MR. & MRS. ROY McLAIN

62 Years Together

Sixty two years have passed since Roy McLain brought his new bride, Mamie, from Oklahoma Indian Territory to the pasture-land plains of Castro County. The two this week observed the anniversary of their Nov. 18, 1912 marriage without fanfare but with reminiscences of those yester-years.

Roy first came to Hart in 1904 as a ten-year-old boy with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. J.C. McLain. Despite his young age, Roy can remember that trip from Oklahoma. He even has vague recollections of a still earlier family move, when he was only three years old. Moving from Arkansas to Oklahoma, Roy remembers they had just crossed a creek with the family's second wagon when a mare got sick. His parents sat up all night, doctoring the mare that developed lock jaw from getting too hot.

The move to Hart was also in two covered wagons with the family settling in a half dug-out. The elder McLain bought out 12 to 15 head of mixed cattle and

Game Admissions Are Announced

Admission prices for basketball games for the 1974-75 season are announced.

Junior high game admissions are 75 cents, adults; 50 cents, students.

High school games are $1.25, adults; 75 cents, students.

P.O. Window To Close 4:30

Effective immediately, the service window of the U.S. Post Office will close at 4:30 p.m., according to an announcement made this week by Postmaster Jewel Brooks.

Hart Fans On West Side

Hart Longhorns will be the home team Friday night in their bi-district clash with Petersburg in Plainview's Bulldog Stadium. Fans will set in the west bleachers.

Admission to the game is $3 for adults; $1.50 for students. District 3-A and 4-A passes will be honored.

Horns In Bi-District Clash In Plainview

"Round-up in Austin" is the battle cry echoing about Hart this week as the Longhorns prepare for a big "Buffalo hunt" Friday night in Plainview. Riding herd on the Buffaloes of Petersburg would clear the trail for a stampede into regional competition against the winner of the Memphis-Stinnett bi-district clash.

The Maroon and White Longhorns earned the "head 'em up, move 'em out" call Friday night with a coin flip decision in District 3-A's three-way finish. Playing on home grounds, the Horns, Springlake-Earth Wolverines and Vega Longhorns all notched victories to leave the trio deadlocked with identical 4-1 records. Hart won the flip when officials of the three schools met late Friday night in Hereford.

"We were extremely pleased to run a 41-6 victory over Bovina Friday night," said head coach Lonnie Phillips Monday. "We felt our boys played one of their better games of the season and hope this indicates we're starting to reach another peak in action reaching a state championship."

"Our boys," he said, "set

Victory Over Bovina Mustangs Sets Longhorns In Action

BY PAT STEIERT

The Hart Longhorns closed out their regular season Friday night at Hart as they handed the Bovina Mustangs a 41-6 drubbing, but the win on the gridiron wasn't the only victory for the Horns Friday night.

Springlake, Vega and Hart

all took wins Friday and the District 3-A race ended in a three way tie. Hart won the coin toss to determine which team will represent District 3-A in the state playoffs and will meet Petersburg in district play Friday night, Nov. 22 in Plainview.

Friday night's game started off as a scoring race, but Hart's defense adjusted and took advantage of Bovina miscues to run away with the game. The win upped Hart's season record to 8-2 and its district mark to 4-1.

Terry Hill proved virtually unstoppable for the Horns as he broke tackles to score three touchdowns. Randy Finch and Barry George both gathered in aials to score for the Horns and Gilbert "Rod" Rodriguez, who had been hampered by a

'Bullet' Adams Inches Ahead In Grid Game

David "Bullet" Adams inched one more point in the season lead of the Hart Beat football contest this week and now holds a four-point margin over Phil Mosier. Longhorn gridders, Kerry George, and his mother, Marsha, are close back.

Three contestants out-guessed the upsets this week and came up with just three incorrect picks each. The Longhorns-Mustangs battle was needed to determine the one, two, three finish.

Cleve McLain came closest to the actual tie-breaker score, missing 13 points with a 34-12 prediction. He claims first place money, a check for five dollars. Finishing second, Harold Smith was off 21 points with a 27-13 guess. Janet Black takes the third place win with a 22-0 prediction, missing 25 points.

Once again, each contestant in the game was given one point regardless of how his or her entry blank was marked. Ohio State was not the correct opponent in the Penn State game and thus every contestant is given that game.

