Gen. Chas. de Gaulle Enters French Crisis

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, under pressure of mounting clamor for his return to power, decided to intervene today in the crisis that has brought France to the verge of civil war.

A spokesman for De Gaulle's office said a statement by the former wartime leader will be released this afternoon.

It will be the first time that De Gaulle has broken his self-imposed silence on national affairs since 1954.

The announcement was made soon after Gen. Raoul Salan, France's commander in chief in Algeria, paid significant tribute to De Gaulle in a speech in riot-torn Algiers.

An Explosive Situation

In the same speech, Salan placed his 400,000-man army in Algeria squarely behind the Algiers military junta—the military-civilian "Commitee of Public Safety," that has seized control of Algiers.

"I am one of yourselves," Salan said when he appeared with junta leaders before a crowd of French settlers who massed before the governor's palace in Algiers shouting "The army to power!"

Only Wednesday both Premier Pierre Pflimlin and President Rene Coty ordered Salan to take over in Algeria and end the threat to the authority of the tottering fourth republic.

Salan's statement threatened to add fuel to the already explosive situation in Algeria and France.

It was likely to embolden the hard-bitten French settlers in their struggle to bring down the Pflimlin government and set up a dictatorship, perhaps under De Gaulle.

Pflimlin assured France in a special broadcast Wednesday that Salan was firmly on the side of the republican regime and had been ordered to reestablish "republican order" in riot-torn Algeria.

Key Posts to Socialists

In Paris, Pflimlin tried desperately to shore up his shaky government to deal with the crisis.

Pflimlin offered the job of vice premier to Socialist former Premier Guy Mollet. He accepted.

The key interior and defense ministries also were expected to go to Socialists.

Socialist support would enable Pflimlin to reappoint Robert Lacoste, the previous government's tough minister - resident in Algeria. He is popular with the Algerian French because of his policy of wiping out the Moslem rebels by force of arms.

Movement Spreads

The settler's rebellion in Algeria had spread to Bone, Philippeville, Constantine and a score of other cities including Oran—where rioters beat up Pierre Lambert, the French prefect, and replaced him with an army general.

There was a possibility that a major coup to put Gen. Charles de Gaulle in office had backfired—that the coup was pulled off in Algeria but was not followed up in Paris, where 10,000 police kept down planned demonstrations.

There was a possibility of continued resistance even if the anti-government forces led by Gen. Jacques Massu gave in completely to stern orders from Pflimlin and President Rene Coty.

GEN. CHAS. DE GUALLE
. . . statement expected

Massu announced Wednesday night his "Committee of Public Safety" would be relieved of its functions as soon as a new French minister for Algeria arrives in Algiers. He specified a new minister must be acceptable to the Algerian French, however.

—The Independent - Conservative Party which mostly voted against Pflimlin's investiture withdrew a threat to pull its four ministers out of the cabinet. The four ministers acted independently of the party in accepting the posts.

Freak Mishap Electrocutes Mother, Baby

DENISON, Tex. (UP) — A Fort Worth mother and baby were electrocuted early today in a bizarre series of circumstances touched off when a skidding bus became a potential electrocution chamber after snapping in two against a tree and coming in contact with a hot power line.

The mother, Mrs. Shirley Stith, 23, was killed instantly in a shower of electrical sparks as she stepped from the bus to rescue her 18-months old daughter, Melanie Jane, who had been thrown through a gaping hole in the side of the bus by the impact.

The baby was killed approximately five minutes later when with the bus as the driver and 16 passengers sat by helplessly, knowing they would meet the same fate if they tried to leave.

The bus was owned by the Jefferson Bus Lines, but was operating on a Greyhound Bus Lines schedule and had a Greyhound driver. It was enroute from Dallas to Minneapolis.

The driver, James A. Stowe, 37, of Tulsa, was praised by State Highway Patrolman W. J. Morris as probably saving the lives of his other passengers by ordering them to remain in their seats after he discovered the entire metal frame of the bus was a lethal trap.

The other occupants of the bus had to remain in their seats for some 45 minutes before power could be turned off in the 2,400-volt line.

U.S. Rocket Expert Lauds Sputnik III

WASHINGTON (UP)— Rocket expert William H. Pickering said today that Russia's launching of a 3,000-pound satellite shows beyond doubt that it can launch intercontinental ballistic missiles "with very substantial warheads."

Pickering, director of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at the California Institute of Technology, made the statement in testimony before the Senate Space Committee.

He estimated that a thrust of at least half a million pounds would have been required to launch Sputnik III.

Dr. Richard W. Porter, director of the U.S. earth satellite program, congratulated Russian scientists on launching and orbiting their heavyweight Sputnik.

He told a news conference the Russians apparently have put up test equipment for more extensive experiments than U.S. scientists have ever attempted in a single American satellite.

"They are to be congratulated on having put up so big a rocket and having devised such a list of experiments," he said.

He said if there is no hitch in present plans, the United States will be able to match and possibly surpass Russia's experiments before the International Geophysical Year ends Dec. 31.

Pickering testified after Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) said the new Soviet launching contributes "a new sense or urgency to the hearings." Johnson said the Russians have launched a satellite "heavier by 100 times than anything we have put in space."

Commenting that the importance of the event "cannot be underestimated," Johnson said it brings man closer and closer to an actual "escape to space." It should also bring closer "the realization that we must organize our potentialities as rapidly as possible," he said.

Students Get Recognition In Assembly

Many students received recognition and awards Wednesday for outstanding work in classes and extra curricular activities during the 1957-1958 Pampa High School year. Principal L. J. Edmondson conducted the Annual Awards Assembly in the High School Auditorium.

Gale Harris received recognition for her work as editor of the Little Harvester newspaper and her endeavors in the English Department. She won the Creative Writing Key from the Quill and Scroll Society, as well.

Medalist for her three years' work in the Thespians was Thespian President Heidi Schneider and for her one year's work, Pat Jones. Bobby Brown received a Thespian medal as Best Actor for his role in "The Bad Seed" and Martha Gordon, Best Actress for her lead role in the same show.

The school awarded the Drama Award for best all around work to Charlotte Riley.

Departmental awards are as follows: Chemistry, Bob Jernigan; Spanish, Grover Lewis; History, Linda Stule; Journalism, Monta Patton; English, Gale Harris; Latin, Bob Jernigan; Biology, Jerry Taintor; French, Henriette Di Nardini; Commercial Department, JoAnne Holt; Physics Robert Collett; Math, Robert Collett; Vocal Music, Jerry Trice; Homemaking, Doris Whatly; Girls' Physical Education, Joy Vanderburg; Boys' Physical Education, Terry Joe Haralson.

Karla Cox was recognized as editor of the Annual and Gary Dockery for his publications work in business.

Other students who received recognition were Pat Gorman and Robert Langford as All School Favorites, Pat Dial and Alton Thygerson as Best Citizens; Pat Gorman, Joy Vanderburg and Billy Hassell as cheer leaders.

Kenneth Taylor was honored for winning the John Philip Sousa Award and John Mead and Pat Jones achieved pre-recognition as valedictorian and salutatorian.

Athletic and vocal groups presented the trophies to the school that they had earned in Interscholastic League Competition.

GOD'S TROMBONES

Dancer Carmelita Hogan displays some of the "magical movements" that she will do in the Thespian-A Capella Choir production of "God's Trombones" on stage in the Pampa High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday. Speech Soloists Bobby Brown, left, and Heidi Schneider, far right, will be the principals in "The Creation," the opening number of "God's Trombones." The A Capella Choir, represented here by, left to right, back row, Bettie Tatum, Winton Edd Rowntree, Darrell Kirbie and Nancy Stephenson, will add their voices to "The Creation" and to the following pieces in the sequence of folk sermons and spirituals. A Hero's Welcome Is Given Nixon

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon came home to a hero's welcome today from his violence-marred "good will" tour of Latin America.

President Eisenhower, the Cabinet members of Congress and Latin American diplomats joined thousands of Washingtonians and college students in a thundering salute to Nixon.

The vice president and Mrs. Nixon, stoned and spat upon by a mob in Caracas, Venezuela, just two days ago, flew here from Puerto Rico. The good will which they failed to find in Venezuela, Peru and Colombia was evidence in great abundance as the vice president and his wife arrived at Washington's National Airport.

The crowd began to gather at the airport long before Nixon arrived.

Students Wave Flags

One of the early arrivals was the ambassador of Nicaragua, Don Guillermo Sevilla - Sacasa, dean of the diplomatic corps. He

Center Check-In Meet Is Held

The employees of the Pampa Milk Company have pledged 100 per cent for the construction of the Pampa Youth and Community Center, Company Manager Ed Flood announced at the Center Check-In meeting today.

Pledge reports brought the Center Building Fund $516 closer to its $3000,000 goal. Campaigners plan to carry on until the goal is reached.

The Center Board of Directors will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at Mrs. Inez Carter's to coordinate the successful completion of the Campaign.

Social Security Discussed

"Social security is a fraud," Dr. Joe Donaldson told his Rotary club audience yesterday at its weekly meeting. Donaldson explained that the social security program is being sold as an insurance program but in reality is nothing but a tax on those working for the benefit of those receiving payments.

Donaldson pointed out in his talk that the social security program could mean the eventual financial ruin of the United States as the government institutes programs of increased taxation and inflation to handle the increasing financial load. The doctor also explained that the "something for nothing" program of social security implied a moral deterioration of grave consequences as time goes on.

Club president Floyd Watson announced that the annual inter-city meeting with the Borger and Canadian clubs will be held May 20 at 7 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

'Trombones' Features Choir, Thespians

Young Dancer Carmelita Hogan will give the magic touch to "God's Trombones" in the joint production by Thespian Troupe 1010, Pampa High School, and Bill Hunt's A Cappella Choir. "God's Trombones," a dramatic sequence by James Weldon, will be on view in the High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday.

Admission will be gratis to everyone and one and all may come.

No one but the directors are quite sure where the Choir leaves off and the Speech Choir begins. The A Cappella will present "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord" and other spirituals arranged by Roy Ringwold for "God's Trombones."

Woven in with the spirituals, a light and a dark chorus, chosen by Thespian Sponsor Miss Helen Schafer, will give rhythmic speech to the words of Negro ministers of the old South.

Standing out of the choruses, seven speech soloists will present "The Creation," "The Crucifixion," "Go Down, Death" and "The Judgement," which are the four production numbers of "God's Trombones."

Carmelita Hogan's interpretive dance movements will dramatize "The Creation" to Heidi Schneider and Bobby Brown's spoken account and the choir's lyric expression.

Cone-Shaped Object Aloft, Reds Report

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW (UP) — The Soviet Union today successfully launched a giant new Sputnik-its third-weighing nearly 1½ tons. It was more than twice as large as any previous earth satellite.

The announcement did not say whether the Russians had placed any animal aboard, but the new Sputnik dwarfed the huge satellite that carried the dog Laika into space. It was about 100 times heavier than the biggest U.S. satellite.

In Bonn, Germany, the Soviet embassy said there was no living animal aboard the Sputnik but that it contained "very important" apparatus.

Signals from the new Sputnik were picked up "loud and clear" at the United Press monitoring station in Bickley, today. Bickley is just outside London.

Every 106 Minutes

The newest satellite is a cone-shaped object 11 feet 8 inches long and 5 feet 8 inches wide at the base. Its weight was given as 2,972.48 pounds.

The announcement by the official Tass news agency said the new satellite was making an orbit of the earth every 106 minutes and that its greatest distance from the earth was 1,167 miles. It was in an orbit of 65 degrees in the equatorial plane.

