OCTOBER'S DELIGHT — Could we live over the years that have gone, we should upon reflection call back for each year only the one perfect month—October. Taking delight in the expectation of October is this month's calendar girl, Janelle Bevel, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bevel, 932 E. Francis. A junior at Pampa High School, Miss Bevel is a cheerleader.

Reds' Spectacular Raids In Saigon Area Expected

SAIGON (AP) — The North Vietnamese offensive marked the end of its sixth month Saturday with a general battlefield lull, but officers here don't believe Hanoi has halted its test of South Vietnam's ability to survive militarily.

With the monsoons expected to move in over the northern half of South Vietnam during October, Saigon's troops are poised to defend their coastal cities with diminishing American air support. Some sources believe the enemy will stage a series of spectacular — if not strategically significant — attacks in the Saigon region before the presidential election in the United States.

The U.S. Command in Saigon announced that American warplanes raided North Vietnamese military airfields northwest of Hanoi and destroyed or damaged nine MIG interceptors on the ground. The coordinated strikes Friday by U.S. F-4

Phantoms were among the heaviest against North Vietnam's air force since the United States resumed full-scale bombing of the North in response to Hanoi's offensive in the South.

Radio Hanoi claimed that an aircraft carrier, the USS Forrestal, was shot down a U.S. F-111A swing wing jet on Thursday—the day the aircraft returned to combat duty in Indochina.

The last six months of the over-all war have been an exercise in superlatives.

The United States massed its greatest naval task force since World War II to support the South Vietnamese with planes and guns. It fielded more B-52 heavy bombers than it ever had in combat and rebuilt its land-based air power.

The North Vietnamese launched their biggest coordinated attacks of the war, committing more divisions, more tanks, more artillery and more sophisticated weaponry than they ever had before.

The cost of the longest and biggest military operation of an already long war have been tremendous.

Two of South Vietnam's 44 provincial capitals have been destroyed and another heavily damaged. Several district capitals have been smashed. The offensive has generated more than a million refugees in the South and uncounted civilian casualties.

The bombing of the North led to a partial evacuation of Hanoi and widespread dislocation of the population according to informed sources. Much of the North's industrial capacity reportedly has been crippled, and the Communist government claims — despite U.S. denials — that its ancient and elaborate dike system has been seriously damaged. Its ports have been mined for the first time.

President Inks Agreement Curbing Offensive N-Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hailing it as a step reducing the danger of war, President Nixon Saturday signed a congressional resolution approving his agreement with Soviet leaders limiting the two superpowers' offensive nuclear arsenals for five years.

"This is not an agreement which guarantees there will be no war," the chief executive said. "This is a beginning of a process that is enormously important that will limit now and, we hope later, reduce the burden of arms, and thereby reduce the danger of war."

Senate Cuts Retirement Age To 60

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted 29 to 25 Saturday to cut the Social Security retirement age from 62 to 60 and to reduce from 60 to 55 the age at which widows can draw benefits.

But the initial cost of the proposal was estimated at $1.7 billion, leading the bill's managers to indicate it would have to be dropped in the Senate House conference on the Social Security Welfare bill.

The Senate adopted, 52 to 3, another amendment to provide for payment under Social Security the heavy costs of treatment of persons suffering from chronic kidney disease.

Before the debate ended, Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., Ind.-Va., offered an amendment which may turn out to be the solution of the dispute over rival proposals to deal with the problem of welfare families with dependent children.

The Byrd rider would eliminate from the bill all of the operative provisions to handle this problem and set up a test of the various plans to be conducted over the next two years.

The vote on this, however, was put over until Monday or later.

The amendment to reduce the retirement age and the age needed to receive widows' payments was sponsored by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D.-W. Va.

Under the law now, men and women can receive retirement checks at age 62 but at a level reduced actuarially below what they would receive at the regular quitting age of 65.

The age 60 provision in the amendment calls for a further reduced payment so that the recipient would receive over his remaining lifetime on the average the same total amount he would get if he waited to 65 to begin drawing benefits.

Widows at present can receive benefits at age 60 based on their former husband's Social Security coverage.

The widows applying for benefits at 55 also would get actuarially reduced payments under the amendment.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D.-La., floor manager for the bill, said the initial cost would be $1.7 billion in a year and that money simply is not available in the Social Security Trust Fund to pay for it.

Byrd replied that there would be no cost to the Fund over a long period of years since those receiving early benefits, by the time they died, would have been paid only about the same total amount as if they had waited to the later years.

Gambler's Ashes
MIAMI (AP) — Eugene A. Gross gambled away his fortunes at the race tracks but never could resist the lure of the horses.

Before he died Thursday of a heart attack the 78-year-old former New York hotelman made his son promise to scatter his ashes over Florida's Hialeah Race Track.

Sitting beneath a crystal chandelier in the White House Treaty Room, Nixon affixed his signature to the document as 11 congressional leaders and six administration officials looked over his shoulders.

He had reached the interim agreement in Moscow summit talks four months ago and, along with a treaty limiting deployment of defensive missiles, sent it to Capitol Hill for approval. There the Senate, after protracted debate, added an amendment stipulating that there should be equality in the number of weapons in any future treaty governing the two countries' offensive arsenals.

The agreement gives the Soviet Union a numerical advantage in land-based and submarine-launched missiles—a fact that prompted Sen. Henry Jackson, D.-Wash., to press for the amendment. It urges Nixon to seek a treaty that "would not limit the United States to levels of intercontinental strategic forces inferior to the limits provided for the Soviet Union."

Negotiations on a permanent treaty—the so-called SALT 2 talks—are scheduled to begin this fall in Geneva. Nixon said nothing about the new round of talks in his signing ceremony comments, but he has cautioned repeatedly in the past that "these negotiations are not going to be easy."

The Kremlin announced Friday that Soviet leaders had ratified the second major product of the Moscow summit—the treaty limiting antiballistic or defensive missiles. The Senate approved the defensive weapons treaty in August, but Nixon had withheld action required to complete the ratification process pending approval of the offensive weapons agreement.

A White House spokesman said the President would act soon to complete the defensive weapons treaty ratification but gave no further details.

and be able to swing more widely in value than before to prevent recurring monetary crises.

The disagreements appear to be centered around how the major nations will adjust their balance of payments deficits or surpluses. The United States wants just as much economic pressure put on a country in surplus as it does on a nation in deficit.

The U.S. proposal was avoided by the other finance ministers. There was little agreement on economic sanctions or any kind of penalties on a country in surplus.

Another point of division is the large glut of dollars held by countries overseas. The United States at present will not convert the estimated $50 billion excess dollars into gold—since it has only $10 billion in gold.

Other nations are worried that this amount may increase and have proposed a ban on further dollar accumulations above certain amounts by foreign governments. The United States strongly disagrees, wanting no controls at all on movements of the dollar.

There is also division on the role of gold in the system, with the United States wanting the metal to be phased out as the standard of value for the dollar. But other countries, notably France, still believe that gold should play a role in the system, although a diminished one.

The nations are in agreement that the new international "paper gold" reserve assets, known technically as Special Drawing Rights or SDRs, should play an increasing role out of thin air by international agreement.

The financial officials got a start-on reform by naming a new Committee of 20 made up of finance ministers and central bankers that will oversee the negotiations.

McGovern men acknowledge a problem. But what they want most is confrontation, even at long range, with the President.

"I think that to sharpen the differences, we've got to get them out," McGovern said. "It's hard to run against a vacuum. I'd like them to get out there and mix it up."

He has built into many of his speeches complaints about the lack of personal campaigning by Nixon. "He doesn't dare come out of the White House and face the people," McGovern says.

Nixon is running for president as president, and he said in San Francisco that his obligation is to be at the White House when he has work to do.

When I feel it is necessary to stay in the White House to do the job that the people elected me to do, I will be there," he said.

"When I can, I will be campaigning."

It is evident that from the Nixon viewpoint this is the best politics, too.

Indeed, one McGovern strategist acknowledged the difficulty in running against "an entity called the President." Campaign Manager Gary Hart said that in the final weeks of the campaign, voters will begin to personalize the contest, considering it in terms of McGovern against Richard M. Nixon. He said that will help the Democratic challenger.

McGovern said he already is cutting into Nixon's lead. "The public opinion polls haven't caught up with us yet," he said.

Astronaut Retiring To Study 'Physic' Potential Of Man'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronaut Edgar D. Mitchell, who once tried to send mental signals from space, is retiring Sunday to form an organization to study "the psychic potential of man and other forms of life."

The 42-year-old astronaut and Navy captain said he is establishing a "service organization" to be called Edgar D. Mitchell & Associates, Inc.

"Our purpose is to help people develop greater awareness of themselves, of their relationship to other people and to the processes of nature," he said. "We think scientific research into psychic phenomena is an important key to developing that awareness. We will make out findings as widely known as possible to the scientific community and the general public."

Mitchell was the lunar module pilot on Apollo 14, the 1971 lunar mission, and was the sixth man to walk on the moon.

At carefully scheduled times during the moon voyage, Mitchell tried to communicate a signal mentally to four persons on earth, including Olof Jonsson, a Chicago man known in parapsychology circles as a "sensative."

Mitchell took a deck of cards designed at Duke University to test for extra sensory perception. Six times during his mission the astronaut concentrated on the cards, looking at them in random order.

Meanwhile, back on earth, Jonsson and three other "sensatives" also concentrated, trying to catch the image projected from Mitchell's mind.

Months after the flight, Mitchell said in a scientific paper that the results were "statistically significant," although Jonsson and the others determined the correct order of only a few of the cards.

The space agency disavowed any support for the experiment and some officials have said privately they were embarrassed by the whole thing.

Since his moon mission, Mitchell has continued to study psychic phenomena. Earlier this year he claimed that a lady friend, who had a kidney disease, became healthy after ministrations from a faith healer.

Mitchell, however, made no claims for the healer.

"You don't base any scientific finding on one data point," he said. "Medical people can come up with any number of explanations."

Mitchell's retirement from the astronaut corps and from the Navy was announced last spring, but became effective Sunday. At the time of the retirement announcement, space agency officials said it was part of a "planned phasedown" of the astronaut corps.

Dr. William A. Tiller of Stanford University will help coordinate the activities, the announcement said, and the board of directors includes Dr. Stanley R. Dean of the University of Florida and Christopher Hegarty, a businessman.

Sen. Tower Strikes Back At Sanders

HEBBRONVILLE, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Sen. John Tower said Saturday it was inconsistent for Bartlett Sanders to attack Tower's congressional attendance record while supporting Sen. George McGovern for president.

Tower's criticism of his Democratic opponent came in a speech at a barbecue rally here.

Sen. McGovern has been present for only 27 per cent of the votes this year and was present for only 52 per cent last year. And yet my opponent claims I should be thrown out of the Senate for absenteeism but that George McGovern should be promoted to president," Tower said.

Tower said he was present for 80 per cent of Senate roll call votes this year and 78 per cent in 1971.

While a member of the Texas House, Sanders missed 266 roll call votes in 224 legislative days, Tower asserted, "and he ducked out on his liberal friends a number of times. He was absent when they debated controversial measures dealing with communism and school desegregation."

Season's First Concert Set For Monday Night

Pampa concertgoers are in for a treat tomorrow night when band leaders Frankie Carle, Freddy Martin and Bob Crosby, along with guest singing star Margaret Whiting, appear with the Big Band Cavalcade on the stage of the M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium.

The band leaders, Miss Whiting and a 15-piece band mark the first presentation of the 1972 concert season by the Pampa Community Concert Association.

The band will in turn be conducted by Crosby, Martin and Carle with each re-creating his greatest hits during an evening of musical memories.

The Big Band Cavalcade is on a 20-week tour across the U.S., sponsored by Columbia Artists Theatrical Corp. and under personal direction of Herbert O. Fox and Charles K. Jones.

Because of requests for single performance tickets to tomorrow night's attraction, concert association officials announced the auditorium "is sold out for the season. Tickets, therefore, are not available to single performances."

Admission to the Big Band Cavalcade is by membership card only. Certain time will be 8 p.m.

District Clerk Has Passport Applications

Area people planning a trip abroad will find it easier to make application for a passport under a new arrangement recently negotiated.

Application forms to obtain that passport are now available at the district clerk's office in the Gray County courthouse, according to Helen Sprinkle. Her office is located on the third floor of the courthouse.

Persons planning foreign travel are given a word of caution, however. There is a certain time element involved in securing a passport that cannot be altered. It would be well to check in advance at the district clerk's office.

Oklahoma Man Named Pampa Park Planner

David L. Callison, 23, Millfay, Okla., will join Pampa's city Hall Family tomorrow as park planner, a newly created post.

Callison, a graduate of Oklahoma State University with a degree in forestry, will serve the city in an advisory capacity to Carl Wright, city parks superintendent.

City Manager Mack Wofford said Pampa's park beautification program has reached the point where a park planner with a thorough knowledge of trees, flowers and plants is needed for proper maintenance and care.

Callison most recently has been associated with Kerr-McGee Corp. following field work with the U.S. Forestry Service in Grand Canyon, Ariz.

He is a native of Holdenville, Okla., and a graduate of Holdenville High School as well as O.S.U. at Stillwater, Okla.

Student Body Seeks Revision Of Dress Code

The Student Council at Pampa High School has formed a committee to consider revision of the current dress code.

The committee of 10 students and chairman Jim Duggan, student body vice president, will seek to modify the existing code and take the revisions to the school board.

Members of the committee include Shelley Cogdell, A.M. Brewer, Nancy Crosswhite and Carolyn Horn, seniors; Jim Staus, Becky Thompson, Rick Smith and Wayne Bruce, juniors; and Brian Bowman and David Hampton, sophomores.

Marker For Mackenzie's Battle Of North Fork Will Be Erected

An official Texas historical marker for Mackenzie's Battle of North Fork of Red River will be erected Oct. 22, Tracy D. Cary, Chairman of the Gray County Historical Survey Committee, announced Saturday.

The marker will be placed at SH 273, six miles southeast of Lefors. Dedication plans will be announced in the near future.

Made of cast aluminum with Swedish steel effect, the marker measures 18 by 28 inches and is sponsored by the Alameda McLean Historical Society.

The inscription on the marker reads:

Battle of North Fork of Red River (Site is about 3 miles north of here)

On Sept. 29, 1872, Col.

Ronald S. Mackenzie (1840-89) found in this area a 262-tepee village of Comanches defying treaties that sought to confine them on Indian Territory Reservations. Mackenzie's 231 U.S. cavalry and infantrymen captured the village in half an hour and routed Chief Mow-Way's warriors, who made a desperate resistance from sheltering creek banks. That night the Indians succeeded in recapturing their horses from an Army guard detail. This taught Mackenzie a lesson that led to his eventual victory in the 1874 campaign to subdue the Indians.

The marking of local historic sites and landmarks is part of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee's program of preservation activities.

These include archeological investigations, small museum consultation and administering the National Historic Preservation Act in Texas. As of 1970, the committee had erected more than 5,000 official markers.

The name and location of the new marker will appear in the next edition of the "Guide to Official Texas Historical Markers" in order to stimulate tourists travel in this area, to arouse interest in historical tours and to acquaint the people of this locale with their unique heritage.

Commissioners' Agenda Varied

An airport lease and a canvass of the recent McLean-Alameda school election are the salient points on the agenda for the meeting of the county commissioners court Monday.

Other business concerning the panel will be the routine payment of bills and salaries and other first-of-the-month transactions.

The meeting, set for 9 a.m. in the county courtroom, will be followed by an executive session to appoint a community action committee.

The committee hears and decides all matters of major state policy coming before it. Rep. Christian also serves on committees for parks and wildlife, elections, business and marketing affairs and penitentiaries.

Highland General Installs Compu-Console Machine

Highland General Hospital has received the new Compu-Console portable electrocardiograph machine. This unit, the first one installed in Texas, is a complete EKG machine that records all the essential data needed for interpretation of the heart's condition.

The data is recorded on magnetic tape by Highland General's expert technicians and sent by telephone to Mt. Sinai Hospital, cardiologist center in New York. The information is fed into a computer and a diagnosis is completed by the machine. The results are then over-read by a cardiologist who certifies that the diagnosis is properly recorded. This process is completed in just a matter of minutes.

The diagnosis is then sent to Highland General Hospital and is received by a teletype machine in the X-Ray Department. If the EKG performed is not an emergency, the information will return in approximately two hours, but in an emergency situation the diagnosis is returned in less than 15 minutes.

High Court Faces Decisions On Many 'Sensitive Topics'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court begins a new term Monday facing major decisions on school integration and financing and on obscenity and abortion laws.

These sensitive topics are among the 99 cases already selected by the Justices for argument over the next seven months. Along the way, they will add other touchy items, such as, possibly, sex discrimination, legislative apportionment and state aid to religious schools.

Meanwhile, a little more than a month from now, the nation's voters will help shape the future philosophical attitude of the Court as they choose between President Nixon and Sen. George McGovern.

In his first term, the President has placed four conservative Justices on the Court, one short of a majority. Two other nominees rejected by the Senate also were conservatives. Undoubtedly, he will keep on this course if he wins re-election and vacancies develop.

McGovern, on the other hand, could be expected if elected to try to reverse the swing toward conservatism that Nixon has accomplished with the appointment of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Harry A. Blackmun, Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist.

At this point, however, the balance of power at the Court rests largely with the two Justices who are in neither the liberal nor conservative wings consistently — Potter Stewart and Byron R. White.

