REDS DESTROY WRANGEL ARMY

ROYALTY HANGS IN BALANCE AS GREEKS BALLOT

Fight Waged Over Whether King Constantine Shall Return to Throne.

Gomaris, Opposing Venizelos, Ready to Flee if Vote Fails Him.

By Associated Press.

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 15.—Premier Venizelos announces that his party has obtained a majority in the elections through out Greece.

ATHENS, Nov. 14.—General elections were held throughout Greece today and on the outcome is expected to hinge the question of whether former King Constantine shall come back to the throne again or remain in exile in Switzerland.

Demeterios Gomaris, former premier and leader of the opposition, who was the opponent of Premier Venizelos in the balloting, was the candidate of the elements desiring the return of Constantine. M. Venizelos on the other hand is unalterably opposed to return of the fallen monarch.

A bitter campaign has been waged by both sides and, no matter which side carries the elections, trouble is feared. Claims of certain victory were made by both the Venizelists and the royalists, with indications that M. Venizelos would poll a big majority in the new provinces of Macdonia and Thrace and the islands, but that old Greece would witness a fierce struggle.

Gomaris made preparations for quick flight in case the elections went against him, having requested passports to Italy on Friday past.

Exiled during the war on the charge of high treason, he was permitted with the approval of M. Venizelos, to return to take part in the campaign, but should he fail of election, his parliamentiary immunity would expire immediately.

In case Premier Venizelos is successful, he will be given a free hand in the selection of a new head of the state, Prince Paul, who was offered the throne on the death of the late King Alexander, not having as yet formally accepted the government's invitation to return from Switzerland and rule Greece.

The general elections in Greece are of unusual importance as involving a test of strength between existing Venizelos' regime and that of former King Constantine, also in determining the succession to the Greek throne and possibly foreshadowing an issue between a republic and a monarchy. The elections are the first held in Greece since December, 1915, prior to the entry of Greece into the world war.

JAP NAVAL AIDE DENIES WAR TALK

By Associated Press

TOKIO, Nov. 13.—Captain Nomura, aide to the minister of the navy, speaking in the name of minister today, said every report that Japan was fortifying or planning to fortify an destablish bases in the mandated Pacific islands is wholly and completely false, according to the Kokusai agency.

Japan, he declared, is living up strictly to every mandate under the terms of the League of Nations covenant.

Troops Are Sent To Keep Order At Murder Trial

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 14.—A detachment of the machine gun company of the Arkansas national guard stations at Pine Bluff entrained today for Hot Springs to aid in maintaining order at the latter city during the trial of Tom Slaughter and Fulton Green, alleged bandits charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Roy Brown of Hot Springs last month. The trial opens tomorrow.

SIX CHILDREN DIE IN THEATRE AT CRY OF FIRE

Many Are Badly Injured; "Fire" Merely Smoke From Paper in Furnace.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A paper clogged furnace flue, which caused smoke to fill the Catherine Theatre, a motion picture house in the east side, Italian quarter, raised a cry of "fire" late today and, in the ensuing panic, six tots, between the ages of 2 to 10 years, were trampled to death. Twelve others were seriously injured.

The little theatre was crowded to capacity. Children filled most of the 300 seats, for the hero of the picture was an Italian lad who rose from humble surroundings like theirs to riches and fame. The youngsters were absorbed in the progress of the screen hero, Pierto, who was protecting his father from thieves, when smoke began to seep through the cracks of the theatre floor.

Woman Calls "Fire!"

"My God! It's a fire!" this shout came from an elderly woman who gathered a little one under her arm and ran for the nearest exit. Immediately loud wails arose, children began to cry. They jumped from their seats, jammed the aisles and fought for passage. The lights flickered out.

Youthful cries attracted many residents of the Italian neighborhood. Camillo Bruillo, who sells bananas from a push cart on the Bowery, rushed to the scene. He darted into the theatre, attempted to shout down the cries. Failing, he saved those he could. Camillo carried more than fifteen tots to safety, then, collapsed overcome by smoke.

Puts In Alarm

Some one sounded a fire alarm. Many, then were carried from the theatre overcome by smoke. They were soon revived. Firemen carried the dead to nearby drug stores. The injured were sent to hospitals.

Frantic women and men—learning of the disaster, crowded before the little theatre guarded by a cordon of policemen.

Bernard Weinberg and Max Schwartz, owners of the theatre, were taken to the police station and later questioned by the district attorney. They said they purchased the theatre last week and had been operating it since Saturday. They were held pending investigation of charges that one of the front exits of the theatre was locked.

ALEXANDER'S WIDOW IS UPHELD BY COURT

ATHENS, Nov. 12—The late King Alexander's marriage with Aspasia Manos was declared valid by the court here today which dismissed the opposition of Former King Constantine and ordered the seals on the apartments of the late monarch broken. Madame Manos will inherit Alexander's personal property.

TUG RESCUES A DRIFTING SHIP

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. — The American steamer Cranford, which reported yesterday that she was drifting because her boilers were out of commission, was picked up early today by the coast guard cutter, Gresham, about 20 miles southeast of Cape Henry. A wireless message received here today by the naval communications service reported she was being towed to Norfolk.

The Cranford was bound from New York for Galveston.

Negro Lynched For Attack on Aged Virginian

BRISTOL, Va., Nov. 14.—Dave Hunt, negro, aged 25 years, captured after an exciting chase on a passenger train and held for the assault Friday of an aged white woman, was taken from the jail at Wise, Va., early today by a mob of about 75 men and hanged to a bridge near Kent Junction, where the crime is said to have been committed.

Afterward the mob quietly dispersed and tonight no arrests had been reported. Entrance was gained to the jail by breaking down the doors.

The alleged attack on the woman, who is sixty years old, occurred at her home Friday. Shortly after she flagged a passenger train as it came by and told members of the crew she had been attacked by the negro.

STANDARD CUTS GASOLINE CENT

Reduces Price in 3 States to Assist in General Readustment.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Tank wagon prices on gasoline will be reduced one cent a gallon tomorrow in states in which the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and the Standard Oil company of Louisiana operate, it was announced here tonight by Walter C. Teagle, president of the New Jersey company.

States in which the reduction will be effective include New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, District of Columbia, Louisiana, Tennesse and Arkansas.

Prices of tank wagon gasoline under the reduction will vary in the different states, it was explained, owing to differences in freight costs. The effect upon the retail price generally was not predicted by company officials. In New Orleans the price will be reduced to 28 1-2 cents tomorrow. The present New Jersey price is from 31 to 33 cents.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 14.—Reduction in tank wagon prices of one cent gallon for gasoline, effective Monday throughout the states of Louisiana, Tennessee and Arkansas, was announced tonight by the Standard Oil company of Louisiana, "as an aid to the restoration of what was properly considered normal, prices."

The retail price of gasoline here tomorrow becomes 28 1-2 cents. Announcement of the reduction was accompanied by the following statement:

"While there has been no material release from any of the conditions which brought the rise in the price of petroleum products, the Standard Oil company of Louisiana believes that the process of readjustment now under way in the business world must eventually contribute to lower costs of producing and refining oil.

"Up to the date there has been no lowering of labor costs for crude oil prices nor recessions in the demand for gasoline. Reductions which have already taken place in many of the principal items entering into the cost of living have for the most part not reached the ultimate consumer, but it is enevitable that before long lower prices will be brought about by new quotations now prevailing in primary markets.

"The Standard Oil company of Louisiana believes that this movement toward a restoration of what was, properly considered, normal prices shall be aided by the oil industry."

MOB SEARCHES TARRANT JAIL SEEKING NEGRO

Party of Five, Backed by Thirty, Enforce Search; Depart Courteously.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 14.—Forcing the night jailor and a deputy sheriff to conduct them through the Tarrant county jail, five unmasked men of a mob of between 30 and 40 searched the jail at 4 o'clock this morning in an unsuccessful attempt to find Robert Lowe, negro who is alleged to have confessed to criminally assaulting Aletha Shipper, 11 year old Arlington girl on the night of November 1.

A visit from the mob had been anticipated for some time by Sheriff Sterling P. Clark, and the negro was hidden away in an isolated part of the jail.

This is the second attempt to lynch the negro. Shortly after his arrest at Arlington, a determined mob gathered but during an address to the men by assistant District Attorney W. K. Hanger, the negro was placed in an automobile by Sheriff Clark and rushed here.

The attack on the jail this morning occurred at a time when all but two officers were asleep. Night Jailer Yates and O. L. Holden, motorcycle policement, were in the jail talking When Holden started out and the outer door of the jail opened, five men appeared from the shadows with drawn revolvers and forced the two officers to let them in and through the jail.

The men knew the location of the negro's cell, or rather where he formerly had been kept as they ordered the two officers to lead them to that cell. After their unsuccessful search the five men walked down stairs, conferred with the remainder of the crowd and after courteously thanking, the officers for their trouble drove away in automobiles.

TURKS ORDER BATUM TO BE EVACUATED

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 12.—The Georgian government is reported to have received an ultimatum from the Turkish nationalists ordering them to evacuate Batum.

The Armenian high command says the Armenians were compelled to sign the temporary armistice now in effect between them and the Turkish nationalists because of the necessity of withdrawing their forces from Alexandropol to put down an uprising of Tartar rebels.

VERA CRUZ ACTIVE DESPITE DOCK STRIKE

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Nov. 14.—Port work was resumed here today in spite of the dock workers' strike, with 18 steamers in the harbor waiting their turns to be loaded or unloaded. The striking stevedores have not yet arrived at an agreement with the shipping companies, but the central government has taken charge of the work and will formulate a contract with the workmen.

Search Is Started For Overdue Ship

SAULT Ste Marie, Mich. Nov. 14—The Becker line steamer, Francis B. Wildar, more than 72 hours overdue at this port, and carrying a crew of 33, still was unreported tonight. The opinion in marine circles here is divided as to whether the big steel freighter had gone to the bottom or is lying, perhaps disabled, in some sheltered nook along the Rocky Canadian shore.

The tug Iowa left here this afternoon for Pancake Shoals where, according to the story of one Great Lakes captain, the Wildar was seen in distress in Friday's storm. It is feared here the wildar came to mishap during the storm, one of the most severe in Lake Superior's history.

A boat with Becker line markings and believed to have been the Wildar was sighted yesterday, blown far off the course toward Pancake Shoals about ten miles northeast of White Fish bay. Word was received here today that a large fleet of vessels has been lying in shelter at Belegriae, in the lee of Keweenaw point, but there reports did not include the Wildar among the fleet. Seventeen vessels have locked down since Saturday midnight but none of them have sighted the missing craft.

The majority of them passed Pancake Shoals in darkness, however.

RICHARD WASHBURN CHILD.

Richard Washburn Child, New York lawyer and writer, is declared in republican circles, to be slated to succeed Secretary Tumulty in the job of secretary to the president when President-elect Harding comes in. Child is the author of several books and is a writer for magazines.

LEAGUE IS GIVEN SWISS PRAYERS

Members of Council Prepare Means to Prevent Friction.

By Associated Press

GENEVA, Nov. 14.—The League of Nations assembly will begin work here supported by the prayers of all Geneva. Special services were held in all the churches today and were largely attended by the delegations.

The representatives of Great Britain and her dominions went to Holy Trinity church. The Bishop of Worcester delivered a sermon on Christ as the originator of the idea of international good fellowship.

The principal delegations held conferences during the day. The British, with the dominions representatives, continued talks begun in London on the policy to be followed on the floor of the assembly.

The leading delegations will go into the session with a well-defined policy and surprises can come only from the smaller states, whose delegations are expected to exercise care not to assume the responsibility of provoking a conflict.

Baron Gonsuke Hayashi, head of the Japanese delegation, told the Associated Press this morning there was no chance of any dangerous question being raised by Japan. He

HARDING TRAIN BREAKS IN ICY COAST STORM

Hectic Rio Grande Line Falls Down on Job of Hauling Executive.

POINT ISABEL, Tex., Nov. 14.—Failing in an adventurous attempt to quit storm swept Point Isabel and conclude his vacation in more comfortable quarters in Brownsville, President-Elect Harding returned tonight after being marooned for four hours on an uninhabitated stretch of Texas prairie, and decided to postpone his moving until tomorrow.

The failure to reach Brownsville was due to a breakdown of the narrow gauge, gasoline-propelled Rio Grande railway train on which the president-elect and his party had started away early in the afternoon. After being informed that automobile traffic between th places was impossible because of the storm that disrupted the party's vacation plans, they returned at 7 o'clock in the evening without having been more than two miles away from the Point.

Another attempt to move into Brownsville will be made tomorrow morning, but it is uncertain whether Mr. Harding will choose the railway or the winding, rain-soaked trail that leads into town through the monotonous expanse of cactus and mesquite. Late tonight there were some indications that the possibilities of a passage by motor were improving, but the special train was held for his use if he should want it.

Harding Smiles at Storm

The adventures of the president-elect in his unsuccessful efforts to get away from Point Isabel had many humorous and almost melodramatic touches. But both Mr. Harding and his guests bore their misfortunes good naturedly and came back smiling to unpack their baggage and spend another night at this seashore resort of which they had taken leave a few hours before.

