorbacks with a zone setup in the first 20 minutes. Arkansas appeared rattled by the change and could hit only 33 per cent of its shots in the second half.

The Bears were sparked by Jimmy Turner's 28 points—21 of them in the last half. Wally Freeman was high for Arkansas with 16.

TCU and Baylor will be idle the rest of the week. SMU entertains Rice in Dallas and Arkansas is host to A&M Saturday night. Texas meets Texas Tech in a day game Saturday at Austin.

Stars Rip East, 135-120

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sharpshooting Rick Barry and giant Nate Thurmond showed an All-Star game audience that the surprising San Francisco Warriors will be hard to catch in this second half of the National Basketball Association race.

Barry's 38 points and the rebounding and muscle work of the 6-foot, 11-inch Thurmond were major factors Tuesday night in boosting the underdog West to a 135-120 victory over the East.

In NBA All-Star game annals, Barry's point production is topped only by the 42 scored by Wilt Chamberlain in 1962. The second-year Warrior star from the University of Miami won the most valuable player trophy with 66 votes from newsmen covering the game.

There are those who think it should have gone to Thurmond.

"Nate was the equalizer," commented Coach Fred Schaus of Los Angeles who directed the West. "He was the entire key to the ball game. With Thurmond able to contest the entire East front line (on rebounds), we were able to run. This was our game plan.

"Another big key was Dave DeBusschere who got 16 points in the second quarter. Barry, of course was great. But again Thurmond was the man."

The improved pair are big reasons why the Warriors, who finished fourth and out of the playoffs a year ago, are currently leading the Western Division by eight games.

Chamberlain, who played and scored 14 points despite an injured Achilles tendon, agreed with Schaus.

"Thurmond definitely was the most valuable player. He did the entire job while Barry just put the ball through the hoop."

Nate collected 20 votes with four going to DeBusschere.

Red Auerbach, back to coaching for just one night, drew the thumb from referee Willie Smith in the third period for complaining too emphatically. The East coach had been charged with one technical foul in the first half and the second one caused the ban.

The former coach of Boston's all-winning Celtics who now concentrates on the general manager job, left the court.

Muhammad Apologizes!

By JACK DONOVAN

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay, self - proclaimed black muslim minister, poet and greatest heavyweight boxer, has added humility to his personality traits.

"I apologize," he said in opening a news conference Tuesday, for calling Ernie Terrell an Uncle Tom.

"I didn't know that he wasn't an Uncle Tom," Clay said. "I know now that he isn't an Uncle Tom."

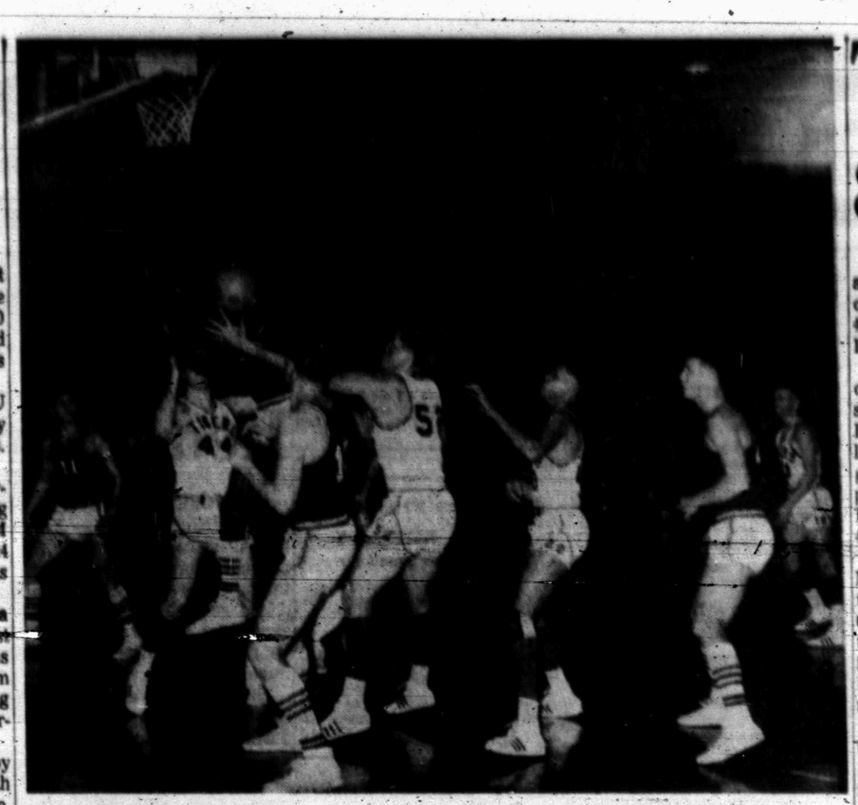

Uncle Tom is a derisive term for a Negro who plays up to a white person.

