The courts were before Roy Archer, county judge. Several employes of major companies also have testified.

Chicago Crime Commission Issues New Offensive Against Gangsters With New List of 'Public Enemies'

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (US)—Presentation of evidence with which to reindict Al Capone on new and more serious charges will begin before the grand jury next Tuesday, Assistant United States District Attorney Victor E. La Rue announced today.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (AP)—A new offensive against Chicago gangsters was opened today.

It took the form of the issuance by the Chicago crime commission of a new list of "public enemies," adding 28 names to the original roster of 28 which was headed by Alphonse Capone, overlord of Chicago gangdom.

The 28 additional names were made public in a letter sent to public officials, urging that the anti-gang campaign be continued. Among them were those of men who for years are reputed to have been pioneers in the racketeering field.

At the same time the commission promised the list would "be amplified from time to time as this is by no means a complete catalog of Chicago's 'Who's Who in Crime.'"

Its letter stressed that of the original 28 "public enemies," two have been slain, three were sent to penitentiaries, and five others have been sentenced. One has been ordered deported, three are awaiting trial, five are fugitives from justice and seven have been cleared of charges. Another is free on bail, awaiting a review of an extradition case.

Meanwhile Capone was free under $5,000 bond as a result of his decision to try to withdraw his pleas of guilty to indictments charging income tax violation and conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. He had planned on taking his sentence this week, but when heavier penalties than he had bargained for threatened him, he changed his mind.

C. M. GOODWIN FREE OF CHARGES AFTER GRAND JURY PROBE

C. M. Goodwin, former police desk sergeant and deputy sheriff, was automatically released from bond when the grand jury adjourned Friday without having brought in an indictment against him in connection with a complaint charging the ex-officer with a $1,500 robbery at Lakeside park several weeks ago.

The failure to indict Goodwin also made void the complaint filed against him, District Attorney Sam B. Spence explained Saturday.

The office safe at Lakeside park was robbed of $1,500 in cash by burglars early Monday morning, July 6, when receipts for the holiday week-end included those from Friday night, Saturday and Sunday.

Goodwin, manager of the park, told officers he had left the place shortly after midnight and that he had locked the safe with the money still inside. The following morning the safe was found robbed with the knob of the outer door knocked off.

Goodwin was arrested and made bond on the robbery charge without going to jail. He denied the charges and assured investigating officers that he had locked the safe before leaving the park.

Goodwin served as office deputy under Sheriff W. G. Bralley and later as night sergeant at police headquarters.

WOMAN APPEALS TO ROCKEFELLER JR. TO PREVENT WAGE CUT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (UP)—Miss Josephine Roche, president of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company, appealed directly today to John D. Rockefeller Jr., to prevent a 16 per cent wage cut contemplated by the Colorado Fuel and Iron company which is controlled by the Rockefeller family.

"One word from you," said Miss Roche's telegram to Rockefeller, "can prevent the human and economic waste which will result from the action taken by your company."

The Rockefeller company announced the wage cut policy yesterday. Reductions are to be from $6.52 to $5.25 a day. Miss Roche told the United Press she paid her employes in the competing Rocky Mountain Fuel company a basic rate of $7 a day.

Her telegram to Rockefeller said industrial conflict in Colorado has been periodic for more than 40 years "as a result of similar attempts to secure operating profits at the sole expense of workers."

Miss Roche's telegram addressed to Rockefeller at 26 Broadway, N. Y., said:

"One word from you can prevent a recurrence of the human and economic waste which will result from the action taken by your company, the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, in cutting miners wages 20 per cent. (The contemplated cut is 16 per cent)"

ONTARIO TOWNS WATCH IN VAIN FOR LINDBERGH

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 1. (AP)—In towns and settlements in northern Ontario a vigil kept in the hope that Colonel Lindbergh and his wife would pass in their vacation plane was in vain. No report of the flying colonel en route from Ottawa to Moose factory near James bay had been received late this afternoon.

A check conducted at Cochrane, Hunta, Fraserdale, Coral Rapids and Moose river bridge failed to bring any news.

Colonel Lindbergh may have settled his plane on the water at Moose Factory, but if he had there was no way to get the news to the outside world unless Lindbergh himself chose to send it through the wireless set in the plane and government wireless stations picked it up.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—Chairman Stone of the farm board, in a formal statement today said the farm board would authorize the stabilization corporation to sell wheat and cotton to Germany on credit terms if it would aid Germany and American agriculture.

Stone said, however, that the board now has no definite proposals before it from the German government.

From the experience of many previous earth failures, engineers for the road decided the only method to combat the sinking was to dump long trainloads of gravel and crushed rock into the affected area until the ground remains stationary.

Grain and Livestock Received on Fort Worth Markets in July Brought Southwestern Shippers $8,000,000

FORT WORTH, Aug. 1. (AP)—Grain and livestock received on the Fort Worth markets during July just closed brought shippers of the Southwest more than $8,000,000, according to figures compiled today from stockyard and cotton and grain exchange reports.

Of this amount livestock accounted for one-fourth, or about $2,000,000, although July is one of the dullest months in the livestock trade.

Grain, in a very active month's business, brought a little above $6,000,000 although prices for wheat, the principal commodity, were at their lows for all time.

The livestock receipts of the month were made up of 50,000 cattle which brought their shippers approximately $1,300,000; 14,000 calves which sold for $215,000; 11,500 hogs which brought $180,000; and 66,500 sheep which totaled about $220,000.

Despite the low prices prevailing for grain, more than $6,000,000 was paid out through Fort Worth banks during July for that commodity handled on this market. Approximately one-third of this amount—or about $2,000,000—went to the railroads as transportation charges and the remainder swelled the buying power of the Texas grain belt.

Wheat accounted for $5,689,000 of this total and oats for about $220,000 of it, other coarse grains making up the remainder.

Wheat receipts of 7,586 cars on this market during July compare with 6,818 cars in the like month of 1930; but grain men pointed out that last year's payments for wheat were far above this year's due to the higher prices then ruling the market.

July grain receipts also included 70 cars of corn, 362 of oats, 32 of sorghums and 57 cars of barley.

Chief Federal Grain Inspector V. L. Nigh said Saturday that total inspections in July this year were 8,730 cars compared with 3,461 in June and with 3,468 in July, 1930.

EUROPE HAILS CREDIT GRANT AID PROGRESS

NEW YORK BANK SHARES WITH PARIS INSTITUTION

Guard Against Further Withdrawals Gold From Bank of England

By WILLIAM HILLMAN
Universal Service Special Cable
(Copyright 1931, by Universal Service, Inc.)

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Franco-American credit grant of 50,000,000 pounds, approximately $250,000,000, to the Bank of England, was hailed today by London financiers as "the most important step in the progress of international banking cooperation" since the war.

The Bank of England's announcement that the credit had been secured followed an official communique to that effect by the Banque de France in Paris. The French bank will share equally with the Federal Reserve bank of New York in placing $250,000,000 in French and American currencies at the disposal of the British institution.

Unexpected Information

The announcement contained the unexpected information, moreover, that the British treasury had authorized an increase of 15,000,000 pounds, approximately $75,000,000, for three weeks in the fiduciary note issue. This increases the fiduciary issue to 275,000,000 pounds, or about $1,375,000,000.

The large credit grant, combined with the fiduciary increase, is expected to guard against further gold withdrawals from the Bank of England and to increase the elasticity of domestic currency during holiday season. By the moves, the Bank of England hopes to consolidate confidence in sterling.

The Paris communique revealing the agreement was made public after a lengthy meeting of Sir Robert Kindersley, a director of the Bank of England, and Mr. Clement Moret, governor of the Banque de France. The agreement followed previous conferences which were reported to have been unsuccessful.

Telephone Plays Part

The transatlantic telephone also played a part in the transaction, acquainting the Federal Reserve bank officials with every development as these arose. George L. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve bank, was reported to have expressed "hearty satisfaction and approval" of the transaction.

Interest at the rate of 3½ per cent will be paid by the Bank of England on the loan, the first which the British bank has been forced to ask outside the country since 1907. According to best information here, the loan will run for a period of 90 days.

The credit, as distinguished from a gold credit, is similar to that extended to the Reichsbank recently. American commercial banks participate solely through possible resale to them of prime commercial bills purchased by the Federal Reserve bank from the Bank of England up to $125,000,000. The Federal Reserve bank cannot be forced to take a larger share of bills than that taken by the Bank of France.

LAWMAKERS WORK ON NEW OIL BILLS

went over in detail the major pieces of legislation proposed.

In the senate, the Texas oil emergency committee's bill occupied most of the discussion, proponents defending a provision permitting the commission supervising oil matters to consider market demand in preparing and issuing its orders for the prevention of physical waste in production, transportation, storage and use of oil and gas.

Attack on Bill

The house, working on the Wagstaff bill the administration approves, heard an attack on the bill by Representative T. H. McGregor of Austin, who will offer a substitute.

The Wagstaff program, "brother" to that of Senator Walter Woodward in the senate, would set up a new conservation commission and give it broad powers to prevent waste, to defend its orders in the courts and to prevent the transportation of oil produced in violation of its orders. Representative Walter Beck, of Fort Worth served notice he intended to try to put market demand in the bill.

The chief difference between the emergency committee bill, which was upheld in today's senate discussions by Robert E. Hardwicke, an attorney of Fort Worth and the Woodward bills, is that the former would retain the present state railroad commission and give it authority to consider market demand, while the latter would set up a new commission directed not to consider market demand.

Definitions of Waste

The definitions of waste in the two programs, aside from one or two divergencies arising out of consideration of the question of market demand are essentially the same.

Gov. Ross S. Sterling and those in the legislature who concur with him, had said he is opposed to the market demand clause and believes proper conservation in itself would attain a better price for crude production than now prevails.

Mr. Hardwicke, and others of his belief, insisted the controlling commission would have to consider market demand in some connection when it came time to arrive at conclusions as to what extent production could go without physical waste. The attorney said he had no fears as to the legal side of the question.

Both houses Monday will go back into committee work and both, in all probability will take new turns at discussing the Woodward-Wagstaff proposals, as well as that of the emergency committee.

Young Musician Held While Police Seek to Unravel Weird Kidnaping Story of Wealthy Widow in Denver

DENVER, Aug. 1. (UP)—Olive Strickland, 23-year-old musician, was held in jail here today while police attempted to unravel a weird story of kidnaping, torture and robbery.

Mrs. Clara Dasisman, 62, wealthy Denver widow, the victim, appeared at her home late yesterday after having been missing since early morning, her body covered with bruises and scratched by needles, and her wrists burned.

She was hysterical, but managed to tell police she had been kidnaped by Miss Strickland, who six years ago lived in her home here while a student at a conservatory of music.

The young woman, she said, had waylaid her when she went to keep what she thought was a breakfast appointment with a New York acquaintance at a local hotel. The acquaintance was not at a hotel but a "small wizened man" met her and told her she was next door at a junior league coffee shop.

Mrs. Dasisman started to the coffee shop, the kidnaper whom she identified as Miss Strickland stepped up to her, displayed a small automatic, and threatened her with death unless she accompanied her.

Demands $8,000

The kidnaper forced her to don black glasses. Finally they reached an apartment and she was forced into an attic, beaten, cut with needles, burned, hand-cuffed and tied, and threatened with death if she did not produce $8,000 "for three men who will kill you when they get here if you haven't given me the money."

The woman kidnaper stripped two diamond rings from her hands and removed the diamonds from the settings. The diamonds later were recovered from a box filled with sand in the apartment when Miss Strickland was arrested.

Late in the afternoon the kidnaper finally released her, and she took a taxi to her home, Mrs. Dasisman said.

In jail the musician declared Mrs. Dasisman was "crazy over diamonds," and asked to be taken to "some men who were supposed to have smuggled some diamonds into this country."

The elderly woman, Miss Strickland said, was afraid to take her rings with her, and stripped the diamonds from their settings, asking her to hide them. "I only did what she wanted," the musician asserted.

The leading article read in part as follows: "As Aug. 1 approaches—the day of working class mobilization against war, hunger and wage cuts—the capitalists threaten the American workers with a new wave of pay slashes. Millions of workers now face reduction of their already low standard of living.

"Wage cuts, unemployment and the prospect of war! These are the realities that face every worker in the United States on this August first.

Los Angeles Riot

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1. (US)—Police and radicals staged two pitched battles shortly after noon today and, while the fighting lasted but a short while, it was described by veteran officers as the fiercest yet to occur in the city's history of communistic demonstrations.

Officers had to resort to the use of clubs, fists and tear bombs before the scuffling was over. Approximately 25 persons, six of whom were women, were arrested and booked on charges of inciting a riot.

The fighting took place near two large industrial plants where agitators had announced they would appear to acclaim "international anti-war day."

After a siege of fighting with police, 10 persons two of them women were taken into custody near a large industrial plant. Banners and hand-bills were seized by the police as evidence. Following the arrests the remainder of the crowd dispersed.

Fourteen persons, three of them women, were taken during another hand to hand battle with officers near another industrial plant.

Bloodshed in Germany

BERLIN, Aug. 1. (US)—Riots attendant upon the communist celebration of "world proletariat anti-war day" turned Berlin's east end into a bloody battle-ground today and tonight had spread to three other cities.

In Hamburg's industrial section, a 14-year-old boy was perhaps fatally wounded when communists and police exchanged shots. Serious riots were reported in Leipzig and in Halle a policeman and two demonstrators were badly wounded.

One communist and two policemen were seriously wounded in Berlin tonight. Scores of others received slight hurts while hundreds were arrested.

U. S. PROPOSES TO SELL TO GERMANY

German Press Comments

BERLIN, Aug. 1. (AP)—Tonight's newspapers were full of reports from Washington that the American government had suggested Germany might buy wheat and cotton there on liberal credit terms.

On the whole the press welcomed the suggestion insofar as cotton is concerned, but was skeptical about wheat.

The advantage to Germany would be not only the profit accruing from an interest rate which is very low compared with the price of money generally in Germany, but by selling wheat and cotton to German millers and manufacturers the government could obtain spot cash while the American credit would run about two years at 4½ per cent.

Germany used to import 2,500,00 tons of wheat a year, but in recent years more wheat has been grown and the imports have slumped to 500,000 tons. It was anticipated German wheat growers might object to such a plan as is proposed by the United States.

Seven members of the junior class, who have been under the instruction of Ed Mullican at Cedar park pool were among those who passed. Those awarded certificates were:

Senior women—Dorothy Parnell, Cecelia Terrell, Margaret Kendall, Mrs. Clifford Deaton.

The classes have been held three evenings weekly since June 17. The successful members now have the right to wear the coveted Red Cross insignia on their suits.

In the free swimming classes, 105 have passed the Red Cross beginners' test at Westmoreland since the start of the season. The life-saving instruction and the swimming lessons have been under Red Cross auspices.

MEXICAN GOVERNMENT HAS SHORTAGE RESULT TARIFF

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 1. (AP)—The treasury department today announced the government's income for the first five months of this year was 32,000,000 pesos (about 9,825,000) short of what had been expected.

One of the principal causes of the deficit, the announcement said, was a decline in exports, blamed principally on high tariffs in the United States.

New Gas Station

Do Just These Two Simple Things —Fat Melts Away

No tiring exercise, no starvation. Instead, a full stomach and never a hungry moment! Yet fat melts away. You can easily lose from four to seven pounds weekly, see the coarse lines of fat replaced by the refined lines of slenderness—and feel better than you ever felt before in your life.

WHAT YOU DO

There are just two simple things you do: Clear your system—and keep it clear of waste matter, toxins and depleting poisons with ordinary JAD SALTS obtainable at any drug store. Start with a teaspoonful in a full glass of water tomorrow morning—a sparkling and pleasant drink.

Then EAT YOUR FILL—as much as your appetite can stand—of meals consisting of the following foods:

At breakfast eat two oranges, or the juice of two oranges. Eat also two slices of toasted whole wheat or bran bread. Eat rolled oats (with milk, not cream).

The Figure Every Fat Person Would Like to Have

At luncheon eat a good size piece of lean meat, then see how much spinach, lettuce, sauerkraut, boiled cabbage, green peas, broccoli or fresh turnips you can eat. EAT ALL YOU CAN COMFORTABLY HOLD of these foods. For dessert eat any fresh fruit; cantaloupe, berries, apples, sliced oranges, pears. Substitute turnips for potatoes. Substitute lean meats—beef, chicken, veal, white fish, trout, bass, etc.—for pork or any fat meats.

At night, have another FILL-UP-FULL meal as above. Cut down on butter and sweets—eat half of what you eat now. That's easy. For with your stomach full of other foods, you'll never notice it. Drink water or not as you like.

4 TO 7 POUNDS GONE IN WEEK

At the end of a week, you'll see the scale down four to seven pounds—according to how much overweight you are—from what you weighed the day you started. Your health, too, will be better. You'll be more active, more vigorous than perhaps for years. Your friends will soon begin to notice your increasing slenderness. You'll soon avoid the embarrassment of being called fat or bulky. And—you'll do it with NEVER A HUNGRY MOMENT!

If in doubt about this safe and simple way, ASK YOUR DOCTOR. Show him this article. Ask him whether or not it is safe and sure. It marks the latest findings of scientific men in the field of weight reduction. For it performs two necessary and important functions.

The JAD SALTS clear the bowels and system of the excessive toxins most overweight people have. *The change in diet—the FILLING OF THE STOMACH TO ITS LIMIT—with foods that turn to energy instead of fat, decreases the weight day by day. The salts build up your health. The change in food eases off the fat.

Start today. Clip this dietary out and save it. Get big package of ordinary JAD SALTS for the cleansing part of the method at any drug store. A large bottle costs less than a dollar.

*Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work.—Adv.

ARKANSAS VILLAGE PAYS DEBT OF GRATITUDE BY FORWARDING FOOD TO DESTITUTE MINERS

ENGLAND, Ark., Aug. 1. (UP)—This farming community, where last winter a food riot occurred, today rushed to complete plans to pay a debt of gratitude.

The debt will be paid in a shipment of foodstuffs, vegetables, fruits and meats, to Henryetta, Okla., where it is reported men, women and children are in want because of a food shortage.

Mayor William Williams directed the packing of the trucks. Williams said the truck caravan would be ready to leave here early next week on the long overland trip to Henryetta.

Roads leading to town were dotted with farmers' wagons early today, many of them bringing in barrels of foodstuffs which they gave to the mayor's committee.

SWITCHBOARD AT HOME TAMPERED WITH CAUSING DEATH OF 48 PERSONS

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1. (AP)—Coroner W. J. McGregor said today that evidence to be introduced at the inquest into the fire at the Little Sisters of the poor home for the aged here will indicate that a switchboard had been tampered with in a manner to cause overheated wires in the home's light wiring system.

The number of deaths in the fire of July 24 was increased to 45 last night when another of the inmates of the home died.

"The evidence, rearing upon a makeshift manipulation of the switchboard fuses in order to operate the high-powered floor polisher on a switchboard equipped for a low power lighting system is of utmost importance as not only a probable cause of the fire, but as an educational warning to the public," the coroner said.

POLICE PROBE MYSTERY THEFT AT OKLAHOMA CITY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 1. (UP)—Police today investigated the mysterious theft of a $450 diamond ring and $40 in currency from the home of Dr. J. J. Pollock.

The theft was discovered when Pollock returned to his residence after an absence of two hours.

Officers also were searching for a bandit who held up Mrs. J. F. Harrell, drug store cashier, and escaped with $40.

POSTMASTER HERE PRAISES ATTITUDE TOWARD AIR MAIL

Appreciation for the cooperation given by organizations and individuals of Wichita Falls and other adjacent communities in making preparations for the start of air mail service here Saturday was expressed in a statement by O. P. Maricle, postmaster.

The postmaster added that every piece of mail intended for the inaugural flights of the mail planes through here was aboard the proper ship, either the north bound to Amarillo or the south bound to Fort Worth and Dallas. Included in the mail were some 3,000 envelopes which bore the postmaster's autograph.

"I want to thank every organization and every individual who cooperated so willingly with postoffice officials," Mr. Maricle asserted. "We could not have hoped for closer cooperation. The senior and junior chamber of commerce, the press, the local post of the American Legion and the Legion drum and bugle corps, the band directed by Leo Underwood, city officials and attaches of the airport are a few among those who rendered invaluable service.

"Personally, I regard the establishment of air mail service as a history making event for Wichita Falls."

The United States is constructing a special plant at the Washington Navy Yard to reclaim old paper money.

OFFICERS RECOVER LOOT STOLEN FROM QUANAH BOX CARS

QUANAH, Texas, Aug. 1.—Twenty pairs of shoes and two cases of tobacco have been recovered by officers during the past week from hiding places where they had been cached by the men who broke into the box car in the Frisco yards last week. The shoes were found in a feed stack on the L. P. Eddins farm south of Quanah. The tobacco was discovered by the caretaker of the city dump grounds under a culvert.

Officers state this covers practically all the merchandise taken with the exception of several thousand cigarets which have not yet been located.

Detective Johnson of Sapulpa has been in Quanah working up cases against suspects in box car robberies on the Frisco at various places. He states that frequently the same tactics are employed in these robberies, and tracing the thieves is made easier through some "habit" which the same "crews" seem to have developed. He recently arrested two brothers near Snyder, Okla., who were living with a farm boy and furnishing groceries. Burglaries were reported nearly every night, and through the similarity of the methods used the crimes were traced to those men who had previously served several terms in the penitentiary, officers being familiar with their "habits."

SUGGESTED THAT FARMER CONTRIBUTE SURPLUS TO UNEMPLOYED AND NEEDY

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—A suggestion that America's farmers might gladly contribute much of their surplus products to the unemployed and needy was offered today by the New York state department of agriculture and markets.

Huge amounts of produce are going to waste, the department said, and "yet there are millions of needy, without employment, without means, to whom these waste products would be a godsend."

"Peaches are arriving from Georgia in carlot quantities and are selling at prices which, at best, barely cover costs.

"The peach crop is estimated at 78,000,000 bushels, an excess over last year of 25,000,000 bushels. Thousands of bushels will rot on the ground for lack of a profitable market. This is true of many other commodities.

"Knowing farmers, as we do, we are sure every farmer will sleep better with the thought in mind that he has contributed something from his abundance for the relief of sunny faced, but unfortunate, childhood."

BRAKEMAN ADMITS HE MARRIED EIGHT WOMEN BUT DENIES SLAYING

EAGLE RIVER, Wis., Aug. 1. (INS)—The love life of a brakeman who by his own admission had disillusioned eight women into marriage was revealed today by George W. E. (Jiggs) Perry, alleged bigamist on trial here for the murder of Mrs. Cora Belle Hackett, Chicago widow.

Calling of Perry to the stand to testify in his own behalf came as a surprise to the prosecution.

Perry vigorously denied the murder and said he did not know of Mrs. Hackett's death until he read it in a newspaper three months later.

While on his honeymoon at Flambeau, Perry told Mrs. Hackett he had a wife in Cleveland, he testified. She sobbed but forgave him and told him to take her clothes and car to Cleveland, according to his story.

"She had met some friends, but I did not want to see them because I knew my marriage to Mrs. Hackett was illegal," Perry said, "The last time I saw Cora Belle she was standing beside the road in Minocqua with her suitcase."

YOUNG HAS NO THOUGHT OF ENTERING POLITICS HE INFORMS JEWISH PAPER

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—Owen D. Young, prominently mentioned as a presidential candidate, has "no thought whatever of entering politics," the Seven-Arts Featured Syndicate, a Jewish newspaper service, revealed today.

In a letter answering a questionnaire submitted him by the editor of the Seven-Arts Syndicate, Mr. Young wrote:

"To all questions which are put to me on the theory that I am a possible candidate for the presidency of the United States, I have replied that I have no thought whatever of entering politics, and so my answer to such questions are immaterial and without public interest."

THEODORE DREISER LOSES SUIT AGAINST PARAMOUNT

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 1. (INS)—The motion of Theodore Dreiser, novelist, for a temporary injunction restraining the Paramount Publix corporation from displaying its screen version of his book, "An American Tragedy," was denied here today by Supreme Court Justice Graham Witschief.

Dreiser had appealed for the injunction contending the motion picture was not at true presentation of his book.

SUBMARINE NAUTILUS ARRIVES BERGEN, NORWAY AND PROVISIONS LOADED

BERGEN, Norway, Aug. 1. (AP)—The submarine Nautilus, in which Sir Hubert Wilkins hopes to cruise under the ice across the top of the world, arrived at Bergen from Plymouth, England, today.

Prof. Harold U. Sverdrup and Dr. Bernhard Villinger, arctic experts, were at the quay and greeted Sir Hubert heartily.

Immediately after the arrival, provisions and scientific equipment were loaded aboard in preparation for the polar adventure.

Sir Hubert said he thought he would be ready to leave for the arctic on Monday. Meanwhile he and Claude Danehower, the American skipper, assisted in supervising the cargo shipment and adjustment of the scientific instruments with which the vessel is equipped.

The crew, grimy after the arduous trip from England, appeared happy nevertheless at the prospect of an early start for the pole.

The boy was living with his uncle, O. L. Odom. Witnesses to the accident told police the youth darted in front of the speeding automobile from behind another car.

BOONVILLE, Mo., Aug. 1. (INS)—Carl Durbin, a guard in the Boonville reformatory here, was seriously injured last night when attacked by two youths who attempted to escape, it was revealed today.

The youths, both of whom were trusties, struck Durbin over the head with an iron rod, he said, while he was taking an inventory. The boys were Robert Dean, 20, and Bennie Michaels, 17. Both were from Kansas City and both were serving sentences for robbery.

The two youths ecsaped from the prison but were captured a few minutes later in a nearby street.

WHEAT FARMERS OF SOUTHWEST TO CUT ACREAGE NEXT YEAR

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 1. (UP)—Wheat farmers of the Southwest intend to meet the overproduction problem next year by not planting wheat, a survey today indicated.

Estimates so far—necessarily only estimates because of the earliness of the season—indicate that acreage of the winter wheat crop will be between 20 and 40 per cent.

Thousands of growers intend to let their fields lie fallow for a year, hoping to get bigger crops for a better market in 1933. and thousands of others will let their fields stay idle because they are "broke" and couldn't farm if they wanted to.

This year's crop, meanwhile, is still held on the farms in most cases where farmers aren't forced to sell.

The Literary Lantern

The Literary Lantern burns weekly in the Sunday Times and is intended to throw light on writing around and about the South. Communications for this column should be addressed to the Editor of the Literary Lantern.

Among the younger writers of fiction there is one, Erskine Caldwell, who gives promise of unusual power and individuality. His first collection of stories, "American Earth" (Scribner's, $2.50) is as varied as his own personal experiences which, though he is only 27, have taken him all over the South, as far north as Maine and west to California. He has been a farmhand, a lumber-mill worker, a stagehand, a cook, a waiter, a professional football player—he has even been a book reviewer. He has been writing ever since his undergraduate days at the University of Virginia, but had to wait seven years befire he received his first acceptance, for a story appearing in the 1929 "American Caravan." He is a native of Georgia.

"American Earth" is a powerful book. For the most part it is written in that economical, almost jerky bareness of style which is assumed by many followers of Ernest Hemingway. Few real stories are told, but the symbols of some phase of life are presented. Through what is little more than an anecdote the author gives the suggestion of a dramatic action continuing beyond the confines of the related episode. Take the story, "Joe Craddock's Old Woman." Here in three and a half pages we are given a simple picture of the burial of a toil-worn farm woman. But the author has suggested also the early love affair, thwarted hopes, years of toil, ugly friction with her worked-down husband—a whole life story is revealed, and by the simplest means.

"And now Julia was dead. And she had never been pretty, nor had she ever felt as though she were. Not once had she had silk against her skin, powder on her nose, a glow on her cheeks, or all the dirt removed from the under side of her finger nails.

"The undertaker came and carried the body away. The next morning he brought it back prepared for the burial. . . . The undertaker had made her look like a beautiful young girl"—like the forgotten photograph of her youth. The husband hardly recognize her and the children refused to believe that the body was that of Julia, their mother.

"'But that woman in the coffin was a beautiful lady,' they would say.

"'Yes,' Joe told them, 'Julia—your mother—was a beautiful lady.'

"Then he would go to the dresser drawer and take out the photograph for them to see."

Arna Bontempts, a negro poet originally from Louisiana, has produced his first novel, "God Send Sunday," (Harecourt, Brace, $2). We place this work beside Langston Hughes' "Not Without Laughter" and venture the prophecy that these two negro writers who have turned so recently from poetry to fiction will speedily raise the standard of fiction written by negroes to that of the poetry produced by them. Formerly the most notable fiction about the black man has bene produced by white writers, with the exception of a few works, such as Jean Toomer's "Cane" and Erie Walrond's "Tropic Death." The first prose works of Langston Hughes and Arna Bontemps indicate that strength has been added to the thin ranks of negro novelists.

"God Sends Sunday" exhibits unusual restrain and simplicity both in style and selection of subject matter. The story concerns a negro jockey, Little Augie. In his spectacular rise to dizzy fame there was ample temptation for overflorid description, but the author holds the attention tensely upon the character. His people are real and very human. Little Augie, of course, is the most poignant—a pitifully boastful dwarf whose physical defects cause him first to cringe and then to strut. When his fame, riches and power in the racing world vanish as quickly as they came, he returns to a farm, lives the life of a dreaming has been, and in the end is chased off to the road again by a mad neighboring woman. So he trudges off penniless to become a hanger-on about the race tracks. He sees himself as a loser:

"'I ain't nobody. I ain't nuthin',' he said. 'I's jes' a po' picked sparrow. I ain't big as a dime, an' I don't worth a nickel.'"

Gladys Knight has created one memorable character in her first novel, "Binny's Women" (Century, $2). Beyond this her people are more or less stock figures. The plot deals with the struggle of Joel and her father's second wife, a desperate rivalry and jealousy over the father, Binny. The intensity of Joel's temperament and emotion is depicted so vividly as to lend drama to a story in which there is little variety of incident and almost no descriptive background. The scene of the novel might have been any commonplace town instead of picturesque. New Orleans.

We hope that Miss Kinght can broaden and enrich her canvas in future books. She knows Louisiana thoroughly, having been born and educated in New Orleans. She is a descendant of one of the earliest Acadian settlers. She now lives in El Paso, Texas.