The first round of rulings—up to 900—will be handed down on Tuesday, Oct. 10. For the most part, these will be denials of petitions to be heard.

Rare Wreck Takes 5 Lives In Texas City

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — A truck and a passenger car collided head on at 2 a.m. Saturday, killing four men in the vehicles and resulting in the death of a fifth who was watching the wreck being cleared away.

State patrolmen said the truck veered after the collision into nearby woods, burst into flames and set the trees ablaze. The passenger car, said a witness, "looked like somebody stuck a bomb in."

Pampa Has 3 Testing Sites Of Tuberculin Skin Program

The Top of Texas TB and Respiratory Disease Association announced that plans for a county-wide tuberculin skin testing program were set in a joint meeting of Gray County volunteers meeting in the offices of the American Red Cross at Pampa.

The Christmas Seal organization's spokesman, Bill Mackey, said that Pampa will have three testing sites, including Baker School, the Flame Room at Pioneer Natural Gas and Robert E. Lee Junior High.

The Mantoux tests will be administered without charge to everyone from age 3 months up by staff and nursing volunteers of the TB Control Division of the Texas Department of Public Health between 3 p.m. and 9 p.m. Nov. 6, with a reading at the same place 48 hours later Nov. 8.

A planning session will be held at the Citizens Bank and Purpose of the intradermal tests will be to identify all individuals who have been infected with TB germs at any time in their lives, even though the infection may have occurred many years previously. Those reacting positively to the Mantoux test will be placed under medical supervision for x-ray and other follow-up.

"We are very grateful to the local medical society for approving this program in Gray County," said Mackey. He explained that TB is an infectious, airborne disease, and that it is neither inherited nor contracted by means of eating or drinking utensils as some believe.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Monday at the Maples Funeral Home, Bristow, Okla., for M.C. Purvis of Bristow, who died at his home Friday after a long illness.

He is survived by his wife, Pearl; two sons, Kenneth Purvis of Shamrock, Okla., and Troy Purvis of Pampa; four daughters, Mrs. Eva Cooper of Wichita, Kans., Mrs. Thelma Thompson of Dewey, Okla., Mrs. Geneva Finney and Mrs. Opal Butcher, both of Pampa; 23 grandchildren and 33 great-grandchildren.

Sao Paulo's Fast Growth Brings Problems With It

CROWDED CITY — Tall buildings dot the skyline of Latin America's largest city, Sao Paulo, Brazil, plagued with a spiraling population and health and transportation problems.

By DAVID VIDAL
Associated Press Writer
SAO PAULO, BRAZIL (AP) — Things come big in Sao Paulo. The largest industrial complex in Latin America surrounds it. The biggest port on the continent, Santos, lies at its door. The largest land area covered by any city on this side of the world, including Los Angeles, rests beneath it.

Problems come big too. Half of the homes in Latin America's largest city are not served by running water. They have to rely on well-water which can be a breeding ground for pollution and diseases such as cholera and dysentery. Almost a third of the city lacks a tie-in to the sewage system. Three hundred thousand persons pour into Brazil's leading metropolis every year in search of jobs and opportunities.

The jobs and opportunities are there — for qualified and well-trained individuals. Thus, many of the immigrants wind up in decrepit shanty towns on the city's outskirts.

They make this monstrous city of 6 million inhabitants one of the fastest — if not the fastest — growing cities in the world.

"It doesn't make any sense to be pouring money into the city to solve problems brought on by increasing population, since we can't keep up with it," the mayor holding the reins says. "So we have to stop the population growth."

Mayor Jose Carlos Figueredo Ferraz sees Sao Paulo as a problem of "undisciplined growth." He has pushed for creation of an "infrastructure" to tame it.

The plan calls for this, but the rest of it is mostly restric-

ive. If it weren't our efforts would be in vain.

The "Plan for Integral Development" has been approved by the Municipal Council.

"Some urban plans before this administration were made to accommodate a population of as much as 20 million. We don't want that. Plans now foresee a restriction on growth. This is a complete turnaround in municipal policy."

The main points of the plan call for a new series of expressways to speed "Paulistas" to and from work, strict anti-pollution measures and better use of available land through a new building code.

The code limits new construction to certain areas away from the congested downtown district. By luring builders away from the heart of the city, the mayor hopes new population "nuclei" will be formed.

Fort Worth Museum Has Rare Art Objects

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The New Kimbell Art Museum unveils to the public Tuesday a variety of 200 art objects spanning some 4,500 years.

Many are described as "rare, exceptional—even unique—treasures."

A number of groups toured the ultramodern complex last week for a series of preview showings. They included art scholars, critics, publishers, dealers and officials of other museums.

The collection, amassed by the late industrialist Kay Kimbell, is encased in a $6.5 million building that is unique in its own right. The method of natural lighting devised by architect Louis Kahn of Philadelphia is also said to be one of a kind.

The museum's acquisition policy is to select each work of art solely on the basis of its aesthetic quality and typology—whether it defines a master, period, school, style or area.

Although the collection spans 4,500 years, there has been no attempt made for historical completeness.

Rather, definitive objects of any period have been acquired when they became available.

The earliest surviving English painting on wood, "The Barnabas Altarpiece," painted about 1250, is among the treasures.

While older medieval wall paintings and hand-illustrated books are known, it is said that there is no other English painting on wood panel older than the Barnabas work.

The collection, ranging from the prehistoric to Picasso, includes these major objects not previously announced.

"Wall Paintings" from the Chapel of St. Andre de Bagan, near Avignon, of dry fresco on plaster, transferred to canvas and mounted on wood in the original dimensions of the apse, dating from the mid 12th century in France.

"Four Classical Myths on the Theme of Fire" painted by Francois Boucher late in his career in 1769.

"Madonna and Child" by Giovanni Bellini, an early work of tempera and oil on panel, painted about 1470-1475. Formerly in the collection of Prince Napoleon III, it disappeared completely for nearly 100 years and had been considered a "lost" painting until acquisition by the Kimbell.

"Christ Blessing" by Bellini, tempera and oil on panel, a work dating from 1490-1495.

"The Risen Christ between St. Andrew and St. Longinus" by Andre Mantegna, engraved about 1495-1500.

PHS Student Panel Member At Meeting

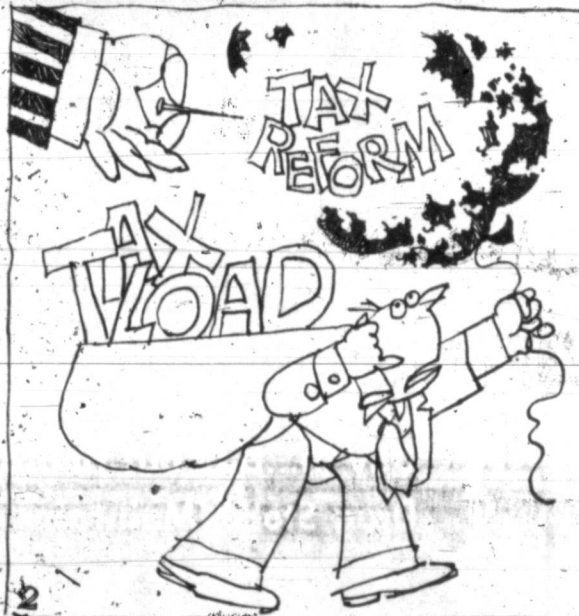

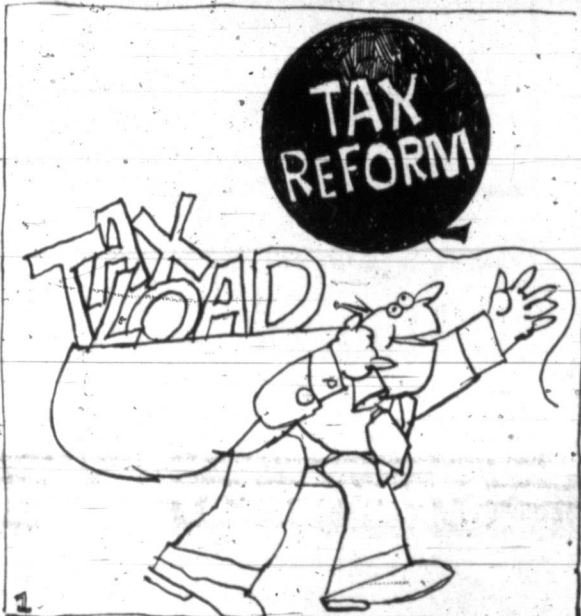

Nancy Dingus, a senior student at Pampa High School, will be one of four panel members to discuss "Student Concerns" at the meeting Tuesday of District 19, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, at Gruver.

Theme for the event will be "Issues In Education," with registration and coffee set for 9 a.m. at the Foyer School Auditorium.

Mrs. Ben Malone of Berger, district president, will preside at the morning business session, which will feature as its guest speaker Dr. Kenneth Laycock of Canyon, vice president for planning and development at West Texas State University.

His topic will be "Identifying Issues In Education."

Following the student panel, buzz sessions on "Your Concerns" will be held, to be followed by a report by each group to the general assembly. The meeting will adjourn at 2:30 p.m.

The Tax Rebellion: Fed-Up Taxpayers Are Also Voters

(First of Three Parts.)

By RAY DE CRANE

(Ray De Crane, business editor of the Cleveland Press, is author of the annual tax guide, "Cut Your Own Taxes." The new edition to be released this December will be available through many newspapers.)

CLEVELAND — (NEA) — What could be the beginning of a taxpayers' rebellion shows signs of developing across the nation.

Both presidential candidates have taken note of the spreading sentiment. Each is talking of tax reform.

Beneath the demands for change are the seemingly endless additions of new taxes, plus the belief that some taxpayers carry too heavy a burden while others find ways to pay less than what would seem to be their fair share.

Not too many years ago most Americans paid income tax only to the federal government.

Now the same Americans find their annual incomes frequently taxed at four levels:

- By the federal government.

- By the state government.

- By the cities in which they work.

- By the communities in which they live.

Forty-four of the 50 states now have their own income taxes. The same income is taxed again by 315 cities across the country and the list of cities with a local income tax keeps getting longer.

Ohio, to name one state, is a prime example of threatening rebellion. The possibility of a constitutional amendment repealing the state's income tax law has not yet been ruled out.

State tax officials fear what could happen if Ohioans get the opportunity to decide for themselves if the tax is to be ended or continued.

Repeal measures have been attempted before in other states. But in every case but one, the advocates failed to obtain sufficient signatures to put the issue on the ballot.

In Maine, the only state where voters got an opportunity to express their choice on the ballot, the state tax was upheld by a 3-to-1 vote.

A presidential election year is not the time for either candidate to discuss the possibility of a tax increase. It would be a sure road to defeat. Instead, they speak of reform.

Unfortunately, all too often, tax reform has meant higher taxes for all but those on the lowest rungs of the economic ladder.

Despite the protestations of both parties to higher taxes, this is the outlook for the federal budget for the fiscal year ending next June 30:

Two Major Oil Regions Discovered In North Sea

LONDON (AP) — Two major oil discoveries in the North Sea last week will help reduce Britain's dependence on Middle East supplies and cut the nation's fuel import bill by at least half by the 1980s, the Department of Trade and Industry said Friday.

The two finds are the latest in a series of oil strikes that have established the North Sea region as potentially one of the world's major oil fields.

The Anglo-American consortium Mobil Oil North Sea (MONS) said its field, 100 miles southeast of the Shetland Islands, had an initial flow rate of about 3,200 barrels a day. The second field, located 200 miles east of Dundee, Scotland, operated by the Hamilton Brothers group, promised rates up to 3,980 barrels a day.

The two companies said they still had to make further tests but oil prospectors estimated these initial flow rates indicated a possible production of 400,000 barrels a day, the same total expected from the British Petroleum Forties field discovered earlier in the North Sea.

A Department of Trade and Industry spokesman said North Sea production could reach 25 million tons a year by the mid-1970s and it was hoped this would reach 75 million tons by the 1980s about half of Britain's estimated needs.

The whole North Sea energy bonanza is expected to be worth about $2.4 billion a year to Britain eventually.

Important savings are involved. During 1971, Britain imported 96 million tons of oil at a cost of about $2.4 billion. The North Sea strikes should allow Britain to save half these import costs by the 1980s. The figure comes to about $1.2 billion in these savings alone.

Earnings potential is equally important. By the 1980s, the spokesman said, the British government expects to earn about $245 million a year in oil royalties from the North Sea.

The oil bonanza will also bring thousands of new jobs to eastern Scotland, an area of chronic unemployment.

WHERE THEY STAND

THE ISSUES-OF THE 1972 CAMPAIGN

Vietnam War

REPUBLICANS

We will continue to seek a settlement of the Vietnam war which will permit the people of Southeast Asia to live in peace under political arrangements of their own choosing.

We believe that the President's proposal — to withdraw remaining American forces from Vietnam four months after an internationally supervised cease-fire has gone into effect throughout Indo-China and all prisoners have been returned — is as generous an offer as can be made by anyone — by anyone, that is, who is not bemused with surrender.

We insist that, before all American forces are withdrawn from Vietnam, American prisoners must be returned, and a full accounting made of the missing in action and of those who have died in enemy hands.

The positions above were extracted from the official 1972 platforms of the Republican and Democratic Parties.

DEMOCRATS

Immediate and complete withdrawal of all U.S. forces in Indo-China and an end to all U.S. military action in Southeast Asia — with this proviso: We must insist that any resolution of the war include the return of all prisoners held by North Vietnam and other adversary forces, and the fullest possible accounting for the missing.

After the end of U.S. direct-combat participation, military aid to the Saigon Government and elsewhere in Indo-China will be terminated, but humanitarian assistance will be offered to the people of Vietnam to help them repair the ravages of war.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

Rev. Carlson shocked his congregation to the point where I heard murmuring in the pews. But his audience soon realized that he was correct. So when you pray, use the correct "Cosmic TV" dialing method which Jesus gave us! And make prayer a personal interview!

CASE V-506: Ronald Carlson, age 27, was an unusual seminary student.

Over weekends, he handles a village church in Indiana where Mrs. Crane and I often attended.

On a certain Sunday morning he was leading the congregation in reciting the Lord's Prayer.

"Stop," he suddenly exclaimed, midway of the prayer.

"Don't say another word!"

Well, the audience began to feel incensed at this rude interruption of the Lord's Prayer. It seemed like sacrilege!

In fact, I could hear a murmur of disapproval among some of the older folks around me.

"Listen to me," added Rev. Carlson.

"Most of you are merely uttering words without having your mind on what you are saying."

You are praying mechanically.

"And I'm sure the Lord will not pay attention to such memorized phrases when you aren't even conscious of what you are speaking!"

"So, let's go back to the beginning and start all over again."

But this time, remember that you are talking to God and if you expect Him to listen to you, at least be conscious of every word you utter.

Then we all began again and I'm sure everybody paid more conscious heed to the Lord's Prayer that time than ever before or even since!

GOD'S TV CHANNEL

Jesus gave us the unique cosmic TV signal for tuning-in on God's busy day, when Christ advised:

"Whatsoever ye shall ask IN MY NAME, believing, ye shall receive!"

But I'm sure the Almighty expects us to be conscious of our personal "interview" with God.

For it would be insulting to ask Deity to pay attention to us when we aren't even aware of what we are saying.

Yet most of our memorized catechism and prayers (plus even the lyrics of our church hymns), are often recited mechanically.

Our mind may be far away on other things, yet we can sing or repeat such rote memorized prayers without missing a word.

But sometimes we are so perfunctory in our recitation that we even mix up the Lord's Prayer or the 23rd Psalm.

Indeed, the late Ernest F. Tittle, famous pastor in Evanston, once got confused midway of the Lord's Prayer.

Thereafter, she had that prayer, plus the 23rd Psalm, typed in bold letters and pasted on the podium so he would be able to read the lines correctly.

Many of you readers will often look at your watch.

"What time is it?" your wife may then inquire.

(Always write to Dr. Crane, Hopkins Bldg. Melott Indiana, 47558, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Scientists Search for Giant Fish

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP)

John Coon and Rudy Ringe are spending the summer fishing part of the Snake River for prehistoric monsters.

Coon, of Moscow, Idaho, who is studying for his doctorate at the University of Idaho, and Ringe, a research assistant, are angling for giant white sturgeon in the cause of science.

The fish, reported to grow up to 20 feet and almost one ton, are found in the Columbia and Snake rivers and some other big streams emptying into tide-water along the coast.

Many are landlocked behind big dams on the Columbia and its principal tributary, the Snake, and that's where Coon and Ringe are concentrating their scientific efforts. Their summer abode is a base near SEA MONSTERS

DALLAS (AP) — Bob H. Slaughter, a paleontologist at Southern Methodist University, is in the process of mounting an 80 million-year-old sea monster found in early April near here.

Slaughter says the remains he is reconstructing are those of a plesiosaur, a sea creature which had fins instead of feet. He says the monster lived in a seaway which linked the Gulf of Mexico with the Pacific Northwest.

The 25-foot specimen was found in a drainage ditch excavation near the regional airport which is being built between here and Fort Worth.

hope to study their movement, as a starter. They plan to use sonic or radio tags in the stomachs of several and hope for the cooperation of fishermen and river guides in reporting tag numbers, location and length of sturgeon caught in the area.