Clay, who will be 25 next Tuesday, opened his training camp today for a Feb. 6 title defense against Terrell, 27, in Houston's Astrodome.

It is the first of what Clay said will be five title fights this year.

The champion and challenger nearly came to blows in New York City last month when Terrell called Clay, who adopted a Black Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, by his given name and Cassius responded with the Uncle Tom phrase.

Although he said he apologized to Terrell Clay vowed: "I'm still going to give him a good whipping for calling me Casius Clay."

Robinson Is Male Athlete Of Year

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Robinson, the slugging outfielder who led Baltimore to baseball's world championship, was named the male athlete-of-the-year for 1966 today in the annual Associated Press poll.

The 31-year-old Oriole beat out pitching star Sandy Koufax and Jim Ryun, the world's fastest miler, in a close vote.

Robinson drew 119 first-place votes and 586 points. Koufax collected 98 votes for No. 1 and 501 points while Ryun, named the top athlete on 103 ballots, was third with 466 points.

Baert Starr, quarterback for Green Bay's National Football League champion, was a distant fourth with 164 points.

A total of 428 sports writers plus radio and television sportscasters participated in the balloting. Points were awarded on a basis of 3 for a first-place vote, 2 for second and 1 for third.

Robinson, obtained from Cincinnati in December 1965, was a unanimous choice as the American League's Most Valuable Player last season after winning the circuit's triple crown. He led in batting with a .316 average, home runs with 49 and runs batted in, 122.

In the Orioles four-game World Series sweep over the Los Angeles Dodgers, Robinson provided his team's first runs with a two-run homer in the opener plus the only run of the fourth game with another home run. He played from May on with a stretched tendon in his right knee that required surgery Nov. 22.

Robinson is the fifth baseball player in the past six years to win the top male athlete award. Roger Maris of the New York Yankees was named in 1961, Maury Wills of the Dodgers in 1962 and Koufax in 1963 and 1965. The 1964 choice was Olympic swim star Don Schollander.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles will present the award to Robinson on Feb. 11 in San Francisco.

Koufax, the Dodgers' brilliant southpaw who retired from the game two months ago because of an arthritic left arm, won the Cy Young award for a unprecedented third time in 1966.

Koufax was the selected the majors' outstanding pitcher because he won more games than any other, 27, completed 27 of 41 starts while leading in strikeouts with 317 and earned run average, 1.73. He also pitched the National League pennant clincher, beating Philadelphia 6-3 on the final day of the season.

Ryun, the 19-year-old University of Kansas athlete, ran the mile in a record 3:51.3 at Berkeley, Calif., on July 17 to become the first American champion at that distance since Glenn Cunningham in 1937. He cut 2.3 seconds off the mark of France's Michel Jazy.

In addition, Ryun set a world one-half mile record with a 1:44.9 clocking and an American two-mile mark of 8:25.2. Among the other mile races he won and the times were the Compton Invitational meet, 3:53.7; Kansas Relays, 3:55.8, and the National AAU Championships, 3:56.6.

Hermleigh Upends Fluvanna Twice

HERMLEIGH — The Cardinals swept a doubleheader basketball victory over Fluvanna here Tuesday night. The boys won, 65-50, and the girls nudged their foe, 36-35.

Hermleigh's boys led virtually all the way after taking an 18-10 lead in the first quarter on the sharp shooting of Danny and Mike Peterson. Danny meshed 20 points and Mike dropped in 17. Ted Winter also split the cords for 17 points. Bobby Hall and Henry Contreras each collected 13 points for the Buffaloes.

The win leaves Hermleigh with a 2-0 district record while Fluvanna is 1-1.

Sharon Pieper sank a long shot from the corner in the final three seconds as the Cardinal girls scored a come-from-behind victory. Fluvanna had gone ahead by one point with only 14 seconds to go.

The Buffalo Gals led, 11-7, in the first quarter, then saw the advantage cut to 16-13 at halftime. Hermleigh took charge, 22-21, in the third quarter and the last stanza was a battle to the wire.

Sharon Pieper dunked in 12 points and Jane Wall scored 11 for the Hermleigh girls For Fluvanna, Rinda Bruner tipped in 24 points

Hermleigh's girls now are 1-1 in district, and so is Fluvanna. The Cardinals will host Loraine Friday night in another twinbill.

HERMLEIGH GIRLS (36) — Finch 0-3-3; Wall 2-7-11; Pieper 6-0-12; Chipsey 1-0-2; Peterson 0-1-1; Averitt 2-2-6; totals 11-14-36.