Sonia Ruthele Novak's life must have furnished some of the material for her first novel, "Strange Thoroughfare." (Macmillan). Like the heroine, her great grandfather was a Cherokee chief. She was brought up in the South, having been born in Tennessee. She lived in Atlanta for foru years and has worked in the movies and the theater, and has danced on the stage. Esther of "Strange Thoroughfare" ends a varied career as a dancer in New York. The author exhibits a confusing exuberance in her multiplicity of incident and character. Her saving quality is a gift for lifelike and entertaining dialog. With discipline and concentration she may become a good deal more than a cream-puff novelist.

Elsie Singmaster's "Gettysburg" (Houghton Mifflin, $2) has been re-issued with the addition of three new "stories of the red harvest and the aftermath." One of these, "Miss Vilda," appears to us as the best in the book, a telling picture of two differing views of a happening in the war. To Miss Vilda the soldier she sheltered was her ideal of young love, to the soldier, now grown old, the incident was a reminder of weakness and suffering which he had hastened to forget. So that their meeting in the end was like that of two strangers.

A brutal and exciting tale of crime, police work and punishment is K. T. Knoblock's "There's Been Murder Done" (Harper, $2), really one of the most gripping crime stories we have read in years. The scene is New Orleans. Mr. Knoblock is a former newspaper man who now edits "The New Orleanian," a weekly magazine.

Octavus Roy Cohen has published a new volume of rollicking burlesque negro stories, "Lillies of the Alley." His critics have attacked him for the fact that his negroes do not talk, act, or look like Birmingham negroes. But the answer is that they are not meant to be realistic; they are comic characters and perfect of their kind. Mr. Cohen seems to have an inexhaustible store of plot and invention, and his wit never grows stale. His frequent digressions into mystery story are so much lost motion abeth Patterson. Elizabeth S. McNeil uses it for the plot of "The Purple Trail" (Wetzel, Los Angeles, $2). But her handling of the story is trite and commonplace and unredeemed by any convincing character portrayal.

The Planter

By Chapman J. Milling

The pillars of your mansion towered tall,
A landmark in the neighborhood, the pride
Of all the simple, friendly countryside;
But it was not a grim baronial hall,
For morning glories graced the garden wall.
Upon your fertile acres, fair and wide,
Full four score servitors their labor plied;
You knew each one by name and loved them all.

The manor house has fallen to decay.
Perhaps you were a late anomaly
Whose system, born of evil, could not stand;
But something splendid perished in the day
When pious souls with tract and homily
Prepared the way for bayonet and brand.

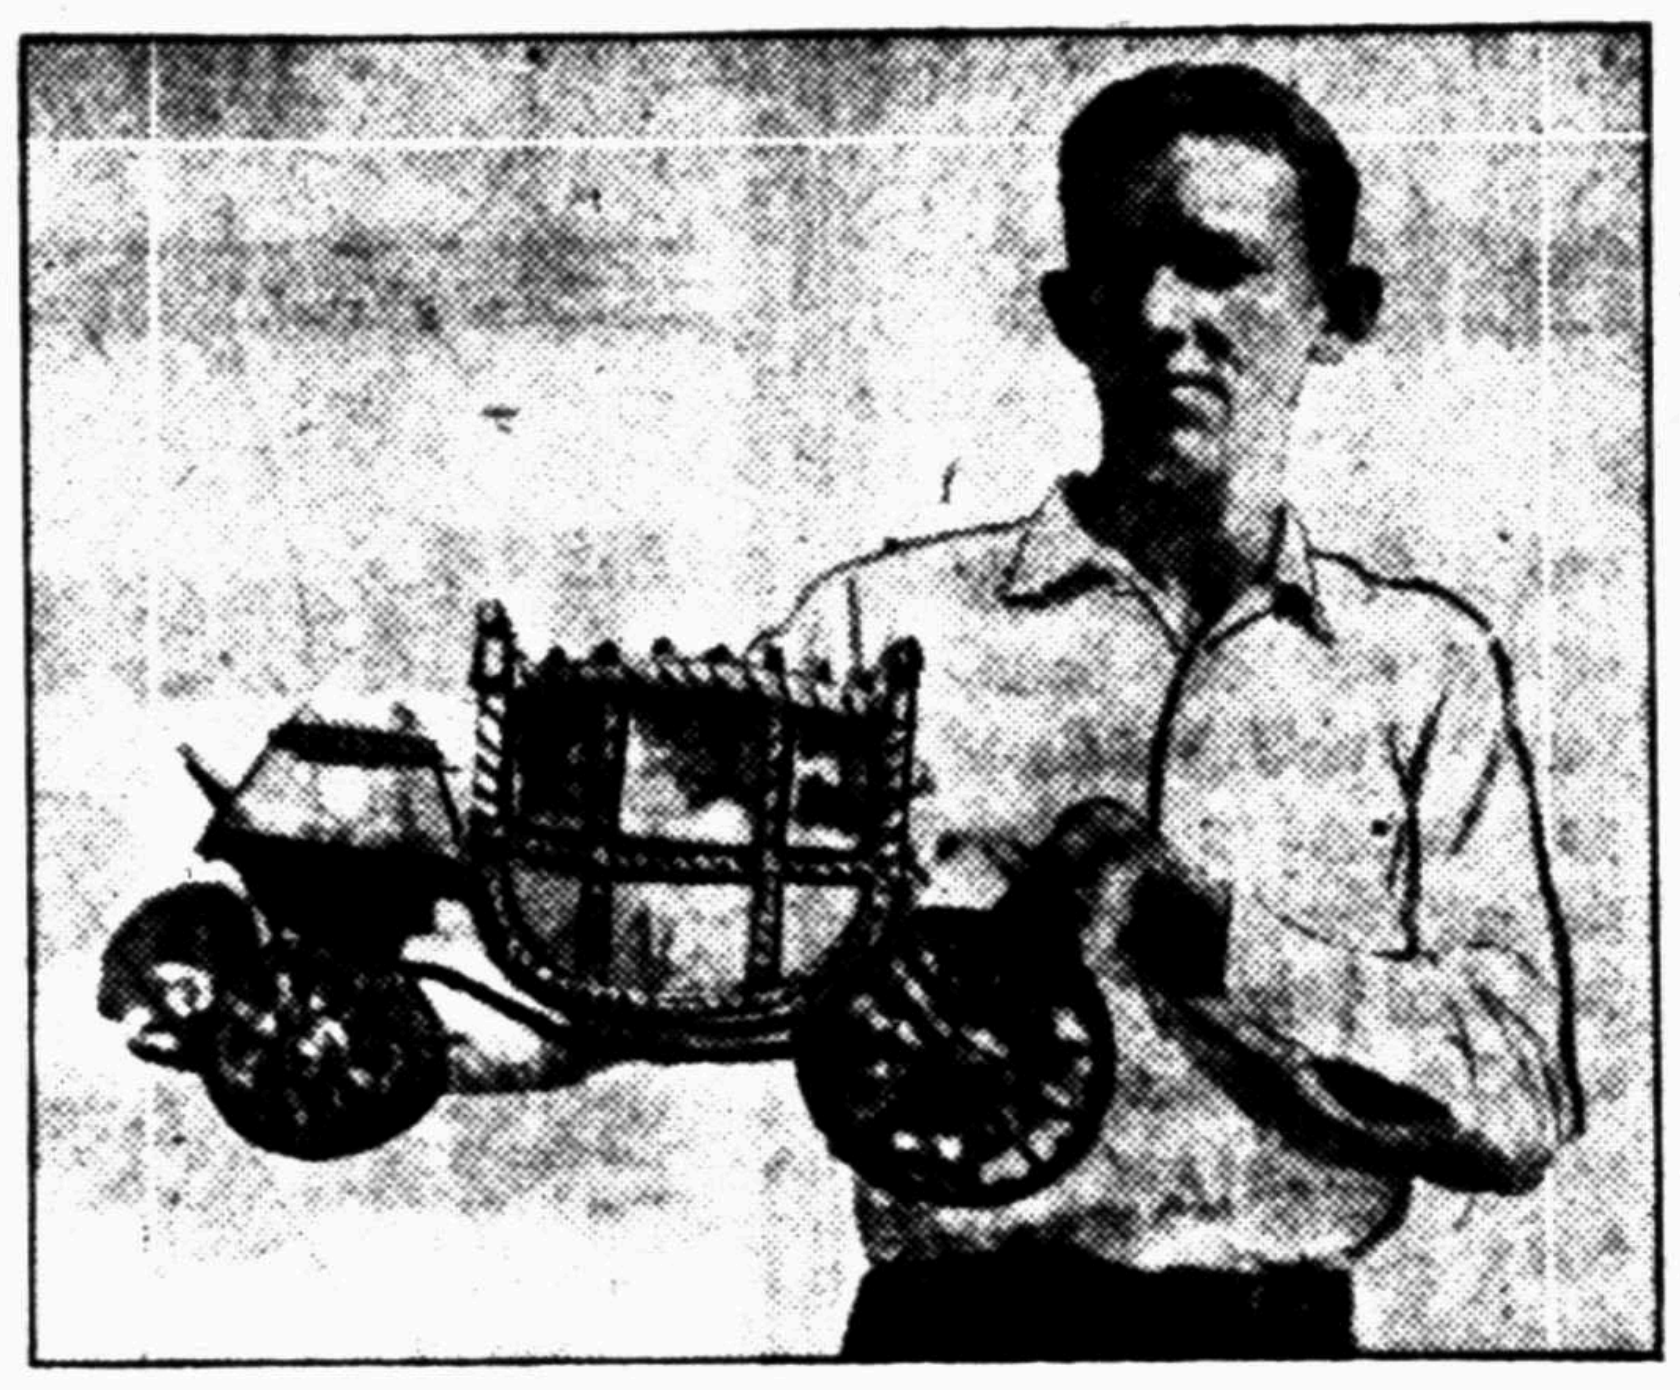
WICHITAN SHINES AS COACH BUILDER



One of the finest pieces of carving and handcraft work seen here in years is the miniature Fisher bodies coach recently entered in that company's contest by Harwood Harris, 19, of 1810 Tilden street. Young Harris and his coach, a replica of the design made famous by the Fisher bodies coropration in its advertising and trade mark, are shown in the picture above.

The Wichita Falls youth spent between 750 and 800 hours in building the coach, which he entered in the contest sponsored by the Fisher corporation. Although he failed to win a prize he received much praise for the accuracy and fine detail of his work, and expects next year to enter the contest again.

Harris started work on his coach in January, 1931, and completed it June 30, one day before the close of the national contest. In the two days preceding the completion of his work he secured only four hours sleep, but arrived in Dallas in time to enter his model in the contest. All of the work was done by hand at his home, except the hubs of the wheels of the coach, which were turned at the Wichita Falls high school shop. Harris has had one year of manual training at the shop.

The coach is of elaborate design and luxurious in finish. The wood is mahogany, while the decorations on the wheels, numbering 88 pieces, were stamped and cut from brass. The upholstery is of white silk and the carpet of white fur. Arm rests, windows which raise and lower and places for a driver and footman are faithfully produced in the model.

Young Harris has received much favorable comment heretofore on his carving. He won the $25 prize posted by the Wichita County Tuberculosis association for the best reproduction of a Roman galley. His coach is on display at the Fritz Motor company, agent for Buick, Cadillac and La Salle automobiles, bodies for which are designed by the Fisher corporation.

THE BOOK SURVEY

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Writer

The timeliest book of the summer season is undoubtedly "The End of Reparations," by Hjalmar Schacht.

Dr. Schacht, former president of the German Reichsbank, gives a clear and detailed picture of the background of Germany's present crisis. He declares bluntly that Germany so far has been able to pay reparations only because of her extensive foreign loans. Borrowing money to pay debts, he says, cannot go on forever. Unless some method is found whereby Germany can pay reparations out of a national economic surplus, the reparations simply will not be collectible.

To get an economic surplus, however, Germany must vastly increase her export trade. Here, however, she meets tariff barriers and the spirited competition of other exporting nations. The chances that she will be immediately able to overcome these obstacles are small—and so, too, are the chances that the allies will get vey much more money from beyond the Rhine.

The solution? A new deal all around, says Dr. Schacht; a unified Europe with low tariff rates, a restoration of Germany's colonies to make raw materials available, a cooperation by the allied nations to help Germany regain prosperity.

Dr. Schacht is naturally bitter against the Versailles treaty, and holds that the whole reparations business is grossly unfair; but he is also sharply critical of the way his own countrymen have handled affairs. Agree with him or not, you will find his book an invaluable aid to understanding the portentous moves that are now being made overseas.

Translated by Lewis Gannett, the book is published by Jonathan Cape and Harrison Smith at $3.

MR. BODENHEIM FAILS TO DO HIMSELF JUSTICE

"Duke Herring," by Maxwell Bodenheim, is vaguely reminiscent of Ben Hecht's recent "A Jew in Love"—although I don't exactly know why.

It deals with a monstrous egotist, a rising novelist who has cultivated a phony air of aloofness and superiority which deceives almost no one but himself. He skids along through life falling into one ditch after another, and persuading himself, somehow, each time that he did not really fall at all but got down into the ditch voluntarily.

The book is not very long, but it gets very wearisome towards the end. It is, in fact, a woefully third-rate book, and it does not represent Mr. Bodenheim at anything even approaching his best.

It is published by Horace Liveright, Inc., and sells at $2.

PREPARING TO DROP THE WHITE MAN'S BURDEN

"A Farewell to India," by Edward Thompson, is a novel which discusses the dilemma of the English in India.

The leading character is an English teacher in an Indian school. All about him he can see and feel the turmoil which goes with the breaking up of an old order. Manifestations of national pride and self-consciousness range from the ominous to the ridiculous. One day they result in a murder; the next, in a ludicrous little blunder that brings shouts of laughter.

Through it all the teacher tries valiantly to assay the situation; and he concludes, finally, that English rule in India is doomed. It is doomed, he says, not because English rule has been unjust, not because England has exploited the Indians beyond endurance, not because the Indians deserve independence or are fit for it, but simply because the English have wounded the pride, the self-esteem, of the native races in a way that is past all forgiveness, past all forgetting.

For the nationalist leaders he has scant respect. Their arguments for independence, he finds, without exception, to be specious; and yet, he says, they have a case and they will win it, and it is too late for England to save the day.

"A Farewell to India" is more political tract than novel, perhaps, but it is deeply interesting and it examines the whole Indian question with rare insight and candor. It is published by E. P. Dutton and Co., at $2.50.

MURDER, DETECTION AND THE LIKES OF THAT

The current crop of mystery thrillers includes the following: "Murder in the Mews," by Helen Reilly (Crime Club; $1). A murdered man is found in an abandoned Rolls-Royce, and it develops that one party plugged him while another tried to and missed. A good puzzler, but just a leetle bit unbelievable toward the end.

"Murder in the Cellar," by Louise Eppley and Rebecca Gayton (William Morrow & Co.; $2). Who shot the host while he was having target practice in his own cellar? And why did his best friend immediately vanish? And what was the dancer up to, anyhow? Run-of-mine stuff, but a hard one to figure out, at that.

"Mystery in the English Channel," by Freeman Wills Croft (Harpers; $2). A competently-told yarn about two men who are found shot on a yacht. Scotland yard, once more gets its just dues. I rather think you'll like this one; I did, anyway.

"The Moonstone," by Wilkie Colline (Harpers, $2). A modernized and condensed edition of the famous granddaddy of all detective novels. Read it, and see how far it outclasses most of its modern descendants.

TOTAL TAX RATE IN FLOYD COUNTY CUT TO 56 CENTS

FLOYDADA, Texas, Aug. 1.—A total tax rate of 56 cents on the $100 valuation was set by the commissioners court of Floyd county this week, the revised rate being nine cents less than the levy of last year, which was 65 cents. The reduced levy for taxes for the county for the ensuing year was occasioned by the fact that the commissioners court abandoned the tax for the support of the special road and bridge fund which has been levied for the past 11 years. This levy has totaled 15 cents, having been adopted by a vote of the people of the respective four precincts for the upkeep of the roads. In order to give the commissioners some funds with which to keep the roads in shape and until such time as the people of the county decide to re-adopt the road and bridge levy by a special county-wide election, the regular bridge and road levy, which last year was set at 12 cents, was increased to 15 cents. The rate of levy for the various funds of the county are as follows: Jury jund, 3 cents; general, fund, 25 cents; road and bridge fund, 15 cents; jail building fund, 5 cents; paving fund, 3 cents; upkeep courthouse and grounds, 5 cents, making a total of 56 cents. At the same time the levies for the common school districts of the county were set as follows: Hillcrest, 40 cents; Cedar and Ramsay, 50 cents; Providence, 80 cents; Baker, 75 cents; Fairview and Liberty, 90 cents, and in all other common school districts, $1.

Fund Aid to Three Needy Generations

A widowed grandmother, her married daughter who was deserted by the husband, and her infant grandson comprise three generations of a needy family in Wichita Falls.

The father of the tiny boy deserted his small family when the mother was ill several weeks ago. She is better now, and tries to support her mother, her son and herself by working at a downtown establishment. But she makes very little money, and if the milk and ice fund of The Times and Record News did not furnish the milk and ice to the family, the child would be much undernourished.

The fund was swelled to $483.52 Saturday, when Mason Wilson gave $5 to the cause. The previously acknowledged receipts were $478.52.

Contributions may be sent to the Times Publishing company with the following coupon:

Enclosed is $............for The Times and Record News milk and ice fund.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1. (AP)—Frederick H. Girnau, who published attacks upon Clara Bow, screen actress, today was under sentence to serve four years and two months at the McNeil island federal prison for sending obscene matter through the mails. A fine of $1,000 also was imposed.

Girnau had told the court he was "a fanatic against immoral conditions and that induced me to publish the articles against Miss Bow in order to protect young people's morals." The judge characterized the articles, published in pamphlet form, as "unfit to be fed as garbage to swine."

Kellogg Meetings Continue to Draw Large Audiences

The Bible prophetic conference, which is now in progress in a large tent on Indiana, south of Tenth, under the direction of J. C. Kellogg of Tacoma, Wash., continues to draw large crowds nightly. Rev. Albert E. Davis stated that additional seats had to be installed two different times, and yet there were not sufficient seats to accommodate the crowds.

Friday night Mr. Kellogg said in part: "A rebirth of civic counsciousness lies primarily with the American parents in the American homes, and is the only thing that can stem the tide of lawlessness that is sweeping the nation. Let us see what is the cause. Legislation, the church, school and editorials doubtless have their effect in raising the moral standard, but the hope of a rebirth of civic righteousness lies primarily in the American home."

Mr. Kellogg announced that his subject for Sunday night would be "The Activity of Demons in the Last Days in the Light of Science, Revelation, and Reason." It has been said "that this is one of the most startling and thrilling lectures of the entire series. Some of the questions which Mr. Kellogg will answer in this address are: "Does Conan Doyle actually appear today? Are men demon possessed at this time as they were in the days of Christ?"

The "Empress Eugenie" is different—upturned capriciously at the left to show more hair . . . tilted interestingly forward, and inclined down gracefully at the right. It's an easy-to-wear hat because of its contrasting, irregular brim, its low round crown. A feather quill is particularly perfect for trimming, when it follows the line of the graceful creased brim, as it does on this Brown Felt. Other models, equally charming, in the shipment we've just received.

HYER COLLECTS BIG PART 1930 CITY TAX ROLL

70 Per Cent of City Taxes Collected Before August 1

OVER 59 PER CENT OF SCHOOL ROLL NOW PAID

Collections for July 1931 Compare Favorably With 1930

Approximately 70 per cent of the current city tax roll for 1930 has been collected up to date, and about 59 per cent of the school taxes have been collected, according to Ralph Hyer, city and school tax assessor and collector, who made the report Saturday. Mr. Hyer stated that the collections have thus far been above his expectations, considering the present economic condition.

Of the $716,403.66, which was the total amount of city taxes assessed for 1930, $501,900, which is about 70 per cent of the total assessed, has been collected, leaving an uncollected balance of $214,503.66, which is now considered delinquent.

The sum of $336,097.80, or about 59 per cent, of the $567,714.80, which was the total amount of school taxes assessed for 1930 has been collected. In regard to the school taxes, Mr. Hyer said that no more than the cited collections have been made up to date, probably because of the new law which extends payment of school taxes until Oct. 15 without penalty and with a 10 per cent interest rate. Mr. Hyer stated as a reminder, however, that city taxes for 1930 which were not paid before Aug. 1 are now delinquent.

Reports for the month of July show that total collections of city taxes made in July, 1931, amount to $10,702.29, of which $4,435.93 were delinquent taxes, $6,146.36 were current taxes, and $120 were occupation taxes. In July, 1930, city tax collections totaled $5,382.28, of which $5,222.28 were delinquent and $160 were occupation taxes.

School taxes collected in July, 1931, amounted to $7,476.05, of which $2,855.44 were delinquent and the remainder, $4,617.61, current, as compared to the $4,304.97, total school tax collections in July, 1930.

Mr. Hyer explained that tax payments made in July, 1930, were not current, because the installment plan, which extends tax payments into three divisions, has been adopted recently in time for 1931 payments.

DEFEND FIRING ON RUM BOAT

U. S. Replies to Protest From Canada

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—The American government in a note to Canada today defended the firing by a coast guard boat on the Canadian rum runner Josephine K off Ambrose light last January which resulted in the death of the ship's commander.

The note, handed to the Candian minister today, was a reply to Canada's formal protest last march.

The reply backed up the position taken by the coast guard that it had a right to fire on the Josephine K because it failed to heed a command from the patrol boat to stop within the 12-mile limit.

The note was not made public, but was said to be very brief.

The justice department has started in New York to obtain forfeiture of the Josephine K.

The rum runner was sighted off Ambrose light the night of Jan. 24 by coast guard cutter 145. It was ordered to stop and the cutter fired a few warning shots.

When the rum runner continued the coast guard boat fired a shot which wounded Capt. William Cluett, commander of the Josephine K, who later died.

The boat was brought back into New York and a large quantity of liquor seized.

A long investigation followed during which members of the crew of the Josephine K contended that Karl Schmidt, boatswain on the coast guard cutter, was intoxicated when he boarded the captured vessel.

The coast guard contended the incident occurred within the 12-mile limit and that it was warranted in firing when the vessel failed to stop.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 1. (AP)—Miss Thelma Treadway of Dallas furnished $2,500 bond at the sheriff's office today on a charge of murder in connection with the stabbing of Thomas L. Cayson, 38, at a poker party here last Tuesday night.

Miss Treadway declined to make any comment on the charge against her. She came to Fort Worth by automobile with her attorney, R. B. Allen Jr., Dallas, and remained here only a few minutes before returning to Dallas.

Cayson died in a hospital Thursday afternoon after being stabbed in the arm at his home Tuesday night. Infection was said to have set in. Cayson and some friends were playing poker at his home when a woman came to the house. Cayson was stabbed when the woman followed him into the kitchen.

NOT A CASE FOR SILK GLOVES

The American public will approve the stand taken by Federal Judge Wilkerson at Chicago, in refusing to recognize the agreement between the prosecuting attorney and the attorneys for Al Capone. That agreement, we believe, was effected in entire good faith, but it puts the government in the position of showing much more consideration for the outlaw than he deserves. There is no occasion for compromising with such as he, or for donning silk gloves in handling him.

THE COUNTY AUDITORS SPEAK

Members of the state organization of county auditors have added their voices to those of the sheriffs and the county and district attorneys, in opposition to the fee system.

Their action is not surprising. The county auditor has better opportunity than any other official to see the iniquities of the fee system, to note how it contributes to inefficiency in local government. He knows how often the fee system is to blame, when things go wrong at the courthouse. It would be difficult for him to be true to his profession and still uphold such a system. And when he speaks against it, he speaks with the voice of authority.

Let us hope that the day is near when the legislature will heed that voice.

TROTZKY'S PREDICTION

According to Leon Trotzky the Sovietism of Russia and the capitalism of most of the rest of the world cannot continue to exist, side by side. The world is too small for both systems, says the exile, and one must give way to the other.

Just now, it is Sovietism that seems to be giving ground. The new labor policy promulgated by Stalin is the definite abandonment of the wage-equality idea, one of the tenets of Communism, and the adoption of some distinctively capitalistic ideas in paying wages.

On the other hand, capitalistic countries are looking with favor upon one Communist idea; that is, the adoption of a "plan" covering a period of years. In most European countries there are economic councils, serving in advisory capacities, which are attempting to steer the industries of those countries in safe channels. Almost every magazine that one picks up in this country contains an article by some real or supposed authority on economics, outlining his "plan" for economic development. We may see, before the existing depression ends, a more or less general adoption of the basic Russian idea, though of course not in the Russian form.

If Trotzky is correct and the theories cannot be developed side by side, that does not mean that one or the other must be destroyed. It is more likely to mean that each will continue to adopt portions of the other's philosophy until it is difficult to draw a line between the two. The idea of economic development according to a "plan"—that is, along orderly, studied lines instead of haphazardly—has much to recommend it in countries where Communism cannot gain a foothold. The world is coming to realize that this one aspect of Russia's program has much to recommend it. Just as Russia has come to realize that human nature must be taken into account in adjusting wages.

A NEGRO SPEAKS TO TEXAS NEGROES

Oscar de Priest, negro congressman from Illinois recently addressed a meeting of Dallas negroes. His visit to that city was the signal for the reappearance of the flaming cross, which flared in the Trinity bottoms before a large throng of robed and hooded men, convened to uphold white supremacy.

The negro congressman, however, was quite moderate in his utterances. So far from urging his negro hearers to demand social equality with the whites, he stressed the folly of it. So far from being partisan, he suggested that the negroes of Texas might profitably align themselves with the Democratic party. It was a temperate and sensible address.

In contrast to it are the reports from other parts of the South of the propaganda that Communists are endeavoring to spread among the negroes. The situation at Scottsboro, Ala., where eight negroes are under death sentence for attacks upon two white girls, has provided red agitators with ammunition. They are holding up social equality as a lure; according to the Manufacturers Record, the Communist workers are advocating overthrow of the government and enforced equality.

We doubt if the negro can be swayed or influenced by such appeals. At the same time, the Communist activity emphasizes the soundness of such counsel as De Priest offers. The hooded and robed brethren would do better, it seems to us, to make De Priest's task easier instead of holding demonstrations against him.

A WORTHY BUT FUTILE UNDERTAKING

Committees in both house and senate at Austin have favorably reported the measure known as the soil conservation bill. In reality it is a cotton acreage reduction bill, providing that the same land may not be used for cotton in two successive seasons.

In principle, it is as wholesome a plan as could be imagined. In the first place, it would effect a 50 per cent reduction in Texas cotton acreage, a thoroughly worthy objective. In the second place, it would force the farmer to practice rotation of crops, for it is hardly to be expected that the land not planted in cotton would be allowed to remain idle. Indirectly, it would have other benefits. Most of the land not devoted to cotton would be planted to feed, which in its turn would bring about the raising of more livestock and the production of more fertilizer. It would tend to reduce the heavy damage now wrought by cotton root rot, for which crop rotation is the only remedy. It would promote such beneficial steps as terracing. It would make in every way for a happier agricultural program in Texas.

The greater the pity, therefore, that the legislation must fail of its purpose. It may be passed and approved, but there will remain two prodigious tasks, that of establishing its constitutionality and that of enforcing it. It is difficult to see how either task could be accomplished. In theory, conservation of the soil is a proper function of the state, but that theory soon bumps into the constitutional rights of the owner of the soil. The landowner who wished to utterly destroy the productivity of his acres has the right to do so. It is not, as in the case of oil, a matter that may concern the owner of the land adjoining.

The task of enforcing the law, in the event its validity were sustained, would not be impossible, but it would offer tremendous difficulties. And if the price of cotton were to move upward to, say, 20 or 25 cents per pound, he would be a hardy and intrepid official who undertook to limit the acreage that any farmer might plant.

It would be a great blessing to Texas if the objective at which the bill aims could be attained. It cannot be attained by legislation. We doubt the desirability of attaining it by that means, if such a thing were possible, for if the free agency of the farmer were to be destroyed, it would not be long until compulsion would be employed for less worthy ends. The objective must be attained by education. Unhappily, the most effective instruction is that administered by eight-cent cotton. Perhaps the state department of agriculture and Texas A. & M. college can work out a less costly method of instruction. But legislation cannot do it.

The Epidemic of Generalities

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

One phase of the business situation has not had the attention in the press that it deserves.

And that is the nation-wide epidemic of generalities.

I suspect I have been as guilty as anyone in fostering this epidemic.

But, if so, I want here to plead guilty and describe the sin.

We have talked and written ourselves deaf, dumb, and blind about the general business situation.

But, as Merle Thorpe has trenchantly said in the Nation's Business, general business as a single thing is a myth.

There is no such thing as general business!

General business is simply the sum total of all the separate businesses that are operating or failing to operate throughout the United States.

And I do not mean here simply the great central industries of the nation.

I mean the thousand and one little businesses scattered from coast to coast.

It is not, therefore, a question of "when will business come back" but a question of "what can we do to bring business back."

Mr. Thorpe quotes H. H. Franklin:

"There is a difference between bring-back and come-back when applied to growth of business beyond current levels. The first implies that the individual has something to do about it; the last implies that something is just going to happen to make things good again."

We dare not take this too literally.

There are general forces at work that affect our separate businesses. To shut our eyes to these is folly. We need farsighted statesmanship alike in politics and in business to harness and control these general forces.

But it is all too easy to make these general forces the scapegoat for our own sins of slackness and short-sightedness.

Let's buckle down to the job of bringing our businesses back while we scan the horizon to see when business will come back.

Roughly Speaking

The Wayfarers

Vacationists ride, the live-long day,
O'er the highway's beaten track,
And some are glad to be getting away,
And some, to be getting back.

Oh, the open road it lures them on
The distant scenes to roam,
But when their two weeks and their money are gone,
They're glad to be going home.

Just a coincidence, no doubt, that the fruit jar factory is making record shipments at a time when a big corn crop is being gathered.

As we understand the French attitude, they're willing to cast their bread upon the waters provided they can throw it up-stream and have some gravy put on it before it floats back down.

Recommendation

Some of the girls running around in pajamas
Should be taken home and spanked by their mammas.

And while we're on that general subject, the ones that come down town in the diaphanous skirts should be taught to stay on the shady side of the street.

