

Second Pioneer Day To Be Held Here Saturday

Several Hundred Old Time Residents Of Brown County To Be On Hand Saturday

Plans had been completed Thursday for the Second Annual Brown County Pioneer Day, to be held at the Municipal Auditorium, Brownwood, on Saturday, October 3.

Everyone who came to Brown County as late as 1886 are eligible to become members of the Brown County Pioneers Association, and are expected to attend the one-day celebration in Brownwood next Saturday. Between 600 and 700 pioneers are expected, according to officials of the association and of the Brownwood Rotary Club, sponsors of the annual event.

Committees from the Rotary Club have been completing arrangements this week. Plans call for a program beginning at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. After registration of all pioneers, the day's program will get under way at the auditorium, and continue until noon, when an hour's recess will be held.

At noon there will be an old fashioned basket dinner, with each family bringing lunch. The Rotary Club will provide hot coffee and will serve ice cream. There are no registration fees—everything is free for the pioneers.

The day's program will be continued in the afternoon, with informal talks by pioneers. The entire program is to be informal, with election of officers the only business scheduled for the day. Musical numbers will be provided by local musicians during the program. The public is invited to meet with the pioneers during any or all of the program.

NO CCC CAMP READY TO MOVE OCTOBER 1

No CCC camp will be available for Brownwood State Park during October, but there is a possibility that one may be secured in November or December, according to word received this week from the National Park Service. None of the CCC camps at work under the supervision of the National Park Service will be moved at the beginning of the eighth period, October 1, it was announced.

Several of the camps will be moved during November and December, however, and it is considered likely that one of these will come to Brownwood to complete work in the Brownwood park.

Court Postpones Machine Hearings

Date of a hearing to determine whether the 19 punchboards and slot machines, seized by rangers and local officers in raids here September 11, will be destroyed, has been postponed indefinitely.

Original time of the hearing was set for Wednesday; the present postponement following the request of attorneys for the machine owners. The machines are stored on the third floor of the courthouse.

County Tabulates Beer Election Cost

That each vote in the special beer election held September 12 cost 12½ cents is revealed in a compilation of election expenses by County Clerk W. E. Burleson.

Items of the expense included printing election supplies, paying election judges and clerks, and posting notices.

Cost of votes in the Angel community box was higher than in any other county precinct. Each vote there cost $1.46. Ten votes were cast in that precinct.

DEMOCRATS OF COUNTY PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR RAISING THEIR QUOTA FOR NATIONAL FUND

Brown county Democrats are rallying forces to obtain the county's quota of $1,278 for the national Democratic campaign. A drive was started last Saturday, with three addresses made by members of the local organization.

The Brownwood speech was in charge of the Young Democrats' Club, and was held at the courthouse square at 3 p. m., when Senator E. M. Davis was heard. Representative-elect Ross Prescott spoke at 4 p. m. J. E. Edwards, county finance chairman, addressed the May community fair at 4 p. m.

Contributions were accepted at each of the meetings. Another speaking rally for the county is being planned for October 3.

Plans for the finance drive and other organization work were discussed at a meeting of Brown county Democrats in the district court room last Thursday night, at which Dr. Mollie W. Armstrong, district chairman for the women's division, presided. Brief talks were made by Thomas H. Taylor, C. L. McCartney, W. R. Chambers, Louis Yarbrough, Senator E. M. Davis, Chester Harrison, J. Edward Johnston, T. H. Hart, J. Piner Powell, and others.

An additional supply of Roosevelt-Garner lucky coins, which are being sold at fifty cents each, has been received by the women's division, proceeds of which will go into the campaign fund.

HIGHWAY 10 GAP SOON TO BE PAVED

Prospects were brighter this week for immediate improvement of the Dublin-Stephenville gap on Highway 10, according to information given out in Fort Worth by State Division Engineer Wellborn. Wellborn has received instructions from the State Highway Commission to prepare plans for the work and he will have them in Austin at an early date, he states.

Completion of the paving of this strip will close the last gap in the Brownwood-Fort Worth highway, and will open a paved highway from San Angelo through Brownwood to Fort Worth and Dallas. It is one of the most important highways in Texas remaining unpaved at present.

LARGE CROWDS VIEW MAY FAIR SATURDAY

In spite of a continuous downpour of rain during most of the day last Saturday, the May community fair was pronounced a success by those attending it. At least a thousand persons are estimated to have viewed the exhibits of merchants, Ladies Home Demonstration club, farmers and Future Farmers.

Also a feature attraction was the football game Saturday afternoon between May and the Junior High team from Brownwood. The May boys nosed out a 7 to 0 victory on a rain-soaked field.

Jim Buzbee, Bill Chambers, Doc Dewbre and Dock Buford were winners in the farmers' exhibits. The Future Farmers booth contained 126 exhibits, principally of field crops.

The string band from Rising Star played Saturday night, and the music was broadcast from in front of the fair building.

Alfalfa demonstrations in Swisher county are planned by three farmers working with county agricultural agent P. C. Colgin. The agricultural conservation program has made many farmers legumeminded, and alfalfa demonstrations will be on the increase wherever this legume can be grown.

MASONS PLANNING ZONE CONVENTION HERE OCTOBER 15

Plans for a Masonic zone meeting, to be held in Brownwood October 15, are progressing, according to Grand Master W. Marcus Weathered, Coleman.

Zone No. 11, which is to convene in this city, is comprised of the following counties: Shackelford, Stephens, Palo Pinto, Callahan, Eastland, Erath, Coleman, Brown, Comanche, and Mills.

Judge Weathered will be the principal speaker, using the subject, "Rededication to Masonic Principles."

All of the 24 zones in Texas are planning meetings for the months of October, and November. Prominent Masons of the state will assist in holding the meetings.

MEMORIAL RITES FOR MRS. J. A. WALKER OBSERVED ON SUNDAY

Memorial services for Mrs. John Allen Walker, mother, club woman, philanthropist and long time citizen of Brownwood, were observed last Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist church, immediately preceding a private burial in Greenleaf cemetery earlier in the afternoon.

Mrs. Walker's death occurred in Jamestown, New York, on July 11. Her remains were brought to Brownwood Sunday, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Earl Edwards, of Brownville, New York, and by Mr. C. Y. Early, of Brownwood.

Rev. Karl H. Moore, pastor of the First Baptist Church eulogized Mrs. Walker in an address at the service, and briefly reviewed her life. She was born in Daingerfield, Texas, and was christened Mary Elizabeth Peacock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Peacock. Her mother died while Mrs. Walker was yet an infant, and her father was killed during Texas Ranger service while she was a child. She was married in 1886 to Mr. Walker in Colorado, Texas. They moved to Brownwood in 1899, and had lived here continuously ever since.

Mrs. Walker was widely known in Texas club circles, especially for her work in the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Daughters of the Republic of Texas. At the time of her death, she was vice regent of the Texas Society, D. A. R. She had held every office in the local D. A. R. chapter, which she helped to organize in 1910.

Mrs. Walker was a member of the First Baptist church during the entire length of her residence in this city. She and Mr. Walker were responsible for establishing several loan and scholarship funds for students of Howard Payne College.

Her husband, one daughter and one grand-daughter survive.

Pallbearers for the funeral were Truett Vinson, James Henley, J. A. Deen, Kenneth Adams, Irvin Akin, Fielding Early, James R. Beadel, Joe Beck, Burney Norton, J. G. Dickinson, Adrian Griffin, and J. S. Belvin.

Out of town relatives here for the services were Mrs. Edwards of Brownville, New York; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Putnam, Clovis, New Mexico; Mrs. Earl Cobb, Fort Smith, Arkansas; Mr. and Mrs. B. C. D. Bynum and James Bynum of Amarillo.

WPA TO GIVE WAY TO Farmers If Workers Are Needed On Farm

Farm work comes first, and if insufficient workers are available to pick cotton and do other work on the farm, WPA work in District 14 will be curtailed, or, if necessary stopped entirely, it was announced this week by Karl Wallace, director.

Highway To South To Be Discussed

The possibility of early designation and construction of the Brownwood-Richland Springs highway will be discussed at a meeting in Richland Springs Thursday night. Members of the commissioners' court from San Saba county, and other interested citizens from that county are expected to be present.

Only Ex-Champion

With Mrs. Glenna Collett Vane and Virginia Van Wie in retirement, Mrs. George Henry Stetson, above, of Abington, Pa., is the only former titleholder competing in the women's national amateur golf championship over the Canoe Brook Country Club course, Summit, N. J., Sept. 25-Oct. 3. Mrs. Stetson won the crown in 1925.

DISTRICT H. D. CLUB AGENT WILL ATTEND COUNCIL WEDNESDAY

Miss Maurine Hearn, district home demonstration supervisor from College Station will be in Brownwood next week for the regular monthly council meeting of Brown county home demonstration clubs. This month's meeting will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 7 rather than the first Saturday, the usual meeting date. Postponement was made in order that Miss Hearn might attend.

Due to inclement weather, Miss Mayesie Malone, county home demonstration agent, has not been able to meet with the various home demonstration and 4-H clubs throughout the county during the past few weeks, but was able to meet with the Brooksmith club Thursday.

1,075 Bales Cotton Ginned By Sept. 16

Up to September 16, 1936, 1,075 bales of cotton had been ginned in Brown county from the 1936 crop, as compared with 438 bales ginned on the same date in 1935, according to report of Clark Coursey, cotton statistician for Brown county.

