

Saturn To Make 8-Minute Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Scientists plan to launch this week the first Saturn superrocket on an eight-minute flight which will start the United States on the long road to manned landings on the moon.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reports the firing will take place within a few days if no problems arise.

The Saturn is a superpowerful rocket with 1.8 million pounds of thrust—about 30 million horsepower—more powerful than any previous U.S. rocket.

The maiden flight will test the first stage only. Two upper stages will be filled with 23,000 gallons of water to simulate weight of the operational rocket.

The flight plan calls for the 162-foot, 462-ton Saturn to accelerate to a speed of 3,700 miles an hour during the 1-minute 57-second burning time of its eight big engines. In that time it will consume 300 tons of fuel.

When the engines cut off, the rocket will coast upward on ballistic trajectory to an altitude of 95 miles before plunging back into the Atlantic Ocean 235 miles to the southeast. No recovery attempt will be made.

The rocket has been wired to radio information on 310 aspects of performance during the flight.

NASA said the upcoming flight is the first of 10 research and development launchings leading to an operational Saturn C1 rocket, with a thrust of 1.5 million pounds in 1964.

Cautioning against overoptimism on the early tests, officials said: "It is reasonable to expect a total of 3 successes in the 10 launchings." In this first attempt, invaluable experience and engineering data will be achieved even though the flight-path is not completely fulfilled.

Saturn is the United States' first entry in the heavy booster field. The Soviet Union has been using for some time an operational space rocket with estimated thrust of one million pounds.

When ready in 1964, the two-stage Saturn C1 will be capable of placing a 10-ton satellite in orbit or 15 tons on probes to the moon, Mars or Venus.

Water Conversion Demonstration Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—The expanded program for cheaper ways of making fresh water out of brackish and sea water is about to begin.

The program of the Office of Saline Water will come in for attention-Friday with dedication of the government's first brackish water demonstration plant at Webster, S.D.

The Webster plant is one of five. A sea water conversion plant is operating at Freeport, Tex. Another at San Diego, Calif., is to be completed next month. A third is planned at Wrightsville Beach, N.C., and a brackish water plant will be built at Roswell, N.M.

Congress passed a bill last month authorizing $75 million, 6-year water conversion program.

The Saline Water Office will place emphasis on basic research looking for new and cheaper ways to drive down the cost of conversion.

Specialists say the demonstration plants surely will prove several processes are practical and reliable. But some say that extremely large plants—bigger than any now planned—may be needed to prove economic feasibility of known processes.

Much of the basic strength will be done under contracts with universities, research organizations and other governmental agencies.

Among other expenditures planned will be $200,000 for development of mobile and portable water conversion plants that could be used in emergencies including storms.

Several proposals are being considered to investigate the possibilities for trailer-mounted, self-contained mobile conversion equipment," director C. F. MacGowan of the Saline Water Office said.

For example, the recent hurricane disaster along the Gulf coast and the resultant critical shortage of fresh water is but one reason and a good example of the need for such equipment.

Guilty Pleas Are Entered

Two pleas of guilty were heard in County Court this morning. Both offenders took place October 14.

Dallas Compton from Dallas, pleaded guilty to a charge of DWI. He was involved "in a one-car accident Saturday shortly after noon on the Gail highway. Compton displayed evidence of illness after being placed in county jail. He was examined by a local doctor and was diagnosed as suffering from hepatitis and diabetes. In lieu of other punishment he was committed to the Veterans Hospital at McKinney for 90 days for treatment.

Bill Jack Pate was fined $100 and costs and assessed 3 days in jail on a charge of DWI.

Here's a tip from Spain: A few petals of dried rosemary added to olive oil when frying creates a delightful "scum." The Spanish also add a generous amount of minced parsley to olive oil which helps to prevent splattering besides adding to the flavor of the fried foods.

400 VIC Club Members At Fall Session Here Saturday

Some 400 students from the near and far reaches of West Texas converged on the Snyder High School campus Saturday for the District I Vocational, Industrial Club Fall Meet.

Representative of 96 counties within the West Texas area, the delegates streamed in from as far as the Texas Panhandle as far west as El Paso. All attending are pursuing courses in the phase of vocational industrial education, and some 29 clubs within the district were represented.

District president Buddy Haigwood of VIC Chapter 113, Snyder, presided over the day-long meeting, which got underway at 9 a.m. with registration and was concluded in the late afternoon.

Haigwood and vice president Clifton Robertson of Abilene were elected to their present posts in the spring meeting at the organization. Other officers as elected and installed during the Saturday session were Elaine Williams of Lubbock, secretary; Mary Beth Van Meter of Midland, reporter; Judy McKinzie of Plainview, treasurer; and Wayne Brandon of Lubbock, sergeant-at-arms.

Assisting in the guidance of the meeting was J. C. Jackson, district advisor of the club from Snyder.

Virginia Payne of Snyder offered the invocation before the early-morning assemblage of students, after which Snyder High principal Robert Clinton and Chamber of Commerce manager Woody Forrester gave welcoming addresses.

Haigwood introduced the 25 nominees for District Sweetheart, at which time all nominees adjourned to the Homecoming Department living room for a formal tea in order to become acquainted with the judges. Serving on the judging committee for selection of the sweetheart were Miss Vera Periman, Mrs. Woody Forrester and Mrs. Harold Lack, and Joe Cargyle and Wagdy Forrester.

