SUPREME COURT RULES LABOR GUILTY OF ANTI-TRUST LAWS VIOLATION IF STRIKE CALLED

"Where It Departs From Normal and Legitimate Objects and Engages in Conspiracy to Restrain Trade" Tribunal Holds It Is Accountable to Federal Government for Prosecution.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Labor organizations or their members are accountable under the anti-trust laws where they depart from their "normal and legitimate objects and engage in an actual combination or conspiracy of trade" the supreme court held today in an opinion on which it divided, six to three.

The court reversed lower court decrees, dismissing the application of the Duplex Printing Press company of Battle Creek, Mich., for an injunction restraining Emil J. Deering and William Bramley, as business agents of the International Association of Machinists from continuing a so-called secondary boycott. This was described by the court as a "combination not merely to refrain from dealing with complainant, or to advise or by peaceful means to persuade complainant's customers to refrain (primary boycott), but to exercise coercive pressure upon such customers, actual and prospective, in order to cause them to withhold or withdraw patronage from complainant through fear or loss or damage to themselves should they deal with it."

Labor Leaders Silent.

Labor leaders of prominence declined to comment on the decision of the court which is the first to be given on what President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor has described as "labor's bill of rights." At the headquarters of the International Association of Machinists it was said that all the officers were out of town.

Immunity from prosecution was claimed for the agents of the union under section six of the Clayton act, which sets forth that the "labor of a human being is not an article or commodity of commerce."

It also was contended during the course of the litigation that under section 20 of the same statute, the courts were specifically restrained from granting injunctions such as that for which application was made.

Pitney Reads Opinion.

Justice Pitney, who read the opinion of the court, said:

"As to section six, it seems to us its principal importance in this discussion is for what it does not authorize and for the limit it sets to the immunity conferred. The section assumes the normal objects of a labor organization to be legitimate and declares that nothing in the anti-trust laws shall be construed to forbid the existence and operation of such organizations or to forbid their members from lawfully carrying out their legitimate objects. But there is nothing in the section to exempt such an organization of its members from accountability, where it, or they, depart from its legitimate objects and engage in an actual combination or conspiracy in restraint of trade. DISARMAMENT EFFORT BEGUN BY SENATORS

Committee on Naval Construction Discusses Subject at Executive Session, Hearing Admiral Coontz.

Considering Borah Resolution Which Requires President to Seek Tripartite Agreement.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, The general subject of a reduction in world naval construction was taken up today by the senate foreign relations committee at executive hearings which will be continued Wednesday and which may run for seme weeks.

Specifically, the committee had before it the Borah resolution asking President Wilson to initiate negotiations with Great Britain and Japan looking to a reduction of fifty per cent in the naval building programs of those countries and the United States. It was understood that considerable sentiment developed in the committee to include France and Italy in the negotiations, but this was opposed by Senator Borah who is said to have argued that these countries would follow the lead of the United States, Great Britain and Japan and that if they became a pary to the negotiations a reduction of armies as well as navies would enter into the discussion.

Great Britain Willing.

Great Britain, the senator was reported to have said, could be expected to urge reduction of the French army if she should consent to reducing her navy.

Admiral Coontz, chief of naval operations, and his aides were the only witnesses examined today. Committee members said others

COURT TO DECIDE HOW MUCH LIQUOR LEGAL FOR DOGS

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—The question of how much liquor can legally be prescribed for an elephant, camel or dog is in the hands of the federal grand jury today. The grand jurors are investigating the case of Dr. Bert Franklin, owner of a veterinary hospital, arrested for issuing too many liquor prescriptions.

Franklin's defense, according to District Attorney Clyne, is that the prescriptions were issued for animals treated in his hospital, but the government alleges that the owners of the animals drank the medicine.

Bolsheviki Gold Deposits Baffle New York Bankers

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Heavy deposits of Bolshevik gold in Swedish banks are proving a financial puzzle to bankers of that country, declared Ira N. Morris, American minister to Sweden, on his arrival here today on the steamship Lapland.

"There is a large amount of Bolshevik gold deposited in Swedish banks," he said, "and they do not know what to do with it, awaiting the action of the allied nations. The gold is in bars and the value goes into the millions, although the total amount is not generally known."

SENATE GOES OVER WILSON ON FARM BILL

Measure Reviving War Finance Board Is Adopted After President Vetoes It.

Democrats Lead Fight for Passage of Act Which Is Designed to Give Aid to Nation's Growers.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Veto by President Wilson today of the farmers' relief bill to revive the war finance corporation was followed almost immediately by a vote of 53 to 5 in the senate to make the bill law despite executive disapproval. The house will take up the measure tomorrow, and predictions were general that it would duplicate the senate's action and thus place the bill on the statute books.

President Wilson, in a lengthy veto message, declared he withheld his approval of the bill because the war finance corporation was a war credit agency, not desirable or needed in peace time. He said that it "would exert no beneficial influence on the question, would raise false hopes among the very people who would expect most, and would be hurtful to the natural and orderly process of business and finance."

The legislation, the president said, would result in additional credit burdens, and the government, he contended, should not be "called upon further to finance private business at prohibitive expense."

Referring to widespread demand for abolishment of war agencies and removal of governmental information form business, the president said he had "sympathy" with this view and added that "the nation should resume its usual business methods."

Upon reading of the veto message in the senate, Senator Woods of Alabama, democratic leader, urged its immediate consideration, for which unanimous consent was obtained by Chairman Gronna of the agricultural committee, which reported the bill.

One Address Made.

Senator Underwood followed with the only address made, declaring that financial distress was greater than during the war and that he felt confident of wise administration of the proposed law would cause "no undue drain on the treasury."

The president's message was also read in the house. Representative Mondell of Wyoming, republican leader, announced later that it would be taken up tomorrow at the opening of the house, but without any definite arrangements for a vote. Advocates of the bill, however, expressed confidence that the house would also vote to enact the bill, despite the veto. The house passed the bill by a vote of 212 to 62, or much more than the necessary two-thirds majority. Many of the negative votes were cast by republicans.

President's Veto Message.

President Wilson's message vetoing the resolution to revive the corporation follows:

"To the Senate of the United States:.

"I am returning without my signature, S. J. Res. 212, 'Joint resolution directing the war finance corporation to take certain action for the relief of the present depression in the agricultural section of the country, and for other purposes.'

"The joint resolution directs the revival of the activities of the war finance corporation. This corporation is a governmental agency. Its capital stock is owned entirely by the United States. It was created during hostilities for war purposes. The temporary powers which it is now proposed to revive were conferred in March, 1919, to assist if necessary in the financing of exports. The general powers of the corporation expire six months after the termination of the war, and the special powers with respect to the financing of exports expire one year after the termination of the war. While we are technically still in a state of war, it unquestionably was presumed, when this added power was conferred, that peace would have been formally proclaimed before this time and that the limitation of one year would have expired.

"In May, 1920, in view of the fact that export trade had not been interrupted, but had greatly expanded and that exports were being privately financed in large volume, the war finance corporation, at the request of

Army Will Comprise But 175,000 Men if Bill Is Not Passed

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The army will be constituted of 175,000 men unless an appropriation is passed for the maintenance of a larger force, under a resolution introduced today by Representative Hull, (rep.), Iowa, a member of the house military committee.

The measure would direct the secretary of war to cease further enlistments at this time.

Locklear Neglects Widow in Making Out His Bequests

FORT WORTH, Jan. 3.—Mrs. Odessa Locklear and J. E. Locklear, mother and brother of Ormer Locklear, aviator who died in an airplane accident, August 2, today filed a letter in probate court here, purporting to be a bequeath by the flyer of $5,000 to each of the petitioners. The petition said Locklear's estate in California was valued at $15,000. The letter was not dated and did not mention his widow.

SINCLAIR OIL HEADQUARTERS TO COME HERE

Officials Announce That General Offices Will Be Moved Back to Wichita Falls Next Month.

General headquarters of the Sinclair Oil & Gas company will be moved from Fort Worth to Wichita Falls within thirty days, the local office announced yesterday in notifying tenants of Sinclair quarters to vacate. Headquarters will be consolidated with offices here in the Bob Waggoner building.

This move will result in the bringing af about 35 men, including a number of heads of departments, to the Wichita Falls office, according to the reports.

The Fort Worth office has been handling the company's operations at Ranger, Desdemona, Eastland, Breckenridge and in Young county, in addition to general supervision over the local office, the company headquarters in this district and in the panhandle.

Just how much of this work will be transferred to the local office is not known here. Don O. Long, superintendent for the Sinclair company in this district is in Fort Worth. It is believed that he is conferring over the move.

Several other of the larger companies are planning simllar moves, it is reported, but in no case have the plans progressed far enough yet for such tangible indications as is the case with the Sinclair company.

This move is pointed to as the "first fruits" of the building of the direct railroad connection between Wichita Falls and the Central West Texas oil fields, the last link of which will be closed up, it is expected, within the next few months, and which, with the prospect of a northern rail outlet to the Oklahoma fields, is expected to make Wichita Falls the center of oil operations in North and West Texas and in Southwestern Oklahoma, as well as in the Texas panhandle, looked to as the next area for big development.

The Sinclair company occupies about 15 office rooms on the seventh floor of the Bob Waggoner building, in addition to which they have a two-story concrete house at Lamar and Sixth, used for the Sinclair club and as a home for the unmarried employes.

BRITAIN'S APOLOGY FOR DEALING WITH SENATOR RECEIVED

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Satisfactory explanation is understood to have been made to the state department today by Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador, of the recent action of the embassy in sending a communication direct to a member of the senate.

The communication which was directed by R. Leslie Craigie, first secretary of the embassy, to Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, replied to certain testimony as to British censorship on cable messages, presented to the committee of which the senator is chairman.

Trade Balance in Favor of America Is $2,772, 955,008

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. — The United States, at the close of 1920, had a balance of trade in its favor of at least $2,772,955,008, the department of commerce announced today. Exports for the year, the department said in a statement, will probably total $8,191,008,468, while imports for the year will amount to at least $5,468,053,469.

Exports for December, it was said, would probably exceed $675,000,000, and imports would be in excess of $320,000,000.

TEXANS BEGIN FIGHT TO HAVE LABOR ENTERED

Delegation Goes Before Senate Immigration Committee Asking Bars Be Let Down to Mexicans.

Members Assert That Barrier Should Not Be Placed Against Natives of Our Friendly Neighbors.

BY B. N. TIMMONS.
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A determined fight to have the Hudspeth amendment allowing Mexicans for farm labor to enter Texas without payment of head tax or literary test began before the senate immigration committee today.

The Hudepeth amendment was voted down in the house but sentiment in the senate committee is more favorable to it and there were predictions today that it would be tacked on to the bill by the senate committee.

Congressman Claude Hudspeth of El Paso, Roy Miller of Corpus Christi, representing the rural land owners association, and Walton Peteet of Dallas, representing the Texas Chamber of Commerce, headed the delegation of Texans, which appeared to give testimony.

Senator Colt of Rhode Island, chairman of the senate immigration committee, said the Texans would be heard fully. Colt himself is opposed to drastic immigration legislation.

Will Refute Assertion.

The Texans went to the committee realizing they would have to answer the assertion made by Chairman Johnson of the house immigration committee that if the bars are thrown down to Mexicans, they will also have to be thrown down to European hordes.

The Texans were ready to assert that the United States should not put up the bars against Mexico, Canada and Cuba, neighboring countries, but were under no such obligation to Europe. Another charge the Texans said they were ready to meet was that large areas of Texas are being infested by the pink boll worm as a result of Mexican immigration. It is generally admitted that the boll worm menace, which has caused threats by the department of agriculture to quarantine Texas, is in large part due to the fact that Mexicans bring it in in their cotton bedding.

Mexicans Enter Illegally.