First the drought, and during the past two weeks the floods have greatly reduced prospective cotton production in this county. It is estimated that at least 1,000 bales of cotton were lost in this county by flood waters during the past two weeks.

Blanket FFA Group Studies Creed, Law

Vocational agriculture students of Blanket High School are studying the Future Farmer creed and parliamentary procedure in preparation for state and national affiliation of their chapter, which was just organized this year.

Every candidate for the degree of Greenhand must be able to recite the Future Farmer creed from memory.

New WPA Official Assumes Position

Filling the position left vacant by the resignation of Miss Anne Wilkins, who resigned as assistant supervisor of the employment division of WPA district 14, is Thurman Covey, formerly of Wichita Falls. Mr. Covey held his present position there.

Miss Wilkins resigned to become acting director of the WPA education program for social service work in Dallas. She had been connected with the WPA office here since its opening in July, 1935.

COUNTY ADDS NEW TEACHERS TO LIST AS SCHOOL STARTS

To complete the list of Brown county teachers published in the Banner on September 1, the following names should be added to the list: At the Williams school, J. C. Hattox, vocational agriculture teacher; Blanket, Garrett Slaughter, band and history; May, Miss Virgie Shaw, home economics. Roster for the Bangs school, which had not been announced at the date of the publication of the other list of teachers, is as follows:

Nathan W. Taylor, acting superintendent; A. C. Smith, high school principal and history; Virgil Riley, vocational agriculture; Rayford H. Orren, business administration; Miss Reeves, home economics; Mrs. Sikes, English; Howard Harris, grammar school principal and athletic coach; Charles E. Beebe, band and orchestra director; Miss Delma Martin, first grade; Miss Ellen Wilson, second grade; Miss Lovelace, third grade; Miss Maxine Durham, fourth grade; Mrs. A. C. Smith, fifth grade; Mrs. Goldie Edmiston, sixth grade; and Miss Olena George, seventh grade. Mrs. Early also will teach piano in the school.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT OF BAPTIST CHURCH PRESENTATION SUN.

A pageant, depicting Texas Baptist history for the past 100 years, will be presented next Sunday evening at the First Baptist church, and will bring to a close the Centennial Week of Prayer for Missions, which is underway. The pageant was written and will be directed by Mrs. W. D. Wells, and will start at 7:30 p. m.

Missionary activities, the founding of schools, hospitals, and the leading churches will be emphasized in the presentation, as will the life and work of some of the outstanding leaders in Texas Baptist history. The choir loft and platform will be decorated and costumes will be used in the portrayal of historic characters.

PARADE TO HIGHLIGHT CITY'S OBSERVANCE OF FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Brownwood's observance of Fire Prevention Week, which starts Monday, October 5, will be inaugurated with a downtown parade, sponsored by the local fire department.

The parade will start at Howard Payne College at 7:30, and will proceed down Center to the courthouse, thence down Fisk to the fire station. Uniformed firemen on the specially lighted fire trucks will be in the procession. Approximately 35 firemen will participate.

Other observances planned by the local fire department include talks at the schools of the city by Fire Marshall Seaborn Jones, and Orville Bradley, a special window display of fire prevention reminders in the Rogers building downtown, and the distribution of home inspection blanks to the school children.

In the school lectures, a miniature house, electrically equipped, will be used, to explain the hazards of faulty electrical wiring. Firemen are also planning to complete inspections for hazards of every building in the fire limits, which includes many business firms as well as residences.

Rev. L. S. Jeffery To Fill Rectory At St. John's Episcopal

The Reverend L. Stanley Jeffery, of El Reno, Oklahoma, has accepted the call of St. John's Episcopal church, and will become its rector sometime during the middle of this month. Mrs. Jeffery and their eleven year old son will reside here also.

For the past seven years, Mr. Jeffery has been rector of Christ's Church in El Reno. He conducted services here three weeks ago. He and his family will reside at 1510 Vincent Street.

J. A. Glen, assistant to the general manager of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway, Beaumont, Texas, has accepted appointment to the Texas Planning Board's transportation committee.

STREET REPAIRING MEASURE ADOPTED BY CITY COUNCIL

Following strenuous campaigning on the part of citizens for local street improvement, and a heated discussion at the Monday night meeting of the City Council, the Council voted to advertise for bids on a car of asphalt to be used in repairing Brownwood streets.

The suggestion of one alderman, that Brownwood taxpayers would be willing to vote bonds for a general street repair program to the extent of $30,000, was not approved by other members of the Council.

Plans were formulated to rent the city-owned service station at the corner of Center Avenue and Depot street, and for a year's supply of lubricating oil to be used at the city water pumping plant.

Roy Morris, representing the citizens of the Woodland Heights addition, submitted data on the proposal to build a water reservoir in that section. The subject was held open until engineers could be consulted.

COUNTY REBUILDING AFTER SECOND FLOOD INUNDATES LOWLANDS

After experiencing a second week of flood conditions, Brown county viewed clear skies and settled down to a systematic rehabilitation of flood losses this week. A survey of the flooded Colorado river area this week indicated that the losses, first estimated at from $400,000 to $500,000, probably will not exceed a quarter million dollars.

Rehabilitation work was in charge of Mrs. Claude McCartney from the national offices of the American Red Cross, who is directing the work from her Brownwood offices. Albert Evans of the St. Louis Red Cross offices was in Brownwood Wednesday night to confer with Mrs. McCartney. Mr. Evans is directing flood relief in Texas and is stationed in San Angelo, where flood damage is greatest. More than 50 families from Brown and adjoining counties have registered with the Red Cross.

In addition to the work of the Red Cross the Texas Relief Commission has assigned to this district 500 quilts, 200 sheets and 1,000 towels as emergency allotment to aid flood sufferers. The allotment has been distributed among the counties in this district where the damage was recorded. The commodities department of the TRC has been distributing food to flood sufferers since September 16. This work is in charge of John H. Allen, director of the commodities division of the WPA.

Brown county's second flood damage came following the heavy rains of last Saturday and Sunday, September 25 and 26, which followed by ten days the record flood waters which overflowed the Colorado river lowlands. The second flood did not bring water in the Colorado to the height of the preceding flood, but poured more water in Lake Brownwood, which reached an all-time high record stage of 1,420.2 feet. The resulting discharges of water through the spillway caused the Pecan Bayou to overflow its banks for the first time since the huge dam was built.

Water in the bayou had dropped from a 36-foot stage on Monday to an almost normal condition Thursday.

J. M. Binion Gets Bid From National Agriculture Frat

Distinction in his chosen profession has come to J. M. Binion, vocational agriculture teacher in Brownwood High School, in the form of an invitation to become a member of Alpha Tau Alpha, national professional agricultural fraternity.

Only a few Texas men received bids this year. Among them are Jack Shelton, formerly of Brownwood and now vice director of A. & M. Extension Service; J. A. Spangler, head of the agriculture department at John Tarleton college, and the president of four Texas colleges offering degrees in agriculture.

Membership in the organization is open only to men who have done outstanding work in agriculture or to junior and senior students with scholastic records of B or better.

CCC RECEIVES OFFICIAL ORDERS; APPLICATIONS ACCEPTED TILL OCT. 5

One hundred and seventy-one youths, including 42 from Brown county, will be enrolled in CCC camps during October, according to orders received recently by Mrs. Jessica W. Bennett, administrator of district 14, TRC.

Eligible youths in Brown county are urged by Mrs. Bennett to report to the Brown county relief office at once, as no applications will be accepted after October 5. Although a large number of applications have already been received, there are still places for new applicants, Mrs. Bennett pointed out.

Movement orders, all for white enrollees, include the following: Brown county—October 6, 21 youths will be recruited at Brownwood soil erosion CCC camp; October 12, 21 will be enrolled at the same place.

San Saba county—October 8, 19 youths will report to Burnett CCC camp; October 9, 7 will report to the same place.

McClulloch—15 will report on October 6 to Brownwood CCC camp; 12 more at the same place on October 7.

Coleman—October 6, 13 will report to the Brownwood camp; on October 7, 19 will report to the same place.

BROWNWOOD-BANGS DAY AT FRONTIER SHOW IS OCT. 6TH

Brownwood and Bangs Day will be observed at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial next Tuesday, October 6. Plans for the day's observance are being worked out by the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce.

Preliminary plans call for an automobile caravan from Brownwood and Bangs to leave Brownwood from the offices of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Everyone who can make the trip, either taking an automobile or not, is requested to telephone the Chamber of Commerce office, Phone No. 7, anytime before Tuesday morning. The Brownwood-Bangs Day comes at the best time of the Frontier Centennial, Chester Harrison, secretary of the chamber of commerce, pointed out this week. The Centennial Horse Show begins Saturday, October 3, and will continue until Wednesday, October 7. The annual Stock Show begins also on October 3, and will continue through October 11.

Headquarters for the Brownwood-Bangs delegation will be at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce building on the Frontier Centennial grounds. Hostesses from Brownwood and from Bangs will be on hand during the day, and a banner will be stretched across the front of the WTCC building proclaiming the day.