Hurting Folks' Feelings

There was a piece in the papers the other day about a celebration that is being planned at Yorktown, Va., for next year. They planned to have a pageant depicting the surrender of Cornwallis, but some folks thought the scene might hurt Great Britain's feelings, so they're not going to have it. It seems to us that they might fix up a scene that wouldn't wound the British sensibilities. The American general could be shown begging the pardon of the Britons for licking 'em, and Cornwallis could be represented as giving George Washington a real hard thump on the wirst, and saying, "Naughty, naughty." That would keep everybody's feelings from getting hurt and still maintain the historical significance of the occasion.

And while they're at it, they might get up another pageant apologizing to Mexico for taking Texas away from 'em, and apologizing to Spain for San Juan hill, Manila bay, and the battle of Santiago. And of course there ought to be some apologies to Germany, too, but they'll have to wait a while until they really find out who won that war. There seems to be some question about it.

A Good Idea

It's a real nice idea that our country must be so regardful of the feelings of other countries. We favor it, in principle. But we want it broadened in application. We want it to apply to individuals as well as to other countries.

Our government seems to trying to put that into practice. When it finally made up its mind to put Fall in prison, it fixed things so that he could pick his own jail, close to home. It set about to send Al Capone over the road, but in a real considerate way, so that he wouldn't think it meant anything personal.

What we want, however, is a wider adoption of the rule. We do hate to have our own feelings hurt, and we are anxious for the day to come when other individuals will be as considerate of our feelings as the government wants pageants to be of Great Britain's.

Just for example, we go to the swimming pool fairly often, and nearly always we get our feelings hurt by somebody laughing at our shape. That is, they look at us, and then laugh, and it seems reasonable to suppose that it's us they're laughing at. In fact, not very long ago, a lady at the pool pointed us out to our wife, saying "Oh, look at that funny-looking gentleman there on the diving board." Our wife nobly resisted the temptation to reply, "That ain't no gentleman, that's my husband," but she didn't. Instead, she just laughed, too.

There isn't any good reason why we should be sensitive about our figure. We have had it a long time and have tried hard to do something about it, without success, and we ought to be used to it by now. But we don't seem to be able to get used to ribald or jocose comments on it. If folks just knew, they stab us to the heart.

Hard work, says Henry Ford, is the only way out of the depression, and then he shut his factory down for 30 days.

That's the trouble with so much of the voluminous amount of advice that is being given these days. Everybody wants to give it but nobody wants to take it.

Governor Sterling says the legislature oughtn't to bother so much with rumors. Doesn't he know that a legislative session without rumors is just as rare as plate lunch without spinach?

The king and queen of Siam are going home, after their visit to this country. They have created a lot of good will, in addition to increasing the number of people who know where Siam is.

And they have brought about the reappearance of the little verse:

There was a young lady of Siam,
Who said to her sweetie, named Priam,
"If you kiss me, of course,
You will have to use force,
But the Lord knows you're stronger than I am."

"Grasshoppers May Prove Aid to Farm Board," says headline. Well, there have been enough insects trying to hinder them.

The Wickersham commission couldn't think much worse of the penitentiaries if its members were inmates of 'em.

IN NEW YORK
with Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK.—One of the most familiar Broadway themes concerns the comics who go clowning through a show, unaware that sorrow and tragedy have visited their homes while thousands laughed at their antics.

And yet the situation recurs again and again, a poignant and heart-breaking refrain in the endless symphony of the theater!

Well, it was just the other night . . . three men stood whispering in the wings at the "Follies" while Jack Pearl went through his famous routine of twisting the English language into hilarious dialect.

"How are we going to tell him?"

"Can't tell him now . . . there's an act to run."

"He'd break down . . . best to wait until the curtain."

"Nothing anyone can do now, anyhow. She's dead."

"Yes, and I think he'd thank us for waiting until the show's over."

Thus went the whispers. And thus went conversations in offices upstairs. Phones rang and there were faltering exchanges of opinion.

Jack Pearl's mother had died while he pranced about a stage filled with lovely chorines and kept up his rapid fire of disjointed patter.

Back in the wings, the comments skipped and jumped all around the subject.

"Jack's in great form tonight."

"Been getting funnier with every performance."

"But particularly hot tonight . . . funny he should be so funny . . . well, you know what I mean."

"Yeah, I know . . . 'Tis funny."

"He's off about seven minutes before his next number."

"Every one agrees we shouldn't tell him."

"All right, we won't tell him."

In seven minutes Pearl has returned to the footlights. He's off upon some new insanity. And once more he exits and goes to his dressing room. The city swelters outside. A tiny electric fan stirs the steam-like air. He hurriedly rearranges make-up that threatens to melt.

"Whew," he remarks to a stagehand. . . . The stage hand "Whews" back at him.

The three men who stood in the wings have gone upstairs into the offices. Nervously they refer to watches. One of them goes down again. Then another. The minute hand is ticking them toward the moment of their grim task.

Finally they hear the cue for the last number. The curtain falls. A score of chorines, panting and perspiring from a recent dance routine, seek a breath of air. But air is hard to find this night.

Beyond the curtain is the muted melody of sounds made by an audience quitting a playhouse.

Hurriedly, Jack Pearl is removing the grease paint from his face. A friend stands in the door—

"Got bad news for you, Jack—boy!"

The comic looks quickly up.

"Your mother died tonight!"

Out in the street, people stand in little groups waiting for taxis and private cars.

"Lord, but Pearl was funny tonight," a man remarks to the girl on his arm.

Sun Bathing

When you are contemplating a sun bath, either in the nude or at the beach, it was well to keep in mind the fact that an overdose of the sun's rays is always injurious.

I find that many people suffer from the mistaken belief that if a little sunshine is good, a great deal is better. Extreme sunburn is often very dangerous, as the pores of the skin become so swollen and injured by the burn that the proper elimination of the poisons cannot take place. This has a disastrous effect upon the kidneys.

Even a faint glow of sunburn on the skin affects the body in a proportionate manner, and is injurious as long as it lasts. It is much better to measure one's sun bath over several exposures and receive an increasing tan each time than to try to become browned through the effects of only one or two sunburns.

One whose skin is well tanned has benefited by the ultra-violet rays of the sun which are needed to produce such a dark color. However, the mere darkening of the skin is of no benefit but must be considered only as a necessary change which occurs to the skin as a protection against too much sunlight.

In taking your sun baths, remember that sunlight must strike the body directly without the obstruction of clothing or even glass, which would divert the ultra-violet rays. Heating the body with sunlight through clothing is of no more benefit than heating from a stove.

It is well to time yourself at first so that you do not take an overdose of this valuable remedy and increase the time of treatment as your skin gradually tans.

When taking a sun bath, one should avoid overheating, which is indicated by a quickening of the pulse. When this occurs, quietly rest in the shade for a time before finishing your regular time of exposure.

Sometimes people bathing on the beach are sunburned on a cloudy day because they do not feel the heat of the sun. This is because the ultra-violet rays which produce the burn do not warm the skin, but do penetrate through the clouds and moist air. If you wish to stay on the beach for a long time without being sunburned, it is wise for you to expose your body to the sun for only a short time, and for the remaining period keep it covered with a blanket or robe. In this way many hours may be spent on the beach so that one can benefit from and enjoy the inhalation of the clean, fresh, moist, salt air.

Nude sun bathing is now being recognized by all physicians for diseases such as anemia, tuberculosis, rickets, asthma, catarrh, chronic tonsillitis and disorders of metabolism, such as nephritis and diabetes. There is a German proverb that states that the hearse calls twice as often on the shady side of the street.

The modern bathing suit has taught us to cultivate bodies more beautiful and pleasing to the eye. Even in ordinary clothes, the women of today have adopted such practical styles that the air circulates over the whole body, giving the skin a continuous air bath for which it has been hungry for several generations. For some reason, men have been more conservative about reforming their style of dress. However, the lighter underclothing adopted by both sexes allows a freer circulation of air and undoubtedly contributes to the increased longevity of the human race.

Take advantage of the summer time and avail yourself of this most valuable health force—a simple and inexpensive treatment for which there is no better substitute in the physician's pharmacopeia.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Effects From Abscessed Teeth

Question—S. W. asks: "What are the usual indications of damage caused from abscessed teeth?"

Answer — The pus reabsorbed from abscessed teeth undoubtedly causes a toxic poisoning of the entire body. If the abscesses have developed on dead teeth the best policy would be to have the teeth removed, but if the teeth are alive and the abscesses only on the outside of the teeth, it is sometimes possible to have the abscess drained by puncture and irrigations. Afterwards a fasting and diet regime could be used to advantage to cure the tendency to formation of abscesses.

Avocado Is Nourishing

Question—V. K. L. asks: "Is it true that the avocado is so very nourishing as to compensate for its high price? What place should it be given in the menu?"

Answer—The avocado is one of the most nourishing foods, rich in vegetable oil and containing a considerable amount of protein and organic minerals. It adds a pleasing variety to salads or as a filling for sandwiches, and is even used as a basis of a delicious ice cream. One of the simplest but best ways to use the avocado is to cut it lengthwise and serve a half portion to each person. No dressing is necessary, but a little salt may be added if desired. The fruit should be soft enough to be easily eaten with a spoon. Since the avocado is so nourishing, it should be used either in small quantities, or as the principal part of a meal. Considering its high food value, it is not very expensive.

Baby Blackheads

Question—Mother asks: "What in the world would cause tiny blackheads in my six-month-old baby's chin. To others it is almost funny, but to me it is a serious matter. What must I do about it?"

Answer—The blackheads are undoubtedly due to too much fat in the milk your baby is getting. If she is breast fed, reduce fats to a minimum in your own diet and drink more water. Cleanse the baby's skin thoroughly several times daily.

Cadillac-LaSalle Shipments in July Show Big Increase

During the first 20 days of July, Cadillac-LaSalle shipments showed an increase of 116 per cent over those of the corresponding period of last year.

A feature of this record is the showing made by LaSalle. This car accounted for 53 per cent of all units shipped. More than six times as many LaSalles were shipped in the first 20-day period of this July than in the same period in 1930.

The Cadillac V-8 also made a favorable showing by accounting for 25 per cent. More than twice as many Cadillac V-8's were shipped in the first 20 days of July, 1931, than in the same period of July, 1930.

Cadillac-LaSalle shipments have consistently shown gains this year as compared with last, but the 116 per cent mark is the highest to date. June's increase was 39 per cent.

DEMONSTRATORS' HENS EXCEED STATE AVERAGE

MARSHALL.—Accepting the doctrine that it is the number of eggs per hen that is the basis of profit in the poultry business Mrs. H. A. Russell, poultry demonstrator of the Maple Springs Home Demonstration club in Harrison county, cares for her flock of leghorn hens with her eye strictly on production. So successful has she been that in May her hens averaged 26 eggs apiece while the state standard is only 19. Generous feeding of mash, plenty of green feed, cleanliness, and remembering that the larger part of the wright of an egg is water are the things to which Mrs. Russell attributes her success, according to the report of her home agent, Miss Maggie Peach.

WHARTON COUNTY WOMEN BELIEVE IN SYSTEM

WHARTON.—"When you work according to a plan you always get more done," said Mrs. C. D. Bergstrom of the Round Mott Home Demonstration club when she and two of her neighbors decided to give every Tuesday to their home demonstration work. "Just the same as Monday is wash day, Tuesday is canning day with us" she told the other club members when reporting at a club meeting that the three of them had canned 117 cans of black eyed peas that Tuesday morning. "And there has not been a Tuesday in the last three months that we have not had some good food to put in cans on that day," she concluded.

Twenty-five dressed capons weighing 9½ pounds each brought Ed Hulse of Bailey county 38 cents per pound net from a Chicago commission firm. Forty farmers raised and sold 1,000 capons last year in that county.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—The business of deciphering the diplomatic, naval and military codes of other nations and trying to make up new codes that cannot themselves be deciphered seems to resemble the constant battle of wits between prohibition bureau chemists who try to put irremovable concoctions into alcohol and the bootleggers who try to get the stuff out.

Such codes are changed, sometimes frequently, but the cryptographers in the world capitals pursue them relentlessly.

Getting information about codes from government departments is about the hardest assignment you can tackle, but it is generally conceded any code can be "broken down" if the cryptographer has enough time to work on it.

Major Herbert O. Yardley, former military intelligence officer who recently wrote in "The American Black Chamber" a sensational account of how our government cryptographers broke down codes of foreign governments during the war and up to 1929, says the state department code is vulnerable and undoubtedly is being read by other governments. He also offers the department a system, involving use of a code machine, by which complete secrecy can be guaranteed for confidential messages.

The department doesn't seem to be taking this very seriously. Yardley hasn't divulged the nature of his system beyond pointing out that the only indecipherable means of communication is one in which "there are no repetitions to conceal."

Scoffs at Machines

Other coding machines and decoding machines to correspond with them have been used before. The navy has tried them out, but won't report with what success.

One state department official, speaking privately, scoffs at the idea of a code machine system and demands to know what would happen if an urgent message were sent and our minister's machine broke down.

Nevertheless, Yardley has directed attention to confidential government codes and their widespread use. There have been some tart comments on his "ethics" in telling the story, but no one has yet denied it and one hears in informed quarters that he was one of the best cryptographers in the business.

The diplomatic and military services have two types of codes, a common code designed to save money or time in cabling, telegraphing or radioing and a confidential code for secret messages. Code messages appear in words, numerals or jumbles of letters. Some codes involve 100,000 words.

The British army once used one based on relative positions of a swarm of bees on a magazine cover. In wartime there's a simple trench code, often changed because of the danger of capture, and a complicated code used between G. H. Q. and division headquarters which is changed before every big operation.

Ten in One Message

Changing codes has often been used to beat the decipherers and if the new code is well constructed it's usually safe, at least for a while. Yardley says the Japanese introduced 11 different codes in 1919 and 1920 and finally were using 10 codes in a single message. The Germans had a code on the front to which the key changed every day. The worst danger in code changing is that the other fellow may get hold of the same message written both in the old and the new code.

Breaking down codes, the science of cryptography, is something people write books about. To fool the decipherer the code makers resort to such tricks as mixing several codes, inserting meaningless symbols, avoiding repetitions and tossing beginnings and ends of messages into the middle.

Codes mean code books, for any code based on anything that can be carried in the head can be easily and immediately deciphered. Yardley says any good code book must carry various symbols for each of the thousand most common words so repetition will be avoided.

Transatlantic telephone conversations in the recent negotiations with Europe couldn't well be coded. You just speak guardedly in a case like that and cable your really confidential messages in code. Yardley says Secretary of State Stimson stopped the practice of deciphering messages of the other governments, but no one has suggested that they have stopped reading ours. On the other hand, you'd have a hard time proving that they do.

Twenty Years Ago Today

From Files Wichita Times

August 2, 1911

Judge J. H. Barwise, who is engaged in the lumber business at Hartley, is enjoying a short visit with his daughter, Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, and other relatives and friends, and of course appreciates the opportunity of being in Wichita Falls and enjoying the company of his many friends. The judge reports the Hartley country in fine shape as a result of the recent rains and he is very optimistic in his reference to conditions at that place.

Dr. J. M. Bell, chairman of the Wichita county state-wide prohibition organization, filed a statement with the county clerk yesterday showing the expense of the prohibition campaign in this county to be $119.90. The receipts were $139, leaving a balance of $19.10 on hand. No statement has yet been filed by the anti-prohibitionists.

The many friends of John Fooshee, formerly a resident of this city but lately located at Claremore, Okla., will be glad to know that the family is to again reside in Wichita Falls, they having already returned to this city.

Too Wayward

INDIANAPOLIS.—Mark Huff is a wayward son, and his wayward tendencies are costly. He was recently arrested on a charge of issuing a fraudulent check. When his trial came, he failed to appear in court. The judge asked his lawyer the cause of his absence. "My client obtained money from his father to pay attorney's fees," the lawyer explained. "On the way he spent all his money on liquor and was too drunk to bring into court."

LARGE NUMBER ATTENDS YEOMAN SOCIAL EVE

More than 300 members and their friends, Brotherhood of American Yeoman, enjoyed the social evening sponsored by the order at the Odd Fellows hall Friday evening. An entertaining program included a song sung by Mrs. Lena Bates accompanied by Miss Alice Philo, and Miss Margaret Robertson gave an amusing comedy sketch.

The Yeoman drill in full uniform was a feature of the evening, after which dancing was enjoyed with music furnished by the Speck Marley orchestra.

High Ambition

LONDON.—They ought to have given him a job, but after a young man had climbed up 150 feet of St. Mary's church to asked E. Stanger, a steeplejack, for a job, Stanger had to turn him down because of lack of more work. Stanger said the man climbed right up the steeple without any qualms and asked for a job as calmly as if he was on firm ground.

VACATION DAYS are now in full swing, and chief among the vacationists are the camp girls and boys. A group of these girls from the Good Fellowship of the Episcopal church are preparing now to leave for the annual diocesan camp near Dallas which will open Aug. 10, and another group, the Camp Fire Girls, have recently returned from their annual outing at Craterville park. Miss Rachel Sumners, diocesan secretary for college and young people, will direct the Episcopal camp, and an attractive program including dramatics, writing and production of plays and pageants, recreation, swimming, Red Cross life saving instruction, volley ball, baseball and many other diversions, is planned.

NEARLY every one has the vacation complex these days. The kind of a complex that keeps urging, "Come on let's go," and conversation is largely made up of the outings planned for two days, two weeks or all the other weeks of the summer. Very few hospitalities are being dated, save the hosts for house guests and the affairs for the few brides that will go marching to the altar in the good old summer time.

SOME are combining a wonderful vacation season with study, and judging from the correspondence to friends at home, are thoroughly enjoying their work and play. Among these are Lena McKee, instructor in the local high school and Junior college, and Mrs. Mamie Gilbert, Spanish teacher at the Junior college, who are in Mexico, taking summer work at the university and also taking some of the interesting side trips and seeing the beautiful country around Mexico City. In a letter to Miss Jane McCulloch, Spanish teacher at the local high school, Miss McKee says in part: "Mexico is all you said it was, and then some. Am simply thrilled beyond measure with all that I have seen and heard. Am certainly glad that you insisted on my coming. Wouldn't have missed it for anything.

"FRIDAY afternoon we drove all through Chapultepec park and up to the castle. That is the most beautiful park I have ever seen. We are going through the castle with the summer school crowd some time soon. We went down to Xochmilso last Saturday and spent the day. It was simply beautiful. We came home with our arms loaded with flowers (carnations, pink and red), purple and yellow pansies, and lavender water hyacinths.

"WE WENT with Miss Georgia and a Spanish friend of hers to the national palace a few days ago to see a wonderful mural painting by Diego Rivera, Mexico's foremost artist. He is painting the history of Mexico, on the inside the patio of the palace. The artist himself was seated on scaffolding high up on the walls at work with his paints and brushes.

"THE flower markets and beautiful parks here simply intrigue me! Am planning to spend the greater part of the day tomorrow in the botanical gardens at Chapultepec. All these tropical fruits, flowers and plants are extremely interesting to me. Last week we had a chance to visit a private greenhouse filled entirely with rare, tropical orchids in bloom. There were 2,000 varieties.

"WE ARE planning to take on more trips outside the city each week-end. Marie is taking eight hours of work at the University Nacional, so that leaves her little time for sightseeing except over the week-end. I spend the time while she is at school, browsing around through the interesting curio shops, visiting the parks, museums and numerous other places of interest. The time is too short to do all I want to do.

"THIS week I am going to the national museum, the national picture gallery, and the museum of natural history. We have driven and walked through a good deal of the city already.

"The rainy season began a short time before our arrival, and so we have learned to count on a shower some time during the day. However, for the past two days we have escaped, and had begun to hope that the season was about over, but I hear the rain falling on the roof now. Friday was a clear, sunny day, and we went up on the flat roof of our five-story apartment house to view Popocatepett and Qxtiaccihuatt covered with their usual caps of snow. Most of the time since we came, it has been so cloudy that they were obscured.

ANOTHER vacationist who left Wednesday for Chicago for a tour of the United States, was Mrs. L. G. Hodges of 705 Warford street. Mrs. Hodges was much thrilled over the prospect of the trip which was awarded to 24 women in the United States in the "Home Style-ing" contest sponsored by the national home furnishing program. In this contest, those entering selected a room in their home, and outlined ideas including wall paper, furnishings and everything complete, that would make the room more beautiful, artistic and useful if furnished with the articles selected as being suitable to that particular room, with the proper color combinations in rugs, draperies and wall paper. In arranging ideas for her room, Mrs. Hodges received a few helpful suggestions from J. T. Butts, salesman at the North Texas Furniture store. Mr. Butts' part being for the most part to show Mrs. Hodges the latest pieces of furniture in good taste now on the market.

THE 24 contest winners met in Chicago Saturday, except those living east, who joined the party at Albany. Railroad fare from the winners' homes to the place where they join the tour, and return fare home, is paid by the contest fund.

As guests of honor, the winners will view the new world's fair buildings and other famous sights of Chicago, taking the night boat to Grand Rapids, Mich. The next morning will be spent in this "gateway to vacation land," and here the real tour will start in the chartered Pullman. This Pullman will serve as tour headquarters for the next 30 days. A veteran tour manager and attendants will relieve the party of all burdensome details.

IN DETROIT Sunday, the party will see the huge automobile plants of Henry Ford, also his priceless collection of early American mementoes. The party will go from there to Niagara Falls for the next stop and from there will pass through the Mohawk valley where they will see homes built by the Dutch settlers 200 years ago. After going through the Bergshire hills of western Massachusetts, the party will make a side trip to Northhampton to view the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge. New York City, Philadelphia and the Betsy Ross house, birthplace of the stars and stripes, and other reminders of revolutionary days will be visited.

WASHINGTON, Mount Vernon, Nashville, where the party will visit the Andrew Jackson home, "The Hermitage," then to New Orleans, where the quaint French quarter, with is fascinating Old World atmosphere, will be among the interesting points the party will enjoy, after which they will go to El Paso and a side trip into Old Mexico and Juarez. From there they will speed through New Mexico and Arizona, entering into California.

THE film capital of the world has prepared a royal welcome for the tourists. Mary Pickford, Harold Lloyd and other movie stars will open their palatial estates, while arrangements are being made to enable the party to see photoplays in the making. Chinatown in San Francisco, the golden gate, and other points of interest will be visited, after which they will go for a day in Portland, Ore., and on to Seattle for another day.

THEY will visit the celebrated Mormon tabernacle, the stupendous copper mines and other attractions of Salt Lake and this will be followed by a trip through the cattle country of southern Wyoming, Denver, Colorado Springs and Pike's Peak come next, then a day in Kansas City and St. Louis. They will visit Lincoln's home in Springfield, Ill. The 7,000-mile trip ends in Chicago—a glorious 30-day adventure to be remembered a lifetime.

I GAVE this trip a little in detail, hoping that next year when the contest is opened, more Wichita Falls women will enter the race and maybe more will have the pleasure of being among the winners, and enjoy this delightful journey.

Yours for summer vacations,

Peggy Piedmont

Music Pupils Are Presented Piano Program

HENRIETTA, Texas, Aug. 1.—Music pupils from the class of Mrs. C. B. McDonald were presented in an evening of music this week in the auditorium of the First Baptist church. The usual capacity audience was in attendance and expressed its appreciation of the splendid work of the young artists.

The program was opened with a Beethoven sonata, played by Margaret Blakely. After which the first part of the evening was devoted to the smaller pupils. A high light of the program was the closing of part one and the opening of part two, by a two-piano number played by Miss Ruth and Ruby Willis, Rosemary Hurn and Carl Blackburn. A duet, "Marche Militaire" by Schubert played by Lorine Young and Bettye Jane Peters of Petrolia was another bright spot in the program and Carl Blackburn played superbly "Liebestraum," by Liszt. The program was closed with a delightful piano solo played by Troy Douthitt Jr.

An interesting contest among the smaller boys in the class has continued throughout the summer and John Ansley was awarded the prize for having won in this contest.

Miss Lula Johnson, teacher in the Henrietta schools, addressed the audience and paid a beautiful tribute to Mrs. McDonald. The participants of the program were Lucile Whitehead, Sam Young, Star Smith, Dorothy Morris, Lorine Young, Bettye Jane Peters, Jack Porter, and Inell Capps of Petrolia; and Jeraldine Thaxton, James and Maurice Lutz, John Ansley, Bud Barker, Denise Thaxton, Doyle Lindsey, Lazelle Hohenstein, Dorothy Garrison, Margaret Blakely, Achsah Lindsey, Ruth and Ruby Willis, Lorine Dickey, Rosemary Hurn, Carl Blackburn and Troy Douthitt Jr.

She afterwards attended Columbia university in New York, receiving her M. A. degree. She is now teaching in the college at Kingsville and is working toward her Ph. D. degree. She is associated with her former instructor here, Miss Jennie Splawn, who received her Ph. D. at Columbia and is an instructor in the Kingsville school.

Writers' Conference and Chimes At Boulder With Denver World Federation Draw Texans' Eyes

By L. N. CASON

Interesting things are going on in Colorado where dozens and dozens of Wichita Falls families are spending summer months. In Denver, Dean S. H. Rider is attending the meeting of the World Federation of Education associations, the first to be held in America. Think of 5,000 or more educators from 50 different countries. Dean Rider will probably come back a real cosmopolitan in his educational views.

But Boulder is the city that is intriguing our fancy. Boulder has always been visited by many Wichitans and the university there is a favorite summer resort of Texans. That university is the home this year for the second time, of the Writers' conference. There were 70 attendants at this conference in 1930; in 1931 they expect at least 200. It's a fascinating thing to know that in our neighboring town, so to say, we might learn to write anything we wish. And as about half the world is bent on writing, the conference is a humanitarian as well as an educational move.

Mrs. Sam Kruger and Bertha Mae Kruger, both experienced in writing, will probably take lessons in the conference. But among others who we know are in the city there are Miss Lona Brown, Miss Stayton, Mrs. W. L. Hawkins, with Misses Eloise and Johnnie Green Hawkins and Miss Lida Lea.

Of course the summer university courses are going on all the time, but the writers' conference is quite another thing. It began July 27 and will last until Aug. 15 and tomorrow is when the really important part begins. Each day since the opening there have been hour and a half classes in all phases of writing, classes for beginners and classes for advanced workers. What do we know but that our visitors to that city will all come home feature story writers, or poets. There are teachers who know their subjects. Frank Luther Mott of the University of Iowa is one, and others are people who have published books and appeared in the highest class American magazines.

But the reason I say tomorrow, Aug. 3 is the "big day," is that Zona Gale, whose stories we have all laughed and cried over, will be there to conduct a class for students delving in the problems of present day fiction. Then beginning Aug. 10, Robert Frost will hold seminars in modern poetry. There will be round table discussions of manuscripts brought in by pupils (phew!) and four night lectures each week by people like Frost and Zona Gale and Luther Mott and Henry Goddard Leach, editor of the Forum.

This is the second Writers conference to be held in Boulder; it will grow greater each year; the teaching staff there already equals that of the Vermont literary center. And the three weeks period fee is only $40. Right at our door—almost—in a delightful location, is the opportunity longed for by so many woh mean "to write."

Boulder Chimes

To know that we are developing a love of literature right at home like those schools of learning that have been native to New England, gives one a sort of "elms of Cambridge" or "ivy of Oxford" feeling, a reverence for old foundations that promote knowledge.

Then right on top of that feeling comes the current New Yorker with its story of the chimes of the Church of the Sacred Heart in Boulder, which was written in "Talk of the Town," in a vivid manner that could not help but tickle the reader.

We are told that if ever we go to Boulder, we must drive by the Sacred Heart church, though warned it is not exactly pretty, being so far as the writer can make out from a picture post card, "granity and shiny," but about which there is a story.

The priest of that church, whose name is given as Father Agatho Strittmatter, bought a Chrysler car a few years ago and liked it so well he sat down and wrote a letter to Walter Chrysler, telling him so. To his pleasure as well as surprise, he received a cordial answer. So not long ago, the priest drove to New York, right up to the Chrysler building in his Chrysler car and called on Mr. Walter Chrysler. They liked one another and the priest thought highly of his car and the manufacturer thought well of the priest's church. And the consequence was that when Father Strittmatter left, Mr. Chrysler presented him with a check for $15,000 (who said hard times?) to buy a set of chimes. We quote verbatim this spicy writer of "Talk of the Town," (and outside)."

"They say it's worth laying over a day in Boulder to hear the Chrysler-Strittmatter chimes play "When It's Springtime in the Rockies." The good father likes a nice, clean popular song now and then among the Ave Marias and anthems. He plays "Little Annie Rooney" occasionally and also, as a sort of tribute to Mr. Chrysler, "The Sidewalks of New York."

It's all right for a New Yorker to put a joke over on a New Yorker but as we are, as we have before intimated, right here in Boulder's neighborhood, we hope some Wichitans will come home and tell us all about the chimes. And it would be a glorious thing to have a picture postcard of the Boulder Sacred Heart church. More than all else, we wish to know if the chimes ever play "Springtime in the Rockies."

The Story of Sue

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"Sue, why didn't you give your own name in the newspaper account of your accident?" Barbara asked Sue.

"I didn't want to worry my family, I suppose," Sue answered. "I can't think of any other reason. Everything was a blur. I have some black and blue spots, I discovered. They didn't show up at first, though. Anyway, I was so stunned that all of a sudden I heard myself giving another name."

Not for the moon itself would she have admitted to Barbara that she had kept her own name secret merely because she didn't want Jack to know that she had been with Jean, until she could explain how it was. She knew now that the urge had been a foolish, unnecessary one. Jack always understood. He never doubted her for a second. Still . . .

"Our local papers at home carried press dispatches, and one of them mentioned the name of the girl with Jean as Ruth Smith. The other used your own name. But a strange girl's name rather upset me for a minute."

Sue understood what had happened. The one paper had sent out a few lines on the accident . . . she wondered why it was important enough for so much attention . . . and it had not corrected her name. The other one had.

But that fact wasn't worrying Sue. It was the manner in which Barbara had referred to her as being safe. As if no man was in danger of losing his head or his heart in her presence! She knew that Barbara would have made the same remark to any other girl. But that didn't help any.

"Just why do you think Jean was so safe with me?" Sue heard her own low, melodious voice asking. She even made it a little breathless with laughter. "Think of the accident he had!"