So far the United States has put three satellites into orbit and all are still up. The Russians also have launched three but have an over-whelming edge in the weight sweepstakes—the Sputniks are far larger than the American efforts.

Russia has launched a total of 4,329 pounds of hardware in three successful tries. The United States has successfully launched 65.05 pounds—the total of three small satellites.

How They Differed

The new Russian Sputnik also was orbiting higher than either of the two Russian efforts which preceded it. Its maximum height of 1,167 miles compared with 1,056 miles for Sputnik II and about 630 miles for the pioneer Sputnik I.

Russia entered the space age when the first of the Russian satellites went up on Oct. 4, 1957. The second rose less than a month later, on Nov. 3.

The first of the Soviet satellites weighed 184 pounds and was about 23 inches in diameter. The second was more than six times heavier and weighed 1,120 pounds.

Here is how the three American satellites, all still in orbit, shape up:

Explorer I, the first to orbit successfully, weighs 30.8 pounds is 80 inches long and is tube-shaped. The Navy's Vanguard I weighs 3.25 pounds and is a sphere 6.5 inches in diameter. The Explorer III weighs 31 pounds and is a tube 79 inches long. Explorer II was a failure.

Packed with Equipment

Today's official announcement said the newest Sputnik was packed with equipment enabling it to carry out the following research along its entire orbit:

"Pressure and composition of the atmosphere in the upper layers;

"Concentration of positive lions;

"The magnitude of the electrical charges in the satellite and the intensity of the earth's electrical statistical field;

"The intensity of the magnetic field of the earth;

"Intensity of the sun's corpuscular radiation;

"Composition and variations of the primary cosmic radiation;

"Distribution of photons and heavy nuclei in cosmic rays;

"Micrometeors;

"Temperature inside and on the outside surface of the satellite."

Union Votes Strike Against Phillips

BORGER, Tex. (UP) — About 2,700 Phillips Petroleum Co. employees were expected to stay home today after the International Union of Operating Engineers, Local 351, voted last night to walk out.

The strike voted last night at Borger by members of the IUOE, Local 351, will effect some Phillips Petroleum Company employees working in the Pampa area.

Production and other departments working in this area out of Borger are effected by the strike.

The gas and gasoline departments, however, which are the two principal departments in this area, are not effected and Phillips officials reported this morning that work was continuing in all but the effected departments at Phillips plants in the Pampa vicinity.

The union members voted the shutdown to begin at midnight of all Phillips installations in the Borger area.

Company officials said it would take until noon to completely close the refinery but most of the other plants were to be shut down by daybreak.

No further negotiations have been scheduled for union and have been meeting almost steadily since their contract expired on May 1, when it was extended on a temporary basis.

The Phillips Plains Butadiene plant with 525 employes has been on strike since May 1.

Hearing Held For Youths

Four boys, two 15, one 16 and one 17, were given a hearing in Gray County court this morning by Gray County Judge Bruce Parker.

The hearing was being held in connection with the burglary of Ward's Minit-Mart, the Day and Night Grocery, a tire and wheel theft and a gasoline theft, in which the boys admitted taking part.

The four admitted the burglary Tuesday night of Ward's Minit-Mart on N. Hobart, where $114.90 was stolen from two cash registers.

After questioning, the four boys also admitted the burglary of the Day and Night Grocery on May 9, a tire and wheel theft and a gasoline theft, both commited Tuesday night.

Pampa police rounded up the boys after obtaining the description of a car seen parked at the Minit-Mart shortly before the burglary was discovered.

The 17-year-old has been charged with theft under $50 in the tire and wheel theft.

Man Agrees To Detector Test

Edward Lee Blair, currently being held in Gray County jail charged with two sex offenses, will take a lie detector test, probably Friday, in either Amarillo, Lubbock, or Austin.

District Attorney Bill Waters said today Blair has not made a statement but has agreed to the test.

Blair was arrested by Gray County officers aftar investigation of reports by his eight-year-old step-daughter and 14 - year - old daughter.

12-Part Series Starts Today 'Unemployment Is Avoidable'

The Pampa Daily News today starts a copyrighted article by F. A. Harper on the subject, "Unemployment Is Avoidable." It will be run in approximately 12 installments.

Harper, since 1946, has been an economist with the Foundation for Economic Education, Irvington-on-Hudson, New York. Prior to that time he was professor of Marketing at Cornell. He is a member of various economic societies and associations.

He is author of several books, including "High Prices," "Inflation", "In Search of Peace", "Symbol of Free Men", "Morals and the Welfare State", "Gaining the Free Market", "A Just Price" and "Why Wages Rise".

The publisher of The Pampa Daily News says he can think of no service a newspaper can provide which would be more useful than to get people of influence to better understanding how unemployment can be avoided. If enough people of influence understood the causes of unemployment, the publisher believes there would be a much higher standard of living and no long periods of unemployment.

The publisher of The Pampa Daily News can find no errors in Harper's presentation and believes it is a practical method of avoiding or eliminating unemployment.

The Pampa Daily News invites any reader who can point out errors in Harper's reasoning and show why his theory is not practical to submit them to The Pampa Daily News and Mr. Harper, either privately or for publication.

"Unemployment Is Avoidable" will be found on the editorial page.

On Capitol Hill:

House Passes Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) said today it was too early to forecast how the Senate will vote on the administration's $3,603,000,000 foreign aid bill.

The authorization bill passed the House, 289 to 134, late Wednesday. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee already has completed its hearings on the bill. It was tentatively scheduled to start meeting next Tuesday to vote on provisions. The bill is expected to go to the full Senate in the last week of May or the first week of June.

A heavy turnout of members of Congress of both parties is expected to take part in the city's resounding welcome today for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Other congressional news.

Foreign Aid—The House passed the administration's $3,603,000,000 authorization bill for military and economic aid during the fiscal year starting July 1. The measure went through by a vote of 259 to 134 after bipartisan leadership successfully turned back attempts to make further cuts. As it went through, the bill carried only 339 million dollars less than the total originally requested by President Eisenhower.

Trade: The House Ways & Means Committee agreed on a compromise reciprocal trade bill that would allow the President to trim tariffs by as much as 25 per cent and grant his request for an unprecedented five-year extension of his Presidential tariff-cutting powers.

Diplomat: The Senate internal security subcommittee released a report reviving diplomatically-touchy charges that E. Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt who committed suicide, was a Communist. The Canadian foreign minister said a protest was being sent from Ottawa to Washington. But the subcommittee maintained that its information led it to the "inescapable conclusion" that Norman was a long-time Communist who had been active in party work in the United States.

Postal: A Senate-House conference committee openly dared a Presidential veto by agreeing on a compromise bill coupling a 530 million dollar postal rate increase with a 257 million dollar postal employe pay boost. The full House and Senate must approve the measure before it goes to the White House, where President Eisenhower already has expressed his disapproval of tying the two features together. Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) of the Senate Post Office Committee warned the President that if the bill is vetoed, no postal increase will be forthcoming this year.

Civil Rights: The Senate confirmed, 67 to 13, the nomination of Gordon Tiffany to be staff director of the New Civil Rights Commission. The action, taken over bitter opposition from Southern Democrats, will enable the commission finally to complete its staff and get started with its job of investigating denials of voting and other civil rights.

said all of the Latin American ambassadors would meet here Friday to arrange a banquet in honor of Nixon.

Hundreds of college students poured into the airport area. Many waved flags of the Latin American nations and scores of signs provided by, according to the students, the Young Republicans of the District of Columbia.

A large delegation from Catholic University, including nuns and priests with the students, joined the other college delegations.

Two high school bands blared away, although there was no military honor guard or military band, this at the request of the White House and the State Department.

The signs proclaimed "Communist cowardice loses - Nixon courage wins" and "We're with you, Dick." Numerous signs were in Spanish.

Ike, Dulles Meet Him

Cabinet members and congressional leaders from both parties were jammed together in the crowd around a landing ladder shortly before the plane came in.

President Eisenhower arrived in a White House procession, riding in his "bubble-top" Lincoln touring car with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Thousands lined the streets from the airport to the White House, where the President entertained the Nixons at lunch.

The Vice President and Mrs. Nixon spent the night in Puerto Rico after cutting short their visit to Caracas, Venezuela, where mobs attacked them as they rode through the streets Tuesday.

Because of its close arrangement of choral singing, reading and dance, "God's Trombones" gets few productions in its entirety and Miss Schafer and Hunt are trying to put music and theatre to good use.

Interesting Development In Congressman Powell Case

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—It is news when a man bites a dog or when a mouse nips a cat. So it must be news when a potential criminal heckles and harasses a U.S. district attorney to indict him.

The heckler and potential criminal is William F. Buckley Jr., editor of a smartly conservative weekly news magazine called National Review. Potential criminal he may be, but Buckley's conscience in this matter is as sweet and clean as a babe's.

If anyone is in trouble it is Paul W. Williams, U.S. district attorney in New York City and, perhaps, the U.S. Department of Justice.

What it's all about is this:

Beginning last Dec. 14, in a special article full of embarrassing questions and implications, Buckley's National Review began suggesting that something smelly had happened to a grand jury which was supposed to be investigating charges of income tax evasion against Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.).

Jury Almost Forgotten

Powell is a clergyman, pastor of the largest congregation in Harlem where is concentrated most of the Negro population of New York City. He is one of three Negroes in Congress and powerful politically with his race.

On Oct. 11, 1956, Powell bolted Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, to endorse President Eisenhower for re-election. Republicans welcomed Powell's support. Republicans know they probably must remain a minority party unless they can win back from the democrats the northern Negro vote which was absorbed into Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

The Powell grand jury was impanelled in December, 1956. It sat for two months when, according to Buckley's National Review, the proceedings were halted on orders from Washington. The grand jury remained in limbo and almost forgotten until Dec. 14, 1957, when Buckley's magazine began asking questions. Had there been, for example, a political deal to let Powell down easy?

The magazine reported that Asst. U.S. Atty. Thomas A. Bolan, in charge of the grand jury proceedings, had been informed that the Powell case was being turned over to the Treasury Department on orders from Washington which, obviously, would have to come from the Justice Department.

Then Jury Returned

Treasury investigators in New York, however, showed no interest in taking over the case. Months elapsed and nothing happened except that National Review each week continued to spotlight the grand jury's inactivity. Jury members began bombarding U.S. Atty. Williams with letters threatening to reconvene on their own if they were not called back.

Williams called the jury back on April 17. Powell's indictment on three income tax counts came down May 8. Buckley evidently applied the hot foot which caused jurors to write to Williams. The young editor sent to each juror a copy of National Review's Dec. 14 article, "The Wheels of Justice Stop for Adam Clayton Powell."

And that action was a federal offense, punishable by fine and imprisonment.

Buckley admits all. In its current edition, Buckley writes: "National Review pleads guilty."

It looks like Williams' move. And if he moves to indict Buckley how can he prevent the trial from becoming an investigation of: Who called off the Powell grand jury, and why? Tough questions!