With special permission to use set lines, they are trying to lure the giants by dangling smelt or herring at the end of superheavy "cable" held on the bottom with sinkers weighing as much as one pound.

The bait must be close to the bottom, because that's where these creatures live, down where they can take on mollusks and crustaceans; besides small fish and eels.

Aside from unofficial reports, an official record shows one caught that weighed 1,285 pounds and measured 12 1/2 feet.

Recently on the Columbia near Paterson, Wash., not far from the mouth of the Snake, three anglers landed white sturgeon that measured 5 feet 11, 5 feet 10 and 5 feet 4.

They say they turned loose caviar-producers of 8 feet 9 and 7 feet 10 to comply with Washington State game laws limiting fishermen to sturgeon more than 3 feet long but less than 6 feet.

Two types of the fish live in Pittsburg Landing, in Hell's Canyon.

By tagging the fish along a 30-mile stretch of the Snake, they

West Coast waters — green and white. Experts say they think the larger whites spend part of their lives in the size-producing sea — if they can find a way to it — and return to rivers to spawn.

They also say the whites, considered excellent table fare, don't reach spawning time until they are about six feet long, hence the ban against keeping any longer than that.

Some scientists say they think dams may lead to extinction of the giant whites, because their natural inclination is to migrate between sea and fresh water. This is a problem on the Columbia-Snake system, which has become a series of lakes because of many dams.

Because comparatively little is known about Pacific types of sturgeon, and because it's believed remnants behind dams may become extinct, this three-year study is under way.

Project director Dr. Donald Chapman says, "No one knows even roughly how many sturgeon there are in the Snake, although we do know this unusual fish has declined in the Snake and Columbia."

Therefore Ringe and Coon, financed by funds from such diverse organizations as the federal Office of Water Resources Research, the Pacific Northwest Power Co. and the Idaho Fish and Game Department, hope to find out how the people of the Northwest can keep their prehistoric monsters of the deep.

BIG FISH — The giant white sturgeon seen here were caught in the Columbia River near Paterson, Wash. The fish measure 5 feet 11, 5 feet 10, and 5 feet 4. The fishermen say they turned loose biggies of 8 feet 9 and 7 feet 10. Washington law allows anglers to keep sturgeon of more than 3 feet and less than 6 feet in length.

'Adventures In Sewing' Appears In Pampa News

Home sewing has literally exploded across the country, creating an annual business of $3 billion. Never since ready-made clothing became popular has there been such an emphasis on made-at-home fashions for women, children, men and teenagers, who storm the fabric departments for new materials to create their own styles.

PAMPA DAILY NEWS offers its readers a 14-part news-paper series and a 64-page book, both entitled, "Adventures in Sewing." Written by a professional in easy-to-understand language, "Adventures in Sewing" gives the home sewer, beginner or advanced, all the information she needs to construct her own clothing: home accessories, work with problem fabrics, fur or leather, plus all of the intricate details she needs to make professional looking fashions. Both the series and the book are lavishly illustrated with line drawings to make instructions perfectly clear.

The series and book are available now in time for back-to-school and the important fall and winter season. The book will continue as an instant reference at any time. The book clearly shows how to measure and alter patterns, choose proper fabrics for styles, seams and finishes along with construction techniques, buttonholes and fastenings, and various methods of hemming.

Stamps In The News

The man who some historians say really was the "first President of the U.S." now appears on a new 6-cent post card.

The card honors John Hanson, a Maryland delegate to the Continental Congress who was elected to head that body under the Articles of Confederation and signed himself as "President of the United States in Congress Assembled." Accordingly, his supporters argue that therefore he preceded George Washington as the first chief executive of this nation.

The fallacy of the argument is that the Articles of Confederation did not provide for such a President. That came later with ratification of the Constitution and the subsequent election of Gen. Washington.

The new post card is the second in a series dedicated to colonial patriots issued by the U.S. Postal Service as part of the commemoration of the Bicentennial of the American Revolution. The first in the series, honoring Paul Revere, was issued last year.

The design features a portrait of Hanson, above which appears the wording "John Hanson Patriot" and beneath which is "U.S. Postage 6c."

There is still time to order your Apollo 17 covers.

Stamp collectors have until Nov. 1 to submit stamped, self-addressed envelopes to Navy recovery forces for the Apollo 17 cachet and cancellation service.

In the past, thousands of covers have had to be returned unprocessed because they have been submitted incorrectly. So, here are the instructions (as reported in this column months ago):

Send standard size envelopes (3 5/8 x 6 1/2 inches) with a filler inserted to simplify handling. Leave room for the cachet on the left side of the envelope. Use only U.S. postage (8 cents surface mail or 11 cents airmail) but NOT cash, money

"Adventures in Sewing" is written by Mabel S. Obenchain, a sewing specialist and fashion reporter. She is a graduate of Northwestern University and was formerly vice president of the Advertising Federation of America and regional director of the Fashion Group of Chicago. Now a grandmother and one who has been sewing since she was 10 years old, Mrs. Obenchain presents readers her wealth of knowledge in fashion and sewing.

The book is available by mail for only $1.00 (including postage and handling). Readers may use the coupon accompanying the series or can send $1.00 per copy with name, address and Zip code, to "Adventures in Sewing," c/o This Newspaper, P.O. TBB Says Texas Business Recovers From Recession

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Business Bureau says there is little doubt that Texas business has recovered from the recent recession.

But the threat of inflation still exists, said Dr. John R. Stockton in a special report on the state's business activity.

Texas business surged upward in August after an erratic decline in July, "continuing the strong rise that has been characteristic of the economy throughout most of 1972," Stockton said.

The rise of 8 per cent in August restored practically all of the loss registered in July.

This rise in the measure of total business activity corresponds with the behavior of practically all of the barometers of business in the state," Stockton said.

"The improvement shown in Texas indexes is uniformly good; there exists little doubt that the recovery from the recent recession is real. The threat of inflation, however, is also real."

Stockton pointed out that a dollar spent on goods and services in 1960 would buy only 72 cents worth of the same goods and services now in Houston or just 71 cents nationwide.

That same dollar would have bought $1.19 worth of goods and services in Houston in 1950 or $1.23 nationwide.

Serious Crime During First Half Of Year Goes Up 1%, Report Shows

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration says serious crime during the first half of the year increased 1 per cent over the same period in 1971. The increase was the smallest since the FBI began issuing quarterly reports 12 years ago.

By comparison, said Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, serious crime increased 7 per cent during the first 180 days of 1971; violent crime was up 11 per cent and property crime up 6 per cent.

The crime statistics released by the Justice Department were compiled by the FBI in its Uniform Crime Report through information received voluntarily from 5,606 local, county and state law-enforcement agencies.

In the report, murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault make up the violent-crime category and burglary, larceny over $50 and auto theft comprise the property category.

Forcible rape during the six-month period showed a 14 per cent increase, by far the largest rise in any of the seven crimes on which the statistics are gathered. Aggravated assault, showing the second highest increase, was up 6 per cent over the same period last year.

The other crimes: property crimes, up 1 per cent; murder, up 1 per cent; burglary, up 4 per cent; larceny $50 and over, up 1 per cent; robbery, down 4 per cent, and auto theft, down 4 per cent.

Cities having 100,000 or more inhabitants reported a 2 per cent decrease in the volume of crime-index offenses. Suburban law-enforcement agencies reported a 5-per-cent increase and crime in the rural areas was up 7 per cent.

Frank Phillips Has Defensive Driving Course

A state law became effective on Sept. 1, 1972, whereby a person completing an eight-hour Defensive Driving course approved by the Texas Safety Association may receive a ten per cent reduction on his insurance rate for his family car.

Since there are restrictions on coverage, prospective students should check with their own insurance agents before registering for the course.

Class schedules will be announced as soon as possible, possibly within the next two weeks. The complete cost of the course will be $10 per student.

Bucks Beat Lefors 34-3

By CLAY LIVERY
WHITE DEER — Kim Slagle ran for three touchdowns and Terry Rhoads passed for two more to lead the White Deer Bucks to a 34-3 victory over the Lefors Pirates here Friday night.

Lefors lit up the scoreboard first on the third play of the second quarter with Dwight Keith kicking a 27-yard field goal. The score was set up by a 50-yard interception return by the Pirate's Jimmy Crutcher.

The lead was short-lived, however, as the Bucks scored on a 70-yard drive the very next time they got the ball. Kim Slagle got the first of his three touchdowns on a 38-yard scamper to cap the White Deer drive that only took six plays.

Don Thurman kicked the extra point and the Bucks led 7-3.

Both teams played fairly evenly in the first period, with each squad intercepting the ball to cut short a drive of its opponent.

Rhoads intercepted a Randy Klein pass to halt the Pirates deep in WD territory and Crutcher nabbed the one that led to Lefors' only score of the game.

After the Bucks scored on their first possession of the second quarter, the complexion of the game changed entirely. From that time on, White Deer moved through the Lefors defense almost at will. Slagle scored the Bucks' second and third touchdowns on runs of one and five yards. The second score came in the second quarter and the next came in the third period.

3rd Ranked Buffs Stunned By Cowboys

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Halfback Alton Gerard bashed over for three touchdowns and, an inspired Oklahoma State defense produced a flurry of Colorado turnovers as the Cowboys shocked third-ranked Colorado 31-6 in the Big Eight opener for both teams Saturday.

The Cowboys, directed by quarterback Brent Blackman, burst out to a 21-0 halftime lead as Colorado gave up the ball three times on fumbles and once on an interception.

Blackman capped an 80-yard drive with a 16-yard touchdown strike to split end Steve Pettus to get the Cowboys rolling midway in the first half.

Defense Leads Tigers To 10-6 Upset Victory

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Terry Henley's running and a stingy defense led by Ken Bernick and Danny Sanspree led Auburn to a 10-6 upset of fourth-ranked Tennessee Saturday and marked Auburn as a football power again in the Southeastern Conference.

The Tigers, unranked and unimpressive in their first two victories, continued their mastery over Tennessee. Auburn now has handed the Vols three of their four losses under Coach Bill Battle.

Henley climaxed an 81-yard drive in the second period when Thurman's kicks for the extra points were good each time and the White Deer team had scored on three straight possessions.

Passes from Rhoads to Buddy Cummins and Johnny Freeman accounted for the Bucks' last two touchdowns.

The scoring loss to Cummins covered seven yards and ended a 39-yard drive after White Deer had recovered a Lefors fumble.

Freeman took a pass from quarterback Rhoads 59 yards to paydirt on the first play of a subsequent White Deer possession.

Thurman converted after the first touchdown pass but missed the attempt on the last one and the scoring in the game was over with White Deer totaling 34 points to Lefors' three.

White Deer completely dominated the game in every statistic. The Bucks had the ball on offense for 55 plays and accounted for 406 yards in total offense.

Lefors had the ball for 53 plays but was able to gain only 114 net yards.

White Deer travels to Phillips next Friday hoping to raise its season mark to 2-3. The Blackhaws defeated Guyton, Okla., 28-13, Friday.

Lefors' next game is at home Saturday against Pampa's junior varsity Shockers.

Razorbacks Rally To Edge Hurricane 21-20

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Quarterback Joe Ferguson hustled his Arkansas teammates 80 yards for a fourth-quarter touchdown as the Razorbacks rallied to edge the University of Tulsa 21-20 Saturday.

The victory was sweet revenge for the Razorbacks, who were upset by Tulsa 21-20 last year — when favored by five touchdowns.

Ferguson completed four of six passes for 40 yards in the winning drive, but it was one of the few times during the afternoon that he was able to puncture the Tulsa secondary.

Jon Richardson scored what proved to be the winning touchdown when he went in from one yard out. Arkansas had taken a 14-7 lead early in the third period on a six-yard scoring pass from Ferguson to Mike Reppond, but Tulsa went back in front on a 34-yard run by Buddy Tate and two Sam Henry field goals.

Dickey Morton carried much of the offensive load for the Razorbacks, gaining 139 yards on 26 carries.

Morton rushed for 132 yards in the Razorbacks' 24-23 victory over Oklahoma State University a week ago.

Tulsa's last hope died when Arkansas linebacker John Wheat deflected a Steve Bowling pass into the hands of feilow linebacker Danny Rhodes with slightly more than four minutes remaining.

Arkansas made two first downs and was able to run out the clock.

For the most part, Arkansas' offense had a great deal of trouble moving against the aggressive Tulsa defenders. The Razorbacks managed to make a first down on only six of their 14 possessions.

Ferguson netted 75 yards passing, completing 10 of 23, after throwing for more than 400 yards in his first two games.

Arkansas scored on its first possession of the second half, moving 32 yards after Rhodes recovered a Raymond Rhodes fumble. The touchdown pass from Ferguson to Reppond was Ferguson's first of the year.

Tulsa came right back, 83 yards in five plays. Raymond

Harvesters Sustain 22-6 Defeat Friday

By CLAY LIVERY
Inconsistency on offense, coupled with too many mistakes and penalties, brought about the downfall of the Pampa Harvesters Friday night as the Cavemen from Carlsbad dealt the home team a 22-6 defeat.

Carlsbad scored three touchdowns before Pampa could manage to get on the scoreboard. The second of those, following an intercepted pass that Carlsbad returned inside the Pampa five-yard line was, in coach Buddy Williams' words, "The turning point of the game."

Bobby Forrest, 205-pound halfback, scored the first Cavemen touchdown on a three-yard run. The kick failed and Carlsbad led 6-0.

The Cavemen were able to extend that lead to 19-0 before Richard McCampbell tallied from 12 yards out late in the second period.

Quarterback Richard Forrest scored Carlsbad's second TD on a one-yard run following the pass interception and connected with Gerald Goad on a 12-yard scoring pass later in the second period.

Bobby Forrest kicked the extra point after the third Carlsbad TD and the Cavemen went to the locker room at half leading 19-6.

Bobby Forrest also accounted for a field goal in the third quarter that was the only scoring done by either team after the half.

Pampa's inconsistency on offense — Carlsbad completely shut off the Harvester's option — saw the home team miss three opportunities to score in the second half.

On Pampa's last chance to score late in the fourth quarter the Harvesters were faced with a fourth and nine inside the Cavemen 20.

Rick Leverich gained enough on the last chance play but coughed up the ball when the Carlsbad secondary converged on him and... hit him right in the mouth... Coach Williams said.

It was a good clean tackle and a tribute to the New Mexico team's ability and desire.

"We had pretty good success running inside," Williams said. "But most of the best plays we had in the game were nullified because of penalties."

Billy Lemons, Harmon Staus and Ed Townsend played a good defensive game. They hit extremely hard throughout the game. Chuck Reeves also had a great game on defense — he was all over the field.

Carlsbad controlled the ball almost the entire third quarter with Pampa having possession of it for only one four-play series.

Coach Williams added, "We were well pleased with the efforts of the kids. They were ready for the ball game and took it to them all the way."

"They were disappointed that they didn't win. Our kids feel that they have a better team than Carlsbad. It just so happens that they won the game."

"I think, not having looked at the game film yet, that we played our best defensive game of the year. If we can develop a consistency on offense we can still be a good team," coach Williams added.

The Harvesters are home this week after being out of town for the last two games. Canyon's Eagles will be in Pampa this Friday. Kick-off time for the game is 7:30 p.m.

Don Iverson Leads

BETTERNDORF, Iowa (AP) — Tour sophomore Don Iverson put together a one-under-par 70 and retained a two-stroke lead Saturday in the third round of the $100,000 Quad Cities Open Golf Tournament.

The 26-year-old Iverson, who trailed twice, rallied down the stretch for a 208-five under par on the 6,501-yard Crow Valley Golf Club course.

Bob Wynn, a 32-year-old non-winning tour regular who twice held the lead, finished with a 70 for 210 and was tied at that figure with rookie Lanny Wadkins, who also had a 70.

Tied at 212, and the only other players under par after 54 holes, were defending champion Deane Beman, Grier Jones and Rick Rhoads. Rhoads had a 68, Beman a 71 and Jones a 69.

Lee Trevino, the British Open champion and the favorite for the $20,000 first prize here, drifted seven strokes off the pace with a 71 for 215.

Iverson, winner of a little more than $20,000 so far this season, had to run in a 10-foot putt for a duce on the ninth hole to stay even with the on-rushing Wynn, whose greatest claim to fame is three Ohio Open titles.

Wynn, two strokes back when the day's play started, birdied the first and seventh holes to catch Iverson, then went in front with a 30-foot birdie putt on the eighth hole.

Iverson's birdie on the ninth put them even again, but Wynn again took the lead with a 10-foot birdie putt on the 10th.

He lost sole possession of the top spot with a three putt bogey on the next hole. Both bogeyed the 14th and Iverson slipped in front when Wynn also bogeyed the 15th, missing the green.

Iverson stretched the lead to two strokes on the final hole, a 508-yard par five. He was just short in two, chipped to about three feet and made the birdie putt.

Ronald Gragg Scores 4 TD's

WHEELER — Ronald Gragg scored four touchdowns here Friday to lead the Shamrock Irish to a 26-7 victory over the Wheeler Mustangs.

Gragg's scores came on runs of 5, 5, 18 and 2 yards as Shamrock got all of its points before Wheeler was able to get on the board.

The Mustangs sole touchdown came on a 55-yard pass from Gary Fisher to Dale Stevens.

