TOPPLED TRAIN CARS spilled wheat along the track when six jumbo covered hopper cars of the Fort Worth and Denver Railway Line derailed west of Hart about three-fourths of a mile. The mishap occurred about 4:50 p. m. Wednesday, Aug. 19. The cars were loaded with wheat out of Dimmitt headed for Lubbock. Three of the cars lost their loads and Darrel Davis, agent at Hart, said workmen used augers to pick up the grain and reload into other hopper cars. No injuries were reported.

Committee Election Ballots To Be Mailed September 1

On September 1, ASC community committee election ballots will be mailed to all known eligible farm voters, according to Jim Elder, Chairman of the Castro County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Farm voters may vote for up to three of the candidates listed, or they may write in their choices on lines provided at the bottom of the ballot. To be counted, all ballots must be properly signed and mailed or returned to the County ASCS Office by September 11. Votes will be tabulated September 15, 1970, 8 a. m. Castro County ASCS Office.

In each of the five ASC Communities in the county, three community committeemen and two alternates will be elected. The candidate receiving the largest number of votes becomes chairman; the second largest vote-getter, vice-chairman; third-high, regular member; fourth and fifth highest become first and second alternates who may serve on the committee if regular members are temporarily absent or if a permanent vacancy occurs.

ASC community committees are elected for one-year terms, beginning October 1. Elder said, "It's very important that farmers elect their most qualified farm-neighbors for community committee posts. These community committees elect the County ASC Committee and choose its officers. They also assist the County ASC Committee in local administration of Government farm programs and help keep farmers informed on how the programs affect individual farm operations."

Any farm owner, tenant, or sharecropper who is of legal voting age may vote if he has an interest in a farm and is eligible to participate in any ASCS program administered in his community. Others who may vote are spouses of eligible voters; a minor who supervises and conducts the farming operation of an entire farm; a legal guardian who manages a farm for a child; and a person representing a legal entity such as a partnership or corporation.

The ASC Committee Chairman pointed out that producers who have farm interests in more than one community may select the community in which to vote, but may vote in only one community in the county.

Voting by proxy is not allowed. Voters who certify their ballots with an "X" for a signature must do so before a witness and obtain the signature of the witness in order for the ballot to be counted.

A list of known eligible voters is open for inspection at the County ASCS Office. Any person who believes he is an eligible voter but who is not listed should get in touch with the County ASCS Office as soon as possible, Elder said.

He also said that any voter who has not received a ballot in the mail within a few days after September 1 should call the County ASCS Office to arrange to receive a duplicate ballot if necessary.

Grain Sorghum Endangered By Spider Mite Attack

Spider mites are attacking sorghum over the High Plains, according to a survey conducted by TGSPB. Heavy populations are found in some fields north of Lubbock. Mites cause leaf deterioration, yield reductions, and lodging. They appear to build up faster on plants in the milk stage to maturity. Mites are small insects which are difficult to see with the naked eye. Their presence can be detected by a webbing on the under-side of the leaf. However, this is the advanced stage of infestation and control becomes more difficult. They are sucking insects and release a toxin material into the leaf as they suck the plant fluids.

What control measures are available? Little information is known in this region as to the best chemical procedure. In some areas resistances to chemicals has made spraying useless. Here it appears (based on field observations) that chemicals are giving initial control, but have little effect on new hatches. As a result, more than one spraying will be required in order to break the cycle.

What is being done to gather more information for control recommendations? Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board is conducting trials in cooperation with aerial applicators, chemical companies and Texas Tech University to help find the best control methods for NOW.

To date, we cannot make any definite recommendation except to say that liquid Di-syston has shown the most favorable results and it is not yet known how long this control will last or be economical. Also, keep your fields adequately irrigated.