Following an extensive screening and interviewing of the host of hopefuls, Miss Lynn Brewer of Odessa Periman was named as sweetheart.

Included on the business calendar of the day were reports from Texas VIC secretary Elaine Bloodworth of Odessa and Haigwood on the Leadership Conference as held at Texas A&M the past August.

Reds Make Appeal For Friendship

By PRESTON GROVER
MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union published an appeal for friendship with the United States, Britain and France today, within 24 hours of opening the big Communist party congress.

The appeal was one of the many slogans the country publishes each year in advance of the Nov. 7 celebration of the anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution. There are 101 slogans this year.

While the congress will adopt a program calling for Soviet economic and cultural development aimed at appeasing communism over the world, the party Central Committee not only proposed peace and friendship between East and West but even invited friendship with the people of West Germany.

"Long live friendship and cooperation between the people of Britain, the United States, France and the Soviet Union in the interests of a stable peace throughout the world," said slogan No. 2.

The slogans occupied the entire first page of Pravda, the Soviet Communist party organ.

Among major news items was one on the arrival of the Chinese delegation.

The delegation is headed by Premier Chen Yi. But the Chinese party congress member Mao Tse-tung, stayed at home.

The ideological schism of the Soviet and Chinese parties continues and appeared to reflect in Mao's absence and the copying of relations between the Soviet Union and little Albania, which these days is taking its principal guidance from China.

No Change In Condition Of Rayburn

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn 79, remained seriously ill with incurable cancer today after a week end during which he weakened and then rallied.

The Texas Democrat has been at Baylor Hospital since Oct. 2. There is no significant change to report this morning in Rayburn's condition, his doctor said in a bulletin at 10 a.m.

In his morning bulletin Sunday the hospital said Rayburn's condition was "only fair" that he seemed weaker and had "periods of confusion."

A bulletin Sunday night described Rayburn as seeming more alert but that there had been no basic change in his condition, which was termed serious.

The bulletin also said the initial course of treatment with 5-fluorouracil and FUDR has been completed.

After a period of observation, if his condition permits, treatment will be resumed with FUDR or irradiation therapy or both," the report said.

The hospital said Rayburn had been seen by Dr. Anthony R. Green, director of the Cancer Research Hospital, University of Wisconsin Medical School.

A Lady On The SEC?

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A shapely, mite-sized blonde with wide, blue eyes, a sprinkling of freckles on a pug nose, and arms jingling with bracelets, is excitedly awaiting a phone call from the President of the United States.

And everybody in the course of pretty Eileen Evers' day—her hotel doorman, the groceryman, the elevator operator, the investigators who work for her in an austere Wall Street office building—invariably inquires, "Have you heard the good word yet?"

The men are proud but not at all surprised that Washington is considering making their Eileen the first woman member of the Security Exchange Commission.

A Republican with legal residence in Rhode Island, Miss Evers was nominated by several Congressmen to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Edward Gadsby.

Ever-so-feminine Miss Evers has always been incongruous with her stern surroundings, and out of stereotype as a senior attorney for the New York Stock Exchange.

Indicted in 1960 when Alexander Guterman was indicted for stock deals that stretched from the Dominican Republic to Hollywood film and New York TV industries, the SEC placed its case in the capable-pretty hands of Miss Evers. And court photographers had a rare heyday.

No Matches

Because her office is drab, Miss Evers likes to wear shocking pink suits, other bright, smart colors. She smokes, and is frustrated that she can never borrow a match because no one else in her office does.

Grinding a stub in a tray, twisting at an earring, she sits at an orderly desk stacked with briefs, listening attentively to the staff of investigators who help her oversee the legal activities of the big business world. Even then she looks more like the Junior League girl she once was than a Wall Street legal boss.

Men have never been resentful of her swift successes, she claims. "I think they really enjoy seeing good things happen to women."

Women were never considered for the Security Exchange Commission before, she believes, only because so few ever get any experience in financial law.

She admits getting into law, any kind, and building a reputation as a woman is not always an easy thing to do. But it sounds like it the way she describes her own life.

Born in Chicago, Eileen Evers came East with her parents early, was graduated from Barnard in '48, Yale Law School in '51. Later while taking a course from Louis Glasp at New York University she became convinced she could do well in finance.

An Unraveler

However, before finding an opening on the New York Stock exchange as a legal club member in 1957, she worked for New York's Legal Aid Society. But at the Stock exchange she became senior attorney in a hurry.

"I'm told I'm rather good at unravelling things, at seeing the pattern," she explains.

She is also good at forgetting the woes of the ticker tape world when the day ends. Like many a young career girl, she dresses up glamorously and goes to parties and dances. Or she works on the unending job of arranging her city apartment so that "there's a shelf for everything and every- thing can be in its place."

In good weather curly haired Eileen Evers can be found around Watch Hall Yacht Club, sailing her boat, or playing tennis or golf.

There, despite being "about 20," she looks like a carefree teenager, not a sharp Fortia who knows how to put a crooked ball or a bear in the pen.