The contest will continue as long as the Horns are competing, so season standings may change and no one should "give up." And any one can be a weekly winner, even one entering for the first time.

Season standings for contestants with 100 or more correct guesses are listed elsewhere.

Community Thanksgiving Service Set

A community-wide Thanksgiving service is set for 6:30 p.m. Sunday in First United Methodist Church. Churches in the community are participating together in the special service.

A united choir, composed of choirs of the participating churches, will present special music. The Rev. Randall Scott, pastor of First Baptist Church, will bring the special message of thanksgiving.

VISIT LANCASTERS

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lancaster Sunday were her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Wellborn of Muleshoe.

Phillips praised the Longhorns performance Friday night by crediting the victory as an "entire team effort, not just individual performance."

Tremendous effort," he said,
"of Terry Hill, our big fullback, got us 63 yards on 13 carries,
most of those yards coming while he was dragging one or two tacklers for additional yardage."

"We also felt we had tremendous blocking up front."

"Defensively, our secondary played probably their finest game, picking off several Bovina passes and knocking away numerous other passing attempts."

"Lester Aven intercepted two passes and recovered one fumble, while also getting in on nine tackles, turning in his

Bovina was limited to only nine

"Our upcoming contest with Petersburg will probably prove to be one of our toughest struggles since we met once and squeaked out a 12-7 victory. They've improved since we played them but we feel our improvement has also been evident."

"Petersburg," Phillips said,
"has a ball club that has been well coached in fundamentals.
They've a very disciplined ball club and, in order to beat them, we'll have to put forth our best effort of the year."

"Speaking on behalf of the Longhorn coaching staff and team, we'd like to express our thanks and appreciation to all the fans and backers of the Horns and invited them to follow the Horns as they make a

MRS. H.E. NEWMAN

Cook Of The Week

Raising a garden and then preserving the foods from that garden gives our Cook of the Week, Mrs. Hubert Newman, lots of pleasure and satisfaction.

"I just love it," she says, "and I love to watch the jars and packages fill up. Gardening and helping Eunice prepare foods for the freezer and canning are tasks also enjoyed by Hubert.

Eunice was reared in Stephenville. She and Hubert came to the Valleyview Community in 1926 and moved to their farm near Hart in 1941. They moved into town in 1966.

Reading is another favorite pastime for Eunice. She also enjoys the fellowship of being a member of the Good Neighbors Club. She is also a member of First Baptist Church.

The Newmans are parents of three sons, all of whom graduated from Hart High School. Joe's home is in Denton; Max lives in Levelland and Don is in Washington D.C.

and works with the state department of health. They are proud grandparents of six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Roy recalls his dad leased land for a year or two and then bought a section of land from A.R. Biggs and leased still other land. Later he bought the section where Roy and Mamie have lived since 1926.

Mamie confesses that Roy "ran off from home" to go back to Hope, Okla., and remembers his bringing her here 62 years ago.

She recalls that adventure by wagon. Long before the era of paved highways and bridges, they just cut across the land and, with difficulty, crossed the rivers and creeks.

"I thought it was a mistake for us to leave Oklahoma," she says but admits her new home was in "the prettiest country I ever saw."

Laughing, she remembers too, how revolted she was by the "fuel" of the Plains pioneers. "When we first came I wouldn't touch a cow chip and for a long time I didn't want to. I couldn't see how a person could eat food that had been cooked with those!" she admits.

I don't know what we'd do now if we had to use chips for fuel," she says in acknowledging the changes of time.

Mamie remembers a few years later, after they had bought the land where they now live, when she and Demmie would prepare dinner to take to the field where Roy and his brother, Ewell, were breaking land with a disc plow back of eight mules.

Cooking with chips on an iron range, Mamie recalls "They (Roy and Ewell) could eat a whole pie for dinner." She remembers, too, "And you've really got a job when you use chips for fuel to cook for a thresher crew!"

Roy Mamie had only lived here two years when they moved back to Oklahoma to stay nine years. Coming back here, they lived for a year on the old Swope place and for 11 years west of Hart.

As children, Roy, his brothers and sister, went to school at Lone Star which Roy describes as "a one-room college." They also attended Killough School which was located in what today is "Paul Brooks' field. It was another one-room college," says Roy.

"But they had good teachers," Mamie says.