Milk Price Up To Housewife, Down To Farmers

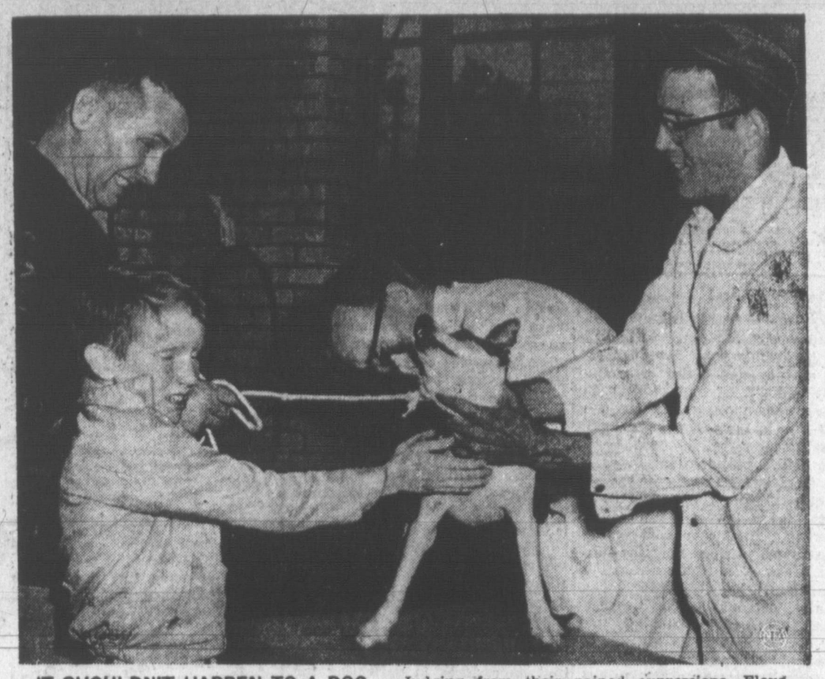

WASHINGTON (UP) — The American housewife paid one-fifth more for a quart of milk last year than she did a decade agao but the farmer got less.

"Farmers in 1957 got 45 cents out of each dollar spent by consumers for milk, compared to 55 cents in 1947," the Agriculture Department has reported." The change was due almost entirely to increases in marketing costs—that's why consumers paid more."

The average cost of a quart of milk throughout the nation last year was 24.2 cents. Of this amount, the farmer received 10.9 cents. Pickup men, processors and distributors shared the remaining 13.3 cents.

However, the Agriculture Department didn't regard the price increase as much of a worry to the housewife.

Because average incomes have climbed even faster, "it takes a smaller part of your income now to buy a quart of milk," the department said.

IT SHOULDN'T HAPPEN TO A DOG — Judging from their pained expressions, Floyd Greenfell and his son, Billy, figure that the treatment being given to the boy's pooch just shouldn't happen to a dog. Melvin Christeson, an employe of the St. Louis, Mo., health department, holds the dog as Dr. J. C. Dunlop administers a rabies shot, during the city's observance of rabies control week.

WASHINGTON — Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.) of the House Ways & Means Committee, on the reciprocal trade bill:

"It will be a liberal trade bill. The committee won't approve protectionist bill."

Phil Silvers' Appearance On TV Show Insured Success

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — I knew everything was well in hand Tuesday night when Phil Silvers, accompanied by his goggle glasses and con-man grin, bounced into place on CBS-TV for a special show.

Silvers starred for an hour in something he called "Phil Silvers on Broadway" (subtitle: "An Intimate Evangaza") and to pour down my opinion quickly, I would take one of the most stylish and polished hours of the TV season.

In a way, the Silvers show struck me as very much like a low comedy version of the Victor Borge show seen on CBS-TV earlier this season. Like Borge, Silvers concocted a visual meat that was strong on pace and snap and variety. Like Borge, Silvers was not interested in parading a sloppy glob of "stars" on stage, but rather in turning out a show. A show it was.

The hour was so replete with riches that Silvers could aford to toss away three-second bits that other shows might have lingered over: Silvers quick-tinkling the piano keys ("Give my best to Victor"), Silvers unreeling a smidgin of soft shoe, Silvers running down to his audience to talk to visitor Polly Bergen ("I know you Emma—or is it Emmy").

Inevitably, some of the bits were a little off the mark. For example, a sketch about a camp director trying to con some parents into sending their boy away for the summer was a trifle soft in spots. And one routine in which Silvers got into a tangle of arms and legs with some stagehands had the shopworn air of an old burlesque bit and even worse, of an old TV bit.

But the rhythm of the hour was so swift that there never was a feling of severe let-down for any extended period. The dancers pranced on fast and leggy, a 12-pranced on fas tand leggy, a 12-man choir boomed out a sentimental tune and walked off to reveal that five singers in the rear had no pants on, the sponsor's product took an amiable kidding, four members of the Sgt. Bilko platoon appeared to aid in the clowning. In particular, I enjoyed a Silvers' routine based on the first singer ever faced with the lyrics of "Ol' Man River."

There were reports before the show that if this Silvers show were successful, Silvers might do a series of one-hour specs for CBS-TV next season. As one comedy-starved member of the TV audience, I hope the reports are true.

Along with the Silvers' special, a couple of other shows made the night one of the best of the season. Milton Berle headed a group of other performers who took over the CBS-TV "Red Skelton" show. I liked particularly Donald C'Connor and Sid Miller in their takeoffs of Louis Prima and Keely Smith and some of Berle's one-liners like "One great thing about this Los Angles smog—it hides the Dodgers."

Over at NBC-TV, Marge and Gower Champion gave the "Eddie Fisher Show" a tremendous shot in the arm. It impressed me as the only really good show Fisher has unpackaged this season. Oscar Levant also was on hand and although his piano playing was tasty, his behavior seemed a little odd at tmies.

The Channel Swim: NBC-TV's "Treasure Hunt" got the hatchet—a quiz, "Pick a Winner", replaces it on June 24. "Decision", an anthology of re-runs plus seven new pilot films, will spell the ABC-TV "Loretta Young Show" this summer starting July 6.

Pat Weaver's new ABC - TV package, "Make me Laugh," loses its sponsor as of June 12. CBS - TV's "Climax", off the air after June 26, will be replaced next fall by "Zane Grey Theatre" and probably, "Steve Canyon"—no summer replacement has been picked yet. CBS-TV has switched the date of its two hour "Wonderful Town" color spec from Nov. 27 to Nov. 30—Roz Russell will star.

Mahalia Jackson is being sought for next month's CBS-TV spec, "Member of the Wedding". Zina Oethune lost out in the race for the role of "Frankie" because she refused to cut her hair. CBS-TV's "Playhouse 90" will repeat at least two of its live shows this summer via video tape—"The Thundering Wave" and "Right Hand Man" both are set for July re-showings.

Garry Moore's one hour nighttime CBS-TV show will kick off on either Sept. 23 or 30—it overlaps the time slot of "The $64,000 Question", which means a new spot will have to be found for the quiz. ABC-TV will launch "Rough Riders" with Kent Taylor and Jan Merlin on Sept. 18.

CBS-TV will run a special "See It Now" on May 23—an Ed Murrow-Charles Collingwood sesion with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The May 21 NBC-TV "Wagon Train" will feature not only Mala Powers, but Miss Powers' baby. Ruth Lawrence, dancer on NBC-TV's "Your Hit Parade", will dance in "Carousel" at the Brussels World's Fair. Groucho Marx's daughter, Melinda, and Edgar Bergen's daughter, Candy, both will be contestants on Groucho's NBC-TV show Thursday night.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

Avoiding Legal Troubles In Real Estate Transactions

Thinking of buying or building a new home this year: Whether you buy a completed house or simply a lot to build on, how will you know whether you are receiving a good title to the property you purchase? The safest method is to have a title examination made — that is, a careful study of the abstract and other title evidence.

Here are a few of the common sources of trouble in real estate transactions to show why the minor expense of a title examination is justified.

Many persons sign "earnest money contracts" believing that they are mere receipts with no serious implications. In reality they may specify, among other things, the kind of title you must accept.

A "warranty deed" from a responsible seller is comforting to have but it is a poor substitute for a careful title examination. A warranty deed does not guarantee a marketable title.

Moreover, serious title defects may not come to light until long after the seller on a warranty deed is dead, has moved to an unknown address, or is bankrupt. Even if he is available a good title is much better than a law suit.

The fact that the seller has possession of an "abstract" does not mean that he owns the property. An abstract is only a history of a title. Possession of an abstract no more indicates townership of land that possession of the history of Texas means that you won the state.

Some purchasers of land feel safe because the title is being examined at the time of purchase by an attorney for the mortgage lenders. This seems logical but is a dangerous theory. Mortgage lenders are sometimes willing to accept less than good record title as security. This is sound business for them because, among other reasons, the chances are that the mortgage will be paid off so that no expense in perfecting the title would ever need be incurred. It is risky business for you when you are putting your life savings into the purchase.

These are a few of the reasons why a title examination is an important safeguard to you. When it is completed, the attorney gives you a written opinion stating his conclusions as to who owns the land, the defects in or charges against such ownership, and the requirements to be met if any, to make good record title.

Off-hand this may seem a simple operation. In fact it is not. It requires the interprétation of numerous deeds, mortgages, wills, court decrees and other instruments; the consideration of the order in which transactions and events affecting the title occured; and the application of statutes and court decisions to the various situations disclosed in the abstract.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Hemphill First To Get Payment

CANADIAN — Hemphill county last week became the first in the state to receive right-of-way payments from the State Highway Commission for highway right-of-way purchased under the new 50-50 Right-if-way bill passed by the last legislature.

Several other counties in the Panhandle district have contracts now being processed, and are scheduled to receive cost-sharing right-of-way payments as soon as final details are worked out, according to Pete Styner, district right-of-way engineer.

Among those slated to receive the payments are Deaf Smith, Randall, Potter, Armstrong, More, Gray, and Hutchinson counties in the Texas Panhandle.

Styner came to Canadian to make formal presentation of a $9,163 check to Hemphill county officials. A special meeting of the Commissioners court was called by Hemphill County Judge E. C. Fisher, with county attorney William J. Jackson, who had assisted with the contract preparations, also present.

"All of the Commissioners, the County Judge, and the County Attorney should be complimented," Styner said. "They have been most cooperative and we really appreciate it."

Styner presented a letter from Charles W. Smith, district highway engineer of Amarillo, who wrote:

"I am sure you will be interested to know that Hemphill County is the first in the State to be reimbursed under the new 50-50 right-of-way law. We feel that this accomplishment is due to the cooperation and hard work of the representatives of Hemphill county, and we wish to express our sincere appreciation for your efforts. We feel your method of handling the right-of-way acquisition was very efficient and a saving to Hemphill county and to the state."

The payment covered purchase of right-of-way for new construction on U.S. Highways 60 and 83 southwest of Canadian.

Walter Rogers Reports:

Reciprocal Trade Battle Has 'Burst Into Flame'

Reciprocal Trade

The battle on Reciprocal Trade has been smoldering for several months. It has now burst into flame.

The Administration is asking for a five year extension on the Trade Agreements Act which would carry with it the wide Presidential powers that virtually give the President and his advisors a free hand in foreign trade matters. Many businesses in this country have bitterly assailed the failure of the President to properly exercise his powers under the law to protect domestic business people from foreign imports which can be produced at much less cost than the same products in this country. Some of these businesses are pottery, plywood, textiles, chemicals, lead and zinc, coal, a number of hard rock minerals and oil.

