Desperate Bid Made To Save Part Of Curbs

"Wave Of Strikes" Over Nation Seen If Controls Lifted

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 11.—In a desperate bid to save rent control for big cities and defense areas, the administration today promised to scrap rent ceilings in more than 100 rural and small city areas.

A list of these areas which might be controlled was circulated privately among House members. The rent administration sent it to Capitol hill.

Vote Is Expected

The purpose was obvious. The House is expected to begin voting late today on the future rent controls. Circulation of the list could influence some members to vote for controls—members, that is, who don't want controls in their own rural districts but are willing to see them continue in the big cities.

EFFORT IS DEFEATED

WASHINGTON, March 11. (AP)—Democrats defeated 178 to 168 today a Republican effort to limit rent controls to only 90 more days.

Rep. Patman (D-Tex) told reporters about the list. They secured copies of it. Some points on the list's promise of decontrol were obscure. Rent administration officials were reluctant to clarify it for reporters in the present stage of jockeying over House votes.

Patman, talking with reporters, predicted a "wave of strikes" over the country if Congress fails to continue rent controls in industrial areas where there are housing shortages.

"The workers simply cannot stand rent increases from 50 to 500 per cent," Patman said.

"A vote to kill rent controls is a vote for strike."

Republicans Threaten

The administration's move came as Republicans with the help of some Democrats threatened to take over the reins in the House and limit any rent control extension to only 90 days. It confronted President Truman with his biggest test of power in the new Congress.

Leaders called the house into session (at 9 a. m. CST) two hours earlier than usual, to set up a showdown vote by nightfall.

There are now 600 rent control areas. The heaviest attack on continuing controls comes from House members representing large rural

Showdown In Senate Nears

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The Senate test on breaking the Southern filibuster will come late today.

Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois announced he will ask a vote between 4 and 5 p. m. C.S.T. on Vice President Barkley's ruling last night that opened the way for the test.

Senator Russell (D-Ga) floor general for Dixie members and others battling any anti-filibuster change in Senate rules, told Lucas that was agreeable.

The situation is this: Barkley has ruled that the filibuster could be cut short by a two-thirds vote of the Senate. Russell has challenged that ruling and asked a Senate vote on whether Barkley is right.

Russell's move is called appealing to the Senate.

Lucas, in turn, will move to table the appeal. That will force a vote.

Barkley's ruling will stand or

ANOTHER TRANGLE ENDED—A sea-going husband killed his wife, her lover, and himself while his mother-in-law listened in on the telephone some 3,000 miles away. Emory Holt, right, 35, a chief engineer in the Merchant Marine, shot his wife Mrs. Norma Holt, 30, and David Whittaker, left, 35, after telling Mrs. Elsie Thomas, mother of Mrs. Holt, who was listening on the telephone in her home in Hollywood, Calif., "Mama, please forgive me."

Finance Drive For Premiums Started Here

Pledges Of About $3,500 Required; Soliciting Starts

BY H. I. KIEFER
Journal Staff Writer

More than 75 Lubbock business men joined today in a financial campaign which, according to leaders, will go far toward determining the success of the 16th annual South Plains Junior Fat Stock show to be held at the Fairgrounds here March 21, 22 and 23.

Solicitations started immediately after a coffee-and-doughnuts kickoff in the Hilton Hotel at which J. Lawrence Green, finance chairman, told committee members their job is the most important and difficult of any in advance of the show.

Guarantee Premiums

The members, working in pairs, obtained pledges to a fund which will guarantee premiums above market prices for calves, pigs and lambs exhibited in the show and sold at auction the final afternoon.

Pledges of approximately $3,500 are needed but, if experience in the approaching show is typical, all will not be used.

The fund, as explained by Homer Hunt, general show chairman, will absorb the difference between the amount paid at the auction and the price realized for the livestock when sold a few days later at the prevailing market.

The premium, he added, will mean a substantial sum of cash to the 4-H club and FFA boys from 29 counties of the area, including three in New Mexico, who will exhibit livestock they have raised.

Prizes Are Higher

Estimates are that the cash prizes and the premiums will aggregate close to $5,000, substantially more than in any previous show.

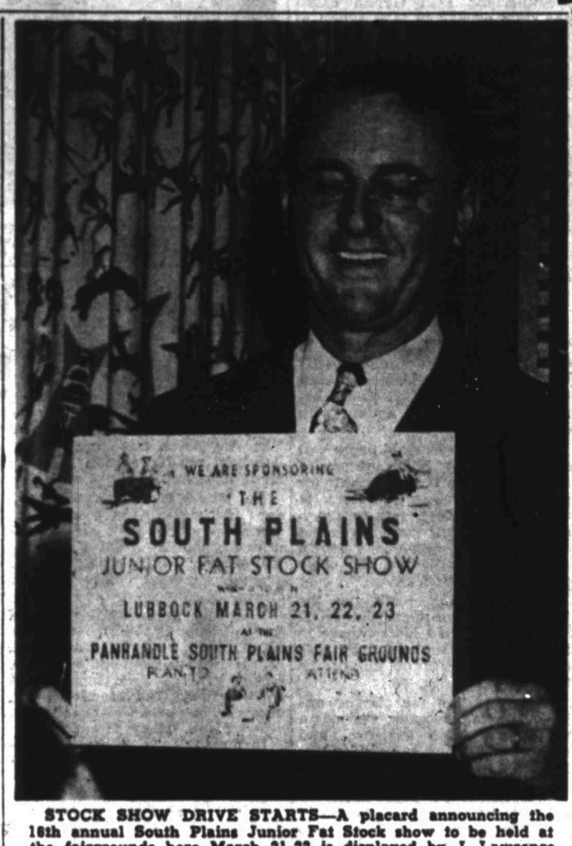

If the kickoff was an accurate indication of interest in the approaching event, officials were of the belief that record-breaking success is assured for the show.

The attendance of 76 committee members was by far the largest for any similar meeting since the show was established under chamber of commerce sponsorship about 20 years ago. It was suspended during several war years.

The kickoff session was short. Committee members were given instructions, supplies and prospects. They then were paired off and started calling upon prospects.

With them they carried hundreds of window cards which were put on display in downtown busi-

Courthouse Is Hit By Blaze This Morning

Lockney, Plainview Firefighters Help In Subduing Flames

(Special to the Journal)

FLOYDADA, March 11.—A two-hour fire of unknown origin early today destroyed the third-floor superstructure of the Folyd county courthouse, and resulted in extensive damage throughout the building.

Fire Marchall Carl Rodgers tentatively estimated the total damage at slightly less than $170,000. Insurance probably will cover a large part of the loss.

Because of the fire-proof-type structure of the lower section of the building, and of the combined efforts of 25 firemen of the Floydada, Lockney and Plainview fire departments, damage to the main section of the courthouse was held to a minimum.

Damage From Water

Most of the damage to the first and second floors and the basement was caused by water used in fighting flames at the top of the building.

Only one slight injury was reported. Fred Lambert, a Floydada fireman, suffered a bruised arm when he was thrown by a high-pressure water hose which got out of control.

The blaze was discovered at 6:10 a. m. by John Green, building janitor. He immediately notified Sheriff Leland Hart, who turned in the fire alarm.

The Floydada fire department was at the scene within 10 minutes, and was supplemented by the arrivals of the Lockney and Plainview fire departments at 6:40 and 7:35 o'clock, respectively.

Brought Under Control

The fire was brought under control by 8 o'clock, but it was some time before all rooms in the courthouse could be inspected.

The third-floor section of the building, which currently was undergoing a $10,000 remodeling job, was almost completely destroyed, according to Homer Steen, editor of the The Floyd County Hesperian, local newspaper.

The third floor housed the grand jury room, petit jury room, and several other rooms used for various purposes. No supplies or records of importance were stored there.

Extensive water damage resulted in the lower floors, particularly the second.

State Basic Science Proposal Awaiting Final House Passage

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 11—The basic science bill—darling of the Texas State Medical association and bane of the chiropractic profession — awaits final house passage.

Bitterly fought for two days on the House floor, the bill was passed on second reading last night, 90 to 41. The vote indicated sure victory for supporters of the measure when it comes up on the calendar for third reading.

Whether it will have as good fortune in the Senate remains to be seen. Virtually the same bill was approved by the House two years ago but died in the upper chamber.

One amendment after another was offered as opponents sought to stall off the bill setting up a state board to examine and license practitioners of the healing arts. The amendments were steadily defeated, and the proposal was passed without major change.

Hanna Blasts Bill

Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas blasted at the bill as "one of the worst monstrosites I've ever seen in this legislature. Speaking of class legislation—this is it."

Proponents spent little time arguing the merits of the act, but Rep. Jack Ridteway of San Antonio championed its cause.

"This is a step forward in the right direction to lift the healing

Bond Election Set In Hockley County

LEVELLAND, Mar. 11 (Special) A county-wide $325,000 parks bonds election will be held Saturday in Hockley county.

The bonds, if voted, would provide funds for construction of parks in Anton, Levelland, Ropesville and Sundown.

Of the total, $154,000 would go to Levelland, $72,500 to Sundown, and $49,000 each to Ropesville and Anton. An additional $10,000 would be used for buildings on the park sites, such as caretakers' living quarters and equipment sheds.

Also to be voted on Saturday is a proposed tax reallocation, which would provide for maintenance funds for the four parks.

The move to establish the parks has been sponsored by the Levelland Chamber of Commerce. W. J. O'Connor is chairman of the park system committee of the organization.

CREATION OF DEBTS FORBIDDEN

Bank Loans Made To School Districts Declared Illegal

AUSTIN, March 11. (AP)—The attorney general held today that the legislature can appropriate money to pay school teachers whose salary fund ran out last year but cannot appropriate money to repay bank loans or interest.

Such loans, the opinion said, were illegal.

The opinion answered a request from the House of Representatives on the constitutionality of a pending bill to provide $3,000,000 for deficit in salary aid funds for 1947-48.

Cases Forbid Procedure

The 13-page opinion written personally by Attorney General Price Daniel and Assistant Chester Ollison held that a statute and three Texas Supreme court cases, forbid creation of such debts.

Daniel said, however, that most of the bank loans have already been repaid under an "unauthorized" procedure.

Last September, he said, the second half of the money appropaid by the state to the districts and was used in part by the districts to cover their 1947-48 deficits.

May Lose Interest

Whatever bank loans have not been paid, he said, could be settled in a lawful manner if the

Trio Ransacks Kansas School

BONNER SPRINGS, Kan., Mar. 11 (U.P.)—Three armed men entered a two-room rural school in southwestern Wyandotte county today, terrorized pupils, ransacked the desks and then began entering farm homes in that area, according to reports to the sheriff's office.

The men apparently were operating in a large, heavily-wooded area north and west of the Sinai rural school. Only trace of the men reported, after their flight from the school, were frantic calls from women reporting that the men were entering their homes.

Hurry To Area

Wyandotte County Sheriff Ray Ferguson and a dozen deputies, aided by state highway patrolmen, hurried to the area and residents of the locality loaded their guns and bolted their doors.

The incident at the Sinai school occurred about 8 a. m. and only four children were at the school at the time. No teachers had arrived. About 40 children attend classes in the building.

At the Stony Point school, a mile and a half away, Principal Merle Harlan locked the doors and held 215 pupils within the building.

R. E. Coffelt, cafe operator in the area, said the men frightened Mrs. Anna Holt when they rang her bell, apparently just before they entered the Sinai school waving two rifles and a revolver. However, Coffelt said, they made no attempt to force entry into

Red Engineer Claims Diplomatic Immunity

NEW YORK, March 11. (AP)—A Russian engineer accused of espionage today refused to answer questions at his arraignment in federal court and claimed diplomatic immunity.

Valentine A. Gubitchev, the Russian indicted yesterday with Judith Coplon, U. S. Justice department employe, declared the prosecution against him was "to pursue certain aims."

However, Judge Simon H. Rifkind answered sharply:

"Let the defendant know if he is under the illusion that he is going to be punished without first being convicted by due process of law, he is harboring a mistaken idea."

The judge continued Gubitchev's $100,000 bail and declined to accept the statement of the suspended United Nations employe that he did not want counsel.

Rifkind said he would assign a lawyer to represent Gubitchev. He then put off until Monday the pleading on the indictment.

Youth Charged In TCU Dean's Death

(By The Associated Press)

CLEBURNE, March 11—Arthur Clayton Hester, 18, was charged with murder here today in the mysterious slaying of his guardian, Dr. John Lord, 69, Texas Christian graduate school dean.

The Canadian-born educator, missing two days, was found dead yesterday in his rambling country home near Burleson, 12 miles south of Fort Worth.

The body, fully dressed, was found on a bed in a back room of the secluded house by two TCU students who went to investigate Lord's absence from school.

Hester, who made his home with Lord, is missing. Lord obtained Hester's release from the state orphan home in Corsicana in 1945 and became his guardian.

Body Badly Beaten

Lord's body was badly beaten. His wallet was empty and the house bore evidence that a struggle preceded the dean's death.

Lord's gray four-door sedan was found Tuesday night at a garage in Coahoma, between Cleburne and El Paso.

J. B. Martin, owner of the garage, said it was brought there by two boys. The car's clutch was burned out. Martin said the boys abandoned the car, one taking a bus for Big Spring and the other hitchhiking a ride out of Coahoma.

A youth, fitting Hester's description, was detained early today at El Paso. He was arrested at the Army YMCA after a motorist reported he became suspicious of a hitchhiker that rode with

Officers Seek Missing Man

AMARILLO, March 11 (U.P.) — Officers of a tri-state area searched today for Donald Keefover, 34, who has been missing since March 3.

Keefover's employer at the Amarillo Neon Sign Co. said he had started on a business trip requiring about five days. But yesterday state highway police found Keefover's empty truck near Brownfield, 60 miles off his planned itinerary. Signs and contracts involving work at Hereford, Dimmitt, Littlefield, Farwell and Vaughn, N. M., were intact.

The neon sign company employe was making a collection trip and had more than $300 with him. Police have traced him as far as Seagraves, where he was last reported seen Sunday night.

Wichita Falls Man Injured In Shooting

WICHITA FALLS, March 11 (AP) Carl Abel, 26-year-old bricklayer, was found wounded three times late last night by a man he admitted to his home.

Abel's wife, Thelma, 23, said a man had telephoned earlier to warn Abel he was on his way to the house to shoot him.

Abel was in serious condition in Wichita General hospital. Police were questioning a 33-year-old plumber early today. The suspect's former and present wives also were held.

Mrs. Abel said a man and two women knocked at the door and were admitted by Abel. She said the man opened fire and Abel fell to the floor, wounded twice. As the trio left, the man turned at the door, Mrs. Abel said, and fired a shot into her husband's head.

Grand Jury Probing Horse Meat Scandal

HOUSTON, March 11. (U.P.)—The new horse meat scandal was to be presented today to the Harris county grand jury, with 22 witnesses subpoenaed to give a clear picture of developments.

Assistant District Attorney Paul Maynard said additional witnesses probably would be summoned Monday. Among those to take the stand today were J. F. Lakey, director of the food and drug bureau of the state health department, City Veterinarian Dr. J. W. Williamson, and Woody Fife, chief inspector.

Young Soldiers And Friend Behind Bars

HOUSTON, March 11. (AP)—Two young soldiers and their civilian friend were behind bars here today, removed from the routine of military life that sent them on a rampage from San Angelo to Houston.

The trio was picked up in a stolen car last night, two hours after they held up a liquor store here and escaped with $125.

The soldiers, Pfc. Otis E. Canada and Pvt. Rex L. Roberson, both 18, of Goodfellow Air Force base in San Angelo, admitted the robbery in written statements to police.

Jailed with them on charges of robbery with firearms was their 18-year-old civilian companion, Billie Joe Hill of San Angelo.

Tired of a hum-drum existence, the boys stole the 1949 Ford sedan in San Angelo early yesterday, and arrived here about dark.

"We were tired of Army life and wanted a change," Canada and Roberson explained.

Suspect Faces Federal Count

Capt. of Detectives Pat Davidson of the police said this morning he had been informed by Curtis L. Perryman, resident agent of the FBI, that a Dyer act complaint had been filed in the San Francisco Federal division of California against Randle B. Smart, 29, accusing him of theft here Sunday of an automobile.

The automobile, a 1947 Chrysler sedan, was stopped Thursday by the California State Highway patrol when it was being driven by Smart, Davidson had learned through federal and California state officials. Another man, believed a hitchhiker, also was in the car. The two were held at Modesto, Calif.

Admits Stealing Keys

The car was stolen from J. L. Shipley of Buckeye, Ariz., who reported the case to the Lubbock police.

Smart, according to information Davidson learned from California officials and teletype messages to FBI officials here, allegedly admitted that he "stole the keys" of Shipley's car from Shipley's hotel room here.

He said Shipley picked him up at Lovington, N. M., and that the two men rode here together. When Shipley went to his room to sleep, Smart is alleged to have said he took the keys, got the car out of storage and headed for California, picking up the other man in New Mexico. He denied taking $150 from Shipley person, another charged lodged by Shipley.

Charge Was Filed

Davidson had filed a car theft case against Smart Thursday afternoon, but indicated today prosecution probably would be deferred to federa lauthorities, particularly since Shipley lives in another state.

Nodie Locket, of 2616 East Ave. F, told police that lumber valued at approximately $100 had been stolen from him, describing three suspects who may have been responsible.

A purse containing a $60 check and $12 in cash was stolen from the car of R. P. Coats of 1110 Tenth street, and sunglasses valued at $3 were taken from the glove

New Paint That Makes Heat And Cold Visible Revealed

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, March 11.—A new kind of paint makes heat and cold visible as yellow light, and takes the place of thermometers.

This same paint, on a screen, makes a chunk of ice take its own picture in total darkness, or you can see the ice merely by looking at the screen.

No temperature is too cold and none too hot to be seen with the aid of this new paint. The stuff is a phosphor, and the heat and cold become visible when ultraviolet light illuminates the paint.

The discovery was reported to the American Optical society, which is holding its three-day meeting here. The paint and its uses were developed at the Eastman Kodak company research laboratories by Doctors Franz Urbach, Nelson R. Nail and Donald Pearlman.

The secret is the difference in temperature between the Union Threatens To Tie Up New York Railroad Stations

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 11.—A union threat to tie up New York's two biggest railroad passenger stations added new complications today to a dispute that has snarled railway express shipping here.

A union official said picket lines may be thrown around Pennsylvania and Grand Central stations—a move which he said would halt operations at the two big terminals.

Daniel J. Sullivan, general chairman of the express division of the AFL Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, made the threat yesterday in reprisal for what he called a "lockout" by the railway express agency.

He said 3,000 employes in freight terminals, depots and sorting stations in New York and northern New Jersey have been locked out as the result of a 'work slowdown" by express workers.

The slowdown started three days ago in protest against what the union termed "company stalling" in contract ne-

Widow To Testify In Reburial Probe

THREE RIVERS, March 11. (AP) Mrs. Beatrice Longoria, widow of a Latin-American soldier whose reburial caused a widespread dispute, was to testify today before a legislative committee investigating the matter.

Another witness was expected to be Dr. Hector P. Garcia, president of the American GI forum. He protested to state and national authorities what he called discrimination against the Longoria family.

Two witnesses called yesterday denied there was any discrimination. It was the first day of a hearing by a committee of the Texas house of representatives.

Body Returned

The furor began when the body of Felix Longoria, Three Rivers truck driver killed on Luzon, was returned to the United States. Disputed handling of services in Three Rivers resulted in Longoria's reburial in Arlington National cemetery.

T. W. Kennedy, jr., owner and operator of the Rice funeral home here, testified yesterday that he discouraged use of his funeral chapel for the reburial services, but not because of prejudice. Kennedy said he had heard there was "serious trouble" between Longoria's widow and his parents and that was his "sole reason" for discouraging use of the chapel.

Guadalupe Longoria, 66, the soldier's father, denied there were any differences between the widow and the rest of the family.

Mayor Testifies

Mayor J. K. Montgomery, last witness called yesterday, testified: "Latin-Americans are not being discriminated against and there is no agitation here."

Thomas S. Sutherland, executive secretary of the Texas good neighbor commission, said he thought the controversy was "largely a newspaper matter rather than something Three Rivers is greatly disturbed about."

Sutherland said Garcia asked the state agency to take action in the dispute. Sutherland said he telephoned Kennedy and asked that the reburial services be held in the funeral home chapel.

He testified that Kennedy finally said the services could be held in the chapel "if the family insists." Kennedy's first reply, Sutherland said, was, "The white people here would object to that and I couldn't start that sort of thing."

Slayer Keeps Date With Prison Chair

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 11 (AP)—Little Phillip Cobb finally kept his date with Alabama's electric chair early today. Twice before he had broken a date with death.

The small 24-year-old negro was electrocuted at Kilby prison a few minutes after midnight for murdering a fellow prisoner. He was to have been put to death a week ago but was given an eleventh hour reprieve when a worn power cable put the chair out of commission.

Cobb beat the death rap the first time when Gov. James E. Folsom commuted his sentence to life imprisonment after he was convicted in 1946 of killing his wife.

His conviction for slaying another negro prisoner carried a mandatory death sentence, and Governor Folsom refused to intervent a second time.

SPECIALIZED QUALITY IS GONE

Special Fleet Of A-Bombers Is Being Built By Air Force

WASHINGTON, March 11. (AP) The Air Force has been quietly building up its special fleet of atom bombers.

No longer, officials disclosed, does the air arm have all of its atomic bombing skill and planes in one basket, as it did during the war—when B-29 superfortresses dropped A-bombs on two Japanese cities—and for some time after.

The only unit formerly geared for A-bomb dropping was the 509th group, based at Roswell, N. M. Its planes participated in the Bikini tests of 1946, in which a B-29 dropped an atomic bomb above a target fleet of naval craft.

Have Other Groups

In answer to a reporter's question, an Air Force official offered this laconic reply: "The specialized quality once attributed to the 509th no longer prevails; there are now other groups." He didn't say how many.