Mamie recalls as a girl she was "always at my daddy's heels. I worked in the field right by his side and worked just like a boy. There were three of us girls and one boy. He was the baby and I used to think he didn't have to work. But I was right with Daddy and enjoyed every bit of it."

She remembers her father, who was a farmer and carpenter, would sometimes have to work away from home during the week but would be home for the weekend.

"We didn't work on Sunday either. It was against the law in our family to work on Sunday!"

When Roy and Mamie were married, he recalls a magnifihip pointer in several previous games, proved he was back as he ran for good yardage and racked up a TD.

Dennis Willard scored the lone touchdown for Bovina.

Bovina began a drive from its 23 following the opening kickoff, as Pony quarterback Willard launched a passing attack, throwing strikes to his receivers for 17 and 11 yards. They marked 77 yards in 14 plays and Willard pushed in from the one for the score.

Ray Martinez attempted the extra point but a bad snap foiled the efforts.

The Longhorns took over at their 30 following kickoff and cranked up for a long night of point production. The Horns drove 70 yards in nine plays for their first score with Hill, Finch and Jimmy Smith grinding out big yardage behind the disciplined blocking of the offensive line. Hill's five yard plunge capped the drive and Danny George added the extra point to give Hart a 7-6 lead with 3:05 remaining in the first quarter.

The Maroon Gang recovered a Bovina fumble at the Mustang 33 shortly after kickoff. Using the remainder of the first period the Horns moved goalward. A holding penalty set Hart back to the 43, but Danny George got the yardage back in one play as he hit brother Barry at the Bovina 17 with a 27 yard pass. Two plays later Hill crashed through the Pony line and rambled to the two. Hill got the call again, broke tackles and smashed into the endzone. The try for extras failed and Hart led 13-6 with 11:56 remaining in the half.

The teams exchanged punts and the Maroon Gang recovered a Pony fumble at the Hart 40.

Hart drove to paydirt in nine plays with the aid of a penalty call against Bovina. Rodriquez, Hill and Danny George led the way for the Horns.

Hill broke loose and scored his third TD of the night from the nine, and George's kick gave the Horns a 20-6 lead with 2:43 remaining in the half.

The Horns forced a Bovina punt and Hart's Kerry George lit a fresh fire under the Longhorns with a brilliant 55 yard punt return. The Horns set up a wall down the sideline and George made his way to the Bovina 4 behind outstanding blocking.

Rodriquez scrambled to the Bovina one, but penalties forced the Horns back to the Bovina 20. Danny George made up for the lost yardage with a 20 yard scoring strike to Finch with only 30 seconds remaining in the half. Hill bulled through the Bovina defensive line to give Hart a 28-6 lead at the half.

Hart drove to its 47 following the second half kickoff, but the Ponies recovered a Longhorn fumble there.

Bovina's Clint Cox broke through the Hart defense and Hart's Donald Robinson saved a TD as he dropped Cox at the Hart 15. The Ponies drove to the Hart 10, but the Maroon Gang rose to the occasion and stopped the Pony drive to take over on downs.

The Horns cranked out a 90 yard scoring drive in ten plays with the aid of a piling on call against Bovina.

With 5:32 left in the third period, Danny George booted the extra and Hart led 35-6.

Bovina went to the air from its own 24, but the Longhorn secondary was alert and on third down, Lester Aven intercepted a pass at the Bovina 40.

Hart scored an apparent touchdown on a pass from Danny George to Barry George, but a penalty nullified it and set Hart back to the 24. Alton McCormick picked off a George pass at the 15 to end the drive.

Both teams exchanged the ball on a series of turnovers. Late in the fourth period, the Ponies fumbled and Hart recovered at the Bovina 40.

On first down, Kerry George dropped back, then threw deep to Barry George for a 40 yard scoring strike. Point after failed and Hart lead 41-6 with 4:24 remaining in the game.

Hart enters Bi-District play-off for the second time in three years this Friday. The Horns will meet the Petersburg Buffaloes at Bulldog Stadium in Plainview at 8 p.m. The Horns defeated Petersburg 12-7 with a last minute score earlier this season.

cent wage of $25 a month but says that with a wife to support he soon got a raise to $35.

Mamie remembers picking black-eyed peas and selling them to Tom Ray to be sold at his store. "I made a good little bit of money, too," she says.