Stolle Turns Pro

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Australian Davis Cup star Fred Stolle has signed a professional tennis contract.

His professional fee will be kept secret in view of future negotiations with present amateur stars, but it is believed to be in excess of 80,000.

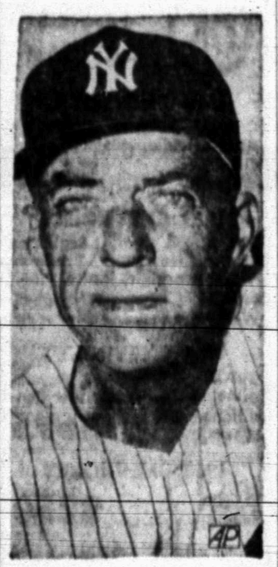

Stolle signed a two-year contract Tuesday. He starts his professional career here Jan. 28 in matches against Rod Laver, Pancho Gonzales and Dennis Ralston.

Chiefs Don Pads

LONG BEACH, Calif., (AP)— The Kansas City Chiefs worked out in pads in their final three practices before Sunday's Super Bowl meeting with Green Bay.

Coach Hank Stram said Tuesday that the Chiefs will hold closed sessions through Friday, then rest Saturday before the contest with the National Football League champions in Los Angeles' Memorial Coliseum.

The Atlanta Braves placed four men among the National League's top 13 sluggers last season. They were Joe Torre, Hank Aaron, Felipe Alou and Rico Carty.

JOHNNY KEANE DIES — Baseball's Johnny Keane, above, 55, died in his Houston home of a massive coronary occlusion. The former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees was under treatment for heart trouble and high blood pressure but had not suffered any previous heart attacks prior to the one which caused his death, his doctor reported. Tigers Bounce Cats, 80-48; Lamesa Falls

Snyder's Tigers put together a good team effort here Tuesday night to claim an easy 80-48 basketball decision over the Littlefield Wildcats.

The win brought the Tiger district mark to 2-2 for the season while Littlefield fell to 0-3. Elsewhere in the district, Levelland surprised Lamesa, 51-46, to grab sole possession of first place, and Sweetwater downed Brownfield in a mild upset, 54-41.

With Tommy Bullard and Mickey Almond pacing the attack, Snyder hit 53, 44, 33 and 62 per cent in the four quarters respectively. Overall shooting was improved. Bullard was high with 23 points while Almond netted 15.

Littlefield's best quarter was the third frame when the 'Cats hit 40 per cent. Their worst performance was in the final stanza as they hit only 28 per cent.

The Tigers leaped into a 22-10 lead in the first quarter and Coach Ned Underwood sent in the reserves as the Bengals coasted to a 43-23 halftime advantage. The reserves saw about as much action as the regulars throughout the game.

The Wildcats outscored Snyder, 16-14, in the third quarter to cut the lead to 57-39. Then the Tigers put in 23 points in the last quarter while holding the visitors to 9.

Kevin Hutson sparked the visitors with 12 points, followed by Tim Tapley with 11 and Neville Manning with 10.

The ball handling, shooting and defense of the Tigers was tremendously improved, although the team could be a little smoother on running the offensive patterns. Also, as usual, the Tigers had good hustle from everyone.

Littlefield, except for a strong thrid quarter, was caught flat-footed on several occasions. They also displayed a tendency to dribble with the ball when a quick pass down court probably would have produced more beneficial results.

Ralph Dangerfield was effective on the boards for the Wildcats, but he sat on the bench throughout the third quarter.

Twelve Tigers grabbed rebounds. Eldon Woodward was the leader with seven.

In the "B" game, Snyder overcame a 10-8 deficit in the first quarter to go ahead, 29-22, at halftime. The Tabbies remained in command, 43-31, after three before pushing the final margin to 66-42.

Benny Ward of Snyder had a hot night, collecting 23 points. Ross was high point man for Littlefield with 16.

Friday night, the Tigers journey to Brownfield.

Ira Socks Hobbs In 2nd Overtime

HOBBS — Ira slipped past Hobbs, 38-36, in the second overtime period of an exciting Class B basketball game here Tuesday night after the visiting girls came from behind in the last quarter to take a 23-21 decision.

Ira leaped ahead, 8-3, in the first period of the boys game then saw its lead vanish in the second quarter as Hobbs took charge, 16-10. Ira then proceeded to score 9 points while limiting Hobbs to two in the third quarter to go back ahead, 19-18. The lead changed hands several times in a wild fourth quarter, and the Panthers' Lorin Pearce sank a jump shot from 12 feet out in the final 10 seconds to send the game into overtime. Each team had 29 points at the end of regulation play.

The count still was knotted, at 32-32 at the end of the first overtime period.