The only airborne atom bombs reported so far have been carried by the wartime-built superfortresses, which still make up the greater part of the American bombardment fleet.

However, both the B-50—which recently flew around the world non-stop, refueling in the air—and the six-engined, ultra-long ranged B-36 are presumably capable of carrying atom bombs.

Burst In Air

The three bombs dropped so far all have burst in the air.

But atomic bombardiers are believed to be practicing now at two new methods: burst on impact at the surface of the earth or sea, and sub-surface burst.

In the recent Caribbean maneuvers of the Navy, a naval bomber dropped a mock atom bomb into the water to produce a subsurface explosion—considered substantially more potent than an aerial burst, since in addition to the underwater shock the blast produces a cloud of deadly radioactive spray.

School Officials To Visit Amarillo

Four Lubbock public school administrators, Ishmael Hill, Alfred Smith, Earl Davis and Raymond Swofford, were to journey to Amarillo today to visit and observe various phases of school activities there.

Hill, assistant superintendent, was to study Amarillo's method of selecting art supplies and library material. Swofford, principal of Guadalupe elementary school was to study the Latin-American program in Amarillo.

Davis, principal of George M. Hunt elementary school, was to observe the elementary natural science program. He is chairman of a committee composed of all teachers in his school, that is laying plans for curriculum revisions in natural science for all Lubbock elementary schools.

Smith, principal of Central Ward elementary school, was to study Amarillo's elementary arithmetic program. Amarillo has recently completed a new series of curriculum guides, including arithmetic.

Arms Standardization Is First Major Problem After Signing Of North Atlantic Defense Pact

By JIM G. LUCAS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 11—In the Pentagon, North Atlantic defense plans have moved from the "if" to the "how" stage. That will keep some lights burning all night for months to come.

Defense men know there will be a North Atlantic pact including Denmark and possibly Sweden and Iceland in addition to Norway, Canada, France, England, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Once the pact is signed, the military's job begins. So far, the U. S. has discussed military supplies in generalities. Our contribution has been measured in dollars. Before the pact means anything, the military must break that down into tanks, guns, planes, nuts and bolts.

Solution Not In Sight

The first problem—and a solution isn't in sight—is arms standardization. There are as many kinds of arms as armies. Each has its own weapons—the result of tradition, experience and geography—and wants to to keep them. A change would mean not only retraining of troops but a change in staff thinking, which might be even more difficult to bring about.

For instance, during the war the British used little American equipment, even though they depended on us for supplies. One United States factory made the British rifle and another the British rim-type .303 cartridge. With standardization, much confusion and expense could have been avoided.

STOPPED COLD—This frozen and quite dead bobcat stands like a monument to death near the goose, right, it killed on a farm near La Grande, Ore. The hungry cat jumped into the spring in the background after one of the several geese swimming there. Dripping wet, he was making his escape when he brushed against an iron pulley, arrow. His coat froze instantly to the metal, and death soon followed in the 28-degree-below-zero weather.

Today, the Benelux (Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg) and Scandinavian countries have a weapons hodge-podge—prewar leftovers, captured German arms, British equipment and U. S. lend-lease stuff.

Melvin M. Johnson, jr., president of Johnson Automatic, Inc., says the arms we furnish our allies must "be of substantially U. S. design. We do not want to pay for arms of no military value to ourselves."

He says we must "find common denominators and fit in the pieces in each case." For example, he says the United States M-3 submachine gun can be modified to fire either our .45 caliber or the European 9 millimeter cartridge. The Johnson light machine gun, which he invented, needs only a "quick barrel change" to fire several different kinds. With a slight change of the barrel plate the Mauser used by several European armies can fire American bullets.

Looks Easy on Paper

It looks easy on paper, military men say, but standardization is more difficult in practice. It took the United States, Great Britain and Canada 40 years to get together on a standard screw-thread.

Russia has an arms standardization problem, too. She had equipped her satellites with some Russian small arms, but there is still much German and Czech stuff behind the iron curtain. It will be years before the Soviets get off the horns of a supply dilemma as sharp as ours, military men believe.

India now has a social security plan for its workers—the first in Asia.

Tech To Be Host To Annual ASME Meet

The Texas Tech chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will be host to student chapters from seven other schools in Texas and Louisiana at the annual meeting of ASME April 1-2.

Each of the visiting delegations will be represented by student speakers who will compete in a speaking contest each morning. Any phase of engineering may be used as a topic and the winning speaker will be awarded a first prize of $100. Boyd Ball, junior engineering student from Spur who is in charge of the meeting, said that other prizes would be awarded also. The talks will be of 15 minute length.

Three field trips have been planned as part of the two day program. The first will be to the West Texas Gas company compressor station at Plainview, another will be to the Southwestern Public Service company's plant at Tuco and the final trip will be to the Stanolind gas extraction plant at Sundown.

Social entertainment for the visiting students will include a banquet sponsored by the West Texas Gas company and the other by the Southwestern Public Service company. There will also be a luncheon and a dance.

Schools who are expected to send delegates are Texas A. & M., University of Texas, Southern Methodist, Louisiana State university, Rice, Tulane and Louisiana Polytechnic institute.

UN Taking Up Indonesia Case

LAKE SUCCESS, March 11. (AP)—A professed Dutch fear of violence and chaos in Indonesia stood out today as the main stumbling-block to restoring the Indenosian republic to power.

The security council was called to meet today for another round on the Indonesian case, with several delegates trying to find a way to bring Dutch and Indonesians together.

Dr. J. H. Van Royen, the Netherlands representative before the council, said if someone could devise a way of meeting Dutch fears of chaos and violence the problem might be solved.

No Feasible Solution

He said no one had presented a feasible solution so far.

Van Royen told the council yesterday that the Netherlands was given the Indonesian republic chieftains freedom of action but has not restored them to authority in Jogjakarta, their former capital.

He said the Dutch feared reprisals on a horrifying scale if the Indonesian republic was put back in power. He said it would encourage Communists also.

Warren R. Austin, United States delegate, backed completely the security council plan for settling the Indonesian conflict. One key provision of this plan calls for the Dutch to return the Indenesian republic to power.

Can Not Understand

Austin said he could not understand why the Dutch have not complied with that provision.

Austin also said the proposed roundtable in the Hague for a discussion of the Indonesian problem might be useful if the Dutch and Indonesians agreed first on conditions for the conference. He indicated the main obstacle was the failure of the Dutch to put the republic back in authority.

Make that water walk downhill

IT doesn't take a "gully-washer" or a "goose drownder" to rob you of your precious topsoil. Bare land, up-and-down-hill row crops, and over-grazed range all invite rain to escape without working for you—and to erode your topsoil away. But sod or cover crops act like a blotter to absorb and hold the growth-giving water. Slopes and hillsides tilled on the contour, with alternating strips of crop-land and grass, save maximum amounts of water, hold erosion to a minimum. Flatter fields may be subsurface-tilled to keep the protective rain-absorbing trash on top. Correct rotations of crops, which include plow-under crops, will help absorb and hold moisture.

You need lots of water. It takes about 200 barrels of water to grow one bushel of corn. That's around 625,000 gallons for every 100 bushels. And most other growing plants also require large amounts of moisture . . . You can't control the amount of rainfall you get. But you can conserve it, so that every drop does the best possible job of making grass or crops for you.

As farmers and ranchers in every state well know, water has a "split personality." It can be your ally, or a devastating foe. Lashing rains can erode away inches of fertile topsoil in a short time. But it takes nature 300 to 1,000 years to rebuild each lost inch. That's why the control of water is so important in a good land management program. Considerable progress in erosion control has been made in the past ten years. But we've still got a long way to go! Hundreds of millions of productive acres are endangered by erosion and gullying. They're washing away! Only good land management can save our soil and keep America strong. It will pay you—and all of us—to make that water walk downhill.

New Grass Varieties

by Wilkie Collins, Jr.
Soil Conservation Service
Lincoln, Nebraska

Wilkie Collins, Jr.

Good pasture is the key to production of more meat, milk and wool, at lower cost. In addition, a good cover of grass protects your soil against wind and water erosion. When you have improved pasture, or range, good livestock and a sound conservation program, you have a profitable combination.

Many new grasses have been developed in recent years. Several of these promise to become real money-makers for livestock men. They outyield old grasses, give a longer grazing season, and provide better soil protection.

1. Smooth Brome—The Lincoln, Auchenbach and Fisher strains give higher yields, are easier established and withstand summer heat and drought better in the central, eastern and southern brome areas.

2. Intermediate Wheatgrass—A high-yielding, sod-forming cool-season grass that is easier to establish than most varieties. It is highly palatable and does exceptionally well in the central and northern plains and western mountain area.

3. Sand Lovegrass—Highly palatable, especially well adapted to sandy soils.

4. Tall Wheatgrass—A high-yielding cool-season bunchgrass that does better than other grasses under alkaline conditions.

5. Ky-31 Fescue—High-yielding, supplies longer grazing, especially good for southern and southeastern states.

6. Russian Wild Rye, Blackwell Strain of Switchgrass, Hays Buffalo Grass, Yellow Bluestem and Sweet Sudan are other new or improved grasses for adapted areas.

Grasses usually give higher yields and better quality forage when grown in association with an adapted legume.

A System that Works!

I get riled up when I hear talk of changing our system of government, or our system of doing business, here in America. Sure, there's always room for improvement. But you can improve a house without wrecking the building! Any system that produces worthwhile results must be a pretty good one. I think our way of doing things has worked out mighty well for Americans.

Here we are—about 6% of the world's population, living on less than 6% of the world's land. Yet, through what I like to call our "three I's"—Initiative, Ingenuity and Industry—we have created the American way of life. We enjoy greater freedoms than the other 94% of the world's people. We have educational opportunities for all . . . schools, colleges, universities, libraries. And 48% of the world's radios. As just one measure of personal comfort and convenience, we have 92% of the world's bathtubs. We have a motor vehicle for every four people. And more than 286,000 miles of paved roads for them to run on.

Most important of all, thanks to your system of agricultural production, we have plenty of food for all of us—and enough to help feed our less fortunate neighbors. Yes, I think it's worth getting riled up in favor of the American System now and again.

Mary Haworth's Mail...

Divorced Three Years Ago, Woman In Late Thirties Doubts Her Fiance's Fidelity

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Three years ago I divorced my husband, and since then I have been living on a modest but adequate income. My marriage was childless and extremely unhappy, but life has begun to mean something to me again, especially since I have fallen in love with Fred, whose first wife I knew very well when she was living.

Fred has asked me to marry him some time this Spring, as we are both alone and have been engaged for nearly a year. I haven't set a date for the wedding yet, as I have gnawing doubts about him. When his wife was alive and we were all members of the same social group, I used to hear rumors about his philandering.

At that time, the gossip interested me only slightly, but now I feel that I must clear up the matter in my mind. I can't help wondering if I am the only woman in Fred's life, even now. Once I asked him about this and he said I was; but there have been little incidents—such as unexplained feminine phone calls—that trouble me.

I am in my late thirties and feel that I can pick up the pieces and go on, if need be; yet on the other hand, if Fred is all I hope he is and seems to be, I can look forward to many years of happy companionship and love. But I want to know the true state of affairs before making further plans; so please tell me how best to proceed to bet this information. Signed E. T.

HAPPY MARRIAGE SEEMS UNLIKELY

DEAR E. T.: If you mind is so unsettled about Fred's character, and if you trust his word so little that you feel a need to "investigate" him, to determine whether he is philandering behind your back, then I should say your attitude is proof enough that a happy marriage isn't in the cards.

A reputation for philandering doesn't accure to an innocent man. Nor does an honorable man — "honest as the day is long"—keep his finance in the dark about the meaning of telephone calls from other women. Neither does a square-shooting man lean to subrosa exchange with other women who court his interest, after he is married or engaged.

However, the most discouraging aspect of the cloudy situation isn't Fred's elusive, enigmatic, talked-about behavior, but rather you gnawing conviction that he is, by habit and inclination, a two-timer in relation to wife or sweethearts—and that even now he isn't wholly faithful to you.

WOMAN'S DISTRUST HAZARD IN, ITSELF

ASSUMING that your wretched misgivings are justified, that Fred is cheating and you sense it intuitively, as women do, though unable to establish evidence, then marriage to him would be a bed of hot coals, instead of a bed of roses—even if you never actually discovered him in treachery.

And if, on the other hand, your current suspicions are unfounded; if Fred is acting decently now and your mind is fretted by past gossip, then an investigation of his deportment probably wouldn't ease your anxiety anyhow, even if no sign of present disloyalty were found;—because, you see, the seat of the trouble would be in your sick fancy, not in what goes on.

Your history of unhappy marriage and divorce doubtless leaves you vaguely fearful of another mistake, another disillusionment, ets.; and therefore you need to have full faith, fully justified, in the character of the next man you marry—in order to gradually recover emotional health and a happy balance in conjugal relationship. Hence I feel that Fred is hardly "the answer to prayer" for you. M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Lubbock Evening Journal.

New Oil Producing Horizon In Cochran County Is Discovered

A new oil producing horizon has been discovered in the Landon field area of extreme south-central Cochran county by Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 2 Edwards, offset to the Landon pool which missed the regular Strawn-Pennsylvanian pay and drilled ahead for a wildcat test.

The venture drillstem tested a lime and chert formation at 10,827-872 feet for 159 minutes, using a 1,800-foot water blanket. The water blanket showed at the surface in 55 minutes, followed 20 minutes later by flowing oil.

Turned To Test Tank

The well flowed to pits for 24 minutes, then was turned to a test tank for 60 minutes. In the hour of flowing to tanks, it made 66.42 barrels of oil, cut six-tenths of one per cent basic sediment. Size of choke was not learned.

Gravity of the petroleum was 38.5 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was approximately 250-1. There was no water. Operator was coring ahead, probably to test the thickness of the current strats.

This oil formation has been tentatively identified as Devonian, thought by some geologists to be the same type of structure which produces in the Crossroads field of extreme Northeast Lea county, N. M. Tentative top of the Devonian was called on 10,755 feet.

This pay opener is 660 feet from north and 528 feet from west lines of section 13, block L, psl survey.

Testing Continuing

Consecutive drillstem testing of the north-central Scurry county Ellenburger was continuing at Humble No. 1-B Moore, possible discovery from the deep zone 10 miles north and slightly west of Snyder.

The last examination completed was at 8,281-8,321 feet, with the tool open 35 minutes. Recovery was 10 feet of slightly oil and gas cut mud, with no water.

Operator has made hole to 8,341 feet and was running another Ellenburger drillstem test.

Location is 1,880 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 492, block 97, H&TC survey.

Project Plugged Back

Murchison & Fikes, No. 17-C Elliott, wildcat in southwest Yoakum county, in the southwest side of the Wasson-5,100 field, and 1,312 feet from south and 1,070 feet from east lines of section 832, block D, John H. Gibson survey, swabbed 40 barrels of oil in 10 hours from perforated section at 8,703-13 feet.

The project is on a plugged back depth of 8,730 feet in lime. It drilled to a total depth of 11,209 feet in granite and has tested from that point back up to the present zone of operations.

The oil recovered on the latest test is the best show for production so far developed. Swabbing is continuing.

Will Drill Ahead

Plymouth Oil company No. 1 Sims, south-central Garza county wildcat to 8,500 feet to test into the Ellenburger, and located 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 8, block 2, T&NO survey, was to drill ahead from 5,575 feet in after running a one and one-half hour drillstem test in the lower Permian at 5,495-5,575 feet.

There was a strong blow of air during the investigation. Recovery was 1,000 feet of drilling fluid and 2,100 feet of gas cut salt water. There were no indications of oil.

Gulf Oil Corporation was making production tests of the Wolfcamp-Permian one-half mile west of the Shafter Lake field in North-Central Andrews County with its No. 1-KK University, 330 feet from south and east lines of section 14, block 13, University survey.

Following a 500-gallon acid injection in the Wolfcamp oil formation, the well kicked off and flowed 24 hours through a ½-inch choke, producing 435 barrels of clean oil. Tests were continuing. Total depth is 8,550 feet.

41 GERMANS KILLED

FRANKFURT, Germany, March 11. (AP)—The newspaper Neue Presse today reported the death of 41 German workers in an explosion of a powder factory near Bautzen, in Soviet-occupied Saxony.

Israeli, Arab Patrol Clash

TEL AVIV, March 11. (AP)—The government announced today that Israeli forces had seized the five-mile coastal strip called Elath at the southernmost tip of Palestine after a clash with the Arab legion of Trans-Jordan.

Israel and Trans-Jordan at the same time took their first major step toward an armistice by signing in Rhodes a formal cease-fire agreement. The long stride toward full fledged peace was taken after long negotiations under United Nations auspices.

(The United States and Great Britain have begun high level talks in Washington and London on the flareup in Palestine, authoritative sources in London reported.)

Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett announced that Israeli and Trans-Jordan troops had clashed at the tip of Palestine which juts onto the Gulf of Aqaba between the borders of Egypt and Trans-Jordan.

Just across the border at the Trans-Jordan hamlet of Aqaba, British troops had been stationed since the Palestine crisis at the turn of the year, when heavy fighting was going on along the Egyptian border.

Sharett said the fighting took place when Trans-Jordan forces crossed the Israeli border. He said "only a few shots" were traded, and King Abdullah's Arab legionnaires withdrew to Trans-Jordan.

Leniency For Facts In Coplon Case Studied By Investigators

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 11 — Two congressional investigators said today it might be wise to trade leniency for facts from Miss Judith Coplon, the government girl accused of stealing defense secrets.

Rep. Walter (D-Pa) said:

"It woud be an excellent idea to promise her leniency in return for information on her activities."

Rep. Nixon (R-Calif) told reporters:

"A deal might be a good idea if they can catch big enough fish."

Employed Several Years

Miss Coplon has been an employe of the justice department's alien registration section for several years. She and Valentin Gubitchev, a Russian engineer on the United Nations staff, were arrested in New York last Friday by the FBI.

A New York grand jury indicted them yesterday on charges of conspiring to defraud the United States government. One count of the indictment said Miss Coplon delivered information relating to national defense to Gubitchev, including intelligence reports dealing with espionage and counter-espionage in this country.

Walter said it is vital to learn all about Miss Coplon's activities and connections, even if she has to be promised light treatment for talking.

Security At Stake

"The important thing," Nixon said, "is to find out who the other people are who are involved. The security of the country is at stake."

Walter said he thinks the Justice department "is to be commended for the way it has handled the Coplon case from the beginning." He said the un-American activities committee "never asked the department for anything about Miss Coplon."

"Yes," Nixon agreed, "but the committee gave them a tip nearly two and a half years ago that they could have followed up."

He said the department failed to cooperate when the committee sought information on activities in the division in which Miss Coplon worked. The request was said to have been based on a report an investigation made to Chairman Wood (D-Ga) in September, 1946.

Deals With Information

The report deals with information from a former employe in the alien registration section, who said that in that office everything pro-Russian was praised and anything anti-Russian was condemned.

Attorney General Tom Clark said yesterday the Justice department had never heard anything about Miss Coplon from any congressional committee.

Walter is pushing a bill to take away the citizenship of any Americans who belong to the Communist party. He introduced the bill yesterday. Other anti-Communist bills are also pending.

Undersea Towns Are Explored Near Italy

ROME, March 11—Reports of the existence of three undersea towns in the Mediterranean, between Sicilly and Tunisia, have stirred debate among Italian archaeologists. A Greek, Johannes Rodittis, considered in Scily one of the best divers of the world, maintains that he visited the ruins two years ago.

He said: "Twenty five ceters below the surface, there are ruins of three magnificent ancient towns. The walls are still well preserved, under veils of shells and seaweeds, while some statutes are still there, among bushes of corals and giant seaweeds." He dug from the ruins small statuettes and some pieces of earthenware vases, which were carefully studied. However, the Fine Art Board reserved judgment pending further inquiry.

Some Italian scientists believe the ruins may be those of an enormous dike built by the Phoenicians, rather than towns. Other archaeologists, however, say they may be of town existing a thousand years before Christ. An earthquake may have dropped the ground to 50 to 75 feet below sea level, these contend.

ART FOR SPARE TIME'S SAKE—William Pahle, 19-year-old San Jose, Calif., high school student, displays some of his entries in a regional National Scholastic art contest in San Francisco. The youth won 13 prizes in the six fields he entered. All were passed on by different judges. As a child, Pahle was bedridden and became interested in art to pass the time. He has never had any art training.

German Militarism Is Said Dying Out

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Mar. 11 (AP)—A German magazine says on the basis of a poll that militarism and the old Prussian craving for "glory on the battlefield" appear to be definitely dying among western Germans.

The independent, widely circulated magazine "Die Wandlung," reported that 70% of the "thousands of replies" from its readers indicated rejection of war and the demand for a constiutional right to refuse war service.

CITRUS GROWERS IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, March 11. (AP)—Three Texans from the Rio Grande Valley discussed problems of Texas citrus growers with Agriculture department officials yesterday. Price supports for citrus was among the topics.

Scientists Hear Whooping Whales, Cooing Toadfish And Giggling Porpoises In Study

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, March 11. (U.P.)—Whales whoop, porpoises giggle, shrimps snap and toadfish coo like pigeons, believe it or not.

Records played by oceanographers to startled scientists at the Pacific Science Congress in Auckland proved the ocean just isn't the silent place some people think.

Fish even get together at certain times of the day to join in chorus. Dr. Martin W. Johnson of the Scripps Institute of Oceanography played the "summertime chorus" off the pier at the institute in California to prove it. It sounded like feeding time at the zoo.

Like Machine Gun

A croaker drumming on its air bladder in Chesapeake Bay rattles like a machine gun. A spot-fin croaker emits a distinct "raspberry," later moving into high-pitched syncopated clicking, reminiscent of a jazz band drummer, to which Johnson beat time.

A gurnard, a fish common in New Zealand waters, expresses itself with a dissatisfied grunt.

