Senate Group Airs Charges Of Brutality

Death Penalty For Storm Troopers Is Favored By Royall

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 18. Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall asked Congress today to recommend what the Army should do with six German storm troopers sentenced to die for the Malmedy massacre of 160 American soldiers.

The Army trial and treatment of the Germans has come under fire, including criticism from some members of Congress. As a result, the Senate armed services committee today began an investigation of the case.

Royall First Witness

Royall, the first witness, reminded the senators that he has authority to recommend commutation of the sentences. Then he added:

"I am perfectly willing for members of Congress or a congressional committee to take the responsibility of recommending to me what course I should pursue as to each of these six cases."

Originally 12 Germans were sentenced to die for the killing at Malmedy, Belgium, of 160 American soldiers who surrendered during the Battle of the Bulge in December, 1944.

Gen. Lucius Clay, commander in Germany, commuted sentences of six to life imprisonment.

Royall told the senators it is an "undisputed fact" that at Malmedy American soldiers, and also innocent civilians, "were slaughtered in cold blood in total violation of all the accepted rules of civilized warfare.

Death Is Favored

"These atrocious crimes ought to be punished by death," he added.

But Royall said the defendants claimed their confessions of guilt in the killings were obtained by threats and force "in disregard of established rules of American justice."

Whatever decision he makes, Royall said, will not meet with "universal approval."

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) told Royall the Army ought to be certain that it had clean hands in convicting the Germans. He remarked:

"We have been accusing the Russians of using violence, mock trials and force to create the right

Four Persons Are Sentenced

Four persons who pleaded guilty of felony offenses this morning in 99th district court were sentenced to a total of five years in the penitentiary and placed under probation totaling 10 years, the district attorney's department said this afternoon

Harmon E. Jones, about 22, of Lubbock, was found guilty of burglary and placed under probation for five years.

Lester C. Cruse, 33, a negro of Meadow, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for drunk driving, second offense.

Three Years Assessed

Chester Wayne Morgan, 18, of Lubbock, was sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary on a plea of guilty of burglary. Judge G. V. Pardue, presiding, ordered that the term be served cumulatively with a two-year-sentence recently assessed, but suspended, in Hale county.

The remainder of the jury panel reported back this afternoon for selection as jurors pending possible announcements of ready for trial by counsel in other cases.

ILLNESS IS FATAL

MARSHALL, April 18. (AP)—Dr. Carroll C. Davis, 63, member of the Texas and Pacific railroad hospital staff for the past nine years, died at the hospital today after an illness of some time.

The Easter holiday weekend brought violent death to at least 22 people in Texas.

Easter outings accounted directly for some of the deaths. A San Antonio priest took five girls on a boat ride. The boat upset. The priest drowned attempting to rescue his young charges. One of the girls drowned.

Cars Take Heaviest Toll

But, as usual, automobile accidents took the heaviest toll.

Traffic fatalities led the list with 10 victims. Gunshot wounds claimed six, two drowned, one was injured fatally in a fall and one died following burns.

Pvt. Alfred C. Bibb, Camp Hood soldier was killed near Killeen. Highway Patrolmen L. W. Dickson and B. J. Mahoney died in a crash while speeding to investigate the accident.

Priest Drowns

Barbara Jordan, 12, was killed by a car which crashed into a crowd of children at Shadowland race track at San Antonio.

Herbert Lee Kokernot, 81, prominent South Texas rancher and philanthropist, died in San Antonio Saturday night from injuries sustained in a house fall Wednesday. His famous "06" cattle ranged 300,000 acres in the Big Bend country, one of the biggest Texas ranches.

Child Run Over

John Doyle Sturdivant, 11, died in Austin after being in a coma 29 months following a bicycle-auto collision.

Harold D. McCauley, 16, was near Freer when his car hit a cement bridge. Three other boys were injured.

A grandfather backed his truck over Louis D. Gibson, 14 months old, crushing the tot fatally. The child had finished an Easter egg hunt at his home in Marble Falls.

Constancio Martinez, jr., 14, died in the accidental discharge of a pistol at Mercedes. Ocie Lee Neely was killed apparently by a stray bullet when he was hunting squirrels near Hutchins, just south of Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Curtis of O'Donnell, near Lamesa, were killed early Saturday night by

High Officials Are Silent On Decision

Keel For Largest Aircraft Carrier Is Laid In Virginia

(By The Associated Press)

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 18.—The keel of the USS United States, world's largest aircraft carrier, was laid here at the Newport News shipbuilding and dry dock today.

In view of the conflict between the Air Force and the Navy over strategic bombing would plans for the $186,000,000 super craft be carried out?

Workmen moving the massive keel plates of the ship into the giant building dock gave indication that the answer is "yes." The ship is designed to handle long range bombers.

The President, the defense secretary, the Navy and the shipyard all kept mum on the decision in advance.

Johnson had invoked secrecy—although plans for the 65,000 ton carrier, long since had been announced officially. Orders to say nothing about the decision to go ahead

McGee Reads Bible As Trial Is Begun

By EDWARD WELSH
Journal Staff Writer

The trial of Richard W McGee, 24-year-old insurance man charged with the pistol slaying of R. L. Allston, 42, Lubbock grocery executive on July 7, 1948, opened at 10:45 this morning when the state announced it was ready.

Burton S. Burks, Lubbock, and Col. E. A. Simpson, Amarillo, attorneys for the defense, made their announcement conditional on hearing from a prospective witness in New Jersey. Dan Blair, justice of the 72nd district court, granted a recess until 1:30 to allow the defense to complete their panel of witnesses. Burks said that the witness was very important to the trial and he was sure the man would be reached before the court reconvened.

100 Veniremen Present

When the trial opened only 100 of the original venire of 225 remained for jury selection. More than 400 presented exemptions for reasons of over or under-age. Twelve were executed by the court and lawyers on presentation of medical and funeral certificates.

The young defendant sat at the counsel table dressed in a gray business suit and wearing thick, horned-rimmed spectacles. McGee was pale from his ten months imprisonment but showed no emotion. Most of the time he unsmilingly read from the Old Testament.

McGee's mother, Mrs. H. H. Stull, Pampa, was seated in a chair behind her son. When McGee saw her he placed his arm around her shoulder and gave her at pat of encouragement. The family of the slain man was also on hand

LAAF Decision Is Anticipated

Decisions regarding the early reactivation of Lubbock Army Air field on a permanent basis were expected to result from the arrival of high-ranking Air Forces officials in Lubbock this afternoon.

Aboard two special planes which were scheduled to arrive at 3 and 4 p.m. were Congressman George H. Mahon and other civilian and military leaders of the defense establishment.

Fly From Shreveport

The first plane carried Major Gen. Robert Harper, chief of training of the Air Forces, and his party, flying to Lubbock from Barksdale field. Shreveport, La.

Mahon and Eugene M. Zuckert, assistant Secretary of Defense for air, who is civilian official in charge of Air Forces Business management, were aboard the second plane, which departed from Washington, D. C.

Lt. Gen. Edwin Rawlings, comptroller of the Air Forces, advised chamber of commerce officials this morning that illness prevented his making the flight to Lubbock as planned.

Chamber of commerce officials expressed belief that the Air Forces will be back in Lubbock, this time on a permanent basis, within the next few months and that planes will be flying by the latter part of 1949 or, at the latest early in 1950.

Conferences Scheduled

The officials will inspect the physical properties at LAAF, 10 miles west of Lubbock, and will spend tonight and the greater

Senator Says Time Lacking This Session

Truman Expected To Send Proposal To Congress Soon

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 18.—One of President Truman's legislative leaders said today there "is slight chance"that Congress can complete action on a national health program at this session.

This viewpoints was expressed by Senator Elbert Thomas (D-Utah), chairman of the Senate labor and public welfare committee.

"I don't want to sound discouraged but there is not enough time left to get the bill written properly and through both houses of Congress this summer," Thomas told a reporter.

At the same time, he said he expects President Truman to send Congress, probably this week, a new and comprehensive national health bill including compulsory government health insurance.

"It will get prompt and full attention at hearings and we should have a completed bill ready for public and congressional discussion later this year," he said.

Thomas' forecast put him in agreement with Senator Taft (R-Ohio), GOP policy leader and sponsor of a substitute "voluntary" government assistance health plan, that no major health legislation will be passed at the present session.

Taft with Senators Smith (R-NJ) and Donnell (R-Mo) are pushing a health program calling for federal outlays of $1,250,000,000 over the next five years. These would go to states and local governments to help build hospitals and provide medical care for those unable to pay the costs. Special emphasis would be placed upon vountary prepayment insurance for medical costs.

AMA Against Plan

Four other members of the labor committee—Senators Hill (D-Ala), Withers (D-Ky), Aiken (R-Vt) and Morse (R-Ore) are sponsoring a separate but similar health plan.

Taft hopes to get these two groups together because both are opposing compulsory health insurance proposals and together they form a majority of the 13-member committee Thomas heads.

The plan the administration is backing would levy payroll taxes to pay for hospital, doctor and

Man Goes On Suicide Ride In Blazing Car

DENVER, April 18. (U.P.)—While horrified Easter paraders watched, Roy V. Platz, 57, drove his flaming car through downtown streets until he was burned fatally.

He died four and a half hours after passersby dragged him unconscious from the flaming machine.

Patrolman Dan Levering called Platz' death "obviously suicide," and said the unmarried engineer had been despondent since the death of his mother a year ago.

Three men jumped to the running board and tried to stop the car but failed. Platz drove to the rear of an apartment house, where he became unconscious and the car slowed to a stop.

Police believed the driver's seat had been sprayed with gasoline.

Soldiers Of Ireland March As Republic Is Proclaimed

(By The Associated Press)

DUBLIN, Ireland, April 18—Stalwart Irishmen shed unashamed tears of joy today as they watched soldiers of Erin march proudly—and legally—in honor of the birth of the republic of Ireland.

Among the marchers were many members of the old Ira—the Irish Republican Army—survivors of that handful of desperate men who struck against the British on Easter Monday 33 years ago.

Ambassadors and ministers of the world's nations stood on a green and white reviewing stand to watch the parade marking the formal change for Ireland from a British dominion to the "sovereign and independent nation" it declared itself to be in 1916.

Conspicuously absent was Eamon De Valera, whom most Irishmen call the elder statesman of the republic. The former premier, veteran of the Easter Monday uprising and an indefatigable fighter for independence, now leads a minority political group. He and his followers refused to take part in today's celebra-

U. S. MONEY IN SYSTEM BOOSTED

Food Prices Held Up By Farm Plan

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The government has five times as much money tied up in supporting farm prices today as it had at this time a year ago.

The total investment and commitment, including loans, purchase agreements and actual government-owned stocks of commodities, amount to $2,480,000,000. That compares with about $500,000,000 a year ago.

Food Prices Held Up

The multi-billion-dollar operation is having a widespread effect on the economy:

Consumers—price support programs now are holdings up prices of eggs, potatoes, butter and indirectly propping prices of cheese, evaporated milk and other manufactured milk products. It is impossible to say how far prices might drop without these supports. Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan predicts the government within the next 60 days will have to start propping the price of pork chops and bacon.

Taxpayers—program loses during the past nine months amount to more than $200,000,000, mostly in potatoes. In addition, the government is risking further loss of the $2,480,000,000 it has invested or committed to invest in commodities. Nn one can say how much of the commodities under loan and purchase agreement the government will have to take title to. Nor can the eventual loss be estimated. Ninety-six per cent of the entire support operation now involves grains and cotton and other commodities which could be stored for years.

Income Drop Seen

Farmers — without price supports, farm prices would have plunged more than 15 per cent during the past year. Even though supports will be set at nearly the same level on basic crops this year as they were last year, the Agriculture department figures net farm income probably will drop this year more than 10 per cent below last year.

National economy—without any price supports, government officials say the nation might be slid-

A purse containing $55 was reported taken by someone who broke into the bedroom of Mrs. Maggie Cannon of 2124 Tenth, by raising a west window. The money was in a purse, which was taken.

Property Loss $200

Peaceful Town Is Held Under Terror Siege

Police And Armed Citizens Join In Fight With Killer

(By The United Press)

PULLMAN, Wash., April 18.—A bloody Easter Sunday gun spree by a crazed ex-Army sharpshooter armed with a Japanese rifle left five persons dead today and four wounded.

The killer was George McIntyre, 25, Boy Scout leader and father of two children. For two hours he held this peaceful college town under a siege of terror before he was killed by a posse of police and armed citizens who banded together to hunt him down.

Four Others Killed

But before he was killed, McIntyre took the lives of four other men—Police Officer Ross Claar, 56, Sheriff L. J. Parnell, 61, Deputy Sheriff Gilbert Gallagher, 28, and Taxi Driver E. G. Buck, 56.

McIntyre also inflicted minor wounds on W. H. Kershaw, 27, James Roberts, 45, and Deputy Sheriffs Clarence Davis, 46, and James Hickman, 65.

McIntyre, who had nurtured a smouldering hatred for Claar, went berserk when the policeman tried to arrest him at a gas station about 4 p. m. yesterday.

Police said the arrest was ordered because McIntyre had tried to knife Kershaw, a neighbor, in an argument earlier in the day.

Beat Him To Death

As Claar approached, witnesses said, McIntyre whipped out a .22 caliber pistol and pumped a series of shots into the officer's body at close range. The policeman staggered and fell, and McIntyre seized his club and beat him to death as witnesses watched in horror.

Among the onlookers was McIntyre's wife, Amzil, 22, who shielded her eyes and screamed. McIntyre jumped into his pickup truck and roared away, leaving her swaying in the gas station driveway.

McIntyre headed straight for his home to get a pair of binoculars and a souvenir Japanese rifle equipped with a telescopic sight.

Meanwhile a score of citizens who heard the shooting armed themselves with rifles, shotguns and pistols to join police in the manhunt. Everyone else was warned to keep off the streets. Mothers herded their children

Senate Okays Women Jurors

AUSTIN, April 18 (AP) — The Senate today passed and sent to the House a proposed constitutional amendment to permit women to serve on juries.

It was the first proposed constitutional amendment of the session to gain passage in the Senate.

Approval was 23-7.

By Senator Fred Harris of Dallas, the measure would provide that women could be neither disqualified nor excused from jury service because of their sex. The measure would have to be adopted at a popular election before it would become effective.

Poll Tax Next

Debated long and loudly in previous sessions, the measure moved quickly to final Senate passage today with little discussion.

One amendment by Carlos Ashley of Llano which wrote into the measure its provision that sex would not constitute an excuse from jury service was adopted by voice vote.

A proposed constitutional amendment by Rogers Kelley of Edinburg to abolish payment of the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting was next in line for consideration.

The Senate recessed until 2:30 p. m. with the measure under discussion.

Corred Weather Predictions Year In Advance Now Possible

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Weather predictions for 12 months in advance are possible for any city, Dr. Charles G. Abbot, famed sun expert of the Smithsonian Institution, reported today. He bases the system on periodic fluctuations in the heat radiation of the sun.

Abbot disclosed a near-perfect record for predicting cool and warm days—by actual dates—in the nation's capital during 1948, and said the method could be applied to any other local area in the world.

He's already got his dates lined up for 1949 and predicts, among other things, a relatively cool Fourth of July for Washington and a relatively warm Christmas—for your information in case youre planning a visit here.

Temperature Only

Abbot's present report concerns temperature variations only. But he also has worked out a similar solar method of forecasting the likelihood of rain or fair weather on specific dates a year ahead of time.

(Asked months in advance by the Associated Press to give a forecast on the Roosevelt and Truman inaugural days in 1944 and 1948 respectively, Abbot predicted fair weather—and scored perfectly in both cases).

Here's what Abbot did in 1948 about Washington temperatures:

In January of that year—he selected 55 specific dates—four or five for each month—when he said the temperature would drop to a minimum and then start rising again. Between the "cold days," he predicted, there would be warmer days averaging 7.1 degrees higher, followed by a drop to another minimum.

Predictions Locked Up

Then he locked his predictions in a safe.

Early this year the safe was opened by the director of the Smithsonian's astrophysical observatory and the predictions were checked with the actual weather record of the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Out of the 55 "minima" predicted, said Abbot, 48 dates had lower temperatures than others intervening between them. The average excess of the warmer days was 6.96 degrees, against 7.1 degrees predicted.

Here's his method:

For years, he has studied weather records of the capital. And he says he has found that drops and increases in temperature—which, looked at superficially, seem to follow no predictable pattern—actually are coincident with periodic fluctuations in the radiation given off by the sun.

He says there is a "uniform periodicity" of a little over six days in the sun's heat radiation—that is, rises and falls in intensity due to sun-spots and other solar phenomena as the great body rotates on its own axis.

Any City Can Do It

This pattern of periodicity can be applied to the weather records of any city, says Abbot, so that forecasts can be worked out for them—both on a temperature and rainfall basis.