The next second she wondered if Barbara would pass that information on to Jack, too.

Barbara ignored the comment but her eyes were suddenly a little knowing, a little wise.

"Now it's time to go to see Jean. I wish you would come, too, Sue."

Merely because she had nothing else to do, and was rather curious to see the by-play, anyway, Sue consented.

She paid the bill, hailed a taxicab, and answered Barbara's comments with mere monosyllables as the cab rolled through the streets. She hung back as Barbara went into Jean's room.

"Barbara! Where in blazes did you come from?" There was surprise, relief, joy in Jean's voice.

"Oh, my dear, you didn't think I could stay away when I knew you were hurt?" Barbara stooped and her lips touched Jean's forehead. Then she sat down in a low chair by the bed. "Are you sure you aren't hurt dreadfully? It would . . . oh, it would kill me if you were!"

"I'll be patched up and whole in no time," Jean answered. "Mighty decent of you to come. You look like a cool million in that outfit."

"I wanted to come! I had to come!" Barbara's voice lilted on, soft as a breeze on a twilight lake; tender as a lullaby that mothers sing to very little children. "You see, when I heard about your accident I knew that it wasn't Bob I loved . . . it never could be again . . . it was you! But you had to be almost killed before I knew it!"

Sue, still standing near the door, unnoticed as yet, turned and slipped away, but her face flamed at the deception of Barbara's words. Barbara was buying Jean back with silken lies. Making him think that this accident had shown her that she loved him, when all the time it had been another man's empty pocketbook that had made her change her mind. But men were so blind sometimes. They awakened inevitably. But sometimes it was too late!

At the door of the hospital Sue paused.

Next—A dental patient.

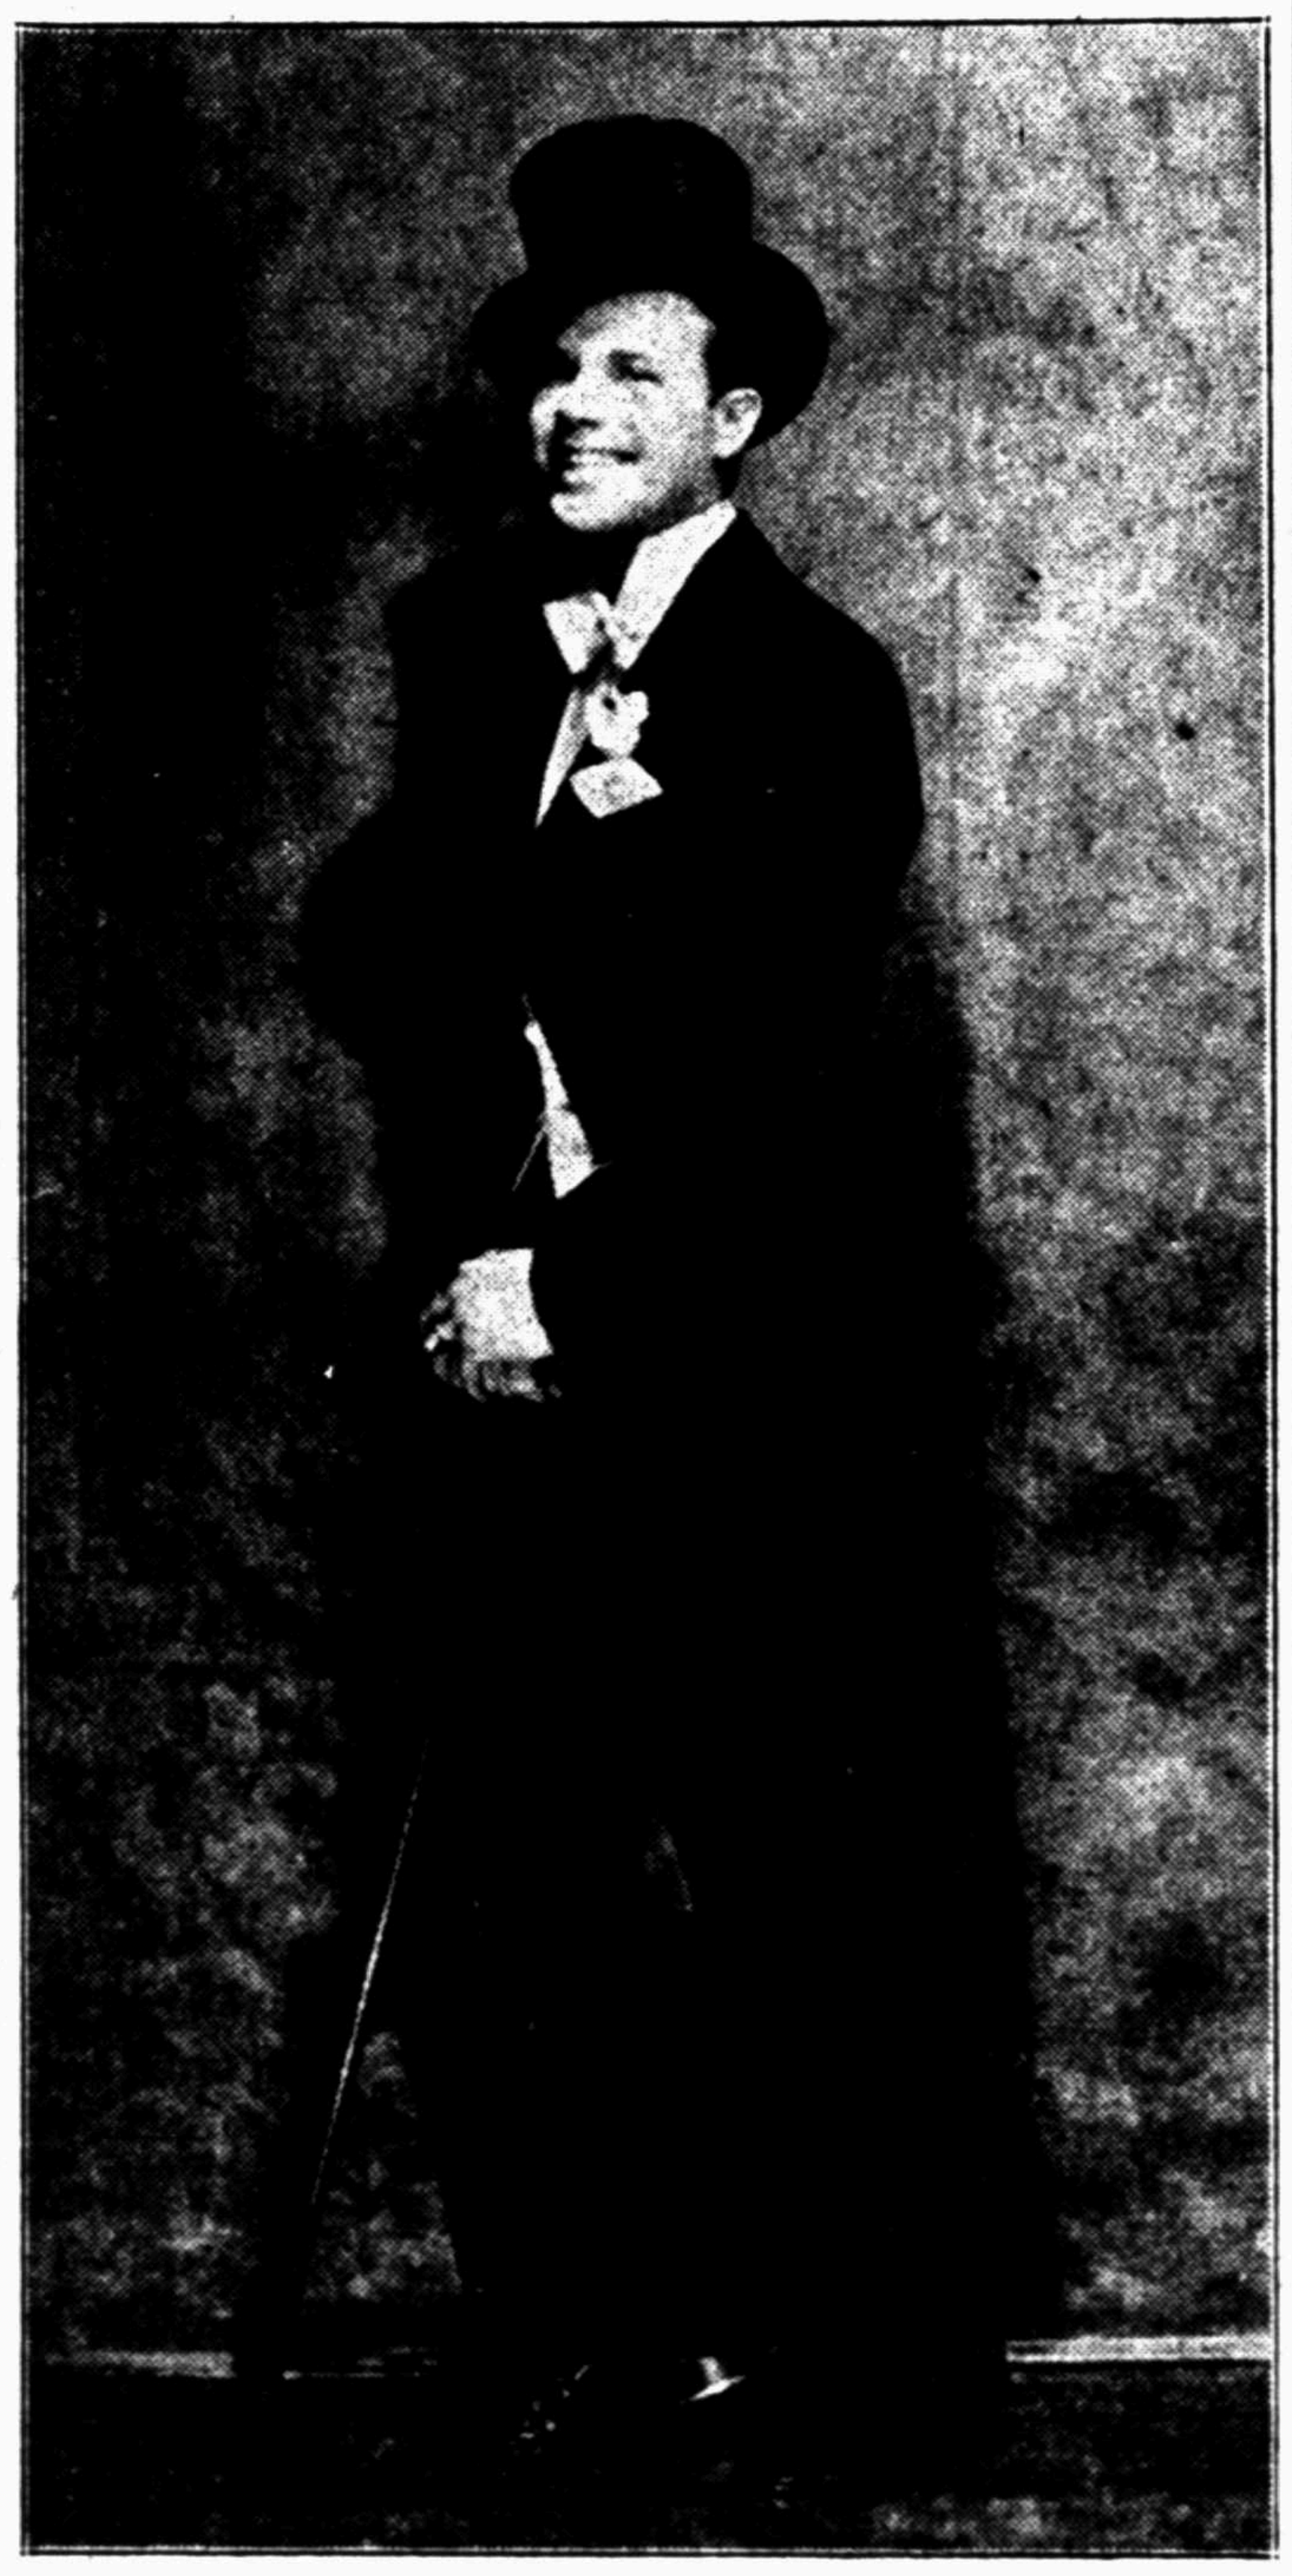
WICHITAN SCORES IN NEW YORK REVUE



MARVIN LAWLER

Wichita Falls is making more than its proportionate contribution to the New York stage during a period of depression which has hit the theatrical world particularly hard.

The latest Wichitan to win a place in the Broadway theatrical firmament is Marvin Lawler, 22, a native of Wichita Falls, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lawler, 1644 Lucile, pioneer citizens. Mr. Lawler is secretary of various Wichita Falls Masonic bodies.

Marvin Lawler is cast as one of the principals in "The Third Little Show," now playing at the Music Box theater, and for which a long run has been predicted, after having won the favorable comment of critics. Beatrice Lillie and Ernest Truex are starred. The show opened in New York June 1 after a successful road tour had preceded its Broadway premiere. Mr. Lawler's rhythmic dancing has been well received.

The rise of young Mr. Lawler toward stardom has been decidedly unusual, inasmuch as the stage apparently held little appeal for him until a little more than two years ago, it was related.

While in Wichita Falls, however, he became an accomplished musician, playing the clarinet and saxophone in various orchestras here.

About two years ago, he went to Hollywood, Calif., and displayed such talent as a tap and rhythmic dancer that he settled seriously to perfecting himself in the art. While in California he danced in a number of talking picture revues.

He returned to Wichita Falls, and after a brief stay, left for New York less than a year ago. He obtained a part in the present production, and rehearsed with it for two months before the opening performance at New Haven, Conn., last May 4.

Another Wichitan who has definitely established herself on the New York stage is Miss Leona Maricle, daughter of Mrs. Emma Maricle. Miss Maricle is now here for a brief visit with her mother before returning to New York to begin rehearsals for the approaching season.

TEXAS AUTHOR GUEST WICHITA FALLS FRIDAY

Mrs. Evelyn Miller Pierce, author of the Texas novel "Hilltop," stopped off in Wichita Falls Friday en route to Santa Fe, N. M. Mrs. Pierce announces that she is more than half through with a second novel, "What Women Want," which has already been announced for spring (1932) publication by Alfred H. King, Inc., of New York. The new novel will be a modern story with a Texas background, but will have none of the semi-historical character of "Hilltop." However, the author is planning a third novel which will again deal with early day Texas.

Mrs. Pierce, daughter of former Lieut. Gov. and Mrs. Barry Miller of Dallas and a member of a pioneer Texas family, expects to come to West Texas next spring to discuss her books before several women's clubs. She has been invited to address the Book club of Childress on March 6, when she will be the house guest of Mrs. G. C. Fox for several days. She may also give talks in Wichita Falls and Amarillo.

FIRST WOMAN EDITOR OF LARGE WASHINGTON DAILY HAD RATHER RAISE HELL THAN VEGETABLES

By THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Eleanor Patterson had rather "raise hell than raise vegetables" and that's why she became the first woman editor of a large metropolitan daily.

And that's why she's had a lot of fun editing the Washington Herald, Hearst newspaper, she confessed after her first year of editorial prerogative. Today was the anniversary of her venture.

This talented newcomer to the editorial offices, who has been known for a wit that enlivened dinner conversations, for an individuality and originality that has piqued Washington society, for a feud with Alice Roosevelt Longworth, for an insight as a novelist of social and political life.

Mrs. Patterson discussed her newspaper experience with a twinkle in her eye.

"When I walked into the city room here just a year ago it was a shock and the men were absolutely disgusted. Me, a woman, as editor—"

She smiled at the memory.

"But we've gotten along all right."

Mrs. Patterson has been a successful editor and she has been different. For instance, those little front page editorials about social figures in Washington, including Alice Roosevelt Longworth. They set the capital, unused to such things, to talking. It attracted attention to the paper.

No hard-boiled newspaper editor ever had an office like hers, and it was the talk of the town. There are curtains at the windows, comfortable chairs of modernistic design, a luxurious and gaily-colored divan, shelves and shelves of books that one usually does not find in a newspaper office.

Mrs. Patterson confesses to employing the feminine touch in her dealings with heads of the various departments.

"When they get mad and get me in a corner—why I must become the bewildered female. It usually works."

NEW HOME ENHANCES WICHITA FALLS' RESIDENTIAL BEAUTY

Public Invited to Inspect Newly Finished A. J. Weeth Dwelling Here Sunday Afternoon and Monday Eve

The reputation already enjoyed by Wichita Falls of being a city of beautiful homes has been further enhanced during the past week by completion of the residence at 1812 Rose to be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Weeth, who have lived here since 1914, their daughter, Miss Llewellyn, and their son, Charles Weeth.

Completion of the residence was followed by the announcement of D. B. Lewis, general contractor in charge of construction, that the public is invited to inspect the home between 2 and 5 p. m. Sunday and between 8 and 10 p. m. Monday.

The following day, Mr. Weeth and the family will start moving into their new home from their present address at 1923 Ninth street.

Occupying two spacious lots at the northeast corner of the intersection of Rose and Denver streets, the residence has been a decided contribution to a residential section of the city in which numerous beautiful homes already are situated. The newly completed structure faces south.

The residence is of old English style of architecture, is two stories in height and of brick veneer construction. Variegated, rug faced brick were used in the construction of the outer walls, the seven color tones having been blended into a harmonious design of unusual beauty. The residence has for its setting a spacious lawn in front and on the Denver street side, a rose garden overlooked by a sun porch, and a spacious garden space in the rear. Numerous shade trees and ornamental plants figure in plans for the future landscape gardening of the plot the home occupies.

Ideal Family Home

Among the various features which contribute toward making the place an ideal family home are the interior decorating, in which delicate pastel shades figure almost entirely; the abundant window space and the numerous closets; the spaciousness and the arrangement of the various rooms; and the fact that the most modern of conveniences have been installed throughout.

The Rose street entrance to the home opens upon a large living room, which also may be reached through double doors opening from the spacious driveway on the Denver street side. The living room opens upon a spacious dining room and that in turn upon a kitchen equipped with most modern of built in features. A handsome sun room is reached through a side door of the dining room. The roof of the sun room has been converted into a sun porch which will provide a place for a maximum of enjoyment of the cooling afternoon and evenings.

Other features of the first floor of the residence are a large guest room with a private entrance in the northwest corner of the home, a spacious breakfast room, a service porch readily accessible to the kitchen, the bath room in which black and white predominate as colors, and a hallway from which all first floor rooms may be reached, as well as stairways to the second floor and the basement.

Many Features

The second floor of the home will be for the occupancy of the family, separate rooms having been provided for Miss Llewellyn, Charles, and Mr. and Mrs. Weeth. Features common to those rooms are the abundance of closet space, the full length mirrors in the closet doors, and the large number of windows. Miss Llewellyn will occupy a room at the front, that of Charles is in the northeast corner of the dwelling and that of Mr. and Mrs. Weeth in the northwest corner.

Charles Weeth has completed the second year of his course in electrical engineering in the University of Colorado, and a large built in library has been installed in his room. One of the features of that to be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Weeth is a cedar lined window box extending almost the entire length of the room. Subdued pastel shades were used in the decorating of the second floor bathroom.

Hardwood floors have been laid throughout the residence.

In one room of the basement of the home are situated the dual heating system of steam and gas and the laundry. Another basement room is to serve as a recreational "den" for Mr. Weeth.

Lighting Effects Striking

One of the important contributions to the beauty of the home will be the lighting effects. Imported chandeliers have been suspended in the living room and the dining room, while fixtures have been installed throughout to eliminate glare from the lighting.

In the northeast corner of the property on which the house is situated is a double garage. Servants quarters equipped with bath occupy rooms over the garage space. Adjoining the garage and extending to the sidewalk line of Denver street is a fenced in space for a garden, in which 12 pecan trees already have been set out. An incinerator constructed of brick also is situated toward the rear of the property.

The garage may be reached from either the Rose or the Denver street entrances to the driveway. More than 5,000 square yards of cement five inches in thickness were used in the construction of sidewalks, driveways and approaches to the garage.

Various subcontracts awarded in connection with the construction of the residence are: heating, plubing and sheet metal work, Wichita Hardware company; brick work, R. W. Oakey; electrical work, Oechsner Electric company; roofing, Pullen Roofing company; lumber, Valley Lumber company; painting and decorating, W. J. Barrett; tile work, Faith Marble and Tile company; ornamental iron work, Wichita Wire and Iron company; plaster and stucco work, E. F. Seitz.

THREE CHARGED WITH SLAYING BOUND OVER TO DISTRICT COURT

CUSHING, Okla., Aug. 1. (UP)—Three men charged with the slaying of W. A. West, Cushing officer, were bound over to district court here today by County Judge Henry Hoel.

The men, J. B. Cornell, Claude Brummett and Harold Harris, will be tried in the October term of court. William Martin, Cushing youth and state's chief witness in the preliminary hearing, identified Cornell as the man who shot West.

Business Leaders Ready for Big Task as Air Mail Becomes Reality

the real task lies ahead. That particular task, it was added, is the maintaining of sufficient air mail business originating from Wichita Falls to justify the continued operation of the mail and passenger line.

"Air mail and air passenger services are no longer experiments," Judge Bonner asserted. "They no longer are dangerous. Nearly all of us will find, if we look around, that we can turn to the air with profit and advantage to ourselves. And we should remember that it is a certainty that we will not have air mail service long unless we do our part."

Enthusiastic Reception

The enthusiasm aroused here on the occasion of the start of air mail service far surpassed the excepctations of postoffice officials and those of the senior and junior chambers of commerce. Parking space adjacent to the Municipal air port was at a premium some time before the first plane arrived. The crowd present numbered several thousand.

Postoffice officials could only approximate the quantity of the mail carried from here on the first outbound plane. However, according to officials, there were more than 223 pounds loaded here. It was estimated that more than 20,000 pieces of mail were included in the first air mail load from Wichita Falls.

The program arranged for Saturday's event was carried out as planned, almost to the last detail. At 10:30 a. m., the truck containing the first air mail started from the postoffice and was escorted through the streets by the drum and bugle corps of the local post of the American Legion. At 11 a. m., Leo Underwood's band started playing a concert at the airport. The first mail plane arrived promptly on schedule at 11:27 a. m. and a brief program followed, climaxed by the hoisting of the recently adopted official emblem of the aviation division of the postoffice department. The celebration closed with a luncheon at the Kemp hotel during the afternoon.

Many Visitors Here

A plane bringing a number of visitors here for the celebration arrived at the airport about half an hour before the air mail ship landed. Aboard the first to land were Mike Fewell, aviation secretary of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce; Kenneth Foree Jr., publicity director of the southern division of American Airways, and S. L. Willard, pilot.

The tri-motored plane carrying the mail carried as passengers the following: A. P. Barrett, president of the southern division of American Airways; C. R. Smith, vice president and director of the southern division of American Airways; Raymond Buck, Fort Worth, attorney for the southern division of American Airways; S. M. Gaines, superintendent of the railway mail service in the Southwest and official representative here of the postmaster general; J. K. Lyles, general traffic manager of the southern division, American Airways; J. Ben Critz, vice president and general manager of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce; Judge Bonner, who went to Fort Worth so as to accompany the first plane here; Ted Lewis, pilot, and A. H. Montford, representing the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Several visitors were aboard when the mail plane resumed its journey to Amarillo, but most of them remained here for the luncheon. Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney and a member of the Junior chamber of commerce, also accompanied the plane to Amarillo to represent the chamber of commerce here.

Brief Program Given

The program presented at the port was brief, and was given from a truck parked beside the fence which separates the yard of the administration building from the landing field. J. L. Jackson Jr., president of the chamber of commerce, presided, and introduced Mr. Barrett, who presented an official banner of the air mail division of the U. S. postoffice department to Mayor Walter Nelson Jr.

Mayor Nelson in turn presented it to Postmaster Maricle, by whom it was hoisted upon the airport flag pole to a position directly beneath the national banner as the Legion drum and bugle corps sounded a salute. Immediately following, the Underwood band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

J. H. Allison then introduced Mr. Gaines, who spoke briefly.

"It used to be that Wichita Falls and Fort Worth were 121 miles apart," Mr. Gaines said. "Now they are separated by only 45 minutes. The Lord alone knows how close together they will be 10 years from now."

The program given at the luncheon likewise was expedited, as numerous of the visitors planned to return to their homes during the afternoon.

Additional to those who arrived by plane and remained over, others introduced at the luncheon were N. R. Vaught, postmaster, and W. B. Brown, chamber of commerce manager, Burkburnett; A. N. Richardson, postmaster, and Mrs. Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Joe O'Donohoe, Electra; McD. Bybee, postmaster, Childress; C. C. Burris and Dr. Gordon C. Clark, Iowa Park; W. M. Gurley, chamber of commerce, Childress.

Planes Declared Safe

Judge Bonner presided at the luncheon and declared that the public is rapidly becoming convinced of the fact that the airplane provides a safe and the speediest method of transporting mail and passengers.

"I drove to Fort Worth so as to accompany the first plane here, and nearly got killed twice on the way," Judge Bonner declared. "I can't imagine a more delightful trip than that we enjoyed by plane to Wichita Falls."

Mr. Gaines was introduced and declared that the airplane "is no longer a sport for flaming youth, nor is it for members of the suicide club."

Mr. Fewell brought greetings from the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Barrett, the principal speaker at the luncheon, reminded that the United States will "not give something for nothing for a very long period" as he urged that the most be made of the conveniences and advantages offered by air mail services.

Postmaster Maricle also made a brief talk in which he expressed appreciation for the cooperation given by the chamber of commerce, the junior chamber, newspapers, and various civic organizations and various individuals in preparing for the start of the new mail service.

Mr. Maricle, after having already autographed about 3,000 envelops at the request of those who desired the cancelled stamps sent on the first air mail plane, left the luncheon early so as to continue that work. A considerable number of envelopes which were placed on the first southbound planes still awaited his attention.

The scheduled time of the arrival of the southbound plane was 12:39 p. m., but the delay of connecting planes in reaching Amarillo delayed the arrival of the ship here until 3:20 p. m.

WORLD FLIERS 'STEP' ON GAS

Undismayed by Breaks and Unfavorable Weather

MOSCOW, Aug. 1. (US)—Undismayed by bad breaks and unfavorable weather, Hugh Herndon Jr., and Clyde Pangborn, American round-the-world fliers, took off from Omsk for Chita, on the trans-Siberian railway halfway between Omsk and Khabarovsk, at 5:30 p. m. today (8:30 a. m. eastern standard time.)

The fliers, who are far behind the time schedule of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, whose record of eight days and 15 hours they are trying to shatter, cut Irkutsk from their schedule in order to make up some of the time they lost by forced landings at Jietiegari and Omsk.

The distance from Omsk to Chita is approximately 1,300 miles. By the hop to Chita, 325 miles further east than Irkutsk, Herndon and Pangburn put themselves in line for a single hop from Chita to Khab-Arovsk without a stop at Blagoveschensk, where the Post and Gatty plane, the Winnie Mae, landed in a mud hole. From Chita to Khabarovsk, the distance is about 775 miles.

When Herndon and Pangborn made the second of their landings at Omsk, Siberia, at 2 p. m. (5 a. m. eastern daylight time) they were 17 hours and 9 minutes behind the trail blazers' schedule beside being 1,800 miles short of Irkutsk, which Post and Gatty reached on the fifth morning of their flight.

WOMAN BREAKS ANKLE WHILE GOING TO AID FRIGHTENED NEIGHBOR

LAWRENCE, Kan., Aug. 1. (INS)—Mrs. E. J. McCoy today was suffering from a broken ankle as the result of going to the aid of a frightened woman.

As Mrs. Coy returned to her home she found a neighbor woman screaming on the porch of the Coy home. Mrs. Coy rushed to her assistance, and the visitor pointed to a small snake on the porch. Mrs. Coy screamed and jumped from the porch, breaking her ankle when she fell.

A French scientist claims the mysterious thunder we sometimes hear in clear weather comes from sun spots.

Keen Competition Keeps Auto Prices Down Despite Less Business Volume And Increase in Cost Raw Materials

By ROBERT M. ROSS
Universal Service Automobile Editor

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 1.—With the materials market shortly to feel the effect of commitments for the 1932 automobile, factory executives here are wondering which way the prices will go or if they can be expected to remain stable.

There has been some noticeable strengthening in commodity prices recently, and presumably when demand increases in the fall, the trend will be upward. But whether this rise can be absorbed by lower operating costs and higher production schedules is a matter on which automobile men differ.

Automotive Daily News, a trade publication, has just published the results of a survey on the probable prices of the 1932 models, unanimously, executives agree lists have reached their lowest level and that values are at a new peak. On the future the opinions vary. Company heads appear fairly well divided.

A highlight in the reports is the statement by Controller A. L. Warmington of the newly formed Devaux-Hall Motors corporation, this company, entering the field with a ready supply of cash and without the handicap of previous commitments, undoubtedly was able to drive as good a bargain on materials as has ever been experienced in the auto trade.

"We now find a small, but steady increase in our purchasing prices and tendency for the public to demand deluxe models that can only culiminate a gradual increase in f. o. b. prices," says Warmington.

All of the executives would like to see higher auto prices to raise the profit margin and so strengthen dealer organizations, but many feel competition is at present too severe to expect such a result.

Too Close a Margin

"My opinion is that the price of passenger cars has worked itself down to a point where automobiles are being sold on altogether too close a margin of profit compared to low production and cost of materials and labor," says C. W. Nash, president of Nash Motors.

"Indications point to higher prices for raw materials. Competition is so keen I think prices are bound to remain lower than they really should."

"Few manufacturers are getting adequate returns at present levels," Alvan MaCauley, president of Packard, feels, increased material prices may be taken care of in greater production, he holds, but if production remains low, prices must move up.

"The general trend of prices, in view of the economic situation, should not be up," declares President I. J. Reuter of Oakland-Pontiac. "Furthermore, although material prices may show some increases, we certainly strive to counteract this by improvements in design and manufacture."

"So long as commodity prices are as low as they are today," comments L. A. Miller, head of Willys-Overland, "there will probably be no big movement upward. Personally, I would like to see higher prices as that would enable the manufacturer to go further in his efforts to strengthen the dealer organizations."

Other Opinions

W. S. Knudsen, president of Chevrolet, does not look for any sharp upturn in commodity prices during the first half of 1932. W. J. McAneeny, president of Hudson, points out present volume would indicate a necessary increase in automobile prices, but adds: "Competition may not allow it."