Johnson's most spectacular record was the seldom-heard giggle of the porpoise, followed by a whistle like a wolf call. He played an elephant-like trumpet—the love call of a hum-back whale. Also recorded was the agonized moaning of some unidentified "lost soul," 200 miles off San Diego.

Shrimps Snap

The finding of the snapping of shrimps resulted when static polled reception of war-time hydrophones in the United States and New Zealand. At first it was suspected to be volcanic noise, but later it was found some sorts of shrimp snap with appendages designed to squirt water or stun their enemies. Recordings of thousands of the shrimps at San Diego and Pearl Harbor sounded more like the crackling of a bushfire.

Many fish noises were discovered in war-time research into undersea listening devices. Some are so loud they easily could mask the sound of propellors and possibly explode acoustic mines or torpedoes.

"Apparently they are able to keep track of each other by these sounds," Johnson said.

The ring watch, common today, is not new: George III of England had one.

Finnish Family Sets Record Of Longevity

HELSINKI, Mar. 11 (U.P.)—Finland claims to have the oldest family of brothers and sisters in the world. Moose Pirttijaervi and his wife Emma had thirteen children, all of whom are still alive. They are Riukka, 78, Antto, 77, Manda, 74, Eeva, 72, Emma, 71, Kalle, 70, Janne, 68, Karoliina, 66, Ida, 65, twins Moose and Teemu, 60, Kaisa, 53 and Reino, 52, a total of 866 years.

Finland began searching for oldest families because of a claim by a Belgian family in Ellezell that, with a total of 700 years, they were the oldest in the world.

Two other Finnish families, each with thirteen brothers and sisters, pass the 700 years mark. In Kemioe, southwest Finland, lives the Sederstroem family, with 750 years between them, and in Ypaejae in the south the children of the late small-holder Heikki Tuura and his wife Ida total 838 years.

Rabbits' Invasion Of Australia Menaces Wool And Food Supply

By GEORGE McCADDEN
United Press Staff Writer

SYDNEY, Australia, March 11. —A great "grey plague" of rabbits in the vast paddocks of Australia is ravaging important world supplies of beef, wool and wheat.

The wild grey rabbit, Australia's old enemy, has in the past year multiplied his importance into a national problem with international aspects.

Generally good crop conditions in recent years have been his delight. Experts say that if widespread drouth comes, the rabbit would get most of the surviving grass and herbage and Australia could lose millions of her 100,000,000 sheep in six months.

If not controlled, the rabbit invasion will affect Australia's capacity to contribute food and wool to economic recovery programs.

Drougths Are Problem

Localized drouths already have forced some graziers to move livestock to other areas, notably in Queensland. But reports published overseas that "millions" of head of livestock perished in the localized drouths could not be confirmed.

The war breached Australia's defenses against the rabbit. Local production of wire netting for rabbit fences, first line of defense, slumped when steel was diverted to armaments. Even before the war, much of Australia's countless thousands of miles of rabbit and dingo (wild dog) fences was inadequately maintained.

Sheep and cattle stations, some as large as small European countries, never fully regained manpower lost to the war effort.

Australia currently produces an estimated one mile of wire netting for every 100 miles needed.

Funds Lacking

Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley's administration has dipped into slim dollar funds to authorize import from dollar areas of approximately $320,000 worth of wire netting for the quarter ending March 31. This is about 1,000 tons, sufficient for 700 to 1,000 miles. Also authorized are 24,000 tons from Germany, France and Belgium. American fumigants like cyanogas and larvacide and French chloropicrin also will be imported.

Pastoral experts say that is a drop in the bucket; that between 100,000 and 300,000 miles of wire netting is needed.

The government also has established a rabbit study section in its council for scientific and industrial research under direction of a British biologist, Francis Ratcliffe.

Serious long-range effects of the rabbit invasion are feared because the pest invites erosion. Together with dry seasons and over-grazing, rabbits have helped the gradual degeneration of hundreds of thousands of square miles of highly stocked range.

Ordinary warfare includes digging and plowing out the rabbits, fumigating their warrens, trapping, use of poison bait, and dogs. But fences are the graziers' ramparts in this never-ending war.

Eat Through Trees

H. Hamblin reported that rabbits have eaten through eight-inch citrus trees near his property in the state of Victoria. G. Gilbey, a stock agent at Boggabri, NSW, said:

"In some parts of this district, rabbits are just a grey, moving mass."

Farmers and graziers slaughter as many as 4,000 rabbits in a one-day drive, using sticks and dogs after driving the pests into an enclosure. Professional rabbiters are earning up to $180 a week, trapping as many as 1,500 rabbits at a time in water hole enclosures.

How many rabbits are there in Australia? This correspondent asked a top expert. He estimated at least one billion.

Variously from six to 12 rabbits eat as much herbage as a sheep. Sixty eat as much as a cow and drink more water.

Japan Government To Sell Property

TOKYO, March 11 (AP) — The Japanese government is so hard up it is looking around for stuff it can sell.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida ordered a survey of salable government property. He hopes it will put some cash in the kitty.

The prime minister has his eye on some of the transportation lines the government picked up during the war.

Any one want to buy a bus line? Or a small railroad?

Switzerland has an aerial cable railway which ascends 3,600 feet in its 13,000-foot length and can carry 450 passengers an hour strapped in the twin seats hung from its cable.

Hamline Drubs Tech, 80-56

Raiders Drop From Tourney

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 11. (Special)—Quarter-final play in the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball tournament proved too rough for the Red Raiders of Texas Tech, who were dumped unceremoniously from the tourney last night by Hamline university of St. Paul, Minn., 80-56.

The Raiders, who had won their first two games with comparative ease, never got started against the Pied Pipers, tournament favorites. They were behind from the beginning and never came close to challenging the superior Minnesotans.

Grove Paces Tech

Tech made a game try to get into the game late in the second half, when they were trailing by some 25 points. Their rally earned them the respect of the 8,000 fans, but it didn't cut into the Hamline lead enough to count.

Don Grove, who had 24 points, and Wayne Bowles, who collected 11, tried to steer the Raiders into the race, but they couldn't compete on anything resembling even terms with Hamline.

Biggest thorn in their side all night was Verne Mikkelsen, the towering Hamline center, who collected 28 points in 30 minutes of playing time. The six-foot, seven-inch pivot man turned in another of his sensation performances.

Tech made mistakes at the beginning, in fact they could do nothing right, while Hamline was hotter than a prairie grass fire and did virtually nothing wrong. The winning cagers held a substantial 47-22 lead at the half and the game was about over then.

Four minutes had been played before the Raiders got their first field goal. Nine more minutes expired before Wimpy Hill hit Tech's second goal from the field. By that time Hamline had built up a 20-point lead of 28-8.

Tech Rallies

Tech rallied briefly in the last eight minutes of the contest and picked up some ground as Bowles, Hill and Charlie Pinnell found the range. But they didn't have enough to offset the brilliant shooting of Hamline's Mikkelsen and Hal Haskins.

Mikkelsen pouted in 20 points on nine fielders and two free throws and Haskins' deadly overhand shot was good for four fielders and three charity tosses.

Tech passed erratically and couldn't penetrate Hamline's defense. Practically all of the Raiders' field goals came from long distance.

Lockney And Olton Fighters To Clash

LOCKNEY, March 11 (Special) Lockney and Olton High school boxing teams collide here Tuesday night in the first local boxing card of the season.

Coach Curtis Kelley of Lockney's Longhorns will have 15 of his squad ready to meet a similar number of fighters from Olton, coached by Melvin Simmons. Simmonds has a strong squad this year and the matches should be close.

The first bout will start at 8 p. m.

Calvin Pyle, the great high school middleweight, will pace the Longhorn squad, which also features some other experienced boxers. Pyle never has been defeated in a high school match, losing to two college middleweights after piling up 20 consecutive victories.

Other Lockney fighters to be seen in action include Charles Dippery, featherweight; Hershel Horston, bantamweight; Donald Reecer, flyweight; Donnie Bybee, light heavyweight; Ray Ferguson, welterweight; Jerry McCullough, welterweight; DeJuan Strickland, middleweight; Malcolm Howard lightweight; and John Woods, middleweight.

Coach Kelley has a squad of 50 promising ringsters working out and from this group Kelley is confident he will mold a capable fighting team.

The Olton team made a fine showing in the Golden Gloves at Lubbock and Coach Simmons has a tested group of fighters.

BASEBALL

LAKELAND, Fla. — Art Houtteman, young Detroit pitcher, was severely injured in an auto crash at the Tigers' training camp late last night.

NEW YORK — Danny Gardella said he would seek a court order permitting him to re-enter baseball immediately.

RACING

MIAMI, Fla.—Carrara Marble won the Kendall purse over six furlongs at Gulfstream park.

MISCELLANEOUS

NEW YORK—University of Miami and Yale gained final round of intercollegiate polo tournament, defeating Georgetown and Cornell.

NEW YORK — Washington won the eastern Golden Gloves team boxing championship with three of the eight new eastern seaboard titleholders.

Promising Detroit Hurler Is Injured

LAKELAND, Fla., March 11 (AP) The Detroit Tigers' hopes of making a fight for the 1949 American league pennant got a smashing blow today.

They lost Art Houtteman, young pitcher of high promise.

In a Lakeland hospital early today it was discovered that the 21-year-old righthander suffered a skull fracture in an automobile-truck collision last night.

A medical report also said that Houtteman suffered a fracture of the cervical vertebrae, which is just below the skull.

The Tigers frankly didn't know when the fast-ball youngster would return to action—if at all.

Bouts Slated At Boys Club

Ten bouts are on the card for tonight at the Lubbock Boys club, the first Friday night of three successive Friday night fights.

The bouts, which begin at 7:30 p. m. and which may be seen by the public without charge, is under the direction of the American Business club tonight. Club members will serve as judges, timekeepers and announcers, while O. J. "Bo" Sexton will be the referee.

Boys Work Out

Boys club fighters have been working out daily under the direction of Glen White, former Golden Gloves fighter. White says that the boys are in good physical condition and that they will stage good fights.

Several of the boys appearing tonight are veterans of Boys club bouts and are expected to put on a good show. In the 80-pound class, the bout between Tinker Carlen and James Pritchard should be a fine one. Derald Odorizzi and Jimmy Godfrey also will fight at the 80-pound weight and they are well-matched.

One of the more interesting matches will pair 99-pound James Williams and 122-pound Maxwell Nolan. Coach White says the 23-pound weight disparity doesn't mean a thing.

The complete card follows: Buddy Sherley, 54, vs Buddy Mayfield, 60; Darrell Odorizzi, 79; vs Jimmy Godfrey, 77; Joe Williams, 112, vs Fritz Stanley, 115; James Williams, 99, vs Maxwell Nolan, 122; Gene Calvert, 67, vs Charles Thomas, 66; Duane Erving, 99, vs Buddy Neal, 110; Nolan Vincent, 120, vs Narlon Daugherty, 115; Tinker Carlen, 83, vs James Pritchard, 78; Jack Godfrey, 118, vs Ray Thornton, 118; and Robert Warren, 74, vs Jerry Thomas, 68.

School coaches and superintendents will be guests of honor with the two-team squad, while several prominent college coaches also have been invited to attend. Host for the dinner is Lockney High school, which won the district title and dropped the bi-district playoff.

Among the coaches expected here for the dinner tonight are Dell Morgan of Texas Tech, Frank Kimbrough of West Texas State Teachers college, Jack Curtice of Texas Mines, Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian university and Rusty Russell of Southern Methodist.

A special program has been planned in the way of entertainment, while guest coaches will be called upon for a few remarks. Pictures of the Cotton Bowl game or the TCU-SMU football game will conclude the entertainment.

Lockney High school's orchestra will play throughout dinner and a choral group from the school will entertain with songs.

Bout Feature Of El Paso Ring Card

Henderson Battles Frenchman Tonight

EL PASO, March 11. (Special) Jean Mougin, former lightweight champion of France, and Bill Henderson, promising young Lubbock boxer, square off here tonight in the 10-round main event on Promoter Dickie Griffin's card.

The fight has attracted widespread interest and promises to be a sellout at the gate, with the odds against the young Lubbock slugger. Mougin has piled up 11 wins and a draw against two defeats since coming to the United States with Marcel Cerdan, world's middleweight champion.

Mougin has been impressing local fight followers with the speed and power of his punches while going through daily local drills. He has greater experience in the pro ring and that helps his position as favorite.

Mougin's speed in the ring compares with Henderson's relentless drive and in gym workouts he has flashed a smashing right hand that promises ill for the Lubbock boy, if it connects. Manager Andre Dupre reminded local fans, also, that Mougin never has been knocked out—yet.

Henderson, with Handler Babe Ritchie, arrived here late Wednesday and confined himself to a light drill Thursday.

The fight will be broadcast by KSEL, Lubbock, beginning at 10 p. m., with Bill Parsely doing the blow by blow account.

Lubbock All-Stars Defeat Slaton Five

LORENZO, March 11. (Special)—Lubbock colored All-Stars defeated the Slaton Wolverine basketball team here last night, 33-23.

Leading the Lubbock quintet with 12 points was George Smith, sharp-shooting basketeer, who played a fine game on offense and defense.

Raymond Hill kept the Wolverines in the game and hit the basket for 14 points, but his efforts were not enough. The contest was never in doubt, and the All-Stars held an 18-8 advantage at halftime.

Tourney Tilts Won By Roosevelt, Post

HILLSBORO, Mar. 11 (Special) Two teams from the South Plains, Roosevelt and Post High schools, remain in the thick of the consolation bracket fight at the girls state basketball tournament, but New Home no longer is on hand.

The New Home girls bowed out yesterday to East Chambers, which turned in a 33-31 overtime upset of the team favored by many to win the title.

Roosevelt, Post Win

Roosevelt, eliminated from championship play the first afternoon, along with Post, remained in the consolation running. They beat Huckaby 46-23 and Post topped West Columbia 48-28.

Roosevelt meets Cranfills Gap tonight at 6 in a semi-final round consolation bracket game and Post meets Kildare in the following game at 7 p. m. in the other consolation semi-final.

New Home's defeat was entirely unexpected. They had shown great strength in winning their first tournament game 63-32, but suffered a severe sag from that high point yesterday. Colleen Savage, whose 30 points Wednesday paced New Home, was held to two points and only shot five times during the game.

Roosevelt Coasts In

Ozell Collins, East Chambers dynamo, caged a goal in the first 30 seconds of the overtime and her teammates stalled for the next minute and a half for the victory.

Emma Dean Robinson snared 18 points for New Home and Joy Dean McClintock had 11. Joan Ryans led East Chambers with 16 points.

Roosevelt had no trouble with Huckaby after the first quarter, when they held a tight 9-8 lead. The Roosevelt girls went ahead 21-14 at the half and the game became a rout from that point.

Jones Paces Roosevelt

Bertha Lou Jones paced the Roosevelt team with 30 points, tying the mark set by Colleen Savage of New Home yesterday. Dorothy Pack had 12 points for the losers.

Janet and Joy Stewart, sisters, led Post to an almost identical victory over West Columbia. Janet had 22 points, twice the number had, while Jeannine Fluitt pitched in 15 points. Mary Katherine Brand topped the losers with 17 points.

Post held a 16-8 lead at the first quarter, upped it to 26-16 at the half and pulled far away in the third quarter, which ended with Post leading 39-21.

Illness Hits Lubbock Nine

The intra-squad game, scheduled for this afternoon by the Westerner baseball team, may not be played, depending on the condition of four regulars who missed practice yesterday because of illness.

Those absent were Bob Brown, Jack McCabe, Morris Turner, and Jim Wilson, but the extent of their illness was not known. It is hoped that all four will be back in uniform today.

Game Is Postponed

Coach Fred Taylor had planned a brief practice game Thursday but the absence of the four players prohibited this. Time of the intra-squad game, if held, is tentatively set at 4 o'clock. A practice game is scheduled with a Boys Club team Saturday afternoon, and the time for the game will be decided later today.

Opposing this team probably will be Merle Burchett, catcher; Dean White, first base; Mac Taylor, second base; Dan Adkisson, shortstop; Morris Turner, third base; James Burgess, right field; Jimmy Sexton, center field; Bob Rooker, right field; and Jack McCabe, pitcher.

The team is still in the conditioning stage, but the players are rounding into shape rapidly as the weather continues warm. Hitting and fielding practice have been the main points stressed in practice thus far, and the boys' arms have been improving very fast.

MILLER GETS POST

KANSAS CITY, March 11 (AP)—W. A. "Gus" Miller, athletic director of West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon, Texas, is the new president of the National Association of Intercollegiate basketball. He was elected last night to succeed Ray Hanson of Western Illinois State college.

Between The Lines. . .

By Joe Kelly

We wish that we were able to announce that Lubbock and Shallowater High school basketball teams were going to meet, especially since the controversy rages among followers of both teams. Lubbock fans have called to say that there is no question that the Westerners would win—easily—and Shallowater fans have written to say that they are just as convinced the Mustangs would walk off with the game. It appears as though the embryonic feud never will be settled this year. And next year will be too late, for Derrell Murphy and the other fine players at Shallowater will be gone, as will a couple of the Lubbock stars.

Lubbock High school officials said that they wished the game might have been played, either during the regular season or between the bi-district playoffs and the state tournament. Now it is too late, from their standpoint. They say that too many of the basketball players are also baseball men and they already have lost a week from diamond work. Coach Fred Taylor naturally is eager to get Charles Galey and Jim Wilson into uniform for the District 1-AA diamond race, which isn't so far away. As a result, there will be no chance to play the game. It sure would have been interesting.

Mrs. Dee Hancock writes from Shallowater that her husband, Superintendent of Schools of that city, Coach Charlie Booz of the basketball squad, members of the team and members of the faculty wish to express their appreciation for the recent support given the Mustangs. A large number of business firms and businessmen contributed toward the expense of taking the Mustangs to the state tournament in Austin and the group mentioned wishes to thank them. Incidentally, they not only included firms and men in Shallowater, but also from Lubbock, Idalou and other South Plains cities.

George C. Leftwich of Shallowater, in a fine letter, raises some points that we'd like to pass on—with comments. He saw all the games at Austin, which we didn't. First of all, George, we haven't been taunting Shallowater. We know that they were eager to play Lubbock. The vice versa isn't true. But about the Class B teams being the class of the entire tournament, we aren't in agreement. Al Williams also saw the games and we are going by his capable judgment when we disagree. There are, of course, Class B teams that beat Class AA teams, but we doubt that the Class B champion ever will lick the Class AA champion, when both play their best games.

A fact omitted sometimes is as harmful as a false statement, with which we'll agree. Therefore, we'd like to know where Dallas got the information on the unanimous angle. Williams said that the selections were not so announced and the Associated Press, which we used, didn't so state. Incidentally, it is Derrell, not Darrell, or else he's wrong. Lubbock players, not offering an alibi or even mentioning it voluntarily, said that two high school squads, both eliminated, made so much noise in the hotel Friday night that the Westerners didn't get more than two hours sleep. That was a fact omitted, lest readers get the notion Lubbock was crying over its loss.

Along with Roosevelt at the state girls tournament, George, is Post and New Home, another pair of teams from the South Plains. You see, we don't even stop with Lubbock county. It costs money to get reports on all games, but we consider it money well spent. We have no intention of confining the sports pages to Lubbock, or even Lubbock county, as you would know if you were a constant reader. Incidentally, in the Sunday, Feb. 27, Avalanche-Journal, we pointed out that Sudan's defeat in Class A at Canyon prevented the South Plains from having a representative from each class at the state tournament. So much for that.

We were privileged to attend the Annual Athletic dinner at Cooper High school this week. The affair attracted the largest crowd of any high school sports dinner to which we've been and it was good from start to finish. The Pirate football team didn't win many games last fall. But that didn't stop them from having a great spirit. And the girls basketball team didn't win the title either, but they were present and enjoying things at the dinner. You can't help but admire boys and girls who smile at defeat and come back the next time with renewed spirit. With the type of attitude prevalent at Cooper, don't sell them short in athletic plans.

THE ROUNDUP: Texas Tech's basketball team was stung last night, but the Red Raiders never quit trying. Thus they wound up the season with 21 triumphs in 30 starts. . . You might, if you like boxing, drop in on the bouts at the Boys club tonight. They're free and you'll enjoy the kids in action. . . Here's wishing Bill Henderson good luck tonight in El Paso. He may need all he can get. . . There's some doubt that Jim Prince of Midland will report to the Hubbers. . . Tech's grid forces already shape up as being stronger in the line, a healthy note for next fall. . . Social note: Warlick Carr will be knotted in May, or so his Exchange club brothers said at the Westerner luncheon. . . . Cotton Russell, Hubber hurler, was married last fall and now tips the beam at 180 pounds.

Paschal Quint Meet Favorite

HOUSTON, March 11 (AP) — Seven teams will be out to stop favored Paschal of Fort Worth today as the new Big City conference begins to write its own basketball record book.

Paschal's undefeated Panthers are practically a unanimous choice to capture the first basketball championship of the new division of the University of Texas Interscholastic league.

Chief opposition is expected from three other city champions —North Dallas of Dallas, Lanier of San Antonio and Milby of Houston.

But the second place teams have not conceded anything. Some railbirds who watched the teams in their final practice sessions yesterday thought it would be surprising to see an all-Fort Worth finals—Polytechnic against Paschal.

Other runner-up teams in the two-day tournament are Sunset of Dallas, Brackenridge of San Antonio and San Jacinto of Houston.

This being their first tournament, the Big City boys do not have a set of records of their own. They will be shooting at marks set in the league's three-way Austin tournament but everything they do today and tomorrow will contribute to a Big City conference record book.

An undefeated full-season record of 21 victories held by Paschal is impressive but it doesn't appear to worry Sunset, the Panther's first round opponent at 3:30 p. m. today.

Lanier tangles with San Jacinto in the tournament's first game at 2 p. m.