Girl Scout Troop Names New Officers

Girl Scout Troop No. 375 met recently after school at the home of Mrs. H. P. Madeline.

Chere Renau, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate of officers for approval: Patty Smith, president; Cynthia Birdwell, secretary; Janie Mash, treasurer; Garlanda Armstrong, reporter. These girls were unanimously elected and will serve until the middle of January.

Miss Fane Downey, District Advisor, West Texas Council, met with the troop and discussed a program for the year with them.

The following girls are members of this troop: Garlanda Armstrong; Cynthia Birdwell; Dee Ann Book; Janie Mash; Jini O'Connell; Leah Leasia Loving; first in modern; Patrick; Paula K. Rubing; Chere Renau; KAY Stone, citizenship award.

Patty Smith, Jeannine Thompson, Beth Vestal, Patsy Williams.

Seven of the girls met at the Scout House on Saturday, cleaned up the yard, and had a picnic lunch at noon. These girls have fulfilled requirements for their Second Class Rank badge for a Community Improvement Project.

WALL STREET GLAMOR GIRL — Eileen Evers, senior attorney for the New York Security Exchange Commission, may become the commission's first woman member.

Nipper Introduces Nostalgia

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

According to archeologists digging in the village of Nipper, RCA Victor's bank of vinyl records on 23rd Street in Manhattan, it's been an eerie silence "for years" since the first vinyl record was first pressed on the morning glory, burn of an oil vial.

After mining so exhaustively a historical gem, the researchers failed to discover just which song first issued forth from "His Master's Voice" but it's safe to say that if it had been "Rock Around the Clock" or some such horror, the faithful hi-fi band would have fled in terror and not remained in his post for six long decades.

Little Nipper's singular medication to the recording medium serves to introduce two new albums in RCA Victor's excellent series, "60 Years of the Music America Loves Best." One is from the Red Label classic collection and the other is from the blue label popular field, and both are Volume III in their respective fields.

None of the selections dates back 60 years, or anywhere close to Little Nipper's salad days, but almost all of them are collector's items carefully culled from old tapes and old master discs, and even more carefully engineered to remove the "squeak-through-a-wet sock" quality that seemed to inhibit early recording processes.

Brimming over with nostalgia, Volume III of the Red Label album is memorable mostly for conserving and, in some cases, reintroducing some of the musical titans of yesteryear who would otherwise not be heard again. The flashbacks to the golden age of concert and opera include Caruso singing "La Donna e Mobile," Horowitz playing "The Moonlight Sonata," Toscanini leading the NBC Orchestra through a brilliant "Dance of the Hours," and Koussevitzky and the Boston Symphony in a magnificent performance of the waltz from Tchaikovsky's "Serenade for Strings."

And perhaps rarest of all, John Barrymore in his prime doing the "O what a rogue and peasant slave art thou" speech from "Hamlet." Maybe the Hamlet selection is not music in the strictest sense, but Barrymore knew the musical nuances of Shakespeare's poetry and gave them full expression with his gifted voice.

Volume III of the pop series pays homage to the last days of vaudeville and the era of the big band.

True Legends Often Have A Rugged Time Surviving

By INEZ ROBB

Truth is stranger than fiction and has a lot harder time getting to first base. Man dearly loves legends—true, false or middle. No fool-headed American myself included, is ever going to repudiate Parson Weems' George Washington, the cherry tree and the future first President gallantly saying, "Father, I did it with my little hatchet. I can't be millions of Americans' boys' old their moral milk-teeth on that one, and a good thing too.

But there is an earlier American legend, an even sturdier legend that dies harder than the cherry tree. In Washington, D.C., recently the canard was repeated by a witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee. The witness testified that one of his ancestors, Giles Cory, was burned at the stake during the dreadful witch hysteria that assailed Salem, Mass. with such hideous results in 1692.

The witness Richard L. Criley, not only betrayed a lamentable ignorance of his ancestor but of American history. Contrary to popular belief which has been strongly held and is still held in this country since the Salem madness, no witch or witches were burned at Salem.

They were burned by the thousands in Europe, including children of eight and nine. So strongly is the stake associated historically with punishment for witchcraft, that it has subserved the truth about Salem, which is bad enough without the flame and the fagots.

While the Salem hysteria lasted, 20 persons in that small community suffered death by witchcraft. All but Giles Cory were hanged. He had the sad distinction of a

Dignitaries Take A Hike

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—U.S. Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall showed up at a meeting here Sunday to discuss a bill to set aside a federal proposal to set aside lakeshore and seashore areas to preserve their natural beauty.

Who is hiking with him? someone asked Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev.

"Grant D. Son Bible said Gov. Grant Sawyer quickly replied, "No, the senator is."

In the end, most of the federal, California and Nevada officials and newsmen at the session removed their coats and ties for the hike.

The meeting in Nevada's state capital was to discuss a federal proposal to set aside lakeshore and seashore areas to preserve their natural beauty.

Cyril Walker was the 194 National Open at Oakland Hills with a 297 score, nine strokes over par.

more terrible fate, but not at the stake. Cory was pressed to death, the only instance on record in this country of an individual suffering this fate provided by an old English statute.