At 2:30 Tuesday afternoon a Brownwood-Bangs broadcast will be made over WBAF and a statewide hook-up, and at 6:30 p. m. a Brownwood-Bangs program will be given in front of the WTCC building.

Other details of the program for the day are being worked out.

Sidney To Sponsor Fair On October 2-3

A community fair will be held at Sidney, Comanche county, on October 2 and 3. At that time, prizes will be given for the best exhibits of sheep, goats, beef and dairy cattle, horses, and all kinds of field crops and other farm products. O. S. Cox and C. D. Statum, of Sidney, were in Brownwood last Saturday, advertising the fair and extending a cordial invitation to Brown county people to attend the fair.

Study of Flood Damage In Area Is To Be Made

Ten Counties Affected By High Waters To Take In Plans For Future

Immediate compilation of data on flood damage running into millions of dollars will be carried out in 10 West Texas counties in time for presentation at a flood control hearing to be held on October 20 by United States Army Engineers in Austin. It was decided Monday afternoon by 150 representatives of water ravaged areas meeting Ballinger.

Many of those in attendance had been forced by high water to travel a circuitous route to reach the meeting place and, in the case of two counties, the difficulties were so great that representatives were absent.

The Colorado River, San Saba River and the Conchos as well as their tributaries are included in the program contemplated by the Central West Texas Conservation and Flood Control Association which was organized in the session at the Ballinger City Hall Auditorium.

Assurance of the interest of United States Senators Connally and Sheppard in the goal of the association was given by State Representative-elect Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo, chairman of the Upper Colorado River Authority, who conferred with the Senators and other officials in Washington some months ago.

S. W. Cooper, secretary of the Coleman Chamber of Commerce, conveyed a message from Congressman South expressing his interest in the movement.

Details that the flood control and conservation program should follow were not discussed, those present expressing the view that the first essential was to prepare the data on flood damage for presentation at the Austin hearing.

Confidence that steps will be taken to control the menace was expressed by Roy C. Vance, president.

SERVICE LEAGUE DAY TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Saturday will be Junior Service League Day in Brownwood, with members of that social service organization of young Brownwood women selling tags to help finance the community house and public health nurse employed by the league.

Tags will be sold throughout the day, and while no price will be set on the tags, league members are asking for as generous contributions as possible.

The Junior Service League is now nearly three years old. It was organized to assist underprivileged families who are not aided by regular relief organizations. Among the projects which have been sponsored in whole or in part by the League, in addition to the community house, are the distribution of large quantities of old clothing, assisting various organizations in financial drives, furnishing milk for underprivileged children, and many other activities of a charitable nature.

Mrs. O. J. Orton is president of the Junior Service League. Mrs. Samuel C. Lee was first president, and last year Miss Mary Bess Sawyer was president.

Methodist Minister Announces Sermons

The Rev. H. D. Tucker will preach Sunday night at Johnson Memorial Methodist church at 7:45 o'clock, and Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at Brooksmith. The stewards of each church will meet following the services.

BLANKET FARM BOYS MAKE INSPECTION TOUR TO VIEW BABY BEEVES FOR EXHIBIT

Twenty-eight 4-H club boys, accompanied by ten men, made a baby beef inspection tour last Friday in the Blanket community. The tour was arranged by County Agent C. W. Lehmberg.

The group visited 12 farms and viewed 14 calves. All showed an average daily gain of from two to three pounds since they were put on feed.

A judging, calf washing and currying demonstration was held. Mr. Lehmberg gave an illustrated lecture in which he showed the group how to select grain sorghum for fair exhibits and planting purposes. The boys are to select crops for exhibits and another meeting will be held in which the county agent will demonstrate how to prepare the material for exhibition.

The 22 calves being fed by the Blanket club boys will be shown at the Blanket community fair, October 17. All 4-H club calves in the county will be exhibited at a fall show and sale in Brownwood November 2. Fifty-two calves are being fed in the county by 4-H boys. The best of calves will be selected at the Brownwood exhibition and will be shown at the Centennial Exposition at Dallas.

Boys who made the tour were Adron Chapman, Howard Kessler, Oscar Miller, Drew Eoff, Pat Young, Ray Gamble, Willie Cockrell, Emhrey Hicks, Durward Willford, Hugh Gleaton, Billy Parsons, Ben Cockrell, Acie Burt Chapman, Roy Gamble, Curtis McKenzie, Layton Dabney, Nelson Williams, Scott Lanford, Frank Switzer, Bob Lanford, Homer Petross, C. W. Dabney, Manuel Maschie, Nat Gleaton, L. W. Holcomb, Troy Hicks, Pete Levisay, and Thomas Levisay.

Men who made the trip were: Roy Chapman, T. E. Levisay, J. A. Kessler, L. P. Bird, Marion Parsons, G. W. Gleaton, M. E. Fry, Henry Kessler, J. A. Couch, and T. S. Cockrell.

YOM KIPPUR, JEWISH HOLIDAY, OBSERVED

Local Jewish stores reopened for business last Saturday at 5:30 p. m. after being closed since 6 p. m. the preceding day in observance of Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, and one of the most holy days on the Jewish calendar.

Crowds Are Taking Advantage of Car Sale By Weatherby

Opening day crowds Thursday in this and other cities of the United States indicate unusual success in the nation-wide Ford Dealers' Used Car Clearance Sale being conducted throughout the country. E. J. Weatherby, head of the Weatherby Motor Co., Inc., announced. The sale will continue throughout October.

"Special bargains in used cars drew crowds to our display throughout the day," Mr. Weatherby reported. "Our unusual display, coupled with the fact that this sale is part of a nation-wide Ford dealer movement, brought us greatly increased business. Scores of persons who have been planning to buy a better car for winter driving apparently are taking advantage of this nation-wide sale.

"We were very much gratified at the number of sales which were closed during the day, particularly because of the ready acceptance our cars and trucks appeared to have with the public."

RUSSELL BROTHERS CIRCUS LAUDAED BY LOCAL CROWDS

Giving one of the best performances of any circus visiting Brownwood in several seasons, Russell Brothers circus showed to a fair crowd Monday afternoon and to a nearly full house Monday night. The two performances were well received by the crowds and despite the handicap of muddy rings and insecure footing due to the week of heavy rains that preceded show, the circus presented a finished, well rounded show, apparently little slowed up by weather conditions.

Billed as the feature star, Reb Russell, western performer, attracted considerable attention, but it remained for the regular circus acts, aerial performers, trained animals, bareback riders, tight and slack rope performers, a trained seal and the usual clowns to draw the major applause.

Featured were the trapeze performances of Bob Fisher's Five Fearless Flyers, who gave an aerial achievement that left nothing to be desired. Beautiful Bobbie Wariner caught the fancy of the circus crowd with skillful handling of her trained elephants, one of the best performances of the evening. Walter Jenner and his trained seal, "Buddy" were favorites as were Hazel King's military ponies. Athleta and Ethel Jenner, foremost lady trapeze artists, gave creditable performances.

HEADLINES

'News on Parade'

Nine Texas Rivers Go on Rampage, Flood Wide Areas.

Flood waters are sweeping downstream from the Colorado, Brazos, Little, San Saba, Llano, Sabinal, Pedernales, Frio and Guadalupe Rivers, threatening towns, farms and stock in their path. It all started with an inland storm which formed near Utopia and swung eastward through the state, bringing downpours ranging from one to 12 inches at various points. Most regions were warned in time to prevent loss of life except at Waco where a dam gave way and thousands of homes were flooded and thousands left homeless.

Forest Fires Sweep Oregon, Town Destroyed.

Seven persons lost their lives when forest fires swept into the little town of Bandon, Oregon, and wiped it off the map. Three more towns were threatened by the flames which leaped through the tinder-dry tops of the huge fir and spruce trees which cover the western coast of Oregon. While Texas swims out of floods another section flees the flames occasioned by a long dry spell. After all, perhaps a flood is better, because you can ride a boat through the water and there isn't anything that will live in a western forest fire.

France Plans To Devalue Franc In Gold Crisis.

France, for about the 10th time since the world war, is having trouble with its financial policies. Now the exodus of gold stocks has the financiers worried and efforts are being made to reduce the value of the franc so that gold owners will keep stocks where they will buy more in francs. It is a problem, this gold, if you have too much other countries won't buy from you because your prices are too high and if you have too little, the other countries won't give you credit for what you want to buy from them. If the devaluation doesn't keep gold at home France plans an embargo to keep the gold at home by force.

Spanish Insurgents Capture Toledo, Relieve Alcazar.

They're insurgents now, not rebels. In Spain, because it looks like they have the upper hand in one of the bloodiest struggles ever staged by man. In this war without quarter, the defense of the ancient fortress of Alcazar has stood out as one of the most stubborn ever waged. Prepared to die in their stronghold, the rebels were relieved by a column of their comrades in what looks as though it might be the decisive battle of the revolution.

Citrus Harvest Starts This Week In Rio Grande Valley.

Eight million bearing citrus trees in the lower Rio Grande Valley will start yielding their succulent fruits to the tables of the world this week. Pickers, shippers and packers are geared up for high speed production that will last through the holiday season. This year has surely passed rapidly, hasn't it?

Bank Holiday In Financial Mixup.

Fears for the Italian lira as a medium of exchange have proven unfounded but all banks and money exchanges have been ordered closed while the nation waits the results of the French and Swiss moves to devalue their money.