It was early in the day that Senator Harding decided he no longer could hope to be comfortable in his little frame cottage overlooking Laguna Madra, apparently a special target during the past three days of the cold, wet, gulf coast norther that overturned his ambitions for tarpon fishing and golf. He asked about the automobile facilities for the trip into Brownsville, but abandonment was taken on that avenue of departure when telephone call came that some members of his party who started to motor in last night had arrived after daylight and had walked almost all of the way. So he appealed to the narrow gauge.

Hectic Day for Short Line

It was an epochal but hectic day in the history of the Rio Grande railway. Hauling presidents is not its specialty, for ordinarily its train makes but one trip to Point Isabel and back, bringing out mail and provisions during the morning and taking in a load of fish late in the day. It usually moves leisurely, two or three hours being given over by the Mexican train crew to a safe and sane journey over the twenty miles.

But today it taxed its facilities to accomodate the entire party of thirty five. Railway officials decided to supply two trains, and one of them came out before noon and sidetracked in the patio waiting for orders. The other was not so fortunate. Half way out it was derailed and at two o'clock

'THE CITY THAT FAITH BUILT'

WHITE ARMY STANDS 22 DESPERATE BLOWS BEFORE CRUMBLING

THOUSANDS FILL CONSTANTINOPLE FLEEING IN TERROR FROM INVADERS

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A blockade of the Russian Black sea coast has been declared, according to the Constantinople correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company.

British destroyers have begun patrolling the sea to prevent the bolsheviki from communicating with the Turkish coast.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 14.—The army of General Wrangel, the anti-bolshevik leader in south Russia, has been wiped out, and a number of his generals have committed suicide.

A mob in Sebastopol has pillaged the American Red Cross stocks. The American torpedo boat destroyers at Sebastopol are evacuating officers and their families. The American destroyer Humphreys has gone to Yalta to take off the Red Cross supplies.

The reds broke through the defense of General Wrangel on the Isthmus of Perekop, according to the best reports obtainable here, by concentrating twenty divisions against three divisions of the white army. Wrangel's men, although greatly outnumbered, with stood 22 assaults before Perekop, but finally were beaten.

The commanders of most of Wrangel's units were killed and the losses in men also were very large. The success of the bolsheviki is attributed largely to the excellence of its high command, which is said to be directed by a foreigner.

The evacuation of the Crimea, which began Thursday, is continuing under difficulties. It is a problem how the refugees can be cared for in Constantinople as this city already is over-populated.

The fighting at Perekop was of the most desperate character. The bolsheviki, according to latest advices admit they had 30,000 men killed. They claim to have taken 40,000 prisoners. They owe their success largely to the use of poison gas.

It is stated at the request of the French representative attached to Wrangel's headquarters the bolsheviki have granted eight days for evacuation of Crimea.

The United States transport Farsly has arrived here with 300 sick and wounded who were cared for by the American Red Cross. It is said that the reds were joined by some Ukrainians in spreading terror among the population in the Crimea.

Resistance Broken

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13.—The resistance of General Wrangel's army in the Crimea has been broken and his troops are fleeing in utter confusion after fighting heroically on the lines about Perekop. Headquarters here of General Wrangel confirm reports that his "white" army can not hold the Crimea.

The allied authorities here are requisitioning all available buildings along the Bosphorus and the shelters and barracks on Princes Island in the Sea of Marmora to house refugees expected to arrive from the Crimea.

Premier Krivochin of General Wrangel's government arrived here today to arrange for the transport of women, children and wounded from the Crimea. He said the possibilities of a general evacuation of the Crimea could not be excluded, and that everything was being done to save the remnants of General Wrangel's army.

"Evacuation will be extremely difficult," Premier Krivochin declared. "But we have opened pourparlers to establish conditions regarding evacuation."

The situation is extremely grave, M. Krivochin said, General Wrangel's troops are inferior in number to the bolsheviki and his losses have been enormous.

The bolsheviki, according to Premier Krivochin, takes no heed of losses, three or four columns attacking en masse often being annihilated but fresh troops constantly are brought up.

Nearly all of General Wrangel's division and regimental commanders

Robbers Active!

OMAHA, Nebr., Nov. 14.—The postal department tonight is slowly tightening the net about the bandit gang that last night staged the daring robery of a Burlington registered mail car within the city limits of Concil Bluffs, Iowa. Ten sacks of registered mail were thrown from the car and one sack recovered intact.

Investigators said no estimate of the loss could be given as no attempt had been made to check the contents of the pouches.

The stolen pouches are from San Francisco and are said to have contained currency for New York banks.

The pouches were transferred to the Burlington from the Union Pacific and the robbers gained entrance to the car immediately after it left the transfer by breaking a window. An automobile was used to carry away the loot which was thrown from the car while the train stopped at a crossing.

The rifled car was a "storage car" as all its contents were destined for eastern points. Attention was called to the robbery when mail clerks on the rear of the train saw one of the sacks along the right of way.

Robbers Get Little

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Reports that large shipments of money were obtained by robbers who entered a registered mail car in Council Bluffs last night and escaped with several sacks of mail were denied tonight by Charles Woods, chief clerk of railway mail district number one, and E. P. Bracken, general manager of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad.

Pawnbroker Killed

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 14.—With his throat cut, and 21 other cuts and bruises about his head and shoulders, and his hands stripped of more than $5,000 worth of diamonds the body of N. Matjasic, local pawn broker, was found in the rear of his store this morning.

Grips and suiteases were scattered about and a broken revolver and a heavy iron bar found near the body, indicated a terrific struggle had been waged by the murdered man for his life.

Get $93,000

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 14.—The theft of $93,000 in currency in transit from a Pittsburgh bank of the Weirton W. V. Steel company was reported here tonight, according to word received from Steubenville, (Ohio) authorities, who are said to have been notified of the theft by postal inspectors.

A registered mail pouch in which the money was supposed to have been sent to the steel company to meet its payrolls, arrived at Weirton Thursday night, it was reported. Officials of the company upon examination are said to have found the package contained a neatly cut and stacked lot of clippings from Pittsburgh newspapers of Thursday morning's issue have been killed or wounded, the premier said.

Situation Hopeless.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The French foreign office today confirmed the hopelessness of General Wrangel's military situation. The evacuation of Sebastopol by civilians and foreigners is under way, according to foreign office advices, but the members of General Wrangel's government still were in Sebastopol last night although the bolsheviki were reported to be occupying Simferopo. and capturing many prisoners and large quantties of materials.

Information reaching the foreign office says the bolsheviki did not storm the Perekop lines, but by an enveloping movement of their left wing invaded the Crimea. They crossed over the ice-frozen Sivash sea and attacked the main body of General Wrangel's troops, which then still were holding the Perekop defenses from the rear.

General Wrangel has decided not to attempt guerrila warfare in the Crimea, the information adds, owing to the overwhelming bolsheviki forces covering on the peninsula which are variously estimated at between 150,000 and 200,000 men.

General Wrangel has gone aboard one of the French warships in Sebastapol, but the vessel still is remaining in port, say advices. The evacuation is continuing but there is adequate shipping for the number of persons seeking to flee.

Wrangel's troops are declared to have fought splendidly in the battle of their defeat, which began with the loss of Perekop and soon developed into a wild retreat toward headquarters at Sebastopol.

Dispatches received at the foreign ministry here assert there have been no mutinies. On the contrary, they praise the courage of the white army and the sacrifices of their officers.

Some of the bolshevik officers are said to be Germans.

Continue Retreat.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—General Wrangel's army, thoroughly beaten, is continuing to retreat southward, according to inforation received by the French foreign office tonight, pursued by a well-commanded bolshevik army of 27 divisions. General Wrangel has suffered great losses and many of his officers have been killed.

Reds Near Sebastopol.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 14.—The bolsheviki have taken both Yalta and Eupatoria and their cavalry is approaching Sebastopol, according to the latest advices received here.

Eupatoria is about midway down the western coast of the Crimean peninsula while Yalta is situated only a short distance from the southeastern point of the peninsula.

Mutiny Caused Disaster

SEBASTOPOL, Nov. 14.—Mutinies in General Wrangel's army brought about his sudden defeat, it was learned here today. The French warship Waldeck-Rosseau is in port ready to embark General Wrangel, who is here.

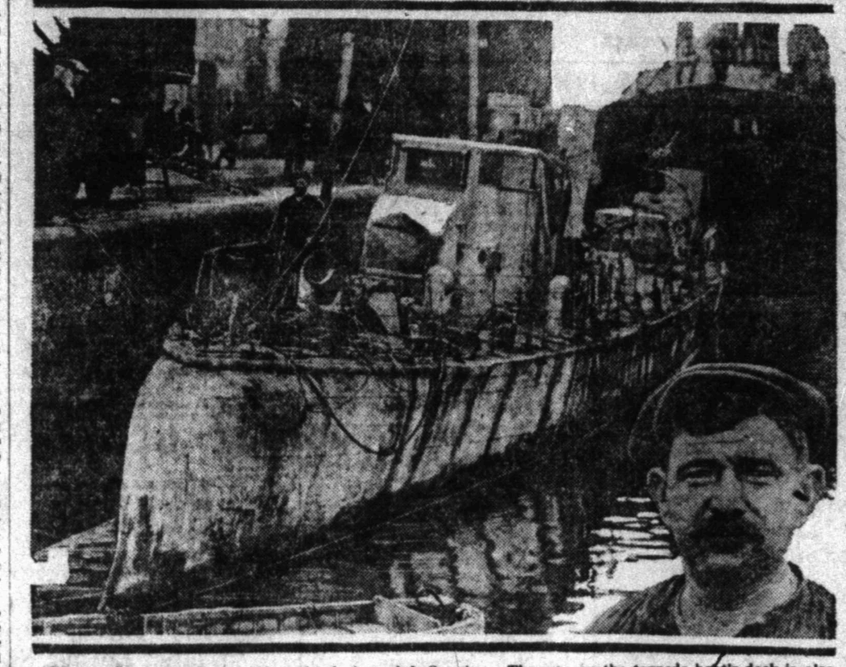

Amnesty Promised

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Copenhagen correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph says today that a dispatch from Berlin announces that, according to an official Moscow wireless message, the commander of the bolsheviki army on the southern front has sent a demand to General Wrangel for his immediate surrender, promising amnesty to General Wrangel and his troops.

TRANSFER MINISTER.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 14.—Rev. W. H. Coleman, pastor of St. John's Methodist Episcopal church here, has been transferred to the Texas conference and will become pastor of Central Methodist church at Fort Worth, it was announced today.

The French trawler Wagram, on a recent trip across the English channel, picked up the British torpedo boat O-76, which was floundering about without a crew. No trace could be found of the crew. The trawler towed the craft to Plymouth, England. J. Copping, mate on the Wagram, occasioned a thrill when he found himself in charge of a British war vessel for the first time.

the hour fixed for departure, the second train was not yet in sight nor was there any word from it.

Special Is Hour Late.

Because there is but a single track over the long stretch train officials waited nearly an hour for the tardy second section of the president-elect's special. But the president-elect and the senators and millionaires who are his guests were on board and the driver grew impatient, cranked up his engine and started.

The train consisted of the motor car, an old style narrow guage baggage car and a passenger coach of similar proportions having general characteristics of a small-town street car. The seats ran lengthwise instead of across the car and a small stove in the center of the aisle vomited smoke and sparks as it battled valiantly against the icy gale. But its work was woefully handicapped by the absence of several window panes and the members of the party band led up in all their winter apparel in an unsuccessful effort to keep warm.

Springs Give Way.

Less than wto miles out on the prairie the driver sighted the delayed second section coming toward him and threw his own motop in reverse to come back into Point Isabel. Then the tragedy of the day occurred. The load was too great for a reversed engine and the crank-shaft and one of the springs under the car gave away simultaneously.

Night came on during the long wait while the Mexican trainmen worked and swore and the wind whistled through the presidential car. Newly made friends in Point Isabel heard of the accident through Mexicans who walked back along the track, and at nightfall a basket of sandwiches and several bottles of coffee were brought out to the marooned passengers. Mrs. Harding served, sitting on a suitcase in the aisle and laughing at her troubles.

Presidential dignity and isolation went by the boards. For Mr. Harding himself was one of the most active and cheerful members of the group. His car was unlighted and was also overcrowded, as the unguarded presence of celebrity always is, and as the overcoated passengers went up and down the aisle the red hot stove took its unfailing toll and kept the enclosure pungnent with the smell of scorching cloth.

Tie Engines Together.

It was more than three hours after the accident and well after dark, that the train crew finally pronounced their engines in working order. To combine the force of the two engines a railway tie had been roped in place between them and it caused another delay because it had to be removed to permit the chauffeur to the presidential motor to crank up. But after much sputtering and the use of much Spanish profanity, the entire caravan rolled slowly away in the direction of Point Isabel.

It was not until after the arrival here of Mr. Harding and his advisers decided to remain over tonight. There are several long trestles between here and Brownsville and the trains have softened the road bed so as to inject elements of chance into the carrier of heavy loads. There are no intervening stations in the 20 miles and indeed virtually no houses stand within sight of the right-of-way.

