Rivercrest Vo-Ag Building Open House Set

The public Open House of the new vocational agriculture building at Rivercrest has been set for 7:00 p.m Tuesday, November 19.

The $135,000 steel building houses one of the most advanced programs of instruction in vocational agriculture in the state, and boasts a meat processing lab, one of only 10 or 11 in the state.

Many vocational agriculture programs offer three divisions of instruction, according to Rivercrest agriculture department head Morris Trimm, but Rivercrest is one of the few, if not the only department, that offers the full range of instruction. The four divisions are production agriculture, tractor mechanics, meat processing and agriculture co-op.

The original agriculture building for Rivercrest was the Johntown junior high school, which was converted when Talco and Bogata consolidated and occupied until March 19, 1972, when the building was destroyed by fire. The Talco-Bogata School Board voted to build the new building on the Rivercrest campus, and construction was started on the building in December, 1973, by Harrison-Walker Contractors of Paris. The 70x170 building was completed in August, 1974, and occupied at the beginning of the fall semester, 1974. The agriculture department was housed in the interim in the agriculture building at the Talco elementary school.

The original bid on the new building was $141,140, and items were trimmed to bring the final cost to approximately $135,000.

At the south of the building is a woodshop, and classes in woodworking are instructed by Kenneth Pirtle. This portion of the building is 40x70, and includes an office, classroom, shop and two rest rooms. A finishing room for painting is now being completed in the woodshop. Equipment available for student use includes a radial arm saw, band saw, table saw, jointer, sander and miscellaneous hand tools. Four hardwood tables with vices provide work space for sixteen students.

The tractor mechanics division is housed in the 4800 square feet general farm shop. The most expensive single piece of equipment in the Rivercrest program is an electronic engine analyzer, Trimm said, worth $2,400, which is used in tractor mechanics. The shop features 12 electric welders and plans for the future include three acetelyne rigs. General hand tools and other equipment bring the equipment list in the shop to a value of $30,000, Trimm said.

Craig Ingram is the instructor for the meat processing lab, which encompasses 1,161 square feet. The meat lab has 880 square feet in the processing room, 216 square feet in the cooler, and 65 square feet in the freezer. The meat processing room has stainless steel cutting tables, wrapping tables, a meat saw, meat tenderizer, grinder, several scales and a variety of knives and other tools. A state inspector visits the lab daily, Ingram said, to check for cleanliness and sanitary conditions. Nine students are presently enrolled in the meat processing course, which meets for two hours each day. Sides of beef hung in the cooler are moved on ceiling tracks to the processing room, where they are cut and wrapped. There are no facilities for killing beef and swine, Ingram said, but the lab is booked up until January with cutting and wrapping.