Texans were prepared to assert that this is due to the fact that very stringent regulations prevent the Mexican laborers from coming in through

WILSON'S DISLIKE CAUSED BY WASTE CONGRESSMAN SAYS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Pleading for economy in government expenditures, Representative Mann (republican), Illinois, declared today in the house that the one thing that "made President Wilson the most hated man in the United States" was the gross wastefulness of the present administration.

"The people, North and South, were sore over the orgy of extravagance," he said. "If this side of the house (the republicans) is wise, it will heed the warning. Unless the new president helps to run an economical administration, he will never be returned to the White House."

Klingensmith Has Resigned as Ford Company Official

By Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 3.—Declaring he was not in full accord with some of the business policies contemplated by the company in the future, Frank L. Klingensmith today announced his resignation as vice president and treasurer of the Ford Motor company.

He has been connected with the Ford company for more than 15 years, becoming vice president five years ago.

EXPORT TAX IS CUT BY FRANCE

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 3.—The government today abolished the 10 per cent business tax on gowns, cloaks, millinery, lace and feathers exported.

The tax was abolished because it caused a decrease in foreign buying in France.

Spanish Bank Clerks Demand Recognition

By Associated Press.

MADRID, Jan. 3.—Strong police patrols were posted outside a number of banks in Madrid today as a precaution because of the threatened demonstration by bank clerks whose demand for recognition of their recently formed syndicate has been rejected by most of the bankers.

ATTACK ON "LITTLE MEXICO" FAILS TO MATERIALIZE WHEN PEACE OFFICERS STAND GUARD

Americans Threaten to Drive Natives of Obregon's Country From Wichita Falls Following Attempt to Stir Up Trouble on County Road Work Monday Morning.

The threat to "run Mexico out of the United States," as the police put it, failed to materialize Monday night, though Sheriff Smith, a cordon of deputies and about half of the police force patrolled the Mexican quarter of the Flats district "as a precautionary measure." The threats grew out of "labor trouble." Reports came to the sheriff that a number of white laborers who wanted the jobs of the Mexicans were going to invade the Mexican district Monday night, beat the occupants, and advise them to leave.

At midnight no fighters had appeared.

The threats followed two other attacks on Mexican laborers. Monday morning a half hundred men descended on Mexican laborers working on a county road job in North Wichita. They ran off a half dozen men. A. F. Zimmerman, foreman, said they cursed him. The sheriff arrested a dozen men. Assistant County Attorney Martin turned them loose without making charges of any kind.

Early Monday morning a gang of men ran about 20 Mexicans off of a building construction job at Seventh and Ohio streets. They complained because the Mexicans were working for 40 cents an hour, they said.

West Virginia Capitol Is Destroyed by Fire

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 3.—The capitol building of West Virginia was destroyed by fire today. One laborer was killed and one fireman injured when a section of the roof, under which they were standing, caved in. The spectacular nature of the fire was enhanced when much ammunition, stored on the third floor of the building, exploded.

Venizelos Is Charged With Division Plan

By Associated Press

ATHENS, Jan. 3.—In an article today the newspaper Kathimerini elaborates its recent charge that former Premier Venizelos planned to form a new Greek state in the event of his defeat in the November elections.

The article contains an account of an interview that M. Vlachos, editor of the newspaper, alleges he had with King Alexander last May, in which Valchos says he remarked to the king:

"We are going to win the elections, and you will have the pleasure of handing over the throne to your father."

King Alexander, according to the editor, replied to this by saying:

"What is the use of winning elections, since Venizelos will never leave use in peace? Only a few days ago he told me that even if he lost the elections in Greece he would divide the nation into two parts, create a new Greece separate from the kingdom at Athens, and call on me to reign in new Greece with him."

NUECES COUNTY CAUSEWAY BIDS ARE AUTHORIZED

By Associated Press.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Jan. 3.—According to information received today by County Engineer O. N. Powell from Rollen J. Windrow, state highway engineer, the federal government has authorized Neuces county to advertise for bids on construction of a $410,000 causeway to join Corpus Christi with the San Patricio county shores of Neuces bay.

The causeway would replace a simlar structure destroyed by the storm which struck this section two years ago. The state has already given official sanction to the plans.

Taxable Values of State Are $167,052,707 Comptroller Reports

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 3.—An increase in the taxable value of Texas of $167,052,707 is shown in a summary of the annual report of the state comptroller's department, which was compiled today.

The total taxable property values for 1920 amounted to $3,367,347,912, as compared with $3,200,295,205 for 1919.

PASSENGER AGENTS WILL MEET JAN. 22

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Texas, Jan. 3.—Invitations have been extended to some of the foremost railroad officials in the country to address the sixteenth annual meeting of the Passenger Ticket and Freight Agents' Association of Texas, which will meet in Houston Saturday, January 22, when at least 300 passenger and freight agents from all over the state are expected to be present.

The Gulf Coast lines, through C. W. Strain, general passenger agent, have tendered the association the use of a special train for a trip through the valley over their lines, which will depart from Houston at 10:30 p. m., Saturday, January 22, on a trip lasting two days, returning to Houston at 9 a. m., Tuesday, January 25.

Textile Industry Probe to Be Asked

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Plans to ask for congressional investigation of the textile industry were discussed today at conference here between officers of the American Federation of Labor and the United Textile Workers of America.

John Golden, president of the textile workers, announced that the federation had agreed to support the textile workers' demand for an inquiry.

FRANCHISE FOR TWO STREET CAR LINES SOUGHT

Council Defers Action Pending Public Hearing on Eighth Street Route for Cutting Time.

Another Extention Would Give Faster Service to Residents of Parts of Southland Addition.

The Wichita Falls Traction company filed application with the city council Monday night for a franchise for two carline extensions here, one of which would lop thirteen minutes off of the time required to make the trip to the factory district from the business section; the other, to serve the close-in part of the Southland addition with fast transportation downtown.

The council deferred action, waiting for a public hearing to be held two, or possibly three weeks, from Monday night.

One extension provides for a line to connect with the present factory line at Ninth and Broad streets, run north on Broad to Eighth, and down Eighth through the heart of the business district to Indiana avenue.

The other extension asked is a two-block stretch from Thirteenth and Broad streets to Thirteenth and Grace streets. This would take a short line into the Southland area instead of forcing persons there to take the roundabout Southland route down Sixteenth street to Scott and in.

Council Fears Congestion.

Councilmen expressed the fear that the Eighth street route would add to the congested traffic on that street. L. L. Albritton, manager of the traction company, in making the request for the right-of-way, argued against this that if the route were changed to another more distant street that patrons would have to waste time in walking to that distant street.

It is figured that the extensions will give service to new territory, cut off the long ride to the factory district and save the company 20 cents per mile. This figures into about $11,000 per year saving. The improvement would cost about $60,000.

Announcement of the contemplated improvements were made in an exclusive story in The Record News several weeks ago. The traction company is asking for quick action.

It was voted by the council to pay a bill of $62,000 presented by P. A. Rogers, general manager of the Wichita Falls Electric company, covering expense for warehouse supplies for use of the city water works. These supplies had been purchased by the Power & Light Co. prior to the transfer of the water works to the city.

The coupons for the first six months of interest on the $300,000 bonds for purchase of the water works system were awarded to the light company.

Pay Taxes; Protest Later.

Several applicants for rebate of excessive taxes were heard. The council advised that it would be necessary for property holders to pay their taxes as assessed, and then file for rebate. Mayor Cline announced that after the taxpaying period was over the hearings would be granted before an equalization board for the purpose of clearing all errors in assessment.

A contract was signed with the Fort Worth & Denver Railway company for the construction of an 18-inch sewer under their tracks at the Washington avenue crossing.

An application to reduce the width of Second street between Indiana and Lamar streets from 80 to 60 feet was denied. Manager Lawton of the city water works filed a protest against being charged for excavation permits by the city engineer's department. The council ruled that each city department should stand alone and ordered the payment of the bill. Mayor Cline said that it was their purpose to have each department run as an individual business, even though it merely amounted to changing the city's money from one department to the other, as in no other way could it all be kept on a strictly accountable basis.

A permit for erecting a filling station on the corner of Ohio and Twelfth streets was granted to J. H. Hall.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 3.—The seaplanes NC-5 and NC-6 were reported by radio today to have left Magdalena Bay, Mexico, for Banderias Bay, to join the twelve F-5-L seaplanes that are flying to Balboa, Canal Zone. Tomorrow, the 14 seaplanes are scheduled to fly to Acapuloo, a distance of 467 miles.

PENROSE RETURNS TO SENATE AFTER LENGTHY ILLNESS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania returned to his seat in the senate today after an absence of more than a year. The first senator to arrive, he took his usual place in the front row of the republican side and was cordially greeted by his colleagues as they entered the chamber.

The effects of the senator's long illness showed. Although he was able to walk into the chamber, attendants used a wheel chair in conveying him to the same floor. He remained seated as senators greeted him, but his familiar "how are you?" could be heard distinctly as he exchanged handclasps with the members.

Mechanics School Ordered Moved From Texas to Illinois

By Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Jan. 3.—Orders for the removal of the air service mechanics school from Kelly field, near San Antonio, to Chanute field, Rantoul, Ill., were received here today. The first units of the school will move by January 15, and the complete equipment and personnel will be at the new location by February 1, according to an announcement made at Kelly field headquarters today.

The aviation repair depot at Dallas will be transferred here, it was stated, to occupy the site made vacant by the school.

The mechanics school, which was established here during the world war, is the only one of its kind in the United States. Seven thousand persons graduated from the school during the three years of its operation. Its personnel includes 33 officers and 700 enlisted men and 132 civilian employes.

Reconciliation Is Affected Between Mrs. Swope and Hyde

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 3.—A reconciliation between Mrs. Margaret Swope and her daughter, Mrs. Frances Hyde, who recently divorced Dr. B. Clark Hyde, who was tried several times for the alleged murder of Colonel Thomas Swope, was made known today.

The reconciliation is said to have resulted from the divorce.

Mrs. Swope arrived in Kansas City December 9 from New York, according to friends, and went to her daughter's apartment. Mrs. Swope said tonight that her relations are now most pleasant.

the secretary of the treasury and with my approval, suspended the making of advances.

"This resolution was passed by the congress apparently in view of the recent sudden and considerable fall in prices, especially of agricultural commodities, with the thought that some European countries to which certain products were customarily shipped before the war, might again be enabled to resume their importation, and that larger masses of domestic exports to European countries generally might be stimulated, with the resulting enhancement of domestic prices. I am in full sympathy with every sound proposal to promote foreign trade along sound business lines. I am not convinced that the method proposed is wise, that the benefits, if any, would offset the evils which would result, or that the same or larger advantages cannot be secured without resort to government intervention. On the contrary, I apprehend that the resumption of the corporation's activities at this time would exert no beneficial influence on the situation in which improvement is sought; would raise false hopes among the very people who would expect most, and would be hurtful to the natural and orderly processes of business and finance.

Credit Extended.

Large government credits were extended during the war to certain European governments associatd with us in the struggle. These ceased several months after the armistice, except for commitments already made. They should not now be resumed, either directly or indirectly. The recent Brussels conference, composd of experts from many European countries, and from other nations, itself expressed the opinion that further credits should not be accorded directly by governments, I do not believe that they should be accorded indirectly.

Exports of domestic products have not declined since the armistice. On the contrary they have greatly increased. From an aggregate value before the war of less than 2 1-2 billions of dollars and of about six billions the last year of hostilities, they rose in the calendar year 1919 to more than $7,000,000,000 and this figure will probably be exceeded for the last calendar year. For the first eleven months of the last calendar year, we exported more than 7 1-2 billion dollars worth of domestic merchandise. These have been largely privately financed. The difficulty in the way of still larger exports does not seem to lie so much in the lack of financial ability here as in Europe's lack of means to make payment. Her productive energies and services which she renders hav not yet reached a point where they balance the value of commodities taken from this nation, and her ability to furnish for additional exports securities which business men would feel justified in taking is restricted. The experts of the Brussels conference reported that one of the chief obstacles to the granting of credits is the absence in borrowing countries of sufficient securities for ultimate repayment.