Arkansas Cops Win Over Arizona Team

DALLAS, March 11 (AP)—Arkansas whipped Arizona, 65-44, for the right to represent District Six in the western NCAA regional basketball tournament in Kansas City next week.

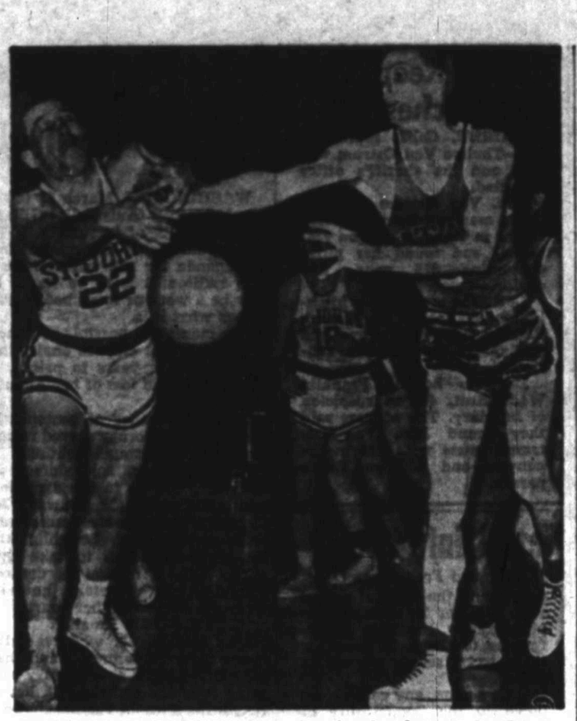

The big, gangling Razorbacks ran over the Wildcats last night with ease.

Ken Kearns and Cliff Horton sparked Arkansas past Arizona in the finals of a four-team elimination tournament.

Arizona ousted Baylor and Arkansas dumped Rice Wednesday night.

Arkansas got the jump at the game's outset on a free throw by Johnny Campbell. Leon Blevins, Arizona's ace, tied the score on a charity toss, but Johnny Campbell's field goal sent the Razorbacks into a lead they never gave up.

At the half it was Arkansas 29, Arizona 14.

SWING YOUR PARTNER—Ray Dombrosky, left, of St. John's thought he had the ball, but Utah's Murray Satterfield had other ideas, so both wound up with entwined fingers. The Utes beat the Brooklyn team, 66-57, at Madison Square Garden.

Cleveland Boasts Top Rookie Talent

TUCSON, Ariz., March 11 (AP) —Speaking for his own club, at least, Manager Lou Boudreau of Cleveland feels that the caliber of big league playing talent is returning to pre-war standard much faster than he and other baseball men had expected.

"Most of us thought it would take six years for the game to recover from the war—for a crop of real good rookies to come up," recalls the still-youthful pilot of the world champions.

"But I've changed my mind since this camp opened. It looks to me like they might already be here. I can't recall at any time in my career seeing such a bunch of youngsters who look like they could step right in and take over.

"I honestly believe," he continued seriously, "that if Ken Keltner, Joe Gordon and I all were out of our infield at once, that I could stick in a bunch of rookies that wouldn't hurt us at all."

Boudreau is especially high on Ray Boone, the rookie shortstop who rocked Texas league pitching for .355 last year and who is firmly established as the man who eventually will step into Lou's shoes.

But he is almost equally enthusiastic about Al Rosen, a .327 hitting third-baseman from Kansas City; Herman Reich, a combination infielder-outfielder who drove in 100 runs for Portland, and Fred Marsh, who infielded for Oklahoma City and hit .305.

"They all look like they're ready to play big league ball," Lou said. "That isn't bad for us, you know, because there'll be a lot of replacements on this club in the next few years."

PLAN DISCOVERED AND THWARTED

Communist Plot To Kill U. S. General In Greece Disclosed

ATHENS, March 11. (AP)—Minister of Public Order Constantine Rentis announced today that a plot to assisinate Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, head of the American military mission to Greece, had been discovered and thwarted.

Rentis attributed the assassination plot to Communists. He said a number of arrests had been made.

Rentis said police seized all persons connected with the plot "before they were able to strike."

Admission Given

Those arrested admitted they were preparing to kill Van Fleet between March 20 and March 25, he said.

The period set for the assassination had been proclaimed a national "Work and Victory week" sponsored by Mrs. Henry F. Grady, wife of the American ambassador.

American authorities here said they had heard nothing about the plot.

Rentis would not say how the alleged plotters planned to kill Van Fleet or how many were involved.

Often Travels Alone

Van Fleet often travels about Greece alone or with a handful of American or Greek officers. Greek plainclothesmen guard him constantly.

Van Fleet has been under vitriolic attack by the "Free Greece" Communist radio, which has accused him of "murdering" several arrested Communist leaders.

The assassination plot, however, was the first announced attempt against his life during more than a year's service in Greece.

compartment of a car belonging to Travis Hollar of 2308 Ninth. The bottom of the comoartment had been cut out, Hollar said. Coats' property ,except the money, had been recovered by police.

Car Is Found

Mitt Bullard, of 2310 Fourteenth, said that a blue Chevrolet wheel and tire, value $25, had been taken from the rear of his car.

A 1947 Chrysler sedan, stolen in Lubbock Sunday from J. L. Shipley of Buckeye, Ariz., has been recovered in Modesto, Calif., by California state police, local officers were informed Thursday.

Almost $1,00 in fines, exclusive o fcosts, and almost two years' imprisonment in county jail were assessed Thursday after 10 persons had pleaded guilty of 11 misdemeanor charges in county court.

Records of County Attorney Waggoner Carr showed that Judge Walter Davies had assessed levies totaling $995, plus court costs and 20 months in jail.

Motions to set aside judgment and grant new trial were filed in two cases wherein Judge Davies had assessed a fine of $100 and court costs and six months in county jail in each. The defendant was A. B. Lenox, 32, a Lubbock negro who pleaded guilty to aggravated assault on Frances Lucile Foley, a negro woman, and of carrying a pistol.

Attorney S. P. Boling, of the law firm of Boling, Smith and Allen, filed the motions which alleged, in effect, that Lenox was not guilty of carrying a pistol, inasmuch as he was on his own premises March 6, when both alleged offenses were charged to have happened, nor of the aggravated assault charge inasmuch as he was "repeling an unlawful attack upon him" by the woman.

The motions further said that the defendant was illiterate and did not know his "legal rights" when he pleaded guilty, had no counsel and, if given an opportunity can "prove by competent and reliable witnesses" that "both transactions charged occurred simultaneously . . . and that he can prove an absolute defense" in each charge.

Judge Davies, presiding in another trail, had not ruled on the motion, so Boling insisted that the defendant be released from jail pending an announcement on the motion. Lenox was released from county jail on bond of $1,000 formerly posted for his trial appearance, in accordance with the defense demand, it was learned this afternoon.

Other judgments entered:

C. M. Daniel, about 30, fined $250 and costs on a liquor law violation charge; Ray W. Rogers, 29, of Lubbock route 3, eight months in jail and court costs, check law violation (his plea having been entered by his attorney); Rosetta Anderson, $10 and costs, check law violation; L. D. Wall, 40, $150 and costs, violation of liquor law; A. J. Hoggins, of Plainview, $10 and costs, check law violation; Oscar J. Dutton, 42, of route 1, $75 and costs and revocation of driver's license, drunk driving; Dori Glenn Alford, 32, $150 and costs and revocation of driver's license, drunk driving; Don Edwards, 47, $75 and costs and revocation of driver's license, drunk driving; and F. C. Hedrick, 37, $75 and costs and revocation of driver's license, drunk driving.

him from Big Spring to El PBaso.

Detective Capt. W. C. Wolverton said the motorist, W. A. Pettinger of Dallas, later said that the man detained was not the hitchhiker.

El Paso authorities immediately took up a new hunt for the hitchhiker. Lord's body was discovered by Bill Marshall and John Dekker, both 21. The two students climbed through a window after finding doors locked.

Cleburne is the county seat of Johnson county, home of Dr. Lord.

RAILS RALLY

NEW YORK, March 11. (AP)—The stock market snapped out of week-long apathy today with a rally in rails.

Gains among the leaders were from fractions to more than 2 points with rails as a group cshowing the best.

Volume of more than 1,000,000 shares for the day was the highest in about a month.

Volume was pushed by heavy trading in commonwealth and Southern which changed hands in blocks of 10,000 and 15,000 shares at times. Wall street sources said the stock was moving into investment hands. The demand raised the price to a new high for the year.

Railroads started their rally on comparatively light demand, and steels and motors followed along.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 11. (AP)—Cotton futures moved lower today under pressure of liquidation, influenced partly by weakness in grain.

Liquidation in nearby March, anticipating final notice day on March 17, was active with a good deal of switching from that to later positions.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 11. (AP)—A mid-morning selling flurry left grains, soybeans and lard with fairly large losses on the board of trade today. The market recovered a bit from its extreme lows, but did not show any great rallying ability.

Corn lost more than 3 cents while wheat was down as much as 4 cents when the day's lows were touched. Oats and rye followed the downturn in other commodities.

Reports that more wheat was moving out of producing areas in the Southwest, an expansion in bookings of cash corn to more than 100,000 bushels and an easier tone in the soybean oil market contributed to a generally bearish atmosphere.

Wheat closed 2 to 3¾ lower, May $2.13¾-2.14. Corn was 1½-2⅝ lower, May $1.30½-1.30, oats were ½-⅝ lower, May 66⅝-¾, rye was ½-1¼ lower, May $1.27½, soybeans were 4 to 5½ lower, March $2.29¾-2.30, and lard was 30 to 30 cents a hundred pounds lower, March $12.15.

News Briefs

Last rites for S. W. Smith, 72, of Slide, were to be conducted at 2:30 p. m. today in Rix Funeral home chapel, with Rev. O. A. Graydon, retired Methodist minister, and Rev. H. F. Dunn, pastor of Cooper Methodist church, named to officiate. Interment was to follow in Lubbock cemetery with Rix Funeral home in charge. Mr. Smith died Wednesday night in St. Mary's hospital.

Daniel W. Davis and Fred C. Stanley, both of Lubbock, are among the freshman students at Texas A. & M. college who have been listed among the distinguished students for the fall, 1948, semester. To be eligible for the honor, a student must have no grade below "C" and must have completed at least 16 semester hours with a grade point average of not less than 2.25 per credit hour.

Several neighbors Thursday "pitched in" at the Howard Wells farm, five miles from Lubbock near the Brownfield highway to help prepare the land for spring planting. The work had been delayed for some time because of the illness of Wells' wife, who has been a patient in St. Mary's hospital here since mid-December.

Rev. J. T. Clinton, of 1916 Ave. O, Thursday afternoon departed for Clayton, N. M., to attend funeral services for his brother, G. D. Woman Keeps Cool And Catches Thief

MALIBU, Calif., March 11 (AP)—Thelma Van Ostrum was cool and the sheriff's office collected.

Mrs. Van Ostrum said she saw a man run from her parked car in Topanga canyon yesterday and found her purse containing $76 gone. She couldn't catch him.

Later she picked up a hitchhiker who looked very much like the man. She drove him straight to the sheriff's substation.

Deputies booked Franklin Wade Rutt, 48, on suspicion of burglary. The officers said they found Mrs. Van Ostrum's purse with $26 in the canyon—and $50 on Rutt's person.

New Paint

paint and the thing it makes visible, either for seeing or for photography. It makes no difference to the paint whether the object it sees is warmer or colder.

On a screen, any cold object down to the temperature of liquid air and probably colder makes itself visible by its coldness. That means anything on earth, because liquid air is colder than any natural object on this planet. The paint method of seeing in the dark is much more sensitive then the wartime sniperscopes and snooper-scopes which saw enemies in darkness by the heat of their bodies. The paint recognizes smaller temperature changes than the war instruments.

Used as a paint on a kettle, engine, radio tube or the side of your house, the phosphor shows all the different temperatures by yellow colors. The cooler, the brighter is the yellow. Painted over a large object, the paint does the job of a hundred thermometers, and all the warm and cool spots can be seen simultaneously. They can be photographed. Since they show as ordinary light, no special film is needed.

The paint shows heat changes that never could be seen before, like the warming-up of a radio tube and the boiling of a still.

Express Lockout

gotiations now going on in Chicago.

Claiming employes were failing "to carry out their assigned duties," the company yesterday laid off 1,177 men, and said the employment of some 7,800 other package handlers and drivers would be terminated by tomorrow.

Sullivan said 3,500 others had been laid off in Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Although the company did not confirm this, an official said it was "likely" that layoffs would result in cities throughout the country as a result of the paralyzing situation here.

An embargo has been clamped on all less-than-carload express shipments into and out of the metropolitan area, which handles 25 per cent of all express shipped in the United States. This means that points outside New York cannot accept packages for delivery here, nor can parcels be accepted here for delivery elsewhere.

Because of the slowdown, the company says it plans to keep only 1,000 supervisory and office workers on the job out of a total of some 10,000 workers in 10 terminals and 56 depots in the metropolitan area.

Sullivan said the threatened picketing of the two big passenger stations, for which not date was set, was contemplated to force the railroads to "bring pressure" against the agency. The agency is owned by major railroads.

He said the picket lines would be respected by ticket sellers, office workers, baggagemen and some maintenance men, all brotherhood members. The plan must first be approved by a council of local unions and by international officers, he said.

The Chicago negotiations, in progress since last April, concern express agency employes throughout the country. The union is seeking a 40-hour week, instead of 44 hours, two consecutive days off and a 25-cent hourly wage increase. Present wages range from $1.32 to $1.34 hourly.

The company has offered a seven-cent hourly hike retroactive to last October, and a staggered 40-hour work week at the same rate paid for 44 hours last year.

Jury Declares "Sally" Guilty

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The Mildred E (Axis Sally) Gillars verdict: guilty of treason.

Her punishment for broadcasting propaganda for the wartime German radio still is to be fixed. It may be a week or more before she knows what it is.

The maximum possible sentence is death in the electric chair; the minimum, five years in prison, a $10,000 fine and loss of her American citizenship.

Even in advance of sentencing, Miss Gillars' attorney served notice that he is not through fighting.

His first step, said James J. Laughlin, will be to file a motion asking Federal Judge Edward M. Curran to set aside the verdict and order a new trial. Laughlin has five days in which to take this action. If his motion is denied, Laughlin told reporters, he will carry the case to higher courts.

No Visible Emotion

Miss Gillars, 48, who tearfully swore from the witness stand that she always loved this country and never intended to betray it, heard the verdict without visible emotion.

Attired in the same black dress she had worn almost every day of the long trial (it started Jan. 24), Miss Gillars stood grimly erect as the jury filed in at 4:53 p. m. yesterday.

Her expression did not seem to change when the foreman, Henry G. Davis, jr., said in a low voice that the jury had found her guilty, thus rejecting her story that she was forced to do propaganda work for the Nazis.

Then, at Laughlin's request, each juror was asked separately how he or she voted. In turn, the seven men and five women said "guilty." All the jurors looked solemn and some answered in a voice so low as to be almost inaudible.

Filibuster

fall on a mere majority of the Senate. If the Southern filibuster is actually to be halted, there will have to be another vote with two thirds of the senators voting to stop it.

A half dozen senators apparently hold the balance of power in the test of Barkley's ruling.

Barkley held in a 25-minute opinion that the Senate had never confronted the situation it now faces.

Always before, he said, debate limitation had been denied against a motion such as Lucas' to take up a bill because there was some other pending business before the Senate.

So, he said, he didn't feel that previous decision were binding on him.

"This is the only time that an uncomplicated, bald, stark motion, without anything else on the calendar—without anything else before the Senate—has been presented," he said.

Barkley Tells Senate

Observing that the motion to take up a bill "is an indispensable process" in enacting legislation, Barkley told the Senate:

"The chair cannot believe the Senate . . . intended to freeze its own rules in perpetuity so that it could never vote to change them so long as there was a determined group of senators opposed to any change."

Whether Barkley will be upheld or reversed in this decision appeared to rest with half a dozen senators—most of them Republicans—who won't tell how they are going to vote.

The showdown will come when Lucas moves—probably today—to lay Russell's appeal on the table. Such a motion cuts off further debate and gives a majority of those voting a chance to decide the issue.

Southerners Confident

Southerners remained confident that, with the help of some Republicans, they can overturn Barkley's ruling.

That would mean that the administration—faced with a continued filibuster—would have to give up its attempt to change the rules and probably its effort to pass any civil rights legislation in this session.

On the other hand, if Barkley is upheld by a majority of those voting, Russell's appeal will be tabled and the Senate will vote automatically at 1 p. m., (EST), tomorrow on applying a debate gag.

Vet Group Opposes Man's Naturalization

DALLAS, March 11 (AP)—William McGraw, state American legion commander, said an attempt to block naturalization of Heinrich F. G. H. Molsen of Dallas would begin in federal court today.

McGraw said yesterday that Molsen's name was on a list of 653 Nazi representatives in the United States made public in March, 1946, by the House military affairs committee. The information was taken from Nazi records seized by the U. S. Army of occupation in Germany, he said.

McGraw said legion representatives would appear in federal court in an effort to force the department of immigration and naturalization to disclose records compiled during an investigation of Molsen.

areas. By lifting controls in many rural communities administration forces hope to pick up some votes for their rent bill.

Tighe Woods, rent administrator, agreed to the decontrol plan under a provision of the administration bill that would let him put these areas back under control if rents jump unreasonably.

Democratic Leader McCormack (Mass) formally announced that the administration would accept an amendment designed to assure a reasonable return to landlords on their investment. An amendment to do that was drafted by Rep. Brown (D-Ga).

McCormack asked Democrats from rural areas "to fight shoulder to shoulder" with city members to continue rent controls which he described as essentially an urban problem.

He said the rural members should remember that city members had helped them put farm price support and TVA legislation on the statute books.

Occupied Bed Not A Good Place To Hide

TOKYO, March 11 (AP)—A 20-year-old Japanese awoke this morning to find a farmer's daughter in bed beside him, hugging a bushel sack of rice.

His shouts brought his wife already up and at work. Later police came and arrested Miss Shizu Matsushima. The girl was one of a number of arrivals at the railway station whom police attempted to arrest on charges of bringing in black market foodstuffs.

Without dropping her sack, she had sprinted 200 yards, rushed into Minosuke Matsumoto's house and hid beside him in bed.

Police took Shizu with them. As they departed, they heard Mrs. Matsushima say:

"From now on, I'm not going to get up until you do."

arts and save or help some poor citizen from being treated by someone not qualified," he told the House.

The Senate adjourned early yesterday afternoon until Monday, and the House followed suit when the basic science struggle ended at 7:30 p. m.

Drop In New Bills

Senators dropped in 52 new bills as the sixtieth day of the session—today—brought the deadline for introduction of proposed legislation. The House suspended rules to extend the filing period two weeks because so many members still had bills to enter.

Even after the deadline, legislators may offer new bills with permission of four-fifths of the members in either House, and the governor may recommend emergency legislation at any time.

New Senate bills included two that would revise the system of preparing the state's budget for legislative consideration.

Senator A. M. Aikin, jr., of Paris proposed that control of the budget be shifted to the state auditor instead of the board of control. The auditor would be required to submit to the governor by Nov. 1 before each legislative session a budget showing state agencies' requests for funds and the audito's recommendations. The Governor would be required to write his recommendation on each item by Dec. 15.

Suggest Budget Board

Senator Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo suggested a state budget board consisting of the legislative audit committee and a director of the budget to be appointed by the committee and confirmed by the Senate. Submission of a preliminary budget to the Governor would be required by Dec. 1 preceding a session. The Governor would not have to add his recommendations.

The Senate approved a House bill permitting counties on the Gulf coast to create mosquito control districts, however, the bill was returned to the House with an amendment to require only 200 citizens to petition an election to dissolve such a district. The House version would require 2,000 signers.

Lt. Gov. Allan Shivers named Senator Rogers Kelley of Edinburg to head a newly-created Senate committee on water rights, irrigation and drainage.

Committee Approves

A Senate committee approved a proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of $200,000,000 in bonds to finance water conservation projects in Texas. The measure goes to the Senate calendar.

Public hearings scheduled before House committee last night were postponed until next week. Rep. Blake Timmons' bill reworking and modifying labor legislation of the past eight years will be heard at :30 p. m. Tuesday.

Other bills introduced in the Senate yesterday would:

Appropriate $400,000 for topographic mapping of the state and $100,000 for gaging small tributary streams, to be matched 50-50 by the U. S. Geological survey. By Searcy Bracewell of Houston.

Empower water control and improvement districts to develop, control, recharge and protect underground waters within the district. By John Bell of Cuero.

Set minimum prices of 7 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of sour gas and 7½ cents per 1,000 cubic feet of sweet gas produced in the Hugoton and Panhandle fields. By Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo.

Create a water conservation district comprising Colorado City, Big Spring, Midland and Odessa to develop water resources and to issue bonds when so authorized by an election. By Hill D. Hudson of Pecos.

Vatican Conference Proposed By Protestant World Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, March 11. — A proposal for an unprecedented conference on religious liberty between top Protestant world leaders and the Vatican comes before representatives of 35,000,000 American Protestants today.

Consideration of the plan is expected near the close of a four-day conference on Christian influences in international affairs. Sponsoring the meeting is the department of international justice and good will of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

The plan was conceived, a resolution said, beeause "recent actions of the Hungarian government leading to the conviction of Cardinal Mindszenty and (Lutheran) Bishop Ordass have shocked the conscience of freedom-loving men all over the world."

Action was postponed last night after lengthy debate.

Some delegates approached the question of conferring with the Vatican gingerly, they said, because they are dubious about reaching agreement on definitions of religious liberty.

The resolution said the conference was needed "in order that clear understanding be reached as to what each (Protestant and Catholic faiths) means by religious liberty for all men, everywhere and under every form of government, and as to the methods whereby the full observance thereof should be sought."

Meanwhile a majority of the delegates were on record as approving a statement that the U. S. "must maintain sufficient strength to convince Soviet Russia that attempts to impose an ideology by force cannot succeed. Some dissented and expressed their views in an appended statement.