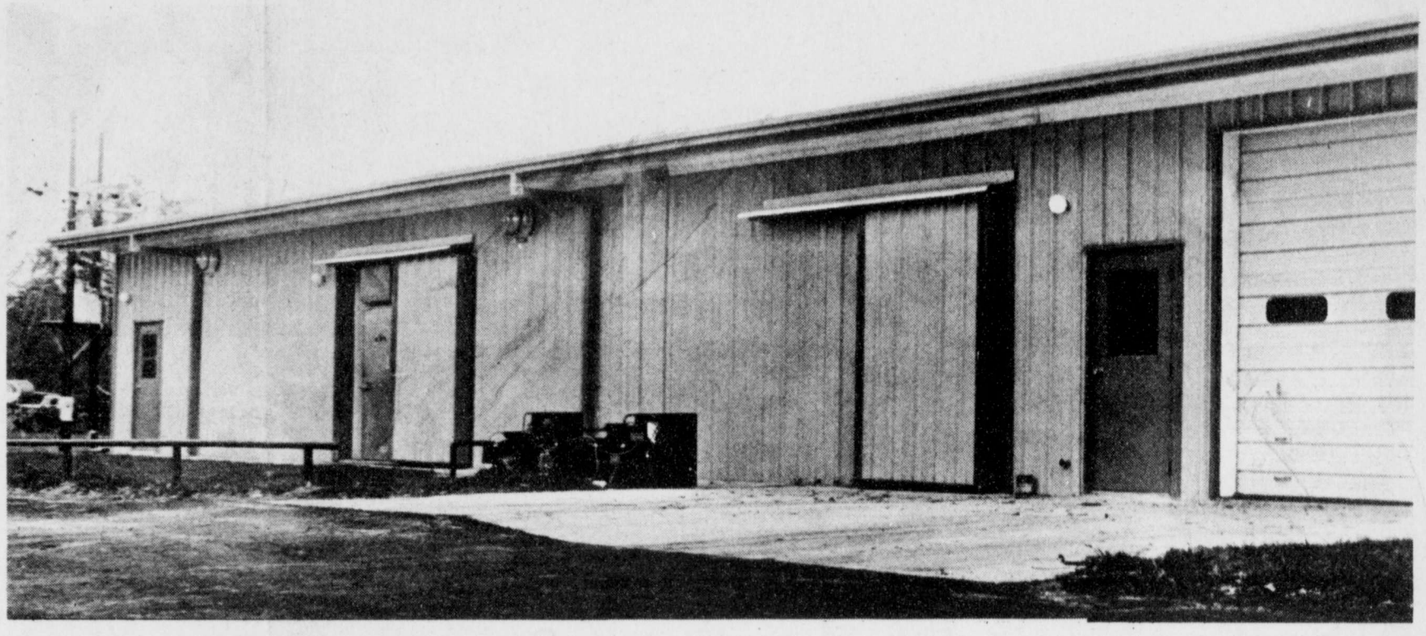

The agriculture co-op division is instructed by L. P. Taylor, who has nine students enrolled in the program. The students go to regular classes for half a day, then to co-op class for one hour, and then work outside the school for three hours a day in agriculture related jobs. There are five ranch employees, two swine farm employees, and one dairy farm employee and one meat processing employee.

Production agriculture involves the raising of crops and livestock as projects for classroom credit.

At the north of the building are two 25x25 classrooms, each with 6x10 storage area. The 14x28 agriculture library is also used for a classroom. The three agriculture teachers and sponsors of the FFA chapter share an office at the north of the building.

There are 95 members of the Future Farmer Chapter at Rivercrest, and 88 enrolled in agriculture classes.

Superintendent Talmadge Morgan and members of the Talco-Bogata school board will be at the open house to greet visitors.

NEW BUILDING— The new vocational agriculture building at Rivercrest will be open for public inspetion Tuesday night, Nov. 19, at 7:00 p.m. The door at the far left is the entrance to the agriculture office. The second door is stainless steel, and is the entrance to the meat lab. The small box over the door is a blower that keeps unfiltered air from rushing into the lab when the door is opened. The sliding door to the right of the compressors is used for unloading beef directly into the cooler of the meat lab, and the standard and overhead door at the right are entrances to the shop area. Rebel 7th Grade Champs

Thursday night was the district showdown as the Rebels seventh grade played Commerce seventh grade. Both teams were undefeated in district play. The young Rebels pulled it out in the fourth quarter. Dale Jean made a diving catch on the Commerce one yard line, Keith House took it over from there and the score was Rebels 6, Commerce 0. We returned to the pass play with Jimmy Via hitting Dale Jean again for the two extra points. Score at the end was Rebels 8, Commerce 0. This gave the Rebels district championship.

The seventh grade record for the season is six wins against two losses and outscoring their opponents 82-22 only being scored on in three games. The defense was great all year with standouts, Casey Jeffery and John F. Stephenson as line backers.

PTA Breaks $500 On Music Show

The Bogata PTA broke the $500 mark in proceeds from the Female Vocalist county and western music show and a donation by Gerald Capps of Bryson Insurance of $100 made early Tuesday morning. The music show attracted more than 500 spectators, and brought in $456, which will be applied to the PTA air conditioning debt.

Co-Chairmen Galen Legate and James Wood organized and promoted the program, and expressed appreciation to the men who performed and the spectators who came and enjoyed the show.

Pictures of all the stars were made by Robert W. Wright, publisher of the Bogata News, and will be printed in the paper as soon as space permits. Only the picture of Bill Anderson, who presented Lynn Anderson's recording of "I Never Promised You a Rose Garden," was not good. Reprints may be ordered at the Bogata News Office.

Water Well Drilled On Rivercrest Campus

The bid of Gaulden Water Well Drilling Company of DeKalb was accepted in the amount of $6960.10 for drilling a water well on the Rivercrest campus was approved at the regular session of the Board of Trustees of the Talco-Bogata School Nov. 5.