Cotton Gains Slowly Through European Moves.

Developments in the devaluation of the French and Swiss francs have brought about a gradual increase in the value of cotton. After a shaky session trading the close has been from seven to 10 points higher and keen observers expect the gains to continue slowly but steadily.

Football Takes Limelight With World Series.

When you read this the world series will be on with the New York Yankees and Giants. Perhaps you will have heard the first game over your radio. But this is just the exit bow of the national pastime for this season and all sportsmen's eyes are turned to the football gridiron where some truly classic battles are planned for this year. Strange as it may seem, football each year is drawing closer and closer to baseball in pulling power.

Politicians Give Their Loin For Final Battle.

With only a month left of the presidential campaign the going is getting hot all over the country. President Franklin D. Roosevelt is ready for his final swing through the west while his opponent, Gov. Alf M. Landon, of Kansas, is touring the middlewest and planning another eastern onslaught. All early predictions to the contrary, it now looks like a hard struggle with more than the usual political gain at stake.

"Invasion" of Texas Comes To Close With "Victory."

For the past week 500 high ranking officers of the United States Army located at Fort Sam Houston have been staging a paper "war." No actual troops have been used, but all the orders and plans for repelling an invasion of the Texas Coast have been worked out in complete detail. The officers were given the same problems as would arise should the state be invaded from the sea and successfully beat off the invaders. In peace the army prepares for war.

Newlyweds Build More New Homes, Federal Men Say.

More and more young married couples are investing in homes than ever before, according to a recent report of the Federal Housing Administration. These couples are taking advantage of the loans guaranteed by the FHA and instead of moving in "with the folks" are setting up their own establishments at once. A country built on homes can't go very far wrong.

Scientists Find Eggs are Flavored By Shipping Crates

Cornell University Agriculture Experiment station has announced discovery of the fact that the crates in which the eggs are shipped affect their flavor. The report said that spruce fillers impart the least flavor to the eggs while strawboard imparts the most. Other taste producers are listed as newsprint, excelsior, willow, jackpine and aspen. The expert tasters could tell which filler was used on each egg even though hundreds of eggs were tasted.

Oil Developments In Texas Provide Wide Range.

Southwest Texas oil operators are being kept busy watching new oil field developments in an ever-widening area. New wells are coming in and extending present fields while other wildcat operations are bringing in new fields almost daily. With the proper curbs on speculation with the money of widows and orphans, it looks as though oil in Texas is an unfailing source of fortunes.

Absent-Mindedness Proves Embarrassing.

A man was in a barber shop, all lathered and gowned for a shave when a youngster stuck his head in the door and shouted, "Mr. Smith, your house is on fire!" The man jumped out of the chair and, still wearing the lather and gown, dashed down the street. A block away he came to an abrupt halt and was heard to say, "Heck, my name isn't Smith."

BETTER LIGHT BETTER SIGHT

Back to SCHOOL!
Protect Their Eyes with

PROPER LIGHT

School days are here again, with busy months of study ahead for the eyes of young people.

Especially during the school months should the eyes of children be protected against eye strain caused by glare, sharp shadows, insufficient or improper lighting. Poor lighting is the principal cause of one out of every five grade school children having defective eyesight.

But defective eye-sight can be prevented, to a large extent, by the use of correct quantity and quality of light for study and other close eye work. Make sure that your child is not studying under improper lighting conditions. Have one of our lighting representatives call, with a Sight Meter, and measure the lighting in your room, and explain to you where and in what quantity additional light is needed. No obligations for this service.

RECENT CROP IMPROVEMENTS SHOWN IN ANNUAL REPORT OF TEXAS EXPERIMENT STATIONS

The Forty-eighth Annual Report of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station for 1935 will be off the press in a short time and will bring information on recent progress in experiments with livestock and crops and the latest developments in these and other farm and ranch activities.

An interesting feature of the report is the recital of improvements in cotton varieties for various sections of the State and for various purposes. Several varieties have been bred that give outstanding increase in yields.

Startex 619, a selection that has yielded an average of 37 percent more lint than its parent, Lone Star, during the four years 1931-34, made the highest average yield in the variety tests of the Main Station, College Station, during this period.

Mebane 804-50, an inbred strain developed at the Beeville Station, has been the best-yielding variety in the test for the last four years, producing 38 percent more than the parent strain, and 10 percent more than Delta and Pine Land No. 10, the next best variety. Mebane 804-50 has also been an outstanding variety in the test at College Station, Temple, and Chillicothe. Inbred strains of Mebane 804 at Angleton produced significantly higher yields than the parent strain. At the Chillicothe Station Mebane 4120-153 and Mebane 4120-140 have been consistent producers of tenderable staple, and in an average of the five years 1930-1934 outyielded Half and Half, which had been the highest-yielding variety at that station prior to the development of these two strains.

Distribution of seed of Startex cotton in Central Texas of Westex in western Texas, and strains of Mebane 804 and 4120 in the regions contiguous to the Angleton, Beeville, and Chillicothe stations, has been made to farmers through county agents and vocational teachers to secure a wider and more comprehensive test of the new strains.

In the breeding work at the Nacogdoches Station, the objective has been to combine the good staple and boll qualities of Lone Star with the high yield, high percentage of lint, and earliness of Half and Half, in an attempt to develop a better cotton for the region. The fifth hybrid generation of the crosses between these two varieties was grown in 1935. An analysis of the 62 hybrid strains, which have been inbred for the last three years, shows that 35 had a percentage of lint and length of lint significantly above the parental mean. Of these 35 strains, 6 had a percentage of lint almost equal to that of Half and Half and produced lint 15.16 to 31.32 inch in length, or 3.16 to 7.32 in longer than the lint of Half and Half. Selections from these inbred lines, which are being backcrossed, show an even higher percentage of desirable strains which appear to be rapidly approaching the type with the combination of characters being sought.

In the project to determine the adaptability of varieties to mechanical harvesting and to develop varieties better adapted to mechanical harvesting, an outstanding result has been achieved.

The Ducona strain (Durango x Wacona) with 1 1/16-inch staple, cluster boll type, and restricted vegetative growth, has proved especially well adapted to mechanical harvesting. This type of plant permits harvesting machinery to remove a higher percentage of the cotton from the plants than is possible from ordinary varieties. The yield, percentage of lint, and boll qualities of Ducona are being improved by crossing with other varieties having the desired characteristics which are lacking in Ducona. The resulting hybrid lines are being backcrossed and inbred to obtain high-yielding strains uniform in type. Use is made of the greenhouse in growing the F1 and making backcrosses during the winter, thus saving a year's time in the breeding work being conducted at College Station and Lubbock. Since climate conditions are quite different at these points, an excellent opportunity is afforded to study the influence of diverse conditions on the growth and development of the various strains of cotton being developed, and to observe their effect on the efficiency of harvesting machinery.

In the breeding work at Lubbock, particular attention is being given to the developments of types of cotton that will mature early enough to escape damage by frost thereby reducing the amount of "bottle" cotton. Other desirable features being sought for that section are a semi-cluster type of fruiting habit with the first fruiting branch borne fairly high off the ground to avoid soil staining of cotton since cotton is planted in listed furrows; storm-proof bolls having long peduncles or stems, which might enable the bolls to hang down and escape weather damage; and a high-yielding plant with a percentage of lint of 37 or above and a good quality of one-inch staple.

LEACH BROS. SHIP SEED CULLERS TO BRAZIL, SIAM; INDICATION OF COTTON COMPETITION

An illustration of the ever-increasing interest being shown in foreign countries in the raising of cotton is shown in the orders received by Leach Brothers Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of all types of farm machinery. Latest example is the shipment of a Leach seed grader to the Cotoniene Brazil Co. Ltd., Maranhao, Brazil. The machine was shipped on September 18 by way of Galveston and New York.

Three smaller machines of the same type were sent to Siam on the 23rd of September. Hardwicke-Etter Co., of Sherman, Texas, agent of the local firm, secured the order by cable correspondence and the machine was sent first to Sherman. Other shipments are pending.

The model sent to Brazil is known as G-65, and has a capacity of 40 tons per 10 hour day, and requires only 2 h. p. to operate. Weight is approximately 3,900 pounds. This machine is used to cull sea-island seed, a long staple variety.

The smaller machines of the same type, sent to Siam, weigh 500 pounds each, and are used for the same purpose.

The Leach firm, inventors of many types of machinery, daily receives inquiries from foreign countries requesting information about cotton machinery of different types. More communications are received from Africa than any other country, with South American countries following a close second.

JACKETS AND LIONS PLAY AT HOME; DBC WILL GO TO AUSTIN

Brownwood football fans will have an opportunity to see two good football games this week-end, when the Brownwood High School Lions meet Big Spring in their new stadium, and Howard Payne, conference favorites at the present writing, entertain Trinity University. The high school game is Thursday night, the Jacket game Friday night. Daniel Baker plays abroad.

Coach Cagle's men meet another new foe this week, after tasting an 8-0 defeat at the hands of Sweetwater last week-end. Both Sweetwater and Big Spring, along with San Angelo, are in the re-vamped Oil Belt Conference. Brownwood expected to be plenty tough for all comers, has suffered a let-down among the dopesters, but is preparing to get back in the running through Big Spring game. From

Colonel Knox On Insurance Security

When Colonel Frank C. Knox left on his campaign tour a few weeks ago he did so with the purpose of winning votes for Governor Landon. At least, that was the general understanding.