Aggressive Morals Opposed

Also commended yesterday for attention and action by 57 demoninations and allied religious bodies participating in the conference were these ideas in the statement on Soviet-American tensions:

1. Unable to act on the Atlantic pact because they have not seen its text, delegates believe "no defensive alliance should be entered into which might validly appear as aggressive to Russia, as a Russian alliance with Latin American countries would undoubtedly appear to us."

2. Regional pacts within the United Nations framework are desirable if based on "a natural community of interest." But "regional military alliances are no substitute" for relief of human needs.

3. "Hysteria" in regard to Communism was decried. "Some of the methods" of the former un-American activities committees "should be condemned and discontinued."

4. "All share in responsibility for present evils. There is none who does not need forgiveness. A mood of genuine penitence is therefore demanded of us—individual and nations alike."

Interference Decried

5. "The extension of Soviet Communism has been accompanied by the threat and use of force" and as such must be condemned.

6. But "there should be no attempt by our government or any non-Communist government to destroy Communist institutions or to interfere with the right of any nation to choose freely its own form of political and economic organization."

7. And end of racial segregation and discrimination by "race, creed or color" was asked.

The statement on the Russian situation said:

"War with Soviet Russia is not inevitable. Contradictory ideologies can coexist without armed conflict, if propagated by methods of tolerance. We must maintain sufficient strength to convince Soviet Russia that attempts to impose an ideology by force cannot succeed. We must demonstrate that a non-aggressive Soviet Russia has nothing to fear from a democratic America.

An appended statement by delegates who objected to that paragraph said an "attempt temporarily to maintain the huge military force adequate to balance Russian military power and to force 'moderation' on the Soviet provides only the illusion of security."

district judge of the 110th judicial district, apparently was the most severely damaged. A loss of most of Judge Chapman's notes and briefs accumulated during the last 20 years was reported, in addition to considerable damage to his law library.

Others Less Seriously Damaged

The second-floor offices of District Clerk Mary L. McPherson, County Surveyor Walter D. Newell, and District Attorney John B. Stapleton all apparently were in fair condition, a preliminary examination indicated. Also, the second-floor Farm Security office escaped serious damage.

There was water damage to all rooms of the first floor, which includes offices of the sheriff, welfare office, county judge, county clerk, and county tax assessor - collector. However, losses were not thought to be heavy.

James F. Potts, state highway department resident engineer with offices in the basement, reported that one set of plans in his office was damaged to some extent. County School Superintendent Clarence Guffee, also with offices in the basement, said most of his records appeared to be in good condition.

Completed In 1912

The courthouse was completed in 1912, at which time the building contractor described it as "practically fireproof." Its survival in today's blaze proved it so. Local observers said the lower section of the building was saved largely because of its concrete-and-steel construction.

Also important in keeping losses at a minimum was the work of the three fire departments. The assistance of the Lockney department, under Fire Chief W. F. Carthel, and the Plainview group, under Fire Chief A. M. Hamilton was most helpful, observers stated. The work of all three departments was praised by the early-morning crowd of 200 persons who witnessed the fire.

The round dome of the courthouse recently had been replaced by a pyramid-shaped tower erected during the remodeling of the upper section of the building. Co-contractors for the repair job are S. F. Conner and Sam E. Thurmon. Thurmon, incidentally, first came to Floydada as a workman on one of the construction crews for the building of the courthouse. He has since made his permanent home here, while engaged in the building contracting business.

British House Okays Defense Costs For Small, Mobile Army

BY GLENN WILLIAMS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 11 — The House of Commons approved a defense budget yesterday calling for a cut-down but highly mobile army using a lot of made-over equipment.

The 304,700,000 pound ($1,218,800,000) measure was adopted without a record vote. It provides for an army of 550,000 men in the year starting April 1, a reduction of 300,000. The budget is 300,000 pounds ($1,200,000) less than for the current year.

War Minister Emanuel Shinwell told the House the budget was planned with the idea of concerted action with Britain's Brussels treaty partners if emergency arose. They are France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembour.

Must Find Means

Britain, he said, although unable to afford men and materials for a vast program of arms production, must find means to help those partners rearm even though this would require that she "draw substantially on our own reserves." The bill calls for rebuilding 65,000 army vehicles left over from World War II.

A keystone of British military planning, the war minister explained, "is in the provision of equipment (for her Brussels treaty partners) and in the arrangements for concerted action in an emergency."

Behind the army, he said, is a trained reserve of "formidable" proportions which never will fall below half a million men.

Can Rely On U. S.

Laborite R. T. Paget, who helped to pilot the bill through the House, told Commons Western Europe and Britain can rely on "the great American reserves in any war that one contemplates. America, to a large extent, fulfills what used to be a reserve problem."

Russia, he declared, has a potential army strength of 550 divisions which Western Europe can not match numerically.

He suggested that Britain's role in event of war would have to be rear-guard actions until the West could mobilize its full might. He proposed that Britain organize a foreign legion in the Middle East, patterned after the French foreign legion, and draw manpower for it especially from Africa.

Paget, a 41-year-old former naval officer, suggested the answer to Britain's army needs may lie in a mobile force of 20 divisions backed by air superiority. He said he understands Russia has 30 divisions, eight of them armored, in Germany alone.

"Behind that they have a mobilization strength of some 300 divisions and the probability of an eventual strength of some 550 divisions," he said.

"It would be suicide," Paget added, for Western Europe to try to finance a comparable aggregate military force.

"$2 A Finger" For Thumbing His Nose

CAMDEN, N. J., March 11. (AP) — Martin English of Moorestown, N. J., was fined $2 a finger yesterday for thumbing his nose at Patrolman Patrick Carr.

Carr told Police Judge John R. Dimona that English thumbed his nose at him after being reprimanded for striking a pedestrian.

English explained he had become angered and "lost my head."

"You are going to lose more than that," said Judge Dimona. "It will cost you $10 or $2 a finger."

Reds Predict Slump In U. S.

MOSCOW, March 11 (U.P.) — All Soviet newspapers today took the occasion of the announcement of the Russian budge to predict a depression was on the way in capitalist countries, particularly the United States.

The Soviet budget, announced yesterday, contains a defense appropriation of 79,000,000,000 rubles, ($15,000,000,000) compared to a projected military budget of $15,300,000,000 in the United States.

Largest Since War

This defense budget is the largest in Russia since the war and represents a 19 per cent increase over last year's military expenditures.

The total budget is 415,355,000,000 rubles, largest in the history of the Soviet Union.

Finance Minister Arseny Zverev, in announcing the budget last night, hailed it as an indication of steady material progress in the Soviet Union.

Papers Follow Lead

Newspapers followed this lead today, contrasting the Soviet economic improvement with the alleged deterioration in capitalist countries. Unemployment is rising in Western countries, inflation is growing and real wages are declining, the papers said.

The direct cause of inflation in the United States, the government paper Izvestia said, was "the growth of military expenditures made necessary by the aggressive policy of United States ruling circles."

Guests at the meeting were: Dewaine Whitis, Stanolind Oil and Gas Company; E. G. Weyel, Texas Railroad Commission; Phillip Johnson, instructor at Tech; Neal McCaskill, Atlantic Refining Company; George E. Crosby, Stanolind Oil and Gas company; Dr. Otis Taylor, jr., and Dr. Mattison, the speaker. Howard Loveless, jr., was accepted as a junior member of the society.

Lock Used For First Time In 36 Years

DALLAS, March 11 (AP)—For the first time in 36 years the main doors of the Dallas Morning News were locked yesterday—but it was just a test.

The doors had been unlocked since 1913 because some operation goes on 24 hours a day in the building.

Yesterday, Henry Braley, 72, maintenance worker, had new keys made. The others had been lost. He turned the lock only to test it.

However, in about 10 days, Braley will lock the doors again. By then, the News staff will have moved to its new plant several blocks away.

Murder Probe Is Completed

ATHENS, March 11 (AP)—The police at Salonika announced today they have completed their investigation of the murder of George Polk, Columbia Broadcasting System correspondent who was shot last May.

A 600-page file, including the deposition of one of those accused of the murder, has been submitted to the courts for their action, the announcement said. The deposition was signed by Gregory Staktopoulos, Greek Communist journalist. The government says Staktopoulos has confessed he was implicated in the crime.

Body Found In Bay

Polk, a war veteran from Fort Worth, Tex., was found hand and foot, blindfolded and shot, apparently while attempting to interview the former Greek Communist leader, Markos Vafiades. His body was found in Salonika bay May 16, eight days after he was slain.

The government announced last Oct. 8 it had established that Adam Mouzenides, a Greek Communist, was the trigger man, aided by Staktopoulos and others.

The file sent to the courts today contained reports of the examination of 160 witnesses.

The defendants will be tried in a group. Those still at large, including Mouzenides, will be tried in absentia.

Tulsa U. Has Rats In Belfry; Tiny Rodents Prove Valuable

By LEO MARKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

TULSA, March 10.—Tulsa university has rats—not bats—in the belfry. Because of crowded classroom conditions, the psychology department has set the little creatures up in housekeeping in the bell tower of Kendall Hall, oldest building on the campus.

The room has been whitewashed and heating installed at the insistence of Dr. and Mrs. Anchard Zeller, faculty members.

The rats are part of a recently-established animal laboratory.

Not The Usual Variety

Actually, the tiny rodents are not the usual variety of rat. They are hamsters, measuring from four to six inches in length, which were brought to this country from Syria by the United States Public Health Service.

"It was found," Mrs. Zeller explained, "that they are susceptible to certain diseases to which white rats are immune."

Students, especially the girls, don't mind handling these little pets which resemble guinea pigs.

"The hamster, a hibernating animal, is especially valuable in the winter because it goes into a coma and is that much easier to observe," Mrs. Zeller said.

Rats do not hibernate. People whose homes they infest will even swear they don't sleep at all.

Hamsters are also more economical to breed. "They have a rapid reproduction rate," according to Mrs. Zeller. "Baby hamsters are less than an inch long, but reach maturity in 31 days.

"The gestation period is 16 days, so it is possible to produce several generations in a short time."

They are being used in basic behavior research, problems of motivation and learning, and in the study of the nervous system.

Combination Handbag, Pillow Still Does Not Solve Problem

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 11. (U.P.) Science is wonderful, but it is hoped that a couple of New York City investors know what they're up to.

These fellows have invented a combination handbag and pillow, and all sorts of things are possible. The gentlemen are William Z. Norman and Julius Billig. The patent office looked over their gadget and granted Pat. No. 2,462,215.

A woman could carry the thing while traveling—like a purse. Then, instead of giving the porter on the train a quarter for a pillow, all she would have to do would be to dump the junk, make the bag airtight by snapping a couple of snaps, take a deep breath and puff out the sides of the bag, which, of course, is made of rubber.

No Answer For This

The inventors apparently never looked into a lady's purse. What's a gal going to do with her compact, lipstick, eyebrow shadow, bobby pins, tissue, gum, keys, hankies, coin purse, buttons, sewing kit, safety pins, receipts for old purchases, at least a dozen unanswered letters, etc.

She'd have to carry another handbag! The inventors apparently have no answer for this, but insist that the bag-pillow would be right handy on a fishing trip, which it likely would.

The inventors have been busy in recent weeks, trying to make life more pleasant for a man to get things done around the house. Like cutting the kids' hair and saving the dollar a clip costs in cities like Washington.

Made By Californian

This novel home cutter was invented by Warren M. Mansfield of Glendale, Calif., who must have had the same trouble other fathers have in making ends meet.

His invention looks like a dime store comb, except that it has a replaceable razor blade attached. Also hooked onto the top is a "magic knob" with which a man can adjust the blade to cut thin or coarse hair. I don't know whether the patent people tried it out, but apparently they did for now we have Pat. 2,462,519.

General Hodge Assailed In UN

LAKE SUCCESS, March 11 (AP) —The U. S. delegate walked out of a meeting of the U. N. economic and social council yesterday during an attack by Poland on an American general.

Polish Delegate Juliusz Katz-Suchy assailed Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, former military commander of U. S.-occupied Southern Korea. He called Hodge the former "gauleiter" of Korea.

U. S. Delegate Leroy Stinebower jumped up in protest. He said "the U. S. delegate does not intend to remain here while this type of insult is being thrown about."

Katz-Suchy continued, saying the "military administration" of the republic of Korea (South Korea) was maintained "against the will of the people, by U. S. dollars and U. S. bayonets." Council President James Thorn of New Zealand did not interrupt him.

Russians Rebuked

Stinebower and an assistant, Walter Kotschnig, left the chamber. Both returned after the Polish delegate had finished his tirade.

Shortly before Katz-Suchy's speech, Stinebower had rebuked the Russian delegate to the council for "one of the greatest remarks of disrespect to the General assembly ever heard in any hall or chamber of the United Nations."

The Soviet delegate, A. P. Morosov, had charged the United States "made use of the mechanical majority in the General assembly" to win recognition of the "docile puppet government" of Southern Korea."

The disputes came during routine consideration of whether to authorize the economic commission for Asia and the Far East to admit the republic of Korea as an associate member.

After Katz-Suchy's speech, Thorn told the delegates he hoped "this kind of dialectic tactics will not be repeated in the future."

Katz-Suchy answered he was "greatly surprised at the sensitivity of the U. S. delegate, who uses such terms as satellites."

Luther married Miss Edwina Allen of Amarillo. In 1937 he bought the Lubbock Transfer and Storage company. He changed the name of the firm to Luther Transfer and Storage in 1945 when he bought an El Paso warehouse company. Sabotage In Berlin Punishable By Death

BERLIN, March 11 (AP) — The Russians today decreed the death penalty for economic sabotage in their sector of Berlin.

The penalty was provided in an order from the Soviet authorities which said offenders were liable to imprisonment for up to 15 years and that the death penalty would be pronounced in serious cases.

The order was reported by the Soviet - licensed German news agency, ADN, which described the crime as sabotage or subversive actions "aimed at paralyzing, damaging or wrecking industry, production and economic measures of German democratic self-government organs."

German Reds have blamed what they call western-initiated acts of sabotage for the inefficiency of industry and low production.

The world's first cog railway, begun in 1869, still operates to the 6,288-foot summit of Mt. Washington in New Hampshire.

Civil Rights Program At Heart Of Technical Doings In Senate

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 11 — Here's a brief ABC on the filibuster and other complicated doings in the Senate right now.

The President's civil rights program is at the heart of it. But the fight now isn't on the program itself.

It's on the technicalities that may stand in the way of doing something about the program.

First, the background, and then what's happening now.

There are two main steps in Senate consideration of a bill, like an anti-lynching bill: a motion to consider it, and then debate and vote on the bill itself.

There's an old Senate rule that when debate on a bill starts, there can be unlimited debate, or a filibuster, on it, unless—

Two-thirds of the Senate vote to limit debate. This is called imposing cloture. Because senators usually want no limit on their freedom to talk endlessly, that two-thirds vote is hard to get. A vote on a bill itself is much easier. That needs only a majority vote.

But a year ago when Senator Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan, was acting as president of the Senate, this question came up:

What about a motion to take up a bill? While cloture can be imposed on debate on a bill itself, can cloture be imposed at all on a filibuster against a motion to consider a bill.

Vandenberg ruled "no," that there can be no limit on debate on a motion.

Under the Vandenberg ruling, any time anyone made a motion to bring up a civil rights bill the Southerners could talk without limit against the motion. That really meant the bill could never be brought up.

All the filibustering of the last 11 days by the Southerners has been against an attempt to pass a rule that would make it possible to stop debate on a motion.

Last night Vice President Barkley, president of the Senate, ruled in effect that debate on a motion, just as on a bill, can be limited.

The Senate was supposed to vote on Barkley's ruling late today.

If the Senate decided Barkley was wrong, that would about kill the civil rights program for this year. Why?

No civil rights bill is ready to be brought up now. But suppose one is ready by next May. When a motion is made to bring it up, the Southerners would be free to filibuster endlessly and prevent it's ever reaching the debating stage.

But suppose the Senate upheld Barkley today. Then some more technical steps, all chewing up time, must be taken.

Then comes next May or June, when the Senate is rushing to get through for the year and its work is piled up. Say the Trumanites then are ready to bring up a civil rights bill and make a motion to do so.

The Southerners promptly would filibuster against the motion. Suppose finally—in view of Barkley's ruling yesterday — the rest of the Senate imposes cloture by a two-thirds vote on a filibuster against the motion. That would be only one defeat for the Southerners.

The moment, then, that the bill itself comes up for debate, the Southerners could start filibustering against the bill itself.

Once again, to stop the filibuster against the bill itself, a two-thirds Senate vote is needed.

Hale Livestock Show Scheduled Saturday

HALE CENTER, March 11 (Spl.)—More than 20 Hale Center and Cotton Center 4-H club boys and Future Farmers of America chapter members will exhibit livestock and poultry here in the annual project show for young farmers of the two Hale county communities Saturday, Lee B. Carter, Hale Center vocational agriculture instructor, has said.

Superintendents of the divisions of the show were elected early this week as follows: Swine — Neal Burnett, Cotton Center, superintendent; Billy Don Teeter, Hale Center, assistant; Dairy Cattle — Bennie Shackelford, Hale Center, superintendent; Gerald Elkins, Cotton Center, assistant; Beef Cattle—John St. Clair, Cotton Center, superintendent; Avis Robertson, Hale Center, assistant. Sheep and poultry superintendents were not named, but there will likely be entries in those divisions, Carter said.

Cash prizes totaling about $200 will be awarded winners placing in 11 classes, $7.50 being top prize to be paid to first places in all classes. Merchants in Hale Center and Cotton Center have contributed cash to the premium list, and merchandise for attendance prizes.

Tech June Graduates Will Be Interviewed

D. E. Irwin of Schenectady, N. Y., and R. T. Shiels of Dallas will be on the Texas Tech campus March 17-19 as representatives of General Electric corporation to interview June graduates at the college.

Mrs. Jenkins said that all students who wished to make an appointment for an interview should drop by the Placement office in the Administration building.

Crisis In Holy Land Develops

LONDON, March 11. (U.P.)—Minister of State Hector McNeil told the House of Commons today that a "considerable force" of Israel troops reportedly has reached the Gulf of Aquaba.

At the same time, authoritative sources revealed that the United States and British have begun high-level consultations in Washington and London on the latest Palestine crisis.

Takes Up Problem

It was learned that U. S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas took up the problem when he called on Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin yesterday.

McNeil, relaying reports from Trans-Jordan authorities, said that at one point Israel forces entered some miles into Trans-Jordan, attacked a police post and withdrew.

The minister assured Commons that the British garrison at the Port of Aquaba in Trans-Jordan had available air and sea support.

Policy Outlined

Such support would not be called upon, McNeil said, unless the British troops were threatened directly.

At their meeting Bevin and Douglas were known to have considered the possibility of United Nations action in the new crisis.

Authoritative quarters indicated that American officials were the first to relay information about the reported Israeli troop movement to outside capitals.

Settling Of Chicago Printers' Strike Delayed By Wage Issue

CHICAGO, March 11 (AP) — Wages today appeared the only issue delaying settlement of the lengthy printers' strike against Chicago's five major daily newspapers.

Publishers of the dailies yesterday made a "final contract proposal" to the striking local 16, AFL, International Typographical Union. They offered a new wage increase, $10 a week against a previous offer of $9, to the 1,500 composing room workers who have been on strike since Nov. 24, 1947.

The publishers asked that John J. Pilch, president of local 16, and other union officials submit the wage increase proposal to a vote of the local.

Complete Meeting

The publishers told Pilch "the record indicates there has been a complete meeting of the minds on all of the items with the exception of wage rate . . . All that remains now for a complete contract, the end of the strike, and the return to work of members of your union, is agreement on a wage scale."

The printers' wage scale, under terms of the publishers' proposed contract, would be $95.50 for a 36¼ hour week for day workers; $101 for a 36¼ hour week for night workers, and $101 for a 30-hour week for the early morning shift. The publishers said their offer "compares favorably with the wages paid by newspapers in other large cities."

Proposal Review Due

Pilch told reporters the proposal will be submitted to the contracts department of the ITU for review before submission to members of local 16. If approved the members will vote on the entire contract, including wages, Pilch said.

Publishers said disputed issues settled are those covering hiring, union laws, struck work, reproduction. The publishers had claimed early in the strike the union was trying to impose a 60-day term "form" contract, which the newspapers contended violated the closed-shop ban in the Taft-Hartley law.

High Court May Get Negro Real Estate Issue In Georgia

ATLANTA, March 11 (AP) — Georgia's efforts to take away the license of a negro real estate dealer for selling property in a white neighborhood to negroes may wind up in the U. S. Supreme court.

The three-man real estate commission has reached no decision on a petition for action against F. H. Calhoun, the real estate dealer. It took the issue under advisement after a bickering, six-hour hearing yesterday.

Charges Stated

Assistant State Attorney General Robert Addleton charged that Calhoun had gone against "public interest" in selling a white residence to Geneva Jones Allen, a negro woman, without warning her that racial friction might result.

Gov. Herman Talmadge has recommended that the commission revoke the licenses of dealers who sell white property to negroes.

Calhoun's attorney, Stephen Mitchell, charged the whole proceeding was unconstitutional.

Indications Given

The indications are that if Calhoun loses his license, an appeal to the Supreme court will be forthcoming. In such an event, the commission would be charged with taking away Calhoun's constitutional rights.

The woman testified that Calhoun assured her falsely there would be no "strained relations" if she purchased the property. Her husband, Wesley Allen, said Calhoun told them the neighborhood was "going colored." Otherwise, he said, the house would not have been bought because "colored folks have got no business moving in with the white folks."

Temperamental Cow Gets Up Them Stairs

HALSTEAD, Kas., March 11. (AP)—Cows sure are getting temperamental these days, aren't they?

Ever since Grady got all that publicity about her silo sitting, the other cows have been running upstairs to sulk.