Many feel that the smoldering embers burst into open flame contemporaneously with the speech of President Eisenhower last week to Republican Congressmen who had gathered for a dinner meeting in the Willard Hotel here in Washington. The President, in his remarks, laid every stress on the importance of both the Reciprocal Trade Bill and the Foreign Aid Bill. He called the Reciprocal Trade Bill "imperative". The story is that the President's remarks were widly applauded on all subjects except the Reciprocal Trade and Foreign Aid measures. On these, it was reported that the applause was mild. It is a well-known fact that there is very strong opposition within the President's own Party on both of these subjects. In fact, some of the strongest opposition to the Reciprocal Trade Act is among the Republican Members who sit on the Committee now hearing the Trade measure. It is openly rumored on Capitol Hill that the President may not be able to save the Bill even though he aggrees to some softening amendments. The thought is that the strongest opponents to the Bill will fight the amendments which might make the measure more palatable. Their desire is to defeat the measure and let the Trade Agreements Act expire. They feel that they can accomplish this result if they prevent the measure from being "toned down" by amendments.

The truth is that there must be an extension of the Trade Agreements Act. However, the unlimited powers of the President must be measurably curtailed. Otherwise domestic business people and industry can be hurt badly, if the President continues to follow the policy of inaction that he has followed so far in protecting domestic businesses. The business people who have been hurt want to be protected by law rather than trust the discretion of a President of the United States whether it be Eisenhower or whoever comes next. My prediction is that there will be an extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act but that it will be "toned down" insofar as Presidential powers are concerned. The Administration has asked for too much and should realize it.

Foreign Aid

The always controversial Foreign Aid Bill is not given the importance of the Reciprocal Trade Act. Chances are the Foreign Aid Bill will be considered by Congress before the Reciprocal Trade Bill comes out of Committee. It is expected that the Bill will pass although the opposition will be just about as it has been in the past. Many feel that the money left in the Foreign Aid pipeline, which is estimated between seven and nine billion dollars should be ample to meet the needs for the next fiscal year. However, the Administration claims that it needs approximately three and a half billion more and expects Congress to furnish it.

Supporters of the Bill are now openly admitting that it constitutes a subsidy to many businesses in this country because the money is used to purchase products manufactured in this country. They say that the failure to provide these initial funds said that the Foreign initial funds will put people out of must be continued from now on. that the Foregian Aid program On this I predict that the Bill will be passed in substatially the same mittee which is approximately three billion dollars — six hundred million was authorized by a previous law — but there will be much heated debate and the vote will be much closer than heretofore.

Washington Street Scene

While driving from the office home the other evening I was taking a shortcut through Georgetown, the oldest part of the Nation's Capital. It was just before dusk and there was a light sprinkle of rain falling. As I was driving slowly down one of the narrow streets, I saw standing on the curb a very nice looking lady wearing a pair of Mexican sandals, Texas Dungarees, what appeared to be an English tweed coat, a hat that had a Cambodian look, a gient Afghan hound on a leash, and holding a brilliantly colored Japanese parasol over her head. When I reached home I told my wife about it. She remarked "Probably one of the International set".

Chain Reaction

As the old saying goes "One thing leades to another". This always seems to happen While I am missing from the family. When I returned to Washington from the District on May first, I discoverwho is eleven, had fallen off of sence our youngest boy Robert, District on May first, I discovered that during my two day absence our youngest boy Robert, who is eleven, had fallen off of his bicycle and broken his arm. His mother had been instructed to take him to the hospital for X-rays where she sat and waited half of the night. The next morning she was, of course, very tired and the little girl, Mary Catherine, nine, decided to bring coffee to her mother in bed. She made it fine but halfway up the stairs she slipped and fell, spilled the coffee, the cups, and the tray, and scalded her leg in the process. This enabled her to share the limelight with Robert, which, of course, made the wound heal quicker. Both children are doing fine, but as Jean says, if these things have to happen, why can't they happen while you are here?

Graduation Dress Seems A Standard

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—The chemise seems destined to go on forever. but the billowy graduation dress and trapeze may come and go.

The silhouette of short sleeves, wide sash or cummerbund, and full skirt is the top one with this spring's girl graduate, as it has been for many years back, according to New York manufacturers.

Not a single house that I talked to dared a variation of the chemise or trapeze, which dominate women's fashions generally.

"This is the one time they want to look especially pretty," said a spokesman for Connie Sage. "And the full skirts are prettiest on this age group . . . they're a little young to try for sophistication."

"The herd instinct bars much change," said Post Eddy, of Rappi Frocks. "For the same reason they will wear blue jeans around the house they all want billowy skirts for dressup. They want to look alike, I guess."

"We did depart a little this spring with a couple of sheaths, and they sold quite well," said a spokesman for Sportlane. "But graduation styles remain pretty standard for a couple of reasons. Many schools regulate what the girl graduate will wear. And it's easier to fit most teen-agers in full skirts."

Manufacturers aim for variety with fabrics and color combinations. White, once a "must," has been deposed by the pastels.

Massachusetts is the second largest state in the production of rubber products. It has 103 rubber establishments.

Backyard Barbecue Kings Can Royally Entertain With Tangy Barbecue Sauces

As any backyard barbecue king knows, it's almost impossible to concoct a sauce without someone among the diners dwelling upon the merits of his own particular specialty.

But since no two praise-worthy sauces ever turn out exactly alike, the secret is to develop your own sweet-sour sauce, largely by adding and subtracting ingredients during cooking.

For the beginner who needs a little assistance, the pro's among cooks have developed some wonderfully tasty sauces. They are the kind, naturally, that you can vary at will.

Basic ingredients usually are vinegar, salad oil, and condiments like salt and pepper. Garlic is a matter of taste, as are mustard, catsup, onion, and herbs or spices.

One condiment which has become almost essential to barbecue sauces in recent times is soy suace. This famous Oriental seasoner, point out the LaChoy people, who are the largest producers in America, has grown tremendously in usage for hot weather cooking because of its ability to bring out flavors of other ingredients. It adds its own delicate seasoning to sauces, too.

Whether you belong to the "mix it as quckly as you can" school of cookery or prefer the long drawn out, slow cookery method, there is a soy barbecue sauce recipe for you.

Here are two versions developed by LaChoy home economists.

This barbecue marinade is suitable for covering club steaks and similar less tender cuts of meat a few minutes before cooking in order to tenderrize them. It's a good basting sauce as well.

SOY BARBECUE SAUCE MARINAD
(Makes 1½ cups)

¾ cup salad oil
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ cup vinegar
¼ cup LaChoy sauce
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon freshly ground pepper
2 bay leaves

Combine all ingredients, blending thoroughly. Pour marinade over steaks and let stand in the refrigerator for one hour. Drain well and grill steaks. Fill covered jar with leftover marinade and store in refrigerator.

A more elaborate barbecue sauce for garnishing broiled beef and chicken is this Soy catsup mixture. Use it too, when grilling hamburgers.

SOY CATSUP SAUCE
(Makes 2 cups)

4 tablespoons butter
1 cup wine vinegar
¼ cup water
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon onion salt
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ cup soy sauce
¼ cup catsup
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 clove garlic
¼ teaspoon rosemary

Mix ingredients together and simmer 1 hour. Remove garlic clove.

Lemonade Chiffon Pie Perfect Ending For Family's Festive Sunday Dinner

The perfect ending for any meal is lemonade chiffon pie. It's simple enough for the youngest members of the family to make, yet special enough to fit any occasion.

The pie is light and fluffy in texture due to the whipped evaporated milk in the mixture. And for the lemon flavor a can of frozen lemonade concentrate is used. This has a very pale yellow color which can be heightened to a pretty soft yellow with a few drops of food coloring. A lady finger shell for the pie has a pretty scalloped border that adds to the dainty and feminine look of the pie.

Using imagination in decorating the top of the pie can be fun. One suggestion might be a circlet of flaked coconut with small candy lemons spaced around in it.

LEMONADE CHIFFON PIE

1 dozen lady fingers
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 can frozen lemonade concentrate, (6 oz.), thawed
1 can water
10 drops yellow food coloring, if desired
1 cup evaporated milk, chilled icy cold

To make pie shell, first split lady fingers, then cut off one end so that remaining pieces are 2-¼ to 2-½ inches in length. Stand these pieces up around inside edge of a 9-inch pie plate. If there are gaps, fill by tapering bottom of as many lady fingers as necessary to completely cover inside edge. Cover bottom of pie plate with remaining pieces of lady fingers. Mix gelatin, sugar and salt in a small saucepan. Add thawed lemonade and water. Stir over low heat until mixture is dissolved. Add food coloring, if desired. Cool, then chill until gelatin is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Whip evaporated milk until it is stiff and will hold a peak. Fold in gelatin mixture lightly but thoroughly. Pour into prepared pie pan. Chill until set, about 2 to 3 hours. Decorate with border of flaked coconut, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Sour Cream Liver Sweetens Appetites

Give your family a menu change and serve tempting and nutritious beef liver. This recipe for liver with sour cream will bring new eating enjoyment to those folks who are fond of liver.

LIVER WITH SOUR CREAM

1 pound beef liver
2 tablespoons chopped onion
3 tablespoons bacon drippings
2-3 cup mushroom liquid
1-3 cup water
1 bouillon cube
2 cans (3 ounces, each) mushrooms, drained
½ cup sour cream
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour

Cut liver into ¼-inch cubes and brown with onion in hot fat. Cook over low heat until meat is tender, about 8 minutes. While meat is cooking, heat mushroom liquid and water until boiling and dissolve bouillon cube in mixture; cool slightly and add mushrooms, cream, salt, and pepper and blend. Push meat to side of pan and stir flour in drippings. Add mushroom mixture to meat; heat throroughly and serve on toast. 4 servings.

Never wash eggs before you store them in the refrigerator, advise Meadow Gold home economists. Eggs have a natural protective film that helps prevent air and foreign odors from entering. Water will remove this protection.

Look for the words "fresh creamed" cottage cheese on the carton label when you want moist, more delicately flavored cottage cheese. According to Meadow Gold Dairy scientists, fresh cream is blended with the cheese just before cartons are filled to make this rich, creamy variety.

Suggestions For Storing Cold-Cuts

Cold cut time is here again and smart homemakers will want to keep the easily served meats on hand for luncheon, snack-time, and main courses of tempting summer meals.

Cold cuts should be stored in the fresh food compartment of the refrigerator for no longer than four or five days. They may be left in the self-service prepackaging if they are to be used withint this time.

Freezing is not recommended for these sliced ready to serve meats because the salt present in the meat favors the development of rancidity when the meat is frozen. The texture of cured sausage-type meats — expecially franks — is affected adversely by freezing.

Mary's Little Lamb Never So Tasty

The next time you purchase a lamb shoulder, ask the meat man to bone and roll the meat. Boned lamb shoulder is easy to carve. Try roasting lamb shoulder with a nippy barbecue suace:

BARBECUED LAMB ROLL

4 to 5 pounds bones and rolled lamb shoulder
2 cans (8 ounces, each) tomato sauce
1 tablespoon onion juice
1-3 cup lemon juice
¼ cup brown sugar
2 teaspons dry mustard
¼ cup Worcestershire sauce

Place roast on a rack in a shallow pan; insert a meat thermometer in the center of the roast. Roast, uncoverd, in a 325 degree F. oven for 45 minutes. Combine tomato sauce, onion juice, lemon juice, brown sugar, mustard, and Worcestershire sauce; pour over meat. Continue roasting and baste every 20 minutes during the last hour of cooking, spooning sauce from bottom of pan. If sauce begins to stick, add a little water. Cook meat 40 to 45 minutes per pound (180 degree F. on meat thermometer). Slice lamb and serve hot with barbecue sauce. 12 to 15 servings.

Soil Bank Land Rental Rates Up

By BERNARD IBER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department soon will announce increased land rental rates for its 1959 soil bank conservation reserve in an effort to get more farms out of production.