In double overtime action, Ira's Aaron Crawford drove in for a layup to put the Bulldogs ahead with 38 seconds remaining. The Panthers had time to win but couldn't hit the basket as a crip shot missed the mark.

Johnny Ezell was leading scorer for Ira with 16 points while George Martinez posted 11 for Hobbs. Gary Nettleton was credited with 10 points for the Panthers.

Connie Sterling sparked the Ira girls. She sank several long set shots from outside and finished the night with 20 points. For Hobbs, Brenda Hull was scoring leader with 9 points.

Hobbs overcame a 10-7 halftime deficit to go ahead, 15-14, going into the final frame, but Ira's girls managed to pull it out.

Hobbs will be at Fluvanna for two games Friday night.

Worster Cuts Offers To 7

DALLAS (AP)—Steve Worster, one of the most sought high school football players in Texas history, has reduced the list of colleges he is considering to seven.

In a telephone interview with Bob Galt of the Dallas Times Herald, Worster said, "I'm either going to Texas, the University of Houston, LSU, Oklahoma, Alabama, Arkansas or Texas A&M."

Worster, a Bridge City star, has been all-state three years in a row. Last year he carried the ball 295 times for 2,249 yards, an average of 7.6. He scored 38 touchdowns, including three in the title game.

He weighs 210 pounds and is 6 feet.

Worster has visited only the Texas campus. He said he has a schedule whereby he will visit the other schools before signing a letter of intent to attend any school.

Tax Increase Should Also Reduce Inflationary Strains

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's request for a 6 per cent surcharge on income taxes, which undoubtedly surprised some economists, is designed not only to raise money for the Vietnam war but also to reduce inflationary strains.

The Johnson administration came under strong pressure during the first part of 1966 to propose a tax increase as a hedge against inflation. But many economists have since changed their minds and some now fear a tax boost might lead to recession.

Administration officials see the picture differently, however. "There are differences of opinion," one top administration source said when asked about the recession talk. "Our views on the economy are to expect a healthy advance."

He said the instability of the economy feared by some economists is exaggerated.

"A prudent tax increase of this spot is what is appropriate to prevent a too-rapid rise in the activity and prices we had last year," the source said.

Congressional reaction to the proposed tax hike was less than enthusiastic, with a number of members saying expenditures should be trimmed first.

Earlier, an informal poll of members of Congrss showed almost solid opposition had developed to a tax increase now. The Republican leadership is pledged to cuts in spending to "avert the threat of higher taxes."

By proposing a July 1 effective date for the 6 per cent surtax, Johnson gives himself and Congress another six months to watch the economy.

This follows closely a plan proposed earlier this month by Walter W. Heller, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. Heller said a July 1 effective date fits his projected economic pattern for 1967 — a slackening in the immediate months ahead with a pickup following.

Johnson said his administration will continue a sensible course of fiscal and budgetary policy during 1967 to keep the economy growing without new inflationary strains, to finance Vietnam needs and the needs at home, to help improve the U.S. trade balance and to help ease credit and reduce interest rates.

Administration leaders called the surtax fair and equitable and a levy which hits everyone proportionately, does not become imbedded in the tax structure and is easy to remove.

What it means is that a person who pays $600 in income taxes would pay 6 per cent, or $36, additional.

It would raise $4.5 billion the first year and about $5.7 billion the second year. The additional collections the second year, officials explained, result from delays in payments and final settlement of tax bills.

There would be no exemptions for corporations under the proposal. Single persons with taxable incomes up to $1,000 yearly and married couples with taxable incomes up to $2,000 would be exempt, however.

Bahamas Parties In Deadlock

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Both major parties were in a surprise deadlock today for control of the Bahamas House of Assembly.

The Progressive Liberal party captured four new seats on New Providence Island and four in the out-islands for a total of 18. That was the same number won by the incumbent United Bahamian party. The vote count is unofficial.

The United Bahamian party had run the British crown colony's internal government with a 24-8 majority over the Progressive Liberals in a 33-member House, raised to 38 recently by a new constitution. Labor and Independent parties each won a seat in Tuesday's balloting.

The deadlock created a face-off between Sir Roland Symonette, premier of the Bahamas, who retained his United Bahamian party House seat, and Lynden Pindling, the Progressive Liberal party Negro leader. Pindling would have become premier had his party won control in its campaign on issues of gambling corruption in government and black power.

Party leaders declined to comment Tuesday night on how the deadlock would be broken if it held up. Political observers speculated on a new election, a call to the Progressive Liberal party to form a government, and a hands-off course in which the Labor and Independent assemblymen would be key House members.

Charlie Ruffing Parker, offensive guard with the Denver Broncos, was named after former Yankee pitcher Charley Ruffing.