But Abbot points out that specific dates will vary from city to city across the country.

The reason for this, he says, is that the "center of action" of the solar phenomena affecting the United States is in Alaska. From that point, he says, winds and other atmospheric forces spread the solar effects over various parts of the country—thus affecting a particular city's weather on a certain date.

All In A Lifetime — Actions You Regret

Chicken-In-Bottle Controversy Ends On Houston Dinner Table

HOUSTON, April 18. (U.P.)—Alice the chicken wasn't around today to stir up any more controversy—she had been fried and eaten.

Attorney W. Giles Roberts and his wife polished off Alice at their Easter dinner table. They said she made "fine eating," and thereby verified a claim by grain dealer Clyde Roco.

Roco had placed the Plymouth Rock fowl in a glass jug seven weeks ago today. He was out to prove that a well-fed chicken didn't need lots of exercise to become fat and succulent.

But as Alice contentedly clucked away in her five-gallon jug home, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals became interested—and hot under the collar.

The SPCA threatened legal action unless Alice was freed, and Roco decided to cut the experiment short last Saturday. He shattered Alice's transparent coop, and then gave her to Roberts, his attorney.

The liberation and subsequent devouring of Alice apparently ended the threat of action by the SPCA.

SAN ANTONIO, April 18. (AP)—Death claimed Herbert Lee Kokernot, 81, south Texas rancher and philanthropist.

Kokernot died in a hospital here late Saturday night. He was hospitalized after falling at his home last Wednesday.

Funeral services were scheduled in his home at 3 p. m. today.

Kokernot owned the "06 Ranch," which is one of the largest in the state. The "06" brand is the oldest registered brand in the Big Bend country. He began ranching in 1897.

Placid Opens New Oil Field In Northeast Scurry County

A new oil field has been opened in Scurry county. Placid Oil Company has completed its No. 1 Mrs W. W. Early wildcatt in the northeast part of the county for flowing oil production from the Strawn lime of the Pennsylvania.

On an official railroad commission potential test, the well flowed 24 hours through a one-half-inch choke, producing 291 barrels of oil.

No water was present on the test. Gas-oil ratio was 430-1. Gravity of the petroleum was 39 degrees.

Production followed a 500-gallon acid treatment through casing perforations att 7,520-7,645 feet, opposite the Strawn. Top of pay was called on 7,520 feet. Total depth was 7,546 feet.

4 Miles To Next Field

Nearest commercial production to this strike is about four miles northwest in the North Snyder field, where pay is from the Canyon-Pennsylvanian.

Suggested name of this pool is Snyder field. The discovery is 467 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 26, block 1, J. P. Smith survey, Elevation is 2,379 feet. It is approximately six miles northeast of the town of Snyder.

Evidence of Devonian pay section definition was shown on a drillstem test of that formation at Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 18-B Cowden, discovery from the Devonian two miles southeast of the Dollarhide field in Southwest Andrews county.

The examination was at 10,277-255 feet, with the tool open three hours. Gas reached the surface in two hours and 15 minutes and a light blow continued for the remainder of the test.

No Free Water

Recovery was 30 feet of clean, 38.4-gravity oil, 90 feet of heavily oil cut water blanket, 810 feet of clean water blanket and 840 feet of water blanket cut with sulphur water and drilling mud. There was no free water. The prospector was drilling ahead, planning to test again shortly.

It is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 12, block A-55, PSl survey.

The North Russell - Devonian made salt water for Argo Oil corporation No. 1-B Jones, outpost to the same company's discovery from that formation to open the field in Northwest Gaines County.

After topping the Devonian on 11,353 feet, the venture drilled ahead to 11,380 feet and drillstem tested with packer att 11,-238 feet. The tool was open two hours. A 2,800 - foot water blanket was used.

Recovery was 630 feet of slightly gas cut drilling mud, 180 feet of gas and water cut mud and 5,-940 feet of salt water.

Awaiting Orders

Operations were waiting on orders. The exploration probably will be abandoned.

It is one mile west and one-half mile south of the discovery and 465 feet from south and west lines of the north half of the south healf of section 31, block AX, PSL survey.

General American Oil Company has made location for its No. 5 A. F. Byrd as a 4,900-foot, rotary tool exploration in the one-producer Arick-Wolfcamp field of Southeast Hale Countty, two and one-half miles northeast of the town of Petersburg.

The drillsite is 330 feet from east and 990 feet from south lines of the northeast quarter of section 17, block K, TTRR survey. Drilling is beginning immediately.

Sinclair Prairie Oil Company is to drill another Ellengurger exploration in the Shafter Lake area of the North-Central Andrews County.

It will be the concern's No. 5 155 University, staked 765 feet from north and 555 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 24, block 13, University survey. That puts it 14 miles northwest of the town of Andrews.

Projected depth is 12,000 feet. Rotary drilling is slated to begin by April 20.

A chert formation, tentatively identified as Mississippian, was drillstem tested by Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Edmondson, Northwest Scurry County wildcat.

The tool was open 50 minutes at 7,945-7,977 feet, with a slight blow of air at the top for two minutes. Recovrey was 20 feet of drilling fluid. There were no snows of oil, gas or water. Drilling was continuing.

Application Filed

Location is 330 feet from north and east lines of section 437, block 97, H&TC survey, about eight and one-half miles northwest of Snyder.

Pacific Western Oil corporation has filed an amended application with the railroad Commission, requesting permission to deepen its No. 1-B D. L. Brown, et al, Southwest Lamb County wildcat, beyond the original projectted depth.

The application covers drilling to 8,500 feet. The prospector is now making hole below 7,476 feet in lime.

A one-hour drillstem test at 7,350-7,450 feet recovered 2,060 feet of salt water, with no signs of oil or gas.

Location is 440 feet from north and east lines of labor 5, league 213, Deaf Smith CSL survey, about eight and one-half miles southwest of Sudan.

Shirley Temple To Receive Some Of Wealth Saturday

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, April 18.—When Shirley Temple reaches 21 this Saturday, she starts receiving some of her childhood wealth, including $11,000 she won for proving she wasn't a midget.

She earned the $11,000 in her early years as a child star after an English paper headlined the oft-heard rumor that she was a midget.

"Not only that," Shirley related, "but they also said I was 30 years old and the mother of a child. Imagine!

"Since this was bad publicity in my early start in pictures, we sued. The English paper sent a reporter all the way over here to check on me. The little man followed me around for about a week until he finally decided I wasn't a midget. We won the suit, but I wasn't to get the money until I came of age. I think now I'll leave it over there and spend it on a trip abroad some day."

Of course, the 11 gees is but a drop in a golden bucket compared to the other money stored up in trust funds for Shirley. Sounding her out, I guessed the sum was over a million.

"I don't think so," she answered coyly. "You see, a lot of the money I made was put in a trust fund by Fox studio. When I broke my contract because I didn't want to work there anymore, it was paid off in a lump sum, taxable at 92 cents on the dollar. That was when my father almost had a nervous breakdown."

Mr. Temple then took over complete control of Shirley's finances. As it stands now, she has a series of trust funds that mature every few years "until death."

She'll never have money worries. She and husband John Agar have been working regularly in films for sizable salaries. And they don't live high.

In the trap was a siamese mouse—er, mice. The two rodents were normal in every way except they were joined at the side. They apparently had no trouble negotiating her cracker box, but a piece of cheese in the trap proved that two heads weren't necessarily better than one.

Perjury Defendant's Daughter Is Charged

AMARILLO, April 18 (U.P.) — Faced with new charges of perjury in the trial of her mother, Mrs. Betty Brinkley today went to trial here on charges of perjury in connection with testimony she gave during the murder trial of her husband.

Today's trial grew out of charges filed following the acquittal of Mrs. Brinkley's husband, Orla Brinkley. He was found innocent last December of charges that he murdered his infant stepson

The new perjury charges, contained in an indictment brought by the Potter county grand jury, stemmed from testimony given by the Guymon, Okla., woman during the perjury trial last month of her mother, Mrs. Bertha L. Brinkley.

The older woman was sentenced to two years's imprisonment for testimony offered in her son's trial.

The grand jury's latest action raised to six the total indictments returned against witnesses in the Bertha Brinkley trial.

An accomplished musician, club woman and church worker Mrs. Clark has taught music for 60 years and still teaches a class of 20 in her home at Cisco. Two of her grandsons, Lee Stiles and Clifford Deaton, are now enrolled at A. & M. Another grandson, John Stiles, graduated from A. & M. last June.

Love For Another Declared By Girl Who Refuses To Accept Birthday Gift Ring

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Alice is 24 and I am 27. I have known her for about a year and we have dated occasionally, besides seeing each other three nights a week at business school, where we attend evening classes.

Alice is a wonderful girl. Her character and reputation are above reproach. She is shy and reserved and for a long time she wouldn't date me, just because we were fellow students and she didn't want the other students speculating about our relationship. She finally agreed to dates on condition that the other students were'nt to know; and that's the way it has been.

I have been to her home many times, have met her family and many of her relatives, and last month I told her I loved her. She replied in effect that I am one of the nicesest fellows she has ever known, and she likes me a lot, but she couldn't honestly reciprocate my feelings.

IF HE UNDERSTOOD HE'D FEEL BETTER

LAST night when I took her home after school I gave her a birthstone ring I had bought for her. She praised its beauty, then burst into tears and said she was sorry but she couldn't accept it. When I asked why, she said. "I guess I am in the same boat you are—," and explained that she was in love with someone else who showed no serious interest in her.

I was dumbfounded, for we've been seeing each other four nights a week on the average, and she would, tell me voluntarily what she did on the other evenings—and only once did she mention a date with another fellow. She said she had known how I felt for a long time, and had spent many sleepless hours trying to figure a solution, because she knew she couldn't care seriously for me.

We are high school graduates, our social, financial and religious backgrounds are the same; we have many mutual interests. So what is behind this sudden change in Alice? Please tell me and I will crawl away and lick my wounds as best I can. At present I consider myself the biggest dope imaginable.

(Singned) B. R.

CASE OF HOPING WITHOUT WARRANT

DEAR B. R.: I see no evidence of a "sudden change" in Alice. Rather it seems to me that she has mildly discouraged your sentimental interest from the start; and that finally, when you produced a ring, she realized that in fairness she must speak plainly, even at the expense of hurting your feelings and losing your friendship, possibly.

According to your narrative, it was uphill work getting her to consent to dates, and you will recall that she gave your declaration of love a tactful turndown—using the classic phrase that kindly girls usually employ when wrapping a refusal in friendly language.

It has been said "Love is blind," which doubtless explains your brash optimism in featching a ring after she had negated your court in every way short of being unfriendly; and I daresay her sudden tears were an expression of defensive anxiety, caused by your blind persistence.

GIRL WAS SQUARE FROM THE START

IN that moment she was probably regretting her mistake—as she saw it—in having admitted you to friendship, even conditionally, against her first preference to stay in the clear and concentrate on her real (though unresponsive) love interest. I think she was telling the whole truth when she mentioned "someone else," and that there are no other hidden meanings in her attitude.

So for advice: disabuse your mind of the idea that Alice hasn't been honest throughout. Your wounds, such as they are, have been self induced by wishful thinking that she never instigated nor encouraged—as I see the picture. M. H.

Shirt Tails Swanky Lingerie

Man's Discarded Clothing Is Fashion Gold Mine For Wife

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 18 — Men's shirt-tails — stitched here, there, and on the bias—make swanky lady's lingerie.

Men's sweaters — draped here, there, and over the ears—make exotic lady's turbans.

In fact, a man's bureau drawers provide a fashion gold-mine tó any wife with ingenuity and a light finger!

Grace Downs, New York model agency head who devises unique ideas for dressing lavishly on little, said today:

"Never throw away a man's worn clothing during the spring cleaning. From head to toe, he's a source of 1949 feminine fashion accessories."

Don't discard battered felt hats, mismatched cuff links, moth-eaten sweaters, outgrown sport shirts, fray-edged ties, outmoded vests or bathing caps.

Purses Easy

Battered felt hats—make soft and colorful pouch purses or smart and practical beach bags.

Simply cut off the brim of the hat, and clean or dye the crown. Touches of velvet are high-fashion this season, so stitch a bias-cut band of the fabric around the edge of the crown.

Punch out a circle of small holes, just below the velvet strip, and thread a long velvet cord through them. The pouch bag is complete.

Miss Downs makes beach bags by following a similar process.

Cut off the brim, punch the holes, thread the cord, and then insert a bathing cap into the bag. To hold cap to bag, bind them together around the top with a heavy, bright-colored adhesive tape.

Moth Holes Hidden

Missmatched cuff links — make good decorations on lady's suit lapels. Drape the link through the lapel and surround it with tiny, complementary scatter pins.

Long-sleved sweaters — won't show the moth holes if they're cleverly draped into turbans.

Miss Downs describes the process in three easy gestures. But in print it goes like this . . .

Cup the neck opening over the head, with the back of the opening over the forehead, and the front circled under the hair. The body of the sweater is hanging down the lady's back. Bobby-pin it in place.

Now, circle the sleeves back and aground the head, crossing them behind and tying them in a knot on top of the head. Just the wrist-ribbing will dangle from the knot. Tuck it under the wrapped-around sleeves.

Briefs Made Cheaply

Pull the sides of the sweater body forward so that it engulfs the hair, snood-fashion, and tuck or pin it under the sleeves at the point where they cover the ears.

Shirt-tails—can turn into lady's "briefs" with the aid of elastic and a sewing machine.

Snip the moff slightly above the waist and stitch them down the sides. Turn over a hem at the top inserting a band of elastic to fit the waist. Pilfer antoher swath of fabric from the shirt-top and stitch it in place at the crotch.

Since open crowns are out of the high-fashion picture, fill 1948's straw brim with a circle of gay-colored cotton. If the straw is workable, put a narrow band of the fabric around the outer edge of the brim, too.

Discard silk ties — make good scarves and sashes when their least worn sections are pieced together with other remnants, in a patchwork quilt pattern.

Vests can be de-lined and turned out in weskits or cummerbunds for ladies.

Silk scarves or white pique shirt fronts can be cut into long strips, feminine throat as a summer choker.

THE EASTER MESSAGE
OF THE
CATHOLIC CHURCH

The Season of Lent opens in the Catholic Church on the dirge of the certainty of death. In placing blessed ashes on the forehead of each person the priest says, "Remember man that thou art dust and unto dust thou shalt return."

Just as the Lenten message of the Church is that men are certain to die so the Easter message is that men are sure to live forever! THE RESURRECTION OF CHRIST PUTS ETERNAL LIFE BEYOND THE REALM OF DOUBT. St. Paul expressed the truth vividly, asking—"O death, where is thy victory? O death, where is thy sting?" As surely as Christ rose from the dead and thereby proved immortality, just so surely will each individual live forever. For as Christ rose from the dead "we also will one day rise from the dead."

The certainty of everlasting life is what makes Religion important. If God is good enough to man to create him, to redeem him, and to prepare for him a state of eternal happiness in Heaven, then man has the pleasure and the obligation to worship God and to fulfill His will on earth! That is plain common sense.

What does the good God require of men? THAT QUESTION IS ANSWERED IN THE CORRESPONDENCE COURSE IN THE CATHOLIC RELIGION. Enroll in this Course today! Learn how eternally important each individual is in the sight of God. Learn the basis of man's Democratic rights! Learn the reward of eternal happiness that God will give in Heaven to those who love and serve Him on earth!

SOVIET ZONE IN NEED OF TRADE

Rumors Claim Reds Seek Blockade Lift

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, April 18. — Are the Russians seeking a diplomatic way to lift the blockade of Berlin and still "save face?"

For several weeks, there have been reports of new Soviet efforts to find a way out of what has become a boomeranging situation.

The Allied counter-blockade has deprived the Soviet occupation zone of Germany and many of the Soviet satelite countries of materials necessary to their economic well-being.

There were reports from authoritive sources in Germany Sunday that Germans of the eastern zones are pressuring the Russians to lift the blockade

East Zone Wants Trade

Die Welt, official British army newspaper in Hamburg, said the Germans of the Russian zone want to resume trade with western Germany.

Die Welt said Vladimir DeKanosov, Russian ambassador to Hitler Germany, "has been in Berlin for several days to advise the Soviet military administration on these proposals about resuming inter-zonal trade and traffic, which have now reached a decisive stage."

The story was supported in part by Lawrence Wilkinson economics adviser to Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor. He said the Communist-dominated German economic commission of the eastern zone had sent informal communications to German officials in Frankfurt asking a common effort to get trade started again between eastern and western Germany.

Wilkinson said the American answer was "nothing doing. No trade until the blocade of Berlin is fully lifted."

Several London newspapers meanwhile printed Berlin dispatches saying a special Soviet envoy is enroute to Washington with a new proposal to solve the blockade issue.