Longhorns Eke Out 25-20 Win Over Tech

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Quarterback Alan Lowry rallied the hard pressed Longhorns with two second-half touchdowns runs following crucial Texas Tech mistakes and the defending Southwest Conference champions rolled to a 25-20 victory Saturday night.

Lowry sailed eight and seven yards for touchdowns as the 12th ranked Longhorns overcame a 9-7 halftime deficit to put away the undefeated Red Raiders before 52,187 fans — a second largest in Jones Stadium history.

Defensive back Adrian Ford and linebacker Malcolm Minnick were instrumental in the Texas comeback.

With Texas trailing 12-7 on four grid goals by Texas Tech's Don Grimes, Ford picked off a Joe Barnes pass and returned it 18 yards to the Texas 42. In eight plays, Lowry guided Texas the distance, scooting the last eight yards around left end behind crisp blocking.

Barnes fumbled in the fourth quarter and Minnick pounced on the ball at the Tech 38. Lowry bolted the final seven yards, around right end.

Grimes tied a SWC record with his field goals of 21, 31, 37 and 32 yards as the Red Raiders were stymied time and again deep in Longhorn territory.

Grimes' field goals tied the record set by Bruce Alford of Texas Christian in 1965.

Tech scored its only touchdown with 7 seconds left to play on a 16 yard pass from Barnes to Sophomore Flanker Jeff Jobe.

Clemente Hits 3000th

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente became the 11th man in baseball history to reach 3,000 hits for a career Saturday when he lashed a double in the fourth inning of the Pirates' game against the New York Mets.

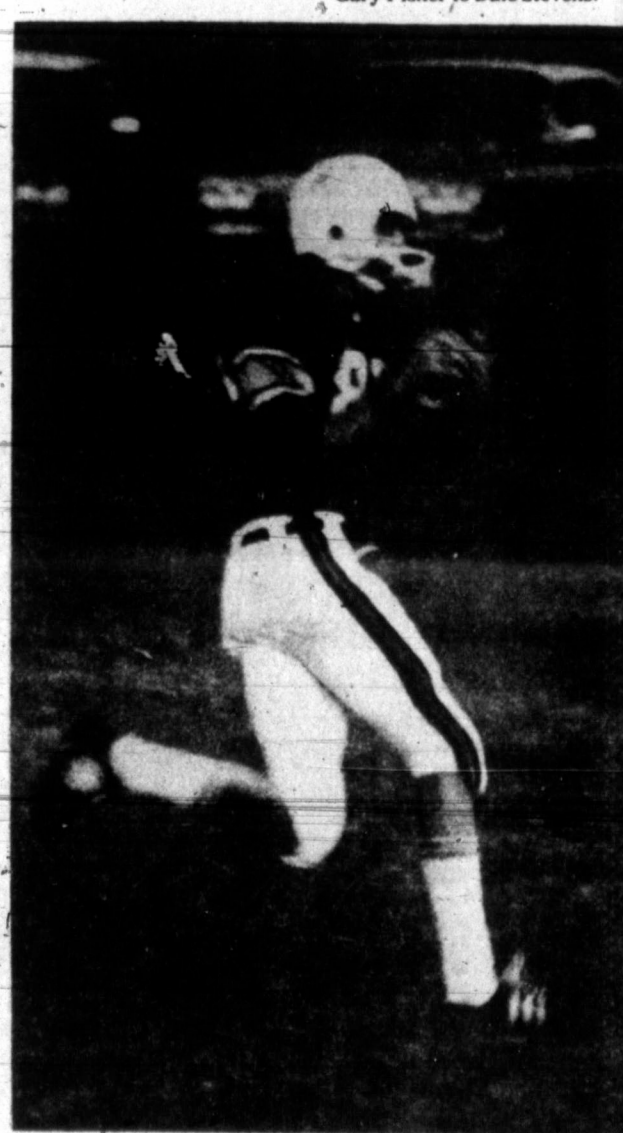

John Matlack was the victim of the historic hit.

Clemente had notched his 2,999th hit on Thursday night in Philadelphia and was lifted from the lineup before his next at bat because he said he wanted No. 3,000 before his team's home fans.

The fans reacted with a standing ovation and the game was stopped as Clemente was awarded the baseball.

Only two other active players, Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves and Willie Mays of the New York Mets, have achieved the 3,000 hit plateau.

Other members of the exclusive club are Ty Cobb, Stan Musial, Tris Speaker, Honus Wagner, Eddie Collins, Nap Lajoie, Paul Waner and Cap Anson. All are in the Hall of Fame.

HAULING IT IN — Miami Warrior end Tim Fatheree catches one of the several passes he took from quarterback David Faulkner in Friday night's 42-28 win over Balko, Okla. Fatheree caught three touchdown passes in the game, running his total to seven scores in the last two contests.

Bosox Still Have Lead

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hot-hitting Carl Yastrzemski drove in two runs with a single and a home run Saturday night, leading the Boston Red Sox to a 3-1 American League victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

The triumph kept Boston 1½ games ahead of Detroit in the AL East race. Both teams have four games remaining, including three against each other beginning Monday at Detroit.

Marty Pattin, 16-13, earned the victory and Yastrzemski, who has led Boston's September surge, keyed the Sox offense.

Boston nipped loser Pat Dobson, 16-18, for a run in the first inning when Tommy Harper singled, stole second and scored on Yastrzemski's single.

The Orioles, eliminated from the East race by Boston Friday night, tied the score in the third. Mark Belanger singled, moved up on a sacrifice and scored on Paul Blair's hit.

Boston took the lead for keeps in the fourth, loading the bases with none out on singles by Reggie Smith and Rico Petronelli and a walk to Carlton Fisk. Dwight Evans' double play bouncer scored Smith.

Nebraska Rumps 49-0

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Johnny Rodgers danced for two touchdowns and Gary Dixon scored three times on short runs as seventh-ranked Nebraska crushed Minnesota 49-0 Saturday.

Although Dixon scored on runs of four, two and six yards and All-American Rich Glover led a stingy defense, it was Rodgers who stood out as Nebraska won its eighth straight from the Gophers.

Army Surprises A&M With 24-14 Victory

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Army surprised Texas A&M's youth corps Saturday night, whipping the Aggies 24-14 before a record non-conference crowd of 46,680.

Army had never seen the Wishbone-T offense used by A&M but handled it well, even though A&M started three freshmen backs, all of whom can run one hundred yards in less than 10 seconds.

The Army defense forced five A&M fumbles and intercepted three passes, A&M was stalled, too, by seven critical penalties, including three for clipping.

West Texas Wins 35-12

CANYON, Tex. (AP) — Lamar University's Cardinals had their seven-game win streak snapped Saturday night as the Buffaloes from West Texas State romped to a 35-12 non-conference victory.

Stubborn defensive units kept the scoreboard dry until midway in the first quarter. On a first and ten, West Texas State quarterback Gary Wartes pitched out to Cole Frailey, who ran 71 yards for the touchdown.

Butting heads with a tough West Texas defensive line, the Cardinals put together two first downs, but received a penalty for illegal motion. After the punt, West Texas State and maneuvered to within field goal range where Arcadio Rivera tried a 51-yarder that was wide.

After a Lamar fumble West Texas quarterback Wartes pitched out to Jimmy Lesle who scampered 23 yards for the second Buff TD.

The Buff defense held tight and forced Lamar to fourth down and two situation on the West Texas 40 which failed.

Good runs by Frailey and Lesle and a pass to Brownfield failed to provide another tally for the Buffs.

Tigers Beat Tigers 15-8

McLEAN — End Skeet Lowry scooped up a Groom fumble in the first quarter and took it in for a touchdown to get the McLean Tigers started on their way to a 15-8 victory over Groom Friday night.

Quarterback Terry Nepper put the Groom-style Tigers ahead, 8-7, before half-time on a one-yard plunge.

McLean came back in the second half to get a safety and another touchdown to ice the game for the home team.

Joe Riley tackled Nepper in the end zone to get credit for the safety and Randy Mason scored the final touchdown on a 20-yard run.

McAshan's 5th TD Pass Gives Ga. Tech 36-36 Tie With Rice

ATLANTA (AP) — Eddie McAshan's fifth touchdown pass of the day and his two-point conversion toss with 17 seconds remaining lifted Georgia Tech to a 36-36 tie with Rice Saturday in an intercollegiate football clash.

McAshan connected with Jim Owens on the two-yard scoring play moments after the Owls were assessed an 11-yard penalty for pass interference in the end zone.

McAshan then passed to Owens for the two-point conversion, ending a final scoring drive that had covered 61 yards in only seven plays.

Rice, a 13-point underdog, appeared to have locked up a victory when Mark Williams kicked a 47-yard field goal with 6:43 remaining, giving the Owls a 36-28 lead.

The Owls, trailing 14-0 at one point, had gained the upper hand on a pair of long runs. Preston Anderson's 99-yard interception return and Bruce Henley's 52-yard punt return.

McAshan hurled touchdown passes of 22 and 55 yards to Jim Robinson, a 25-yarder to Owens, and a one-yarder to Tom Lang, accounting for all of the Jackets' touchdowns.

Bruce Gadd hurled a pair of touchdown passes for Rice, five yards to Joe Buck, and 28 yards to Carl Swierc, who made a remarkable diving catch at the goal line.

The Owls gained momentum when Swierc made his diving catch with 2:25 left in the half, cutting Tech's lead to 21-16.

Rice had scored on a safety midway through the second quarter on a gift from Tech punter Bob Johnson who fled to his end zone to retrieve Richard Smith's errant snap that carried 41 yards. With a brisk breeze blowing in his face, Johnson elected to give Rice the two points rather than possibly setting up a touchdown with a poor punt.

Georgia Tech intercepted three of Gadd's passes, three by Randy Rhoads, and Rice responded by picking off five McAshan passes.

McAshan connected on 23 of 38 for 371 yards and set two school records. His five touchdown passes were the best in a game at Tech and they lifted his career total to 24, eclipsing by three the school stand-

Faulkner Leads Miami Over Balko

MIAMI — Warrior quarterback David Faulkner uncorked for four touchdown passes Friday night to lead Miami to a 42-28 victory over the highly favored Balko, Okla. Bisons.

Miami, who had never beaten Balko before, was not even supposed to be able to stay on the field with the Oklahoma eight-man football.

Biso Gary Morehead scored the first touchdown in the game on a 10-yard pass from Kerry Kramer. Morehead ran for the extra points and Balko led 8-0.

Miami tied the game when Mike Dedmon ran the ball in from six yards. Tim Fatheree caught the conversion pass and the game was all even.

Miami went ahead on a 10-yard pass from Faulkner to Fatheree and the Warriors were never headed after that.

At half-time Miami had a 14-8 lead when the run for the extra points after the second Warrior touchdown failed.

Faulkner got the second half scoring underway when he took the ball over from one yard out and then added two points on the conversion.

Miami erupted for 20 points in the third quarter. Fatheree was on the receiving end of two more touchdown passes, covering 75 and 45 yards respectively, in that period.

Miami's last touchdown was made by Don Ed Howard on an eight-yard pass from Faulkner. David's fourth TD pass of the night.

Balko scored once in the third and twice more in the fourth quarter but was unable to catch up to the inspired Miami team.

Detroit Wins

DETROIT (AP) — Exploding for six runs in the first inning, the Detroit Tigers went on to defeat the Milwaukee Brewers 13-4 Saturday and keep their American League Eastern Division championship hopes alive.

Tiger League Season Underway

Tiger League football got underway last week with three games being played at Optimist Park. The league is sponsored by the Pampa Optimist Club.

Three more games are slated this week-two on Tuesday and one on Wednesday. Tuesday the Browns will play the Redskins at 6 p.m. and the Rams will meet the Colts at 7:30.

The week's action will be closed out the following day at 6 p.m. when the Cardinals collide with the Packers.

In last week's games, the Packers and Colts got things underway with the Colts coming out on top 19-0. The game was well played and the Colts were unable to score until the final play of the first half, when Rudy Roland turned in a 45 yard scamper to score.

The Colts added two more touchdowns in the second half on passing plays. John Davis made the second TD and Steve Duke added the final score in the 4th quarter. The Packers moved the ball well but were unable to cross the goal.

The Cardinals turned loose two fleet running backs-Ricky Marsh and Monty Walker-to score a 38-0 win over the Browns. Marsh tallied four times and Walker scored two, one of the latter's coming on a 65 yard pass interception.

Pirate Team Honors Dads

LEFORS (Sp.) The Lefors Pirates honored their fathers at Shaw Field prior to last week's game with Valley High, a contest which the Pirates won 48-7.

Each team member invited a relative or a friend to be his guest if his father was unable to attend.

Special recognition was extended to F.C. Jones, a friend of the Pirates for many years. Mr. Jones has done more than any other single person to assist the boys of Lefors by his constant encouragement and financial aid.

Forty-three boys and guests were introduced at the game by Miss Norma Lantz, pep squad sponsor.

The Pirates will celebrate Homecoming Oct. 12 at the game with Pampa's junior varsity Shockers.

Lefors' football Sweetheart will be crowned at half-time of the game. Three girls have been chosen as candidates for the honor: Cheryl Sims, senior; Ann Vincent, junior; and Beverly Lee, junior.

The girl chosen for the honor will be given an arm bouquet of roses, a sweetheart necklace and the traditional decorated Pirate helmet.

Ted Williams Resigns As Texas Ranger Mgr.

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Hall of Famer Ted Williams has decided not to manage the Texas Rangers baseball club after the current season is completed, Robert E. Short, president of the club announced Saturday.

Williams, who had a five-year managerial contract with the team, thus will leave after a four-year term as manager but will remain with the club in an advisory capacity.

"I will be forever grateful for Ted for returning to baseball and devoting four years to managing," Short said.

"We are sorry to lose his direction on the field but sympathize with his desire for a less demanding role. Ted has given 100 per cent of himself and his return to baseball provided the needed stimulant to the sport."

Short and general manager Joe Burke said a new manager will be announced shortly after this season.

"It was my decision and mine alone," Williams said. "I had personal reasons and can't give anything more than that. I'm sure this is the right decision for myself and for the team."

Short said Williams will remain with the club in any position he wishes, with no title and no specific responsibility.

Williams became manager of the Washington Senators four years ago.

Pruitt Leads Sooners

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — All-America halfback Greg Pruitt scampered for three touchdowns and reserve fullback Tim Welch gained 158 yards to power second-ranked Oklahoma to a 52-3 victory over Clemson Saturday.

Pruitt scored on runs of five, four and one yards and gained 52 yards over-all. Welch, starting in place of injured Leon Crosswhite, kept the Sooners' offense rolling with consistent gains up the middle.

The Sooners led 7-0 after the first quarter, but exploded for 17 points in the last seven minutes before the half to break the game open.

The victory was the third straight triumph for the Sooners, who still have not yielded a

PRO CHARTS

7---Cleveland Cavaliers

NBA—Central Division

1971-72 finish: W 23, L 59—4th place

PROSPECTUS: People stopped laughing at the Cavaliers in their second season. With rookie Austin Carr healthy they rattled off five straight in the fall, started Los Angeles the last week of season with an upset but still finished last. Still without super center or forward, but added old pro Lenny Wilkens. Young club will still make mistakes, but not as many. Carr will be club's first superstar if healthy full season. Dave Sorenson, John Johnson and Rick Roberson will continue to improve. But so will other Central Division clubs.

FORWARDS: John Johnson (17.0) is an adequate forward. He shoots well, rebounds pretty well and gives up ball to open man. But does nothing exceptionally well and is poor defensively. Bobby "Bingo" Smith (15.0) is a running, shooting forward. Sorenson (7.0), once compared to Jerry Lucas (both are from Ohio State and are a rugged 6-8) may this year give Coach Bill Fitch the defense and rebounding club badly needs. Or it may come from Dwight Davis, University of Houston, the No. 1 draft pick. Most scouts were skeptical on Davis, though Barry Clemens (7.1 with Seattle) a journeyman at best. Ex-UCLA center Steve Patterson showed little as rookie pro forward. Rating: C+.

CENTER: Rick Roberson, Wilt Chamberlain's ex-backup with Lakers, quickly won No. 1 job from Walt Wesley, skinny, erratic incumbent. Roberson had 801 rebounds, 13.1 ppg and desire. He's more consistent than Wesley but at best an average front-line center. His asset is youth and urge to improve. Has good hands, good instincts, mobility. Rating: B-.

GUARDS: August trade sending Butch Beard to Seattle for Lenny Wilkens and Clemens a shocker. Cavaliers seemed to be building with kids, but feel Wilkens will help big right away. The 12-year vet is ninth among all active scorers in NBA, fourth among all-time playmakers. He is excellent as influence on kids, will feed open man, shoot pretty little jumper or hook when open himself. A perfect complement to Carr, 6-4, on the brink of greatness. Things happen with him on floor. If leg injury is healed he'll lure adoring fans, spark fast break, become nucleus of team. Behind Wilkens and Carr are Charlie Davis (9.8), a streaky offensive guard; Bobby Washington, a quick but small asset, John Warren (5.0) and Jim Clemons, ex-Laker. Rating: B.

PREDICTION: Wilkens' cool leadership will be settling influence on kids, but defense won't be much better. Fourth in Central.

Only four teams among the Class 4A elite of Texas high school football saw action Friday night—and the quartet, including top-ranked San Antonio Lee, found the pickings to their liking.