Irate Powell Urges Negroes To Break With Democrats

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell urges Negroes to break their long allegiance to the Democratic party, and hints that a third party may be their best political weapon.

Stung by the refusal Tuesday of the House to seat him at least until a committee probes his qualifications, Powell told cheering Negro followers on the Capitol steps: "We might start a third party!".

They cheered wildly and chanted, "Adam for president! Adam for president!"

He told them to stop paying their taxes and to stop supporting the two major political parties.

Later, in a statement, Powell called on Negroes "along with our white friends" to consider "a new independent course of action in which they are the balance of power in all elections."

Republicans and many Democrats joined Tuesday in rebuffing efforts by the Democratic leadership to have Powell seated as a member of the new Congress while his qualifications are investigated.

Instead, he was told in a 364 to 64 vote to stand aside while a special nine-member committee, to be named next week, examines his qualifications in the light of widespread charges that he has abused his congressional office in the past.

The committee is to make its recommendation in five weeks. Powell is to keep his pay and office staff in the interim.

"It all depends on Adam," said a member. "If he gets together with the committee and is cooperative, he might get off with being censured. But I don't expect him to be seated."

Powell didn't sound like a man interested in getting together with his House colleagues.

"They're the biggest bunch of political hypocrites in the world," he told the crowd outside the Capitol, which closed in on him and held him tightly pressed in its midst.

Powell urged them to stand black and solid against the white world.

"What has happened to me has crystallized the black masses," he said. "What they're doing to me will mushroom from Watts to Harlem."

Later, Powell flayed Northern liberals and the Republican party as the new leaders "of sophisticated race hatred in America. They are the black man's new grave-diggers."

Some of his constituents, anticipating Powell might not be seated, talked of electing him to the office again and again anyway.

Before the House voted it was warned by Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., that no matter how barren of racial prejudice was its action, it was "a cold, practical fact" that 20 million Negroes would interpret the blow at Powell as aimed at them.

Knots of his constituents who gathered at public spots in Harlem seemed to agree with Powell he had been set down because of his race.

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and considered among the most moderate Negro civil rights leaders, said in a statement that Powell "did not get a fair deal.

"We insist," he said, "that the yardstick which has been applied to Rep. Powell be applied at once to all others in the House."

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said he was "disturbed that this action was taken before the adoption of any uniform code of conduct applicable to all members."

Citrus May Set Record

WASHINGTON (AP)— The 1967 citrus crop is expected to be the greatest in history, the Agriculture Department said Tuesday, with a total production of 250.4 million boxes. Last year's was 204 million boxes.

The estimates by millions of boxes:

Oranges—Florida 142.4; California 34; Arizona 2.5; Texas 2.4.

Grapefruit Florida 142.4; Calias 5.4; California 4.8; Arizona 1.8.

Lemons— California 15; Arizona 2.6.

Loyal Texan's New Home Dwarfs Lone Star State

By STAN STEPHENS

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) —A loyal Texan has finally found a place which "makes Texas seem quite small."

The Texan, a brand new member of the Association of Old Antarctic Explorers, is Edward Clark, U.S. Ambassador to Australia who recently went to the Antarctic and the South Pole.

"It is paradoxical that the coldest place in the world could produce the warmest friendship and the most classic example of international understanding, co-operation and brotherhood," he said.

Clark, from Austin, Tex., said "Among other things than my job, I was prompted to go because I had a great curiosity and compulsion to see everything down under.

"The jumping-off place was Christchurch, New Zealand.

"It takes eight to nine hours to make the 2,300-mile flight from Christchurch to the first stop on the Antarctic continent, McMurdo.

"When we landed on skis on 10-ft. thick ice at Williams Field, five miles from land at McMurdo, I thought we were being given a fabulous welcoming demonstration.

'However, I soon learned that most of the demonstrators were more interested in mail, Christmas packages and other things than us. I soon located 17 Texans. I had a nice visit and a meal with them.

"I was told the temperature at McMurdo was normal for summer—about minus 25 degrees Fahrenheit.

"McMurdo looks like one of our movie 'shoot-em-up' Western Frontier towns. We could look up at 'Old Smokey', Mt. Erebus, an active volcano 13,000 feet high, and see the smoke belching out.

"The Seabees were busy building, working in two 12-hour shifts. The sun shines for 24 hours; it moves around but never sets.

Loggerhead sponges inhabiting coral reefs serve as tenements for small shrimp. One patient marine biologist counted 16,000 shrimp living in a single sponge.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — We have here a letter from a puzzled gentleman in Wisconsin asking what's going on down here. He read in the newspapers that it had snowed so hard they had to close some highways in Mexico. And this fellow says he was under the impression from reading pamphlets that Mexico was a hot, tropical country but he adds that when it comes to heavy climate they have plenty of that in Wisconsin so what's this about relaxing in the tropics down here?