The envoy was identified as Gen. Georgiev Malinin described as a former Soviet deputy chief of staff in Germany and one-time senior member of the Soviet military administration

A highly-placed diplomatic informant in London last week reported the Russians had made an informal offer through the Polish mission in Berlin to lift the blockade if the western powers would open four-power negotiations on all outstanding German problems.

That report was promptly denied by the Polish representatives and by Gen. Clay.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for any printed diet or for vitamins to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while taking this preparation. Barcentrate is the original grapefruit juice recipe for weight reduction.

Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to take off ugly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 56 pounds

Here is what Mrs. L. J. Bryant, P. O. Box 56, Whitewright, Texas, wrote us:

"I want to tell you what Barcentrate has done for me. I weighed 268 pounds when I started taking it. I now weigh 212.

"I have taken my dress size down from size 50 to 44 and never felt better in my life and everybody tells me how much nicer I look than I did.

"I am still taking Barcentrate as I want to get my weight down to 165 or 170 pounds."

A CUPFUL OF DOG — Chipita, a Mexican Chihuahua which weighs 14 ounces at six weeks, sits in an ordinary teacup held by the dog's owner, Vermon Irish, Fargo, N. D., planning engineer. Chipita, runt of a litter of four, is the only survivor. The mother, which weighed five pounds, died when the pups were born. She was owned by Irish.

Surrender Of Man Reported

GRAHAM, April 18. (AP)—One of two young men who escaped from the Young county jail here yesterday was back in jail today.

Jimmy Burnett, 23, surrendered to Stevens county Sheriff Tom Affield at Breckenridge and was returned here by Young County Sheriff C. B. Bunnell and State Highway Patrolman P. A. Zeissel.

The other escapee Leroy Alcorn, 19, still was at large. Both were from Graham and both were held on charges of swindling by passing worthless checks.

Pair Break Out

The pair broke out of their second-floor cells yesterday, reached the sheriff's apartment on the first floor via a dumbwaiter shaft, and then walked out the front door. Another prisoner, who refused to leave with them, called the attention of the sheriff's daughter, Betty Bunnell, to the escape when she appeared at the apartment. Miss Bunnell is a TSCW student at Denton, home for the holidays.

Burnett was awaiting transfer to the state penitentiary to serve five-year car theft sentences from Wichita Falls and Breckenridge. Sheriff Bunnell, who was out of town at the time of the escape, said Burnett passed the hot checks during a period of freedom given him to attend a relative's funeral in West Texas. He did not return as scheduled and was picked up at Paducah.

Review Of Trial Is Refused By Court

WASHINGTON, April 18. (AP)—(AP)—The Supreme court today refused to review the trial of Jake Bird, Tacoma, Wash., negro sentenced to death in the axe-slaying of Mrs. Bertha Kludt.

Bird was scheduled to be ranged Jan 13. But Justice Douglas granted a stay pending Supreme court action on Bird's appeal.

Bird contended in the appeal that an "utterly false confession" was obtained from him by police. He charged the police beat him and threatened to kill him if he did not sign the "confession." Bird also asserted there was no evidence connecting him with the killing "except such as manufactured by the officers."

Special guests at the luncheon were C. H. (Brownie) Hamilton, chairman of the Lubbock County Savings Bond committee, and Farl Kerr, assistant county chairman. Kerr made a brief address on behanlf of the savings bond campaign.

U. S. Troops In Germany Begin War Games Along Czech Border

NUERNBERG, Germany, April 18. (AP)—Seventy thousand United States soldiers in Germany wheeled into position today to repeal an imaginary attack from "aggressor land."

"Aggressor land" is an Army term for a mythical enemy scheduled to strike Tuesday from the direction of Czacheslovakia.

Army officials insisted that the location and direction of the attack had no significance and that the war games are part of normal military training.

Entire Zone Affected

These April maneuvers, known as "exercise showers" got under way with American troops in all sections of the U. S zone tumbling from their bunks to take field stations.

Long lines of brownish-green tanks and trucks headed from barracks to a defense line running roughly parallel to the Czech border.

Forward headquarters for the operation are in Stein castle near Nuernberg; the rear area headquarters in Frankfurt.

The maneuvers will serve two purposes.

The first is to give field training to American troops in Germany—many of whom are fairly recent recruits.

The second is to remind Europe that the United States is backing the Atlantic pact with troops in the front-line positions of the "cold war."

Army Re-equipped

The maneuvers will also show Europe how the United States Army has re-equipped its forces here in the past six months with tanks and other mechanized weapons.

Taking part in the combat phase of the game are the First Infantry division and the U. S. Constabulary bridge. The constabulary originally performed routine patrol and security duties. With the arrival of tanks and other equipment it has become a combat unit.

Hope For Reunion With Son Vanishes

GARY, Ind., April 18. (AP)—A young Pittsburgh mother's hope of a reunion with her missing son ended in disappointment here yesterday.

The woman, Mrs Lloyd Collier, 24, had seen a picture last week in the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette of a small child found wandering the streets of Gary He is two or three years old and said his name is Don.

That sent Mrs. Collier into action. Her own son, who disappeared last July in a Pennsylvania woodland is named Donald. With hope that the Don here might be her Donald, she booked airplane passage and arrived at the child's hospital room early yesterday.

She held the boy and talked to him then announced to newsmen, "it definitely is not by child."

The child here is under treatment for malnutrition and impetigo.

San Jacinto Festival Opens In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, April 18. (U.P.)—The annual Fiesta de San Jacinto was scheduled to open here today, with some 500,000 persons expected to attend the week-long celebration.

The fiesta will get underway with a solemn pilgrimage late this afternoon to the Alamo. Thousands of school children and adults will deposit flowers at the shrine.

Less solemn events were planned, including daily parades and the battle-of-flowers procession Friday afternoon. An illuminated parade Saturday night will feature appearances by King Antonio XXVII, in reality, A. J. (Jack) Lewis, an attorney, and Gov. Beauford Jester.

Oklahoman To Attempt Flight Around Globe In Light Plane

TYLER, Tex., April 18. (AP) — Jack Brazil, ex-fighter plane pilot from Oklahoma City, today signed contract with an airplane manufacturer here to attempt an around-the-world flight in a light plane.

He signed the contract with Johnson Aircraft corporation. One of its planes, called the "Bullet," will be used in the attempt. The ship is powered with an 185 horsepower engine.

Brazil said he will begin his attempt shortly after Aug. 15.

The pilot said he intends to take off from Will Rogers field at Oklahoma City and fly to Goose Bay, Laborador. Succeeding stops include Rome, Italy; Ankara, Turkey; Teheran, Iran; Karachi, India; Shanghai, China; Tokyo, Japan, and Oklahoma City.

Brazil said his longest flight leg will be from Tokyo to Oklahoma city. He hopes this leg will break the recent light plane flight record set by Bill Odom in a hop from Hawaii to near New York City.

SILENCE IMPOSED

GEORGETOWN, Ky. (U.P.)—Two sororities at Georgetown College are making it as tough as they can on pledges. One of the "don't" is that for seven whole days and nights they aren't allowed to speak or talk to anyone.

FLOODS COST $25,807,338

PULLMAN, Wash. (U.P.)—Last year's disastrous floods in the Northwest caused damage totaling $25,807338 to Washington, Oregon and Idaho agriculture, final figures show.

Tiny fibers that can be spun into thread for making cloth have been made from ordinary glass.

Jailbirds Will Be Freed In Michigan

JACKSON, Mich., April 18. (AP) —Hundreds of jailbirds will be released June 1 from Southern Michigan prison.

They are canaries that the inmates have been keeping in their cells. At present, each prisoner is allowed a quota of five birds, and 1,568 canaries on hand are creating "quite a nuisance," Warden Julian N. Frisbie said. Prisoners formerly raised the birds for an outside market.

The quota will be reduced June 1 to one bird per prisoner, and a large number of the canaries will depart.

"And right now," reported Frisbie, "a lot of these inmates are trying to sprout tail feathers."

It was a tough job . . . but we licked it!

In the first quarter of last year, the oil industry was hard pressed to supply you with all the petroleum products you needed. You were asking us to furnish the staggering total of 6,317,000 barrels of oil daily: for transportation, for heating, for industrial fuel. And the oil companies were just keeping even with you.

Now, a year later, there's a different picture. The industry is not only able to supply you with the oil you need for your daily use, but it has developed a comfortable margin of spare capacity. The industry has licked last year's fears of an oil shortage.

Every section of the industry shared in the extra effort needed to supply your heavy demand. In 1948, 39,000 new wells added 2 billion barrels of proved reserves and 350,000 barrels daily to the U. S. capacity to supply crude oil; pipe line companies pumped an unprecedented quantity of oil and finished products through their lines; and refinery runs increased by 470,000 barrels daily.

The oil industry is breathing easier, and so should you. There's enough, now, to meet your demand, with a more satisfactory margin for emergencies. . . . It was a tough job, meeting the increased demand of 1947-48, a job made tougher by an unusually severe winter in the East; but the oil industry approached it with a confidence justified by your confidence in American industry's ability to do a job. And the successful completion of this job again demonstrated that the American competitive system operates quickly and efficiently in a time of national need.

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING CO.

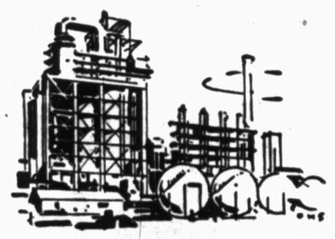

HUMBLE

In 1948, Humble exploratory wells were drilled in every section of the Southwest. This well, drilled in St. Martin's Parish, Louisiana, discovered the Duck Lake oil field, one of the important Louisiana discoveries of the year.

In 1948, Humble Pipe Line Company transported 763,000 barrels of oil daily through its 4000-mile system of pipe lines. This was an increase of 75,000 barrels daily over 1947.

In 1947, Humble's Baytown refinery exceeded its wartime production record by processing 228,300 barrels of oil a day. By the end of 1948, Baytown refinery was processing a daily average of 250,000 barrels. Baytown's production of finished petroleum products in 1948 exceeded 1947 production by 10%.

DENTISTS TELL HOW AMM-I-DENT HELPS MANKIND FIGHT DECAY!

UNHEALTHY MOUTH "A"—Lactobacillus acidophilus (acid-producing microbes) usually flourish in such mouths.*

HEALTHY MOUTH "B"—typical of mouths where Lactobacillus acidophilus count is low. Amm-i-dent reduces L. a. count.*

For years, dental scientists have searched for the answer to tooth decay. The following facts are the result of painstaking research by some of the top scientific minds in the dental profession!

First—a definite association was found between tooth decay and the presence of large numbers of a certain acid-producing microbe—Lactobacillus acidophilus.

In mouths where these microbes were plentiful, cavities were usually frequent. Where the microbe count was low, cavities were generally rare or even non-existent.

Obviously, the problem was to provide artificially for the average mouth, the bacteria-fighting ingredients which Nature seems to provide in the mouths of the fortunate few who are cavity free.

Amm-i-dent does that! Exhaustive tests have shown that regular daily use of Amm-i-dent has brought about astonishing reductions in the numbers of Lactobacillus acidophilus. This is accomplished by two active, anti-decay ingredients.

One is Dibasic Ammonium Phosphate. The other is Carbamide (synthetic urea).

Neither of these two all-important ingredients is present in any leading tooth powder or toothpaste generally used in American homes.

Dentists Praise Amm-i-dent

One dentist says: "Since the Fall of 1947, by using Amm-i-dent daily, I have brought down my Lactobacillus acidophilus count from over 700,000 per c.c. to only 10,000 per c.c."

This comment is typical of many others in our files: "I have recommended Amm-i-dent to many of my patients. And I have found such definite improvement in my own mouth that I would hesitate to use any other product."

Especially interesting is this dentist's statement: "After 30 years of dental practice, I can honestly say Amm-i-dent is the only dentifrice I would recommend to my patients. I feel safe and sincere in recommending Amm-i-dent."

New Hope for Children and Adults

You've heard about it from dentists or friends! You've read about it in magazines and newspapers! Now, it's here, ready for use in your own home, after three years of clinical testing—a tooth powder that actually helps prevent formation of new cavities in human teeth.

Amm-i-dent, the first of the ammoniated tooth powders, holds promise of fewer cavities, less tooth decay. That's the thrilling news that comes with the announcement of this entirely new and revolutionary dentifrice.

First Anti-Decay* Dentifrice

Up to now, dentifrices could help clean and brighten your teeth, but contained no effective anti-decay ingredient. Now, for the first time with Amm-i-dent, you and your children can help protect your teeth against decay, as you give them their regular daily cleaning. For Amm-i-dent contains two anti-decay ingredients, not used in any leading toothpaste or powder!

Astonishing Report in Reader's Digest

No wonder magazines and newspapers have written of a new era in dental health! You've read about ammoniated dentifrices in Reader's Digest, Better Homes and Gardens, and many other magazines and newspapers. Amm-i-dent, the first ammoniated dentifrice, marks a great step toward a great goal:—fewer cavities, less decay for the men, women and children in America.

Look at your teeth in the mirror. Count the fillings. How much pain and trouble could you have been saved, if Amm-i-dent had been discovered when you were a child? How much can you save your children, by starting them on Amm-i-dent today?

Yes, for adults and children alike, regular daily use of Amm-i-dent works to reduce the rate of new cavities, promote healthier teeth. Everyone will love its clean, minty taste. Amm-i-dent cleans your teeth to gleaming brightness and sweetens breath instantly.

Supervised Use of Amm-i-dent At Eastern High School

A number of school authorities, after careful examination of reports in dental journals and with the approval of school health officers, have instituted as part of their hygiene course the supervised brushing of teeth with ammoniated dentifrices.

For example, a leading New York State high school has reported this program: their boys and girls will brush their teeth with Amm-i-dent daily. Dental checks will be taken at regular intervals to record the actual rate of reduction in new cavity formation.

Dental Nurse Tells How Amm-i-dent Helped Her Teeth!

"Fewer Cavities – Brighter Smile – Healthier Mouth," says Miss Joan Hughes, 48-21 Glenwood St., Little Neck, L.I.

"I work for a dentist who was among the first to recommend Amm-i-dent Tooth Powder in his practice.

"I have used Amm-i-dent myself for three years. Before I started on Amm-i-dent I had a great many cavities. In the first year of using Amm-i-dent, cavities became far less frequent and for the last two years I have had none at all. You just can't imagine what that means to me—not one single cavity in two years!

"And I know Amm-i-dent has worked for others. I have seen the teeth of many of our patients who are using Amm-i-dent, and I consider the results nothing short of amazing. I know one pretty girl whose teeth might have been ruined by decay. She would show up with as many as 15 cavities at a time. For the past two years, using Amm-i-dent, she hasn't had a single cavity. Isn't that wonderful?

"The patients tell me they like Amm-i-dent's taste and, of course, I know from my own experience that Amm-i-dent does a fine job of cleaning teeth and sweetening breath. It's my idea of the perfect tooth powder."

What About Fluorine?

A question often asked by people first hearing about Amm-i-dent is, "Does it contain fluorine?"

Amm-i-dent does not contain fluorine. Fluorine has shown promising results in reducing cavities, particularly in children and adolescents. However, as too much fluorine can cause mottling of teeth, up to now it has no place in an anti-decay dentifrice. Fluorine should only be administered under competent, professional supervision.

If you or your children have had fluorine treatments, Amm-i-dent will afford extra protection.

Children Like Amm-i-dent's Flavor

Knowing that the taste of Amm-i-dent would be extremely important with children, the makers of Amm-i-dent have already tested youngsters' reactions. The verdict: the kids "go for" Amm-i-dent!

"Reader's Digest" Reveals How You and Your Family May Now Reduce Tooth Decay

Time, Newsweek Tell About Discovery of Amm-i-dent!

The nation's press heralded the arrival of Amm-i-dent with rare enthusiasm! Pages upon pages were devoted to telling the American public how Amm-i-dent was discovered and what it does to help prevent decay. Reader's Digest, Time, Newsweek, Better Homes and Gardens, Parents' Magazine—devoted plentiful space to ammoniated tooth powder.

"A revolutionary new way to prevent tooth decay . . . promises to make history," said Reader's Digest, in its article on ammoniated tooth powders. Time and Newsweek tell how Amm-i-dent may improve America's dental health by reducing tooth decay. Parents' Magazine awarded its "Tested and Commended" Seal to Amm-i-dent, after reviewing the scientific research.

With such national acceptance, there is surely no reason to delay. Buy Amm-i-dent Tooth Powder, for your whole family, today!

Amm-i-dent No "Cure-All"

No claims are made that Amm-i-dent is a "cure-all." It cannot help cavities that are already formed. Nor in using it are you guaranteed never to have any cavities again. But from all the evidence, the proper use of Amm-i-dent is a simple and effective way to help prevent formation of new cavities.