Sound Conditions Coming.

"Until the obstacle is removed it is difficult to see how materially larger exports to Europe are to be made even if exporters, aided or unaided by government finance, stand ready to do their part. It is remarkable that Europe is able to make an effective demand for as large a volume of our goods as she is making. It is gratifying evidence of her recovery and progress towards full production and sounder financial conditions.

"Under the law, if the activities of the corporation were resumed, no direct advances could be made to producers, and, if they could be, they would not accomplish the objects in view. They would not create demand for our products. They could be made only to exporters or to banks engaged in financing exports, and, if they did in some measure stimulate exports, they would probably not have the effect apparently most desired of substantially increasing those agricultural commodities. Already, with the larger volume of exports which Europe is taking from us, she is exercising her option, such as meats, presumably because she herself has become more largely self-sufficient or is again providing herself with supplies from distant countries which, with the opening up of shipping since the armistice, has once more found their place in the markets of the world.

Will Shift Financing.

"It is highly probable that the most immediate and conspicuous effect of the resumption of the corporation's activities would be an effort on the part of exporters to shift the financing of their operations from ordinary commercial channels to the government. This would be unfortunate. It would continue the government as an active factor in ordinary business operations. If activities of any considerable magnitude resulted, they would necessitate the imposition of additional taxes or further borrowing, either through the war finance corporation or by the treasury. In either case, new burdens would be laid upon all the people. Further borrowing would, in all likelihood, tap the very sources which might otherwise be available for private operations or which the treasury is now compelled to reach to meet current obligations of the government. There is no question that the borrowing of the government should be limited to the minimum requirements, and that the government should not be called upon further to finance private business at public expense.

WICHITA FALLS SHIPS THIRTY MILES OF TANK CARS OF OIL AND REFINED IN LAST MONTH

Wichita Falls and nearby shipping points sent out another train of tank cars filled with crude and refined oil over 30 miles in length during the month of December. Reports from local railroad offices for December show that a total of 4,600 tank cars were shipped out during the month of December, representing approximately one million barrels of refined and crude oils.

The exact amount of refined oil that has been shipped out during the month cannot be determined, due to the fact that in railroad records both fuel oil—a refined product—and crude are carried as crude oil. From information available, however, it is not believed that shipments of crude oil in tank cars exceed 26 per cent of the total amount shipped out.

Based on this figure the district is now turning out approximately 750,000 barrels of refined oils monthly from the 20 odd refineries and casinghead gasoline plants now in operation. According to one local refinery head, the record for the month means that approximately 35 per cent of all the oil produced in this district is now being handled by the refineries of this section.

The Charles F. Noble Oil & Gas Co., of this city, with a refinery and casing head plants at Burkburnett, leads in the amount of refined products for the month with a total of 537 cars.

Of the total, 294 cars were gasoline, 62 kerosene and 161 fuel oil. The lead of the Noble company in refined products is closely followed by the refineries of the Manhattan Oil Producing company of Burkburnett, the Constantine Refining company of Devol, and the plants of the Sunshine State Oil & Refining Co., the Texhoma Oil & Refining Co., the Lone Star Oil & Refining Co., and the American Refining company of this city.

As a shipping point for crude and refined products Burkburnett leads in this district, being credited with 1,952 cars for the month, of which 734 were crude and fuel oil, 1,209 gasoline and kerosene. This city is second in the district with approximately 1,500 cars shipped out by local refineries.

Of the railroad lines of the district the M. K. & T. railroad leads with 3,181 cars.

by no fair or permissible construction can it be taken as authorizing any activity, otherwise unlawful.

With respect to section 20, the court's opinion was equally explicit.

"All of its provisions are subject to a general qualification respecting the nature of the controversy and the parties affected," the court said. "It is to be a case between an employer and employes, or between employers and employes, or between employes, involving or growing out of a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment.

"There is nothing here to justify defendants or the organizations they represent in using either threats or persuasion to bring about strikes or a cessation of work on the part of employes of the complainant customers or prospective customers * * * and of thereby constraining complainant to yield the matter in dispute."

After setting forth in great detail the scope of the injunction which the court held should issue, the opinion warded the complainant reimbursement for all costs in the supreme court and in the two lower courts.

Special facts in the case should have been considered by the court, the dissenting opinion signed by Justices Brandies, Holmes and Clark held, adding that these would have shown the acts complained of to have been in reality in a part of the strike inaugurated by the union in the principal plant of the Duplex company.

The defendants, the dissenting justices said, were obviously pursuing a course which would injure the complainant, but they "were not doing it maliciously." And the unions did not induce any employe to break his contract or engage in violence.

Recounting the history of the case, the minority justices said there were at the time only four plants making large printing presses and between 1909 and 1913 the union succeeded in establishing their demands as to labor conditions in three of these, only the Duplex company holding out. A strike was called in that plant, the other manufacturers having served notice that they could not be held to their agreement so long as an important competitor stayed out. This strike was "supplemented" by the activities of the unions in other plants, the minority contended, but these did not constitute "a secondary boycott."

to furnish additional securities, private financial institutions here will doubtless find means of giving the necessary accommodation. The way has been opened for added legitimate efforts to promote foreign trade. Financial agencies in aid of exports, privately financed, have already been planned to operate under the act approved December 24, 1919, authorizing the organization of banking corporations to do foreign banking business. One corporation has been organized in the South and a second, of larger scope, is in course of development. These agencies may be expected to act as promptly and as liberally and helpfully as sound business conditions will permit.

Stableness Should Return.

"Through reliance of such enterprises, rather than through government intervention, may we expect to secure a return to stable business relation. For many months there has been a demand that war agencies should be abolished and there should be less government interference with business. I have sympathized with this view and believe that it is applicable to foreign trade as well as to domestic business. I am of the opinion that now, more than two years after the armistice, the nation should resume its usual business methods and return to its reliance on the initiative, intelligence and ability of its business leaders and financial institutions.

"We shall not witness an immediate satisfactory adjustment of domestic and international trade relations. The burdens of war are not lifted when the fighting ceases. One sad thing about war is that it leaves behind it a legacy of economic ills and of suffering from which there is no escape. Conditions, however, are improving both here and abroad. The difficulties with which we are now confronted are of small consequence in comparison with those which we have met and overcome. Fuller restoration awaits the adoption of constructive measures of large consequence; the secure establishment of a just peace in the world; the cessation of fighting everywhere; the more complete resumption in Europe of the normal courses of industry, the return of her people to sounder fiscal and banking policies and the breaking down within her borders of harmful restrictions.

Baptists Planning Campaign in Waco

By Associated Press

WACO, Jan. 3—Rev. John M. Barcus of Fort Worth, educational secretary of the state Methodist education campaign, accompanied by H. A. Boss of Fort Worth, general chairman of the campaign, is here today in conference with local pastors and laymen for the purpose of organizing the campaign.

MAY PLUG FEW OF GAS WELLS TO BAR WATER

Deputy Supervisors McNamara and Arnold have been assigned to the Texhoma gas field to co-operate with operators in shutting off water trouble that is becoming serious in several of the gassers of the field, according to information from the local office of the state oil and gas section Monday. It is possible, according to T. L. Coplin, who is in charge of the local office, that it will be necessary to plug some of the wells in order to cope with the situation, which now threatens the entire field.

Deputy Supervisor Arnold, recently appointed to this district, has had several years' experience in gas fields. With Deputy Supervisor McNamara, he will make a thorough inspection of the field, and, with the co-operation of the operators, he hopes that the water trouble can be overcome without the loss of a well.

Varying opinions are expressed by the operators in the field as to the cause of the water trouble.

The trouble has become apparent in some wells which were properly cemented and the casing anchored before the wells have been drilled in. In some cases the wells have come in with dry gas and later developed water.

Legion Post Here Will Reorganize

Reorganization of the Pat Carrigan post, American Legion, for the new year's work will take place at a meeting called for the city council room, basement Morgan (Kemp & Kell) building, Saturday night at 7:30, it is announced by D. M. Perkins, commander of the post.

New officers for the coming year will be named, and plans for the work during the coming year outlined at this meeting.

On account of inability to secure a meeting place and club rooms, the work of the local post has been rather inactive during the past year —although the post has given aid to a number of needy ex-service men.

Plans for more active work during the coming year will be worked out at the called meeting, Captain Perkins announced.

DISARMAMENT EFFORT BEGUN BY SENATORS

would be called but that there had been no suggestion that Secretary Daniels be invited to appear. While the committee was in session, the naval secretary in his daily conference with newspaper correspondents reiterated his opposition to the Borah resolution and also took occasion to say that so far as he had been advised President Wilson had taken no steps looking to a disarmament conference among the world powers as he has authority under the naval act of 1916.

Borah Plan Opposed.

Admiral Coontz, senators said, opposed the Borah resolution or any other plan based on a percentage reduction in building, arguing that a reduction would fail to bring about any equalization of naval power because of the different size of the programs of the different nations.

The committee was told by the admiral that the American building program was the largest and the Japanese second, but that even with the completion of the Japanese program, Japan's navy would have only about half the strength of the American navy. Great Britain's building program is comparatively small, the senators were said to have been told, and unless it is increased before 1924, the American navy would about equal the British.

Japan Building Ships.

In order to expedite her program, Japan is having three large battleships built in England, according to information received by the navy intelligence service and transmitted to the senate committee.

France and Italy also have small building programs, Admiral Coontz was said to have testified, but they are hampered by lack of funds. France, Admiral Coontz stated, had several capital ships laid down before the world war, upon which no work had been done since peace was declared.

Figures and data as to foreign navies gathered by various government sources were laid before the committee by Admiral Coontz. All of the principal powers, senators said they were informed were spending considerable money and effort to keep themselves informed on the naval and military activities of other nations.

the custom houses and that they pick their time and slip across the long border, thus escaping any kind of inspection.

When the session of the committee adjourned tonight Congressman Hudspeth was the only Texan who had given testimony. Mr. Hudspeth pleaded for the committee to leave the admission of Mexicans for farm work in Texas at the discretion of the secretary of labor. Mr. Hudspeth said that if the secretary of labor decided that they should not come in at any time he would be willing to abide by this decision.

WILL SETTLE QUESTION BY DIPLOMATIC AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Ultimate solution of the immigration question through diplomatic agreement rather than through separate legislation by various governments was forecast today at hearings of the senate immigration committee on the Johnson bill to impose ten months restriction on immigration to the United States.

Senator Colt of Rhode Island, chairman of the committee, made public a letter from acting Secretary of State Davis, announcing that the Italian government voluntarily had suspended the issuing of passports for the United States. The letter was presented to Secretary Davis by the Italian mbassy and came as a surprise to committee members.

The offer to co-operate in the matter with the United States was received with gratification by senators. Some expressed the belief that while it might be necessary to enact some immediate legislation to prohibit the flood of "Europeans from pourning into the United States" eventually the whole question would be solved by diplomatic agreements.

Others May Follow.

Chairman Colt said he hoped other nations would follow the course of the Italian government and obviate the necessity of "continuously legislating on this subject."

"Already," he said, "there are indications that Czecho-Slovakia will enter into a diplomatic agreement with the United States with regard to regulating immigration. It is not improbable that other nations will do the same if the suggestion is made that it would be agreeable to this country."

Meanwhile, the chairman said, the hearings would proceed without interruption and a bill would be reported by the senate by the end of the week if possible. The committee decided tonight to summon Commissioner Wallis, in charge of immigration at New York, with a view to questioning him as to the class and types of present applicants at Ellis Island for admission, against whom charges were made today on the ground they were "highly undesirable," and would "never be assimilated nor make decent citizens."