"Pressing" was a refined method of torture, designed to make the victim confess rather than to kill him. The method consisted of piling pieces of iron or rock on the poor victim, increasing the weight day by day and decreasing his food allowance. This treatment was first applied to Cory in prison when he refused to plead either "innocent" or "guilty" to the charge of being a wizard. Tradition says that when he refused to speak in jail, he was finally taken to Witches Hill, where the other victims died on the gallows. There, where the other innocents had met their fate, he finally died by pressing.

Cory met his death so stoically that he was called "The Iron Man." What makes the story of this brave man doubly bad is that he was accused as a wizard and died for it when he was in his eightieth year.

Who is to say why the stubborn old man refused to enter a plea? Perhaps he knew the futility of any man's plea in Salem at the time. Or perhaps of his Christian contempt for such an indictment. Who knows?

It is not chic to read Longfellow nowadays. But any one who wishes to learn more of Giles Cory can find him embedded in Longfellow's "New England Tragedies." And he is a central figure in a play by another New England writer Mary E. Wilkins Freeman. But it is odd that so little has been written of this man who occupies a small but unique niche in American history. Even the legend says, his old and gallant ghost haunts the site where he died.

Probably Americans will go on believing that witches were burned at Salem until kingdom come. But if I were a descendant of old Giles Cory, I would be proud enough to keep the record straight.

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

The human body is a natural power plant. The blood cells of the average man contain enough electricity to light a 25-watt bulb for about three minutes.

Prosperity note: Americans now spend about as much on tobacco and alcoholic beverages as they do on schools—some $13 billion a year.

Even a dog's life is getting more expensive. It now costs from $60 to $150 to raise a puppy, depending on its breed and appetite.

One way to get ahead, Giacomo Puccini, composer of "La Boheme," "Madam Butterfly" and other noted operas, gave this as his success formula: "I am almost always late."

Philatelic oddity: Great Britain and Russia never print the full name of their country on their stamps.

The strange smell of distress: Doctors have found that many victims of schizophrenia, the madman's ailment, have a characteristic odor which helps in the diagnosis of their psychosis.

Beauty is a matter of opinion and varies from country to country and age to age. Some Congolese tribes scar their faces and bodies elaborately for decorative purposes. And tightly bind the heads of infants to give them an elongated skull—another mark of handsomeness.

Executive signs: On the desk of insurance tycoon Elmer Leterman, "Last is preparation meeting opportunity."

You think you're having trouble with your family budget? The federal government in the last eight years collected $53 billion more in revenue than it did in the previous 104 years—mostly George Washington through Harry S. Truman. In those same eight years it also borrowed—and spent—an additional $23 billion.

How do you buy gasoline? A survey showed the largest number of motorists say "fill 'er up." But worth most often, and $ per gallon, usually "five gallons."

Wiseacre of the week: Actor Oscar Homolka says he knows a hypochondriac who had such a wonderful idea at a health resort, he's never going back.

Tip to wealthy wives: Dirty diamonds look smaller. Your diamonds will look larger and brighter and impress the neighbors more if you clean them regularly with a solution of detergent and hot water.

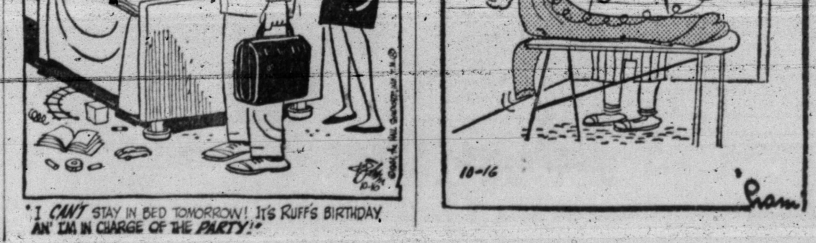

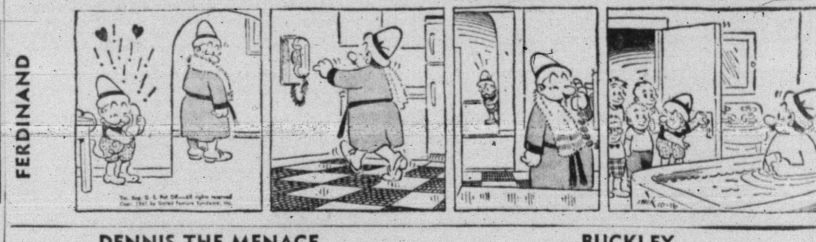

It was Robert Frost who observed, "a man will sometimes devote all his life to the development of one part of his body—the wishbone."

Test of Viewing Preferences Urged

NEW YORK (AP)—The chairman of the Federal Communications Commission suggested Sunday simultaneous presentations of educational and entertainment television programs to test viewer preferences.

The chairman, Newton N. Minow, predicted that teen-agers "will respond to the best television has to offer" if given a choice between a Western or a comedy and a high-level cultural program.

Minow made the suggestion in answer to a question on the WNBC-TV show "Youth Forum."

Italians Cop Coveted Cup

ROME (AP)—Italy defeated the United States in Interzone Davis Cup play today and won the right to challenge Australia for the coveted tennis trophy.

Nicola Pietrangeli scored the decisive third point by defeating Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., 6-3, 6-2.