All the other schoolboy classes also were relatively free of upsets, although the top-ranked team in Class A, Sonora, was beaten and Class B kingpin Celina was tied. Sonora was stopped 21-8 by Ozona of Class 2A and Celina and Tom Bean battled to an 8-8 draw.

Uvalde continued to roll atop Class 3A with a 46-0 slaughter of San Antonio Clemens. Second-ranked Brenham beat Wharton 24-7, but No. 3 Silsbee was held to a 14-14 tie by Huntsville.

Also in 3A, No. 4 Cuero bopped Edna 35-6. No. 5 Ennis edged Palestine 20-14, sixth-ranked Gregory-Portland walloped Rockport-Fulton 61-8. No. 7 Mount Pleasant blanked Pittsburg 35-0. No. 8 Monahans scored Sweetwater 16-6 and 10th-ranked Wichita Falls Hirsch shut out Ardmore, Okla., 26-0. No. 9 Kilgore was idle.

In Class 2A, only seventh-ranked Hallettsville was beaten, 16-14 by LaGrange. Top-ranked Childress continued to set a powerful pace with a 62-0 shellacking of Wellington. Second-ranked Refugio had an open date. No. 3 Friendswood topped Sweeny 27-8. No. 4 Jacksboro clobbered Stamford 65-6, fifth-ranked Hondo goose-egged San Antonio St. Gerard's 28-0, sixth-ranked Tomball chilled Cold Springs 41-6. Packers Hope To End Dallas Streak

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Green Bay Packers, who have been fuming all week, get a chance to take it out on the champion Dallas Cowboys in their National Football League game Sunday.

The game at Milwaukee is one of the headlines on the third weekend of the NFL season.

The Packers are steamed up because they feel they defeated Oakland last Sunday instead of losing 20-14 as the official records show. They claim Jack Tatum's record 104-yard touchdown run for the Raiders should not have counted because MacArthur Lane never had control of the ball on a forward pass. Officials ruled it a fumble.

In any event the Packers are 1-1 going against the 2-0 Cowboys who will be seeking their 13th straight victory in regular season, playoff and Super Bowl competition.

It's possible that the Packers will start rookie quarterback Jerry Tagge who led Nebraska to the national collegiate championship last year. Scott Hunter, the regular starter, has a back injury. Craig Morton again will direct the Cowboys. Washington, tied with Dallas for first in the NFC East, plays at New England with Miami at Minnesota and the New York Jets at Houston.

In other games Baltimore is at Buffalo; Cincinnati at Cleveland; Detroit at Chicago; Kansas City at Denver; Los Angeles at Atlanta; Pittsburgh at St. Louis; San Diego at Oakland; and San Francisco at New Orleans. The New York Giants play at Philadelphia Monday night.

The Jets are a heavy favorite to beat the Oilers, but it's hard to likely that Joe Namath of the Jets will duplicate his feat of last week when he passed for six touchdowns against the Colts.

The Dolphins will rely on their hard running backs, Larry Csonka, Mercury Morris and Jim Kiick to try to beat the Vikings and stay tied with the Jets for first in the AFC East.

O. J. Simpson, who ran for 138 yards in leading the Bills over the 49ers last week, is hoping for another 100-yard yard game against the Colts.

Reapers Defeat La Plata 27-20

Pampa Junior High's Reapers traveled to Hereford Thursday and came home with a 27-20 win over La Plata Junior High.

Doug Lee scored the Reapers' first touchdown on a 3 yard plunge. Larry Petty kicked the extra point.

Petty scored next for PJH on a 30 yard pass from quarterback Jerry Matney. He again kicked the extra point.

Jewel Landers caught a 34 yard pass on that series to keep the Reapers' drive alive.

Lee again got into the end zone for PJH's third touchdown. He took the ball 27 yards for that score. Doug also scored Pampa's fourth and final touchdown on a 30 yard romp behind fine blocking.

The extra point kick was missed after the third touchdown but Jimmy Martin converted after the final score to give the Reapers their 27th point.

Several players stood out on defense for Pampa Junior High. Tim Hill led the defenders by intercepting two passes.

Tony Stafford took the ball away from a La Plata ball carrier and Frankie Lemons picked off a fumble in the air.

PJH's eighth grade Reapers got district play underway Thursday in Perryton. The game ended in a 0-0 tie.

Pampa had 158 yards total offense to 92 for Perryton. Numerous mistakes on the part of the Reapers contributed to their failure to put any points on the scoreboard.

The junior Reapers had 95 yards in penalties and bobbled the ball seven times-five of which were recovered by Perryton.

Pampa Junior High's ninth grade has an open date this Thursday while the eighth grade hosts Borger South.

On fourth down the Colorado quarterback attempts a forward pass against Oklahoma and it is batted in the air by a defensive lineman. The quarterback catches the batted ball and throws to a halfback who is behind the line of scrimmage. The halfback runs for a touchdown.

2. Penalize Colorado 5 yards for an illegal forward pass and replay the down.
3. Penalize Colorado 5

8--Houston Rockets

NBA--Central Division
1971-72 finish: W 34, L 48--4th place

PROSPECTUS: Coach Tex Winter's first winter in Houston was traumatic. He had basically a young, inexperienced team plus Elvin Hayes, and ditched his triple post offense quickly, then finished with a .500 second half. Mercifully transposed from the Pacific Division to the Central, Rockets unloaded Hayes for versatile Jack Marin, added Jimmy Walker from Detroit, Otto Moore from Phoenix. It'll take awhile for Rockets to get to know each other. If Winter can motivate Walker, Houston could sneak into play-offs.

FORWARDS: Marin, 6-6, is best forward Rockets have ever had. Blossomed last year into All-Star, averaging 22.3 ppg and will be Rockets' big gun. Does everything well. Rudy Tomjanovich (15.0) had fine sophomore year but must keep improving, especially on defense. Cliff Smith (8.9) gives movement on offense and depth up front, but will play less with Marin here. Winter has four forwards who can play, must keep all happy. Rating: B.

CENTER: Otto Moore (7.6) was unhappy being two-platoned at Phoenix, is back near scene of college exploits at Pan-American. The stringbean 6-11 often gets outmuscled under boards but keeps trying. Has superb speed but brittle hands. Will need help on boards from forwards. Dick Cunningham (2.7) a slow and limited backup. Rating: C-.

GUARDS: Jimmy Walker (21.3) played in Dave Bing's shadow five years, now has shot at being kingpin. Can score, pass and run exceptionally well when not brooding. Little Calvin Murphy, NBA's shortest player, made big gains after good rookie year. Now established as one of game's quickest guards, great leaper, fine shooter (18.2) at best penetrating. Needs strong, tall guard like Walker alongside him to defense opposing strong guard. When Walker's resting, Mike Nevlin (7.6) at 6-4 can also do it. Team's best defensive guard, Nevlin was good surprise as rookie. He's strong, exceptionally smart with good hands, rebounding savvy. Assistant coach Johnny Egan (2.9) is an inspiration and gives lift off bench. Rating: B-.

PREDICTION: With three new regulars in line-up and all starters under 30, Rockets will be better than Cleveland. Third in Central.

Cowboys Figure To Withstand Packer Anger

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A week's passage may have spoiled the Green Bay Packers' indignation, but their infirm will need more convalescence than the Dallas Cowboys will allow.

The Packers will take a 1-1 record—which they insist should be 2-0—against the unbeaten, defending National Football League champions at County Stadium Sunday (2 p.m. EDT). And unless their patchwork lineup performs above most expectations, their chances for a 1-2 mark seem excellent.

Green Bay's defense held opponents without a touchdown for 11 consecutive quarters, counting the final preseason game, until the Oakland Raiders, aided by a 34-yard pass interference penalty which put the ball a yard from the goal, pushed across the winning score last weekend.

The interference call, and the ruling that MacArthur Lane had fumbled, rather than muffed, a pitchout three yards from the Oakland end zone had the Packers seething all week. They claim Lane never had control of the football, and that therefore the 104-yard runback by the Raiders' Jack Tatum should not count.

But it did count, and will—despite the midweek comment by Mark Duncan, NFL personnel director, that films supported the Packers' claim Lane never had possession. The score remains, as do effects of the physical battering the Raiders inflicted.

Of the six offensive linemen, including tight end Rich McGeorge, who started against Oakland, only guard Malcolm Snider may open at the same position this week.

Second year man Len Garrett, with possible help from newcomer Pete Lammons, will replace McGeorge, out for the year with torn knee ligaments. Tackle Dick Himes may move to guard, where Bill Lueck is questionable because of a sore shoulder.

Coach Dan Devine would like to shift Gale Gillingham back from defensive line to guard, but Gillingham has a bad knee. And with tackle Francis Peay (knee) and center Ken Bowman (shoulder) also hurting, the Packers practiced this week with a line of center Cal Withrow, Snider and Himes at guard and Bill Hayhoe and rookie Kevin Hunt at tackle.

The Packers' running game is set with John Brockington recovered from a neck injury and Lane from a bout with flu, but the passing attack is sure to miss McGeorge. The team's leading receiver with five catches.

Quarterback Scott Hunter missed virtually the entire week with a back injury. If Hunter can't play—or does but is re-injured—the signal calling will fall to rookie Jerry Tagge, himself just recovered from a leg bruise suffered Aug. 27.

The only other quarterback on the roster, Frank Patrick, is out with a shoulder injury.

There has been concern that last week's loss may have a severe psychological effect on the Packers, one of the NFL's youngest teams. But linebacker Dave Robinson, a veteran of championship years, remains optimistic.

"I said in July we had a lot of talent there and I'm not going to get down on this team now," Robinson said. "We're in the same place we were two weeks ago—a first-place tie."

However, Robinson believes, beating the Cowboys is of special importance.

"In order to win this year, we've got to do something in our division (NFL Central)," he said. "But we can't afford too many losses outside our division, because ours is a dog eat dog division. We've already lost one (Oakland) and we can't afford another."

The Cowboys, shooting for a 13th-straight regular or post-season victory, list rookie punter Marv Bateman questionable with an ankle injury. Receiver Bob Hayes, running back Walt Garrison and Tackle Ralph Neely have lesser injuries but are expected to play.

Virginia Tech Edges SMU Mustangs 13-10

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Randy Don Strock fired a 42-yard scoring toss and brother Dave Strock kicked a pair of field goals Saturday while Virginia Tech's Gobblers prevented Southern Methodist from scoring with a tight goal-line stand in the waning seconds and edged the Mustangs 13-10 in an intersectional football battle.

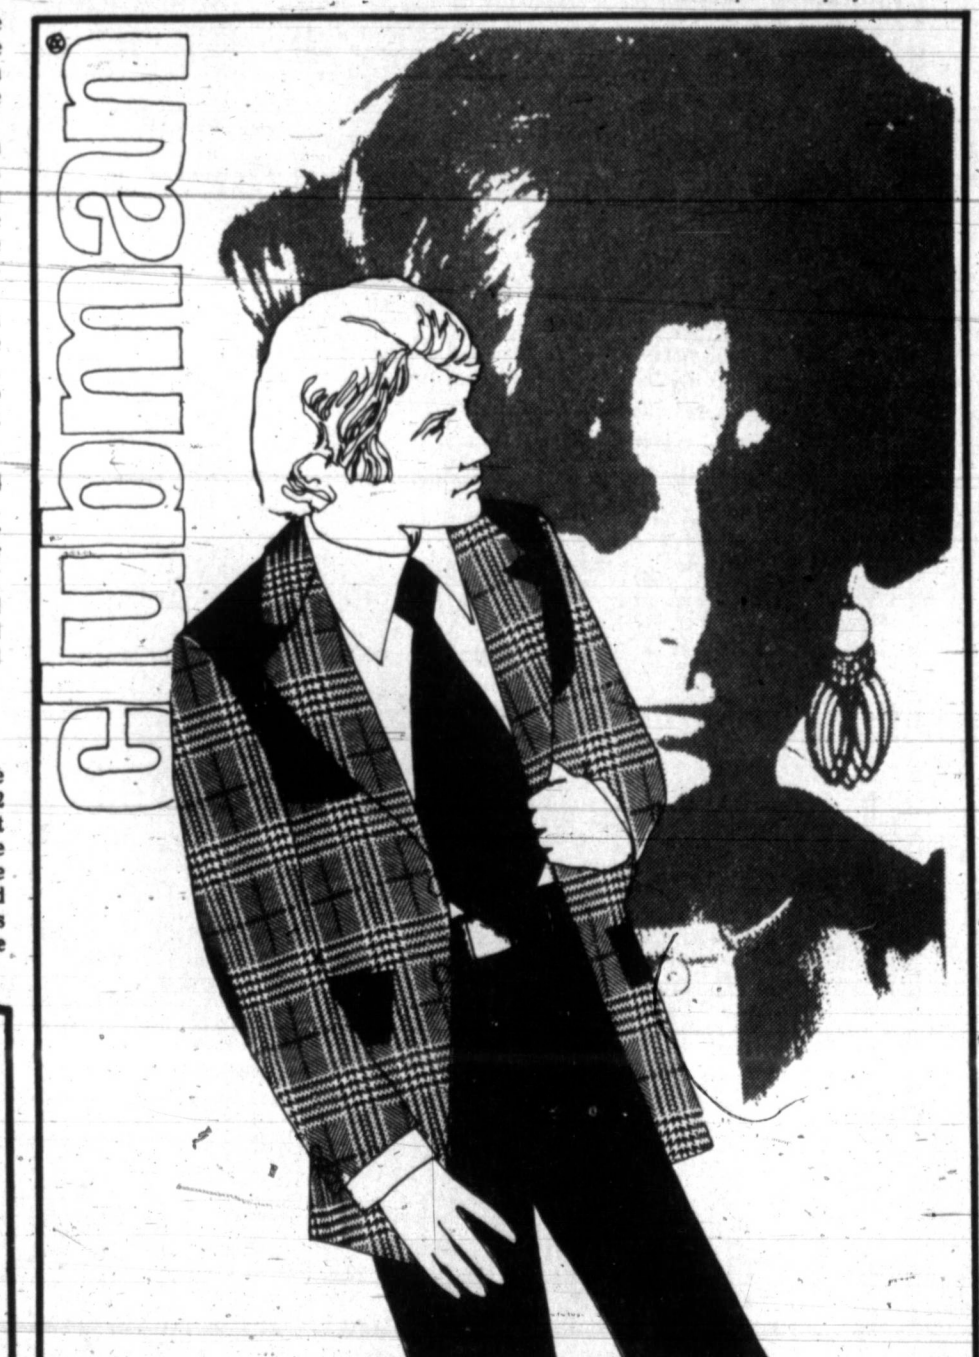

The victory was Tech's first in three games this season while the loss was SMU's first setback in four outings.

The Mustangs' last-minute bid to pull the game out came after Ed Johnson recovered a Don Testerman fumble on the Gobblers' 29 with 3:34 to go.

Quarterback John Blackburn hit tight end Rory Best with a 21-yard pass on a fourth down and eight situation, giving the Mustangs first-and-goal on the nine. It was Best's first reception of the year.

In three carries, running back Alvin Maxson got the ball to the one, but with 13 seconds to go, Blackburn was nailed for no gain when he attempted to scoot around left end for the score.

The game was riddled with 14 turnovers, seven by each team. The Mustangs recovered four Tech fumbles and picked off three of Don Strock's passes. Tech, meanwhile, recovered three SMU fumbles, intercepted three passes and blocked a field goal attempt.

Dallas QB Back on Top--For Now

Morton Continues Roller Coaster Career

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
DALLAS, Texas. (NEA)—Would you want to turn over the direction of your $15 million business to the blithe spirit of Craig L. Morton?

Now people think of Craig, one of those tall sprouts from the sunshine state of California, as man pounded down by adversity, bogged in a morass of mediocrity, ego bruised and personality negligent.

So here he is again, starting quarterback for the Dallas Cowboys, Super champions in quest of another title.

As recently as this past March, Craig descended from an aerie in the mountains of Colorado, where he had retreated to reflect upon his future (and indulge in some surreptitious skiing), and put in a call to Dallas, collect, to tell Coach Tom Landry that, yes, he would be content to stay with the Cowboys.

Last year he relinquished the role of starting quarterback to Roger Staubach and retreated to stoicism. But a quarterback approaching 30 has to do some self-assessment when he has lost his job and the Cowboys were sympathetic. They indicated if Craig felt he'd rather take his suspect skills to another team, they'd oblige him.

"I thought about it," admits Craig, "—maybe for a month after the Super Bowl (in which his successor, the scrambling Staubach, steered Dallas to victory). But it was never serious. You see, I'm convinced it takes two good quarterbacks to win a Super Bowl."

"I also felt if I could have a strong arm, I could compete with Roger. You see, the layoff last year did me good."

"Also, I've never been with any other pro team but the Cowboys. I don't want to go anywhere else."

It had taken Craig four years of apprenticeship to convince the Cowboys he was equipped to play first-string quarterback, and then he only got the chance by default when Dandy Don Meredith discovered his long suit was mouthing bon mots over the air instead of in the huddle. For a couple of years, Craig was the field leader and even got the Cowboys as far as the Super Bowl in 1970.

That was the year he also labored with a separated shoulder and an excruciatingly painful elbow and had to get both surgically repaired. In the Super Bowl loss to Baltimore, he was the goat of an interception in the closing seconds which led to the Colts' winning field goal.