The disclosure was made Monday by Howard J. Doggett, head of the department's soil bank division, in a conference with members of the Newspaper Farm editors Assn.

The editors group, headed by Richard Orr of the Chicago Tribune, is holding its sixth annual meeting here.

Doggett said experience with conservation reserve program of renting fields and entire farms for 3-to-10 year periods had proved "our rates are too low."

From 1956 through 1958, farmers signed contracts taking about 10,500,000 acres of land out of production under the program. Doggett said he hopes to boost the total another 10 million acres in 1959 and well over 30 million acres in 1960.

Rental rates through the 1958 crop year signup, which closed April 15, averaged $9 an acre. Doggett gave no indication what the 1959 rates would be. He said, however, a determination would probably be made within 30 to 60 days and that two sign-up periods would be held for the 1959 crop year—one in late summer and fall of this year and another next spring.

Doggett said success of the conservation reserve and the acreage reserve—the year-at-a-time landidling phase of the soil bank which expires after this year — in cutting farm production was "debatable."

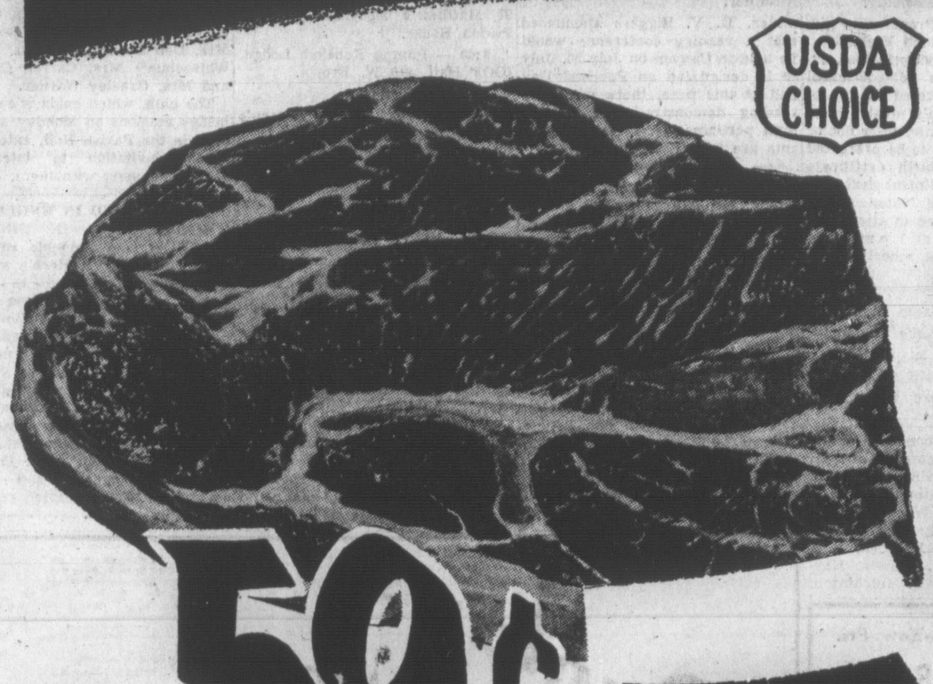

He said Agriculture Department experts agreed that 25 to 35 million acres of cropland must be retired from cultivation before "you really start to bite into production."

Doggett told the editors that the House has voted 300 million dollars for the 1959 conservation reserve and the Senate has approved 450 million dollars. The final figure will be somewhere between those limits, he said.

More than 3,000,000 Americans live in house trailers in 12,000 mobile home parks throughout the United States.

First Methodist Church Study Groups Meet For Discussions Of Bible Topics

CIRCLE ONE

Circle 1 met in the home of Mrs. Frank Yealy, west of the city with Mrs. Clarence Lutes, chairman, presenting the devotional, "Remembering To Be Thankful." She read the poem, "I Met God This Morning." Mrs. Loyse Caldwell led the group study, "Disciples To Such A Lord" on Chapter IX, "The Temple Profaned and Cleansed;" followed by study of Chapter X, "Jesus and the Future" discussed by Mrs. M. Calville. The final meeting of Circle 1 will be on May 21 at 10:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Glenn Radcliff, at which time a covered-dish luncheon will be served. Sixteen members and two guests, Mrs. Tom Atkins and Mrs. C. O. Drew were present.

CIRCLE TWO AND THREE

Circles 2 and 3 met in the church parlor with Mrs. William Nichols and Mrs. Joe Donaldson as hostesses.

Mrs. Irvin Cole, chairman of Circle 2, opened the meeting. Mrs. Doyle Osborne gave the opening prayer. Mrs. Eben Warner continued with the study, "The Gospel According to St. Mark." Mrs. Warner closed the meeting with prayer. Attending were Mmes. Bob Carmichael, Dick Stowers, Dale Stone, W. C. Puryear, L. M. Hicks, E. L. Campbell, W. A. Wagoner, Carlton Nance, G. F. Branson, Russell Flowers, Charles Brauchle, Ed Williams, Chester Thompson, Don Cain, L. L. Garren, and W. E. Campaigne, a guest. Next meeting will be held in the church parlor on May 21.

CIRCLE FOUR AND FIVE

Mrs. Price Dosier presided and Mrs. Joe Shelton led the opening prayer at the meeting of Circles 4 and 5 in the church parlor. Mrs. J. E. Kirchman led the Bible study on "The Gospel According to St. Mark." Mrs. Dosier and Mrs. W. S. Exley gave the devotionals on "Discipleship." Closing prayer was led by Mrs. Kirchman. 28 members were present. Guests were Mrs. Bob McCoy, WSCS president, and Mrs. G. G. Hill, Oil City, Penn.

CIRCLE SIX

Circle Six met in the church parlor with Mrs. Ray Stout and Mrs. Glenn Cox as hostesses. Mrs. James Smathers, chairman, conducted the business meeting and reported on the meeting of the nominating committee. The following officers were nominated and elected, Mmes. R. P. Hunt, chairman; Irvine Wilson, vice chairman Gene Hall, secretary; and Gene Steele, treasurer. Devotional was given by Mrs. Don Duggan. Study Leader, Mrs. John Brewer, continued the study of Mark. Mrs. Charles Shelton and Mrs. Bill Stephens presented a skit. Mrs. Duggan dismissed the group with prayer. Twenty-two members were present. Mrs. Pete Hughes was a guest. Mrs. Vernon Wilson was welcomed as a new member.

Wesleyan Service Guild met May 5 in the church parlor with Mrs. Sherman White as hostesses. Mrs. W. A. Spoonemore gave the devotional on Susan Wesley. Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson arranged the Worship Center in keeping with the theme, "March of Missions."

Mrs. Lee Harrah presented a program based on the "March of Missions." Miss Minnie Allen presided during the business meeting as reports were given of the district guild meeting held in Borger recently attended by Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. J. M. Turner and Miss Lillian Mullinax.

Mrs. Burch Has Busy Bee HDC

Busy Bee Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Dale Burch with six members attending.

Mrs. Leon Osborne, president, opening the meeting with the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. Roll call was answered with "How many I have invited to club this year."

During the business meeting, yearbook plans were discussed and Mrs. Osborne was nominated as delegate to the state meeting.

Refreshments were served during the social hour to Mmes. Bob Major, Elmer Williams, Jay Phillips, Leon Osborne, Franklin Poe.

The club will meet next in the home of Mrs. Phillips.

Dear Abby

★ By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are planning a large church wedding. My parents approve, but my father flatly refuses to walk me down the aisle. He says he and Mom went to the preacher's house and got married in twenty minutes and that should be good enough for me. Anyway, the only way I can get him down the aisle is to drag him. I have an older brother who says he'd do the honors, but I think that is proper only when the father of the bride is dead. Please help me. I've always dreamed of walking down the aisle on my father's arm.

BRIDE TO BE

Dear Bride: You father means well but he has a case of old-fashioned stage fright. If the combined efforts of your mother, the minister and you can't budget him, your best bet is to march down the aisle on your big brother's arm.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law and I used to be the best of friends. For two years now she has ignored me. She has parties and doesn't invite me. I can't imagine what I ever did to offend her. My husband (her brother) says I should call her up and ASK her why she's mad at me and I say SHE should call ME up and tell me what I did to her. Who is right?

NOT SPEAKING

Dear Not? Call HER! Time's a wastin'!

DEAR ABBY: I married a man and learned (after three children) that our marriage vows meant nothing to him. I fought against divorce for twelve years and finally gave in. He married one of the women he ran with during our marriage. I went to work (he was supposed to support me, but didn't) and paid off our house. In the meantime, his marriage blew up. Our children are married now (he wasn't present) and out of loneliness I let this nogood bum talk me into renting him a room in my house. He comes and goes as he pleases and sponges meals off me. He asks me to take his telephone messages. I have been doing it! Am I insane?

WONDERING

Dear Wondering: If you were insane you wouldn't know how wrong this set up was. Get rid of him—and the sooner the better.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is so strict with out kids that he makes me sick. He will hit them on the street—in the store, or even in the doctor's office. He don't care where he is if they get out of line. They come to me and cry about how hard he is on them and I am afraid they are getting to hate him. How can I get him to be a little more patient with them?

DELLA

Dear Della: Parents who punish their children publicly are both cruel and foolish. The humiliation hurts more than the blow. If you can't explain it to him, ask your family doctor to.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CLANCY: This is no time to lower the boom!

Mrs. Kenneth McGuire Starts Second Year As Horace Mann PTA President

Horace Mann PTA conducted its final meeting of the year on May 8 at 2:15 p.m. in the school auditorium with Mrs. Kenneth McGuire, president, presiding.

Parent-Teacher Prayer was given by Mrs. Raymond Field.

Sam Begert, school principal, extended a welcome to pre-school mothers and instructed them to have their children's medical record blank filled out by their doctor this summer ready to be presented with the child's birth certificate on the day of enrollment next fall. Children, who will enter school next fall, are invited to attend the school on May 27 at 1 p.m. They are to meet on the school's playground.

Plans were made to invite the guild of St. Paul's Methodist Church for a salad supper on May 19. This meeting will also be installation of officers and pledge service.

Miss Inez Club concluded the study, "Gospel According to St. Mark." Those attending were Miss Lillian Mullinax, Minnie Allen, Inez Clubb, Alma Wilson; Mmes. Lee Harrah, Aubrey Jones, J. A. Knox, Ben Ogden, Ila Pool, Nina Spoonemore, J. M. Turner, Harold Wright and W. C. Hutchinson.

The first-grade teachers and students presented an operetta, "Mother Goose," written by the first grade teacher, Mrs. W. R. Altmiller.

Mrs. D. V. Biggers announced that a reading conference would be held in Canyon on July 30. July 30 is designated as Parents' Day and at this time, there will be a reading demonstration with children participating. Interested parents are invited to attend.

Mrs. Rufe Jordan installed the following officers for next year, Mmrs. Kenneth McGuire, who is assuming her second-term as president; T. M. Brooks, vice president; James Hall, recording secretary; F. W. Broyles, corresponding secretary; Wilford McLeod, treasurer, S. C. Cobb, historian; Ott Shewmaker, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Jordan presented a lighted candle to Mrs. McGuire to symbolize the Horace Mann PTA unit. As the charge was given to each new officer, she lit her candle from the one being held by Mrs. McGuire. In her remarks, Mrs. Jordan charged each officer with her responsibility as a PTA officer and stated, "The duties and opportunities for service that await you will challenge your devoted effort." She reminded the members also of their responsible positions and that both must work together to have a good functioning unit.