Italy went into the final two single matches leading 2-1, and needing to win only one more point.

Douglas, sixth-ranked American tennis player, was no match for the big Italian. Only in the first set, which lasted 38 minutes, did he battle on even terms.

Douglas previously had won the single American victory by defeating Fanasto Gardini 4-6, 4-6, 7-5, 10-8, 6-0.

The final singles match of the day, which pitted Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., against Gardini, was reduced to a formalities. Pietrangeli gave Italy a 2-1 victory by beating Reed in singles, 2-6, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4 and by carrying the brunt of the load as Italy

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

The odds that "winning isn't everything—it is the only thing" seems to be working in the American Football League for San Diego and K.S. (Bud) Adams, owner of the two-frequently losing Houston Oilers.

San Diego just goes out and wins them all so there'll be no doubt it.

Adams demands that his team win or else there's a new coach. "I won't get the job done. Not even if it's a 31-31 tie that turns into about the wildest, most thrilling offensive struggle of the year."

Adams reportedly told his coach, Lou Rymkus, that he had to beat Houston last Friday night or he was through. Hence the firing of Rymkus since there was only a tie.

Giants Slap Cowboys In NFL Clash

DALLAS (AP)—A Y. A. Tittle, the old Marshall boy who made good at Louisiana State and in pro football, wasn't very kind to the Texas home folks Sunday—he ran and passed the New York Giants to a 31-0 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

The Cowboys gave him a lot of trouble for a half but they could not quite handle the 33-year-old pro veteran when the chips were down. His 15-yard run set up a field goal, he passed to Kyle Rote to set up a touchdown and he passed for two touchdowns.

Dallas led the Giants for a quarter, was tied with them at the half at 10-10 and allowed falling behind in the third period on the way to an apparent touchdown that might have tied it up when Eddie Lebaron tried a pass into the end zone that Erich Barnes snared and ran back 101 yards to a touchdown.

It was just one yard back of the National Football League record but of more importance it virtually wrecked the Cowboys, who went slightly to pieces and allowed the Giants to score again shortly afterward.

A crowd of 42,500 turned out the biggest ever to see the Cowboys play—and it was ironic that the Dallas club should lose just when it was building up enough interest to draw a paying throng. Dallas was tied with Philadelphia, New York and Cleveland for the eastern division lead entering Sunday's games. Now only New York and Philadelphia are on top.

Kyle Rote, the San Antonio boy who starred at Southern Methodist before going to the Giants, caught one pass for a touchdown and it was his snare of another pass that set up a second touchdown. Don Meredith, also an SMU ex, passed for the Dallas touchdown.

Tom Landry, coach of Dallas, used to coach the defense for New York. Ten of the 11 players he tutored there were in Sunday's game against him. Only Barnes, the one who made the long touchdown run that beat Dallas, was not coached by Landry.

District Play Hogs Scene

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's virtually all-out conference season this week in the Class AAAA division of Texas schoolboy football. Only such powers as Wichita Falls and defending champion Corpus Christi Miller will be fore opening the district races.

Nine districts already have had two undisciplined leaders—Amari in Tascosa in District 3 and Freeport Brazosport in District 12.

Only nine teams are undefeated and untied. They are Ysleta, Ysleta Belair, Big Spring, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth Paschal, Tyler Lee, Corpus Christi Miller, Freeport, and Houston Milby.

None of them meet each other but there are some games involving district leaders.

Houston Milby and Houston Reagan are tied for the District 9 lead although Aldine and Houston Davis have yet to open conference stride. Milby and Reagan will meet this week.

In district 10 there is a three-way tie among Houston Austin, Houston Jones and Spring Branch. San Antonio Burbank and Houston Antonio Brackridge are tied for the District 16 lead. But they don't meet each other until Nov. 17.

Big Guns Slightly Muffled

DALLAS (AP)—Texas was slowed some by Oklahoma last week but still may have enough total offense to retain its national lead, Southwest Conference statistics showed today.

The Longhorns were held to 272 yards by outclassed Oklahoma but have a per game average of 443.9 yards. That would have been sufficient for national leadership by almost 17 yards last week.

Texas had a per game average of 304 before playing Oklahoma.

The Longhorns also lead the conference in rushing and passing, but are being challenged by Arkansas and Texas A&M in the offensive statistics.

Texas leads in defense with 194.7 yards allowable per game but Arkansas is only 1.6 yards above this and A&M 1.8.

Offensively, however, there's no team closer to Baylor is second at 306.3 yards per game. Texas A&M despite its 461 yards in beating Trinity 56-0, is third at 279.

Arkansas surprised for the second straight week with a parlay of payoff passing and ball control. First to score two league victories, Arkansas ran 67 plays to only 48 by offensive-minded Baylor, rang the bell on three touchdown throws and recovered all four of the opposition's fumbles. The previous week Arkansas recovered three TCU fumbles, intercepted two passes and ran 60 plays to 48 for the Frogs.

Longhorns, Porkers Meet In Early Showdown Clash

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas, so good it doesn't know its own strength although winning four straight games, and Arkansas, which recognized its weaknesses early and plugged them up, clash at Fayetteville Saturday in a Southwest Conference game that could decide the championship.