Besides his downs-and-ups as a player, Craig's tenure in Dallas has been volatile for other occurrences. Some guys are accident prone. Craig is incident prone. He has been apprehended by gendarmes at three o'clock in the morning for stopping on a freeway to perform a natural earthy function. He was caught skinny-dipping in a local pond, also at three in the morning. Not alone, by the way.

Somehow, these reports don't quite jibe with the placid soul of Craig Morton, who can be gentle almost to a fault in the milieu of his profession and who reacts with the same listlessness whether he has been sacked by a tigerish defensive end or has thrown a touchdown pass to Bob Hayes. He breaks a huddle with all the verve of a death row prisoner taking his last walk.

But the Cowboys have him and he's their man momentarily to put them on the route to Super Bowl VIII—ever since Roger Staubach took one step too many in an exhibition game against the Los Angeles Rams and got his shoulder busted. Until Staubach returns to full duty, in maybe another month, the reliance is on Craig.

"It calls for a reshaping," admitted Tom Landry, the computerized coach of the Cowboys, who matches Morton in excitability level. "Our championship season was built on Roger as a scrambling quarterback, no doubt about it. Craig's a different type. It affects the nature of our offense."

Either way, Tom still calls the signals on every play, via tight end messengers. Choosing the plays is a chore once delegated to Morton but no more.

"We've gotten good results this way for two years," says Landry. "Why change?"

Craig himself shrugs. "We use the same plays we've always had. I don't think anything's different." Only his job status.

Busy Hands, Happy Life

Unlike the "Whistler's Mother" stereotype, Mrs. Elizabeth Kretzmeier, 92, is a great-grandmother whose days are filled with creative activities.

First among her hobbies is making cloth dolls, each of which receives careful attention to every detail. Perfection is her aim. Self-satisfaction is her excellence. Always on the look-out for new ideas, she makes not only the traditional Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy dolls, but Mrs. Beasley, a maid doll and one she calls Sunbonnet Sue. Unable to keep up with the demand, she has already made 43 this year. Last year she made more than 200.

Each step, performed carefully, includes cutting out the doll body and sewing it together; tracing the clothes' patterns on the material, cutting them out, and sewing them, including the handwork involved in hemming the garments. Turning the body inside out, she hand-embroiders the face features and sews in the hoops for the hair, after which she turns it "right-side-out," stuffing it with pieces of polyester. The final step is the dressing of each doll. It takes her "two or three days" to complete a doll.

Although this is enough to keep anyone busy, Mrs. Kretzmeier has other hobbies, including hooking rugs, crocheting, knitting and sewing home decorative items like a doorstep cover that looks like a sitting hen. An excellent cook, she enjoys making homemade bread, rolls, sweet rolls and coffee cake.

For exercise, she walks daily, to the grocery store (she has her own cart in which to bring home her purchases) or to a store to buy materials for her hobbies, or just for pleasure.

Far from being homebound, she is an active member of the Pampa Rebekah Lodge, attends the Senior Citizens Center weekly and is a member of the First United Methodist Church. A resident of Kansas for 43 years, she moved to Pampa three years ago and resides in her own apartment. Born in Germany, she came to the United States when she was one year old. "Too much of a tomboy" as a girl, she began her handwork after she was married.

Her first doll was made for a neighbor child from a basic pattern she still uses, although she has changed and adapted it, such as making fingers, instead of the "round hand" called for by the pattern.

The mother of five, two of her sons live in Pampa. Roy and S.W. Kretzmeier. She has 17 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

The church was decorated with 14-branched arch candelabra, entwined with greenery, and two urn arrangements of pink gladioli. Pews were decorated with pink bows.

THE BRIDE

The bride was given in marriage by her father, with the "her mother and I" avowal. She was attired in a formal gown of angelmist peau de soie and Venice lace designed with a high neckline, bib front, long Gibson-girl sleeves and semi-bouffant skirt. Inserts of Venice lace, complemented with ruffles of peau de soie, enhanced the neckline, bodice, sleeves and hemline of the gown.

Her mantilla of imported illusion, edged with ruffles and lace and extending into a chapel train, fell from a coil. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and stephanotis over a white Bible, a gift of the bridegroom.

ATTENDANTS

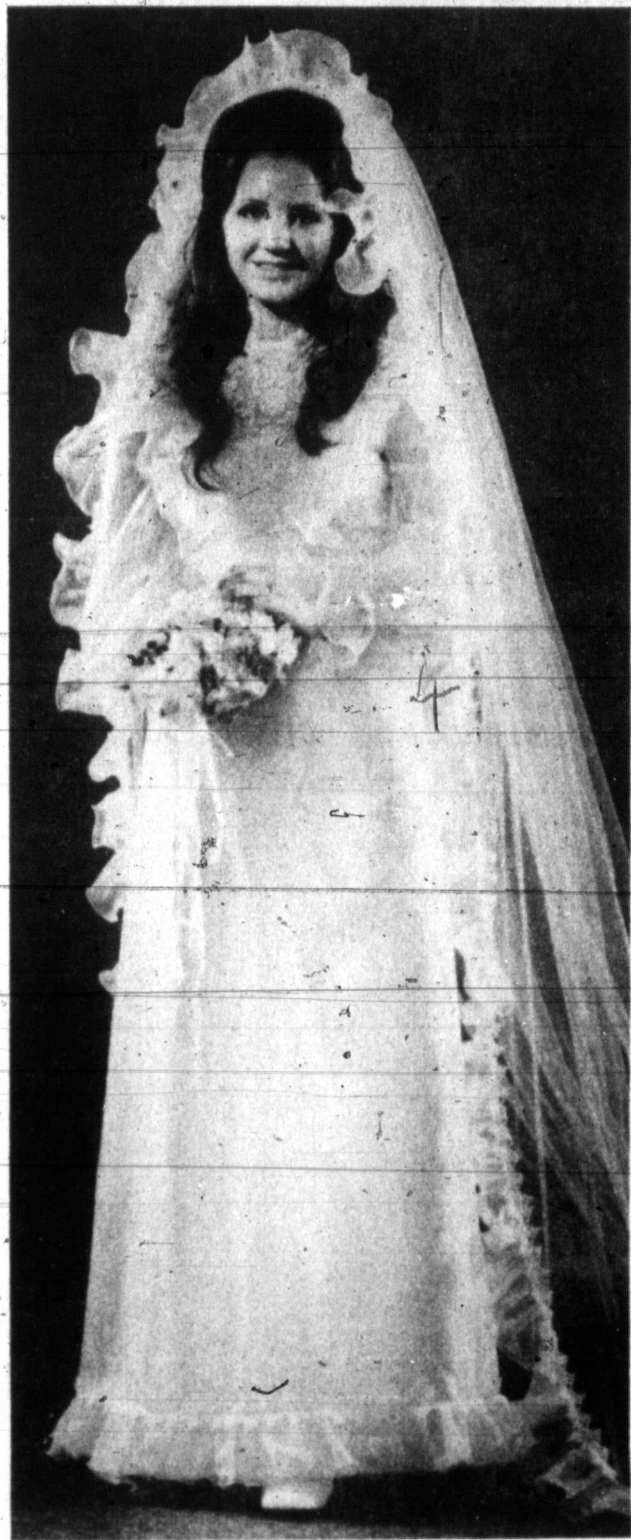

Miss Pam Soukup of Pampa, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, and bridesmaid was Miss Melinda Manning of Pampa. Both wore floor-length gowns of deep-pink dotted Swiss, styled with long sleeves and featuring ruffles on the bodice, around the neckline and hemline. Each carried a nosegay of white mums.

as a remedy for everything from excess weight to executive tension and as just plain fun. And who could be happier than teachers such as Al Gilbert, whose Los Angeles studio these days echoes clatter of tapping toes. Right, he leads the class in a heel-step routine.

A few minutes of personal instruction, above left, can make any girl feel like Ginger Rogers to Gilbert's Fred Astaire. Sometimes, there can be too many left feet for Gilbert's comfort, above right. Generally, however, the class manages to get it all together in time for a grand finale, left. Eat your heart out, Busby Berkely.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

MONDAY, OCT. 2

Your birthday today: Thinking your way thru problems is a complex challenge; all to gain, much to lose. Those who progress with you build deep relationships. Today's natives get what they want, the problem being mainly one of selecting something simple or feasible as a goal.

Aries (March 21-April 19): You have good will and co-operation near at hand, and the chance of finding out details of distant affairs that do concern you.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Gather your people for a council on how to improve matters. Property and possessions should be put into order, some traded or sold.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Experiments will succeed, especially if you concentrate on a few important changes. Romance has surprises, most of them beneficial.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): New methods run counter to your habits but bring solutions to puzzles that had eluded you. Review your progress, revise plans.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Project good humor, let other people help run the show. You have errands, correspondence, serious study of new materials to attend to.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Being near home base seems essential for now. Get technical help for any question beyond your immediate power to correct.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Reality comes in odd or bizarre combinations. Waste no time wondering; seize a passing advantage, taking older people with you.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Fortright action, even without full information, brings.

results. Financial moves need special attention, may yield extra results.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Education is the main frontier now. New business contacts are promising; settlements, financial moves are better postponed.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Do your work so that it comes to full attention, including changes you have prepared. Marital and partnership agreements are firm.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Nature is your best guide, with more listening and learning on your part than directing and teaching. Young people lead the way.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): The most direct path to success may be beyond your idea of what is normal. Pause for a moment's reflection and plunge in.

Civic Culture Club Given Program On Folk Music

"Americanism, Gateway to Music Appreciation" was the program presented by Mrs. Irvin Cole at the meeting of Civic Culture Club in the home of Mrs. A.D. Hills.

The quotation by Andrew Fletcher, "Give me the making of the songs of a nation, and I care not who makes its laws," opened her discussion of talk on folk music.

"Our folk songs reflect the history of our vigorous, singing nation," she told the women, "and the Library of Congress and several universities have extensive collections."

As an illustration, she played a medley of American folk songs.

In the 1890's "ragtime" became popular, she stated, pointing out it was a disciplined form, capable of astonishing variety and subtlety.

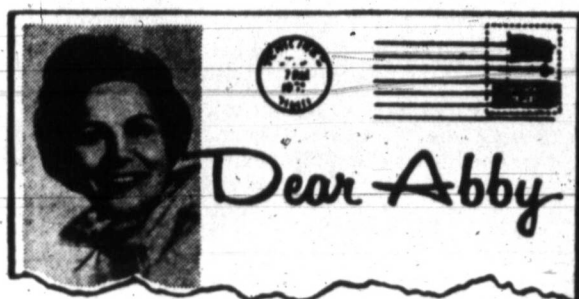

In talking about modern music, she quoted Henry Mancini as saying, "There is no set form any more. Music is free, less rigid than it has ever been. But there will always be a place for romantic music."

She concluded by playing Mancini's arrangement of the theme from "Love Story."

Mrs. F.R. Grantham presided for the guest-day event. Guests introduced were Mmes. M.H. Stephens, Jim Cunningham, Carl E. Exelson and Glyn Kirby.

Members present were Mmes. E.L. Anderson, Irvin Cole, A.B. Cross, C.V. Forsman, F.R. Grantham, A.D. Hills, John McKnerney, Carl Patchin, D.A. Rife, Carl Smith and Chester Williams.

Next meeting will be at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 10, with Mrs. C.V. Forsman, 923 Mary Ellen.

Will a man who fools a cat fool a girl, too?

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Ted and I have been dating for about three months, and he is perfect for me in every way, except one.

I love cats, and Ted hates them. When he first started coming here, he asked me to please keep Snowball in the other room because he detested cats. [He wasn't allergic to them, he just didn't like cats.]

Snowball is like a member of the family, but to please Ted, I locked her in the other room when he came over.

Well, last Sunday, Ted stopped by unexpectedly, and Snowball was loose. When he saw her, he put out his hand in a friendly gesture, and said, "Here kitty, kitty, kitty." Then he gave out with some very authentic "Meows"! I nearly collapsed.

Snowball went right to him and affectionately nuzzled up to his leg and started purring. Then Ted sat down, and Snowball hopped up into his lap, while he stroked her fur and spoke gently to her.

When it came time for Ted to leave, he couldn't get Snowball off his lap.

I said, "I thought you hated cats?"

He replied, "I can't stand them!"

Now, Abby, if Ted is so good at covering up his true feelings that he can fool a cat, wouldn't you say he could fool a person, too?

TED'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: CAT-egorically!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who is in more trouble than anybody you ever heard from. And it's all over something my mom thinks I did, but I really didn't.

Here's what happened: I keep a diary and I have been putting a lot of stuff in it that isn't true because I have this real snooty girl friend who comes over here and sneaks looks in my diary every chance she gets, so all that stuff is just made up for HER to believe.

Well, Mom got hold of my diary and read it, and all you-know-what broke loose. She told me that if Jeff—he's the kid I go with—ever comes around again she will have him ARRESTED!

Abby, I tried to tell my mother that we didn't do any of those things I wrote about in my diary, but she said that being a liar is as bad as being a tramp, and now she couldn't believe a word I said.

I begged and pleaded, but she wouldn't listen. Please help me! What am I going to do?

GROUNDNUT UNTIL CHRISTMAS

DEAR GROUNDNUT: Quit begging and whining—that's babyish. From now on, try to behave in your most mature manner and I'll bet your mom reconsiders and lets you off. [P.S. Shame on your mom for snooping in your diary. Your girl friend is not quite grown up yet... but what's your mom's excuse?]

DEAR ABBY: I have been a papergirl for almost two years, and the other day I jokingly remarked about how few tips I got from people on my route. I was told, "Why should you get any tips? All you do is deliver papers!" [She was serious, too.]

So, all I do is deliver papers? If it were only that simple! Being a carrier is more than that.

Delivering newspapers is... getting up at 6 a.m. on Sunday morning to do the papers, and finding a foot of new snow... mothers asking you to stay with their kids "for a minute"—and coming back an hour later... collecting in July and getting a nice sunburn. [No carrier ever tans.]... knocking on a door until your knuckles are raw, waiting for 10 minutes, and finding out they don't have any money... wearing three of everything in below zero weather, and then getting your nose frostbitten... having the newspapers come at 3 p.m. on a hot day when you want to go swimming, and at 1:30 p.m. the next day, when it's raining.

All in all, I've been mauled by dogs, clawed by cats, and attacked by little kids. Depending on the season, I've been pelted with snowballs, rocks and mud. Yes, all I do is deliver papers. Sign me... KNOWS WHY

Problem? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L.A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Correct Pattern Size

(First in a Series.)

By Mabel S. Obenchain

Sewing has never been as exciting, as rewarding or as easy as it is now. The professional tools and materials which used to be carefully guarded trade secrets are at your finger tips in notion departments and piece goods sections.

If you are about to start your first adventure in home dressmaking or embarking on another of many, your first step is to know how you measure up, for your pattern size is determined by your body measurements and has no relation to age.

With a new tape measure—old ones can be inaccurate and lead you astray with their stretched-out inches—determine your measurements in the following areas:

1. Bust
2. Waist
3. Hips
4. Back Waist Length

The back waist length will tell you your figure type. There are four basic figure types: If your figure is tall with average developed bust, waist and hips, you will want to get a misses pattern. If you are short waisted with a small high bust, a junior pattern is for you because this is a figure type.

not an age. For the mature figure patterns in women's sizes will be the right choice and if your figure is slightly shorter and fuller than average, half size patterns are created especially for you.

The bust measurement will tell you your size, except for pants and skirts. If your bust measurement calls for one size and your hip measurement calls for another, select your pattern according to your bust as alterations in this area are the most difficult to make.

These measurements should be checked with the size chart on your pattern. They are not measurements of the pattern pieces. Patterns are designed and made with an allowance for ease, usually 3 inches in the bust area, 1/2 inch in the waist line and a minimum of 2 inches in the hips. More bustline ease is allowed on coats and suit jackets.

The pattern industry has established new standard body measurements in order to bring pattern sizes into conformity with the standard ready-to-wear sizes. Patterns made under the old measurements are also available. With new sizing a size smaller pattern will be required as a general rule.

For example, under old sizing, a size 14 was based on body measurements of 34-26-36. Under new sizing the body measurements of a size 14 are 36-27-38. If your size is a 14 under old sizing, it probably will take a size 12 under the new. Just remember the bust size is the key measurement in selecting the correct size for dresses, blouses, suits and coats.

For skirts and pants select according to your waist measurement unless your hips are larger than the measurement that corresponds to the waist; then select by hip measurement and make alterations in the waist.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Eric Jannersten points out that due to the bad diamond break and the unfavorable location of the king of spades, South will need card-reading plus some mild help from the defense.

The mild help is for West to start by cashing his three high hearts. East will play the four on the first lead and the seven the second time. South should drop his five at trick one and his deuce at trick two to give West the best incentive to play the three high hearts.

West shifts to the jack of spades at trick four and South should let this hold the trick. West has dealt, passed and shown up with 10 high card points. He just can't also hold the spade king.

West leads a second spade and this time the ace is played from dummy.

South cashes dummy's queen of diamonds and leads a diamond to his ace. West shows out and now we see why it was so important that South just concede that first spade trick. East is going to be caught in a squeeze.

Like most squeezes, it is a cinch when it has been built up. South cashes his last heart and discards a diamond from dummy. East had discarded a spade on the third heart; this time he lets a club go.