The makers of Amm-i-dent also wish to stress that no dentifrice can take the place of the dentist. Consult him twice a year. He is your best safeguard in preserving your mouth health.

Four Teams Clash In 1949 Major League Openers Today

Washington To Test Athletics

By JACK HAND
Associates Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 18.—The big league baseball season opens today with prospects of a six-team jamboree in the National and a Boston-Cleveland race in the American.

Only four teams see action this afternoon in the first of the double opening programs, but all 16 will be busy tomorrow—the first full schedule day.

Truman To Attend

President Harry Truman, an ambidextrous first ball pitcher, will be present to watch Washington tangle with the Philadelphia A's in the customary Griffith stadium opener a day before the rest of the American league, A crowd of about 31,000 is expected.

After the President does his work, Rae Scarborough will shoulder the job of trying to pitch Washington to victory. He will be opposed by Dick Fowler of the A's.

Boston also gets a special opening day for its National league champion Braves. Tomorrow is Patriots' day in Boston. That always calls for a doubleheader. As the Braves did not want to open with a double, they received permission for an early starter with the improved Philadelphia Phils.

Johnny Sain, 24-game winner for the '48 champs, will oppose the veteran Ken Heintzelman at Braves field, where the World Series ended in a Boston defeat last Oct. 11. Some 15,000 are expected.

Most of the experts, and managers, too, think the Braves are in for a tough battle from Brooklyn, Pittsburgh and St. Louis but only Cincannati and Philadelphia are counted out.

Feller Will Hurl

Manager Lou Boudreau's Cleveland Indians will lead with Bobby Feller, against the St. Louis Browns and Ned Garver at Sportsman's park tomorrow in their first game.

The Boston Red Sox, eager to get away to a better start than last year, pry off the lid at Philadelphia against the Athletics. Joe Dobson of the Sox will oppose Lou Brissie.

Ed Lopat, the chunky southpaw who has a rep as a slow starter, gets the opening assignment at the Yankee stadium tomorrow against Sid Hudson, whose spring work for Washington has been outstanding.

The stadium crowd of some 50,000 probably will be tops for the nine openers. It is expected that the two-league total today and tomorrow will be about 280,000.

Sewell Gets Nod

Detroit may match the Yanks' 50,000 when Hal Newhouser opposes. Chicago's Al Gettel or Randy Gumpert in Red Rolfe's managerial debut.

After the Phils-Braves opener today, the National league swings into a full schedule tomorrow with New York at Brooklyn, Pittsburgh at Chicago, St. Louis at Cincinnati and the doubleheader between the Phils and Braves.

Burt Shotton will give Lefty Joe Hatten the opening assignment against the Giants. Larry Jansen, Durocher's only dependable pitcher, will face Hatten.

St. Louis probably will use Red Munger against Cincinnati's Ken Raffensberger at Crosley field

Rip Sewell, who has wone nine straight opening games, is Bill Myer's likely Pittsburgh starter against Dutch Leonard, the Cubs' knuckler.

Evolution Of The Ben Hogan Grip Described In New Series

Hogan Stresses Fundamentals

FOREWORD
By ED DUDLEY
President, Professional Golfers Association, 1942 to . . .

HAVING watched the thoroughness and patience with which Ben Hogan went about making himself an outstanding golfer during the past ten years, I welcomed the invitation to write this Foreword for his golf book. I was sure that any golf book with Ben's name on it would be a thorough job. And this book is no disappointment.

Few golfers have worked harder or have had to overcome more handicaps to become outstanding. Watching Ben Hogan play now it is hard to believe that such a smooth golfing machine started left-handed, shifted over to play from the right side but cross-handed and then tried both the conventional right-handed interlocking and overlapping grips before he finally settled upon an adaptation of the overlapping grip which he uses today as a solution to his problems in that department of the game.

During the war Bobby Jones played with Hogan in a big tournament in Chicago. Afterward he told Grantland Rice and told me, "I thought I was a hard worker at this game. I thought Hagen and Sarazen were hard workers. But Ben Hogan is the hardest worker I've ever seen, not only in golf, but in any other sport.

Hogan Takes Beating

"I've taken my share of beatings," said Bobby. "So have all the others. But no one has ever taken the beating Hogan takes. He thinks only in terms of birdies. Several times out there he was actually trying to hole out a sixty or seventy yard pitch. His goal is never the green. It's the cup. And you can say that ability to take punishment is a big part of winning golf."

When Ben Hogan first appeared on the tournament circuit ten years ago I was playing in tournaments regularly myself. I've seen Ben miss a two-iron shot and then after that round take his caddy and go out on the practice tee and practice nothing but similar shots to the one he missed for hours at a time.

That thoroughly studious approach to the game is not only reflected in his own swing, but also in the knowledge of the finer points of golf which he discusses in this book. On his way to the top Ben experimented with every phase of the golf swing and he is fully aware of what he is doing at all times.

Consistent Winner

Hogan won his first major championship when he captured the PGA Championship at Portland, Oregon, in 1946. It's a cinch that it won't be his last because he has been a consistent winner since 1938, leading the money winners in 1940, 1941, 1942 and 1946, and he was just about reaching his peak of form in 1942 when he entered the Army Air Corps. Service in the Army, however, has only delayed his claim to fame as a winner of major championships as he proved when he won at Portland.

Take particular notice of what Ben Hogan has to say about getting distance. While he only weighs approximately 137 pounds, Ben is one of the longest hitters the game has ever known, comparing very favorably in this department to many men of more muscular physique.

Hogan gets his distance by making considerable use of his body. His hand action at the moment of impact with the ball is terrific.

Don't get the idea, however, that Ben has any weaknesses in the other departments of the game. He never would have won many events on such a variety of courses without having a full bag of tricks. What's more, he does a good job of telling you how he does it in this book.

INTRODUCTION

CONTRARY TO anything you may have read on the subject, there is no such an individual as a born golfer. Some have more natural ability than others, but they've all been made.

What I would like to do through the medium of this golf book is to improve your swing and cut a few strokes off your score. In order for me to accomplish this you must be willing to do a little thinking and a lot of work.

During the course of this book I am going to make available to you the things I have learned about golf in the hours I have spent on the practice tee and in the tournaments in which I have played. Developing a golf swing is not impossible. There are those who would have you believe that, but it is not so.

However, in order to develop a golf swing your thoughts must run in the right direction. Otherwise it will be impossible. Perhaps you will understand me better when I say that when you grip a golf club to take your first swing at a golf ball every natural instinct you have to accomplish that objective is wrong, absolutely wrong.

Do The Opposite

Reverse every natural instinct you have and do just the opposite of what you are inclined to do and you will probably come very close to having a perfect golf swing. However, every golfer, even the so-called natural "player," learns the hard way. Some are just a little more fortunate than others in being able to learn a little quicker, that's all.

My approach to golf in this book will be positive rather than negative. In other words, you will not read anything in this book which will make you self-conscious and frighten you by emphasizing all of the faults you can acquire in trying to develop a golf swing.

• • •

WHILE I am approaching golf instruction from the positive rather than the negative side I plan to tell you the whys and wherefores for everything I ask you to do. In that connection I want to emphasize that there is a perfectly good reason for everything I do in playing golf, a reason arrived at by constant application of the trial and error method.

Nor do I overemphasize my experiences along those lines. As you will be aware, after reading the chapter in this book on the evolution of my grip, there isn't a mistake I haven't made while trying to learn to play golf.

I have been asked if I think a novice could learn to play golf from a book. Of course, the best way to learn to play golf is from a competent instructor. There is no denying that. But I am convinced that if you follow the suggestions that I make in this book closely and give them a lot of thought and attention when you are practicing and playing they will help you cut down on your scores. How many strokes will be cut off your total depends upon you as an individual.

Scores Only Relative

Golf scores, however, are relative. In my opinion the greatest rounds of golf are not shot by the tournament professionals and hot-shot amateurs, but by the 85-90 shooters. That may seem like an exaggerated statement, but I honestly believe it to be true and I'll tell you why.

The lowest score ever made by a professional in competition is 62. Several of us are co-holders of that record. I have shot two rounds of 62, one at Oakland, California, and another at Chicago, Illinois. Walter Hagen, Lawson Little, Byron Nelson, Jimmy Demaret, Jim Ferrier and Herman Keiser are the other professionals who have had 62s in competition.

Any time you can shoot a 62, no matter how easy the course may be, that's great golf But to my mind any time an 85-90 golfer shoots a 75, that's even greater golf.

That is the equivalent of a professional shooting a 59. It is a fair comparison because it is impossible for the 85-90 golfers to reach the green at half the holes in two strokes on most courses.

When they do reach the green in two they have to take a wood club to do it, but we can accomplish the same thing with a short iron. Shooting at a green with a wood club gives them a much smaller target to shoot at than we have when we use an iron.

That's because it is almost impossible for the 85-90 shooters to hit the green with a wood shot and still hold the ball on it. Whereas, we can put plenty of bite on the ball with our short irons and it stays on the green almost where we want it.

• • •

IT WOULD discourage me if I had to play a golf course the way most 85-90 shooters have to play it. They know they have very little chance of staying on the greens, but they let fly at them with their wood clubs anyhow.

They are hoping that the ball will stay on the green if they are lucky enough to hit a straight shot. That is next to impossible, even if they hit it straight, because the ball comes into the green off a wood club with lots of speed and with very little bite on it.

As a contrast, we play the ball high or low, according to the problem confronting us, and with plenty of bite on it.

The way most golf courses are trapped the 85-90 golfers have to shoot around a bunker from the tee. We don't give the ordinary bunker a thought because we can drive over most of them with no bother at all.

Philosophy Explained

My hat is off the the plus 85 shooters. Those are the fellows I want to help with this book. If they still retain their enthusiasm for the game considering the way they have to play it, then they deserve any help I can give them.

Bobby Jones once very aptly expressed what I think is the ideal philosophy behind the normal golfer's desire to play the game well when he said, "If golf is worth playing at all, it's worth playing right."

Of course, this book isn't going to make another Jones out of you, but I think it might help to make you what I would describe as a social golfer. Someone once estimated that 90 is the dividing line between a golfer and a dub. If that is true, then only about 15 to 20 % of those who play the game can accurately describe themselves as golfers.

Fortunately, the percentage of those who think of themselves as golfers is much higher than that. If you have the idea that you can learn to play golf, then you have something to start with and you'll probably find the answer to a good many of your problems in this book.

BEN HOGAN.

CHAPTER I
EVOLUTION OF HOGAN GRIP

MANY GOLF fans are surprised to learn that I played golf left-handed when I first took up the game. Mention of that fact in the golf column I write for the newspapers attracted a flock of letters. Right away many left-handed golfers interpreted the fact that I now play right-handed to mean that I was of the opinion that all left-handed players should play the game from the right side, that golf is a one-sided game. But that isn't so at all.

There is absolutely no reason why anybody should change over from playing golf left-handed and start learning the game all over again from the right side. Particularly now that left-handed clubs are made just as well as right-handed clubs and are as comparatively easy to get as right-handed club.

I changed over when I was a small boy. The only clubs I could get were right-handed clubs. Moreover, most of the fellows I played with then were very convincing in telling me that left-handers never made good golfers. At that age I was gullible enough to believe them and to make the change, but I wouldn't be now.

Percentages Play A Part

There are many more good right-handed golfers than there are good left-handed players, of course, but that's merely a matter of percentages. There are many more right-handed players than there are those who play the game from the left side.

Certainly the designs of golf courses are no disadvantage to left-handed players. There are just as many doglegs to the left as to the right.

Those left-handed golfers who wrote in to ask if they should change over and play right-handed probably wouldn't have written in had they known the story of the evolution of my grip. In that connection let me say that I have tried all of the grips known to golfers at some time or another in my career.

THE GRIP I now use was arrived at by a series of trial and error experiments which began when I first took up the game. As recently as the fall of 1945, when I got out of the service, I made a radical change in my grip which I had been experimenting with whenever I got a chance to play golf in the Army.

I had been aware for some time that if I wanted to make a comeback as a successful golfer after I was discharged from the Army that I would have to make a change in my grip to correct a tendency I had always had to overswing on the backswing. By the time I resumed tournament play I had made the change and had everything in good working order.

Formerly I used a grip in which I had what might be best described as a long thumb when speaking of the position of the thumb of the left hand on the shaft. During the course of the backswing that thumb used to slide down on the shaft and as a result I was always guilty of a certain looseness at the top of my swing which prevented me from getting the maximum control.

In correcting this I pushed the left thumb back up on the shaft. The entire change couldn't have amounted to more than half an inch in the movement of the thumb, but it was enough to restrict my backswing so that it no longer is loose.

Grip Is Important

To the novice that one half inch shift of the thumb position won't seem much of a change, but just how radical a change it was can be gathered from the fact that my friends among the pros spotted it the minute I resumed tournament golf and commented on it. All of which should impress upon you a good idea of how closely the tournament professionals watch one another for ideas.

It took me some time to get accustomed to that new grip, but as I said before I had it in working order when I resumed tournament play in 1945. I made my first start with it at Knoxville, Tennessee, that fall and while I didn't expect it to function efficiently under the stress of tournament play I surprised myself by shooting a 287 for the 72 holes, which was good enough to collect third money. I was well satisfied with the way the new grip had stood up under its baptism of competitive fire and I've used it ever since.

The nearest publicized grip to which my grip can be compared is the overlapping grip made famous by Harry Vardon, the great English player, and adopted by so many top players in this country. Strictly speaking, however, my grip is not the same.

• • •

MY GRIP differs from the conventional overlapping grip in the relationship between the little finger of the right hand to the index finger of the left hand and the position of my right hand on my left.

In the conventional overlapping grip the little finger of the right hand overlaps the index finger of the left hand. Whereas I have found that I am able to get a firmer grip, transmitting more power to the clubhead, by gripping the little finger of my right hand around the knob of the knuckle of the index finger of my left hand.

My grip also differs from that of other golfers in that my right hand rides higher on the outside of my left hand. This enables the two hands to act as a single unit, thus imparting considerably more hand action and consequently more clubhead speed at the moment of impact.

Getting the proper grip at the start is one of the most important steps in learning how to play golf. For that reason let us first consider the intents and purposes of the grip in relation to golf.

One reason why the grip is so important is because by means of it we telegraph our energy and our desires to the club. To do this with a maximum amount of efficiency we've got to have a grip which will permit our hands and wrists to work properly as one unit and not against each other.

Uniform Hand Action

The idea is to have free and uniform hand action throughout the swing while still maintaining the clubface at the proper angle when it strikes the ball. The objective is to make a solid contact of the clubhead with the ball at the exact moment you are telegraphing your greatest amount of energy to the club via the grip.

In taking up the grip it always seemed to me a good idea to have the clubhead resting in its natural position on the ground just as you would like to have it hit the ball. Doing this as you take up your grip will insure you of a reasonable chance that the clubface will be in that position when it makes contact with the ball during the course of the swing.

In connection with any discussion of the grip one question which I am asked quite frequently is, "Do you exercise your hands?" The answer is that I do, but not as much as when I wasn't able to play as much as I am playing right now. The condition of your hands is very important and if you don't get a chance to play often it is a good idea to exercise your hands and keep them in condition.

Your hands must be strong and yet at the same time sensitive to the demands put on them. They must be strong and at the same time have a delicate touch because there are shots in golf which require the finesse and touch of a master billiard player if you are going to pull them off when they will mean the most to you.

Personally, I like my hands to be thin. When they feel puffy I can't grip the club the way I like to. I can't explain why, but some mornings my hands will feel fat and puffy. When they feel that way I know that I am not going to play my best that day. Which should give you an idea of the relation of the condition of your hands to successful golf.

• • •

TO EXERCISE my hands I take a towel and squeeze it with both hands until my forearms are good and hard. However, I don't exercise my hands unless I have been forced to lay off golf. Most of the time I play enough to keep my hands fit without exercising them. Nor do I find it necessary to wear a glove while playing.

Special exercises for the hands are good, but don't overdo them. Don's make the mistake a well-known professional did while on his way to the 1937 National Open Championship at Cherry Hills in Denver, Colo. Traveling by train, he decided that he would keep his hands in shape during the train ride by special exercise and so he bought a hard rubber ball. All of the way out to Colorado he kept working with that ball, squeezing it and then relaxing the grip. He repeated the process over and over again. But when the morning of the first round of the tournament arrived he could not control a shot. He had lost that sense of "feel" in his hands which is essential to tournament golf. That was a mighty expensive experiment in special exercises for that particular professional.

As I favor my own version of the overlapping grip, naturally that's the one I am going to talk about in this book. Starting with the left hand, my grip is very definitely a palm grip. The leather or rubber grip on the shaft of your club will lie diagonally across the palm of the left hand just above the callus pad.