President E. S. Gorrell, president of Stutz, declines to believe prices will move up, even though material costs rise.

"We manufacturers have been forced by necessity to learn how to run our plants with greater internal economy than formerly was the case," he continued. "Greater internal economy will enable us to stand an upward turn in the cost of materials."

"I cannot see any indications of higher prices during the balance of the year, but if there is a substantial stabilization of material prices early next year, I am inclined to think that it will rapidly have a bearing on prices of cars," comments G. M. Williams, the Marmon president.

Present prices are based on volume, feels H. H. Franklin, president of Franklin, and indications are that prices will stiffen. J. A. Bohannon, Peerless president, says commodity prices will likely stabilize themselves around present levels and that car prices should remain stable in 1932.

SHOWERS RELIEVE HEAT WAVE OVER NORTHWEST AREA

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (US)—Showers fell here tonight, relieving local drouth conditions. The temperature reached 82 during the afternoon.

Temperatures ranging from 90 to 100 degrees were reported from the Mississippi valley and to the east, up the Ohio valley. Down state Illinois had temperature up to 104 degrees.

Cloudy weather with showers reduced the heat over portions of Minnesota and Nebraska, while in North Dakota and to the northwest temperatures were quite moderate.

Showers during the early part of the coming week were promised for this region on the weather bureau forecast today. It was indicated temperatures would be moderate. However, temperatures were still considerably above normal over much of the country with a deficiency in rainfall.

IODINE IN DRINKING WATER SUBJECT OF TALK OVER RADIO

The beneficial effects of iodine in drinking water as a cure for goiter and infantile imbecility will be discussed by Dr. Howard W. Haggard, associate professor of physiology at Yale, during the "Devils, Drugs and Doctors" period at 6 p. m., central standard time, Sunday, Aug. 2, over the WABC-Columbia network.

He recalls that mountainous districts, such as the Alps, Pyrenees, Himalayas, and some of the country surrounding the Great Lakes, used to be notable for the large number of inhabitants suffering from goiter, and the high incidence of cretinism. How preventive medicine was able to find the cause of this phenomenon, and greatly alleviate the distress formerly resulting from it, will be the subject of [illegible]

NORTON WILL DISCUSS MENACE OF RADICALISM

Roy Norton, author, will talk on "The Menace of Radicalism" during the National Security league broadcast on the Columbia network, at 4 p. m., central standard time, Tuesday, Aug. 4.

Norton is a fellow of the Royal Geographical society, and a member of the Players and Authors clubs. He is the author of many books including "The Plunderer," "Mixed Faces," "Caves of Treasure" and "The Liberator."

FOLLIES GIRLS TO GIVE TELEVISION PERFORMANCE SOON

Grace Moore, a principal in the 1931 edition of "The Ziegfeld Follies" and considered one of the most beautiful girls on the American stage, and Bobbie Brodsley, a member of the chorus of the same show, will appear before the microphone on the third presentation over the WABC-Columbia network of "Views and Interviews," on Monday, Aug. 3, from 4 to 4:15 p. m., central standard time.

The two stage beauties will be both seen and heard later the same evening when the program is repeated from 6 to 6:15 p. m., central standard time over W2XAB and W2XE, Columbia's television and short wave stations.

NOTED PIANIST ON KGKO STAFF

Radio Station Will Start Programs at 7 a. m.

Hal Hoffer, nationally known organist and piano player, will make his debut to Wichita Falls radio fans over station KGKO from 7:15 to 8 a. m. Monday. He will broadcast during this period each day except Sunday for an extended series of "breakfast programs."

Mr. Hoffer was formerly connected with Fox Movietone and was also a staff artist with station KFI, the 50,000-watt station in Los Angeles. He has been a featured guest organist in practically every large theater in Texas.

Local musicians, who heard Mr. Hoffer play in the KGKO studio in a "preview program" last week, were enthusiastic in their praise of his interpretation and technique.

Beginning Monday KGKO will go on a new broadcast schedule. The station will broadcast continuously from 7 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. The evening program will be the same, 6 to 10:30.

From 7 to 7:15 a. m. the station will feature a sports broadcast of brief summaries of scores for the preceding day in the Texas, National and American leagues.

BEETHOVEN WORK TO BE BROADCAST SYMPHONIC HOUR

Beethoven's most popular symphony, and in fact the best known of all works in this classical form, will be played during the symphonic hour, scheduled for 1 to 2 p. m., central standard time, Sunday, Aug. 2, over the WABC-Columbia network.

Many biographers of Beethoven are convinced that he concealed in this work an intimate and impassioned chapter of his turbulent career. It was composed during a period in which Beethoven was engaged to the Countess Therese von Brunswick, although not finished until after the incompatible couple had separated. Much of his experiences during this time has been recognized in various passages of the symphony, though it can be just as well understood if regarded as pure music, without involving any program idea.

Toscha Seidel, world-famous concert violinist, will be heard with the orchestra in a suite by Sinding, and also in a favorite solo number, an allegretto by Boccherini, in Kreisler's arrangement, with Herbert Jaffe at the piano.

Glee Club Will Broadcast Bill Across Atlantic

Music by the glee club of the Riverdale country school, New York, will be broadcast from London during the international period at 10:30 a. m., central standard time, Sunday, Aug. 2, over WABC and the Columbia network.

The Riverdale club is believed to be the first American glee club ever invited to appear abroad, and it is now on a bicycle tour of England, fulfilling engagements at several historic public schools, including Winchester and Harrow.

The club left the United States on June 26, after singing on a program arranged by the Columbia network, and on July 4, sang at the American embassy in London, this program being broadcast in England.

The club, which is composed of 28 boys, including a double quartet, will be under the conductorship of Russell Locke.

An improvement in three years of 100 per cent in workmanship and appearance of street dresses made by home demonstration club women in Wheeler county is the claim of the judge in a recent county dress contest held there.

KATE SMITH TO SING BALLADS AGAIN MONDAY

Kate Smith, "Songbird of the South" will be heard in another program of popular ballads in a broadcast over the WABC-Columbia network, Monday, Aug. 3, at 4:15 p. m., central standard time. She will feature her customary "memory" song which will have been requested by a radio listener. Each day the singer receives hundreds of letters from people requesting favorite songs of the past that recall memories, and it is from these that she selects the daily number.

SIXTH CAMP CONCERT TO BE TREE PROGRAM

Campers and vacationists who have taken their radio with them on their holiday will hear the sixth of the series of Columbia camp concerts, a summer extension of the American School of the Air, which will be presented Wednesday, Aug. 5, from 2:30 to 3:00 p. m., central standard time, over a coast-to-coast Columbia network.

The program is built on the subject of trees and opens with the musical arrangement of "O Forest Broad and Sweeping" by the composer Mendelsschn. This is followed by "The Whirlwind" by Krantz.

AMOS AND ANDY NEAR END SECOND YEAR RADIO WORK

In less than a month, Aug. 19 to be exact, the two most popular entertainers the world has ever known will complete their second year of entertainment on a national scale.

They are, of course, Amos 'n' Andy, and that date marks the second anniversary of their debut on a network of stations associated with the National Broadcasting company.

"Within the month Amos 'n' Andy will have concluded two years of nightly visits to millions of American homes," their sponsors announced recently during one of their programs. "We venture to say that during these 626 nights no other nightly visitors have been so eagerly expected as these two outstanding artists. No others have become such an intimate part of our regular everyday life."

Oats planted in three-foot rows yielded 10 bushels more per acre than those sowed in an adjoining field the ordinary way, accrding to G. H. Farrington, Schleicher county farmer. The rowed oats made 80 bushels per acre.

EXPLANATION OF LAST SUNDAY'S CARTOON—The Rijsttafel: The characteristic Javanese dish, which requires the services of 20 waiters, consists of a basic mixture of rice which is served on a large plate. Presently a procession of 20 waiters appears, each of them bearing a platter laden with every conceivable kind of vegetable and meat. As they file past, their load is transferred to your plate, until you have before you a pile of gargantuan proportions, which, as nearly as I could make out, consisted of the following ingredients: rice, curry, sausages, gravy, chicken, green peppers, minced meat, fried eggs, beef hash, bananas, fried fish, olives, pickled eggs, beef stew, cucumbers. The whole is then stirred together and the diner must try to eat the entire mass—a formidable task for any novice. During my stay in Java I have dicreetly watched many a dainty Dutch miss absorb about half of her weight in rijsttafel at a single sitting. Ferdinand Rudolf Hassler Wore the Same Necktie for 58 Years: Prof. Hassler (1770-1843), the first superintendent of the U. S. coast survey, was native of Aarau, Switzerland, whence he came to the United States in 1805. He was professor of mathematics and natural history at West Point, from there he went in the same capacity to Union college of Schenectady. Prof. Hassler, a man of great learning, was rather eccentric in disposition. He wore the same necktie for 58 years in [illegible] according to his biographer [illegible] he died.

STRING QUARTETS TO FEATURE SUNDAY BILL

Movements from string quartets by four of the greatest masters of this form of music will be played between 9 and 9:30 p. m., central standard time, Sunday, Aug. 2, over the WABC-Columbia network, by the Continental String quartet, with Toscha Seidel as first violinist.

Beethoven is represented by a portion of one of his last quartets, in which the somber austerity of his later years is well exemplified, though the selection chosen for this performance contains also some of his best writing for strings in a slow movement.

UNION CHURCH SERVICES WILL START SUNDAY

The first of the union Sunday night services on the lawn of the Memorial auditorium will be held tonight. Dr. C. M. Simpson, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church, will be the preacher, who will speak on "Transforming Spiritual Resources Into Life." These union services are put on for each of the Sunday nights during the month of August. They are planned and sponsored by the ministerial alliance of the city. The service will begin at 7:45 with a band concert, followed by a singsong. Mrs. George Thorburn, director of the Floral Heights Methodist choir, will sing tonight and Judge P. A. Martin will be the lay presiding officer.

The city park department furnishes all necessary equipment in the way of lights, seats, loud speakers and other things for the comfort of those who attend. Thousands of people enjoyed these outdoor services last summer and it is expected that even larger numbers will share in them this year. Everybody is invited.

SPUDDERS PLAY JAM-UP GAME TO TAKE FINAL FROM BUCS

Hillin Gives Up But Four Clouts In 7-1 Conquest

Sparkling Fielding and Timely Long Distance Hitting Help in Victory

Airtight pitching, timely long distance hitting and brilliant fielding make up a combination that can't be beaten, and the Spudders had all those qualities in the superlative degree Saturday afternoon in defeating the Galveston Buccaneers, 7 to 1, in the "rubber game" of the series.

The pitching was executed by Ashley Hillin and the hitting and fielding by most of the cast. The big right-hander turned back the Bucs with four hits and allowed only six men to reach first in nine innings. Allday and Fuss led the swat parade, each with three hits and each included a triple in the collection. The fielding gems were contributed by Scharein, Euller and Gerken, though the entire defensive apparatus worked to perfection.

All in all, it was a beautiful exhibition of how the game ought to be played, and there was little doubt but that the boys need to continue that sort of thing, for the league leading Houston Buffs move into Athletic park for the next four games, starting with a Sunday double-header at 3 o'clock.

Bednar Routed Early

The Spudders staked Hillin to a one run lead in the first. Bednar threw Garms two strikes and then four straight balls. Allday sent him to second with a single to right and Stanton advanced both with a sacrifice. Gerken lined out to right with Garms scoring after the catch. Bradbury fouled to left for the final out. The lead grew to 3 to 0 in the second when Fuss tripled to left, Hillin doubled to right and Garms singled through the box.

Hillin allowed only two Bucs to reach first through the third inning. Speer singled and stole in the first, but was left on second. Molesworth received a life in the second on Scharein's error, but went out stealing. It was one-two-three in the third and Speer, after getting Galveston's second hit in the fourth, was snuffed out with Bell in a double play, Scharein to Stanton.

The Spudders kept after Bednar until they chased him with one run in the third and two in the fourth. Stanton's double, a pass to Gerken and Fuss' single accounted for the third inning run. More damage might have been inflicted but for Fuss' sprint for second when Cox fumbled the hit. He found Bradbury, who had forced Stanton in a sacrificial effort perched atop the bag. Euller's double off the center field fence, Garms' similar drive off the right field wall and Allday's single produced two in the fourth as well as a new pitcher in the form of Ray Pipkin, a veteran righthander who has been absent from the league for several seasons. Pipkin pulled out by walking Stanton and forcing Gerken into a double play.

Pipkin was not to be slighted, however, and he was reached for one run in the fifth to increase the lead to 7 to 0. With one out Fuss singled to right for his third blow. Scharein shot a perfect hit-and-run single "through the hole" and when Bell fumbled the ball Fuss kept steaming toward the plate. Molesworth's relay was wild and he made it standing up, Scharein going to third and remaining there as Pipkin was disposing of Euller and Hillin.

Wichita Falls' first scoreless inning was the sixth, Stanton's second double after two were out failing to produce.

Hillin pitched perfectly in the fifth, sixth and seventh, facing only nine men and needing little fancy work from his supporting cast to turn the trick. Scharein stood on his ear to retire Pratt on a slow tap and Gerken back-peddled into deep territory for Pipkin's long poke, but the others were easy pickings.

Molesworth broke the monotony with a well spanked double with one away in the eighth and the blow blasted Hillin's chance for a shutout, Ratliff duplicating for Galveston's only run. The outfield took care of Pratt and Pipkin to retire the side.

Marvelous fielding by the Bucs pulled Pipkin through the last two innings, Pratt making a one-handed snare of Bradbury's liner, Molesworth coming up with Scharein's hot drive and Speer traveling to deep left center for Garms' long smash. And it was no slouch of a catch that Gerken made to end the game on Bell's loper in the shadow of the scoreboard.

Great Dean to Pitch One of Two Sunday Games Against Spudders

"Step right over this way, ladies and gentlemen, buy your tickets on the left and behold the phenomenon of the ages; the one and only Jerome Dean. Seventy-five cents, three-quarters of a dollar pays the way into the greatest baseball show on earth. Don't miss it, folks; if you're not satisfied, step right up to the ticket window on your way out and get your money back!"

That's the spiel that Guy Airey, Spudder secretary, might make Sunday afternoon from the ticket windows at Athletic park, if he could meet the requirements of a sideshow barker. But Guy won't make that spiel because it would be beneath the dignity of a well conducted baseball club.

Dizzy Dean, nevertheless, qualifies as the Texas league's outstanding side show; the rest of the Buffs may make up the "big top," but it is Dizzy's sideshow that draws the crowds to the lot.

Four-Game Series

The Buffs arrive in Spudderville Sunday to open a four-game engagement with a double-header Sunday afternoon starting at 3 o'clock, and Manager Joe Schultz has informed the world at large that his great Dean will pitch one of the games of the bargain program. The great one pitched Thursday night at Dallas and shut out the Steers to the utter discomfort of some 10,000 fans who had turned out for the primary purpose of seeing him do it. Figuring the customary three days' rest between starts, Dean would fall heir to the Monday game, and it was with the hope that Skipper Schultz would promise Dean for Monday that the Spudder officials communicated with the Buff manager Saturday morning.

"No, sir, I won't pitch Dean Monday," was Schultz' reply. "Why if that bird ever had three days' rest, he'd go stale. You can tell your fans up there he'll be in there pitching in at least one of those Sunday games—and I may have to hit him in the head with the water bucket to keep him from pitching both."

Cooney May Pitch

Dean has started against the Spudders only once this season, turning back the Williams clan in a three-hit shoutout in his first 1931 start for the Buffs on May 3 at Houston. He was used in a relief role for less than an inning in a later game at Athletic park.

Williams announced Saturday there was a remote possibility that Bob Cooney, ace of the Wichita Falls staff, will oppose Dean on the mound. Cooney's appearance in the Sunday bargain is doubtful, however, as his ailing thumb is not yet back to normal, and if he does elect to tangle with the great Dean he will be under a sizeable handicap. The probable Spudder starters in the two games are Les White and Bob Cooney.

Houston remains on the scene for Monday and Tuesday games.

MRS. MOODY CAPTURES FINAL FROM CALIFORNIA FOE IN STRAIGHT SETS

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 1.(INS)—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody of the American courts, defeated Miss Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Calif., for the Seabright women's championship here Saturday, 6-0, 6-0.

The two Helens met in the final round of the Seabright Tennis club's annual invitation tournament here Saturday afternoon, with a capacity crowd of 3,500 spectators, jamming every available seat in the stands, looking on.

The heat which had been bothering the players all week, was tempered slightly by a cooling breeze from the northwest, but it was still sticky, uncomfortable weather for the players. The spectators were mostly white-sleeved and dressed in white.

Saturday's match marked the first meeting between the two rival Helens since early last season, when Mrs. Moody conquered Miss Jacobs at 6-1, 6-2 in the finals of the French hard-court championships. It was their seventh meeting in six years, and Helen the second had yet to take a set, let alone a match, from the world's champion.

HARPER REQUESTS SON TO PADDLE OWN CANOE

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 1. (AP)—Mel Harper, son of Jesse Harper, director of athletics at the University of Notre Dame, will not choose that school for his higher learning if he follows the wishes of his father.

"I wouldn't want to place the boy where he would be handicaped," the father said. "At Notre Dame he would not have the freedom to develop that he would have in a school I was not connected with. I want him to have that initiative and I believe he will choose Kansas university as his college."

Mel finished high school here this year.

THE LOOKOUT
BY AL PARKER

Spudder fans are to get their first look of the season at the one and only Dizzy Dean Sunday afternoon, if all goes well with the plans of Joe Schultz, skipper in chief of the league leading Buffaloes, who arrive in our midst Sunday for a double-header. Believing the great one would be Houston's Monday pitcher, Prexy William E. Huff communicated with the Buff pilot Saturday in the hope that he would be able to announce to his clientele that Dean would be on the firing line Monday. But in figuring that the dizzy one would require the full three days' rest, Huff missed it by just one day. Schultz declared it was his intention of having Dean start no later than Sunday. An unqualified promise that Dean would be on the hill Sunday was exacted from the Houston manager, but that was before Saturday night's game at Dallas. If it became necessary to use Dean in relief Saturday night, he probably would pitch Sunday just the same, but in that case he might be held over until Monday.

Only one of Jerome's 21 victories this season has been against the Spudders, but that's not Dean's fault. He has started against Wichita Falls only once! His first start after having been shipped to the Buffs by the Cardinals was against the Spudders at Houston on May 3 and he started right out where he left off last season and tossed a three-hit shutout, beating Lester White, 6 to 0. His only appearance on the mound here was on Houston's first visit in mid-May when he went to the relief of Elmer Hanson and, if memory serves us aright, he pitched only one or two balls to retire the last Spudder in the eighth. Wichita Falls already had won the game, 5 to 2. It has not been that Schultz has saved Dean out of his turn for certain clubs; the Spudders simply have been fortunate in striking the Buffs when it was not Dean's turn to pitch. However, it seems there is no chance to miss him in the series starting Sunday. A four-game series with the Buffs without Dean doing some throwing would come under the heading of miracles.

The two pitchers likely to lead organized baseball for the season in games won are Lefty Groves and Dizzy Dean. (It just seems natural to link those two names together). Through Thursday each had won 21 and both had chances of reaching the charmed 30 circle. It has been many years since a major league pitcher has reached the 30-mark, and anything but recent that a Texas league pitcher has performed the feat. Not since the palmy days of Joe Pate has a Texas tosser won 30 games. George Payne came close to it two years ago in winning 28, and looking back on that season it seems that Payne did just about everything a pitcher could do and then failed to get the 30. Dean cannot afford to lose any games if he is to get 30. With less than 50 games yet to be played he can't miss many starts and get there. But that's the thing that Dizzy doesn't do. He pitches double-headers and goes in with no rest at all, so he should have ample opportunity to tag on nine more games.

Any pitcher who wins 25 or more games in a season must have lots of breaks. While Grove undoubtedly deserves the rating of the majors' ranking pitcher, he undoubtedly has been one of the most fortunate this season. The Athletics, with only two exceptions, have given him enough runs to win, regardless of the kind of pitching he has delivered. He had lost only two games through Thursday, and no pitcher could roll up such a record without lots of juicy breaks. Grove has had them in the form of lots of runs when he needed 'em and in winning games in relief roles. The greatest break of all, though, is that which makes him a member of that great Philadelphia club, rather than the Red Sox, the Browns or the Tigers. The A's have made seven other clubs look silly in this race.

It seems to make little difference what kind of lineup Mack places on the field, the team keeps right on winning just the same. The other day against the Browns, three of his high-powered regulars were on the shelf and a pitcher he picked up at the waiver price was doing the chunking, but that didn't prevent the Macks from continuing their monotonous pennant march. Cramer was in the outfield in Haas' place, McNair was playing third instead of Dykes and Williams filled in at short for Boley. Waite Hoyt, cast adrift as through by two American league clubs, could hold the Browns to no less than five runs, but his team gave him 10. It was the fifth victory he had snared since the Athletics took him from the Tigers on waivers. Hoyt, Mahaffey and McDonald have been winning of late with just as much regularity as Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg. In fact, Connie may start any day using only Mahaffey, McDonald and Hoyt as starters and keeping back Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg for relief.

The present day Athletics undoubtedly rank among the greatest of all clubs, but even so it is not one that appeals to the fancy of the populace at large as other great clubs of the past. The Athletics from 1911 to 1916 and Frank Chance's old Chicago Cubs generally are used as the standard by which to measure the modern pennant winners, with the old Red Sox of Speaker, Hooper and Lewis outfield fame ranking pretty close to the top. But the Athletics of the present are a different type of team from all of these. The A's in fact are the very first of their kind. It is the original outstanding team that got that way because of the presence of a half-dozen phenomenal stars, rather than a team well rounded in all departments.

The old Athletics were great because they were well fortified in all respects. The pitching was headed by the great trio of Bender, Plank and Coombs; the infield consisted of McInnis, Collins, Barry and Baker and the outfield of Murphy, Oldring and Strunk. Possibly the outfield was not on a par with the infield and the pitching, but it was a formidable trio at that. The old Cubs had Brown, Ruelback, Overall and Phiester for the pitching, Kling and Archer for the catching, Chance, Evers, Tinker and Steinfeldt on the infield and Sheckard, Schulte and Hoffman in the outfield—a star in every position. The current issue of the Athletics cannot approach either of these teams position for position, but when it comes to winning ball games it is another story. And neither could the old Cubs and Athletics combined produce a catcher as great as Mickey Cochrane, an outfielder as great as Al Simmons, a pitcher greater than either Grove or Earnshaw or a first baseman greater than Foxx.

ANOTHER BERGER SOCKS BALL IN COAST LEAGUE

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 1. (AP)—Baseball critics believe the Berger family will be doubly represented in the big leagues next year as the result of the speedy development of Fred Berger, Portland outfielder.

Fred is a brother of Walter Berger, hard-hitting outfielder of the Boston Braves. Like his brother, Fred is a right-hander and his lusty wallops have attracted the attention of many major league ivory hunters.

HEROES OF EPIC SANDLOT DUEL

STEVE FRANKLIN

MARVIN ROBERTSON

Whenever the sandlot followers gather around the hot stove in the offseason and discuss their favorite winter time topic, the epic 25-inning struggle of a week ago enacted by the Sullivan Grocery company and Star Transfer company nines of the City league will come in for another airing. This game will linger for many years in the memories of the amateur baseball historians as the greatest in the annals of Wichita Falls sandlot baseball.

The heroes of the long game were Steve "Smokey" Franklin and Marvin "Lefty" Robertson, both of whom pitched the full distance and showed little sign of weakening at the finish. The struggle ended in a 3 and 3 tie, with each team scoring a run in the 25th. Each clicked off 18 consecutive scoreless innings prior to the 25th. Robertson, southpaw ace of the Transfer nine, allowed 13 hits and fanned 21, while Franklin allowed 16 hits and whiffed four.

CALIFORNIA SCHOOL TO BUILD TRACK STADIUM

BERKELEY, Calif., Aug. 1. (AP)—To the growing list of stadia on the Pacific coast, next year will be added University of California's new track and field oval. It will be an elaborate layout, unique in many respects.

FRANCE'S DAVIS CUP REIGN NEARS END AS COCHET TURNS 'PRO'

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—Henri Cochet's decision to turn professional will cost France the Davis cup in 1932 in the opinion of leading tennis authorities here.

These experts believe the cup will be won either by the United States or Great Britain regardless of whether or not Rene Lacoste emerges from his retirement to aid the French defense. Doubt is expressed all along the line that Lacoste, troubled by illness for several years, ever again will reach the form that at one time made him the most feared player in the game.

The recent challenge round matches in Paris when France retained the cup by beating Great Britain three matches to two with Cochet figuring in all three French victories, revealed that the Tri-Color no longer was the all-conquering tennis power it had been for four previous years.

Jean Borotra, who with Cochet and Lacoste, won the cup from the United States in 1927 and had aided in its defense in every year since, lost both of his singles matches in the challenge round to Frederick J. Perry and Henry W. (Bunny) Austin. France's younger stars, Christian Boussus and Pierre Landry, have yet to show they can fill the fading Borotra's place, much less Cochet's.

PROS TAKE HEAVY TOLL FROM RANKS AMATEURS

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—The gate receipts and by-products of commercialized sport, however much their value has been deflated in the past year, have combined to attract a startling number of world's champions from the precarious returns of amateurism to the more stable profits of athletic big business.

It is the principal trend of this age of ballyhoo, wherein the inducements are strong to capitalize the fame attached to noteworthy achievements at home and abroad.

Five years ago, professional tennis was confined to the instructor and seemed to have no unusually profitable future. Since then three world's champions have turned "pro" and the business is on a world-tour basis. The former queen of the courts, Suzanne Lenglen, helped C. C. Pyle and Vincent Richards to blaze the trail now embellished by big Bill Tilden and, in the near future, by his one-time rival for world honors, Henri Cochet.

Swimming lost a world's champion when Johnny Weissmuller, greatest of the speed artists, turned "pro." Martha Norelius, now Mrs. Joe Wright Jr., also forsook the amateur ranks, following the course taken by such famous mermaids as Gertrude Ederle, Ethelda Bleibtrey, Helen Wainwright and Aileen Riggin.

McPHAIL GOES TO SEMIFINALS IN CITY TENNIS TOURNEY

Titular Matches To Be Continued Sunday Morning

Graham and Reed Advance By Defaults in Class B Singles Event

By BILLY JENKINS

Raymond McPhail advanced to the semifinals in the city tennis championship tournament by defeating two opponents by decisive scores on the Weeks park courts Saturday. He defeated J. O. Kocher in the second round, 6-0, 7-5, and Clifton Haynes in the third round, 6-2, 7-5, after Haynes had received a forfeit from Jack Jamison because of sickness.

Other matches in this department went off about as expected. Ed Bebb defeated Ted Williams, 6-1, 6-4, in two fast sets. Clois Keyes defaulted to Oscar Powers, so that neither of the two Powers brothers in this department was forced to play a match Saturday.

In the class B singles John Graham and G. W. Reed received defaults from L. Walker and Andy Anderson respectively. These two played in the third round, with Graham winning 6-2, 6-3, to enter the semifinals. H. C. Cheshire won over Dick Long, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, while W. L. Underwood defeated H. L. Druce, 6-1, 6-2.

Women Provide Thrills

B. H. Simpkins defaulted to J. F. Sibert, while C. R. Cowles swept through his match with Bryant Creighton, 6-1, 6-2, in his usual easy manner. Dave Denton defeated Ozzie Matthews in two sets, 6-3, 6-3.

It was left to the womens' singles to provide the most interesting match of the day's play. Mrs. Lou Rankin eliminated Miss Winona Gregg, 6-1, 8-6. Mrs. Rankin easily won the first set, but Miss Gregg came back in the second with renewed energy, but failed to surpass Mrs. Rankin's superb tennis.

In the junior singles, W. A. Bachman lost to Steve Powers, 6-3, 8-6, while Albert Biedenharn won over Bill Huper, 6-4, 6-2, to determine the two entries in the finals department. After all the man-sized entries have been eliminated, the two smallest contestants will fight it out in the finals. Both Steve and Albert are diminutive players who tip the scales at about the hundred mark.

Two Semifinalists

Charles Cook and Tom McCarty are attending a tournament in Cordell, Okla., and may not be present for their matches scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

With the exception of one match in the first round of the women's singles between Marjorie Bright and Mrs. A. D. Woodward, the first round in all singles departments has been completed.

Most of the matches scheduled for Sunday will deal with the second and third rounds. By Monday morning the second round will have been completed, and matches will begin in the third round and the semifinals.

One man in both divisions of the men's singles has reached the semifinals. Raymond McPhail reached this coveted round by his double win Saturday in the class A singles while John Graham reached this round by a forfeit from L. Walker and his defeat of G. W. Reed.

Following is a schedule of the time and place of the matches scheduled for Sunday:

Class A Singles

U. S. OARSMEN WINNERS IN CANADIAN REGATTA

ST. CATHERINES, Ont., Aug. 1. (AP)—United States oarsmen captained seven of the 10 finals on the closing day's program of the Royal Canadian Henley regatta Saturday, but could not prevent the singles championship from falling into the grasp of Bobby Pearce, diamond sculls holder from Hamilton, Ont.

Pearce outrowed Ken Myers of the Bachelors Barge club, Philadelphia, and Joe Wright Jr., of Toronto, 1926 winner of the diamond skulls, in the finals to win by nearly three lengths.

Rivalling Pearce's triumph was the victory of the big Penn A. C. boatload in the Hanlan memorial trophy race for senior eights. The Penn crew, off to a fast start, held a margin of six lengths on the Detroit Boat club, defending champions, at the finish.

Lefty Robertson In Form to Down Hardware Outfit

One Bad Inning Loses, 6 to 2, for Nichols; Double-Header Sunday

Lefty Marvin Robertson, ace of the Star Transfer company baseball club's pitching staff, was in top form Saturday afternoon in the first game of the play-off series with Bailey-Moline Hardware company for the first half championship of the City league and bested Red Nichols in a torrid pitchers' battle, 6 to 2. Robertson should have had a shutout victory, both the Bailey-Moline runs being unearned. After two men were out in the fourth inning, Robertson struck out Hefner, but Habern dropped the ball and his throw to first was low, Hefner taking second. "Old Dependable" Mike Smith came through with a crashing double to left to score Hefner. Ben McLarry singled past second to score Smith. Red Ring rolled to Robertson to end the inning.