A social hour was held following the installation. Mrs. Chester Huff, hospitality chairman, presided at the punch service, which was served from a table covered with a white linen cloth highlighted with red and white streamers and centered with a red school-house and a red and white Maypole.

EGGS BAKED IN ENGLISH

EGGS BAKED IN ENGLISH MUFFINS rate a double entry in the good idea file. Here's a tasty dish and gone are hard - to - wash baking pans. Cut centers from muffins almost to the bottom, using a cookie cutter. Spread muffin centers and rimmed muffins with melted or parsley butter. Break an egg into center of each muffin. Cover with a spoonful of cream and a generous sprinkling of grated process chees. Bake in a moderate oven for about 15 minutes, or until eggs are soft - cooked and set. Serve toasted centers, too.

Refrigerators must be kept clean for good health's sake. At least once a week, while defrosting takes place, all food and shelves should be removed. Wash the interior with a baking soda or a borax solution and soap suds. Rubber door seal and the outside as well as ice trays should be included in the washing.

Workers At Convair OK Contract

FORT WORTH (UP)— Seven thousand Convair workers voted Tuesday night to accept a new two-year contract that raised wages from 17 to 27 cents per hour and averted a strike set for midnight.

The International Assn. of Machinists voted 6-1 to accept the contract at a mass meeting.

Convair is one of the largest aircraft plants in Texas, the second ranking state in aircraft production. It manufactures the B-58 Hustler jet bomber and is engaged in secret atomic component work.

"We took the lesser of two evils in my opinion," said Floyd Garrett, president of Lodge 776 of the International Assn. of Machinists

The union here followed the IAM at two other Convair plants by accepting the contract. However, workers at Convair's plant at Pomona, Calif., walked out on strike Tuesday when they refused company proposals.

Garrett said a standing vote by about 7,000 members in Tuesday night's meeting at Will Rogers Coliseum appeared to give a 6-1 majority for accepting the contract which gives the average Convair worker a $35 a month pay raise.

The company agreed to scale down from 10 to five days the number of days a worker could be laid off temporarily. It also cut from 90 to 60 the number of continuous days an employe must work on a job before he can return to that job from a higher one.

Wisconsin's public hunting and fishing grounds cover 69,315 acres.

Spring Tilts Set Tonight

By RICK FEZDIRTZ
News Sports Editor

Can McNeely do it again?

That question, praying on the lips of Pampa's basketball faithful, gets its first challenge in the isolation booth tonight.

For Coach Clifton McNeely, swinging into his 12th season here, tonight's Harvester Varsity - Exes collision offers to purify the picture concerning the court strength of Pampa High's 1958-59 bucket hopefuls.

Tip-off in the spring shooting match is 8 p.m. in spacious 2,500-seat Harvester Field House.

Admission costs only the sole-leather it takes to walk through the front entrance.

McNeely will start five lettermen back from last season's Class 4-A state championship squad which fashioned a sizzling 28-2 won-lost record for the complete campaign.

However, some mighty big shoes remain to be filled on the varsity. Tonight's tilt should be something of a shoe-horn to size up comparisons of last winter's and next's outfits.

The Futures will have a formidable starting lineup with 6-5 Mack Layne manning the pivot position and Coyle Winborn and Bobby Gindorf, both standing 6-4, flanking him at forwards. In the back court for the Varsity, guards Charles Minor and Robert Murray, both at 5-10, will set up the play patterns.

However, this fancy firing unit, will have to play heads-up defense too, what with the likes of all-stater, Bill Brown, in the Exes lineup.

Brown, one of the best cage kids to be produced by McNeely, was the No. 1 Harvester scoring threat last season with 421 points for the year. He's already pledged his allegiance to the University of Texas, inking a letter-of-intent last week, after the final out was recorded against Coach Deck Woldt's Harvester diamond dandies, of which he was a steady man with the stick and glove at shortstop.

Brown also made the Wigwam Wiseman National High School All-American team this year and is a member of the North team to play in the annual Texas Coaching School's cage game at Houston in August.

Lending a helping hand to Brown will be 6-2 Larry Cruise, 6-0 Darryl Ammons and 5-11 Roy Pool, all monogram winners off last year's club, 1956-57 standout, Tommy Murray, who stands 6-0, and 6-1 Gene Brown and 5-8 Jimmy Enloe, lettermen from the 1955-56 quint.

Honorable mention all - stater, Ray Stephenson, from last year's team, isn't expected to suit up with the Exes due to a glandular infection.

Karl Kitto, will also be benched for the Varsity, due to an injured knee.

However reserve varsity depth comes from 6-3 forward, Dom McGuire, and former B - squaders, Craig Winborn, Hershell Terrell, Joe Timms, Phillip Gist, Bill Wray, Ken Dulaney and Leslie Stanfield.

A 6:30 preliminary game will match last season's sophomores with a group coming up from junior high. Boys who'll play junior high ball next winter will scrimmage between halves of the varsity encounter.

Sports Spurts

with RICK FEZDIRTZ

The dressing room doors were bolted tight on Coach Babe Curfman's embryo 1958 Pampa High football machine, immediately following Tuesday night's 20-16 downfall to the Harvester Exes.

Before unlocking the gates to his kingdom of sweating grid slaves, sitting dejected in a clutter of shoulder pads and soggy green jerseys, Babe's basin-deep voice cracked like a whip, "Don't let that beating dampen your spirits, you guys have got what we want, and we're going to work together, get tougher, and have a good ball club

His fading question was droned out almost as it escaped his lips with a blusterous "Yeah," as only a determined squad of young football players can yelp.

See Flicks Today

The energetic Pampa High coaching staff met with their crew again yesterday afternoon to review mistakes made in the annual spring tilt, and offer constructive criticism.

Another such session is forthcoming today with movies of the game expected to be back from being processed. Each boy will be graded on offense and defense from the game flicks so that he'll have some tangible idea how he stacked up in the eyes of the coaches Tuesday night and where the most room for improvment lies.

Oughta Get Oscar!

"How'd ya like our little pre-game show," Curfman asked after the game. We informed, "Man, it was straight from Hollywood," without mentioning gluteous maximus aches from sitting through the elaborate half-hour spotlight ceremonies.

"We got lot of calls from the moms and pops on our introducing the kids like that," Babe pointed out, "they really went for the idea big." He snickered, "We've got most of the parents on our side already. Lot of the kids not now out for the team are being pressured by their folks to try out. Now that's a real healthy sign."

Another Bob Hope

For a guy who was the big straw boss of the football fortunes at the University of Idaho some few short years ago, Curfman is as happy at Pampa High as Snuffy Smith at midnight, loose in some 'po "Hootin Hollar" neighbor's henhouse.

We had a late snack and sat through the Jack Parr teevee laughfest, night before the scrimmage, with Babe and his wife, and it's not exactly a quiet eveing at home with the Curfman's

Roster Trimming

Cards Ship Von Down To Buffs

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press Sports Writer

A year ago this month young Von McDaniel was graduated from high school in his native Hollis, Okla., and joined his brother Lindy as a major leaguer with the St. Louis Cardinals for a $50,000 bonus.

Today Von was headed toward a minor league assignment, and the pitching McDaniels, hailed last season as the kids who would make St. Louis fans forget the Dean brothers, are split up.

Von made quite a debut with the Cardinals last year. Although only 18, he pitched a two-hitter against the Dodgers in June and a one-hitter against the Pirates in July, winding up his rookie year with a 7-5 record.

However, he had trouble with his control this spring and appeared in only two games, allowing five hits in two innings of relief work. So when the time came for the Cardinals to reduce their roster to the 25-player limit Wednesday night, Von was given his walking papers. He was optioned to Houston of the Texas League.

The Cardinals also optioned rookie third baseman Benny Valenzuela to Omaha of the American Association to reach the required limit.

Among the other major leaguers who failed to survive the midnight cut-down curfew were such veterans as Bobby Del Greco, Bill Taylor, Bobby Morgan, and Dixie Howell.

Del Greco, an ex-National League outfielder acquired by the New York Yankees late last season, was optioned to Richmond of the International League. The Yankees also sold pitcher Al Cicotte to the Washington Senators and optioned shortstop Fritz Brickell to Denver of the American Association.

Taylor, another NL veteran, was among three players cut loose by the Detroit Tigers. He was sold to Charleston while pitchers Vito Valentinetti and Joe Presko were optioned to the same AA club.

The Chicago Cubs sold Morgan to Buffalo of the International League and optioned utility outfielder Frank Ernaga to Fort Worth of the Texas League, while Howell, a relief pitcher with the White Sox who broke into the majors with Cleveland in 1940, was sold to Indianapolis. The White Sox also optioned Don Rudolph and Ted Beard to the same club.

Liston TKO's Julio In Third Round

CHICAGO (UP)—Charles "Sonny" Liston wants to win the world heavyweight boxing championship, but he wants to take the long road to get there.

He took a step toward a title chance, though, Wednesday night when he finished trial-horse Julio Mederos, a rugged Cuban, with a 3rd round technical knockout in the weekly television match.

Mederos, who has won only 21 of 43 pro bouts, was prevented from coming out for the third round by the ringside physician, Dr. Irving N. Slott, due to a cut completely through his lip on the lower left side.

Liston, originally from St. Louis but now fighting from Philadelphia, was in complete control against Mederos. His jabs kept the Cuban off balance throughout the first round and twice he staggered his foe with right hands.

For the final 30 seconds of the round, he had Mederos covering up in a corner and still was connecting. Mederos shook his head groggily when he sank to his stool in the corner between rounds.

ROBIN ROBERTS
. . . coming back?

Robin Admits Wing Was Lame In '57

PHILADELPHIA (UP) —Robin Roberts, a 20-game winner for the Philadelphia Phillies from 1950 through 1955, finally admitted today that a lame arm contributed to his fall from stardom the last two seasons.

The 31-year-old right - hander's admission came after he turned in two consecutive strong performances—a 1-0, 11-inning loss to the Pirates on May 9 and a 5-2 win over the Braves on Tuesday. The victory over the Braves was the 191st of his career—one more than the previous club record held by Grover Cleveland Alexander.

"The arm never got real strong although the Doctors told me it would come around," Roberts said. "It would peter out on me, then, blooey, before I knew it someone would hit one out of the park. Now it gets there a little faster."

Roberts had a 19-18 record in 1956 and last season was tagged for 46 homers as he won only 10 games and lost 22.

"I guess I was the last guy to notice it," said Roberts, referring to repeated speculation over the last two seasons that his arm was lame. "I was giving it the best I had sometimes it was the worst."

The admission slipped out accidentally while Roberts was talking with a reporter. But when pressed he conceded it was the "real thing."

"It lasted a long time," he said. "I don't know what's ahead but I'm going to try to make it rough on the guys who made it rough on me."

Bantam Ben In Mood For Title

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UP)— The half-pint Texan with the 10-gallon hat full of golf tricks — Ben Hogan — allowed as how he was "in the right mood" to make a strong bid for his second Greenbrier Open golf championship as the $10,000 tournament got underway today.

But Hogan had his hands full from the likes of such as his old friendly rival, balding Sam Snead, defending champion Dutch Harrison and 54 other professionals.

Move Over 'Man,' Spahn Wants To Get Into Act

WARREN SPAHN
. . . eyes lefty mark

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

While they're dusting off that Hall of Fame plaque for Stan Musial they might just as well start getting another ready for Warren Spahn.