Among companions of the Harding party in their long wait among the cactus, there were two Catholic sisters of mercy, teachers of the Point Isabel school, who were outbound passengers on the second section. Mrs. Harding had planned to visit the school next Tuesday had she remained here and when she learned of the presence of the sisters tonight she suggested that a purse be made up for their use in equipping their class rooms. The collecting was promptly made and a school treasury of more than $125 was placed in the hands of the astonished school mistresses.

When Mr. Harding reaches Brownsville tomorrow he probably will go to the home of R. B. Creager, a Brownsville attorney whose summer cottage he has occupied here. He will remain until Wednesday morning, the time previously set for concluding his vacation and for departure to New Orleans to take ship for Panama.

OIL SECURITY HEAD PRAISES WICHITA

M. L. Meyer and Edward S. Cox of the International Securities Corporation, were here for a few days, visiting the firm of Lyons& Kleinman, their local representative. They have large interests in this field. Their organization is one of the most aggressive in the entire country for the sale of securities, having 14 offices throughout the principal cities of the United States.

Mr. Cox, vice-president of the International Securities Corporation, made his first trip here. He was more than pleased with the big production obtained in this county, thus refuting many of the statements published in esatern and northern papers that Texas wells are dry. Due to the fact that in Wichita county, wells have a true sand the wells are assured of long life and untold wealth from the production therefrom, Mr. Cox believes. Mr. Cox makes this statement after having visited the many deep producing counties where the flush production is so great, but the life of the wells is usually but a few months.

Mr. Cox expected to find a little country town, but on seeing Wichita Falls, found it to be a thriving city. He could not forgive the bad roads. Mr. Cox believes that good roads are most essential for the upbuilding and continued growth of this city and that the best interests of the city will suffer unless a remedy for this crying need materalizes soon.

declared unfounded a report from Tokio that delegates had prepared propositions on race equality.

The council of the league decided this afternoon to leave a place open on the financial committee for a representative of the United States in case it is decided later by Washington to accept a place on it.

To Execute Terms.

The commission was named chiefly to carry out the recommendations of the financial conferences at Brussels. It is not yet determined whether it will proceed to the organization of an international credits institution or whether it will continue to study the question, leaving the actual organization to the new international conference to be held next year. Most of the members of the commission were delegates at the Brussels conference.

Ignace Jan Paderewski, former Polish premier, sat with the council during the discussion of the Polish-Lithuanian questions, while representatives of Danzig were present when the organization of the free city was discussed.

The guarantee of the rights of the minorities in the Balkans also came up for discussion by the council.

The delegation hope to fix definitely a system of disarmament and decide upon the organization of an economic blockade so as to make it an effective arm against aggressive nations.

U. S. Wants League.

The attitude toward the United States is that the League of Nations must go on, whether the United States comes in or not, but that it must be developed in a way which will not close the door for entry when means are found to make it possible.

During the proceedings of the council M. Paderewski reminded the members it was the intention of the peace conference unmistakably to give Poland free access to the sea, but recently, at a time when the fate of Poland was hanging in the balance, the Danzig authorities held up in the port munitions destined for Poland. He demanded the city be so organized that Poland could count upon what the treaties entitled her to.

Burgomaster Salm, representing Danzig, replied in German. He said the intention of the treaty was to make Danzig autonomous; nothing less would satisfy. The council asked that Paderewski and Herr Salm to send written statements of their positions for consideration at the next meeting of the council, which probably will be held Thursday.

YANKS ON RHINE 'BATTLE' DAILY; MAY WITHDRAW

By Associated Press.

COBLENZ, Nov. 13.—Rumors that President-elect Harding's administration may recall the American army of occupation from the Rhineland are not interfering with activities of the American colony of 20,000 centering at Coblenz.

The troops are completing their fall maneuvers in the vicinity of Kaisersech, where daily battles with live ammunition are being held, demonstrating in action the intensive training for actual modern warfare which new troops have had throughout the summer.

The Rhine valley resounds with the cannonading of 75-centimetre and 1-pound guns, which are being used with percussion shells as a screen for infantry, advances against the wooded hills in which are scattered targets representing the imaginary enemy. The troops are using machine guns, Browning rifles and service rifles in their attacks.

The tremendous government reservations in the rugged hills afforded the Americans a finer opportunity for war maneuver than was eveg before enjoyed. American troops and Major General Allen's forces are making the most of their unusual advantages to accustom themselves to the use of live ammunition under conditions where the results of their bombardments are visible as in actual warfare.

Speculation is rife as to what nation will send troops of occupation to Coblenz in the event the Americans withdraw, neither the British nor the French desire to have the Rhineland commission headquarters located in their areas and consequently Coblenz was selected although it is a small city, with inadequate housing.

Most of the soldiers in the army of occupation enlisted for three years and few of them seem to feel they will be withdrawn. The order prohibiting soldiers from marrying German women no longer is in effect, but men who take German wives now are sent to America on the first available transport from Antwerp.

"CONSPIRACIES" TO HALT BUILDING

Despite the fact that the New York legislature has appointed a committee to investigate the "criminal practices" with which the head of the building trades in New York city is charged, the press of the country, still interested in the election, has failed as yet to comment as widely upon this phase of the housing question as the display given to the early dispatches promised.

Evidence given to the committee, the Topeka (Kan.) Capital (Rep.) asserts, fully supports the charge of "the existence of a combine or trust of employers and labor unions which holds up the building trades throughout the United States."

The "master mind" behind the conspiracy, according to the testimony, is the president of the New York Building Trades Council, Robert P. Brindell, whom the Philadelphia Bulletin (Ind. Rep.) calls "a two-gun man, working with both hands, holding up contractor and worker alike." His system of operation is outlined in the Buffalo Express (Ind. Rep.) thus:

"About 18,000 laborers are said to have paid $2 a week each to Robert P. Brindell's building trades council as tribute. Brindell's services for the $36,000 per week was to keep wages high and jobs for the members. A few hundred house wreckers are said to have contributed $10 a week to the same organization for the same purpose."

But more serious than the exaction of tribute from contractors and workers, the Cincinnati Enquirer (Dem.) believes "the disclosure which will excite the wrath of the public generally is that labor leaders are alleged to have demanded and received huge bribes to call off 'bold-up' strikes," thus holding the power "to stifle construction work in New York city.

Naturally, the Indianapolis News (Ind.) suggests, "the people who contracted for such work found somewhere in their bills sufficient overcharges to cover all of the money that went into the corruption fund." Ultimately, the New York Times (Ind. Dem.) asserts, "the public, especially the poor, pays the bill. It pays it in the lack of housing and in increased rentals for the old squalid tenements in which it is forced to live; it pays it in overcrowding, in unseemly and demoralized living conditions; in an increased infant mortality and in the uncontrolled spread of contagious diseases. Most of all, the public pays in alowing of moral standards, in a sense of general and inevitable corruption."

The revelations are probably not more astonishing to the public in general than to the workers themselves, the Philadelphia Bulletin (Ind. Rep.) believes, as they have paid their "dues" without question, and "in implicit faith that they were required for the support of the union. The New York Mail (Ind.) also considers "that the sheer selfishness, tyranny and rapacity," this "wholesale and unrelenting levying on labor by the building trades council" exceeds any of the "heart-rending charges against the methods employed by conscienceless employers to exploit the worker and profit from his need." And the Detroit News (Ind.) adds that "in the highbinding tactics of the leaders," employes have been "ruthlessly held up."

Graft in union labor ranks is not an argument against unionism, the New York Tribune (Rep.) concedes, since "the crooked infest all walks of life, and charity comes when the percentage of grafters is approximately the same in all groups." But unionists should realize "when next they encounter an employer who fights the closed shop, that perhaps all he personally knows of unions has come from the visits of blackmailers."

The New York World (Dem.) also points out the danger to organization in such practices as Brindell is accused of. "A united industry," it says, "is none too strong to meet employers' organizations on even terms. But the first interest of a graft-pursuing labor leader is to split his industry, not to unite it. His best chance to call frivolous strikes which can be called off as mysteriously lies in camouflaging clear issues by setting rival organizations against each other within the industries." Further, "to benefit the public by doing honest work for an honest price no trade conspiracies are necessary. Mr. Undermeyer and the Lockwood committee are revealing one cause of the rental situation that has so wronged and robbed the public. They are giving honest builders, both employers and employed, a way of escape from abuses that have put upon them business losses and intolerable wrongs."

Everything that can be done to prevent these abuses and prosecute the guilty, the Binghamton Sun (Ind, Dem.) declares, "will have the hearty support of the public. When we recall the housing situation in New York as it existed during the last few years and still exists, with construction at the lowest ebb in its history because of unfavorable conditions, and tens of thousands practically homeless through inadequate housing, the enormity of the alleged offences becomes apparent. Nor can the situation improve while such conditions prevail."

WOMEN CARRY ON NET GAME DESPITE COLD

BY BOB.

You can't freeze out a woman.

That has long been said by those who claim to know, speaking of conversation. But it remained for the cold spell this week to show that here in Wichita Falls the women have less fear than their stronger brethren when it comes to facing a norther on the tennis court, Friday, Saturday and Sunday they have been playing.

The women's interest in tennis despite the cold weather has been spurred on by the approaching city wide woman's tennis singles tournament. The committee in charge of the affair—a committee which was recently named by the Wichita Falls Tennis association—is preparing the "frames" or schedules for play now.

When the schedules are complete the various entrants will be notified. The matches will be governed by the weather. They will be played "when the weather permits." Pleasant weather will see a rush of contests.

The Class C tournament, or contest among those players who lost their first matches in the recent men's singles championship, will be arranged in the same fashion.

MAN WHO REFUSED TO SPEAK FOR YEARS REMAINS SILENT WHEN FREED FROM JAIL

When the prison gates opened for "Corkey" Hanley. Warden Shattuck bidding him good-by at the prison exit.

Patrick J. Hanley, known to officials of the Massachusetts state prison as "Corkey," is now a free man—after serving twenty-five years in the prison. And he kept his word with himself to the end of his sentence. Ten years ago "Corkey," in full possession of his voice, went on a silence strike. Repeated attempts to make him talk—including the promises of a set of false teeth and a pardon—failed. It was not until he had stepped out of the prison that he uttered one word, "sure," to a question—and then he "struck" again.

Cast of "Katcha Koo" Ready for Presentatio,n November 22 and 23

"Katcha Koo" musical comedy in which several hundred school children and the best of amateur dramatic talent in the city are to take part will be given on November 22 and 23.

Proceeds of the play, which is being directed by Mrs. M. Cummings, of the Rogers Theatrical Company, will go to the "Coyote," High school annual publication. Rehearsals have been under way for the past ten days. The production will be staged in the Wichita theater.

Among high recommendations of the effectiveness of plot, scenic and costuming effects, and musical numbers is one from Dr. Harry A. March, business manager for Madge Kennedy, who saw its presentation in Harrisburg, Penn., recently.

Principals and members of the chorus have been selected from the best talent available in the city and within the schools, members of the public school faculty assisting in the choice.

The entire cast, including chorus singers follows:

CAMP TRAVIS TO BE EXTENDED TO FULL STRENGTH

The war department has issued instructions by telegraph to the general recruiting service of the army to recruit to full strength immediately the second division, now stationed at Camp Travis, Texas. Major General James G. Harbord is in command of this division. He was General Pershing's first chief of staff in France and commanded the service of supply there. The order was sent to every recruiting station in the United States, and directs that all stations concentrate recruiting efforts toward obtaining the 6,000 men needed to fill the division.

Under normal recruiting procedure recruits for the Second division are sought chiefly in the states of Texas and Oklahoma, which are allocated to this division under the recently adopted policy of allocation of states to regiments for recruiting purposes. The priority given recruiting for the Second division contained in this order will bring about enlistment of men from all parts of the United States. The Second division is known as the "Indian Heads" from the shoulder insignia worn in France where the division fought at Belleau Wood and in the Argonne.

Major General P. C. Harris, the adjutant general, whose activities include recruiting, was unwilling to estimate the length of time required to carry out the order, for the reason, as he stated, that the recruiting service has never in peace time been given a similar task. He added that the camp has been put in readiness to receive a flood of recruits and that the machinery of the recruiting service is expected to accomplish the forwarding of men from all parts of the country at top speed without difficulty. Non-English speaking and illiterate recruits will be at once placed in the recruit educational center, recently put in operation there. The Chamber of Commerce of the city of San Antonio, Texas, adjacent to the Camp, has been asked by telegraph to co-operate with the war department.

UNITED COTTON PACT TO BUILD WAREHOUSE CHAIN

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Nov. 14.—Fred Roberts, of the United Cotton Growers Association of America announces that the first warehouse to be constructed under the auspices of the United Cotton Growers Association of America will be built by the Kleberg county unit. This decision was reached at a meeting of the members of this local organization held in Woodman Hall, Kingsville, recently. It was the sentiment of the meeting that the warehouse should be of the most modern type commanding a low insurance rate. It was agreed that its construction should begin just as soon as the architect's plans shall have been finally approved by the board of governors of the United Cotton Growers association of America.

The Kleberg county unit is but one of many county association that are is anticipated that warehouses will expecting to push the warehousing be started in all sections of Texas phase of the association's plans. It at an early date.