Texas, which felled old enemy Oklahoma in usual fashion—taking advantage of the breaks and failing to make any mistakes—carries a great season record to Fayetteville. In those four games the Longhorns scored 139 points.

Saturday Texas whipped Oklahoma 28-7, with reserves playing most of the time. It didn't give much indication of just how good the nation's fourth ranked team happens to be.

It is, however, the only undefeated team in the league and Arkansas is the only unbeaten team in conference play while leading it with a 2-0 mark.

And it was Arkansas that made it possible for Texas to lord it over the league as the last unbeaten outfit—Arkansas' lashed Baylor 25-13 last week to knock the Golden Bears out of such a position.

Baylor tries to get back in the race in a game with twice-beaten Texas Tech at Lubbock, Texas A&M and Texas Christian clash at Fort Worth and Southern Methodist and Rice both play their first conference games by meeting each other.

It was very embarrassing the first time I ever rolled a bowling ball. Four or five girls and myself went to a six-lane establishment in my home town of Brant, N. Y. that was about 1945 when I was a 10-year-old.

I threw the ball up in the air and thought it would hit the ceiling. It came down and bounced on the shiny lane with a seething thud.

Since then I have learned that the secret of good bowling lies in a smooth, natural delivery. And, of course, in order to properly deliver the ball, you must end in a slide, releasing the ball so that it rolls, not bounces.

Although I've never taken a bowling lesson in my life, I had a good opportunity to practice and learn about bowling. My dad and my uncle built their own lanes near our home when I was 19. Soon after the lanes opened, I became an avid bowler.

One of the first and most important things I learned in this sport is the fundamentals and don't try to imitate others. What's right for them is dead wrong for you. If it throws off your timing and coordination and keeps you from bowling smoothly and naturally, TOMORROW Stance and Grip

Junior Editors Quiz on LANGUAGES

QUESTION: How many languages are spoken throughout the world?

ANSWER: Words, words, words! All over the world people are jabbering at each other. Although our illustration makes fun of talk, we all understand that it's about the most important thing in the world—we just couldn't get on without it. Languages are divided into general groups or families. The most important of these are: the African; the Semitic, which include Hebrew and Arabic; the Indo-Chinese; the Japanese; the Turkish and Finnish; the languages of the Pacific Islands; the North American Indian; the South American Indian; and finally, the group to which we belong called the Indo-European. Nearly half the peoples of the world belong to this last group composed of those who speak the languages of India and the Near East, of Russia, of the European countries, of the British Commonwealth and America. Of these by far the largest group are those who speak our own language. There are about two billion people on the earth and the number of languages which they speak are approximately 1500.

25,000 See Prison Rodeo Performance

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A crowd of 25,000 persons including the Polish ambassador, witnessed the third Texas Prison Rodeo Sunday.

A rodeo judge and two convict performers were injured at the performance. The rodeo is being staged each Sunday during October.

There were numerous out-of-state visitors at the rodeo, including a busload of fans from St. Petersburg, Fla. and Shreveport, La.

Honored guests were the ambassador to the United States from the Polish Peoples' Republic, his wife and members of his staff, all from Washington, D. C.

Ambassador Edward Droniak was accompanied by Prof. Edward Janakiewicz, commercial counselor, Polish trade mission; his wife, and Andrew Szczepanek, economist, Polish trade mission. They were flown to Huntsville by Capt. Harold Byrd.

Byrd, publisher of Flight magazine, all of Dallas. A veteran rodeo judge was sent to the ground when a big Brahman bull crashed into the judge's horse.

Gerald Abbott of Houston was examined by pre-war physicians who said they did not believe his injuries serious enough for hospitalization.

In the bareback bronc riding event, James Montgomery of Appleton, serving 12 years, was hurt by a mount called Display. Montgomery was kicked in the jaw and chest and in the stomach. He was taken to the prison hospital for examination.

The wild horse race, also proved to be a bruising contest. Gerald Lee—being 20 years from Pasadena, had to be taken to the hospital for examination and treatment.

Trio Mauled By Bear In Animal Park

CONNELLA LAKE, Pa. (AP)—A 250-pound black bear mauled and mauled three persons at a wild animal park Sunday before being shot and killed by a youth.

Ida Mae Kemp, 35, of McKees Rocks, near Pittsburgh, and John Hehl Sr., 35, of Connela Lake, the park's caretaker, were admitted to Spencer Hospital in Meadville in fair condition.

Robert A. Mahoney, 22, of Connela, was treated at Meadville City Hospital and released.

State police said the incident had occurred at Fairyland Forest, a park connected with Connela Lake Park in northwestern Pennsylvania.

The bear he was checking the bear's cage and Mahoney was with him when the bear suddenly grabbed the boy's right arm and pulled it through the fence. Hohl unlocked the door to the cage and placed his hand in the bear's mouth.

The bear let go of Mahoney's arm and started clawing at mauling Hohl on the head, chest and back. Hohl's son, John Jr., 15, then stunned the bear by hitting him on the head with a stick, enabling the elder Hohl to get away.

While the Hohls went to get a shotgun, the bear got out of the cage and attacked Miss Kemp, knocking her down. The bear started clawing at her neck and back.