A "young fella," some seven months younger than the mighty "Man" from St. Louis, Spahn reached another milestone in his career Wednesday night when he pitched the Milwaukee Braves to a 4-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. It was Spahn's 230th win—a total surpassed by only three left-handers in modern National League history.

Of more immediate interest to the Braves, of course, was the fact that they reclaimed first place when the St. Louis Cardinals beat the San Francisco Giants, 3-2. Musial, who apparently found his first 3,000 hits the hardest, got a big jump on his fourth thousand by hitting a homer and two singles that lifted his average back to .500.

Pirates Win

The Pittsburgh Pirates achieved their second six-game winning streak of the season when they beat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 5-4, and the Chicago Cubs snapped a seven-game losing streak with a 7-3 decision over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the other National League games.

In the American League, the New Hork Yankees got some more of that magnificent pitching to beat the Baltimore Orioles, 1-0, the Chicago White Sox downed the Kansas City Athletics, 4-1, the Boston Red Sox topped the Washington Senators, 7-5, and the Cleveland Indians nipped the Detroit Tigers, 9-8.

The unbeaten Spahn, who turned 37 on April 23, struck out seven and yielded five hits in becoming the first six-game winner of the season. All six of his wins are complete games and he allowed a total of 12 runs in them. Spahn himself smashed a run-scoring triple and Del Crandall and Johnny Logan homered for the big blows in the Braves' eight-hit attack.

Musial Adds Three

Musial, who achieved his 3,000th hit on Tuesday, homered in his first appearance at the plate Wednesday night and added two singles for three of the Cardinals' nine hits. Vinegar Bend Mizell pitched a four-hitter as the Cardinals ran their winning streak to seven games and climbed into fifth place. Mizell had his worst moments in the first inning when Willie Mays was safe on a force-out, stole second and third and scored when the throw to third was wild.

Vernon Law won his fifth straight game for the Pirates, who collected 12 hits including three each by Ted Kluszewski and Bob Skinner. Dick Groat hit the most important single blow for the Pirates, however, a two-run fourth-inning triple that gave them a 5-3 lead. Cincinnati has lost five straight.

Lee Walls hit a single, double and his 11th homer as the Cubs dropped the Dodgers deeper into the cellar. Walls' homer opened a four-run Chicago seventh that clinched the decision and gave Jim Brosnan his third win. Carl Erskine was the loser for the Dodgers, who have yielded 58 runs in six straight defeats.

Third Shutout for Turley

Bob Turley struck out seven and pitched a four-hitter for his third shutout and the Yankees' sixth in 20 games. Mickey Mantle doubled home Tony Kubek with the run that beat Billy O'Dell and enabled the Yankees to increase their first-place lead to four games.

STAN MUSIAL
. . . loves his singles

Stan Gets Headstart On Wagner's Record

By STAN MOCKLER
United Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Stan Musial, the three-grand man, was hot on the track of his newest objective today — becoming the hittingest player in National League history.

Musial said after he belted out the hit that put him in baseball's most selective group of 3000 career hitters, that he had no intention of resting on his laurels.

And he proved it Wednesday night right after he joined the 3000 Club.

Fresh from glowing testimonials for his past performance from his bosses, general manager Bing Devine, field leader Fred Hutchinson and owner Gussie Busch, Stan stepped up to the plate on his first trip and lofted a 2-2 Johnny Antonelli pitch high on the roof of the right field pavilion.

The Cards won the game from the San Francisco Giants, 3-2, and Don Blasingame's two-run double in the fifth, merely because it came after the Giants had scored two runs, must be rated the decisive blow. But the Cardinals could not have won without Musial's round-tripper.

His other two hits were singles and one was a little pop fly just over the infield.

"I wouldn't turn any of them down," he grinned. "After all, Willie Keeler went a long way 'hittin' 'em where they ain't'."

To become the top hitter in league history, Musial must pass Honus Wagner, who had 3,430. He figures he has "a couple of more good season" which would put the goal within reach.

He and the surviving members of the 3000-plus hitters—Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Nap LaJoie and Paul Waner—will all be honored again by the Cards on June 8.

But Stan is ready to forget about what he already has and consider what lies ahead.

"Let's get back to work," he said before the bame.

And he proceeded to do so — it was just a case of business as Musial.

OKULOVICH SKIPS SEASON

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)—Andy Okulovich, Ohio State University quarterback, will skip his final season of college eligibility to try out with the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League. The 24-year-old passing star was drafted by the Browns a year ago.

Keller, Cabot Grab Opening LL Victories

With one game under their belts E. M. Keller and Cabot Co. little league teams have taken the lead in the Western and Eastern Little League, respectively, with 1-0 records.

E. M. Keller clipped One Bull Ranch 9-5 in Western Little League action Wednesday night. Goodwin was the winning pitcher and Mathis the loser. Keller had nine hits with Hull slamming a homerun. One Bull had seven hits with Mathis hitting a homer.

In Eastern Little League activity Cabot scored an extra inning 5-1 victory over Duncan Insurance with Price getting the win and Hendley being the losing pitcher. Beashers clouted two homers for Cabot and Cantrell hit one round-tripper for Duncan Insurance.

WHEELCHAIR OLYMPICS SET

NEW YORK (UP)—The National Wheelchair Olympic Games will be held here May 30 and May 31. The two-day tourney will draw 70 wheelchair athletes from the United States and Canada to compete in eight events—a 60-yard dash, 240-yard relays, archery, javelin throw, darts, ping pong, bowlite and basketball free throw.

SPURTS . . .

we spent, Babe's humourous quips keeping any dull moments out of the parlor.

Four of the local civic clubs already know about "the Babe" as a "man-of-mirth." He's been a popular after-dinner speaker all during his coaching career and has recently "rollen 'em in the aisle" at Rotary, Kiwanis, Jaycee and Lions clubs here.

A pretty good hitter in the knife-and-fork league, the 230-pounder speaks to the Night Lions Club tonight.

He was asked after one of his club appearance if there were any big boys in his stable here.

"Big, why we got some kids out there so big, we don't tell 'em what to do we ask 'em what they'd like to do," Curfman commented, while all the time trying to keep his twitching right eye from winking shut.

Out Of The Past

Whatever Happened To . . .
DICKIE KERR

The Chicago White Sox of 1919, later known as the "Black Sox," lost the World Series to the Cincinnati Reds five games to three and it would have been far worse but for little Dickie Kerr, a left-handed pitcher who wasn't in on the plot to throw the Series. Kerr won the third game with a shutout and scored Chicago's second victory in the sixth game for two of the club's three Series victories. That was Kerr's rookie season in which he had a 13-8 record. He was 21-9 the following year, then 19-17 but the strain was too much for him and he went out of the league. He came back with an 0-1 record in 1925 for his major league swan song. Later, he managed for many years in the minors and is credited with inspiring Stan Musial to continue in baseball as an outfielder when an injury wrecked Musial as a pitcher.

Whatever happened to Dickie Kerr? Now 64, Kerr is an accountant for a hardware firm in Houston, Tex.

Baylor Inks Gravitt

WACO (UP) — Baylor University has announced the signing of a letter of intent by Jack Gravitt, a six foot, three inch, 210-pound fullback from Woodrow Wilson High School of Dallas.

'Horns Invade Dodgers' Den

AUSTIN (UP) — The University of Texas' crack track team expected to fly to Los Angeles today to pick up new honors at the 18th annual Coliseum Relays starting Friday night.

The Southwest Conference champions hoped to arrive in Los Angeles in time for an afternoon workout on the unfamiliar grass surface, the green carpet newly laid in the Coliseum for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Versatile Eddie Southern, the nation's leading quarter - miler, will lead the Texas squad, winner of the 440 and 880-yard relays last year at the meet. Southern will run in the open 440-yard run and on Texas' three relay teams.

The Longhorns, coached by Clyde Littlefield, were expected to meet stiff competition in defense of their titles from the Abilene Christian, Oklahoma State and North Texas State teams.

Universal Liberty

"The trouble with your editorial policy" says the anonymous letter," is that you are always for the big guys and against us little people."

"Why don't you say something about the power wielded by big business and the doctors and the lawyers?" asks a well-modulated but unidentified voice on the telephone.

"The country is in trouble," says a stranger on the street, "but what are you doing about it? You don't say anything about getting the government to grant more relief to take care of poor people."

Before replying to these questions we'd like to make it clear that this in no way represents the bulk of comments reaching us. By far and away the majority of persons from whom we hear express appreciation for our stand. But since we have apparently been unable to express ourselves with the fluency and cogency our intentions augured, let us directly and with vigor speak to the issue.

Do we favor the big guys and thus find ourselves arrayed against the "little" people? Absolutely not! If we have erred, our transgression is on the other foot.

The biggest people we know are those clad with the royal robes of power who sit in the seats of the mighty and hurl their bans against the little people .Not for a single moment have we endeavored to make their lot, or all their power, one of comfort and security. On the contrary.

Before the might of government, all citizens are little. Yet it is the private citizen we would champion. Here we strive to maintain an equality of view holding that the jobless is as worthy as his qualities and experience vouchsafe; and the tycoon is neither more nor less.

We neither fear nor favor private citizens one against the other. The millionaire is no more of the villian of our piece than is the day laborer. Each has his place, and in a free society, each may yet exchange his temporary position for the other.

However, we have little patience either with the one or with the other when that one runs to the government, the big guys, for special laws or rules or subsidies or handouts or protections, favoring him against the others. The businessman who seeks a governmental sinecure knows full well that we cannot approve his action. And the worker who tries by union, club, organization, party or simply through job classification to secure a governmentally granted advantage finds that we cannot go along with this.

We stand for freedom. And under freedom each person is able without government intervention to receive all out of life that his own energies and skills deserve. If he thinks he deserves more than he gets, let him improve himself or his product and prove the point.

Included in this general approach are both the legal men and the medical men. Individually there are many in these professions who are among the finest persons in our land. But when they organize to obtain special concessions, make rules through government which compel or harass, we cannot condone their actions. Regardless of their professional skills they are primarily human beings. As such they are either innately superior or they are congenital misfits. If they are superior they need no special rules to buttress their professions. If they are inferior, they are in the wrong pursuits.

And what of relief? Should we succumb to the general lament and concentrate on providing more in the way of doles and subsidies? On the contrary. Is it not our job to try to encourage as many as possible to stand on their own feet as free and independent citizens?

Besides, where will be relief come from if it does not come from the surplus of those who are gainfully employed? What we need is not more relief, but more persons gainfully employed. And the way to provide more jobs and more money in through savings, invested in wanted industries and businesses. If we drain away the surplus through excessive largesse, will we not be killing the goose that lays the golden egg?

There is no substitute for individual initiative and human liberty. These things we support universally. This means that we must and will support every individual human being who minds his own business, pays his own bills and conducts himself with dignity, forbearance and fundamental honesty.

These are always in the majority. Civilization, life itself, would not be possible unless this is true.

Unemployment Is Avoidable

By F. A. Harper

Economic illness in the United States threatens to worsen and to continue for an unknown duration, it seems to me. Every such forecast involves a degree of uncertainity, but every choice we make under freedom is, in effect, a forecast itself.

Whistling at Dusk

When Felix Somary, the Swiss banker, made his dire forecast before the Harvard Board of Overseers late in 1955, his untimed prediction of economic catastrophe for USA was widely questioned. 1/And the lack of agreement increased as the boom continued to higher and higher levels over the subsequent months.

1/Felix Somary, "Crisis For America," Train, Vol. 34, No. 7, June 1.