Amusements

OLYMPIC.

Go to see any motion picture produced by Lois Weber and you're sure not only to witness a story of considerable strength and appeal, but also to see the veneer chipped off some of the facts of our social life and the truth laid bare. Miss Weber doesn't believe in using the screen for teaching morality; she simply exhibits the facts and lets you judge for yourself. The result is, you are not only entertained by her pictures; you are also made a little wiser by them.

Take "To Please One Woman," for instance, the Lois Weber picture at the Olympic theater today.

The title refers to what comprises the chief ambition of the bulk of the males in the world—to please one women. Fortunately most of the women in the world are worth striving to please. But what happens when a strikingly beautiful, utterly selfish woman moulds her life with the deliberate intention of making men her slaves and rewards them by shattering their careers?

Miss Weber takes such a creature as the central figure in "To Please One Woman," and shows the tangled romances and blighted hopes that follow in her wake. But in the end the selfish woman is shown in her true colors, and love heals the wounds she has caused.

EMPRESS.

It is yet another Nazimova who appears in "Billions"—a Nazimova more fascinating, more intense, more varied, in fact, than she has ever seemed before. The latst photodramatic vehicle of the phenomenal Russian star was shown yesterday at the Empress theater.

In "Billions" Nazimova has the part of the Princess Trilleff, widowed when her husband is assasinated in Russia. She loves a poet whose verses she has read, but whom she has never seen. The poet falls heir to a fabulous fortune the princess becomes immensely wealthy upon her titled husband's demise and the two meet at a fashionable winter resort in southern California.

There a plot has been set afoot by a crook and his girl confederate, to blackmail the poet-millionaire. The princess overhears the conspiracy to work the "badger game" on the man she loves. At the risk of losing her own reputation she deliberately gets into the millionaire's bed in her negligee and is found there by the others; but her presence saves him from being held up for hush money.

Buster Keaton, in "The Scarecrow," the other feature of the Empress program, proved to be a knockout comedy.

PLAZA.

Madame Olga, the woman who predicted the world war's coming will perform 100 mind reading wonders at the Plaza theater this week. She will be there for the entire week.

Mm. Olga comes well supported by her spiritualistic wonders. A few of the wonders performed by Mme. Olga while in San Angelo, Tex.

Mrs. Alfred D. Whitney found her son who had been missing more than four years.

Olga located $5,000 in Liberty bonds for Andrew Brady.

She reunited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gunderson, and hundreds of others she satisfied with her wonderful work.

While seated on the stage she will call out names of your prominent people telling them of what they are thinking and will read letters or notes while concealed in your pocket.

Following are few of the mysteries which will be presented by Mysterious Smith. The appearing of assistants from nowhere while you are watching the closest. He will perform many wonders with his spirit cabinet. Spirits in the form of a handkerchief will appear and dance before your very eyes, a young woman will be hoisted in a trunk in mid air and will disappear while you are looking.

Legion to Pay Tribute at Bier Of D. C. McCaleb, Hero of Two Wars and Pioneer Texas Editor

Members of the Pat Carrigan post, American Legion, will gather at the Union passenger station at 1:45 Tuesday afternoon to pay their last respects to their comrade, a veteran of two wars, and a widely known newspaper man, Captain D. C. McCaleb, who died at the Wichita General hospital Monday morning, following an operation for bladder trouble.

Captain McCaleb's body will be shipped to Austin, via Fort Worth, on the 2 o'clock train. Burial will be in Austin.

J. B. Hatchett, who served with Captain McCaleb as a member of the 90th division in the world war has been designated by D. M. Perkins, commander of the local post of the American Legion, as the post's representative to accompany the body to Austin. A representative of the employes of the Wichita Motors company of which Captain McCaleb was director of advertising and publicity for two years, has been designated by Jack G. Culbertson, the president, to accompany the body.

Captain McCaleb's death, while coming as a shock to a great many friends, many of whom had seen and talked with him, in apparently perfect health, within the past few days, had not altogether been unexpected by those at his bedside following the operation Sunday, from which he never rallied.

War Service Caused Death.

He was taken to the hospital on Saturday following an attack of the bladder trouble, and the pronouncement of the attending surgeons that with the operation he had a slim chance of recovery—without it, none at all. Physicians attributed the effects of gas poisoning he had met during his service on the western front as partly responsible for his death.

With him near the end were: Mrs. McCaleb and their small children, Claude McCaleb of Breckenridge, a brother; Jack G. Culbertson, Frank Kell, D. M. Perkins, a comrade of the Spanish-American war days; J. B. Hatchitt, and E. de Montel.

At the time of his death Captain McCaleb was nearing his 45th birthday. His death ended a long and distinguished newspaper career—one which was nearing the 30-year mark. During this time he had held many responsible positions and had headed a number of the leading papers of the state.

He was one-time city editor and later managing editor of the Fort Worth Record. Later he was one of the organizers of the old Fort Worth Star. After the consolidation of this paper with the Telegram, he represented the paper as a correspondent at Austin, doing at the same time special work for other newspapers. At another time he was publisher of a paper at Houston and San Angelo and was managing editor of a paper at Austin as, at an earlier date, he was of one at Galveston.

For the past few years, just previous to the world war, he was statistician for the Association of Texas Railways, and did special newspaper work at Austin.

He numbered among his many friends the principal editors and writers of practically every important paper in the state and practically all of the leaders in Texas public life during the last 20 or 25 years.

He was Washington correspondent shortly before and managing editor of the Galveston Tribune at the time of the outbreak of the Spanish-American war. He later saw active service in Cuba with the first U. S. infantry.

On the entry of the United States into the world war, although beyond the age limit of the call for officers, he applied for admission to the first officers training camp at Leon Springs, from which he obtained his commission.

He served with the 90th division until the end of hostilities, following which he was transferred to the 37th for early return to America. He was with the 90th division during the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives, and on their march into Germany as a unit of the army of occupation.

Believed in Service.

Captain McCaleb's service did not end with his service to his country—the creed of his newspaper work was service to the public—to the community.

"Always keep plugging away at something which will be of benefit to your town—do not become discouraged by lack of interest or the slowness to act on the part of the public—keep digging away and it will come after a while."

That was the summing up of advice to a younger local newspaper man only a few days before his death—and it was a pretty good summary of his newspaper creed. It was put into practice by him many times—notably when his campaign through the Fort Worth Record resulted in a demand for, and finally the building, of the Forth Worth Y. M. C. A. several years ago.

His last story was an appeal for others—a moving story, picturing the pitiful plight of the children of devastated Europe for whose needs a campaign is now in progress here. This story appeared in The Record News of Saturday.

Captain McCaleb was married some 20 years ago at Ballinger, his wife being a daughter of the late Judge John I. Guion of that place. Besides Mrs. McCaleb and his brother Claude, he is survived by another brother, Hunt McCaleb of Shreveport.

E. E. Goodwin, Aged 31, Rail Conductor, Dies

E. E. Goodwin, 31 years old, died Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his residence, 1408 Scott street. Mr. Goodwin was a conductor on the Fort Worth & Denver railway lines. He had lived in Wichita Falls about four years.

He leaves a widow and one sister, Mrs. Chalmers Taylor, a resident of Wichita Falls. Announcement of funeral arrangements are being delayed until word is received from relatives living in other cities.

ARRESTS BARE GANG OF BOYS IN THEFT GAME

Uncovery of a gang of boy bandits who have been engaged, the police allege, in petty theft and burglary of far-reaching dimensions here, was bared with the arrest of a dozen suspects, it was announced Monday. The boys were turned over to Juvenile Officer Morgan.

One youth, at first silent, finally talked and gave away a number of others.

Police and county officers have been co-operating in the case. Other arrests are expected to ensue.

Automobiles, clothes, pistols, a shotgun, money and numerous other articles are alleged to have been taken by the boy gang.

Girl Renounces Serious Charge Against Father

Repeated efforts of R. W. Briscoe, erstwhile dairy manager, to obtain his release from the county jail, where he is held on serious charges made by a 14-year-old girl, took on substantial change Monday with the filing of a statement by Edna Briscoe, his daughter, of an affidavit, stating that the charges which led to her father's arrest were not true. Two judges had refused to grant him bail. Her affidavit follows:

"I, Edna Briscoe, being duly sworn, depose and say:

"That the things I told on my father, R. W. Briscoe, at the court house are not true; that I never had improper relations with him in my life, nor did he ever abuse me or try to in any way and I desire to correct the great wrong I have done him, as far as I can, on this my wedding day. He had whipped me and I was mad at him and I did this through spite and I wanted to marry Ralph Wright and papa would not give his consent."

TEST VALIDITY OF PAROLE MORTGAGE

An early decision from the Texas supreme court is expected in the case of C. M. Sparkman vs. The First National Bank of Handley, a constitutional law test as to whether or not a parole mortgage is valid. The plaintiff lost in the lower courts. A number of mules have already been sold under writ of sequestration obtained on a verbal mortgage judgment. Nothing was recorded.

The plaintiff contends that such a mortgage generally is not valid. The courts have held it valid under one condition, he contends.

Two Assistant Bank Cashiers Married

Miss Willa L. Stewart and John E. Gill were quietly married at the First Christian church Saturday afternoon at Fort Worth, with only the immediate families of both present.

Mr. and Mrs. Gill are both assistant cashiers in the Wichita State bank.

Mrs. Gill is the daughter of Mrs. Paul Fowler, a former resident of this city, now living in Fort Worth. She attended the local schools and business college and accepted her first position in the county clerk's office as deputy, afterwards starting in the bank as stenographer. She held several positions in the various lines of bank work until two years ago, when she was elected to her present position of assistant cashier.

Mr. Gill has been connected with the banks in this city for the past six years, coming here from Dallas.

After spending a short time with Mrs. Gill's mother in Fort Worth, and with Mr. Gill's mother, Mrs. John Gill Sr., in Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Gill returned to this city, where they will make their home at 1616 Twelfth street.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is it proper to write to a boy if he asks you to? Is it the girl's place to write first after she consents to a correspondence?

Now, are girls as bad as some pessimists put it? I think most boys respect girls who respect themselves and I also believe that a boy's manners rely partly on the girl's conduct. Do you think I am right in my judgment?—Connie.

It is the boy's place to write first. Sometimes, however, the agreement implies that the girl will write first. Girls cannot be classified as bad. Many are not what they should be, while others are sweet and good. When the older generation criticises the girls and boys of today, I often think that the mothers and fathers in the older generation should take their share in the blame.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man of 20 and am counted very good-looking. I have been out of town for about four months and since I have come back all of my girl friends have fellows and I am lonesome without a girl.

Will you please advise me how to win one. I am very lively in a crowd of young people and can win girls, but cannot hold them.—Without a Girl.

Do not place too much faith in good looks. A pleasing and interesting personality goes much farther in winning and holding friends. When a person thinks he is good-looking he is apt to be vain and then he is spoiled and in disfavor.

You say that you are lively in a crowd, but that, too, can be a fault rather than a virtue. A person who is popular and holds his popularity is usually thoughtful of other people. Do not be so lively that others do not have a chance to show off, too.

There are other girls besides those you have lost. Take your time and you will find some one you like as well. In order to keep the new girl, remember that it is your place to please her and not to be entertained by her. If you do your part, without a doubt she will do hers, and you will get along well together. When you call, go home by 10 o'clock so that she will not have a chance to tire of you. Besides, when you start to go home, go like a shot out of a gun and do not keep her standing for a long time while you try to muster courage to part from her. Do not think that calling is enough on your part and she is supposed to do the rest. After calling once or twice, invite her to go to a theater or some other place you think she would enjoy with you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girl friends, knowing each other for a length of time. We have always thought a great deal of each other and do yet.