It is like this. Mexico is an up and down country where you find everything. There are deserts and arid regions in the north and in the south, you find jungles with several feet of rain a year.

You have tropical weather all the year on the southern part of the Pacific coast, around the Isthmus of Tehuantepec and over on the Caribbean side. But you also have big mountains. There is one over 18,000 feet high in Veracruz State (which is tropical) that has snow on it all the time. And some others between 17,000 and 18,000 near Mexico City that also are snow capped.

In the winter everybody vacations in the tropics — Puerto Vallarta, Manzanillo, Zihuatanejo, Acapulco, Islas Mujeres and Cozumel. In the summer they come up to the mountain country and keep cool. Once in a while we get a cold spell in the winter and the show drops down to around the 10,000 foot level.

Mexico is democratic with climate. You don't have to stand for any weather you don't like. Just go over the next hill and you find a different kind.

Want to visit Mexico in February but understand all hotels are booked solid through winter. Is this true?

Most of the big ones are. However, you can find plenty of small modern places around the resort areas and here in the city which have mostly come-and-go travelers. Also, the big hotels have cancellations and if you are on hand there is usually a good chance of squeezing in. I'd suggest you pack up and leave the doubts at home in the basement. Hotels are often helpful in steering you to other plaees if they have nothing open.

Planning month's vacation in Acapulco and would like to go for water sports. Should we take skis and diving equipment?

Waste of time. The bay is loaded with speed boats, skis and instructors. You can rent whatever you need. There are several places around the bay section where you can rent skin diving equipment. Prices are moderate.

Planning on flying to Mexico in our private plane and would like to visit Cozumel. Is there an adequate air strip on the island?

No problems. You'll find good strips all the way down and across the country to Yucatan. The Mexican Aviation Company (CMA) flies a route in that direction. You can hop it from Mexico City to Oaxaca, Villahermosa, Merida and Cozumel. As to the Cozumel strip, it is paved and will take passenger jets so you'll find it more than adequate.

Red Delegate Federenko Turns Folksy

NEW YORK (AP) — Nikolai T. Fedorenko, handsome chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations, turned on the folksy charm Tuesday night for U.S. television viewers.

Fedorenko, usually screened in grim U.N. debate with envoys from the West, bubbled with mirth and good humor on the Merv Griffin variety show. During his 35-minute appearance on the coast-to-coast network program of the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co., the tall, well-tailored diplomat swapped jokes with Griffin and showed pictures of his wife, three daughters and son-in-law.

When Fedorenko appeared on stage with his long haircut and characteristic bow tie, the mostly teen-age studio audience gave him an ovation. The Communist envoy, who speaks fluent English, commented that long hair was once a Russian tradition, "but it is international now."

Fedorenko's appearance on such a program was without precedent. The closest thing to it in memory was Premier Nikita Khrushchev's television interview by David Susskind during the 1960 U.N. General Assembly.

Fedorenko aired well-known Soviet positions on the purge in Red China and the Vietnam war but otherwise was just one of the boys.

He plugged three books he had written — in Russian — on China and Japan.

He said his wife liked Channel 5, where the show appears in New York City, and also "from Paris — another Chanel 5."

He gave a Havana cigar to bandleader Bob Crosby, thanked British actress Lynn Redgrave for complimentary reference to the Soviet Union and invited Griffin to visit his homeland.

Commenting on recent events in Red China, Fedorenko said the so-called great cultural revolution "has nothing to do with the real culture, with the real revolution, with the real proletariat" or with real Marxism, Leninism or communism.

Visit Convinces Newsman North Viets Won't Bargain

By FORREST EDWARDS

HONG KONG (AP) — Harrison E. Salisbury, an assistant managing editor of the New York Times, said today he does not believe that Communist North Vietnam can be "compelled to come to a conference table."

"These people strike me as being very tough, very hardy, very independent and very courageous," Salisbury said in a taped interview with Radio Hong Kong on his two-week visit to North Vietnam.

"They say, and I rather believe them, that you cannot drag them to the conference table: that they can't be beaten into submission.

"They would rather go back to the jungles and the mountains and fight a guerrilla war for 20 years against the United States as they did against the French."

Reporting his findings during two weeks of talks and observation in the Communist capital, Salisbury said he did not believe a serious military defeat would force Hanoi into negotiations.

"I think there are two circumstances which highly color the thinking of the North Vietnamese," Salisbury said.