As his tour progresses, however, it becomes increasingly apparent that the Colonel's mission was greatly misunderstood. It turns out that his main objective seems to be to turn all the votes he can in President Roosevelt's direction. On no other hypothesis is it possible to explain his reckless speeches.

The little talk he delivered at Allentown, Pa., the other night has become the supreme faux pas of the campaign.

"Today," he said, "no life insurance is secure; no savings account is safe."

This remark has not gone as well as expected with insurance men and bankers, who had anticipated no such assault upon the stability of their institutions from the Republican candidate for Vice-President. Nor, upon sober reflection, has the statement received unqualified approval of Republican Managers. At first blush Chairman Hamilton took his stand with Col. Knox, but found the position untenable.

Col. Knox, himself, now says he didn't mean what everybody thought he meant, and indicates that his remark was to be accepted only in a Pickwickian sense. He did not mean, he says, that insurance companies are insecure or that banks are unsafe. It is only the insurance policies that are insecure and the savings accounts that are unsafe.

Of course, not everyone is endowed with the power to make such subtle distinctions. One baffled policyholder in New York made the mistake of thinking that Col. Knox meant what he said. So he wrote the following letter to his insurance company:

"When I bought this policy a year ago, I did so after an investigation of your company which convinced me of its soundness and integrity. This letter has to do with a disquieting story in the newspapers, about which I would deeply appreciate a frank expression from you.

"Col. Frank Knox is reported as

As Legislators at Austin dig into Old Age Assistance facts, it becomes more apparent that trouble is ahead for Texas taxpayers, no matter what course is decided upon.

Troubles Ahead

In spite of everyone's desire to be of the greatest possible assistance to the aged, there is a limit to which State resources can be drained for this or any other purpose, and the present program is dangerously near that limit.

According to figures supplied the Legislature by Pension Chief Orville Carpenter, there now are about 80,000 approved pensioners in Texas, drawing an average of $16 a month. The 80,000 were approved from the first 100,000 applications examined by the employees of the Old Age Assistance Commission. The investigators have about half completed their task, indicating that another 100,000 aged Texans have not yet been considered. Should the 80 per cent approval average obtain in the remaining group, Texas taxpayers would be called upon to support in part 160,000 of the State's population.

Director Carpenter indicates a smaller figure may be the final total, estimating that through more stringent investigations and a weeding out of those now on rolls, the final figures will be approximately 140,000. Should this estimate be accurate, it would mean that Texas would be called upon to find something more than $25,000,000 annually to apply to the Old Age Assistance program.

This money, of course is derived through a matching of Federal Funds, which means that an enormous amount must be sent Texas each year from Washington. The Federal government this year set aside only $85,000,000 for of the 48 states, and while it is reasonable to expect that this amount is to be increased as more states adopt social security programs, it can hardly be expected that Texas its requirements for assistance to meet the demand of the Federal government, or carry the entire burden alone. The latter course is certainly not to be desired, for it could not be continued for many years, and possibly would result in a few years in a bankrupt State.

The only remaining course will be for Texans to realize the impossibility of providing an old age retirement fund for everyone over 65 years of age, or of those past that age who are in any manner capable of taking care of themselves. Unless this is done, the entire structure will break down of its own weight, and old age assistance will have to be discarded as a worthy objective, impossible of attainment. No one wants that result.

Meanwhile, the Legislature is called upon to provide funds for paying the pensions during the next few months. An investigation is in progress to ascertain pertinent facts upon which the Legislature can base some reasonable program. About the only thing that can be hoped for under the circumstances is a temporary measure which will raise sufficient revenue for present needs, and the hope that the next regular Legislative session, scheduled to meet in January, can begin anew and build a workable structure that will give the maximum of relief to aged Texans.

A splendid example of fortitude in the face of disaster is contained in the stories coming out of the flooded sections of Texas, where property losses have been higher during the past two weeks than in many years in this immediate section. Fortitude, and the spirit of helping a distressed neighbor.

Surviving the Storm

Hundreds of Texans have seen their savings of many years washed away. In Brown and surrounding counties, numerous farmers not only have lost their entire crops for this year—their only means of a year's livelihood, but it understood—but also their homes and all personal belongings.

But there is no whining, no feeling other than that of facing a most distressing situation in the best manner possible; making the most of a very bad situation. Digging into the mud to recover some few possessions, salvaging from the water-torn field some pittance of this year's crop, and planning for the future.

It is the spirit that enabled the pioneers of another generation—who are to be honored in Brownwood this week—to overcome the natural and physical obstacles which they met, and build of this a great country.

During Fire Prevention Week, which is to be observed from October 4 to 10 this year, every effort will be made to instruct the public in the elimination of fire hazards.

Saving Lives and Dollars

Newspapers and periodicals will publicize the Week. Insurance organizations will give every effort to making the Week a success. Fire prevention organizations will send speakers about the country. Fire marshals and fire departments will cooperate.

But all of this work, no matter how aggressive and well planned, will fail unless the public does its part to cooperate and save itself from fires.

Fire prevention, like accident prevention, is largely an individual matter. It is impossible to do away with the multiple hazards found in the average home unless the owner takes an interest, and it is impossible to eliminate industrial fire hazards unless factory managements help to the extent of inspecting their factories and enlisting the interest and aid of workmen.

During the Week, every person in this country should give an hour or two to learning the simple lessons that, if remembered and followed, will prevent most fires. It will cost nothing—and it may pay tremendous dividends in life and property. Some of the worst fires start from hazards that could be corrected in five minutes.

Every town government should carefully inspect its public buildings, especially schools, during the Week. Cases have been found where new and expensive school buildings presented a large number of grave hazards. Fire in a school is the most horrible of all—a long list of disasters that snuffed out thousands of young lives witnesses.

Remember the date—October 4 to 10. It should be regarded as both a duty and a privilege to take advantage of the Week and join the war against fire.

An aerial map recently made of the Brazos River Basin disclosed that one farmer had 140 acres of land that he didn't know he had. The farmer had been paying taxes on a section of land, or 640 acres, but the aerial map showed that his holdings totalled 780 acres. This incident leads the Texas Planning Board to believe the exact area of Texas will not be known until an accurate aerial map is made of the State.

As I write this today, Friday, Ray Terrill, once the Southwest's most notorious outlaw steps out of confinement for the first time in nine years, six months and three days. Perhaps it is the first time since youth that he could walk the streets of his home state and realize that he was not a hunted outlaw. He has determined to go straight, he says. That's one thing I am proud of here in our west. If a man wants to be a man he is dated from the time he turns over his new page in the book of life. The old chapter has been read; nobody wants to re-read it but they are anxious to read the new pages. It is up to Ray, if he accepts a job and stays put, he'll be Mr. Ray Terrill of Oklahoma, just another citizen. His days of being a number are over and his little game of numbering his days on a prison wall are over.

My little "sister in affliction" (she being one of those wives used as step and fechts in the newspaper office of her lord the editor) Nina Pond, of Pond Creek, is being a nice girl scout this week and doing my book review for me. It will be a nice change which you all will enjoy. I'm sure. Here 'tis:

A Rider of the Cherokee Strip
Again another northern Oklahoma man has made himself known and preserved the history of early Oklahoma in an interesting and readable book entitled A Rider of the Cherokee Strip. His name is Evan (Parson) G. Barnard of Enid.

The book is a western autobiography and the story is not one of a red silk-shirt, a purple neckerchief, nor is it a flaming story of lone men with guns, shooting up the country. It is an exciting, frank and historically important story of a cowboy who began his work when seventeen years old as a cow puncher on ranches in Texas and Indian territory which is now Oklahoma. The authenticity of the material is endorsed by Zack T. Miller who is president of the Cherokee Strip Cowpunchers' Association. The introduction is by Edward Everett Dale of the University of Oklahoma and the publishers are Houghton Mifflin Co. The price is $2.50.

The chapter titles give a very good description of the material in the book and are as follows: A Preacher's Son, A Green Cow-Hand, Learning the Ropes, Trail and Camp, Old Oklahoma, Cowboy Life, Indians and Outlaws, Cattle Rustlers, The Celebration at Kiowa, Wild Bulls and Biscuits, Working for the Half Diamond R. Wolves and Wildcats, Boomers and Cattle Kings, The Opening of Oklahoma, Organizing a New Country, Cowpuncher Farmers, Ranicky Bill, Bad Men of the Southwest, Boarders and Bandits and The Cherokee Strip Cowpunchers' Association.

The illustrations of which there are 14 are taken from actual photographs.

The author's picture of range life is thrilling and authentic, and the story of the transformation of the cowboy to farmer and business man makes the book unique in the literature of the west, and every Oklahoman should read the book.

Stanley Vestal says "The reader of this book who can lay it down and forget it has pink tea instead of blood in his veins. All Sooners will love it, and especially those who have lived in what was Oklahoma Territory."

As I write this today, Friday, Ray Terrill, once the Southwest's most notorious outlaw steps out of confinement for the first time in nine years, six months and three days. Perhaps it is the first time since youth that he could walk the streets of his home state and realize that he was not a hunted outlaw. He has determined to go straight, he says. That's one thing I am proud of here in our west. If a man wants to be a man he is dated from the time he turns over his new page in the book of life. The old chapter has been read; nobody wants to re-read it but they are anxious to read the new pages. It is up to Ray, if he accepts a job and stays put, he'll be Mr. Ray Terrill of Oklahoma, just another citizen. His days of being a number are over and his little game of numbering his days on a prison wall are over.