If conclusive evidence is observed regarding effective control, TGSPB will immediately release this information.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

A recent fact sheet by the Internal Revenue Service on levy action by IRS states this policy: "Recognizing that IRS could not discharge its responsibilities without some means of enforcing collection of delinquent taxes, and in fairness to the vast majority of taxpayers who properly meet their tax obligations, Congress has provided legal sanctions such as levy against property and rights to property of the taxpayers delinquent in payment of taxes." What this says is "Don't fool around--pay your taxes." The document clearly brings out that Internal Revenue will be fair and reasonable but the law provides for collecting, and they will collect.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Anthony Harrigan

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

While millions of Americans are deeply concerned about the flood of pornography and demand legislation to drive smut peddlers out of business, a presidential commission has recommended that all laws against pornography be repealed.

The 18-member commission (17 appointed by former President Johnson and one by President Nixon) proposed that the United States adopt laws as favorable as Denmark's. Today, Denmark is the capital of the smut trade. Pornographic books, films and materials are sold openly in shops on main streets and exported overseas.

The commission specifically recommended repeal of all federal, state and local laws against showing and selling of pornographic films, books and other materials to adults. It said: "The commission is of the view that it is exceedingly unwise to attempt to legislate individual moral values and standards." No doubt the vast majority of decent citizens are shocked at the recommendations of the panel established by President Johnson and dismayed by its faulty logic.

Public authorities can't be unconcerned with public morality. The moral fiber of the nation is a legitimate public and governmental concern and always has been viewed in that light. If the commission's recommendations were approved, the Congress would be giving legislative sanction to immorality.

In defending its proposals, a member of the President's Commission on Pornography said sex crimes in Denmark declined 31 per cent after legalization of pornography. Whether this statistic is accurate, one cannot say. What is clear is that the people of Denmark have been exposed to a flood of sick and perverted material. The psychological impact of that material on Danes now growing to maturity is likely to be grave indeed.

No Western society, based on Christian values, has been exposed to pathological erotic material in such enormous quantities. It is questionable that Christian morality in Denmark can survive the legalization of morally depraved material.

Very properly, the U. S. Congress is indignant about the conclusions of the commission appointed by President Johnson. Only a few weeks ago, Congress gave overwhelming approval to a bill (H.R. 11032) designed "to prohibit the knowing deposit in the mail for transport in interstate commerce" of unsolicited salacious advertising. The penalty for this, as approved by Congress, is a fine of not more than $50,000.00 or imprisonment of not more than five years -- on the first offense. Obviously, Congress is determined to crack down on smut peddlers.

In advocating passage of this bill, U. S. Rep. William E. Minshall (R-Ohio) told of the methods of the smut peddlers, saying: "The panderers of pornography glean names from newspapers, magazines, school, club, and even church rosters."

Though the Commission on Pornography wants to give smut peddlers a green light, the American people think otherwise. In the last two years, the U. S. Post Office Department has received 459,129 complaints from citizens who have been the target of the smut peddlers' mail advertising campaigns.

In a message to Congress, requesting action against pornographers, President Nixon said that "American homes are being bombarded with the largest volume of sex-oriented mail in history....Mothers and fathers by the tens of thousands have written to the White House and the Congress. They resent the intrusion into their homes." President Nixon urged "a citizens' crusade against the obscene."

The Commission on Pornography showed gross insensitivity to moral considerations and to the quality of American life. It also showed appalling ignorance of the fact that a flood of erotic material is symptomatic of deterioration in a nation. We know from history that fall of the Roman Empire was marked by the spread of pornography. It would be intolerable if U. S. lawmakers turned permissive in their approach to pornography. Instead of facilitating distribution of such material, the need is for even tougher laws against those who produce and sell filth.

Dear Editor

For the good of our country, won't you please publish this as a public service feature? It makes me little, if anything, but causes many to make their ownhouses, feeders, etc., and destroy a lot of filthy Starlings.