After getting into hot water in the second and third innings, Nichols had his one bad round when half the six hits made off him were bunched with four bases on balls to net five runs for Star Transfer. Outside of this one bad inning Nichols hurled great ball for Bailey-Moline, striking out 14 men in eight innings.

The two teams will play a double-header Sunday afternoon with the first game called at 2:30 o'clock. Gabe Harris, veteran right-hander, is scheduled to take the firing line for Star Transfer company, with Smokey Lupher, ace of the Hardware company nine, on the hill for Saturday's losers. A Star Transfer victory in the first game will give the team the first half flag, but the second game will be played regardless. The first game also will count on the last half standings. Score:

SUN BEAU HANGS UP NEW ALL-TIME MARK FOR MONEY WINNING

The big six-year-old son of Sun Briar-Beautiful Lady, bred and owned by Willis Sharpe Kilmer, Binghamton, N. Y., became the greatest money winner on the international turf Saturday, dethroning Gallant Fox.

Sun Beau, by winning the Arlington handicap, stretched his grand total in five years of turf campaigning to $330,044, exceeding by $1,879 the $328,165 earned by Gallant Fox before his retirement last year. Gallant Fox was shoved into second place in the list of 12 golden winners, while Zev, a sensation in 1923 dropped to third place with $313,639.

Sun Beau's impressive victory climaxed Arlington park's brilliant 30-day racing season. The gross value of the Arlington handicap was $34,350, of which $27,300 went to the proud owner of Sun Beau.

The new champion won the race dramatically and as he pleased. He galloped to victory by three lengths over the mile and a quarter route on a track that was a trifle dull in 2:03 1-5, with Satin Spar, owned by Willard Mack, the playwright, second and Plucky Play third in the field of seven. Ten were named to start but the field was reduced by the withdrawal of Gallant Knight, Minotaur and The Nut.

WOODMEN AND BOOSTERS PLAY SUNDAY MORNING

Modern Woodmen and I-O Boosters are to play their regularly scheduled City league contest Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at Katy park, it was announced Saturday by officials of the two clubs. The change from the afternoon to morning has been made to eliminate the conflict with the Spudders' Sunday afternoon double-header.

Ronie Glidewell has been announced as the starting pitcher for the Boosters, with Hestand or Bell slated to take the mound for the Woodmen.

Schmeling Pilot Sees Long Reign For Heavy Champ

Jacobs Believes Max Will Do No Fighting Until Next Year

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Herr Max Schmeling will retain his title of heavyweight champion of the world "for five or six years—possibly ten," his manager, Mr. Joe Jacobs, predicted in an interview as he made preparations for a trip abroad to talk matters over with "the champ." Jacobs sails for Germany next Tuesday.

Nonchalantly puffing at one of his ever-present cigars, Mr. Jacobs brushed aside the suggestion there isn't an iota of truth in the report that Schmeling is tired of the fight racket and would retire after his next big shot. This rumor, it seems, is "the bunk."

"Schmeling will not box before next June," Jacobs told International News Service. "I am committed to the idea of a once-a-year battle for the champion. I think that is often enough to defend the title."

Mr. Jacobs could not say at this time who Schmeling will fight next. Of one thing, however, he was positive: It will not be Jack Sharkey. Not that Schmeling is afraid of the terrible Sharkey person—oh, no indeed!

Frowns on Sharkey

"Sharkey, because of his failure to do better than draw with Mickey Walker, is out of the picture," said Jacobs. "As far as we are concerned he is on the sidelines, a discredited heavyweight."

"Suppose Sharkey knocks out Primo Carnera in September?" Jacobs was asked.

"That simply would make Walker all the better," replied Schmeling's manager.

Time was not so long ago when both Schmeling and his astute manager expressed a ready willingness to take Sharkey on. Max was represented as eager to wipe out the blot on his ring career occasioned by his meeting with Sharkey a year ago in June when the Bostonian gave him such a pasting before unintentionally letting loose a low hook that gave the fight to Schmeling on a foul.

"No matter what Sharkey does in the way of winning fights late this summer and fall he will have to get rid of Mickey Walker before he has any standing with me," declared Jacobs. In Jacobs' opinion Walker had all the best of it against Sharkey. Jacobs scored seven rounds for Walker, six for Sharkey and called two even.

Schmeling vs. Walker

Jacobs said Schmeling would be willing to meet Walker in Chicago as suggested, but the fight would have to be for 15 rounds. All of Schmeling's future bouts will have to be 15 rounds or longer, according to Jacobs, who says Max is a slow starter who improves steadily as a fight progresses. Jacobs pointed out that Illinois law prohibits bouts of longer than 10 rounds but he understands an effort is being made to change this legislation so that 15 round fights will be permitted.

"It's impossible to say at this time who will be Schmeling's next opponent," Jacobs explained. "There are a few young fellows coming up that may be in the heavyweight picture before long. That Charley Retzlaff is a greater fighter and may be ready to meet the best in the heavyweight division before long. He is a coming star."

Jacobs has a number of things to talk over with Schmeling when they meet in Germany. He wants to look at Max's injured eye—the optic that was hurt in the fracas with Young Stribling at Cleveland. Schmeling gave the injured eye as the reason for not participating in a fight in this country late this summer or fall.

Four Big League Pilots None Too Sure of '32 Jobs

Harris of Tigers and Bush Of Chisox Likely to Land New Posts

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Two capable American league managers, Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers and Donie Bush of the Chicago White Sox are due to lose their jobs at the close of the season, according to rumors circulating in baseball circles. But neither Harris nor Bush will pass out of the big league picture, it is said. Other clubs want them.

The managerial positions of two National league managers are in jeopardy at the present writing, reports have it. However, if their teams should take a sudden spurt between now and end of September, they will be allowed to hang on.

It seems that no matter how capable a manager may be, the moguls who sign the pay rolls are "off" him if the club he is piloting is a flop. It makes no difference if the fault belongs elsewhere; the manager must take the "rap." There is no common sense in such a policy, but that is baseball.

Tigers Hit Skids

Harris' Detroit Tigers are now in last place. At this time last season the club was fifth in the running. Accidents shot the team to pieces. The pitchers were terrible. Waite Hoyt, for example, couldn't win for Harris but once he connected with the Philadelphia A's, who probably will again figure in the world series money, he began pitching great ball.

Bush was good enough to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a National league pennant a few years ago but the White Sox management can't see him now because Comiskey's club is down in seventh place, a notch below where it stood this time a year ago. It really hasn't been Bush's fault in any sense. He hasn't had the ball players. His pitching staff right now is perhaps the poorest in either league. Two of his star hurlers have been virtually useless all season.

Bush to Tigers

Rumor has it that Bush will be signed up to manage the Tigers next season. This would be an ideal spot for the aggressive and likable Bush for he is greatly admired in Detroit where he played ball for so long—in the days of Ty Cobb, Sam Crawford and Veach, the days when Detroit had a real club. All of Bush's friends, which include virtually every player in the American league, will wish him success.

Harris, according to one rumor, will be offered the management of the Brooklyn Dodgers if any managerial change in that club takes place. Of the two or more managerial jobs in jeopardy in the National league one of them is the position of "Uncle Wilbert" Robinson. The other is that of Jewell Ens of the Pittsburgh Pirates, although Ens' standing is improving as a result of the sprightly manner in which the Pirates have been playing ball of late.

The first of Johnny Farrell's series of golf movies will be shown at the State theater Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, it was announced Saturday of C. H. Stewart, manager. The former national open champion, in a series of five or six shorts to be shown the first four days of each week at the State, explains his best shots and offers many valuable pointers to his audiences, according to Stewart.

The title of this week's release is "The Duffer Swings."

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 1. Ft. Worth Newcomer Sets Fast Swat Pace

Frey, the new Fort Worth outfielder termed by "Dizzy" Dean the most difficult league batter to face, continues to maintain the pace he has since coming to the Texas loop and with an average of .377 to hold the titular lead, 20 points ahead of "Buck" Stanton of Wichita Falls who leads the playing through regulars with .357. Stanton's closest challenger is a real threat, Ray Radcliff of Shreveport having driven his average to .348. Although gone for more than 10 days, the departed Ted Gullic, Wichita Falls, is still the leader in home runs with 17 to 13 for Solters, Shreveport, and 10 for Loepp, Dallas. Other league leaders: Runs—Selph, Houston, 84, White, Beaumont, 82, Hock, Houston and Garms, Wichita Falls 77; hits—Stanton, Wichita Falls, 160, Stebbins, San Antonio, 144, Brown, Fort Worth, 141; doubles—Stanton Wichita Falls, 40, Medwick, Houston, 35, Brown, Fort Worth, 30; triples—White Beaumont, and Fritz Beaumont, 15, Flaskamper, San Antonio, 12, Garms, Wichita Falls, 11; runs batted in—Medwick, Houston, 79, Brown, Fort Worth, 75, Gullic, Wichita Falls, 74; stolen bases—White, Beaumont, 38, Hock, Houston, 27, Nash, San Antonio, 23.

Wichita Falls continues to hold the lead in club batting with .277 and is first in hits, two-baggers, and runs driven in. Beaumont shares top honors by leading in runs, triples and stolen bases. Shreveport heads the home run hitting.

After two undefeated pitchers, the leading "winning" average belongs to Stoner, Fort Worth, with .875 but perhaps the best mark is McCabe's all-season .800. Dean of Houston has 20 victories to McCabe's 16. Other pitching leaders: Games—Payne, Houston, 35; innings pitched—Payne, Houston, 219, McCabe, Fort Worth, 215; complete games—Harris, Fort Worth, 21; strikeouts—Dean, Houston, 186, Carlton, Houston, 158; control—McCabe, Fort Worth, 28 passes in 215 innings.

Church Team Goes Into Final Round With Long Margin

Presbyterians Face Three Games During Week in Commercial Race

With First Presbyterian church still holding a comfortable lead at the top of the ladder in the Commercial league the last round of the last half schedule will be started this week. Presbyterians open the week with three games carded and a three and one-half game lead over Texas Electric Service company and Malone's Beauty shop with seven more to play.

Thre Presbyterians meet the fast stepping Noble-Little Hardware company club on Debus field Monday afternoon. Malone's Beauty shop and Dixon Sign company battle on Harrison Monday with Malone's fighting for a chance to hold the second rung in the ladder. Tuesday the Texas Electric Service company and Empire Paper company battle on Harrison field.

Thursday the league starts the last round with Malone's Beauty shop and Texas Electrics battling for second place. The game will be played on Harrison field. Noble-Little and Dixon Sign play on Debus field. Friday the Presbyterians take on the Empire Paper company on Harrison field.

The Presbyterians' third game of the week is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon with Dixon Sign, but may be postponed until later in the schedule. In case the game is needed down the line to determine the winner, it will be played; otherwise it may be dropped.

The Presbyterians have been finding the going somewhat rougher than at any other time this half, with their two ace pitchers, Big Boy Ridling and Willard Hillin getting the bumps in their past couple of games. Errors in the field have been costly and the apparent slump has done much to put pep and fire in the three clubs that trail on their heels. Still the team can coast through to a win with only an average brand of baseball.

England's Jewish population is estimated at 300,000, two-thirds of which is in London.

PREPARATION OF LAND FOR WATER IS URGED BY DISTRICT

The new rule established by the water improvement district, allowing two hours per acre in distributing water, is working out satisfactorily, according to district officials. Inadequate land preparation is a handicap in some instances, says the district manager in a letter addressed to users. The letter follows:

Mr. John Gould, care Times Publishing company, city.

Dear Sir: You will remember that under date of May 28 and June 4 letters were written to you regarding the number of hours that each water user would be allowed in which to irrigate his holdings, commencing with 1931. You will recollect that the requirement of the district is that an acre be irrigated every two hours continuously from the time that the delivery of water begins.

Recently we held a ditch riders' meeting in this office and received reports regarding the success of this plan. We are receiving wonderful cooperation from both the land owners and the tenants, especially from the former, in this matter of undertaking to get a better use from our irrigation water supply. Our ditch riders report that the three principal difficulties that they encounter in keeping the delivery within the two-hour limit are (1) a lack of land preparation, (2) a lack of sufficient capacity in the farmers' laterals and (3) a lack of irrigators in the field at all times to care for the water when delivered. You will remember that we called your attention to the necessity for all these things in our letter to you referred to above.

The smoothing of the land so that the field will have an even slope in one or more directions is very essential. On land that is not too rough this can be done with a home made land leveler that three or four horses will pull. On rougher land a fresno should be used. After the land is leveled it should be corrugated or bordered running with the direction of the greatest slope. After a crop has been taken off, such as our grain fields at the present time, is a fine time of the year to do land leveling work. It will be your experience as it has been ours that 90 per cent of the labor of irrigating is saved by the preparation of the land before the crop is planted. The next essential is a large ditch. You can carry a large head of water in a large clean ditch but it is impossible for you to carry even a small supply in a small uncleaned one. No irrigator can get the best use of a water right unless he stays with the head of water, especially on land that is difficult to irrigate. When a man orders a supply of water he should have nothing else to do except to take care of it. We find that where the land has been prepared, where the ditches are of ample size and where the irrigator stays in the field with rubber boots and a shovel that he has no difficulty in finishing his irrigating in less time than that allowed.

HOUSE WIVES OF FANNIN PREPARE FOR PANTRY

BONHAM. — Reaching every housewife on the farms and in the rural communities with a personal invitation to participate, the 23 home demonstration clubs of Fannin county gave May and June to a series of meetings where canning demonstrations were held and the organization of a 4-H pantry was outlined, according to the report of Miss Minnie Eldridge, county home demonstration agent.

The programs of the meetings were all similar and consisted of a roll call to which the members of the clubs responded by telling particularly valuable things gotten out of club work; the 4-H pantry demonstrator of each club told of how she made her food budget, organized her food supply by it and canned to fill the requirements of an adequate diet for the unproductive months; the home agent gave demonstrations of canning the vegetables which were in season and the president of each club extended to the non-members present the further services of the club members in helping to solve their canning problems. As a result of this offer many community meetings were scheduled for small groups with the club members doing the demonstrations.

In her report Miss Eldridge states that the 23 original meetings had an attendance of 427 club members and 901 house wives who were not club members, besides several men who were sufficiently interested in planning the family food supply to attend. She calculates that approximately 25 per cent of the 5,894 farm homes in Fannin county were reached in this way and that the better home practices of the home demonstration club women interested many of the non-club members to the point of wanting to try them. Her office has had calls to organize five new clubs and the stores report the sale of many canners and sealers.

Restores Poor Land

WOODVILLE.—On poor sandy land that has been well terraced and made fertile by rotating crops and turning under legumes, Ben Best, Tyler county farmer, has made a net profit of $80.80 on one acre of tomatoes and now has hegari growing on the same land, according to B. B. Martin, county agent. Plants cost $5, fertilizer $12.60 and poison $1.50. Selling for 1 to 1½ cents per pound Mr. Best received $100.40 for his crop and estimates that tomatoes used at home and canned paid the labor cost.

Wheat as Laying Ration

PAMPA.—All wheat is a poor egg laying ration, a Gray county poultry demonstrator has discovered. When eggs dropped to 12 cents per dozen early in May he didn't think he could afford anything more than wheat for his hens and cut out the mash. Egg production dropped from 224 eggs to 124 eggs per day by the end of the month. Ralph R. Thomas, county agent, suggested that skim milk costing 2 cents per gallon at the local creamery be added and in 10 days production had climbed up to 160 eggs daily.

WINNERS OF TRIPS TO COLLEGE STATION

Misses Tommie Estes and Reba Ireland, members of 4-H clubs, and Edwin Muller and Bob McDonald, entrants in the boys' feed contest, won trips to the farmers' short course which was held at College Station last week. Among others who went from this county were County Agent G. C. McGown, Miss Ethel Luise Webb, county home demonstration agent; Mrs. H. C. Obenhaus, Mrs. Claude Foy, Mrs. R. W. Thomas. Mrs. Thomas was on the program. Supt. C. H. McDowell and Horticulturist L. E. Brooks of the experiment station also attended.

Every Day Life of the Farmer's Wife

I am going to capture the summertime and put it in my cellar. I will have it all lined up in jars of red, green and yellow. I will label them "farm relief" and when the north wind blows this winter we will eat.

I will have roughage, vitamines and starches. There will be pumpkins for pies and apples for tarts, cans of chicken and sausage too, backbone pie, chicken stew, teabone steak, plenty of hash, and chile made from Jersey calf. I will have grape juice without the kick and slices of ham plenty thick. Snap black-eyed peas with hog jaw stew, plenty of dry beans and spuds too. Pickles, jams, jellies, chow chow of various kinds. Later I will make some cheese, and sauerkraut, in time. Turnips with plenty of tops, corn on the cob, and of course, a barrel of sorghum. Then with Jersey cream and new laid eggs, what do we need?

While those fellows up at Washington fret and stew over farm relief I'll sit and smoke my pipe in peace. Starve me out? Why it can't be done. They have tried that ever since Cain was Adam's son.

They may reduce me down to home-spun pants, and patches on my shirt when on theirs there aint. But if they only knew, I eat pretty regularly, no matter what they do.

With taters in the hill and plenty feed in my bin, I think I can make it till the Democrats win.

While those guys at Washington torment Andy Mellon, all the worry I have is keeping the key to my cellar.

Well folks! We never get too old to learn. I thought I had used my pressure cooker for every purpose that a vessel of that sort could be use for but I found a new use for it this past week, and that is to dye in. You know the dye pot and the paint brush are old stand-bys of all farm women.

I had been seeing unbleached domestic advertised for sale at from 3 to 5 cents per yard for a long time, so I decided I would buy some, dye it a bright color and make some new curtains. When I was ready for the dying process I began to look around for a suitable vessel. I spied my pressure cooker and decided to experiment with that as it seemed the only thing large enough. In it I put the amount of water the directions called for and put the top on, just loose, and let the water come to a boil, then I added the dye which I had previously dissolved in a small amount of water, added the salt and stirred until thoroughly dissolved. Then I added the goods which had just been wrung out of warm water, stirred for several minutes, put the top on the cooker and ran the pressure up to 10 pounds and kept it there for 20 minutes, then I removed the cloth, rinsed in the usual way and let dry. This is the most perfect job of dying that I have ever done and my curtains are really pretty.

If you need some new curtains the method I have just given is one inexpensive way to get them. Then when you use that grade of cotton you are helping your own home folks. But please don't misunderstand me and think that is the only grade of cotton this section can produce. I don't mean to suggest that we can't produce long staple cotton but we don't produce as much as we should. We produce entirely too much extremely short staple cotton.

But back to the pressure cooker. I just want to say I think the pressure cooker is the most wonderful convenience that a farm home can have. I truly believe that if every farm home had a pressure cooker and a can sealer and would use them, they would do more to put agriculture on a firm basis than any other one thing I know.

The prejudice against pressure cookers is an unjust one. A hardware man told me recently that a few accidents near here had caused this prejudice. It is a fact that some women in this section have had accidents with pressure cookers, but if you will investigate you will find that the fault was the operator's and not the cooker's. The pressure cooker is like gas, electricity and a lot of other modern conveniences, you must use caution or you may get hurt. But be careful and use them. They are time savers.

When I went to housekeeping as a bride several years ago the pressure cookers had just come out and they were pretty expensive. I wanted one but decided I could not afford it. When I would have something to can I would not have the money to buy the cooker and when I happened to have the money I would not have anything to can. So I went on like that and did without a cooker for several years. Now since I have bought one I see how very foolish I was. I am sure I lost enough by not having a cooker to have made a good payment on a home, perhaps several of them. I will just give you one incident here to show you what farm folks loose by not having a pressure canning outfit.

Four years ago I had 12 Barred Rock roosters. In June when I had finished hatching chickens for the year I decided to get rid of my roosters so my eggs would keep better. I took those roosters to market and guess what they brought? Five cents per pound. All 12 brought a little over $4. And you know folks, since I have bought a pressure cooker and learned what delicious sandwich meat year-old roosters make, I am still mad about the price I received for those chickens. I do believe if those chickens had been made into sandwiches and sold like they sell them in a corner drug store they would have paid for a pressure canning outfit. This is only one incident of what happens on the farm every year. I have seen enough meat thrown away at hog killing time to last the average family for weeks. Then there always are the little bull calves that we sell for $5 or $6 but when we buy them back through the butcher shop they will each cost about $40.

With a pressure canner there is no need to waste one thing. If you put up only 2 or 3 quarts per day all summer, by winter you have a well stocked pantry. And it has been proven right here in this country that with such a pantry the grocery bill can be cut to $6 or $7 per month.

Now farm folks, lets wake up and take advantage of all our opportunities. If you don't have a pressure cooker my advice is to buy one, then use it, not only for canning, but for every day cooking during harvest and threshing. They are a godsend to a woman. This year when we threshed I had six men at dinner and I cooked the entire meal on my pressure cooker, except the tea and bread, and I did not start my dinner until 11 o'clock. I have never known a dissatisfied user of the pressure cooker. Every woman I know who has one says she could not keep house without it. A pressure cooker is a mighty good thing to invest one's money in. It will make the 10 per cent interest all right, and there are not too many things that will do that now. Truly I believe I can safely say they will save the average family $100 a year on its grocery bill. In fact I believe it would be just as wise for the farmer's wife to try to keep house without a cook stove as without a pressure cooker.

FARMERS COOPERATE TO GET FRESH MEAT

CUERO.—DeWitt county farm families never lack for fresh beef during summer and fall, thanks to their "meat rings" or beef clubs of which there are at least 16 in the county, says J. A. Oswalt, county agent. Two of them, those at Gruenau and Guilford, have been in continuous operation for more than 39 years, and the Krause club has operated 25 years.

The first animal is killed on the first Friday in May and cut up at a central place Saturday morning into 24 equal-weight pieces, exclusive of soup bone and neck. Each of the 24 members comes to the meeting place for his meat each Saturday morning during the season, which lasts 24 weeks. In addition to the choicer portions of the carcass each member is given a soup bone one week and a piece of neck the next. All pieces are numbered and the numbers rotated so that the members receive a different cut of meat each week.

Each member must kill a yearling at his allotted time, to dress out not less than 200 pounds nor more than 315 pounds exclusive of the soup bone. The penalty for underweight is 10 cents per pound for every pound short, or if overweight the excess is sold and the receipts go into the treasury. The membership fee is 25 cents and the meat cutter who is also the bookkeeper, is paid about $1.50 per animal.

Use Eggs When Cash Scarce

PAMPA.—The live-at-home program of the home demonstration club members' families of Gray county is being successfully put into practice according to the report of Miss Myrtle Miller, home agent. The gardens of the 83 girls and women who have taken gardening as their productive demonstration are furnishing the families from one to eight fresh vegetables daily, these women are using flour made from wheat grown in the county. Where money is needed eggs are often used as a medium of exchange. Successive plantings of the gardens have been made and plans for fall gardens are already under way.

BRADY FARMERS KILL WEEVILS IN STORED GRAIN

BRADY.—More than 50,000 bushels of wheat and barley have already been treated to control weevils in stored grain by McCulloch county farmers, and more than 200,000 bushels will be so treated before the season is over it is estimated by James D. Prewit, county agent. Farmers are planning on holding part or all of their crops until next year for feeding to livestock or for a better market. Many of them figure losses from weevil as high as 50 per cent in 10 months' time.

The treatment used consists of pouring four pounds of carbon bisulphide over every 1,000 cubic feet of grain in a tight bin. The resultant gas is two and one-half times as heavy as air and settles throughout the mass to kill the weevil eggs which are deposited while in the field and which hatch about two weeks later. Carbon bisulphide is inflammable and explosive and care must be used in keeping lights or matches away from the bins during fumigation. Most fire insurance companies prohibit its use in buildings covered by their policies.

COW FEED COST LESS NOW, PROFITS ARE STATIONARY

KINGSVILLE.—While the average profit per cow above feed cost has remained about the same during the five months beginning January, 1931, the average feed cost per cow has declined and the average return per dollar spent for feed has increased, official records on 600 cows in 33 Kleberg county dairy herds disclose. According to W. L. Wilkinson, county agent, feed cost per cow dropped from $3.71 in January to $2.40 in May, while the feed cost per pound butterfat declined from 19.5 cents to 11.8 cents. Milk flow increased from 323 pounds to 402 pounds during the period, and where the owner got back $2.30 from each dollar spent for feed in January, he received $3 in May.

A loss of $1,168 would have been sustained by Fayette county poultry men in June had it not been for the 8,000 culls that were removed from the flocks, the county agent reports.

More than 50,000 acres of Nacogdoches county farm lands have been freed of the devastations of salamanders in a poisoning campaign in which 300 farmers cooperated with county agent and the U. S. biological survey.

Will 'Et Something That Made Him Sick, but He Ate So Much So Many Places He Doesn't Know What

By WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers. And I been doing a lot of reading in the papers here lately, for thats all I could do. You know the other day coming home from the big Claremore celebration on the Plane I either eat something that dident agree with me, at lunch in El Paso, where we stopped, or it was the general effects of what I had stacked in while in Okla. But anyhow I got home sick.

We always had such good things to eat at my sisters in Chelsea. Beans, and what beans, kinder soupy navy beans cooked with plenty of real fat meat. Well when I cant knock off a whole bowl of those myself, why I am sick before I start. And then the Ham, fried ham; they cure their own ham. Tom McSpadden my Brother in Law, he is the prize ham curer of any I ever saw. Smokes em with the old hickory log fire, then salts em away for all this time. Then the cooking of all this has got a lot to do with it. Sister Sallie has got an Senagambian Soul there, but she is more for arguing purposes. Sallie fixes it all up when I get home.

Then the cream gravy. You know there is an awful lot of folks that dont know much about eating gravy. Why not to be raised on gravy would be like never going swimming in the creek. They got their own cows and real cream. Ham gravy is just about the last word in gravys. Course good beefsteak gravy is good. You know we fry our beefsteak. Its cut in thin pieces, and say let me tell you something. Did you know all this eating raw, bloody, rare meat, like they order in these big hotels, and City people like, well thats just them. That aint old western folks. Ranch cooks and Farm women fry steak thin and hard. That old raw junk goes for the high collars in Cities, they are kinder cannibalistic anyhow.

Well you can get some awful good gravy by putting the old milk in the skillet after you fried a lot of good beefsteak. Theres an awful lot of good gravy; A good old home cook can mix up a tasty batch of gravy just about out of anything. No sir the old city eaters miss some mighty fine grub when they dont take advantage of making gravy one of their regular dishes at every meal.

Now then comes the cornbread. Not the corn bread like you mean. I mean corn pone, made with nothing but meal, and hot water and salt. My old Daddy always had that at every meal, said it was only the high toned folks that eat biscuits, and light-bread or loaves like you all eat now. He called that "wasp nest," and thought that was just for the heathen. Well this corn pone is mighty hard to go hungry after. You see I am just a telling you My dishes that they have when I come. I am not telling you of what they have cause they know I would rather have it than to go out and kill the fatted calf, or kill a turkey or some chickens.

Beans, cornbread, country ham, and then just raw onions, either the young ones if they are in, or the sliced ones. Sallie had some dandy Bermudas that Tom had raised. He has the best garden in that part of the country. Well these wasent strong, so she was going to send me some to California. But I dont guess they would let the mcome in. No, thats one thing about California, if you raise anything better than they do, they got a law against it coming in. Thats why its awful hard to get good vegetbles and fruits in California. They make you just use home talent.

Then for desert? Dont have room for any desert. Had any more room would eat some more beans.

Now then I go from these over to my old Home place where I was raised at Oo-la-gah, and there her Son and his remarkable wife Madeline give you an encore on all this, and maby it tastes better, for this is the house you was born in. So about all I do when I go to Oklahoma is just shake hands and eat.

So the day I left we come by the old ranch place and Madeline did have a fine dinner for us. Now she is out in the country with no ice, electricity or all that and yet she has got things that she can make everything that you would have at a town dinner. Can make ice cream. Yes got some kind of a doodad that makes ice out of a hot water thing, and she can put up and can more things that you ever saw, and this girl learned all this in the last five or six years. She wasent a Rancher; she was from the city of Los Angeles, but, Brother, she made a real Ranchers wife and a good one too. You know thats a funny thing, ranch girls dont stay with it much. Looks like the City ones, when they have to, really come through the best.

Well the old home place looked mighty fine. Bout all we got left to farms is their beauty. Lays on the bend of the Verdigris river. My Father settled it just after the Civil war, same old log house weather boarded over. Most of the farmers are all raising em a good garden and getting ready to try and offset a tough winter. What they going to do with people this winter anyhow? Conditions cant improve enough to help everybody by then, so Lord knows what it will be and especially if we hit a tough winter.

Oh yes I started out to tell you bout being sick. Well I have been for a week or so, thought I was going to die, something I eat either at El Paso where the plane stopped for lunch, or the night before at A mon G. Carters "Shady Oak" farm. I had dinner with him and the Gas Sextette, and there was an Amateur Doctor Walker, that mixed up a batch there layed me low. The doctors called it Catarral Jaundice. I was the yellowest White man you ever say. I never heard who else died from this Carter dinner; the diet was, cove Oysters canned, then canned Tomatoes, and raw onions all in one mess. Well if they way laying for me, they got me. Next week I will write you of all the pleasures of being sick.

One Eastland store reports the sale of over 100 pressure cookers within the last two and one-half months, and a store manager in Cisco declares that two and one-half carloads of tin cans have been sold within a 30-mile radius of town. The home agent says interest in canning is greater than at any time during the last eight years.

Dallas county 4-H club boys laid off more than 250,000 yards of terrace lines for farmers in the year ending June 30, and in the rush of the season terraced five or six farms per day in teams of five supervised by the county agent.

SHOWING JACK MARTIN DEEP TEST FEATURE OF PAST WEEK

Semi-Completion of Well in Kemp City Townsite for Production of 500 Barrels Daily Outstanding Event in District

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

With the exception of a few shallow tests going down on the leases around Orth and Newcastle in Young county, development of the various pools of the district simmered down to the drilling of deep tests in the Kemp City area of Wichita and in the vicinity of the Deep Oil-Lindsay 2200-foot producer in Archer county.