The depression began in the fall of 1957 at a time when optimism was rampant. Perpetual boom was generally accepted as our certain future. "Built-in economic stabilizers" were supposed to keep the economic machine going smoothly along the crest of prosperity, safely cushioned against anything more than minor jolts like those of 1949 and 1953.

The present depression struck sharply. Business activity has been declining for several months even faster than in 1929, at a rate comparable to that of the acute depressions of 1937, 1907 and a few others now spoken of as early-day panics. Yet throughout those early months of depression the darkness was full of whistling. People rushed to join the informal "three months clubs," asserting that a spring recovery would come with the robins, or by July 1st at the very latest. The new economic stabilizers were trusted to do the job.

The new gadgets of economic control were presumed to make all history obsolete in this respect. Considered to be of no futher significance, for instance, was the record of serious economic depressions following every prior major war when serious business declines started as follows:

	Years after start of war	Years after end of war
Napoleonic Wars	14	4
War Between the States	12	8
World War I	15	11
World War II & Korean War	?	?

Repeated assurances of national economic health by business and political leaders, especially the latter, further allay fears about the depression becoming more serious. When a top politician, soon to be up for re-election, gives an economic forecast it is something like the cook predicting whether her meal will be worth eating, or a taxi driver answering the passenger's question about the chances of his running into a lamp post.

It would be interesting to compare official statements of business prospects over the months since the onset of the depression with corresponding statements during the early months of the depression starting in 1929. 2/A little book full of a series of quotations about business prospects as the depression progressed became highly popular at that time. Perhaps some enterprising person is even now doing his research for another "Oh Yeah!"

2/Edward Angly, "Oh Yeah!" (New York: Viking Press, 1931).

Top-Selling Cures

As the current depression has continued and deepened, economic medicinals have been more and more in demand with these nostrums leading all others in sales and popularity:

1. Confidence
2. Political invasion of economic affairs
3. Higher wages, to give more purchasing power

A first question to be raised about the effectiveness of these "cures" for the depression should be this: If they will cure the depression, why did they not prevent its onset? We had them all in abundance then. Confidence was perhaps never so high as just before the depression began. Political invasion of economic affairs was also at an all time high and was being promised in ever - increasing abundance. Wages were at a peak and rising rapidly. Yet the depression struck in spite of all of them — due, quite clearly, to something else.

Before speaking of the cause of the business decline, let us consider these nostrums a bit.

Fakery of the Faith Cure

Confidence alone will not move economic mountains. It follows rather than leads underlying economic forces, which become evidenced as exchanges in our societal economic life.

Consider a specific instance of confidence. Mrs. Jones refuses to buy a $29.95 dress Miss Smith has made and is offering for sale. Why? It is because she prefers the $79.95 rather than the new dress. So she keeps her cash.

If we were to apply the confidence nostrum, we would plead with Mrs. Jones to take on a bit of positive thinking and have faith — in short, live carelessly and trade her money for the dress. In other words, we would ask Mrs. Jones to have more confidence in the dress than in the cash, as a possession.

Now suppose Mrs. Jones buys the dress. If confidence was warranted for her to prefer the dress to the cash, why isn't the same confidence called for now on Miss Smith's part? It is now Miss Smith who is lacking confidence enough in the dress to induce her to offer to trade back, returning things to exactly where they had been in the beginning.

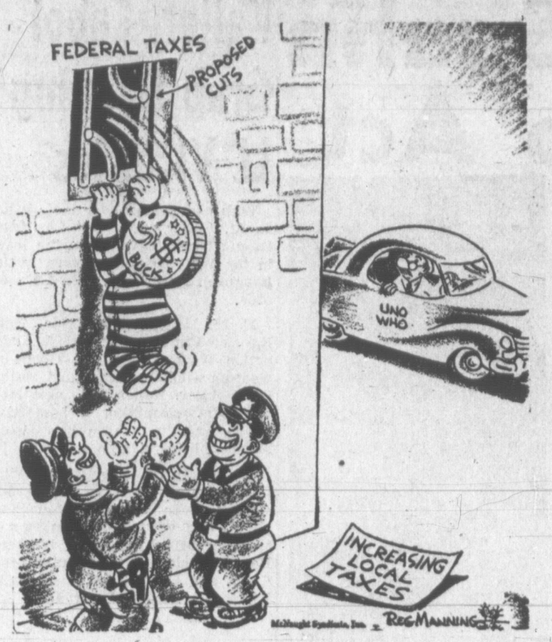

Confidence alone solves nothing. Indeed, the question is wholly one of relative preferences rather than lack of confidence. Mrs. Jones had plenty of confidence, but it was more confidence in the $29.95 than in the dress. So did Miss Smith, and that is the reason why they couldn't trade. Not until a better dress was offered at the price, or a lower price for this one, would Mrs. Jones have more confidence in the dress than in the money; then, if Miss Smith still preferred the money to the dress, a trade could be consummated. There is no other way.

So the confidence nostrum for curing a depression amounts to asking one person to change the placement of his confidence as between two things in the market of trades, so as to advantage another person in a trade. So long as there is agreement as to which of two items up for trade is worth the most, no voluntary trade can occur because both parties prefer the same side of the trade.

Offering preachments and prayers on behalf of confidence will do no good in curbing the depression. Instead, if we rely upon it and build our hopes and expectations thereon, we shall merely discredit faith of the wholesome sort where it is justified.

Robert Allen Reports

Ike To Come Out Okay In Defense Plan Hassle

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is going to come out better in the stormy Pentagon reorganization hassle than is being widely indicated.

That has been definitely agreed on by the two bipartisan leaders who rule the House Armed Services Committee — Representatives Carl Vinson (D., Ga.), powerful long-time chairman, and Leslie Arends, Ill., senior Republican.

Under the major provisions of the legislation they are already privately drafting, the President will get considerably less than he is vigorously urging, but quite a bit more than appeared likely at the turbulent start of this far-from-ended controversy.

One thing is certain. Whatever Vinson and Arends decide on will be in the reorganization bill as it emerges from the Armed Services Committee.

Vinson already has a pledged overwhelming majority for that.

All of the other 19 Democratic committeemen are lined up solidly with him. And of the 16 Republicans, Arends has assured Vinson all but three are committed to vote with him. Arends has also told that to the White House.

Parliamentary strategy is primarily the reason the President will fare better than previously anticipated in the Committee's forthcoming measure.

Vinson and Arends can get Committee approval of any kind of bill they want. Also, they could probably get their way, or most of it, in the full House. The veteran Georgian and canny Illinoisan, who is also the GOP Whip, have a lot of influence with their colleagues.

But the two astute leaders have their eye on the Senate — where the outcome of this legislatoin is still in the making.

By putting through the House a "moderate" measure, that doesn't go too far in rebuffing the President's demands, Vinson and Arends figure they will strengthen their hand in two ways: (1) Win support for their bill in the Senate; (2) enhance their position for "negotiating" in the conference committee deliberations between the two chambers to iron out their diferences.

In those closed-door sessions, in which Vinson and Arends will participate very importantly, is where the bill that will finally be put up to the President will be written.

WHAT'S IN IT — That's why the President is going to get a better shake in the Vinson - Arends measure — in the following "compromise" provisions they have privately agreed on:

The Secretary of Defense will be given authority, as sought by the President, to determine the "roles and missions" of the armed services. But these decisions will be made subject to Congressional approval. No drastic changes can be made by the Defense Secretary until the House and Senate have voted on them.

Also as recommended by the President, the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force will be removed from the line of command. But Vinson and Arends are writing in a precautionary paragraph to ensure that the services will not be abolished. That will be done by expressly stating the services are to be 'separately administered."

There will be a reduction in the number of Assistant Secretaries, but not as steep as originally proposed by Vinson and Arends. They advocated getting rid of 13. The President expressed willingness to drop three or four. The compromise figure will be seven or eight.

The President will be given the Assistant Defense Secretary for Research and Engineering that he wants.

Similarly, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs will be given a vote in that body, and he will also be empowered to select the Director of the Joint Staff, who will be directly under his authority.

The size of the Joint Staff will be increased from approximately 200 to 400; the President wants no limitation. Vinson and Arends also are including two other restrictions on this key unit, by limiting assignment to it to three years, and requiring that its membership be evenly divided among the armed services.

Authorize the creation of "unified commands" in strategic areas, as desired by the President.

Limit to 800 the number of civilian employes of the Office of the Secretary of Defense. The President is against any ceiling on that.

Bar any extensive reshuffling of the appropriations voted the individual services by Congress. The Defense Secretary will be given authority to shift up to five percent of these funds, but that's as far as the Vinson-Arends bill will go.

NOTE: General Wilton Persons, deputy assistant to the President, is urging him to summon the bipartisan leaders of Congress to the White House for a "harmony" conference on this embattled legislation. The President has had personal talks with Representatives Vinson, Arends and others on the matter, but has not had a general meeting.

Minnesota is a combination of two Sioux Indian words meaning "sky-colored water."

Reds Step Toward Disarm Agreement

United Press Staff Correspondent

Soviet Russia seems to have taken a short step toward agreeing to start negotiations on disarmament.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, in a letter to President Eisenhower, accepted in principle a United States proposal that experts start discussing means of supervising a possible agreement to suspend nuclear weapon tests.

Khrushchev's offer was hedged about by qualifications which left a lot of room for doubt whether he is acting in good faith or is merely launching another propaganda balloon.

But it was received in Washington as appearing to justify some hope that the long deadlock on disarmament talks might be broken.

A White House statement said that Khrushchev's offer might "serve as the basis for progress toward agreement on disarmament."

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was considerably more cautious. He called Khrushchev's offer gratifying. It appeared to recognize "to some degree at least" the insistence by the United States that the problem of controls is the prime essential in any disarmament agreement.

Dulles added that he did not mean to say that he thought the prospects for any disarmament agreement were good.

He said it would take a lot of study to determine whether there was any ground for optimism. "But at least," he said, "there is some progress."

The Washington reaction showed plainly the feeling of officials in allied countries toward any development, however slight, in the attempt to negotiate a "summit" conference on world issues and get started on discussion of disarmament by experts.

First, there was eagerness to grasp at any apparent concession by the Soviet government. Secondly, there was the natural suspicion of every Russian move, and the doubt whether the Russians will agree to conditions that would justify a summit conference or would permit the first step to be taken toward broad disarmament negotiations.

Eisenhower, in a letter to Khrushchev on April 28, suggested among other things that East and West start technical talks on means of detecting any violation of a posible agreement to suspend nuclear weapons tests.

Arctic Plan Rejected

The President also proposed the establishment of an Arctic zone air watch to lessen the danger of a nuclear weapons attack by planes flying over the North Pole route between Rusia and the United States.

Khrushchev rejected this proposal. He said it seemed aimed at gaining advantages for the United States over Russia because of the presence of American air bases in countries within attacking distance of the Soviet Union.

The acceptance of the proposal for technical talks on an agreement to suspend nuclear weapons tests was highly qualified.

"The Soviet government is agreed to have either side appoint experts who should immediately start work on studying the means of detecting possible violations of an agreement to end nuclear tests, with the proviso that work should be completed in the shortest term agreed upon beforehand," Khrushchev said.

This reference to "the shortest term agreed upon beforehand" roused suspicion that Khrushchev's apparent acceptance might contain what Eisenhower has called a "gimmick."

WOULD CONQUER SPACE—Walter R. Dornberger, former German missile chief, told the House Space Committee that the United States should "conquer, occupy, keep and utilize" space between earth and the moon by 1978. Dornberger, who testified in Washington, is now technical adviser to the president of Bell Aircraft.