I have made Purple Martin, Blue Bird and Wren houses every day for the past five years; worked 10-14 hours a day and tried to realize only a fair 8 hours pay. Our desirable birds are very scarce. People have just quit providing a nesting place for them. One purple Martin eats about 4,400 insects daily. You never see a mosquito if you have Purple Martins. One type has open front for better observation and little ones don't crowd in door and fall out. The other type has a door in the corners. They have three times the view that the usual side door has.

The Purple Martin will eat nothing but insects. The last week in August the Martins leave here and go to the Amazon Valley in Brazil. They return anytime from March 20th to April 10th to last year's nest. They return after the insects begin to fly.

They are good company, sing from dawn to dark. In flight, they are most graceful and very fast. Anyone who ever has the Purple Martin around their home will never again fail to provide them a proper nesting place.

Now a few words about the sorriest bird on this planet the Starling - pest of all pests.

I hear a lot and read a lot that spraying crops is killing our birds. I think I can prove that not one word of this is true. The only bird that would eat a dead bug is a scavenger and that's what the Starling is. If spraying was killing birds, there would be no Starlings.

The Starling is the destroyer of our birds. Our woodpecker, Flicker and any birds that nest in a hole in a tree are about gone.

When the Starling finds their nest, being too sorry to make his own, he goes in and throws out their eggs or their young and raises his own family. The only reason they don't do the same to the Purple Martin is that they don't make much of a nest.

No bird will feed near them or fight with them. They emit an odor that other birds can not stand. They also carry a disease that is fatal to humans. It causes hardening of the respiratory system.

This nasty thing was brought to this continent in 1886 - about a dozen were let loose on our east coast. Now there are five starlings to one of all other birds added together.

If they aren't destroyed now, in twenty years, we will have no birds left except Starlings and a few sparrows and they too are imports from Russia. It would, to me, be a dreary lonely place without our beautiful song birds.

The Starlings stay in large groups. I used to live in New Jersey. A plane crashed in Elizabeth, taking 136 lives and barely missed a large hospital. On determining the cause of the crash, they found the air intake stopped up with dead Starlings. The plane had just left New York.

Regardless of who likes or doesn't, this pest must be destroyed and now! They can, must and will be destroyed. If there be a law against outright destruction of them, a small bounty could be paid to the kids to collect their eggs.

If interested in houses, feeders, preservation of our desirable birds, send name, address, and stamp for brochure to:

Learn To Earn At Technical Institute

A chance to "Learn to Earn" will be offered to everyone in the Panhandle, South Plains and West Texas Regions of Texas and its neighboring states when the Mid-Continent Campus of Texas State Technical Institute opens its doors September 1 at Amarillo.

Technical and Vocational Training will be offered in 10 areas in both daytime and evening classes during the first trimester, or 15-weeks of school.

These offerings include -- Airframe Mechanics, Building Construction Craftsman and Technology, Commercial Art and Advertising, Farm Machinery and Industrial Equipment Mechanics, Graphics and Design Technology, Livestock and Ranch Management and Technical Communications.

All courses offered at State Tech are designed to teach the subject matter in the minimum possible time and all courses are VA approved for full G. I. benefits.

A one year course consists of three 15-week trimesters with time off between each trimester.

Students at State Tech are not required to take courses such as history, poetry, foreign language, etc. They take only those courses that pertain specifically to the course of instruction in which they are enrolled.

Trained vocational and technical workers are in great demand at this time, and the demand will probably increase each year. Graduating students at TSTI's Waco Campus averaged between four and five job offers each this year with starting salaries of from $6,400 to $8,000 and up being offered.

The Airframe Mechanics Department will be headed by James Scott of Amarillo, who has had many years of experience in this field.

The course is designed to train mechanics who can perform maintenance on aircraft certified by the Federal Aviation Administration. Instruction in powerplant, or engine, mechanics will be offered in the Fall of 1971.

Technicians in this field will have unlimited opportunities as the Aviation and Space technologies continue to expand at a rapid rate.

Robert Bayle, a professional artist from Amarillo, is head of the Commercial Art and Advertising Department at TSTI's Amarillo Campus.