CANDIDATE FOR THE MASKAT RING

One of the candidates for the ring told you in the morning papers that he deserved the ring because he was poor and hungry. What this bird needs is not a diamond ring but a ham sandwich and one of these good marked-down suits of clothes. Refer him to the charity committee. As for me, I don't need the money—I have it. I have everything that I need except that Maskat Ring. It takes just this to make me completely happy.

AN INVITATION

I want every novice to be my guest at a theatre party to be given Thursday night at the Wichita Theater. If you haven't a lady to take, let me know—I will furnish you with one from my little red book. I have them listed according to the color of their eyes and hair. Specify whether you want a blond or brunette. I am a ladies' man—and they always answer my call.

AS FOR ECKERTY AND "RED" (HORSES)

Quit shooting the Bull and show the boys you can "shower" down with something more than a "Tiddle-Wink" party. I will give anything I possess for that Maskat Ring.

STAMFORD VOIDS DAM CONTRACT AND ASKS BIDS

STAMFORD, Texas, Nov. 14.—The city commission has declared forfeited the contract between itself and the firm of List & Gifford, dam constructors, and authorized City Manager Bradshaw to readvertise for bids for the uncompleted portion of the Lake Penick dam across the Clear Fork of the Brazos 16 miles southeast of the city. The contract approximated $500,000 and it is claimed by city officials that three-fourths of the job has been completed and that about $50,000 more will have to be expended before the project will have been completed. The action of the commission was based on the alleged grounds that the contractors had failed to live up to their part of the contract. It is alleged that the company has done no work on the 3,500,000,000-gallon project since some time in August.

List and Gifford, Kansas City contractors, who are also building the 15,000,000,000-gallon lake at Abilene and did considerable grading and excavating for trackage for the Texas & Pacific railroad about Ranger, are reputed to have lost heavily in the building of the Lake Penick dam here by reason of two great freshets on the stream while the dam was in an uncompleted stage.

One of the freshets removed a large portion of a diversion wall and delayed completion many months. The uncompleted work will necessitate the removal of 50,000 cubic yards of earth and the building of 3,000 cubis yards of masonry work.

After work is resumed it will require about 150 working days to complete. The lake formed will supply the towns of Lueders, Avoca and Stamford with water, as well as large truck farms with irrigation intermediate. The pipe line connecting the lake with the city has already been laid, as well as the settling basin one mile in length and the pumping reservoir at the edge of Stamford where a "booster-pump" is to be installed to handle the gravity flow water from the lake.

The lake should have been completed August 1, but for the undermining of the earthen work. None of the masonry part was obliterated. In order to fill up the gap made by the uncurbed freshet it will necessitate a large piece of masonry work, it was stated.

TURKISH ORPHANAGE MAKES GIRLS SELF-SUPPORTING

At the Girls' Orphanage in Marsovan, Turkey, which is being directed at present by an American Y. W. C. A. secretary, classes are being started this fall in all kinds of trades so that each girl can become self-supporting. A regular vocational school is in session with training in housework, laundry, weaving, sewing and business courses as well as in a few cultural subjects. Recreation and American sports are a most popular part of the school program.

HOUSE OF MANY TONGUES

Eleven nations are represented in the recently organized Y. W. C. A. of Smyrna, Asia Minor, which has something over three hundred girls as members. They are Greek, Turkish, Armenian, Jewish, Hindu, Polish, Slovak, British, French and American. Though of many tongues and customs all are enthusiastic over tennis, stenography, typewriting and music, according to reports.

MODIFIED QUARANTINE REGULATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—A modification of the existing quarantine against the pink bollworm in Louisiana and Texas, was announced here today by the United States department of agriculture, effective November 1, 1920.

The principal object of the new ruling is to permit the exporting under regulation of cotton grown in El Paso county, Texas, through the port of New Orleans and to permit interstate movement, to northern points for consumption of Louisiana cotton linters which have been in storage for such period as to preclude the possibility of their being the means of conveying the pink bollworm.

AN INTERVIEW WITH BARON WRANGEL'S FOREIGN MINISTER

Baron Wrangel's minister for foreign affairs, M. Strouve, is in Paris for a series of conferences with the French government, especially on the subject of the possible effects of the Polish-Russian peace. The Echo de Paris publishes an interview with him that opens up a number of interesting questions: among others, what will happen to Russia when bolshevism is finally overthrown? It appears that the various anti-bolshevik elements are far from being in agreement as to what they will do with their victory when they get it.

M. Strouve was asked about this in the following words:

"We know the almost insurmountable difficulties that General Wrangel encounters when he seeks to conciliate elements that are not conciliable. In what manner can a union be formed of such widely different interests? Poland has triumphantly won her independence; Petluria proclaims the independence of the Ukraine; the Cossacks and the mountaineers are jealous of their separatism; on the other hand, is not General Wrangle seeking a 'greater Russia, one and indivisible'?"

M. Strouve avoided a direct reply.

"It is better not to ask that question just yet," he answered. "Let us bow before the accomplished fact of the Polish victory. As for the Ukraine, we have no data by which we can judge the value of the material assistance that Petluria would be able to give us. The Cossacks? We have several thousands of them in our army, though I admit that we must take into account their 'leaders' in Tiflis—and in Paris. As for the mountaineers, negotiations with them are in course, and a favorable result is expected. At all events, we are all inspired by the same object—to fight bolshevism."

The reporter then asked M. Strouve whether the peasants really had confidence in the agrarian reforms that Wrangel had brought about, since Deniken and Kolchak also had given them title to their lands. The minister replied that Wrangel had confirmed the titles and that the peasants had faith in the soundness of their titles.

"But are they not irritated because wheat is taken from them and sold abroad—since wheat is none too plentiful?" was the next question.

The minister smiled. "They are paid in roubles—for they accept roubles," he said, "or else they are given other goods in exchange."

"It is rumored," said the reporter, "that the undoubted liberalism of General Wrangel is being overridden by the reactionary influence of the big proprietors and by the clergy."

"It is true that the horrors of bolshevism have resulted in reviving among the people a renewed attachment to their religion and to him who was the head of it, but be assured that the tendencies of the Crimean government are frankly democratic and will remain so. As for pogroms, there are no Jews in the territory occupied by General Wrangel's troops.

The reporter places a question mark after this last reply. The next question brings out the fact that the Crimean government is imposing an export tax of 80 per cent, but that this is a temporary expedient for revnue purposes, and will give way to complete commercial liberty as soon as practicable. As for the military situation, supplies and equipment, M. Strouve says:

"The enthusiasm for General Wrangel cannot be doubted. The soldiers are well fed, and our victories enable us to get from the Red side plenty of men, who, once regimented in our forces become anti-bolsheviks, and also plenty of material. Wrangel is wise, he will not take any rash step. But we need help; alone we can do nothing."

The last remark, says the interviewer, was not made in a tone of hopelessness, but with a sort of grieved frankness.

In the Mail Bag

Editor Record News:

There is no question in connection with which there is probably more confusion of thought than that of production, including its kindred problems of Labor and Capital. To center additional thought to the solution of such problem, the following problems or questions are mentioned:

1. What inherent inalienable right has anyone to expect others to work for him, except or unless it is mutually profitable?

2. What divine right has speculation and business for profit to exist, except and unless it contributes to social service and social needs?

3. Assuming that constitutional and statutory rights are not without meaning at least in ultimate solution of questions in court, does it not follow that so long as business is conducted on present individual ownership basis that it must be a sort of working partnership between those providing the labor and those providing equipment and machinery of production called capital. Granting such, is it reasonable to expect ready and enthusiastic agreement between parties representing either side when frequently the contracting representatives recognize no rights in the other and have little or no knowledge of the problems of the other side.

Many quarrels between so-called labor and capital would be laughed at as equally foolish with traditional farm line fence or mother-in-law questions in the comic supplements if either side looked upon the other side as a human proposition instead of so much commodity. Many difficulties in labor are like early difficulties in gas engines: the labor ceases to uniformly function and perform efficiently and no one seems to know the cause, much like most mechanics many years ago fooled with balking engines until they again started, not knowing exactly the enthusiastic agreement between parsults. Various attitudes toward securing results from workers are equally without plan or knowledge.

Again, there is no question but that frequently there may be for the sake of operation of all plants in a community (whether for social benefit or individual gain exclusively, not always stated) not only a shortage of laborers or mechanics, but also a disposition to render "short labor," which is one of the manifestions of inefficiency above referred to.

Looking at problems from a standpoint that does not necessarily accept present arrangements of society as absolutely finel necessarily, is it not reasonable to believe that probably workers, from either what they assume to be full understanding of all problems or based on honest misunderstanding, have the same right to think "millions for defense, not one cent for tribute" in so-called industrial controversy as had Pinckney in early Colonial history to adopt such attitude in refusing to pay tribute or toll to others? If not, why not?

If such contention should be based on what may prove to be later accepted as logic, common-sense and equality of opportunity guaranteed by the constitution, the remedy is in modifying conditions to eliminate kaisers who, with snug complacency and hypocrisy, fatten off human misery as industrial pirates while alleging patriotic service to rid the world of those trying for the same results by political control. Call a rose by any name, it still will be equally fragrant, or the reverse as applied to other things.

If the difficulty is in lack of understanding of industrial and commercial problems, which, to a large extent, it is generally believed to be, is not the remedy a better knowledge and comprehension and understanding of industrial and commercial cost accounting, and operation of industry more in line with such increased knowledge on the part of both sides. What causes disturbances on many occasions is not any actual and real exploitation as often indicated as the cause of strikes, lockouts and boycots, but a general belief that such exploitation exists.

If either side is honest and willing to give an equitable adjustment, why is not the open diplomacy and full understanding now advocated as a solution for political problems equally applicable to industrial questions? If refused, is there reason to believe that either side honestly wants fair play? Why seek to create mystery and appearance of evil unnecessarily (unless actual evil intended) by insistence on secrecy as to actual factors, of production that all should know, to most intelligently co-operate in attaining maximum production, which should react for the benefit of all.

Why not seek to solve industrial questions by advocating a more practicable application of schools to study and analysis of necessary factors in the operation of the industries of the communities. Charles Lamb once stated he could not hate a man he knew. Is not the same philosophy applicable to insure better understanding with increased knowledge of conditions often complained of with no knowledge of facts?

A PLEA FOR THE RED CROSS

By JULIA EVANS COPE

Politics change, creeds change, social standards change but the Red Cross goes on forever because its ideals embody all that is best in every existing organization of mankind and these ideals are hourly being followed and demonstrated in the minutest detail, in the many human incidents of every-day life.

If there is one thing more than another that the average American does demand it is to be "shown" that his money is not being "grafted" or misappropriated when donated to charitable organizations.

And there is plenty of argument in these days of trickery and greed, in favor of any one becoming assured first that his contributions are in trustworthy hands.

Questions may arise in connection with many drives for funds for various charitable and progressive movements, but the long, clean, open record of the never slacking, never dodging Red Cross is never questioned.

Why? Because every one in this entire country, is perfectly familiar with its policy and has seen its policy demonstrated practically in thousands of ways both to communities in distress as well as individuals and families.

Every one is familiar with the great part that this national organization played in the late war, not only in its hospital and first-aid station and canteen work, but what it has been doing for the returned soldiers and their families since the war closed.

If you do not know these facts, verify them by calling at some home department headquarters and you will find the biggest surprise of your life, as you see the constant stream of men and women of all ages, and races pouring into their offices and hear them relate their misfortunes and note their inability to help themselves, while the efficient service of the bright kindly-faced office assistants proceed to straighten out all complications and supply their needs.

Watch Its Works

Follow up the destruction also that a flood or fire or storm may have wrought upon a community and note what it is that is always equipped and ready for immediate service, no matter what the emergency or where located.

Always It Is the Red Cross!

Then what could be more valuable to any nation than educating its children (as well as all adults who can or may, take advantage of the opportunity) on the subject of health and in first-aid care?

There are capable experienced men and women who are authority on special subjects, continually giving lectures on hygienic and similar subjects of vital importance to every citizen and community.

The branches of this great enterprise are numerous and each is highly important and properly organized and presided over. The corps of faithful workers are always pleased to fully explain any particular branch, to those who are interested.

The roll of the Red Cross is always that of good samaritan being concerned about the comfort of the nation and attempting always to turn calamity into good.

The true spirit of democracy is nowhere more clearly manifested than in this honorable institution. First, it was an organization of the people, by the people and for the people," and is therefore of interest to every citizen of the nation, regardless of social position, education, color or creed. The only credentials required to join this dignified glorified, world-famous organization are that your sympathies are with the cause and your labors will be for its advancement.

Drive Is For Future

The present drive is an act of preparedness; it is looking forward so as to be ready for the emergencies that will be sure to come before another twelve months shall have passed.

Fortunate Today

In a cemetery in a western city there is a very unusual monument, unusual for its magnificence, fine art, design and inscription.

It is seldom passed by anyone without some kind of comment.

A tourist, with a philosophical turn of mind, visiting this cemetery, and passing this massive stone, stopped and studied the design, hoping to discover the reason for its existence for there was not a word of explanation, on either surface of the monument. The artist had no doubt racked his brain to produce something that would bespeak the ideals and characteristics of the deceased, and had decided that the story of the "Good Samaritan" best fitted his memory.