The Hohl boy then fired two shots from a 12-gauge shotgun and killed the bear, which was nearly five feet tall.

Stray Postcard Stirs Nigerians

IBADAN, Nigeria (AP)—A postcard that went astray has given the American Peace Corps its first black eye in the field.

Nigerian university students demanded Sunday that the corps unit sent to teach Nigerians be expelled because of criticism of primitive living conditions in this year-old African republic written by an enthusiastic—but "thoughtless"—girl in the group.

Her postcard home, dropped accidentally on the campus, stirred 1,000 students at Ibadan University College to an angry demonstration denouncing the American volunteers as "agents of imperialism."

Margery Michelmore, 23, Smith College honor graduate from Foxboro, Mass., quickly apologized to the university authorities for writing the "thoughtless card" and offered to resign from the corps in an attempt to quiet the uproar.

Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, said in Washington, he talked to the Nigerian ambassador and "he did not seem disturbed. He said it was the type of thing you could expect in this kind of operation, and I agreed with him."

The anti-American demonstration was organized after someone reportedly had found on the campus grounds the postcard that Miss Michelmore had written to a friend in Boston telling him: "With all the training we had, we were really not prepared for the squalor and absolutely primitive living conditions rampant both in the cities and the bush. We had had no idea about what 'underdeveloped' means. It really is a revelation, and once we got over the initial, horrified shock, it is a very rewarding experience. Everyone except us lives in the streets, cooks in the streets, and even goes to bathrooms in the streets."

She described the university as "great fun," but added, "I just hope they do not repeat last year's Lumumba riots." This was a reference to antiwhite demonstrations in Lagos, capital of this former British colony of 35 million people, after former Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba was slain in Katanga.

The American girl's postcard was copied and circulated among the 1,500 students here by the Ibadan University College Students' Union, which described her comments as "damaging to our country."

Before the student rally got under way on the campus, Miss Michelmore, attractive daughter of a Massachusetts electronics company executive, left the college where 37 Peace Corps members are training for teaching assignments.

Visibly upset on arriving in Lagos, she said she had written the university authorities saying she understood the students' sense of insult and offense.

Shriver said no action has been taken on Miss Michelmore's offer to resign but that she is free to quit at any time.

At the rally in Ibadan, the president of the Students' Union, Dapo Salase, charged, that the Peace Corps was designed to spread "American imperialist propaganda" in Africa and "to spy on what you are doing."

FOUND IN AUTO TRUNK—Francisco-Mario, 33, shows the size hole through which she breathed after climbing into the trunk of an automobile before it was shipped to Seattle last week from Cordova, Alaska. She was discovered in the trunk when the Alaska Steamship Co. freighter Tonsina docked in Seattle and taken to a hospital. She said she wanted to follow her common-law husband, Amos Uganizo, 53, to Seattle. So she climbed into the trunk of his car and planned to stay there until he picked up the car in Seattle. Gen. Watson Has Poise And Humor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Silver-haired Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, the U.S. commander in Berlin, has poise and humor and quotes poetry.

He's also a rough and tough fighting man, a veteran of two wars.

And he's very confident that West Berlin will continue to stand free and grow economically.

"I'm not worried, one cotton-picking bit," he says.

Watson accompanied Gen. Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin, on a tour of the city's Communist-controlled Eastern Sector Sunday night. This was an apparent demonstration of Western rights to move freely in all parts of the divided city.

Born Jan. 5, 1909, the former Mount Vernon, Ill., boy has packed a lot of action into his 52 years. There were the dirty, bloody days of World War II at Hollandia, New Guinea, Leyte and Okinawa. And then, less than a decade ago, the bitter winters of war in Korea.

Watson started soldiering as an artilleryman, but the many assignments that followed have qualified him, literally, as a general officer.

Midway in his career he was a student and later a member of the faculty at the Army War College. Taught there are not only strategy and tactics but also geopolitics—the geographic, political and economic factors in military plans and doctrine.

Nowhere more than in Berlin does a man need understanding of international perplexities as well as battle plans.

Watson is no stranger to Germany. Before he was given the Berlin command last May he had served as commander of two infantry divisions stationed in West Germany. He had learned to speak some German. He has continued his studies and become reasonably fluent in the language.

From me to you A DAILY VIEW

by Rev. R. Charles Spivey

"Unless the Lord builds the house, those who build it, labor in vain."
Psalm 127:1

This scripture is a statement of stewardship, pure and simple. And it is exactly at this point that the controversy between Christians and non-Christians begins and ends. Very simply put this scripture says, "God is the great Creator Lord, the One who rules, controls, directs, guides, the lives of men, the destiny of the stars." Or in other words, God owns everything that exists. We only have it on loan from Him. Therefore what you do with what you have (and it's all been given to you by God) and how you live your life that too belongs to Him) are great ultimate questions and the answer you give affects your relationship to God and the eternal hereafter.

If God doesn't own everything, then our existence on this earth is meaningless and in vain.

But the Christian says, "Though the wrong seems off so strong, God is the ruler yet—I dedicate my life, my all, to Him."

Emergency Landing Made

FORT WORTH (AP)—A Braniff Airways Electra, with 49 aboard, made an emergency landing safely today on a foam-covered runway at Carswell Air Force Base.