My little "sister in affliction" (she being one of those wives used as step and fechts in the newspaper office of her lord the editor) Nina Pond, of Pond Creek, is being a nice girl scout this week and doing my book review for me. It will be a nice change which you all will enjoy. I'm sure. Here 'tis:

A Rider of the Cherokee Strip
Again another northern Oklahoma man has made himself known and preserved the history of early Oklahoma in an interesting and readable book entitled A Rider of the Cherokee Strip. His name is Evan (Parson) G. Barnard of Enid.

The book is a western autobiography and the story is not one of a red silk-shirt, a purple neckerchief, nor is it a flaming story of lone men with guns, shooting up the country. It is an exciting, frank and historically important story of a cowboy who began his work when seventeen years old as a cow puncher on ranches in Texas and Indian territory which is now Oklahoma. The authenticity of the material is endorsed by Zack T. Miller who is president of the Cherokee Strip Cowpunchers' Association. The introduction is by Edward Everett Dale of the University of Oklahoma and the publishers are Houghton Mifflin Co. The price is $2.50.

The chapter titles give a very good description of the material in the book and are as follows: A Preacher's Son, A Green Cow-Hand, Learning the Ropes, Trail and Camp, Old Oklahoma, Cowboy Life, Indians and Outlaws, Cattle Rustlers, The Celebration at Kiowa, Wild Bulls and Biscuits, Working for the Half Diamond R. Wolves and Wildcats, Boomers and Cattle Kings, The Opening of Oklahoma, Organizing a New Country, Cowpuncher Farmers, Ranicky Bill, Bad Men of the Southwest, Boarders and Bandits and The Cherokee Strip Cowpunchers' Association.

The illustrations of which there are 14 are taken from actual photographs.

The author's picture of range life is thrilling and authentic, and the story of the transformation of the cowboy to farmer and business man makes the book unique in the literature of the west, and every Oklahoman should read the book.

Stanley Vestal says "The reader of this book who can lay it down and forget it has pink tea instead of blood in his veins. All Sooners will love it, and especially those who have lived in what was Oklahoma Territory."

As I write this today, Friday, Ray Terrill, once the Southwest's most notorious outlaw steps out of confinement for the first time in nine years, six months and three days. Perhaps it is the first time since youth that he could walk the streets of his home state and realize that he was not a hunted outlaw. He has determined to go straight, he says. ON TEXAS FARMS

FORT STOCKTON—By delaying the last cutting of his alfalfa in 1935 until the plants were in full bloom, and thus allowing them to form a vigorous root system, J. M. Montgomery of Pecos county has increased his alfalfa production from one-half ton to two tons per acre, it was recently reported by L. E. Bailey, county agricultural agent.

WHARTON—"Silage solves our feed problem," says J. B. Forsason of the J. D. Hudgins Estate near Hungerford, Wharton county. Silage has been fed on the Hudgins estate for many years and has given satisfactory results, although the upright silos have been replaced by the trench type during recent years, according to V. L. Sandlin, county agricultural agent.

Forgason states that the trench silo is more satisfactory than the upright silo as it is not subject to storm damage and is easy to fill and empty.

Five hundred acres of red top sorghum is being used to fill 22 trench silos on the Hudgins estate. Most of the silage will be fed to 500 Brahman calves after they have been weaned in October and November.

LIPSCOMB—With money he will receive for summer-fallowing 547 acres of blown out wheat land on the contour, Williams Freeman of Lipscomb county is building 25 miles of terraces for which he will receive $21.12 per mile, C. M. Gay, county agricultural agent, said in a recent report.

"I have wanted to terrace my farm for several years, but have not been financially able to do it," says Freeman, "but by taking advantage of this new feature of the Agricultural Conservation program I am getting good terraces built now."

PALESTINE—There are many women who would undertake the building of a pantry, a clothes closet or a set of shelves for food storage, but not many would raise a structure and rebuild it from the ground up. Mrs. T. L. Thomas, Anderson county home demonstration club woman, did just that.

Her kitchen was dark and dingy which a kitchen should not be, Miss Mary Louise Jones, home demonstration agent, says. Mrs. Thomas' husband had no time for carpentering, so with the help of a daughter just out of high school, she tore down the old room, including taking down an immense chimney.

With hammers, saws, and planes, Mrs. Thomas and Gladys built a new kitchen, 9 by 3 feet. On one side of the room are the stove and ventilated pantry. On the opposite wall are two windows, sink, drain, and work surface with storage cabinets underneath.

All the work was done by Mrs. Thomas and her daughter except the building of a flue. The only cash spent on the new kitchen was for paint, nails and labor for building the flue.

BELTON—"Thirty-five shrubs planted in her back yard help to make an attractive outdoor living room for Mrs. Ed Dice of Bell county, Miss Lorena Dry, home demonstration agent, recently reported.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Brown County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Roy L. Keynover by making publication of this Citation once each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Brown County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Brownwood, Texas, on the First Monday in November, A. D. 1936, the same being the 2nd day of November A. D. 1936, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 11th day of September, A. D. 1936, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 7203, wherein Oda Keynover is Plaintiff, and Roy L. Keynover is Defendant, and a brief statement of plaintiff's cause of action, being as follows:

Plaintiff alleges that she has been a bona fide citizen of the State of Texas for more than twelve months and of Brown County for more than six months before filing this suit; that plaintiff and defendant were legally married to each other on June 16, 1928, and separated about September 1, 1935; that the present whereabouts of defendant is to plaintiff unknown; that immediately upon their said marriage, defendant began a course of cruel and unkind conduct toward plaintiff consisting of drunken orgies, association with drunken and lewd characters and assaults upon plaintiff which culminated in their separation and rendered their further living together insupportable. That during such of said time, defendant would dissipate his earnings and plaintiff was forced and compelled to seek employment for herself in order to meet living expenses; that during said time, plaintiff did all within her power to make defendant a good, kind and forbearing wife; that there were no children born of the said marriage and there is no community estate. Plaintiff prays for citation to defendant in terms of the law, and upon hearing of this cause, she be granted a decree of divorce; that she recover her costs and have general and special relief.

Herein Fail Not but have before said Court, at its next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

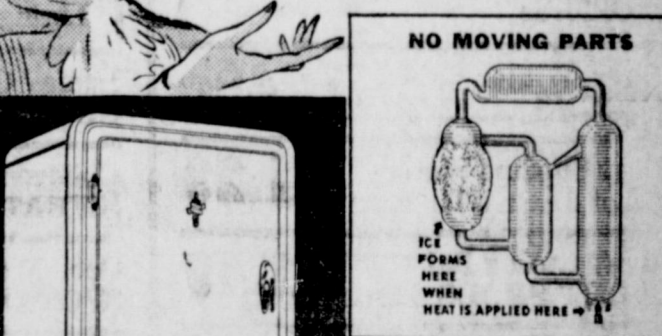

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Brownwood, Texas, on this 26th day of September, A. D. 1936.

L. J. WILSON, Clerk, District Court Brown County, Texas.

News of Brown County Communities

Wolf Valley

Mr. and Mrs. John Hardy and son, James, and Joe May Lester, of this community attended a surprise birthday party celebration honoring Mrs. Hardy's father, J. D. Harms, of May, on Sunday, September 20.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Harms, Glenn, Rosalie, and Dean Harms, Mrs. W. F. Porter, of Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Holland and children, of Blackwell; Mr. and Mrs. Harms Holland, Blackwell; Mr. and Mrs. Loy Fortner and family of Owens; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lappe and daughters of Blanket.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Harms and children, Blanket; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Killian and children; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harms and children; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sudderth and children; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Richardson of May.

The day was spent in pleasant association and conversation, and a fine dinner was spread at the noon hour. Mr. Harms was the recipient of many nice gifts. He owns one of the finest and most productive farms to be found in this section. Mr. Harms has been an honored citizen here for many years, and we join all those in hoping that he and his family will spend many more happy birthdays in this community.

Grandmother Lester, wife of Uncle George Lester, pioneer citizen of this section, has been seriously ill for several days, but at the last report was slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Kelley, formerly of Anson, have moved to the Charlie Smith farm. We extend them a hearty welcome to our community.

The continued rainfall which now amounts to about 9 inches is doing considerable damage to feed and peanuts that have been taken up.

Mrs. Grace Lyons visited in Brownwood over the past week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hardy and daughter, Mrs. Clyde Kelley and Mrs. Bertha Hardy were Brownwood over the past week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hardy and daughter, Mrs. Clyde Kelley and Mrs. Bertha Hardy were Brownwood visitors Friday.

Mr. Thompson and Mr. Naaron of Byrd's Store, were measuring land here the past week for the Land Conservation Association.

Bud Lancaster, Dee McMurray, and Dave Porter are working on the highway near Brownwood and are now engaged in hard surfacing the road from Brownwood to Cross Cut.

Mr. Chamberlain, a former citizen of this section, now residing in West Texas, was a recent visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Bowden. Mr. Chamberlain said it was becoming almost impossible to rent land out there because of extensive tractor farming.