Studying the kindly expression of the man leaning over the injured wayfarer, and noting that he was pouring oil into his wounds with one hand while with his other hand he was serving wine or something medicinal. The visitor decided that the departed one was a person whose highest ideals in life were to be a brother to man, no matter how low he had fallen or what misfortune had overtaken him or of what race or sect he might have been. Also, that this man's religion consisted not alone in kindly sympathy and a prayer, but in supplying the real needs whatever they might be.

Lastly, he did the kindnesses himself.

No matter from what angle we view the Red Cross, it is first, last and always, humanitarian, and as such, is entitled to the support of all right-minded citizens and worthy of our generous contributions and hearty co-operation.

"IN A BALCONY."

The London Daily Graphic recites a new version of post-war romance:

"Mrs. Maud Marion Ashleigh-Boddington of Norbury, brought a suit for divorce against her husband, Captain Harold Kennedy Ashleigh-Boddington, in the divorce court yesterday. The case was undefended.

"The marriage took place in 1913. Mrs. Ashleigh-Boddington stated that her husband was taken ill in Paris in December 1918, when he was a captain in the army. She went to France and nursed him until he was sent to Rouen.

"Shortly after her return to England she received a letter from him saying: 'After our many rows and disagreements, I think it perfectly wonderful on your part to have answered the call of the war office and to nurse a husband who was barely on speaking terms with you. I want you to know how much I appreciate that.

"'I think, however, we both feel there is nothing more in common between us and I do not love you any longer as a man should love his wife. I have told you I have loved another woman for some months, and I do not feel I can ever return to you.'

"A degree of restitution of conjugal rights was obtained in December, 1919, Mrs. Ashleigh-Boddington visited Paris last February and called at her husband's flat. He opened the door and when he saw who it was he slammed it in her face. As she left she saw a woman in a dressing gown on the balcony. The woman waved her hand to her.

"A degree nisi with costs was pronounced."

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Now that France has her lost provinces back again, there is some dispute about what they shall be called. Shall one say "Alsace-Lorraine" or "Alsace and Lorraine?"

Many Frenchmen insist that the hyphenated version is pure German, a mere translation of "Elsass-Lothringen," which was a German province. Too employ the same expression in French is to perpetuate a Germanism.

Others object that "Alsace and Lorraine" is incorrect, because a large part of Lorraine and a considerable part of Alsace have always been held by France. On the other hand "Alsace-Lorraine" has become familiar as designating the unredeemed provinces.

But probably the great majority of Frenchmen agree with the review Opinion, that does not car what they are called so long as they are French. m ? ..Ta.phye: thatETAOIN....

A GREATER FORCE THAN LOVE

As an example of the housing shortage in Paris, the newspapers of the French metropolis tell of a certain celebrated painter and his wife who decided to get a divorce. The painter loved another woman, the wife of another man. The details of the divorce were all arranged, all but one little point; namely, which couple was to have the apartment. On this they could not agree, because all search for a second apartment had proved vain.

The painter and his wife then reasoned that while love affairs were plentiful and to be had without difficulty, apartments were scarce. In spite of their amours, the couple decided that their dwelling place was too precious a possession to [illegible] and sacrificed on the altar of [illegible] a reconciliation.

DEMOCRATS EXPECT CHANGE, BUT NOT VIOLENTLY; LOOK TO M'ADOO AND COX AS GUIDES

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The democratic party feels sure the next four years will take care of itself as far as party integrity is concerned. There will be a reforming of the lines, but no violent reorganization. This is the composite opinion of leaders eleven days after the party with the Rooster for its emblem took the worst licking of recent history.

These leaders who are daily coming to Washington on one mission or another declare that the party's head is "bloody but unbarred," from James S. Cox down there is not a responsible democrat who does not believe that the principles for which the party fought and lost are right and will triumph in the end.

Democrats will follow the advice of Governor Cox and William G. McAdoo, the two outstanding figures of the party. These two statements have been read and approved by democrats everywhere.

No Sabotage Intended

Governor Cox said:

"It is my firm hope and belief that the democracy of the nation will not attempt political sabotage. The country has seen quite enough of that. We are in the midst of an emergency and the nation's every resource should co-ordinate in behalf of things that are helpful. The flag of democracy still flies as the symbol of things more enduring than the passions and resentments that come with the aftermath of war."

Mr. McAdoo said:

"What the country imperatively needs now is subsidence of the passions and hatreds engendered by the war and the partisan political appeals that followed. The country is sick of political slanders and controversies. It wants domestic as well as international peace and it wants restoration of that fine spirit of co-operation that made America invincible in the war. We face domestic and international problems of great gravity. The only way to solve them is through co-operation."

Party to Follow Leaders

The Democratic party will accept the advice of these two leaders. There will be decent opposition to the republican program, but there will be no political sabotage. There will be no campaign of slander against President Harding, such as was conducted against President Wilson for two and a half years.

Almost simultaneously with the McAdoo and Cox statements came the plea of President-elect Harding depreciating partisanship and bitter personalities. Though pleading for a promising party government while his campaign was in progress, Harding as has been the case with most presidents when face to face with the responsibility of office covets the good will of his fellow citizens and pledges his best efforts in their behalf.

Responsible democratic party leaders here say that Mr. Harding's plea for fair treatment will not be in vain. He will be criticized, but not maligned. He will escape the calumnies heaped upon President Wilson for more than two years.

30 States Unorganized

Democrats say that in at least 30 states this year there was only a shadow organization, and these 30 states were doubtful states. Therefore, the election was lost by default. No answers were made to the attacks on President Wilson or party policies. With the democrats offering no effective opposition great commonwealths chose executive and legislative local and national almost exclusively of one political faith.

The general opinion here is that the democratic party will be prepared for the 1924 election under the leadership of James M. Cox, William G. McAdoo, Edwin T. Meredith, Gilbert M. Hitchcock, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Bainbridge Colby and Oscar Underwood. This array, it is generally agreed will form the "big seven" behind which the party will rally.

Spurn Bryan's Advice.

Any suggestion that William Jennings Bryan will again become prominent in Democratic party councils is secured by leading democrats, who call Bryan a "slacker." They say that the party never again will recognize the man who although given three nominations himself, sulked through the recent campaign and never turned a hand.

Southern democrats here are very angry with Bryan and it was in the South that he had his largest following. These Southerners think he should ask no more favors at the hands of the democratic party after his failure to help in the campaign of Governor Cox. Without Southern support it will be impossible for Bryan to get far in party councils.

Democrats charge Mr. Bryan with "slacking" at times when his country needed him—when he quit the state department and after the San Francisco convention. For these and other things he is to be called to account. They say the culmination of all of his sins against the party was his insulting demand that President Wilson resign.

Party far From Bankrupt

It is argued that a party which has in its membership two such leaders as James M. Cox and William G. McAdoo is far from bankrupt. There is some little discussion here as to whether McAdoo or Cox will be the standard bearer four years from now, but it is being discouraged by close friends of both men.

There is agreement that at present it looks like one of these men will be the 1924 standard-bearer. A strange angle of the matter is that no one is suggesting that Governor Cox's 1924 availability was disturbed by his crushing defeat. Alton B. Parker after his defeat was never afterwards put forward by his friends.

But Cox's case, it is agreed, is altogether different. The Buckeye state governor entered the campaign knowing that there was a general demand for a "change." No one had any particular idea what they wanted to change from and to, but the desire was there and though Cox made a brilliant campaign he could not turn the tide.

Cox Wins Party Leaders

Before his nomination Governor Cox was little known outside his own state. He impressed his personality on party leaders in the campaign, and his advice and counsel will be sought everywhere during the next four years. Moreover, party leaders say that in the next two or three years a great many truths expounded by Governor Cox during the campaign will impress men and women who voted the republican ticket in the belief that an era of falling prices, liquidation and lessened employment could be obliterated by a republican victory.

As for Mr. McAdoo the rank and file of the party have great faith in his ability. It is doubtful if any democrat has had a larger following than McAdoo had before the convention at San Francisco. It came from every state in the Union, although it lacked the delegate strength to put him over.

It would not be an exaggeration to say that 25 per cent of the women at the San Francisco convention were for McAdoo and it is also true that Governor Cox during his campaign failed to catch the feminine fancy as McAdoo caught it. Of course, no one is saying that McAdoo could have won this year, but there are plenty of democrats who will tell you that given four years of republican rule and McAdoo as the democratic standard bearer in 1924 will be as big a democratic landslide as there was a republican landslide this year.

Skids in G. O. P. Promises.

These men base their predictions on the premises that as political party can accomplish one-tenth of the things that the republican party solemnly promised to do if it were given full sway in Washington. They know that Mr. Harding is entering upon a struggle in which stouter men than he have striven and failed. They also believe that the record of the six years in which the democrats had full control of the government has never been equaled and that this will be recognized before the end of two years. The next democratic nominating convention will assemble when Governor Cox is 54 years old and Mr. McAdoo is 61. This age matter would seem to favor Governor Cox. Only five presidents—John Adams, Andrew Jackson, William Henry Harrison, Zachary Taylor and James Buchanan were past 60 at the time of their election. Adams and Jackson were 61, arrison 68, Taylor 64 and Buchanan 65.

Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama if he lived north of the Mason and Dixon line would be a strong possibility. As the senate leader of the minority he will be much in the public eye. Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking democratic member of the foreign relations committee, will also have a rare opportunity for service. Moreover he is a western man and the party holds strength in the west.

Edwin T. Meredith, secretary of agriculture, is another man from whom much is expected. Young, highly progressive and a born leader Meredith will rise to high rank in the party. Franklin J. Roosevelt is of the same type of Meredith.

Colby Effective Speaker.

The seventh man picked to play an important part in party rehabilitation is Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state. Colby is perhaps the most effective speaker in the democratic party. He is an ultra-progressive with all the proper terminal facilities. Stranger things might happen that that the democrats would nominate and elect Bainbridge Colby in 1924.

One thing may be put down as sure. Tammany will never again figure at a democratic national convention. It will be remembered that the Tammany hand-picked delegation at San Francisco was for Governor Cox not because it admired his progressive record, but because it wished to defeat McAdoo. Once Cox was nominated Tammany never raised a finger to aid him. Progressive democrats will look to Franklin D. Roosevelt, Al Smith and George N. Lunn to build up the democratic party in New York state.

Full of Fight.

Democratic leaders are still full of fight. They know that their party is an indestructable one. They say that the democratic party never lost an election in which it has loss to regret; that by the irony of fate it was beaten when it was right, and that it is a defeat any party can stand, no matter how sweeping the defeat may be. The party survived free silver and populism and Bryanism and proved it has a strong constitution and considerable reserve of vitality. Wiping the democratic party out of existence in the past has always been a prelude to a new lease of poltical life for it and there is no reason to bemoan its future now when its principals are sounder than ever, these man say.

In fact both democratic and republican parties have shown marvelous recuperative power. Depressed republicans were in earnest when they saw no future for their party after the Cleveland landslide in 1892; but four years later the landslide reversed itself and Bryan was buried. If the complexion of congress could be regarded as prophetic each party has in turn seemed not long for this world. In 1890 the democrats elected 235 representatives, the republicans 86 and the populists 9. Thus of a membership of 332 the republicans had a membership of a few more than one-fourth. The McKinley tariff bill did it. Two years later the Cleveland landslide happened; but two years after that congress went republican with a tremendous sweep, 241 to 104.

Came Back of Old.

The democratic party seemed at the end of its rope in 1866 when the Civil war ended. In 1872 Wilbur F. Story referred to it as a "plutocrat corpse." Two years later it had a majority in the house. In two years more Tilden polled 250,000 more votes than Hayes and lost the presidency through the decision of the electoral college by one vote. In 1889 Hancock's vote fell only 10,000 below that of Garfield.

Parker's election defeat in 1904 practically wiped the democratic party out of existence north of the Mason and Dixon line, yet in 1910 it captured the house following the enactment of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill and in 1912 the republican split gave it all but a few states and in 1916 Wilson's vote exceeded that of the united republican party by half a million.

The party of Jefferson, Jackson Cleveland and Wilson has always managed to come back. The vital spark has always been fanned into flame by vicious legislation of republican party congresses, construing a party victory as a commission to disregard the interests of the people in favor of a select few, it is pointed out.

Leaders say the democratic party is indestructable because, whatever mistakes it may make, it remains the people's party. Its traditions go back more than one hundred years and it is always re-inacted after a period of republican ascendency.

RACE FOR RING TEMPLE GIVES GETS WARMER

The race for the diamond ring to be awarded by the Maskat Temple during the coming festivities is growing hot and furious. The officers of both daily papers were beesiged by supporters of all factions yesterday and numerous conferences held by the opposing factions.

E. A. Showers, the popular assistant cashier of the City National Bank, displayed with much pride his petition containing the names of such notables as Governor Hobby and Tris Speaker. He claims they are with him to the end, the Governor having become interested to the extent that he has induced the present government in Mexico to back his candidacy to the end.

"Eddie," as he is known among his intimates, has a wide following in both Vernon and Burkburnett. He holds a tender place in his heart for both these towns and will doubtless poll a large vote from the visitors hailing from these places.