Superintendent Talmadge Morgan stated that the need to secure a new water supply at Rivercrest is being brought about due to the fact that the Talco Water Supply plans to shut down the old Humble Water Facility presently furnishing the school in the near future. The Board had been discussing various alternatives to the Rivercrest water plight for the past two years and drilling a well appears to be the best solution. It was stated that the drilling rig moved on the Rivercrest Campus on Wednesday, November 6th and has begun doing some drilling.

In other matters, approval was given by the Board to calling an election for the purpose of determining whether the voters of the district wish to grant the $3,000.00 of assessed value of residence homsteads of persons 65 years of age and older. Tentative date for holding the election was set for April 5, 1975.

Board authorization was given to the sale of the following school property by sealed bids: (1) house and lot in Bogata in front of the Bogata Elementary School known as the former superintendent's home, and (2) school buses not needed by the district. Persons interested in the buses should contact Lester Watts at the

FmHA Guarantee

Jordan Gets Loan, Will Expand Business

James Jordan, owner of Jordan Feed and Ranch Supply in Bogata, was notified Wednesday, October 30 that the Farmer's Home Administration will guarantee a loan in excess of $80,000 for the expansion of his business in Bogata. Jordan was notified in a meeting at The First National Bank in Bogata by Frank Stroud, county Farmer's Home Administration (FmHA) officer, Robert C. Toon, district FmHA officer, and O. I. Boyd, state chief of business and industrial loans for FmHA. It is the first such loan to be guaranteed by FmHA in this area.

Jordan agreed not to release news of the loan for ten days following the signing.

The loan will mean that five new jobs will be created in Bogata through the Jordan firm, and is being made through the First National Bank in Bogata.

Jordan plans to erect a building north of Bogata and to buy equipment to provide expanded feed and fertilizer service to the farmers and ranchers in the Bogata area. Part of the equipment purchased will include transport and spreading trailers.

Jordan began working on the guaranteed loan in February with Stroud, and has been assisted in securing approval by FmHA by Bill Benson with the Ark-Tex Council of Governments and Congressman Wright Patman.

"I want to thank everyone who has shown an interest and who has helped in getting this guarantee," Jordan said. "It means a lot to me and my family, and I hope it will mean a lot to Bogata."

Jordan is a member of the Bogata City Council and of the Volunteer Fire Department. He is a 1970 graduate of East Texas State University in Commerce, and owned a feed and fertilizer business in Commerce before moving to Bogata and opening the business here in November, 1971. He and his wife, Carol, have one son, James Jordan III, who is nine months old.

SIGNING THE PAPERS— Bogata First National Bank vice president Neil Rozell and Farmers Home Administration county officer Frank Stroud look on as James Jordan, owner of Jordan Feed and Ranch Supply in Bogata signs for a FmHA guaranteed loan in excess of $100,000. The loan is being made through the Bogata Bank. Jordan will use the money to expand his feed and fertilizer operations and to build a building north of Bogata. (Staff Photo).

Rivercrest Rebs Massacre Tigers

The Rivercrest Rebels turned the corner last week and gleefully scored touchdown after touchdown against the Commerce Tigers at Memorial Stadium on the East Texas State University Campus, leaving the Tigers scoreless, 47-0.

The Rebels played a mistake-free game, with no fumbles and no interceptions that caused setbacks, and looked like a brand new team.

Halfback Glenn Fulbright romped for 265 yards on 17 carries and scored 12 points for the Rebels, trading out with Randy Jones, who carried 16 times for 86 yards.

It was a victory that was both needed and deserved by the Rebels, who suffered a smashing defeat against Winnsboro, the came back to tie North Lamar, and then worked hard for a week for a victory against Commerce.

The Rebels won the toss and began moving the ball on their own 22 yard line to start the action, and made four first downs from quarterback Jimmy Curties to Fulbright was the longest gain of the drive, and Fulbright went over from the 15 for the score. Curties try for the extra point was good, and the Rebels led 7-0.

Commerce made two first downs on their first possession, then let the ball go over on downs to the Rebels on the Rivercrest 31 yard line. A nine yard carry by Jones put the ball on the Rebel 40 yard line, and on the next play Fulbright scampered 60 yards for a touchdown. Curties extra point kick was good, and the Rebels finished the first quarter ahead 14-0.

Commerce managed a couple of first downs early in the second quarter, then on fourth down and less than a a yard to go, Bill Montgomery dropped Tiger quarterback Chris Peek five yards behind the line of scrimmage, and the ball went over on downs to the Rebels on their own 20 yard line.