The number of locations staked out dropped to two, while three completions were reported as dry holes, these being located in Young county.

The outstanding feature of the week's activities was the semi-completion of the Jack Martin and others No. 1 deep test in Kemp City townsite, which, from its performance of swabbing 21 barrels per hour, was rated at 500 barrels. The well had drilled 83 feet of oil formations topped at 3854 feet. The greater portion of this was sandy lime heavily saturated. At a depth of 3919 feet rich oil sand was encountered and penetrated 18 feet when the oil rose in the hole 600 feet each hour while the well was swabbing. Late Friday night coring was resumed and the top of a water sand was picked up, allowing water to come in. Work stopped and Saturday morning this menace had been shut off. The hole is still full of oil, but will be let stand until the return of N. H. Martin, one of the owners, from Colorado.

The Shappell Oil company, No. 1 Ferguson, another interesting test located in the Patterson survey two miles south of Kemp City in north Archer county and two miles south of the Martin test, is rigging up and will test out the saturated formation at 3815-17 feet some time Tuesday. This test has had its share of trouble due to the collapse of a joint of pipe while waiting to test the sand. This was overcome when a string of 5 3-16th inch casing was run to the sand and cemented, completely shutting off the water.

In Archer county the Deep Oil Development-Lindsay, No. A-5 L. F. Wilson, in block 75, A. T. N. C. L. survey, 660 feet west of the 2200-foot discovery well, is drilling at 3670 feet. The test, which is drilling to a contract depth of 5500 feet, just passed through a 24-foot sand topped at 3614 feet that had the earmarks of a 25-barrel producer.

Several other tests drilling to the deeper pays are going along in a satisfactory manner and one or more of these are expected to pick up the lime before the end of next week's development.

Other sections of the district, with few exceptions, are practically devoid of all kinds of drilling and only necessary work is being accomplished.

Pipe line movements from the pools of the district average 56,611 barrels per day, a loss of approximately 276 barrels daily as compared with the previous week's total, which was 56,335 barrels. These figures include the runs from nine counties under the supervision of L. V. Hull, proration umpire. Four pools comprising the North Texas division registered 5,757 barrels daily, a loss of 137 barrels per day under the preceding seven-day movement.

EAST TEXAS STILL 'DOING ITS BIT'

LONGVIEW, Texas, Aug. 1. (UP)—Preliminary reports today indicated the East Texas field would achieve a new production record for the past week with recovery of 599,422 barrels daily during the seven-day period.

This is as much as the whole state produced to set a record in 1923.

The figure represented a gain of 94,769 barrels daily over the previous week's estimated recovery of 504,853 barrels daily.

The flood of oil issued from 1,405 wells in Rusk, Gregg, Smith and Upshur counties.

FLOWS BY TWO TESTS IN WARD BASIN FEATURE

Well in Wentz Area of Upton County Swabs 60 Barrels

YIELD FROM DEEPEST POOL CONTINUES DROP

Begin Running of Oil From Pecos Field to Refinery

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Aug. 1.—Flows by two new wells in Ward county, the swabbing of 60 barrels of oil by a producer in the making in the Wentz area in Upton county before deepening and a further reduction in yield by five of the world's deepest producers in Upton county by restriction were among oil developments in West Texas the past week.

Group No. 1 Oil Corporation, subsidiary of the Texon Oil and Land company which in turn is owned by Continental Oil company, began the shutting in of between 41 and 46 wells producing a daily average of approximately 500 barrels from the discovery Texon pay in Reagan county. The first oil was scheduled to be run through the Texas Pipe Line company's 6-inch, 27 mile line from the Big Lake field to a junction in Pecos county with the company's 12-inch trunk carrier from Lea county, N. M., to Port Arthur.

Wells in the Pecos valley pool in Pecos county, 22 miles northeast of Fort Stockton, were running a daily average of 700 to 800 barrels of sweet oil to the Wickett Refining company at Wickett after having been with out an outlet for more than a year. When part of the 25,000 to 30,000 barrels in storage has been moxed the well will begin producing again. C. S. Messenger and other producers in the pool formed the Messenger Pipe Line company and laid the 92,000-foot line, ranging in size from 2 to 5 inches, from the field to a connection in the Shipley area in Ward county with the Wickett Pipe Line company's 4-inch carrier to the Wickett refinery.

Further plugging or shutting in of small wells in West Texas is not expected since the price of crude has been advanced from 10 to 25 cents a barrel, but exploration will receive no encouragement for the reason that a quarter of a dollar is still below the cost of developing production, including drilling and other costs. Whereas shutting in of wells in Kansas and Oklahoma apparently forced higher prices, such movements never gained headway in the Permian Basin during the brief period of 10-cent oil for the reason that major companies would not agree to the plan, notably in Loving county, and they produce the bulk of the oil in most of the fields.

Plug Wildcat Well

The week registered the passing of one of the most closely watched West Texas wildcats, Landreth Production corporation's No. 1 Alley in southwestern Gaines county. It began plugging to abandon at 4801 feet in lime after striking an increase in sulphur water from 4796 to 4801 feet amounting to one and one-half bailers hourly. Although credited with running higher structurally than dry holes flanking it on the east and west, No. 1 Alley never had any showings of consequence. Its most encouraging development was the striking of an estimated 100,000 to 250,000 cubic feet of dry gas daily at 4319 feet. There were small oil shows from 4527-37 feet and from 4622-27 feet. Two and one-half bailers of sulphur water hourly were struck from 4625-35 feet but almost had exhausted when a slight increase with a scum of dead oil was picked up from 4735-48 feet. Drilling stopped 1343 feet below sea level. The test was in the northeast corner of section 2, block A-30, public school land.

Lee O. White's No. 1 Herschenson, Reeves county wildcat, shut down for orders at 5,044 feet, apparently a failure as the result of encountering a hole full of salt water from 5040-44 feet. The water rose 3500 feet the first 20 minutes. The test is in section 5, block 50, township 10, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey. Penn Oil company was rebuilding the derrick for its No. 1 Slaughter in labour 80, section 129, Carson county school land, in Cochran county, wind having leveled the first one. Darby Oil company and Merry Brothers and Perrini's No. 1 Richards in section 13, B. S. & F. survey, in Cottle county, prepared to plug and abandon at 5016 feet in lime, 3143 feet below sea level.

J. D. Wesner's No. 1 W. R. Nicks, Schleicher county wildcat in section 77, block LL, T. C. Ry Co., survey, deepened again from 4028 to 4042 feet without increase in oil or gas. More salt was believed to have been struck, however, around 4038 feet for in 16 hours fluid rose 800 feet, a greater rate of rise than ever before, and when swabbed out showed only four to five barrels of oil. The test still was in brown, sandy lime and was scheduled to drill ahead late in the week until out of the sandy lime when 8¼-inch casing was to be underreamed from 4006 feet and cemented on bottom. Wesner intends to test out the horizon from which Phillips-Interstate's No. 1 Whitten, four miles to the west and two miles to the north, headed oil for three days at 4,912-25 feet. Bottomed at 2950 feet, Eastland Oil company and others' No. 1 Tisdale in section 29, block M, G. H. & S. A. Ry. Co. survey, in Schleicher, was rigging up a sectional bailer to handle sulphur water from 2725 and 2810 feet which stood within a few hundred feet to the top.

Fishing for Bit

In Irion county, Denney & Andrews' No. 1 F Tankersley in section 709, J. P. Imhoff survey, three-quarters of a mile north of production, had drilled past 100 feet. Ellis-Flanery corporation's No. 1 Nutt in section 694, N. W. Krekenbohn survey, was fishing for a bit at 1220 feet in redbeds. Straughn and Adkins Bros. No. 1 Lee in section 792, C. Kaiser survey, had drilled to 380 feet. Stanolind Oil and Gas company's No. 1 W. H. Williams in section 1196, T. C. Ry. Co. survey, ran a plug at 5090 feet and recemented 8-inch casing with 175 sacks. Earlier it had cemented the pipe at 5924 feet, 26 feet off bottom.

Further experiments with back pressure and chokes in order to obtain a gas-oil ratio as low as possible brought production declines last week in four of the five deep wells in Reagan county still on production. The drop in the other, Texon No. 1-B University, discovery deep well, from a daily average of 2357.71 to 2,240.43 barrels was attributed to the increase in Big Lake No. 1-C University only 500 feet west and slightly north of it as the result of recent deepening. The five wils last week produced 153,210 barrels, 1,990 barrels less than the week before. Big Lake No. 5-C University was being tubed to lower its gas-oil ratio below 4,000 cubic feet to a barrel of oil.

Harry Baldwin and Mintex Oil company's No. 1 Lane in section 36, block 1, M-K-T Ry. Co. survey, in Upton county, had deepened from 2290 to 2300 feet without increase after swabbing 60 barrels of oil, an accumulation since July 5 from the first pay topped at 2280. Jones and others' No. 1 Pankenham, Terrell county wildcat in section 53, block B-2, C. C. S. D. & R. G. N. G. Ry. Co. survey had shown no increase in drilling to 2400 feet in lime. Last week it struck a small amount of free oil at 2335 feet.

In Ward county O'Quinn & Bentley's No. 1 Bentley (Cummings) at Grandfalls in section 11, block 5, H. & T. C. Ry. Co. survey, struck oil and gas from 2150-60 feet, had an increase from 2178-92 feet and shut down at 2217 feet to run tubing. During four days ending Tuesday it flowed a daily average of 50 barrels. Gulf's No. 8 Hutchins, in section 3, block F, G. M. M. B. & A. survey, which topped pay sand at 2552 feet and began heading while drilling to 2565 feet, obtained an increase from 2622-30 and had drilled to 2695 feet. It flowed 90 barrels of oil in five hours Tuesday.

Vic Morton's No. 17 Boogher in section 7, block 32, H. & T. C. Ry. Co. survey, on the south edge of Grandfalls, had had no increase in drilling to 2207 feet and was estimated good for 25 barrels daily. Ward county's most closely yatched wildcat, Rector No. 1 Sealy-Smith, in section 22, block A, G. M. M. B. & A. survey, four miles northeast of Monahans, had drilled to 3450 feet in lime and anhydrite without shows.

J. H. Castor and associates' (formerly C. J. Dutton and others) No. 1 Dean in Johann Hiel survey No. 419 in Runnels county, about three miles southwest of Ballinger, moved in 6 5-8-inch casing to be run and carried as drilling progresses from 2384 feet until landed to shut off a hole full of salt water struck at 2380 feet. The wildcat is about eight miles southwest of Vacuum Oil company's No. 3 McMillan, Runnels county's only producer, which pumps 80 barrels of oil daily.

SHAW TORTURED BY RETURN TO ENGLAND AFTER RUSSIAN TRIP POURS OUT SCORN ON BANKERS

BERLIN, Aug. 1. (AP)—George Bernard Shaw, so impressed by what he saw on a brief tour of Russia that he declared capitalism is doomed, asserted when he passed through Berlin on the way back to London today that it was "torture" to get back.

Stalking up and down the railway station platform in a brown suit which looked as though it had not been pressed since he left England he poured out his scorn of the bankers who are trying to untangle the world's economic problems.

"Bankers," he said, "Bah! They are the very ones who have made a mess of things. They haven't the vaguest idea what the trouble is about. They've been playing with theories and apparently they don't know the first thing about their business.

"Any child knows the world can't exist on credit. You've got to build houses with sticks and stones and you've got to eat in order to live, but they don't seem to realize it. They think credit will take care of everything.

"The best remedy for the world's ills is good hard work all around."

He saw some of Germany's new churches exhibited in model at the building exposition but they reminded him of modern movie theaters.

In Russia he didn't go to church, but he said he was sure nobody would have stopped him had he wanted to go.

"Everybody there is too busy working to think of going to church," he said. "For that matter Christopher Wren's handsome churches are empty in London, too, but there would be no end of protests if anybody suggested tearing them down."

TWO WELLS IN TATUMS FIELD NEARING SAND

Test Continues Drilling in Carter County Section

PRODUCERS IN SHALLOW SECTION PUT ON PUMP

Oil From Area Shows Unusual Lubricant Content

ARDMORE, Okla., Aug. 1.—Two more new producers were nearing completion in the Tatums district of northwestern Carter county, southern Oklahoma, at the close of the week. In addition one test is drilling and another has the rig up and is waiting on tools. No new locations had been announced.

The Carter Oil company, Edwin B. Cox and Jake L. Hamon were having difficulty in completing the latest producer in the field, No. 1 J. B. Spraggins in the northwest corner of the southwest of 19-1s-2w, on the west edge of the area, and were fishing for a joint of six-inch pipe lost in the hole when operators ran two joints in an effort to straighten the hole. The liner was run early in the week after plugs were drilled but it was necessary to pull it. Casing was cemented in this test at 1780 feet after broken oil sand topped at 1780 feet was drilled to total depth at 1965 feet.

The Magnolia Petroleum company No. 5 Mose Dickerson in the northeast corner of the southeast of 24-1s-3w, another east edge test, penetrated solid oil sand from 1969 feet to total depth at 1981 feet and was shut down for cement to harden after setting the casing at 1800 feet.

Frank Gouin and K. D. Oil company's No. 1 M. E. Burton in the center of the south half of the southwest of 30-1s-2w, was drilling lime at 1940 feet. Operators expected to encounter the top of the pay at around 2200 feet. This test is located south of production.

Carter Oil company's No. 4 Wirt Franklin in the center of the northeast corner of 24-1s-3w, is still a rig and is waiting on tools from the same company No. 1 Spraggins, being completed.

To Resume Drilling

McCrory, McCrory and Frame's No. 1 Whitworth in the southeast of the southwest of the southeast of 24-7s-5e, three-fourths of a mile northwest of production in the in the Kingston shallow area, southern Marshall county, was due to resume drilling early this week. This test has been shut down for several weeks with total depth at 100 feet.

Two producers in the shallow area which were completed some time ago and shut in have been placed on the pump. Both the wells were drilled by the McCrory interests and are, No. 1 J. W. Little in the northwest corner of the southwest of 30-7s-6e, which made 110 barrels in 24 hours, including 20 per cent water, from sand at 493-498 feet, and No. 1 Adams in the northeast corner of the southwest of the southeast of 31-7s-6e, produced 22½ barrels from sand at 523-526 feet during 24-hour gauge.

Oil from these wells, which is of exceptionally high lubricating content, will be transported by truck to the Walter Neustadt refinery at Kingston, which is nearing completion. The plant will turn out lubricating oils manufactured from the production of these shallow wells, which are six miles south of Kingston.

Two other Marshall county tests, one a rank wildcat, were shut down.

Hearle & Hudson's No. 1 Williams in the southwest of the southeast of the northeast of 24-7s-5e, a mile northwest of the McCrory and others production, was shut down with total depth at 602 feet. Formations were running considerably lower in this test than in the producers to the southeast. However, it is probably that the sand has been missed.

Ross-Conovor's No. 1 Taliaferro in the southwest of the northeast of the northwest of 34-5s-5e, just south of the fairgrounds at Madill, was shut down in shale at 553 feet. This test is due to resume drilling early in August.

COTTON TO DIVIDE TIME WITH OIL IN AUSTIN NEXT WEEK

Southern States Representatives to Attend Texas Meet

PLANS TO BE MADE TO CURTAIL PRODUCTION

Farmers and All Interested Citizens Invited to Take Part

AUSTIN, Aug. 1. (AP)—Cotton will divide attention with oil here next week when representatives of southern states gather to attempt to curtail production of the South's main crop.

Bankers, industrial leaders and representatives of farm organizations have been invited to a preliminary session Monday. The conference, called this week by Gov. Ross S. Sterling, will be held Tuesday and Wednesday.

International coordinated action to reduce cotton acreage and thereby wipe out the enormous surplus and raise the price will be discussed. The governor called the conference at the unanimous request of the legislature of this state, which produces about one-third of the nation's cotton.

Dr. N. D. Buie of Marlin, president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce; Houston Harte, of San Angelo, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; S. P. Storrs, Alamaba commissioner of agriculture; Colonel Markham of Tiptonville, Tenn., personal representative of the governor of that state, and Ross Lawhon, mayor of North Little Rock, Ark., were expected to be here.

Others who had signified their intentions of attending were B. H. Gossett, president of the Federal Land bank at Houston; T. O. Walton, president of Texas A. & M.; P. W. Horn, president of Texas Tech.; W. L. Clayton of Houston, noted cotton factor; C. O. Mosser of New Orleans, vice president of the American Cotton Cooperative association; Louis Wilson, Louisiana commissioner of agriculture; Senator N. C. Williamson, president of the Louisiana Cotton Cooperative association, and T. Arthur Edwards of Lake Charles, La.

J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture, today emphasized that every farmer in the state was invited to take part in the discussion.

COAST GUARDS AT BAY CITY CAPTURE 240 CASES LIQUOR

BAY CITY, Texas, Aug. 1 (AP)—Coast guardsmen and a sheriff's posse early Saturday surprised liquor smugglers at a turnbridge in the intra-coastal canal near here, seizing more than 240 cases of imported liquor and a truck which was laden with a part of the contraband.

The seizure was made as a caravan of three automobiles and the liquor truck entered Sargent's highway from the shoreline of the gulf.

The officers blocked the road and called on the liquor runners to halt. The driver of the truck swerved the big machine to allow the two rear automobiles to pass and swung on the side of one of the cars as they sped by, officers said.

The three cars sped away abandoning the truck as the coast guardsmen sprang out in the highway. No arrests were made.

No Bronze Coffin For Little Victim Of Baby Massacre

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (US)—Michael Vengalli, the child victim of gangsters' bullets, was buried today.

There was no expensive bronze coffin for him, no autocade heaped high with flowers, for Michael was just a 5-year-old child, not a racketeer.

And while his simple white coffin was carried through the crowded streets of Harlem's "Little Italy" in a procession as vastly different from the gaudy requisites of the underworld as Michael's innocence was from the callous viciousness of the men who killed him, gunmen continued to flaunt defiance of police vigilance.

As though Police Commissioner Mulrooney's orders to shoot first and above the waist meant nothing, three groups of gunmen staged three hold-ups in Manhattan, one netting a pay roll of $2,800. There was also a spattering of minor crime throughout the city.

MISSOURI PACIFIC LINE ANNOUNCE MODIFICATION IN WAGE REDUCTION PLAN

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1. (AP)—The Missouri Pacific railroad today announced a modification of its schedule of reductions in wages and working hours, affecting 2,000 clerical and station employes, which was to have gone into effect today.

The original plan called for a five-day week for union clerks and station employes, with five days' pay, while company officers and unorganized workers were to continue working five and one-half days but accept a cut of 16 2-3 per cent in wages.

Following conferences with representatives of the union employes it was announced all clerks and station workers will take one day off without pay on alternate weeks. There will be no other reductions in wages, but it was stated that all officers have agreed to voluntary salary cuts ranging from 10 to 16 2-3 per cent.

Veteran Official Says Air Transportation of U.S. Mail at Beginning

High among the most enthusiastic of air mail enthusiasts must be listed the name of S. M. Gaines of Fort Worth, superintendent of railway mail service in the southwestern division, who on next March 20 will complete 50 years of continuous connection with the U. S. postoffice department.

His official position places under Mr. Gaines' supervision the distribution of air mail in, to and from the division, which comprises the states of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Despite the advances already made in air mail and in aviation, Mr. Gaines declined on the occasion of his visit to Wichita Falls Saturday for the inauguration of service on the new mail and passenger line of American Airways even to attempt a forecast as to what advances the future may develop.

"I will say this," he added, however, "that I believe the development of air transportation is at its beginning. Certainly air mail and air passenger service is no longer an experiment, but rapidly is becoming an essential to every day life."

The airplane already has established itself as an agency to bring about a better understanding among peoples of the world, Mr. Gaines is convinced.

Pan-American Service

His opinion is based on extensive first hand observation, the most recent opportunity having been provided last January when he visited Mexico and a number of Central American nations to confer with officials there in regard to the operation of Pan-American air mail service.

His trip carried him to Tampico, Vera Cruz, Mexico City and other cities of Mexico; Honduras, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Salvador, Nicaragua and Panama.

"The airplane is bringing about a better understanding and a friendlier feeling in the Latin countries among each other and toward the United States," Mr. Gaines declared. "Those nations, particularly their business men and statesmen, are appreciating the value of the airplane as a medium of transportation, and we may be sure of their cooperation. The volume of mail originating in the southern countries, and particularly in Mexico, is increasing steadily."

Mr. Gaines made the trip by airplane, experiencing no discomfort on occasions when the ship went to an altitude exceeding 14,000 feet in crossing mountains approaching Mexico City. The mail official does most of his traveling, particularly over distances, by plane. The airplane trip to Mexico and Central American he described as one of superlative beauty.

Mr. Gaines has been stationed in Texas through practically the whole of his career. He talked over the first telephone ever installed in this state, and saw a demonstration of the first electric light globe ever brought to Texas.

"I have seen too many amazing advances during my lifetime to attempt to predict what the next 10 years of this marvelous age may hold," he declared.

Humble Refuses Request Made For Advance Royalty

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Aug. 1. (AP)—Humble Oil & Refining company had declined to pay advance royalty on a 42-acre producing lease in Rusk county in a letter which F. L. Hargis, San Angelo insurance man, received today from W. S. Farish, president of the Humble.

Mr. Hargis Wednesday asked the Humble by letter if it would advance $42,000 in royalties on the 42 acres near London, in Rusk county, leased from Mrs. E. S. Thrash, his mother, because a well on the property is not being produced to capacity. He wrote following Humble's announcement that it had advanced royalty payments to a number of royalty owners, including Governor Sterling, on 1,500 acres in Chambers county.

Mr. Farish advised that the property is being "produced in accordance with the proration program and orders of the railroad commission," thereby fulfilling Humble's lease obligations.

In reply, Mr. Hargis wrote Mr. Farish Saturday that Humble's compliance with its lease obligations never had been questioned but cited that "the federal court recently held that a field could not be prorated legally, and we have been unable to sell our royalty at a fair price because the operators in the field would not open up their wells.

Mr. Hargis concluded, "we think we are entitled to the consideration requested in my letter of July 29, as our governor testified in Austin that he had received advance royalty monies and I understand that your company's policy is very liberal to its royalty owners."

TOM CONNALLY ASKED TO CLARIFY POSITION OF PARTY ON TARIFF

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—Senator Connally of Texas was asked today by Senator Hatfield of West Virginia to clarify the Democratic position upon revision of the tariff.

In an open letter to the Texan issued through the Republican national committee, Hatfield said "to attack the tariff as a whole, without specifying exactly what the defects are is as asinine as declaring that the laws of the United States are bad and we—the Democratic party—are against them.

"Because I feel that you may be willing to come out in the clear, where your colleagues have failed to do so, I am offering you this opportunity, as an avowed opponent of the Hawley-Smoot act, to tell the country, exactly and specifically what, in your opinion, is wrong with the tariff."

Hatfield inquired particularly about Connally's attitude toward raising or lowering the duties on casein, wool rags, hides, vegetable oils, cattle, dates, long staple cotton, grapes, jute, kaolin, olive oil, rayon and wools.

NEARER CAPITALS THAN OUR OWN

DALHART, Texas, Aug. 1.—Dalhart is nearer capitals of five other states and Chihuahua, state of Chihuahua, Old Mexico, than it is to Austin. Map measurements prove it. The U. S. capitals are Santa Fe, Denver, Topeka, Oklahoma City and Cheyenne.

No wonder they say Austin doesn't know there is a Panhandle.

GRAND JURY IS EXPECTED TAKE UP BANK CRASH

The Archer county grand jury for the August term of the 30th district court will be impaneled in Archer City Monday by Judge Allan Montgomery, who will open a new term of court in that county on that date.

Sam B. Spence, district attorney, said the inquisitors would be asked to investigate certain matters in connection with the failure of the People's Exchange bank, which had on deposit more than $1,100,000 of county funds.

Four of the bank officials face charges of accepting deposits after the bank was insolvent. A receiver for the bank and its partners has been appointed in federal court and a receiver for the bank, its partners and the sureties on the bank's bond as county depository has been named in district state court.

Wreckage Strewn for Mile

Train No. 6, which left Denver, Colo., Friday afternoon, was due in Fort Worth at 4 p. m. Saturday. Members of the crew are Engineer J. E. Collins, Fireman Oscar Marley and Conductor R. McHam, all of Dallas.

Marley, who was riding on the left side of the cab, was the only member of the crew who saw the car before the crash.

"It was a light sedan and was traveling east, apparently to get onto the main Fort Worth-Decatur highway," he said.

"When we were a short distance from the crossing the car stopped and I thought it would wait until our train had passed. An instant later it lurched directly into our path."

Marley said the train was traveling about 50 miles an hour at the time.

Home-Made Diving Outfit Fails to Work as Planned

A home-made diving outfit, the handiwork of a Wichita Falls youth was given a tryout Saturday at a local swimming pool and didn't work very satisfactorily.

When the maker of it lowered himself into deep water, the hose which connected with the helmet came loose, causing the helmet to be filled with water. The diver thereupon discarded the helmet and suit under water, but was unable to divest himself of the sashweights which he had fastened to himself for ballast.

A life guard came to the rescue and the experimenter was pulled out, not much worse for his experience. It was not learned whether he plans to give the diving outfit another test.

He is survived by his wife and two daughters, all of whom were at his bedside.

SUDDEN STORMS ON BERING SEA DELAY FLIER'S TAKE OFF

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 1. (AP)—Sudden storms that swept the Bering sea and reduced ceiling and visibility to practically nothing at Nome and Fairbanks caused the postponement today of the proposed non-stop refueling flight of Reg L. Robbins and Harold S. Jones, Fort Worth, Texas, fliers, between Seattle and Tokyo.

The Texans said they hoped to get better weather tomorrow for a take-off about 6 a. m. (P. C. T.)

The stream lined white monoplane Fort Worth was poised at the starting line and the 425 horsepower motor had been warmed up for 15 minutes when C. O. Schick, U. S. meteorologist, rushed to the plane with the warning that a take-off today would "amount to suicide."

Robbins was in the pilot's cockpit when Schick dashed to his side. Goodbyes had been said, following the installation of the barograph, and the fliers were waiting for confirmation of earlier weather reports which indicated the rain and fog over Fairbanks and Nome were disappearing rapidly enough to permit them to get away on the 5,100-mile flight.

Uncertainty of conditions there and over the Bering sea led Robbins to telegraph for another report. When this came and revealed the weather was getting worse instead of better, making refueling contacts at Fairbanks and in the vicinity of Nome practically impossible, Robbins stopped the motor and the monoplane was rolled back to her hangar.

"Schick is the head man," Robbins said.

Plan to Smother Well in Rumania American Style

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 1. (UP)—A wild Rumanian oil well, afire for two years and responsible for the deaths of 25 persons, is to be extinguished by an American oil fire fighter, Myron M. Kinley, of Tulsa.

Kinley, it was learned today, has signed a contract with the Rumanian government to fight the well afire. The blazing producer, so unruly that two years of effort has failed to put out its flames, is located at Moreni and is the property of the Romano-Americana Co., a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

Kinley and his brother, Floyd, have won fame throughout the mid-continent oil area for the success and daring in battling oil well fires. They extinguished the blazing No. 1 Cole well, near Gladewater in the East Texas field, after the gusher had burned to death nine men. Although Myron Kinley suffered a broken leg, he directed the fire fighting operations from a cot.

Kinley once before went to Rumania to extinguish the unruly Moreni gusher. Roumanian engineers, however, did not approve of his plans and decided to tunnel under the well. The well exploded during their operations and 25 men were killed.

The Moreni well, with its daily flow of 150,000,000 cubic feet of gas and several thousand barrels of oil, already has lost $10,000,000 for its owners. Its flames can be seen for a distance of 75 miles, Kinley was told.

Myron may send for his brother, Floyd, to aid him, inasmuch as they have worked together for many years in battling blazing wells in this section.

TWO GOATS, SPINNING WHEEL, AND THOREAU'S ESSAYS TO BE GANDHI'S BAGGAGE ON VOYAGE

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 1. (AP)—When Mahatma Gandhi sails two weeks hence as a steerage pasenger for the London round table conference he will not even have a suit case, a tooth brush or a coat and hat. His only baggage will be two goats, a spinning wheel, a spare loin cloth and a copy of Thoreau's essay on "civil disobedience."

The goats, given him by one of his numerous admirers, will supply the milk which is his principal article of diet. The steamship company broke a long-standing rule to allow them on board.

Miss Madeleine Slade, Gandhi's English disciple and attendant, will have charge of the goats, milking them twice a day while he watches.

So that he will be in no danger of being swept overboard while he sleep on the third-class deck, the steamship company will build a special guard rail around Gandhi's straw mattress.

A score of Indian princes and other distinguished Indian delegates to the conference will travel in special suites but Gandhi goes with the lowliest, a hard wood deck his bed, the sky as his roof. If the weather gets cold, he will wrap a homespun blanket around his frail frame.

Aboard ship he will live the same as on land, rising every morning at 4 for an hour of prayer, eating only dates, grapes and goat's milk, spinning yarn for five hours a day, fasting at regular intervals, holding religious services every evening and observing every Monday as his day of silent meditation.

The steerage passage for the 7,000-mile trip will cost about $100. Some of the cabins of the princes will run up to $5,000. Gandi declined an offer of first class passage at the expense of Great Britain.

This pius 70-year-old Hindu will take half a dozen brass vessels filled with water from the holy river Ganges. It will be sprinkled over everything he is likely to use, especially his food, clothing and bedding.

Because his orthodox teachings forbid him to touch food prepared except under special conditions, he is taking along a Brahmin chef.

'Get Some Oil While Getting Good' Slogan of Oklahoma Operators as Governor Murray Delays Shutdown

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 1. (AP)—Gov. "Bill" Murray again threw down the gauntlet today, this time for a showdown in his fight to force the major oil purchasing companies to increase the price of "crude" to $1 a barrel.

At the crack of dawn, as the time neared for an expected order from the fiery chief executive closing in all wells in prorated areas of the state, great valves were turned on in a score of oil fields and a frantic race between throbbing pipe line currents and time was on.

Today was the beginning of a new monthly period for the taking of allowable flows under the existing proration rules of the state corporation commission and Murray's executive chariot carrying the shutdown order was seen on the horizon.