A theatre-party at the Wichita theatre Thursday will be given by Mr. Showers. Every novice is invited. Not only will Mr. Showers be host, but he will even go further and provide his guests with young women as partners. He claims that he has an unlimited number of names entered in his calling book and that he can supply any kind of a girl desired by his guests.

He urges that in making requisition it be carefully noted whether blondes or brunettes are desired. All of these details can be arranged if the novices will call on Mr. Showers this morning at his booth in the City National Bank of Commerce.

Admits Eckerty Void of Every Good Attribute

The press agent for Russell Lowell Eckerty, candidate for the second Maskat Temple ring in the forthcoming Shrine ceremonial in this city, dropped in last night to call on the editor. Modest little hyena, that press agent; first press agent the editor ever saw who had a conscience and seemed in deadly terror of telling a lie.

Why, the dogone nut even asserted that Eckerty possessed no amazing qualities of any kind whatsoever:

"Eckerty," said the P. A. blushing, "is simply a friendly, unassuming little chap who was pushed into this race by his many friends. He works hard and accomplishes much for his firm; he loves his wife and behaves himself. He has a cheerful grin, and a bulldog habit of stick-to-it-iveness. He was delighted to be admitted to the Shrine, but he had on idea of trying to prove he possibly might be more popular than other Shrine novices. But his friends—Ah, there was the rub!

"They just naturally exclaimed: 'Let's get behind our little pal Eckerty, and put him over. If there's another feller in this town more popular than he is, more unassuming and better liked, let's make 'em show us.'"

And that's what Eckerty's friends are doing. Boosting for him, spending their money for him, supporting him, disregarding any particular platform, they are simply laying down a barrage based on Eck's lifelong working slogan—"Go and Get Get It."

Many years ago good old William Penn, who founded the state of Pennsylvania, wrote a little essay on popularity and the old boy at that time sounded the keynote of Russ Eckerty's Shrine campaign today:

"They that shew more than they are," wisely wrote old Billy Penn, "raise an Expectation they cannot answer; and so lose their Credit, as soon as they are found out."

Eckerty is not wealthy—he says so, and so does his modest press agent.

Eckerty is a little shrimp, a 125-pounder—he can't disguise the fact, but Napoleon wasn't built like Jess Willard.

Eckerty's life insurance is paid up—his insurance agency vouches for this.

Eckerty favors the 18th Amendment—confound it, this sounds like the one note of discord in his campaign of truthfulness.

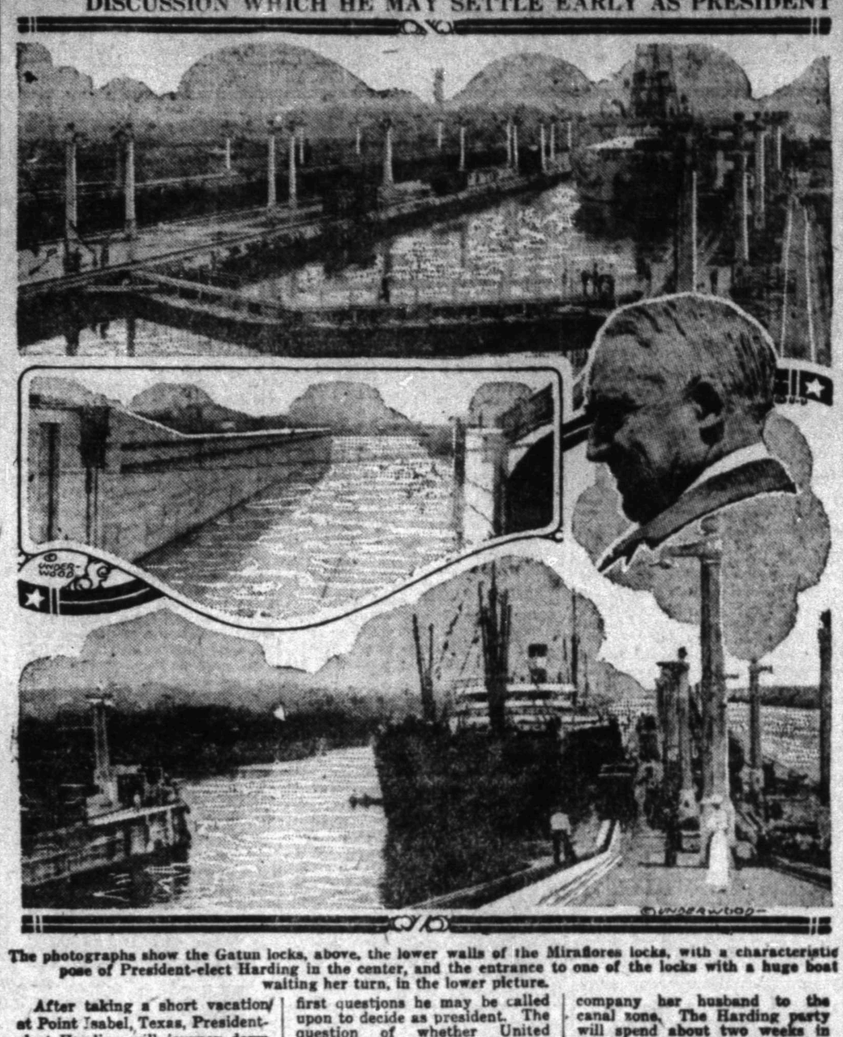

Wife-Shooting Theory Ended In Freeman Case

The condition of E. L. Foreman, who shot and seriously wounded himself late Saturday evening in the home of his wife at 904 Scott street, was reported by attaches at the Wichita General hospital late Sunday as still critical. He appeared to be resting easily however, as the result of an emergency operation performed Saturday night and hope was entertained for his recovery.

Police stated Sunday night that they had abandoned the theory that Foreman intended to shoot his wife. They based their action on statements made Saturday night by Mrs. Foreman at the bedside of her husband that she was of the opinion that he did not wish to harm her. This presumption was substantiated by the fact that Foreman fired into his left side and that she was standing by his right.

Reports that a quarrel between Foreman and his wife, who had been separated for little more than a month, prompted her husband to attempt to take his life, were denied by Mrs. Foreman.

HARDING TO VIEW PANAMA CANAL, WHICH IS INVOLVED IN DISCUSSION WHICH HE MAY SETTLE EARLY AS PRESIDENT

The photographs show the Gatun locks, above, the lower walls of the Miraflores locks, with a characteristic pose of President-elect Harding in the center, and the entrance to one of the locks with a huge boat waiting her turn, in the lower picture.

After taking a short vacation at Point Isabel, Texas, President-elect Harding will journey down to Panama. It is a rather significant fact that he will visit that section of the country and travel through the locks which may be involved in one of the first questions he may be called upon to decide as president. The question of whether United States ships should pay toll for use of the canal the same as ships of other countries will undoubtedly be one of the first issues brought up in the next administration. Mrs. Harding will accompany her husband to the canal zone. The Harding party will spend about two weeks in this section, returning home some time during the first week of December. The accompanying photographs show some of the scenes which the president-elect will visit.

Ranger-Wichita Plant Will Be Repaired Soon

The damage done by the fire at the Ranger-Wichita refinery located on the north side Saturday night will be repaired as soon as material and equipment can be obtained according to a statement made Sunday by C. W. Reid, a director in the Ranger-Wichita Company. It is expected, Mr. Reid said, that the plant will be in operation within a few weeks.

The fire which started Saturday night at 9 o'clock destroyed connections to the rear of a battery of nine stills and wrecked the vapor lines and towers. Considerable oil was burned as it came out of the stills after the connections were destroyed. The damage to the stills proper is slight. The fire burned for several hours due to oil coming out of the stills.

No estimate was made by Mr. Reid as to the total damage. The loss is covered by insurance.

The refinery, which is one of the largest in this city, started operations in June and has been in continuous operation since. W. W. Edwards of Oklahoma City is president of the company. Dr. J. A. Edwards of Los Angeles, S. B. Huff and T. T. Keffer both of Dallas are vice-presidents. A large amount of stock is held by residents of Dallas.

COAL PRICE DOWN; SUPPLY IMPROVES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Continued improvement in the soft coal situation was noted in a review of the industry issued tonight by the national coal association, which predicted a production of more than 12,000,000 tons for the week ending yesterday. The association said it had no reports of any "immediate shortage" from any section of the country.

Decreased prices have resulted as a natural consequence of the improved situation, the review declared, adding that in many places the decline had been "from 25 to 50 percent below prices which prevailed up to six weeks ago."

COTTON CLOSES WEEK WITH ALL GAINS DEPLETED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 14—While there were substantial advances in the price of cotton in the early sessions of last week the trend was strongly lower later and on the closing session prices of most months in the contract department were at new low levels for the season. The range was 142 to 199 points and the net results of the week were losses of 77 to 97 points. In the net results middling lost 75 points.

The selling of the week was due mainly to the constant flow of pessimistic talk from other markets to unsatisfactory world financial conditions, the closing down or going on short time of many cotton mills and the lower trend of prices of finished goods. Upturns of the week were mainly due to covering of the short interests. Unfavorable weather, too wet at times, and abnormally cold at others, was hardly more than a steadying influence.

This week it is likely that a little more attention will be paid to the technical position the market is drifting into as the result of the long continued and heavy selling for short account and the great volume of liquidation on the long side. Improvement in general trade conditions would probably be the most powerful bull influence that could develop. Any increase in the spot demand would be reflected immediately in a higher range of contract values but contracts would also respond quickly to any easiness in the spot department.

MRS. LANSING REELECTED

Mrs. Robert Lansing, wife of the former Secretary of State, has recently been elected as corresponding secretary of the Board of Directors of the Y. W. C. A. in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Lansing has served on this board since the beginning of the war.

"I see you advertise for a ticket seller and ask that ladies weighing more than 200 pounds kindly do not apply."

"Yes."

"Isn't that discrimination?"

"No; merely common sense. Any lady shaping up larger than that could not get into my glass cage."

YOUNG COUNTY COMPLETES 2 MORE IN SAND

Two completions, an oil well and a gasser, both for the Roxana Petroleum Co., are reported from Young county this past week. The Roxana's No. 1 J. W. Booser made a 50-barrel well at the 1,850-foot sand and the No. 1 Goode, one of the first tests drilled in Young by this company, has been finally completed as a million-foot gasser, the sand at 4,020 feet.

The Panhandle's No. 2 McCluskey, reported last week as encountering a good oil showing around 1,800 feet, which was passed up, has since passed up another sand around 2,200 feet, which is reported as also looking good. The test should be down to the 2,540-foot sand, from which the No. 1 is a good producer, in a short time at the present rate of speed.

The Arkansas Texas Oil Co., is reported cleaning out preparatory to testing the sand drilled around 3,150 feet in their No. 1 Jeffry.

The Miami Southwestern well is reported making 50 barrels and drilling at the depth of 4,000 feet, still in the lime, which was drilled first around 4,000 feet. This test is one of the most interesting in the county.

A drilling summary from Young county includes the following:

Snowden & McSweeney No. 1 Graham, shut down for casing, 3,789 feet.

Shamrock Oil Co. No. 1 M. K. Graham, setting 15 1-2 inch casing at 440 feet.

Shamrock Oil Co. No. 1 E. C. Stovall, drilling around 1,200 feet.

Young County Oil Co. No. 1 M. K. Graham, drilling around 150 feet.

Merrill Oil & Gas Co. No. 1, A. C. Hunt, still fishing for tools around 4,000 feet.

H. Chapman No. 1 M. K. Graham, drilling around 200 feet.

Oklahoma Petroleum & Gasoline Co. No. 1 M. K. Graham, setting casing 1,990 feet; oil and gas showing reported at 1,900 feet.

Oklahoma Petroleum & Gasoline Co. No. 2 M. K. Graham, location.

Godley Oil Co. No. 1 Graham, drilling around 450 feet.

Kenowa Oil Co. No. 1 E. C. Stovall, rig.

Panhandle Refinery Co. No. 2 McCluskey, drilling 1,100 feet.

Panhandle Refining Co. No. 4, McCluskey, rigging up.

C. S. Thomas, No. 1 J. A. Askew, material on ground for location.

South Bend Oil Co. No. 1 Dawa Heris, locating.

Roxana Petroleum Co. No. 1 Braddock, cleaning out 1,970 feet.

Roxana Petroleum Co. No. 1 W. C. Burns, location.

Roxana Petroleum Co. No. 2 Donnell, drilling around 400 feet.

Roxana Petroleum Co. No. 1 J. H. Holcomb, drilling around 650 feet.

Roxana Petroleum Co. No. 1 B. F. Scott, location.

Panhandle Refining Co. No. 1 J. J. Scott, shut down around 3,490 feet.

Panhandle Refining Co. No. 2 J. J. Scott, location.

Grand Duke Production Co. No. 1, M. E. Graham, rig.

Staley, Langford & Chenault, No. 1 Donnell, shut down around 3,480 feet.

Staley, Langford & Chenault, No. 2 Donnell, drilling around 4,570 feet.

Concord & Concord, No. 1 Graham, drilling around 1,350 feet.

EXPECT 7,000 FANS AT AGGIE AND RICE GAME

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 14.—Every indication is for a record attendance at the Rice A. & M. game here tomorrow. Temporary seats have been erected and other arrangements made to accommodate 7000 people on the field.