It seems as if we are going to be parted through one girl. She is trying to break our friendship, telling each other of us what the other says about us, and she tells things which are not true.

She also tells our boy friends different things that we say about them and of course they ask if we did say them. We deny, but they are acting indifferently toward us lately.

What would you advise us to do? Should we stop going with her, or what,—Pals.

If the girl does all that you say she does, I think you should stop going with her. Be very careful about the remarks you make and try not to talk about people. When you do talk be sure that what you say is favorable. If you are in the right the girl cannot hurt you permanently.

Building contractors should be asked if stone walls do not a prison make.—Wall Street Journal.

North Texas Furniture Company Sells Interest To Clarence F. Hunter

Purchase by Clarence J. Hunter of a half interest in the North Texas Furniture company of this city was announced Monday morning by John W. Bradley, the founder and, to date, the sole owner of the business.

Mr. Hunter was formerly connected with the W. W. company, local distributors of the Wichita trucks, and is well known in local business circles. He will have charge of the sales department of the business.

Messrs. Bradley and Hunter left Monday night for the annual furniture exhibitions at Grand Rapids and at Chicago to be away about two weeks.

The North Texas Furniture company was opened here about 1907, making it one of the oldest establishments in this line of work in the city. The substantial character of its business is reflected in its large stock and handsome home at Ninth and Scott, making it one of the leading establishments of this character in this section of the state.

While doing business under the style of a corporation, the business has never been incorporated, and Mr. Bradley has been the sole owner to date.

RECIPES FOR A DAY.

Economy Fruit Cake—One cup brown sugar, one cup water, one-third cup lard, one teaspoon nutmeg, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon salt, one cup seeded raisins, but citron, few nut meats.

Boil all together. When cold add one teaspoon soda dissolved in a little water, two cups flour sifted with two teaspoons baking powder. Bake slowly in moderate oven until dark brown.

Fried Stuffed Smelts—Stuffing: One-quarter cup cracker crumbs, one-quarter cup bread crumbs, one-eighth cup melted butter, one-eighth teaspoon stalt, one-sixteenth teaspoon pepper, one-eighth cup hot water. Mix together. Clean, wipe dry eight smelts, stuff, sprinkle with salt, roll in crumbs, dip in egg and crumbs again and fry in deep fat. These are delicious and quite economical.

Raisin Pie—Boil one pound of raisins, one cup of molasses and one quart of water together for an hour. Then add one tablespoon of flour, a small piece of butter and spices to suit the taste. Bake with two crusts. This quantity makes three pies.

Modified French Salad Dressing—To ordinary French dressing of four tablespoons vinegar and two teaspoons olive oil, salt, pepper, onion juice, add one or two whole cloves. The effect is new and surprising.

USE FOR LEMONS.

Lemon champions aver that the fruit is an aid to beauty in many ways. A lemon champoo is warranted to keep the gold glowing in golden hair and make all hair light and fluffy. It is made of two ounces of pure soap, one lemon, the yolk of one egg and half a pint of distilled water. The soap and water are put into a clean saucepan and the mixture stirred over the fire until the soap is melted. The yolk and lemon juice are beaten slowly together and the soap and water poured over it. When the mixture is cold it may be bottled for use.

A lemon rinse is also recommended for brightening light hair. After the ordinary champoo the hair is rinsed in a lemon mixture in the proportion of the juice of one lemon to a quart of water.

For a complexion lotion lemon juice may be mixed with milk in the proportion of a quart of milk and the juice of one lemon. This lotion is supposed to take away redness and roughness of the skin.

The lemon experts also suggest that anybody who is going to brave the sunshine of Palm Beach this season would do well to consider lemon juice as a complexion preservative. Instead of clogging up the pores with cream and powder to prevent an oleaginous appearance of the skin due to excessive warmth, and fatal to fascination, it is suggested that the face be washed in warm water into which lemon juice has been squeezed.

BRITAIN PLANS CREDIT SYSTEM TO AID LABOR

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—A comprehensive scheme for the establishment of credit bonds and other proposals having for their object recitification of foreign exchange rates is understood to have been submitted by Sir Robert S. Horne, president of the board of trade, at a conference today, with leading financiers of the country.

Sir Robert invited criticisms, as a result of which, it is anticipated, an important plan will shortly be placed before the cabinet and, if adopted, will have the backing of British financiers and insurance magnates. It is hoped the scheme also will assist materially in solving the unemployment problem.

PAUL, THE APOSTLE, SAID:

Godliness with contentment is great gain. For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out. And having food and raiment, let us therewith be content.—I Timothy 6: 6, 7, 8.

Not long ago Mayor Cline, speaking before the Rotary club, declared that much of the lack of enforcement of the law, about which there is so much complaint, was not up to the judge, but was a matter for the individual citizen to enforce. He declared that shirking of jury service was the outstanding instance of the citizen's failure to co-operate along the lines of law enforcement.

Now that the grand jury is in session and three higher courts, to say nothing of two smaller justice courts and the municipal tribunal, is a good time for the citizens to put into effect the advice of Mayor Cline.

Other civic leaders have reiterated and endorsed his message. It seems to The Record News well worth while.

"IFS."

At a time when the best thought of the administration leaders in both the United States and Japan is being devoted to bring about a permanent understanding and lay the foundations for amicable adjustment of those differences that may have arisen from the passage of the California land law, it is exceedingly unfortunate that a limited number of individuals should be doing their utmost to create distrust on both sides of the water.

Representative Dyer of St. Louis, a member of the congressional party that recently visited the islands, furnishes an excellent example of the type of official whose imagination creates a hundred "ifs" and paints terrifying pictures on the inspiration of a possibility.

If Japan won't accept the California land law and listen to reason we must fight. If Japan tries to take away the Philippines and Hawaii we must defend them. If Japan has a larger navy on the Pacific than our own we must look for trouble. These and some 97 more "ifs" are the stock in trade of these talk mongers in the United States, and a perusal of the Japanese press indicates that the island empire is afflicted with a similar pest.

Japan seems perfectly willing to discuss the land law in a friendly manner. Japan hasn't tried to seize the Philippines or Hawaii by force of arms, and Japan hasn't set up a naval program that makes her a dangerous competitor of the United States in seapower. So why all of this talk about what might happen if she did or did not do this or that?

The only result is to stir up feeling in both countries and to make it harder than ever for those who desire to maintain friendly relations to accomplish this purpose. And more than this, a spirit of enmity is created that sooner or later is bound to make serious trouble unavoidable.

It was the talk of jingoes that really brought about Germany's delusions of grandeur and her mistaken visions of world conquest, while at the same time making the rest of the world so distrustful of her motives as to ally itself against her.

Ill-considered accusations by men in public life in the United States and Japan, through which the people of each country are being led more to adopt an attitude of sullen hostility towards those of the other are a menace to peace and should be deplored by everyone who has the interests of his country at heart. — Manila (P. I.) Bulletin.

IMPROVING STOCK.

Wichita county farmers might well take up the movement which our neighbor Wilbargans have instituted for pure bred sires. The Vernon Record says of this endeavor:

"A movement for pure bred sires in Wilbarger county could be of incalculable benefit, whether it be chickens, hogs, cattle or horses and mules. If the sire is three-fourths the herd (and the most successful breeders declare this is undoubtedly true), then his value takes on added significance.

"It is almost a truism that a scrub eats as much as a thoroughbred. The latter requires very little more care than the scrub. There is no comparison when it comes to returns—most of which are profits.

"Farmers are recognizing that there is no money in the scrub. The average hen in Texas fails to pay her board, as does the average cow. It may be slightly different with the porker, the horse, or mule, although that is doubtful.

"Pure bred chickens, hogs, cattle, horses and mules are bringing thousands of dollars to the people of many Texas counties, and yet Texas imports tens of millions of dollars worth of each of these products every year. With pure bred sires Wilbarger county can go a long way toward supplying these.

"It is the hen which will lay 200 eggs a year, or the cow which produces a minimum of three gallons of milk a day that pays.

Editorial Digest

STOPPING STRIKES BY STATUTE.

Whether the Poindexter anti-strike bill passed the senate by accident or unfair advantage, it is plainly the purpose of the press to change the senate's apparent indifference to a serious consideration of the measure before it goes any farther. Editorial opinion is divided about evenly on the merits of the proposal to prohibit strikes on railroads. But it is conceded by both sides that it is a matter of such great importance, both in principle and as a precedent, that it must not be "put over" without due regard to its significance.

Whatever the merits of the bill, whether "it is just what the country needs" or "entirely at variance with American ideals," the Port Huron (Michigan) Times-Herald (independent) feels that the manner of its passing, when "the senators undoubtedly understood the importance of the measure, leads naturally to the suspicion that there must be something wrong with the bill—something that will not stand the acid test of a proper public hearing." This "accidental action" does not, however, end the matter, says the Chicago Daily News (independent). The bill is "intrinsically sound and meritorious," but—

"It is hardly necessary to say that a bill forbidding organized strikes on the part of railroad employes, and further prohibiting strikes or attempts at instigating strikes in industries that are indispensable to uninterrupted railroad operation, demands proper consideration and discussion."

However, the Buffalo Commercial (republican), a bitter opponent of trade unions, thinks the manner of passage of the bill can be dismissed with the conclusion that "if the friends of the labor leaders are not in their seats when a bill is called up for passage, nobody is to blame but themselves," particularly since this legislation is a "public necessity."

"It is said," continues the Commercial, "that no power can deny men the right to quit work. That may be admitted without in the slightest degree affecting the right of the government to prevent a conspiracy on the part of any group of men to force their demands by inflicting injury upon the entire country. * * * If the government can control the stockholders of the railways, it can and must exercise a certain amount of control over the men employed on the railways, regulating wages, hours and working conditions generally."

"The country has lately learned a lot," the Boston Transcript (independent republican) finds, "about the effect of transportation embargoes on the price of food, clothing, coal and even house rents," said the Wilmington (Delaware) Journal (republican) believes that the Poindexter bill simply "carries out the wishes of the vast majority of the people" arising from that knowledge.

Objection to such legislation, the New York Tribune (republican) holds, comes "only because so many people fail to realize that the relations of the railroads to the government has been radically changed." Because of this change, "the system of normal balance between the power of labor and the power of ownership which exists in other industries has disappeared from the railroad industry."

Granting the peculiar relation of railway employes to the public, the Sioux City (Iowa) Tribune (independent) points out that provision has already been made "to avoid interruptions in operations of railways" by means of the labor board created by the Esch-Cummins law. Hence, "unless or until this board proves a failure, there is no reason for additional legislation applying to carriers." The "right of the public to uninterrupted public service is "paramount," the San Francisco Chronicle (independent) holds, and since the property of a public service is dedicated upon that understanding," the labor which operates it "ought to be dedicated under the same conditions." That this principle of "dedication to public service" should, however, be translated into criminal law is objectionable, the Chicago Journal (democrat) grants, and proposes as a remedy that railway employes "put themselves under the civil law by devising some plan which will make labor contracts enforcible by civil suit."

CITY ENJOINED FROM SHUTTING ENTIRE STREET

The Filgo Tire and Supply company Monday enjoined the city of Wichita Falls from closing up both sides of Tenth street between Indiana and Scott simultaneously for paving purposes, Judge P. A. Martin issued the temporary restraining order, returnable Saturday. Attaches of the city engineering office complained unofficially that before Saturday the new paving just poured on Tenth street could be ruined by traffic.

Judge Martin told The Record News, when asked in regard to the time limit, that he thought he could arrange an earlier hearing if the city requested it. City Attorney Mann has the case in hand for the city.

The city took the barriers down on the north side of the block of Tenth street in question Monday morning.