"Get some oil while the getting is good," was the slogan, for no operator knew when the shutdown order would close the vast caverns from which 13,000 wells are able to produce.

At noon, Governor Murray reiterated that the shutdown order would come if oil prices were not increased by tonight. Moreover, the ukase reminded the oil men that the order would be backed by the use of the national guard if necessary, with a test in the United States supreme court to determine "whether the eleventh amendment still holds and whether state's sovereignty may be violated."

Oil men still were in the dark tonight as to when the order itself might come. The governor said the delay was caused by necessity for redrafting the edict.

Predictions tonight were the order may not be issued until Monday morning.

FILING OF PLEADINGS IN ADVANCE PROPOSED TO SPEED UP TRIALS

AUSTIN, Aug. 1. (AP)—Filing of pleadings three days before a case is set for trial was suggested by Judge W. M. Dodson of Marlin as one method of speeding up trials in district courts as he spoke before the judges council of the third administrative judicial district.

"The courts lose more time because pleadings are not ready before the date of trial than from any other reason," Judge Dodson said.

EDISON CRITICALLY ILL AT HIS HOME

seems improved as compared with a week ago.

"This afternoon he suffered from a sudden collapse, but at present he has recovered from this and is resting quietly.

"Dr. Frederick M. Allen.

"Dr. Hubert S. Howe.

"William R. Williams."

Earlier in the day, Dr. Howe had gone to Long Island after a visit to the Edison home and it then was understood he would not return until tomorrow morning.

Reported "Critically Ill"

Charles Edison, son of the snowy-haired creative genius, told intimate associates during the afternoon that his father was "critically ill," and it then was learned that Mr. Edison's usual afternoon automobile ride had been canceled.

News of Mr. Edison was carefully guarded at his home, Saturday in Llewellyn park, a restricted and private residential district.

Until the doctors' statement was released tonight the exact nature of Mr. Edisen's ailments was not known. For several years past he has been on a self-imposed diet of milk designed to remedy stomach trouble.

His indomitable will, however, has kept him active in recent years and he has continued to maintain long working hours and short periods of rest.

Artery Severed By Wichitan in Slicing Melon

The butcher knife slipped while Howard Graham, 400 North Lamar, was slicing a mater melon early Saturday night, severed an artery in his arm, and only prompt emergency attention saved him from bleeding to death, according to authorities at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital.

Mr. Graham was rushed to the hospital, received attention there and returned to his home.

YOUTH HURT SLIGHTLY IN FALL FROM BICYCLE

Knocked unconscious when he fell and struck his head against the curbing on Holliday street after the handle bars of the bicycle he was riding became detached, Woodrow Floyd, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Floyd, 1658 McGregor, was attended at the Hargrave-Walker hospital late Saturday. His injuries were pronounced not serious and he was taken to his home.

NO TRACE FOUND OF TRIO SOUGHT HOUSTON SLAYING

HOUSTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—Twelve hours after a Harris county grand jury returned indictments against F. L. Bouknight, secretary to T. P. Lee, wealthy oil man and Republican leader, Joe Degeorge and Frank Adamo, in connection with the "ride" murder of W. L. Edwards none of the trio had been taken into custody.

Search for the three who were indicted today and a fourth who was charged shortly after the murder, broadened Saturday night to the seashore and to the Middle West.

Bouknight, who was charged as an accomplice, was believed to be on a deep sea fishing trip out of Freeport. Deputy sheriffs left here late Saturday for the gulf coast city in search of him.

Degeorge, named as an accomplice, was expected at his summer home at Seabrook, 30 miles south of here on the bayshore some time during the night.

No trace of Adamo, charged with murder and an accomplice and Sam Perreta, alleged "trigger man" in the "ride" murder, had been found late Saturday. The search for the pair was under way in the Middle West.

Of the five persons named in grand jury indictments in connection with the murder of Edwards, airport promoter, May 18, 1930, only one, John Belois, has been apprehended. Belois surrendered to the sheriff's office on June 10. He is still in jail.

THOUSANDS of

Open Minds

SEEK something to close upon

...during this Impression Interval

What a chance a new idea has on Sunday morning! When you think of the number of people throughout the country whose minds are open to absorb new impressions every Sunday, you wonder that there are enough ideas to go around!

For Sunday is the Impression Interval between strenuous business weeks. You arise at leisure, bathe and dress with happy unconcern for the passage of time. And, for once, you dawdle over breakfast without thought of workaday cares. Then, like thousands of Wichita Falls people, you pick up The Sunday Times and Record News.

Your mind, refreshed by a night's sleep and the prospect of a luxurious day, snaps into focus. Mere suggestions—a headline, an illustration, a single word perhaps—create lasting impressions and set up logical new trains of thought. You make clear-headed plans and purchasing decisions that influence your personal affairs for many days afterwards.

In fact, if you are like a large part of the people in Wichita Falls who do the heaviest buying in downtown stores, you definitely decide on nearly every major expenditure on Sunday, in conference with your family and The Sunday Times.

It is this universal psychology of the Impression Interval that makes The Times such a powerful force in selling merchandise and service in the Wichita Falls market. Its coverage is comprehensive — its influence is felt, not only in Greater Wichita Falls, but throughout all Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma as well. And its ability to move merchandise is best indicated by the advertising lineage in its pages.

WAGE READJUSTMENT SIGNALS CULMINATION OF DEPRESSION

Economists See Favorable Sign in Salary and Wage Reductions and Decided Upturn in Steel Industry

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (UP)—The 25-month industrial and financial depression entered another stage this week with inauguration of a series of salary and wage reductions.

Readjustment in wage scales invariably has signaled the early culmination of periods of depression and economists can see no alternative in the present situation.

Unfortunately the loss of income by workers necessarily will work hardships, although living costs have declined sufficiently in the past two years to cause some workers little loss in "real wages."

This is particularly apparent in the steel industry, where operations have been stepped up for the first time in three months. In the Youngstown district, conditions have taken a decided turn for the better, operations having been stepped up to 45 per cent of capacity, a gain of 11 per cent in the past two weeks. For the industry as a whole, operations are at 32 per cent of capacity.

Railroad car loadings, principally because of increased agricultural product movements, were able to exceed the preceding week. Electrical energy consumption, an important business indicator, was slightly above the preceding week, many stores have been able to maintain sales around recent levels and by means of drastic economies have been able to maintain a large part of their earning power.

The foreign situation, likewise, is improved. The tension in Germany has been lessened and the stability of the English pound sterling has been maintained despite heavy losses of gold by that country.

Conditions in several domestic industries continue critical, however. Faced with the lowest wheat prices in history, the farm income will be drastically reduced, while the oil industry continues to suffer from overproduction.

Southwest Review

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 1. (UP)—Developments in grain markets, the oil fields and livestock industry dominated business news in the Southwest this week.

Wheat growers continued to hold their product until prices bettered, while crops in general were in good condition.

Despite the sharp letup in wheat receipts here in the past two weeks, total car arrivals for the month will be the largest in the history of the Kansas City market, probably 40 million bushels.

Grain-fed cattle reached another mark in their recovery from the slump of last spring when fed Kansas yearling steers brought $9 a hundred pounds at the local stockyards this week. It was the highest price since early May, and $1 to $1.50 above the previous month. Strength also was evident in other classes of livestock.

Southwestern millers' bookings for last week averaged 238 per cent of capacity, compared with 256 in the preceding month and 100 per cent for the like period of last year, according to the Northwestern Miller. Price movements were irregular, ranging from 10 cents higher to 10 cents lower.

Mines in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma produced less zinc and lead ore during the first half of 1931 than in any corresponding period in the past eight years, reported the federal reserve research department. Compared to the first 26 weeks of 1930, zinc and lead ore declined 46.1 and 46.3 per cent, respectively.

June building operations were at the lowest level for that month in 12 years of record, this same authority said. Oklahoma City headed the list with expenditures totaling $1,015,815.

The customary midsummer lull in retail and wholesale trade was in evidence. Department store sales for the month was reported under that of last year, and stocks on hand were reduced 4.3 per cent between the last of May and first of July.

EUROPEAN GROUP OF BONDS STRONG IN QUIET MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—The bond market experienced one of its dullest days this year. Sales totaled $3,472,000 at par value, the smallest total for a short session since Feb. 28 when the turnover totaled $3,400,000. Such dullness is not unusual for a Saturday in midsummer, especially when the market of late has not been inclined toward activity.

However, the market was not exactly a routine affair. The overnight news of the negotiation of an agreement for the purchase and sale of sterling bills among the central banks of France, Great Britain and the United States was followed by unusual activity in united kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland 5½s of 1937 and higher prices in them. European obligations generally were strong. Argentine bonds made a group decline ranging upward to 3¼ points in some instances.

Loans of the United States government continued dull and steady.

Domestic corporate issues fluctuated narrowly in dull trading. Railroad and public utility issues made numerous declines but industrial loans were steady or firm. The average price of 30 representative bonds made up of 10 issues of each of these three groups was one-tenth of a point lower at 94.5.

FEW FEATURES IN TRADING ON CURB AND MARKET DULL

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—Trading on the curb had few features in the week-end session today. Utilities exhibited considerable firmness and an oil or two made progress, but otherwise the market was colorless. Sales approximated 70,000 shares.

Solar refining, which had been quiet since its advance of a fortnight ago, returned to prominence with a 2-point rise, reviving reports that the company was to figure in a merger. Vacuum oil closed with a small advance, gulf eased.

In the utilities, North American Light and Power continued its climb, rising to the new high of 72¼, the close was 71⅛, a net gain of 3 points. The 6 per cent preferred of the same company was up 2. Electric Bond and Share displayed a good tone, pushing just over 38 but reacting moderately from the top for a rise on ⅝ on the day. Central Public Service, Utilities Power and Light and Associated Gas "A" were other firm members of the group.

Specialties were mixed. Aluminum of America gained 4 on week-end covering. Buckeye Pipe closed at 47, up 2 and Stutz improved slightly. Great Atlantic & Pacific lost 3 on the transfer of a few shares and New Jersey Zinc was off a point. Investment trusts stood still.

Batson, Starritt and Autry's No. 2 Dr. Autry in the southeast of the northeast of 27-6w-8e, seven miles northeast of Marietta, Love county, was coring a favorable looking sand topped at 1320 feet. The well is reported as showing both oil and gas. Their No. 1 Cross in the northeast of the northwest of the northeast of 27-6s-2e, in the same area, is a location. This test is located northeast of the well now drilling and will probably not be drilled until the No. 2 Autry is completed.

Butts survey, Grayson county, North Texas, a semi-wildcat project just across the Red river from the McCrory and others shallow field near Kingston, has been plugged and abandoned as dry with total depth at 716 feet. The well was also located northwest of the old Pottsville gas field.

SHARES ON STOCK EXCHANGE FIRMER TURNOVER LIGHT

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—The credit to the Bank of England, the rise in the Reichbank's discount rate and the proposal to sell surplus wheat and cotton to Germany provided the leading developments of financial interest today.

Shares on the stock exchange firmed after some early easiness, and European bonds reflected a more favorable attitude toward conditions across the Atlantic. Grains were steady, although cotton sagged under the influence of selling from Europe. On the whole, however, it was a dull day in all directions.

The turnover in stocks amounted to 398,650 shares, not much larger than the volume for that dull Saturday three weeks ago.

Net gains were modest, hardly exceeding a point in principal issues. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem were each up one half. American Telephone, American Can, Southern Pacific, Rock Island, Atchison, Woolworth and Sears Roebuck improved 1 to 1⅛ under the stimulant of week-end covering; a few including Coca Cola and American Tobacco, gained 2. J. I. Case broke 3 to a new low and then reduced its loss to 1⅛.

The $200,000,000 credit to the Bank of England, extended by the two principal gold-holding central banks, came somewhat as a surprise, but Wall street in no sense inferred that its establishment indicated an emergency at London.

The jump in the Reichbank rate to 15 per cent from 10, while imposing some hardships on German business, is nevertheless considered as a constructive step, since it will attract foreign capital back to Germany.

The suggestion that Germany take part of our commodity surplus caused considerable comment in grain and cotton circles here but had little tangible effect.

AT MEETING OF DEMOCRATIC LEADERS

Governor and former governor of New York, proposed presidential candidate and one-time nominee, Franklin D. Roosevelt, left, and Alfred E. Smith met and talked the other day at a gathering of Democratic leaders at a Long Island summer resort. There was an informal discussion, at the meeting of the Anti-Saloon league's declaration of war against Governor Roosevelt's candidacy, but when this picture was taken Smith and the governor were genially joshing each other about their fishing skill.

Report That Calvin Coolidge May Choose to Accept Nomination if Tendered Attracts Wide Interest

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 1. (INS)—No one knows—perhaps the former president himself has not decided—whether Calvin Coolidge will be a candidate for president in 1932, Dr. James F. Coupal, former White House physician, declared today. Dr. Coupal, close personal friend of Mr. Coolidge, denied to substance of a previous interview published and copyrighted by the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press.

The story, which attracted wide interest in the East, quoted Dr. Coupal as having said Mr. Coolidge would be a candidate next year if there was an unmistakable demand that he be drafted "to pull this country out of the depression."

"I did not discuss the possibilities of Mr. Coolidge's candidacy in 1932," Dr. Coupal said today. "No one knows, not even Mr. Coolidge himself, perhaps, whether he will be available. I would not go so far as to say he wouldn't accept the nomination under any consideration, but neither would I venture even a guess that he will run."

Dr. Coupal is spending a brief vacation at Breezy Point, near Pequot, Minn., with Senator Thomas D. Schall and Mrs. Schall, and their son, Douglas. The doctor has been caring for the youth who was seriously injured nearly a year ago in an automobile accident.

"What I did say," Dr. Coupal continued, "Was that Mr. Coolidge was misunderstood when he said, in 1927, 'I do not choose to run.' He was deeply disappointed, but, having been misunderstood, he felt there might be a stronger man in the field and he didn't want to stand in the way.

'What he meant was that he did not choose, himself to become a candidate but would run for a third term if the people insisted."

SHELL POSTS ADVANCE IN PRICE OF CRUDE IN TOBORG-TIPPETT POOL

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Aug. 1. (AP)—Shell Petroleum corporation today announced a three-cent advance to 15 cents per barrel, effective at 7 a. m. in its price paid for oil in the Toborgtippett shallow pool in Pecos county. Shell takes the entire yield of the field, around 1,500 barrels of 19½ to 24½ gravity oil produced by 55 wells ranging in depth from 400 to 500 feet.

Shell advised the new price is subject to revision in view of the fluctuating price structure of other Texas crudes. Nearly all other West Texas crude, including Yates in Pecos, which averages 29 gravity, is bringing 25 cents per barrel.

FIVE BEING HELD IN CONSPIRACY TO SELL STOLEN BONDS

FORT WORTH, Aug. 1 (AP)—Complaints charging three Oklahoma City men with conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States by conspiring to sell stolen liberty bonds and other securities were filed here late today before United States Commissioner Lois Newman.

The defendants are John R. Cooper, Walter L. Beaver and A. L. Moshik, alias Al Morris. They were locked in the county jail after failure to post bonds of $12,500 each, set by Commissioner Newam.

Beaver and Moshik were arrested Friday night in a local hotel by two city detectives and A. H. Rebentish, Dallas, federal secret service operative. Cooper was arrested a few hours later at another hotel.

All three of the men pleaded not guilty today. They declared they were ignorant of the cause of their arrest.

Two in Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 1. (AP)—Two men were arrested here tonight for investigation in connection with alleged theft and conspiracy to dispose of registered government bonds. They gave their names as Roy W. Mulhausen and Homer A. McPhail.

Carl Blair, government agent, said request for their arrest came from Dallas, Texas, government officials. He was told several thousand dollars in bonds were recovered by operatives at Waco, Texas, and two men held. He said the men held here likely would be taken to Dallas. They denied connection with the affair.

Paternal Order Prevents Prince Seeing Scarface

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (US)—Young Prince Arjuna of Siam wanted to have a look at "the big fellow," Al Capone, in federal court last Thursday, it was learned today, but was prevented by what amounted to a royal ukase delivered by his father Prince Svasti.

Absorbing something of the American curiosity for a sight of the "big shots" in the criminal world, the young prince, who is only 20 and a student at Yale, expressed a wish to visit the federal court where Capone was to appear for sentence.

But Prince Svasti, his father, once was chief justice in Siam and is without a great deal of sympathy for the glamour with which the public surrounds the spectacular lawbreaker. He replied to the youth:

"Forget it, forget it. Capone is just an ordinary criminal. You should not give him that much attention. Would you want to stare at a criminal in your own country? Capone is foolishly exaggerated by many people."

Prince Arjuna obediently yielded.

Prince Svasti is father-in-law of the king of Siam and will meet the king and queen in Vancouver in September for their return home.

OFFERINGS SCARCE AS CORN ADVANCES IN SHORT SESSION

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (AP)—A jump of almost 4 cents in the corn market today gave evidence that believers in lower prices had a rough road ahead. Speculators were quickly stampeded who dared to sell corn short despite knowledge that the bulk of readily available supplies for delivery on September contracts were in the hands of the men who captured control in the month just ended. A buying rush that followed early selling, based on news of rains in drouth districts, found offerings scarce, and corn closed buoyant at the day's top figures.

Corn finished active at ⅛@3⅝c advance. Wheat was sluggish, sagging under the all-time bottom price record for September contracts, but rallied by corn closed ¼@½c higher, with oats ⅛@⅜c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15c.

Corn bears were in hot water constantly except for a brief time at the start.

Reports from Washington and Berlin about negotiations for sale of government financed wheat abroad had but little market effect, as similar reports had been current for some time. Chicago receipts of wheat were heavy, 596 cars, as much wheat is being moved down the lakes. Oats like wheat rallied with corn. Oats crop news was bullish.

Closing indemnities: Wheat Sept. 50c, 54¼@54½c; Dec. 54¼@54¼@55⅛c; March 58c offers; May 59½c bids.

CLEBURNE MAN FOUND DEAD NEAR WRECK OF CHARRED AUTOMOBILE

CLEBURNE, Texas, Aug. 1. (AP)—Arthur Niece, 30, of Cleburne, was found burned to death late today near an automobile backed into a ditch on the Meridian highway.

The car was practically destroyed by fire.

Joe Brown, said to be from Fort Worth, was found lying across the highway opposite the burned car. He was in a dazed condition.

Justice of the Peace H. L. Bicknell held an inquest but withheld his verdict pending further investigation.

DOWNWARD TREND SENDS COTTON TO NEW LOW LEVELS

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—Cotton continued its downward course today, prices declining to new low levels for the season and for the first time since 1915 the initial price of seven cents was seen on the board when the August position was quoted nominally at 7.97.

The December position sold down to 8.48, closing at that level with a loss of 14 points, while the general market closed easy at 11 to 18 points net lower.

The opening was steady, 4 to 8 points lower under aggressive selling for Liverpool and continental account and by New Orleans and the South. The selling was believed to have been based on recent private crop reports indicating a yield in excess of present ideas of probable requirements, which seems to have undermined confidence even at present law levels as the demand for actual cotton did not increase materially at the decline.

The trade, however, bought quite freely during the midsession and quite a large amount of cotton was taken, partly by brokers who usually represent Japanese interests. There was also a fair amount of covering at times, but on the whole shorts could see little in the general situation to disturb their position. Reports that the government was negotiating with Germany for sales of cotton on long term credits by the farm board came in for considerable discussion, but it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that an operation of this kind would not help matters much in connection with the distribution of the new crop.

Cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was reported 36,856 bales compared with 34,849 a year ago and 32,812 two years ago.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1. (AP)—The cotton market today was fairly active for a short week-end session and was influenced largely by the annual statistics of Secretary Hester and the prospects for fair weather which caused prices to ease off. Secretary Hester made the carry over 9,130,000 bales of which 420,000 bales were linters and the world's consumption of American 11,856,000 of which 811,000 were linters. The market closed steady showing net losses for the day of 10 to 15 points.

As Liverpool was closed the market was without incentive from that source. October traded down to 8.25 and December to 8.49 and closed at those prices showing net losses for the day of 12 points on the former month and 10 points on the latter. March developed the most weakness closing at 8.79, down 15 points net. Late months generally showed the greatest declines.

Port receipts 1,436; last season 6,607. Exports 4,199; last season 1,579. Port stock 2,780,309, last year 1,557,620. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 26,832; last year 28,593. Spot sales at southern markets 2,132, last year no report.

Fates of Missing U-Boats Unsolved Past War Mystery

Of the many unsolved mysteries of the war, one of the most baffling concerns the fate of some 28 German U-boats, according to George O'Brien, Fox movietone featured player, a former naval officer himself, and the leading man in "The Seas Beneath," showing at the Gem Sunday for three days.

"After the war," O'Brien says, "the British naval experts checked their records of submarine sinkings with the German figures, and many interesting facts developed. The Germans lost 203 of their U-boats, including seven interned in various neutral ports, and 14 that were blown up by their officers when the Flanders submarine bases were evacuated.

"Of the other 182, 59 were sunk by gunfire from allied warships. Allied mine-fields accounted for 43 of the German subs, and 18 more were sunk by being rammed by allied ships. The allies' own submarines accounted officially for 17 more and the 'mystery ships,' or 'Q-ships,' are known to have destroyed 11 U-boats. Allied aircraft sank six by aerial bombing, but 28 others are still unaccounted for, and neither the German nor the allied records contain any clue to their fate."

"The Seas Beneath" is based on the activities of an American "mystery ship" working in conjunction with an American submarine to capture a noted U-boat off the canaries.

Majestic Offers Special Feature Next Wednesday

Ruthe Laird, premier dancer of Texas, is to appear at the Majestic theater in conjunction with the showing of "The Miracle Woman," starting next Wednesday. The act is known as "Ruthe Laird's Revue," and has been enthusiastically received wherever it has appeared.

Frothy, amusing, tuneful; a bit naughty, and a lot nice, "The Smiling Lieutenant" has come to the Majestic for a limited engagement.

"The Smiling Lieutenant" is an officer of the Imperial guard, stationed in Vienna. While engaged in a passionate love affair with a fair feminine violinist—leader of a woman's orchestra—it is his fate to first offend and then be looked upon with favor by a visiting princess-relative of the emperor.

The princess, demur, a bit dowdy and entirely unsophisticated, wants to marry Chevalier, who, before he knows what is happening, is swept willy nilly into a royal alliance. He is taken, an unhappy captive, to the small kingdom where his father-in-law, and bride have their court. Here he languishes until—comes Claudette Colbert with her orchestra.

Miss Colbert does a grand job as Chevalier's sweetheart. Miriam Hopkins plays the princess with understanding and considerable humor. These two have several delightful scenes together. George Barbier and Elizabeth Patterson contribute excellent character studies as the king and a lady in waiting.

The program includes one of those comical Dogville short subjects, a silly symphony cartoon and the Majestic talking news which gives a good two hours of real entertainment.

"The Miracle Woman"

A woman evangelist is to preach in Wichita Falls. She will preach well—she has moved multitudes, even worked miracles. Yet the truly religion minded will perceive that her gospel is spurious and her own faith a mockery.

Before condemning her, hear how she lost heart and soul. Faith Fallon was the daughter of a minister. Reared in a reverent household, she had no thought of revolt against the church until she saw her own father betrayed in his old age by the congregation he had led and served for years. Then it was that, orphaned and embittered, she vowed to revenge herself on all organized religion by masquerading as a servant of God while she ran a "religious racket."

Such is the background of "The Miracle Woman," which opens next Wednesday at the Majestic.

Other attractions are a Paramount screen song featuring Rudy Vallee singing and playing "Betty Co-Ed." Burns and Allen, popular vaudeville stars, in a comedy skit, "100 per cent Service," and Paramount news events.

"Politics"

Vote-getting, and the machinations of political cliques, are used to obtain hilarious laughs in Marie Dressler's first picture as a full-fledged star of the screen. This is "Politics," which will open at the Majestic next Saturday.

In this new picture, Marie is seen as a feminine candidate for mayor in a small town, with the energetic Polly Moran as her campaign manager.

RAMON NOVARRO AT STATE IN FILM 'SON OF INDIA'

Big names of both stage and screen importance are to be found in support of Ramon Novarro in the stars newest picture, "Son of India" which is now heading an excellent program at the State theater.

Novarro himself need no introduction, being reckognized as one of the most personable of the screen's male actors. In "Son of India" he is seen in a totally different characterization from his Spanish protryal in "Call of the Flesh" and in "Gay Madrid" or his recent Teutonic liteutenant of "Day Break." The role of the Rajah's son more closely approaches that of his early success the "Pagan."

Conrad Nagel whose name is almost a household word to film goers and who has starred in several pictures of his own right, has the featured male supporting role, playing the brother of the American girl with whom Novarro falls in love.

Marjorie Rambeau is a welcome addition to any cast, Novarro's new leading lady is Madge Evans.

Some of the exciting high lights you will see on the screen will be the burial of Novarro alive so that the bandits will not find him, his arrest in Bombay as a beggar for the theft of his own diamond, his rescue from prison by Nagel, an exciting Polo game, a great tiger hunt and the stampede of maddened elephants.

Also the State presents the Johnny Farrel golf series, which every golfer will want to see, a Mack Sennett comedy and Paramount sound news.

"Annabelle's Affairs"

A cartoon comedy and State talking news round out the Splendid program.

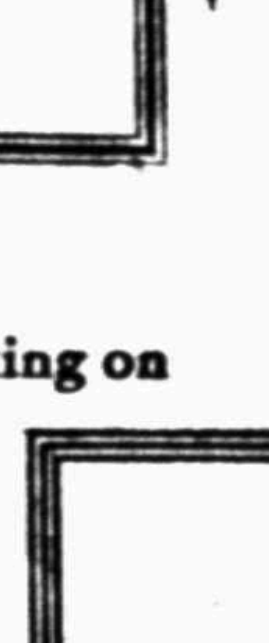
"WHAT ARE YOU DOING THERE?"



Three stone masons were working on a new building. A passerby, interested, stopped to watch. "What are you doing there?"

"Just cutting stone," said the first man.

The second came back with, "Making my $12 a day".

But the third man replied quietly, "I'm helping to build a cathedral."

IT'S true, isn't it, that some men think of their life work as a mere piling up of money. Others with more vision are conscious that they are working on a family structure, with their estate as the foundation.

Do you think of your own estate in these larger terms? Then let us help you develop a practical plan that embraces your family's needs and your ambitions for them—a plan that also provides for the expert supervision of the money and property you leave.

Briefly, this means a will—or voluntary trust—in which you set up Trust Funds with us as executor and trustee.

DATE ADVANCED OF ANNUAL INVENTORY OF BUICK COMPANY

E. T. Strong, president and general manager of the Buick Motor company, announces that the annual inventory of the Buick plant will be taken in September of this year instead of in December, as has been usual in past years.

This charge in the inventory period is made in accordance with the previous announcement by Buick that the customary midsummer model change would be deferred to conform with the suggestion of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce for a uniform new model policy in the industry.

The production of the 1931 Buick straight eight will be continued throughout the summer months. Mr. Strong says that no new Buick models will be available prior to December. He points out that the current Buick has met with such widespread acceptance and satisfaction by the motoring public that the advancements it embodies will continue to be made available to buyers down to the time of the new announcement period.

"Production of the Buick straight eight will be continued on a scale to meet the usual demands of buyers throughout the summer and autumn," Mr. Strong says. "This means that the regular summer production rate will be maintained.

"In regard to the inventory, the operation of a plant as large as the Buick requires the making of castings and forgings and other primary parts in advance of the final assembly of finished cars and it therefore becomes necessary to close such primary parts factories in advance of the assembly plants and also to start those plants after inventory in advance of the assembly plants.

"The change in the time of the inventory period to conform to the new change of model policy will be of inestimable benefit to the immense Buick working force. It will enable employment to be continued throughout the winter, and will be a decided advantage to the workers during the entire winter months."

NEGRO GIVEN NEW TRIAL ON GROUNDS OF WRONG VERDICT

Ernest Jones, negro, given three years on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property two weeks ago, was granted a new trial by Judge Allan Montgomery in the 30th district court Saturday on the grounds that "the verdict was contrary to the evidence and the judgment contrary to law."

Jones was charged under the repetition of offenses act, which makes it obligatory upon conviction to assess the maximum punishment, which in this case would have been 10 years.

It was brought out at the trial of the defendant that he had served a term in the penitentiary for a similar offense in Dallas. The jury found him guilty, but brought in a verdict of three years instead of the maximum of 10, required by law.

Judge Montgomery at the time discharged the jurors from further service after rebuking them for bringing in a verdict which he said showed disregard of the defendant's own testimony, the court's charge, the testimony of a state penitentiary agent and a document signed by the district clerk at Dallas.

The new trial for the negro will be held during the September term of court. Russell Ballard is attorney for Jones.

Two men were sentenced by Judge Montgomery Saturday. J. I. Arnold had received two years for perjury and Willie Dollar two years for burglary. In both cases the defendants gave notice of appeal after their motions for a new trial had been overruled.

Arnold was convicted of perjury in connection with testimony given by him as a defense witness in the murder trial of Barney Riley on a charge of slaying Tom Hardin. Riley was acquitted.

RODEO TO BE FEATURE OF CHILLICOTHE FAIR

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, Aug. 1.—There will be nothing left undone to make the Chillicothe Valley Fair a success from every angle. W. M. Gourley, secretary of the fair, said in discussing plans to arrange rodeo for the three-day event. The same rodeo that performed at Craterville Park, Okla., July 4, will be obtained if possible. This attraction, will no doubt bring riders from other parts of the state, Mr. Gourley stated, and a successful rodeo and "big-time" ranch entertainments would be in evidence.

Studebaker Free Wheeling makes me want to go places and do things

MOTORING was almost becoming commonplace.

Some men were saying: "I don't care anything about automobiling; I buy a car for transportation!"

Then Studebaker gave us Free Wheeling and put the thrill back into motoring (and a 15% to 20% saving in oil and gas). Now adults get the same joy out of driving a car that children get out of tobogganing, skating or chuting the chutes.

Motoring is again an OUTDOOR SPORT.

Now that you can buy a Free Wheeling Studebaker for $845, it's perfectly all to buy a car without it—aren't I right?

This $845 Studebaker, by the way, is the lowest priced Six with Free Wheeling as standard equipment—engineered from tip to tail to give you the fullest benefits of Free Wheeling in its finest form.