Jones and Fulbright alternated on the next series, then Fulbright broke loose and ran 48 yards to the Tiger 16 yard line before being caught from behind. After an exchange of penalties, Fulbright ran around left end for the touchdown, but the try for extra points was no good.

The next Tiger possession was short lived, with only five

Coaches Corner

The expression How Sweet It Is was never truer. We have been waiting for this kind of game all year. We did the right thing at the right time instead of the wrong thing at the wrong time. We knew from the first of the year that we were capable of playing this kind of football but we put everything together too late. Our season would have been a complete reversal had we played this kind of football early in the year.

We had very good execution of plays and very few mistakes. We came up with the big play on offense when we needed it and we also came up with the big play on defense when needed. This plus the fact that our players work hard each week was the reason for our big victory. These young men put in a lot of hours of preparation. They came to workouts that have spirited workouts and they hit it each week. These are some of the things a losing team is not expected to do but this is what makes the Rebels a unique team. These are the type of athletes that make coaching enjoyable. In one sense of the word we have had a winning team. (Not in record but in attitude).

Glen Fulbright had one of the finest games I have seen of a High School athlete. A lot of praise should go to a fine offensive line. Jerry Curties, Mike Glosson, Keith Mankins, Mike Meddlin, Randy Carroll, Cecil Johnson and Gary Neill exploded off the line on every play and blew open tremendous holes. Randy Jones had his best offensive game, Lonnie Harris and Sammie Ellis carried the ball very well and Jimmie Curties ran the quarterback option to perfection.

On defense, Bill Montgomery had his finest night of the year. He looked like Ed (Too Tall) Jones, bursting through the line and destroying the quarterback. Johnson, Glosson, Curties and Randy Belcher had a very good defensive game. Larry Taylor had a good game in the defensive secondary. He had an interception and made some good open field tackles.

Our season winds up against Rains Friday night at Rebel Field and we hope for another good effort out of the Rebels. Rains has a record of six wins and three loses. Two of these loses have come against Quitman, 15-13 and Winnsboro, 20-14. To beat them would be a major upset and I would not be a bit surprised to see one.

REPAIR—The vocational agriculture students at Rivercrest do much of the repair and maintenance work around the school. Randy Hawkins and Randy Belcher, with the assistance of agriculture instructor L.P. Taylor, are putting new legs on library tables for the school. (Staff Photo).

plays between kickoff and punt, and the Rebels turned seven plays into a touchdown before the half ended. This time quarterback Jimmy Curties hit his twin brother Jerry in the end zone from 12 yards out for the score. A try for two points by Larry Taylor was unsuccessful.

Taylor made up for dribbling the football on that extra point try immediately after the start of the second half, when he intercepted a pass on the Commerce 35 yard line and returned it to the 30. A 15 yard penalty against the Rebels on the play moved the ball back to the 45 yard line, and nine plays later the Rebs scored again, this time on a four yard plunge by Lonnie Harris. Harris was given the call again and went in for two points after, bringing the score to 34-0.

After this third quarter kickoff, the Rebels let the Tigers make one play from scrimmage, then knocked the ball loose and Cecil Johnson recovered the fumble on the Commerce 41 yard line. This possession was scoreless by the Rebels, and the ball went over on downs to the Tigers on their 16 yard line. Again the ball was shaken loose from Commerce, and Bill Montgomery secured the ball for the Rebels.

The eleven yard line was close enough, and Jones went in on the first play for the score. A pass from Jimmy Curties to Gary Neil was incomplete for two points after.

It was late in the third quarter when the Commerce coaching staff began working for the Rebels, and between two 15 yard penalties for unsportsmanlike conduct, Fulbright managed a 63 yard run for a touchdown, and Clyde Brown put his toe to the football and made the extra point.

The fourth quarter was scoreless for the Rebels, with the lineup for the 1975 Rebels and quarterback Larry Taylor at the helm gaining experience in conference play.

Then came to Jesus scribes and Pharisees, which were of Jerusalem, saying,

Why do thy disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? for they wash not their hands when they eat bread.

But he answered and said unto them, Why do ye also transgress the commandments of God by your tradition?

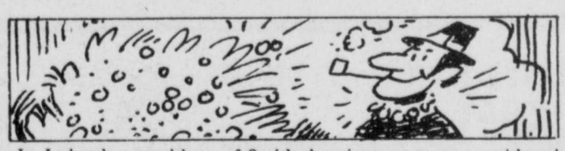

For God commanded, saying, Honour thy father and mother; and, He that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.