We wish to congratulate The Banner upon having such a correspondent as Clementine Briley of Ebony. Her vivid and most interesting description of flood conditions was the best thing we have read in many months.

For your next change in glasses see Dr. R. A. Ellis, Optometrist.

Early High

Another big rain Saturday put the creeks up and the bayou out of bounds.

Mrs. Louise Tulacz and baby daughter, Anita, of Chicago Illinois are here for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wade.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Green and little daughter, Hazel Mae visited Mrs. Green's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Owens, Monday.

Several from here attended the funeral of Jesse Heard in Brownwood Saturday.

Visitors in the home of Mrs. Mamie Earp Monday were Mrs. Walter Roscoe and Mrs. Orie Faulkner.

Mesdames Lee Eaton, Vernon Cunningham, and Jim Parker were visitors in the home of Mrs. J. W. Vernon Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Lois LaGrone of West Texas, is here for a short visit with her aunt, Mrs. Jesse Graham. Marjorie Hill spent the week-end with Connie Garmon.

Dock Crane and Hiram Faulkner spent Sunday in the Bledsoe home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roxie Nichols are announcing the arrival of a baby girl.

Mr. Will Griggs was a Zephyr visitor Monday afternoon.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather last Sunday no communion services were held at the Jenkins Springs church.

Frank King, who is working in Brownwood, visited his home folks Tuesday.

My eye examination is different. Try Dr. R. A. Ellis and see.

Ebony

Heavy rains fell here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

There was no church or Sunday School here Sunday on account of rain and swollen creeks.

School re-opened here Monday with Miss Bernice Wilmett as teacher. Sunshine and a cool, crisp day made it ideal for school opening.

Floods seem to be everywhere this week. Charlie Roberts was unable to get home with the bus Friday night after dark. He had to wait for the creek to run down.

The Colorado is high again, and it is feared that it may get as high as it was during its recent disastrous rampage. This and the rain make it hard on the folks who have had to move out of their homes and are crowded up with friends or living school houses and church houses.

The school at Regency is unable to start because flood sufferers are still occupying the school house and among them is a case of typhoid fever not able to be moved.

But out of all this suffering and destruction comes a ray of hope for it is rumored that the WPA will rebuild the homes that have been washed away, and those who are are destitute will be helped to get on their feet again.

Clayton Egger, who is attending Howard Payne College at Brownwood, spent the week-end at home.

Gene Meek of Fort Stanton, N. M. and his mother, Mrs. Lucy Meek of Brownwood, spent Tuesday night and Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Egger. While here Gene called on several other old friends. Gene is an old favorite of this community, having grown to manhood near here. He taught singing school here and for years worked with the singing classes here. He is now employed at the United States Marine Hospital in Fort Stanton, N. M. He finds his work there very pleasant, and he says the scenery of that country is grand.

As a result of the recent flood the Regency bridge is gone, stopping the traffic which was the life of that little village, and also making it very unhandy for those of us who have business on both sides of the river. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wilmett moved part of their things to the teacherage at Spring Creek in San Saba county two weeks ago last Saturday. They expected to return the following Tuesday and complete their moving. They haven't been able to get back yet.

Jim Wilmett and Stanley Reeves report serious damage done to their pecan orchards.

This past week brought joy to most of our old people here. It brought old age pension checks, we think, to all eligibles who have applied.

Gene Wilmett, who is attending Brownwood High School, spent the week-end at home.

J. B. Jones of Brownwood writes that he will be here next Sunday to preach in the morning and to talk on the Townsend plan in the afternoon.

Your eyes should have the best. See Dr. R. A. Ellis, Optometrist.

Blanket

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Simpson of Ft. Worth were the week-end guests of relatives and friends in this vicinity. They were at one time residents of this community.

Miss Nita Bilberry is attending Howard Payne College in Brownwood this year. On the eve of her departure, she was honored by her friends with a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Luke Reeves on Main Street. Dainty refreshments were served.

Miss Linnie Mae Parson, who is attending Howard Payne, was the week-end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parson. She was accompanied home by Miss Charlene Means of Brownwood.

Mrs. Haddon Roff attended the funeral of her aunt in Brady Tuesday afternoon.

A large number of the Blanket younger set attended the party Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Wilma Brewster in the Center Point community.

The marriage of Miss Mildred Richeson of Mankins, and Mr. Ivan Flynn, of Abilene, both 1935 graduates of Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, was solemnized in the parlors of Mary Frances Hall at the university, September 29, 1936, at 10:15 a.m.

Dr. Millard A. Jenkins, pastor of the First Baptist church of Abilene, officiated. The couple left immediately after the ceremony for the Centennial and other points in South Texas. Upon their return to Abilene, they will live at 1502 North Third Street. The Flynn family formerly resided in this community.

Comfort and satisfaction in glasses fitted by Dr. R. A. Ellis.

Mukewater

We have received 15 inches of rain the past two weeks, which has damaged the cotton considerably.

Wednesday evening, September 23, Stanley Sutenson and Mrs. Sutenson entertained the teachers and pupils of the WPA night school at Bangs, together with some of their neighbors, with a play party and musical entertainment. Music for the occasion was furnished by Messrs. Mack Jones, Bill Kirby, and W. M. Drury. At a late hour refreshments of punch and cake were served. All present report a nice time. School opened at Mukewater Monday morning, Sept. 28.

Several from our community attended the circus at Brownwood Monday.

Mrs. Rutherford and daughter, Miss Rosie, visited in the Drury home Saturday evening.

Some of our citizens attended the Rising Star-Bangs football game at Rising Star Friday afternoon.

Clay Browder and wife of the McDaniel community were brief visitors in the Dagley home Thursday afternoon.

Glasses correctly made give service. Dr. R. A. Ellis, Optometrist.

Salt Branch

Mrs. Glyn McClatchey spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson at Jordan Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Yarbrough visited relatives at Bangs Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Poe Reagor and son of Abilene visited relatives here over the week-end.

Mrs. Guy McMurry and Miss Yvonne Hawthorn visited relatives at Brooksmith Monday afternoon.

Several from here went to Winchell Monday to see the Colorado river.

Rev. Clovis Childers will fill his regular appointment at the Methodist church Sunday and Sunday night.

The value in glasses is service. Dr. R. A. Ellis, Optometrist.

Bangs

On Wednesday afternoon, September 23, at 3 o'clock at the First Baptist church at Bangs, Mr. H. P. O'Neil and Miss Minnie DeBord of Bangs were united in holy bonds of matrimony. The pastor, Rev. J. A. Hall, read the wedding ceremony. The happy couple spent their honeymoon attending the Texas Centennial at Fort Worth and visiting Mr. O'Neil's mother and other relatives at Bowie and other North Texas points.

On their return Sunday evening they were surprised to see a number of their friends and neighbors gathered to welcome them home with a musical and singing. Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil will make their home one mile west of Bangs. Their many friends wish them a long, happy, prosperous wedded life together.

BROWN SKIN MODELS, ALL-NEGRO SHOW IN MIDNIGHT PERFORMANCE AT LYRIC

Hot from Harlem comes the famous all- negro revue, "Brown Skin Models" to play a midnight show at the Lyric theatre, Friday night only.

This is the show that started out from Harlem to make a four-week tour of the South and met with such sensational success it has remained in the South for over a year, slaying to capacity audiences everywhere. The show has played many return engagements in the larger cities, having played three return engagements in Houston and will play a fourth after playing the Lyric in Brownwood and the Majestic Theatre in Dallas.

Joining the show recently as an added attraction, Shelton Brooks, composer of "Some of These Days," and "Darktown Strutters Ball" and many other famous song hits, provided an instant hit and will continue with the troupe.

The entire show is beautifully staged and beautifully costumed and is far above the average all- negro show. It has the reputation of having played nothing but the "A" theatres in every city in which it has played.

Manager Colman of the Lyric, announces that due to other bookings the show will play Friday midnight only and positively will not be held over. A special section has been reserved in the balcony for colored patrons.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS, TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF BROWN COUNTY, GREETING:

You are hereby commanded to summon J. W. Ricketts, Mrs. Ethel Oliver, F. C. Oliver, Clyde A. Ricketts, and R. C. Ricketts by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein; but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Brown County, Texas, to be held at the courthouse thereof in the City of Brownwood on the first Monday in November, 1936, same being the 2nd day of November, 1936, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 29th day of September, 1936, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court 7219, wherein Mrs. Flora Olive Egger, as plaintiff, and Mrs. Myra K. Ricketts, as defendant, joined process, and wherein Mrs. Myra K. Ricketts, as plaintiff, and Mrs. Ethel Oliver, F. C. Oliver, Clyde A. Ricketts, and R. C. Ricketts, as defendants, said petition alleging the following as cause of action: That on March 11th, 1936, defendant, Mrs. Myra K. Ricketts, executed a certain note for the sum of $1500.00, payable to the order of plaintiff in six installments of $250.00 each on March 11th, 1937, 1938, 1939, 1940, 1941, and 1942, respectively, and one of $300.00 on March 11th, 1943, bearing interest from date at 8% per annum, and for the purpose of securing the payment of said note, executed at the same time a deed of trust to G. B. Stark, trustee, on the part of Lot No. 2, in Block No. 2, of Coggin Addition to the City of Brownwood described in plaintiff's petition here referred to for full description; that said note provides, among other things, that in the event of default by defendant in the payment of said note, when due, shall, at the election of the holder thereof, mature the entire note, and that said deed of trust shall at once become subject to foreclosure, and further provides that if it is not paid as it matures, or is placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, or is collected by legal proceedings, an additional 10% on the entire sum shall be paid as collection fees; that L. W. Ricketts died intestate January 21st, 1931, leaving as his sole heirs said defendants, J. W. Ricketts, L. A. Ricketts, Mrs. Ethel Oliver, Clyde A. Ricketts, and R. C. Ricketts; that there has been no administration on his estate, and no necessity for any; that defendant, Mrs. Myra K. Ricketts has paid said first three installments in full and all interest accrued on all other installments up to March 11th, 1936, but has failed and refused to pay said fourth, fifth and sixth installments, or any part thereof, though long since past due; that by reason of said default plaintiff has elected to declare said seventh installment due (though not yet matured on account of extension), and has placed said note in the hands of her attorneys herein for collection; that said defendants, in asserting a lien, or some other interest, against said lot of land, but that its lien, or interest, if any, is inferior and subordinate to plaintiff's.