Consider Hot Shot, Ray Kaufman's four-year-old Jersey. She doesn't like new-fangled ideas. She objects to milking machines. She protested vehemently Wednesday when Kaufman put the udder attachment on her. But she submitted under pressure.

Yesterday morning was different. When bossy saw the boss coming with the milking machine she bolted. She flew up a flight of narrow stairs, turned a sharp curve and ended up in the hay mow.

Yesterday afternoon Kaufman solved her own problem. No experts. No Grease. He called a couple of neighbors, rigged a block and tackle, swung Hot Shot through an outside door and lowered her to the ground.

Last night Kaufman milked Hot Shot personally. The old fashioned grab and squeeze method.

VETS OVERPAID

WASHINGTON, March 11. (AP) War veterans have been overpaid $179,000,000, mostly in students' subsistence, but all but about $50,000,000 has been recovered, the Veterans administration reported today.

Facts In Love Life Of Shark Explained

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11. (AP) —The California legislature was warned today to quit meddling with the love life of a shark.

Two months ago, the lower house issued an order to the state fish and game commission: Capture large numbers of soup fin male sharks in northern California waters and take them to the females in southern California waters.

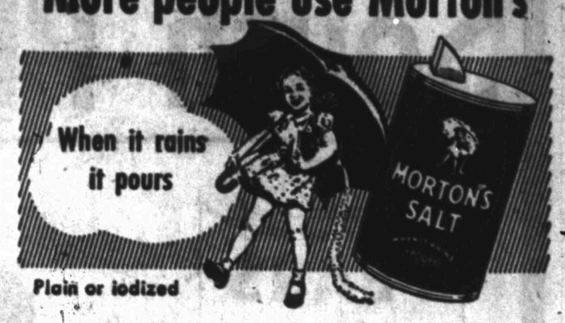

Today the commission acquainted the house with these facts of life:

"At the time of the year male soup fin sharks are available in northern California the sexually mature females in southern California are practically all pregnant.

"As the male segment of the population has completed its conjugal duties, it should be free to maintain its voluntary misogynous existence without the machinations of men."

That's a $100 way of saying if the male sharks want to do a little women-hating, let 'em.

DANISH OFFICIAL IN AMERICA

Atlantic Treaty Talks Set Today

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 11 — Denmark's foreign minister calls on Secretary of State Acheson today to learn the terms under which his country may join the North Atlantic security pact.

The Danish diplomat, Gustave Rasmussen, said on his arrival here he would ask about the amount of American arms his country could expect.

It is expected Acheson will assure him that if Denmark decides to join, it will be welcomed as one of the original signers of the treaty. The treaty is due to be made public next week and to be signed the first week in April.

Arrives In New York

Rasmussen arrived in New York yesterday by plane and came on to Washington by train.

Acheson also expected to meet during the day with ambassadors representing the countries already in the negotiations with the United States. Those countries are Canada, Norway, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

One of the most important questions the Danish foreign minister may raise deals with Greenland. Specifically: How would the proposed North Atlantic security system affect air bases on this big Danish island, which occupies a strategic position flanking air and sea lanes between America and Europe.

There has been some speculation that these and some other Atlantic island bases might be placed at the disposal of the new regional organization if the countries controlling the islands wanted it that way.

Diplomatic authorities predicted that Rasmussen's talks here would progress in much the same manner as those held last month between Acheson and Halvard M. Lange, foreign minister of Norway. Lange spent about a week in Washington, laid a dozen or so questions before Acheson when he arrived and received the answers just before he departed.

Subsequently Norway decided to join the Atlantic alliance and is now a full partner in the final stages of negotiations here.

Diplomatic authorities have been confident for several weeks that Denmark would come in.

Plans also appeared to be moving rapidly to bring Italy into the western power lineup. The treaty negotiators here have tentatively approved Italy's coming in.

Italian Foreign Minister Carlos Sforza said in Rome yesterday that an invitation to join the treaty negotiations in Washington was believed imminent.

Use citrus fruits for first course salads, combining them with crisp raw vegetables. Grapefruit sections go well with celery and olives; orange sections are delicious with endive or escarole.

SUDSY THRILL—These three Neapolitan boys are feeling the touch of soap for the first time in their lives—thanks to Brig.-Gen. J. Leslie Kinkaid, right, of New York. Former military governor of Naples, the general returned to Italy, bringing along 4000 cakes of soap for distribution to the needy. Although only a drop in the bucket, the sudsy stuff provided a thrill for grateful Italian youngsters. (Photo by NEA-Acme staff correspondent Albert Blasetti.)

Pickup Truck In Room Wakes Man

ODESSA, March 11 (AP)—D. R. Rogers awakened in the usual fashion—with an alarm clock—this morning.

But yesterday it was a different story.

A pickup truck invading his bedroom awakened him.

Arab Legion, Israel Troops Still Battle

AMMAN, Trans-Jordan, March 11. (AP)—The government said today that battles between Trans-Jordan Arab Legion troops and Israeli forces still are in progress.

There has been no definite indication yet of the results of the reported battles in the border area near the British-garrisoned port of Aqaba.

Arab Legion reinforcements have been proceeding to Aqaba since last night, the government said.

AP EDITOR DIES

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP) — Mitchell A. Curtis, 34, night radio news editor of the Associated Press, died last night of acute leukemia. He had been ill for four months.

Rub a crust of bread with a freshly cut garlic clove and put the bread in your salad bowl. It will give a delicious flavor to the greens when they are tossed with the dressing. Remove the bread crust before serving the salad.

Colonel To Decide In Case Of Civilian Hitting Army Officer

TOKYO, March 11 (AP)—General MacArthur's civilian chief fire administrator will learn from a colonel whether he has to pay a $300 fine for a row with a lieutenant colonel.

The official, George W. Angell, was convicted yesterday by an army courtmartial of violating the 19th and 96th articles of war by using provocative language and striking an officer.

The officer he tangled with after a jeep-automobile collision Dec. 29 is Lt. Col. John A. Jimerson, Peru, Neb.

The court-martial sentence will be reviewew by Col. J. F. Davis, commanding officer of the headquarters and service group, before it becomes effective.

Angell's attorney unsuccessfully maintained that Angell could use "provocative language" to an officer if President Truman could publicly call a man "an S.O.B."

Angell said he played football for Tufts and in 1915 was named all America by many newspapers and Walter Camp. (Camp's all America fails to list Angell.)

Angell, a former lieutenant colonel himself, said that in a game with West Point he broke Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's leg with a tackle.

Royall Recommends Texas Harbor Plan

WASHINGTON, March 11. (AP) A Texas project was among 10 rivers and harbors projects in ten states which Secretary of the Army Royall yesterday recommended to Congress.

The Texas project, which Royall said is also favored by the Army engineers and the Budget bureau, calls for developing a harbor at Fulton, Texas, on Little Bay.

The 200-foot wide, 1,400-foot-long harbor would cost the federal government approximately $29,800 for construction and $3,000 annually for upkeep. The balance of the cost of the project, including an eight-foot channel, 200 feet wide, from the intracoastal waterway at Aransas Bay, would be paid by local interests.

France Drops Visa For U. S.

PARIS, March 11 (AP)—France, hungry for United States dollars, has decided to admit American short-term visitors without visas.

A foreign ministry spokesman said this short-cut in travel red-tape will be announced soon, to be effective within a week or 10 days.

Communists have denounced the plan as inviting an "American invasion." French economists have retorted they hope the "invasion" will be big—and by people able and willing to convert a lot of dollars into francs to finance their recreation and shopping.

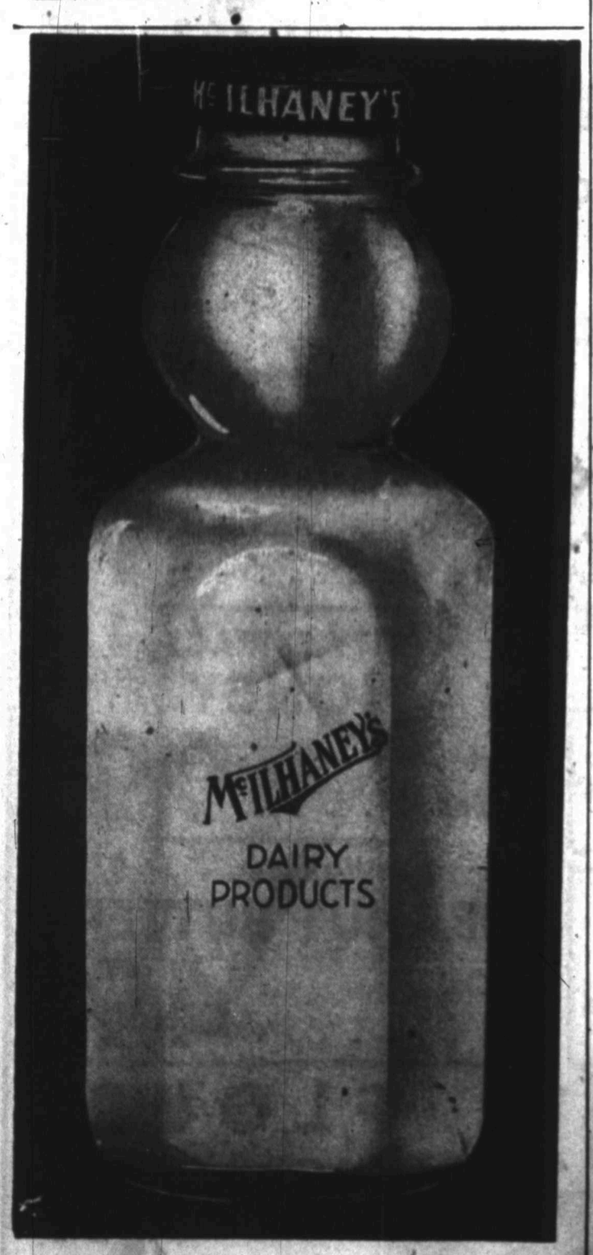

Will Save Delay

The measure will save the tourist the delay and trouble of visiting a French consulate to obtain permission to enter France. Britain, Italy, Switzerland and the Benelux and Scandinavian countries already have adopted similar measures.

The United States is expected to reciprocate the French gesture by abolishing fees for American visas obtained by French visitors.

CHOCOLATE CAKE with Brown Sugar Icing

Sift together into one bowl:
2 cups sifted cake flour — 1 teaspoon salt — 1½ cups sugar — ¼ teaspoon soda

Add:
½ cup Snowdrift — ¾ cup milk

Mix until flour is dampened. Beat 2 min. (If by hand, count beating time only. With electric mixer, use "low speed" and scrape bowl often; scrape beaters after 2 min.)

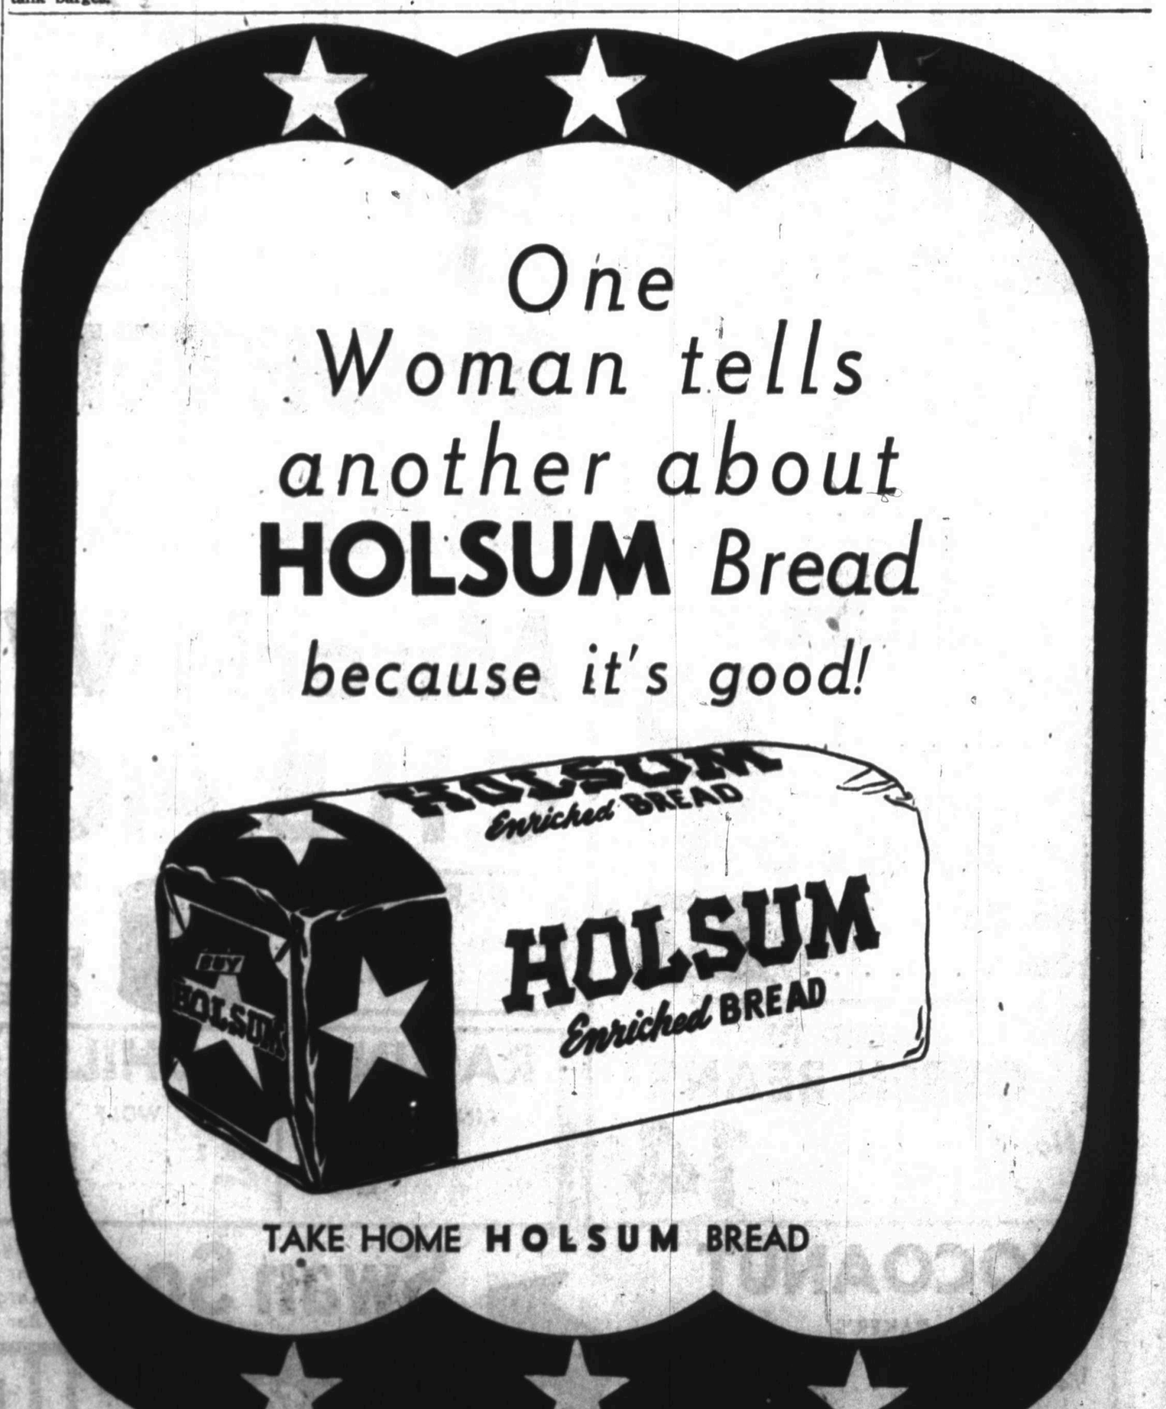

Add:
¼ cup milk — 1 teaspoon vanilla — 2 eggs — 2 squares unsweetened chocolate melted, cooled

Beat 1 min. Turn into two greased 9" layer pans lined with paper. Bake in mod. oven (375° F.) about 25 min. Cool and frost with—

BROWN SUGAR ICING

1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed — ½ cup hot water — 2 egg whites — 1 teaspoon vanilla — ½ cup granulated sugar — ⅛ teaspoon salt

Mix brown sugar and all but 1 tablespoon granulated sugar with water in saucepan; stir over low heat until sugar dissolves. Boil rapidly until syrup spins a thread (240° F.). Beat egg whites foamy; add remaining tablespoon of sugar; then beat until stiff. Slowly pour syrup into beaten whites, beating constantly. Add vanilla, salt. Beat until icing "peaks."

Senators Ask Quick Action On New Aid To Nationalist China

WASHINGTON, March 11. (AP)—A bipartisan group of 50 senators today demanded early action on a bill to authorize $1,500,000,000 for new military and civilian aid to Nationalist China.

In a letter to Chairman Tom Connally, D., Tex., of the Senate foreign relations committee, the group denounced the State department's "go slow" policy on China.

"Threatened Communist domination of all Asia cannot, with any due regard for our national security be ignored," the senators said. "To delay affirmative action . . . when confronted with a problem of such magnitude, such far-reaching ramifications and such immediacy is most unwise."

The 25 Democrats and 25 Republicans asked Connally to lead their fight for new aid to China. A bill to authorize $1,500,000,000 in additional aid has already been introduced by Sen. Pat McCarran, D., Nev.

Secretary of State Dean G. Acheson urged Congress not to take any immediate action on China because the situation there is too "fluid" to permit any "hard and fast" decision.

McCarran is chairman of the joint "watchdog" committee on foreign aid. His program would provide up to $700,000,000 in military aid to the Nationalist government, $300,000,000 for civilian relief assistance, and $500,000,000 for currency stabilization.

Congress last year provided $125,000,000 for arms assistance to China, and $275,000,000 in economic aid administered by Foreign Recovery Boss Paul G. Hoffman.

Hoffman recently advised Congress that a renewal of that program would be sought when the situation in China is clarified.

Gold Beaters' Trade Lacking Apprentices

MEDFORD, Mass., March 11 (AP)—Thomas F. Hoarty, 62, whose cellar workshop turns out gold leaf orders for all over the United States and South America, says his craft is dying fast for lack of apprentices.

Among the handful of gold beaters left in this country, he said, his 45-year-old assistant, Henry Graham, is the youngest. A beginner would have to learn how to produce 2,250 sheets of gold leaf from a single ounce of gold beaten between ox skins with 19-pound hammers.

Aussie Papers Boosting Size

SYDNEY, Mar. 11 (AP)—Australian readers are enjoying a feast of enlarged daily papers again, thanks to abandonment of newsprint rationing and acquisition of non-dollar Scandinavia and British supplies.

The public is readjusting its reading habits and tastes as newspaper and magazine publishers scramble for circulation and advertising in a return to interrupted free competition. During 1947, newspapers were permitted to use newsprint at their 1939 level. Because of the dollar shortage, consumption was slashed 55 per cent on Jan. 1, 1948, on the 1939 level.

The Labor government of Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley abandoned controls on newsprint Jan. 1, 1949, permitting the press to buy all the non-dollar supplies it could obtain, but without any increase in North American supplies for which hard-to-get dollars must be paid.

Public Pleased

Such a development might not at first glance seem notable to United States and Canadian newspaper readers, whose bulging papars frequently are the butt here of friendly but envious jokes.

But the return of ample newsprint supplies has acted like a big hypodermic for a vital arm of democracy in the world's most isolated continent.

Steadily rising circulations confirm the public's enjoyment of a return to free newspaper competition. One major new paper has been established, a Sunday edition of the 118-year-old Sydney Morning Herald. Throughout Australia, there is a surging demand for journalists and mechanical, circulation and advertising staffs.

Because of Australia's remoteness, its 61 daily and Sunday newspapers in a population of 7,700,000 must pay more for newsprint than any comparable group of newspapers anywhere in the world. The same applies for New Zealand's papers. European newsprint costs far more than Canadian, and the extra cost must be met with a comparatively high percentage of advertising allocated for the increased space.

Roughly speaking, about half of the increased space is being used for more foreign and local news and features. Because Australians are ardent sports-lovers, newspapers are battling to widen, sharpen and brighten their sports coverage. Some papers are again carrying the last several previous performances in racing forms, for example.

Society pages, some of which were abolished during the war, are blossoming with chatty reporting on who-wore-what-when-and-where and other tidbits which step up the name-count.

Increased space is given to covering the "cold war," to British and American politics, and to Far Eastern developments which cause Australians to view with uneasiness a growing Communistic threat to their vulnerable defenses.

Some new Australian, American and British comic strips are being used and old ones reinstated in daily papers and a few Sunday papers have launched or expanded comic supplements. But the percentage of new space thus used is much less than in Britain, where publishers recently were given proportionately far less increased newsprint.

Explosive Pensions Bill Up March 22

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—An explosive veterans pension bill is set to come before the House March 22, despite administration efforts to head it off.

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) named that date for consideration of his hundred-billion dollar measure under a House rule giving pension legislation privileged status.

A hostile leadership had previously refused to give Rankin clearance.

House members said privately the bill has a good chance to pass, possibly after undergoing drastic alteration.

But it still would have to get past an unfriendly Senate and the prospect of a presidential veto.

The bill provides for payment of $90 a month to some 18,000,000 World War I and II veterans at age 65, regardless of financial need. Ninety days service in the armed forces is the only condition of eligibility.

War Separation Ends For Mother And Son

SAN DIEGO, Mar. 11 (AP)—After a nine-year separation caused by the German invasion of France, an attractive French mother has been reunited with her 15-year-old son here.

Jean Jose Carenco arrived by naval plane to join his mother, Mrs. Henry Kirkland, and his step-father, Henry Kirkland.

The youth had been separated from his mother since October, 1939, when she fled to Portugal to escape the invading Nazi troops. Carenco was left with his grandparents in Nice.

We were elated over President Truman's blue-print for Utopia—until we ran across the specification that 60,000,000 will have to work and $4,000,000,000 more in taxes will be necessary to bring it about!