In folding the left hand around the club the left thumb will be slightly on the right side of the shaft. As you look down on your left hand in gripping the club you should be able to see the first three finger joints on the outside of that hand. It also should be apparent to you that your left hand is well over the shaft.

In gripping with the left hand there is definitely more pressure on the last three fingers of that hand than there is on the index finger and thumb. While gripping with these three fingers you should also push down on the top of the leather or rubber grip of your club with the butt of your hand. This will assure you of a firm grip. Try it and you will get the sensation of having the club locked in that hand.

As far as the right hand is concerned my grip is definitely a finger grip. By that I mean that the club lies diagonally across the fingers of the right hand below the callus pad. When you fold the right hand over the grip on the shaft you will find that if you have gripped the club correctly there is a cup formed in the palm of the hand that will allow space enough for the left thumb. The thumb of the right hand is slightly on the left side of the shaft and not on the top.

Make sure that the right hand rides high on the left hand. The purpose of this, of course, is to mold the two hands together so that they can act as one unit and not two. The greatest pressure in the right hand is in the two middle fingers. That is because the club is well down in the fingers of the right hand with a lot of hand left over.

VARIATIONS

NO NOVICE golfer should experiment with his grip, but when your scores testify as to your progress there are a couple of slight changes which you can make in your grip which will enable you to hook or slice at will You will find an ability to hook or slice on purpose will be convenient for you because you will then be able to play around some of the obstacles which may confront you on the golf course.

Remember, however, that these tips are for the more advanced players. The novice should not experiment until he has the fundamentals down pat. He should wait until he can hit the ball straight consistently before he starts fooling around with his grip.

If you want to hook a ball turn both hands toward the right side on the grip or shaft. This position should feel sort of unnatural and should permit you to hook the ball without altering your golf swing.

The reason you assume this grip for a hook shot is because your hands will come back to the normal position while in the process of the swing and will automatically close the face at the club at impact, assuring you of the desired hook.

• • •

To play a slice, or just the reverse of a hook shot, the grip should be altered to the left. Turn both hands toward the left over the shaft.

With the grip thus adjusted the hands will assume the natural position through the normal processes of the swing. This will open the face of the club, giving you the desired fade or slice.

Let me warn you, however, that in taking up either grip for the hooks or the slice be sure that the face of your club is square to the line of flight. Don't just turn the club. When you decide to play a hook or a slice be sure to loosen your grip and regrip it for the shot you desire to make.

Both the hook and the slice are handy shots to have in your bag of tricks. But only if you hook or slice with preconceived intent.

Learning to hook and slice on purpose and with control should give you an idea of what makes the ball take either line of flight. When you acquire that knowledge a hook or slice should cause you no more concern.

Errors Costly To Erratic Lubbock Nine

Amarillo Gold Sox Gain 8-4 Practice Victory Over Hubs

Manager Jackie Sullivan has two days in which to correct a few grievous weak spots in the Lubbock Hubber baseball team and there is every indication that he will put the next 48 hours to good use. Amarillo beat the Hubbers 8-4 yesterday.

The Hubber manager could hardly have been pleased with the performance of the local club yesterday, when they busted no fences, committed five errors, fanned the ozone 10 times, fell asleep in the field and failed to come up with much of anything worth the presence of some 2,000 fans.

It was a disappointing climax, if it can be called a climax, to the exhibition season. The Hubbers handed the Gold Sox five runs on a gold-plated dish in the first inning and never got back into the ballgame from that point on. There is a vague suspicion that only the bat boy earned his pay.

Visitors Get Lead

Five singles sandwiched around three errors and a hit batsman presented the visitors with a 5-0 lead before the entire first inning tnd been played. It was too much for the Hubbers to overcome, especially in the face of seven hit hurling over the nine inning route by Luke Hamilton and Jim Reynolds.

The Hubbers made a stab at it in their half of the initial frame. Jackie Wilcox walked, but was forced at second by Bubba Kaine. Al Duarte and Jim Prince pumped singles to left to get one run home and Lloyd Pearson trippled in two more. He rode home on Frank McAlexander's single to center.

That was the last decent rally the Hubbers had, the locals picking up only three more hits the rest of the game. In fact, only two men got as far as second in the last eight innings.

Halter Gets Homer

Charles Willis, rookie hurler, might have escaped much of the damage with some support afield. But you can't take away the towering two-run homer over the left-field fence in the fourth inning by Paul Halter.

Nor can you get away from the fact that the Sox didn't make an error until the ninth, which was harmless; that two Amarillo pitchers only allowed seven hits; and that they issued only one base on balls.

The only thing you can say is that there's a lot of work to be done between now and Wednesday night when Clovis opens the season here.

Stranahan And Locke In Tourney Playoff

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., April 18. (AP)—Amateur Frank Stranahan walked with a limp today as he teed off against professional Bobby Locke in an 18-hole playoff for the Cavalier Specialists golf tournament championship.

The Toledo, Ohio, star injured his left foot in one of yesterday's rounds when he slipped and fell on a hillside. He revealed his foot was swollen last night.

Stranahan said he did not know how the injury would affect his game, but it was not regarded as serious.

Stranahan and Locke finished the regulation 54-hole tournament yesterday in 201 strokes, six under par.

Between The Lines. . .

By Joe Kelly

Just for a few minutes more of your time we'd like to go back more than a week to Greenville and the visit there of the New York Yankees. We mentioned their tremendous team spirit the other day. It couldn't have been better demonstrated than by the Greenville game. As you know, the Majors edged the Yanks 4-3 and Hubber Manager Jackie Sullivan had a lot to do with it. At any rate, the Yanks didn't like to lose that game, although they were gracious on the field.

• • •

More than an hour after the game we walked into a room in which Joe DiMaggio and George "Snuffy" Stirnweiss were dressing. The immaculate DiMag was dressed, ready to leave for Dallas and curious as to what he could find there in the way of entertainment. Stirnweiss sat slouched in his chair, still in his uniform. A few minutes later, DiMag took off after offering nothing substantial to the slight conversation. About that time Johnny Lindell came in. Lindell was dressed. He sat down in a rocking chair, lit a cigarette and didn't say anything for a minute or two.

• • •

Snuffy got up and stuffed some snuff in his mouth. "It's a damn good thing I don't have a conscience," Lindell exclaimed. "If I did, I'd feel badly about losing that game today. Yes sir, after all the time I've been up, nothing gets me any more. I may be a little cynical, but I'm getting old. And just think of how happy we made those kids (Greenville) by losing. Yep, I'll bet," he said bitterly, "that they feel just great now." Stirnweiss said nothing. He had booted a couple, but when asked if that was indicative of the season he was going to have, he laughed and said that he hoped not. Lindell couldn't get the game off his mind and swore again about the loss.

• • •

Bill Dickey was the same way. "You don't like to lose," he said. "Not even to a bunch that's hustling. We should have won that game today. That's competitive spirit. You want to win them all." Dickey noticed Sullivan and said that he liked him after the demonstration he had given that day. The Hubber manager had a pair of sharp hits off Allie Reynolds, a single and a double. He drove in one run and scored one. He took a bullet grounder and started a fast double play. And in the ninth, after Tommy Byrne had doubled and was trying to stretch the hit to a triple, Sullivan took the centerfielder's relay in deep second, throwing Byrne out by four feet. It was a tremendous, accurate throw.

• • •

Before the game we visited the Yankee dugout, trying to pick up what we could. We listened while Casey Stengel, Yankee manager, answered New York writers' questions. Stengel called Byrne over and asked who hit the best infield, him or Stengel. Byrne said he thought Stengel hit better infield, so Byrne hit to the outfield and Stengel hit for infield practice. Afterwards he came back to the dugout and we asked him about the Yanks. How do they look at this point? "They look good, good," Stengel declared. "The infield has been playing fine ball, the outfield is strong. And the pitching has been exceptionally good. But we're not hitting."

• • •

Did he see another pennant year ahead? Stengel merely pointed to DiMaggio. "There's the answer," he stated simply. You mean "as Joe goes, so go the Yankees?" "It's all up to him," Stengel replied. "Is his heel all right? You'll have to ask him. All I know is that if he has a good year, we could win the pennant, if he doesn't. . ." Stengel shook his head. About that time a kid called to Casey for his autograph. "I'll make a deal with you," Stengel bartered. "You give me your autograph and I'll give you mine." The kid looked flustered. "I mean it," Stengel told him. The kid scrawled his name. "Do you want my address, too?" he asked. "Sure, the whole works," came the reply.

• • •

DiMag finished his workout and came into the dugout. He sat down next to us, his immense form dwarfing everyone around him. Two or three general questions, eliciting terse, non-information answers. Then, in reply to a question on the heel, a short "How the heck do I know. It's all right. Yeah. I get around, don't I?" How about the pennant? "Look, do you write? You do? Well, let's keep the conversation general. How's the cold war with Russia going to come out?" The touchy Mr. DiMaggio so apparently didn't want to talk that we cut it off. Actually, he's held in tremendous awe by his own teammates. Any man who can demand—and get—a salary of $100,000 is in a class by himself. And so he is treated.

• • •

Speaking of DiMag, Royce Mills of the Hubbers overheard one of the funniest that Sunday. DiMag, Stirnweiss and some of the other Yanks were coming out of the Catholic church. As they strode away, a Greenville inhabitant approached DiMag and said: "You're with the Yankees, aren't you?" The answer was a brief "Sure am," as he kept on walking. "Well say, can you tell me whether they brought DeMaggio with them?" the interrogator asked. "Sure did" came the reply, as Dimag and party strode farther and farther away.

Dallas Meets Cats Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

Texas league baseball teams, which have been playing against the same opposition since the league race began last Wednesday, swap partners tonight.

The amazing Dallas Eagles, who blasted the Oklahoma City Indians the fifth time in a row yesterday afternoon, will be in Fort Worth for a game with that city's Cats. The Cats are second to Dallas in league standings and the series is expected to test the batting power of the Eagles. In their five league games the Eagles scored 59 runs, 14 of them yesterday. Oklahoma scored 4 runs.

Cats Edge Oilers

Fort Worth edged the Tulsa Oilers yesterday, literally stealing an 8 to 7 victory at Fort Worth.

The San Antonio Missions took a double header, 9 to 8 and 5 to 2, from the Houston Buffs at Houston. Beaumont's Exporters, playing in their home park, evened their series with Shreveport, winning 7 to 1.

There were two out in the eighth when the Cats' Sam Diblasi stole home.

He opened the Fort Worth eighth with a walk, then moved to third on a sacrifice and an infield out. He stole home ahead of Frank Smith's second pitch.

Vincent Gets Boot

Tulsa Manager Al Vincent protested in the best Texas league fashion and was ejected from the game.

Beaumont's Pitcher Vince Castino was ejected after an argument over a close play at the plate. Shreveport Catcher Frank Benites hit an inside-the-park ball and got home on it for an official home run. Castino had something to say about Benites being safe, but was obliged to leave the game.

The two Oklahoma teams, the Indians and the Oilers, will have a chance to slash at each other in their Sooner back yard tonight. Both have been licked consistently b ytheir Texas rivals.

Wilmer Allison To Bid For Meet Title

HOUSTON, April 18. (U.P.)—Wilmer Allison, the Texan who rose to world tennis heights nearly two decades ago, took on a new role today in the River Oaks tournament, playing in the veterans division for the first time.

The aging, one-time University of Texas ace will be among those entered in the regular men's singles as well.

The latter field, boasting among its entries five of the nation's top half dozen netmen, probably will be a bit fast for Allison, but he will be given a good chance of dethroning J. Gilbert Hall of East Orange, N. J., in the veterans class.

Jim Prince, Batting King In 1947, May Pace Hub Attack

(This is the seventh in a series of articles describing the 1949 Lubbock Hubbers. Information was gathered during spring training).

BY JOE KELLY
Journal Sports Editor

GREENVILLE — Playing first base for the Hubbers this year will be James T. "Jim" Prince of Dallas, minor league batting king in 1947.

And the Prince bat, which pounded the ball for a .429 clip that year, his third in organized ball, is being counted on to aid considerably in the Hubbers' drive for a league pennant. From initial indications, Prince will bat fourth and his heavy stick will be respected around the West Texas-New Mexico league circuit.

The Prince saga starts in Dallas, where the Hubber first baseman was born and reared. He went through the Dallas grade schools and attended Forest Avenue High school for one year. Then the family moved to Mesquite, a Class A high school.

Starred In Sports

For the next three years, Prince was something of kingpin in the high school, lettering in four sports. He played fullback on the football team for three years. He played forward on the basketball team for the same period and he played first base on the baseball team. As if that wasn't enough, he also went out for track, running the quarter-mile.

At that time Prince weighed a modest 160 to 165 pounds. Now he tips the beam at 215 acknowledged pounds, stands six feet two and admits to being 28 years old.

Jim graduated from Mesquite High school in 1937 at the age of 16 after taking about every conceivable honor possible in the athletic realm. He also was offered a professional baseball contract, but his father would not permit him to sign.

His father never had seen a baseball game before Jim started to play and didn't know too much about the game. He did know that at 16 years of age, he didn't want his son in pro ball.

Played In Dallas

So the Prince youngster packed his glove and joined the Karlin Brothers semi-pro team in Dallas. He played two years with them, switching to the Hart Furniture team in 1939. After a great season with them, George Schepps recommended him to Jacksonville, Fla., and they signed him.

Prince reported to the Jacksonville club in the spring of 1940, him up in 1947. He reported for spring training and opened the season here, appearing in 12 games. These included duty at first base, second base and leftfield. His batting average for the 12 games was .270. He had 10 hits in 37 trips, getting three doubles and a home run to drive in 12 runs.

He was sold to Midland and played in 108 games, ending the season with his minnor league record. Let's look at that record year.

Prince batted 415 times, getting 178 hits good for 323 total bases. He scored 111 runs. He ended up with 31 doubles, six triples and 34 home runs, driving in 141 runs. He stole four bases, was hit twice. He also drew 61 walks and fanned 49 times.

He was drafted by Lamesa during the winter of 1948, but bought back by Midland and played first base there again last season. He had a slump from the year before, but still managed to wind up with a batting average well up in the .300 class.

He was drafted by Lubbock during the winter and, after a talk with Schepps, agreed to play with remaining 30 days with them after the season opened. He was optioned to Cordele of the Georgia-Florida league, but was called back to Jacksonville 30 days before the season closed, finishing the year there.

Prince reported to Jacksonville the pring of 1941, but later was sold to Portsmouth, Va., of the Piedmont league. He finished the season with them and had a good year.

Before he could continue his baseball career, he was taken into service by the Marines, who extended him greetings. For the next four years he served with the Leathernecks, seeing duty overseas two years. But in all four years, Prince had no chance to play service ball.

He was with the 22nd Marines and served in such delightful Pacific retreats as Samoa, the Marshalls, Guadalcanal and Hawaii. Eventually he sweated through and was discharged in 1946.

JIM PRINCE
Lubbock First Baseman

Prince had been released by Portsmouth and Lubbock picked the Hubbers this year. He is eager to make good, is hustling and wants to have another great year like 1947.

His biggest thrill, of course, came when he was presented the Louisville Slugger trophy, a sterling silver life-size bat, given by the Hillerich and Bradsby company to the player compiling the highest hitting mark in the minor leagues. They held a special night for Jim in Midland and George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, made the presentation.

Prince also received the Spalding Trophy given to the player compiling the highest batting average in the minor leagues. It is about three feet high and has three figures on it.

Awards like these are worth aiming for and Jim is aiming. All of which means trouble for other clubs in the WT-NM loop.

Lamesa Drops Broncs, 6 To 2

LAMESA, April 17. (Special) — The Lamesa Loboes won their fifth straight exhibition game here this afternoon before approximately 1,000 fans, beating the Big Spring Broncs of the Longhorn League 6 to 2.

The crowd watched in perfect baseball weather as a supposedly light hitting Lobo nine laid down a home run barrage—and continued to get good pitching.

Three Lamesa homers, by First Baseman Glenn Coats and Shortstop Walt Buckel in the fourth and Pitcher Stan Grzywacz in the fifth, all came with the bases empty.

Stasey Gets Homer

Big Spring Manager Pat Stasey hit for the circuit in the fourth to give the broncs their first run. But Coats was the day's batting start with a single, double and homer in three trips. He also had two runs batted in.

Gryybacz, the winning hurler, allowed only four hits and one run in five innings, with Lefthander Leon Hayes finishing. Righthander Gudes, first of three Bronc pitchers, was charged with the loss. He allowed three runs on three hits in the fourth slone.

Post of the semi-pro Oil Belt League will be here Monday night at 8 to complete the exhibition season, with Paul Cooke and Lefty Bill Jones slated to hurl for Lamesa. Albuquerque opens the season here Wednesday night.

The line score:

Police Officer Murder Victim

SHIELDS, Ky., April 18. (AP)—Easter Sunday gunplay in this Harlan county coal mining camp yesterday ended the stormy career of Capt. Ambrose Metcalfe, chief of the county's police force.