Now South plays ace-king and jack of clubs to dummy's queen and East has to throw either the king of spades or one of his two diamonds. Either way, South makes the rest of the tricks. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Kadingo Lingo

By Jane Kadingo

THERE IS A POEM with the classic line "Let me live in a house by the side of the road and watch the world go by." A modern paraphrase might be: "Let me sit in my car in the middle of the road, and watch everyone I know go by."

The episode might be entitled: "Chalk Up Another Accomplishment," or "It Wasn't Easy," or "One of Life's Embarrassing Moments," or "Chivalry Is Not Dead," or "People Are Nice."

Nickita, aged 10, and I were on our way to a meeting—early, for a change. As I shifted my standard-shift car into second gear at the bottom of the "Sam Houston hill," it came to a squealing, and emphatic stop, accompanied by the smell of burned rubber.

"What happened, Mother," asked Nickita, her eyes as big as saucers?

"I don't know, I said, as I tried to shift into some gear, any gear, with no luck. The gearshift was frozen."

"I think you had better go get Daddy," I told Nickita. Luckily, we were only three blocks from home.

Dewey Wheat was the first to come by. He pulled over to the curb and came toward my car.

"Are you out of gas," he asked?

"No," I answered, feeling no compulsion to mention the time I DID run out of gas 20-some miles out on the Perryton highway, nor about the time near Skellytown, nor about the time near the dancing school, nor...I merely explained the situation.

"At least I can push you out of the lane of traffic," Dewey offered cheerfully. The car stubbornly refused to roll at all...not even a fraction of an inch.

Dewey left.

Marian Osborne Jameson was next. She stopped next to me. "Do you need me to call for help," she asked? "Nick is on his way," I called back. Marian left.

Dr. J. Foster Elder was the third. As he began to turn around to come to my rescue, Nick parked his car in front of mine.

"I see help has arrived," he called. We waved. He left.

Nick lifted the hood, just as Clay Lively drove by. Clay parked his car and joined Nick in peering under the hood. All sorts of sounds were coming from under the clutch and the gear shift would jump now and then. On command I would push down on the clutch or let up on it, or try to shift.

Paul Coronis came by, did a double-take, parked his car and joined the group. From somewhere a very nice teenager arrived. The hood on my car was up. Nick, Clay, Paul and the teenager had their trunk lids raised, searching for an appropriate tool.

Nickita crawled in next to me. Evelyn Johnson and family went by and waved.

Peggy Reeves and family went by.

"Good luck," called Peggy.

"Gosh," said Nickita, scrunching down in the seat.

"People sure do stare at us."

"People may be saying a few things about us, too," I told her.

"We're blocking traffic."

"My leg was getting tired, and so was my arm. The gear shift at this point was just wobbling around in a 'no gear.' Progress was not being made."

"Here you are, a woman's libber, and you can't fix the car," Nick said to me, snidely.

"I'm not a woman's libber," I reminded him. "I'm just an individual human being who isn't too proud to admit she knows nothing about the insides of a car!"

We finally called a mechanic, who explained I had somehow managed to shift into two different gears at once!

As I said above, it wasn't easy. Anyone for lessons?

DID YOU KNOW...that air pollution may be the reason for runs in panty hose? Scientist made a study in an area of the state of New York and decided air pollution may be the culprit. And they warn women to never stand, in panty hose, by the exhaust pipe of their automobile...or they may be hoseless!

Did you know they have come up with an automatic scorer for bowling?...it just about does it all...it records the pinfall, computes and totals individual scores and team scores and projects the information on an overhead screen for all to see. You guessed it...it's a computer...and isn't bothered in the least by handicaps, fouls, score corrections, etc. A boon to bowlers? I don't know. The way I bowl, I'm not sure I'd want my score projected on a screen for the whole world to see! I wonder if we'll ever manage to replace the bowler?

CINDY THOMPSON, nine-year-old daughter of Jerry and Shirley Thompson, came running in from school one day.

"Mother," do you believe in women's lib?" she asked.

"Of course I do," answered Shirley.

"Good," said Cindy.

"because I just hit a boy in the nose!"

Amelia Earhart was the first woman to receive the Distinguished Flying Cross.

DISTRICT MEETING—Pampa was host to the meeting of District 1, Area 2, Texas Association of Hospital Auxiliaries in the M.K. Brown Auditorium. On hand for the event were, left to right, Wes Langham, administrator of Clarendon Medical Center; Mrs. Clifton Blackmon of Dallas, state president; Mrs. Marvin W. Vickery of Texarkana, state vice president; and Mrs. Ray L. Joefrey of Amarillo, state president-elect. (Photo by John Ebling)

Pampa Host To Meeting

Mrs. Clifton Blackmon, of Dallas, state president, explained the year's theme "The Name of the Game is Love Through Service," at the meeting of District 1, Area 2, Texas Association of Hospital Auxiliaries, in the M.K. Brown Auditorium.

She showed slides of various other district meetings, the Junior Volunteers convention in Dallas and the state board meeting in Laredo, recalling the highlights of each meeting and the progress each group has made.

Wes Langham, administrator of Clarendon Medical Center, explained the area disaster program, telling of the mock disaster held at Highland General Hospital, Pampa, last year, to give doctors, employees, the hospital administrator and volunteers practice in handling a disaster situation. Ray Fisher, representing the Red Cross, gave a demonstration on mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, and Dr. Jerry Cronister, elementary schools curriculum coordinator, assisted by three students from Baker School, presented an anti-smoking demonstration. A film on birth defects was shown by a representative of the National Foundation of the March of Dimes. Members of the Northwest Texas Hospital Auxiliary, Amarillo, performed a skit on recruiting volunteers.

The meeting was opened with a thought for the day by Mrs. Ray L. Joefrey of Amarillo, state president-elect, and Robert Monogue, Highland General Hospital administrator, gave the welcome. Introductions were made by Mrs. Lois Wilkinson, Pampa councilwoman.

Mrs. M.W. Vickery of Texarkana, state vice president, introduced each Auxiliary, after which each group gave its annual report. Mrs. Carlton Nace led the Auxiliary prayer.

A pre-session coffee was held during the registration period, and a luncheon was served in the Heritage Room at noon. Father Francis Hynes, C.M., gave the invocation.

Other events included a post-luncheon tour of the M.K. Brown auditorium by Mrs. George Cree, and a tour of Highland General Hospital following the afternoon session.

Eighty-eight persons attended the event.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

The Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District No. 3, South of the Canadian River, in Texas was voted into being by the water, agriculture, and business interested people of the area in January, 1956. On Jan. 24, 1972, it started its seventeenth year of existence.

The district has been governed by a board of directors elected by the precinct method. In January of each year, the district holds an election to elect directors. The district is divided into five directors precincts. The directors are elected on a staggered basis. In January, 1972, directors were elected from two precincts for a term of two years. In January, 1973, three directors will be elected.

Should a vacancy occur between the regular elections in January of each year, the following legal requirements are followed under Article 7880-38a of Vernon's Civil Statutes of the State of Texas—election of directors in large districts including two or more counties.

Section 9 - Vacancies

Whenever any vacancy occurs in the office of a director elected by the precinct method, between regular elections, such vacancy shall be filled at a special election in such director's precinct to be called by a majority of the remaining members of the Board of Directors of such district within eight (8) days after such vacancy occurs and held within not more than forty (40) days after such vacancy occurs. Acts 1939, 46th Texas Legislature.

The board of directors of Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District No. 3, south of the Canadian River in Texas, in conformity to this legal requirement held a called meeting of the board of directors of the district Thursday, at the district office in White Deer to call a special election to elect a successor to Stewart Purvines for director, precinct No. 1.

Purvines died on Sept. 21. Announcement of the meeting was given to area newspapers and other news media prior to the meeting. Notice of the meeting was also posted at the district office in White Deer, the Courthouses in Pampa, Panhandle and Amarillo.

A legal notice of the up-coming election will be carried in a newspaper having general coverage in the area comprising director, precinct No. 1 of the district. A map showing the area comprising precinct No. 1 of the district has been posted at the courthouses in Panhandle and Amarillo. Director's Precinct No. 1, roughly, is comprised of the western portion of Carson County and the eastern portion of Potter County adjacent to the western side of Pante.

Legal requirements to be met by those seeking the office of director are specified in Vernon's Civil Statutes of the State of Texas in section 5 of article 7880-38a. Acts 1939, 46th Texas Legislature.

Qualifications of Directors — Section 5. Each director elected by the precinct method shall be twenty-one (21) years or more of age, be a citizen of the State of Texas, and own land subject to taxation in the precinct in which he is elected.

"Recent laws permitting eighteen year olds to vote may have altered the age requirements. Recent court decisions and recent attorney general opinions have somewhat altered the requirements concerning those who are eligible to vote in any election in Texas."

In past district elections, Article 7880-30 of Vernon's Civil Statutes has been followed specifying that voters in a director's election must be real or personal tax paying residents of the precinct in which the election is being held and also have a current voter registration.

Some of the recent court decisions and attorney general opinions have held that anyone holding a valid current voter registration and meeting other requirements as to age and residence may vote.

How To Start Hunting Season With A "Bang!"

COLLEGE STATION — The fall hunting season is fast approaching and Texas sportsmen will want to get "geared up," as far as their equipment and physical condition are concerned.

"A little time and effort devoted to getting your field gear and physique 'in shape' can be a big plus for that upcoming hunting adventure," contends Dr. Milo Shult, area wildlife specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A good beginning for the equipment check is your firearm. Clean the piece carefully, giving special attention to the bore and the action.

"Carefully sight in all rifles and handguns," suggests Shult. "This will not only prevent disappointment over a missed shot but also will help the shooter get the 'feel' of his weapon again."

To sight in center-fire rifles, use the bullet weights and powder charges that you expect to use in the field. Determine sighting distances by the type of game to be hunted and the likely terrain. As a rule of thumb, shot groupings from 50, 100 and 200 yards will prepare the hunter for most situations.

The specialist suggests that handguns be sighted in for distances up to 60 yards. Accuracy is difficult at greater distances. Remember, range safety is of critical importance with all firearms but especially with handguns, cautions Shult.

For the shotgun enthusiast, the specialist suggests getting in a little trap or skeet shooting.

Another good practice is "patterning" the shotgun. This can be done by firing at large sheets of paper or cardboard at distances of 15, 25 and 50 yards. Thus the hunter will know how his weapon performs at those distances with whatever load he is using.

For the hunter with a double barrel, slide-action or semi-automatic shotgun, it's good to fire more than one round to get used to getting off a second or even third shot.

An equipment check is also in order for the archer. For instance, broadheads may need sharpening. Shult suggests practicing with silhouette field targets rather than bullseyes, since this gets the archer accustomed to firing at "vital spots" rather than just "at the deer."

Most hunters carry some type of cutting tool for dressing game. These knives, hand axes and bone saws should be checked and sharpened.

Shult emphasizes that wearing apparel also needs checking. Footwear is especially important as a painful blister can ruin an otherwise enjoyable hunting experience. Boot stitching should be checked and the leather should be oiled or treated for comfort and protection. It is a good idea to break in new boots before starting out on a long day's hunt. In addition to checking his gear, the smart hunter prepares himself physically for the field, notes the specialist. "Many of us work at jobs which don't allow us to say in shape for that once-a-year hunting trip. Perhaps the best solution is to start early with sensible exercise. This may mean just walking every day or it may include jogging and dieting off a few pounds. Remember, more hunters die from heart attacks brought on by over-exertion than from fire arm mishaps."

The sportsman who begins preparing his gear and his body now will have a much more rewarding experience in the outdoors when hunting season rolls around, contends Shult.

Beef Factory Increases... Egg Production Shows Gain... Cattle Sold At Auction Declines... Egg-type Chicks Decline... Screwworm Agreement...

THE BEEF FACTORY of Texas—the nation's largest—has increased almost 275,000 head during the first half of the year.

The number of beef cows, which determines the numbers of beef calves to be produced, total 5,725,000 in Texas as of July 1. This compares with 5,452,000 as of January 1.

The number of all cows in Texas has also shown an increase. Total cow numbers in the state as of July 1 totaled 6,080,000 head; this compared with 5,807,000 head as of January 1.

The Blacklands have the highest number of beef cows and all cows. As of July 1, there were 920,400 cows (854,000 of that being beef cows) in the Blacklands. The east Texas and south central Texas regions were next in total numbers of cows and beef cows.

The east and northeast Texas area had 775,000 beef cows and a total of 864,100 cows as of July 1. The south central area had 766,000 beef cows and a total of 810,500 cows as of July 1.

EGG production in Texas during July was up three percent from a year ago, but steady with last month. Total egg production during July totaled 222,000,000. Nationwide, egg production was down one percent from last year.

Total numbers of Texas layers as of July 1 were 11.7 million. Texas eggs laid daily per 100 hens averaged 61.2 during July; a year ago the average was 57.6. Nationwide, the average was 62.7.

The July hatch of egg-type chickens in the state was down 34 percent from a year ago and 23 percent below a month earlier. Broiler chicks showed an increase of three percent. The total turkey poult hatch for July was up 18 percent from a year ago, but 33 percent below a month ago.

A NINE percent decline in numbers of cattle and calves marketed through Texas auction markets inspected by the Texas Animal Health Commission is reported by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Cattle and calves marketed totaled 619,000 head, or nine percent below a year ago. Sheep sales totaled 132,000, down 17 percent from a year ago and 39 percent under a month ago. Sales of goats at 27,000 were down 31 percent from a year ago.

Hog sales totaled 45,000 head; this is 29 percent below a year ago.

THE FINAL step toward eradication of the screwworm in Texas has been taken. An agreement between Mexico and the United States was signed recently which will result in a cooperative effort to eradicate the screwworm in Mexico.

Agriculturally Speaking

Oct. 9, starting at 8 p.m., the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District will hold an election for the purpose of selecting a supervisor for the northeastern Gray County subdivision of the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Following the election, a program will be presented by Joe White, representative. Gifford-Hill-Western, Panhandle. No doubt, White will present some new ideas on irrigation equipment. Anyone that is interested is invited to attend. Any person (both man and wife) are eligible to vote in the election if they reside within Gray County and own land in the subdivision in question. Wives are urged to attend and vote.

Refreshments will be served.

MILO HARVEST
Several farmers are getting their combines ready and will be in full swing of harvest by the time you are reading this.

WHEAT PASTURE
Most of the 1973 wheat crop has been planted and is up to an excellent stand. A good two-inch rain will create the best wheat pasture condition in years.

The price of stockers is so high you can't believe it. I have talked with a number of farmers and stocker operators all across the Panhandle. Many of them are backed off from these high-priced calves.

Light weight calves are up as much as $12.00 per CWT over last year's price. This is $42.00 per head over last year's price. Can you believe that a 350 pound Okie bull is bringing $192.50 per head.

One fellow I was visiting with at Claude says he has a home for 800 to 1,000 head but said he was backing off this year and plans to let someone else have his wheat.

FARM BUREAU ANNUAL CONVENTION

The farm Bureau is having their annual county convention, Oct. 7, at 7 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of First Christian Church. A Shiner barbecue will be featured. Cost of the tickets are $2 and can be obtained from any Farm Bureau Director at the Farm Bureau office at 1132 South Hobart. Everyone is invited. Tickets will be available at the door.

This is the annual policy-making meeting of the Gray-Roberts County Farm Bureau according to Jack Osborne, president.

Please call the local Farm Bureau office and report if you plan to attend.

New Winter Wheat Strain Is Available

COLLEGE STATION — Tamwheat 101, a new short stature, good quality, hard, red winter wheat for irrigated production on the Texas High Plains, is now available from certified seed growers.

The variety is the third short-type developed and released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Tamwheat has about the same height and maturity as Sturdy, and like Sturdy and Caprock, grows 6 to 10 inches shorter than such commercial varieties as Scout, Comanche and Triumph. Its straw is somewhat more flexible than Sturdy's. Leaves are wider than those of Sturdy, and early growth is more erect. Kernels are medium length, but longer than the grain of Sturdy and Tascosa.

Tamwheat is susceptible to leaf rust, stem rust and mildew. It is recommended for High Plains, irrigated areas where these diseases are not usually severe.

Tamwheat averaged 11 bushels more per acre than Sturdy in irrigated trials on the High Plains. It made higher average irrigated yields than did Centurk and Palo Duro in tests at Bushland, Clovis, N.M., and Goodwell, Okla. Although it has performed well in some dryland trials at Bushland, it is not recommended for this type of production on the High Plains because of its short height.

The new wheat also has performed well in trials in the Southern Great Plains, where its lodging resistance was especially evident.

Overall milling and baking properties are good. Dough mixing traits of Tamwheat are equal to or somewhat better than those of Comanche and Scout 66. Its loaf volume is excellent and superior to that of Comanche and Scout.

Fall Harvest Underway... Pecan Referendum Set... Milk Production Shows Slight Increase... Citrus Blackfly and Cattle Fever Tick Make Appearances.

With fall season approaching, Texas farmers are in the midst of cotton and corn harvest and are beginning pecan and citrus harvest.

Although yields are turning out better than expected for cotton, prices and sales of cotton are at a virtual standstill. For the most part, producers are apparently holding onto their awaiting the outcome of the present pricing situation. Cotton prices are now at or near loan levels.

For the state as a whole, cotton harvest is more than 25 percent complete. Corn harvest is more than 50 percent complete, grain sorghum harvest statewide is also more than half finished. Harvest of peanuts in the Blacklands and Cross Timbers areas is now underway. Rice harvest is virtually completed.