Raising a garden has always been a pleasure and not a chore for Mamie. Roy, too, enjoys growing his own food and then helping Mamie filling cellar shelves with jars of homegrown vegetables. Their large freezer, too, was almost filled by their labors this summer.

"Not many people out here raised gardens when we first came but I was used to it and I did. I don't know why folks didn't have gardens, it wasn't because there wasn't water for they had big earth tanks at the windmills so they could have had plenty of water.

With ever increasing costs of food, Mamie says, "We won't starve. We've got about everything we want in the cellar even jellies, jams, pickles and juices.

Looking back over the years, Mamie remembers the "hard times" as happy years. "We've lived to be 80 and that's pretty good," she says.

And with a coquettish grin, she comments on the years of her marriage with "Sixty-two years is a long time to live with a McLain."

Mamie remembers that it was not a big event for her when a modern kerosene cook stove replaced the old wood range in about 1924. "The thing (kerosene stove) scared me and it didn't work good. I'll take a wood stove any day. It seemed the food just tasted better cooked on that old wood range."

Both the McLains remember their pride, however, in their first ice-box, a second-hand box, that held 100 pounds of ice, which they bought in Plainview for ten dollars.

"Boy, we were real proud of it. We had cold milk and cold butter. It was great." Neither can remember what became of that old ice box when it was replaced with a modern refrigerator which made its own ice.

The McLains were still living in a half dug-out when they got the old ice box and when Mamie bought a wardrobe to hold the family's clothes. A daughter has that old family piece.

Their first dug-out home was neither walled nor floored but those improvements were added in later years. By the time the McLains left their dug-out days behind, their home boasted a partition which made it two-bedrooms.

"We had five boys and one girl and if I'd had to of lived there another year, I'd have gone crazy," Mamie says of that remembered family togetherness.

"And we milked lots of cows and separated the milk and had to carry milk up and down those steps. And our water!"

"I've seen the 'good old days'," says Mamie. "Every bit of 'em! They're all over but they're not forgotten."

The McLains put down their first irrigation well in 1942 and Roy recalls that momentous time. "I can remember riding miles and miles starving to death for a drink of water when all the time it was right down there below me and I didn't know it."

The changing calendars have left their mark upon the McLains but they are blessed with the health sufficient to still live in their family home and care for themselves. And when the weather turns wet, as it has these recent weeks, Mamie says, "We just huddle like beavers and let the kids fetch for us if we need them."

Mamie says when they built their home they felt there was an abundance of room but now she wishes there were "three or four more bedrooms" so the family could all gather more comfortably.

"The children are real good to come often. We're lucky. And when they come we just spread 'Methodist pallets' all over the place."

Roy and Mamie had three daughters and five sons and have lost one daughter in death. Sons Tom and Hubert make their home at Hart.

The McLains have 23 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

8th Grade Shorthorns Upended By Bovina

Last Thursday night at Bovina, the Hart eighth grade Shorthorns were upended by the eighth grade Mustangs. The Shorthorns took a 6-0 lead on a fine run up the middle by Vic Hart who followed the blocking of Tito Rios, Kelly Jones, Jackie Ethridge, J.D. Garrity and Johnny Martinez into the end zone.

In the last half the Mustangs rolled to three touchdowns although the Shorthorns were able to put together three goal line stands in the fourth quarter. Turning point in the second half came when the Shorthorns fumbled seven times, losing six to Bovina and setting up their three touchdowns inside the 30 yard line.

The Shorthorns fought hard to regain the lead with Mike

Finch doing a good job of running with the football.

Loss to Bovina closed out a disappointing season for the young Shorthorns but they can be congratulated for continuing to improve every week and always coming back with a good attitude toward learning.

8th Graders Win Openers

Eighth grade Shorthorns opened their basketball season at home Monday night with a 22-14 victory over Farwell. The Shorthorns moved out to an 8-4 first quarter lead due to real good defensive play by J.D. Garrity, Ricky Rowland, Kelly Jones, Mike Finch and Johnny Martinez. At the half the young Shorthorns had increased their lead to 14-7.

Scoring was very balanced at the half with Rowland, Garrity and Finch, all accounting for 4 points each.