Job opportunities for commercial artists can be found in the areas of newspaper, magazine, television, outdoor sign, direct mail, department stores, and other display advertising fields.

The course will offer a two-year program of study and laboratory experience designed to develop an understanding of the commercial art skills and practices that are applicable to the reproduction of graphic arts. The Building Construction Department, both craftsman and technologist is headed by S. O. Izard, a construction contractor from Tucumcari, New Mexico.

The men in the construction crafts have the challenge to provide one of the three necessities -- to house or shelter the people. Tomorrow's craftsman will have to be highly skilled and trained in the use of new tools and new building techniques.

Those persons completing the two-year technology course in building construction will be capable of serving as construction supervisors and contractors after they have had a reasonable amount of practical experience.

Floyd Lott, a native of Channing who has been teaching at TSTI in Waco, will head the Farm Machinery and Industrial Machinery departments.

Students in these courses will become familiar with all types of farm machinery and industrial equipment including hydraulic systems and internal combustion, diesel powered and electrical engines.

Employment opportunities after graduation can be found with farm and industrial equipment dealers and contractors, feedlot operators, irrigation equipment dealers and large Agricultural operations.

Graphics and Design Technology will be taught by Billy Ray Mersiovsky of Midland, who is a graduate of Midwestern University at Wichita Falls.

The first year, all students take the same basic courses, with the second year devoted to specialization in the field of either aeronautics or mechanics.

The course will train a technician in developing an understanding and engineering principles and the drafting skills applicable to practical problems in design and illustration.

The Farm and Ranch Operation Department will be headed by Bill Holtzapple, a former livestock specialist with Texas A&M University.

Every phase of livestock feeding will be taught, as well as courses in ranching facilities and equipment, plus rations and marketing.

Graduates of the Farm and Ranch Operations course will be in demand by area feedlot owners and farm and ranch operators and dealers.

Mrs. Barbara Vaughan, a West Texas graduate with a degree in business education will teach the course in Technical Communications.

The course is designed to teach technical secretarial

Financial Facts

By Willis A. Hawkins, Jr.

Have you ever looked at the signatures on your dollar bills?

Without those signatures your currency would be worthless. Excepting the first year of printing in 1861, all paper money bears at least two engraved facsimile signatures of Treasury officials. On the 1861 Demand Notes, there are two signatures, but they are those of Treasury employees signing for the officials.

Almost all currency in the series of 1862 through the series of 1923 bears the names of the Register of the Treasury and the Treasurer himself. The only exception is the Federal Reserve Notes of 1914, where the Register's signature is replaced by the signature of the Secretary of the Treasury, the highest official in the Treasury Department. Today, of course, all our currency has the Secretary's and the Treasurer's signatures.

For Seniors it's the last, which will always be remembered and cherished.

For the Juniors it's 11 down and one to go, with excitement still in their blood.

Then the Sophomores are half way through two down and two to go.

The Freshmen are who we feel sorry for. They have just begun. Initiation, the works are just fixing to him them full speed. All they can do is set back and enjoy it. After all it will be over before you know it. We all want to welcome you Freshmen and just say, "You bare with us and we will try our best to bare with all of you!"

Good luck!!

First day quotes from Seniors:

Sandra - "Okay! Just hand them out, we've waited 11 years now give them to us, you know our rings - RINGS!!!"

Carol - "We don't get our rings till fourth period."

Ricky - "I don't know, I just feel different having a senior ring on my finger. I'll try to keep this one-unless?"

Gaylene - "Well, I got my ring now I'm quitting school."

Landra - "What's this bit about everybody saying they have waited 12 long years, look at me I've nearly waited 13 long years."

FIRST DAY COMMENTS

Mr. Ross - "Okay! You boneheads in the back be quiet!"

26th Boys Ranch Rodeo Slated For Labor Day

One of the most unusual events in the nation will take place at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch over the Labor Day weekend, when the 350 residents of the Ranch put on their 26th annual rodeo.