The turbo-prop jet, enroute to Chicago, developed landing gear trouble shortly after taking off from Love Field at Dallas.

The plane circled the Dallas area until after daylight and then headed for Carswell which has the longest and widest runways in this part of the country. It was the fourth commercial airliner in recent months to make an emergency landing here.

The Electra made a wheels up landing, skidding through the foamed area on the runway. Small bits of debris were seen flying from the skidding plane but there was no fire and apparently no major damage.

The passengers scrambled out of exits seconds after the plane came to a halt. None appeared to be injured.

'Shelter-For-Peace' Program Is Created

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy announced Sunday creation of a "Shelter for Peace" program and asked each SANE member to contribute the money he would spend for a fallout shelter to the committee's "peace race."

The committee announced the program at the windup of its fourth annual conference. It suggested that each member contribute $120—the approximate cost of a fallout shelter.

Conference Executive Director Homer Jack told the 206 delegates at the meeting the money would be used to "help dispel the notion that any nation can win a nuclear war."

CHEVROLET

NOW EXPLORE A NEW WORLD OF WORTH

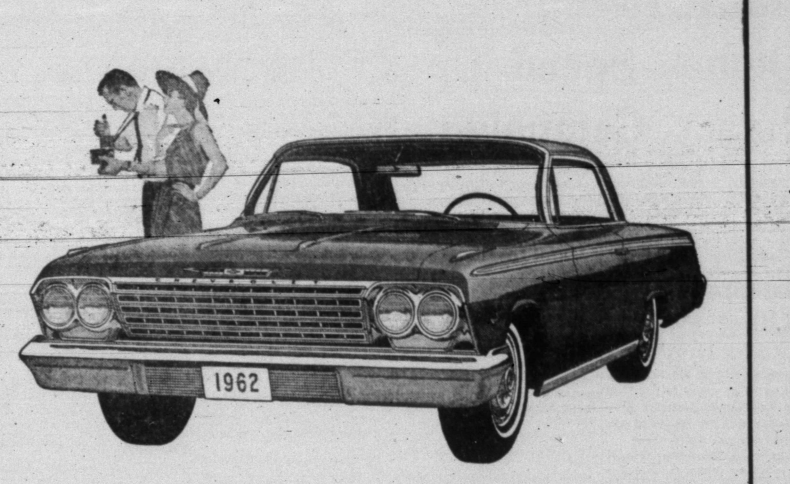

at your Chevrolet dealer's one-stop shopping center!

Discovering your kind of car just couldn't be simpler! Why? Because your Chevrolet dealer is offering three separate and complete lines of cars—plus the Corvette—for 1962.

If you like your cars full size, by all means consider the beautiful new Jet-smooth '62 Chevrolets. Fourteen models to choose from, including elegant new Impalas, sure-to-please New Bel Airs and neat new Biscaynes.

If you like your cars trim and sporty, then one of the nine new Corvairs, with their sure-footed rear-engine agility, may be just the model for you.

And, if in-between size is your size... you couldn't have come to a better place. You can pick one of the brand-new Chevy II models—each built a new way for a new kind of modern, basic transportation. With so much to choose from, you're sure to find just the size, the model and the worth you want... in one easy stop at your Chevrolet dealer's.

'62 CHEVROLET IMPALA SPORT COUPE

Folks look twice at this Impala hardtop and they still think it's a soft top. The sculptured steel roof is molded into crisp convertible contours... it's the sweetest trick of the year. All the plush roominess, Jet-smooth silkeness and extra Impala refinements are here just as you want them. You'd expect no less from the top of the Chevrolet line—and you'd scarcely expect more from the top of anybody's line. So why pay more?

THE NEW CHEVY II 100 4-DOOR SEDAN

Here's a new-sized family sedan as spacious as many recent-model full-sized cars inside. Built to save you money on service and maintenance. Fenders bolt on for easy fixin'. Your choice of a frugal 4- or savin' 6-cylinder engine (in most models). And those new Mono-Plate rear springs ride satiny smooth.

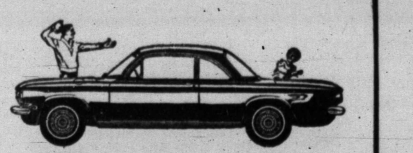

'62 CHEVROLET BEL AIR STATION WAGON

Chevrolet station wagon fever is delightfully contagious—and here's one reason why. This one has an easy-loading cargo opening nearly 5 ft. across. Sports a spunky standard Six or V8... optional extra-cost V8's up to 409 hp. Keeps its good looks (front fenders, for instance, have new steel undershirts to resist corrosion).

THE NEW CHEVY II NOVA 400 SPORT COUPE

Here's a heart-stopper that's not a budget-stopper. It's soon-to-be-available Chevy II hardtop. Front bucket seats are optional at extra cost, along with plenty of other options and accessories. And there's a mopey Chevy II convertible coming to join it soon.

'62 CORVAIR MONZA CLUB COUPE

If you want sports car spice on a budget—this one's for you. Corvairs have a perky new look for '62, sporty new interiors and bigger new brakes. They also sporter and bring with road-rally reflexes, what with that 4-wheel independent suspension and the engine in the rear.