The tire company and several other firms in the same block complained that their business was shut off by closing of the street. The city claims that automobiles will not stay on one side; that they dive around the corner of Indiana into Tenth and into the middle of the soft pavement.

Supreme Court Rules Commerce Commission Has Sole Jurisdiction

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Lower court decrees restraining the director general of railroads and individual carriers from removing artificial silk from their schedules of classified freight were reversed today by the supreme court. The Vicose Company of America, the plaintiff, contended that classification of its goods was compulsory under the law.

The interstate commerce commission had exclusive jurisdiction in the premises, the supreme court held.

ACQUISITION OF CANAL ZONE IS ATTACKED

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—President Roosevelt's action in connection with the acquisition of the Panama canal zone was attacked and defended today in the senate.

Urging ratification of the Columbian treaty, involving payment of a $25,000,000 indemnity to Columbia for the partition of Panama, Senator Thomas, democrat of Colorado, charged that President Roosevelt "acquired the right of way for the canal from a band of filibusterers by bartering for it in the honor of the nation."

The life former president was defended by Senator Kellogg, republican of Minnesota, who told the senate he could not "sit in silence" and listen to reflections on the president and statesmanship of Theodore Roosevelt without "expressing myself."

"The Panama canal, its history and construction and success is an open book," said Senator Kellogg. "It has been discussed, investigated and now supported, I am convinced, by the American people and the civilized world.

"Not only that, but John Hay, a great American and a great secretary of state, helped write that history. So did Elihu Root, another, and so did Philander Knox. Theodore Roosevelt said once, it is true: 'I took Panama' Did he say he took it unjustly or in contravention to international law?

"Does the senator think our treaties with Columbia guaranteed her against loss of Panama by insurrection? That belief is not borne out by the judgment of authority or the facts Does he think revolution was an exceptional thing in Panama? There were 50 revolutions in Panama in 50 years.

"Did our treaties authorise the landing of American marines to prevent Colombian troops from suppressing revolution?" asked Senator Pomerene, democrat of Ohio.

"Yes," Senator Kellogg replied. "specifically we had treaty power to protect the commissions across the isthmus and the Panama railroad. But I am not here now to discuss the treaties or the canal. I want to register only my opinion that the acquirement of the canal rights was one of the great acts of a great president in a great era of American history."

BLACK TRIMMING ON FLESH UNDIES IS VERY LATEST FAD FROM FIFTH AVENUE

Miss Jean Tolley wearing the newest lingerie fad.

Black to trim lovely pink underthings is the newest fad in the lingerie world. The photograph shows Miss Jean Tolley of New York wearing a new underslip made of flesh colored satin trimmed with pipings and a deep band of black satin. The deep black band on the skirt is set off here and there with tiny wreaths of rosebuds and the bodice is daintily trimmed with black silk tassels.

Mrs. I. B. Firestone, Aged 21 Years, Dies

Mrs. Ida Belle Firestone, 21 years old, of Kemp City, died Monday morning at 7:30 o'clock at a local sanitarium. She is survived by her husband, J. Firestone, a small child and her father, T. H. Wilson of Wichita Falls.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Merkle-Lunn Undertaking company chapel. Rev. A. J. Holt, pastor of the Fourth Street Baptist church, will conduct the service. Burial will be at Rosemont burial park.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.—(adv.)

The customer looked at his small change and then at the umpire.

"The ball players yelled all season that you were blind," he said, "now I think they were right about it."

"FIGHTING BOBBIES" FROM LONDON ARRIVE TO BATTLE NEW YORK'S POLICE BOXERS

SPORT SNAP SHOTS BY JACK KEENE

There is an old theory, apparently true, that if a man makes himself worthy of it the jobs will find him. Men often have to walk around from factory to factory looking for a $3-a-day job. Yet there are more $3-a-day jobs than any other kind. They ought to be the easiest to find, but they are not.

It is easier to get a position that will pay $30,000 a year than it is to get one that will pay $3,000. The reason is that every man you meet can earn $3,000, but only one in 10,000 can earn $30,000. That is why Ty Cobb has been trying to escape a job that will pay him $30,000. He has made himself worth it. It must be confessed that he has made himself worth $30,000 more absolutely than most men have made themselves worth $3,000.

When the big leagues wanted to hire a man and pay him $42,500 a year they searched for more than a year to find him. If they wanted a bat boy to work for a free admission ticket to the ball park they could have found a mob of them outside the gates of every park in the country.

Several National league magnates went to the New York meeting looking for a shortstop. Now brilliant young prospects for the short field have been signed in plenty, but when it came to talking turkey these youngsters were shoved aside and the seeking clubs pleaded for veterans like Art Fletcher or Walter Maranville. Fletcher was particularly in demand. The Pittsburgh Pirates were eager to secure his services, but the Phillies refused to let him go. Yet, last summer, when Fletcher was traded to the Phillies by the Giants, he was criticised as old and decrepit and about done for. It's evident that there's still a demand for "old men" in this young man's game of baseball. Bill Donovan, new manager of the Phillies, expects Fletcher to be his standby next season and will listen to no suggestions of a trade for him.

Joe Tinker pays a rare compliment to Vic Willis, the old Pittsburgh pitcher, who now owns a hotel in Newark, Dela. "I believe I have batted against every good National league pitcher in many years and also quite a number of American league flingers," said Joe, "but I think the greatest of them all was Vic Willis. Mathewson never bothered me half so much as Willis, who was a tall, thin fellow who threw a sort of inclined plane pitch. Everytime he wound up and let the ball go he seemed on top of you. He carried everything—curves, speed and change of pace—and he had the same kind of windup for everything. It was hard to dope out what he would pitch, and I guess I had my eye on the water bucket every time I batted against him."

Pat Moran also chinned in to give his indorsement to what Tinker said. When Pat broke in as catcher for the Boston Nationals, Willis was the star pitcher of the Hub team. "In those days," said Pat, "we did not enjoy the luxury of a trainer, so I always rubbed Vic's arm and he rubbed mine in return. We roomed together on the road. He was one of the greatest pitchers that ever lived."

Old-time friends of Amos Rosie may be interested in learning that Amos has won himself a real place in the world again, and by merit and earnest attention to business. When he blowed in baseball and blew all his earnings in the game as he went out, Rusie went to work in a lumber yard for $1.50 a day. Later he drifted into a shipyard at Seattle. But he was tending to business, learning the new game. Now, according to reports, he has a responsible position in Seattle, one that pays him more than he ever earned in baseball.

A scientist says the man of the future "will live a thousands years." And to think he may have to pay income tax all that time!

Henry Quits Mat Exhibition When Duck Hunt Calls

An invitation to go duck hunting caused Henry Irslinger to forget his Monday afternoon engagement for a training bout at the Wichita theater with Sailor Lewis, according to Manager C. C. Crosbie. Irslinger visisted the theater in the forenoon, said Mr. Crosbie, and while there received a phone call from Ollie Preston, local oil operator, inviting him to go for a hunt. Henry immediately forgot all else and joined the hunting party. Lewis made the trip from Burkburnett, expecting to wrestle.

The training bout will be held each afternoon at about 3:30 o'clock, on the stage behind the curtain. Manager Crosbie announced that fans desiring to see the workouts would be admitted behind the curtain free as long as room lasted.

Numerous calls for reservations for the Irslinger-Ketonin match next Monday night were received Monday by Mr. Crosbie, among which were three from Burkburnett. Tickets are on sale.

Baltimore Suit Against Majors Will Be Argued

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—By striking out its direction for a retrial, the district court of appeals amended today, upon motion of attorneys for the Baltimore Federal league baseball club, its recent judgment, in which it set aside the award of the District of Colombia supreme court in favor of the Federal club in a damage suit against the National and American league clubs for alleged monopolistic methods in restraint of trade. The action will expedite an appeal to the United States supreme court.

The award of the District of Columbia supreme court was for $264,000, because of alleged monopolistic methods on the part of the major league clubs involving especially control of players. The court of appeals last month set aside this finding on the point of law that baseball was a sport and not "trade or commerce" within the meaning of the anti-trust law.

Mrs. A. E. Harding of Wichita Falls Is One of 3000 Claimants to Share In War Hero's $600,000,000 Estate

How would you like to be an heiress to a $800,000,000 estate. A Wichita Falls resident—Mrs. A. E. Harding, wife of A. E. Harding, manager of the lubricating department of the Charles F. Noble Oil & Gas Co. of this city—is one.

True. There are other heirs. In fact, according to Associated Press dispatches published in The Record News Sunday, there are some 3,000 of them. But eight hundred million divided by three thousand still leaves a substantial slice.

The local claimant to the vast estate became known following the publication by the Record News of the efforts made by other heirs to obtain the estate. The story from Kansas City, Mo., said that a firm of lawyers in that city have been employed to represent the some 15 claimants living in that city and Oklahoma City.

The estate in question descends from Jacob Baker, revolutionary war hero, who probably meant well but was nevertheless started something some 99 years ago when he gave a lease on 5,000 acres where the city of Chillicothe, Ohio, is now located and a similar lease on 6,000 acres in what are now the suburbs of Philadelphia.

The 99-year leases have expired.

So has Jacob Baker, but the 3,000 heirs, some odd heirs, are very much alive, according to reports from all sections of the country, where new relatives of the old war hero are springing up daily. None of the heirs, it is said, knew of the estate until two years ago.

Chillicothe, Ohio, is a thriving little city of some 20,000 inhabitants 50 miles south of Columbus, Ohio. The 5,000 acres would just about take the entire city. There can be little argument that the fee title to the whole of the city would be worth something. Furthermore, 6,000 acres in the suburbs of the third largest city of the United States is not to be scoffed at. In connection with the latter lease, it is said that millions of dollars worth of rentals have been collected and are awaiting distribution.

The local aspirant for part of the vast fortune is reticent regarding her claims, excessively so. But it is known that several months ago she filed her claims to the estate at the request of B. F. Swartzwelcher, attorney of Pittsburgh, who, it is said, has already spent two million dollars in clearing the mystery of the estate. The claims were filed here last June.

The Hardings live at 705 Austin street. They came from Pittsburgh a year ago. Mrs. Harding is the neice of Clyde B. Reed of the well kpown manufacturing firm of Reed & Beucker of Memphis, Tenn. Mr. Reed is one of the most active of the claimants to the estate and it follows that if he is successful Mrs. Harding will be also.

Mrs. Harding also has an aunt, Mrs. G. A. Henning of Vanport, Pa., who has in her possession the old family Bible of Jacob Baker along with several of his private papers.

The dispatches from Kansas City say that the estate is to be settled next month. It is possible, however, that by the time the claims of 3,000 heirs are straightened out, to say nothing of the 500 lawyers in the case, there may be a slight delay.

BOYD BECOMES WICHITA CHIEF OF DETECTIVES

W. A. Boyd, who has been a member of the detective force of the police department since December, has been appointed chief of detectives. Announcement was made Monday by City Commissioner Bralley. The appointment occasioned no surprise in police circles, as it has been rumored since the appointment of Mr. Boyd as city detective that he would soon be made chief of the department. The department has been without a chief since the resignation of H. T. Martin in November.

Mr. Boyd is one of the best known veteran officers in the state. Previous to his resignation on January 1, 1920, Mr. Boyd was for 15 years in charge of investigation work of the Texas Bankers' association, an organization which now has a membership of 1,600 banks in the state. At the time of his resignation Mr. Boyd received a gold badge from the association with numerous testimonials from present and past officers of the organization. Due to his connection with the association Mr. Boyd is widely acquainted with bankers throughout the state. Previous to his connection with the association, Mr. Boyd was deputy sheriff and sheriff of Bosque county. The fact that Chief of Detectives Boyd is a member of the police department is in itself a great protection to this city," Chief Huff said Monday in connection with the appointment. "No officer in the state is better known and more dreaded by bank robbers and other criminals of their kind."