"One is their defeat of the French at Dien Bien Phu. This is their greatest achievement, to their way of thinking, and I think that they cannot help when they are considering the prospect of the further course of the war, they can't help believing that sometime there may be an opportunity for a Dien Bien Phu against the United States. That's point No. 1.

"Now, point No. 2. I do believe that they are deeply conditioned by their experience, first with the French in the negotiations immediately after the war and then again with the results of the Geneva negotiations. In both cases they feel, rightly or wrongly, they feel that they were let down, that they reached an agreement and the other side refused to abide by them.

"As a result of that they say, time and again and quite openly, that they have to be doubly sure this time if they go into negotiations it's going to be off in which the agreement can be enforced. And those terms, an agreement which can be enforced, were used specifically to me by Pham Van Dong, their prime minister."

Salisbury said American policy with regard to the bombing of North Vietnam "seems to me to have been a little bit unclear."

"We started it with the contention that it was designed to bring the North Vietnamese to the conference table. In other words, we would increase the military pressure on them and when they felt it enough, they would be willing to negotiate.

"Well, we have been at it for nearly two years and, as far as I can see, negotiations are just about as far away as ever."

Salisbury said that he had heard a more recent explanation that the bombing is aimed at improving morale in South Vietnam "by showing them that we were really hurting the North Vietnamese regime."

"Now if the second reason is the main purpose," he said, "I think that we have hurt the North Vietnamese by bombing."

Salisbury said that from what he observed during his visit to North Vietnam, most of the country has become the target of the bombers.

"That is to say, you could seldom travel a mile anywhere in the country without seeing visible evidence of the bombing offensive somewhere along the way," he said.

He said the reason for this is that the prime military objectives of U.S. planes are North Vietnam's highways, bridges and railroads which usually run parallel to the highways.

"So, when you travel along in the country to see the bomb damage," he continued, "You don't have to be shown the bomb damage, it's right there. You see the bomb craters, you see the road destroyed and repaired. You see the broken-down bridges. You travel over the pontoon bridges put in to replace them.

"And, inevitably, when you're bombing a railroad, or a highway, and the highway or the railroad runs through villages, the villages get it along with the highway."

Salisbury observed that these were the main objectives, as noted in U.S. military communiques, because North Vietnam is a simple agrarian land with no complex industries that he could see.

"It isn't a big, industrialized country," he said, "it's a peasant country, peasant villages, rice fields and here and there a little town which may have crumby little industry in it, a furniture factory, a rice mill or something like that."

Witnesses Assembly Set Jan. 13-15

Plans are being finalized for Snyder Jehovah's Witnesses to leave this week for San Angelo, for their "Become Spiritual Men with Everlasting Life in View" semi-annual circuit assembly, according to Roy Chamberlain.

The local group will join more than 500 delegates from the central part of Texas, attending the assembly slated for the municipal auditorium, Jan. 13-15.

"Principal speaker for the event," Chamberlain said, "will be L. M. Dugan, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses. Of special interest to Bible students and the public alike will be his presentation of two films. The first on Friday evening at 7:50 p.m. is titled 'Heritage.' In times when we are all concerned about our children this film refreshingly shows the good effect of Bible instruction in children's lives. The second will be Saturday at 7:20 p.m. and is titled 'God Cannot Lie.' This film illustrates the Bible from the creation account onward."

Regular meetings at the local congregation will be suspended during the convention since a majority of the group will be in San Angelo.

"We are looking forward to a full program of Bible instruction" Chamberlain said. "We expect to return home equipped to serve our community better through expanded public ministry."

Most of the families are planning to travel by automobile.

Sen. Tower Speaks To Defend Dallas

WASHINGTON (AP)— Publication of William Manchester's "Death of a President" brought from Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., a defense of the city of Dallas and revelation of personal aftermaths to President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

Tower, a conservative, disclosed Monday:

—A fake bomb was mailed to his office a few days after Kennedy's death in 1963, evidently by someone believing political conservatives were responsible for it.

—He received so many threatening telephone calls and letters after Kennedy was slain in Dallas that he was forced to move his family from their suburban Bethesda, Md., home to a secret hideaway for a few days.

Tower said police asked him not to disclose the fake bomb incident at the time it occurred. He recalled that a neatly wrapped package, postmarked Washington, arrived at his Capitol office and opened by a secretary, Mrs. Linda Lovelady Epstein.

She found what appeared to be several sticks of dynamite with wiring. Police submerged the package in water. It was found later that brown wrapping paper had been rolled up to look like dynamite sticks.

Tower made his defense of Dallas in denouncing Manchesters criticism of the city as one permeated with an atmosphere of hate.

The senator asked that the public read Manchester's book bearing in mind the difference between the facts it contains and the author's personal opinions.