WE had a letter the other day from a feminine reader. We read it, but then misplaced it. Our apologies to her, therefore, for misplacing the letter and not remembering her name. But, anyway, the thought her letter expressed was good and it is a thought that doubtless has occurred to a lot of other people.

In so many words, the lady's letter read something like this:

"I see by the papers where we have a campaign to raise money for fighting polio. Next comes a similar campaign for fighting cerebral palsy. Then we have 'National Heart week,' to raise money for research in heart disease, and so forth.

"This is all very fine and humanitarian. It is necessary that we Americans do everything we can to fight these and other diseases. We should do everything we can to make our country a happier, healthier place in which to live and rear our children.

"But it seems to me that all these drives ought to be done away with and these essential jobs done through some government agency—tax supported—set up, properly manned and equipped to do them."

Our feminine correspondent has something there—even though most people realize that we have too many government agencies now and that government agencies rarely, if ever, do as efficient a job as customarily done by private organizations.

We have a U. S. Department of Health and maybe it does some good work. But if we had a real Department of Health, one good enough to do the health job the whole nation wants and needs, there's no reason why it couldn't do all the research now being done through non-official sources.

OF COURSE, the government can't extend to all the treatment needed by sufferers from polio, cerebral palsy, heart trouble and many other diseases that all of us would like to help wipe out.

It also is impossible for the government to take over hospitalization, perhaps even examination, on a nation-wide scale.

But it is not impossible for the U. S. Department of Health to take over and do the whole research job and much of the money collected through various health drives is for research purposes. This is especially true of the March of Dimes and the Heart campaigns.

The most frequently heard criticism of the various national health drives is based upon the undeniable fact that past the local level, nobody knows (1) how much money is raised; (2) how much of the money raised is used for salaries, expenses and how much finally is used for actual research and care of patients; and (3) the degree of success reached in the fight against the diseases as the result of each year's drive.

In short, everybody knows how much money is raised in his own community—but nothing else.

FOR OUR part, we agree with our feminine reader that fighting disease is essential; the work done by the local committees everywhere is a great and unselfish one; that all of us should be interested and helpful.

But we also agree with those who think the people should get full information concerning what is done with the money they contribute. In some cases, there are "too many cuts out of the pie" before the money gets to those who need it and to the actual work for which it is given.

AS CONGRESS studies the needs of the armed services and Americans everywhere wonder just how far we should go in the matter of national defense, it might be a good idea for all concerned to ponder this statement made by Theodore Roosevelt, when he was President four decades ago:

"Scant attention is paid to the weakling or coward who babbles of peace, but due heed is given to the strong man, with sword girt on thigh, who preaches peace not from ignoble motives, not from fear or distrust of his own powers, but from a deep sense of moral obligation."

IF YOU read your paper closely, you were treated the other day to a prime example of why we have so much fumbling, bungling and stumbling in our systems of government and politics.

The example was contained in a short news story under a Washington dateline. The story said that President Truman has been advised by "several top Texans" to settle the dispute between Old Line and Tru-Deal Democrats in Texas by appointing Wright Morrow, Houston attorney, to an ambassadorship.

As all Texans know, Morrow currently is National Democratic Committeeman from Texas. But he is a Conservative, therefore not suitable to the leftward wing of the party in this state. So there has been much wrangling over the Morrows and the anti-Morrows—the latter trying to replace Morrow with one of their pals and the former trying to keep their chum in the saddle.

We do not know the identity of the "top Texans" who suggested quieting the row by making Morrow an ambassador, but whoever they are they ought to have their heads examined. And if President Truman follows their advice, he, too, is a proper subject for a psychiatrist.

For our part, we don't give a hoot who is National Democratic committeeman from Texas. But we do think that the selection of an ambassador—a man representing this nation in an important foreign capital — should turn on something a darn sight more intelligent and important than ending a fight among a lot of little political gauleiters. To suggest the appointment of an ambassador for any such piddling reason is, if you'll podden the oxpression, a heluva note.

If there is no reason to make a man an ambassador, other than that it will settle a selfish wrangle, then we ought to stop sending ambassadors out over the world, because we don't need 'em.

Phooey on such shenanigans!

BY DREW PEARSON: SOVIET REACTION TO ATLANTIC PACT MAY BE MOVE ON IRAN

Texas Democrat Once Almost Expelled By House

WASHINGTON—The real truth about the Soviet cabinet shakeup is that no British or American observer really knows what's going on inside the Kremlin—and this includes our super-secret military intelligence men as well.

PEARSON

The iron curtain around the Kremlin is almost impenetrable, and all the speculation as to what the Molotov-Vishinsky shift means is nothing more than that — mere speculation.

There was a time when the United States was able to get reasonably accurate inside-Kremlin information from the Czechs and the Poles but since the Czech Communist purge and the tightening up in Poland, those sources have dried up.

However, if past precedents are any criterion, the Russians will not take the North Atlantic pact lying down. They are more than likely to move—and may move in the opposite direction.

That is behind feverish American plans to fortify Iran, also behind U. S. Ambassador John Wiley's frantic cables from Teheran. He seems convinced the Russians will move there next.

That is also why Iranian pilots have been trained with the U. S. Army in Germany, why 60 U. S. Thunderbolt fighter planes are being flown to Iran; why various U. S. transport planes are being turned over to Iran and why two shiploads of American war-surplus material have been sent to the country where Stalin, Roosevelt and Churchill once sat down to try to work out world peace.

House Rebuked "S. O. B." User

The vice president of the United States isn't advertising it, but he once participated in a severe vote of censure of a congressman who used the same S. O. B. initials recently used by the President of the United States.

The vote of censure was taken against Rep. Thomas L. Blanton, Democrat of Texas. Passed unanimously by the House of Representatives when Alben Barkley was a member, the resolution stated:

"Whereas Thomas L. Blanton . . . inserted in the Congressional Record, a letter which was indecent, obscene, vulgar and vile;

"Whereas the said Thomas L. Blanton . . . has offered an indignity to the House and to the people represented by the membership in Congress . . . for which he deserves the severest rebuke and drastic censure, therefore be it

"Resolved that the speaker of the House is herebey directed to summon him to the bar of the House and deliver to him its reprimand and censure."

The obscene matter which Blanton had inserted in the record on Oct. 22, 1921, was a letter written by Millard French, an employee in the government printing office, addressed to George H. Carter, public printer. The letter contained the abbreviation S. O. B.

BLANTON was given one hour to defend himself and argued as his main defense that he had abbreviated the objectionable words.

"I caused all improper words to be abbreviated and veiled," Blanton told his colleagues. "Exactly in the same manner as is done on the official court records in Texas."

Blanton had previously been engaged in a debate with the A. F. of L. regarding employees in the government printing office and claimed the only way he could show the abuse used by certain employees was to print the Millard French letter with initials abbreviating the objectionable matter. Blanton also claimed that his offense was not great, since he himself had not used the language, but merely inserted a letter containing it.

Narrowly Escaped Expulsion

Nevertheless, Blanton escaped being expelled from Congress by only an eight-vote margin. A total of 293 congressmen voted to expel him.

Among those in Congress at the time were such close friends of President Truman as James F. Byrnes, later Truman's Secretary of State; Tom Connally of Texas, now chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee; Speaker Sam Rayburn, and Vice President Barkley.

All the above voted to expunge Blanton's S.O.B. abbreviation from the record and none of the above opposed the resolution of censure, though they did not vote to expel.

The attack against Blanton was led by the late Rep. Frank Mondell of Wyoming and Nicholas Longworth, later speaker of the House, also now deceased. Mondell, urging that Blanton be expelled, said: "Anyone uttering in public anywhere the words placed in the Congressional Record by the member from Texas should be subject to fine and imprisonment. While we cannot repeat the words which form the basis of this charge, it can be said that they are unspeakably foul, vile, filthy, profane, blasphhemous, and obscene."

After the resolution of censure was voted, Blanton was called before the speaker's rostrum, where Speaker Fred Gillett stated:

"I have been directed to censure you because, when you had been allowed by the courtesy of the House to print a speech, you inserted it in foul and obscene matter . . . And that disgusting matter was transmitted as part of the proceedings of the House to thousands of homes and libraries throughout the country to be read by men and women, and, worst of all, by children. In accordance with the instructions of the House and as its representative, I pronounce upon you its censure."

As Blanton left the floor of the House he collapsed in the corridor, struck his head on the marble floor and had to be assisted to his office.

SEN. KENNETH S. WHERRY won re-election last fall with the help of a $26,785 election campaign fund, of which he himself put up only $1,500. His general election campaign cost only $25,192.92. Contributions to Wherry's campaign fund included $5,000 from the Republican national senatorial campaign fund, headed by Delaware's ex-Senator John Townsend, the Du Pont henchman. The Du Ponts put up the biggest contributions to the senatorial committee's jackpot, though Theodore Granik, Washington public-relations expert and radio promoter, dropped in $100.

Congress Blamed For Plight Of Poor Lush In Washington

WASHINGTON, March 11—The biped denizen of this fetid jungle of democracy, where the red tape festoons and a bunch of transients called congressmen run the town, is a remarkably underprivileged critter. He cannot vote. He cannot fire the mayor, because he has no mayor to fire. He cannot even drink standing up, and that is the sermon for today.

RUARK

As a minor taxpayer, I am never going to place my full trust in Congress until its worthy members arrive at one decision: Can the voteless, faceless, freckless dweller in the District of Columbia take a snort on his hind legs, like a grown man, or must he be forever condemned to sedentary sipping, at heavens knows what strain on his moral fiber?

This year, the 81st Congress is finally supposed to do something about the ordinance which has kept the Washington bibber nailed to a chair since the repeal of the horrid amendment. It is illegal, in this habitat of the directors of our destiny, for a man to stand at a bar, or to carry his scotch and swish from one table to another.

Myth Responsible

An old myth about the baleful influence of the corner saloon is responsible for this emphasis on sitting. The old, swingin'-door grogshop got to be a symbol of drink's curse, and murderers of Mr. Volstead's act were swift to emphasize that they had no wish to revive the black beast of the temperence lectures. This was merely lip-service, as was the light-wines and-beer routine with which we prefaced man's ageless yen to knock back a noggin of gin prior to his evening chops. But Washington has been stuck with it.

In an effort to sweet-talk the borderline abstainers, the periodic teetotalers, the one-drink holders, eggnog alcoholics and kitchen drinkers, the city of Washington has turned the social sip into a vile sin—and, incidentally, has bred more drunks than you ever saw in New York or New Orleans.

THE OFFICIAL home of the President, in peace or war, is probably the hardest drinking city in the world. It is a vicious guzzling town where they sit on the floor and pass the jug from hand to hand. Its social leaders drink scotch and Coca-Cola, a dietary habit which would affront an Australian aborigine.

They crowd the whisky-serving teashops. The cheerful cherub who was supposed to be protected against the old saloon now performs the modern equivalent of rushing the growler by dashing down to the drugstore for a fifth of Old Fairy Godmother to help mama get up in the morning. Rear-garden retreats in Georgetown, the home of the brave, beautiful and booze-bewildered, is raucous with the crash of the hurled bottle and the martini filibuster.

In Bad Mood

By the time he has raced through these roadblocks, he is of a mood to order triple bourbons with martini chasers, modern service being as it is, and what started out to be a small beer for the road winds up as a lost weekend. Worse, he shuns the quickie and buys the bottle, which he clutches by the neck until empty. He hides the half-pint in the cloak room, and becomes a slave to the straight snort.

The poor lush has no index to the degree of his intoxication, since he is commanded by federal law to sit at his table. Any bartender will tell you that a man who keeps his feet is a better judge of his point of no return than the sitting drinker, who is lulled into false security by his chair. What happens, when he finally lurches from the table, is an uncharted flight straight into the arms of trouble. It is not hard to understand how a man who sits alone and swills and broods about his mother-in-law and the incompetence of his public servants will arise ripe for strife with the cops.

There is no place in Washington where a man may go to embalm his ulcers with a swift slug of painkiller. I sure hope Congress does something to lighten the plight of the man who merely wants benign stimulation and shys from the spree. So many of my old friends have stoplights on their noses, now, and I blame it all on Congress.

"A child's bite is worse than that of a dog," says a physician. Not only that, but the child doesn't warn his prospective victim by barking.

GRATIFYING APPOINTMENT

The appointment of Meade F. Griffin, of Plainview, as a justice of the State Supreme court should be gratifying to West Texas, of which he is a native and life-long resident, and to the State bar as a whole.

Judge Griffin will carry with him into the State's highest judicial body a rich background of experience as a practicing attorney, district attorney and a county and district judge. His service experiences in two World Wars, and particularly in the adjutant general's department in the recent struggle, give him added and special qualifications which are likely to be of value to him and the court.

It is to be regretted, of course, that the vacancy was created by the resignation of Judge A. J. Folley, of Amarillo, who will return to the more lucrative field of practicing attorney. But there is satisfaction in the knowledge that an able retiring judge will be replaced by a capable and experienced successor.

Night Radio Claimed Doomed By Television

CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 11 (U.P.)—The man who handles shows for radio's largest spender doesn't think daytime television will hurt daytime radio.

But William Ramsey, radio director of Procter & Gamble, believes television has doomed night radio.

Ramsey says daytime radio will keep on competing on even terms with television because "few women have time to stop their housework and concentrate on a television show during the day."

"It has been suggested," he added, "that the serials could be adapted to video in such a way that the audience either could view or listen, but it seems unlikely that an advertiser would be willing to spend the considerable sum necessary to make the change."

DUCKED AND SAVED MONEY—O. W. Clohan and his wife of Martinsburg, W. Va., demonstrate how they ducked under a dining table to avoid being robbed by holdup men aboard a crack Baltimore and Ohio railroad passenger train. They had just boarded the train en route to Detroit. The picture was made as the train sped west after the robbery.

HOLDUP FOLLOWED THE BEST JESSE JAMES TRADITION

Train Robber Clings To Life After He's Shot By Police; His Pal Gives Up Without A Fight

WASHINGTON, March 11. (AP)—One of two men who held up a crack passenger train on a spur-of-the- moment impulse held on to his life today.

Both were arrested yesterday in a pawnshop just six blocks from the White House 15 hours after the wild west style train robbery near Martinsburg, W. Va.

Police identified them as Luman Ramsdell, 23, now near death in a hospital, and George Llewellyn Ashton, 21, both of Youngstown, Ohio.

Reached For Gun

Ramsdell reached for his gun when police entered the pawnshop on famed Pennsylvania avenue and asked the two men to identify themselves.

But police shot first, and a copper-jacketed slug ripped through Ramsdell's chest two inches below his heart. His condition was termed critical early today.

Ashton, clad in a zoot suit, quickly surrendered without resistance.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has filed train robbery charges against both men. Ashton is being held under $50,000 bond.

Both men readily admitted they yanked the Baltimore and Ohio's fast Ambassador express to a stop by pulling an emergency cord, robbed its 147 passengers and crew members at gunpoint, and later held up a nearby tavern.

Had Little Cash

When arrested here after an intensive three-state manhunt the men had on them just $563.82, although it was reported that an estimated $1,500 to $1,600 was taken from the train and about $200 from the tavern.

However, Ashton insisted that all they got in the sensational robberies was about $575.

"We didn't take any jewelry or stuff like that on the train. We took only money and we didn't spend any of it before the cops got us here—we didn't have a chance to," Ashton told reporters. They were trying to buy clothes and luggage in the pawnshop when captured.

He made it clear that only the two of them were involved in the holdup, and not the four estimated earlier by confused passengers and trainmen.

Robbery Not Planned

Ashton said the robbery was not planned.

"We were sitting in the club car and we got into an argument with the steward," he said. "It wasn't about our bill. That was $16.15 and we had the money to pay for it.

"But we didn't like a drink he gave us. So we went back to our seats in one of the coaches and got our guns out of our suitcases. Then we came back to the club car and held up the steward.

"We didn't plan to hold up the rest of the people. That came on the spur of the moment. We didn't even ask each other about it. We just both started going right through the club car, holding up the passengers. Then we went through theother cars."

If the men had planned a holdup, they might have chosen another train on the same route, the same day: it carried a shipment of several million dollars in currency.

Followed Old Pattern

The holdup of the Ambassador, if unplanned and unrehearsed as Ashton claimed, certainly followed the best Jesse James tradition and may go down in the history of great train robberies:

Passengers were terrorized and robbed at gunpoint, many pis-

Wayland Students End 5,000-Mile Tour Of Mexico

By BILL HAMS
Journal Staff Writer

PLAINVIEW, March 11. — A weary but enthusiastic group of Wayland goodwill trippers ended a 5,000-mile airplane tour of Mexico here Thursday.

They were met at Plainview airport by more than 100 Wayland students and townspeople. Later the entire group, all wearing broad-brimmed Mexican sombreros were escorted through the downtown area by police cars.

The tour, which began Friday morning a week ago, carried the Wayland group to Laredo, a flight down the Mexican gulf coast to Tampico, Mexico City, Guadalajara, and return by Juarez and El Paso.

Visited Wide Section

One night and an entire day was spent in Mexico City. The remainder of the visit was at Guadalajara where a number of side trips were made to spots of interest in that section. Guadalajara is approximately 400 miles west of Mexico City.

While at Guadalajara the 27 members of the goodwill trip "mission" were honored at an informal reception by students and faculty members of Guadalajara university, and later taken to Lake Chapala, playground of the city's wealthy, for a Mexican picnic.

Fly Over Volcano

Side trips were made to Tlaquepaque, pottery center of Jalisco, Chapala, and a silversmiths center near the city. Wednesday 17 members made an airplane tour over the active volcano, Paricutin, Morelia, Tolca, the pyramids, and the mountains of Popocatepetal and Ixtaccihuatl, Desert of Lions, and to Mexico City. in the Mexican capital a tour was made to the Shrine of Guadalupe, the president's palace, cathedral, Chapultepec, and a visit to the wealthy residential districts. The return flight was made over the canyons and gorge of Juanacatlan and the Santiago river.

A group of eight faculty members and students made the trip from Plainview to Guadalajara by stationwagon through Laredo, Monterrey, San Luis Potosi. Both groups started their return Thursday morning. The flight "mission" returned over the Mexican desert to Juarez and El Paso, while the station wagon travellers returned by the same route by which they came and are expected to arrive

Bids Studied On School Job

A low bid of $44,725 was submitted by Tidmore Construction company for a four-room addition to Chris Harwell elementary school, it was revealed last night when bids were opened for the construction project at the school business office.

A. C. Jackson, school business manager, opened the bids and S. B. Haynes, of the architectural firm of Haynes & Kirby, read them to the representatives of the nine construction companies present.

Clyde Tatum, president of the board of trustees of Lubbock Independent School district, announced that letting of the contract could not be done officially without action of the school board, but it was assumed that the contract would go to the low bidder with school board approval.

Bid Opening Set

Under the terms of the Tidmore Construction company's bid, the addition to the school would be ready for use by Sept. 1, subject however to the unavoidable delays. Work would begin immediately.

Other bids submitted last night were: Sampson Brothers Construction company, $46,885; John Glover & Son, $47,590; W. B. Abbott, jr., $48,500; Carl Maxey, $49,203; Robert Maxey, $51,140; BW FP Construction company, $51,475; Tom G. McAbee, $51,990; and Joe Telford, $52,850.

Bids will be opened March 16 for construction of additions to Cottage elementary school, it was announced earlier.

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION
Do you think that traffic lanes simplify driving?

THE ANSWERS

LEE L. McELFRESH, 709 Ave. F, driver for City Cab Co.: "I know they do, definitely. They give you more room and let you know what the other is going to do. That helps."

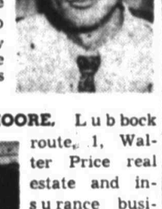

DONALD A. PHILLIPS, 809 Ave. K, driver for City Cab Co.: "Lanes help promote better driving and, I think, cut down accidents. The streets are being made wider and there is more traffic and it would be a good idea for signs to be posted designating when they should go in right lanes and that they should drive in inside lanes for passing. If you're going to make a left turn you should move over to the left lane a couple of hundred feet before you get to a corner and if you're going to make a right turn, you ought to stay in the right hand lane."

LEON HULSEY, 2902 North Second, partner in Jones Jewelry: "Sure. You have more room and can make better time and have less accidents when you have traffic lanes to drive in."

GENE KILPATRICK, 202 North College, watchmaker at Webb-Moore Drug store: "Sure, they do, but when you get with these people who won't know what lanes are made for, it's worse."

LUCIAN MOORE, Lubbock route 1, Walter Price real estate and insurance business: "Certainly. You should know what the other fellow is going to do, if he stays in his lane while driving."

DORMAN IGO, 1617 Ave. A, salesman and office employe at Anderson Bros.: "Well, yes, I do. It helps more or less to keep people on the right side, whereas if they didn't have traffic lanes they would be passing on either side."

Thousands Aided In Operation Snowbound

WASHINGTON, March 11. (AP) More than 200,000 persons received aid from the combined efforts of the armed forces in the stormbound Western states, Army Secretary Royall announced today. This aid included food, fuel and livestock feed.

"Operation Snowbound" included feeding about 4,000,000 head of livestock.

360 Blocks In Huge Project

Contracts for approximately 360 blocks of street paving and resurfacing, probably the largest letting of its kind ever made by any West Texas city, were awarded at the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon.

The meeting was brief, recessing at 2:30 p.m. for the funeral of E. K. Hufstedler, sr., pioneer Lubbock resident and father of Commissioner E. K. Hufstedler, jr. Mayor W. H. Rodgers said a called meeting of the commission probably will be held Tuesday.

The paving improvement program involved the letting of two contracts for three types of work costing $259,865.05.

Five Bids Submitted

Contract for approximately 70 blocks of the work was awarded to Holland Page, of Austin, on a low bid of $150,565.05. Page is to install concrete curb and gutter, lay caliche base for the paving and then top it with asphalt surfacing.