James Sullivan, business manager of athletics is swamped with the work of supplying the reservations for seats as fast as the requests come in, but he announces that everyone who wants to see the game will be taken care of.

Besides the 3000 students, officers and employees of the college there will be 2000 people from Bryan and several more thousand from the surrounding country and towns. Automobile parties will drive through the country from long distances if the weather is permissible.

This is the last game of the Texas Aggies before they go up against the State University eleven at Austin, November 25. State University also will play her last game before the Turkey day contest with Southern Methodist University at Austin Friday.

Rice rooters will come to A. & M. in a special train arriving here about noon Monday. They are expected to come 1000 strong.

A half holiday will be declared at A. & M. Monday afternoon and the occasion will be made a great event.

At the beginning of the season Rice was considered to be the most formidable opponent o fthe Aggies, and the game against Rice was looked forward to as a chance for testing the strength of the Aggie eleven. After State University beat Rice by the score of 21 to 0 the Owl strength was greatly depreciated by those who contemplated the Aggie-Owl game. However, the importance of the Rice team as an opponent of the Aggies has increased considerably since her decisive defeat of the S. M. U. eleven last Saturday. The score was 10 to 0. Those who saw the game said that had Rice displayed the same athletic ability in the game against State University the outcome would have been very different.

Bible is saying nothing about the tactics he will use against he Owls, but it is only reasonable to suppose that he will hold the Aggie machine to straight football as the Farmers have demonstrated their ability to keep their goal line well into the distance by that style of play and by their super strength and ability pile up a very good score against a team no stronger than Rice has shown herself to be.

If it becomes necessary to use a freer mode of play the Aggies know how, as was plainly shown at Waco last Saturday. They used the forward pass with much more effectiveness than the Bears, an dthey only resorted to that method a few times, while the Bears depended entirely upon their ability to use it, to score against the Aggies.

GRIDIRON TITLE OF SOUTHWEST MAY STAY OPEN

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 14.—The possibility that the southwestern conference football championship may remain open this season was increased by games of the past week end which left three undefeated teams in the conference.

Texas University met general expectations by defeating Southern Methodist University Saturday, but the 20 to 0 victory of the Arkansas University over Phillips Academy indicated that the Arkansas Razorbacks may prove stronger than either Rice Institute or Oklahoma A. and M., the only remaining conference team to play them, Texas University, who has defeated both these teams, beat Phillips only six more points than did Arkansas.

Texas University, also defeated has only one more game scheduled and that is with Texas A. and M. who plays Rice tomorrow. If the Aggies beat Rice and either Rice or the Oklahoma farmers eliminate Arkansas, the Texas U-Texas A. and M. game will decide the conference as well as the state championship. Otherwise the title will remain disputed at least.

All was rush and bustle in the studio when the new producer began to get busy. He snapped and barked and roared and wept; but, certainly, he got things done.

Then he turned suddenly to the weary star, who was resting after the last stunt.

"We'll begin on the next episode now," he said briskly, while the actor groaned. "It ought to be a thriller. You're blown up into the air by an explosion, and an airplane rushes along and catches you."

"It does, does it?" explained the actor. "But, look here. Supposing the airplane isn't there?"

But the film producer's thoughts were already far ahead.

"Oh, that's all right," he snapped absent-mindedly. "In that case, just come down; don't wait for it!"

FROM THE JUDGES' STAND

Assorting the News From the Sport Realm

Kid Gleason, fresh as a sunkist peach, is now enroute for various parts with a bank checkbook and a self-starting fountain pen. Quite unexpectedly be blew into Chicago and at once went to the White Sox headquarters for a talk with President Comiskey and Secretary Grabiner. They talked about players, of course. Chicago fans have been shutting their eyes to the fact that the Sox have got to have a number of strong men and bold to replace the gone but have not forgotten Cicotte, Weaver, Jackson and others who fell in 1919 into the bad habit of looking under their pillows.

Indiana U. threw a scare into Coach Rockne's Notre Dame eleven Saturday, when the Catholics were forced to use everything they knew in football to defeat the Hoosier U. elevn. Notre Dame still looks to be the best bet in the west again this year, however, and although the Catholics have met some worthy opponents this season, none of them have been able to solve the bewildering passes which Rockne's men have so perfected.

Illinois' hopes of the Big Ten were dampened Saturday when Coach Zuppke's proteges were humbled by Wisconsin, 14 to 9. . Illinois chances now rest on the outcome of their game with Ohio State this coming Saturday. If Illinois can defeat the Buckeyes there standing will be, five won and one lost. While the Ohio State can do no better than Wisconsin, with four won and one lost.

Seating accommodations for 18,000 fans is under way at Austin, in preparation for the annual clash between Texas U. and A. & M. on Thanksgiving. The largest crowd that ever witnessed a football game at the University is expected.

Five hundred football fans, who had been turned down at the gate, because 32,000 fans had already packed the stands at Chicago U. recently climbed atop a nearby dormitory, determined to see the clash. The police were called, but to no avail and the fire department had finally to be called, and only after the five hundred had been drenched did they descend into the waiting arms of the police.

West Point has knocked a big hole in Columbia university's eleven this year by taking in Dennis J. Mulligan as a plebe cadet. He wound up last year as the Blue and White's star freshman tackle, and was one of the best of Buck O'Neill's prospective linemen for this football season. In fact, some of the veteran coaches considered him the greatest tackle that ever played on South field.

The new cadet stands six feet in his stockings and weighs more than two hundred pounds, but he is as fast as lightning on his feet, and opposing players declare that he has an uncanny ability as a hard. sure tackler.

Young Mulligan hails from the Bronx, New York city. He has entered West Point on a certificate from Morris high school by appointment of Congressman R. F. McKinlry under the new regulations recently made public by Major General P. C. Harris, the adjutant general of the army, which admit candidates who have the proper schooling without the usual scholastic examination. It goes without saying that the military academy's latest husky could pass all the physical tests.

GEORGES, HOME AGAIN, WILLING TO PRAISE JACK

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Georges Carpentiers, heavyweight champion of Europe, returned from America richer by 1,000,000 francs and with a great respect for the fighting ability of Jack Dempsey, world title holder.

Carpentier, who was never boastful, even before leaving France when he had not yet seen Dempsey, said on his return that Dempsey was considered in America to be a "superfighter," but that he would meet him with as much confidence as he did the British fighters, Wells and Beckett, whom he knocked out.

"The newspapers," said Carpentier, "reported Dempsey as saying he would lead me to the slaughter like an ox. I do not believe it. I have met Dempsey, who is really a very amiable gentleman. I even had one match with him which I won—but that was at golf."

The boastful remark attributed to Carpentier's manager, Descamps, at the Jersey City ball park, that Carpentier would beat the champion in two rounds, has now been modified to such expressions as:

"The difference in weight of 14 pounds will be a great handicap," and the "man who lands the first blow will win."

Carpentier was received like a conquering hero, an ocean going tug meeting the liner "La France," 30 miles out from Havre.

Carpentier showed only a trace of bitterness when he referred to the outcry "fake" raised by the American press concerning his bout with Levinsky and the hissing and jeers to which he was subjected while acting as second to Charles Ledoux, the French bantamweight, in the latter's bout in Madison Square Garden, New York.

TIE OF KANSAS WITH NEBRASKA FEATURES WEEK

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 14.—Kansas University's spectacular 20 to 20 tie game with Nebraska, was the outstanding feature of a set of routine football games played in the Missouri Valley yesterday.

While Kansas was using the air game to catch up with Nebraska, Missouri was employing the same tactics at Columbia to defeat Washington University and thus retain its chance of being the 1920 Missouri Valley conference champion.

Oklahoma, which has not lost a conference game this season meets the Kansas state Agricultural college eleven at Norman next Saturday and Drake University at Des Moines thanksgiving day. To win the championship it must capture both games. Missouri and Kansas, each of which has lost one game, meet each other Thanksgiving Day at Columbia for their only remaining game of the season.

DIXIE QUINTET SEES SATURDAY PASS UNBEATEN

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 14.—Auburn's route of Washington and Lee was the outstanding feature of the week in southern football. which also saw the list of big teams that have not lost to another Dixie eleven reduced to five.

The five teams now left with clean southern records are Alabama University, Georgia Tech, Georgia University, Tulane and Virginia Military Institute.

Next Saturday's program which will be featured by the Alabama-Georgia contest and the final games on Thanksgiving day will close the season for practically all southern elevens. It begins to appear that V. M. I. is destined to prove the greatest scoring machine in the south, if not in the country. Taking part in eight games, the "flying squadron" has run up 407 points to 13 for its opponents. Auburn is second with a total of 340 to 15 in the high scores.

GENERAL DROP IN SECURITIES MARKS TRADING

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Additional downward revision of values in the securities market this week accompanied the further levelling of prices in the commodities markets. Losses of 5 to 25 points in a wide variety of stocks established low records for a period of one to three years.

The same reason of a general economic character which proved effective during the preceding fortnight were again operative. Chief among these were the tense credit situation, further diminution of production in almost every branch of manufacture and collapse of foreign exchange.

In the steel and iron trades and more particularly in the textile and kindred industries the reversal made greater progress with consequent reduction of wage subjects.

The break in international remittances affected practically every financial center of importance excepting the British Isles.

The note of qualified optimism sounded by the federal reserve board respecting future conditions was shared by conservative banking interests, which, however, again stressed the importance of limiting credits to essential projects.

The trend of the bond market suggested that events had promted increased caution on the part of investors.

ABILENE ELEVEN SHOWS WELL IN EARLY SEASON

By ROY B. HENDERSON.

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 4.—In the third week of high school football as reported to the University Interscholastic League Bureau, three teams are showing up strongly, since they have each won four games and lost none. Abilene in West Texas; McKinney in Central Texas, and Beaumont in East Texas. Many others are in the thousand percent column having won three games and lost none, or won two games and lost none. In these summaries no games are taken account of which are not officially reported to the Bureau.

Sixty-seven games were reported this week. As a rule the reports show that the larger schools have been successful during the past week with the notable exception that Hillsboro succeeded in defeating Fort Worth Central High school by a score of 20 to 0.

Several minor accidents have occurred. The center on the Strawn team in the game with Thurber suffered a broken collar bone as did the half back on the Cameron team in its game with Taylor. One player had two ribs broken in the game between Honey Grove and Whitewright. A Graham player had a shoulder fractured in a game with Haskell. The McKinney quarter-back had his wrist broken in a game with Whitesboro, and the same injury was suffered by a quarter-back in the Beaumont-Lake Charles game.

The teams that have won three games and lost none, follow: Bryan, Clarksville, Calvert, Greenville, Haskell, Marshall, Stephenville, Sinton.

The following teams at this advance writing have won two games and lost none: Austin, Amarillo, Belton, Caldwell, Childress, Cisco, Corsicana, Cleburne, Comanche, Corpus Christi, DeLeon, El Paso, Eagle Lake, Electra, Georgetown, Humble, Honey Grove, Hillsboro, Hubbard, Kennedy, Mercedes, Plainview, Reagan, Strawn, Wichita Falls, Yorktown.

Other teams with 100 percent having won one and lost no game: Athens, Burnett, Bishop, Bonham, Galveston, Ball High, Mexia, Mason, Nacogdoches, Sherman.

.750 percent teams, winning three and losing one game: Floresville, Hearne, Marlin, Polytechnic.

.667 percent teams, winning two and losing one game: Mineola, Terrell, Tyler, Taylor, Weatherford, Winnsboro.

.500 percent teams: Gilmer, Atlanta, Beeville, Denison, Edna, La Grange, McAllen, Pecos, San Antonio, Main Ave., Smithville, Taft, Temple.

.333 percent teams, winning one and losing two games: Giddings, Jacksonville, Leonard, La Porte, Merkel, Normangee, Navasota.

H. G. SMITH REPRESENTS W. F. & N. LINE LOCALLY

In an article on the various offices of the Fort Worth and Denver City railway and the Wichita Valley railroad in the Sunday issue of the Record News it was stated through error that O. M. Smith was agent of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railroad and the Frisco lines. Mr. Smith is general agent of the traffic department of the Fort Worth and Denver and the Wichita Valley lines and represents the interests of these lines on the above mentioned railroads. The Wichita Falls and Northwestern line is, however, represented locally by H. G. Smith, division passenger and freight superintendent of the M. K. and T. lines. The Frisco lines also have local representation.

"RANGER'S" FIRST APPEARANCE REFLECTS CREDIT ON HI STAFF

Creditably representative of the vigorous life that is developing within the walls of the Wichita Falls high school is the initial edition of the "Ranger" published by students of the high school, to be distributed to five hundred of them at the school Monday morning.

Working with Miss Chella Hendrick, faculty advisor, Donald Cook, editor-in-chief and an active staff of 22 members have offered the November "Ranger", a tangible evidence of every department of student activity, literary, artistic, and athletic, with side-lights on the ever-springing humor of a lively student body.

Each class, the Junior high school, and each organizations within the school has its place within the pages. The edition is essentially, distinctly the creation of high school students, guilty as such of the weakness inherent to that state, but containing as well, a few high-lights that mark it truly representative of the best talent within the student body.