Professional rodeo stock and hard-riding, determined boys will combine to fill the arena with an unforgettable rodeo. Boys from 4 to 18 will compete for honors during the two performances, Sunday, September 6 and Monday, September 7. There will be brahma bull riding, bareback bronc and trick-riding, and the youngest boys will capture the hearts of the audience in the special stickhorse races.

Comfortable reserved box seats are available in advance at regular prices from the Boys Ranch office at 600 West 11th Street in Amarillo, for $2.50. General admission is $1.50 for adults and 75¢ for children and servicemen in uniform.

The performances will begin at 2 p. m. both Sunday and Monday. Delicious barbeque beef sandwiches with all the trimmings will be prepared by the boys and sold to the rodeo visitors for only $1.

Every boy at the Ranch will have some part in the rodeo, either as a contestant or working at the many behind-the-scene jobs that make the rodeo a big success each year. The traditional rodeo is also an annual homecoming for the more than 2,500 boys who have lived at the Ranch since its founding by Cal Farley in 1939.

Moments Of Meditation

By Thos. H. Taylor

I wonder if you would be in the market for some insurance today?

I mean for happiness, joyfulness and security.

Here is a man with a good job, a comfortable home, a lovely wife, and healthy, normal children. He has a fair bank account, an adequate insurance program, and all provisions made for the protection of his family. He drives a modern car, and maybe even owns a boat. He has fishing tackle and hunting clothes, and golf clubs. He's pretty well fixed, wouldn't you say?

But follow him home this evening after he has finished the day's work and sit down with him for a long heart-to-heart conversation. Dig into his life, the experiences he hasn't talked much about. Sense his deeper feelings and needs and find him where he really lives. Get acquainted with the environment of his own feelings about himself, about life and its meaning, and about what lies ahead.

You will very likely find him wistful, hungering for something more--the meaning of all this. Inwardly he may be very restless and insecure, vaguely uneasy and afraid.

We try to feel secure by providing adequate insurance for our family in case something should happen to us.

What about us?

This age-old question that Job asked should haunt us at times to the extent that we would act upon it.

"If a man die, will he live again?" (Job 14:14) We can never be sure when we will meet Jesus face to face but we will meet him. Two men on the way to Emmaus one day were thinking about Jesus but was certainly not expecting him when he walked by their side. Peter and others of the disciples was not expecting Jesus when he called from the shore and asked if they had caught any fish.

He promised us eternal life and what is there to fear? There is just one thing that we have to do, Believe in Jesus Christ and then serve him.

I remember, not with any great pride, those nights of anxiety during World War II. I could hardly sleep at night for fear that someone would slip in and run a knife through me while I was asleep. I have a different view now. I have the assurance that I am going to live forever, and you are too, SOMEWHERE. So what does it matter if we spend it in this life or the next. Paul said, "For me to live is Christ, and to die is gain." (Phil. 1:21) This is to say that it is for Christ's benefit if I live but it is for my benefit to die. For the Christian the next life will be so much better than this one that we will wonder why we tried to stay here so long.

Why don't we admit that the physical nature of man is getting the upper hand on us and strive to be more concerned about the spiritual side of man.

If you do not have adequate insurance for the future life of the soul, why not begin by attending the church of your choice and making your peace with God and then, "the peace of God which passeth all understanding will keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." (Phil. 4:7)

This is Mary Sue. She has nice clothes and good food. I know, because sometimes I help feed and dress her.

What she doesn't have is a mother and a father. Oh, she has parents, but they're judged unfit to care for her.

Things must have been pretty bad for her at home. It took a long time to win her trust. The day she smiled was a major triumph for us all.

I'm a teen-age volunteer at a foundling home operated by our church. For most of the youngsters, this is the first experience with love and kindness, good food and clean clothes. Now I realize how important is our church's mission work.