Plaintiff prays for judgment for her debt—principal, interest and attorneys fees—against Mrs. Myra K. Ricketts; that said debt and that said lien of said deed of trust be established against said lot as to all said other defendants; and that she also have judgment against all the defendants herein for her costs, and for foreclosure of said deed of trust lien, and that said lot be ordered to be sold for the payment of said debt.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, but have you before said Court, on said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

WITNESS, L. J. Wilson, Clerk of the District Court of Brown County, Texas.

Given under my hand and seal of Brownwood, Texas, January 19, 1936, and lived with him, with expectation of several short separations, up until July 4, 1935, at which time she was forced to finally and permanently separate from the defendant. Since which time she has not lived with him.

Plaintiff further states that the defendant was guilty of such cruelty towards this plaintiff and treated her with such neglect that it forced her to separate from him. That he was constantly associating with undesirable companions and returned home at infrequent intervals, violently drunk, at which times he abused her and mistreated her. There is no property to be divided and no children of said marriage.

Plaintiff asks judgment, that she be divorced from the defendant, and for costs of suit, and that her maiden name of Inez Wells be restored to her.

Herein FAIL NOT, but have you before said Court, at its next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Brownwood, Texas, on this 2nd day of September, A. D. 1936.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, but have you before said Court, on said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

WITNESS, L. J. Wilson, Clerk of the District Court of Brown County, Texas.

Given under my hand and seal of Brownwood, Texas, January 19, 1936, and lived with him, with expectation of several short separations, up until July 4, 1935, at which time she was forced to finally and permanently separate from the defendant. Since which time she has not lived with him.

Plaintiff further states that the defendant was guilty of such cruelty towards this plaintiff and treated her with such neglect that it forced her to separate from him. That he was constantly associating with undesirable companions and returned home at infrequent intervals, violently drunk, at which times he abused her and mistreated her. There is no property to be divided and no children of said marriage.

Plaintiff asks judgment, that she be divorced from the defendant, and for costs of suit, and that her maiden name of Inez Wells be restored to her.

Herein FAIL NOT, but have you before said Court, at its next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Brownwood, Texas, on this 2nd day of September, A. D. 1936.

THE STATE OF TEXAS, TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF BROWN COUNTY, GREETING:

You are hereby commanded to summon J. T. Tidwell by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein; but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Brown County, Texas, to be held at the courthouse thereof in the City of Brownwood on the first Monday in November, 1936, same being the 2nd day of November, 1936, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 29th day of September, 1936, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court 7219, wherein Mrs. Flora Olive Egger, as plaintiff, and Mrs. Myra K. Ricketts, as defendant, joined process, and wherein Mrs. Myra K. Ricketts, as plaintiff, and Mrs. Ethel Oliver, F. C. Oliver, Clyde A. Ricketts, and R. C. Ricketts, as defendants, said petition alleging the following as cause of action: That on March 11th, 1936, defendant, Mrs. Myra K. Ricketts, executed a certain note for the sum of $1500.00, payable to the order of plaintiff in six installments of $250.00 each on March 11th, 1937, 1938, 1939, 1940, 1941, and 1942, respectively, and one of $300.00 on March 11th, 1943, bearing interest from date at 8% per annum, and for the purpose of securing the payment of said note, executed at the same time a deed of trust to G. B. Stark, trustee, on the part of Lot No. 2, in Block No. 2, of Coggin Addition to the City of Brownwood described in plaintiff's petition here referred to for full description; that said note provides, among other things, that in the event of default by defendant in the payment of said note, when due, shall, at the election of the holder thereof, mature the entire note, and that said deed of trust shall at once become subject to foreclosure, and further provides that if it is not paid as it matures, or is placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, or is collected by legal proceedings, an additional 10% on the entire sum shall be paid as collection fees; that L. W. Ricketts died intestate January 21st, 1931, leaving as his sole heirs said defendants, J. W. Ricketts, L. A. Ricketts, Mrs. Ethel Oliver, Clyde A. Ricketts, and R. C. Ricketts; that there has been no administration on his estate, and no necessity for any; that defendant, Mrs. Myra K. Ricketts has paid said first three installments in full and all interest accrued on all other installments up to March 11th, 1936, but has failed and refused to pay said fourth, fifth and sixth installments, or any part thereof, though long since past due; that by reason of said default plaintiff has elected to declare said seventh installment due (though not yet matured on account of extension), and has placed said note in the hands of her attorneys herein for collection; that said defendants, in asserting a lien, or some other interest, against said lot of land, but that its lien, or interest, if any, is inferior and subordinate to plaintiff's.

Plaintiff prays for judgment for her debt—principal, interest and attorneys fees—against Mrs. Myra K. Ricketts; that said debt and that said lien of said deed of trust be established against said lot as to all said other defendants; and that she also have judgment against all the defendants herein for her costs, and for foreclosure of said deed of trust lien, and that said lot be ordered to be sold for the payment of said debt.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, but have you before said Court, on said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

WITNESS, L. J. Wilson, Clerk of the District Court of Brown County, Texas.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Brown County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Isreal Lewis by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Brown county, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Brownwood, Texas, on the 1st Monday in November, A. D. 1936, the same being the 2nd day of November, A. D. 1936, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 19th day of September, A. D. 1936, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 7298, wherein Wesley Lewis is Plaintiff and Isreal Lewis is Defendant, and a brief statement of plaintiff's cause of action, being as follows:

Plaintiff sues defendant in Trespass To Try Title for the title and possession of a lot or parcel of land situated in Brown County, Texas, and being a part of the Robert Malone Survey and consisting of a lot fronting 30 ft. on Austin Avenue and extending back 50 ft. and being the same lot described in Warranty Deed, executed by Charlie Alderson and wife, to J. A. Simmons, dated May 10, 1930, and recorded in Volume 261, page 84 of the Deed Records of Brown County, Texas. As a second count and in the alternative, plaintiff sues defendant for foreclosure of Vendor's Lien Note for $107.50, executed by defendant, payable to Charlie Alderson, dated May 10, 1930, due six months after date, retaining a lien on the above described property, together with the principal, interest and attorney's fees due on said note. Plaintiff further alleges that he is the owner of said note and lien.

Herein Plaintiff has before said Court, at its next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Brownwood, Texas, on this 30th day of September, A. D. 1936.

L. J. WILSON, Clerk, District Court, Brown County, Texas.

Study of Flood—

(Continued from page 1.) dent of the San Angelo Board of City Development, who predicted that, if done by federal authorities, it would be undertaken by other agencies.

"The citizens of San Angelo are not willing to accept this hazard even if it comes only three times in 50 years and those three times all in the space of one week," he half humorously remarked.

Historically minded members of the San Angelo group pointed out that the first major flood occurred in 1882 when the town of Ben Fliekin, four miles south of Fort Concho (which later was San Angelo), was swept away and that there have been floods in 1900, 1906 and 1922 as well as those of Sept. 15, 17 and and Sept. 26 of this year. It was one of the last of these dates that such a volume of water swept down, that Lake Nasworthy was filled in 40 minutes.

Low water dams that are being built in Coleman county as WPA projects were described by Cooper.

Wholehearted support of the general purpose of the meeting was expressed in brief talks by some 12 or 15 speakers from all parts of the section.

Mayor Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo was chosen permanent chairman of the new association with T. D. Coupland, Winters, vice chairman and Culberson Deal, San Angelo, secretary. San Angelo was chosen as headquarters. County directors were J. O. Whaley, Menard County; M. J. Benfield, McCulloch, Metcalfe, Tom Green; R. L. McConnell, San Saba, Cooper Coleman, Chester Harrison Brown; L. T. Youngblood, Coke; C. R. Stephens, Runnels, Concho and Mills Counties were not represented at the session consequently their directors are to be chosen later.

Youngblood, Coupland, Deal and Metcalfe are directors of the Upper Colorado River Authority, spoke as did S. L. Reeves, engineer of the State Planning Board, Austin, and Karl Wallace, Brownwood, in charge of the district WPA office.

Deal explained that there must be a breakdown of items on the damage sheets, that a general estimate is not sufficient but that a canvass is necessary in order that the compilation submitted will be acceptable.