The staff, as listed in the November publication follows:

MORE ACTIVITY AT REDUCTIONS MARKS PRINTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—There has been some quickening in the movement of cotton goods at first hand although at extremely new prices. The reductions made on percales, prints, denims and other goods were of a drastic character. Agents are willing only to take business for deliver till January.

Buying of prints and percales has not been as large as usual when new prices are named because of the abandonment of protection and price guarantees. A more active business is reported among traders who are liquidating stocks of goods held by exporters and cancelled because of inability to arrange payments.

There has been a little more buying of spring goods ranging the price from 13c to 65c a yard. In unfinished goods lines prices have gone lower and the trading has been light.

Yarn markets are lower and very irregular in price. Curtailment of production has increased.

Prices are:

Print cloths 28-inch 64x64s 7c; 64x68s 6 3-4c; 38 1-2 inch 64x64s 10c; brown sheetings, southern standard 15c; denims 220s indigo 25c; tickings 8 ounce 30c; prints 12 1-2c; staple ginghams 11 1-2 and 20c; dress ginghams 25 and 27 1-2c.

Ohio State, Sole Unbeaten Team, Leads All West

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Ohio state now stands at the top of the western conference football elevens, but must defeat Illinois next Saturday in order to have an undisputed claim to the championship, for a defeat at the hands of the Illinois would leave the race in a scramble condition with possibly the three leading teams claiming first honors. The present standing follows:

Team:	Won	Lost
Ohio State	4	0
Illinois	4	1
Wisconsin	3	1
Indiana	2	1
Iowa	3	2
Chicago	2	3
Northwestern	2	3
Michigan	1	2

44 LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF SALE is hereby given by virtue of order of sale and execution issued out of the Justice Court, Precinct No. 1, Wichita County, Texas, on the 5th day of November, 1920, in cause No. 7315, styled E. E. Fisher vs. Burk-Rice Oil Co., et al., I did on the 5th day of November levy on the following real estate, being an oil and gas lease on 10 acres out of the Lewis Wells survey in Wichita County, Texas, being the second 10 acres running north and south of the northeast corner of a certain 50 acre tract as shown by that plat of said survey, being a part of an 800 acre lease from W. C. Burton to E. L. Dye, described in book 102, page 289, located north of Wichita Falls, as the property of the Burk-Rice Oil Co., and on the 7th day of December, 1920, the same being the first Tuesday, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. at the court house door of said county, I will offer for sale at public auction the above property all the right title and interest of said Burk-Rice Oil Co., for cash.
J. B. NAIL, Constable Precinct No. 1

DRILL FIVE DEEP TESTS TO TRY HARDEMAN SAND

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 14.—At least five deep tests will be put down in Hardeman county at once, and a number of wells in Wilbarger which have been shut down are preparing or have resumed drilling. The hard rains of the last few days have made the roads impassable.

The Gulf Production company on the George farm, near the Sigler well, have finished fishing for a lost string of tools and are drilling. This test is about the most promising in this field and is being watched with interest.

Another test, the Staley-Greene, on the Dill farm, in the same section, is being standardized.

The Triangle Oil & Gas Co., which recently took over the property of the Buckeye Oil Co., will commence drilling again this week on the Buckeye No. 2, Streit, which has been shut down at 850 feet. The rigging from their No. 1, Waggoner, is being moved to a new location on the Wharton ranch, under lease by the Waggoner Ranch Oil company, and will put down a deep test at once, their acreage being in a very favored territory. This company will also complete No. 1 Buckeye, Waggoner, shortly.

The Noble Oil & Gas Co., drilling on the Judd farm, southeast of Vernon, have finished their contract, but it is understood they are negotiating drilling deeper. Contract depth, 2,500 feet, is now attained.

The promoters of the Tex-Wyo well on the Williams farm, south of Vernon, about five miles of the Sigler well, have let a new contract and the well will be pushed down deeper. The well has been shut down at 2,480 feet. The hole is being cleaned out and active drilling will commence at once. Several showings of oil and gas was the incentive of the new contract.

Activity is increasing in Hardeman county, being revived by the entrance of the Sigler interests into that field. Large truck loads of new machinery and heavy casing have been taken to the Wheat well, which has been taken over the Sigler associates. A complete string of heavy casing will replace the collapsed casing now being pulled from the hole. Work of removing the casing is progressing finely, the drillers at one time succeeded in removing one section of 300 feet of telescoped casing.

The Koch Oil company, owned by the Sigler interests, has made a location near the Wheat well on the Neal ranch, and Eli Wagler, who has charge of the reclamation work of the Wheat well and the activities of the Koch Oil Co., states that they are ready to put up the rig.

Mr. Wagler has been promised a big turkey dinner by the citizens of Quanah if he will bring the Wheat well in by Christmas, and Mr. Wagler has given them notice that they might as well begin preparing for the dinner. He is optimistic over the future of Hademan county, and reports that a large number of operators from the east are looking to the tests in Hardeman county with interest and quite a lot of developed work is planned for this county in the near future.

Lloyd Sigler of the Sigler Drilling company, who brought in the Sigler wildcat, is personally superintending the operations at the Wheat well and reports plenty of oil in the hole.

The Fort Pitt Oil Co., on the Penniston ranch, is preparing to resume drilling operations.

The Frizzell No. 1 Norton is drilling steadily and approaching a depth where the sand may be encountered at any time.

The Walters well is preparing to change from a rotary to a standard.

President Switzer of the Nee-No-She is expected in Quanah this week to resume drilling operations on that well.

From Wilbarger to Hardeman county the famous Pease river valley is experiencing a revival in oil activities and it looks good to see so many wells again steaming up to resume drilling. By Christmas it is expected the deep tests of the Wheat No. 1, Nee-No-She, the Frizzell, the Mulkey and Fort Pitt, in Hardeman county, will be completed and a string of wells in operation by the Sigler interests.

SEVENTEEN TEXAS DEMOCRATS IN HOUSE TO PLAY LEAD ROLE IN UPHILL WASHINGTON FIGHT

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The seventeen Democratic members of the Texas delegation will play an important role in the Sixty-seventh congress, political observers declare here today. They form the bulwark around which the democratic minority will form in the momentous session, which President-elect Harding will call into session shortly after March. With only 129 democrats in the House the presence of the individual minority members the very session of the House is more important than ever before in recent congressional history.

Already it is practically certain that Congressman John N. Garner of Uvalde will step into the shoes of Champ Clark as minority leader. The wealth of Congressman Claude Kitchen of North Carolina and the defeat of Congressman Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, leaves Garner, long a power in House affairs, as the real outstanding figure of that body.

Washington political gossip today has it that when the Sixty-seventh Congress convenes Garner will be elected minority leader and will select as his principal aides, W. Burke Cochran of New York, who is coming back to the House after a long absence; Congressman Finish J. Garrott of Tennessee; Congressman Charles D. Carter of Oklahoma and Congressman Cantril of Kentucky and Connally and Rayburn of Texas.

Other Texans Help

Other Texas members who will give the minority leader valuable aid are Box, Garret, Jones, Buchanan, Hardy, Black, Hudspeth and Parrish.

Hopeful democrats say they will not have to wait until 1924 for redemption. They are figuring that the republican prestige will die of high living before the next congressional elections, and that 1922 will see congress again democratic. They cite the case of 1886 when Harrison and a republican congress was elected, and how in 1890 or two years later the democrats elected 235 representatives and the republicans 88. All this democratic optimism is in the face of the fact that they have only 129 members in the House out of a total of 435.

The republicans privately admit nervousness. They realize that the great number of ticklish questions with which they must deal is bound to create a lot of soreness, however, decided. There is always a row over the tariff, the league of nations issue involves the danger of a split, the soldier bonus has in it the germs of political disaster, probably nobody is going to be satisfied with the determination of the tax question, modification of the Esch-Cummins Railroad law will be demanded by labor and resisted by capital—and both will have champions in both Houses. The conservatives believes they will dominate, but the Johnsons, Borahs and LaFollettes of the new congress promise to make the process as painful as possible.

Majorities Unwieldy

The majorities in Senate and House are so big as to be unwieldy. A close congress makes for party unity, but with the minority so small as to be almost negligible no question of party patriotism is there to hold the majority together.

The League of Nations is the first big trouble. President-elect Harding will have to take either Johnson-Borah side or the other, for no common ground exists. It is the theory here that President Wilson will re-submit the treaty in the closing days of the short session, and the democrats are strong enough to keep it there as a heritage for the new administration.

Harding may withdraw it, but that will only postpone the struggle, for he is bound to submit something else after the "national conference" he has promised in his campaign speeches. Anything that looks like a league of nations, even though it carries with it "revisionary interpretation will be fought by Hiram Johnson. In fact, it is anticipated that Johnson has pre-arranged the job of disturbed-in-chief already.

Should the unexpected happen and Harding go clear over to the Johnson side, the whole order of old-line republicans, typified by Root, Taft and Wickersham, are due to raise a commotion, and they have many followers in the senate, including half a dozen who have their eyes on the nomination for themselves four years hence.

Tariff and Labor Issues.

Then there is the tariff and mixed up with it the labor question. An avalanche of interests is preparing to sweep down on Washington next month. Already plans are on foot to establish the greatest tariff lobby the national capital ever saw. This will be led by a group of manufacturers and financiers who support the Republican Publicity Association and the American Protective Tariff league of New York. The formidable forces have two objects in view: First, a high tariff, and, second, a curb on organized labor. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., president of the publicity association, has launched a movement to dethrone Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor. Labor leaders already plan to resist. They realize that Mr. Bourne and his organization are going to try to carry out the original plan of the old National Manufacturers' association, which was routed in the Mulhall investigation by a democratic congress.

A protective tariff in the fullest republican meaning of the words will be demanded at the earliest possible date.

Plan Special Tax Board.

Republican leaders plan to create a select commission on taxation with broader scope than is ordinarily covered by the ways and means or finance committees. The commission would be composed of members of the senate and house and prominent experts on taxes and their relations to business.

The commission would make a thorough study of existing tax laws. It would ascertain the defects and their remedies, the amount of reduction, if any, in the rates and the taxes that should be eliminated or added, reporting conclusions to congress. It would not touch the tariff.

Inasmuch as the republican platform and President-Elect Harding have declared for a protective tariff, the house ways and means committee will start work on a bill soon after March 4, 1921. Chairman Joseph Fordney has already collected much data on this subject. Due to the defeat of Congressman Henry T. Rainey of Illinois and the incapacity of Congressman Kitchen of North Carolina, Congressman Garner of Texas must shoulder the democratic opposition to a sky-high tariff, and this may cause him to decline the minority leadership in order to devote all of his time to committee work.

H. C. L. Issue Up to Victor.

Democrats argue that a high tariff means higher prices, and if the cost of living doesn't go down the people will take it out on the party in power. Two years from now the republicans cannot attribute the discrepancy between income and expenditure to the democrats, and that naturally leads to the next source of trouble.

Millions of ex-service men will demand of the republican congress their bonus. The addition of two billions or so to the budget does not jibe with tax reductions, and the expedient of taking care of it by tariff legislation is not going to help the average family.

So the clouds loom darkly, not so darkly as the democrats see them perhaps, but gloomy enough to worry the men who are counting on steering the Harding administration.

Democrats at Low Level.

Democrats in the house of representatives after March 4 scarcely will be able to muster enough members to man the committees. According to the latest republican claims, the democrats will have 129 representatives, less by eight than their smallest number in fifteen years. In 1906 they had 137.

The house has 62 committees. On 11 of them the minority usually has greater representation than on the 51 others. These are ways and means, military affairs, naval affairs, post-offices and post roads, judiciary, rivers and harbors, foreign affairs, interstate and foreign commerce, agriculture, appropriations and rules. Membership on any of the foregoing committees, precludes membership on any other.

If six democrats each are allowed on these committees, 66 will be accounted for. This will leave just 63 democrats for the remaining 51.

Keep Your Blood Pure Nature Will Do the Rest

Did you know that ninety per cent of all human ailments depend upon the condition of your blood?

Nature gives her warnings in various unmistakable ways, so that when the appetite fails, and you become weak and listless and a general run-down condition seems to take possession of the whole body, it is an unfailing sign that impurities will steadily accumulate until your general health will be seriously affected. You should recognize the importance, therefore, of very promptly cleansing out the system, and keeping the blood supply pure and robust.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at your drugstore to day, and note how promptly it builds up the appetite and gives new strength and vitality. Write for free literature and medical advice to Chief Medical Adviser, 153 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

CHILDLESS WOMEN

Please Read This Letter And See What Normal Health Will Do For You.

Lancaster, Pa.—"I was weak and run down, had pains in my head, back and stomach all the time, and bearing down pains. I had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me, so my mother got me to try it again, and I am now feeling better than I have for years. We were married sixteen years and had no children, but now we have a fine big boy and we always call him our 'Pinkham' boy. The doctor was afraid of my case as I was 41 years old when the boy was born but I came through all right. You can use this as a testimonial if you wish and I will certainly write to any one who writes to me about it." —Mrs. MARGARET G. HAVERCAMP, 529 Howard Avenue, Lancaster, Pa.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.