In his capacity as chief of detectives Mr. Boyd will handle a part of the work now handled in the chief's office, Chief Huff stated Monday. The office of the detective department is on the second floor of the city hall, in the room formerly occupied by the city engineer.

Marion Fetters Held in Federal Rail Theft Case

Marion Fetters, arrested by City Detectives Boone and Jackson, was charged in a complaint filed before United States Commissioner Lantz Monday morning with the theft of property from an interstate railway shipment.

The arrest was the last link in a series of cases brought recently by the police against persons charged with theft here and with disposition of the goods through local "fences."

Fetters made a statement to the police, the government alleges, that he had used a wagon belonging to Joe Parker, North Wichita grocer, to haul goods taken from interstate shipments to Parker's store. Parker is charged in the federal court with having property stolen from an interstate shipment in his possession. Fetters left town when Parker was arrested. On his return here he was nabbed by the police.

Rule Kiddies Off Couthouse Lawn And Walk 'Rinks'

The kiddies must stay off of the court house lawn and stop making skating rinks and bicycle courses of the court house walks.

This ultimatum was laid down by the county commissioners court Monday in a resolution giving Janitor Jernigan full authority over the court house grounds and authorizing him to keep the kids away.

Jernigan said that some youthful offenders whom he had remonstrated with told him that the police told them they could introde there. The county commissioners say the "kids be kiddin'," and at least the police are without authority in the case.

Henry C. Wallace.

Henry C. Wallace of Des Moines, Iowa, publisher of Wallace's Farmer, has been definitely chosen for secretary of agriculture in the Harding cabinet, according to trustworthy advices received in Washington. Both Iowa senators, W. S. Kenyon and A. B. Cummins, have approved the appointment, but Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, likewise a publisher, is credited with being responsible for the selection.

Why White Goods In Mid-Winter?

People often wonder why certain apparently incongruous things are sold at certain seasons—like Furs in August for example, or like White Goods in mid-winter.

The explanation of why the mid-winter sale of White Goods has become an institution is simple:

The custom has its origin, as far as one may be informed, in the Bon Marche—a notable store in Paris—where, soón after the New Year, it was the habit of mothers to buy the materials for their daughter's confirmation dresses.

Prospective brides, too, formed no small proportion of the white goods purchasers at the Bon Marche in January. And gradually this store found its principal patronage for that month confined to this single commodity.

Taking advantage of a natural condition by buying in great quantities and offering exceptional values through widespread advertising, January became the one month in the year in which to buy white goods at the Bon Marche.

Naturally other stores were not slow in following the example of the one that was drawing the crowds, and white goods sales began to be featured near and far.

Manufacturers had to make their plans accordingly, and they everywhere found it to their advantage to conform to the idea of the big annual sale, by making up large stocks for advance orders and giving good discounts. Buying opportunities thus became greater—selection from the market's choicest products was simplified—maximum purchasing power was given every white goods dollar.

And so it is that today the finest white goods sell at more attractive prices in mid-winter than at any other time in the year. That is the harvest time for manufacturer, merchant and the public alike.

Small profits and quick selling go together—and this means big values to the buyers. Evidence of this is to be found in the stores' news as featured in these columns from day to day.

All of which provides another excellent reason why the constant and continuous reading of advertising cannot help but prove to be a profitable practice—and one that is just as pleasant as it is practical.

Our readers are already close followers of advertising, as evidenced in their ready responsiveness to its appeal. And it is for this reason that alert merchants and leading manufacturers find regular representation in these columns.

DAILY FINANCIAL, OIL AND MARKET NEWS

GRAIN COTTON

COTTON FIRM AND HIGHER THROUGH DAY

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 3.—Higher from start to finish today the cotton market became active and very firm in the late trading, following rumors that a large trader had been a heavy buyer. From the opening the market had a good tone, with general feeling cheerful and in sharp contrast to the uneasiness which accompanied the trading of the last days of December. First advances were a little more than a dollar a bale but the gains were constantly widened and in the late trading.

Very little attention was paid to the report that President Wilson had vetoed the war finance corporation measure, but good buying followed the news that the senate had voted to override the veto. Throughout the day offerings were moderate and at times scanty, while the demand was persistent.

Reports of a slight increase in the demand to mpots at higher prices here and there in the interior were a help to the market.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—There was an advance of about a cent a pound in the cotton market here today owing to reports of increasing domestic mill activity, smaller offerings from the south, and the reported passage of the bill re-establishing the war finance corporation bill over the president's veto. January closed at $15.47 with the general market closing firm at a net advance of 80 to 113 points.

The market developed increasing firmness during the middle of the day. Some of the buying here was believed to be for mill account. The failure of a New York southern selling pressure to develop also promoted a disposition to cover short contracts. Private cables reported a better tone in Liverpool, but no improvement in trade demand. Early reports that President Wilson had vetoed the war finance corporation bill had been anticipated and had little effect, but the buying movement broadened on the prospects that it would be repassed by congress.

COMMISSIONERS FAVOR SMALL ASSESSMENTS; TO REPAIR OLD BRIDGE; PLAN BURK ROAD JOB

The county commissioners court, though it took no formal vote on the matter, at a special meeting Monday afternoon made it clear to Irvan Deaton, tax assessor, that the concensus of opinion of the court was in favor of low assessments so that the county can get all the revenue it needs by raising the tax rate here and at the same time avoid paying a disproportionate share of taxes to the state fund through high assessments.

This came out on suggestion of County Clerk Harris. Judge Jones endorsed it. There was no objection raised.

The commissioners recommended to Mr. Deaton that $30 per head for dairy cattle and $20 for range cattle was a fair assessment on stock. It was suggested that horses and mules be assessed in varying amounts, depending on the age of the animal in question. One commissioner said that horses more than ten years of age should be assessed more than those younger than that dividing line.

River Bridge Unsafe.

The court endorsed the proposition of Commissioner J. P. Jackson to strengthen the old half of the twin traffic bridge across the Wichita river at Indiana street by the substitution of girders. An asphaltic coating will also be put on the surface of the bridge. Mr. Jackson said he thought it unsafe and deemed the work necessary to insure against accidents.

Bond was approved for J. D. Ousley, trustee for the Wichita Water Improvement district No. 2. Disposition of various pieces of machinery was ordered.

The commissioners decided to meet in called session Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. to decide whether they will at once pave the Burkburnett road from the end of the present paving in North Wichita—a stretch being completed—to the end of the refinery limits, a distance of about two miles.

Road Would Cost $100,000.

County Clerk Harris suggested that this work was imperative. It would cost about $100,000. Mr. Harris and a representative of Potts & Prentice, contractors, who are doing the county paving, thought there was sufficient road money on hand to do the job.

Two complications arise. Iowa Park originally agreed to delay in paving a certain stretch to serve that city's territory until later. L. L. Hunt, commissioner from that district, feared Iowa Park would enjoin building of the North Wichita stretch ahead of the work already postponed there.

The other complication is Burkburnett, which is claiming some $55,000 of road money. It was pointed out by J. M. Isbell, county engineer, that Burkburnett has already lopped off part of her road-building program within the city and that more may be cut off. Burkburnett has been paid at least $6,000. Mr. Isbell said that she would have about $2,000 more coming from the county on the road account on work done in December.

To Change Refinery Road.

Lee Prescott was endorsed in proceeding with changing the road from a point near the Victory refinery through the Roller estate to run along the railroad tracks in that vicinity. He would get a 60-foot road that way. It was suggested that when the old road is closed that the county deed back the land to the property owners inasmuch as it expects to get the new right-of-way without cost.

Mr. Prescott said that Percy Funk, manager of the Roller estate, had agreed to donate the right-of-way through his property. All save one of the other owners along the new route have so agreed. The land of this protestant can be condemned if necessary.

Commissioner Kuntz announced that he is trying to get a 40-foot road along Iowa Park mail route No. 3, instead of the 30-foot highway now there. Some of the property owners have agreed to give five feet more. The court was of the opinion that ten feet ought to be obtained if five had to be condemned and bought at appraised value.

WHEAT SOARS WHEN RELIEF BILL PASSED

CHICAGO, Jan. 3. — Unusually sharp advances in price of wheat took place today owing in the main to talk of heavy export buying and to senate passing the war finance act over the president's veto. Closing quotations were strong, 7 1-4 to 9c net higher with March 1.76 1-4 to 1.76 1-2 and May 1.71 1-2 to 1.71 3-4. Corn gained 1 5/8 to 2 1-2c, oats half to 5-8 to 2c and provisions 5 to 45c.

Values in the wheat pit rose to the highest level yet this season for the May delivery and to the best figures since the first week in December for March. There was an active demand from houses with eastern connections, whereas offerings throughout the day were light. Besides export purchases in the southwest were said to have been on a large scale and to have included 200,000 bushels for France. Improved domestic call for flour also was noted.

SUGAR STEADIER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The local market for raw sugar was steadier, but prices were unchanged with a little more business reported. There were sales of 37,500 bags of Cubas, 3,000 bags Porto Ricos and 11,550 bags of Perus, all at equal to 5.39 for centrifugal.

There were no changes in the refined market nor was any increase noted i nthe demand, which was again light. Prices were quoted at 7.90 to 8.00 for fine granulated.

Sugar futures were easy early under scattered liquidation, and after showing declines of 9 to 10 points they rallied on covering and scattered buying, prompted by the steadier feeling in the spot market. Final prices were 10 to 20 points net higher. Closing bids: January, 4.70; March, 4.80; May, 4.95; July, 5.10.

COFFEE FALLS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—An opening advance of 3 to 6 points was followed by declines in the market for coffee futures today. Firm offers from Brazil were reported steady to a shade higher. Closing prices were a shade up from the lowest on covering, but showed a net loss of 10 to 18 points. September, 7.37; October, 7.49; December, 7.73.

Spot coffee, quiet; Rio 7, 6⅝c; Santos 4s, 9@9½c.

STOCK MARKET CLOSE MARKED BY GOOD GAINS

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The year on the stock exchange began with a tentative extension of last week's rally, followed by irregular heaviness at mid-day and vigorous recoil in the last hour, with many substantial gains at the active close.

Sales, 800,000 shares.

Forecasts of the new year were partly hopeful, but in responsible quarters there was no effort to minimize the belief that further economic readjustment must inevitably precede a clearing of the financial skies.

President Wilson's veto of the war finance resolution, promptly followed by its adoption by the senate, was in keeping with expectations in high financial circles and exerted no influence in the securities market, though probably helping to stabilize quotations in grain and cotoon.

The money market was almost stagnant, demand loans holding firm at 7 per cent.

Foreign exchange was very mixed, sterling improving while French, Spanish and Greek remittances weakened. Material accessions to last year's heavy gold imports were announced.

Bonds were dull, but firm in the main, most liberty issues making substantial advances.

Total sales, par value, $13,250,000.

KANSAS CITY LIVE STOCK.

RADICAL MINERS BEATEN AS LEWIS IS RE-ELECTED

John L. Lewis.

The election of John L. Lewis as head of the United Mine Workers by an overwhelming majority at the recent election is called by the conservative miners a direct answer to the radical element which sought to beat Lewis. Lewis has represented the more conservative element. The radicals backed Robert H. Harlin. Lewis had been acting president and active head of the organization since Will Hayes was forced to relinquish the lead because of illness.