In the third quarter, the Shorthorns left their man-to-man defense and employed a 1-2-2 zone defense which held the Farwell team to only two points in the quarter. At the end of the third quarter, Hart held an 18-9 lead. During the fourth quarter, Tito Rios did a real fine job of bringing the ball down court against the press being employed by Farwell. Garrity finished the game as high scorer for the Shorthorns with 8. Finch had 6; Rowland, 4 and Jones and Martinez each had 2.

The young Shorthorns show a lot of hustle and desire with their defense. Their next action will be Monday at Hart when they play host to Vega.

Former Resident's Kin Named 'Junior Citizen'

Roxanne Gallion of Lubbock, granddaughter of Mrs. Lela Gallion of Lubbock and former resident of Hart, was one of 68 junior high school age youngsters honored recently in a Youth Appreciation Week banquet by the Monterey Optimist Club of Lubbock.

Miss Gallion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gallion of Lubbock is an eighth grade student at O.L. Slaton Junior High School.

A boy and girl from each of the city's public junior high schools plus Christ the King and Lubbock Christian Schools seventh, eighth and ninth grade academic levels were selected for "junior citizen" designation.

Jim Carlen, Texas Tech University head football coach and Pete Ragus, Lubbock public schools athletic director, were featured speakers. Awards were presented by County Court-at-Law Judge Edwin H. Boedeker.

Approximately 300 persons attended the banquet, an annual affair, held in fellowship hall of First Christian Church.

Jr. Hi Girls Split Games

Janet Black scored four points to lead scoring in the HJH seventh grade girls 8-30 loss to Farwell Monday in Hart. Farwell's big lead came in the first period as they stacked up 16.

In eighth grade action, Stacey Averitt collected 14 of her team's 15 points in a 15-14 squeaker over Farwell.

Fine defensive effort was turned in by guards Shala Garrity, Josie Garcia and Nancy Perez.

FAVORITE CANDY APPLES FEATURE FLAVORFUL NEW FLAIR

With harvest favorites in bountiful supply, autumn treats like cider, donuts and apples are frequent fare at informal gatherings, as party snacks, in lunch boxes and as after school treats.

For a flavorful new way to make that harvest time favorite, candy apples, the National Confectioners Association suggests trying this version that calls for a coating of melted butterscotch candies and crushed peanut brittle. It's a crunchy variation that everyone will enjoy, a unique blending of tart apple flavor with the rich taste of butterscotch and peanuts.

To prepare, melt a half pound of hard butterscotch candies with two tablespoons of water in saucepan over direct heat. Working quickly, swirl apples on sticks in the melted butterscotch and roll covered apples in finely crushed peanut brittle. Set apples on waxed paper in refrigerator to harden and cool before serving. Makes four or five candy apples.

Longhorn Junior Varsity Wins District Championship

Longhorn Junior Varsity put the finishing touches on a fine season, Nov. 7, with a 22-6 win over a fine Farwell team. Sporting a record of nine wins and only one defeat, they finished first in the district to win the championship. The J.V.'s scored 368 points for the season while holding their opponents to just 48. They recorded five shutouts along the way.

Against Farwell, Hart scored on their first possession. The Horns took the ball on their own 39 yard line and drove the length of the field. Joe Reyes carried over from eight yards out with 7:44 remaining in the first quarter. Johnny Newsom added the extra points on a quarterback keeper around right end.

Farwell came right back after the kickoff and drove to a score. The try for point failed and the quarter ended with the Longhorns in front 8 to 6.

In the second quarter, tailback Kenneth Smith broke over right tackle for 28 yards and a touchdown. Blocking was provided by Gary Jackson, Larry Marble, Glen Black and Rodolfo Gonzales. Extra points were missed and at half time, Horns led 14-6.

Third quarter and most of the fourth quarter was a defensive struggle with both teams moving the ball between the 30 yard lines but unable to push it in. The Longhorn defense, sparked by Marble, Johnny Carrasco, Frankie Gutierrez, Gonzales, Jackson, Reyes and Kent Hill, constantly made big plays when needed.

Te JV's final score came after the Horns recovered a Steer fumble on the Farwell 21. Reyes blasted over from 6 yards out with 1:28 left in the game. Fullback Black added the extra points over right tackle to bring the final score of 22 to 6.

Congratulations to all members of the JV team on an extremely fine season and for winning district!