The other contract, awarded to Kerr & Middleton of Lubbock on a bid of $109,300, calls for approximately 190 blocks of asphalt surfacing on caliche base already laid and about 100 blocks of resurfacing, technically known as "seal coating," of existing pavement. The bid was the lowest of five submitted.

Five contractors also competed for the contract awarded to Page. These bids were opened Feb. 24, but awards were delayed to give City Manager Steve Matthews an opportunity to work out a plan for financing the street improvement.

Money To Be Borrowed

The plan recommended by the city manager and approved unanimously by the commission will involve the borrowing of a maximum of $300,000 from the Citizens National bank, the city depository, at an annual interest rate of 3 per cent.

The loan will be secured by liens bearing 6 per cent interest given by property owners to the city to secure the payment of their part of the paving on their streets. Property owners are allowed up to five years to pay off the liens.

Mayor Rodgers explained that the city either has to borrow the money or postpone the paving indefinitely.

Members of the commission commended Matthews and voiced appreciation for the co-operation of the bank in helping to expedite the huge program.

Purchases Deferred

The commission also opened bids but deferred the purchase of two new pumpers for the fire department. The brands of equipment for which bids were submitted were: Pirsch, $13,940 each; Seagraves, $15,484; Mack, $15,625,

Truman, Staff In Lazy Mood

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

KEY WEST, Fla., March 11—President Truman and his staff fell under the lazy spell of this southernmost vacation city today.

Everybody loafed.

The courier plane came in and official work was handled, then it was time to relax again.

In Washington the administration lieutenants began their efforts to cut short the Southern filibuster in the Senate.

Into Final Shape

There, too, the North Atlantic pact was being whipped into final shape

The President kept in touch with these developments by long distance telephone with the White House. If he had a copy of the pact, no one would say so. The news from Moscow that the Soviet Union plans to increase by about fifteen billion dollars its armed forces expenditures next year was read with interest.

His press secretary, Charles G. Ross, flew down from Washington yesterday, fresh out of a hospital where he underwent an operation on his arm.

Has No News

Ross, accompanied by Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, presidential physician, said he had no news of the pact or anything else.

He had no comment for himself of the President on any developments at home or abroad.

Chief Justice Vinson is flying down Saturday in the President's plane, "The Independence," for a brief visit at the little White House. The plane's crew is taking the big DC-6 to Washington today.

No word has beer. received as to when Col. Louis Johnson, the new Secretary of Defense, will visit the President.

Extremely Simple Lives Of Movie Stars Cited As Cause For Slump In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, March 11.—Everybody's got a reason for the movie slump and now Dan Dailey offers a new and original one—film stars are too dull.

The song and dance man gave this wistful comment: "We actors advertise the fact that we lead terribly simple lives and limit our adventures to the small space directly in front of the camera.

Sound Pretty Dull

"Except for an occasional actress falling in love with a prince, or some star carrying on a transcontinental courtship, most of us must sound pretty dull to movie audience. They want their movie heroes dished up with a dash of excitement."

Now Dailey doesn't advocate wholesale immorality among the film famous. The thing can be done without breaking moral or criminal laws.

He cites the feuds of Pola Negri and Gloria Swanson, the gaudy attire that western stars sport in public, Clark Gable's soupy cars, Greta Garbo's silence and Lana Turner's well-filled sweaters.

Err In Publicity

Dailey, who is up for an academy award for "When My Baby Smiles At Me," said that Hollywood publicity errs in picturing new stars as "just like the boy or girl next door."

"A star is a star because he is different from the average," he declared.

Dailey admitted that he contributes little to the glamor of Hollywood. "I probably lead a more ordinary life than most movie actors," he said sadly.

Church Gets Bells Through Blockade

BERLIN, Mar. 11 (AP)—The Germans found a leak in the Soviet blockade. So church bells rang Sunday morning.

Neither the German nor the American pastor of the church asked their paishioners where the two new bells came from. They accepted them, gratefully, dedicated them and the American community in Zehlendorf was awakened a recent Sunday morning by afamiliar sound.

This happened in the Church of Ernst Mortiz Arndt. It is used by a German Evangelical congregation at 9 o'clock each Sunday and by American Protestants at 11 o'clock.

Some months ago tne German parishioners asked their German pastor, the Rev. Ernst Gess, and the American, the Rev. Dr. Arthur Siebens of Toledo, O., if they would like bells. Certainly, they would like bells.

The Germans scuttled over into the Soviet zone and made a deal for casting two new bells. When the job was finished, they smuggled the bells out of the Soviet zone and into western Berlin. How you smuggle bells past traffic roadblocks probably belongs in the same category with how one steals a steamroller.

They were the first bells to be heard in the Zehlendorf-Dahlem area since Hitler corralled all the chimes and turned them into much needed scrap for his war machine more than eight years ago.

CHOICE FARM
One of the choice farms in Lubbock County. The 160 acres are perfectly level, the irrigation well is above the average. The house has five rooms, is modern and is newly decorated. Plenty barns, sheds and new tenant house. This farm is near Lubbock but the price is only $250 per acre.
LOCKER PLANT
Approximately $10,000 will handle an unusually good opportunity in a well established Locker Plant and Grocery store. Returns on this business are highly satisfactory. It has no competition in the town in which it is located. Grocery stock will invoice about $4000. 3 Years lease at $75 per mo.
BEAUTIFUL
Beauty and comfort are combined in this 3-bedroom home on 35th Street. Expensive carpets cover the living-dining room combination. Sliding doors make the 850 square feet useable, and you will love the many built-ins and double closets. Let us prove the beauty of this home. Only $10,000 with $6,850 loan which can be assumed.
OWNER TRANSFERRED
3-Bedroom home in Southwest Lubbock, because of a business transfer it is being offered at less than replacement cost. Many features not ordinarily found, plastered walls, insulated and weatherstripped, air conditioned from roof, a large garage and expensively landscaped yard. Sacrifice price $12,000 with large loan.
SAFETY A FACTOR
A home where your children will not have to cross dangerous traffic arteries going to school, and a place you will be proud to own. The rooms are large, the kitchen is conveniently arranged and elegant. A spacious living room is complemented by beautiful mantel and mirror. It is a good buy, the price is less than you would guess.

Israel Clash Probed By UN

RHODES, March 11. (AP)—United Nations observers today intensified checks into Trans-Jordan reports of attacks by Israeli troops—denied by Israel—in the area between the Dead Sea and the Trans-Jordan port of Aqaba.

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, acting U. N. mediator who is running the current armistice talks between Israel and Trans-Jordan, ordered the more intense investigation after receiving a formal complaint from Trans-Jordan representatives.

The complaint cited four alleged violations of a U. N.-ordered truce of last November. It asked Bunche to "halt Irsaeli attacks," while armistice talks were in progress, asserting they were "attacking Arab legionnaires with tanks and armored cars."

Dr. Reuben Shiloah, Israeli delegate to Rhodes, informed Bunche, a U.N. spokesman said, that Israeli forces in the area are "engaged in nothing but normal patrolling."

Clashes Are Reported

The U. N. already has observers in the general area of the clashes reported by Trans-Jordan. Bunche ordered more observers to the scene. He also asked Brig. Gen. William E. Riley to conduct a thorough investigation. Riley is chief of staff for U. N. observers in Palestine.

A line from the south end of the Dead Sea southward to Aqaba, a palm-dotted fishing town on the gulf of Aqaba, roughly forms the Palestine - Trans - Jordan border. Aqaba is several miles inside Trans-Jordan. It is garrisoned by British troops, under terms of a mutual defense pact invoked recently by King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan. On the Palestine side of the boundary is the Negev desert area, which a U. N. partition plan awarded to Israel in 1947.

Jaycees Cited For Savings Bond Sales

Lubbock's Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday was presented a certificate of commendation from U. S. Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder for the local Jaycees' part in the sale of U. S. Savings bonds in the Lubbock area.

The certificate, also signed by Nathan Adams, state chairman of the Texas U. S. Savings Bonds Advisory committee, read in part, "In recognition of outstanding volunteer service to community and nation in the promotion and sale of U. S. Savings bonds, this special citation is awarded to the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce."

The citation was given to the local Jaycees by Gayle Rhyne, district representative for the savings bond division of the Treasury department. Rhyne maintains offices in Lubbock and Amarillo.

It was the only such citation given here for work done in the recent security loan campaign, Rhyne said.

Egypt's film industry is now in the doldrums, lacking financial backing.

JUST A TOUCH, GRIT GOES TO WORK—NO SKIDDING ON SLIPPERY ROADS—Leslie J. Sorenson, chairman of the Chicago Traffic Commission, inspects a new traffic safety device to prevent skidding on slippery pavements. The operation is similar to the sanding of slick rails by a locomotive engineer. Abrasive traction material is carried in two hoppers in the luggage compartment, left, with tubes under the fenders. A touch of a switch on the steering wheel spreads the grit in front of the rear wheels, right. The manufacturer claims the device cuts the braking distance of a car 30 to 50 per cent.

Tree Pageant Will Boost World Peace

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 11 (AP) Amidst a setting of towering California redwoods, a big amphitheater is being built to further the cause of world peace, according to the Big Tree Bowl Foundation of Santa Cruz.

Here, adjacent to the Big Trees Park of Santa Cruz county, will be presented a yearly dramatic pageant, "The Miracle of the Trees," depicting man's striving for peace since the dawn of time.

The first of the spectacles with a cast of more than 800 costumed players will be presented in May of this year.

At the same time in a nearby "Grove of Peace," a redwood seedling will be planted to honor that person chosen by popular vote as having done the most for mankind during the past year.

Bill To Authorize Removal Of Fish Hatchery Is Introduced

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press Staff Writer

The first move toward preventing the Lake Dallas fish hatchery from being swept away by a man-made flood was taken today by the game, fish and oyster commission.

A bill to permit the commission to swap the fish hatchery land with the U. S. Reclamation service was filed in the House by Rep. Hal Jackson of Denton.

Site Picked Out

When the Garza-Little Elm dam is built below the present Lewisville dam and the man-made lake is filled, the water will push back to the game commission's Lake Dallas hatchery.

The commission already has a site picked out, said Howard Dodgen, executive secretary, below the new dam.

The Lake Dallas hatchery will be moved there to a tract of between 75 and 100 acres.

The legislative act is needed, Dodgen explained, to give the commission authority to make the transfer.

Jackson's measure, drafted by the commission, points to "the fact that the proposed Garza-Little Elm dam threatens a serious loss of fish for restocking purposes and a replacement hatchery must be started immediately.

Repayment Is Asked

The Lake Dallas hatchery, Dodgen said, has some 75 acres under water now.

The new site of the hatchery will be bought by the U. S. Reclamation service. Both the present and proposed new hatchery are in Denton county.

The commission, under the act, also would be authorized to accept repayment for any expenses incurred by the commission in building the new hatchery.

But that isn't all the trouble the change will cause the commission.

"We'll have another big lake to stock," Dodgen said.

Original Professor Quiz Not Pleased With Huge Jackpots

BY ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, March 11—The man who had the first coast-to-coast radio quiz program is asking himself a 64-dollar question these days. Whose idea was the whole thing anyway?

Professor Quiz, nee Craig Earl, would be tempted to throw in the question book if he didn't have close to 1,000,000 questions filed away which would go to waste. He doesn't like quiz shows any more.

"They give away too much for too little," he said, moodily twirling his tiny mustache with the waxed ends.

The professor is a chubby, ordinarily cheerful man who was a physician and a professional magician before he went on the air as a quizmaster. Now he rarely ever uses his real name, and even refers to his wife as "Mrs. Quiz."

$25 Used To Be Big

He longs for the good old days when a $25 first prize had contestants bug-eyed. He went on the air with his show 12 years ago. Since then, he says with solemn pride, he never has given away an answer or a giant jackpot.

For six years he got along with that $25 first prize, then somebody upped the ante. The battle of wits, he said, became a battle for washing machines. And worst of all the quizmasters started dropping liberal hints.

Professor Quiz isn't optimistic about the future of quiz shows. As a former lecturer on "The Art of Living," he feels the giant jackpots violate the rules of gracious living.

Few Bright Spots

"I can't imagine anyone having fun answering a question where a house and a car are involved," he said. "You'd hate yourself for life if you missed the answer."

There are only two bright spots as the professor sees it, left in quizmastering. One is his deep admiration of the housewife contestant.

"Housewives are loaded with the kind of unrelated facts that come up on quiz shows," he said. The other bright spot in his work which he admitted grudgingly, was the enjoyment the radio audience got out of following the big money jackpots.

"It's like kibitzing a crap game," he murmured disapprovingly.

Lubbock Seniors Plan Second Performance

Seniors of Lubbock Senior High school tonight will present a second performance of their play, "Great Expectations," which had a highly successful opening Thursday night in the school auditorium.

Curtain time tonight is 8:15 o'clock.

Tickets for the play are 50 cents each.

A responsive Thursday night demanded five curtain calls for the cast, which turned in an exceptionally adept performance of the dramatized version of Charles Dickens' story.

The play is directed by D. M. Howell.

GOAL OF COMMUNISM IMMUTABLE

Shift In Soviet Leadership Not Seen As An Aid To Peace

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

A Florida reader of this column asks whether a change in the supreme leadership of Soviet Russia might improve the chances of world peace. My correspondent presumably has in mind a substitute for Marshal Stalin as head of the Communist regime.

The answer, from my viewpoint, is definitely "no."

Of course there will have to be a change of leadership in due course on the basis that Stalin isn't immortal. Recognition of this is seen in the current speculation about the possibility that Vyacheslav Molotov is even now being groomed to take over some or all of the marshal's duties.

Goal Is Known

However, no new leadership is going to better the chances of peace. As a matter of fact peace likely is safer in Stalin's hands than it would be in any others.

Why? Well, because Moscow obviously wants to avoid another world war right away and Stalin, as the most powerful figure in Russia, is most capable of keeping the lid clamped on. At least he is the most capable so long as his health and age permit.

My viewpoint is based on this fact: The Red goal is defined and immutable. Communism has declared itself for world revolution to overthrow all other forms of government.

Communist leaders may come and they may go, but the Red creed will not change so long as the ism lives.

Royal Report Cited

Secretary of the Army Royall today summed up the situation in his annual report for the department. He called Russia's blockade of Berlin a "day to day threat to the peace of the world." He said that "from the beginning of the blockade and up to the present time the situation in Berlin has been tense."

"It hasn't been apparent," Royall said at another point, "that the Soviet authorities have had no intention of respecting past agreements or of composing the growing differences. On the contrary, it has been their manifest purpose to cause all possible confusion and conflict short of war, in an effort to drive us from Berlin and diminish American influence in Europe and in the world . . . The future of the Berlin situation—just as the future of other situations involving the Soviet Union—is hard to prophesy . . .

"We cannot and will not surrender our rights and principles. We will continue to do everything possible to avoid war."

Purchase of a re-circulation pump and motor for the Mackenzie State park swimming pool from Clowe & Cowan, inc., Lubbock, for $795.30 was authorized. The bid was the lowest of three submitted.

Present at the meeting, additional to the mayor and city manager, were Commissioners John Spikes, Clarence Whiteside and W. B. Price. The meeting was the first to be attended by Commissioner Spikes in several weeks. He has been ill.

At Guadalajara the Wayland basketball team defeated the Guadalajara university five, and the following night defeated a team of selected Mexican all-stars. More than 5,000 fans attended the first game, and an estimated 3,000 attended the second game.

Individual members of the group visited cathedrals, ancient churches, government buildings, markets, and other sites of interest in Guadalajara, usually while on shopping trips.

The tour was led by Dr. J. W. Marshall, president of Wayland. The college made arrangements to conduct a six weeks summer school at the Mexican city this summer.

Professor Talks At Dormitory Dinner

E. R. Heineman, professor of mathematics at Texas Technological college, spoke on "Probabilities in Games of Chance," at a dinner in Drane hall Thursday night.

Heineman was the first of a series of after dinner speakers scheduled to appear in the dormitory this spring, it was announced. Other special guests at the dinner were Dean and Mrs. R. C. Goodwin and Miss Martye Poindexter.

Bridge is a game of science, the speaker declared, while poker can better be mastered by one who studies the psychology of the players. Lotteries, which involve neither science nor psychology, are better avoided, he suggested.

tol-whipped when they refused to tell where their money was; crewmen were manhandled; shots were fired; the engineer was forced to back up the crack passenger train; cars (instead of horses) were stolen to escape in; a nearby tavern was robbed; posses immediately formed in three states to track them down; and then one of the robbers tried to shoot it out with police when trapped.

The arrest in the pawnshop followed the same spectacular lines:

On the alert for the train robbers after reports were issued that they might be heading for Washington, Pvt. Elwood G. Lomax and Pvt. James D. Kennedy entered the pawnshop and asked the two men for identification.

When Ramsdell tried to draw from the hip, Kennedy shoves Ashton against him and shouted to Lomax: "Let him have it, Woody."

Lomax did, a fast shot from his service revolver. Even as Ramsdell fell, Ashton threw up his hands in surrender.

Animal Trainer Claims Being Eaten By Tiger Not Painful

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NORTH MIAMI, Fla.—It doesn't hurt to be eaten alive.

By a tiger, that is.

"No, there is no pain," said Capt. Roman Proske, noted wild animal trainer. He should know. He's been clawed, pawed and hurriedly chewed by a dozen different tigers in his 34 years in the ring.

"All you remember is the big face coming at you with the mouth wide open, the claws wide stretched," he said.

Gun Is Useless

"You have time only to throw up your arm—and then he has you, and you are on the ground. The whip, the gun—if you carry a gun—they are useless.

"You are helpless. You are powerless all at once.

"You try to hit the tiger. But your hand—it is like a powderpuff. All you can think of is 'I am finished—this is the end.' But there is no pain. The shock is too great."

He shrugged:

"Wild animals have been my life. It is only reasonable that they should be my death, too."

Not that Proske has any desire to die. Tigers have just been the spice of his life. And he wants to keep it that way. A life without tigers would be as monotonous to him as a salt-free meal to a fat man.

Psychology Said Interesting

What interests Proske most about being chewed on by his tigers is the psychology of the situation. He told me about it as we stood by a cage on his tiger farm here.

"Man thinks of himself as the big being," he said. "He feels there is an invisible glass wall between himself and the animals, because he is an egotist.

"This is just a big bluff. In training wild animals your control of them—it is all in being erect, in using the big voice.

"And there comes a moment when a man knows he is not in command. The tiger feels it, too, when the man's voice gets smaller. So the tiger springs.

Writer Not Convinced

"It is then the glass wall crumbles. It is then you know that this invisible wall between man and animal is a bluff.

"You don't feel like a hero, lying on the floor in your own blood and shivering from shock. You just feel silly, shrunken to nobody."

I was still unconvinced that being eaten alive by a tiger could be painless. I have been partly eaten alive by mosquitoes, and bitten by a mouse, a cat, a squirrel, a dog and a dumb bunny I used to go to kindergarten with. Every time it hurt—hurt hard, too.

"With a tiger it is different," laughed Proske. "He hits you so hard you are paralyzed from the shock. There is no pain. I give you my word."

Flood Situation In Northwest Improved

SPOKANE, Wash., Mar. 11. (U.P.)—The possibility of another disastrous flood in the Pacific Northwest this spring has been greatly exaggerated, latest weather bureau figures reveal.

In a summary of water supply forecasts for the West Coast, the weather bureau said "undue emphasis has been placed on the heavy acculation of snow in parts of the Columbia Basin."

The weather bureau recognizes the heavy December snowfall has created a serious winter flood hazard along the Cascade Range.

"But it is still rather remote that flows along the main Columbia River will approach those experienced last year," the water supply report said.

Weather bureau officials are quick to point out, however, that at this time last year, no one was predicting the most devastating flood in the history of the Pacific Northwest.

Robert B. McComb, chief forecaster of the Spokane weather bureau, suggested two reasons for the unexpectedness of last year's flood.

"Heavy snows that piled up in the mountains did not come until May," McComb said. "There was no gradual run-off of melting snows that would have occurred if the snowfall had been spread out over several months."

McComb added that another reason for last year's unpredicted flood was the unusually late spring.

"Cold weather kept snows from melting until late in May. Then overnight the sun came forth and melting snows surged down mountain streams and overflowed the Columbia river tributaries," the forecaster explained.

All In A Lifetime — Life's Little Lessons

No Marijuana, Actor's Friend Claims, And Jury Believes Her

LOS ANGELES, March 11. (AP)—"I have never smoked a marijuana cigaret in all of my 26 years," said Dancer Vicki Evans, friend of Robert Mitchum, and the jury believed her.

The sharpely 26-year-old blonde charge of conspiracy to possess marijuana the summer night she was arrested with Mitchum and two other in a narcotics raid.

Going To Pittsburgh

"I'm going home to Pittsburgh just as soon as I can," she told reporters after the panel of eight men and four women reached its decision in 70 minutes.

Mitchum, Actress Lila Leeds and Real Estate Agent Robin Ford were convicted on similar charges; Mitchum and Miss Leeds are serving 60 day jail terms and Ford is awaiting sentence.

The conspiracy charge was the only one decided upon by the jury after Judge Clement D. Nye dismissed a charge of actual marijuana possession in the Evans case.

The prosecution told the jury "it is another case of two ladies of the evening," but Miss Evans testified:

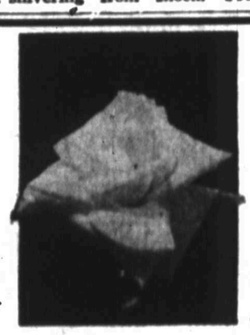

She had moved in with Lila two days before the arrest; she had no idea Mitchum was coming, but she was "excited and thrilled" to see him.

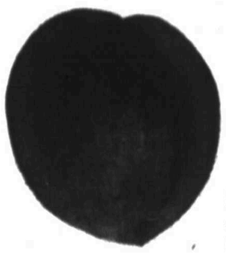

Turkey has become penicillin-minded and demand for all types is increasing.