LEGAL NOTICE.
CITATION BY PUBLICATION.
The State of Texas.
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita county greeting;
You are hereby commanded to summon Matt Foster by making publication once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the county court of Wichita county at law, to be holden at the courthouse thereof, in Wichita Falls, Texas, on the first Monday in February A. D., 1921, the same being the 7th day of February A. D., 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 22nd day of September A. D., 1920, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 4075, wherein J. L. Maxwell is plaintiff and Matt Foster is defendant said petition alleging in substance: That heretofore, to-wit, on the 19th day of April A. D., 1920, defendant made, executed and delivered to plaintiff his certain promissory note in the sum of $426 bearing date the day and year aforesaid and due the 19th day of May, A. D., 1920, and drawing interest at the rate of 10 per cent annum and contained the usual 10 per cent attorney fee clause; that said note has an aggregate credit of $48.55; that plaintiff has placed said note in the hands of John Ryan, an attorney at this bar, and has promised him the 10 per cent attorney fees provided for in said note; that defendant, though often requested, his hitherto failed and refused and still refuses to pay the balance due on said note to plaintiff's damage in the amount due on said note and attorney fees, as aforesaid and costs of suit, etc. Herein fail not but have before said court, at its aforesaid regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same. Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Tex., on this the 24th day of December A. D., 1920.

FORD IGNORES REQUEST FOR USE OF PLANT

By Associated Press.

DETROIT, Jan. 3.—Officials of the Ford Motor company had taken no official notice tonight of a hand bill circulated Sunday by a number of the concern's employes asking that the company permit the workers to use the Ford plant, now closed for inventory, to make cars for their own use. No formal request had been made to the company for such action, it was announced.

Distribution of the hand bills gave rise to a number of false rumors in Detroit today. The police ridiculed one rumor that the Ford employes had declared soviet connection and had assumed operation of the plant. But one policeman was on duty in the vicinity of the factory and there were no disorder, the police announced.

Rumors that the governor was to be asked to send federal troops from Fort Wayne were called "absurd" by the police and company officials.

BURK PUTS GAS FRANCHISE OVER VETO OF MAYOR

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Jan. 3.—Despite protest from a delegation of Burkburnett citizens, represented by F. G. Swanson of Wichita Falls, the Burkburnett city council tonight passed over the veto of Mayor Laney an ordinance granting The Texana Production company a 25-year franchise to supply Burkburnett with natural gas at 67 1-2 cents net per thousand.

The ordinance had already passed on first reading.

Four councilmen were present; one absent. Mr. Swanson said he would confer with residents here before deciding whether to take legal steps to fight the franchise in the courts. The residents protesting alleged that the franchise was for too long a period in consideration of the low initial expense of the undertaking. They said the rate would be high if the Texhoma gas field, from which the supply comes, grows extensively.

The council passed on emergency reading, C. G. McBride, city attorney said, an ordinance similar to the Wichita Falls' new ordinance regulating service cars. The Burk ordinance provides for $25 annual license fee for chauffers, $1,000 indemnity bonds to cover accidents; and recital of the life history of the chauffeur applicants.

It was decided to build a bridge over the railway tracks through the center of town, pending efforts to get the railway company to lower their tracks eighteen inches to the level of the street, now being paved.

Blach Wildcat Pressure Heavy

The wildcat test of the Texhoma Oil and Refining company on the Blach ranch in Shackelford county looks more promising daily, according to reports received at the local office. The test struck oil at a depth of 4,075 feet ten days ago, and made a strong showing of oil and gas through a bridge of 2,500 feet.

As the well is cleaned out the gas pressure is increasing, according to reports. The flow by heads is also increasing. The test has several hundred feet of open hole.

Rail Lines Must Wait on Payments

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The railroads of the country must await a final audit by the Interstate Commerce Commission before receiving any portion of the $400,000,000 appropriated by congress as a guaranty for operating expenses for the six months after return to private control, Chief Justice McCoy of the District of Columbia Supreme court ruled today.

FORDNEY BILL HELD UP WITH FIGHT ON DAM

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—After wading through nearly a fourth of the 171 pages of the sundry civil bill, first of the 15 big appropriation measures, the house tonight wah halted by another wave of talk over an amendment providing $10,000,000 for work on the Wilson dam, part of the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant project in Alabama.

There were insistent demands for time, southern members especialy desiring to speak in behalf of the amendment, offered by Representative Brynes of Tennessee, ranking democrat of the appropriation committee. It finally was agreed to limit debate tomorrow to an hour and a half. Republicans, ready to make a point of order against the amendment with every assurance that it would be sustained, declined to press it so that everybody could talk and then bring the question squarely to a vote.

In taking up the bill, item by item, before reaching the dam question, the house approved it with few changes. An appropriation of $75,000 for the council of national defense was striken out, 45 to 23, with the result that this war-created agency will be left without funds after next July 1.

The expected fight on the shipping board item fell down, although the paragraph declining to allow the board to sell its ships and build no more was ordered out on the ground that it was covered by existing law. Chairman Good of the appropriations committee, said the paragraph had been put there because it was desired to go to any length to compel the board to do what congress already had directed.

It was learned later that the house action in eliminating the paragraph would leave the shipping board without funds after July 1, except for $459,000 for salaries of commissioners and for expense of the board in the District of Columbia and of an investigation of foreign discrimination against American vessels and shippers.

GRAND JURORS PROBING LONG LIST OF CASES

Charged by Judge H. F. Weldon to investigate whether any county commissioner was connected with a road contract, to look into reports of railroad rebates, to examine recent county reports, to probe complaints of bawdy houses here, the grand jury late Monday had made no report and filed no true bills. It has a host of criminal cases to go into.

Witnesses in the recent case when John Hamilton was shot to death and Lloyd Graham seriously wounded when Hamilton drew a pistol as the officers began to arrest them, were called. Four officers were formally charged with murder in this case, merely to "set their records officially clear," the police explained in making the charges.

A more serious complaint against a police officer was scheduled to come before the jury.

Charges of criminal assault, murder and highjacking are on the list.

The grand jury consists of T. P. Adams, foreman, W. W. Silk, M. J. Gardner, Don Stearns, J. L. Belote, T. W. Roberts, R. F. Abernathy, H. G. Karrenbrock, E. Y. Ellild, N. O. Monroe, S. L. McDowell and Will Gray.

Courthouse Too Small, Changes Are Suggested

The Wichita county court house is too small. This was the opinion voiced at the meeting of the county commissioners Monday. "I thought that at the time the court house was planned that $225,000 was a huge sum of to spend for the building and that we would have an excess of room, but Wichita Falls has out-grown the present building and many of the offices are badly pushed for room." These were the words of J. P. Jackson, county commissioner, at the meeting Monday.

Work on the building was started the latter part of 1916 and was completed the latter part of 1917, at a cost of $225,000. It would cost $600,000 to replace it now.

Suggestion was made that the office of Justice of Peace Gwynn, in the basement, be partitioned and two offices made of the one.

The county clerk will get more room in the basement. The sheriff wants the office occipied by Bual Bryant, superintendent of public schools. Mr. Bryant may be moved into the office used by the county commissioners while they go into a basement room. The district and county attorneys complain that they are cramped in one small office and a reception room.

Sheriff Appoints 2 More Deputies

Former Police Sergeant Barnes and J. W. McCormick, former Texas ranger were appointed deputies Monday by Sheriff Fred Smith. It was rumored Monday that other changes in the personnel of the sheriff's office were expected. One resignation was turned in.

Deputy McCormick, W. H. Lay and W. E. Powers, former rangers received their discharges Monday. The three men were appointed here for their service during the recent cleanup campaign.

Dorothy's Diary

Jan. 4—When Dad came home today he brought the most wonderful news!

We are going to Wichita Falls to live.

Mother already has been worrying about finding a house to live in. She had visions of long and fruitless searching about a strange city looking for rental signs. But she seemed amazingly relieved when I told her that she could mail an ad to the Record News and find a good place to live that way.

Father fell right in with the idea of advertising for a house and patted me on the shoulder and said: "Good idea, Dorothy."

He sent an ad to the Record News before he went to bed. In a day or two we'll begin to get answers. And then?

RECIPROCAL OIL TREATY IS PROPOSED

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Reciprocity on oil and oil shale deposits between the United States and other nations which make no restrictions upon the exploitation by Americans of petroleum within their dominions and retaliation against such nations as discriminate is proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator McKellar (democrat) Tennessee.

It was referred to the foreign relations committee.

Foreign governments which discriminate against American ownership of petroleum deposits and their nationals would be prohibited from owning petroleum lands or deposits in American territory. Foreign countries prohibiting the export of oil products to the United States or discriminating against American vessels in the supply of petroleum products would not, under the bill, be allowed to import American oils.

The shipping board is requested to ascertain the facts before July 1 as to the restrictions and practices and notify the president, who is empowered to prohibit exports of oil.

MILK HAS DECLINED.

Sweet milk per pint, 10c.

uary 1 we reduced the price of milk to the following prices:

Sweet milk per quart, 20c.

Sweet milk per pint, 10c.

Cream per quart, (whipping) $1.60.

Cream per pint (whipping) 80c.

Cream per ½pint (whipping) 40c.

Cream per quart (single) 80c.

Cream, pint (single) 40c.

Cream per ½ pint (single) 20c.

Butter milk per quart, 12½c with tickets.

Cotage cheese per pound 20c.

Butter (Purity brand, made daily, per pound 65c.

(The price of butter fluctuates almost daily.)

Sweet milk, tickets in cards of 20 pints, $2 each.

Butter milk tickets in cards of 20 quarts, $2.50 each.

We also wish to insist that the trade refuse to pay any more than the prices stated above, only in the case of butter milk, where you buy a quart of butter milk for cash, the price will be 15 cents, account of making the change.

It is much better that customers procure tickets, as then you have an idea the amount of milk you are using and at the same time you always have the change.

We wish to thank the trade for the business that you have given us in the past, which has enabled us to equip ourselves with a modern and up-to-date plant, located at 104 Pecan street, across the street from the People's Ice company, for which we are very proud and thankful and at the same time prepared us to put out nothing but the highest quality products, that will be of benefit to the health of the city.

We will appreciate a visit by you to our new place of business, that we may show you just what we are doing, in the way of improving the milk supply of the city and to get a better idea of what you can expect in the future as to a supply commensurate of your needs.

Thanking you for your kindness in the past and desiring to be the means through which the consumer and producer will be benefited, we are, yours respectfully, Pure Milk Product Company.—Adv.

SUPREME COURT REVERSES TEXAS COURT IN SUIT

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. — Decisions of the court of the civil appeals of Texas awarding $13,000 damages for the death of William A. Linder, a Southern Pacific engineer, were set aside today by the supreme court.

Linder was killed when his head struck a mail crane near the station of Carney, New Mexico, as his locomotive was passing. The supreme court held that since the crane had been in a similar position during other trips by Linder, he must have known of its proximity.

Perry Is Appointed to Succeed Brackenridge On Board of Regents

By Associated Press.

REPORTS ON INCOME TAXES WAIT BLANKS

Henry Wampler, deputy collector, in charge of the federal internal revenue office of the Wichita Falls district, announced Monday that 1920 income tax returns will not be taken by the local office until the new issue of blanks are received from the office of Collector Scott Reed at Dallas. The new blanks are expected to arrive this month. Announcement of their receipt will be published immediately on arrival.

The drive for collection of delinquent 1919 income taxes will be continued by the local office until the arrival of the new blanks. In connection with this drive Mr. Wampler announced the following assignments of deputies from his office: G. W. Pryer at Iowa Park, J. H. Burnett at Electra and T. E. Graham at Burkburnett.

ONDON WOMAN WRITER CALLED NEW NELLIE BLY

Mrs. Charlotte Cameron wearing the medal of the Order of the British empire.

Mrs. Charlotte Cameron of London may well be styled the new Nellie Bly. This British writer has traveled 300,000 miles to "cover" events and collect material for articles. She has been in North and South America, Europe, Asia and Africa. Now, after a visit in Washington, D. C., she is on her way to Australia and New Zealand. She is one of the five women members of the Royal Geographical society. She was awarded with the order of the British empire for services rendered during the war, when she reported conditions in the German colonies in Africa.