Metcalfe, 29, died en route to a Harlan hospital after being shot five times when he got out of his automobile in front of the Shields cafe. His wife, Kathleen, witnessed the shooting.

Two men were arrested by state police several hours after the shooting and were charged with murder. Warrants, issued by county Judge W. J. R. Howard, named Arthur Jackson, the cafe operator, and Ford Sizemore.

Citizens Organize

The men were placed in the county jail at Harlan.

Metcalfe's career as county chief was sprinkled with incidents of strife and violence. Since his appointment by Judge Howard in August, 1946, Metcalfe had numerous run-ins with both the lawless and with other law enforcement officers.

The special police force which he headed was set up at the insistence of a citizens league which demanded more vigorous law enforcement in this legally dry county.

Metcalfe's assistant, Patrolman E. J. Baumgardner, resigned to accept appointment as police chief at nearby Evarts, coal mining town five miles west of here. Evarts now has its sixth chief since last August.

Baumgardner was shot to death last September and the man accused of his slaying was in turn killed by a later chief at Evarts. Isachar Combs, chief No. 5, is awaiting trial on a murder charge in the slaying of Bryan Middleton, the man who was accused of killing Baumgardner.

Combs and his assistant, Lewis Deaton, were convicted of voluntary manslaughter but won new trials on a plea they had new evidence.

kind of psycholocigal effect to get confessions."

McCarthy went on to say that a report of an investigation signed by Col. J. L. Harbaugh, jr., of the judge advocate general's department said there were indications that mock trials, physical force, promises of immunity, and threats to deprive their families of ration cards had been used to get confessions from the Germans.

Royal said he agreed. But he added that any finding "I or my successor may announce" won't meet with approval of those who have taken opposite views of the case. There have been reports that Royall soon will resign as secretary of the Army.

Royall said he thinks publicity on the case has emphasized the contentions of the German prisoners and has largely ignored the fact that they were prosecuted by "loyal American soldiers and civilians."

GIs Surrender

The story reaches back to December 1944 when desperate Germans were making their last frantic drive to stave off defeat in the "Battle of the Bulge."

One German group now known as "Task Force Peiper," because of its commander, Colonel Joachim Peiper, surrounded a group of United States soldiers who surrendered their arms.

This prisoner group then was lined up in the snow at a crossroads near Malmedy and literally mowed down with machine guns. Germans then walked among the dead and wounded to shoot again any appearing alive.

The atrocity caused a storm of protests and after the German collapse nearly 700 men who had served in "Task Force Peiper" were rounded up.

Confessions Obtained

Army officials say that eventually confession were obtained and more than 70 responsible leaders convicted some two years later.

An unsuccessful appeal for the convicted Germans was carried to the United States Supreme Court charging that Army investigating and prosecuting teams had used beatings, threats and other improper methods to obtain the confessions.

There was so much discussion and protest that Secretary Royall sent an investigating commission overseas, headed by Justice Gordon Simpson of the Texas Supreme court and Judge E. Leroy Van Roden of Media, Pa. Their findings and methods also are subject to controversy.

Senator Langer (R-ND) told the Senate early this year that the two judges found these methods were used to force confessions: "Beatings and brutal kicking; knocking out teeth and breaking jaws; mock trials; solitary confinement; torture with burning splinters; posturing as priests; very limited rations; spiritual deprivation; promises of acquittal."

Alleged Tactics Hit

Senator Baldwin questions this and adds that only attorneys for the defense were heard by the commission while the Army prosecutors never have had a chance to answer or explain.

Meanwhile Communist groups in Russia, Germany and elsewhere have given publicity and criticism to the American tactics and justice in the Malmedy cases.

In courty court, Jewell Zelotis White, charged March 1 with drunk driving, changed his plea from innocent to guilty and was fined $75 and costs, officials said.

Sam Romos, 17, was fined $10 and county court costs and sent to jail one day on plea of guilty of theft. George Romos, about 20, was assessed a similar punishment after pleading guilty of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Stock Market

OIL ISSUES HIGHER

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP) — The stock market finished just about where it began today after a session of narrow price movements.

Several oil issues swung as much as a point or more but minor changes were the rule for the market generally. Gains and losses were well divided.

Only a moderate amount of business was done. Turnover held at the rate of around 900,000 shares for the full session.

A couple of petroleum stocks, Richfield Oil & Plymouth Oil, established new 1949 highs. Skelly, Ohio Oil and Gulf also improved.

Standard Gas & Electric $4 preferred also shoved its way into new high ground for the year with a rise of around a point. The stock was fairly active.

Commercial Solvents was another of the few active issues. The price dropped more than a point at one time to a new low for the year.

Others lower most of the day included Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Allied Chemical, Southern Pacific and Nickel Plate.

Tending higher were U. S. Steel, General Motors, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, American Can, Air Reduction, Phillip Morris, U. S. Gypsum, Liggett & Myers, Atlantic Coast Line, and Loew's.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP) — Cotton futures declined more than $1 a bale early today under pressure of profit taking and hedging. Subsequently a good part of the losses were recovered on short covering in nearby May prior to first notice day April 26. Moderate buying, mostly for mill accounts, helped the market.

Private advices said that several mills in the southeast were selling more raw cotton stocks in the open market, with a few loan equities selling to $3 to $4 a bale above the loan, plus carrying charges. Generally producers were said to be holding for $5 a bale or better on equities.

The Bureau of Census reported March cotton consumption at 720,892 bales, compared with trade expectations of about 720,000 bales.

Futures closed 25 to 75 cents a bale lower, than the previous close.

Ugly Burglar's New Face May Bring Him Useful Way Of Life

CLEVELAND, April 18 (NEA)—Police arrested a man caught red-handed in a petty robbery last April 11. He was carrying a gum dispensing machine away from a small confectionery store.

In court, the man told a strange story. He said he'd been driven to crime because people shunned him. They shunned him, he said, because he was so ugly.

Convinced Of Truth

Judge Frank Merrick and the court psychiatrists, Drs. Wilfrid Gill and Royal Grossman, looked at the man with curiosity. What they saw convinced them he was telling the truth.

John Glaefke was not a handsome man.

So began the story of his transformation from the "Ugly Burglar" to a normal-looking man with a steady job and a chance for a normal future.

In the past eight months, Glaefke has had $3000 worth of plastic and oral surgery performed on his face. The cost to him was $35. The work was done free by plastic surgeon Dr. Frank L. Meany and oral surgeon Dr. A. C. McGannon. St. John's Hospital took care of the hospital bills. All Glaefke had to pay was $35 for material for dentures.

Since he was a child, John Glaefke had known he was ugly. Children in his school and neighborhood never played with him. Even in high school he was avoided. Since he was 17, he'd dreamed of a plastic surgery job, hoping that way he'd have friends.

"I thought I could get a better job and meet some nice girls," he explained.

Broke Into School

In 1940, when he was 23, he broke into a school, stole a typewriter, and was promptly caught. He was sent to Ohio Reformatory.

But, even there, the prisoners would have nothing to do with him. So he walked away from the Honor Farm and headed for a different part of the country. He went to Missouri, but it didn't help.

In another of his petty thefts, he broke into a peanut machine in Green County, Mo., and again he was caught immediately. He served more time.

In 1945, Glaefke, now 28, was drafted. But it was the same story. His flat nose, wide nostrils, thick lips and protruding ears combined to make him so ugly that GIs wouldn't associate with him.

He tried to drown himself. The Army discharged him.

Year Required

Back in Cleveland, it was the same monotonous tale. It ended with the gum machine theft and his trip to court, where he finally got the whole story of his lonely life off his chest.

Glaefke entered St. John's Hospital last August. Since then he has been hospitalized two other times, and has made many other trips to the doctors' offices. It will be a year before all work is finished.

Dr. Meany built a bridge for his nose and is now working to narrow his flaring nostrils. His lips were thinned by a third operation. All his teeth were removed and dentures made.

He is now working as a laborer at $38 a week. He is going to night school, hoping for a better job in time to come.

"His attitude is about the best of all my probationers,' says the probation officer he reports to every Friday. "He is a changed man. It is almost unbelievable."

And, at 32, John Glaefke finds life is no longer unbearably lonely. People, who once shunned him because of his ugliness, are helping him now.

GOP May Back Housing Plan

WASHINGTON, April 18. (AP)—Senator Flanders (R-Vt) today called the cost of the proposed long range housing program "reasonable." He said the project is "entirely worthy" of Republican support.

The housing bill, sponsored by 11 GOP senators and an equal number of Democrats, is up for debate in the senate. Senator Maybank (D-SC), floor manager of the measure, predicted a final vote Tuesday.

$10,000 Units Planned

Among other things, the bill provides for construction of 810,000 public housing units during the next six years and for a vast five-year slum clearance program.

The federal government's share of the cost of financing the public housing project would amount up to $308,000,000 annually over a 40-year period.

The slum clearance program calls for $500,000,000 in grants of federal money to local communities during the next five years. The bill also authorizes $1,000,000,000 in loans for slum clearance.

Took Sniper's Position

From his home, McIntyre ran to the top of a heavily-wooded hill and took up a sniper's position as he had been taught in the Army. The posses followed, crawling on hands and knees and darting behind trees for cover.

McIntyre opened fire and picked off his second victim, Buck, the taxi driver. Then he scurried down the hill to a ditch in the midst of the posse. With the deadly marksmanship he had learned in military training, he killed Parnell and Gallagher with hardly a wasted shot.

Suddenly, he stopped shooting. The posse held its fire as an ominous silence settled over the scene. Cautiously the manhunters crept toward the ditch.

They found McIntyre dead, a bullet in his abdomen. Around him were strewn the empty cartridges he had used in his bloody rampage.

He had borne a grudge against Claar ever since the policeman arrested him for reckless driving last year, police said. At this time, he was brought into court for threatening Claar with a gun. But he was granted leniency because of his good record in the community.

Judge Blair told the prospective jurors this morning that too many were trying to be excused from jury duty.

"You have to have an ironclad excuse to get off of this jury," the judge said. Several who had sought to be relieved returned to their seats.

Damage Suit Filed In Anton Collision

A damage suit asking $8,567.91 was filed in Judge Dan Blair's 72nd district court this morning as result of a Feb 28 collision in Anton.

The suit was brought by Western Transport company of Lubbock against the estate of the late Robert L. Thurman, and Norma Mae Thurman, individually, as community survivor of the estate of herself and her late husband, R. L. Thurman, and as executive of her late husband's estate.

The petition was filed by the Waco firm of attorneys, Scott, Wilson and Cureton, and set out that Thurman's car was in collision with a large truck and semi-trailer owner by the plantiff. Loss, it claimed, included damage to the truck and trailer and loss of a load of 1,700 gallons of butane.

or stop construction were imposed.

But earlier the Navy had let it be known that the keel-laying for the carrier might occur today at the Virginia yards of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock corporation.

Therefore, all but the few officials who really knew the answer had watched to see whether some shipyard workers would swing some metal into place, drive home a few rivets and start construction of a hull for "CVA" No. 58"—named by Mr. Truman himself the carrier "United States."

There was no question that the idea of constructing a giant carrier had initial approval in the highest quarters. Congress authorized funds for starting it. About $9,000,000 is being spent in the current fiscal year (which ends June 30.) The request for the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, is $43,000,000.

The republic as it is now embraces the 26 counties. Six counties in northeastern Ulster province have voted to remain a part of the United Kingdom.

At one minute past midnight the British dominion of Eire became the sovereign republic of Ireland.

Even King George VI, who has relinquished all claim to be Ireland's ruler, sent a telegram of congratulations.

All over this staunchly Catholic republic the free citizens flocked to solemn high masses of thanksgiving. President Sean T. O'Kelly and Prime Minister John A. Costello set the example, worshiping at Dublin's procathedral.

Congratulations were received from Pope Pius XII.

Under the Aiken law, most farm supports automatically would be lowered next year, probably about 10 to 20 per cent. As a subproposed to Congress a new farm program calling for continued high farm supports. Under the new program, the government would stop holding up the price of consumer products like meat, milk and eggs. Instead, it would pay farmers, in cash, the difference between the average market price and the support price. Congress still is waiting for the administration to say what this would cost.

The government now has $721.000,000 committed to supporting wheat. That total could drop more than $500,000,000 in the next month or so.

Strong opposition was also registered in a joint statement here this weekend by three Roman Catholic groups, speaking out against "compulsory government health insurance."

Their statement offered a substitute program calling for government assistance to existing medical and hospital agencies, including prepayment plans for hospital and medical care. They said monopoly "would be the inevitable result of the government system proposed."

TOKYO RAIDERS STAGE REUNION

Doolittle Thinks War Would Be On If Russia Had A-Bombs

CENTURY NOTES — This newschart shows the differences between U. S. government expenditures and population in 1849 and 1949. During the century, man has learned to travel 25 times as fast as in 1849 and spend tax money 1100 times the rate spent in 1849 — or nearly $1400 per second. Data from Family Economics Bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co.

GALVESTON, April 18. (AP) — Russia lacks a stockpile of atom bombs or the United States and Russia would be at war today, says Jimmie Doolittle. He led the first American bombing mission against Tokyo.

Doolittle, speaking, at a press conference during a reunion of his Tokyo raiders here, said, "I am satisfied that they (Russia) do not have a stockpile (of atom bombs), or we would be at war today."

He also commented, "if and when Russia has the atom bomb, we must have a better weapon and a better way of delivering it. My guess is that they have the know-how, but don't have the tools and plant to make it (the atom bomb)."

Doolittle added, "the only thing that deters Russia now is the fact that we have the atom bomb and the means of delivering it any place on earth with efficiency."

Doolittle was a lieutenant general when he left the Air Force three years ago.

Now a businessman and taxpayer, as he pointed out, Doolittle believes there should be economy in providing defense armament. He also believes there should be greater unification of services and more authority vested in the secretary of defense.

Doolittle said 60 of the 80 fliers who participated in the Tokyo raid are still alive today.

He counted the casualties this way: after the raid two men were found dead in their planes, one's parachute didn't open, one starved to death, three were executed by the Japanese and 12 died in other theaters later and one died last month.

The reunion ends today.

Wife Who Killed Texas Soldier Back Home, Reunited With Son

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., April 18.(AP)—Miss Wilma Ybarbo, freed from a prison sentence in the slaying of her husband, was reunited today with the son who still thinks she has been ill in a German hospital.

Mrs. Ybarbo, sentenced last December to 20 years in prison by a Frankfurt military court for the shooting of Army Sgt. John Ybarbo of Goliad, Tex., arrived home Sunday to join her six-year-old son, Jimmy.

The 24-year-old mother, whose sentence was reduced to five years by an appeal court and then vacated by Gen. Lucius D. Clay last Friday, sharply criticized the military criminal investigation division in Germany after her arrival at Westover Air Force base.

"I want to say the Army treated me perfectly, but I also want to say the criminal investigation division was pretty rough and lied from the beginning," she told newsmen.

Held For Statement

"When I was arrested," she said, "they took me to the CID office and I was told I was going to stay there until I made a statement.

"The man told me 'If you want to go home and see your baby, you must make a statement. You can't go until you do'."

Mrs. Ybarbo said she made an unsworn statement and that she then was taken to her home to get some clothing. She said, however, that she was refused permission to see her son.

"In my statement," she said. "I told the CID man I was sorry I shot my husband. Yet in the courtroom he deliberately quoted me as saying I was not sorry.

"This was perjury—pure and simple."

Gen. Clay, U. S. military governor in Germany, set aside the woman's sentence, because of "extenuating circumstances."

After the conference with newsmen, Mrs. Ybarbo was brought to the New Bedford home of her mother, Mrs. Eunice Bailey, 54, for a reunion with her son.

MRS. WILMA YBARBO

The boy who last saw his mother Jan. 26 in the army dispensary in Germany where she served 107 days of her sentence, greeted her with:

"Mommy, mommy, you're home."

Mrs. Ybarbo gather the boy into her arms and said:

"I'm home, my baby, thank God."

She held him at arm's legth and looked at him fondly.

"Jimmy, you've lost two teeth," she exclaimed.

The boy then asked:

"Where's daddy? Isn't he coming home?"

Mrs. Ybarbo soberly shook her head.

But Jimmy, who does not know of the shooting of his father and was told his mother was ill in the hospital, appeared undisturbed

"Daddy fell in the water," he said cryptically.

President Is Named In Paraguay Election

ASUNCION, Paraguay, April 18. (AP)—Citizens of Paraguay yesday elected a president and 40 members of congress who were unopposed for their offices.

Molas Lopez will fill Gonzalez' term, expiring in 1953.

The president was the candidate of the powerful democratic wing of the Colorado party. The election apparently places that group in more complete control of the party. The other political parties were dissolved after a bloody revolution in 1947.