Mr. Manchester's contention that the city of Dallas helped cause the assassination of President Kennedy is false, unsupportable and intellectually dishonest today as it was when first proclaimed in 1963," Tower said.

Dallas, he said, was a city where the majority of the people were "anti-New Frontier" but not opposed to diversity and tolerance.

"There was an atmosphere of hate, all right," Tower added.

"It came from the knee-jerk, ultra-liberals of Mr. Manchester's stripe. And it was violently directed—before the facts were in—at myself, my family, political conservatives in general and Texans in particular."

Rare Snow, Cold Blamed For Mexico City Deaths

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico City was blanketed by snow for the first time in more than 20 years today and authorities reported at least 10 persons died here of exposure from the cold wave.

The normally warm, sunny capital got the first flakes about 2:30 a.m. after a day of icy drizzle. The snow accumulation amounted to two inches after two hours.

Most casualties were among homeless persons who were not found in time to be taken to shelters. More than 2,000 have been placed in shelters to escape the wintry blasts and rescue patrols are keeping close watch over slum areas.

Subfreezing temperatures, heavy snowstorms and blustering winds Tuesday night still raked northern Mexico, which is trying to cope with the heaviest snow in a half century.

A second heavy fall hit Durange state and about a dozen houses reportedly collapsed from the snow's weight. One man was reported to have died of exposure in Durango City.

Snow also was reported in Puebla state, especially in the mountain area, raising fears that the valuable coffee crop will be destroyed.

Losses to agriculture, particularly to citrus crops in northeast Mexico, ran into the millions, it was reported.

The snow capped the mountains around Mexico City in white, and highway traffic into the capital was slowed, even though roads were open. Ten flights to northern areas were cancelled, and other flights were delayed by the storm.

Civic Leader Dies In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Todd Lee Wynne Jr., a prominent Dallas civic and social leader, died Tuesday after a prolonged illness. She was 40.

Mrs Wynne was the wife of the president of the American Liberty Oil Co.

Requiem mass was to be celebrated at noon today at Christ the King Catholic Church.

Survivors include her husband; four sons, Benjie, Toddie Lee III, Reyno and Jimmy; a daughter, Tancy Ann Wynne; two brothers, Dr. Bob Smith and Edgar Smith; and a sister, Mrs. O. P. Sanders.

Texans Favor Suspension Of Powell

WASHINGTON (AP) — All but five Texans voted with the majority Tuesday for the more severe of two possible penalties against Adam Clayton Powell.

The Texas vote was 17-5. The vote of the entire House was 305 to 126.

The vote came on a motion to shut off amendments and move on to a proposal to seat Powell, subject to investigation. The House voted 305 to 106 to defeat this motion and thus made it possible to substitute a resolution, later adopted, to deny him his seat pending an investigation.

Texas Democrats for (five): Brooks, Eckhardt, Gonzalez, Kazen, Pickle, Wright.

Texas Democrats against (15); Burleson, Cabell, Casey, de la Garza, Dowdy, Fisher, Mahon, Patman, Poage, Purcell, Poole, Roberts, Teague White, Young.

Texas Republicans against (two): Bush, Price.

Cattleman's Woes Laid To Prices

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—John H. Guthrie of Porterville, Calif., said today nothing is "wrong with the beef cattle business that improved prices would not cure."

"Most of us entered into 1966 on a very optimistic note," he told the American National Cattlemen's Association convention.

"Unfortunately, we were shot down early with the issuance of the infamous hide export order in March.

"This was closely followed by the President's television appearance in which he urged consumers to purchase the most economical cuts of meat, and, of course, wound up the year with the infamous consumer boycotts."

Guthrie said throughout the housewives' boycotts, "We attempted to get our point of view across to the consuming public about the mistake they were making."

"Unfortunately, the emotion-charged atmosphere did not permit the facts to be shown clearly in the metropolitan press," he said.

Guthrie said mainly through efforts of the livestock and meat industries, the hide order was rescinded, but "It took its toll."

Last march the Commerce Department placed a limitation on the number of hides exported from this country to other nations, contending that otherwise the price of leather for shoes and other items would rise.

The order was rescinded in November. A cattlemen's association official said it was estimated the order cost the livestock industry $60 million on the basis of a loss of $3 per hide for 20 million animals.

Guthrie in another part of his address an increase in recreation activities will lead to problems "from both a public land and a private land standpoint."

"The tax base etc." 8th graf

"The tax base on land is one that cannot be overlooked in any state," he said. "We feel that this land must stay in private ownership, even though it does have recreation potential, so that this land will not be taken off the tax rolls, thus creating a very severe vacuum for the support of schools and other government functions."

Guthrie said the cattlemen's association is keeping a close watch on foreign trade and predicted increased beef imports as compared to 1966.