In South Texas, pecan harvest is getting started with an anticipated record crop of 70,000,000 pounds in store. The 1972 citrus crop continues to make good progress. Harvest of some early oranges has been reported. Grapefruit harvest should begin in early October.

CONTROL and eradication center has been located at Alice in Jim Wells County.

The infected area includes most of Jim Wells County, about half of Duval County and a small area of McMullen and Live Oak counties. Individual premises are under a quarantine established by the Texas Animal Health Commission in Dimmit, Nueces, Leon, and Kent counties.

Livestock producers who suspect their animals may have cattle fever ticks should contact the Texas Animal Health Commission at Austin or the tick eradication center at Alice.

MILK production in Texas during August was two percent above that of a year ago. Milk production in the state amounted to 278,000,000 pounds. Milk production per cow averaged 785 pounds, which is 15 pounds above a year earlier.

Nationwide, milk production is also two percent more than last year.

A NEW outbreak of the citrus blackfly has resulted in an enlargement of the quarantine in South Texas. Texas Department of Agriculture inspectors as well as federal inspectors are stepping up efforts to control the pest. Infested plants are being sprayed. The new outbreak is in an area near Los Fresnos in Cameron County.

The citrus blackfly has the potential of wiping out the important Rio Grande Valley citrus industry.

PRODUCTION of all major crops in Texas this year—with the exceptions of corn and rice—are expected to exceed production levels of 1971. Increased production in 1972 is expected as a result of an increase in acres for harvest and higher yield prospects over 1971.

Grain sorghum production is forecast at 336,000,000 bushels, up 11 per cent from 1971. Yield is expected to average 60 bushels per acre compared with 52 bushels in 1971. Harvest of the crop is now approaching the half-way mark.

Wheat production is estimated at 44,000,000 bushels, 40 per cent above last year. Yield is expected to average 22 bushels per acre.

Corn production is estimated at 35,000,000 bushels compared with 43,056,000 bushels in 1971.

Peanut production is estimated at 434,720,000 pounds compared with 366,795,000 pounds in 1971.

Oat production is estimated at 9,720,000 bushels compared with 5,994,000 bushels in 1972. Yield is expected to average 27 bushels per acre, the same for 1971.

Soybean production is estimated at 5,670,000 bushels in 1972. This compares with 2,781,000 bushels in 1971.

Rice production is forecast at 22,464,000 hundredweight; this compares with 22,932,000 hundredweight in 1971.

Range and non-irrigated pasture condition was 76 per cent of normal; this compares with 45 per cent a year ago.

SCREW WORM regulations have been modified to give farmers and ranchers more time to get their animals inspected before shipment.

Livestock producers now have 72 hours in which to have livestock inspected and certified free of the parasites before being shipped interstate from the screwworm-infested areas of the Southwest. The time allowed for this previously was 24 hours.

Screwworms continue to be completely out of control throughout the state, and the only relief will come when freezing weather arrives.

COTTON harvesting is picking up momentum throughout the southern half of the state. Early stalk destruction can reduce insect infestation for the next crop year.

The first of a series of stalk destruction dates for the state is August 31 in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

However, cotton producers are urged to destroy stalks just as soon after harvest as possible.

A RECORD pecan crop is in prospect for Texas. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service estimates a crop of 70,000,000 pounds, the highest ever. This is almost three times more than last year's crop of only 24,000,000 pounds. The Texas crop will account for 35 percent of the total estimated U. S. production this year.

Harvest in most areas is expected to be two to three weeks earlier; the first pecans of this season were harvested in late August in San Saba County. The 1972 crop estimate is one million pounds above the previous record crop of 69,000,000 pounds in 1968.

MEMBERSHIPS

The Pampa Youth and Community Center is a non-profit organization that operates off of revenue received through donations and the sale of memberships. The Center is a private enterprise and does not receive any money from the City, State or National governments. Memberships are divided into two categories—limited and unlimited.

The limited membership allows a person or family to use the gym, swimming pool and recreation hall and excludes the health facility. The unlimited lets you use all the facilities of the Center including the health facility. Each membership may be purchased for an individual or a family.

HEALTH FACILITY

The new health facility is located just east of the swimming pool area. It houses a large exercise room, two handball and racquetball courts, dressing room, reception room, shower room and sauna room. The activities include swimming, sun lamp, leg press machine, calf machine, leg extension machine, thigh extension machine, tread mill, bicycles, vibrators, abdominal boards, barrel rollers, incline bench, flat bench, supine bench, barbells, dumbbells, swim countour facial machine, exercow, motorized exercizers, jungle pulley machine, rowing machine, and multi-press machine.

Price Names New Staff

Congressman Bob Price last week announced the appointment of Mary Rando, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Santos Rando of Friona, to his Congressional staff in Amarillo.

Miss Rando, a graduate of Friona High School, served as an intern in the Congressman's Washington office this past summer.

She attended West Texas State University and New Mexico State University and has worked in a reporting capacity for the Alamogordo Daily News.

Miss Rando has been actively involved in public speaking before a variety of youth gatherings, churches and civic organizations and because of her interest in government and devotion to the American tradition was awarded the George Washington Honor Medal Award in 1967.

Recreation Area Name Changed

Congressman Bob Price was notified Saturday that the name of the Sanford Recreation Area at Lake Meredith will be officially changed to the Lake Meredith Recreation Area as of Oct. 16.

Price said this director of the National Park Service of the Department of the Interior had informed him the change has been made as a result of Price's request reflecting wishes of the people in the area.

"Official request for this change came from the Canadian River Municipal water authority. This recommendation resulted from a 'sign survey' which indicated the desirability for the name change before additional directional signs were placed in the lake area," Price stated.

Annual TASA Convention Being Held

The 13th Joint Annual Convention of the Texas Association of School Administrators and Texas Association of School Boards will be held Sept. 30 through Oct. 2, at the Convention Center in San Antonio. Approximately 3,500 local educational leaders, school administrators, school board members and their guests will be in attendance.

Sharing the chairmanship of this year's convention will be Alton O. Bowen, President of the Texas Association of School Administrators and C.R. Guest, President of the Texas Association of School Boards.

The program for the convention includes three general sessions, demonstrations of promising educational practices used in various districts in the State, many educational exhibits and discussion of twenty-one topics of current interest and importance to educational leaders.

Several of the 21 topics to be considered by the participants are: policy making in light of court decisions; character-based education; year-round schools as a means of meeting community needs; community education and data processing for small schools.

The purpose of the 13th Joint Annual Convention is to provide both school board members and school administrators with knowledge, skills and understanding that will be of value in their capacity as the leadership team for local schools.

Leaders of the co-sponsoring organizations feel that the joint sponsorship of this convention illustrates the philosophy that public education can best be served through the cooperation of the local community leaders and professional educators.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Schools And Taxes

What would be The News' philosophical position on granting tax credits to families which send their children to Catholic schools?

The question came from one whose children attend Catholic schools.

Our position, we explained, is that in all cases, people who do not want and do not use a service should not be forced to pay for it.

We would certainly approve a situation in which certain members of the society escape from unjust taxation. But we cannot let it stand at that, and understanding the nature of political government, we see little hope that Catholics will be given this relief. How about the families who send their children to Baptist schools or those who patronize the many other private schools.

Indeed, how about the taxpayer who has no children? How would the politicians establish escape mechanism for the Catholics without letting others who also do not want nor use the state schools also escape?

Still, politics is an agency of compromise and it has a long history of granting special favors as appeasement to powerful minority blocs. We suspect the wheels are turning in political minds to come up with a solution to what is becoming an abrasive situation. Catholics and others who use non-tax supported schools are finding the double costs more and more oppressive. And more importantly, politically, these people are increasing in number at a rate which can make them a power to be reckoned with at the ballot box.

Job Finds The Man

If the nation could be balanced on a pin, it would be seen tilting toward the South and West in terms of homes and jobs.

Seventy per cent of the housing starts in the first half of 1972 were in these two regions, where less than half the population lives. So were 66 per cent of the new jobs.

These are findings of a semi-annual survey, "U.S. Housing Markets," by Advance Mortgage Corp. of Detroit. It compares housing trends and associated economic factors in 22 major markets in the United States.

Of the record total of 1,161,000 housing starts in the first half of 1972, 532,000 were in the South and 282,000 were in the West. Florida alone, thanks largely to the impact of Disney World, issued more housing permits than the populous Northeast.

It is expected that the 70 per cent combined share of the South and West should decline very slightly in the second half.

On the other hand, some of the industrial centers in the East and Midwest have never emerged from the recession, at least in terms of employment. And this is reflected in their housing starts.

Employment shifts, however, are seen as only part of the explanation for the current migration. Many people are choosing the climate or environment they want to live in and are taking a chance the jobs will follow them.

More and more, the jobs are doing just that.

No Booze for Cirrhosis Victims

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I wonder if you can help me. I have had cirrhosis of the liver for six years now, I am able to be up and do my work, but no heavy work. My doctor says all that can be done is to rest. So I wonder if there is anything else.

Dear Reader—There are several different causes of cirrhosis of the liver. Cirrhosis really refers to scarring of the liver that follows in the wake of inflammation of the liver. This can be the result of drinking too much alcohol over long periods of time, or taking in any toxic substance which damages the liver. It can follow inflammation of the liver from any cause, viral or bacterial, and by disease of the bile tract, by stones and even secondary to heart failure.

The amount of cirrhosis can vary a great deal from a mild liver dysfunction to a very severe dysfunction that can even cause coma and death. Clearly no one answer is going to satisfy all these problems and in treatment it's going to make a great deal of difference what causes cirrhosis to begin with.

Anyone who has cirrhosis of the liver should not drink any alcohol in any form at any time. They are wise to take vitamin supplements at least being certain to take an all-purpose vitamin tablet daily for the minimal daily requirements. Some patients will need supplemental iron and others will need to restrict the salt in their diet. All patients will need a nutritious balanced diet, unless they are really having liver failure, and then special diets and hospitalization are indicated. In acute illnesses of the liver, hormones related to the cortisone group are sometimes used.

Rest is important in individuals who have liver diseases but in individuals who do not have liver disease, too much rest can lead to fatigue and poor physical fitness which isn't good for the health either. To evaluate how much activity a person should have requires first-hand knowledge of the degree of liver damage present. One of the astronauts for example, had a mild form of liver dysfunction and despite this, is one of our space heroes and has continued to lead an active useful life with no limitations imposed by his liver problems.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I read in your column that a woman can sometimes get pregnant anytime, but is it possible to get pregnant on the last day of the period or the day after the period. Also, if a pregnant woman has X rays taken of her teeth and she's not wearing a lead apron, can the X rays hurt the fetus?

Dear Reader—If a woman is regular she usually will not get pregnant on the last day of her period or immediately after her period. But women are not always regular, and it is possible to get pregnant at the end of your period. As far as dental X rays, taken early in pregnancy, they are not likely to cause any difficulty with the baby, with or without a lead apron.

BRUCE BLOSSAT McGovern's Pitch Isn't Going Over

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

MILWAUKEE (NEA)—Sen. George McGovern, struggling to find the handle, isn't having much better luck with old New Deal themes than he did earlier with his more drastic tax and welfare proposals.

On his current swing through midwestern and eastern states, he was telling a sizable crowd of students at a West Virginia college what social programs he as president would improve or develop in the years ahead. He mentioned Social Security, child development, aid to education, housing for the poor, city transportation. The response, even from pro-McGovern youth, was thin.

A veteran Democratic leader working for McGovern asked me:

"Why isn't this stuff catching on?"

The answer surely isn't simple, and it is crucial to McGovern's uphill battle against President Nixon. For he has been getting very strong advice from men like campaign chairman Lawrence O'Brien and Sen. Hubert Humphrey to do just what he is doing—hammer hard on the old Roosevelt themes which portray the Democratic party as, uniquely, the friend of the poor, the disadvantaged, the elderly, the ill, etc.

H. L. Hunt Writes

ARE WE HUNGRY ENOUGH?

The standard of living in the United States, today, is higher than that of any other society in the history of the world. Most families have two cars, two bathrooms and two pets. Television sets are so numerous that they are not considered luxuries anymore.

But with this high standard of living, perhaps we have lost the most important things: we are still dedicated to spiritual concerns and we are hungry for freedom, but maybe we are not hungry enough.

Oftentimes, a man, or a nation, will have tremendous desire to achieve a goal; he will be hungry to accomplish his mission. But, many times, when that goal is reached, he will rest on his laurels and enjoy his success. It will be difficult to start again on the road to greater achievements. This is comparable to the position in which we find ourselves, today, as individuals and as a nation.

George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Thomas Paine, Benjamin Franklin and many others were hungry for freedom; they had a burning desire for American Independence. However, as we became accustomed to independence, we regarded it with less concern so that, today, we find ourselves in danger of losing the freedom for which our Forefathers gave their all.

As we all know, "the price of liberty is eternal vigilance," and we have not been vigilant enough. We must read, we must write letters to editors and to other people about preserving liberty. We must form groups dedicated to freedom. The communists are hungry for world domination. We must be hungry enough to preserve freedom.

CITY OFFICIALS have learned from two weeks experience that changing over from well to lake water via Pampa's new water treatment plant is part of a municipality's growing pains.

On the other hand, they feel that so far the pain has not been too severe and Pampa is fortunate in its transformation from ground to surface H₂O.

For instance, City Manager Mack Wofford said as of last Thursday only about 15 or 20 complaints had been received during the week on the water's taste.

Two of these were in letter form and the rest came over the telephone. The letter writers, a man and woman, definitely found the water "tastes bad."

The man thought if the state has approved the water now being distributed in Pampa from Lake Meredith, there must be something radically wrong with members of the board that gave the stamp of approval.

The telephone callers, for the most part, centered their protests on the premise that the water was not palatable. One man said he found it changed the taste of his tea and coffee.

THE CITY manager said everything possible is being done chemically to treat Pampa's water coming from the lake. The treatment plant is one of the most modern in the United States. The engineers declare there is absolutely no health hazard in the water Pampans are drinking.

A number of initial adjustments being made in the chemical treatment could be responsible for what some may find not to be to their taste, Wofford said.

From what officials here can determine, there have been far fewer complaints about the water in Pampa than in other cities on the Lake Meredith aqueduct.

When you consider Pampa has 8,000 water consumers and there were only 15 complaints last week, it would seem things were going pretty smoothly and not too many were finding the taste to their dislike. Either that or they just grumbled to themselves and decided they were "stuck with it."

The city is planning an open house visitation day at the plant in the not too distant future. Perhaps then Pampans will be given an opportunity to convince themselves that what is being done at the new filtration plant is not a communist plot to poison the entire populace. One suspects, instead, they will find that Pampa has a water supply second to none as far as purity is concerned.

A REPORT comes from the Court House Cat that one county official will have nothing to do with the new water supply from Lake Meredith.

He is happy with windmill water from a nearby ranch and fills his 2-gallon jug with good underground water.

And speaking of our feline tipsters, the City Hall Cat comes up with one this week that Pampa may expect a pitch soon from telephone company officials for an increase in rates.

It's been happening in Amarillo, Borger, Plainview and other cities—and now it's about to happen to Pampa phone customers, says the Cat.

Well, with a package of wieners climbing in price to $1.09 a pound, don't you think that might give the people in the phone company head office an idea they could collect a little more for their service, too?

BY THE way, the author of this column would like to inform the person who shot out the rear window of the editor's automobile if he will drop by and pick up the tab for the $25 insurance deductible, the incident will be dropped.

The editor said he wished to thank the "gunman" for opening fire while the car was parked and the editor was not in it. That makes a big difference.

There is also a question he asked. Was the shot just a wild one, or was his car marked and identified as a specific target among several other autos parked in the same block on the busy downtown street?

The editor sometimes wonders about things like that. The police who investigated the case probably wondered, too.

REMEMBER when the city commission held that public hearing on the $2,243,700 city budget for fiscal 1972-73? Well, it was reported in The News that "nobody appeared to protest or discuss the budget."

James Goodwyn, 2600 Comanche, came by to say that's not quite true.

Goodwyn says he attended the meeting "and there were about three others there." The others, it was learned, were there for another purpose.

What was stated in the news story was that "nobody appeared to PROTEST or DISCUSS the budget." That still holds true.

But commendation must be given Mr. Goodwyn for his statement that he goes to city commission meetings "now and then just to let them know someone is watching."

It's always a good idea to let public officials know someone is keeping an eye on them.

HERE'S A prediction that the Pampa Community Concert Association's presentation of the "Big Band Cavalcade" tomorrow night to open the 1972-73 concert season will be a crowd-pleaser extraordinary.

The Cavalcade includes band leaders Bob Crosby, Frankie Carle and Freddie Martin and singing star Margaret Whiting, along with a 15-piece band.

The program is not a study in nostalgia, but stems from a resurgence across the nation of popularity in their recordings which currently are rivaling rock 'n' roll and country and western music for places on the sales charts.

The four great stars and the band will mark the concert association's first production in the new M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium.

Admission to the Monday night "Big Band Cavalcade" will be by membership card only. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

"Damn the torpedoes, go ahead full speed!" was said by Admiral David Farragut when one of his ships sank after hitting a mine (then called torpedo) causing his fleet to halt and draw heavy fire from Confederate forts and ships. The incident occurred in Mobile harbor, Ala., in 1864, and Farragut's command turned a potential defeat into a victory.