Colombia Riot Is Squelched

BOGOTA, April 18. (U.P.)—Government troops were reported today to have restored order in Colombia, where bloody political rioting yesterday caused an undetermined number of deaths.

Total casualties in the series of clashes involving conservatives, liberals and soldiers has not been determined.

It was estimated unoffically that 30 to 40 persons died in one bloody fight between soldiers and some 200 armed civilians. But an official announcement said only that one soldier had been killed and several soldiers and civilians injured.

The rioting followed termination of a truce that banned political disorders between April 8 and April 17.

Youth Lynched

The truce was decreed by President Mariano Ospina Perez to prevent demonstrations on or about the first anniversary of the assassination of left wing liberal leader Jorge Eliecer Gaitan who was killed on April 9 last year by a youth who was lynched on the spot.

The main battle between soldiers and the mob occurred in the outskirts of Chita village in Boyaca province, a few miles north of here. The village had been sacked by raiders before the army intervened.

When the troops appeared, the rioters fought them Indian-fashion from behind trees and bushes and the soldiers had to hunt them down individually before the battle ended.

The president, on a holiday visit to the mountain city of Medellin, ordered the war ministry by telegraph to "make an example" of the rioters.

Peace Prayers Are Featured

(By The Associated Press)

The Resurrection was celebrated yesterday throughout the Christian world, and prayers for peace in many places blended with the glad tidings of Christ arisen.

In crossroads church and great cathedral, Americans of many denominations worshipped at Easter services. Sunday weather was good in most of the nation. Hope for an end of religious persecution in Red-dominated countries was a theme repeated in many sermons.

President and Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, attended two church services in Washington—Baptist for the President and Episcopalian for his wife and daughter. The family spent the remainder of the chilly but sunny day at home.

Record New York Crowd

The annual fashion parade in New York drew a record crowd, estimated by police at 1,500,000, to Fifth avenue and adjacent streets. A solemn high pontifical mass celebrated at St. Patrick's cathedral by Francis Cardinal Spellman was among services in New York drawing thousands.

Radio networks carried special Easter programs.

Rome was jammed with tourists; and record postwar crowds were seen in other Italian cities.

Federal Economists Puzzled By Business Signs For U.S.

WASHINGTON, April 18. (U.P.)—President Truman's economic advisers have told him frankly that they don't know which way the nation's economy will go from here, it was learned today.

In a confidential quarterly report, the Council of Economic Advisers warned that the federal government must be prepared to meet any eventuality.

Situation Ambiguous

Leon Keyserling, vice chairman of the council, told a reporter the price situation right now is "ambiguous."

Other government economists see in recent economic developments both encouraging and discouraging signs.

Automobile production is picking up again after a slump during retooling operations for 1949 models.

Railroad freight carloadings during the week ended April 9 rose 32,161 cars from the previous week to 757,784. That was 11 per cent above the corresponding week of 1948.

Department store sales are up although it is conceded this is because of the pre-aster buying rush.

Records Are Broken

Applications for Federal Housing administration insurance on home construction loans in March broke all previous records.

Wholesale commodity prices have dropped from 158.9 (1926 average: 100) since March 12 to 157.6 in the week ended April 12.

The price of lead, which has been leading a gradual reduction in the metals field, dropper another one cent to 15 cents for a total decline of six and one-half cents March 1.

Retail price of anthracite coal in Philadelphia dropped $1 last week.

Steel production reflected a softening market between March 12 and April 9 by a decline from 209.4 to 206.1 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

Electric Power output dropped from 5,531,000,000 to $5.378,000,000 kilowatt hours in the last month.

Business failures, which numbered 91 in the week ended April 3, 1948 totaled 216 in the comparable period this year.

El Paso Officer Challenged To Rare Race

New Mexico Sheriff Fed Up With Braggarts From Texas

SILVER CITY, N. M., April 18. (AP)—Sheriff Bartley McDonald says his horse can beat a Texas sheriff's new-fangled motorcycle any old day.

To prove it, McDonald has challenged Sheriff Allen Falby of El Paso county, Texas, to bring his "scooter" and try for a sombrero.

Pointing out he had "the bellyache" from hearing Texans "shoot the Lone Star bull," McDonald wrote:

"... I'll take the oldest nag from the Grant county corral and race you right down in front of the grand stand Silver Park). If I don't cross the finish line before you get your scooter out of second gear, I'll buy you a hat. If I do you keep your Texas braggarts at home."

McDonald also hurled an additional taunt at Texas' law enforcers. He offered to match himself and three other New Mexico sheriffs against four Texas sheriffs in an old-fashioned potato race around the track on horseback.

It may not have anything to do with it all, but the day named for the contests is April 30. That's the day horse racing opens at Silver Park.

Ohio Girl, 3, Found Dead; Probe Planned

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 18. (AP)—Coroner Austin Richards said he would hold an autopsy today to determine how and when three-year-old Sandy Robison died.

A searching party found the little girl's body Sunday in a field near her home. She had been missing since Thursday when she was last seen playing in a swing on the lawn of the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Foster. Sandy had lived most of her life with the Fosters.

Searchers said no marks of violence were found on the body.

Rites For Wallace Beery Set Tuesday

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., April 18. (AP)—Wallace Beery, Hollywood's "lovable old rascal," will be buried in Forest Lawn Memorial Park in nearby Glendale Tuesday.

Many of the film industry's great are expected to attend the funeral in the Church of the Recessional at 10:30 a. m. in Memorial Park.

The 64-year-old actor collapsed and died of a heart ailment in his home Friday night after 36 years in pictures. He had been ill several months and confined to his home the past two weeks.

Only one actor has been in motion pictures longer than Beery, Lionel Barrymore, has 40 years time.

Active and honorary pallbearers include such film notables as Louis B. Mayer, Frank Capra, Leo Carrillo, Bing Crosby, Clark Gable, Mack Sennett, Lewis Stone, Spencer Tracy, Darryl Zanuck and Robert Taylor, to name a few.

Most will say to themselves upon completion of the book:

"Lewis must have looked at his bank statement, found it low and decided to turn out another volume."

"The God Seeker" shows considerable research on the part of the author. It took a lot of work. But the finished product is not one of Lewis' best. In fact, it is one of his poorest, if not the very poorest, he has written.

The man who turned out such searching, well-written tomes as "Main Street," "Elmer Gantry," and "Babbitt" may still have the magic touch which he once unerringly displayed. But the touch isn't in "The God Seeker," which isn't even as satisfying as the so-so "Cass Timberlane," Lewis' last before "The God Seeker."

There are flashes of the old Lewis as his probing finger strikes a nerve, here and there in "The God Seeker," which is based upon the work of the missionaries to the Indians in what now is Minnesota. But the author's planing of phrases and carpentry of words are not up to his earlier standards.

Most Lewis fans, we believe, will be glad they read "The God Seeker" only because they can continue to say that they've read everything Lewis has written.

COUNTY JUDGE Walter Davies says he likes the idea of citizens voicing their desires about the location of the new courthouse—whether it should be placed where the present courthouse stands; whether it should be as far East on the West portion of the Square as possible, or whether it should extend to within 65 feet of the Texas avenue sidewalk, as now planned.

Judge Davies and the other members of the Commissioners court have set up an open meeting on the subject, so all interested citizens may be on hand to hear the problem discussed and then, if they choose, to give their personal opinions.

This meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night, April 19, and will be attended by members of the Lubbock City Planning commission. All citizens interested in the court house construction problem are urged to attend and take part. The meeting will be held in the district courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse.

The county judge says that's the democratic way to tackle the problem and feels that the commission has acted wisely in adopting it.

Judge Davies says the opinions of citizens were sought—and received—in the matter of the new courthouse just three years ago last month.

Invited to give suggestions then were George Berry, George Dupree, J. O. Jones, George Kuykendall, Mrs. H. F. Godeke, W. P. Martin, W. O. Fortenberry, George Leftwich, Bailey Guess, Mrs. Frank Bledsoe, J. H. Brewer and Bill Sewell. Of the 12, about 10 responded, as Judge Davies recalled.

The 10 were unanimous, as the judge remembers, in approving the idea of keeping the old courthouse and building and of erecting the new courthouse on the West side of the Square. However, he says the idea then was to build the courthouse so its West entrance would be something over 100 feet East of the Texas avenue sidewalk, instead of only 65 feet East, as the plan is today.

THE COUNTY JUDGE points out, however, that the personnel of the court has changed to a partial extent since 1946 and that there is no certainty that the opinions expressed in 1946 by the 10 citizens are (1) representative of the majority; or (2) even representative of their own opinions today—three years having elapsed since their opinions were voiced.

Therefore, Judge Davis believes there's nothing wrong with the idea of plumbing present opinion further so he suggested just that to his colleagues on the court.

Since the City Planning commission has asked to meet with the County Commissioners court to discuss the courthouse problem, Judge Davies feels, too, that such a get-together would be helpful and healthy.

Judge Davies has heard considerable sentiment — and The Plainsman has, too—for closing the driveways on either side of the present courthouse, no matter where the new building is placed.

The driveways—which link the two ends of Avenue H, North and South of the courthouse on both the Main street and Broadway sides—are always crowded, often dangerous.

Since the new highway dispersal system does not make it mandatory for through North-South traffic to cut through Lubbock on Avenue H, today's downtown routing of U. S. 87 can be rerouted in any one of several ways.

That is something to think about, regardless of the final decision on where the courthouse shall be placed.

NOBODY CAN say with certainty what the majority of the people want in the matter of rerouting Highway 87, or in the question of where the new courthouse should be erected.

It may be that the driveways connecting Avenue H should remain as they are and that the present theory concerning the courthouse location 65 feet East of the Texas avenue sidewalk is best.

But it won't hurt anything for people to express their opinions—for an open meeting to be held.

On the other hand, much helpful suggestion might come out of such a meeting and we hope Judge Davies will be successful in getting one called.

There should be a big turnout of citizens on Tuesday night.

BY DREW PEARSON: DEMOCRATS PLAN ON SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS IN SUMMER

Senator Taft Urges "New Deal" For Republicans

WASHINGTON — A tip-off that the Democrats are definitely planning a special session of Congress this summer was let out of the bag the other day by Senate majority leader Scott Lucas. He tipped his hand in a recent private conversation with Sen. James Eastland, Mississippi Dixiecrat.

Eastland stopped Lucas in the Senate cloakroom and with a shrug toward the Senate floor, remarked:

PEARSON

"What are the Republicans doing, trying a slow filibuster to wreck the President's program?"

"Yeah," snorted Lucas, looking both ways to make sure no Republicans were within earshot. "But they're just cutting their own throats. We're going to get the President's program through.

"We're going to let them go on like they are until we adjourn," he continued. "Then we'll call a special session this summer and come back and pass the President's program. After that, we'll go to the people and tell them the reason we had to call a special session was because the Republicans caused a sitdown strike in the United States Senate.

"There isn't a man on the Republican side who has any idea of politics," Lucas added. "As long as they have men like Wherry (minority leader Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska), they're not going to get anywhere."

• • •

Tidelands Oil

Salt Lake City's dignified, white-haired postmaster, I. A. Smoot, called on President Truman the other day to plead for a strong hand in crushing the oil lobby. The lobby is now pushing another bill through Congress to restore the rich tidelands oil to the states.

There was no hedging in Truman's reply.

"As long as I am president," he declared, "I will never permit the submerged oil lands to go back to the states."

• • •

PROBABLY more than anyone else, Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio is the personification of the Republican party. Therefore, when he called for a broader social program in an off-the-cuff speech the other day, it had the effect of shifting the G.O.P. cornerstone a few points to the left.

Taft's statement was delivered behind closed doors and was meant only for the ears of Republican senators. Part of what he said has already leaked to the press, but for the first time here is the full story of what happened.

The stage was set for Taft's remarks by his Ohio colleague, Sen. John Bricker, who called for a tightening of the economic belt and a return to the standards of Republican thrift.

Bricker's preaching was chiefly aimed against public housing, and in favor of his neat strategy to kill public housing by tacking an anti-segregation amendment on bill. This would drag civil rights into the housing fight and split the Democratic party right down the Mason-Dixon line. Bricker suggested limiting debate on the anti-segregation amendment by two-thirds cloture and, for political reasons, divorcing the arguments from the public-housing issue.

• • •

After more of this kind of talk from Mundt of South Dakota and Malone of Nevada, Taft jumped to his feet and tensely took the arch-conservatives to task. It was time, he declared, to draw the line between the Democratic and Republican parties. The difference, he said, was not in ideals but in methods.

"The Republicans stand for improved standards of living," he crackled. "But we believe in welfare without regimentation."

He contended that federal aid for housing, health and education "do not depart from the basic principles" of the constitution. Republicans are already supporting welfare programs in the cities—including slum clearance, free medical service and free education, he pointed out. Federal aid was just an extension of this program, he said.

"Of course Republicans must support the free-enterprise system," Taft warned. "But we had better take care of those in the lowest income brackets or we will lose the free-enterprise system."

He then invited Senators Bricker, Mundt and Malone to "come down and take a look at our slum conditions."

"If we follow the Mundt-Malone line," he warned, "there won't be any Republican party."

• • •

TAFT got a big hand from his colleagues, after which Bricker broke in sharply.

"I don't want to be placed in the category of someone who is against people," he snapped. "All my life I have given 10 to 15 per cent of my income to charity. For several years I have served on the Community Chest. I am as deeply concerned about the common man as anyone else."

Bricker didn't mention, of course, the fact that he is a director of the Buckeye State Building and Loan association, affiliated with the powerful U. S. Savings and Loan league, and a part of the real estate and anti-housing lobby. At one time the league's bulletin gleefully boasted how Bricker had obligingly introduced four Senate bills to help the lobby.

The man who got Bricker his job with Buckeye is his staunch political supporter, John Galbreath, a power among Ohio real estate-financial circles. Ohio politicians sometimes say that Bricker does not even shave in the morning without consulting Galbreath.

Senate colleagues recall that William L. Kaiser, an ex-capitol policeman, once fired two wild shots at Bricker in the Senate subway. Kaiser claimed he lost money in the building and loan association run by Galbreath and closed by Bricker when attorney general of Ohio.

NOTE—The business end of the G. O. P. meeting was devoted chiefly to public housing. Taft outlined his program, which included $500 grants to farmers for building outhouses. At this Wisconsin's senator Joe McCarthy jumped up.

"Would the senator consider an amendment," he asked innocently, "to provide a $500 grant for similar facilities for lady members of the Senate?"

McCarthy referred to the fact that Maine's Margaret Chase Smith has been pressuring for a ladies' room near the Senate chamber ever since she took office.

Simile: As easy to exceed as the household budget.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"IF I KEEP on with my job after marriage will my marriage have a good a change of success as it would if I gave up the job and settled down to full-time homemaking?"

The reader who sends me that question is smart, for she is facing her problem before marriage instead of afterwards.

MILLETT

The answer to her question is, "Yes — if . . ." But a great deal of consideration should be given to the "ifs" involved.

If the husband has no objections to his wife's working. Combining marriage and a job is difficult at best. It is much too difficult if the husband is antagonistic toward the demands the job makes on his wife.

If the wife has the physical stamina to do two jobs without slighting either. All too often when the wife cannot handle both jobs well, she slights her marital responsibilities and tells herself, "Well, I can't do everything."

If the husband's job doesn't necessitate a great deal of entertaining and an active social life. If it does, then the working wife is going to find it difficult to entertain with the ease and graciouness of the wife who is a full-time homemaker. She will be at a disadvantage there simply because she hasn't the time to devote to entertaining that other wives have.

• • •

CHECK DOESN'T COUNT

IF THE couple realize from the start that the wife's earnings should be counted out when they are setting up their standards of living. Too many couples ignore this rule and then are miserable when they have a reduce their living standards when a baby comes along and the wife has to give up her job. Or else they may put off starting a family because they hate to change the way of living they have established on two pay checks.

If the wife will look on her job as a job rather than as a career, One career is enough in any family, and it rightfully belongs to the husband.

If the wife can forget her job when she is away from it. A husband can get by with carrying his job home with him, but a wife can't.

If the wife can look on the money she earns as "our money" rather than "my money." The working wife who looks on the money she earns as her own isn't only likely to cause trouble while she is working. She may discover when she stops working that her husband has caught the "my money" habit from her.

"Try And Stop Me"

WILLIAM DANA ORCUTT came home one evening from a conference with George Hecht, manager of the Doubleday retail shops. "Hecht told me," he reported to his wife with relish, "that in their Wall Street shop, patronized almost exclusively by men, solid, serious books outsell frothy fiction almost 10 to 1.

"In uptown branches, however, where the customers usually are women, it's the inconsequential love stories and murder tales that get the big play. Interesting commentary on the sexes, isn't it?"

"Quite right," snapped Mrs. Orcutt. "You are aware, of course, that the men are buying the good books to take home to their wives, and the ladies, wise to the ways of keeping peace in their family, are acquiring the trash to give to their husbands."

Unethical Practices Of Many Psychiatrists Are Assailed

NEW YORK, April 18.—Unless these bearded old eyes have lost their devilish cunning with the alphabet, the sounder heads among the spiritual pulse-feelers, or psychiatrists, are all upset over the irreverent aura the boys have earned all by themselves. There is bickering in the business, criticism by other medical men, and a broad national tendency to paint the soul-prober as a voodoo doctor with a pointed hat, or head.

RUARK

These are not my words, although they reflect a long and deep-felt sentiment. They are the measured cadences of Dr. C. Charles Burlingame, a 40-year specialist in the profession and one of the most respected of the craft. In an editorial in the house organ of the Institute of Living, of which Dr. B. is president, he says:

• • •

Reaches Interest Peak

"Psychiatry has now reached the peak of public interest, and a great part of that interest, being neither laudatory nor desirable, is out of harmony with fame that springs from public approval and confidence. Not only the sharp notes of criticism, but also the hiss of ridicule, are sounding in many quarters.

"Not a week goes by that some jest is not poked at one psychiatric technique or another by cartoonists, or comedians, or otherwise more or less serious news commentators. Even in our own field of medicine, psychiatry is being severely criticized for what other medical men call 'highly doubtful' theories and 'questionable' practices.

"Some physicians are bluntly accusing psychiatrists of departing into the domain of philosophy, sociology and politics to the extent of forsaking the field of medicine. It is manifest that we are losing public confidence and of more immediate importance. . . of non-psychiatric physicians. . .

"Yet at this time of psychiatry's greatest need, psychiatrists themselves are more disunified and their efforts diffuse than ever before. Now, as never before, we need BALANCE and RESERVE and MUTUAL TOLERANCE among ourselves in a quest for the understanding of the emotion. . ." (The caps are Doc Burglingame's, not mine.)

• • •

THIS IS the sume of a sharp reprimand to his fellows, and it has been a long time coming. The excellent—even wonderful—work that has been done in resetting emotions by the serious, silent practitioners, has been pretty nearly obscured by the cheap talkers and the showoffs, the semi-charlatans and the publicity hounds.

Among the less scrupulous psyche-feelers, the whole business of psychoanalysis and psychotherapy has been converted to just that—business. In many instances you can substitute the word "racket" for "business." The emotions and pocketbook of susceptible, not to say silly, people have been exploited shamelessly. In New York and other large cities, this offshoot of the respectable medical profession has been encouraged to become an expensive fad, like having your fortune told, and precious few doctors shoo off patients who need a psychiatric currying considerably less than they need a sharp kick in the shins.

I am willing to grant the boys a free field with the rich and idle old ladies, both male and female, to pamper their egos by a regular session on the couch, but one sector of psychiatry has overplayed its pitch to such point that considerable bats have been loosed in the belfries of common America.

Publicity Campaign Hit

This has been done by a self-serving publicity campaign that has been scandalously unethical, considering all the licensed lads are MD's first. They battened onto every newsbreak, on every trend, and swelled it into a shill for their own business.

What they did was peddle psychiatry symptoms to the unwary, until the yeomanry was confusing a simple bellyache with lesions of the subconscious. They hollered bogey and cried wolf until every body was wondering if maybe he wasn't nuts. They did an unforgivable thing in stating, in a widely publicized story, that each returning GI was a good bet to blow his roof at some unstated future time. They strummed the superstitions and sympathis of the stupid and the hypochondriac, and stuck their little peaked noses into everything.

For these and other sins they got rapped, and rapped plenty, and I am proud to say that I was one of the rappers. What us untutored fault-finders were saying a long time ago Dr. Burlingame is saying now, and he is to be commended strongly for crying down the evils in his own guild.

Today's Journal Editorial

A CONVINCING ARGUMENT

Secretary of State Acheson offered a powerfully convincing argument the other day to support his opposition to a proposed $1,500,000,000 appropriation for Nationalist China.

He said, in substance, the U. S. already has handed the Chinese $2,000,000,000. There is nothing, he said, to show for this huge expenditure. Official and private observers have been virtually unanimous in their agreement that grafting Chinese in high places have gotten away with most of the money.

Mr. Acheson did not say so in words, but his implication was reasonably clear that, in his opinion, additional funds would be money poured down a bottomless rat hole. The American people certainly would not favor anything like that—and past experiences have been sufficient to cause reasonable doubt whether the gigantic sums handed out to the Nationalist Chinese have done a dime's worth of good.

Experts Believe U. S. Planes Could Fight From Own Bases

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 18. Top Air Force men think that planes which they now have tested could bring about, from American airfields, the surrender of an enemy almost anywhere in the world.

They don't say it could be done tomorrow. We don't have enough of those planes. But planes are available which Air Force men think could load on American fields, do 'round-the-clock bombing (providing we had enough of them) and return to American fields.

Three planes are involved: The B-36, the B-50 and the B-29. Some of the B-29s have been converted into aerial tanker re-fueling planes.

Air Force men say the B-36 can now fly 4,000 miles with a full bomb load and get back. A trip of that length, 8,000 miles round-trip, can be done only by bombers. They would have to travel without fighter protection.

Savings In Shipping

Some Navy airmen, and many industrial engineers, still think our bombers would be safe only if they were paced by fighters that could turn off enemy fighters near the target.

If the Air Force is right, we could rely on air fields on the North American continent. It would mean tremendous savings in shipping materials to bases in other parts of the world. It would mean the air fleet could get into combat much quicker.

If the Navy is right, the bases, or carriers lying off an enemy shore, would have to be no more than 850 miles away from the target. That is the best outward trip our fighters can do.

This argument has caused a battle-royal in behind-the-scenes Washington.

Involved in this argument too, will be the Army's conteption that ground forces will be needed to win any war in the foreseeable future.

And regardless of what our planes might do, top Washington planners must bear in mind the possible political impact among allied peoples abroad if we depended on planes alone and did not send them the ground strength that would remind them daily that we were thinking of them.

Aid To Europe Urged

General Omar N. Bradley, Army chief of staff, told a New York Army day audience:

"It must be perfectly apparent . . . that we cannot count on friends in western Europe if our strategy in the event of war dictates that we shall first abandon them to the enemy with a promise of later liberation."

He counseled American aid to building up European armies.

This is the Air Force side of the argument:

The Air Force thinks it has about 500 bombers which could get into combat almost immediately, each able to reach out 4,000 miles, drop its bombs and return to one of the 57 bases in the United States and Canada which will take planes of that size.

The layman naturally thinks of coastal bases. But air experts favor those in mid-continent—in Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Montana and up through middle Canada.

They remind us that the shortest route to Europe is over the top of the world, which makes bases at Fairbanks, Alaska, and in Maine extremely useful.

Fighters Said Unnesseccary

The Air Force argues that these 500 planes can fly so high—at 40,000 feet for the B-36—that enemy fighters would find it almost impossible to bring them down. They say that even at that height the planes can strike their targets.

The Air Force has just flown two tests to demonstrate its beliefs.

"The Lucky Lady," A B-50, recently flew around the world, refueling in the air at four points. She didn't come down the whole 23,000 miles.

This flight satisfied the Air Force, it says, that the B-50 can be used to fly out from a home base 4,000 miles, with the help of B-29 re-fueling planes which would pace it part way out and meet it on its return. The B-29 can go out 2,000 miles with a full load and get back. The B-50 can head out 2,300 miles alone and get back alone.

The second recent test was the flight of the B-36, which flew a 9,600-mile loop over the United States without stopping and without refueling. So Air Force experts also say they think they now can strike targets 4,000 miles from home with the B-36 alone.

Navy Side Given

This is the Navy argument:

Some navy air men point out that the B-36 which flew the recent test could stretch out its gas supply for the 9,600 miles only by cutting speed to an average 220 miles an hour.

A bomber that slow, say Navy experts, would be a "sitting duck" for an enemy fighter. And, they argue, it would take only one shot—into the cabin—at 40,000 feet to put it out. At that height the cabin is pressurized.

They agree a foreign shore might be within reach of the B-36 flying alone. But if it picked up fighter protection, those fighters would have to be based somewhere abroad.

Navy men take the French coast as an example. B-36s coming in from the United States could pick up fighters from, say, an English field—or from an American aircraft carrier lying off the coast.

Navy men say carrier-based planes would be the best. English air fields would be stationary and easy enough to find by enemy planes. But carriers can move, and on the first attack at least, there would be no way for the enemy to know where a carrier was.

The Navy men recall that the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor with carrier-based planes and that the only carriers we lost in World War II were attacked by either carrier based planes or submarines.

They say it is still very uncertain for two planes—a bomber and a re-fueler—to meet somewhere over the pole or over an ocean. They say the chances for missing are great and that we might lose many returning bombers.

The carrier-based plane, they say, is necessary both to keeping the seas open if we want to approach an enemy shore and protecting our own shores.

Easter Rites

Canyon Easter sunrise service at the Shrine of the Ages on the south rim of Grand Canyon, Ariz. The service was broadcast on an NBC national hookup, and Army radio carried it around the world.

At Rindge, N. H., more than 1,500 persons from a number of states stood in a chill wind for outdoor sunrise services at the Cathedral of the Pines. The cathedral is a war memorial shrine with a pulpit of rocks from flying fields of World War II.

At Washington, the annual convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution began with an Easter celebration. The D.A.R. held memorial services at Constitution hall for 2,711 members who died last year.

Negro Is Preacher

In New York, the Easter dawn service of the city's Protestant Episcopal council included a sermon by a negro clergyman for the first time in the 30-year history of the service. Seven thousand worshippers at Radio City Music Hall heard the Rev. Dr. William J. Faulkner, negro dean of the chapel of Fisk university, Nashville, Tenn., preach. The sermon was broadcast by NBC. An inter-racial choir of 1,000 sang.

King George of England, who is under treatment for a leg ailment, and the queen, Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip attended Easter services at the royal chapel at Windsor. Dandies in London wore felt hats in bright Easter egg colors and sported embroidered waistcoats.

Bullfights were featured after masses in Spain. Thousands left Paris for the Easter weekend, while other thousands visited the city.

Churches were crowded in Berlin. More food and supplies were flown in by the Allied airlift as an Easter gift for Berlin.

The Easter celebration in Eire was a prelude to today's bigger Easter Monday celebration of the official establishment of the free republic on the 33th anniversary of the 1916 uprising against British rule.

Dead Baby Found In Mail; Mother Held

OAKLAND, Calif., April 18. (AP) (U.P.)—A 22-year-old woman who said she shipped the body of her illegitimate new-born baby here from Houston, Tex., in a vanity case was held today for investigation of murder

The woman, Frances Russell, chestnut-haired former Oakland clerk, was arrested after the baby's body was discovered in the small suitcase by the manager of a bus station.

She told homicide inspector Joseph Bertoglio the baby died in a fall from a bed shortly after it was born unattended last Monday at the home of a cousin in Baytown.

She said she became panic-stricken when she found the baby was dead and wrapped the tiny body in a towel and packed it in her vanity case. According to her statement, she shipped the case by bus, addressed to herself in Oakland, then returned here by plane Thursday.

Four Diamond Loops To Open This Week

(By The United Press)

Professional baseball in Texas steps up the pace this week as four more leagues launch their 1949 campaigns.

Three open their seasons with night games tomorrow, the fourth Wednesday night.

The Big State, East Texas and Arizona-Texas leagues begin play tomorrow night, the West Texas-New Mexico Wednesday night.

The Class B Big State opening games will send Gainesville to Wichita Falls, Texarkana to Sherman, Waco to Greenville and Austin to Temple. With the exception of Wichita Falls and Gainesville, the clubs switch sites for openers in the other cities Thursday night. Gainesville's park will not be ready until probably next Sunday.

Seven Men Injured In Boat Explosion

ASTORIA, Ore., April 18. (AP)—Two fishermen and five firemen were injured and burned today when a 42-foot trolling boat was ripped apart in four explosions.

The men were aboard the craft after extinguishing the flames from the first blast when the boat erupted a second time.

A multimillion dollar fleet of Columbia river fishing boats was endangered for a while by the burning gasoline sprayed and floating at fishermen's dock on the waterfront.

Fire Chief Wayne Osterby, injured by flying glass in the blast, said none of the men was in serious condition.

Chinese Seek Delay In Reds' Demand For Quick Surrender

NANKING, April 18. (AP)—The government, reliable sources said today, is trying desperately to win a delay in the Communist demand that it surrender by Wednesday.

There were reports that an emissary would leave shortly for Chikow, below Shanghai, to lay before retired president Chiang Kai-Shek the 24 points stressed by the Communists for surrender of the Nationalists.

Meanwhile along a 650 miles Yangtze river front 1,000,000 troops awaited the word that would set them to fighting again. Some official sources here favored rejection of the Communist demand.

The government has about 500,000 troops scattered along the front. They face superior Communist forces on the north bank of the river.

Fighting May Start

Fighting may burst out regardless of what answer the Nanking government gives the communists, who want their armies to cross the Yangtze in about a dozen places and take over National troops.

The Communists are dealing with acting President Li Tsung-Jen. Li, at best, controls only 200,000 troops, mostly in the Hankow area. Shanghai and Nanking defense troops are under the control of Gen. Tang En-Po, whose loyalty to Chiang Kai-Shek has never been questioned.

Many observers here feel that Tang will retire to Shanghai and below rather than fight along the river. Some of his troops likely would go to Formosa, where the bulk of the Chinese navy and air force is still under the domination of Chiang Kai-Shek Others might try to reach south China points.

High Nanking officials today bitterly criticized the holding of planes on Formosa when they are badly needed here for defense of the capital.

Agreement Studied

The consensus here was that whatever Li tells her Reds, there will be a fight of some sort put up by at least part of the Nationalist armies.

The proposed Communist peace agreement was brought here yesHuang Shao-Hsiung who went to Peiping for the peace talks. Counter-proposals to the 24 provisions for implementing the Communists' eight conditions for peace were said to be under consideration.

These provisions are believed to follow the Peiping patern. Red troops would be allowed to cross the river to guarantee that Nationalist forces were combined with communist armies, then gradual transfer of power from the central government to the Reds would follow.

The presumption here is that after this process was completed a political conference would be called to set up a Communist-controlled coalition government.

Red armies reportedly have been organized for a crossing of the Yangtze and subsequent campaigns to clean up south and west China.

The Communists claim to have five armies ready to smash across the river, if necessary.

Burglar Saws Through Steel, Escapes With Big Dope Cache

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 18. (AP)—A burglar who dangled Tarzan-like from a frayed rope and sawed his way into a drug company building was at large today with $2,800 worth of narcotics.

An official of the Heyboer Wholesale Drug Co., said the 185 packages of morphine and codeine taken from his firm's building might net the underworld -100,000 in sales to dope addicts.

Police launched a state-wide search for the strong and daring thief, who also made off with $300 in cash and $1,000 in checks when he broke into the building sometime between closing time Saturday and Sunday afternoon.

Cut Steel Frames

Officers said the man gained entrance to the firm's offices by climbing a 18-foot rope left dangling from some scaffolding used to make building repairs.

Then, swinging by one hand, he broke two panes in an 18-pane window, sawed through two of the steel frames, and climbed in.

Once inside, he pulled the safe containing the cash more than 50 feet into the small room where the drugs were stored in another safe. He drilled through the doors of both safes, and cold-chiseled out the locking apparatus.

U. S. Schools Are Improved

WASHINGTON, April 18. (AP)—The "three R's," instead of being neglected, are getting more attention than ever in the nation's schools.

So reports Willard E. Givens, executive secretary of the National Education association.

"The amount of time spent in today's school on the three Rs is more than four times as great as it was a hundred years ago, Givens said in the association's annual report, issued today.

"The technics of teaching the 'tool' subjects (reading, writing and arithmetic) are vastly improved. Students who can advance rapidly are given the opportunity to do so. Special difficulties hampering the advance of some students are diagnosed and eliminated thru (Given's spelling) instruction adjusted to individual needs. The three R's are still the foundation of our school studies. Schools are teaching them better than they have ever been taught."

Social Studies Advanced

Children read more books, read more rapidly and read with greater understanding, Givens says.

In grandgather's time, one basic reader was often the only reading text. Not so now, says Givens, adding that it's now not unusual for a pupil in the better schools to read 25 or 30 books during his first year.

Givens also reported progress in the teaching of social studies, safety and conservation, international understanding, music and the visual arts, health and related subjects.

Elaborating on his formal report, Givens told a news conference that the schools are "doing a whale of a job," considering the shortage of space and teachers.

"We are not doing nearly as well as we would like to do," he said. "But we are sure we are doing a better job than we ever did before."

The census bureau reported last night that the nation's school enrollment topped 28,000,000, highest in histohy, at the start of the present school year.
